Parietals extended at Saint Mary’s

By THERESA GUARINO
Saint Mary’s Executive Editor

Extensions for the existing parietal system at Saint Mary’s were approved by College President John Duggan yesterday, according to Student Body President-elect Anne Marie Kollman. The approval was announced to the outgoing Board of Governing and Programming Board at a joint meeting of the two last night.

Monday through Thursday, parietals will now begin at 4 p.m. and end at 12 a.m. Each Friday, they will be in effect from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. On Saturday, hours will be from 12 p.m. until 2 a.m. and Sunday, parietals will begin at 12 p.m. and end at 12 a.m. Hours will vary on football weekends, when parietals will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

The new policy provides for parietals during football games, and during final exams on weekdays.

The new extensions will take effect after Easter break.

The parietals changes were first suggested last fall, when student government parietals at Saint Mary’s were extended to the Student Affairs Committee of the Student Senate, and was approved there. The council, consisting of administrators, faculty, students, and chaired by Duggan, also passed the proposal unanimously. The new policy was approved by him yesterday, according to Kollman.

“I’m very pleased at how receptive the two committees we had to go through were,” said Duggan. “This has definitely been the see PARIETALS, page 6.

O’Neill begins final campaign to block MX missile funds

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - House Speaker Thomas O’Neill Jr. yesterday opened the final campaign by opponents of the MX missile to block release of $1.5 billion to build 21 more of the nuclear weapons.

O’Neill pledged an “all-out effort” to change the handful of votes needed to reverse the effect of a slim 219-213 pro-MX victory for President Reagan in the House on Tuesday.

A required second House vote will be taken at noon today on the final approval of authorization and appropriations measures.

The Senate gave its approval in identical 55-45 votes last week, so one more House vote will settle the issue for now, although still another MX flight looms on Capitol Hill this summer.

There were differing assessments among House leaders on chances for a last round defeat for the MX. Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, said yesterday the earlier House vote should end the fight.

“I don’t know any reason to prolong the debate,” Wright said. “I don’t know any reason to believe that the vote would be substantially different on appropriations than on authorization.”

O’Neill acknowledged that “it’s not an easy thing to turn once” the House has voted once on an issue. But the speaker said he knows of three Republicans who have said publicly that they would vote for the authorization measure - thus showing congressional resolve for the American negotiators at the Geneva arms control talks - while opposing the spending measure. He declined to identify them.

MX foes also lobbied Democratic House members from southern agricultural states, seeking to convince them that farmers hit hard by a credit crunch would support an anti-MX vote because it helps to ease the economic crisis caused by high interest rates brought on by the federal deficit.

And at the White House yesterday, spokesman Larry Speakes said “the outcome on the MX vote tomorrow is by no means certain.”

Grand jury overturns prior ruling; indicts Goetz on attempted murder

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Bernard Goetz was indicted by a grand jury on April 8 for attempted murder yesterday, a month after a first panel charged him only with illegal gun possession for shooting four youths on a subway train.

The indictment in the internationally publicized case was announced by District Attorney Robert Morgenthau one day after Goetz refused to testify before the grand jury in a dispute over how much immunity he should be granted.

The second grand jury also charged Goetz with four counts of first-degree reckless endangerment and one count of second-degree criminal possession of a weapon.

Attempted murder is a felony with a maximum penalty of up to 25 years in prison. The assault and weapons possession charges carry up to 15 years, and the reckless endangerment charge carries up to seven years in prison.

Goetz faced up to seven years in prison on the felony gun possession indictment issued by the first grand jury.

When Morgenthau announced earlier this month that he would seek an indictment for a second time, Goetz predicted he would be cleared “no matter how many grand juries are called.”

“I’m not worried,” he said. “I know a jury of my peers will exonerate me again.”

The shootings occurred Dec. 22 on a subway on which Goetz, the four youths and about 20 other people were riding.

Goetz shot the youths - two of them in the back - with an illegal .38-caliber handgun.

Goetz said he fired after the youths surrounded him and one of them said, "Give me $5," with his hand thrust menacingly in his pocket. Goetz, who had been robbed before, said he was only defending himself against a certain robbery and beating.

But two of the youths have said that onlyanny approached Goetz, and that he merely asked, "Can I have $5?" Candy's lawyer likened it to a pandhandler's request.
Memories of Alumni Van outlasts tanks and hangovers

Highlights of the week were: the Watts telephone line, where students were encouraged to make free phone calls anywhere in the continental United States; a party which 460 students attended; a boat trip on the intracoastal waterway, and an all-expense paid trip to Key Largo, a Yankees Orioles spring training game; and complimentary sandwiches, fruit and soft drinks for the ride home.

Money for the events came from many sources. The Alumni Board of the Notre Dame Alumni Association approved a budget of approximately $9,000. The Coca-Cola Company donated $3,000 in cash and $1,000 worth of Coke. The Student Activities Board bought the baseball tickets. Saint Mary's Alumni Association bought the orange juice and newspapers. The trips and the party were partially paid for by the students.

