Five commissioners investigating murder of Aquino resign

Associated Press

MANILA, Philippines — President Ferdinand E. Marcos suffered another political setback yesterday when all five panelists investigating the murder of opposition leader Benigno Aquino resigned because their impartiality had been questioned.

"It appears that the image of the commission for impartiality and capacity of its members to do justice to every man are being questioned," four of the five resigning commissioners said in a letter to Marcos.

Opposition leaders and Aquino's family charged the panel was biased and under Marcos' control.

The presidential palace said in a news release that Marcos "remains receptive to suggestions in order to allow a full, impartial and un-restricted inquiry ... and to punish whoever might be guilty." Aquino was gunned down at the Manila airport Aug. 21 as he returned from voluntary exile in the United States. The government says the assassination was a communist plot carried out by a gunman who was shot and killed at the scene by guards. The opposition claims it can produce witnesses who saw government soldiers kill Aquino and he proposed that a new panel be created independent of, not by the president.

Marcos said he was considering forming a new panel and would "take into account" Tolentino's suggestions.

The commission's original chairman, Supreme Court Chief Justice Enrique Fernando, resigned last month after opposition charges that he was subservient to Marcos.

The five commission members touched off a one-minute standing ovation yesterday. The commissioner said they were quitting to give way to a more credible panel. See the AP story at right for more information.

Changes planned for Jr. Parents Weekend

By SUSAN SAKER

Plans are under way for the 1984 Junior Parents' Weekend, scheduled for Feb. 17-19, and its organizers hope to accommodate the large numbers of family members who would attend.

Mike Schmutz, chairman of this year's JPW committee, said major events will be relocated for both financial and logistical reasons.

The cocktail dance on Feb. 17 will be held in the arena of the ACC instead of the Century Center. This change would allow Notre Dame Food Services to cater the meal and thus cut down on the cost of the weekend, Schmutz said.

Mass on Saturday afternoon, normally held in Sacred Heart Church, will also be held in the arena of the ACC so as to alleviate overcrowding in recent years. University President Father Theodore Hesburgh has been asked to celebrate the Mass but he has not yet given an answer, said Schmutz.

Other events will be scheduled similar to last year's proceedings. Saturday morning, all four academic colleges will present informational workshops for parents and students, and faculty members will speak concerning their respective fields. Saturday evening, dinner will be served in the fieldhouse of the ACC after which parents and students are invited to attend receptions within the dorms.

By KAREN MCCLOSEKEY and PAUL MCGINN Staff Reporters

Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind., told Notre Dame Law School students yesterday the War Powers Act is unnecessary because "Congress can impose its will anytime it gets the guts to do it."

The War Powers Act, adopted in 1973, created a procedure to check the constitutional tug-of-war between the president and Congress about the deployment of troops to hostile areas.

Congress invoked the act last month after two U.S. Marines in Lebanon were killed Aug. 29. President Reagan and Congress agreed to invoke the War Powers Act for 18 months.

Quayle, a member of the Armed Services Committee, termed the War Powers Act a "clumsy piece of legislation" whose purpose is to control "the very jealous juridical framework that the Congress and the executive branch share."

K of C Grand Knight says no to rentals

By ELIZABETH FLOR

Joe Anthony, grand knight of the Knights of Columbus, said their building is for their use only and they are not interested in renting out their building as party space, at last night's Student Senate meeting.

The Senate's resolution, which proposed making the Knights of Columbus building open for party rentals, caused a "misunderstanding among all ends," Peggie Prevork, student body vice-president, said.

"We are sorry for the misconception and appreciate your help," she told Anthony. Student Body President Brian Calaghan agreed, saying, "This is a real good lesson for us, of all the things that do need to be looked at and the people that do need to be talked to."

The resolution should not have been passed, Prevork said. Because of an initial agreement made in 1969 between the University and the Knights of Columbus. The agreement says that the building can only be used to host non-alcoholic events sponsored by a Knights of Columbus member.

A funeral mass will be held at 5:30 today for Brother Damien Dacle, R.S., in the Chapel of St. Joseph's at Holy Cross Brothers' High School. The body will be buried in St. Joseph Medical Center. He had been living at Dupont House for the past year. Damien received his nickname of the “Rosary Brother” from his vast collection of rosaries, some of which are quite rare. He received two bachelor of arts degrees, in English and history, and two masters of arts degrees, in history and biology, from Notre Dame. He also held an honorary doctorate degree. Burial will be at St. Joseph Cemetery. — The Observer

