A rough reunion
Summer acquaintances, Bell and Banks, meet again
By STEVE LABATE

One game concluded. One game was. And at least one thing is certain with regard to the Notre Dame football team — Greg Bell is back.

The question whether he would be back or not was answered when Bell took a pass from Blair Kiel in the first period last Saturday, then faked right, sidestepped left, and scampered into the endzone. when Bell took a pass from Blair Kiel in the first period last Saturday, Bell was back.

"It was a feeling like, 'I'm back. I'm healthy. And against the people I eventually did,'" smiles Bell, "and I eventually did. It was real sweet."

These are happier days for Greg Bell, a native of Columbus, Ohio. Last season he suffered what doctors termed "a serious injury," a broken fibula in his right leg. Finished for the season, Greg sat and watched his teammates — something that was more painful to him than the break itself.

"Anytime you're hurt, you are going to be upset," says Bell, "especially since we weren't doing so great in the win-loss column. I'm happier now. I'm back in action and have a chance to have some fun and play a little football."

He has a chance to have some fun because his rehabilitation of the leg went very well. Forced to sit out spring drills in order to give his leg extra time to heal, Bell contemplated his role on the team in wake of Allen Pinkett's emergence at tailback. He came back to Notre Dame this summer with a lot to prove — to himself.

"I really did not have much to prove to Coach Faust," says Bell. "I think he knows what I can do. I just had something to prove to myself. I had an ankle injury which was considered a bad injury. I wanted to prove to myself that I could come back from it and be just as good as I was before."

It is still too early in the season to predict, but it would appear that Greg may have come back better. Last Saturday in Ross Ade Stadium, Bell eagled, slashed, leaped, and barreled into the end zone — not once, but four times.

Bell erased any doubt anyone had concerning his recovery on his first score, and proved that he may be better than ever on his last.

On the play, he took a pitchout from Kiel on the 5-yard line, and started left towards the flag. After breaking free from defensive tackle Chris Scott's grasp, Bell used second and third effort to muscle through the BoilerMaker pursuit to score.

Within one year he has already outrecruited Bjo Scheneman at the state of Michigan, conducted the most intense and grueling practice sessions at Michigan State in years, and instilled a confident attitude within the team that it lacked during last year's woeful 2-9 campaign.

"Notre Dame and Michigan are the games I'm paid to win," says Perles. "I don't intend to see us lay down and die just because we see blue and gold."

While Perles doesn't feel intimidated by the Notre Dame mystique, he is very aware of its talent.

He looms over Spartan Stadium, looking professorial in tweed, his relentless face softened by a "say cheese" smile. Just as the camera clicks, the wind turns his hair into a tuft of gray, flattening its volume. It's a rare glimpse of George Perles, who seldom lets his hair down these days.

Michigan State's new football coach has hit the ground running since his arrival in December. His watch always ticks five minutes fast, a habit that thrwarts even punctual assistants. Perles has thrust the rebuilding timetable into overdrive.

"I want to turn things around immediately," he explains. "By the time next season begins, I want to go into every game feeling we can win.

Is instant success realistic? 'It's realistic to me,' he states.

He sinks into a chair in his office, after several hours in meetings, planning ever so slightly towards the clock. He sits erect, exuding confidence. Behind his cavalier optimism he hours upon hours of groundwork he and his staff have expended.

In just three months they have imposed order, discipline, and organization on a program that was reeling from three straight ignominious 1-1 seasons. Initial controversy over MSU's $175,000 settlement with the Philadelphia Stars, a payment for shoddy revenue and not tax dollars, has not prevented them from making concrete progress on three crucial fronts — recruiting, conditioning, and strategy.

In just five weekends, MSU recruited a class that raised as many hopes in East Lansing as any in the school's history. Perles's program has already scored the Spartans lone touchdown two years ago, took over as the starter last fall, but both of them came country and has as much talent as any college team," says Perles. "On paper, I call them tops in the nation.

Like last year's 11-1 Notre Dame victory at East Lansing, Notre Dame-Michigan State games have traditionally been hard-fighting defensive battles. Senior Carl Banks, an All-American candidate at linebacker, will lead another strong Spartan defensive unit that has lost Notre Dame into the Michigan State endzone since the first quarter of the 1981 game.

While Michigan State's linemen and secondary corps are well-stocked with talent, its defensive line is suspect because of a lack of game experience among the starters as well as a lack of quick size. The line averages out 6'2, 243 pounds, small by collegiate standards, but Perles says that his team can and will compensate for its lack of size with quickness and leverage.

Undersized or not, Faust singled out the quickness of Michigan State's offensive and defensive line as the most impressive attribute of the team.

"I'm very impressed with their down people on the defense," praises Faust. "Our offensive linemen are going to have to be more proficient with their blocking because of their quickness."

Because quickness is the biggest asset for the Spartans this year, Perles has promised a lot of quick trap plays with junior fullback Carl Butler. Butler led Spartan rushers last week, gaining 80 yards on 21 carries.