Many of the events and services were a result of feedback from last year, said Lennox. Approximately 650 students registered at the van. Ed Leonard, a sophomore, was on duty in the morning, while Notre Dame and Saint Mary's alumni staffed the van in the afternoon and evening. Both Lennox and Kay Cochrane, assistant alumni director at Saint Mary's, made the trip to Ft. Lauderdale.

"Next year the whole spring break timetable is different. Therefore, we're open for suggestions," said Lennox, referring to the future of the Ft. Lauderdale project. "We're still open for expression of ideas." Suggestions from last year's pilot program were implemented this year, such as free orange juice and newspapers.

New department forms as bio, microbiob merge

Special to The Observer
Norte Dame will merge its biology and microbiology departments effective next fall.

Vastly, both existing departments, the formation of the department of biological sciences is intended to dissolve the boundaries imposed in recent years upon biological subfields such as ecology, physiology and cell biology. Many of the recent rapid gains in these specialized fields have been accomplished by teaching and research efforts that combine information from the various subfields.

"When this merger is finally executed, a new dimension in the rapid growth of the biological sciences at Notre Dame will have been achieved," said Francis Castellino, Kleiderer/Pezold professor of biochemistry and dean of the College of Science.

"A cohesive faculty will be in place, in a single department, where its members can more effectively pursue their interests that encompass the span of biological organization from the molecular to the organismal levels. Excellent programs in teaching and research are a natural consequence of such a restructuring, which effectively blurs the talents of so many to a common goal," Castellino said.

Students enrolled in the departments of biological sciences will have a greater choice of courses because restrictive interdepartmental requirements will be eliminated.

Morton Fuchs, chairman of the existing departments of biology and of microbiology, said the merger will mean a faculty roster of 28 full-time teaching and research personnel.

The transfer of the undergraduate and graduate degree programs in microbiology, Fuchs said, has explained a microbiology concentration that includes existing courses will be available.

The merger gained approval recently from both the University's Academic Council and the College of Science Council.

Large crowd prompts Senior Formal security

By DIANE SCHROEDER

Seniors attending this weekend's Senior Formal at the Palmer House in Chicago can expect a capacity crowd of between two and seven thousand. The increased number of attendees will cause of expected long lines between two and seven hours.

Seniors may attend the cocktail hour before the dinner. The hour begins at 6 p.m. with entrance limited to 976 students. Because of expected long lines between two and seven hours, special meal tickets must be obtained in advance to be seated for dinner.

A schedule of dance performances is set for the evening. Guest performers will include "The Best is Yet to Come," a new dimension in the rapid growth of the biological sciences at Notre Dame.

Students may check out must be completed by 1 p.m. Sunday. Those who fail to comply will be charged the regular room rate of $145. Students who cannot meet this deadline should contact the manager.

Because of Palmer House deadlines, no refunds or changes will be made. Complete details are available in the booklet distributed by the Senior Formal Committee.

Last year's attendance was 726 students.

Gorbachev plans reply to Reagan

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev plans to reply to President Reagan's summit proposal on energy and other matters discussed in a meeting they held in mid-May in Austria, European socialist leaders said Tuesday.

"Mr. Gorbachev told us he was going to answer Mr. Reagan's letter, and we hope it (the reply) will be positive," Kalevi Sorsa, the prime minister of Finland, told a news conference.

Walter Hacker of the Austrian Socialists Party, who also attended a Kremlin meeting with Gorbachev shortly after the summit, said he believes Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will "discuss arrangements a suitable way" to meet in Vienna at the 30th anniversary of the treaty marking the emergence of post-World War II Austria.

"We will reply (to Reagan), we are polite people," Hacker quoted Gorbachev as saying.

WANTED:

Members of the Class of '87 for Junior Class Government

We're tough. We're mean. We hate puppies. We know that there is a Red under every bed. Richard Simmons is a whip. We don't eat quiche.

We don't even know what it is. We steal candy from babies. We drink Jack Daniels. Straight. Without ice cubes. We'd sell our little sisters down the river for some more money. We don't bathe. We don't write good, and we can't even spell. And we never laugh. Ever.

We are fighting a war for fun social life, quality service projects, and academic and liturgical excellence, and we're looking for Soldiers and Soliderettes of Fortune. The hours are long and the pay is non-existent, but the people are friendly, the activities are exciting, and the constituents, the Class of '87, make up the best Class ever!

Are you interested in joining Notre Dame's most exciting branch of Student Government?? Do you want to make next year an awesome one for the Class of '87??

If you answered yes to the above questions pick up an application for Junior Class Government from the Office of the Class Secretary.

Applications can be picked up in the Student Activities Office, located in the main lobby of the LaFortune Student Center, from Wednesday, March 27 through Wednesday April 3. Applications are due back to the Student Activities Office by no later than 5:00 p.m. Wednesday April 3.

