Government faces federal spending ‘double doomsday’

Associated Press
WASHINGTON - Unless Congress ends its impasse over the federal spending this week, the U.S. government faces a Super Bowl of bureaucratic snafus on Friday, the likes of which the country has never seen.

For the first time in its history, the government may default on its financial obligations - making billions of federal checks worthless.

In addition, much of the federal government could be shut down, sending a half-billion or more “nonessential” workers home on an unscheduled holiday and closing government offices from Washington to Anchorage.

The country is being brought to the brink of this double doomsday because of continued wrangling over federal finances.

Congress has until midnight Thursday to reach a resolution of the impasse. Deals are arising daily beginning to make contingency plans if this deadline is not met.

The two problems, a government shutdown and a default, will require separate congressional solutions.

The shutdown can be averted if Congress passes a stopgap appropriation bill to fund government agencies past the expiration of the current temporary spending bill midnigh Thursday.

That is also the deadline for the government to run out of money because Congress has been unable to agree on a measure to raise the government’s borrowing authority above its current limit of $1.823 trillion.

An appropriations bill gives the government the legal power to spend money but it needs an increase in the borrowing limit to raise the money to spend since it will have exhausted its financial reserves by Friday.

Both shutdowns had little impact on the public.

A default, however, which has never occurred before, could have far ranging implications.

The Treasury Department says that as of Friday the government’s coffers will be completely empty.

Russian sailor leaves U.S. amid efforts to block departure

Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS - The freighting tourist ship Moskva, back in New Orleans after a Coast Guard jurisdiction yesterday, has cast off for parts unknown. It will probably embark on a journey to the Soviet Union.

The American Coast Guard seized the ship and its cargo of 300 tons of soybeans as it approached the Port of New Orleans on Oct. 12.

The American authorities had warned the ship's Russian owner not to sail without a Coast Guard escort. The Russian vessel was allowed to leave New Orleans Thursday after a U.S. court ruled that the ship could proceed.

The ship's Russian owner, Gorky, was detained in the port of New Orleans for two days and is due to be released today.

Major snows and cold temps sock nation

Associated Press
Indian summer was over yesterday for the high plains of the Dakotas and Montana, where snow fell and temperatures dropped to 20 below zero.

Heavy snow in Northern California blacked out parts of the Sierra Nevada, closed roads and left up to 5 feet of snow in the Sonora pass. A few miles north of Yosemite National Park, three deaths had been blamed on the winter-like weather.

Casper, Wyo., had a record low for the year with a temperature of 2 degrees below zero.

Indian summer held out in the East, where New York City had a record October snowfall. The National Weather Service said that 73 degrees, one degree above the record for the date set in 1931. Philadelphia and Atlantic City, N.J., had record highs of 72. But farther north, parts of Maine got 2 inches of snow during the morning.

A cold front forcing its way across the Plains reached Dallas approximately at noon and dropped temperatures from the 70s into the 40s and 50s. Around mid-morning, Amarillo had a temperature of just 28 while Brownsville, in far southern Texas, was already at 83 degrees, and McAllen reached a high of 91. Amarillo's 14-degree north wind made it feel like 7 degrees.

A new storm spread snow into the Northwest, and winter storm warnings were posted for higher elevations in Oregon, Idaho, Northern California and northern Nevada.

Up to 5 feet of snow fell on peaks around Lake Tahoe, on the Nevada-California border, and in the nearby Sierra Nevada of Northern California. Interstate 80 was closed between Reno, Nev., and California and authorities said yesterday they didn't know when it would be reopened.

Elsewhere in the Sierra Nevada, 18 empty cars presumed to belong to backpackers, were found by Tuolumne County Sheriff's deputies in the Emigrant Basin Wild Area, a few miles north of Yosemite and about 15 miles northeast of Sonora.

"It was a disastrous situation, had a Coast Guard escort from the time it slipped its moorings in Reserve, 150 miles up the Mississippi River, the only wait to search international waters shortly before midnight Saturday.

It was somewhere in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Tom King.

Unwanted B-ball tickets to be sold

By TRIPP BALTZ
Staff Reporter

Student government plans to sell unwanted tickets for basketball games to those students who waited in line for season tickets but did not get them.

Upperclassmen who want to sell a ticket to a home game can take them to the student government office, where they will be counted and removed.

There will be a lottery for students who bring in their unwanted tickets. The first prize will be $100 for items at the bookstore. Second and third will be $75 and $50, respectively.

"Student government is paying for these prizes, not the bookstore," said Healy.

