Tayback resigns from Senate seat

By AMY STEPHAN
Senior Staff Reporter

Hall Presidents' Council Chairman Chris Tayback resigned his seat on the Student Senate yesterday afternoon.

"I've never felt more betrayed," said Tayback, who was out of town Saturday, to reinstate the Browne-Cahill ticket, which Ombudsman had removed from the student body president and vice president ballot because of campaign violations.

"I strongly object to what they (the senate members) did," he said. "Had I been there, there may have been a different outcome." The vote to reinstate the Browne-Cahill ticket was 8-7.

"Claiming the senate does not accurately reflect student opinion," Tayback said that the vote of reinstatement "put to a referendum, it would be voted down."

The senate "lacked the courage of their convictions," said Tayback. "They acted incredibly wimpily. I don't want to be a part of wimpy anymore."

Tayback said he will ask HPC members to vote on whether the HPC should withdraw from the senate altogether. HPC now has three seats on the senate in addition to Tayback's.

Although he personally has withdrawn from the senate, Tayback stresses that he has not forfeited the HPC chairman's seat. He said the council may choose to allow the HPC executive coordinator or another HPC member to fill this position.

"People in the Student Senate are people with interests," said Tayback, claiming senate members have no definite constituency. "No one is voting for what the students want." Tayback said he was questions whether the senate is a body worth saving.

HPC members, on the other hand, "have a definite constituency," said Tayback. "The Hall Presidents' Council is the most representative group on campus." Tayback said he plans to ask the HPC to request that the newly elected student senators dissolve the senate and allow the HPC to become the legislative body on campus. The council now limits its focus to hall life, he said.

With the dissolution of the senate, Tayback said he would ask the student body president and vice president to preside over HPC.

The decision to reinstate the ticket was made "in the heat of the moment," said Tayback. "A lot of them would change their votes if they could." Saturday's senate vote was a secret ballot, and Tayback claims the senate only votes in secret when they don't want to be held responsible for an action. "

Tayback said the senate "has failed to follow through. Every time the senate has had a chance, they've reinterpreted the rules."

"I like Pat (Browne)," said Tayback. "He's one of the best HPC members, but these were blatant violations," he said. "Ombudsman was more than justified, they did nothing they weren't supposed to do."

Candidates speak on student issues at forum

By ANN KAL TENBACH
Staff Reporter

Communication is at the fore of the agenda for the 1985-86 school year, said Anne Marie Kollman, an opposed candidate for Student Mary's student body president, at "Meet the Candidates Night" last night in the Hagar Parlor.

Kollman said, "We want students to know what is going on at Saint Mary's. This year, communications was our major issue and we feel we did well. We enacted the polis and we are working on the parietal policy."

She added, "I encourage students at section meetings to respond. Students at Saint Mary's really do care what happens."

The parietal policy was the major student issue focused on at the forum. Defining the issue Kollman said, "There are so many groups concerned about the social life here on campus. We hope the extension of parietal hours will equal some of this life and bring it back to Saint Mary's."

Acknowledging student concern for the present unsatisfactory hours Kollman explained the proposed policy, "Weekday parietals will be extended from 4 p.m. to 12 a.m., Friday hours will be extended from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m., Saturdays from noon till 2 a.m., and Sundays from noon till midnight. On football weekends, there will be an early extension with hours beginning at 10 a.m."

Kollman added, "Through the student surveys on the parietal policy, I learned that everything at the college didn't take place between 2 a.m. and 4 p.m." The parietal policy will be reviewed by the Student Affairs Committee next Monday.

Completing the ticket is Julie Har­mon running for vice president for student affairs and Jeanne Heller for vice president for academic affairs. Addressing the problem of student apathy Harmon said, "Students feel the problems aren't up to them. We need to let them know who we are so we can help." Heller, as chairman of the program­ming board added, "I am working for better communications and am liaisons between the students and the administration."

Kollman addressed a concern for student apathy, "We'd like to say there isn't as much apathy, as is and there are so many groups concerned on campus. Because they don't run for office, doesn't mean they don't care."

Opening the forum to student questions, Kollman responded to the enactment of the integration of housing. "We support the House Policy and the Board of Governance is talking to students now. Everywhere they turn. They are going to have an opinion on the policy. It is hard to say if it was a positive change or not. Basically, the issue is up in the air for next year and is undergoing major review."

see FORUM, page 4
In Brief

Workers cleaning up the damaged Three Mile Island nuclear power plant routinely come in contact with radioactive materials and some have been exposed to more radiation than federal regulations allow, according to a published report in The Philadelphia Inquirer. Records on file with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission also show instances where a worker left the plant while still contaminated, thus spreading radioactive material. The records also say workers have inhaled particles of deadly radioactive plutonium and have been exposed to radiation doses up to 22 times higher than the level allowed by federal regulations, the newspaper reported. -AP

The Air Force is seeking ways of helping American nuclear missiles defeat Soviet defenses by using advanced decoys and guidance systems, "The New York Times" reported yesterday. The Times said that Motorola's Advanced Strategic Systems program, would receive a sharp increase in funds under the budget proposal President Reagan has proposed for fiscal 1986. The Times said the program is highly classified, but some details were provided to the newspaper by Air Force officials and "outsiders familiar with the program." The system includes advanced decoys, or "penetration aids," such as clouds of metallic and light-reflecting materials that would confound Soviet sensors seeking to find and shoot down American missiles, the Times said. -AP

As many as 1,000 Vietnamese troops seized a Khmer Rouge outpost near a major base in western Cambodia to try to drive the guerrillas into a vise near the mountains of southern Cambodia, Thai military officers said yesterday. The Khmer Rouge countered yesterday that they had surrounded the base. Cambodia's strongman Prime Minister Lon Nol promised to divert some of his forces to the Cambodian interior. A top Thai military official said the report "confirms" that his country's troops seized an all-day attack Sunday, the Vietnamese troops seized the hilltop outpost a few miles from the major Khmer Rouge stronghold at Phnom Duk, said Col. Chevra Thanaraj, deputy commander of the Eastern (border) Field Force. -AP

Cardinal Jozef Glemp accused Communist authorities yesterday of a "malicious" campaign against the church, and rejected allegations that many priests in this devoutly Roman Catholic nation regularly engage in anti-state activities. He said the nature of attacks in the state news media indicate an "ideological struggle" within the church. Glemp, who denied government claims that a slain pro-Solidarity priest had violated the law, said the priests' frequent sermons in support of the outlawed free trade unions "did not go beyond theological correctness." "We will defend ourselves," Glemp pledged, but added: "we really don't want priests to engage in politics, pure politics, in a direct way. That is not the church's task." -AP

60's rebels haven't sold out. According to a survey by the San Francisco Examiner, 95 percent of the rank and file of the 1964 Free Speech Movement at Berkeley correctly recalled the issue of their time, and 75 percent hold the same opinion on the issue as they did 20 years ago. -The Observer

Saint Mary's commencement speaker need not be average

Sometime this week University President Father Theodore Hesburgh, to a chorus of drum rolls, will give the long- awaited announcement who will be the speaker at Saint Mary's Commencement this year.

Less than a month ago, Saint Mary's announced their commencement speaker: Father, although it is doubtful that anyone save the administration could remind you who the speaker was.

Isn't this the way it always ends up? Speculation, mystery, and drama surround the reveal of Notre Dame's speaker, yet Saint Mary's always takes a back seat. The reason of course is obvious. Saint Mary's Commencement speaker has never been far from household names, and most students are at the point where they don't even care.

The administration of the College likes to view Saint Mary's as a prominent women's school, "the best Catholic woman's college in the country." And the Saint Mary's of the 40s and 50s was able to attract prominent politicians, theologians, and popular speakers of the day.

What has gone wrong? I don't believe the problem lies in whether Saint Mary's can attract a prominent speaker, but rather whether the College is really trying to attract one, or even if it can, avoid the narrow restrictions they employ in making their choice.

This year's speaker, Father Bryan Hesburgh, was the principal advisor to the American Catholic Bishop's recent letter on the Nation's Capital, and presently secretary of the Department of Social Development and World Peace of the U.S. Catholic Conferences in Washington. Hesburgh is undoubtedly an undeniably well respected in his field, and holds many admirable qualifications. The administration aiming to please in this choice? Wouldn't students come away from this ceremony better served by having a successful woman in any field speak on her achievements and how she achieved her goals?

Is this how the College should only consider female candidates, or even those who are "big names." But candidates who have something important to say to this particular student body would be a better choice. Hesburgh could probably go to any college in the country and speak on his achievements and experience, particularly with the bishops' letter.

But the class of 86 can take heart. Last week, each junior was sent a letter from College President John Duggan, asking for nominations for next year's commencement speaker. The process for selection has been accelerated this year. Duggan explains in the letter that morally ethical, qualified candidate be excluded because he or she is a Protestant.

I hope you take this chance to make your graduation a memorable one. Even if you don't have the forms that were mailed to you, submit your nominees on a piece of paper. All Duggan's office asks is that you include some background information on your candidate and your name.

Don't be afraid to aim high. The process is starting earlier this year, and chances are very good that an enthuisatic student response will directly affect Saint Mary's Commencement speaker for 1986.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.

Weather

Time to dig it out. Snow diminishing in buries early today with additional accu­mulations of approximately three inches by noon. Highs in the low to mid 20s with a 60 percent chance of snow and wind gusts to 30 mph. Windy tonight and tomorrow with a 50 percent chance of snow showers. Lows near 10 and highs in the mid to low 20s tomorrow. -AP

Of Interest

A get together for past and future Agiers students will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 at Farley Hall's Riddle Room. -The Observer

Saint Mary's commencement speaker need not be average

"Junior Parents Weekend " "Junior Parents Weekend "

"Junior Parents Weekend " "Junior Parents Weekend "

Juniors can Register

Juniors can Register

 Junior Parents Weekend  Junior Parents Weekend **

In LaFortune S. Alcose Thursday 6-10 pm Also at the Cocktail Dance Junior Parents Weekend Please Bring Your I.D. Friday 7-10 - pm You OR Your Parents You OR Your Parents can Register Saturday 9-noon can Register

Celebrate Life!