We encourage all members of the Class to apply and contribute as much time as you can. London Program people are welcome. With your participation and continued enthusiasm THE BEST IS YET TO COME for the Class of '87.

WASHINGTON - Nearly every chemical company responding to a congressional survey said its plants were leaking "significant levels" of known and suspected cancer-causing substances into the air, a House subcommittee chairman said Tuesday.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., also said the large companies providing data on leaks reported routine releases of 204 chemicals that industry experts consider to be "proven hazards" to human health.

Chemicals escaping from plants, New Congressional survey shows

WASHINGTON - Nearly every chemical company responding to a congressional survey said its plants were leaking "significant levels" of known and suspected cancer-causing substances into the air, a House subcommittee chairman said Tuesday.

Waxman, speaking at a health subcommittee hearing attended by chemical industry executives, noted that only five of the substances now are regulated by the Environmental Protection Agency. He said finding this many toxins considered hazardous by the chemical industry is "a serious indication of the EPA's abdication of responsibility to protect the public health."

"Many of the routine release rates are extremely high, far greater than we expected even in the unregulated world of air pollution," said Waxman, whose subcommittee got detailed replies from 54 of the 86 firms sent questionnaires in January. "Almost every chemical plant that provided information on its leak rates is releasing significant levels of compounds proven or suspected of being hazardous to public health," a summary of the responses said.

"How much of which poisons are coming from companies... which did not respond to our information request is not yet known," the summary added.

FBI investigates bank's collapse
Associated Press
COLUMBUS, Ohio - The FBI is investigating the collapse of Home State Savings Bank of Cincinnati, has subpoenaed Ohio Department of Commerce records, a state official said Tuesday.

Ohio Savings and Loan Superintendent Robert McAlister said the subpoena had been served to the department when he took over his new post March 22, and the FBI is asking that the records be delivered no later than April 4.

The records being sought were Tuesday under emergency legislation enacted March 20.

Closed temporarily by Gov. Richard White, the bank, closed March 9 after massive withdrawals by depositors alarmed by the court-ordered closing of a Florida securities dealer. A week after Home State's closing, Celerite declared a bankruptcy emergency, closing Ohio's 69 other thrift institutions whose deposits were privately insured.

Three more institutions opened Tuesday under emergency legislation enacted March 20. The law allows the institutions to do so upon obtaining federal insurance or demonstrating that they are eligible for it, McAlister said.

In all, 23 have been authorized to conduct full-scale business. The others formerly insured by the privately owned Ohio Deposits Guarantee Fund have been allowed to open to allow customers withdrawals of up to $750 a month. While some institutions have reported heavier-than-normal transactions, the increased demand has been attributed to customers' needs for cash - not panic about the safety of their deposits.

Pentagon denies blame in army major’s death

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The U.S. army major shot by a Libyan sniper in East Germany was taking photographs of military equipment in an area that earlier was off-limits to American observers, senior State Department and Pentagon officials said yesterday.

However, the officials said, the Soviets removed the restriction on Feb. 20, apparently after completing military maneuvers there, notified the U.S. liaison mission and did not deter other American observers present a week to 10 days later.

Challenging a Soviet account, the two officials reiterated there was no justification for the slaying of the unarmed officer, Arthur D. Nicholson Jr.

"We feel that the use of deadly force, as the Soviet sc enity did in this case of the tragic event, is totally out of keeping with the rules," a State Department official said.

At the White House, spokesman Larry Speckes said the Reagan administration is considering diplomatic steps against the Soviets. The Soviets called the shooting "regrettable" but said Nicholson had been spotted by a Libyan taking photographs through the window of a storage building on a restricted Soviet military installation.

According to the Soviets, the U.S. major had been spying, which the press agency said was a violation of the 1947 agreement under which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France maintain military liaison missions in their respective zones of Germany.

The U.S. officials rejected the account by the Soviet press agency Tass as "designed to justify the killing of Maj. Nicholson." They insisted he was not in an area designated by the Soviets as restricted or engaged in espionage. In fact, one of them said, the Soviets notified the U.S. mission in writing that the area was no longer out of bounds.

"He had the right of access, of free travel," the Pentagon official said of Nicholson. At most, he said, the Soviets could have detained Nicholson - as Soviet observers were held in West Germany only a few days earlier.

The briefing was held on condition the U.S. officials would not be identified by name or title. Copies of the instructions for U.S. army personnel at West German bases were distributed to reporters.

Missile explosion rocks Baghdad; Iran claims responsibility in attack

Associated Press

BAGHDAD, Iraq - Western Baghdad was shaken by a huge explosion yesterday that Iran said was caused by one of its missiles. Witnesses said the blast occurred beside two schools and a bus station, and may have caused hundreds of casualties. The explosion came shortly after Iran said it had fired a ground-to­ ground missile at the Iraqi capital. Iran struck back with an air raid on Tehran that the Iranians said killed at least 10 people and wounded 50.

