Demonstrations planned in protest of Duarte policies

By KAREN R. MC CLOSKY
Staff Reporter

 Demonstrations presenting the presence of Salvadoran President Jose Napoleon Duarte at University of Notre Dame commencement ceremonies will occur Sunday afternoon on Orange Field. Organizers of the protest contend that Duarte is involved in repression and violence against El Salvador.

Local and national organizations concerned with human rights and Latin America have organized the rally to coincide with the commencement ceremonies.

Demonstrations have been the source of heated controversy since the February 12 announcement that the Notre Dame alumnus would receive the 1985 commencement address.

Father Charles Daha, a member of the Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America and an organizer of the Chicago May 19 Coalition, said, "We are protesting against President Duarte because his government, backed by the U.S., is engaging in deliberate policies of indiscriminate bombing of innocent civilians, even using napalms." Daha, who attended Notre Dame two years before entering the Dominican order, continued, "The forces of repression continue on regardless of Duarte. For him to pretend he is going to be able to do anything about it only provides the forces of terror with a cover." Daha said that Duarte "should denounce the real cause of the problem, the oligarchy, the military, and the U.S. support of the military regime."

According to Daha, "Notre Dame has done a great disservice to itself as well as to the Catholic Church and the people of El Salvador by honoring this man. He knows what's going on." Daha and other Chicago organizers contacted local groups to collaborate on the rally. According to the Robert Rohr, secretary of Saint Mary's Peacemakers, "One of the strengths of the rally is that it is a coalition rally." Campus reaction to the planned demonstrations has been reserved. Richard Conklin, director of Information Services at the University, said, "I don't have any apprehensions. We can accommodate them and still have a nice ceremony for the graduates and their parents."

Conklin arranged to have Orange Field available for the rally. Orange Field was the site of demonstrations during President Reagan's visit in May 1981. "They have a constitutional right to demonstrate," said Conklin. "On the other hand, graduates and parents have a right to have a ceremony not disrupted."

University President Father Theodore Hesburgh said, "The only way not to have protests is to invite nobody. If we invited the good lord, we'd have somebody protesting." Hesburgh continued. "Duarte is a decent, good, dedicated human being. They've got the wrong target, the wrong man. My hope for El Salvador rests in Duarte at the moment."

The Chicago May 19 Coalition is made up of five Chicago-based groups: Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America, Clergy and Lay Concerned, Chicago CRPES, Casa El Salvador, and Casa El Salvador Farabundo Marti.

The Chicago group is joined by the South Bend May 19 Coalition. The South Bend Coalition is co-organized by several local groups including, Pledge of Resistance, South Bend and national chapters; Prince of Peace Church of Brethren Church Board; Saint Mary's Peacemakers; and the American Friends Service Committee of Peace and Freedom, South Bend chapter.

Demonstrators representing organizations from Detroit, Indianapolis, Bloomington, Wisconsin and New York also are expected to take part in the protest.

The program for Sunday's demonstration begins at 10 a.m. Procession will leave campus by 11:30 a.m. when protestors will distribute leaflets to the entering the ACC.

At 1 p.m., speakers from seven organizations will address the rally. A member of FBR, the opposition party to Duarte's party in El Salvador, will be among the speakers. Three musical acts also will perform. The activities are scheduled to end by 3:30 p.m., before commencement exercises are finished.

In a related activity, the Notre Dame chapter of Amnesty International will be mounting a table in the bookstore today and tomorrow. Letters requesting the release of Salvadoran prisoners will be available for those who wish to sign them. These letters will be presented to Duarte tomorrow morning.
The Notre Dame Alumni Association elected Joseph Dillon as the new president. Dillon, a South Bend business leader, will begin his term at the end of the 19-member board July 1. The Alumni Association represents all regions of the U.S. and coordinates 175 alumni clubs with membership of up to 2,000 in some cases. Dillon was a director of marketing for the engineering and architectural firm of Cole Associates. He is a 1944 business administration graduate and a 1949 law graduate of the University. As president of the association, he will be an ex officio member of the Board of Trustees. - The Observer

A fire blazed in Grace Hall Monday, causing about $200 in damages. The fire was blamed on a faulty electrical outlet. Sophomore David Rowland, a Grace resident, noticed the fire began, helped maintenance personnel extinguish the fire. The blaze damaged a mattress, couch, blanket and sheet. - The Observer

Former Notre Dame cheerleader Laura Bach was selected as second runner-up in the Miss USA pageant Monday night in Lakeland, Fla. Now a computer salesman, Bach lives in Illinois and represented the state in the pageant. Bach expressed her strong beliefs in freedom and American ideals in the question and answer segment of the contest. - The Observer

Father Andre Leveille, director of vocations for the Holy Cross Priests, has been appointed director of Notre Dame's Office of University Ministry by Father David Tyson, vice president for student affairs. Leveille has been at Notre Dame since 1974, and was ordained a priest four years later in Sacred Heart Church, Laclede, Ill. The Alumni Association represents all regions of the world's universities. He is currently compiling what is believed to be the largest collection of sacred and secular pieces, and will include a combination of sacred and secular pieces, world's universities. He is currently compiling what is believed to be the largest collection of sacred and secular pieces, world's universi in the next 12 months; I wish her nothing but the best. But I am not writing now to seek sympathy for the imperfections that now and then creep upon our pages. I want to share a story about another kind of challenge - about the challenge of words - a message related by the story of (his nickname) Tronk.

Africk that the wears a crown," Father told me one onerous occasion when our computer broke. I agreed. She will have many opportunities for triumph and defeat in the next 12 months, I wish her nothing but the best. But I am not writing now to seek sympathy for the imperfections that now and then creep upon our pages. I want to share a story about another kind of challenge - about the challenge of words - a message related by the story of the Trump (his nickname) Tronk.

Father Andre Leveille, director of vocations for the Holy Cross Priests, has been appointed director of Notre Dame's Office of University Ministry by Father David Tyson, vice president for student affairs. Leveille has been at Notre Dame since 1974, and was ordained a priest four years later in Sacred Heart Church, Laclede, Ill. The Alumni Association represents all regions of the world's universities. He is currently compiling what is believed to be the largest collection of sacred and secular pieces, world's universi

The final written chapter

Bob Vonderheide 1984-85 Editor-in-Chief

you don't think bad of me for asking that Bob, there was no one else I could ask.

Trump's letter was touching, but I set it aside. Three days later, Trump's final letter to me arrived.

"It's me again," he wrote. "I'm writing this time to say that I'm sorry. I had no right so what ever you want to do about what I did in my last letter, please forgive me OK? After I mailed the letter, I thought, ah just let it ride, but my insides just wouldn't leave me alone, so I had to write this letter to you and say that I'm sorry."

I never heard from Trump again and I never heard from me. From his prison cell, Trump calls out to words in words a way just as graceful as Hemingway. He is stripped of money, friends and hope. And yet is his conscience that nags at him, and nags at him to write and says he doesn't need a TV after all.

Words have power. They allow our soul to spill over into ink. But we waste so many. Readers this year complained to me when we forgot to print the time of a dance or the score of a game. So sometimes I would think of Trump to get keep things in perspective. Words paint hope and despair. They offer forth ideas. And it is the advancement of these ideas that have since inspired man to publish papers and write letters. It is what has inspired me all along.

