U.S. only nation to veto U.N. resolution condemning Israel

SMC counseling center offers more than senior career guidance service

By SHARON HOUK
News Staff

Desperate seniors seeking employment are not the only students to whom the Saint Mary's Counseling and Career Development Center caters. Even freshmen can take advantage of programs ranging from career guidance to eating concerns.

The center offers a wide variety of programs this year designed for all undergraduate students. Career development is of special interest to seniors, but the center offers programs for students from their freshman year through graduation.

According to the center's director, Mary DePauw, it is important that students start considering career directions at the beginning of their college years. Providing freshmen with a smoother transition to the center's focus for the incoming class. The center's programs for freshmen include a workshop on academic skills and a special one-hour program entitled "Freshman Goal Exploration: A 4-Year Plan." On Sept. 12 from 6-7:30, it's sponsored by Regina Hall.

The center also provides sophomores with career development programs and workshops on choosing a major. Juniors and seniors may take advantage of such programs as Resume Writing, Job Interviews, and Assertive Job Search Tactics.

All students have access to the recently updated, reorganized and expanded Career Resource Center located in 168 LeMann Hall. The Career Resource Center contains resource material on nearly every aspect of making a career choice. In a comfortable atmosphere, a student may browse through books on topics such as stress management, the Peace Corps, specific job vacancies and internships. The shelves also hold literature from many corporations and organizations as well as a reference guide to the career choices and addresses of Saint Mary's alumnae.

The Counseling and Career Development Center at Saint Mary's was established in 1978 when the counseling center and the career development center were consolidated. DePauw says she feels personal issues cannot be separated from career development. A more efficient and effective program is provided by a single center addressing various student needs.

Since DePauw became director of the center in the fall of 1980, there has been significant growth in programs offered. The center has always offered career counseling, but, under DePauw, it is continually adjusting itself to student needs.

DePauw stresses that the center does not function as a vocational compass. She says she believes students can be overly concerned about molding themselves to a specific career and, as a result, neglect their academic and spiritual education. Others neglect developing... see CENTER, page 4

Sure beats the 'brar

This student didn't quite make it to the library yesterday afternoon. The reflecting pool outside and a rather wet frisbee game proved too much of a temptation for him. There will be plenty of days to "doze it out at the 'brar" as the semester wears on, but the reflecting pool will soon be drained and frisbee weather will turn to frost.

By MARY HEILMANN
Staff Reporter

"Orientation Counseling" was provided to Saint Mary's freshmen upon their arrival this year in an attempt to ease the transition into college life, replacing the Big Sister/ Little Sister orientation program that had previously been used.

The new program was instituted "to give a much more complete orientation" and to correct the problems that have plagued the Big Sister program in past years. Orientation Week Chairman Carol Hastings said, "The big problem with the Big Sister program was that not enough girls volunteered to be big sisters, and, for the most part, the commitment of those who did never lasted. This was complicated by the difficulty of organizing activities for such a large group of people, and in communicating these activities to the whole campus." Hastings said.

Under the Orientation Counseling program, which was originated by Director of Student Activities Mary Ann O'Donnell, freshmen were divided into groups of ten to twelve students under the guidance of an upperclassman orientation counselor. The orientation counselor was then responsible for coordinating all aspects of orientation: academic, social, and spiritual, within her group, as well as facilitating interactions between other orientation groups and the Notre Dame community.

Orientation counselors were required to attend three two-hour training sessions last spring and were issued handbooks delineating their duties, which included contacting each of the girls in their group during the summer, as well as greeting them individually upon their arrival at Saint Mary's. The upperclassman orientation counselor, praised the program, saying, "Being an orientation counselor was really fun. It was a neat way to meet the freshmen, to take them around, and to make them feel at home. And it's great for the freshmen because they get to meet one upperclassman plus nine other freshmen."

Under the Big Sister program, students had complained that too social activities were planned and that many big sisters lacked the commitment necessary for successful and lasting relationships.

Terry Kamin, a sophomore... see FROSH, page 3

Aryeh Levin, deputy Israeli ambassador to the United Nations, said the area under Israeli occupation has been kept free of the bloody turmoil and upheaval plaguing the rest of Lebanon.

"In the month of August, for instance, not one Lebanese was killed in the south. But according to Lebanese police sources, some 215 Others were killed elsewhere in Lebanon," Levinsaid. He described charges of Israeli mistreatment of Lebanese citizens as "patent nonsense."

By MARY HEILMANN
Staff Reporter

"Orientation Counseling" was provided to Saint Mary's freshmen upon their arrival this year in an attempt to ease the transition into college life, replacing the Big Sister/ Little Sister orientation program that had previously been used.

"Orientation Counseling" was provided to Saint Mary's freshmen upon their arrival this year in an attempt to ease the transition into college life, replacing the Big Sister/ Little Sister orientation program that had previously been used. Under the Orientation Counseling program, which was originated by Director of Student Activities Mary Ann O'Donnell, freshmen were divided into groups of ten to twelve students under the guidance of an upperclassman orientation counselor. The orientation counselor was then responsible for coordinating all aspects of orientation: academic, social, and spiritual, within her group, as well as facilitating interactions between other orientation groups and the Notre Dame community. Orientation counselors were required to attend three two-hour training sessions last spring and were issued handbooks delineating their duties, which included contacting each of the girls in their group during the summer, as well as greeting them individually upon their arrival at Saint Mary's. The upperclassman orientation counselor, praised the program, saying, "Being an orientation counselor was really fun. It was a neat way to meet the freshmen, to take them around, and to make them feel at home. And it's great for the freshmen because they get to meet one upperclassman plus nine other freshmen."

Under the Big Sister program, students had complained that too social activities were planned and that many big sisters lacked the commitment necessary for successful and lasting relationships. Terri Kamin, a sophomore... see FROSH, page 3

Sister girls volunteered to be big sisters, and, for the most part, the commitment of those who did never lasted. This was complicated by the difficulty of organizing activities for such a large group of people, and in communicating these activities to the whole campus. Hastings said.

The new program was instituted "to give a much more complete orientation" and to correct the problems that have plagued the Big Sister program in past years. Orientation Week Chairman Carol Hastings said, "The big problem with the Big Sister program was that not enough girls volunteered to be big sisters, and, for the most part, the commitment of those who did never lasted. This was complicated by the difficulty of organizing activities for such a large group of people, and in communicating these activities to the whole campus." Hastings said.

Under the Orientation Counseling program, which was originated by Director of Student Activities Mary Ann O'Donnell, freshmen were divided into groups of ten to twelve students under the guidance of an upperclassman orientation counselor. The orientation counselor was then responsible for coordinating all aspects of orientation: academic, social, and spiritual, within her group, as well as facilitating interactions between other orientation groups and the Notre Dame community. Orientation counselors were required to attend three two-hour training sessions last spring and were issued handbooks delineating their duties, which included contacting each of the girls in their group during the summer, as well as greeting them individually upon their arrival at Saint Mary's. The upperclassman orientation counselor, praised the program, saying, "Being an orientation counselor was really fun. It was a neat way to meet the freshmen, to take them around, and to make them feel at home. And it's great for the freshmen because they get to meet one upperclassman plus nine other freshmen."

Under the Big Sister program, students had complained that too social activities were planned and that many big sisters lacked the commitment necessary for successful and lasting relationships. Terri Kamin, a sophomore... see FROSH, page 3

Sister girls volunteered to be big sisters, and, for the most part, the commitment of those who did never lasted. This was complicated by the difficulty of organizing activities for such a large group of people, and in communicating these activities to the whole campus. Hastings said.

The new program was instituted "to give a much more complete orientation" and to correct the problems that have plagued the Big Sister program in past years. Orientation Week Chairman Carol Hastings said, "The big problem with the Big Sister program was that not enough girls volunteered to be big sisters, and, for the most part, the commitment of those who did never lasted. This was complicated by the difficulty of organizing activities for such a large group of people, and in communicating these activities to the whole campus." Hastings said.

Under the Orientation Counseling program, which was originated by Director of Student Activities Mary Ann O'Donnell, freshmen were divided into groups of ten to twelve students under the guidance of an upperclassman orientation counselor. The orientation counselor was then responsible for coordinating all aspects of orientation: academic, social, and spiritual, within her group, as well as facilitating interactions between other orientation groups and the Notre Dame community. Orientation counselors were required to attend three two-hour training sessions last spring and were issued handbooks delineating their duties, which included contacting each of the girls in their group during the summer, as well as greeting them individually upon their arrival at Saint Mary's. The upperclassman orientation counselor, praised the program, saying, "Being an orientation counselor was really fun. It was a neat way to meet the freshmen, to take them around, and to make them feel at home. And it's great for the freshmen because they get to meet one upperclassman plus nine other freshmen."

Under the Big Sister program, students had complained that too social activities were planned and that many big sisters lacked the commitment necessary for successful and lasting relationships. Terri Kamin, a sophomore... see FROSH, page 3
Hands down, McDonald's is the winner in the great fast-food race

Somewhere on Madison Avenue somebody has convinced someone that Burger King has a chance of beating out McDonald's. Forget it.

I don't like Burger King. After being pounded this summer by television ads espousing the greatness of flame broiling, I decided one day at work to part from my Big Mac routine and give this upstart a try.

Terrible. I waited in line 15 minutes as one employee stood before one cash register and holstered a "Whopper" into a microphone for each of the 15 customers who wanted one. Another employee rushed out to grab top fillers and pass orders one item at a time.

When I get my Whopper, it was cold. I'm not arguing all Whoppers are cold, but let's just say I've never had a cold Big Mac.

A Big Mac has fresh, crisp salad dressings. When you bite into a Whopper, an entire garden of alabaster vegetables ooze forth onto your cardboard box. If you're lucky, your taffy hot dog might stay positioned on the bun. Almost always, you can fill 12 baskets full when the heat is gone.

But somehow Burger King persists with its petty advertisements. In the first quarter of 1980, Burger King commanded the fast-food industry with 16 percent of the market. Burger King, al­­most in second place, held only 10.7 percent of the market. Whizzer and Wendy's sniping at its heels.

Does Burger King still think that Americans are awake at night trying to decide between a Whopper and a Big Mac? Somebody tells those Madison Avenue folk that the game is over. The American public has already decided: it's McDonald's hands down.

It's probably the same people who are trying to make us think we like Pepsi more than Coke. In grocery stores, they give us slips of Coke and signs of Pepsi and a subtitle claiming "Now is the time to go for the challenge! The Great Pepsi Challenge!" As mean Joe Greene would say, give us a case and we'll think about it.

Bill Cosby is right: Coke is better than Pepsi because a beverage is better than syrup. All of which is more proof that McDonald's is better than Burger King. Next time you're in McDonald's, try to order a Pepsi. They won't let you; they know Pepsi is not the market. Burger King, when I got my Whopper, it was cold. The real Big Mac.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.

First it's Five Points. Whip up to Michigan. Then an OC kegger.

Let's be serious. Notre Dame's alcohol policy has forced us off campus to party. But now instead of stumbling across the quad to get home, we have to drive. Getting picked up on DWI is one thing; killing yourself or someone else is quite another.

Twenty-four people in Indiana are injured or killed each day in drunk-driving crashes. Among our age group, drunk driving is the number one cause of death.

We've heard all this before — now it's time to think about it. On weekend nights, one out of every ten drivers on the road is drunk. Don't let that one be you.

Hey, let's be careful out there.
Thursday, September 7, 1984 — page 3

Khaddafy regains post after coup attempt fails

Associated Press

EDITORS NOTE: Correspondence John Winn Miller recently spent nine days in Libya on his second extended visit to the North African nation. The sources for this story asked not to be identified for fear of retaliation or diplomatic repercussions.

Four months after surviving a coup attempt, Col. Muammar Khaddafy has regained full control of the country using youthful shock troops, prison camps and televised executions by strangulation.

During 15 years of nearly absolute rule of this North African nation, the 42-year-old Khaddafy has survived at least six coup attempts, diplomats say.

But the last one, on May 8, against Khaddafy's heavily fortified barracks home in Tripoli was different. This time it wasn't the military but a small band of civilians that carried out the attempt. Most of the commandos, perhaps a dozen, were trapped by Libyan forces in an apartment building and killed, sources say.

For the next month and a half Libya was swept by a reign of terror instigated by Khaddafy and carried out by youthful shock troops, prison camps and televised executions by strangulation.