Iran officials said nothing about the cause of the Baghdad explosion or the number of casualties.

A witness said the victims of the explosion were students, pedestrians and people driving by in cars. About 50 cars and buses were wrecked in the blast, according to the witnesses, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Military police and secret service agents sealed the capital's western sector, over which a huge cloud of white smoke billowed, and barred reporters.

Iran has claimed to have fired six ground-to­ ground missiles into Baghdad since March 14, during an escalation of the 4-year-old war between the Persian Gulf neighbors.

Iran said two of the explosions were caused by saboteurs' bombs, but has made no comment on the other three.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said yesterday's missile attack was retaliation for an overnight Iraq air raid on Tehran that killed nine people and wounded

14. The report was monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus.

According to the London-based

Jane's Defense Weekly, the missiles being fired are Soviet-made 9K-13

Scud B missiles, which were introduced about 20 years ago and have a maximum range of about 160 miles.

It quoted Western intelligence sources as noting that Tehran anounced the missile attacks three to seven minutes before the explosions happened, indicating the blasts were not due to sabotage.

Iran said that, after the Baghdad explosion, it sent warplanes to attack Hamadan, 240 miles southwest of Tehran.

The official Iraqi news agency quoted an unidentified military spokesman as saying the raid on

"selected targets" in Hamadan brought to six the number of cities attacked by Iraqi jet fighters since dawn.

Earlier, the Iraqi military command said Tehran and four other

Iranian cities were "dealt devasting blows.

Both sides have stepped up attacks on residential areas in recent weeks. Iraq has said it is accelerating raids on cities to force Ayatollah

Ruhollah Khomeini's regime to end the war.

Iran has made statements recently that, despite their bellicose language, also indicate a willingness for peace.

In a statement monitored yesterday in London, the military com­ mmand said that if Iraq stopped attacking civilian targets, "commercial shipping and using chemical weapons, Iran's Islamic combatants would immediately end their retaliation in kind."

But the statement added "should these wicked acts continue, the response will be even tougher and this time it would be rockets that would pound Baghdad to a pulp."

Clinic attacks denounced by attorneys

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - An organization of state attorneys general urged the Justice Department Tuesday to investigate abortion clinic violence, saying such incidents "interfere with the exercise of constitutional rights."

At a policymaking meeting, the National Association of Attorneys

General passed a resolution saying

"there has been illegal harassment and intimidation of people who work in or visit abortion clinics."

It called for "a swift and forceful response by all levels of law enforcement" and said the Justice Department should "investigate and prosecute" people engaged in such activities.

Francis Bellotti, Massachusetts attorney general and association president, said leaving abortion clinic violence probes to the Treasury Denartment's Bureau of Alcohol,

Tobacco and Firearms is unsatis­

He said no one opposed the resolution.

"Of everything we've done, this is our greatest accomplishment for the

The new policy will be evaluated first semester next year by student

We learned of more bad news when Neblo informed us that William Bennett had angered some of his parents and his students on about students' goals. My god - it is bad enough that he angered me, but my parents - that is just un-American. If the government does not give me another student loan, I might have to get a job and work my way through school.

I say we make some new rules. From now on, the Civil Rights Commission has to agree that the government and every other government agency, in cooperation with local organizations, can no longer say things that are in the public interest or that protect the public interest that the government is not doing.

The big match: wrestling MS

Y ou've heard about it. You've read about it. You've seen it. But what exactly is Wrestling Mania? And does it have entertainment value to this type of competition? You get to decide.

Wrestling Mania is called "the Super Bowl of wrestling," and as such, it is one of the biggest events in wrestling history. The event is a culmination of the year's best matches and features some of the biggest names in wrestling. But what exactly happens at Wrestle Mania?

Wrestling Mania is a singles tournament that features the best wrestlers from all over the world competing against each other in classic confrontations between good guys and bad guys. It's a potpourri of tag team matches, body slams, world titles, celebrities, egos, insults, athletics and entertainment.

The entire afternoon is a series of grudge matches to settle quarrels between opponents. The quarrels began when Captain Lou Albano publicly insulted rock celebrity and former wrestler, Cyndi Lauper. After these two were reconciled, insults and injury wars began between other wrestlers involved in the conflict. Wrestle Mania was devised to finish the quarrels once and for all.

The main event of the afternoon will be a tag team match with Hulk Hogan and Mr. T of "The A-Team" challenging Rowdy Roddy Piper and Paul "Mr. Wonderful" Orndoff. The guest referee will be Muhammad Ali, the guest timekeeper, Liberace, and the guest announcer will be Billy Martin. For those who are unfamiliar with professional wrestling, the tag team event is much like a relay race. One person from the team wrestles the opponent and the other team switches in when the wrestler tags in or asks for a hand. Then, the teammates switch positions.

Both boys and girls participate in professional wrestling. In fact, another important match in the Wrestle Mania afternoon will pit Wendi Richter, managed by Cyndi Lauper, against Lefilt Kall, protege of The Fabulous Moolah, in a contest for the World Wrestling Federation's Women's Crown.