So now as I bid farewell to this chapter of my life, I know deep down that just like Trump I will never be very far from writing words.

This is the last issue of Volume XIX of The Observer. The Observer staff wishes the best for the graduates in their lives beyond Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.
ND, SMC valedictorians get the last word this weekend

By FRANK LIPO

The two valedictorians of the Class of 1985 will have the last word to their classmates this weekend - an honor given to them because of the high grades they have achieved during their four years at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.

Saint Mary's valedictorian Laura Banas will deliver the valedictory address tomorrow at Saint Mary's in the College Chapel. The size and atmosphere of Saint Mary's helped her academic achievements, according to Banas. "If I had gone to a bigger school, I wouldn't have had the same attention," she said, citing the small classes and individualized attention of the College.

Banas, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

The size and atmosphere of Saint Mary's helped her academic achievements, according to Banas. "If I had gone to a bigger school, I wouldn't have had the same attention," she said, citing the small classes and individualized attention of the College.

Banas, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

The size and atmosphere of Saint Mary's helped her academic achievements, according to Banas. "If I had gone to a bigger school, I wouldn't have had the same attention," she said, citing the small classes and individualized attention of the College.

Banas, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.

Roche, who has a 4.0 grade point average, said he was required to submit a first draft of his address to the provost approximately one month ago. "I finished it last week," he said.

"It's going to be really short - less than three minutes," said Roche. He said his address will focus on the blessings and opportunities of Notre Dame students and the responsibilities that go with them.

"I don't consider myself a genius," said Banas. "I probably put in five hours of outside coursework a day. It was a lot of hard work," she said. "I never set being the valedictorian as a goal. My short range concerns were studying hard and making good grades. I concentrated on those short range goals," Banas said.
Student raped Sunday on walk back to SMC

By THERESA GUARINO
Saint Mary's Executive Editor

Notre Dame Security is investigating the rape of a Saint Mary's student that occurred Sunday night on the road between the two campuses.

The assault happened approximately 11 p.m., about 200 feet east of U.S. Route 31-33. The student was returning to the Saint Mary's campus alone at the time.

The suspect was described as a white male, approximately 6 feet tall, 190 lbs., and slightly overweight. The victim, who was wearing earphones and listening to music, said she did not hear him approach.

According to the student, the suspect forced her into a field north of the road where he covered her head with a black t-shirt and told her she had a knife and would use it if she resisted. After the incident, the student was picked up by two other students returning to Saint Mary's in a car. She immediately was taken to

SMC profs recognized with awards

By ELLYN MASTAKO
Staff Reporter

Anthony Black, associate professor of history at Saint Mary's, received the Spes Unica Award at the College's annual Honors Convocation May 6.

The Spes Unica Award honors excellence in teaching and service to the College.

"I've always concentrated on undergraduate teaching and found it very rewarding," said Black. "I'm honored to have received this prestigious award."

Black joined the Saint Mary's faculty in 1975. Last fall, he was the first exchange professor between Saint Mary's and Saint Patrick's College in Maynooth, Ireland. He received his B.A. from Duquesne University, and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Notre Dame. Black founded the London Summer Program in 1975 and has served as its director since that time.

Mary Connolly, assistant professor of mathematics, received the Maria Pieta Award in recognition of her skill, dedication and excellence in teaching lower division courses. Connolly, who joined the College in 1981, graduated as the valedictorian of her class at Manhattanville College. She earned her M.A. from Brown University.

NEW SCHEDULE EFFECTIVE APRIL 28, 1985
Travel United Limo to & from Chicago's O'Hare

EVERYTHING IS INCLUDED.
Call United Limo.

The Observer Friday, May 17, 1985 — page 4

512K! Macintosh Upgrade

The offer of a Macintosh upgrade your 128K Macintosh to 512K.

The Macintosh Upgrade is the "Electronics Swiss Army Knife" of the Apple product line. It's designed to add more memory, speed up your Macintosh, and provide new capabilities.

The upgrade is available in kit form or assembled on your motherboard with a 90-day warranty.

$295 Installed $195 Kit

MacMemory Electronics
500 W. Willard Rd., Suite 28
Chicago, IL 60613
(312) 964-4176
The Observer

Friday, May 17, 1985—page 5

Mayor Henry Cisneros elected to Board of Trustees

Special to The Observer

Henry Cisneros, mayor of San Antonio, Texas, has been elected to Notre Dame's Board of Trustees.

Cisneros received his bachelor degree in 1968 from Texas A&M University and masters degrees in urban and regional planning and public administration from Texas A&M in 1970, and Harvard University in 1975. He received his doctor of public administration was awarded by George Washington University in 1975. He has taught since 1974 on the public administration faculty at the University of Texas at San Antonio. A White House fellow in 1970-71 as assistant to the director of the National Endowment for the Arts in 1974, and currently is a member of the Ford Foundation.

Alumni offer services to new grads

By M. E. HARRINGTON Staff Reporter

The Notre Dame Alumni Association can be the graduating senior's best friend, said James Pollicita, director of Alumni Continuing Education for the association. Through the Notre Dame Alumni Association, graduates can keep in touch, make new acquaintances and participate in a variety of social and educational programs, Pollicita said. But the bottom line is contact, he said. "People walk in the door expecting to meet friends." The association began in 1868 as a way to support and perpetuate good feelings about the University. It accomplishes this through its network of more than 175 regional clubs and many campus-centered activities.

According to Pollicita, Notre Dame's Alumni Association differs from most others because its main objective is not to raise money for the University. The association itself does not collect a membership fee, although individual regional clubs sometimes collect fees to finance their own mailings and functions. Pollicita encourages graduating seniors to join the clubs in their areas. This will enable them to better know their communities and provide input to older alumni about the state of the University, he said. Many clubs have activities designed to acquaint younger and older alumni, a move encouraged by the 19-member Alumni Board.

The Alumni Board is an elected body representing 15 geographic areas concerned with association policy. Recently, clubs have focused on interaction between older and younger alumni and continuing education. These clubs view recent

Jordan Ford

Has a special gift for upcoming graduates

PRE-APPROVED CREDIT* FROM FORD CREDIT.

Plus $400 purchase allowance from Ford Motor Company.

By M. E. HARRINGTON Staff Reporter

The Notre Dame Alumni Association can be the graduating senior's best friend, said James Pollicita, director of Alumni Continuing Education for the association. Through the Notre Dame Alumni Association, graduates can keep in touch, make new acquaintances and participate in a variety of social and educational programs, Pollicita said. But the bottom line is contact, he said. "People walk in the door expecting to meet friends." The association began in 1868 as a way to support and perpetuate good feelings about the University. It accomplishes this through its network of more than 175 regional clubs and many campus-centered activities.

According to Pollicita, Notre Dame's Alumni Association differs from most others because its main objective is not to raise money for the University. The association itself does not collect a membership fee, although individual regional clubs sometimes collect fees to finance their own mailings and functions. Pollicita encourages graduating seniors to join the clubs in their areas. This will enable them to better know their communities and provide input to older alumni about the state of the University, he said. Many clubs have activities designed to acquaint younger and older alumni, a move encouraged by the 19-member Alumni Board.