Help the March of Dimes Fight Birth Defects

Tan with your Valentine (or someone else's)

TAN-HAWAIIAN sun tanning salon

277-T026

REDEEM ON FEB. 14, 1985
"Comparable worth is impractical in an economy as dynamic as ours. In short, it is not the only solution, nor is it a particularly good one." This was the conclusion reached by U.S. Senator Nancy Landon Kassebaum (R-Kan.) who presented a lecture "The Merits or Dilemmas of a Comparable Worth System" yesterday in the Notre Dame Law School Lounge.

Kassebaum said she had long expressed the need for economic equity for women. "We are only just beginning to realize that many laws which are gender-neutral on their face have, in fact, a disproportionate impact on women," said Kassebaum. Currently, the federal equal pay act only requires that those in the same job be paid the same.

"Comparable worth" proposes to eliminate pay disparities in the marketplace by comparing different jobs to determine if they require equal pay. Critics have, in fact, a disproportionate impact on women, said Kassebaum.

Currently, the federal equal pay act only requires that those in the same job be paid the same. "Comparable worth" proposes to eliminate pay disparities in the marketplace by comparing different jobs to determine if they require equal pay. Critics have, in fact, a disproportionate impact on women, said Kassebaum.

"Comparable worth" is impractical as an economic solution, said Kassebaum. "It is based on faulty assumptions and has implications beyond theenson which its proponents envision."

Kassebaum said the goal of comparable worth systems is to eliminate discrimination from pay scales. Unfortunately, devising an equitable pay scale which could be used to evaluate different occupations is a formidable task because "there is no universally accepted job evaluation methodology."

Furthermore, Kassebaum maintained that establishing a comparable worth system could result in the occurrence of serious economic disruption. Because comparable worth policies prohibit pay cuts, such programs could result in the short term and employers would eventually be compelled to lay off workers in order to meet their payrolls.

Acknowledging that the effects of previous discriminatory practices against women are still being felt in the marketplace, Kassebaum urged that existing anti-discriminatory laws be more stringently enforced. Additionally, she said, "throughout our educational system, we must make sure that women are informed of the wide range of options that are available to them."

Kassebaum is the daughter of Alf Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential nominee. She serves on the Senate Budget, Foreign Relations, and Commerce Committees. She recently served with University President Father Theodore Hesburgh as a monitor of the free elections in El Salvador.

How you live may save your life.

OUR NURSING SCHOLARSHIPS WILL HELP YOUR MEDICAL PLANS.

If high tuition costs are jeopardizing your future in medicine, Army ROTC may have just what the doctor ordered:

An Army ROTC scholarship.

ROTC, recently set aside hundreds of scholarships solely for nursing students like yourself.

Each one covers full tuition, books and other supplies, and pays you up to $1,000 each school year in effect. So make an appointment to find out more about an Army ROTC scholarship.

Contact your Professor of Military Science today.

ARMY ROTC - BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

CALL LTC SKINNER OR CPT DOMINGO 239-6264

TV movie criticized by community

Associated Press

ATLANTA - Atlanta's string of child slayings was re-enacted Sunday night in a televised movie that local community leaders condemned as an inaccurate portrayal of how the city coped with the tragedy.

Television stations and a telephone line for parents whose children were upset by the presentation received hundreds of calls, mostly negative, at the first part of "The Atlanta Child Murders," was shown.

The dramatization, running in two parts Sunday and tonight on CBS, portrayed how Atlanta became obsessed with the mysterious slayings of 29 young blacks, and how police eventually charged Wayne Williams in two of the deaths.

The dramatization strongly suggests that Williams, who had pleaded innocent, was railroaded. He was convicted three years ago in the first slaying, and was subsequently blamed for 22 more of the deaths.

Gentlemen who said the movie distorted the case tried unsuccessfully to get in touch with advertisers and ask them to withdraw support, and Mayor Andrew Young sent telegrams to the nation's 100 leading corporate advertisers expressing his concern about the movie.

Prosecutors who handled the case against Williams said the movie makes serious omissions, distortions and mistakes about the investigation and trial. CBS has defended the film as fair and balanced.

CBS, after negotiations with angry city leaders last week, agreed to offer an advisory saying the movie was not a documentary and was partly fictionalized.

Within 20 minutes of its airing Sunday night, the telephones began ringing with mostly negative calls at WAGA-TV, the local CBS affiliate. According to Kevin Dunn, the station's assistant news director.

The station received about 150 calls by the time the first part of the movie concluded, Dunn said.

"Most were complaining that we - or CBS - shouldn't have shown it in the first place," Dunn said. "The most common complaint was of the portrayal of people here as hicks."

George Schwartz, a CBS spokesman in New York, said the network received about 50 calls, "mostly negative."

Meanwhile, the Atlanta school system's hotline for parents whose children were upset by the movie received more than 100 calls, said Ruby Tatum, a psychologist with the school system.

Send an Observer Valentine!

In the classifieds section only 10 cents per 5 characters

dec. 9 at 11:30 a.m.

The Observer

The independent student newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is accepting applications for the following positions:

1985-86 Managing Editor and Business Manager

Resumes and personal statements must be submitted to Sarah Hamilton by 5 p.m. Feb. 15, 1985.
Hall integration unlikely to change

By ANNE GALLAGHER
Senior Staff Reporter

Integration in the residence halls at Saint Mary's sparked a controversial discussion during the Board of Governance meeting last night.
Pat Rissmeyer, director of residence life and housing, explained the present concern concerning the integration and admitted that the existing situation has yielded a negative response from a large number of students. "Most of the people involved in room integration related that we not go with an integration plan next year. There was some changing of position after we discussed the goals of the integation, but still there was disagreement with the plan."

Despite the negative feeling, the policy has been quite successful in mixing all four classes in LeMans and Holy Cross according to some of those involved. Anne Williard, a freshman in LeMans, believes that living amongst upperclassmen has been helpful and informative. The board had mixed feelings on this issue. Although a few pointed out that the mixing has made some sections more noisy and less cohesive, other board members
cited examples of upperclassmen lending an experienced hand to the underclassmen. "It works out really well most of the time," said Dorothy
Murray, parietal commissioner.

Many sophomores and juniors who had poor room lottery numbers, however, consider the plan a failure. Many feel they were forced to live in Regina and McCandless on account of the system. Rissmeyer said she realizes that not everyone was satisfied with their living arrangements, but that a recent student government survey indicated that nearly 82 percent of those polled were satisfied.

Rissmeyer said the question is whether in continue with integration or not. She indicated that she was hesitant about taking any drastic steps, and asked the Board to vote on whether integration should be dropped. The majority of the board voted in favor of integration, and it is likely that the policy will remain the same next year.

Two arrested, 51 ticketed in Friday morning raid upon Corby Tavern

By FRANK LIPO
Copy Editor

Police raided Corby Tavern, 1026
Corby Blvd., early Friday morning and issued tickets to 51 people on suspicion of minors entering a tavern.

Fourteen of the 51 also were given tickets on suspicion of false identification. Two others were arrested outside Corby's on charges
other than violation of state liquor laws.

Corporal Tom Rubeshla of the Indiana State Police said the raid occurred from 1 to 3 a.m. Feb. 8 and was conducted by state police, South Bend police and state excise officers. He said the raid was coordinated by the state excise department.

Suspicion of minors entering a tavern and suspicion of false identification are both technically mistaken, he said. The excise officer said, "This is an inspection by the college, and the fire inspector.
We are not arresting kids, we are inspecting the place to see if it is clean, properly equipped and free from defects."

Although he did not have a breakdown of those involved, Williams said the "vast majority of those in-olved were students" of either
Notre Dame or Saint Mary's.

The two arrests were made outside Corby's during the raid.
Sophomore John Darrow of Grace
Hall was arrested on suspicion of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. Senior Daniel Biwan of the Saint Mary's campus, Kollman
Regina, but I can see where not having it would hurt." The new loit policy was defined by Kollman. She said, "Loft policy is being clarified now and are free. Orders for kits will be made at the end of the year, so they know how many to order. If a loft is built outside of the policy by the student, it must be inspected by the college and the fire inspector." Asked about her concern for the small percentage of minorities on
the Saint Mary's campus, Kollman
said, "There is not a lack of minorities, there is a lack of black appliants. This issue has never really been brought up and I don't see it as a problem." Kollman is vice president for student affairs. Harmon is junior class president and Heller is sophomore class president.

Also in attendance at the "Meet the Candidates Night" were those students campaigning for class officers (see related story this page.)
Student body and class officer elections will be Wednesday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Haggar College Center.

CONFUSED??
Are you bewildered
by the Spring Break trips offered??

The Student Activities Board
THE LEADER IN ENTERTAINMENT IS YOUR ANSWER!!
RELAX...we've done this before:
Ft. Lauderdale ★ ★ Daytona Beach

$299
$199
- Free refreshments on bus
- Free Parties
- St. Patrick's Celebration
- White Sox Baseball
- Afternoon Boat Excursion
- Evening Boat Parties
- At the Sheraton Yankee Trader
- Free Refreshments on Bus
- St. Patrick's Day Celebration
- Optional trips to Walt Disney World,
Epcot Center
- Sun and Fun Packages
- At the Plaza Hotel

SIGN UP AT THE RECORD STORE
(in LaFortune)
$75.00 DEPOSIT DUE FEB. 14
Browne denies charge

By MARK WORSCEH
Managing Editor

Pat Browne yesterday denied that he asked Umboldian Election Officer Maher Mouasher to rig today's election, but a member of the election committee supported Mouasher's claim.