Cardinal Terence Cooke was eulogized yesterday as a “priest’s priest” at a funeral directed as a “celebration of joy” and attended by 1,000 white-robed priests, government officials, celebrities, and a former president. “It is not within our power to offer such a celebration of thanks to God for the life of Terence Cooke,” said Cardinal William Baum, the top-ranking American in the Vatican, who said he brought a special message from the pope. In his prepared homily, Baum said Pope John Paul II “realizes fully that a close and trusted friend has departed from this world.” Cooke, said Baum, “loved the Church, spared no heart to all.” loved his native New York, “gave himself completely to his Lord and to his people” and was especially sensitive to the needs of priests. “Terence Cooke was, in the best sense, a priest’s priest.” Baum said. Crowds were four and five deep behind wooden police barriers across Fifth Avenue and spilled over onto side streets as a procession of priests, from cardinals to curates, filed into St. Patrick’s Cathedral. Tickets for places in the cathedral, the symbol of Cooke’s authority in the liturgy and the resting place of his remains in death, were sold at 109.000 New York people, including former President Nixon, comedian Bob Hope, Gov. Mario Cuomo, United Nations Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar and former New York governors Hugh Carney and Malcolm Wilson. — AP

A British journalist who recently spent six weeks in Afghanistan reported yesterday that anti-Communist Muslim guerrillas cannot cope with the “imposing” modern weaponry of the Soviet troops. “I would estimate the rebels can only last a couple more years,” wrote Roger Bennet, chief Foreign correspondent for London’s conservative Daily Express newspaper. He said Soviet helicopter gunships and new Soviet units from Eastern Europe were waging a campaign of “genocide” against poorly equipped resistance fighters. “Judged solely from a military standpoint, the Soviets’ policy is proving remarkably effective,” Bennet wrote. “The destruction wrought by this modern firepower is enormous and the rebels do not have the weapons to which to fight back.” The London-based journalist also said he and photographer John Downing entered Afghanistain from neighboring Pakistan with false identification papers and disguised as Afghans. Western analysts estimate some 100,000 Soviet troops have been in Afghanistan since 1979 helping the government fight a guerrilla insurrection. — AP

Cap'n Crunch and complacency

As you sit in the dining hall three days, you may notice something in the air. Or the lack of something in the air.

As the conversation in the dining hall, so goes the campus. But what is being discussed over the chicken sandwiches at lunch this semester?

When a children’s junk food cereal and artsie methods of displaying concrete become the burning issues of注文, you know there are no problems.

Yet real strides in terms of campus improvement have been made since May.

The revelations of Lafortune, the Engineering Auditorium and Washington Hall top the list. The dedication of Saint Mary’s Haggard College Center in new history. Recently approved is a list among the people on the prayer of alarm and night shopping classes.

And the final rolls of seed were being planted on the Fieldhouse mall just as Dean Roemer was preparing for his first “I love the lawns” directive of the year.

Then what happened?

After many months of rapid progress, things have hit a screeching halt. For a time, Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s administrators and students were really listening to each other. These improvements are evidence of that.

Suddenly, nothing is going on. Conditions are stagnant and no one is listening.

This year’s United Way campaign is an example. It was decided that dorm campaign was perhaps not the best way to encourage students to contribute. This year’s effort is a different approach should have been developed with the help of students who had the time and desire to promote the campaign. Because this year’s United Way campaign will probably be the least successful in years. It could have worked, though.

The situation was not a long time last week with student Senator’s failed Knights of Columbus proposal. In the end, Student Senate, the Knights and Dean Roemer all came out looking bad.

That situation unsettled the three sides have been dealing with. It’s worse, it’s complacency. People are settling for too little because they are afraid of the consequences if they do too much.

Margaret Fosmoe
Managing Editor
Inside Tuesday

When the K of C proposal was first turned down, Student Senate decided not to risk a confrontation because it would lead to a "breakdown in communication" which could mean nothing else getting accomplished the rest of the year.

The sad thing is that they were right. It probably would mean just that. But, obviously, there was a breakdown in communication long ago, or this would never have happened.

We’ve gotten a little lazy this year. We’ve gotten a little complacent. We have to get things moving again or the dining hall conversation is going to become more redundant.

There is a point where the options have to be weighted. It has to be decided whether settling for complacency is worth it.

If nothing else, by the time you leave Notre Dame or Saint Mary’s, you have to know what you believe in and what you are willing to stand up for. You have to know if there is anything you are willing to risk everything for.

Sometimes it’s not so much what you do (within reason), but just the fact that you do something at all. Right now, a whole lot of people are setting it to feel as if nothing is happening.

Besides, stirring up the fire keeps things interesting. There are some real benefits to keeping everyone on their toes. Then, when something really important needs to be accomplished, you find all the small interactions along the way have made it a little easier. It also increases the spectrum of listening, and discussing.

Next time Cap’n Crunch leads off the list of noon time topics, maybe you should start to worry.

There are three simple steps you can take to protect your car from the upcoming South Bend winter drive. Drive it home, put it in your garage, and leave it there. If you can't part with your car, however, you can increase your chances of getting through winter with some preventative maintenance. Here is a list of things to check before the snow starts falling.