"As long as you have a big army and the Revolutionary Committees, it is easy to control the country. There are only a few thousand people in the Revolutionary Committees but that's enough to control the country," one diplomat said.

"Khadafy's relations with the army are off and on all the time," said one diplomat, describing the number of military coup attempts.

"They get special privileges in stores, houses, cars," he said.

California heat wave sets records, brings on power outages, injuries

Associated Press

A scorching Southern California heat wave has toppled three temperature records in two days, knocked out power to almost 100,000 people and hospitalized several people with heat exhaustion. Officials said Thursday the worst may be over.

Thousands fled to the beaches, classes were shortened in overheated schoolrooms and air conditioners cranked up to high speed to record amounts of electricity.

"I'm trying to keep in touch with you and plan activities with other groups and with similar groups as Notre Dame," said Colen. "The program's been such a success already that I want to continue their involvement with their orientation group.

"It was a tradition which had been outgrown and needed to be modified," Hastings commented. "The new program was a huge success, largely due to the commitment and enthusiasm of the orientation counselors. Those leaders did such an outstanding job they were really excellent."
Japan, South Korea begin friendly relations

Associated Press

Japan and South Korea moved toward a new relationship yesterday with the historic visit of South Korean President Chun Doo-hwan and a statement of contrition by Emperor Hirohito for the "unfortunate past" that he divided the two Asian neighbors.

Chun, the first Korean leader ever to visit the former colonial master of the Korean peninsula, arrived yesterday afternoon for a three-day visit amid tight security measures ever taken by Japanese police.

Several hours after his arrival, Chun met with his cabinets and Foreign Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone for 90 minutes. Foreign Ministry spokesman Shiro Amaye said the Japanese leader praised South Korea both for its defense efforts and its attempts to initiate a dialogue with communist North Korea.

But the climax of the day, and probably of the trip, came Thursday evening at a state banquet when Hirohito, 83, delivered an impassioned expression of regret for Japan's past domination of Korea.

"It is indeed regrettable that there was an unfortunate past between us for a period in this century, and I believe that it should not be repeated again," he said.

Hirohito's statement stopped short of the direct apology demanded by many Koreans, who remain bitter about Japan's brutal colonial subjugation of the Korean peninsula from 1910 until 1945.

Hirohito added that he hoped Chun's visit would further promote the "new-born relationship between our two countries."

Hirohito, who became emperor in 1926, was revered as a semi-divine ruler over Japan and its vassals until 1945 when World War II ended, although the military held actual power. He is now symbolic head of state.

In his address, Chun said he had "listened solemnly" to the emperor's remarks on the past, and said the "unfortunate past ... should be marked by the elimination of even closer relationship between Korea and Japan in the future."

He too spoke of the "beginning of the new era of partnership."

Center

continued from page 1

Center publishes their "Red Toward Blue" Bulletin monthly to announce programs and provide other important information about its services.

Buy Observer classifieds

South Korean President Chun Doow-hwan reviews the honor guard at Akasaka Palace during welcoming ceremonies yesterday in Tokyo. Both sides have heralded the three-day visit as marking a "new beginning" in the unhappy relations that have persisted between the two neighbors. Story at left.
Israeli political leaders make deal; to share power in new government

Associated Press

The leaders of Israel's two biggest political parties, seeking to end a six-week stalemate, concluded all but the minor details of a power-sharing agreement yesterday and said they hoped to install a new government in the end of next week. Labor Party leader Shimon Peres and caretaker Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir of the Likud bloc said they would have to meet again next week to divide some of the minor Cabinet posts in a bipartisan government.

Negotiations on a government of "national unity" have been dragging on for six weeks and the difficulties in presaging the obstacles such a government may face.

The ideologically opposed parties have not joined forces since former Prime Minister Menahem Begin, a Likud member, walked out of a bipartisan government in 1970 in a disagreement over proposals to return parts of Israeli-occupied territories.

However, Shamir said guidelines worked out between the two sides ensure that the government would work smoothly. The Cabinet will have an inner forum of 10 members where "some controversial issues will be worked out," he said.

Under the agreement, Peres will serve as prime minister for the first 25 months and then Shamir will take over. Shamir and Peres will serve as foreign minister and deputy premier under each other.

Labor will hold the defense portfolio for the entire term, while all other economy-related ministries will go to Likud. Former Defense Minister Ariel Sharon will serve as minister of trade and commerce and will be a member of the inner Cabinet, Israeli television reported. Sharon has been a minister without portfolio in Shamir's Cabinet since he lost the Defense Ministry post last year when a commission of inquiry found him indirectly responsible for the massacre of hundreds of Palestinians in Lebanon by Israeli-allied Christian militias.

"We are in complete agreement over the composition of the Cabinet and the division of labor," Peres said after the meeting. "What is left is to formalize the guidelines and the coalition agreement."

Shamir told reporters that pending party approval, he hoped a government could be presented to the Knesset, next week. The agreement must be approved by both parties before Peres can present his government to the Knesset.

The two parties disagree on the future of Jewish settlements in the occupied West Bank and in Israeli peace initiative with Jordan.

Reserve book room's copying policy changes

By ERIK HICKEY
Staff Reporter

A 1978 law restricting reproduction of copyrighted materials caused the Memorial Library's reserve book room to change its policy concerning the photocopying of copyrighted materials, said Reserve Book Department Head Ann Kearny.

As before, an article or a chapter of a copyrighted manuscript may be copied and used for one semester, but continued use will generally require special permission. "We want to do what is within the law. We don't want to get sued," Kearny said.

A study which Kearny completed last September and presented to Library Director Robert Miller, the Library Administrative Committee, and other administrative groups including the University Council spurred the changes.

The new policy is not expected to interfere with normal use of the reserve book room. The teaching staff's reaction should not be "exceedingly adverse" because the library has been successful in the past obtaining permission from publishing companies to photocopy copyrighted materials, Kearny said.

Stanford University and Penn State University have implemented similar policies as a result of the 1978 law.

The Library intends to keep one copy of requested materials on hand for every 10 to 15 students, but will not ask publishers for permission to make more than 10 copies of a given work, although this permission is often volunteered, Kearny said.

Mrs. Reagan consoles teen about father

Associated Press

CANBY, Ore. - A 13-year-old girl taking part in a discussion on drugs Thursday with Nancy Reagan told the first lady that her father smokes marijuana "all the time," and received a few words of encouragement in private.

Mrs. Reagan, who has been active in programs to fight drug abuse among young people, listened as one high school girl in her father's 7th grade classroom said she had to be pressuring her to drink or take drugs.

During a discussion later with the students, one girl told Mrs. Reagan her father "smokes all the time."

Asked by Mrs. Reagan if she meant marijuana, the girl said yes.

When Mrs. Reagan joined the students for a class picture a short time later, she grabbed a bit of conversation with the girl for a few minutes.

The girl later told reporters that the first lady had told her to "stand hard and try to talk to my father."

"I'll tell him that I talked to her and that she said it's a better idea to stop smoking as soon as possible."
Brazillian theologian faces doctrinal interrogation

Associated Press

Leonardo Boff, a Brazilian theologian who faces doctrinal interrogation at the Vatican today, says he seeks to "deliver" the Church. "The Church must work on the Third World," he says. "The Church's圣念 must be fought" for the Third World is heavily influenced by the Marxist theory of Latin America and elsewhere in the world.

In reply to Brazilian Bishops' Conference questioning of the church's teaching on liberation theology, explicitly rejecting Marxist as an instrument for analyzing social conditions.

In reply to Brazilian Bishops' Conference, the ruling body of this country's already "given church," issued a terse statement urging a "close study" of Boff's writings to "avoid errors about the Church and legitimate liberation theology."

"My summons to Rome is a global judgement of our church, that it come to embrace many streams of thought and who unveiled new concepts."

Critics charge that liberation theology endorses Marxism, Boff denies it, but says Marxism is inevitable in discovering what makes poor people poor, and says Karl Marx is "typical of great spirits who courageously dedicate themselves to thinking and who unveiled new dimensions of human nature."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

On Monday, the Vatican's Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, formerly the Inquisitional Office, issued a document of liberation theology, explicitly rejecting Marxism as an instrument for analyzing social conditions.

In reply to Brazilian Bishops' Conference, the ruling body of this country's already "given church," issued a terse statement urging a "close study" of Boff's writings to "avoid errors about the Church and legitimate liberation theology."

"My summons to Rome is a global judgement of our church, that it come to embrace many streams of thought and who unveiled new concepts."

Critics charge that liberation theology endorses Marxism, Boff denies it, but says Marxism is inevitable in discovering what makes poor people poor, and says Karl Marx is "typical of great spirits who courageously dedicate themselves to thinking and who unveiled new dimensions of human nature."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

The church has to be open to new movements of thinking and who unveiled new dimensions of human nature."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.

The book is a collection of 13 essays that criticize what Boff calls the "mythological, dogmatising and romantic concept of power" in the Roman Catholic Church. Boff says this concept of power is "without "theologies of liberation" protestant theological positions. Their doctrinal fronts are badly defined."

The Vatican report took pains to emphasize church concern for the poor and oppressed but criticized "theologies of liberation."

Apparent to the Pope is a "theological reform."

These new dimensions threaten to destroy the traditional center of church and the progressive clergy in Brazil and other Third World countries.
Mondale not likely to gain from Reagan's Mideast failures

Associated Press
When Secretary of State George P. Shultz declared in a recent speech that "the tide of history is with us," he scarcely mentioned the Middle East while trumpeting what he said were the Reagan administration's foreign policy successes.
When Vice President George Bush was asked by an Associated Press reporter on Wednesday to list the administration's foreign policy achievements, he claimed a half-dozen, including improvements in Central America and better relations with China and Pakistan. He didn't mention the Middle East.
The omission is not surprising because it was in the Middle East that the administration met with its most dramatic and visible foreign policy failures - the retreat from Lebanon after 264 Americans were killed, and the shelving of President Reagan's 1982 Arab-Israeli peace initiative.
The administration had focused more attention on the Middle East than on any other area of the world until the withdrawal from Lebanon.
But if the Middle East setbacks cost Reagan significantly at the polls in November, it will be because voters conclude on their own that the effort wasn't worth the cost.
Walter F. Mondale, the Democratic presidential challenger, has given no indication he will try to elevate the setbacks into major campaign issues.
Some debate is likely, however, Rep. Geraldine Ferraro, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, said in Portland, Ore., Wednesday that in situations such as Lebanon, "Let's send in the diplomats before the Marines."
She said the U.S. mission in Lebanon was never adequately explained and called the death of U.S. servicemen "an outrage."
Mondale said he would criticize some aspects of Reagan's Mideast policy, particularly the timing and execution.
But Mondale said he would be hard-pressed to unload on Reagan for events in Lebanon because Mondale generally favored U.S. actions there. Additionally, Israel favored the American involvement and Mondale is as anxious as Reagan to show some pro-Israel credentials.
Mondale didn't like Reagan's Mideast peace initiative, but he refrained in his criticism from the real possibility that a new Israeli government might show interest. He wouldn't want to take steps on such a key issue. Mondale hardly mentions the Middle East in his speeches, although some of his major points refer to Beirut on Thursday that there is "a genuine hope for peace" of a Mideast peace now than there was before he took office, while acknowledging a permanent peace still is not at hand.
But Lebanon could cast a shadow over Reagan's campaign. The total American dead there far exceed the number of U.S. soldiers killed in hostile situations during the Carter administration.
Although Reagan had said those responsible for the attack on the Marine headquarters "must be dealt with justice," they will be there. Never was any direct American retaliation. Neither was there retaliation for the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut on April 18, 1983 that killed 63 persons, including an inflation rate of more than 400 percent.
Israeli government leaders seem uncomfortable with Reagan and satisfied with the present state of U.S.-Israeli relations, in spite of some bumpy beginnings. They are particularly pleased by the start of a strategic U.S.-Israeli military relationship, which Mondale also supports.
There are differences in the positions of the two candidates. Mondale says he would move the U.S. Embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem, a move opposed by the administration. He also says he wouldn't sell AWACS and other sophisticated arms to moderate Arab nations as the administration has done.
Both Reagan and Mondale would be expected to push anew for a lasting Arab-Israeli peace - with Reagan renewing his initiative and Mondale favoring the more ambiguous negotiations envisioned in the Camp David accords. Neither would appear to want to be too closely involved in Lebanon, barring some unseen and dramatic improvement.
Both candidates also have marked differences with Reagan on shipping the Middle East.