Healy also thinks this is a good opportunity for upperclassmen to get money back for the games they don't want to attend. "They get the $4, and the chance for a prize," he said.

Creativity, not coercion aids in United Way fundraising

Amy Stephan
Managing Editor

Quakers, Mike Huber and Bob McNamara, apparently gleaned from the successful MS drive is that creativity, not necessarily competition, can spark interest in a cause.

In past years, door-to-door solicitation by "your friendly solicitor" was the bread and butter of the United Way drive. This year, not only could you give a buck for the United Way, but you could lock a friend in a room to raise money for the Boys & Girls Clubs.

The events supporting the United Way campaign have proved almost as diverse as the organizations benefiting from this fund.

The United Way campaign has given students something to do and a reason to give. By sponsoring creative fundraising for a good cause, organizers have helped to keep students interested in the charity they are supporting. These events both spied increased coverage in campus media and attracted attention from students who otherwise might have been indifferent toward the campaign.

Conversely, a worthwhile cause can help to create interest in a new, untapped campus activity. Lack of creative social options on campus is usually rooted in lack of student interest. Few students have the time, resources or motivation to plan campus-wide social events. And too often, when such events are organized by student government or other student groups, lack of publicity and interest causes the events to fall flat on their faces.

The United Way campaign combines resources and motivation needed for successful events. Students who otherwise might pass up a new activity, take an interest when they find it for a good cause.

This creative approach benefits both the United Way and the student body. Donors are treated to a menu of social opportunities, while the United Way takes in the profits.

Huber, McNamara and everyone involved in this year's campaign are to be congratulated. Their method of reaching students did not involve competition, but ensures that everyone - students and the United Way - win.

Spanish hold NATO, U.S. protests

Associated Press

MADRID, Spain - Thousands of people marched and danced down the streets of four Spanish cities yesterday in festive protests against Spain's membership in NATO and the presence of U.S. troops in leased bases.

Witnesses said similar demonstrations last year attracted at least three times as many people, but uniform crowd estimates could not be obtained.

The demonstrations began Saturday night and were organized by a committee representing communist, pacifist and ecologist groups.

Bands played and youths danced as protesters moved down streets in Madrid, Barcelona, Valencia and Gijon. No incidents were reported, and few police were visible along march routes.

Crowd estimates varied widely. Madrid authorities put the crowd there at 15,000. Organizers said nearly 50,000 took part.

Estimates for Barcelona ranged from 10,000 to 25,000 and around 10,000 in Valencia. No estimates were available for Gijon.

Spain became the 16th member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in May 1982, under a centrist government. The Socialist government promised to hold the referendum in early 1983.

Under a 1953 treaty of cooperation, the United States bases and communications posts from Spain in return for military credits. Gonzalez's government approved the latest five-year extension from 1983 to the end of 1988.

About 20,000 American troops stationed in four leased bases began last month.

Under a 1953 treaty of cooperation, the United States bases and communications posts from Spain in return for military credits. Gonzalez's government approved the latest five-year extension of the treaty in 1983.

Spain's leading daily, El Pais, reported Nov. 3 that a poll indicated 46 percent of Spaniards surveyed favored NATO membership.

The political turbulence of Northern Ireland will explode onto the ND Stage

The political turbulence of Northern Ireland will explode onto the stage of the Washington Hall-Lab Theatre beginning this Thursday at 8:10 PM when the Notre Dame Department of Communication and Theatre presents a Showcase Production of "The Freedom of the City" by Brian Friel.

The play will be presented Nov. 14, 15, 16, and 21, 22, 23.

Friel's play tells the story of three citizens of Northern Ireland who attend a demonstration against the government. When government troops move in to disband the crowd with tear gas and rubber bullets, three duck into the nearest building to escape the melee.

Unwittingly they take refuge in the Mayor's Office in the Guildhall. Struck by the irony of finding safety in the building that is the symbol of their oppression, the three begin to drink the mayor's liquor, dress in civic officials' robes and call their friends on the mayor's phone.

The troops outside believe that the Guildhall has been taken by terrorists. Tragedy results because no one has a clear understanding of the facts.

Friel is expert in how he shows that the media is a powerful force in shaping public opinion, and how people on each side of an issue can interpret the facts to support their own cause.

The Lab Theatre, which is at the north end of Washington Hall will lend an intimate environment for this unique and powerful play. The actor-audience relationship will be most important, the director said. The set will surround the action making the audience feel a part of the drama. All seats are $4 and tickets are available at the door or at 320 O'Shaughnessy Hall. For ticket information call 239-5134.

