Denies Scandal

Reagan names EPA replacements

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan named Anne Burford, according to a scandal bebrewing at the. Environmental charges on the table agency's administrator. Anne agency, to
asked about a possible
federal task force dealing with the Reagan was still
her and insisted she had done moves intended to stem the removing Mrs. Burford. But he said
Ms. Lavelle, who attacked Mrs.
were made by the

By CAROL CAMP
Senior Staff Reporter

According to a survey conducted by Student Government conduc- tion and experience. Anne Moore, 72 percent of the students responding to the

The new Code of Canon Law "isn't a cookbook, and it will not tell us how to the way to promote social to promote social that the code was out of the code was promulgated Jan. 25 that this new code is a
The new Code of Canon Law simply defines that this new code is not as and targets, a visible sign of an invisible ability to promote social of the new code is not to but as a
Pope John Paul II promulgated Jan. 25 "reaches on faith rather than heavy sanction," and reflects the changes Vatican II made in order to de-emphasize legalistic definitions of Church.

The new Code of Canon Law "isn't a cookbook, and it will not tell us how to shape the average Catholic. Provost said, because the canons merely codify "the way of thinking that has become the norm for the life of the Church in the teen years since Vatican II began.
"The biggest surprise of the new code," Provost said, "is that there are no big surprises."

Church life, however, is a dynamic function and in that sense
Provost said, "the code is out of date the minute it was promulgated (best to be published)." Because of cultural diversity and ambiguities in the laws, the code will need a
"work of charity" some of the crises when it was released several years ago, and it has enjoyed a major following on progressive rock stations.

and be giving a workshop today at 1:30 p.m. in the

America told a Notre Dame audience last night.

For centuries, Church law has been structured in terms of civil government models. Father James Provost, but the new canons understand the Church not as a vested nation but as a sacra-
ent," a visible sign of an invisible
reality.

Provost, who is also managing
codify "the way of thinking that has become the norm
for the life of the Church in the teen years since Vatican II began.
"The biggest surprise of the new code," Provost said, "is that there are
no big surprises."

Church life, however, is a dynamic function and in that sense
Provost said, "the code is out of date the minute it was promulgated (best to be published)." Because of cultural diversity and ambiguities in the laws, the code will need a
"work of charity" some of the crises when it was released several years ago, and it has enjoyed a major following on

progressive rock stations.

and be giving a
workshop today at 1:30 p.m. in the

America told a Notre Dame audience last night.

For centuries, Church law has been structured in terms of civil government models. Father James Provost, but the new canons understand the Church not as a vested nation but as a
sacra-
ent," a visible sign of an invisible
reality.

Provost, who is also managing
codify "the way of thinking that has become the norm
for the life of the Church in the teen years since Vatican II began.
"The biggest surprise of the new code," Provost said, "is that there are
no big surprises."

Church life, however, is a dynamic function and in that sense

The rights of women to hold
Church offices except priesthood represents "a big step for Rome," Provost said, even though women are still not allowed to be ordained as priests. "You have to take a first step in order to take the last one."

Provost, an associate professor at
The Catholic University of America, believes, however, that the code retains a very static concept of the magisterium (the teachers and authorities of the Church) as a thing.
A rose by any other name...

It is comforting to see the Student Senate hard at work on resolutions that will have such far-reaching effects as that one passed earlier this week. The resolution in question would change the name of the Student Union to the Student Government Activities Board (SGAB). We change it all will certainly be beneficial for students, for years to come. Whether the change results from years of thought and debate or was simply a whim at providing business for those体制改革ists responsible for Student Union letterheads, we may never know. What is known is that the Senate’s action this week could form the motivation for a campus crusade to rename other aspects of campus life more appropriately. Below are some suggestions:

- Change the student number for the Timidbursman from 6268 (OBED) to 6655 (JOKE.) Maybe they’ll get the hint.
- Change the Program of Liberal Studies (PLS) to Four Year Vacation. But why come to South Bend?
- Change LaFontaine Student Center to Las Casas Las Follies. Tony Bennett lost his heart in San Francisco, but others left more than that.
- Change “We’re Number One” to “We’re Number 41 but I don’t have that many fingers so I’ll just hold up one. If you would have had to say that, I’m sure someone never would have made it across the Red Sea.
- Change Fair Catch Corby to 1-Got-It-You-Take. It will become popular at the 1981 Sugar Bowl.
- Change Touchdown Jesus to ’Jump! lady, I’ll catch you’ Jesus. I’m looking around for lightning bolts.
- Change the name of the Franks. Pasquerilla North West South West, Morrissey to Pasquerilla North South Central, Hammer to Pasquerilla North East Central... with the stipulation that Frank Pasquerilla donate $7 million to the students for each name change.
- Change Dillon Hall to Pansy Hall. Maybe next year they’ll throw snowballs.
- Change the Old Fieldhouse to “The place where the Old Fieldhouse used to be.” I must mention the obvious.
- Change North and South Dining Halls to Tippie Dining Hall and Junk Emporium, respectively. A little positive thinking never hurts.
- Change the Shoughnessy Hall to The Andy Rooney Memorial Center. Arts and Letters — WHAT!!
- Change the Cushing Hall of Engineering to the Parade Magazine Ugliest Building on any Campus of the organization.

These, of course, are just a few suggestions. Even if the Student Senate doesn’t change all to all heart, I believe the Senate’s action this week got the ball rolling in the right direction. For our representatives realize, this name change will provide the motivation to all next year’s Senate to re-name the Student Government Activities Board back to theStudent Union, and thus, will pave a path for concrete progress.

The Observer announces the following appointment to the 1983-84 Editorial Board: Margaree Fosnose will become Managing Editor and Dan O’Dare will become Business Manager. Appoint- ments will become effective March 22.
Gut feelings

Mission founder discusses history

By MARK WORSCHI

Assistant Observer

The founder of the Volunteer Missionary Movement, who said her drive to establish an independent lay movement "shouldn't have been too big a problem," has had a change of heart. She now believes the movement should pursue a goal of 1,000 members in five years.

Greta Gatesy, who started the movement in 1969, said she has always had a "gut feeling" that the movement's goal was too ambitious.

"We've turned this year. This year and last year were the best numbers we've ever had," she said. "And in 1969, the 'MM was dead. And in 1969, the 'MM was born."

The movement, which sends volunteers to developing countries to pass along their skills and knowledge, has a membership of over 700 persons today, with more than 1,000 working in such countries as Taiwan, Sudan, Kenya, Ghana, Uganda and Liberia.

The growth in the movement came slowly, according to Gatesy, who described the difficulties she encountered in establishing the VMM.

"As we returned from a three-year stay in Uganda, she said she had spent almost 18 months trying to convince the bishops in England to support such a lay movement.

SMC sophomores host parents this weekend

By MIKE WILKINS

Seniors/Alumni Reporter

An open house and a class dinner highlight the list of activities for this year's Sophomore Parents Weekend running today, Thursday, and Sunday at Saint Mary's.

The activities begin this afternoon with the registration of parents and students participating in the events. Tonight is the first real event of the weekend, the sophomore class dinner at Century Center. The dinner begins at 7:30, and the speaker will be Dr. John Duggan, President of the College.

The weekend's activities conclude with a brunch for participating students and their parents from 9:30 to 10:30 Sunday morning in the dining hall.

"The format this year is the traditional format we use each year for Sophomore Parents Weekend," said Lee Ann Franks, chairman of the event.

"We are planning events in October and we've been making arrangements ever since.

In addition to Franks, six people serve on the committee responsible for planning the events for this weekend, each with a separate staff. "Each of us is in charge of a different aspect of the weekend," Franks remarked. "It really takes a lot of work for everybody to get everything coordinated and put together.

Franks said that she expects close to 1,000 people at the dinner-dance, the weekend's most popular event.

"We've really been happy with the turnout this year. This year and last year were the best years we've ever had."
Overcomes Critics

Toto wins seven Grammy awards

LOS ANGELES (AP) - "If it were up to the critics, we wouldn't have won," Toto's Steve Lukather said moments after the Los Angeles rock band and its members claimed the last of seven Grammy awards.