Stepping out
President Reagan steps out of Air Force One at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. Wednesday after a flight from Chicago. A salt on a storm cloud broke during the flight, forcing the pilot to drop altitude because of a loss of pressure.

U.S. Embassy in Beirut on April 18, 1983 that killed 63 persons, including 17 Americans. Reagan's Mideast peace initiative, announced with fanfare on Sept. 1, 1982, was shelved after both Israel and Jordan rejected it. The plan called for Jordan to join Israel in peace talks aimed at creating self-governed Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.
Mondale has faulted the initiative in an unnecessary and unfair - to Israel - departure from the 1978 Camp David peace accords forged by the Carter administration. He feels that Reagan blundered by not moving quickly upon taking office to follow up on the progress already achieved under Camp David.

"But if the Mideast setbacks cost Reagan significantly at the polls...it will be because voters conclude on their own that the effort wasn't worth the cost."

U.S. Embassy in Beirut on April 18, 1983 that killed 63 persons, including 17 Americans. Reagan's Mideast peace initiative, announced with fanfare on Sept. 1, 1982, was shelved after both Israel and Jordan rejected it. The plan called for Jordan to join Israel in peace talks aimed at creating self-governed Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Mondale has faulted the initiative in an unnecessary and unfair - to Israel - departure from the 1978 Camp David peace accords forged by the Carter administration. He feels that Reagan blundered by not moving quickly upon taking office to follow up on the progress already achieved under Camp David.

Both Reagan and Mondale would be expected to push anew for a lasting Arab-Israeli peace - with Reagan renewing his initiative and Mondale favoring the more ambiguous negotiations envisioned in the Camp David accords. Neither would appear to want to be too closely involved in Lebanon, barring some unseen and dramatic improvement.

Both candidates also have marked differences with Reagan on shipping

Are you ARMED?
With a keen insight and a talent for cartooning?
If so, Viewpoint is looking for Editorial Cartoonists.
If you are interested, call Dave Grote at: 239-5323

UNCLES' PUB
1/2 MILE SOUTH OF UNIV. PARK MALL ON GRAPE ROAD
This Saturday
PITCHERS BEER $2.50
Large Screen T.V.
ND v. PURDUE
Hot dogs 50¢

DOORS OPEN 11:30

(typing)
• Term Papers
• Resumes
• Letters • Manuscripts
• Word Processing

Call Chris At: 234-8997

Friday, September 7, 1984 — page 7

Tired of the old routine?

Join the Observer

The Features Department is accepting applications for:

- Features copy editor
- Features layout staff

Applications are due by Tuesday, Sept. 11

For more information contact Mary Realy
at the Observer office, 239-5313

---

Showcase

Letters to a lonely God

A Catholic university?

by Rev. Robert Griffin

features columnist

Every year, somebody nice, or so nice, decides to write an article about the question: "Is Notre Dame still Catholic?" Are they "by whose standards"? but that would seem evasive. Notre Dame is not Catholic in 1944; however, the Catholic university modeldefinitely was the way it was in 1944. Yet the 195 model of Catholicism is the only model a few highly conservative Catholics appreciate. In 1944, the Church was still closed in like a ghetto, defending itself against the Protestant. In 1959, a popetoope proposed opening the window of the Church, letting in the fresh winds of change and updating.

To beclear, the word "Catholic" has implied something less narrow and monolithic ever since.

I am not a theologian or a framing liberal. I was a student in 1954, and lived very comfortably inside the ghetto, as a person, ideally, and privileged there. I've done my share of resisting the changes, and still get confused by the viewpoints of young priests. I've learned to live with the fact that there are different styles of being Catholic. That doesn't mean you can believe just anything and be credible as a practitioner of the religion. As a contemporary of Jesus Christ, the Lord, we still have standards. Creeds, sacraments, and communications are the issue. I'm not free to do my own thing, or ignore the power of the spiritual insights keep me reasonably tolerant: the first is what Christ said: "I have other sheep that are not of this fold." The second is from St. Paul: "For God's sake be sober, as though in a mirror."

The word style is not a theological term; it's a way of describing the differences among believers. Some christians lose their faith, keep their Bibles in hand, willing and able to cite the chapter and verse. Some place them as 실제로 practicing the Christ as the Lord, we still have standards. Creeds, sacraments, and communications are the issue. I'm not free to do my own thing, or ignore the power of the spiritual insights keep me reasonably tolerant: the first is what Christ said: "I have other sheep that are not of this fold." The second is from St. Paul: "For God's sake be sober, as though in a mirror."

by Paul Cimino

features staff writer

I didn't get to see "Sudden Impa-" or "Firewalk," but I've always been a Clint Eastwood fan and when "Tightrope" came along, I decided to see it. The reviews were mixed to poor, so I went to see one of Clint's newer films. It was not one of my better decisions.

"Tightrope" stars Eastwood as a New York detective who is sent to New Orleans to investigate a plague of brutal rape-murders. That's a quick overview— underneath, there is something more important.

Block is interested in a certain soldier whether war is hell. I spend my life being self consciously Catho- lically, deferring to the Church as Catholic. Is the Jesuit? If you're going to ask if Notre Dame is better, you've got to separate the Church as Catholic from the Church as a center of doctrine, teaching, and belief of the tradition.

"The word Catholic" is professedly and gloriously Catholic, though the question seems dumb, like asking a soldier "do you think it's hell?" I spend my life being self consciously Catholic, dealing with other Catholics or whoever they are. We can't necessarily agree on the nature of sacrament.

If you're going to ask if Notre Dame is better, you've got to separate the Church as Catholic from the Church as a center of doctrine, teaching, and belief of the tradition.

"The word Catholic" is professedly and gloriously Catholic, though the question seems dumb, like asking a soldier "do you think it's hell?" I spend my life being self consciously Catholic, dealing with other Catholics or whoever they are. We can't necessarily agree on the nature of sacrament.

If you're going to ask if Notre Dame is better, you've got to separate the Church as Catholic from the Church as a center of doctrine, teaching, and belief of the tradition.

"The word Catholic" is professedly and gloriously Catholic, though the question seems dumb, like asking a soldier "do you think it's hell?" I spend my life being self consciously Catholic, dealing with other Catholics or whoever they are. We can't necessarily agree on the nature of sacrament.

If you're going to ask if Notre Dame is better, you've got to separate the Church as Catholic from the Church as a center of doctrine, teaching, and belief of the tradition.

"The word Catholic" is professedly and gloriously Catholic, though the question seems dumb, like asking a soldier "do you think it's hell?" I spend my life being self consciously Catholic, dealing with other Catholics or whoever they are. We can't necessarily agree on the nature of sacrament.

If you're going to ask if Notre Dame is better, you've got to separate the Church as Catholic from the Church as a center of doctrine, teaching, and belief of the tradition.

"The word Catholic" is professedly and gloriously Catholic, though the question seems dumb, like asking a soldier "do you think it's hell?" I spend my life being self consciously Catholic, dealing with other Catholics or whoever they are. We can't necessarily agree on the nature of sacrament.

If you're going to ask if Notre Dame is better, you've got to separate the Church as Catholic from the Church as a center of doctrine, teaching, and belief of the tradition.

"The word Catholic" is professedly and gloriously Catholic, though the question seems dumb, like asking a soldier "do you think it's hell?" I spend my life being self consciously Catholic, dealing with other Catholics or whoever they are. We can't necessarily agree on the nature of sacrament.
A calmer Faust heads into his fourth season

After three disappointing years, the Irish coach is learning to deal with the pressures of his job

By LARRY BURKE
Sports Writer

Gerry Faust
Irish head coach

Gerry Faust is through talking. He has endured all the ups and downs that the 1983 season produced. He has heard all the rumors, survived the negative publicity and listened to the gloating of disappointed fans. Most of all, he's lasted through the intense pressure that has been building over the past three years.

Better change that last part into called-up pressure.

How's that?

Well, as much as it may surprise some people, Irish head coach Gerry Faust is as calm and relaxed as ever — just the way a head coach should be. And he is well aware of the truth of the old saying — "Talk is cheap."

"The important thing," says Faust, "is that talk and goals and all that doesn't really mean much if you don't go out and play sixty minutes of football."

And what was that about pressure?

"I'm probably more relaxed than I've been since I've been here," says the Irish coach, "because now we've got things in the way I want them going. I took three years to build the foundation, and we've got that completed now. I think things are starting to roll the way I want them to."

No one knows better than Faust, however, what a tough three years it has been. High hopes of big bowl games, unbeaten seasons, and national championships that he had back in 1981 turned into the disappointment reality of three rollercoaster seasons and a combined record of 18-15-1.

"It's been frustrating to both the players and the coaches not to finish with a better record the last three years," says Faust. "But I've always had a philosophy that there's a reason for everything. As many times as the ball has bounced against us, our turn will come when it bounces our way. I think we started to see that happen in the Liberty Bowl."

Ah, the Liberty Bowl. That was Notre Dame's first venture into post-season play under Faust, and while the Irish didn't exactly run rings around the Eagles of Boston College (frozen turf and twelve-degree temperatures made any kind of running difficult) Faust's team accomplished something that they hadn't done in the entire 1983 season — namely, beat a ranked team with a winning record. Notre Dame also avoided losing the final game of the season for the first time since 1979. More importantly, the Irish displayed a dominant running game that started tailback Allen Pinkett (111 yards on 28 carries) and fullback Chris Smith (104 yards on 18 carries), as well as a gutsy defense that stopped the Eagles when the game was on the line.

"As tough as the Irish were against BC, Faust believes that the best is yet to come."

"We were a better football team this spring than we were after the Boston College game," says Faust. "I thought we were a good football team against BC, but I thought that by the end of the spring we had improved even more. Our goal was to get better than we were in the spring for the Purdue game, and we don't know that until game day."

But Faust does know that there is a lot to be exited about as far as his 1984 squad is concerned.

"The young men came back this summer in top shape," says the Irish coach, "and they're worked awfully hard. They really have a closeness that I think see FAUST, page 10

The Game Plan:

Talented Irish could make life miserable for outnumbered Boilers if they are able to avoid giving up the big play

By THERON ROBERTS
Sports Writer

In most people's minds, the most difficult aspect of the Purdue game for Notre Dame will be getting the 145 bushel loads of students to arrive at the Hoosier Dome Saturday before the 12:30 p.m. start.

However, even after last season's 52-6 mauling of the Boilermakers, Head Coach Gerry Faust is preaching caution about the 1984 Purdue squad.

"Purdue is a heck of a team," Faust says. "Any team that gains over 400 total yards against you is a pretty good offensive team. I'd also like to see a football team that can win and have seven turnovers in a game. This is a new year, we're not playing a game last year, and I'm sure Purdue feels the same way."

The Boilers return 37 lettermen, but lost half of their starters from last season. Many players got the chance to play in 1983, but many still lack game experience.

Purdue's offense against Notre Dame's defense:

The Irish defense, apparently the only aspect of the Purdue attack which has a weakness, could suffer if the newcomers in the secondary unravel.

Defensive coordinator Andy Christoff has implemented a attacking defense, which could make the Irish vulnerable to giving up the big play, a problem Notre Dame suffered last season, in addition to giving up short gains.

"We will be looking to make more big plays on defense ourselves," Christoff says.

With five players available to fill the three line positions, the Irish should have no problem controlling the line of scrimmage. Add the talent of Notre Dame's hard hitting linebackers, and domination is a possibility.

Purdue does have experience on its offensive line, but you won't see the names of the linemen dotting all-America lists. Even though Purdue's line averages 6-2, 264 pounds, expect to see Irish blue in the Boiler backfield.

Of Purdue's seven offensive starters gone from 1983, five of them were in the skill positions. Purdue was wiped out in the backfield, losing its three leading ground gainers. Rodney Carter, who saw limited action last season after starting at fullback in 1982, has moved to tailback.

Where the rest of the Purdue ground attack will come from is uncertain, but Purdue Head Coach Leon Burtnett has confidence in his team's running game.

The Purdue backfield can catch the ball, though. Look for the Boilers to throw to their running backs, especially in the direction of Robert Banks, who steps into the injured Mike Larkin's linebacker position.