Another "bigger" for the afternoon will be the $15,000 Body Slam contest between Andre the Giant and Big John Studd. Body Slaming is the practice of one person, usually a gentleman weighing over 500 pounds, running into another poorly person, holding him over his head, and slamming him down on the mat.

Regardless of whether the match is entertaining, the critics believe it's got this type of competition. "You get to see a skilled wrestler to throw 100 pounds around in the ring," says Ted Mandell. Mandell, a longtime professional wrestling fan, called World Wrestling Federation (WWF) headquarters in Greenwich, Connecticut and arranged to have Notre Dame included as a market in the nationwide broadcast of Wrestle Mania.

Although the WWF is paying for all the publicity for the event, Mandell paid for ticket printing costs out of his own pocket. He hopes to be refunded from the proceeds that will go to MS.

"It's a big soap opera," he continued. "I'm not saying it's all true. It's entertainment. But, it's got to be funny." Another weekend approaches. There may not be any basketball games scheduled, but there's plenty of action to be found on the courts of the ACC. The hoops have been temporarily replaced by ice, the costumes are not your basic blue and gold but pink, orange, florescent green ... and lots of smurfy blue.

The Ice Capades, the traveling extravaganza on ice, is renowned for its bright lights, flashy get-ups, a la Rockettes routines and of course, Smurfs. Last night's performance was no exception. There was an abundance of the above - but a few surprises helped make the show anything but predictable.

From the show's opening international themes, including a Hungarian dance number and a couple dancing to a romantic rendition of "Spanish Eyes," to "For Your Ice Only," a sketch featuring not James Bond, but Barbie Smith as "Jane Blonde," the show's aims were unmistakably clear: variety and flare ... blinding flare.

It seems the Ice Capades' weaknesses may arise from what most would expect to be its strengths. The show is a feast for the eyes but, after all, gluttony is a sin. There were moments when there seemed to be too many people on the ice, too many props and far too much glitter and florescents for the retinas to handle.

Simplicity is beauty as the old saying goes. This is probably why my favorite parts of the show were the soloists, like world-class champion Charlie Tickner or Canadian champion Kay Thomson, as well as the couples. These acts present figure skating in its most polished, graceful and professional form as the skaters glide across the ice.

Smurfs cannot go unnoticed. A good chunk of the show is actually an exciting episode in the continuing saga of life in Smurfville. Smurfs may not be on the top of your favorite people ... or whatever list, but you won't mind watching the reactions of the more avid Smurf fans. The small faces all lit up and concerned for the welfare of a Smurf in despair might just melt the ice, not to mention your heart.

If Ice Capades is on your agenda for the weekend, I don't want to spoil all of the surprises. So I'll just warn you - be prepared for a colorful, fast-moving two hours featuring, among other things, fireworks, new cars and butterflies ... big butterflies.

Even if the ice spectacular is not on the agenda, your curiosity should be peaked by now and I encourage you to experience Ice Capades first hand. Without a doubt, it'll brighten up your weekend and chase away the March blues for at least a year.

Grier and Daggs had earlier posted 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 victories in singles play.

Bothered by the overwhelming victory, the Irish headed to the Claremont Resort Tennis Center on the 22-24. In their first act of the tournament, the Irish scored a 9.0 victory over Northern California for their fifth straight win. Unfortunately, the Irish victory string was snapped by the Esis of Yale, 7-2. The 60-6, 6-3, and the doubles pair of O'Graham defeated John Kuhn and Scott Keener 6-3, 6-2, to post the two Irish wins.

On the final day of the tournament, senior Meiresonne redeemed its state's name by beating the Irish, 6-3, 6-2 in the first round. Gobbohn continued his strong play by downsion Jon Sokol 6-2, 6-3. Dan Walsh beat Gary Osbier 6-1, 6-2, and the doubles team of Salligan Duggan posted an 8-95 set victory over Gspika and Gary Himes.

Throughout the western road swing, the play of Gобщеwas especially impressive. The three-time monarch of the Irish, he has reason to believe that his younger players got a lot of much-needed experience on the California circuit.

The Irish next play on March 30 at Valparaiso before returning home to take on the students at Ohio State on April 6 and Michigan on April 15.

Following those two home matches, the Irish head back out onto the road to take on Ohio State on April 6 and Michigan on April 15.

Rice's three doubles pace Red Sox past Chisox, 8-7, in exhibition play

Associated Press

Jim Rice showed his midseason Fenway Park-form by belting three doubles to highlight a 15-hit attack that carried the Boston Red Sox over the Chicago White Sox 8-7 in exhibition baseball yesterday. Rice doubled down the right field line in the first inning, hit a 400-foot drive to the wall in left-center in the second and belted a 420-foot double to center in the fourth. The Red Sox slugger drove in two runs and scored three before leaving after four innings.