Mouasher had said that Browne asked him "to rig the election so he would lose the election without getting kicked out and losing face." Mouasher could not be reached for comment last night.

"I deny saying it," said Browne, a candidate for student body president. "I admitted my mistakes and overspending, however. I can't condone OBUD's actions of accusing me, with this statement," he said.

"I asked if there was any way to stay in and they said no. The election committee reviewed all the alternatives, and that was the only way they could see. For me to concede for personal reasons, I took it as my right to appeal to the senate," said Browne.

Dave Stephennich, an election committee member, said the alleged request came during a meeting late Thursday night between Mouasher, Browne and vice presidential candidate Joanie Cahill in the student government offices.

"At 10 p.m., Pat came to the door and asked for Maher. He and Maher went to the back where the senate offices are. Later, Maher came back and reported to us what they offered as one of their own alternatives to rig the election," said Stephennich.

"He came back and said he didn't believe that Pat Browne would even suggest it," he said. Other OBUD officials in the room were Steve McConner, Tammy Randall and Tom Brennan, according to Stephennich.

Browne's running mate, confirmed that a meeting took place between the three.

"Basically, we were just talking about what we were going to do, what our options were," said Cahill.

"I really don't remember. I was kind of out of it. I was shocked or whatever, but I don't think he said what was put in the paper."

Ad hoc
continued from page 1

gave up the elections. But McDowell and David retrieved these ballots from the garbage dumpsters and plan to use the senate ballots in today's elections. "Without those ballots we'd be in very bad shape," said McDowell.

David said new student body president ballots were necessary because the OBUD ballots did not list the Browne-Cahill ticket.

OBUD is allowing the ad hoc committee to use its election boxes, padlocks and information bars in LaFortune, said David. The compiled lists of students the committee is using were also obtained through OBUD, she added.

David, who has worked for OBUD previously, said this year's election system is based on OBUD's. The hall judicial boards will run the elections in the dorms as they did in previous OBUD.

The major difference between the committee's system and OBUD's is that the committee does not have OBUD's "spying network," said David. OBUD has been keeping a close watch on the elections from the start of the campaigning, she said.

Despite their apparent lack of personnel, neither David nor McDowell doubts that the election will run smoothly and fairly. David cites several precautions - the requirement that students show their IDs to vote, a special pen with which judicial board members will mark the ballots, and padlocks on all the boxes - that the committee has taken to assure a fair election.

"Nobody knows our stuff, where we'll be checking on things," said McDowell. "They haven't had time to find out.

Running an election is something neither of them thought they'd be doing. "It's been quite an experience," said McDowell. "It's hard, there won't be any runoff.

The candidates for today's Student Senate elections are Chris Abood and K.M. Burke in District One; Colleen Gallagher and Dixon Steele in District Two; Tom Brownie and John Gray in District Three; Peter Blood, Michael Jaeger and Steven Taryartes in District Four and Jon Hagan and Tracy Bisson in District Five.

The tickets for student body president and vice president are Pat Browne and Joanie Cahill versus Bill Healy and Duane Lawrence.

Black Cultural Arts
Randall Robinson, the director of Transafrica, a lobbying group in Washington D.C. which has called for divestment from American corporations in South Africa, spoke last night in the Library Auditorium. Transafrica, which was founded in 1977, is working for legislative sanctions against the South African government. Robinson was arrested Nov. 21, 1984 for protesting in front of the South African embassy in Washington. He was released Nov. 21, 1984 for protesting in front of the African embassy in Washington. He spoke as part of the Black Cultural Arts Festival.
The political fever at Saint Mary's could give one hypothermia. For the third time in four years, only one ticket is running for the top student offices at the College. But that ticket - composed of Anne Marie Kollman, Julie Harmon and Jeanne Heller - offers much in terms of experience and potential. Kollman's leadership and organization as a vice president this year qualify her as a strong candidate for president. She successfully has proven her ability to see projects to their completion. Achievements include the low policy and the current effort to expand parking.

But it is her commitment to increase communication between students and their government which stands out as a truly worthy goal. The ticket stresses communication with students specifically through the media. And maintaining the position of public-relations commission chair reflects her efforts to involve students more in student government affairs. But a tradition runs deep at Saint Mary's which makes student government prone to stagnation. The tendency for tickets to run unopposed creates an unhealthy situation which offers students no choice and almost no forum in which to raise and debate campus issues. In addition, Kollman's ticket expressed its almost-too-friendly relationship with the administration and the td0 little concern for a sports program which does not consider the effects its philosophy has on varsity athletes and students.

Kollman has said that if many students express a concern on any particular issue, student government ought to aggressively protect student interests rather than merely react to problems that have already gone out of control. Initiative is what's needed.

In the final analysis, however, Kollman shows enough promise that Saint Mary's students optimistically can place trust in her leadership. Therefore, with some reservations, The Observer Editorial Board endorses the Kollman ticket with a 7-0 vote.

Frank Pimental

guest column

in the class of 1987 or 1988? Well, I have the perfect answer. You see, I happen to be one of the fortunate people spending my sophomore year abroad.

Let me ask you some more questions. Are you sick and tired of endless squabbles between Notre Dame's "arrogant" men and "exploited" women? Are you an Independent in a country of "holy than thou" Democrats and "Reagan is right" Republicans? Even if I am refreshing old news, but the last editions of The Observer were received from November. How would you feel about being in a country where the "Fighting Irish" are not a group of blackface-lolling, cigar-chewing, beer-drinking members of the Irish Republican Army? You sick and tired of endless squabbles between Notre Dame's student body president and vice president looked at each other and said: "I resign, but with my position as Elections Officer voluntarily and, therefore, that I have absolutely no inter­ est in future running as a vice presidential candidate in favor. I just feel that the time has come for a new direction for student government at Notre Dame currently studying in Ireland.

The learning experience in Ireland

Are you tired and bored with life at Notre Dame? If you happen to be a junior, then help is obviously on its way. If you are a junior, then senior year must seem like a beacon of light. So what do you do if you happen to be trapped in a Munich beer hall with a real "Eve". You would have a hard time finding me in a public place.

Frank Pimental

You're an Irish Catholic college student? I am too. I have just returned from three weeks of hitchhiking around Europe over the holidays, an experience which I would not trade for any three weeks I could have spent at home. Let me tell you, spending New Year's Eve in a Scottish beer hall with a real pub-pub band providing the atmosphere beats any party I have ever been to. Oh, I forgot, parrying is forbidden. Knowing that we have to return next year is quite a sobering thought.

About the academics - since administrative eyes may be reading this, I recommend you confer with someone who has been overseas. As I know, however, education is more than books. Strangely enough, I have learned more about my own country since arriving here than I would have ever listened huddled back in the United States of America. You see, we Americans oftentimes take our country for granted. At this time last year I had very little notion of what a sandista was, nor really cared.

The first ticket violated in this race was the Browne/Cahill ticket in the form of an illegal endorsement in the Stanford Mansion minutes on Jan 25. A first warning was issued, and when the same thing was repeated a penalty was imposed. Due to the indirect nature of the violation, the minimum penalty was imposed and then downgraded to $50 to $10. I thought that after this penalty the utmost care would be taken to make sure that it would not happen again. I was mistaken, however, and even though all other checks on the other ticket and the senate candidates revealed no violations, checks on the Browne/Cahill ticket kept turning up a steady stream of them. The assigned person to campaigning both for and against the "Fighting Irish" has been accused of "protecting their integrity." Since they refused to resign, the committee's unanimous decision was to forfeit their candidate and to lose the ticket.

In a private meeting with both Browne and Cahill, Browne asked me to rigged the election so that they could remain in the running yet lose, and that the Browne/Cahill ticket could cheat and pull it off.

My closing point is that even Richard Nixon was resigned when he was Burke's law, he was not the most moral person. I am not trying to point out support for either ticket, but shouldn't someone else who seem concerned about "integrity" also resign?

Frank Pimental is a sophomore at Notre Dame.
Dear Editor:

Could Keenan Hall's Revue Party be seen as evidence that the new alcohol policy is working? I believe the answer to this question must be a resounding "yes." For Saturday night and early Sunday morning, the corridors and basement of Keenan were filled with the glistening, glimmering visage of the alcohol policy. There were no horror stories whatsoever. Father Garrick, the R.A., and the residents of Keenan showed respect for the alcohol policy following the regulations laid out by Administrator John Goldrick.

More importantly, though, they followed the original "intent" of the alcohol policy established last year: the responsible use of alcohol on campus. While some students stopped attending Mass after the implementation of this group, they nevertheless grew in their commitment to Christ.

I can understand forbidding culls and non-Christian groups from meeting on campus, but groups like Campus Crusade for Christ and Campus Bible Fellowship have a reputation at other universities of being healthy and faithful to orthodox Christianity. Pete Holland Notre Dame graduate

Are Notre Dame students unforgivable?

Dear Editor:

Once again, I am chafed - not with the Notre Dame student body or community but with myself. How can I live with myself if I am unforgivable? The things I have done - I am not fit to wear the vaunted N.D. on my chest or even fake the words to the alma mater.

It has taken more than a week of soul-searching to be able to say this, but I boozed at the DePaul game. And boozed badly. That is one of the seven deadly boos. But that is not all. I also threw a snowball. It may not have broken a window, but it may have caused a student to slip and fall on ice into no less.