If there is a way Purdue will be able to move the football, it will be through the air. The only question will be who is going to be throwing the ball. Scott Campbell, last year's second string quarterback, is back. Everett, a junior with limited game experience, should get the nod over the freshman Downing.

Jeff Price and Steve Griffin, Purdue's first- and third-leading receivers, return at wide receiver and flanker, respectively. Last season's backup right end, Marty Scott also is back.

Faust admits the Irish defensive weakness is in the secondary. "We are inexperienced at a whole," Faust says. "But our D-line has been working as a unit together. It's hard to judge how good they're going to be until they go up against an opponent."

Purdue's offense may have averaged over 400 yards total offense last season, but on Saturday, expect it to move slower than rush-hour traffic on the Loop.

Notre Dame's offense against Purdue's defense:

Although the Purdue defense returns seven starters and several lettermen, the Boilermakers' lack the talent on the defensive unit to contend with the powerful Irish offense.

Purdue's defense is highly suspect at linebacker, with two of last season's regulars departing the scene. Kevin Sumlin, the leading tackler for the Boilers in 1983, is the only returning linebacker.

Three of the front five also graduated, and the lack of game experience of the replacements might be a big factor against Notre Dame's formidable offensive line.

Combine the raw power of the Irish offensive line with the strength and quickness of Allen Pinkett and Chris Smith, and Notre Dame should score even more than the 33 points that the Purdue defense gave up per game last season.

The Purdue secondary is the highlight of the defensive unit, returning three of four players, including free safety Ron Woodson, who drew all-America mention as a freshman.

The other Boiler defensive backs will have their hands CANE, page 11
A new coach, a new formation

Irish defense has new look this year thanks to Andy Christoff

By ED DOMANSKY

When the 1984 version of the Notre Dame football defense takes the field Saturday in the Indiana Hoosiers Bowl, a new defensive alignment will confront the Boilermakers of Purdue.

The Irish will implement a 3-4 defense, which features three linemen and four linebackers.

Defensive guidance for the 1984 campaign rests with Andy Christoff. He brings his coaching skills to Notre Dame for his first season as defensive coordinator.

Christoff arrived in February after a year as defensive coordinator at Stanford and six years at Oregon — four as defensive coordinator and two as linebacker coach.

While at Stanford, Christoff helped to raise the Cardinal from last in first to pass defense, and from tenth to sixth in total defense.

For Notre Dame, the change from last season's 5-2 set-up is a subtle one, but the versatility and aggressiveness that the 3-4 allows will make possible a more intense defensive attack.

"If you're in a basic 5-2 alignment, you're quite vulnerable than in a 3-4," explains Christoff. "They're both essentially the same alignment. The difference is just philosophical, but the 3-4 gives you a combination of seven people interchangeable, whereas with the 5-2, you're more locked in.

More specifically, the 3-4 defense will add an extra dimension of uncertainty with which the opposing offensive unit must deal. In utilizing the three-man front and four linebackers, one of the linebackers may then become a down lineman based on a call within the defense. This then creates a 4-3 alignment and eliminates tendencies that may be picked up by the offense on the line of scrimmage.

"We can create the same problem for blocking schemes out of a 5-4 just by designating one of our four linebackers to be a down lineman," says Christoff. "That creates confusion for the offense because they don't know which linebacker will become a down lineman or which three will be involved in the pass coverage until the snap of the ball. With the linebacker doing this (becoming a down lineman), he gains more freedom (than in 5-2) and we can be more aggressive.

A lot of Notre Dame fans might take issue against the Irish defense has finished the year looking quite impressive on paper, although not quite as impressive on the field because of occasional lapses that provided opponents with a key break.

In the yearbook, the 1982 "Gold Rush" ranked third in the nation in total defense allowing just 285.9 yards per game. More impressive was the meager 95.5 yards per game rushing allowance which put the Irish in eighth position among all Division I-A schools. Covering the pass, however, was to be more of a problem at Notre Dame than rushing, with the Irish 8.88 yards a game. In 1983, ND's 280.7 yards per game average was good enough for 14th place in the total defense category. The rushing defense slipped to 29th at 135.9 yards a game. Substantial improvement was seen in the pass defense which climbed 66 spots from the previous season by knocking 36 yards off the 1982 average.

This season, Christoff is putting statistics aside and working on two major areas that should greatly aid the performance of the defensive corps.

"I think statistics are misleading a lot of times. You can have very good statistics and not accomplish what you want to accomplish," he says. "We're trying to emphasize pursuit of the football with reckless abandon and maintaining a sound perimeter. We believe that most big plays come on the perimeter, which involves the outside linebackers and the secondary.

We're working very hard in all of our defenses to get in our football program, and I think we have it now. I think we're going to really be consistent in these areas.

In addition, the Irish defense will feature fewer blunders and stunts than in previous previous seasons. "These tend to open you up to the big play," Christoff explains.

Depth will also be a key component in this year's Notre Dame defense. Starters like Yard Gain, Tom Purpura and Joe Johnson are very talented, but Christoff feels the Irish will gain more depth.

"Rather than going the whole game with just eleven players, we should be able to play with about 16-18 players on defense," he says.

"We believe that we have enough depth to keep our people fresh so that if any time during the game we need a burst of freshness, we can get it."

The Irish defensive unit is young and inexperienced in some places because of the losses of such key individuals as Joe Autry, Rick Naylor, Stacey Ford and Chris Brown, but Christoff is optimistic that all will run smoothly.

"The positions with experience should help make up for the inexperience," he says. "We'll certainly get stronger as the year goes on."

The recent loss of outside linebacker Mike Larkin to six-to-eight weeks will take away some speed and quickness, but depth at the position is a plus for the Irish.

As for Purdue, Christoff is preparing his unit for just about anything. "In the first game, you don't know what a team will run based on the previous season. They may have changed in the spring or in the fall camp, so we must be prepared for everything that they might do."

"Based on what we do know from last year, though, Purdue is probably more a team we'll see a lot of, by its style of running and the pass. We must be prepared to stop them both."

The alignment will be a 3-4. Aggressiveness and versatility will be featured. But only the regular season will determine how well it all goes together.

Andy Christoff
ND def. coordinator

continued from page 9

is important. They're doing things well, and we'll still be getting better.

"We have good senior leadership, which I think is very important in a football team every year. We have a lot of seniors and upperclassmen playing, and the players have a great attitude."

The team's attitude was something that was held in question last year, especially after the Irish lost their last three regular season games by a grand total of ten points. But 1984 will be a different story, according to Faust.

"Attitude wise, I don't think there's any comparison between the attitude of our football team now and any of the past three years," says Faust. "I think that the attitude we have now is the attitude that I have been working to try to get in our football program, and I think now it's there for the Irish.

The new attitude is just the beginning, however, according to Faust. He knows that a successful 1984 can only mean hope for an even brighter future for the Fighting Irish.

"We've been looking forward to this season since the Liberty Bowl," says the Irish coach. "And from now on, I think as long as we keep recruiting well in years to come, and keep building upon the high we have now, I think we're going to really be solid.

Because this is his fourth season as head coach at Notre Dame, this year will be the first that Faust is coaching a team comprised entirely of his own recruitments. This gives the Irish an edge, primarily because Faust is an outstanding evaluator of high school talent.

"We've recruited the kind of people that can play the style of offense and defense that we want to play," says Faust. "A lot of the young players have been in the system a year or two, which puts them in a very good position. I think I feel more comfortable personally, with the people that we've recruited because they're gone here before. It's Notre Dame and they've been recruited, and that's helped us out a lot. We've recruited for the reasons of the style of offense and defense that we want to play, plus the depth that we've got in a couple spots, depth-wise — but I think there's a big gap in this.

A lot of Notre Dame fans might ultimately be 3-4 by just designating one of our four linebackers to be a down lineman, he gains more freedom (than in 5-2) and we can be more aggressive.

But 1984 will be a different story, according to Faust.

"Attitude wise, I don't think there's any comparison between the attitude of our football team now and any of the past three years," says Faust. "I think that the attitude we have now is the attitude that I have been working to try to get in our football program, and I think now it's there for the Irish.

The new attitude is just the beginning, however, according to Faust. He knows that a successful 1984 can only mean hope for an even brighter future for the Fighting Irish.

"We've been looking forward to this season since the Liberty Bowl," says the Irish coach. "And from now on, I think as long as we keep recruiting well in years to come, and keep building upon the high we have now, I think we're going to really be solid.

Because this is his fourth season as head coach at Notre Dame, this year will be the first that Faust is coaching a team comprised entirely of his own recruitments. This gives the Irish an edge, primarily because Faust is an outstanding evaluator of high school talent.

"We've recruited the kind of people that can play the style of offense and defense that we want to play," says Faust. "A lot of the young players have been in the system a year or two, which puts them in a very good position. I think I feel more comfortable personally, with the people that we've recruited because they're gone here before. It's Notre Dame and they've been recruited, and that's helped us out a lot. We've recruited for the reasons of the style of offense and defense that we want to play, plus the depth that we've got in a couple spots, depth-wise — but I think there's a big gap in this.

A lot of Notre Dame fans might ultimately be 3-4 by just designating one of our four linebackers to be a down lineman, he gains more freedom (than in 5-2) and we can be more aggressive."
Mike Kelley
Irish center

In football the offensive line is a job without glory. Linemen receive little or no recognition. You almost never see a lineman on the headline of the sports page. Yet they do the dirty work for the offense at the small end, help to set up the offensive line, and provide a key for offense. Some guys like Joe Montana and John Riggins would have never accomplished what they have.

This aspect may bother some linemen, but Notre Dame center Mike Kelley doesn’t mind the lack of attention his position receives.

“It doesn’t bother me to play center as long as I know I’m doing my job and giving 100 percent,” says Kelley. “If Allen Pinkett goes out and rushes for 1,000 yards and I know I was a part of that, it makes me happy.

The 266-pound senior played mostly tackle and some guard throughout high school and his first two years under the Dome. As a sophomore Kelley started all eleven games for the Irish at the tackle spot. Then, in the 1989 spring drills he moved to the center position in which he played all twelve games for the Irish in 1989. Along with playing with a 205-pound left tackle for 15 minutes of any Notre Dame lineman season last year, Kelley also received a honorable mention pick on the Associated Press All-America team for his outstanding play.

Because of his performance last year, the sociology major enters his last season as a pre-law student. Kelley states. “I’m not going to forget the recognition and just go out and play football like it was my first year. Sure it’s an honor, but I’m going to forget about that. Being moved to a new position is difficult for a player, and Kelley was no exception. He found the transition from tackle to center difficult and unpleasant at first, but now he enjoys his added responsibility.

“I enjoy it. You’re right in the middle of the action,” he says. “There is more responsibility, especially in the 5-4. I like the guy (noseguard) right on me.”

At 6-5, Kelley feels he may be a little too tall to play center, but he uses his exceptional quickness to counterbalance the size disadvantage.

“I’ve been working to lower my stance since the gays I go against are usually 6-2 or 6-3,” he explains. “It’s hard to get underneath them, but my quickness helps me get off the noseguard a lot quicker.”

Playing football in a blue and gold uniform for Notre Dame has been a dream come true for Mike Kelley as a resident. With the move to center it was usually his job to be the highlight of his college football career was last year’s 27-6 trouncing of USC in green jerseys. The three-time monogram winner feels that a victory over the Trojans in Los Angeles this year will be an even better remembrance of his college career.

“I hope I’m a successful player in a college setting, and I hope to get better every year,” he says. “We need to go out and do our jobs and see what happens. And then hopefully we can go all the way for the National Championship. Kelley’s philosophy is that winning and giving it your all” comes through in both his play and his individual goals.

“I’m a quiet leader,” says Kelley. “Hopefully my play on the field influences the other players. If I want to stay healthy and have a good year. I want to go out in style my senior year.”

With an attitude like Mike Kelley’s, you can’t go out in anything but style.
GAME: Fighting Irish vs. Purdue Boilermakers
SITE: Indianapolis Hoosier Dome (61,000)
TIME: 12:30 p.m. EST, Saturday, Sept. 8, 1984
TV-RADIO: WNDU-TV (Ch. 16)
Jack Nolan and Jeff Jeffers
TCS/Metrosports/ESPN Replay Network
Tony Roberts, Al Wester, Luther Bradley
WNDU-AM 1500

SERIES:
Notre Dame 34, Purdue 19, ties 2
September 10, 1983
Notre Dame 52, Purdue 6

RANKINGS:
(AP) Notre Dame 7th, Purdue unranked

TICKETS:
Game is sold out

THE OBSERVER
Main checks payable to: The Observer
Editor: The Observer.
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Enclosed is $____ for one academic year.
Enclosed is $_____ for one semester.