In other games, Eric Show pitched six shutout innings and allowed three hits as the San Diego Padres halted the Seattle Mariners 7-1. Darryl Motley and Jim Sandberg drove in fourth-inning runs off Atlanta starter Ken Barker to help the Kansas City Royals beat the Braves 6-2.

Rob Knepper pitched six strong innings and singled home a run as the Houston Astros tripped the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1. Knepper gave up three hits. Fernando Valenzuela started for the Dodgers and retired the first 12 Houston batters before the Astros scored twice in the fifth to saddle the left-hander with his fourth loss of the spring.

Toronto's Lou Thorson homered on Ted Power's first pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Blue Jays a 3-2 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Roookie Herini Winningham and Mike Bannery contributed three hits apiece to a 15-hit attack that carried the Montreal Expos past the Texas Rangers, 9-3.

Jim Gantner's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning drove in the winning run that gave the Milwaukee Brewers their third straight victory, a 7-6 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Geoff Zahn, Donnie Moore and Curt Kaufman blanked Oakland on seven hits as the California Angels stopped the A's 6-0.

Tim Corcoran delivered a pair of RBI singles in the five-run first inning to help the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1.

Jody Davis drove in three runs with two hits and Leon Durham went 3-for-3 as the Chicago Cubs romped over the San Francisco Giants 10-2.

In night games, Jason Thompson and Doug Frobel homered to help the Pittsburgh Pirates beat an eight-game losing streak with a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Mike Boddicker and Ken Dixon combined on a three-hitter as the Baltimore Orioles edged the New York Yankees 2-1.

Frank Viola pitched seven scoreless innings and Greg Gagne and Gary Gaetti hit home runs to give the Minnesota Twins a 4-0 victory over the New York Mets.

The Yankees got some medical news yesterday, with shortstop Andre Robertson undergoing arthroscopic surgery on his left knee that should put him out of action for three weeks, and outfielder Dave Winfield being discharged from the hospital after being treated for an infected elbow.

First baseman Steve Garvey and the San Diego Padres rolled to a 7-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners in yesterday's baseball pre-season play.
Tulane stars nabbed for point-shaving

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS - David Dominique, 19, and by Tom Thompson, Tulane basketball players accused of shaving points in a gambling case, surrendered yesterday for fingerprinting and booking.

John Williams, Tulane's star center, was arrested Tuesday night, as was Gary Kranz of New York, a Tulane student accused in the gambling law violations and cocaine dealing.

Cocaine was the apparent motivating factor, not money, said District Attorney Harry Connick, who added that it is possible other players are involved.

He will take the case before a grand jury Thursday. All four were released without bail.

At the grand jury hearing, two Tulane basketball players who will be granted immunity from prosecution will testify about the three teammates accused of shaving points, according to a New Orleans newspaper.

The Times-Picayune, The States-Item said in its Thursday edition that the two players gave statements implicating themselves and their teammates. The newspaper, which did not identify the two players, did not identify its source, except to say that it was a source close to the investigation.

U.S. attorney John Voiz said his office has been involved in the case for several weeks. He said he has asked the FBI to investigate possible federal violations.

He gave no details about possible links to federal gambling raids in Memphis, Tenn., during the weekend.

Dominique shook his head "no" when asked if he'd done anything wrong, but would not comment beyond that. Thompson paid no attention to the questions.

They were instructed not to talk by their attorney Russell Schonekas, who and also declined comment.

Williams, after his arrest on Tuesday, denied any wrongdoing.

Williams, Dominique and Thompson were booked on charges of violating Louisiana's sports gambling laws. Kranz, of New York, 21, was booked on the gambling violations plus possession and distribution of cocaine, Connick said Tuesday.

"I'm very confused, I want to see what evidence they have," Tulane Coach Ned Fowler, said Tuesday night.

Kranz answered his telephone yesterday, but hung up after a terse statement.

"I'm sorry, right now it's a big farce, and I have no comment, nothing," he said.

Williams, 23, Thompson, 21, and Dominique, 19, were accused of controlling the outcome of home games against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State in February. Point shaving means a player agrees to keep his team's score lower than gamblers predict - either winning by a lower margin or losing by a greater margin than the established "line" on the game.

Tulane was a ten-and-a-half point favorite over Southern Mississippi and won 64-63 on Feb. 2.

Colts deal QB Hermann to San Diego

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS- The Indianapolis Colts yesterday traded quarterback Mark Hermann to the San Diego Chargers for 1984 First National Football League draft choice.

"I'm excited. It's a good opportunity with a great organization and a great offense and quarterback. I'm looking forward to working with Dan Fouts," said Hermann, whose new contract with the Chargers is for two years without an option.

"I'm thrilled to be going to San Diego. I wouldn't think this system could benefit me more than some other people," Hermann said of the Chargers, who have been looking for a backup to Fouts.

"They do a lot of underneath (short) stuff and timing routes. Those are the kinds of things I like and I'm sure I can get here," Hermann said.