The radiator: David Doodle of Mike's Maple Lane Standard, 1706 South Bend Ave., recommends the radiator be flushed every other year. Flushing a radiator cleans dirt and foreign materials out of the cooling system. Flushing solution can be found in any auto parts store, and the procedure may be performed by anyone. Drain the radiator, add flushing solution, reset the radiator, and run the car at idle for 10 to 15 minutes. Then drain the solution and put in fresh anti-freeze. The correct ratio of anti-freeze to water is 50-50.

Mike's currently charges $19.99 for flushing radiators, and this includes checking all the hoses for leaks. Insufficient anti-freeze could cause the engine to freeze and crack. If you have a cracked engine block, that's the end of it, says Al Veldman, owner of Al Veldman's, South Bend 51 and Dixon Way South. "It's very expensive to repair."

The battery: If you don't have a sealed battery, remove the caps and make sure the solution covers the metal plates inside. If it doesn't, just add water.

"If you have a weak battery in the summer, it's sure not going to start in the winter," says Doodle.

The oil and filters: The oil, oil filter and air filter should be changed every 2,500 to 3,000 miles, no matter what the season. Most service stations use 10w-40 all-season motor oil. The air filter should be changed only if dirty. If you can't see light through it, change it.

Plugs and points: Both Doodle and Veldman recommend a tune up to check the plugs and points and adjust the carburetor. The points are located in the distributor cap, through which the current passes from the battery to the plugs. All but very late model cars have points in the distributor cap.

When starting the car, 12 volts of electricity run through the points. This is when the points can burn out. When the car is running, only 6 volts run through the points.

If the plugs are fouled, the car will not start without grounding, risking burnt out points and a run down battery.

An owner with a spark plug wrench can change spark plugs. Screw the plugs, being careful not to chip the ceramic casing, and remove them. If the tips are black, replace them.

If you want to see a clean Bult Hall laundry, your best bet is to wash your clothes early in the day, according to a supervisor of janitorial services here.

Students who use the washers and dryers at night or during the afternoon often find leaves, old newspapers, debris, and lint scattered in the room, which is thoroughly cleaned by the laundry staff. There are hundreds of students using the laundry, and when there are fewer people using it. He also said that he has not heard any complaints about the condition of the laundry facilities.

Johnson said the cleaning staff can't afford to devote too much time to any one area. The staff is responsible for cleaning all the dorms and academic buildings. Bult Hall's laundry is thoroughly cleaned over the weekend and once a week, and when there are fewer people using it.

Not all students are unhappy with the condition of the laundry facilities. "Generally it's clean," says Jim Brown, a junior from Grace. "It's clean at the beginning of the day." When there are a lot of people in it at night, it's pretty dirty, but it's cleaning up.

"What they need to do is build one or two laundry facilities on north quad," Johnson said.

College celebrates birthday

Celebrations commemorating Saint Mary's College's 139th Founder's Day began last night and will continue today with a full schedule of activities. To portray this year's theme, "A Walk Through Time," Saint Mary's students will wear authentic uniforms which were required apparel for SMC students from 1860 to 1982. At 4 p.m. today, teams of four from each hall will compete in a trivia Scavenger Hunt, with the winning team receiving a prize party.

After a 7 p.m. candlelight dinner for visiting alumnae, the college will sponsor a short slide presentation on the history of the college. Sister Martha McDermott will speak after the lecture. To cap off the day's festivities, students will watch a surprise double feature at Haugger College Center.

Saint Mary's was founded 139 years ago by Father Edward Sorin and his colleague, Mother Angela and Father Moreau. Since then, Saint Mary's students have annually celebrated the school's beginning. The Founder's Day festivities serve to increase student awareness of the school's past.

Outraged citizens mourn Burma bombing; North Korea accused

Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea - Thousands of outraged mourners rallied yesterday to denounce the Burma bombing that killed 16 members of a South Korean presidential delegation. President Chun Doo-hwan said the blast was aimed at him and accused communist North Korea of instigating it.

Chun, who avoided the Sunday expiation by minutes because his motorcade was delayed in traffic, announced nationwide mourning when he returned home early yesterday. He decided the attack that killed his senior advisers, including four key Cabinet ministers and his closest friends.

"We will not be the only ones who point to the North Korean communist group of people on earth as the perpetrator of the brutal crime to humiliate us as head of state of the republic," Chun said.

No group has claimed responsibility for the bombing, which wrecked a ceremonial site in the Burma capital of Rangoon, killing 19 people and wounding 48 on the first day of a scheduled 18-day Asian goodwill tour by Chun.

He canceled the tour immediately and flew home. The government declared a state of alert for the armed forces immediately after the attack.

Most of the dead were high-ranking South Koreans, including four senior Cabinet members, the ambassador to Burma and Chun's press secretary.

Long lines of mourners were seen yesterday at an altar for the dead at the National Cemetery on the edge of Seoul, bowing and burning incense. Similar altars were erected nationwide.

Tentative settlement reached in Canal case

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - A proposed multimillion-dollar settlement in the Love Canal toxic contamination case was reached between Occidental Petroleum and 1,345 residents whose homes were built on a chemical dump site, the company and attorneys for the residents said yesterday.