This unfortunate scene was probably on his way back from the Grotto or the Crypt. Or perhaps he was just starting at the dusk - that glistening, glimmering visage of Our Lady, perfect in every respect, save for the sinning soul in the foreground. Because I throw like a girl - oh, there I go again, I am such a chauvinist. By now you have probably guessed that I am scumbag so I might as well tell all.

I left an empty can of soda in the library pit last week. I also seem to remember dropping a gum wrapper outside between Sean and Walsh, but I cannot be sure because it is the kind of ugly incident I try to block out of my mind. Knowing me, I also probably spit out the gum while it still had some good juice in it, not that anyone else ever needed that gum. I left my tray on the table in the dining hall once. What is worse is that there was a glass of milk and some Cap'n Crunch cereal on it. And we worked so hard to make Keenan glisten.

I have two Rockne towels, leave the lights on in classrooms, walk across the grass, tell jokes about Howard (even though football is the one with the picture of the coach whom I boozed after I had drunk too much at the rain delay in football games. That's right. The alcohol policy, the weather and the football team's record are all my fault.

Oh, yeah, I still owe the student government eight cents for the damage to the boxes after the Pet game in 1980. It is probably up to a dime after that UCLA debacle the other night.

I also bought a Women of Notre Dame Calendar, but I hid it under my bed so my mother would not be appalled. Mothers cannot handle looking as scantily-clad, sexually-exploited women. I can - she wonders where she went wrong with me. How can I do such things? How do I look at myself in the mirror (which, by the way, I ripped off)?

Someday I will see the error of my ways. Then again, probably not. My kind is so unforgivable.

Dean Sullivan Dillon Hall

Healy's action seems politically motivated

Dear Editor:

The day after the student government campaign officially started, a letter describing a series of charity activities aimed at raising money for a Multiple Sclerosis fund was distributed to students by Bill Healy, acting as M.S. Commissioner for the student government Cabinet.

As far as I can remember, this is the first time I have received any distributions from Healy, even though he has been with the student government since April 1984. One would think that since Healy is a candidate for Student Body President, he might be too busy running for office and distributing campaign literature to take up correspondence with his present constituents for the first time in his ten-month tenure as student government Cabinet member.

While Bill Healy would like himself to come across as concerned about the needs of the Multiple Sclerosis fund which he claims to represent, it seems that he appears to be more interested in distributing his name as widely as possible in the week before his presidential election.

John A. Wachter Dillon Hall

Immunity reinforces administration's view

Dear Editor:

When the alcohol and attendant social policies were announced, hundreds of students protested the loss of privileges. When the subject of direct student representation on the Board of Trustees came up, many students voiced support for the idea. When changes in core courses were debated, less than ten percent of the students solicited by their representative on the Academic Council bothered to reply.

Well, personally, this is one Christian who does not handle looking at scantily-clad, dirty, grit-covered people as Goetz; at that time Griffin's problems, I was left rather bewildered. Aside from his immature whining over the world's problems, I was amazed that a Catholic priest lacked both the insight and the intelligence to condemn relativism. He states that "Christians with faith in certain institutions believe that the law will come to their aid. Bernard Goetz is their folk hero in living proof of the benefits of the right to bear arms."

Firstly, this is one Christian who does not hold Goetz as a hero. When society falls under the control (or lack thereof) of such people, as it was at that time Griffin's whining will be justified.

It is ironic that Griffin complains about the ill of the world while implying that the clean-up should be done by the trigger-happy citizens. Vigilantism is simply a form of ethical relativism, which the Church has historically condemned as being destructive to the individual and to society.

Father Griffin, are you indeed Christian? Do you, after all, have the intelligence to condemn vigilantism and choose not to? In the future I will be careful not to ask you for money while carrying a screwdriver in my pocket for fear that you will try to make yourself a folk hero, simultaneously proving the benefits of the right to bear arms.

Chuck Berets Morrissey Hall

The Observer

Tuesday, February 12, 1985 — page 7

P.O. Box Q
Notre Dame, IN 46556
(219) 239-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration or institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief ... Bob Vonderheide
Managing Editor ... Mark Worschah
News Editor ... Dan McCullough
Sports Editor ... Michael Sullivan
Features Editor ... Dave Groe
Photo Editor ... Pete Lachas

Department Managers

Business Manager ... Dave Taelert
Controller ... Dave Stephenitch
Circulation Manager ... Jeff O'Neill
Systems Manager ... Mark B. Johnson
Production Manager ... Chris Bowler
Project Manager ... Amy Stephan

Founded November 3, 1966
Abiogenesis: A collective of spo

Lucy Kaufman
features staff writer

Abiogenesis: Webster defines it as "the supposed spontaneous origination of living organisms directly from lifeless matter." Abiogenesis: Patricia Romano describes it as "a modern recreation of life through dance."

Romano, a sophomore at Saint Mary's, is the newly appointed director of the Abiogenesis/Motion Dance Company. The company was a project started by Angela Adams, a Notre Dame graduate student. Originally, it was a dance company with emphasis solely in modern dance. Romano has expanded the company to include jazz, ballet, tap, and many other dance forms.

Motion is comprised of 17 Notre Dame and Saint Mary's dancers, three apprentices, and two student directors. Romano and Cathy Schafer, a member of the dance company, assists in the ballet portion of the company.

Sunday was the first official meeting of the company members. Throughout the semester, they will meet as a group every two weeks in the Regina basement studio at Saint Mary's. The remainder of time will be spent working individually with instructors or attending Abiogenesis dance classes held in the Regina studio. Abiogenesis dance classes are open to everyone, not only company members. There is a membership fee of $15 which serves as revenue for the company. Offered this semester is jazz on Wednesday at 7:30 pm, ballet on Thursday at 7:30 pm, and Wednesday at 8:30 pm there is a potpourri class which incorporates tap, Spanish techniques, and many other styles.

A membership entitles the holder to attend any or all of the classes, and any of the company's performances at no extra charge. Also included is the opportunity to attend master's classes taught by prominent dance figures in the South Bend/Chicago area. Scheduled to teach one of these classes is Kent Matlock of Chicago's Joseph Holmes Dance Company.

Auditions for the Motion Company were held on Jan. 27. The next auditions will be held next fall. However, a few more male dancers are needed to round out the group. Call Patricia Romano at 284-420; if interested.

Upcoming performances include their March 8 debut in the Chameleon Club Coffee House at Saint Mary's at 5:30 pm. Romano also plans to schedule performances in the South Bend area, including a performance at the White Water Concert in the Century Center, South Bend.

The dancers plan to make a music video to help publicize the company. Also planned for the future is a children's ballet to be performed at the Early Childhood Development Center and possibly at several nursery schools in the South Bend community.

"Also, we hope to reserve the Chataqua ballroom for a couple of weekends in March and May for our more formal performances," Romano added.
A rude awakening

Marc Ramirez
Strange days indeed

I"m not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

If of course follows that if I am woken up any time before 10 a.m., I usually am of the persuasion which lends itself to grocking, kicking, and severe blows to the head. In short, I am not a "morning person."

So there I was in my third consecutive hour of Rapid Eye Movement, all cozy and snug in my beautiful brass daybed, when suddenly I was yanked out of sleep by a thunderous knock at the door.

My eyelids refused to budge even the tiniest time. "Go away," I mumbled.

But this boor kept on knocking. "Open the door," a voice said, a voice so innocent it could only belong to someone willing to go to the trouble of student government better for all of us. "C'mon, this is important."

"Okay, okay, come in," I grumbled, quite reluctantly.

Whoever it was honored my request this time, but company or not, I was determined to get back to sleep. I declined the gesture of rolling over ever so slightly. The daylight was destroying the already and besides, Stranger Danger would probably disclose his identity soon anyway.

"Look, Marc, I'm not going to beat around the bush. I want to run for student body president, and I want you to be my running mate. I think we'd make a great ticket, you and I. I've circled out the perfect platform: we'll just combine the other two. You can be so efficient and I can interact socially, and we'll be elected in no time."

"Now hold on a minute," I said from under my pillow. "Who are you?"

"That's not important," he said. "It doesn't matter who I am. I mean, who we're looking for. Right now, all we gotta do is round up 50 signatures on a petition and turn it in to someone or other."

"Something was definitely wrong here. I may not be Gary Willis, but I know there's a few rules concerning such late entry into elections. On top of that, there's no intention of filing this to the state, not on three hours of sleep. That's against the rules, isn't it?"

"Okay, rules, shumtes," he said. "There are no rules. Haven't you heard? I know you've been hiding under a rock these last few months."

"So listen, this is what we do, okay? I've got it all planned out. You don't have to do a thing. Just run. We'll just pick up about 7,000 posters and send one to every student on campus. By tomorrow, everyone will know us."

"I really wanted way down deep to go back to sleep, but this was starting to catch my interest here. Anything with no rules couldn't be all that bad."

"This thing, ah, 7,000 posters. I'll tell you, wouldn't that cost quite a bit of money? How are we going to afford that?"

"So we can go a little over budget," he mocked. "So what? People do it all the time, and that's what matters."

"And we only have to report what we use originally. So tonight we'll put up about a thousand. Two nights from now, right? Then tomorrow we'll hit the entire city of South Bend with maybe 10,000 more. I want to win this thing."

"But why are you cheating?"

"Well, look, all we gotta do if we get caught is appeal to the student senate, and we're fine, no problem. I've got friends up there. Thank God Obad doesn't have the last word like it was supposed to."

Actually, I was beginning to wonder if really liked the sound of this. I mean, I was going to be lowdown and dirty when it comes to playing Chinese checkers, but this was a little different. "Look," I said, "I don't know anything about student government. And not only that, but I'm a senior. I won't be here next year."