"It's always exciting with something new on the horizon," said Hermann, 26, who has been hampered by injuries for much of his four-year career in the NFL. The draft choice from the Chargers was not disclosed, except that it would not be for 1985, the Colts said.

Hermann, who played at Carmel High School north of Indianapolis and then at nearby Purdue University, where he set many NCAA pass­ ning records, received a hero's welcome when he returned to his hometown with the Colts last spring. But he missed the first seven games of the 1984 season after injuring his thumb in pre-season practice.

He later played in three games, starting two, and completed 26 of 56 passes for 352 yards and one touchdown. He was intercepted six times.

"I felt I've stayed here, my chances would be a lot better anywhere. But now I have to move on and keep preparing myself," Hermann said.

"There were a lot of expectations (coming to Indianapolis), and I wish I could have done better, but now I'm going to be able to go out and start fresh," the quarterback said.

The departure of Hermann leaves Mike Pagel and Art Schlichter as the quarterbacks for new Colts' Coach Rod Dowhower. Pagel started the first seven games and nine of the 16 games last season, while Schlichter started the last five games of the 1984 season after injuring his knee in the first game of the season.

Whether the trade would affect the Colts deal QB

the selfies and the offense is a secret.

The Colts, then in Baltimore, acquired Hermann from Denver in a trade for quarterback John Ewly. Hermann was originally picked on the fourth round by the Broncos in the 1981 college draft.

He did not see any action his rookie season and played only two games with Denver in 1982. He also played in two games with the Colts in 1985 after suffering a broken collarbone.

Hermann, who was in San Diego

last week to showcase his skills for the Chargers, was re-signed by the Colts in a free agent on Tuesday and then traded yesterday.

Dowhower, starting his first season with the Colts, said the trade "could work out well for both Mark and the Colts. We are trying to locate a quarterback or a couple of quarterbacks for training camp to provide competition (for Pagel and Schlichter)."

"Whether the trade would affect the Colts' draft, Dowhower said, "It depends on who a quarterback comes up. I don't see taking a quarterback high in the draft, because we're committed to certain weaknesses we have to fill - receivers, off­ sensive line and cornerbacks."

Indiana, UCLA reach NIT final

Associated Press

NEW YORK - The Indiana Hoosiers held off Tennessee's "Comeback Kids" last night, showing some of their own in the semifinals of the 48th National Invitation Tournament.

"We have a tendency to let off with the lead - that happened tonight, but we were lucky enough to turn it back on," said Indiana center Uwe Blab, whose 24 points helped the Hoosiers post a 74-67 victory over Tennessee.

Indiana earned a berth in tomorrow night's championship game at Madison Square Garden against UCLA, which beat Louisville last night.

Tennessee, which was making its 31st attempt at reaching the NCAA playoffs, scored 21 points in the last 5 1/2 minutes to pull into a 53-53 tie. But Indiana held off that furious charge with some clutch play by Blab and U.S. Olympic team guard Steve Alford, who scored 23 points.

Alford and Blab are the offense," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "If they're off, we're in trouble."

Knight also said this was perhaps one of the least talented teams he's had at Indiana.

"We're not a good team, but opponents will come at us as if we were in the top echelon," Knight said. "We can blow leads - tonight we did."

Tennessee Coach Don DeVoe, who had seen his team wipe out a five-point deficit against Southwestern Louisiana in the last 19 seconds of an earlier NIT game, was happy with just about everything, except the last five minutes of the game.

"We just didn't play great basketball in those last five minutes," DeVoe said. "But I'm proud of the team, especially the shooting guard.

The 7-foot-2 Blab, who finished with 24 points, scored 14 in the first half as Indiana took a 40-30 lead at intermission. But the Hoosiers had to hold on as Tennessee rallied behind Tony White.

White scored 14 of his 22 points in the second half to bring the Volunteers finally to the lead at 57-56 with 9:54 remaining with a basket and a free throw.

Then, in the last five minutes, Wright took charge, scoring six points during the decisive streak to lead UCLA to a 75-66 victory over Louisville in the semifinals of the 48th National Invitation Tournament last night.

The Bruins earned a berth in tomorrow night's championship game at Madison Square Garden against Indiana, which earlier in the night defeated Tennessee, 74-67 as Uwe Blab scored 24 points and Steve Alford added 23.

UCLA led 36-35 at intermission and six times held nine-point leads before Louisville pulled even behind a run led by Billy Thompson, who scored 16 points. Thompson scored four straight points as the Cardinals made it 56-56 with 5:30 left in the game.

Then, in the last five minutes, Wright took charge, scoring six points during the decisive streak to propel UCLA to a 67-58 margin with 1:06 remaining.

The first half was closely played, with UCLA holding the biggest lead of the half at five points.

Nigel Miguel scored 20 points, including seven foul shots in the final minute, for UCLA. 20-12. The Bruins of the Pacific 10 Conference have won 11 of their last 12 games.