The tentative accord would resolve 94 percent of the claims against Occidental Petroleum, Occidental Chemical Corp., the city of Niagara Falls, N.Y., the county of Niagara and the Niagara Falls School District, said Gordon Becker, spokesman for the Los Angeles-based Occidental Petroleum.

The Love Canal Homeowners Association was notified of the tentative agreement by mail over the weekend, and residents, although pleased, had some reservations, said Jamie Halle, a spokeswoman for the group.

"There's been false hope in Love Canal before," she said. "How can you get excited about knowing we can pay for our kids' leukemia down the line?"

Hooker Chemical and Plastics Corp., a subsidiary of Occidental, dumped more than 20,000 tons of chemical wastes into Love Canal a decade before abandoning the dump in 1953, when it was sold to the Niagara Falls Board of Education.

A school and a housing development were built on the clay-capped dump.

Love Canal became a toxic-waste disaster in August 1978 when state health officials ordered the evacuation of pregnant women and children because of possible contamination of the community by leaking chemicals from a dumpsite.

Hooker said it had no responsibility after selling the property to the Niagara Falls Board of Education in 1952. Hooker also said chemicals did not leak from the dump until after the city of Niagara Falls broke the clay seal that had been placed on top of the dump.

Asked about Secretary of Interior James Watt's resignation, Quayle remarked: Watt was "one of few people who can go around periodically offering 20 to 50 million Americans.

While in South Bend, Quayle also spoke to the Region 4 convention of the American University Continuing Education Association and endorsed Republican mayoral candidates from Mishawaka and South Bend.

The lecture was sponsored by the White Center, the department in the law school which studies public policy questions. Quayle was the second speaker in a lecture series sponsored by the center to give students the opportunity to talk with policy makers.

John Gilligan, former governor of Ohio and the White Center director, said Quayle was chosen because, as a member of the Armed Services Committee, he is qualified to speak on the War Powers Act. The issue is not only important because of its timeliness but because its profound constitutional questions have all law students looking at it," Gilligan said.

Sponsored by the Counseling and Psychological Services Center, University of Notre Dame

BUILDING SELF-ESTEEM:
A program designed to help students identify thoughts, feelings, and behaviors that affect self-esteem, and to explore and practice new skills to express their feelings in constructive ways.
BEGINNING DATE: Thursday, October 19, 1983 TIME: 1:00-3:00 p.m.
RELATIONSHIP ENRICHMENT: A program designed to teach partners to communicate effectively and enhance their relationship by learning about and practicing new skills to express their feelings in constructive ways. Both partners are required to attend.
BEGINNING DATE: Thursday, October 26, 1983 TIME: 1:00-3:00 p.m.
DEVELOPING ASSERTIVE BEHAVIOR: A program designed to help students to realize the importance of assertiveness, recognize and increase assertive behaviors, and distinguish assertive responses from other behaviors. Each student will have the opportunity to practice assertive behaviors through the use of role play techniques.
BEGINNING DATE: Monday, November 1, 1983 TIME: 4:00-6:00 p.m.
STRESS MANAGEMENT:
This program will focus on skills and knowledge dealing with stress. The purpose of the group will be to help students better understand the etiology of stress, how it affects the individual, and to practice relaxation, communication, and development of personal skills. Each student will have the opportunity to practice stress management techniques that will meet his/her own individual needs.
BEGINNING DATE: Tuesday, November 2, 1983 TIME: 1:00-3:00 p.m.
MEN'S AWARENESS GROUP:
The purpose of this group is to bring men together to examine the effects of our culture on our role, the role expectations we have, the responsibilities of being male, explore new ways of dealing with stress, and behaviors related to male, to help students understand and clarify their own personal needs as males, and discover new ways of relating with others. Men only. No reservation required.

However, Anthony said, "We are more than willing to work with the student senate. We would like to provide the community with a place to go to for activities such as dances. Anthony stressed the fraternity's willingness to support the student community by hosting some non-alcoholic events. The Knights will be talking with Dean Roemer to discuss their options.

The Knights of Columbus Build­ing Corporation, the organization which had the building used for 50 years in 1969, does not like the idea of the building being used by non-members, Anthony said. "We come and go, as students, but they keep it going," Anthony said.

Callaghan is optimistic, hoping that among the senate, the ad­ministration and the knights, an agreement will be reached. "Right now," Callaghan said, "there is a need for non-alcoholic events. He pointed out that the Saturdays and the senior nights."

Callaghan expressed the need to eliminate the misconceptions about off-campus life, saying that many people worry needlessly about the additional costs and complications of off­campus life. In either November or January, an off-campus week will be held so that information can be made available as early as possible to off-campus candidates.

"Off-campus life has got to be pushed as much as possible," Callaghan said. "One of our main duties is to help students get to know and enjoy off-campus life in." Rich Spolitino, off-campus senate, introduced a resolution to help parking problems of off-campus students. His suggestion is to reserve spaces for off-campus students in the stadium parking lot.