The passing attack appears to be pretty solid too with sophomore quarterback Dave Yarema. Yarema, one of the most exciting quarterbacks in the nation two years ago, took over as the starter last year in the eighth game as soon on to lead the Spartans to their only two victories. Yarema completed an impressive 15 of 23 passes for 179 yards last week against Colorado.

Michigan State's passing attack consists of a straight dropback style of play, sends out as many as five receivers. The best of them is senior split end Daryl Turner who caught six passes for 128 yards against Colorado. An honorable mention Big Ten selection as a sophomore, Turner is a constant deep threat with that great speed. He scored the Spartans lone touchdown two years against Notre Dame on a 65-yard pass play.

Ever since his arrival as a football coach, Perles has said that Turner is destined to become an All-American and one of Michigan State's all-time great receivers.

Junior punter and placekicker Ralf Mojsiejenko, meanwhile, will probably have a lot to say about Notre Dame's field position. Faust listed good field position as one of the keys to Notre Dame's field position. Faust listed good field position as one of the keys to Notre Dame's field position. Patterson as one of the keys to Notre Dame's route of Purdue last Saturday. Mojsiejenko, however, is one of the premier punters in the nation and hopes to keep the Irish pinned deep in their territory. He averaged 44.6 yards per punt last year, and is also an outstanding placekicker as evidenced by the 50 yard field goal he kicked against the Irish last year.

"For always keeping Turner's skill position people," says Faust. "If they continue to play with confidence, they'll do a lot of damage. They only won two games last fall, but both of them came after Yarema moved in at quarterback late in the year.

As for the Irish, Faust simply concludes that the team has to play effortless football in order to win.

"We didn't play poorly for an opener, but we've got a long way to go to a lot of things to improve," says Faust. "I think we found out that we weren't in quite as good shape as we thought we were, and that's going to be crucial in these warm-weather games."

Notre Dame will not play at home again until October 22 when they enter struggling Western Cal. Mourn and South Carolina are just two of the warm-weather sites Notre Dame will play at after the Michigan State game. Indeed, "What kind of shape the team is in."

But nothing would compare to the heat the team might feel if it overlooks a confident and enthusiastic Michigan State football team today.

You can't win without great players, but you can lose with them. — Perles

Recruiting alone, however, is not enough. "You can't win without great players," says Perles, "but you can lose without them." Players need training and experience.

Assistant coach Carl "Buck" Nystrom, All-American MSU guard in 1959, devised a physical preparation program "as tough and demanding as I've seen," according to Perles. Agrees senior offensive tackle Jim Lamb: "It's really what we ever did at Michigan and Army. It's really tough, but it's positive. Everything goes according to schedule. There's much more discipline.

The rigorous workouts, it is hoped, will sustain MSU performance in the fourth quarter, a period that after 477 season heartbreakers in 1982.

Strategy changes will give MSU football what Perles calls "the Pittsburgh look" — lots of trapping and drop-back passing on offense, with heavy use of double-wing formation which can send up to five receivers cross-scoring upfield.

"I think we'd like to be in the 4-3 formation," "It'll be tough, aggressive, with lots of blitzing," notes Perles. "We'll pressure the other team's quarterback."

The strategy conferences unfulfill over long sessions that sound like pig Latin.

"We have to establish a common terminology," explains Perles, as he glasses towards the clock, anxious to return to a meeting with some strategists on loan from the Steelers.

While Perles rewites the MSU playbook, many observers have begun to rewrite the book on Perles. Those who have long known him marvel at the way the way he has overcome his youth in a "tough, melting-pot neighborhood near Tiger Stadium, where he'd spend his days feeding my friends," his high school coach, puts it.

"Rough around the edges" is a common description of the old Perles. One sportswriter called him "an open-collar guy" whose "idea of good time is six beers and six hours of telling football stories.

Perles's character, however, has always been rock solid. He is intensely loyal, hard working, genuinely concerned about athletes and their education, with superb leadership and organizational talents. "A lot of plain vanilla," says Buck Nystrom, "but with an endless worker and never feels the job can't be done."

Duffy Daugherty, who coached Perles and then hired him as an assistant in 1967, recalls him as "a workaholic with great worker with knowledge who knows how to im-

Ticket scalping is hard to stop before big games

By KEVIN BINGER

$15 will get you a ticket to today's game.
$30 will get you a Navy ticket.
But the keys to Fort Knox won't get you a USC ticket if Notre Dame's still undefeated.
Notre Dame Security Director Glenn Terry's voice reveals frustration and anger when he discusses ticket scalping.
"There's very little in the law that we can do about it so we don't even want to talk about it," he said. "We try not to stop it, but we would like to tell those people to just disappear from this campus.
There is, in fact, nothing in Indiana law against ticket scalping. According to Michael Barnes, St. Joseph County prosecuting attorney, the law against ticket scalping was dropped from the Indiana penal code in the late 1800s, about the same time Notre Dame was founded.
"It's been the position of the state of Indiana that the dollar amount listed on a ticket is adequate warrant for anyone to go to a game to be in a position to buy it," said barnes.