"Details, details," he said. "Don't worry about all that stuff. Seriously. The student senate will let us do anything. Trust me."

"Well, that was it. He had blowed it. Anybody says "trust me" has got to be a loser. "Get out of my room," I said.

"What?" he said, a shocked ftr\r

"You heard me, get out," I repeated in my best authoritative voice.

"Oh, you think this is just a joke, right? he asked, and from beneath my pillow it sounded like he was leaving. "Well, it's not. I'll be back later when you're in a better mood. Think about it and see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.

"I'm not among my habits to greet the morning sun with a smile, especially because if I do see the morning sun, it's because I've been up all night, and besides, the sun isn't demenaged enough to show its face around this time of year.
The Observer

The Saint Mary's basketball team will play host to Valparaiso today at 7 p.m. in the Angela Athletic Facility. Admission is free. - The Observer

Jack Nolan, WNDU sportscaster, will be the guest on "Sports Briefs." Nolan will be heard every Tuesday during the season. Nolan will talk to Jack and cohosts Chuck Frey and Kevin Herbert by calling 239-6400. - The Observer

The Notre Dame Squash Club will play host to their regional squash tournament this weekend at the ACC. Two winners will receive an expense-paid trip to Chicago in April. All non-Division I, II, and III players, faculty and staff are invited to sign up today. - The Observer

An interhall wrestling tournament is being held by OLA. The deadline for submission is tomorrow; for more information, contact the OLA office at 239-6100. - The Observer

The NVA racquetball and squash singles tournaments have been completed. Robert Anderson and Murray Liebrandt won the squash championship and Bill Eison beat Mark Harris for the racquetball crown. - The Observer

Sports Briefs

An indoor soccer tournament is being held by NVA, beginning Monday, Feb. 18. The deadline for submitting names and information is Wednesday, Feb. 20. For more information, see the OLA office at 239-6100. - The Observer

The SMC varsity baseball team will be holding tryouts beginning Tuesday, Feb. 19 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Anyone who is interested may contact the reservation desk at the Angela Athletic Facility for other scheduled practices. - The Observer

Knee injuries from sports will be discussed by Dr. Leslie M. Redmon, senior consultant of the Notre Dame sports medicine program, on Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 7 p.m. in the football auditorium in the ACC. Admission to the lecture is free. - The Observer

An interhall swimming meet is being held by NVA, Tuesday, Feb. 19. Victors must submit a list of entries and divers must provide a list of dives to Dennis Stark by Monday, Feb. 18 at noon. For more information, contact Coach Stark at 239-5222. - The Observer

A racquetball tournament is being held by NVA for all members of the student body, faculty and staff. There will be three divisions; one for intermediate players, one for advanced players and one for mixed doubles teams. The deadline for entries is Wednesday, Feb. 20. For more information, call the OLA office at 239-6100. - The Observer

Classifieds

NOTICES

TYING CALL CHRI 233-4891

WANTED: 3 BEDROOM HOUSE (NEAR HARRISON STREET) FOR ME THROUGH THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. CALL ME AT 1-800-723-1437 EXT. 2718.

TYING AVAILABLE 219-4031

JACK JACOBS

TYING-WED. PANCAKIES - TANTI PAPERS, RESORT EATING AVAILABLE CALL ADMIN. 9-11 p.m. 230-306.

NEED TYING, CALL KOLMAN 271-5939, PAPER AND DELIVERY.

START YOUR CAREER:

Earn money and work for Fortune 50 companies marketing programs on your college campus. Get the piece rate for your campus. Call 1-800-538-9739

EXPEDIT TYING SERVICE CALL MRS. CONER 339-7088

LOST/FOUND

LITTLE GREEN SWEATER IN CUSHING, PHARRY, OR NEAR CAMPUS AT 7:00INO NIGHTS ASKED.

LOST: A NICE LUGGAGE JACKET IS STILL AT LARGE, REWARD FOR ANY INFORMATION. CONTACT INTER-HALL SECURITY.

LOST AND FOUND, EATING FRIDAY NIGHT, COULD BE ANIMALS, IF YOU FIND PLEASE CALL 239-2200.

CONFUSED: Aثمان ON WHITE INTERNATIONAL IN THE OSAF OBSERVER INC. OFFICE. CALL CLAIR M. 7-12:00 P.M.

MISSING: My PATAGONIA jacket in the only warm winter and very much liked. Look seen near St. Mary's Cold Cafe and near Living Center. Whoever found, please return.

FOR SALE

DID YOU REALLY NEED MY PHYSICS BOOK SO BADLY? IT'S GOING TO BE LOST! IT'S BEEN LOST IN THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY, IT'S GOING TO BE LOST! IF YOU FIND IT, PLEASE RETURN IT TO THE LIBRARY, BUT THEN, PLEASE RETURN IT TO ME AS IT IS IMPORTANT TO ME. THIS IS ANOHTHER PAPER THAT I BEAT YOUR TEAM, IF NOT, I WILL BE LOST IN THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY, IF NOT, I WILL BE LOST IN YOUR TEAM.

PORTFOLIO - 1.5 MILLION IN ROLLING STONE. FOR SALE FOR ME. FOR ME. FOR ME.

DARK ROOM QUIZ: $100.00. TO BE HELD SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 6:30 PM. $200.00 Gets 5 YEAR SUB.

HOT DOG STAND FOR SALE CALL 231-1389.

PERSONALS

PREGNANT? NEED HELP? CALL 239-3520. (You have two homes phone numbers available. WOMEN'S CARE CENTER)

PRESIDENTIAL DECISIONS 1984

DARK ROOM: COLD BEER & LIQUOR CARRY OUT TIL 3 A.M. U.S. 31 N.

BEST TIMES FOR WATER DAYTONA BEACH WHEN SPRING BREAK STARTS, SAND, BATH GAMES, Kis DO IT! CALL 239-6509 OR STOP BY THE OBSERV ATE OFFICE ON 1 FLOOR. LAFTOP, WIRE 5-6184

PERSONAL ADS

FOR RENT

DARK ROOM QUIZ: $100.00. TO BE HELD SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 6:30 PM. $200.00 Gets 5 YEAR SUB.

FOR RENT

Two student to share hotel room and join room-mate (female students only). $350, 295-379-2744.

DARK ROOM QUIZ: $100.00. TO BE HELD SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 6:30 PM. $200.00 Gets 5 YEAR SUB.

SPRING BREAK鋅 dumps all. It's me. This is a pa...
B.P., P.E., lead league in interhall basketball

By MICHAEL FLANNERY
Sports Writer

With two weeks left in the regular season, two questions loom in the minds of players and coaches in the women's interhall basketball league. Question number one: Can anyone beat Bresn-Phillips A team? Question number two: If Regina Richards is healthy, can anyone beat P-E? The answer to the first question is "I doubt it." B.A. is on a roll; it has 7 wins going into Thursday's clash with Farley A. As Gretzky, coach of Pasquerilla East, stated what must be a league consensus: "B.P. A is tough...very, very tough." Farley B boasted to B.P. A on Sunday. Captain Kathy McCarthy says the rest won't affect B.P. A. A week shouldn't hurt us," she said. "At this point in the season, we've got our game down." The answer to the second question isn't so easy. A good one might be: "Yes, but only because B.P. A is around." With Regina Richter, P.E. was 4-1, and its only loss was to B.P. Without Richter, P.E. lost to Walsh 29-27.

Oliva makes no bones about the loss: "I think we're at least ten points better than Walsh with Reggie Rich­ter," she said. Richter scored twenty points against Pasquerilla West after recovering from the illness which forced her out of the Walsh game. P.E. plays Lyons on Thursday. Team mates hope to have Richter in bed by 9:00 p.m. Wednesday. Walsh continues to surprise everyone but itself. The only blemish on its 5-1 record is a loss to B.P. in its last victory over Lewis B. Laura Gleason scored ten points, enough to earn player-of-the-game honors and praise from her teammate, Laurie Hellert. "Laura has an amazing turn-around jump shot - she can kill you in the middle," said Hellert. "And she never misses a free throw." Walsh will need Gleason and more down the stretch if it hopes to keep its Cinderella season from turning into a pumpkin. It plays Lewis A on Thursday. Farley A wants to derail the B.P. express on Thursday. M-5-1, it could move into a virtual tie for first place with a victory. Farley's first plan is to sum this game into a Valentine's Day man­sacre. It is to bomb from the outside. Kara England, Mary Borkowski, and Marla Almeida will do the devastat­ing work, and it will roll over the big guns inside, Tracy Booker and Janet Shander. All of this will be accompanied by a mine field of defenses, including three different zone defenses.

Is Farley A worried about B.P.A.'s full-court, man-to-man pressure? "Not according to Borkowski, "I'd love to play against man-to-man," she says. "You can't send anyone passes and pick away, and take as many lay-ups as we can get." Farley A has an outside shot at the playoffs, but it must knock off P.E. on Thursday, then win the rest of its games. The rest of the league is now cast in the role of spoilers. If these teams, Baldwin could be the big­gest factor, having won two straight. The teams have left B.P. and Far­ley.