Spolitino said, "Right now, it's for both on- and off-campus students, and on-campus students are hogging the spaces. I don't think it's too much of an inconvenience to make them on-campus students walk a little farther."

Spolitino also argued that off-campus students often come to campus twice a week and have to park by Senior Bar, while on-campus students, who use their cars less fre­quently, occupy the prime spots. Spolitino plans to study off-campus use of the lot before he suggests a number of spaces to reserve.

Callaghan discussed the idea of giving off-campus students preference at registration so that they would get first choice of re­quired classes. This would help off­ campus students plan their traveling and to and from school. However, he didn't want to check the number of off­ campus people and the percentage per major to see if some students might get off-campus in middle classes.

Callaghan also wishes to raise other issues at the meeting, namely the prospect of senior townhouses, residence and classroom renova­tions.

Sunday morning breakfast will be served in the fieldhouse. Guest speaker Father Don McNell will give closing remarks recapitulating the weekend before family members and students say their goodbyes, he said.

All necessary information concerning the weekend and the prospect of News at Quarantine will be sent to parents before Thanksgiving. Ticket prices for a student and two parents should not change con­siderably from last year's cost of $96, but prices have not been finalized.

Special hotel rates are being ar­ranged for parents and the conven­tion is asking major hotels to reserve certain sections so parents coming to the weekend can have the op­portunity to get better acquainted. Members of the planning committee at the University, parents are en­couraged to make hotel arrange­ments as soon as possible.

Marcos

Four members, all former Supreme Court Justices, read a letter to Marcos saying it was a "painful" decision to step down. They sug­gested the formation of a new panel whose members would be "acceptable to all sectors of society."
It was early in the morning and I was walking to work when out of a building came Jesse Jackson. The civil-rights leader was dressed in a business suit and accompanied by only one aide instead of his usual claque. I considered saying hello, reminding him that we had met, and then go on my way. Then I spied the kid.

He was black, about 16 years old, and walking fast. But when he saw Jackson he stopped dead in his tracks and turned around. Even when he started to walk again, he did so slowly and deliberately, looking over his shoulder at Jackson all the time.

Now it could be that the kid would have reacted the same way to Walter Mondale or John Glenn, but I doubt it. I doubt he would even have recognised them. But he did not recognize Jackson. Only when Jackson was driven away did the kid resume his brisk walk. It was a small incident, but it made an impression. I know nothing of the kid and for all I know he be a political junkie and has a scrap book filled with pictures of Democratic candidates. But if he is a typical Washington teenager, he has shown nothing about politics, cares nothing about politics and feels -- no, knows -- that it has nothing to do with him.

Now Jackson is considering whether to run for President, ostensibly as a way to get more blacks registered and involved in the political process. It is a risky proposition. Many Americans doubt he has the stature and personal qualities, let alone personal reasons. Jackson may be popular among blacks in general, but some black leaders consider him nothing but a grandstander -- a silver tongued orator who's all talk and no action.

For other blacks, Jackson's potential candidacy looms as a no-win proposition. They know he can't win the nomination and fear he can only hurt the black cause. They think his candidacy could split off enough black votes to ensure the nomination of a conservative Democrat -- no big deal when it comes to civil rights, where all the candidates are in agreement. But there is no such agreement on the economic issues that are paramount to blacks. For this reason, some blacks think a Jackson candidacy could be a tragedy.

But on the day the kid spied Jackson, the newspapers reported on the number of Merit Scholarship semi-finalists from Washington. There were 52 -- all but three of them students at private schools. It is, of course, that some of the private school semi-finalists were black and maybe the worst interests from the one public school as well. But that does not change the fact that the entire Washington public school system, 94 per cent black, could only come up with three semi-finalists.

What we have here in row figures is the outline of a national tragedy. There are many causes for it and probably many solutions to it, but one of the key facts to be get to be get the crux of the matter -- getting black youths involved in what is often called The System. They have to be made to understand that despite all the rhetoric to the contrary, it is their system, too, and it will respond to them if only they know how to push the right buttons.

Voting is one such button. If Jackson can get that kid to respond, he can get him to understand that his future is in his own hands, then his candidacy will not only accomplish more than any of the others who fail to get the nomination, but may be worth the problem it creates.

For Jesse Jackson, the ultimate challenge is not the chance to broker the convention but the realisation of his own ego. It is, instead, a kid in sneakers. If he can interest him in voting, then Jackson is a winner no matter what. In fact, we all are.

Ed Biles resigns at Houston
Associated Press
HOUSTON — Embattled Houston Oilers' Coach Ed Biles, his team mired in a 3-1 game losing streak including six losses this season, resigned yesterday, saying he was tired of being used as a punching bag.

There was no immediate announcement from the Oilers' management on a successor, but there was speculation that between defensive coordinator Chuck Stud- ley or offensive coordinator Kay Dalton would be named interim head coach.