The Notre Dame position is just the opposite. The University is trying on the hundreds of posters blanket· ing bulletin boards across the campus and personal "The Observer Reading for extra tickets, and it shows even more on the hawkers who'll be outside the stadium today.
"Anything on campus is under our jurisdiction," said Ticket Director Steve Orsini. "There is a campus law against scalping,"

But there have been no known cases of forgery since Orsini took over at the ticket office.

"Tickets were not that hard to come by and somebody came up with a pretty good replica," said Ter­ ry.

Drunk-driving law makes arrests easier

By JEFFREY CHOPPIN
Assistant News Editor

Drinking and driving is now more likely to cost you $60 a drive and $180 a day to drive because of a new law in Indiana.

And Captain Thomas Gargas of the Traffic Bureau in St. Joseph County said more police will patrol the area around campus today and tonight.

St. Joseph County Prosecutor Mic­ hall Barnes said the South Bend, St. Joseph County and Indiana state police department have made a plea for enforcement of the new law.

Barnes said the South Bend and St. Joseph County departments have received federal funds to aid their en­ forcement.

Gargas advised students: "Use discretion if you're planning to go to drink. The best idea is not to drive if you've been drinking, especially if you think you'll fail the drinking test."

The law, which went into effect Sept. 1, makes it easier for the Indiana police departments to find someone guilty of driving under the influence.

The law removes the burden of proof that makes a BAC test an absolute requirement.

If a driver refuses to take a Breath­ alizer reading, a 10 percent or greater an automatic Class C mis­ clemence. Even if the police are unable to prove that a driver is im­ paired, the driver faces at least a 50­ day suspension of his license if he fails the Breathalyzer test.

Go Irish, a Mishawaka publication which covers Notre Dame football, recently reached an out-of-court agreement which will settle a year-long lawsuit involving the magazine. Fan Action, publishers of Go Irish, sued the University last September claiming that the school was interfering in its normal business operation. The University countered, alleging the magazine was trying to appear to be connected with Notre Dame. The settlement requires the publication to change its name to Blue and Gold Illustrated, while the University will grant basic press privileges to the magazine. — The Observer

More than 2 million Moslems from 65 countries converged yesterday on Saudi Arabia's Mount Arafat chanting "Allahu Akbar," or Allah is greatest, at the climax of the annual pilgrimage season. Waves of men in seamless white robes and women in dresses and head scarves poured onto the storied plateau as security police supervised the march from scores of helicopters and hundreds of patrol cars. Saudi state television called it "the largest traffic jam in the world." It was released live by satellite to more than 25 countries. The pilgrimage, known as the Haj, began Sept. 5 and was initially marked by attempts to give the ritual a political tone. Saudi security forces quickly but firmly halted Iranian pilgrims' attempts to organize demonstrations and distribute revolutionary pamphlets.

Members of the Teamsters Union, despite high unemployment among their own ranks, yesterday smashed a plan that could have slashed the wages of laid-off truckers in return for bolstering their chances of being rehired. The proposal was turned down 94,060 to 1,092, a union spokesman announced from Washington. Teamsters president Jackie Presser had urged union members to go along with the rider to their current contract as a way to "restore economic dignity and security to thousands of laid-off Teamsters and their families." There was no immediate reaction from Presser to the defeat. He was quoted in the union's announcement of the vote results as saying he "hoped that labor and management jointly could continue to find ways to put unemployed workers back to work." — AP

The stock market closed out a losing week with a rally yesterday as traders kept their regular vigil for the latest statistics on the money supply. Transportation issues paced the advance in an otherwise relatively quiet session on Wall Street. The South Bend area is "right in the middle of an encephalitis epidemic," according to Dr. George Craig, director of the Notre Dame virology laboratory.

Ten cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis were reported in horses in parts of northern Indiana in 1980. Craig said there is no known cure for EEE and his department is "not doing much but keeping score."

"There is very little we can do to stop it," said Craig, adding that he is "not prepared to recommend a spraying program at this time," because there are not enough cases. If the number of cases increases, however, he will consider recommending a spraying program. For now, Craig said he is "praying for rain."

The mortality rate for EEE is 60 to 80 percent. Although a vaccine is available for horses, the vaccine itself has a 1 percent mortality rate and is therefore too dangerous to be used on humans. Craig emphasizes, however, that the disease is rare in humans.

EEE is an explosive disease which usually occurs in outbreaks, or epidemics. The virus is difficult to predict where or when outbreaks will occur. Researchers are not sure what insect transmits the virus from one organism to another. Craig said that coquillettidia perturbata, a type of mosquito, probably carries EEE, but there are no good swarms where there are emergency runs of. in a week. The virus is maintained in a cycle between birds and insects that usually inhabit a swampy area. One type of mosquito spends its entire life in the swamp and doesn't infect any other species of mosquito. If it is picked up by a coquillettidia, it then bites a disease-carrying bird, infected coquillettidia can then pass the disease onto men and horses. Craig said it is difficult to obtain a coquillettidia in our area, so researchers are not sure what species of mosquito is involved. This is "not surprising," he said, because they are not dependent on rainfall to breed.