The standings as of February 11:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>B.P. A</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>Healthy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Farley A</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>Healthy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis A</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>Healthy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis B</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>Healthy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Walsh</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>Healthy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Oliva thinks the National Hockey League's No. 1 center will retain his cool on the ice against the Prince of Wales Conference's top unit of right wing Mike Bossy, center Brent Sutter and left wing John Tonelli. Those three form the ice against the New York Islanders, who beat the Oilers in the 1983 finals and lost to them in 1984. "This would be interesting and not surprising," said Tonelli. "Gretzky is the premier player and I've had the chance to play with him (at the Canada Cup) and appreciate the things he does." Bossy, who is appearing in his sixth All-Star Game - as is Gretzky - was named a "wild card". If Sather opts for that strategy, he will have all-Oilers No. 1 line on the ice against the Prince of Wales Conference's top unit of right wing Mike Bossy, center Brent Sutter and left wing John Tonelli. Those three form the ice against the New York Islanders, who beat the Oilers in the 1983 finals and lost to them in 1984. "This would be interesting and not surprising," said Tonelli. "Gretzky is the premier player and I've had the chance to play with him (at the Canada Cup) and appreciate the things he does." Bossy, who is appearing in his sixth All-Star Game - as is Gretzky - was named a "wild card". If Sather opts for that strategy, he will have all-Oilers No. 1 line on the ice against the Prince of Wales Conference's top unit of right wing Mike Bossy, center Brent Sutter and left wing John Tonelli. Those three form the ice against the New York Islanders, who beat the Oilers in the 1983 finals and lost to them in 1984. "This would be interesting and not surprising," said Tonelli. "Gretzky is the premier player and I've had the chance to play with him (at the Canada Cup) and appreciate the things he does."

Although Wayne Gretzky seems to have lost his head in this game, he will retain his cool on the ice during tonight's NHL All-Star game.
Men’s swim team wins three meets in Indianapolis; record now at 7-4

By KEVIN HERBERT
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men’s swim team is picking up steam as it heads to next weekend’s Big East Universities Conference meet this weekend.

The team’s engine is being fueled by four victorious weekends. Three of these wins coming in a four-team meet this past weekend in Indianapolis at the site of many world-class swimming events, the Indiana University Natatorium.

Notre Dame won the meet with 960 points. Vincennes was the nearest challenger with 77 points followed by Saint Louis and Xavier with 18 and 11 points respectively.

The meet was also scored as a trinomial event between the four schools, so the Irish were credited with three wins.

The key to Notre Dame’s success was summed up by the men’s head swimming coach Dennis Stark: “We got off to a real quick start that gave us a psychological advantage for the rest of the meet.”

“Another key factor in our victories this past weekend was the vast improvement in our times,” the veteran swim coach continued.

The quick start that Stark is referring to occurred in the first event of the meet, the 400-meter medley relay. The team recorded its fastest time of the year in the event (3:40.89) en route to a first-place medley relay finish.

The trend continued as no less than nine other swimmers proceeded to mark their fastest times of the season in various events. In the second event of the meet, the 1000-meter freestyle, Steve Cof fey and Dave Newman teamed up to record a second and fourth-place finish for the Irish, respectively. In the process, Coffey recorded his fastest time of the year, 10:50.98.

The records continued to fall in the 200-meter free as John Coffey set his fastest pace of the year en route to a second-place finish. His teammate, Dave Newman, trailed Coffey by less than a second in finishing third.

John Konicki continued the Irish rampage by setting his fastest time of the year in the 50-meter free on his way to taking first place in the event. He also broke the 22 second barrier in the race, with a time of 21.90.

Chris Green continued Notre Dame’s winning ways by recording a first-place finish in the 200-meter individual medley. In the process, Green posted his fastest time of the year, 2:03.54.

Brian Casey lead the field in the 200-meter fly, and posted his fastest time of the year on his way to a full seven-second victory.

Other swimmers who recorded their fastest times of the year were Jeff Grace placing second in the 100-meter free, Brian Casey finishing second in the 200-meter breaststroke and Mark Jensen in the 50-meter free.

The three wins this past weekend gives Notre Dame a six-meet winning streak and a 7-4 overall record heading into the conference meet.

Women’s swim team ends regular season, prepares for NSC title meet

By DAVE WILSON
Sports Writer

In final preparation for this weekend’s conference championships, the Notre Dame women’s swim team closed out the regular season in a victory over Vincennes, Saint Louis and Xavier in last Friday night’s triple dual competition in Indianapolis.

The Irish completed the season with a 7-1 overall record, including wins in the last ten meets.

“We were a little tight and the girls really performed well,” said head coach Dennis Stark. “We have some good momentum now as we head into the conference meet this weekend.”

Beginning with the 400-yard relay and sponsored by the Associated Press, Notre Dame’s relay team member who was sick, Notre Dame lost the event by just two seconds with a time of 4:18.97.

The Irish posted high marks in the next three events however, and after five races, Vincennes led by just three points, 31-28.

The one-meter diving competition proved to be the turning point of the meet for the Irish, as Andrea Bonny posted her first of two victories and gave the team a 2nd place finish at 37.35. Bonny and co-driver Colleen Ambrose later placed first and second respectively, in the three-meter diving event.

“We missed having Suzanne (DeVine),” said Stark, “but she wasn’t feeling up to par, and I’d rather have her well for next weekend.”

“Any Darlington and Barbara Byrne swim consistently and I’m very happy to see Andrea (Bonny) coming along so well.”

Darlington placed first in the 200 yard freestyle early in the meet with a personal best of 1:56.76. The then went on to place second in the 100-yard freestyle (54.50) and finally, along with Karen Kramer, Julie Boss, and Byrne, took first in the 400-yard freestyle relay, with a time of 3:48.08.

Byrne also posted a victory in the 200-yard backstroke (2:19.16), and helped the 400-meter medley relay team place second earlier in the meet.

Victories for the Irish included a personal best 25.66 in the 50-yard freestyle for Boss and co-captain Venette Cochihio’s 2:33.38 in the 200-yard breast stroke. The team missed the meet with a point total of 93, while Vincennes took second with 60 points, and Saint Louis took third with 51 points.

Notre Dame will leave tomorrow for the conference championships in St. Louis. The three-day event will include teams from St. Louis, Xavier, Evansville, Valparaiso, and Loyola-Chicago. The Irish are defending conference champions.

“I think Evansville will be our biggest challenge,” said Stark, “I also think we are peaking at just the right time in the season. This meet will be our most difficult and I think Evansville will be our biggest challenge.”

John Konicki continued the Irish rampage by setting his fastest time of the year in the 50-meter free on his way to taking first place in the event. He also broke the 22 second barrier in the race, with a time of 21.90.

Chris Green continued Notre Dame’s winning ways by recording a first-place finish in the 200-meter individual medley. In the process, Green posted his fastest time of the year, 2:03.54.

Brian Casey lead the field in the 200-meter fly, and posted his fastest time of the year on his way to a full seven-second victory.

Other swimmers who recorded their fastest times of the year were Jeff Grace placing second in the 100-meter free, Brian Casey finishing second in the 200-meter breaststroke and Mark Jensen in the 50-meter free.

The three wins this past weekend gives Notre Dame a six-meet winning streak and a 7-4 overall record heading into the conference meet.

St. John’s still No. 1, Hoyas second

Associated Press

St. John’s and Georgetown remained No. 1 and 2, respectively, in The Associated Press college basketball poll yesterday, while the rest of the Top Twenty swapped places.

After a week of the season, the real fight was for No. 3, which Michigan became the top challenger to the two Big East powers.

St. John’s received 63 of 64 first-place votes and 1,279 points from the nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Redmen are currently on the nation’s longest Division I winning streak – 14 games – and they set a Big East Conference record with Saturday’s 79-68 decision over Villanova, 11 consecutive league victories.

Georgetown, which received the other first-place vote, was named second on every other ballot to finish with 1,217 points.

Although 22 teams were selected, 65 votes were submitted and only 32 of the 32 ballots submitted were used.

The AP Top Twenty college basketball team selected by The Associated Press and voted on by college basketball writers and broadcasters. The formula used to determine the AP Top Twenty team is as follows:

1. 20 votes = 20 points
2. 19 votes = 19 points
3. 18 votes = 18 points
4. 17 votes = 17 points
5. 16 votes = 16 points
6. 15 votes = 15 points
7. 14 votes = 14 points
8. 13 votes = 13 points
9. 12 votes = 12 points
10. 11 votes = 11 points
11. 10 votes = 10 points
12. 9 votes = 9 points
13. 8 votes = 8 points
14. 7 votes = 7 points
15. 6 votes = 6 points
16. 5 votes = 5 points
17. 4 votes = 4 points
18. 3 votes = 3 points
19. 2 votes = 2 points
20. 1 vote = 1 point

Free Delivery to N & SMC 232-3354

We also wire flowers worldwide

(members of FTD and Teleflora)

Remember Your Valentine
With Flowers From Wygant

Wygant Floral CO. Inc.

Meet your executives and enjoy refreshments. Tell us about your career goals and hear about the exciting Executive Development Program at Lord & Taylor, America’s leading fashion specialty store. Even if you have not previously thought of retailing as a career, you may want to know about the many interesting opportunities at Lord & Taylor. If you have proven abilities and a record of achievement, and look forward to the challenge of managing a profitable business, Lord & Taylor looks forward to meeting you.

9:30 to 10:30 A.M. in the Alumni Room on Wednesday, February 18th.
By BRIAN MACKINORY
Sports Writer

Although much of the talk surrounding the Notre Dame wrestling team has been of the undertakings they still need the guidance and leadership that can only be provided by a senior.

As the only three-time monogram winner on the squad, captain Phil Baty is the senior younger Irish wrestlers look to when they need help not only with wrestling technique but for also for motivation.

Unfortunately, Baty’s season has not been as successful as his previous three when he compiled a 90-21-1 mark in the 177 pound weight class. He appears to be a victim of a program that was experiencing a decline over the past few years until it was rejuvenated by the hiring of new head coach Fran McCann.

I think things would have been a lot different for me if coach McCann had been here since I was a freshman,” says Baty, emphasizing the words “a lot.”

Seeing the team develop this year under McCann has been enjoyable despite his own difficulties. His new coach has instilled a pride and excitement into the entire team and even though the emphasis is on the future of Notre Dame wrestling, Baty is glad to be part of the beginning of a quality program.