Oilers General Manager Ladd Her- zeg met with the coaching staff yes- terday while players went through a brief workout

Biles, looking relaxed and smiling, spent time into this morning's radio post- game news conference as he had done throughout the season.

"I've thought about this for a long time and when I got up this morning, in the fog, I thought about this and I thought about this for a long time..." Biles said.

Biles also said he was given the opportunity to resign at the end of the season or at the end of next season, but he decided to resign a week ago and I talked over it with my wife and I talked over it with last night.

The Squash Club will hold an organizational meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the LaFortune Little Theatre. All students and faculty members interested in joining are encouraged to attend. If interested but unable to attend, call Sean 277-1450. No previous squash experience is necessary. — The Observer

Nebraska no longer unanimous choice

BY HERSHEY NEISSONEN
Associated Press

For the first time in three weeks, Nebraska is not a unanimous choice as the nation's No. 1 college football team.

The Cornhuskers' 14-10 squeezer over unraveled Oklahoma State cost them their first-place votes in this week's Associated Press poll and also left them five points short of being an unanimous pick again.

Nebraska received 55 of 60 first-place votes and 1,195 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. The Cornhuskers have yet to lose this season, starting with the preseason poll.

The other five first-place ballots went to Texas, runner-up for the fourth straight week to a row. The Longhorns, who defeated Oklahoma State 28-16 and dropped the Sooners from eighth place to 15th, totaled 1,144 points.

Although this week's Top Twenty consists of the same 20 teams as last week, there was considerable shuffling, with Alabama falling from third to 11th after losing to Penn State 54-28. North Carolina, a 50-10 winner over Wake Forest, rose from fourth to third with 1,014 points and West Virginia, which was idle, climbed from fifth to fourth with 983 points.

Auburn, seventh a week ago, jumped to fifth with 866 points following a 49-21 rout of previously unbeaten Kentucky. Ohio State downed Purdue 33-22 and remained in sixth place with 861 points.

Florida moved up from ninth to seventh with 856 points by whipping Vanderbilt 29-10. Georgia cracked the Top Ten for the first time this season, trouncing Mississippi State 36-11 and vaulting from 11th to eigth with 725 points.

Arizona went up from 10th to ninth with 702 points by crushing Colorado State 52-21 and Miami of Florida jumped from 12th to 10th with a 42-14 route of Louisville. good for 600 points.

The Second Ten consists of Alabama, Southern Methodist, Michigan, Iowa, Oklahoma, Maryland, Washington, Arizona State, Illinois and Brigham Young.

The loss brings Notre Dame's record to nine wins against three losses. This was the first game of the season for Irish that did not end in a shutout for one team.

Three Notre Dame players were named to the Pan American Tournament team. Forward Rich Herdinen, halfback Dom Druano, and goalkeeper Mark Steranka each received this honor.

IRISH ITEMS . . . Junior Rich Her- dingen leads the team in scoring, with 725 points this season. He has moved into a tie for third place on the all-time Irish scoring list, with 90 career points.

Senior Bob Snyder is sixth on that list, with 70 points, and senior Ken Harkensend is seventh, with 64 points.

The Irish will play host Friday night to Marquette. The match begins at 8:00 under the lights at Carroll Field. On Sunday, Notre Dame will play Chicago in Alumni Field at 2:00.

Lakers sign Jabbar; trade Norm Nixon

Associated Press

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — The Los Angeles Lakers signed veteran center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the second-leading scorer in National Basketball Association history, to a multiyear contract and acquired a back-up for him in trade today.

The Lakers traded guards Norm Nixon and Eddie Jordan to the San Diego Clippers in exchange for center Swen Nater and the rights to unsigned guard Bryon Scott.

Nater will be used to back up the 36-year-old Abdul-Jabbar, who has been a free agent since the completion of the 1982-83 NBA season.

As part of the trade, the Clippers also will receive at least one, and possibly two, future second-round draft choices.

Abdul-Jabbar, a six-time NBA most Valuable Player, has been suffering from a mild case of hepatitis and will not be ready to play for two weeks, Lakers Coach Pat Riley said over the weekend.

The Lakers are 6-2-0 this season and have jumped from 12th to 10th with a 42-14 route of Louisville. good for 600 points.

THAT'S WHY NSA offers you these exciting career opportunities

By JOHN MENNELL (Sports Writer)
The Notre Dame's women's tennis team defeated all but Western Michigan in the seventh annual Irish Invitational to earn second place. The Irish did win their other three matches in the tourney, against Central Michigan, Toledo, and Saint Mary's.

Saint Mary's, meanwhile, besides losing to Notre Dame, also lost to Western Michigan and tied with both Toledo and Central Michigan.

Irish coach Sharon Petro was pleased with her team's overall performance. The Irish lost only five of 24 matches during the tourney, with four of those being to Western Michigan.

But Petro was not totally satisfied with the showing of her team. "Inconsistency was a problem," said Petro afterward. "In some cases we would get ahead and then let down. That's how we lost some key matches."