Researchers told that EEE can experience a stiff neck, disorientation, fever and pain all over, drowsiness and death. "Pharmaceutical companies are making no particular effort to research this disease because there's no money in it," said Craig. Recent research has not led to a complete understanding of EEE, and outbreaks of EEE in particular areas, Craig said it is difficult to obtain a coquillettidia. Because of the disease, "there is very little we can do to prevent it," said Craig.

"How can you convince people of the economic value of a disease that didn't happen?" he asked.

The Notre Dame vector-biology laboratory is currently looking at a different type of encephalitis, La Crosse. Craig said that the lab does not plan to research in EEE in the near future because "we have enough to do with La Crosse. We can only solve one problem at a time."

Only two of the original 41 students temporarily housed in study lounges are still without permanent housing.

But until more housing is built on campus, more students may have to seek temporary housing this fall. Craig said that the Department of Student Housing, however, actually decreased its enrollment number for housing for the past year. Although there was difficulty in leaving new friends behind.

During the first two weeks of school, all the men on waiting lists were moved out of the Grace and Flanner lounges.

And as of Thursday, all but two of the women were moved out of the Paquellars. Many characterized the final move as a relief — a feeling of finally being "alone," although there was difficulty in leaving new friends behind.

New SMC college center eases social space need

By THERESA GUARINO
Staff Reporter

It took two years and $1.4 million dollars, but no one is complaining.

The new Haggar College Center—once the Alumni Centennial Library—is just what Saint Mary's students and faculty have wanted for a long time.

The center was officially dedicated in a ceremony yesterday ending a week designated as "Dedication Week" at Saint Mary's.

The new college center provides much needed informal social space on campus. It includes the Shuteen Bookstore on the ground floor. And offices, previously located all over campus, are now centered in the Haggar Center.

Student Government, Student Activities, 1st Source Travel, The Observer and the Blue Mustang yearbook have relocated there, in addition to a 14 Source Bank branch office.

Many students and staff involved in student organizations hope that the new accessibility of the offices will encourage more participation in student government and activities.

"I would hope that there would be more involvement, simply because students can see these people as active," said Senior Class President Kathleen Murphy. "Before, they were all tucked away in the basement of Regina and no one knew they were there. I can see improvement in participation now simply because we're more visible."

The snack bar has expanded its line in the new center. New menu options include Ill Appetite (a grill line), a Deli, the Corner Market (cash and carry) and the Wild Pizza.

The first center was designed to be more centralized, commented senior Kate Livingston. "They're still in an organization process but once they get through it, things will be great, especially weeknights, after the library."

The Haggar Center also includes meeting, rental and movie rooms, in addition to a hospitality lounge. Also, a large dance area was added, enabling organizations to have more dances on campus including dances like the "Chance to Dance" at Notre Dame.

Sophomores Lisa Wilson and Ann Murphy agree that the social space was needed. "It's a nice diversity as compared to what we used before in that now we have a place to entertain," said Murphy.

The former Game Room holds video games, pool tables and ping pong tables. A terrace added to the rear of the building provides a place for studying and socializing in warm weather.

The College Center also includes dance halls, snack bars, rec rooms and offices. The PEBBLE was located in the basement of Holy Cross. The parlors in Holy Cross were used as they continued to be used today.

LeMans Hall has provided space for many social events in the history of Saint Mary's. Several rooms and lounges were used by students as dance halls, recreational rooms and meeting rooms. The first floor business office wing was the social hall in 1925.

The Shuteen Bookstore was the library, located at the end of LeMans basement. It was the student snack bar until 1966, when it was replaced by the student snack bar and the student snack bar until 1966, when it was completed.

Until the center was constructed in 1962, Saint Mary's had no centralized meeting place or recreational area. Today, Saint Mary's is not just a social center, but a veritable college center, with a central location providing all students (no individual invitations required), faculty, administration and guests with meeting rooms, offices, a ballroom, snack bar, rec room and bookstore—all in one.

The center is named in honor of Haggar Foundation of Dallas, which offered $500,000 toward the $1.4 million project.

Even before a Soviet fighter shot down the Boeing 747, a Soviet source who insisted on anonymity, predicted personal attacks on Reagan would increase and that these attacks would get nastier as the election approaches. With Reagan standing firm at U.S.-Soviet arms talks, opposing the Soviet Union and the Kremlin would like nothing more than to see him denied a second term.

Heroin charges filed against Kennedy Jr.

Associated Press

Rapid City, S.D. — Robert F. Kennedy Jr., whose flight bag was searched as he traveled to South Dakota seeking help for a drug problem, was charged yesterday with heroin possession.

The felony charge carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

An arrest warrant was issued.

"We've filed a one-count felony complaint against Mr. Kennedy charging him with possession of heroin," said Rod Leffholz, Pennington County state's attorney.