The National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences' 25th annual awards were an evening of triumph for the six young studio veterans in Toto, which has enjoyed four years of quiet success despite some critics' claims that the band is bland.

"We're not really a bunch of pretty boys," Lukather shrugged Wednesday night. "We're just a bunch of musicians who like to play.

Toto was named album of the year and best engineered recording at the silver anniversary Grammy celebration, while the album's har­monious soft-rock hit single "Rosanna" earned record of the year honors and two arranging awards.

Toto also snagged the producer of the year award, and Lukather shared a best rhythm and blues songwriting Grammy with band members Jay Graydon and Bill Champlin for "Turn Your Love Around," the George Benson hit.

Toto was among a host of first-time Grammy winners who also included veterans Marvin Gaye, Lionel Richie, Melissa Manchester, Joe Cocker and Jennifer Warnes.

The record academy also honored some of its big winners of the past, including film score giant John Wil­liams, country crooner Willie Nel­son, rock songwriters Pat Benatar, Olivia Newton-John and comedian Richard Pryor.

Nelson's "Always on My Mind" broke Toto's stranglehold on the top male vocal awards.

Williams, composer of the familiar scores to "Star Wars" and "Superman" and instrumental arrangement awards for music to "R.I.T. The Extra­ terrestrial," won his first Grammy.

"We're not surprised at all," Williams said of the win. "I just hope I can keep representing country music.

NBC News, 1982

Law students advise poor in legal questions

By PAT MALLEY

News Staff

The task of bringing a case to court for a person with no ex­ perience with the American legal system is formidable one. For the poor who cannot afford to hire a lawyer, the process becomes frustrating, hopeless, and painful.

Part I of a program to aid the poor in this process, Five Notre Dame Law School professors will be induced into the federal court system today, looking to six other professors as advisors in the school's Legal Aid and Defense Association (LADA).

LADA is a totally independent stu­ dent organization which, among other services, provides free legal service for the poor.

"For an individual untrained in law to go in and represent himself and win is like me going into Yankee Stadium and striking out the lineup of a major league team," said Profes­ sor Frank Booker, director of Clini­ cal and Legal Aid at Notre Dame Law School. "It just doesn't happen."

The burden poor people have placed on the court by representing themselves has increased dramat­ically over the past years. The need for qualified legal representatives for these people has never been greater, said Booker.

The Indiana Federal Court has issued a study last year which allows student interns to prevent some of those unable to af­ ford a lawyer.

The approximately 90 members involved in the Indiana and Michi­ gan state courts do not charge for their representation, but provides the only cost is the fee for filing a suit.

"We hope they believe they benefit as much from the program as the poor might, for they gain valuable courtroom experience. One of the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.

"When we accept a case — and we don't have to take a case — we want to handle cases that have educational value.

"This work closely with faculty advisors with specialized skills who help us to prepare the cases. Professor Booker believes the unique combination of clinical experience and service is invaluable.

"Clinical education in law is equivalent to a medical internship for medicine," said the program's faculty advisor. Adelman after­ ward, "I think there isn't a sig­ nificant student value to the program's executive directors, law student Scott Medlock, stressed the academic advantages of the ex­ perience.
Saudis threaten OPEC boycotts

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Saudi Arabia held last-ditch talks with Libya yesterday in an effort to forestall a new oil price reduction agreement within OPEC. But in forming the talks, Saudi spokesmen indicated the kingdom was growing increasingly skeptical of reaching an accord and might boycott a recent meeting of the cartel.

Oil analyst Sheri Soltani Saudi Yamani met for two hours at his office with the Libyan minister, Kamel Hassan Maghur, a younger, Suited reporters, and Maghur said he had no "comment" on their discussions.

Meanwhile, Venezuelan Energy Minister Humberto Calderon Berti conferred in Paris with his counterparts from Kuwait, Algeria and Mexico. Mexico, which is not an OPEC member, called for intensification of contacts among OPEC and non-OPEC producers to avoid an all-out price war for the cartel.

The Saudis are believed to be trying to rally the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and other producers around a new base price of $40 a barrel.

They are facing dissent from some of their Gulf Arab Allies, who are reported demanding immediate action. There also is opposition from what the Saudis call "non-OPEC" states, including Iran and Libya as well as Nigeria and Ecuador, which already have broken the $43 base.

Informed sources said the Saudis may not attend any new OPEC meeting unless an agreement is assured of passing.

"The current negotiations in Riyadh are the last chance to save what can be saved," for OPEC and the world economy, said the leading Saudi newspaper Al-Riyadh. The paper said the "first wave of recession" in a price war would inundate all oil producers.

The list of cuts began last week when Britain and Norway reduced their price of their North Sea crude. Nigeria followed Sunday by cutting its $5.50 off the price of its oil, bringing the per barrel price to $50. Even $50 in the oil price, the price of gasoline pump should drop two cents a gallon.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz said in Atlanta, Ga., yesterday that the decline in world oil prices will promote U.S. growth.

New York studies

Diet supplement eases suffering

NEW YORK (AP) — A non-prescription dietary supplement taken in combination with a low-protein, high-carbohydrate diet has signaled that chronic pain is in less of the participants.

The diet apparently works by boosting levels of serotonin, a natural, pain-relieving chemical in the brain, said Dr. Samuel Seltzer, an assistant professor in the Temple University School of Dentistry in Philadelphia.

"It's the first time it's been shown, as far as we know, that through dietary manipulation you can alter a patient's pain threshold," Seltzer said in a telephone interview.

...EPA

continued from page 1

announced yesterday were:

Alfred M. Zuck, an assistant secretary of labor for administration and management, to be an acting in-\srances for administration for administra-

John P. Hutton had been the assistant administrator for ad-until he was dismissed on Wednesday.

Charles Dumper, the inspector general at the Department of Housing and Urban Development, to be the acting inspector general.

Mary W. Novick had been the inspec-ator general at the EPA until he was dismissed on Wednesday.

...Coed

continued from page 1

perience will occur in a "more mature and realistic environment."

In the surveys, students were able to state their preference for a variety of coed arrangements. These hypothetical situations included a dorm with males and females living on different floors, with males and females living on the same floors, and with males and females living on different wings, but not necessarily on different floors.

Parties were also asked if they would leave their dorm to live in a coed dorm, and if they would still leave their dorm if it were converted into a coed facility.

Survey results indicate that the majors of those who were questioned would prefer a dorm which was not necessarily coed, but it was converted into a coed facility.

Survey results indicate that a majority of those were questioned would prefer a dorm which was not necessarily coed, but it was converted into a coed facility.
WASHINGTON (AP) - A government commission put much of the blame yesterday on President Franklin D. Roosevelt for the World War II internment of 120,000 people of Japanese descent, but stopped short of recommending cash compensation for that "grave injustice."

Nonetheless, it appeared certain that compensation will be recommended when the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians issues its proposals to Congress, probably in June. By then, the commission is expected to have completed a study of the economic suffering arising from the two-year internment of the entire West Coast community of ethnic Japanese.

The commission found that race hatred, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership were the root causes of the episode, generally regarded as a blot in the nation's history.

But Roosevelt, as the nation's leader, received much of the blame in the commission's report issued yesterday.

The wartime leader signed the detention order "with any careful or thorough review of the situation," the commission said; he did nothing to calm war hysteria aimed at the Japanese on the West Coast, he remained silent when his navy secretary falsely reported that Japanese espionage helped bring about America's costly defeat at Pearl Harbor, and he delayed the release of the Japanese for 18 months, the commission said.

Stimson said it could no longer be justified as a military measure.

The Japanese American Citizens League, which had pressed for the study, welcomed the report and called on the commission's members to recommend that internment and their heirs be compensated.

Some members of Congress have proposed paying $25,000 to interned persons or their heirs.

But at a news conference, commission members said side-stepping the issue. They said they wanted to focus attention on the detentions in their 467-page report, "Personal Justice Denied."

The commission declared there was no military necessity behind Roosevelt's decision, taken 10 days after Pearl Harbor. Roosevelt was urged to take the step by Stimson and particularly by the late Lt. Gen. John J. DeWitt, who was in charge of West Coast defenses.