The Alumni Board is an elected body representing 15 geographic areas concerned with association policy. Recently, clubs have focused on interaction between older and younger alumni and continuing education. These clubs view recent...
Notre Dame stands mired in a period of transition struggling with its Catholic character, searching for an academic identity and trying to rework a student social life without alcohol. The atmosphere is sluggish because the direction and leadership the University needs to get moving again have not been

David G. Grote
speaking out of turn found. It seems no one has the power to define Notre Dame’s future except Father Hesburgh, and Heubsh seems all too content to let thing ride as he finishes out his term as presi dent.

Notre Dame is a bomb waiting to explode into an excellent academic institution. The faculty at Notre Dame is one of abundant avenues and creativity. And the student body that wants a part in building a tradition of Moreover, the Notre Dame administration shows little respect for workers’ rights, stifling efforts by its employees to unionize.

This is the administration students and faculty perceive — an administration that will not listen, that does not act on what is right, that does not need them, only tolerates them.

This perception stagnates growth, stagnates creativity and destroys any sense of com-unity on campus. It robs Notre Dame of realizing the tremendous potential in its students and faculty who desperately want a greater stake in making Notre Dame an excellent educational institution.

If students and faculty are respected for their talents, if they are told to be creative, and given the opportunity to help shape both the social and academic atmosphere, Notre Dame will explode. It will explode socially and academically into one of the leading universities in the nation.

To realize this excellence demands strong, informed leadership and substantial changes from the top down. It demands a leader willing to lead.

It is the leader who paints the face the University wears. It is he who determines acceptable student and faculty behavior and acts to ensure that Notre Dame will not go the way of other educational institutions who are currently experiencing the same problems as Notre Dame.

Heubsh deserves credit for almost singlehandedly building the Notre Dame of today. Perhaps two thirds of the campus was built during the Hesburgh era — but the days are soon coming when Notre Dame will no longer be able to depend on Hesburgh for its identity.

Heubsh’s visible leadership has waned as his extended term as president has dragged on. He has accomplished much of his dream building Notre Dame and putting his own brand on the University. And the success of those efforts by its employees to unionize.

In fact the Board of Trustees seemed unprepared for a future without Hesburgh, proposing to create a position of Chancellor in the game before finally deciding to have Hesburgh run for the position.

It is highly unlikely that the next president will come close to matching Hesburgh’s presence and authority in the faculty. The University president will have to work together with all the other functionaries of the University in order to progress academically, physically and socially in the future; all the University’s resources must be used, including its students and faculty. There is no other Hesburgh.

In January, 1985, our daughters, Michelle and Rita Murphy, died in an automobile accident. Having spent Christmas at home in Wyoming, they were returning to the campus.

“Our beloved Notre Dame Family," they wrote in the Notre Dame Observer and distributed by Campus Ministry. "Alongside Michelle’s picture, it is reproduced on a plaque hanging in Farley Hall.

The letter was born of love and gratitude.

Our grief, so great at that moment, has been lessened by the gift of Notre Dame’s presence in the life of our family. We are deeply appreciative for so much given to us by so many from the school of Our Lady.

A father and three sons, Patrick, Donald and Kevin, have graduated from Notre Dame. Rita and me came back on April 20, 1985, to receive Michelle’s and Rita’s diplomas from Father Ted.

In our first letter, we issued a "Challenge to the Men and Women of Notre Dame."

We now specifically extend that challenge to include the parents of these same "Men and Women of Notre Dame." As we have been, so are we, proudly Irish. Our challenge has rewarded us by sharing the Notre Dame experience.

We challenge you - as we continue to challenge ourselves - to take unabashed pride in the yea this young adults have accomplished. Even for those most gifted, acieving a Notre Dame degree is no small matter.

In earlier moments of grief, we urged all Notre Dame students to tell their families of theirs. For Rita Murphy, Michelle Murphy and Rita. They too, we pray, heard them in the memory of these words continue to sustain us.

In this, a brighter day, our earlier challenge continues to be valid.

During Freshman Orientation Weekend, Father Ted told us how our youngsters would mature under the mantle of Our Lady, beneath the Golden Dome. As if by alchemy, it has happened.

If you do not already know, you will soon learn that having a Notre Dame graduate of graduates in the family is great fun!

Rejoice and be glad.

Though a common campus with you at this joyous time, we are with you in spirit.

And spirit is what Notre Dame is all about.

Michelle and Rita knew this. Each of you know this. As do all within the embrace of the Notre Dame Family.

Eventually you have a marvelous graduation weekend. Just as God is present, now and forever, to all of us, may we always remain
present to each other.

As in the priestly exhortation of peace, go forth and love the Lord. It is by doing that we serve each other.

Michelle and Rita knew this. Each of you know this. As do all within the embrace of the Notre Dame Family.

Eventually you have a marvelous graduation
weekend. Just as God is present, now and forever, to all of us, may we always remain
present to each other.

As in the priestly exhortation of peace, go forth and love the Lord. It is by doing that we serve each other.

Dr. Murphy ‘85 is the father of Michelle and Rita Murphy. Notre Dame students killed in an automobile accident while returning home in early January 1985. Three sons, Pat, Don and Kevin, are Notre Dame graduates, as is Don’s wife, Susan.

Finding the virtue in enjoying to parents

Graduation has arrived and for the class of 1985, it’s a time to reflect on the years that have been so obvious when one considers that alone will take 12 hours to complete during the next 45 years will be spent at work, yet I saw a coworker recently by the trolley who meet who knowingly take jobs they do not for the money, or the prestige, or both.

For having studied accounting for three years, getting a job with one of the Big Eight firms seemed like the logical next step. Some have known since their freshman year that law school or medical school was their ultimate destination. Still others owe their fortunes to the simple phrase, “What does one do with his life.”

Often people, however, the prospect of selecting a career seems a monumental decision.

Law school looks interesting, but do they really want to be a lawyer? How about business school? The opportunity to help manage a Fortune 500 corporation holds incredible draw. But what would living on a meager salary be like for the money, or the prestige, or both.

It is the job of the guidance counselor to help..."
Grandfather represents a different success

My grandfather turns 72 today. He is a tall man with a deeply tanned face. Looking at his hands it is easy to tell that he has not worked behind a desk for a living. His hands are massive. They are so huge that one finger will almost cover two piano keys. These hands have often crushed my fingers during many overzealous handshakes.

Here is a fisherman and then as a longshoreman, my grandfather worked long hours to support his family. He went through life with dignity and a cheerfulness that has always amazed me. When I was small, I remember going over to his house for visits and wanting for him to come home. When he entered the house he would say me waiting for him and he would quickly smile and lift me up into the air. If he was tired he never showed it. He always had time to spend with me. When I broke something, whether it was a toy or a bicycle, he was there to fix it. Often he would put me in the car giving him the privilege of working on my stuff.

Although he never went to college, my grandfather has always been enthusiastic about his children's and grandchildren's education. "How is your schoolwork going?" is a common question during phone conversations. And when finances become an issue, he has been more than generous. During the commencement ceremony, he will be one of the few of this generation of the United States to the third world. The world's population will have doubled. Increased population obviously means that more and more people will compete for fewer resources. Will Americans be able to live as they do now? Probably not.