The strongest performance in the tournament for the Irish was by the second doubles team of Greta Rorzer and Cathy Schnell. "They played good tennis," Petro remarked. "They were sharp all weekend."

Roemer and Schnell won against Western Michigan 6-4, 6-3; Central Michigan 6-0, 6-0; Saint Mary's 6-0, 6-1; and Toledo by default.

Notre Dame's first doubles team of Mary Colligan and Pauli Fischette also had an undefeated weekend. They beat Western Michigan 6-5, 6-4; Central Michigan 6-0, 6-0; Saint Mary's 5-6, 6-2, 6-0; and Toledo 6-1, 6-1.

Notre Dame's singles players all suffered at least one loss. First singles player Susie Panther lost to Western Michigan, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, but won against Central Michigan, 6-0, 6-0; Saint Mary's 6-3, 6-0; and Toledo 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

Second singles player Lisa LaFatta "played much better against Sue Weigand (of Western Michigan) than last year," said Petro. "Lisa also had a nice win against Toledo."

LaFatta lost to Western Michigan but won her other three matches.

Laura Lee, Notre Dame's third singles player, "is playing much smarter tennis than ever before," said Petro. "She is much more controlled."

Lee's only loss of the weekend was also to Western Michigan. Petro said that fourth singles player, freshman JoAnne Biafore, "had some problems," but yet the coach is not worried. She attributes Biafore's problems to being a freshman and having to adjust to the academic load, as well as to being an athlete.

Biafore lost to Western Michigan and Toledo but won against Saint Mary's and Central Michigan.

"She'll come along real well," said Petro.

"We've a lot to learn from this weekend," Petro says. "If we can learn from this and apply it to something more important it is for the year." Petro wished that the team could get more tough competition in the fall, but many teams play few matches then. Petro said she likes the Irish Invitational because it brings in a lot of competition.

Belles win despite errors

By KATHY MURPHY (Sports Writer)
The Saint Mary's volleyball team played their last home game of the season Friday night at the Angela Athletic Facility. Although the Belles won the match, they did not exactly go out in style. Despite inconsistent and mediocre play, the Belles managed to defeat the University of Michigan - Dearborns, 15-2, 15-1, 15-3, 15-9, and 15-7.

In the first game, Saint Mary's came out strong and quickly disposed of their opponent in a 10-minute game.

In games two and three, Saint Mary's looked like a different team. They committed numerous errors on both offense and defense. The defense did not cover their positions, as the ball frequently hit the floor, while the offense could not set up any good scoring opportunities.

"The girls were tentative," said Saint Mary's coach Brian Goralski. "They were all waiting for someone else to make the play."

"We had a lack of mental concentration," said Goralski. "I think that the girls were trying too hard."

However, the Belles bounced back to win the final two games of the match. The difference was a more solid defense and a more aggressive offense.

"We played very well in practice (last week)," said Goralski, "but we just didn't play well tonight."

This season the Belles have a relatively young and experienced team.

"The freshmen are not real aggressive," said Goralski. "I've been working with them after practice to make them more aggressive."

The Belles will need to play with more aggressiveness as well as consistency when they face two tough opponents this week. Today, Saint Mary's plays Golde and on Friday they face Marion.

Saint Mary's will also meet these two teams in the NSA pre-tournament in late October to com-pete for a bid to the state tournament.

Goralski feels that it is very important for the team to do in the pre-tournament play.

"Our team attitude is much better and the girls are really getting into playing volleyball," said Goralski.

"As we continue to gain experience we will be a stronger team."
Managers announce lineups

Series opens tonight in Baltimore

Associated Press

Baltimore Orioles’ Manager Joe Altobelli announced yesterday that his team would use the designated hitter in the National League Championship Series there was no problem. The designated hitter is a fixture in that league.

"Believe me," Altobelli said, "I did some soul searching, even before we got this far, even while we were playing Chicago." While the Orioles were beating Chicago in four games in the American League Championship Series there was no problem. The designated hitter is a fixture in that league, included or excluded.

The World Series, which begins here tonight, is another story. This year, being an odd numbered year, the designated hitter is not used in the World Series, and Altobelli had a decision to make.

"The biggest thing is I didn’t want to put Kenly in the outfield and have him do something that would damage his career," Altobelli said. "He hasn’t played out there for two years, and that would be a tall order."

So, Altobelli announced a starting lineup, in batting order, of Al Bumbry, center field; Jim Dwyer, right field; Cal Ripken Jr., shortstop; Eddie Murray, first base; John Lowensstein, left field; Rich Dauer, second base; Todd Cruz, third base; and Rick Dempsey, catcher.

Left-hander Scott McGregor, 18-7 and loser of Game One of the AL playoffs, will be the starter for Baltimore. Right-hander John Daner, 19-6 and the losing pitcher in Game Two of the Philadelphia’s four game National League pennant playoff victory over Los Angeles, will start for the Phillies.