The 29-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy will appear in court in Rapid City within two weeks, Leffholz said, adding he could not be more specific because Kennedy has admitted himself to a hospital for treatment of a drug problem.

Leffholz said he does not know where Kennedy is being treated.

The delay in the initial court appearance is not uncommon in drug or alcohol cases, said the prosecutor.

"Obviously, we don't just jerk people out of a hospital bed," he said. "Frankly, we're not too worried" about Kennedy not showing up in court, he added.

Kennedy, a former New York City assistant district attorney, came under investigation Sunday after he got sick on a flight from Minneapolis to Rapid City.

Officials continued to refuse yesterday to say what led them to get a warrant to search Kennedy's flight bag for "controlled and contraband substances."

According to Bill Walsh of Deadwood, a hotel owner and family friend, Kennedy was on his way to the Black Hills to seek help for drug dependency.

Walsh, a former Catholic priest who has helped establish mental health programs in western South Dakota, said he and Kennedy planned to spend a few days discussing Kennedy's options before he entered a drug program.

Kennedy was charged after the results of a drug analysis became available Thursday night, said the prosecutor.

Drunk driving

Associated Press

Beirut, Lebanon — Druse gunners bloodied Lebanon's air force on its first combat mission in a decade yesterday, shooting down one of its five operational warplanes, damaging two others and forcing a fourth to make an emergency landing in Cyprus.

As the fighting raged, both Syria and Israel put planes into the air — Syria on Lebanon's northern border and Israel over southern Lebanon. But neither entered the battle, which spilled over to the U.S. Marine compound at the airport and the zone around the U.S. and British Embassies.

No Western casualties were reported.

The Lebanese government's ground and air offensive in the mountains came as several days of intense diplomatic efforts by Saudi Arabia and others to gain a cease fire appeared to break down.

With hope for a diplomatic breakthrough dimming, sources said Lebanon's army was fighting to clean the Druse and Palestinian fighters from villages on either side of the key ridge line from Souk al-Gharb to KfAR Simoun, nine to 12 miles southeast of Beirut and high above the capital.

Army communiques said Lebanese soldiers took the Druse-held towns of Kiss and Kefiren, along with nearby hills.

would mean that a person's license is suspended in those states as well.

Under the old drunk-driving law, the state had the burden of showing that a driver was impaired, even if the breathalyzer reading was 10 percent or more. The defendant had the right to produce evidence that he was not impaired.

The state also had to prove that there was a "good stop," that is, the defendant was behind the wheel when the car was being driven, and that the driver was impaired by alcohol with a Breathalyzer reading of greater than 10 percent.

The new law still requires that the police show there was a "good stop" and that the driver was behind the wheel, but the requirements for a "good stop" have been altered.

There must be "articulable suspicion," which is a lesser requirement than "probable cause" for stopping an automobile. This new requirement calls for a suspicion to which "you can give words to," according to the law.

Reasons for a stop include any violation of normal traffic laws, any malfunctioning of the car's lights or turn signals, or reckless driving.

If a driver is found guilty of driving under the influence, the presiding judge can require the defendant to attend an alcohol program set up by the court system. The defendant still has his license suspended for 30 days.

The suspension can be for a longer period of time and may be accompanied by a fine and attorney's fees.

If a person is caught driving during the period in which his license is suspended, there is a mandatory jail term of at least 30 days.

A second conviction of drunk driving would carry a minimum jail term of five days in addition to a possible felony charge, at the discretion of the county prosecutor.

Barnes, the county prosecutor, "reserves the right to make final decisions" regarding drunk drivers.

Barnes said that there will be more cars on the street in the general area of the Five Points, partly due to incidents which occurred last year on days of Notre Dame football games.

Barnes said that there will be "a stop-up in visibility" intended to be a deterrent. "The object is not to arrest everybody."

One of the means by which the departments intend to enforce the law is the use of roadblocks.

These roadblocks have faced a challenge in the court system...
Who's the lady with the paintbrush?

by Nick Laffamme

Drifting across campus, one often comes across people recording their personal memories of Notre Dame in forms more permanent than their memories. Some are alumni snapping pictures of their families on the old stomping grounds, while others are artists trying to capture the beauty of the scenery on canvas. Many of the artists, and photographers, go in order simply because of a lack of skill or dedication. Others, however, experience artistic success which often brings them financial reward.

The wife of a Notre Dame history professor, Mrs. Pike is quietly building a reputation on campus as a talented artist despite having painted for only four years. Often seen occupying the same spot for days on end during the late afternoon hours, Mrs. Pike started painting after retiring as a music teacher in the local school system. She took an art class as a way of getting out of the house, and soon discovered a hidden talent.

Mrs. Pike does accept commissions and, has no qualms about painting whatever building is wanted. Recently the Law School chose two of her paintings to be displayed in the new law center in London, which was dedicated this past summer. Still, she doesn’t consider that to be the greatest honor the University could confer upon her. She would love to have the Notre Dame Magazine publish one of her paintings in color, even though that would not be her idea of the ultimate honor. To this fin she of Notre Dame, having one of her paintings reproduced in a football program would be her greatest triumph.