ND lacrosse team takes conference opener, 9-2

After opening its season over break against some strong Eastern competition, the Notre Dame lacrosse team was ready to play a weaker Midwestern opponent. Yesterday on Carter Field, the Irish got their wish as they easily handled Lake Forest College, 9-2, to begin their defense of the Midwest Lacrosse Association championship.

Notre Dame moved to 3-0 in the MLA (2-3 overall) on the strength of a strong first quarter in which it moved out to a quick 5-0 lead. The Foresters, who fell behind by as much as 7-0 in the second quarter, never were able to erase that five-goal burst despite some poor play by the Irish in the second half.

"We started out well, but we really let up," said Irish coach Rich O'Leary. "We were making fundamental mistakes. Our catching and passing really fell apart after the first quarter. I'm not sure why, but we do it against a tougher opponent, we'll lose.

Despite the less-than-impressive showing, though, the Irish weren't seriously threatened. Lake Forest was supposed to challenge Notre Dame after playing very well during its trip to the East, but the threat never materialized as the Irish took advantage of many Forester mistakes in the early going.

As has been the case in the first four games this season, attackmen Bob Trocchi and Joe Franklin were responsible for most of the Notre Dame scoring. With Trocchi scoring four goals and Franklin adding another, the Irish were able to score seven unanswered goals in a 19-minute span of the first half, putting their visitors in a hole from which they never could climb.

It was Trocchi's goal 3:35 into the game that got the Irish rolling. The senior co-captain dodged a Lake Forest defender and bounced a shot into the net with a Forester player in the penalty box. Four minutes later, midfielder Mark Steranka got past his defender and fired the action. John Wilson, Franklin and Trocchi added two more goals early in the second quarter to give the Irish a 7-0 halftime lead.

"Up until then, we were taking advantage of Lake Forest's mistakes and we weren't making many ourselves," said O'Leary, who watched his team struggle with the Foresters after halftime. "They kept making mistakes in the second half, but we couldn't take advantage of them because we were making a lot of our own mistakes, too."

Fortunately for the Irish, their defense did a good job of keeping Lake Forest scoring in both the first and second halves. Matt Talso of the Foresters did score twice in the third quarter - once on a fast break and once on a power play - to cut the lead to 7-2, but that was as close as they could get against Irish goalie Rob Simpson who stopped nine shots before being relieved by Matt McQuillan, who picked up three saves of his own.

Notre Dame needed all the defense that it could get because the offense disappeared in the middle of the second quarter. After Trocchi's fourth goal 7:47 before halftime, the Irish could manage only two goals the rest of the way, one of them scored by a Lake Forest defender who deflected a Trocchi pass into his own net.

The lack of offense is obviously a major concern of O'Leary's in five games, the Irish have scored just 31 goals. 20 of them by Franklin and Trocchi. Unless they can increase their offensive production, especially from the midfielders and the backup lines of attack, it will be very hard for them to repeat as MLA champions.

"Our biggest problem on offense is the lack of teamwork," explained O'Leary. "We're not looking for the guy with an open shot because there's too many people trying to go one-on-one. Our problem, we can get them straightzhatted out.

"You take winners when you can get them, but we still haven't put together four good quarters. Lake Forest isn't an Ohio Wesleyan or one of the top MLA teams, but we're going to have to do better.

"We're doing a good job of minimizing the sports-minded students on the Notre Dame campus, know very little about rugby or how it is played. What makes us want to go is to prove that we can stay out of trouble. The athletic department, especially (Athletic Director Gene) Corrigan, (Assistant Director of Club Sports Rich Corrigan, (Assistant Director of Club Sports Rich O'Leary) and (Assistant Director of Non-Varsity Athletics Dr. Thomas) Kelly have been very supportive. And our new moderator, Col. John Shapp, has been a tremendous influence for us as a team."

"We miss many social aspects of the game which we used to enjoy," adds Keough. "But we are willing to give up participation in rugby's "third half", the traditional post-game party hosted by the home team.

The club has been under suspension at various times for nearly half of my four years here," says Schneider. "We would like to show the administration that we can stay out of trouble. While many Notre Dame student headed to Florida last week for Spring Break, the Notre Dame men's tennis team headed west to sunny California. The Irish compiled a 5-2 record on their recent West Coast swing with his impressive play. The Irish compiled a 5-2 record on the trip, to raise his season mark to 6-7.5-7.5.

On March 18, the Irish were to face the tough Trojans of USC, but fate in the form of rain intervened to wash out the match. The Irish picked their third straight win on the west coast as the rain pelted on their next stop, at Loyola Marymount, with a 7-2 decision.

On their fourth stop, the Irish hit their peak, blanking Whittier 9-0. The doubles pair of Gibbons-Dan Walsh, Neilligan Paul Dagg, and Dave Oberi-Grier were too much for the com­petition as each team posted 6-0, 6-0 wins.