“I’m real optimistic about Notre Dame wrestling again,” says Baty.

As captain of the young team, Baty understands the responsibility he has in encouraging an attitude in the underclassmen which will foster the success that appears to be just around the corner.

“I try to help them out when they getting down,” says Baty. “And they’re not always used to what wrestling is like on the college level.”

As interested in preparing for medical school as he was in wrestling on the collegiate level. Both of these goals have been reached by the Cedar Springs, Michigan native. Baty will finish his wrestling career as Notre Dame’s all-time leader in wins and will attend medical school next fall.

Baty promises to keep an eye on the team after he graduates.

Next year the team wrestlers at Michigan and I should be living within 15 minutes of the University of Michigan so I’m sure I’ll be there to see everyone’s doing,” says Baty. “I’ll always be interested in wrestling. You can’t just drop something you’ve been doing for ten years.

Looking back on his four year career as a Notre Dame wrestler, Baty says what he will remember most is not the matches and the trophies.

“The thing that I’ll remember most is the people I’ve worked with. Donny Heinseman and I have been together for four years,” says Baty.

“They are not just good wrestlers but good people. I’ll remember them more than I’ll remember the wins and losses.”

Architectural Majors Have Designs on Domino’s Pizza

Two Free Cokes

ARCHITECTURE
MAJORS
HAVE DESIGNS
ON DOMINO’S PIZZA.

277-2151

Get two free Cokes™ with the purchase of any one large pizza.

Two Free Cokes™ with order of any large pizza.

Fast, Free Delivery
Plaza 22 Center Plaza East 2310A South Bend Ave
South Bend 227-2151
Good for up to 4 large pizzas.

Dine-in available.

The Observer File Photo

ND falls to Illinois St., Faces hoosiers tonight

By JOE BRUNETTI
Sports Writer

If you’re Fran McCann right now you have to be disappointed. His Irish wrestling squad dropped their second straight dual meet loss this past weekend to the 18th-ranked Redbirds of Illinois State. McCann’s squad put in one of their best weeks of practice and then came out flat against the Redbirds.

“We’re not in a good attitude. It wasn’t a very good effort. It was the low point of the season. I’m not going to make excuses. We didn’t perform up to our ability,” said McCann.

After being idle the weekend of Feb. 2 because of a cancelled meet against Western Illinois, McCann’s squad put in one of their best weeks of practice and then came out flat against the Redbirds. “We had a great week at practice,” said a disappointed McCann. “Then, we went into the meet and looked at like we hadn’t worked out at all.”

McCann knew going into the meet that his squad would not seem so strong. “They’re not in the right state of mind. When they’re out there they don’t believe in themselves, they don’t think they can win,” McCann said.

The whole key is that you have to want to win. I know they don’t believe in themselves they don’t think they can win,” McCann said.

Within the first two weeks of the season stands at 24-7-1. McCann knows this, and he has already started a program that involves his wrestlers to work during the off season as well as the pre

We don’t have that You don’t want to throw the kids to the dogs right away,” he continues. “If we get an offer from one of the top 20 schedule, which is necessary for us getting to attract the top-quality athlete.”

Another thing Notre Dame wrestling has lacked in the past is a year-round program, something present in the past in other programs. McCann knows this, and he has already started a program that involves his wrestlers working out during the off season as well as the pre

This year-round program is where Averedo will have a big impact. The ex-Olympic team member is a freestyle wrestling expert, something that McCann will use to attract wrestlers to Notre Dame.

“Some of these kids want to wrestle internationally,” he continues. “We have to offer that. Our recruits are concerned about that.”

McCann has already taken steps by scheduling a freestyle dual meet with the Japanese National Team here on April 4.

A coach may have the recruits, the schedule and the year-round program, but without the backing of the administration and the athletic department, he’ll be fighting an uphill battle that he is destined to lose.

“If the school supports him (McCann),” comments Joe Seay, wrestling coach of the second-ranked Oklahoma State Cowboys, “then it is very possible for Fran to do it. They need the financial support of the school to be big in the recruiting.”

Luckily for McCann, for the first time the University and the athletic department are providing the financial backing and support necessary to build a wrestling program.

With everything going for McCann, Averedo, and Notre Dame wrestling, it seems that Notre Dame’s wrestling future looks very bright indeed. Without a staff like McCann and Averedo the future of the program would not seem so secure, but with this determined duo it seems a top 20, no top 10 national ranking, is almost a sure thing.

After your last exam, what tough questions will you still be facing?

We don’t have your answers.

But we’ll learn to answer them when some of our own ask about what you want to be when we want to journey. For anyone who has considered the path of priesthood, the Holy Cross Regional One-Year-Candidate Program provides an opportunity to ask and explore the possibilities in coming.

Averedo, McCann offer to help in one-year program.

We don’t have your answers.

But we’ll learn to answer them when some of our own ask about what you want to be when we want to journey. For anyone who has considered the path of priesthood, the Holy Cross Regional One-Year-Candidate Program provides an opportunity to ask and explore the possibilities in coming.

Averedo, McCann offer to help in one-year program.

We don’t have your answers.

But we’ll learn to answer them when some of our own ask about what you want to be when we want to journey. For anyone who has considered the path of priesthood, the Holy Cross Regional One-Year-Candidate Program provides an opportunity to ask and explore the possibilities in coming.

Averedo, McCann offer to help in one-year program.
Faust expects to sign 17 high school seniors to national letters of intent

By THERON ROBERTS
Sportswriter

The last time that the Notre Dame football team was the hot topic on campus was around Christmas time. The Irish were playing in the NCAA National Championship game in Miami, with the weather of Hawaii and the much debated Aloha Bowl trip.

Tomorrow is another day that college football will be the news even though no games are being played. It is the first day that colleges can sign seniors to national letters of intent.

The coaching staff has spent much of the last month and a half on the road, recruiting the best high school athletes in the country.

Even though Head Coach Gerry Faust and his staff have enjoyed probably the best four years of recruiting in college football, the fact that his teams have compiled only a 25-20-1 record during that time and have been unable to win a national title is a fact that he is hoping to correct.

Faust has verbal commitments from 17 players of as of last weekend. The 17 players are more than the coaches know raw numbers are needed. The Irish have 90 scholarships to work with, after using only 19 last year.

Faust has verbal commitments from 17 players of as of last weekend. The Irish have 90 scholarships to work with, after using only 19 last year.

Faust and his staff have been a nice feather in our cap. "We fenced with Ohio State, 6-3, 225-pound native of Chicago's Brother Rice who also can be counted on to be the number one role for the Irish. Steve Huffman, a 6-4, 220-pounder from Dul-was like that. His brother Dave and Tim played for Notre Dame in the late 1970's. Joe Kelby, a Youngstown, Ohio, native at 6-6, 270-pounds and teammate Chuck Killian, a 6-6, 255-pounder and Larry Upinot, at 6-6, 270-pounds, both from Northeast Catholic in Philadelphia.

On the defensive side of the ball, seven players have decided on Notre Dame. Craig Hudson, a 6-1, 210-pound linebacker from Cincin-nati Moeller; Mark Nigro, a 6-2, 220-pounder from Villa Park, Ill.; Steve Rody, a 6-3, 215-pounder from Harleysville, Pa., and Kurt when the players sign their names on the dotted line.

The Irish, however, fell short against Ohio State losing by a close 7-0 mark. "All we needed to do was win one of the last three against Ohio State and we would have beaten them," said DeCicco. "That would have been a nice feather in our cap." leading the Irish was freshman Molly Sullivan. Fencing from the number one position, Sullivan went 12-1 to move to a 5-4 mark in the year. With 33 wins, she is leading the overall Irish team.

Helping the Irish achieve victories were sophomores Victoria Quarrier (10-3, 23-17) and Cindy Weeks (8-2, 21-16). Junior captain Janet Sullivan (8-10, 19-24). While DeCicco realizes the youth of his team and their need for experience, she also hopes that his fouls would develop a little more consistency from the number two, three, and four spots. Nevertheless, he believes that they will be competitive in the end.

"I am anxious looking forward to the qualifying tournament (for the NCAA National Championship)" said Faust. "It's going to be Ohio State, Wisconsin, Wayne State, and Notre Dame fighting for those three qualifying berths from the Midwest. If we could beat either Wisconsin or Ohio State, we might get into the nationals (March 18-25 at Notre Dame) with our women's team." For both Irish teams, it will an exciting week of work as the Irish prepare to face Case Western Reserve, Cleveland State, Miami, Bowling Green, and Oberlin in Cleveland, Ohio, on Saturday.