The United States at present consumes an enormous percentage of the world's resources, perhaps as much as 70 percent. America spends more money on pet food than we do on foreground. While much of the world starves, some Americans worry about getting a third car. How can we as Christians justify such extravagance?

A question on a senior survey about moral values asked, "Should there be a redistribution of wealth from the United States to the nations of the Third World?" No doubt many seniors laughed at such an idea, an attitude that do come. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. As any of the people Notre Dame is honoring. The college newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The newspaper is regarded as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the Observer Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Brian McKeon
reflecting

As a senior about to enter the "real world," I have been extols numerous offers to get this or that credit card. It is symbolic, I think, of the affluence in this country. Where else can 21-year-old men and women obtain such buying power? While studying overseas three semesters ago, it became apparent to me how well-off Americans are. In Ireland, the natives assume ago, it became apparent to me how well-off of the affluence in this country. Where else can 21-year-old men and women obtain such

American trait of acquisitiveness. Have it

In Britain, once the most powerful nation in the world, the level of prosperity is markedly lower than our own. British people would be shocked at the vast selection available at low prices in stores in the United States. And you will not find too many British students crowing around in sleek sportscars.

The advertising industry in America is a good indicator of this country's wealth, of the American trait of acquisitiveness. One company's beer commercials tell us that "you can have it all." I often wonder if that is the case, what is left for everybody else? Certainly not everyone can have it all. Yet and Madison Avenue tells us we can, and implores us to "go for it."

Meanwhile, as the yuppies in America are going for it, millions in the world go hungry. CNN may reply, "It is not my problem, right? Let those countries take care of their own people." Unfortunately, it is our problem, or at least it soon will be. While it may be possible now to ignore current inequities in the world, it will be impossible to do so in the not too distant future. The combination of a rapidly growing population and an ever-shrinking supply of resources will preclude that.

Consider these facts: if current population trends continue, by the year 2050 Asia, with a current population of 19 million, will have approximately 500 million people. Of the ten most populous countries, seven will be in the Third World. The world's population will have doubled. Increased population obviously means that more and more people will compete for fewer resources. Will Americans be able to live as they do now? Probably not. The United States at present consumes an enormous percentage of the world's resources, perhaps as much as 70 percent. America spends more money on pet food than we do on foreground. While much of the world starves, some Americans worry about getting a third car. How can we as Christians justify such extravagance?

A question on a senior survey about moral values asked, "Should there be a redistribution of wealth from the United States to the nations of the Third World?" No doubt many seniors laughed at such an idea, an attitude that do come. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. As any of the people Notre Dame is honoring. The college newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The newspaper is regarded as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the Observer Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Brian McKeon is a graduating government major at Notre Dame and has been a regular Viewpoint columnist.

Keeping the optimism

You remember your first date, your first drive and your first job. But a journalist adds a few more items to the mental scrapbook: the first story, the first column - especially the first story and the first column - especially that

In a typical shroud of bubbly optimism, this freshman reporter took on goliatr Indiana Bell. It is challenging the incumbents' case for letting students wait up to half an hour on

Mark Worschef
supply and demand

get an outside line after 11 p.m. Filled with screeching prose and a call to action, the column was sure to draw a letter from the company, as well as letters of support from other disdaged students. Then again, maybe it would not.

It was a fitting welcome to the world of college journalism, where sex and commerce are everything from A to Z is so standard a bill of fare that it all tends to be dealtling. In a word, college papers have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to complain - and complain often. Since the first batch of wide-eyed freshmen arrived on campus four years ago, 566 students have a natural tendency to

The Observer
Editorial Board

Editor in Chief Sarah E. Hamlin
Managing Editor Amy Stephen
News Editor Karen Hamann
Sports Editor Dan McCullough
Features Editor Jeff Blumb
Column Editor Bill Higdon
Viewpoint Editor Joe Murphy
Photography Editor Peter C. Laches
Copy Chief Frank Leo

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The newspaper is regarded as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the Observer Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.
The turbulent history of a small country

Mary Healy

Fi ли Salvador means "The Savior" - a Latinizing name that belies the chaos and violence that has racked Central America's tiniest country ever since it gained independence from Spain in 1821. Despite a brief period of out-of-control military, swayed by the conflicting interests of a variety of foreign countries, and deeply polarized into two hostile political extremes, El Salvador is a nation that has known little of democracy.

In the early 1980s, El Salvador became embroiled in numerous revolutions and wars against other Latin American countries. Subsequently, a long succession of coups, revolutions, new constitutions, and military dictatorships followed one another almost without pause, rarely punctuated by elections and relatively fair government. A class of wealthy, conservative landowners grew in power while the peasant majority lived in poverty.

A 50-year age of military rule was finally broken in 1979, in a coup by a military-civilian junta (later joined and headed by Duarte) that promised a return to democracy. In 1982 the junta set up elections for a constituent assembly, in which a coalition of two rightist parties, one led by Roberto Chamorro, captured the victory, although Duarte's Christian Democratic Party had plurality of the vote. The assembly named a physician, Alvaro Magana, as provisional president.

Last May, Duarte was elected president for a five-year term, and this March his party won a majority in the legislature, the National Assembly. If his term be allowed to run its full term he has attempted to redistrubute wealth through measures such as land reform and government control of banks. His progress has benefited by the civil war that has ravaged the country for the past five years, killing one out of every 100 Salva-

The National Assembly elections this March, Duarte received a major boost to his fortunes when his party won a majority seat for the first time. "Before, my uncle had his hands tied trying to do reforms. Now that he has a legislative majority, he can do things," declared Jose.

Indeed, things seem to be working in many ways. The killings have decreased from 40 to roughly 12 a month. The guerrillas are losing their charm, according to Jose. "They don't have enough power to hold a city or small town for more than one week," he said. Most important thing in El Salvador is the process of change."

Transplanted heart brings new life

Bob Vonderheide
features staff writer

Dean Chrisy was exhausted last March after a week's worth of campus苍蝇 that eventually made him senior class president. When the election was over, Dean's mother, an English major, came to campus to say congratulations. But where was Dad? Nick went to the phone, punched a few numbers, and gave the receiver to Dean. "It's Dad," Nick said.

"What Nick didn't tell Dean was that his father was talking from a Chicago hospital. The heart that had been in time to quit."

But where was Dad? "Bill Christy was dying. Now, nine months later, Dean says his father has "the life back." On June 6, 1984, Bill's heart was healthy natural transplant. Less than 24 hours later, Christy was. Perhaps you figure the fierce in the hospital. taking care of 59, the oldest person in the world to complete heart transplant surgery successfully.

"I was in the throes of death. How could I be thinking about it after I was last month when he came to the campus to watch Dean's performance in the St. Ed's play. "I just had the idea that there was going to be some day. Perhaps you were right. There were too many things to do before I wrapped it up.