Name ____________________________
Address __________________________
City __________________ State _______ Zip ________

Mail checks payable to: The Observer
Editor: The Observer.
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Keep up with the Irish and with Notre Dame this year by subscribing to The Observer now. Simply complete the form at left and mail with your payment.

PEERLESS

Each week, the Observer sports staff, a random student picked at the discretion of the sports editor and some well-known figure in the Notre Dame community predict the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled to show how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game. The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.

I. LINDOS over Missouri by 1
II. ARIZONA STATE over Oklahoma St. by 5
III. ALABAMA over Boston College by 5
IV. Clemson over VIRGINIA by 13.5
V. FLORIDA over Louisiana State by 3
VI. BRIGHAM YOUNG over Baylor by 7
VII. OKLAHOMA over Stanford by 17
VIII. MARYLAND over Syracuse by 8
IX. DUKE over Indiana by 9
X. Michigan State over COLORADO by 6
XI. Miami (Fla.) over MICHIGAN by 1
XII. Notre Dame over Purdue by 17

TIGERS

Cowboys Eagles Tigers Bears Cardinals Orangemen Hoosiers Spartans Wolverines Irish

DEVILS

Tigers Eagles Tigers Bears Sooners Terps Devils Wolverines Irish

Giants Bears Tigers Hoosiers Spartans Hurricanes Boilers

Cardinal

Bears

Tigers

Devils

Tigers

Irish

Notre Dame Mutual Radio Network
Tony Roberts, Al Wester, Luther Bradley
WNDU-AM 1500

NOTRE DAME
SEPT. 8 Purdue at Indy
SEPT. 15 at Michigan State
SEPT. 22 COLORADO
SEPT. 29 at Missouri
OCT. 6 MIAMI
OCT. 13 AIR FORCE
OCT. 20 SOUTH CAROLINA
OCT. 27 at L.S.U.
NOV. 3 Army at Meadowlands
NOV. 17 PENN STATE
NOV. 24 at Southern Cal

PURDUE
SEPT. 8 Notre Dame at Indy
SEPT. 15 MIAMI
SEPT. 22 MINNESOTA
SEPT. 29 at Michigan State
OCT. 6 OHIO STATE
OCT. 13 IOWA
OCT. 20 at Illinois
OCT. 27 at Northwestern
NOV. 3 MICHIGAN
NOV. 10 at Wisconsin
NOV. 17 INDIANA

The 1984 Season

Football Rule Changes

The NCAA Football Rules Committee has made several changes which will go into effect during the 1984 season. A couple of those changes will be very noticeable to fans.

• Until this year, defensive pass interference had been a spot penalty - in other words, the ball was moved to the point where the infraction occurred. This season, for the first time, defensive pass interference is a 15-yard penalty and an automatic first down.

• The other noticeable change is on the kickoffs. In order to increase the number of kickoff returns, a new rule states that kickoffs that travel beyond the end zone in the air will be brought out to the 30-yard line, rather than the 20 as in past years.

Other rule changes include:

• Decreasing the amount of legal clips.

• Making more specific definitions of permissible types of equipment.

• Reducing the penalty for violation of the two-yard zone when a player is making an unmolsted fair catch from fifteen yards to five yards.

• Penalizing 15 yards an offensive player who grabs a face mask.

The Observer

Each week, the Observer staff predicts the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled to show how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game. The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.

The Observer

Each week, the Observer staff predicts the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled to show how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game. The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.

The Observer

Each week, the Observer staff predicts the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled to show how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game. The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.

Rule Changes

The NCAA Football Rules Committee has made several changes which will go into effect during the 1984 season. A couple of those changes will be very noticeable to fans.

• Until this year, defensive pass interference had been a spot penalty - in other words, the ball was moved to the point where the infraction occurred. This season, for the first time, defensive pass interference is a 15-yard penalty and an automatic first down.

• The other noticeable change is on the kickoffs. In order to increase the number of kickoff returns, a new rule states that kickoffs that travel beyond the end zone in the air will be brought out to the 30-yard line, rather than the 20 as in past years.

Other rule changes include:

• Decreasing the amount of legal clips.

• Making more specific definitions of permissible types of equipment.

• Reducing the penalty for violation of the two-yard zone when a player is making an unmolsted fair catch from fifteen yards to five yards.

• Penalizing 15 yards an offensive player who grabs a face mask.

Notre Dame vs. Purdue

The Observer

Each week, the Observer staff predicts the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled to show how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game. The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.

Rule Changes

The NCAA Football Rules Committee has made several changes which will go into effect during the 1984 season. A couple of those changes will be very noticeable to fans.

• Until this year, defensive pass interference had been a spot penalty - in other words, the ball was moved to the point where the infraction occurred. This season, for the first time, defensive pass interference is a 15-yard penalty and an automatic first down.

• The other noticeable change is on the kickoffs. In order to increase the number of kickoff returns, a new rule states that kickoffs that travel beyond the end zone in the air will be brought out to the 30-yard line, rather than the 20 as in past years.

Other rule changes include:

• Decreasing the amount of legal clips.

• Making more specific definitions of permissible types of equipment.

• Reducing the penalty for violation of the two-yard zone when a player is making an unmolsted fair catch from fifteen yards to five yards.

• Penalizing 15 yards an offensive player who grabs a face mask.
A Merciful Killing that contains an error I feel must be pointed out. Mr. Cantino wrote that "Tracy was bitten by a mosquito carrying a herpes simplex strain of viral encephalitis." At best, medical history has been made, at worst a family has been greatly misinformed concerning their daughter's illness.

Herpes simplex is a virus that is transmitted from person to person, generally through contact with virus-infected saliva. Most children become infected before the age of 5 and remain infected for life - the virus resides in a latent state in nerve tissue. When the virus is reactivated due to stress in the human host such as fever, sunburn, menstruation, and so forth, the most common symptom is the "cold sore" or fever blister." Worldwide 70-90 percent of adults have antibody to herpes type I virus so the majority of people have been infected with this virus. College students are old and mature enough to vote in public elections, serve in the armed forces, and yes, drink alcohol in much of the free world. Notre Dame truly has many of the finest young men and women in the country, and we deserve to be treated as adults. The policies of the administration restrict our lives in many ways, both the good times, and the mistakes that we will inevitably make. I am not asking to put a leg in my closet. I would simple like to make a few decisions for myself.

Jeff Coyne
Sophomore

I feel must be pointed out. Mr. Cimino wrote that "Tracy was bitten by a mosquito carrying a herpes simplex strain of viral encephalitis." At best, medical history has been made, at worst a family has been greatly misinformed concerning their daughter's illness.

Herpes simplex is a virus that is transmitted from person to person, generally through contact with virus-infected saliva. Most children become infected before the age of 5 and remain infected for life - the virus resides in a latent state in nerve tissue. When the virus is reactivated due to stress in the human host such as fever, sunburn, menstruation, and so forth, the most common symptom is the "cold sore" or fever blister." Worldwide 70-90 percent of adults have antibody to herpes type I virus so the majority of people have been infected with this virus. College students are old and mature enough to vote in public elections, serve in the armed forces, and yes, drink alcohol in much of the free world. Notre Dame truly has many of the finest young men and women in the country, and we deserve to be treated as adults. The policies of the administration restrict our lives in many ways, both the good times, and the mistakes that we will inevitably make. I am not asking to put a leg in my closet. I would simple like to make a few decisions for myself.

Jeff Coyne
Sophomore

In loco parentis

Dear Editor:

No, this is not another letter attacking the alcohol policy: the administration is under the impression that we are children in all regards, not simply on Friday and Saturday night. Under the administration's policy of In loco parentis, the administration believes that it has the right to be our parents while we are away from home. A vice president of the University has gone so far as to call us "kids." For years the admissions department and its leader, John Goldrick, current associate vice president for resident life, prided itself on defending the "inviolable nature of the letter." Mr. Skorcz showed a very obvious deficiency in humor in writing such an asinine response. While we may not be fully accustomed to campus life, we are doing our best, and letters like Skorcz's make us and our position in worldwide political circles garnering more respect with each policy decision, our nation seems to be climbing out of the Carter/Mondey abyss of the late '70s.

Fran Theby
Sophomore

Don't Drive Drunk

Tomorrow, the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's will be in the Hoosier Dome.

Tonight and tomorrow night, they'll be on the town. And in the bars, the temptation to drink and drink heavily outside the jurisdiction of the Great Alcohol Policy will be high indeed in Indianapolis. The University says drunkenness is a problem among students. Perhaps, the Indiana State Police say it's a crime, especially if you're driving. That's definitive.

Drinking and driving don't mix, but it seems to have forced the two together. Two separate off-campus parties last weekend each drew crowds of 500 people or more. Police were called to break them up, and 100 people were taken to the hospital.

It's scary to think how everyone got home. Among 15- to 24-year-olds, drunk driving is the number one cause of death. According to the Governor's Task Force to Reduce Drunk Driving, one out of every 10 drivers during weekend nights is drunk. The statistics are awesome. But think for a moment beyond the statistics: a mother, a father, a teenage brother and the hurt of those who live to remember. Drunk driving breaks hearts.

No one is saying that people should stop drinking or that people should stop having a good time. Just promise yourself and your friends that you'll never drive drunk. You had too much fun.

Have a blast in Indianapolis, but hey, let's be careful down there.

The Observer

Mosquito virus

Dear Editor:

The Observer carried an article entitled "A Merciful Killing" that contains an error I feel must be pointed out. Mr. Cantino wrote that "Tracy was bitten by a mosquito carrying a herpes simplex strain of viral encephalitis." At best, medical history has been made, at worst a family has been greatly misinformed concerning their daughter's illness.

Herpes simplex is a virus that is transmitted from person to person, generally through contact with virus-infected saliva. Most children become infected before the age of 5 and remain infected for life - the virus resides in a latent state in nerve tissue. When the virus is reactivated due to stress in the human host such as fever, sunburn, menstruation, and so forth, the most common symptom is the "cold sore" or fever blister." Worldwide 70-90 percent of adults have antibody to herpes type I virus so the majority of people have been infected with this virus. College students are old and mature enough to vote in public elections, serve in the armed forces, and yes, drink alcohol in much of the free world. Notre Dame truly has many of the finest young men and women in the country, and we deserve to be treated as adults. The policies of the administration restrict our lives in many ways, both the good times, and the mistakes that we will inevitably make. I am not asking to put a leg in my closet. I would simple like to make a few decisions for myself.

Jeff Coyne
Sophomore

New patriotism

Dear Editor:

After reading Bill Healy's Wednesday editorial "The Gipper Wants '90," I feel compelled to respond in the utmost enthusiastic manner. In the words of the Republican party, "This is the cleanest choice we have had in years.

Compared to the anarchy that existed in the United States during the term of the Carter administration, America appears to be a ship on tranquil waters. With the economy shining brighter than it has for the past 50 years, and with our position in worldwide political circles garnering more respect with each policy decision, our nation seems to be climbing out of the Carter/Mondey abyss of the late '70s.

As a further point not mentioned in the editorial, over the last four years the internal character of this United States has undergone a complete facelift. Most people (myself including) feel much more proud to be an American than after now the administration, increased military recruitment and flag waving, and even the national fervor over the Olympics exemplify the fact that many Americans are proud to have the letters "USA" tattooed across their garmentry.

I say again - the choice is simple. On the first Tuesday in November you will have to contrive two diametrically opposed political ideologies. America has never been liberated from the twin plagues of past failure or a new conservation, a bright torch to light the way to a shining future for the United States and the world. All that is asked is that we, on November 6, make the logical choice, the right choice - the only choice. Remember, when the curtain is drawn and the lever is about to be pulled, vote with your head, not in spite of it.