DeWitt argued that even "Americanized" third generation Japanese-Americans were threats because of their racial ties to "an enemy race."

The commission said those who ordered the mass internment could offer no rational justification except 'political pressure and fear.'

Under Roosevelt's Executive Order 9066, American citizens of Japanese descent and Japanese immigrants were imprisoned from working, going to school, or traveling on the West Coast.

Allowed to take no more than a suitcase, they were rounded up in "assembly centers" - racetracks and airfields - and then taken to "relocation centers." 10 black barracks camped in desolate areas in California, Arizona, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, and Arkansas.

Many lost their homes, farms, automobiles, and cars before being allowed to return in late 1944.
Sometimes you have to have the price

Editorials

Friday, February 25, 1983 — page 7

Life can be called a conglomerate of deci- sions, some of them on the basis of whether we choose to believe in a course of action or another. These decisions often have both immediate and long-term effects. In many situations, future results are difficult to determine, but in some instances, we can predict fairly accurately what will take place and how people will react to it. It is as though, when we have a fairly good idea of what will take place in the future, that decisions become much more difficult to make. People generally do not pick a course of ac-

Action Friday Analysis

Randy Fahs

Which other peoples will not like. What is so important is that you really can do in a way that best fits the situation, based on the information that you have at that moment. What about the reactions of others? You can't merely disregard them, the costs of ignoring other people's values and in-

Unfortunately, in our society people worry about pleasing everyone before they are ready to set the pace. This separations. Each day we have to make many choices, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

0. Box Q

P.
A burnt-out smoker

If need from this holy season of Lent is the grace to give up smoking. It’s not too much to ask from God, it is delivery from a habit that keeps me broke and leaves pin point burns on my black shirts through hole in my t-shirts shirt. I have only three cigarettes left, besides the one I’m smoking. I haven’t a dime to my name. I want to be free of a vice, (which is a lovely vice, or wouldn’t have to have one in the first place. If God really loved me, he would give me the strength. If he really cared, he would keep me from getting skeptical about faith. I’m no use to him if I am a sinner. One little moral miracle would be proof enough. He listens to prayer. I just lit up again. Now there are three cigarettes left in the pack. When those three are gone, I’ll start rummaging through ashtrays for half smoked butts. I’ll start bumming filter tips, because filter tips are the only kind that doesn’t seem to smoke. Smoking through filters is

Nick LaFlame

Memories of pain, personal

Theater Preview

I imagine yourself, if you will, as a teenager girl in 1933. You are the daughter of a reasonably well known

Michael F. Kelly

concert reviews

Mozart’s town; Prague was the birthplace of “Don Giovanni” because of the town’s near notorious acceptance of “The Marriage of Figaro.” But I was skeptical of any value of conductors to audiences. Mozart’s Chamber Orchestra proved last night through three incredible encores. The chamber orchestra’s musicality of the highest quality can be produced without the interpretive personality of a conductor. “The Prague” was simply stupendous. Should I have expected level? I must almost think I did. I knew that the orchestra was the object of rave reviews throughout the course of its few American tours. I knew the orchestra had originated in one hundred years ago. Mozart’s Symphony no. 5 in D major provided a fitting finale for this wonderful group from his town. The crowd was once again on its feet, and even this disinterested critic abandoned his one-man crusade against ovation. The Prague’s ratting of Saint Mary’s audiences by the late Lee Strasbourg, it was seen first as a theatrical documentary on the dance marathon. Nevertheless, Bain feels that this does not

Prague does three

There are few chances for you to find a job, let alone make a name for yourself. Marathon is, the latest production of the Notre Dame-Saint Mary’s Theatre, tells how one girl in such a situation entered the strange world of the dance marathon. It is a classic coming of age tale as the protagonist, known simply as June, proves to herself that she can survive in the brutal atmosphere of the dance marathon. It is almost a celebration of determination and of following dreams in a cruel world.

According to Reginald Bain, the play’s director, this may be troublesome for some people. The predominant rogue of the dance marathon was for many people based on the movie They Shoot Hoarse, Don’t They? in which a contestant is driven to suicide by the degradations and demeaning elements of such a marathon. However, Bain feels that the play was written in a warmer, more positive manner than the movie. The play is based on a section of Miss Havoc’s first autobiography, Early Harrow. First presented in 1963 by the Actors’ Studio under the late Lee Strasbourg, it was seen first as a theatrical documentary on the dance marathon. Nevertheless, Bain feels that this does not necessarily have to be so. He much prefers to see it as light of the autobiography and the reminiscences qualities
IRISH EXTRA

In Memoriam: ND hockey (1968-83)

Irish play host to Illinois-Chicago this weekend in last varsity series at the ACC

By STEVE LABATE
Sports Writer

This is it.

It's the long-awaited final scene. The Notre Dame hockey teams 'Shanga-la' under the ACC's North Dome has finally arrived.

The opponent for two games this weekend is Illinois-Chicago, and at stake is a CCHA playoff berth. If that is not enough to make this weekend special, then the fact that 20 young men will be playing their last varsity home game for the Irish surely qualifies it as such.

But above all else, the Notre Dame hockey team wants to make it to the playoffs, and finish this season in a vindictive blaze of glory. One victory this weekend will clinch the eighth and final CCHA playoff spot. It would appear that the Irish have everything in their favor. Over the last four games, they have earned five points against top-ranked Bowling Green and No. 4 Ohio State, two teams whose combined record this season is a spectacular 17-12-9. This weekend brings with it the players' moms and dads for the traditional Parents Weekend.

By ED DOMANSKY
Sports Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: Charles 'Lefty' Smith has served as Notre Dame's hockey coach since 1968. In fact, Smith has been the only coach the team has known since it gained varsity status. In his 15 years as head coach, Smith has experienced many things and collected many memories. In this article, the coach recalls some of those most memorable events.

When Lefty Smith thinks of Notre Dame hockey, he goes back to the beginning and his meeting with then-Athletic Director Moose Krause when the two discussed the brand new ACC and what Notre Dame would do with a varsity hockey program.

"I had always admired Notre Dame even though I hadn't gone to school here," says Smith. "I had admired it from the principles by which it stood, and to project yourself as possible being a part of the Notre Dame family, of course, was a very exciting time."

Since joining the Notre Dame family, Smith has witnessed many seasons — 15, in fact. He looks back fondly on two of his most memorable.

"The first one would be the inaugural season," says Smith. "There was so much that had to be done (he and assistant coach Tim McNeill had to set up the pro shop, buy all the necessary equipment for the team)."

"The second one was the team's mind in the 1972-'73 season. It was the first season in which Notre Dame finished second in the WCIA, won its first-round playoff series, and had a heartbreaker in the next round to eventual national champion Wisconsin."

"This was the highest anybody finished with a relatively new club," says the 52-year-old Smith. "If we had won that game you have to wonder what effect it might have had on the entire program."
The ones who made it big:

Alex Pirus ('76)

Position: Defenseman

Team: Minnesota North Stars

Current Team: Detroit Red Wings

Now retired from game

Achivements:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 144 (1981-82, 135)
  - By a left wing: 47 (1976-77, 126)
  - By a right wing: 47 (1973-74)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

Career Highlights:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 144 (1981-82, 135)
  - By a left wing: 47 (1976-77, 126)
  - By a right wing: 47 (1973-74)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 117 (1970-71, 132)
  - By a right wing: 117 (1970-71)

Career Statistics:

- Goals: 144
- Assists: 47
- Points: 191

Goaltending Records:

- Shutouts:
  - In a season: 2
  - In a career: 4

- Goals against average:
  - In a season: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)
  - In a career: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)

Notes:

- Now retired from game

---

Don Jackson ('78)

Position: Defenseman

Team: Minnesota North Stars

Current Team: Edmonton Oilers

Now in 3rd NHL season, second with the Oilers

Achivements:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 24 (1981-82, 140)
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)
  - By a right wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a center: 123 (1976-77, 152)

Career Highlights:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 24 (1981-82, 140)
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)
  - By a right wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a center: 123 (1976-77, 152)

Career Statistics:

- Goals: 72
- Assists: 78
- Points: 150

Goaltending Records:

- Shutouts:
  - In a season: 2
  - In a career: 4

- Goals against average:
  - In a season: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)
  - In a career: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)

Notes:

- Now in 3rd NHL season, second with the Oilers

---

Mark Kronholm

Position: Right Wing

Team: Minnesota North Stars

Current Team: Edmonton Oilers

Now in 3rd NHL season, second with the Oilers

Achivements:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 24 (1981-82, 140)
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)
  - By a right wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a center: 123 (1976-77, 152)

Career Highlights:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 24 (1981-82, 140)
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)
  - By a right wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a center: 123 (1976-77, 152)

Career Statistics:

- Goals: 72
- Assists: 78
- Points: 150

Goaltending Records:

- Shutouts:
  - In a season: 2
  - In a career: 4

- Goals against average:
  - In a season: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)
  - In a career: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)

Notes:

- Now in 3rd NHL season, second with the Oilers

---

Brian Walsh

Position: All-Time Leading Scorer

Team: Minnesota North Stars

Current Team: Now retired from game

Achivements:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 24 (1981-82, 140)
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)
  - By a right wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a center: 123 (1976-77, 152)

Career Highlights:

- Goals in a Season:
  - By a center: 24 (1981-82, 140)
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Goals against average:
  - By a left wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)
  - By a right wing: 22 (1976-77, 100)

- Points in a Season:
  - By a center: 123 (1976-77, 152)

Career Statistics:

- Goals: 72
- Assists: 78
- Points: 150

Goaltending Records:

- Shutouts:
  - In a season: 2
  - In a career: 4

- Goals against average:
  - In a season: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)
  - In a career: 2-2-1-10-80, Minnesota (80)

Notes:

- Now retired from game
In pursuit of goals

Hockey alumni—doctors and lawyers alike—credit ND with an assist for their success

By JANE HEALEY
Sports Writer

In the past 15 years, the Notre Dame hockey program has provided its fans with some astounding victories, some nail-biting losses, and perpetually exciting action.

More importantly though, in the last decade and a half, the Notre Dame hockey program has provided the real world with a corps of bright, quality young men who have found success in life after Notre Dame.

In times like these, when college athletics is under fire for numerous academic inadequacies, it is refreshing to learn about a program that is untouched by such corruption.

Boasting a 100 percent graduation rate, the program has sent 15 former players into higher education to pursue advanced degrees in medicine, law, engineering and business administration. The program has also produced five all-Americans while eight Irish alumni have spent time either in the NHL, or their related farm teams around the country. The other 70 players have successfully found their place in the workforce as accountants, teachers, executives and other reputable professionals.

Many of the alums don’t believe that it was just fate that turned out this fine group of people. They are convinced that it was the experiences they encountered at Notre Dame, and especially on the Notre Dame hockey team, that properly prepared them for their roles in life.

“I can’t believe that you could take a random sample and come up with the same fine quality of people that the Notre Dame hockey team has had,” says John Roselli, a former winger for Notre Dame from 1968-71 who is now a lawyer in Chicago and coaches a pee-wee hockey team from the northern suburbs. “It’s the success of the former players that has a lot to do with Notre Dame, but I think it’s more indicative of the type of kids that play hockey there.”

John Noble, who played center from 1969-73 and is the second leading scorer in Irish history, agreed with ex-teammate Roselli.

“First it’s a function of the type of standards that exist at Notre Dame,” Noble says. “But it’s also a result of the potential elite group of people that are on the hockey team.”

Noble cited valuable abilities such as self-discipline and decision-making as the gains he received from competition. It was those rewards that helped him later on.

Dr. Mike Collins, an orthopedic surgeon who also earned a law degree, played center for Notre Dame from 1968-70. For Collins, the discipline that Noble referred to was the key.

“It was definitely difficult to play and still be a good student,” he says. “But the discipline you learn is of utmost importance.”

The combination of academics and athletics was not the only balancing act the players had to perform, according to Ian Williams, who is now an accountant in Toronto.

“You gain training in a competitive environment,” Williams says. “You have to balance your own individual ideas with the ideas of others. That’s a fine line that carries on all throughout life.”

It’s easy to respect the opinions of others when you are able to respect the people themselves. As for Williams, he had no problem admiring his teammates.

“It was really a good experience to play with players that were of such a high quality — as people and players,” he says. “You can really help each other to play better. I’ve never played with as good players as I did at Notre Dame.”

The camaraderie and spirit among the players is an added benefit that the alums appreciated. Current assistant coach Len Moher, who played goalie in a Notre Dame uniform from 1974-76, cited that benefit as a top priority.

“Out of the No. 1 thing about playing four years for Notre Dame was playing with a class group of people,” Moher says. “I grew up in the East — 900 miles away from here. I came in with a big hockey class — 11 people. They were kids from all different parts of the country and different backgrounds.”

According to Brian Walsh, a former all America center at Notre Dame, Moher hit the nail on the head.
he was too late. This and those who have this year's underclassmen scheduled on a 7 a.m. flight for a former player, Don Jackson, which they had to be out of bed by currently a defenseman with the goals with three minutes to play, and announcement about dropping the emotional trauma of the final Smith's baby," about a block from the approaching room, and. called him from he came anyway.
In his 15 years, Smith has coached many fine players who were also fine gentlemen. But Smith does it difficult to choose any one player who best exemplifies Notre Dame hockey. "I look back," he, and" I don't think I could single out just one, but there were some very interesting ones.
One of the more intriguing stories involves former defensemen Pat McMahon who played with the Irish in 1968 and 1969. McMahon was at West Point in 1968, but left there the reference orientation wanting instead to enroll at Notre Dame. He only a few days before school started and it was too late for fall admission, but he was at another school.
"We showed him around, and he was hoping he could get in the second semester," says Smith. His transcript was reviewed and due to his fine academic record and a large number of cancellations, McMahon was accepted for the first semester.
"I'll never forget," recalls Smith. "The young man turned around and the first thing he did was go over to Sacred Heart to thank the good Lord for making this possible."
McMahon played for two seasons, but then let the team spend more time pursuing his engineering degree. "He went out and is now the head of an economic development corporation," says Smith.
Every one of Ledy's former players has graduated, and many have moved on to careers related to hockey. In light of the University's recent decision to drop hockey as a varsity sport, Smith too now must decide what his own future holds.
"Our first objective is for us to make the playoffs and to get the kids placed in the colleges of their choice," he says. "When that's over, I plan to sit down with Mr. (Gene) Corrigan (N.D.'s athletic director) and find out exactly what the future holds here at Notre Dame. I'll also sit down with my wife and kids and try to decide what will be best for us."
Smith couldn't give a definitive answer when asked if he would consider remaining as coach of the club team.
"I love hockey and I like working with kids," he says. "I like to believe that I can be of some help to at least a few people. Athletics have been so good to me that I feel I have a responsibility to give it back to it."
"As I look back over these 15 years, it has been so good to me as much as anything has been the spirit, the attitude and the personality of the University."
"I respect the University a great deal, and I would love to stay here."
"I don't know what I would want to stay in something that is going to be meaningless."

Friday, February 25, 1983 — page 4B

Brent Chapman

...Alumni

continued from page 1B

season. A good showing this weekend would go along towards embarking their prospects," commented Walsh.
Although the Flames do not have a big scoring punch, they are a physical team and are always a tough bunch to bring down.
"They have everything to gain and nothing to lose," says Smith. "They can be dangerous." Smith felt the Irish was one game and clinch a playoff spot, then depending on the other CCHA outcomes this weekend, Notre Dame would conceivably face either Bowling Green, Michigan State or Ohio State.
In terms of abilities, we would rather face Ohio State," says Smith. "The Buckeyes have the best facilities, but more likely we'll be facing Bowling Green." A win over Ohio State, however, is just around the corner and it and it will not be an easy one. The series will be saturated with emotions as parents and fans alike will be taking their feet at the Notre Dame hockey home ice.
The series will mark the culmination of a long season — one that has been marked with a fair share of injuries and drop outs, some larger than others.
What has it all meant to Ledy Smith? "I never thought I could have received knowing their value to the club," he says. "But the team showed potential, they didn't give up, they didn't get discouraged, there was no quit. There was a tremendous amount of character then and after all this stuff (the hockey announcement)."
It was the decision was to drop hockey, the student body blamed everyone but themselves. Unlike the case a few years ago, then the team showed that they were not too — it was his weekend however, the student body — and those who have attended games for the last 15 years — has a chance to say thank you to Notre Dame hockey by attending the final two home games.

continued from page 1B

the hockey team gave me a total perspective on life," he says. "It gave me an awareness of people in other places who are used to the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame taught me that the choices I made and the decisions I made were not just because of what I could do but how I was going to influence others by the choices I made.
Like many former athletes, they often have stories about games, memories about entire seasons, and often have the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame hockey exposed me to the other parts of life. All I was used to were people from the same type of environment and background.