SUPERMARKET SHOOTING SLEAVES NINE DEAD IN BELGIUM

Associated Press

AALST, Belgium - Police said three robbers fired shotguns and pistols "at anything that moved" during a four-minute supermarket holdup that killed four people in a parking lot and three inside the store and left seven wounded.

They said the robbers took about $3,800 and were still at large yesterday. The store was looted by early next year.

The seven people killed at the Delhaize supermarket in Aalst, 16 miles west of Brussels, were a man and his 9-year-old daughter, a couple and their 14-year-old daughter; a 30-year-old woman, and an elderly man.

Five of the gunmen Saturday night fired up to 40 times on their way in and out of the store, got into a car and then fled quickly, police said. They returned after shooting at their pursuers, according to police.

A first aid official said on Belgian radio that "people were shot in cold blood from centimeters (one foot) away."

"They shot at anything that moved - it was a real massacre," said a police official.

Authorities did not rule out that leftist terrorists may be behind the Aalst holdup and others that have killed 20 people since 1982.

Arafat, Hussein pledge takeover

Associated Press

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates - PLO Chief Yasser Arafat said yesterday the Palestinian people will "never let the gun fall from their hands."

And in Jordan, King Hussein told a military graduating class that "the Arab flag" will soon fly over Jerusalem.

Arafat's statement on Abu Dhabi television followed a declaration he made only last week in which he denounced violence against unarmed civilians anywhere and pledged to punish violators of a PLO commitment against terrorism outside Israeli-occupied territory.

Arab, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, said yesterday his Cairo declaration was "a diplomatic riposte to the fierce day his Cairo declaration was denounced violence against black, has been killed in anti-apartheid riots that began Sept. 5, 1984.

In a police statement covering one arrest from Saturday night through dawn yesterday, one black was reported shot to death by police who returned fire in yesterday's Worcester incident.

A black man died southwest of Johannesburg after a mob attacked a guard who fired on them, said police.

Police reported they discovered the body of a young black who had been hacked to death Saturday near Port Elizabeth.

Black mobs regularly attack blacks viewed as collaborators with apartheid, such as policemen and government workers.

Israel Prime Minister Shimon Peres has expressed willingness to negotiate with Hussein and with Palestinians who renounce terrorism.

Palestinians who renounce terrorism and recognize Israel would not feel any impact since those checks went out on time at the first of the month.

If any individual had delayed cashing that check, however, it would not be honored since the government says it has no way to discriminate between obligations once they are paid.

It will not be long before the day that the Arab flag will fly over Jerusalem and the voices (from the mosques) will cry 'God is great' and the bells will ring from the churches there," Hussein said yesterday at the Royal Military Academy in the Jordanian capital.

The king, in alliance with the PLO, has proposed peace with Israel in exchange for Israel's withdrawal from all lands occupied since the 1967 war.

Peace, the king said, should be based on "right and justice" and should restore "the occupied territories to their legitimate owners."

The federal government is scheduled to pay $16 billion in Social Security benefits.

Teacher number, quality slowly rise as salaries increase

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The nation is making "slow, but steady progress" recruiting more and better teachers as salary increases are outstripping inflation, the Carnegie Foundation reported yesterday.

Ernest Boyer, the president of the foundation, said in its new review of school statistics from each state that "the brouhaha over teaching is dramatically demonstrable that all the attention over teaching is paying off in slow, but steady, progress."

Its author, C. Emily芬nter, director of the National Center for Education Information, said the latest data on teacher salaries, test scores and other topics "dramatically demonstrates that all the brouhaha over teaching is paying off in slow, but steady, progress."

Teachers lost 12 percent of their purchasing power in the previous 10 years, but their salaries rose 6.2 percent in 1984-85 and 6.9 percent last year, when inflation was only 3 to 4 percent each year, the report said.

Citing National Education Association figures, the report said the average classroom teacher made $25,940 in 1984-85. The median household income for teachers was $30,000 in 1983, or roughly "the same as that for all college graduates," it said.

Four percent of teachers, 85,000, had a household income of $15,000 or less, compared with 16 percent of the working public. "This is at the opposite end of the income scale," 33 percent of teachers, 75,000, were in households with incomes of $50,000 or more, compared with 20 percent of the working public.

"Teacher salaries are higher than those of state and local government employees, and both are outstripping the inflation rate," it said. "Yet a smaller and smaller proportion of ever-increasing school spending goes for teachers' salaries."