Evon Farley
Sophomore

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief
Bob Vonderheide
Managing Editor
Mark Worscheid
Executive Editor
Margaret Fosmoe
News Editor
Sarah Hamilton
Feature Editor
Dan McCullough
Saint Mary's Editor
Anne Monastyrski
Sports Editor
Michael Sullivan
Viewpoint Editor
Dave Groble
Features Editor
Mary Healy
Photo Editor
Pete Laches

The Observer
P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556
(219) 238-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsung editors represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Department Managers

Business Manager
Dave Tackett
Controller Manager
Jim O'Neil
Advertising Manager
Anne Culligan
Sports Editor Manager
Jeff O'Neil
Systems Manager
Kevin Williams

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsung editors represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Department Managers

Business Manager
Dave Tackett
Controller Manager
Jim O'Neil
Advertising Manager
Anne Culligan
Sports Editor Manager
Jeff O'Neil
Systems Manager
Kevin Williams

Founded November 3, 1966
The Windsurfing Club will have a meeting on Monday, Sept. 10, at 4 p.m. at The Saint Mary’s field at Saint Mary’s. — The Observer

The Notre Dame boxing field will be conducting the annual Notre Dame Boxing Program beginning Monday. The program begins on Monday, Sept. 10, at 4 p.m. in the boxing room of the ACC. An organizational meeting will be held at 6 p.m. in the boxing room. All those interested are invited to attend. For more information call Mike Lazz at 2560—-The Observer

International students are sponsoring a game of cricket here at Notre Dame. The India Association will take on the “Rest of the World” combination. The game will be played Sunday, Sept. 9, at 11:30 a.m. in the Begian field. All are invited. For more information, call W. Griffin at 3576—The Observer

STRESSCHCRE, a different kind of exercise class featuring stretching and light exercise, will be offered by the Notre Dame Athletic Office. The classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4-5:15 p.m. in an ACC field. Those interested but unable to attend the meeting, should call Mary at 4568, Jackie at 4541, or Sheila at 4598—The Observer

The Notre Dame fastpitch softball club will hold a mandatory meeting for all new and returning players on Monday, Sept. 9, at 6:30 p.m. in the athletic room of the student center. All those interested are invited to attend. For more information contact Bob Derian at 2622—The Observer

The Saint Mary’s soccer team will play the Notre Dame women’s soccer team today at 4:30 p.m. on Madeleva Field at Saint Mary’s—The Observer

NOTICE

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Observer Saint Mary’s office, located on the third floor of Surette College, takes classifieds Monday through Friday, until 4 p.m. Deadline for next day classifications is 10 a.m. All classifications may be posted either in person or by mail to 10 competitive characters per word.

SUSIE ANTONINI!! SUSIE ANTONINI!! SUSIE ANTONINI!!

I am interested in selling, buying, dating, roommates, or to purchase a room. My phone number is 239-7471. Please call me.

McEnroe reaches U.S. Open semis

Associated Press

NEW YORK—Despite a flurry of adverse line calls and a warning from the umpire, No. 1 seed John McEnroe outlasted Australian John Newcombe 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 yesterday and is within a win of guaranteeing himself the first grand slam title of his career. McEnroe now faces Jimmy Connors and the two Americans will meet in the Aug. 11 title game, a match McEnroe has won here on the hardcourts at the U.S. Open before the last two years.

The fiery McEnroe, visibly holding his famed temper in check, closed out his battle with the unseeded Australian in typical McEnroe flair. Flaring a pair of aces on the last two points, McEnroe ripped and raised his hand high, like a madman, turning on the intensity in a salute to the huge crowd in Louis Armstrong Stadium.

Tomorrow’s other men’s finals match is expected to go four sets, with No. 2 Jimmy Connors against No. 15 Pat Cash of Australia. In the women’s semifinals, which are scheduled for today, No. 1 seed Martina Navratilova will face No. 13 Wendy Turnbull of Australia while No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd takes on 16 year-old Carling Bassett of Canada, the No. 14 seed.
By LARRY BURKE
Sports Writer

As is the case with most areas on the 1984 Notre Dame football team, the receiving corps on this year's squad will have proven, experienced performers. The only question is, "Are there enough of them?"

There is certainly plenty of talent among this year's wideouts, but only three of the wide receivers have a substantial amount of playing experience. For that reason, receivers coach Mike Stock will go into the season opener with three players - senior Joe Howard, junior Milt Jackson, and sophomores Alvin Miller and Ricky Gray - vying for the starting positions.

"We're going to go with a three-man rotation," said Stock, "even though through spring practice Pat Cosack (a junior walk-on at the flanker position) has done a real fine job. However, the three people (Howard, Jackson, and Miller) that were the core of the receivers when we finished the season last year are the ones that will return this fall. They're the ones that will rotate much the same in this opening count test against Purdue."

Howard has been a mainstay beneficiary for his final season of Notre Dame football. No multi-sport athlete in the country with a football/basketball combination can boast the accomplishments of Notre Dame's 5-9 speedster, the multi-sport athlete in the country, though through spring practice Howard has shown some improvement.

"Alvin's been blessed with a lot of skill," says Stock of Jackson. "He's made fast progress, he has a great attitude, and he's learning more every day. The indications are that he has a bright football future ahead of him."

Stock had hoped since last spring that one of the reserve wideouts would emerge to join the experienced trio. As of now, that has not happened but the Irish receivers coach will try his best to get Cosack some playing time. "Hopefully," says Stock, "he will find some opportunities."

"If opportunity presents itself, Pat Cosack will get a chance to see some action. He certainly has improved an awful lot since last fall, and we have a lot of confidence in him. But as it stands now, Jackson, Miller, and Howard will get the most playing time."

Another possibility to see action at the wide receiver positions is junior Van Peary, who is back on offense after earning a free scholarship for his outstanding play in the spring. Stock believes it is just a matter of time before the tousled lefty gets his hand on the system and becomes a factor.

"As far as the freshmen are concerned, they have been impressive at times. Flanker Rob Everett, a 6-5, 171-pounder from Long Beach, Calif., and Tim Brown, a 6-foot, 170-pound split end from Dallas, Tex., have both made the travelling squad. Also looking for playing time in Tony Eason, a 6-4, 185-pound flanker from Shoshon, Wash. Stock feels that all three are in a position to "start putting some time on the upperclassmen."

The right end position will once again be in the capable hands of junior Mark Bavaro. The 6-4, 232-pound Bavaro had a solid year in 1983, with 25 catches for 376 yards and three touchdowns. A tough blocker, Bavaro stepped up to find himself in every game of '83, and displayed the blocking, catching, and running skills necessary to get the job done with a flourish. His combined talents - acclimated by his cinematic style - could make him a match for different types of defenses, like Dave Casper and Ken MacAfee.

"He's one of our three finest wideouts that I've ever seen in all my years of coaching at the wide receiver position of Stock."

As far as the freshmen are concerned, they've put forth a lot of effort, and they're learning more every day. The indications are that they have a bright football future ahead of them."

"Alvin's been blessed with a lot of skill," says Stock of Jackson. "He's made fast progress, he has a great attitude, and he's learning more every day. The indications are that he has a bright football future ahead of him."

"I hope that we're going to be able to do both," said Stock, "and do both effectively. If the running game works, then the passing game will be that much easier. We don't think you point one before the other."

"We've shown that with our offensive line -+'we've got the block well and run well, and we establish the line of scrimmage. If we can establish the line of scrimmage with our offensive line and maintain our superiority there, then I think we're going to have a good chance to do what we want to do."

With so many weapons, the Irish should be tough to beat tomorrow.

Abraham decides on Syracuse

Associated Press - N.Y.

Tailback Byron Abraham, who on Monday announced his plans to transfer from Notre Dame, said yesterday that he will enroll at Syracuse University.

Abraham, who was granted football scholarships by Notre Dame in his 1982 senior season, will be returning home to play for the Orangemen. Abraham was the starting tailback at Notre Dame.

"I just wasn't happy there - not with football, not with the social life, nor with anything," said Abraham. "I guess I'm just a New York boy."

Syracuse coach Dick MacPherson has awarded Abraham a pre-nursing scholarship. Notre Dame released Abraham after he talked with Coach Gerry Faust. Without the release, Abraham would have been ineligible to play college football.

Abraham said on Wednesday that he was lost making the starting lineup with the Irish, who, of course, tailback Allen Parks is his successor at the position.

"I just wasn't happy there - not with football, not with the social life, nor with anything," said Abraham. "I guess I'm just a New York boy."

"I just wasn't happy there - not with football, not with the social life, nor with anything," said Abraham. "I guess I'm just a New York boy."

Navy Nursing

2 careers in 1!

FIRST - You're a Navy Nurse. You're part of a Professional environment and have the opportunity for advanced training. You are also in an immediate supervisory position.

SECOND - You are a Navy Officer. You can include travel and adventure. Your salary and benefits are comparable to civilian nursing.

REQUIREMENTS

BSN degree or three-year diploma with one year related experience.

SEND YOUR RESUME TO: Navy Recruiting Division 1443
575 N. Pennsylvania
Indianapolis, IN 46204

OR CALL KATHY SCALON
TOLL FREE: 1-800-382-9782
Field hockey team opens season

By TOM FAY
Sports Writer

A young, but aggressive, Irish field hockey team is tuning up for its season opener against Purdue, which happens Sunday at 5 p.m. at Alumni Field. First-year head coach Jill Lindenfield is optimistic about the team, although she is not too familiar with the opponents on the schedule.

This year's squad is definitely young. Only one senior, co-captain Toby Martin, is on the team. Along with this year's other co-captain, junior goalie Patti Galagher, Martin will try to lead the Irish to another winning season.

Jill's strong point this year will be in its defense. Anchoring that defense will be Galagher, who is looking forward to another outstanding season, and a pair of juniors: Christina Weinman and Regina Degnan. Also helping out around the net will be Mary Rose Rodgers, another junior.

Woodley throws two TD passes

Steelers topple Jets, 23-17

Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - David Woodley, coming back four days after a concussion, tossed two short touchdown passes, and Gary Anderson kicked two field goals as the Pittsburgh Steelers topped the New York Jets, 23-17, last night in a mistake-filled game.

Woodley, knocked out of last Sunday's opening-game loss to Kansas City with a head injury, tossed a 3-yard touchdown to another rookie, Weegie Wide, and was replaced by Greg Bingham at the Pittsburgh 49. After the Jets moved to the Pittsburgh 10, they were pushed back by a sack and two penalties. So, they had to settle for Pat Leary's 52-yard field goal, the longest in Jets history, that made it 20-14.

Pittsburgh then marched 79 yards in 10 plays for Anderson's 27-yard field goal.

Pittsburgh's Sam Washington intercepted two Ryan passes to stop Jets' last two possessions, and Rick Woods picked off a desperation toss from Ryan on the game's last play.

Brian Lawton powers Team USA over Czechoslovakia

Associated Press

BUFFALO, N.Y. - Two first-half touchdowns by the Minnesota North Stars' Brian Lawton helped the Stars to a 5-2 victory over Czechoslovakia yesterday.

Lawton capped a second half rebound of the 5-2 season-opening Czechoslovakia goalie Dominik Hasek to give the United States the lead and then added the winning goal eight minutes later on a setup by Bobby Carpenter.

Neal Broten, who also plays for the North Stars, scored in the first period.

Vincent Lake scored both goals for the Czechoslovaks.

The victory gave the U.S. a 2-0-1 record in the exhibition, round robin tournament while the Czechoslovaks dropped to 0-2-1.

The best has a taste all its own.

The Observer

Faces Purdue Sunday

Offensively, Notre Dame is counting on the services of sophomores Corrine DiGiacomo to fill the huge hole left in the line-up by the graduation of its all-time leading scorer, Claire Henry. But if DiGiacomo continues her form from last year, the Irish will be on their way to a very successful season as a freshman, then that hole will be adequately covered.

Another outstanding offensive force returning for the Irish is junior Molly McCabe. McCabe, a halfback, was named the most valuable player in the BIG EAST as a junior. It is an annual honor awarded to the most outstanding player in the conference. She was the first Irish player to receive the honor.

Yet another offensive force returning for the Irish is junior Mary Rose Toby Martin, is on the team. Along with this year's other co-captain, junior goalie Patti Galagher, Martin will try to lead the Irish to another winning season.

Steve Ammon is a superb playmaker who is closing in on the Notre Dame all-time assist record held by Giana Maresco. McCabe needs only five more assists to pass the ASN.

The Associated Press

Bend Ave.