Walsh began his Notre Dame career during those days, but he was a little bit different from everyone else on the team. Walsh was aware of the potential that existed in college sports, and Notre Dame is fortunate to have provided it to him.
When I look back over these 15 years, it has been so good to me as much as anything has been the spirit, the attitude and the personality of the University."
"I respect the University a great deal, and I would love to stay here."
"I don't know what I would want to stay in something that is going to be meaningless."

Walsh has the Notre Dame legacy follows him where he goes, and rightly so.
"People always ask me, 'aren't you Brian Walsh the all-American hockey player from Notre Dame?'" Walsh says. "It's easy to talk about things that weren't always related to how many goals we scored or the penalty minutes we got."
The friendships made on the Notre Dame hockey team and the memories gained during those days will never leave the former players.
"One big highlight of college was the ties I made both at Notre Dame and especially on the hockey team," says McMahon, who is now the Alumni-Development Director for MacMurray College in Illinois. "I still hear from my teammates — who I have the opportunity to have received that cherished deal, and I would love to stay at Notre Dame."

Walsh is a former Irish captain, expressed sincere regret over the situation with such clarity and emotion that it is easy to understand why the alums are so upset.
"I came from an Irish, Catholic family of 11 kids," Walsh said. "The only way I could have gone to Notre Dame is by playing hockey. There are other Brian Walshes out there who will be denied the opportunity to have received that cherished deal, and I would love to stay at Notre Dame."

The Notre Dame hockey alumni are a fine example of the potential that exists in college athletics. They prove that an athlete can achieve success both on the field of competition and in his life after college.
These players are proud of their accomplishments, and they carry their memories throughout life. They were fortunate to have received that cherished opportunity, and Notre Dame is fortunate to have provided it to such a fine group of people.
But for the students, this year's underclassmen and the would-be future generations of Notre Dame hockey players -- that opportunity has been denied.

continued from page 1B

The hockey team gave me a total perspective on life," he says. "It gave me an awareness of people in other places who are used to the same type of environment and background. Notre Dame taught me that the choices I made and the decisions I made were not just because of what I could do but how I was going to influence others by the choices I made.
version and endurance of the book. Because Marathon 33 is not rigidly structured, it has been relatively easy to center the play around the protagonist's emergence as her own self instead of around the ordeal she underwent to find herself.

While the historical uniqueness of the dance marathon will be downplayed, it will not be ignored. According to Bain, Washington Hall, site of the production, has an ambiance which is well suited to the play.
Robert Banks of Hampton, Va., one of the nation's top attic hunters, will be one of the first-time team all-star selection by The Associated Press on both offense and defense, announced his decision Wednesday. Earlier, he had been an All-American at Virginia universities -- Ohio State, UCLA, North Carolina, Virginia and Notre Dame. -- AP

Professor Mike DeCicco's Notre Dame fences are advancing fast three Big Ten in fencing teams: the University of Wisconsin, the University of Illinois and the University of Minnesota tomorrow afternoon. -- The Observer

See SPORTS BRIEFS, page 12
weekend's crucial wins at Bradley and Illinois State, and Marquette will have to look to avoid playing inside the bigger, stronger Irish.

Keys both came off the bench last weekend's crucial wins at Bradley and Illinois State, and Marquette will have to look to avoid playing inside the bigger, stronger Irish.

The Blue Demons' scoring leader was Freshman Tanislao. Atsaves.

The Best in Aged Steaks
120 N. Main Street
DePaul, Mississippi
255-7737
for reservations
Lunch 11:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M.
Closed Sundays & Holidays

Francesco's Italian Dining
Original Southern Italian Home Cooking
Everything homemade, the way you like it.

Penne pasta
1636 N. Ironwood
Ph. 277-6566
Delivery Available to NID & SMC

DEALERS AND WINE
10% discount on dinners and any large pizzas with coupon to NID & SMC students

Philadelphia Club
Spring Break Bus Sign-Ups
Thursday, March 1
7:00 PM
2nd Floor, Lafayette
Full payment due at this time

NOTRE DAME'S GREAT BOOKS PROGRAM
Consider a truly HUMANISTIC EDUCATION talk with faculty members and students
Monday February 28, 6:30 pm GRACE PIT PROGRAM OF LIBERAL STUDIES

Spring training '83
Indians' Ferraro back from cancer

TI CSON, AZ (AP) - Two weeks after undergoing surgery to remove a cancerous tumor, Mike Ferraro was back in the dugout yesterday at the Cleveland Indians' training camp feeling lucky, very fortunate to be here. The first-year manager dressed in slacks nearby as his goal was to get around the camp.

This is a big year for the 38-year-old Ferraro. After 17 years in professional baseball, mostly with the New York Yankees, he got his first shot at managing when the Indians demoted Dave Garcia.

Then, as Ferraro prepared for the off-season and spring training, doctors told him they had found a tumor on his left kidney and it had to be removed.

The tumor was cancerous, but doctors said its removal had prevented the cancer from spreading.

"I went into this thing right up to the last day thinking it was nothing serious," Ferraro said as he watched the players work out. "I was just thinking it was a flabby issue or something.

He was admitted to a hospital in Fort Lauderdale where he lived during the off-season and spring training.

He said he began to worry before this season that there was a "good chance" the tumor was malignant. But after the doctors said they had dealt with the cancer, Ferraro began to think again about baseball.

"I have to have faith in the doctors that they did diagnose it right and accept that they did it correctly," he said.

Now, buoyed by the doctor's assurances and the gradual easing of the pain, Ferraro looks ahead to the new season — but with a different outlook.

"The operation is going to let me have a more carefree outlook on life," he said. "If something goes wrong, it's not going to be the end of the world.

Ferraro smiled as he recounted an incident in the hospital. It was the third day after his surgery.

"I was getting up — really struggling — and a kid came in and said, 'Mr. Ferraro, I know this is probably a bad time, but can I get a job interview?' he recalled. "I told him, 'Yeah, it's a bad time. Just call the Yankees or something.'"

Doctors have told him it could take up to six weeks from the Feb. 10 operation for him to be 100 percent. Meanwhile, he must sit and watch.

"I've been a coach for a long time and to sit back and watch is really different," said Ferraro.

Sophomore guard Laura Doughearty hit a jumper last weekend to beat Illinois State last Saturday and put Notre Dame in the driver's seat to earn a tournament bid. The Irish women must win at Marquette and DePaul this weekend to solidify that position. Mike Ricciardi previews the women's weekend on the back page. (Photo by Scott Bowler)
Michigan cruises to upset IU

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE  – Michigan led by as many as 20 at one point and coasted to a 93-63 victory over Illinois in Big Ten basketball.

The Wolverines (13-9, 6-6) cut their way through the eighth-ranked Illini (21-2, 8-4), who were coming off a win over Northwestern.

Jesus Carrillo, Michigan’s leading scorer with 18 points, had six assists and three steals.

Seven-foot center Kevin Willis, who pumped in 18 points to lead a Big Ten Conference college basketball victory over Wisconsin last night.

The win lifted Iowa into a fourth-place tie with Illinois, both 8-6 in the conference. The Buckeyes’ overall record is 16-7-6 overall.

Hansen scored the 16th Iowa player to go over 1,000 points. The former club guard scored 17 points in the first half and made 9 of 11 shots from the field and 6 of 6 from the free throw line, as he put his career total to 1,000.