"The SAT scores of prospective teachers are rising faster than the national averages," it said. "The gap between the SAT scores of high school students who say they are going to major in education, and the national average SAT score narrowed from 80 points in 1982 to 70 points in 1989."

NBC movie regarding AIDS victim to air

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Rock Hudson's bout with AIDS has prompted the made- for-TV movie, "An Early Frost," in which AIDS-support groups feel millions of Americans will have their best chance yet to be educated about the deadly disease and its impact.

"An Early Frost" is the story of how one family is torn apart when their 29-year-old homosexual lawyer, contracts acquired immune deficiency syndrome. NBC, which will broadcast the two-hour film tonight, predicts a national audience of 50 million viewers.

Mark Senak, director of legal services for the Gay Men's Health Crisis in New York, said the interest in Hudson raised both consciousness and fear. "If we can avoid a step further," he said. "It takes our hands and says, 'Calm down.'"

"Rock Hudson was the first mass humanization of AIDS to the American public," said Glen Kenney, associate director of AIDS Project LA. "Until then, it was a name without a face, numbers without a body. That was step one. Opening the eyes. Step two is putting something in front of those eyes, introducing it in a palpable way."

At a screening of "An Early Frost" in New York on Friday, AIDS victim Joseph Foulon, 29, was moved to tears several times. "I've been through everything he has," said Foulon. "I've been rejected by people and had friends die."

In the movie, the AIDS patient is initially rejected by his father, played by Ben Gazzara. Foulon said, "I haven't talked to his own father about his illness yet. He says he hopes to do that this Thanksgiving."

"I saw hope in that the father came around in the movie," Foulon said. "You can't do it alone."

NBC and AIDS-related groups around the country hope the public will respond to that message.

Kicking causes halt to co-ed recess

Associated Press

WARWICK, R.I. - Segregation by sex on a school playground to protect boys from the kicks and punches of girls may be ending, now that a treaty has been worked out.

Principal Richard Sousa agreed Friday to allow the boys and girls of Oakland Beach Elementary School to play together again on a trial basis beginning tomorrow, students said.

The agreement followed a meeting between a Sousa-appointed committee of fifth and sixth grade boys and girls.

"He left us alone for 15 minutes or so to work on solutions on how we thought we could solve the problem," said sixth-grader Leslie Fudge.

Under the agreement, the schoolyard will be usted as of tomorrow, but will be segregated again if fighting resumes. If that happens, Sousa told the students they would set aside a portion of the playground for peaceful mixing of boys and girls.

The segregation was imposed when boys at the 430-pupil school complained they were being "kicked where it counts" and beaten up by girls when they went outside during recess periods.

AIDS Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome making headlines in every newspaper and magazine worldwide, this deadly disease may be killing one of the most feared illnesses today.

No one is absolutely sure, but it seems as if there have been no reported cases of AIDS at Notre Dame.

Father Fran Calebiler, assistant vice president for student affairs, says he has not heard of any cases of AIDS at Notre Dame, but he also assured that AIDS is a medical problem and that any incidents of the disease would not necessarily be reported to him.

"The administration is aware that it (AIDS) is a real problem that we have to face," he said. "It's a Notre Dame student were to be confirmed to have AIDS, "we'd do whatever we believe is the right thing." This is so new. I can't say ahead of time how it will be handled, other than as a medical, personal problem," said Calebiler.

Notre Dame has several sources through which one can gain information and concern about AIDS. A newsletter containing an article about what students can do to gain information about AIDS is available at the infirmary, "says Carol Seager, director of University Health Services. This information, as well as fact sheets on AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases, can be obtained through the infirmary. For privacy reasons, an appointment with a nurse regarding personal issues can be made, rather than asking for the information at the window.

Dr. Alicia Finn, coordinator for outreach and counseling at Psychosocial Services, says that Psychosocial Services has not received any calls concerning AIDS. A call, however, would be handled by "helping the student acquire the medical information necessary," Finn says, "and the can conduct the interview in a private setting." The workers would also help the student deal with the psychological aspects of contracting AIDS or knowing someone with the disease.

The Office of University Ministry can also help in dealing with AIDS. Individual counseling can be set up, and become each case would be unique.

Many colleges and universities across the country have drawn up policies concerning AIDS. Publications like the one available through the infirmary are being distributed to college students in an effort to educate them and calm their fears.

The University of California at Berkeley is also developing an AIDS education program scheduled for fall. Policies concerning AIDS. Publications like the one available through the infirmary are being distributed to college students in an effort to educate them and calm their fears.