Any size portable or console

PREPARE FOR:

GMAT:
- TEST-TAKING STRATEGIES
- REINFORCEMENT TESTING
- HOMEWORK PACKET

CLASSES STARTING

September 9

13398 McKinley Hwy
259-7661

20% OFF

$25.00/Month $80.00/Semester
No Deposit Free, Fast Delivery
Any size portable or console

BRING OUT YOUR BEST.

We provide the washer, dryer, installation, delivery, service & parts

CALL NOW

WHITMER SALES & SERVICE
234-5031

SOME COURSES IMPROVE SCORES - WE IMPROVE STUDENTS, TOO!

BUILD YOUR SKILLS TO BOOST YOUR SCORE!

COLOR CITY TV RENTALS
SPECIAL BACK-TO-SCHOOL DISCOUNT

 astronaut

EVEN FUTURE WELCOME
1st General Meeting
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10
7:00 Engineering Auditorium

LIVING OFF CAMPUS??
NEED A WASHER/DRYER??
NO INVESTMENT!!

The best has a taste all its own.
Cubs win, Mets lose; Chicago lead at least seven games

Cubs 4, Expos 1

Associated Press

MONTREAL - Ryne Sandberg's sacrifice fly scored Bob Dernier with two out in the ninth inning last night as Chicago defeated Montreal, 4-1, for its seventh straight victory over the Montreal Expos.

The victory, Chicago's fifth in six games, increased the Cubs' lead in the National League Eastern Division to seven games over the New York Mets.

Dernier opened the eighth against Expos starter Charlie Lea, 19-10, by tripling. Sandberg followed with a deep fly ball.

In the ninth, the Cub loaded the bases on singles by Moreland, Dave Lopes and Jody Davis. Expos starter Charlie Lea, 19-10, was pulled in the seventh after giving up seven runs in six innings. Lead-off batter Lee Smith hit a triple and scored on a sacrifice fly scored by George Frazier, who worked a hitless inning.

Sandberg advanced to third on a safe multi-base hit by Darrell Porter. He scored when Rick Rhoden struck out Beth Hester, who hit a deep fly ball.

Sacrifice fly scored Bob Dernier from third in the eighth to lead the ninth for Lopes and Jody Davis. Expos starter Charlie Lea, 19-10, was pulled in the seventh after giving up seven runs in six innings. Lead-off batter Lee Smith hit a triple and scored on a sacrifice fly scored by George Frazier, who worked a hitless inning.

Sandberg advanced to third on a safe multi-base hit by Darrell Porter. He scored when Rick Rhoden struck out Beth Hester, who hit a deep fly ball.

The setback was the fourth straight for Philadelphia, which fell eleven and one-half games behind Chicago in the National League East standings with one-half game ahead of fourth-place St. Louis.

Right-hander Charles Hudson pitched a 5-3 lead through seven innings before the Cardinals erupted for four runs in the eighth.

Brett Butler walked, stole second and Darrell Porter was tagged out at the plate. turkey. lee

Cubs 6, Phillies 5

PITTSBURGH - Rick Rhoden and Bob Dernier threw a combined five-hitter and Jason Thompson hit a two-run homer as the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates ended the 17-game winning streak of the Pittsburgh Pirates and scored on an inside-the-park home run by Rick Rhoden, 12-9, against the New York Mets.

The Pirates defeated the Mets 6-5 in a game with Purdue has worn off, a batsman can get back into the safety crease; ( 4) leg before wicket; and ( 5) stumped, which is the ball in and knocks down a wicket when the ball hits a wicket; ( 2) a wicket is knocked down if the bowler is Hendrickson's sacrifice fly tied it again at 1-1 in the third. A walk and a sacrifice fly from Rick Rhoden put the Pirates in front 2-1 in the fourth, with Rhoden scoring on a triple by Topper Kelley.

The Pirates added a run off reliever Kevin Leiter in the fifth to win 3-1.

Reds 10, Padres 3

SAN DIEGO - Eric Davis and Wayne Krenchik tied the game last night with the first home run of the season for Davis and the third for Krenchik. Davis hit a two-run home run off Padres pitcher Bill Laskey, 14-9, also had two singles and three runs batted in. The Padres tied the game in the third when he hit a two-run homer. The Reds went ahead 2-1 in the fourth, with Gulden scoring on Tony Fossas' grand-slam homer.

The Reds went ahead 2-1 in the fourth, with Gulden scoring on Tony Fossas' grand-slam homer.

The Reds went ahead 2-1 in the fourth, with Gulden scoring on Tony Fossas' grand-slam homer.

The Reds went ahead 2-1 in the fourth, with Gulden scoring on Tony Fossas' grand-slam homer.

The Reds went ahead 2-1 in the fourth, with Gulden scoring on Tony Fossas' grand-slam homer.
Irish go for national championship

By MARY SIEGER

This is it. This is the year to win the NCAA national championship. At least that's what members of the Notre Dame women's tennis team say. Since the squad is in better shape, fitter, and more ambitious than last season, it will pursue its goal more single-mindedly than in the past.

"I do so for us this season since it's our last one in Division II," explained Notre Dame head coach Sharon Petro. "The conference is insisting we move up to Division I, meaning we won't be in contention for NCAA national championships."

The Irish begin their quest for the national championship today as the team travels to West Lafayette, Ind., to face the Purdue Boilermakers. In their first dual match of the season.

This afternoon's meet against the Boilermakers promises to be a difficult challenge for the Irish. Two years ago, the Boilermakers easily defeated the Irish, 4-0. Last season the Irish rebounded to sweep the Boisemakers. Now the Boilermakers are looking to even the score.

"I think it will be tough, but we'll pull through," says senior co-captain Lisa Fries.

The Irish will definitely miss the services of junior Susie Panther, who was cleared earlier this week during practice. Panther, who usually plays number-one singles and number-two doubles, is expected to return to the line-up in time for next weekend's meet against the University of Illinois.

"It's going to be tough without Susie," says Petro. "I'm confident well, but we'll all have to play well."

After the Purdue meet, the team plans to return other Notre Dame students at the Hoosier Dome, and then remain in Indianapolis for a North Star Conference meet against Butler University on Sunday. The Irish expect to defeat Butler, and Petro is hoping to tally a score similar to last year's 9-0 rout.

"It will be hard to find Pam's replacement in the doubles since she was our best player and we could always count on her for a win," explained LaFratta.

However, there are two new faces in the Notre Dame line-up who show great potential for the squad. Junior Izzy O'Brien, a transfer student from the University of Michigan, and freshman Michelle Dasso are both expected to add a new dimension to the team.

"I can win up in the middle of the line-up and Michelle will probably be playing at number six," says Petro. "Michelle should move up in the line-up as she starts playing better."

Last May, the Irish took a disappointing third place at the national tournament in Chattanooga, Tenn. In the semi-final round, Notre Dame lost to University of Tennessee-Chattanooga, which eventually won the national championship.

"It's disappointing because we came so close to winning and we really could have done it," explained LaFratta. "They were the national champs and we started to play, we realized we could win. They just happened to get more points. Now we know we can do it."

Since the final matches of the national tournament were lost in the third set, Petro suspects intensive conditioning will give the team the boost it needs to win the national title.

"Our emphasis will be on conditioning, anticipation and footwork," said Petro. "If we work on that, then there's a good chance of winning the nationals."

Miami invades Michigan

Big Ten season opens tomorrow

Associated Press

The Big Ten football season opens in full force tomorrow highlighted by top-ranked and defending national champion Miami's invasion of 14th-ranked and 1984 counts. Tax not included. No canopies, cannot be used with other dis-

The Observer Friday, September 7, 1984 - page 18

Notre Dame-Saint Mary’s sports weekend

TODAY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Soccer VS. Purdue</td>
<td>Carter Field</td>
<td>8 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women's soccer</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saint Mary's VS.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td></td>
<td>4:30 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madeleva Field</td>
<td></td>
<td>12:00 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SUNDAY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Soccer VS. Louisville</td>
<td></td>
<td>3 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alumni field</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TOMORROW

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Football VS. Purdue</td>
<td>Hoosier Dome</td>
<td>12:30 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Field hockey

VARSITY CARRING

Field hockey VS. Purdue

SUNDAY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cricket VS. India</td>
<td></td>
<td>11:30 a.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;The World&quot;</td>
<td></td>
<td>2 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stepan Fields</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Irish go for national championship

By MARY SIEGER

Sporus Press

This is it. This is the year to win the NCAA national championship. At least that's what members of the Notre Dame women's tennis team say. Since the squad is in better shape, fitter, and more ambitious than last season, it will pursue its goal more single-mindedly than in the past.

"I do so for us this season since it's our last one in Division II," explained Notre Dame head coach Sharon Petro. "The conference is insisting we move up to Division I, meaning we won't be in contention for NCAA national championships."

The Irish begin their quest for the national championship today as the team travels to West Lafayette, Ind., to face the Purdue Boilermakers in their first dual match of the season.

This afternoon's meet against the Boilermakers promises to be a difficult challenge for the Irish. Two years ago, the Boilermakers easily defeated the Irish, 4-0. Last season the Irish rebounded to sweep the Boilermakers. Now the Boilermakers are looking to even the score.

"I think it will be tough, but we'll pull through," says senior co-captain Lisa Fries.

The Irish will definitely miss the services of junior Susie Panther, who was cleared earlier this week during practice. Panther, who usually plays number-one singles and number-two doubles, is expected to return to the line-up in time for next weekend's meet against the University of Illinois.

"It's going to be tough without Susie," says Petro. "I'm confident well, but we'll all have to play well."

After the Purdue meet, the team plans to return other Notre Dame students at the Hoosier Dome, and then remain in Indianapolis for a North Star Conference meet against Butler University on Sunday. The Irish expect to defeat Butler, and Petro is hoping to tally a score similar to last year's 9-0 rout.

"It will be hard to find Pam's replacement in the doubles since she was our best player and we could always count on her for a win," explained LaFratta.

However, there are two new faces in the Notre Dame line-up who show great potential for the squad. Junior Izzy O'Brien, a transfer student from the University of Michigan, and freshman Michelle Dasso are both expected to add a new dimension to the team.

"I can win up in the middle of the line-up and Michelle will probably be playing at number six," says Petro. "Michelle should move up in the line-up as she starts playing better."

Last May, the Irish took a disappointing third place at the national tournament in Chattanooga, Tenn. In the semi-final round, Notre Dame lost to University of Tennessee-Chattanooga, which eventually won the national championship.

"It's disappointing because we came so close to winning and we really could have done it," explained LaFratta. "They were the national champs and we started to play, we realized we could win. They just happened to get more points. Now we know we can do it."

Since the final matches of the national tournament were lost in the third set, Petro suspects intensive conditioning will give the team the boost it needs to win the national title.

"Our emphasis will be on conditioning, anticipation and footwork," said Petro. "If we work on that, then there's a good chance of winning the nationals."