"The surgery ever happened was a miracle in itself. Other than his heart, Bill was in excellent condition. But because of his age - 59 is usually the cutoff for transplant - no surgeon would touch the case. Enter oldest son George, a medi-

"I would like to make a report to the seven brothers of Ann Marie Griffin, a member of the '85 graduating class at Notre Dame. My dear nephews: four years ago, you laid on me the responsibility of keeping an eye on your sister. You never described my duties as Ann Marie's guardian. Perhaps you were worried that at Catholic Notre Dame, she would decide to become a nun. Perhaps you were drawn to her like a mystic. I don't understand, a stranger to the tenderness that cherishes knock-knocks because they are pretty, and have a sentimental value. Are girls and women a mysterious gender? Do they have some secret that they don't tell boys and men? At the family feasts, I have seen Snow White and the SevenGiants. Ann Marie was grown up by her oldest brother, ten years after her birth. A long time ago, dropped off the games of sibling rivalry that the rest of you are grown up. I've been able to tell that for years from the wise look in her eyes, and from the fact that she stays quiet while the rest of you are shouting."

"I wonder if she was as good as I was when she was a child. I think I was a better player than Ann Marie. Is it possible that she had more talent?" Christy adds.

"I wonder how you figured she was a stop she says."

"My dear nephews, all of you are members of the Yuppie generation. You're better informed and more liberal than I am. I don't know what my generation was thinking."

"Sometimes when I've stayed overnight at your house, I've been given Ann Marie's room as a guest room where I sleep. I'm in a bed surrounded by walls plastered with star features. I am an English major, tried to talk to her sister into becoming an English major. He couldn't see that Madame Vice President of Claire Munroth doesn't need a silver tongue with poetry dripping off it to keep the convos going in the pub at three in the morning."

"But where was Dad?"

"Dear Dean, Bill, Georgia and Nick Christy gather inspiration at the grotto."

"When my sister, Ann Marie's, room as a guest room where I sleep. I'm in a bed surrounded by walls plastered with star features. I am an English major, tried to talk to her sister into becoming an English major. He couldn't see that Madame Vice President of Claire Munroth doesn't need a silver tongue with poetry dripping off it to keep the convos going in the pub at three in the morning."

\[Friday, May 17, 1985 \– page 8 - 9\]
The Top Ten News Stories of 1984-85

Corby's owner murdered
Harold Rowley, owner of Corby Tavern, was shot to death in his home last August. Soon after an expense Internal Revenue Service shut down the popular student hang-out for "collection enforcement procedure," Rowley's former wife and his father disputed about the settlement of his estate, which included the tavern. The tavern reopened briefly during the school year, but once again was closed by the IRS. The tavern remains closed.

Cuomo speaks on abortion
New York Governor Mario Cuomo caulk to Notre Dame in September to defend his stance on abortion and to explain his views on the relationship between religion and politics. Cuomo said although he personally opposes abortion, Catholic public officials must preserve the Constitution because "in guaranteeing freedom for all, they guarantee our right to be Catholics." Cuomo and University President Father Theodore Hesburgh appeared on the television program "Nightline" after the speech.

SMC President resigns
After 10 years at Saint Mary's, College President John Duggan announced his resignation in February. The resignation will take effect June 30, 1985. Saint Mary's endowment was increased from $3 million to $16 million during Duggan's tenure. Two buildings were built: the Cushwa-Leighton Library and the Angela Athletic Facility. A search committee has been formed to find a new president by January 1, 1986.

Student Saver opens its doors
A student-run general store at Notre Dame, the Student Saver, opened during second semester after months of bargaining between student government and the administration. The Student Saver opens its doors on August 26, 1985.

ND takes MS competition
Notre Dame won the first annual Millions Against MS Fundraiser, raising more money per capita than 11 other Midwestern universities. Notre Dame students contributed an average of $3.31 each, for a total of $22,676. Marquette, the runner-up in the competition, raised approximately $22,500. The prize for winning the competition, which benefited the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, was a free concert by Styx guitarist Tommy Shaw.

Pariatels extended at SMC
Saint Mary's students were allowed to have men in their rooms until midnight during the week and until 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights for the first time in the school's history. College President John Duggan gave his okay to the student government plan, which was compiled from months of planning. The student government proposal passed the Student Affairs Council of the Board of Regents.

Senate extensions ruled invalid
A five-member committee of the Judicial Council ruled that the Student Senate's vote to extend their terms was unconstitutional. As a result, a new constitution, which was passed by the senate during the extension, became void and the old constitution came back into effect. The committee decided the vote to extend the terms was invalid because two-thirds of the senate members present approved the motion, rather than two-thirds of the entire senate.

Carroll Hall rector resigns
Father Steve Gibson announced in April he will not be returning as rector of Carroll Hall next year. Gibson said he and Father David Tyson, vice president for student affairs, "reached a mutual agreement that it would be best if (he) did not return as rector next year." Gibson was elected Senior Fellow by the senior class several weeks ago. Elected Rector of the Year last year by the Hall Presidents' Council, Gibson was a runner-up for that award this year.

Rockne bust found
The much-traveled bust of Knute Rockne, stolen a year ago from the Rockne Memorial, made a reappearance last fall during a pep rally when it was handed over to the Notre Dame student body president, and his running mate, Joanie Cahill, because of seven violations of election rules, including a failure to report expenditures properly. The next day, however, the Student Senate removed their tickets by a vote of 8 to 7. Bill Healy and Duane Lawrence later defeated Browne and Cahill in an election with the lowest voter turnout in five years.
The Top Ten Sports Stories of 1984-85

Irish booted off home field
It was the low point of the football season as Irish fans voiced their displeasure after watching an inspired Air Force team take advantage of Notre Dame's inability to stop the wishbone to hand the Irish the second of three straight defeats in Notre Dame Stadium. Backup quarterback Scott Grooms, starting for the injured Steve Beuerlein, had trouble with a wet field, and Notre Dame's rushing game was almost nonexistent from the start. The Irish closed the season a month later with a 3-7 record after losing to USC and Navy and Penn State in their last three games at home.

Irish lock up Aloha Bowl bid
Notre Dame journeyed to USC and won its fourth straight game, 19-7, over the Trojans in the rain-soaked Los Angeles Coliseum. Gerry Faust's prediction of a 7-4 season had not seemed hopeless a month before. Although the Irish lost to SMU in Hawaii, 27-20, it was Notre Dame's strongest finish under Faust.

Cross-country reaches NCAAs
The 15th-ranked Irish capped off one of their best seasons ever by earning a bid to the NCAA Cross-Country Championships held at Penn State. In the event, the Irish managed a 19th-place finish with a total of 369 points, winding up only 44 points behind their pre-meet goal of a top-10 finish. Mike Collins, Tim Cannon, Dan Garrett, Bill Courtney and Ed Williamsbrink turned in solid performances to lead Notre Dame. Notre Dame had reached the NCAA Championships by capturing the fourth and final qualifying spot at the NCAA District IV Qualifying Meet on Nov. 9 at the University of Illinois.

Men reach NCAA Tournament
It took four years, but the Notre Dame basketball team again reached the NCAA Tournament. The Irish capped off a 20-6 regular season with final-week victories over Washington, Marquette and Dayton. With Notre Dame's added status as the nation's top independent, the Irish were placed at home for their two in-ment games with Oregon State and North Carolina. Local fans also got a look at other ACC visitors Kansas, Ohio State, Auburn, Purdue and Middle Tennessee. The Fun Bunch at Notre Dame hosted first- and second-round games of the Southeast Regional.