A summer under the Dome

by Margaret Fosmoe

The umbrellas are gone, the bands are gone, but the colors are still there. The sound of the campus echoes, rangy and wild, with the promise of the new fall season. The campus, designed after the fourteenth century, is the way Sundays were meant to be, reflective walks around the lake. Memories of summer get pushed to one side as the campus is your own again. Then the students arrive in droves, and the summer ducklings are almost grown and the sod is turning brown. In early August the summer season students leave and the campus is once again deserted. For a few weeks the campus is your own again. The new sidewalks are dried, the green ducks are grown and the sod is turning brown.

The summer also means being on the bench next to Old College late on a sunny afternoon changes all that. Suddenly you find it doesn’t matter that the Dome is closed off, the fish don’t seem as voracious as before and somehow you know that winter will never return. Even the oppressive heat takes a back seat to the incoming fall.

In the summer, kids rules don’t matter, the food seems almost bareable and campus parking tickets go ignored. Even the transcaps that arrive in July listing you as a freshman still mean something and your face doesn’t seem so bad. Sundays are hectic since you have to put your life in perspective. It’s new weeks later when the summer session students arrive, that you’re reminded this is a learning institution. Even then, it’s different. Classes are more light-hearted, students and professors are more laid back.

Warm sunny Saturdays, a rare gift during the year, are plentiful. Somehow, though, Saturdays are even better. During the year, Sundays are hectic. Not so much so on campus where you know where you’re going to be. During the summer you relocate with your friends. No one else is around and you can do what you want.

If you’re just right and the boys are parking tickets are ignored. Even the transcaps that arrive in July listing you as a freshman still mean something and your face doesn’t seem so bad. Sundays are hectic since you have to put your life in perspective. It’s new weeks later when the summer session students arrive, that you’re reminded this is a learning institution. Aussie II appeal sinks

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Australia II, unable to win on the water, lost on land as well Friday when an international sailing jury denied its protest of U.S. defender Liberty's victory in the second race of the America's Cup.

The decision leaves intact Liberty's 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series, with the third race scheduled for today.

The Australians had claimed that Liberty skipper Dennis Conner lassoed into their water on the second windward leg Thursday, cutting too sharply to the left in front of the challenger and forcing Aussie helmsman John Bertrand to veer off to avoid a collision.

A five-member jury of the International Yacht Racing Union, after hearing more than four hours of testimony and evidence, upheld Liberty's 1 minute, 33 second victory.

The jury ruled that the two boats cleared by about 4 feet at their closest point, not 18-24 inches as claimed by the Australians.

And the jury said Australia II, "was marginally slower than Liberty," could have kept clear either by maintaining her course and passing astern or, as she did, veering off.

The Australian syndicate head, Alan Bond, said his bowman had cleared by about 200 yards. "We were not satisfied that the photo-evidence submitted was sufficient," Bond said.

"I thought we would win the protest. I'm surprised that we didn't and I'm very disappointed." Liberty's crew was predictably satisfied with the decision, at least the sixth time in America's Cup history that a foreign protest had been denied.

Only twice has a race result been overturned, and both of those were foreign victories, by the Australian challenger Gretel II in 1970 and by the British boat Valkyrie III in 1983.

"The facts weren't much different than what came from the crews," said Tom Whidden, tactician on Liberty. "It was just a matter of how close the boats were and how the jury determined the rule.

The jury said that when the incident happened, with Australia II on port tack and Liberty on starboard tack, the challenger was about one boat length from the defender but pointing at the U.S. helmsman.

"The course sailed by Australia II was clearing Liberty's stern," the ruling said.

But as Liberty began her turn, Australia II tacked away, clearing Liberty's stern anyway.

"When Australia II's bow and Liberty's stern swung toward each other, they cleared by about 4 feet at their closest point," the decision said.

Earlier, Bertrand said after testifying at the protest hearing that videotape of the day supported the Australian claim.

Basketball all-star game set

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A college basketball all-star game, co-sponsored by the national Order of Elks and the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, is scheduled for May 5 in Market Square Arena, officials of the two organizations announced yesterday.

NBA talent scout Marty Blake, who is on a committee to select players for the National Collegiate Tournament next spring, said the game is expected to attract 20 of the best senior players in the country.

"And I guarantee you we will have two of the greatest coaches in the history of college basketball to coach the game," Blake added without elaborating.

The Elks-Hall of Fame game will follow the championship round of the Elks Hoop Shoot Contest, also scheduled for May 5 in Market Square Arena. The finals of the Hoop Shoot, which draws more than 3 million boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 15 for a national free-throw shooting contest, have been here since 1980.

Lee Williams, executive director of the Naismith Hall of Fame, said both groups of officials are working for a national television contract for the all-star game. He added that the NCAA is expected to sanction the project.

Both the Elks and the basketball hall of Fame, located at Springfield, Mass., are non-profit organizations. Proceeds from the game are to help finance construction of a new Hall of Fame at Springfield. Brady said more than $6 million already has been raised for the $11 million building.