The Notre Dame soccer team was busy this past weekend, playing three games in two days.

The score also context from the first whistle, as the Irish, who were the first keepers control of the ball in the Outsiders territory, scored goals in hundred of perfect passes and had several good offensive drives, while the Findlay players had trouble completing a single pass.

Eighteen minutes into the game, forward Pat Stanzo took a pass from Chris Bemis and drove the ball into the left side of the net. Hunter's early goal gave Notre Dame a 2-0 halftime lead scoring 36 seconds before the halftime whistle. Forward Robin Byrnman, with a big cross from the right side of the field. Again, Bemis headed the ball on the left of the goal and rammed it home.

The Irish half also belonged to the Irish, although most of their Irish lack desire.

After an enthusiastic Bowling Green cross country team won last Friday's Notre Dame Invitational, one of the captains suggested that the team be released from the Golden Dome shining the team.

somewhat depressed Notre Dame fan remarked, "You guys oughta Think of the symbolism that will be the second time today that you left Notre Dame behind.

In cross country it seems that desire and determination tend to outshine greater talent.

On Friday September 30, a hungry Notre Dame team upset an extremely talented and favored Marquette team by 30 to win the National Catholic Meet.

Last Friday, a more inspired Bowling Green squad handed the more talented Notre Dame contingent its first loss of the season, 67-29, among a field of thirteen teams.

Despite the Notre Dame loss, the meet itself was exceptional.

Central Michigan's Jeff Green ran away from the 90-man pack, leading by about 50 yards at the three-mile mark. The CMU margin held out 24.05, some eight seconds ahead of Eastern Michigan's Eric Smith, whose strong kick at the end nearly caught Green.

Notre Dame co-captains Mike Dillon and Tim Canon finished third and fourth, respectively, with times of 25:55 and 25:42, respectively. An extremely fast start exhausted the early leaders. Dillon and Cannon both ran fine races, enabling them to surge past many of the early leaders and jump from sixth and seventh places to third and fourth.

The problems thin Notre Dame team seemed to have last Friday did not lie with its leadership. Cannon, despite nursing a sore ankle that it was thought would hold him in capable of running his usual race, showed his mental toughness by once he got into the heat of competition.

Unlike last week, however, the supporting cast did not run up to put with Cannon.

Dallas and Ed Jobie, runners that are usually capable of staying with Dillon, finished their last home cross country races to 20th and 28th places, respectively.

The overall poor team effort of Notre Dame perplexed Canon, who had been somewhat psyched up for this meet.

"The team just didn't concentrate," said Canon. "We just let things slip. If everyone had run at the same time as last week, we would have won by a big margin."

"I think this loss will help us, give us a little humility," commented Canon. "I wish we would have won, but we may have learned a valuable lesson for next time."

"Now (Ed Jobe), Tim Tyler, Mike Collins, and myself we know that we've got to be mentally tough, running from the start with everything we've got," said Canon.

The talented Jobe, who ran 24:51 in the National Catholic Meet, was 17 seconds behind race Friday, running the final two miles in 10:19.

Friday's best effort probably belonged to junior Bill Courtier, who ran 20 seconds faster in the second mile than he did in National Catholic.

Courtier's time of 25:10 claimed second for him Notre Dame team outside finishing in 24:25.7 and 24:27, respectively.

The extremely fast start exhausted the early leaders. Dillon and Cannon both ran fine races, enabling them to surge past many of the early leaders and jump from sixth and seventh places to third and fourth.

Make major contributions

Perrino, Doerger crack lineup

There is nary a Fighting Irish fan who hasn't noticed freshman Mike Perrino's entry into the starting lineup.

The forward has been somewhat psyched up for the Irish offense, adding two goals and three assists in the Colorado and South Carolina games.

"Mike Perrino and Tom Doerger have been making major contributions on the offensive line during the last two weeks at the strong tackle and quick guard spots."

Everyone knows that the Notre Dame offensive line packs a wealth of talent. The interesting thing about this talent is that it is so young — only one starter graduates at the end of the season.

"It's a challenge, as well as a thrill," continues Perrino. "I think the toughest part about going out there is the preparation you have to do during the week."

He was named to the adidas/Scholastic Coach prep All-America team, as well as being named to several Illinois all-star teams. He primarily played defensive end in high school, but figured to be utilized as an offensive lineman in the college ranks.

"I have put on about fifty pounds, since football season senior year," Perrino says. "I guess you could say that was the big adjustment between high school and college."

"Mike is a strong, improving football player, but he still needs a little bit more playing time to be as good as he can be," says Head Offensive Line Coach Carl Seiler. "He has played well against the teams that our whole line has done a good job against."

Tom Doerger's name seems to surface whenever a replacement is needed in the offensive line due to injury. He is now filling in for injured quick guard Tim Scannell.

Doerger started his career under the Golden Dome at the tackle position. After that, he had been stated as the substitute for either center Mike Kelley or Scannell.