The Buckeyes fell to 9-5 in the Big Ten, 17-7 overall. Michigan State took the record to 5-8, and 12-11.

Skyes with 35

EAST LANSING, Mich. – Freshman Scott Skiles sparked a late rally with six straight free throws in the game’s final minute last night to lead Michigan State to a 101-94 triple overtime Big Ten victory over 15th-ranked Ohio State.

Skiles, who finished with a career-high 49 points, sent the game into the third overtime on a jumper over Buckeye guard Tony Campbell to make it 97-91.

Campbell, who finished with 29 points, had seven seconds left on the shot clock when he sent the game into the second overtime.

Ohio State started slow with trouble scoring, especially from inside. Michigan State scored 12 straight points in one stretch and took a 39-29 halftime lead. Ohio State was out rebounded 22-19 in the first half, and shot 40 percent from the field.

The Buckeyes pressed full court.

The Big Ten victory over Ohio State cut the Buckeyes’ first lead of the game at 90-87. The Buckeyes’ first lead of the game at 5-9.

Skiles with 35

MSU needs 3 OTs to bag Buckeyes

continued from page 10

The Interhall swim meet scheduled for Monday has been rescheduled to Tuesday, March 6 at 8 p.m., NVA announced yesterday. – The Observer

The Irish women’s swimmers are in Chicago this weekend for the Midwest Invitation meet. Coach Dennis Stark’s swimmers are preparing for the regionals early next month. – The Observer

The Notre Dame track team is trying to send some of its members to the Dome’s Pizza Relay in Tallahassee, Florida and 1990 State Hosting is holding the meet, and Dome’s in South Bend is trying to hold send them. With a contribution coupon which has appeared in The Observer, students can earmark a dollar for the purpose of sending the athletes to Florida when they purchase a pizza.

The weekend, however, the team will be in St. Augustine to take part in the Illini Classic. – The Observer

Prospective cheerleaders take note. There will be an organizational meeting for those interested in trying out for the 1983-84 squad on Tuesday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lafayette Ballroom. – The Observer

The Ultimate Frisbee Club will be practicing behind Jay Kline field, weather permitting. The practices will run from 3-50 to 5:00 Monday through Friday. New members are welcome. – The Observer

1983 Senior Formal

“The Main Event”

April 9, 1983

Palmer House, Chicago

Seniors, share a bid with afriend

Bids go on sale March 7-11 at Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame

UNIVERSITY PARK CINEMA

Grape & Cleveland Roads 227-0441

Fri & Sat MOVIES AT MIDNIGHT

The Music

The Movie

Experience

ROCKY

HORROR

Irish Special

Two for One

with this ad
Dooley dismayed as Walker leaves UGa

ATLANTA (AP) - University of Georgia football coach Vince Dooley said Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker had little guidance from those closest to him and did not really do what he wanted by signing the most lucrative contract in pro football history.

Walker, a three-time All-America tailback who would have been a senior next season, signed Wednesday with the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League for a reported $5 million over three years. The contract was signed just hours after the University of Georgia declared him ineligible.

The signing of the 29-year-old Walker by the fledgling league in retaliation against college coaches and the rival National Football League and upset Dooley, who returned immediately from a Colorado speaking engagement to Athens, Ga., Wednesday night.

And USFL commissioner Cht Simmons issued a statement in New York yesterday saying the league initially was approached by Walker’s attorney, Jack Manton, about playing in the league. Then Walker personally contacted the league himself, reiterating his desire to play in 1983, the statement said.

Simmons also said Walker told the league he had made similar overtures to the NFL and the Canadian Football League.

CFL spokesman Greg Fulton, however, denied yesterday that Walker or a representative had approached them and said that under league rules a team cannot sign an import who is an undergraduate.

The American Football Coaches Association, angered by the signing, said Thursday it plans to meet March 5 with the NCAA pro Relations Committee and USFL officials. Executive Director Charlie McClendon said he was arranging the meeting.

Later, though, the AFCA issued a more formal statement by McClendon from Orlando, Fla., asking its members to reserve decision on how to react to the signing until the organization’s meeting.

In New York, Don Wees, the NFL’s executive director, denied that the signing of Walker would trigger a full-scale salary war for college talent.

Dooley said yesterday he was upset with Walker and was convinced his former star tailback didn’t receive guidance from those closest to him when it was needed most.

"A lot of you have said Herschel lied to me. Yes, he did, but my children have lied to me about some very important things. Yes, I’m mad and I’m hurt that he lied. But those things happen and it doesn’t stop you from loving them," Dooley told a group of reporters in an athletic domitory classroom.

Manton said he expects to receive a more formal statement by McClendon from Orlando, Fla., asking its members to reserve decision on how to react to the signing until the organization’s meeting.

When famous bowler Don Carter invited 23 Kingpins to the First Lite Beer Bowling Tournament, it seemed like a great idea.

It was the guys who drink Lite Beer from Miller because it tastes great, against the guys who drink it because it’s less filling. And again, the All-Stars proved they’re in a league by themselves.

After a lot of pins (and quite a few Lite Beers) went down and the smoke finally cleared, the score was

...continued from page 10

\[ \text{Scores} \]

\[ \text{continued from page 10} \]

Wolverine State 81. Creighton 71
Kearney State 71. Oral Roberts 70
\[ \text{continued from page 10} \]

Morton 89, Urbana 60

Eustis-Tennant State 82. Western Carolina 80
Washington State 84. Saint Mary’s 80
North Dakota State 80. Idaho State 71
Massachusetts 77, Wagner College 72

Winston-Hamilton 76, North Carolina-Chronicle 93

tied, with only one man left to go. Rodney Dangerfield.

All he needed now was one pin. A look at his scorecard in top form, got the same amount of pins as he gets respect. None.

Everywhere you’re likely to win, Rodney Dangerefield.

Teammate Ben Davidson felt Rodney deserved a break, or at least a fracture. Billy Martin didn’t argue with that. Jim Honochick couldn’t believe his eyes. Neither could Marv Throneberry.

So the First Lite Beer Bowling Tournament ended in a draw. And the argument over the best thing about Lite was left unsettled.

But there was one thing everyone agreed on. It was truly everything you always wanted in a bowling tournament. And less.

\[ \text{From left to right: Bubba Smith, Dick Butkus, Frank Robinson, Jim Honschuck, Ben Davidson, Don Carter, Billy Martin, Matt Swell, Rodney Dangerfield, John Madden, Mickey Gillard, Les Morgan, Nick Buoniconti, Mike Torrence, Tommy Helmsing, Bob Powell, Rodney March, Steve Yount, Dean Jones, Boom Boom Woodward and Dick Williams.} \]
Wrestling's rebirth

Bruno a 'renaissance' coach

By LOUIE SOMOGYI
Sports Writer

Even so gradually, Notre Dame has been building to be a force in the Midwestern wrestling scene.

One has to look no further than to its third-year head coach, Brother Joseph Bruno, C.S.C., to understand why such tremendous progress has taken place.

After a 6-9-1 record in his first year, he has taken a program that has had only 11 winning seasons in its 27-year history and moved it to its two greatest seasons in the last two years. Last year the team finished 15-2-1, and this year the mark has been upped to 18-2 as the team enters the NCAA Midwest Regional tomorrow.

What makes this accomplishment all the more amazing and encouraging is that 25 of the 30 members on the wrestling roster are either freshmen or sophomores (4 of the former and 11 of the latter). Of the eight weight classes in which Notre Dame will be wrestling this weekend, six of the spots are held by sophomores and one by a freshman.

Has the foundation for a future dynasty been laid?

"There is no limit to how far our program can go," says Bruno, "but there is still a long way to go for us in order before we can be a top program. We are ahead of schedule, though, in terms of personnel. Last year was especially a great year for recruiting wrestlers with great academic backgrounds."

Bruno Joseph Bruno, C.S.C.

"As long as we have an admissions office it will be very difficult for us to achieve a dynasty. Many of the best wrestlers that I am after pass right through my hands because of the admission standards."

You will never hear Bruno complain about such inconsistencies, though. Indeed, there is probably not a better advocate of the benefits of education to not only life in general but to athletics. Calling him a wrestling coach is like calling Leonardo DaVinci a painter - it doesn't tell the whole story.