Murphy, who had his first four-hit game of the season, now has 28 hits in his last 54 at-bats. McMurtry started Padres starter Tim Lollar toward his 11th defeat in 18 decisions when he doubled to lead off the fourth. One out later, Brad Kominowski, the International League Rookie of the Year, belted another double to follow up with another double. McMurtry, 15-6, had made 10 starts without a victory. He struck out five and walked one.

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Reuschel, making his second start since being recalled from Class A, went 2 2/3 innings for his first major league victory since 1981 as the Chicago Cubs beat New York Mets 7-4 last night.

The 34-year-old right-hander, sidelined for all of the 1982 with a shoulder injury, allowed five hits while striking out two and walking one in getting his first decision of the season. Reuschel, called up from Quad Cities of the Midwest League on Sept. 3, last won in the major leagues on Sept. 23, 1981, when he was pitching for the New York Yankees. Mike Torrez, 9-16, allowed all seven runs in 5 1/3 innings pitched.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rookie Mike Boddicker, backed by a 17-hit attack, scattered seven hits to lead the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers last night for their 20th victory in 24 games.

The victory, along with Detroit's 6-1 loss at Boston, lifted the Orioles six games ahead of the Tigers atop the American League East.

Boddicker, 14-7, recalled from the minor leagues on May 5, lowered his ERA to 2.72, second best in the American League, losing his shine against Robin Yount, a homer to lead off the ninth inning.

The Baltimore attack included five doubles and a triple, with seven different players driving in one run apiece. Cal Ripken Jr. had two doubles and a single, while Al Bumbry contributed to three rallies with a walk, a single and a double. Milwaukee starter Tom Candiotti, 4-2, allowed seven hits before being lifted with two on and one out in the third. He was charged with four runs.

The Notre Dame soccer team raised its season record to 5-1-1 last night with a 2-0 victory over Loyola on Carter Field. Sophomore Chris Tellik, pictured above doing a Harlem Globetrotter tailspin, is one of the Irish goals, with Ken Herben and Mark Hladner each getting one apease from Greg Walker and Carlton Fisk — in the eighth to salt away a victory that assured them at least a tie for the division title. One more victory or one Kansas City loss will give Chicago its first division crown since winning the American League pennant in 1959.

Bannister, 15-10, posted his 12th victory in 13 decisions since the All-Star break, striking out a career-high 12 and walking only two. Ramon Ramirez was his 17th and came with two out in the seventh inning by loser Bryan Clark, 7-8. It was Ramirez's 18th game-winning run batted in.

New faces face surprisingly well

By MIKE SULLIVAN

Sports Editor

When the 1983 Notre Dame football team took the field last Saturday, there were many familiar faces missing - Hunter, Zavaglini, Glasby, Duerson, Griffin, and Larkin were just some of the Irish who were not in the starting lineup against the usually-tough Boilermakers. In their stead were names like Kovaleski, Purjalic, Ballage, Davis, and Scannell. And there was not any question about who, indeed, was going to try to exploit.

In the wake of a 5-2-6 slaughter, though, Purdue must be thinking that Larkin, Duerson, and company was not enough to win.

Freshman Mike Kovaleski, replacing the injured Mike Larkin, the player who was expected to lead the team in tackles this year, was the most impressive.

Not only did Kovaleski make up for Larkin's absence by making a team-leading 10 tackles (Rick Naylor also had 10), but he also tipped two passes, which resulted in one interception and another near-interception.

"I made some mistakes," said Kovaleski after his first college game, "but I did pretty well."

It was not the only one pleased with his performance. Coach George Kelly, who coaches Kovaleski, was understandably happy.

Losing a player like Larkin can cause one to lose some sleep.

"I told Mike he became 21 in a hurry," said Kelly. "He's got lots of talent, and made me want to laugh with excitement."

"He's a pretty cool kid," said Gary Faust, "He's a competitor. He had to come through for us and did." Kovaleski was not the only player that had to come through for the Irish, however, Sophomore Middle Linebacker Tony Furjanic has some big shoes to fill as well. His job is to pick up where Bob Crable and Mark Bavar left off. No easy task considering that Crable and Zavaglini led the team in tackles over the last four years.

But, like Kovaleski, he came through when needed, collecting six tackles and making a tremendous diving interception that led to a touch-down.

"It was real important for the two of them to be successful," said Kelly of his young linebackers. "Both of them have the ability, so it was nothing I did with them."

Kelly does deserve much credit, despite the loss boss. Defensive coordinator Jim Johnson also played a major role in their rapid growth, giving the defensive line a consistent line of pass-rushing and defending.

Linebacker's quiet play
gets no respect, just results

When defensive positions are considered, probably one of the toughest to master is that of outside linebacker. "To play the position, the player has got to be the most poised, disciplined player we've got on our defense," says Notre Dame's second-year outside linebacker coach Greg Blache. "He's responsible for so many things - both the run game and the pass game. He must be one of the most flexible athletes on the team."