UCLA winning streak stopped
Ding dong, the witch is dead. UCLA's string of seven straight wins over Notre Dame in basketball finally came to an end this season as the Irish handed the Bruins a 55-52 defeat in Pauley Pavilion. Freshman guard David Rivers led the Irish with his 18 points and eight assists in front of a national-television audience on NBC. The players returned home to find approximately 1,000 students waiting to meet them at the main circle. It was the low point of the football season as Irish fans voiced their displeasure after watching an inspired Air Force team take advantage of Notre Dame's inability to stop the wishbone to hand the Irish the second of three straight defeats in Notre Dame Stadium. Backup quarterback Scott Grooms, starting for the injured Steve Beuerlein, had trouble with a wet field, and Notre Dame's rushing game was almost nonexistent from the start. The Irish closed the season a month later with a 3-7 record after losing to USC and Navy and Penn State in their last three games at home.

The Fun Bunch gets its revenge
The members of The Revenge of the Fun Bunch proved that they weren't kidding around when they named their entry for Bookstore XIV. The Fun Bunch averaged last year's semifinal loss to Marci's Deli by winning the tournament championship with a 21-16 victory over Rousseau's Noble Savages. Tournament MVP Steve Treacy led Fun Bunch to the title, but he got plenty of help from backcourt mate Pat Collins and a strong front line that featured Tom Rehder, Greg Dinges and Matt Dingens.

SMC plagued by resignations
On May 1, swim coach Dan Flynn became the fourth Saint Mary's coach to resign in the 1984-85 academic year. His announcement came within a week of Assistant Director of Athletics Tim Dillon's resignation, and followed basketball coach Mike Rouse's departure and tennis coach John Killeen's exit the previous semester. Like the others, Flynn cited disappointment with the current administration as one of the reasons for his decision.

Women's NIT places second
Women's tennis places second as the Notre Dame women's tennis team took second place in the NCAA National Championships. The Irish lost to three-time winner Tennessee-Chattanooga in the finals of the tournament after beating Alabama Christian and Cal Poly Pomona the day before. Notre Dame, which placed third each of the last two years, moves up to Division I play next year after posting a 25-5 record this season.

Women's NIT places second
Women's tennis places second as the Notre Dame women's tennis team took second place in the NCAA National Championships. The Irish lost to three-time winner Tennessee-Chattanooga in the finals of the tournament after beating Alabama Christian and Cal Poly Pomona the day before. Notre Dame, which placed third each of the last two years, moves up to Division I play next year after posting a 25-5 record this season.

Women's NIT places second
Women's tennis places second as the Notre Dame women's tennis team took second place in the NCAA National Championships. The Irish lost to three-time winner Tennessee-Chattanooga in the finals of the tournament after beating Alabama Christian and Cal Poly Pomona the day before. Notre Dame, which placed third each of the last two years, moves up to Division I play next year after posting a 25-5 record this season.

Women's NIT places second
Women's tennis places second as the Notre Dame women's tennis team took second place in the NCAA National Championships. The Irish lost to three-time winner Tennessee-Chattanooga in the finals of the tournament after beating Alabama Christian and Cal Poly Pomona the day before. Notre Dame, which placed third each of the last two years, moves up to Division I play next year after posting a 25-5 record this season.

Women's NIT places second
Women's tennis places second as the Notre Dame women's tennis team took second place in the NCAA National Championships. The Irish lost to three-time winner Tennessee-Chattanooga in the finals of the tournament after beating Alabama Christian and Cal Poly Pomona the day before. Notre Dame, which placed third each of the last two years, moves up to Division I play next year after posting a 25-5 record this season.

Women's NIT places second
Women's tennis places second as the Notre Dame women's tennis team took second place in the NCAA National Championships. The Irish lost to three-time winner Tennessee-Chattanooga in the finals of the tournament after beating Alabama Christian and Cal Poly Pomona the day before. Notre Dame, which placed third each of the last two years, moves up to Division I play next year after posting a 25-5 record this season.
Spring sports wrap-up
Baseball team starts MCC playoffs

By Larry Burke
Assistant Sports Editor

The Irish baseball team staged a tremendous stretch run to wind up in the second place in the Midwestern City Conference Tournament with a 2-1 victory over Western Michigan in the final game at Harper College. The Irish went on to earn a trip to the NCAA Regional Tournament.

Over the last two-and-a-half weeks, Larry Gallo's Irish have been red-hot, winning 14 of their last 19 games. The final week of the regular season included an 11-1 win at Illinois-Chicago, a 7-1, 1-2 doubleheader sweep over Western Michigan, and a 3-5, 1-2 doubleheader sweep over St. Thomas, which halved the Black Bears' 1-2 game. This was especially important since the Irish became eligible for the NCAA Regional Tournament.

Freshman Kevin Chenhall continued his fine pitching in the inaugural game, and a two-hitter to raise his record to 11-2. Irish senior Brian Walsh and junior Steve Donovan also pitched well against Western Michigan.

"We've played tremendous baseball in the last week of the season and probably the biggest factor was our pitching," Gallo said after the game.

Wish you all the best in the future and good luck in making the tournament.

LOST/FOUN: Lev
great Th1
LOST:
TUESDAY APRIL 30
notebook They both have my name.

4 notebooks. an

TYPING
sentimental value. If

LOST/FOUND
selection of the Mavericks in last June's NBA draft, became expen­ tagged was named the National Basketball Associa­ endorsement contracts, was named the National Basketball Associa­ were the only two first-year players to receive votes from

PRINCIPLES OF Sluby,
ol

Roune
3
In-color packs of gum. and

WANTED
JOIN US at 3244 or 3243.

hit• prepaid. t·ithn

WANTED
IN DENNY'S OR

IT'S A SOLID GREEN LEAFY}

DOESN'T DIY BEG" THE OHHER

SOMETHING TO READ. IF YOU DON'T

LIKE IT, PLEASE RETURN IT WITH A

NOTE OF ApOLOGIES.

IT'S A SOLID GREEN LEAFY}

DOESN'T DIY BEG" THE OHHER

SOMETHING TO READ. IF YOU DON'T

LIKE IT, PLEASE RETURN IT WITH A

NOTE OF ApOLOGIES.

IT'S A SOLID GREEN LEAFY}

DOESN'T DIY BEG" THE OHHER

SOMETHING TO READ. IF YOU DON'T

LIKE IT, PLEASE RETURN IT WITH A

NOTE OF ApOLOGIES.

IT'S A SOLID GREEN LEAFY}

DOESN'T DIY BEG" THE OHHER

SOMETHING TO READ. IF YOU DON'T

LIKE IT, PLEASE RETURN IT WITH A

NOTE OF ApOLOGIES.

IT'S A SOLID GREEN LEAFY}

DOESN'T DIY BEG" THE OHHER

SOMETHING TO READ. IF YOU DON'T

LIKE IT, PLEASE RETURN IT WITH A

NOTE OF ApOLOGIES.
Sharon Petro named NCAA Division II coach of the year

By PHIL WOLF
Assistant News Editor

Notre Dame women's tennis coach Sharon Petro was named national Division II coach of the year recently by the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association. "I'm highly honored (by the award)," Petro said. "It's obviously a reflection on how well our team performed." Petro's team compiled a school-record 25 wins in its 25-5 spring season and finished second in the NCAA Division II tournament to Tennessee-Chattanooga last week. "I think the award is a tribute to the entire athletic program at Notre Dame," Petro commented. "We were allowed to stay at the Division II level, and that helped in our development. We went from III to II and next year the program rises to Division I." "We've had success on each level, and I see that continuing in the future."