His educational background includes a bachelor's degree in English and French from St. Edward's University in Texas, another bachelor's in musicology and a master's degree in humanities from San Jose State University. He has also studied and done research in psychology and exercise physiology.

Currently he is working on attaining a doctoral degree from Stanford University by doing research with pertinent implications for interdisciplinary-humanistic studies, and specific applications to concerns about the psychology of athletics. He studies this cognitive psychology while also serving as the coordinating supervisor and coach of non-varsity weight-training and coaching numerous wrestling tournaments and clinics along with being active in several committees, partaking in one of his favorite hobbies by photographing wrestling action, and coordinating the fasting recruiting efforts.

"It would be nice to be able to coach too," he jokes. "Notre Dame is a place that consumes you. For those who like to be fully dedicated, it's just the kind of atmosphere you want."

One atmosphere he does not want to get involved with for now is the one where he teaches in a classroom (despite having taught from grade school to doctoral level for 18 years).

"Education today is riddled with problems," he says. "Until I can find my niche in university education where students are treated primarily as people and not simply as computer-information gatherers, I'll devote most of my time to wrestling and weight training programs where I can have a more direct influence on the lives of the people with whom I am working."

"For me, subject matter is secondary to the personal development of the individual. After 18 years of teaching and coaching I've found that coaching totally relevant to real life and teaching only remotely so because of others' preconceived notions, expectations, etc., concerning education."

Bruno is pleased that the title "Head Coach" doesn't limit him to the stereotype many people have of coaches who eat, drink, and sleep their sport while just using an athlete as a machine, rather than also caring about him.

"I think it's important to integrate everything into your life," he says. "We should try to be religious men as well as intellectuals and athletes."

He even manages to keep his religious title of "Brother" into perspective.

"Religion has to be integrated like everything else, but you shouldn't go overboard," he says. "I think it's important to integrate everything into your life, but you shouldn't go overboard."

In short, he is everything that Notre Dame looks for in a leader.

"I've got everything anybody could ask for in one package," he says. "I'm coaching wrestling, coordinating weight training, and I'm with my religious family in an academic setting."

And Notre Dame has everything they look for in a individual package in return.
Concert, Oak

Ticket Price: $18 includes ticket, ND - DEPAUL GAME

Notes
- Tickets can be picked up at SU offices, 2nd floor Lafortune
- COME CHEER THE FIGHTING IRISH ON TO VICTORY!!

---

Simone Wellesley

Jeb Cashin

---

The Daily Crossword

THURSDAY'S SOLUTION

Across

1. Mail for a male
2. Tethered
3. "II — a million dollars"
4. Keel
5. Cassowary
6. Accuse
7. Sachet
8. Caddoan
9. Gallop
10. Predicted
11. "It can't happen —"
12. Sunbelt
13. Songs of Schubert
14. More
15. In music, opp. of dim
16. Legal claim
17. Approval
18. Tajan
19. London
20. Fish
21. Saint
22. Space
23. Smokey
24. 34 PM
25. Horus'
26. 33 PM
27. "If -"
28. "Nothing Fr."
29. El Camino
30. Inigo
31. Profit
32. Tenancy
33. Sox
34. "The Little Red Hen"
35. "There is no God!"
36. Hugs
37. S.A. nation
38. Whiskey
39. Dophina
40. Horn
41. Breathed
42. "On the floor -"
43. Crosses
44. "I saw the Angel of Death"
45. "A myth"
46. "A myth"
47. "Enjoy the ride -"
48. "May the man"
49. "An open door"
50. "Theater"
51. "A dance"
52. "A dance"
53. "The turkey"
54. "A dance"
55. "A dance"
56. "A dance"
57. "A dance"
58. "A dance"
59. "A dance"
60. "A dance"
61. "A dance"
62. "A dance"

Down

1. King of the Huns
2. Check or coat
4. Bright fish
5. Abu
6. Wild
7. "B.S.A, word"
8. Pig
9. Scuffle
10. Enronated
11. "I-27"
12. Luigi's
13. Hold back
14. "It's true -"
15. "Keep memories -"
16. "I'll sit on your lap"
17. "On the floor -"
18. "A myth -"
19. "A myth"
20. "A myth"
21. "A myth"
22. "A myth"
23. "A myth"
24. "A myth"
25. "A myth"
26. "A myth"
27. "A myth"
28. "A myth"
29. "A myth"
30. "A myth"
31. "A myth"
32. "A myth"
33. "A myth"
34. "A myth"
35. "A myth"
36. "A myth"
37. "A myth"
38. "A myth"
39. "A myth"
40. "A myth"
41. "A myth"
42. "A myth"
43. "A myth"
44. "A myth"
45. "A myth"
46. "A myth"
47. "A myth"
48. "A myth"
49. "A myth"
50. "A myth"
51. "A myth"
52. "A myth"
53. "A myth"
54. "A myth"
55. "A myth"
56. "A myth"
57. "A myth"
58. "A myth"
59. "A myth"
60. "A myth"
61. "A myth"
62. "A myth"

---

Campus

Friday, Feb. 25

1. 1:45 p.m. — Writer's Workshop, Sophomore Literary Festival, Jim Carroll, Library Lounge
2. 3:15 p.m. — Workshop, "The Public Sector vs. the Private Sector: The Worth of Government Inefficiency and Its Deleterious Effect on Alternative Economic Bases," Karl Freim, 551 O'Shaughnessy
3. 5:45 p.m. — Philosophy Colloquium, Dr. George Beiler, Library Lounge
4. 7:15 p.m. — Mass and Supper, Bulls Shed, Sponsored by Campus Ministry
5. 9:11 p.m. — Film, "Jazz singer," SMC Car­roll Hall, Sponsored by S. 491
6. 9:45 p.m. — Stations of the Cross, Father Ed­mund P. Joyce C.S.C., Sacred Heart Church
7. 9:50 p.m. — Hockey, ND v. Illinois-Chicago Circle, ACC Fieldhouse
8. 10:00 p.m. — Friday Night Film Series, "Cape's Knee," Annenberg Auditorium, 92
9. 10:30 p.m. — Reading, Sophomore Literary Festival, Larry Woznow, Library Auditorium
10. 11:00 p.m. — NDS/SMC Theatre Production, "Marathon'54," Washington Hall, 53 for adults and 3 20 for students
11. 11:00 p.m. — Lecture, "Person to Person, Heart to Heart, Our Relationship to God," Fr. Steve Bevers, Library Auditorium, Sponsored by Sophomore Class
12. 11:00 p.m. — Tri-Military Ball, Monogram Room of ACC
13. 11:00 p.m. — NAZZ, Choir-Cloak Night at the NAZZ

Saturday, Feb. 26

1. 12:30 p.m. — Basketball, ND Men vs. DePaul, Rosemont Horizon, Televised by CB
2. 1:45 p.m. — Writer's Workshop, Sophomore Literary Festival, Larry Woznow, Library Lounge
3. 3:15 p.m. — Writer's Workshop, Sophomore Literary Festival, Larry Woznow, Library Lounge
4. 5:45 p.m. — Reading, Sophomore Literary Fest­ival, Tom Hanson, Library Auditorium
5. 7:00 p.m. — Concert, Oak Ridge Boys, ACC, $12.50 per person
6. 7:00 p.m. — NDS/SMC Theatre Production, "Marathon'54," O'Loughlin Auditorium, 53 for adults and 1 20 for students
7. 7:00 p.m. — NAZZ, Magic and Comedy Night at the NAZZ

Sunday, Feb. 27

1. 12:30 p.m. — Track, Midwest-Cities Conference, ACC Fieldhouse
2. 1:45 p.m. — Bengal Mission Bouts, ACC Arena, $1, 60 + $1
3. 2:00 p.m. — Freshman Luten Reflection Service, Auditorium of Morgan Seminar, Sponsored by Freshman Advisory Council
4. 4:30 p.m. — BCAF Soul Dinner, in the Dining Hall
5. 6 p.m. — Meet-Your-Major Program, Economics, 101 O'Shaughnessy
6. 6 p.m. — Meet-Your-Major Program, Soci­ology, 551 O'Shaughnessy
7. 6 p.m. — Speakers, Becoming Together, Ter­ry and Digger Phillips, Annenberg Auditorium, Sponsored by Women's Advisory Council
8. 7:00 p.m. — Meet-Your-Major Program, Philosophy, 551 O'Shaughnessy
9. 8 p.m. — Lecture, 2nd of the 2-part series, "Person to Person, Heart to Heart, Our Relation­ship to God," Fr. Steve Bevers, Library Auditorium
10. 8:15 p.m. — Organ Concert, Heinz Wunderlich, Sacred Heart Church

---

Weekend Specials

At Senior Bar

Fri - Jack Daniel's shots and drinks

Sat - Vodka Tonic Special
Men's basketball

Digger looks for Horizon magic

By RICH O'CONNOR

Sporst Writer

ROSEMONT, Ill. — Four months ago, Digger Phelps was playing the high school game in Georgia, but he had the intent of developing an instinct for survival in his young players. Today, the Notre Dame coach will test what may now be a fully developed instinct.