This year's Notre Dame squad is fortunate to have this crucial spot filled by veteran Rick Naylor. Naylor, the 6-3, 227-pound senior from Cincinnati, Ohio, earned his second season at the outside linebacker slot.

Naylor made eight starts there during his junior campaign before suffering a hip pointer against Penn State which forced him to miss the Air Force and UNL contests.

He made nine tackles in last year's season opener against Michigan and added eight against Oregon before concluding the 1982 season with 45, including eight against Purdue, tying him with freshman Mike Kovaleski for high on the team for the season.

"He's really come to play this year," says Faust. "I think he had a conflict within himself that he wasn't intense enough all the time, but he's made up his mind that he's going to be intense all the time. He's worked very hard and is really a silent leader on the field."

When reflecting on his leadership abilities, Naylor tends to agree with his coach.

"I am pretty quiet," he admits. "I try to lead by example, but if I do see something as the game goes on, I'll say what I have to say. He's not the kind that's going to go out and make a lot of noise," continues Faust. "He's very quiet and very steady. If he can keep up the steadiness and consistency he's shown this fall, he'll be a great leader as far as influence and getting the job done."

Getting the job done is very important to the success of a team.

Over the years, however, Naylor's successes have often been overshadowed by the likes of Bob Crable, Mark Zavagnin, or Mike Larkin. Naylor doesn't see it as overshadowing, though.

"Bob (Crable), Z (Zavagnin), and Mike Larkin deserved everything they got," he says. "It really doesn't bother me, as long as I think the coaches respect what I do on the field."

"Rick's got a thankless job," says Blache. "He's at a position where he's got to be disciplined. He can't just fly to the football, because if he does, he'll be giving up big plays. We all like to be recognized when we do something good, and I'm sure Rick's no exception."

"I like him to Rodney Dangerfield," continues Blache, "because he gets no respect for the job he does. He's solid, he's sound, and he's not flashy. He just gets the job done."

When Naylor completes this final season at Notre Dame, he'll be looking to get the job done elsewhere.

"What does the future hold for Rick Naylor?"

"I'd like to play pro football," he says. "I'd like to play for a team where I'd like to go to, and hopefully be given a chance to make it."

For the time being, however, the 1983 schedule must still be completed, and Naylor's presence will certainly be appreciated.

"I think it's our advantage that we have, Rick Naylor," says Blache. "He's going to be a tough guy to replace when he's gone. He adds a dimension to our defense. He adds a stability that I think we really need."

"When I ran (on the play), it was funny," laughs Bell, "because after a while I didn't know where I was going. Then I saw the line and I figured I had to get there."

This week however, there will be a much tougher defense trying to prevent Bell from scoring, The Michigan State Spartans are coached by a man in George Perles who prides himself on defense. And the pride of his defense is 6-6, 235 lb. senior linebacker, Carl Banks.

Bell has already been introduced to Banks, both on and off the field.

"This summer I worked at the Jack Lambert Football Camp," says Bell in explaining how he got to know Banks off the field. "Carl was one of the guys there. We spent a lot of time together and we had a lot of fun working with the kids at the camp. Carl is a great human being and a nice guy."

However, once Carl Banks buttons his chin strap, it is no more Mr. Nice Guy. His ferocity on the football field has earned him first-team All Big Ten honors as a sophomore and as a junior. His coaches think he is the most dominant defensive player at MSU since George Webster wore the green and white 14 seasons ago.

Bells has played across the line of scrimmage from Banks only once, but what an afternoon he had. On that day two seasons ago, Bell had runs of 11, 11, 22, 26, and 32 yards, scored two touchdowns, and had a 75-yard touchdown run called back because of a penalty. For the day, he carried 20 times for 165 yards.

"We tried while we were at the camp not to talk about the Notre Dame-Michigan State rivalry," says Bell. "We just more or less tried to avoid it as much as possible."

Today, Bell will be trying to avoid Banks, for he knows just how well the Flint, Mich. native plays football.

"He's a hard hitter and great football player," comments Bell. "He's playing the outside linebacker position, which is a good spot for him, because, in the middle, there's less area to cover. On the outside, he gets into a lot of plays and makes some great tackles."

This afternoon, Bell and Banks will be reaquainted. At least one of them, Bell, is looking forward to the confrontation.

"When it was time to part," remembers Greg, "all I could say to him was, see you in September."

September is here and so are the Spartans. Both Bell and Banks are ready. The subject they so carefully avoided talking about most now is going to be dealt with. Today each man will let his play do the talking. Don't expect either to be at a loss for words.

Beginning in 1949, the winner of the Notre Dame-Michigan State game each fall receives the Megaphone Trophy. The trophy is sponsored jointly by the Michigan State and Notre Dame Alumni Clubs of Detroit.

Each week, The Observer sports staff, a random student picked at the discretion of the sports editor, and some well-known figure in the Notre Dame community predict the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled as to how each person does against the spread. In other words, it is not enough to pick the winner of a given game. The person must pick a winner and give the underdog points.