This spring was Petro's last season as head coach of the women's tennis team. This summer, she will assume the responsibilities of an assistant athletic director at Notre Dame.

Petro has compiled a 114-45 record (.716 winning percentage) in seven years as the Irish women's tennis coach. She previously was Notre Dame's first women's basketball coach, and she compiled a 49-20 record in three seasons. She leads teams to four state AIAW titles three in tennis and one in basketball.

Last fall, the Irish captured their second-straight North Star Conference title, and Petro was honored as the NSC coach of the year.

Petro joined women's swiming coach Dennis Stark and women's basketball coach Mary D'Antonio as the recipients of NSC coach of the year honors in 1984-85.

Tennis

continued from page 16
tournament. Petro, who finished the year 16-10, went on to reach the first round of singles play, losing to Judy Clardy of Abilene Christian, 6-2, 6-1. Ironically, Petro had beaten Clardy, 6-4, 7-6, during team competition.

Colligan, who finished as Notre Dame's top individual player with a 21-6 record, got to the second round before dropping out. She topped both Rodriguez of Cal Poly Pomona for the second time in three days, 6-2, 6-0, before falling to Nor-then Colorado's Sandra Elliot, 6-3, 6-4.

Petro, Lee, 20-6 on the season, advanced to the second round in doubles but then lost to the team of Susie Campbell-Laurie Woodhouse from Cal State-Northridge, 7-6, 6-4.
The two had beaten the Southern Illinois-Edwardsville's doubles tandem of Elizabeth Cadigan and Petra, 7-6, 6-2, to earn the right to face Campbell-Woodhouse.

As a result, Notre Dame closed the season at 25-5.

Notre Dame graduate only Lee, LaFranz and Schnell from its present team.
Rivers named Athlete of the Year;
Trena Keys takes women's honor

By PHIL WOLF Assistant Sports Editor

Men's and women's basketball players David Rivers and Trena Keys were named Notre Dame's Athletes of the Year by the Observer sports department last week.

Rivers, a 6-foot freshman guard from Jersey City, N.J., led the Irish men's team to a 20-8 regular season record and its first NCAA bid in three years.

Keys, a 6-1 junior from Marion, Ind., paced the women's team to its most successful season ever, also a 20-8 mark.

Both athletes gave credit to their teammates for the success of the teams.

"I think the impact I made on the team came from the guys, the teammates," Rivers said. "They kind of guided me along the way, so I think a lot of the credit should point in their direction."

"I have to give a lot of credit to my teammates," Keys echoed. "Without their help, I wouldn't have been able to do what I did."

Despite their modesty, both players turned in individual performances that reflected their talents.

Rivers led all scorers for Notre Dame with a 15.8 points-per-game average, and his excellent ball-handling skills enabled the Irish to adapt a faster, more futhraging style of play that entertained basketball fans in the ACC and arenas around the country. The point guard's ability to penetrate defenses allowed him to create scoring opportunities for himself and to dish off 127 assists.

Keys made the switch from forward to guard this season, and she did it well enough to become the Most Valuable Player in the North Star Conference. Her 17.2 points and 6.6 rebounds led the Irish to their first-ever NCAA championship with a 13-1 record. Keys currently ranks fourth on the Notre Dame all-time scoring list with 1,002 points.

She gave away 67 assists in the season.

In addition, Keys' defensive play improved over the season, and she ended up with 37 steals and 45 blocked shots. The Irish placed in the top 20 in the country in scoring defense.

"I decided over the off-season that I had to do something more for the team this year," Keys explained. "I just worked really hard toward that goal."

Rivers' goal for his freshman season was to lead the Irish to a spot in the NCAA tournament, a dream which he says became a happy reality when Notre Dame played two tournament games at home.

"Just being able to sit down with the rest of the guys and find out where we were going to be playing was the biggest highlight of the season," Rivers said, "because I know there was a lot of doubt of us making it as far as we did."

Rivers also cited the 53-52 Irish victory over UCLA at Pauley Pavilion and the Notre Dame student body's reaction to that win as another high point in the season.

The lowest point in the young player's career came at the end of the season, he said. In the final seconds of Notre Dame's second-round tournament game with North Carolina, Rivers had the ball and the Irish had a chance to break a tie for the victory. When Rivers dribbled the ball off his foot, however, Notre Dame ended up on the short end of a 60-58 score.

Keys' greatest disappointment was not making it to post-season competition. A trip to the NCAA tournament is her goal for the 1985-86 season.

Rivers said he gained a lot of experience in his first NCAA season, and he thinks the team has the potential to return to the championship tournament next season.

"I know what I can and what I can't do against certain teams," he said. "And I think I will be a much better player next year. I think it's not impossible for us to go all the way."

Rivers and Keys follow in the footsteps of Irish basketball player Tom Sluby and tennis player Pam Fischer. The recipients of the 1984 Edward "Moose" Krause Athlete of the Year Awards.

---

Noon Commencement Concert featuring:

shenanigans
Notre Dame's Singing and Dancing Ensemble
When: Saturday, May 18, 1985 12:00 noon
Where: Fieldhouse Mall (by La Fortune)

All are welcome! Seniors are encouraged to bring their relatives and friends!

(Rain Location, LaFortune Ball Room)

---

CONGRATULATIONS
WILLIAM J. HAYNES
Bachelor of Architecture
We are all very proud of you!!!
Uncle Jim, Aunt Audrey, Cousin Chris and Tastan Dallas, Texas

DOMINO'S PIZZA WANTS YOU!

We are the largest and fastest growing pizza delivery company and we can offer you the opportunity to grow with us.

We are looking for hardworking, career-minded individuals preferably with some food or management background, to enter our management training program.

For more details about this exciting career opportunity, call our toll free number: 1-800-227-0032 or 1-800-227-0028 (In Illinois)

Delivery personnel positions also available throughout the Midwest offering very competitive salary.

CONGRATULATIONS
WILLIAM J. HAYNES
Bachelor of Architecture
We are all very proud of you!!!
Uncle Jim, Aunt Audrey, Cousin Chris and Tastan Dallas, Texas

DOMINO'S PIZZA WANTS YOU!

We are the largest and fastest growing pizza delivery company and we can offer you the opportunity to grow with us.

We are looking for hardworking, career-minded individuals preferably with some food or management background, to enter our management training program.

For more details about this exciting career opportunity, call our toll free number: 1-800-227-0032 or 1-800-227-0028 (In Illinois)

Delivery personnel positions also available throughout the Midwest offering very competitive salary.

---

ATTENTION PARENTS
Tired? Bored? Sick of your kids?

Visit us at Senior Bar this weekend and see what ND / SMC life is really all about.

If it didn't happen at Senior Bar this year, then it wasn't fun.