After losing five of their first six road games, the Irish have rebounded with two straight victories on the road over North Carolina and DePaul — teams that went on to upset North Carolina and Georgetown respectively.

Notre Dame hopes to bring its newfound road success to The Horizon in suburban Chicago — the site of one of the brightest moments in the careers of Irish senior John Paxson. The Purdue and Bill Varner. It was one of those moments Notre Dame basketball is known for.

The year was 1981. Virginia was riding high as the nation's top ranked team and they came here to take on Notre Dame. The game came out on top 57-56 thanks to an “18- foot fadeaway prayer” by Orlando Woolridge.

Two weeks later, the Irish returned home to take on DePaul, only to lose 74-64, and see Woolridge suffer a thigh contusion that would sideline him, and Notre Dame's tournament play.

But there are things different. Woolridge, Kelly Tripucka, and Tracy Jackson have been gone for two years. Last season, the 17 disaster, the Irish are reeling heading into the Saturday matchup and watched those games on television.

John Paxson, however, was here two years ago.

"Paxson has put in so much of his life in one year with the Tiger, blended in," says Phelps. "He's allowed the Irish to achieve the balance we're looking for.

It's a balance the Irish will need as they go up against a quick Blue Devil squad under the direction of Duke's Mark Williams. For DePaul coach, manner, an ND grad, is America's winningest active coach with 600 career victories.

Forty of those with whom this season, as Meyer and his son Joey — already named to succeed him in the coaching position, has been involved in negotiations with Chet Simmons. In short, Walker made his services available to the highest bidder.

Two underclassmen also start in the backcourt, one more Kenny Patterson and DePaul's star man Tony Jackson combine for 15 points while running the Notre Dame backcourt.

DePaul's depth at guard is obvious. Bernard Randolph, the team's leading scorer with 15 a game, has averaged five points a game, and Raymond McCoy round out the Blue Demon backcourt.

In the pivot spot for DePaul is 6-foot-10 senior Bert Burikovski, averaging five points and two rebounds a game. Spellings Burikovski is 6-9 Wally Newton.

The DePaulers will be gunning for their third consecutive win. Notre Dame last defeated DePaul in 1998. That game saw top-ranked and eventual Notre Dame "76-74" in a double overtime.

"This game probably means even more than Notre Dame's most recent win, even though neither of us is in the Top 10 this year," says Digger. "It's a must game for both of us if we want to get an NCAA invitation.

"We've got to neutralize DePaul's quickness and play the tempo we want. We've got to keep them out of their transition game and try to frustrate them into mistakes and make no mistakes of our own.

What the Irish are trying to get through the tournament is the NCAA Tournament, where another instinct will be put to the test. That instinct is the killer instinct, and it is needed for the Irish to develop it tomorrow.

Let's get a few things straight right off the bat. I think Herschel Walker made a very wise decision. I'm not about to nit-pick about losing that decision in a very wise manner.

I'm hoping that man against the man — except for the fact that he lied.

Walker will now make a vast amount of money. He doesn't have to risk never getting that money by toiling in the college ranks — above which he unquestionably excelled — and possibly suffer in the college game an ending injury.

He is an intelligent young man who is very likely to go back to school for a degree someday. One conversation with him will tell you that.

But he came to his decision in an unnatural and unethically manner. He hired an agent. He entertained offers from both leagues. He signed a contract.

I think last fall Walter, or an agent/attorney/friend on his behalf, has been involved in "negotiations" with football factories — across the country. They made overtures to Pete and Ralph. They discussed the Notre Dame football with Chet Simmons. In short, Walker made his services available to the highest bidder.

That's fine. It's exactly what you and I will do when we leave school.

But he lied about it, and that's too bad.

My problem is with the electrical college football coaches and administrators, as well as with the reconnaissance part.

Last week, NCAA officials said that a court allowing schools to make independent decisions concerning their marching bands "would destroy college football." Now, they say that the USFL's signature contract with the NFL to "destroy college football.

I don't buy it, and neither should you.

Any high school school is cheating to get their athletes into college, cheating to keep them there, and cheating the system. They are doing it after four years of eligibility are expended.

Why are they up in arms now? For four years they have been free to make their best deals when it comes to television and basketball. If anything, it has led to a rebirth of the sport's popularity — not the death of the game.

What makes football different?

Women's basketball

Irish seeking pair of firsts

By MIKE RICCARDI

Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE — The Marquette Golden Eagles head to Rome on Sunday afternoon to face DePaul in a first ever meeting in NCAA Division I basketball. The Irish have lost five times and have never even had the two teams meet in college basketball.

If it wants to attain its goal for this season — the NCAA tournament — Notre Dame must turn that track record around and win one at each place tonight and tomorrow.

Tonight's contest against Marquette University will be a prelude to tomorrow afternoon's second half of a men's/women's doubleheader against DePaul University. The Irish will be favored to gain their first wins on their opponent's home courts, since both the Warriors and the Blue Demons have fallen on hard times.

Marquette (5-5) is having a difficult season in the Big East. The Golden Eagles have competed in the NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament, and will end their season tonight against DePaul in Green Bay. Notre Dame beat Marquette twice last season — at the Big Classic in Minneapolis and at the ACC. The Irish don't know why they're 5-15, says Irish coach Mary DiStefano. "They've got some pretty decent talent."

Tops among that talent will be senior forward Julie Sever. Averaging 15 points and 10 rebounds a game, Sever is the keywoman of Marquette's attack. The Warriors' lack of an effective offensive attack has been their major problem, as on- again, off-again seniors, with 10 points a game, joins Sever in the double figure category.

Last month, however, Marquette went to Pitt, Ill. and came out with an out-of-character 85-68 win over high-scoring Bradley. An impressive defensive effort against the Lady Braves (who average over 90 points an outing) keyed the win. "They're a good, intelligent defensive team," says Mary D., earning her third "D" as a master of defensive strategy. "They play a tough 1-2-2, look to steal passes and play a tough man defense.

Warrior coach Tom索尼 recently dismissed freshman center Kathy Nierman to a"signing bonus". With her return, however, Marquette's rebounding hasn't suffered as much as may have been expected. Junior Pam Sulpicii combines with Saviers to sweep a combined 20 boards a night.

Notre Dame should, however, be able to take advantage of everything mismatches inside as Marquette's larger player is 6-0. Centers Mary Beth Schuetz and Carrie Bales, both 6-1, dominated the boards in last game.

See WOMEN, page 11

Bengal finals Sunday

The final round of the Bengal Boats, to be taped for telecast next month by NBC, will begin Sunday at 1:00 p.m. at the ACC. The traditional event, held by the Bengal Boys Auto Cross-association in south central Asia, will be called "the super-heavyweight bout between Andy Panetti, a victor over defending champion Pat Karlin, and future heavyweight champ Larry Analone."

A field of 51 has been slotted to a final 18 for Sunday's card, followed by a national preview on NBC. Other bouts include Heavyweights John Igar and Jakob Kinsinger.

The Boats, a Notre Dame tradition begun by Dominic "Nappy" Napolitano in the 1920s, will be seen over NBC during St. Patrick's week.