"Be Good to Your Baby Before it is Born!"
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1. "— Gerbil" (6)
5. Does a belly-whopper (7)
10. Grant (5)
14. Arabic letter (6)
15. Borough of films (7)
16. Falling tools (6)
17. Revelation (7)
19. Gable (8)
20. On the up — (6)
21. Calming with drugs (6)
23. Philosopher (7)
25. Pine cone? (6)
30. Judge (6)
31. Wise man (4)
32. Useless (5)
34. Cromwell (5)
35. Makes boom-boom (6)
36. "It it wore done when... done..." (7)
37. Takes umbrage (5)
41. Certain worshiper (7)
43. Reference work, aho (4)
44. Cartoonist (6)
46. Louisiana cookery (10)
47. Author Lagerfeld (6)
49. Monroe (5)
51. Hydrocotsms: (6)
52. Staff (5)
53. Hops dryer (9)
54. Distinguishable (4)
56. Of the stars (5)
58. Dr. Arcaro (8)
60. Put to flight (8)
62. Revelation (10)
65. Concerning (10)
66. Public spat (5)
68. Arm art (4)
70. Max. laborer (7)
71. DOWN
1. Spotted cavy (6)
2. N.C. college (7)
3. Seal (5)
4. Gushing (6)
5. Alc for sloths (10)
6. School work (15)
7. Cuban province (9)
8. Trudge (10)

DOWN
1. 9 Fr. upper house (4)
10. Sheaf (5)
11. Revelation (5)
12. Starry or daffy (6)
13. Subtle and luscious (9)
14. Roof ornament (5)
15. Come-on (4)
16. — Vider (4)
17. Centers (4)
18. — d' — (5)
19. — Revelation (5)
20. Fr. painter (5)
21. Kind of thread (5)
22. — Park, Colo. (5)
23. Box (5)
24. Cereal grains (5)
25. Drain (5)
26. Certain (5)
27. Pended (5)
28. Consoles (5)
29. Substance (5)
30. Barriers to control water (5)
31. Coed (5)
32. Shoe size (5)
33. Actor Richard (5)
34. Top-drawer (5)
35. Early Peruvian (5)
36. Cameraman (6)
37. SAGS, SORAS STOA (5)
38. Bergen Street (5)
39. 48 Trudge (5)
40. Testing whether fish have feelings (5)
41. A5 Introduction (5)
42. Dancy (5)
43. Reference (5)
44. Certain (5)
45. Certain (5)
46. Certain (5)
47. 45 Consoles (5)
48. Substance (5)
49. Barriers to control water (5)
50. Coed (5)
51. Shoe size (5)
52. Actor Richard (5)
53. Top-drawer (5)
54. Early Peruvian (5)
55. Introduction (5)
56. Certain (5)
57. Dancy (5)
58. Reference (5)
59. Barriers to control water (5)

Monday’s Solution

---

Campus

- 12 p.m. Seminar: "El Salvador: Is That 'Center' There?" — James Dunkleker, Faculty Fellow. Sponsored by Kelllogg Institute Room 151 Deco.
- 5:30 p.m. Biology Seminar, "Inhibitors of Site-Specific Recombination," Prof. Michael Fennewald. ND Room 276 Galvin.
- 7 p.m. Basketball, St. Mary’s vs. Valparaiso. Angela Athletic Facility.
- 7 p.m. Wrestling, ND vs. Indiana. ACC Auxiliary Gym.
- 9 & 11 p.m. Ford Theater Movie, "On Golden Pond," Engineering Auditorium. All Proceed to MS Campaign.
- 9 p.m. Film Discussion: "Your Neighbor’s Son: The Making of a Torturer." Cushwa-Leighton Library Media Center. Sponsored by ND Branch of Amnesty International.
- 9 - 11 p.m. Meeting, Knights of Columbus. Fr. Burchard, K of C Building. Members Only.
- 9 p.m. Resume Workshop, Dr. Edsall. ND Marketing Department. 122 Hayes Hall. Sponsored by Finance Club. Free.
- 9:50 p.m. Tuesday Night Film Series, "Bed and Board." Engineering Auditorium.
- 10 p.m. General Meeting, Collegiate Jazz Festival, Main Floor, LaFortune.
By NICK SCHRANTZ
Sports Writer

Despite some outstanding individual performances, the Notre Dame indoor track team finished a disappointing third out of ten teams at the Indiana Intercollegiate Meet last Friday in Bloomington.

Indiana dominated the meet and amassed a first place total of 171 points. Purdue scored 107 points, and barely edged out the Irish, with 102 points, for second place.

As has been the case all year, the Irish jumpers led the way. Senior James Paterson captured the triple jump with a leap of forty-nine feet, Autry completed the sweep with a last Friday in Bloomington. Dame indoor track team finished a top-five showing in the mile, and turned in an impressive 9:57 clocking for the two-mile.

Jim Cason captured second place in both the mile and two mile. The senior had a fine time of 4:12.04 in the mile, and turned in an impressive 9:57 clocking for the two-mile.

Tim Cannon also moved himself into sixth place on the all-time Irish list for the mile.

Sophomore Jeff Wie and junior Craig Funai in foil especially had some fine performances, the Irish sprinters contributed with fine finishes in the shorter events. Robert Nobles placed fourth in the 600-yard run and then also finished fourth in the 440-yard dash with a time of 49.86. Nobles continued his fine day by participating on the Irish relay team that captured third place honors.

Dan Shannon barely edged out Nobles in the 600-yard run, to finish with a third place time of 1:21.15. Mitch Van Eyk狝t sprinted to fourth in the 300-yard run with a time of 31.66, while Brandy Wells broke up a storm. As I had hoped, the momentum of the team right now is such that they're on cloud nine. Some of the people that I was looking to get some nice results from are really starting to come through.

Some of the people that I was looking to get some nice results from are really starting to come through.

Mitch Van Eyk狝t sprinted to fourth in the 300-yard run with a time of 31.66, while Brandy Wells broke up a storm. As I had hoped, the momentum of the team right now is such that they're on cloud nine. Some of the people that I was looking to get some nice results from are really starting to come through.

Three squads for the Irish were outstanding according to DeCicco. In the saber, the Irish had all three starters go unseeded. Leading the way was senior captain Mike Janss who went 7-0 to boost his record to 25-2 on the year. Assistant Jon Johnson (8-0) and John Edwards (6-0) were also up to par as they boosted their records to 18-5 and 14-4, respectively, against some stiff competition.

"In saber, our three starters were unseeded which was expected as they had some close bouts against the Ohio State men who were tough," said DeCicco.

Other saber men for the Irish included sophomore Kevin Stoumen who went 6-1 to go 12-3 on the year. Freshman Geoffrey Bissner won 4-0 (11-2) and junior Mike Baith won 1-0 (1-2).

In the foil, the Irish were very successful, especially against sophomore All-American Sunil Sabhrawal (5-1). For the Irish, junior captain Mike Van der Velde was 9-1 to go 25-5 on the year. Sophomore Charles Higginbotham went unseeded at 8-0 to keep his team leading record of 24-1 intact. Also unseeded were juniors Craig Funai (9-15) and Dave Reuter (7-0, 15-8).

Fonzi continues to impress his coach as he easily handled Sabhrawal (5-1) and helped the team record against the talented sophomore at 2-1.

"Craig Fonzi in foil especially had a fantastic weekend," said DeCicco. "He won a bout against Sunil Sabhrawal from Ohio State. He beat him 5-1 and that was the best bout I've ever watched all day in foil, saber, or epee. That was a great win.

In the epee, the Irish were at their usual best. Led by performances by senior captain Andy Quarantii (24-3) and junior gransite Christian Scherzinger (25-5), the Irish easily downed their challenge.

Adding to the success, the squad's effort was unseeded performances by sophomore Tim Vaughan (7-0, 15-0) and junior Brian St. Clair (12-0, 16-4) from the third spot on the starting lineup. At 136, St. Clair

By JOE BRUNETTI
Sports Writer

Fran McCann wants it. And if you're ever talked to McCann, you know that he is a very determined person especially when it comes to wrestling. Just what does McCann want? He wants to have the first-ever top 20 wrestling team at Notre Dame, and he's going to get it.

"I think that in three years we can be in the top 20 in the nation," says the first-year Irish mentor confidently.

McCann isn't new at this game of creating wrestling powerhouse. Before coming to the Notre Dame this year, he compiled an impressive 74-45-5 mark at Indiana State over eight years, including top 20 rankings for his squad the last five years and a seventh place NCAA finish in 1982. With credentials like these, no wonder he is so well respected in the wrestling community.

"Notre Dame is on the right track by getting McCann," comments Indiana wrestling coach Jim Humphreys. "He's a very fine coach. Frank left one of the best teams in the country in Bloomington."

McCann didn't want to enter this conquest without help. So, he brought in sophomore Josh Azevedo, an ex-Olympian and NCAA champion. Obviously, he was wise choice for a counterpoint. "John was an excellent choice and is a good match for Sunil and Humphreys. Those two can do the job. They know enough about wrestling, and I think they can get the recruiting job done."

Indeed, the job McCann and Azevedo do recruiting is going to have a big bearing on the success of future Irish squads.

McCann knows this. One of the big problems the two coaches will face will be trying to recruit tradition-rich powerhouses like Iowa and Oklahoma State.

"You're fighting a lot of tradition," says McCann. "But, I think you can move faster than your average school. How fast, and how well do you know? Don't think there's a lot of lack involved in recruiting."

McCann is looking at five or six recruits for next year's squad, and the year after that he plans on picking up two or three more. And these aren't going to be your average recruits.

A coach like Fran McCann wouldn't settle for average; he's going after the big boys, the blue-chippers.

"We need back-to-back-to-back recruiting years," says McCann. "If we get five or six really good kids next year, and two or three the year after that, it'll be our foundation and then we can go from there."

"If we sign the kids we're looking at," continues McCann, "then we're going to have one of the top 10 recruiting classes in the nation. Obviously, McCann and Azevedo can't offer a recruit the wrestling tradition of the University of Iowa, but they can offer a high school kids the chance to step into a starting role. That chance plays heavily in the minds of many recruits."

"There is the opportunity of wrestling right away and be part of a growing program," says McCann. "We don't have the wrestling tradition here, but we do have the tradition of Notre Dame, the university. We have to impress upon them those things about our program."

Kids don't want to sit on the bench for two years at Iowa, and that's to our advantage."

In the past Notre Dame's wrestling program never tried to go after the same type of athlete that the Oklahoma States and Iowa's after. The coaches never attempted to go after the big boys, but McCann is changing that right away.

"Every kid we are looking at, other top schools are also looking at," McCann says. "But if you don't then you have problems. We're going to be different as the country that the wrestling powers, places like Iowa, New Jersey, and Illinois."