Miami invades Michigan

Big Ten season opens tomorrow

Associated Press

The Big Ten football season opens in full force tomorrow highlighted by top-ranked and defending national champion Miami's invasion of 14th-ranked and 1984 counts. Tax not included. No canopies, cannot be used with other dis-

Notre Dame-Saint Mary’s sports weekend

TODAY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Soccer VS. Purdue</td>
<td>Carter Field</td>
<td>8 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women's soccer</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saint Mary's VS.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td></td>
<td>4:30 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madeleva Field</td>
<td></td>
<td>12:00 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SUNDAY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Soccer VS. Louisville</td>
<td></td>
<td>3 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alumni field</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TOMORROW

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Football VS. Purdue</td>
<td>Hoosier Dome</td>
<td>12:30 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Field hockey

VARSITY CARRING

Field hockey VS. Purdue

SUNDAY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Place</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cricket VS. India</td>
<td></td>
<td>11:30 a.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;The World&quot;</td>
<td></td>
<td>2 p.m.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stepan Fields</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1. Proteus
2. Girl’s best friend, maybe
15. Famous box owner
16. Ruler
17. Against the law
18. Shiny ornament
19. Sharp
20. Imitative sound in talking
22. Computer toddler
23. Time zone abbr.
24. The Fox
27. Mr. Rorem
28. Evergreen
29. Neil
31. Hope’s forte
34. Malicious burner
36. Single part
38. Above
39. Sailor
40. Pecular
41. Hackneyed
42. Builder’s site
43. Clerical vestment
44. Shielded from harm
45. Lubricant
57. "September"
59. Certain metalware
60. Years: Lat.
61. Require
64. Typical
66. Shoemaker’s need
67. Specify by name
68. Eternal
69. Declares
70. DOWN
1. Extra large nail
2. Draw
3. Narrow
4. Wax
5. Single
6. Decorative hangings
7. Culp
8. Abandon hope
9. Malignant spirit
10. Brazilian timber
11. Repair
12. Instrument
13. Actor Nick
14. Extreme fear
15. Walk easily
16. Opera singer
17. Tree’s kinsman
18. Relieve
19. Sits.
20. Performing pair
21. Gala occasions
22. Derisive sound
23. Mongrel dog
24. Denoting the center
25. "got a secret"
26. Ph. needle and thread
27. Attempt
29. Deface
30. Beetles
31. Make over
32. Jacket features
33. Legal enormities
34. Printer’s measures
35. Of a country: abbr.
36. Comedian
37. Aricle
38. "For a-
39. Polly
40. NBC Baseball
41. NewsCenter 16
42. M*A*S*H
43. Baseball Pre-Game
44. Comedy Zone
45. IRC Baseball
46. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
47. Lester Sumrall Teaching
48. Words of Life
49. Today With Lester Sumrall
50. NBC Baseball
51. Wheel or eye
52. Andes beast
53. Walking
54. Metal mass
55. Legal enormities
56. Printer’s measures
57. Of a country: abbr.
58. Comedian
59. Article
60. "For a-
61. Polly
62. NBC Baseball
63. Baseball Pre-Game
64. Comedy Zone
65. IRC Baseball
66. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
67. Lester Sumrall Teaching
68. Words of Life
69. Today With Lester Sumrall
70. NBC Baseball

DOWN
1. Friend of St. John’s King
2. Relieve
3. Steps
4. Performing pair
5. Gala occasions
6. Derisive sound
7. Mongrel dog
8. Denoting the center
9. Ph. needle and thread
10. Attempt
12. Deface
13. Beetles
14. Make over
15. Jacket features
16. Legal enormities
17. Printer’s measures
18. NBC Baseball
19. Baseball Pre-Game
20. Comedy Zone
21. IRC Baseball
22. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
23. Lester Sumrall Teaching
24. Words of Life
25. Today With Lester Sumrall
26. NBC Baseball
27. "For a-
28. Polly
29. NBC Baseball
30. Baseball Pre-Game
31. Comedy Zone
32. IRC Baseball
33. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
34. Lester Sumrall Teaching
35. Words of Life
36. Today With Lester Sumrall
37. NBC Baseball
38. "For a-
39. Polly
40. NBC Baseball
41. Baseball Pre-Game
42. Comedy Zone
43. IRC Baseball
44. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
45. Lester Sumrall Teaching
46. Words of Life
47. Today With Lester Sumrall
48. NBC Baseball
49. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
50. Lester Sumrall Teaching
51. Words of Life
52. Today With Lester Sumrall
53. NBC Baseball
54. Baseball Pre-Game
55. Comedy Zone
56. IRC Baseball
57. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
58. Lester Sumrall Teaching
59. Words of Life
60. Today With Lester Sumrall
61. NBC Baseball
62. Baseball Pre-Game
63. Comedy Zone
64. IRC Baseball
65. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
66. Lester Sumrall Teaching
67. Words of Life
68. Today With Lester Sumrall
69. NBC Baseball
70. Baseball Pre-Game

Thursday’s Solution

ACROSS
1. Proteus
2. Bird of paradise
3. Sailor
4. Pecular
5. Hackneyed
6. Builder’s site
7. Clerical vestment
8. Shielred from harm
9. Lubricant
10. September
11. Certain metalware
12. Years: Lat.
13. Require
14. Typical
15. Shoemaker’s need
16. Specify by name
17. Eternal
18. Declares
19. DOWN
20. Extra large nail
21. Draw
22. Narrow
23. Wax
24. Single
25. Decorative hangings
26. Culp
27. Abandon hope
28. Malignant spirit
29. Brazilian timber
30. Repair
31. Instrument
32. Actor Nick
33. Extreme fear
34. Walk easily
35. Opera singer
36. Tree’s kinsman
37. Relieve
38. Steps
39. Performing pair
40. Gala occasions
41. Derisive sound
42. Mongrel dog
43. Denoting the center
44. Ph. needle and thread
45. Attempt
46. Common abbr.
47. Deface
48. Beetles
49. Make over
50. Jacket features
51. Legal enormities
52. Printer’s measures
53. Of a country: abbr.
54. Comedian
55. Article
56. "For a-
57. Polly
58. NBC Baseball
59. Baseball Pre-Game
60. Comedy Zone
61. IRC Baseball
62. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
63. Lester Sumrall Teaching
64. Words of Life
65. Today With Lester Sumrall
66. NBC Baseball
67. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
68. Lester Sumrall Teaching
69. Words of Life
70. Today With Lester Sumrall

DOWN
1. Friend of St. John’s King
2. Relieve
3. Steps
4. Performing pair
5. Gala occasions
6. Derisive sound
7. Mongrel dog
8. Denoting the center
9. Ph. needle and thread
10. Attempt
12. Deface
13. Beetles
14. Make over
15. Jacket features
16. Legal enormities
17. Printer’s measures
18. NBC Baseball
19. Baseball Pre-Game
20. Comedy Zone
21. IRC Baseball
22. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
23. Lester Sumrall Teaching
24. Words of Life
25. Today With Lester Sumrall
26. NBC Baseball
27. "For a-
28. Polly
29. NBC Baseball
30. Baseball Pre-Game
31. Comedy Zone
32. IRC Baseball
33. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
34. Lester Sumrall Teaching
35. Words of Life
36. Today With Lester Sumrall
37. NBC Baseball
38. "For a-
39. Polly
40. NBC Baseball
41. Baseball Pre-Game
42. Comedy Zone
43. IRC Baseball
44. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
45. Lester Sumrall Teaching
46. Words of Life
47. Today With Lester Sumrall
48. NBC Baseball
49. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
50. Lester Sumrall Teaching
51. Words of Life
52. Today With Lester Sumrall
53. NBC Baseball
54. Baseball Pre-Game
55. Comedy Zone
56. IRC Baseball
57. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
58. Lester Sumrall Teaching
59. Words of Life
60. Today With Lester Sumrall
61. NBC Baseball
62. Baseball Pre-Game
63. Comedy Zone
64. IRC Baseball
65. Movie: "The Shadow Riders"
66. Lester Sumrall Teaching
67. Words of Life
68. Today With Lester Sumrall
69. NBC Baseball
70. Baseball Pre-Game

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

Why not make SENIOR BAR your meeting place for FUN EVERY night of the week?

FRIDAY
Happy Hour 5:30 - 8
With our delicious fresh burgers
$1.00 Sidekicks
...and more delicious food
Come by at night to help celebrate our upcoming victory followed by breakfast at South Dining Hall 4:30 - 6:30.

SOMEONE IS JUST WAITING TO MEET YOU...AT SENIOR BAR

THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES BOARD PRESENTS

Willie Nelson
LIVE AT THE ACC

September 19, 1984 at 7:30 p.m.
Tickets on sale at the S.A.B. Record Store
$12 & $13 Reserved Seating
Irish soccer team ready for two home games

By PHIL WOLF
Assistant Sports Editor

Following a victory in its first game of the season Wednesday night on Carter Field, the Notre Dame soccer team has recorded a 3-0-1 weekend. Purdue was the first victim Monday afternoon, when the Irish shut them out under Carter's lights, and Louisville will take on the Irish Sunday afternoon on Alumni Field. Kick-off is scheduled for 8:00, and Sunday afternoon will be senior day.

Irish head coach Dennis Grace says he is not very familiar with either of this weekend's opponents, but he is not very concerned about that. He says he usually can discover more about his team in the first 10 minutes of the game than he can during the whole previous season. When Notre Dame last met Purdue in 1980, a 5-1 victory gave the Irish their third win in four contests against the Boilermakers.

"Purdue went vary hard, and they're upgrading their program," Grace said. "I think we're all a little bit better off for this weekend than we were last year. I don't know if we're in the future yet, for you. You know, he may be talking about the future like 1992; I don't know." Grace explains: "Then when the other people come up to talk to them and tell them what I saw in the game, so they can think about it.

"We'll shuffle even more as we get a couple people back a hundred percent. I figure the rules let me play as long as I can and I can be a little bit better of a team player with a great deal of substitution. I'm going to do it.

"If we can pay four or five people off the bench and maintain that same high level of performance, we're much better off." Grace continues. Obviously, 15 players can play with higher intensity for 90 minutes than 11 players can. It's very simple logic.

Two players who will be counted on to keep the Irish at the level of intensity and the level of play this weekend are captains Rick Herdenberg and Donn DiRienzo. Herdenberg, who is tied for scoring honors in Wednesday's match, will be leading the offensive attack, while DiRienzo anchors the powerful Notre Dame defense.

Grace says he thinks his team is on an offensive explosion. This weekend, coupled with fine play from to other teams.

"We created enough (opportunities) the other night," he explains. "If they're really going to open up this weekend. I've just got a hunch. If the Irish do, indeed, open up, Purdue and Louisville will have a hard time trying to keep from being shut down.

Was 1983 season slap that Irish needed?

You may remember the old aftershave commercial where a guy gets slapped in the face and says, "Thanks, I needed that."

Well, it may be too early to tell, but it appears that the 1983 football season may just have been the slap that Notre Dame - both fans and team alike - needed.

At the time the entire '83 season was unraveling, I doubt few people were thinking that this might be the season that finally got the Irish rolling. This still may not prove to be the case, but, with the Purdue opener only a day away, it is going to be interesting to everybody in the South Bend area. If the Irish do well this season, the old fanaticism may become so emotional, so fanatical, about their team that they reach the point of being obnoxious. When the Irish are winning, the coach and players are the most loved people in the world. But, when the team is struggling, like it has the past three years, the coach and players have to shield themselves from the taunts, criticisms and "expert" solutions.

That is why Notre Dame fans are the best around when things are going well, and brutal when things aren't.

It appears now, though, that these fans, or at least the student body, have decided not to get too excited yet. Everyone is as anxious as ever for the season to start, but they are being much more careful than in the past. They have learned to take nothing for granted. They have learned not to take it for granted that Notre Dame will be better teams like Oregon and Arizona. They have learned not to take it for granted that God made Notre Dame Number One.

Everyone knows that there is a huge amount of talent on this Notre Dame team. But everybody also has learned that it takes more than talent to win football games.

By TOM YOON
Sports Writer

This Sunday at 11:30 a.m. behind St. Joe's, the gentleman's game of cricket will be played for the first time in Notre Dame. The game is being sponsored by the International Students Organization, and will showcase a meeting between Ireland, which is captained by Heman Tarrant, and "The World," which is captained by Winston Griffin.

Cricket, which is the mother sport of baseball, originated in England and later spread to various cultures. The game is now played in England, Australia, the West Indies, India, Pakistan, New Zealand, Sri Lanka, and South Africa, a country which is banned from international competition. Cricket is the national sport of many countries, such as baseball is for the United States.

The game of cricket is played with two teams, each consisting of 11 players who all dress in white. The field is oval-shaped and measures approximately 100 yards by 70 yards. The 22-yard-long rectangular area in the middle of the field is called the pitch, and fans will find that this is where most of the action takes place.

There are three positions in cricket, the bowler, the wicket-keeper, and the fielders. The bowler, who serves the same function as a pitcher in baseball, hursts the ball, which is made of leather and smaller than a baseball, toward the batsman at about 90 miles per hour. But unlike baseball where the strike zone is horizontal, the strike zone is vertical from the ground up to the waist.

Behind the batsman is the wicket-keeper, who is equivalent to the catcher, and the other nine players are the fielders, who play without gloves. At opposite ends of the pitch are wickets, equivalent to the bases in baseball.

In playing cricket, a batsman is at each wicket, each able to hit the ball. The bowler starts by running from outside the pitch area and onto reaching the pitch line, bows the ball to the batsman, who can hit it in any direction. If the ball is hit and rolls outside of the boundary, the team is awarded four runs, but if it rolls into the boundary, the bowler is awarded a wicket, and the game is over.

India vs. "The World"

Senior Joe Hossain is one of three premier players that receivers coach Mike Stock is counting on to play the split end and flanker spots. Larry Burke gives a complete rundown of Stock's 1984 receiving corps, including the tight ends, on his story on page 15.