We're open 9-3 Friday and Saturday

See you there!
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 Caf's part
6 Where bolo
11 Pivotal
13 Apathy
15 Tobacco type
16 Zone Gray's native state
17 Ripen
18 Went wrong
20 Recreation areas: abbr.
21 Ablaze
23 Activists
24 Holy women: abbr.
25 Vee Bartley
27 From - 2
28 Cubic meter
29 Mediterranean abbr.
30 Where DOE led 32 With 34 Of 36 Free
37 Fate
38 Abner's radio partner
44 Chipper
45 Prejudice
47 "Pride and Prejudice" hero
48 Afghan city
51 Furnished
52 Zola novel
53 Cool size
55 South
57 Abner's radio partner
59 Crecent-shaped
60 Of age: abbr.
61 Full of content
62 Sunday
63 Party and Dinner
64 Birthplace
65 Site of Newark
66 Pier scavenger
68 Site of air-port rescue
69 School org.
70 Places of refuge
71 Non-professionals
72 "I'm only Free"
73 Knobby
74 "I'm only Free"
75 Indy entrant

DOWN
6 Thought deeply about 7 Dessert-like
8 Finca--
9 One assuming care
10 NY suburb
11 Famous Bow
12 Rippe
13 Waco's refuge
14 Billiards
15 Cherokee
16 Caffeinated
17 Faithful
18 School Diploma Ceremony
19 Academy of Art
20 Entracte
21 Spectator
22 "I'm only Free"
23 "I'm only Free"
24 "I'm only Free"
25 "I'm only Free"

Monday's Solution

Solved on 5/17/85

Dear Senior(s),

"Whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should."

-Desiderata

Good luck on whatever path you choose to follow.

Love,

The Student Activities Board

Lee Broussard
Rob Hoover
Jack Gallagher
Mike Vore

Orlando Griego
Janet Grojean
Anne DuCharme
Donna Callis

Ron Mileti
Mike Rau
Steven Morita
Meagan Reilly

Friday, May 17

1 p.m. - Nurses Pinning Ceremony, Church of Loretto.
4 p.m. - Baccalaureate Mass, Angela Athletic Facility.
6:30 p.m. - Lawn Concert, Administration Building Mall. Sponsored by University Concert Band. (If weather is inclement, the concert will be canceled.)
9 p.m. - 1 a.m. - Senior Class Cocktail Reception/Dance. (Tickets required.)

Saturday, May 18

10:30 a.m. - St. Mary's Commencement, Court of LeMansi Hall.
10 a.m. - ROTC Commissioning, Athletic and Convocation Center - South Dome.
11:30 a.m. - Phi Beta Kappa Installation, Memorial Library Auditorium. Initiates are requested to arrive at 11 a.m.
2 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. - University Reception Center for Continuing Education, Sponsored by The Officers of the University. Families of the graduates are cordially invited to attend.
4:05 p.m. - Graduates Assemble for Academic Procession, Athletic and Convocation Center - Gymnasium 8 and 9 - graduates only.

+6:20 p.m. - Academic Procession begins, Athletic and Convocation Center - North Dome.
5 p.m. - 6:30 p.m. - Baccalaureate Mass, Athletic and Convocation Center - South Dome.
7 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. - Cocktail Party and Dinner, (Tickets for each must be purchased in advance per information and ticket procurement procedures.
9 p.m. - Concert, St. Pat's. Sponsored by University of Notre Dame Glee Club.

Sunday, May 19

9 a.m. - 1 p.m. - Brunch, North and South Dining Halls. (Tickets must be purchased in advance; graduates with valid meal certificate need not purchase a ticket.)
10 a.m. MBA Ceremony.
1:35 p.m. - Academic Procession Begins, Athletic and Convocation Center - North Dome. (Tickets for admission to the Commencement Exercise are required for parents and guests.)
4:30 p.m. - Law School Diploma Ceremony, Washington Hall.

Campus
Two minor bowl bids. One NCAA Tournament. No national championships. No post-season Top 20 rankings.

The box score for the Class of '85 is pretty much complete now. Things could have turned out worse, but, for most of us the past four years have failed to live up to the lofty expectations we held four years ago.

Nobody worried us about 5-6 and 10-7 seasons. Nobody told us that the "perfect" coach might turn out to be far from perfect. All we heard before we came here was how nice New Orleans was during the New Year's holidays, how good the football team was going to be, and how exciting it was to go to a school that had one of the best football and basketball teams in the country. After all, this was Notre Dame. Notre Dame always wins.

Well, four years have taught us that our expectations, although very common to Notre Dame people, were a bit too unrealistic. We now know that the Irish cannot win simply by walking onto the field or the court.

Although God did not make Notre Dame No. 1, at least not on the playing field, He has taught us a lesson in humility that should stick with us for the rest of our lives. Wins are not necessarily good, not on the field and not in real life. Many times it seemed that Notre Dame people expected to win, and when they didn't they didn't appreciate fully how lucky they were to have good teams. Even in September 1981, a trip to some major bowl or to the NCAA basketball tournament was taken for granted.

I doubt that any of us, after these four years, will make the same assumptions. Air Force, Arizona, Fordham, Northwestern. Murray State. Northern Illinois. There is not such a thing as a gimme anymore. We have learned to respect everyone and to take nothing for granted.

It is a lesson that is in, a sense, have made our four-year journey a very worthwhile one. Sure, it would have been great to go to the Sugar Bowl or the Final Four, something which would have given us plenty to talk about at future reunions. But the main object of going to college is to learn things that will help us once we graduate, and we have learned that you don't have all the time in the world and that the time you have, you should appreciate those times when you win, no matter who or what you beat.

Enough philosophizing, though. As we go on to bigger things in the "real world," we might as well remember some of the good moments that we were part of over our Notre Dame careers - and, despite the overall lack of success, we were plenty of "Notre Dame moments."

Although the 1981-82 season was a disaster for both the football (11-1) and basketball teams, there were three events that are hard to forget. The first of these is the IU football opener. Not only was the game memorable because it was the Class of '85's first here and because it moved Notre Dame to No. 1 in the country, but it also was accompanied by one of the best pep rallies ND has ever had. It's too bad there weren't any other outdoor rallies.

The other two big moments came on the basketball court within an eight-day period during the winter. On Jan. 25, 1982, the Irish knocked off No. 11 Illinois in overtime, 60-58, behind 17 points from Ron Rowan (remember him?). Then, on Feb. 2, John Paxson and Mitchell Cline scored 51 points in two figures as in upset of No. 7 San Francisco (remember them?) Both games were in the ACC, and helped the fans forget about earlier home losses to Georgia Tech and North Carolina.

The Michigan and Pitt football games were the highlights of the 1982-83 season. Although games have been played under the lights at the Stadium since then, the 1981 Michigan game always will stand out. Tony Hunter and Larry Mortarity were the offensive stars as the Irish moved out to a 24-10 lead, but a fluke touchdown by the Wolverines (on which the Michigan receiver picked the ball off Stacey Torrey's shoulder pads) forced Dave Daueson to be the hero by intercepting a Steve Smith pass late in the game.

Later in the same season, the Irish traveled to Pitt to take on the No. 1 Panthers and Dan Martin. Notre Dame was still recovering from a loss at Georgia Tech and a 13-13 tie at Oregon. However, Allen Pinkett introduced himself to a television audience by breaking the game open in the fourth quarter with a 75-yard touchdown run. The Irish returned to South Bend with a 31-10 upset of No. 4 Penn State, giving a large group of students - the first time that had happened since 1980.

The Observer/Carol Gales

Things Senior have had their share of 'ND Moments'