Lalia Dane,

Notre Dame student have mixed feelings about AIDS. "I am no more concerned about AIDS than I am about cancer," says one student. Another one said, "I think it's scary because I think it's something that's so foreign and inexplicable, and in our society, anything that's inexplicable is scary.

According to a fact sheet provided by the U.S. Public Health Service, AIDS was initially reported in America in 1981, and 12,000 reports of cases have been received since then. Of these, half have resulted in death.

The AIDS condition is characterized by a defect in natural immunity against disease. Researchers have isolated a virus called Human T-Lymphotropic, type III (HTLV-III), which is the cause of AIDS. Infection, however, does not always lead to AIDS. If the virus takes hold in a person's immune system and leaves its victims vulnerable to other diseases and infections.

The majority of people with AIDS are homosexual or bisexual men with multiple partners, and past or present intravenous drug users. More than 90 percent of people with AIDS are men.

AIDS is spread by sexual contact, needle sharing, or, less commonly, through blood or its components. However, there is no definitive evidence yet that the virus can be spread through casual contact with objects or with objects they have touched.

There is no single test which conclusively confirms AIDS. There is a test which detects the presence of antibodies to the virus that causes AIDS, but this may or may not mean the patient is infected.

AIDS is, indeed, a serious medical problem deserving the attention it has been given in the past year. Says Time, "Only a large dose of public education and preventive medicine can slow the rate at which AIDS is spreading around the world."

AIDS Information Hotline has been established: 1-800-447-AIDS.

Kevin... and besides this, the day we're supposed to review all those fun comic strips right here in The Observer!

Kris: What a worry puppy you are, Walsh. Well, let's get going. Which comic strip do you hate the most? Kevin: I have to go with "Nancy," Murph. Nice hair, Nancy. They should reserve a special role in hell for the guy who gets paid for writing that strip. What about you?

Kris: I can't stand "Henny." The kid's bald and he wears shorts in the winter. They're just ugly shorts, too. And he never talks. So you've got this social kid in ugly shorts and he's supposed to be funny. Uh-uh, wrong.

Kevin: He wears a scarf, Kris. But he's bald and he doesn't wear a hat. He can only carry this Zen stoic so far. And besides, he looks like a hard-boiled egg.

Kevin: Speaking of hard-boiled eggs. Charlie Brown has to be one of the clumsiest comic characters of all time. The Woody Allen of the comics...

Kris: Nice nice. Nice shirt. He always sticks his tongue out when he pitches. Kevin: But there's something symbolic about this hapless kid who gets bopped by a woman with a football every fall.

Kris: Kind of like you, big guy, hapless, uncoordinated.

Kevin: You're one to talk, Mr. Sleep Through His Own Column

Kris Tane. How about Woodstock? A bird named after a rock concert where everyone ran around naked and stove.

Kevin: Speaking of stove, Little Orphan Annie? No, it's his comic strip, Quaildays. Where did she get her eyes? My personal theory is that she was the daughter of Dagwood and Blondie. I can see Blondie turning to Dagwood and saying "You've got to go, you've got eyes; let's get away." Kevin: Blondie, easily the best comic strip of all time.

Kevin: Next to Nancy's aunt, you could be a Blondie swim suit calendar. And look at Dagwood, the man's a funny Looking thing sticking out of the side of his head and he runs into the mailbox every day. The guy's a moron.

Kevin: Speaking of morons, have you been reading "Spiderman" lately? Uh-oh.

Kris: This week, Spiderman reveals that he was molested as a child. Kevin: I won't touch that one. It sounds like "Auntie 5-G.

Kris: What really goes on in Apartment 5-G? No one ever eats or cleans house or anything. They're always crying or shooting someone and it reminds me of "Dallas." Kevin: It's like those "mice" comic strips. You know, "The Phantom," "Dick Tracy."

Kris: Nice names. Would you trust someone named the Phantom? Kevin: ... or someone named Gil Thorpe? Does anyone really read these things with any degree of seriousness? Kris: Yet another case of cartoon characters taking themselves too seriously.

Kevin: Yeah, I'd love to see one of those macho guys like Steve Canyon hunt Garfield down and kill him. The kinder of the guys who write these things. How does the guy who writes "Donny" sleep at night?

Kevin: "Gandhi?"

Kris: Close. Forget it.

Kevin: Speaking of doughnuts, "Doonesbury" was always one of my favorites. Then everybody married that "Hummer" showed up, and Zonker graduated...

Big 10 looks to have six conference teams picked by bowl committees

Associated Press

It didn’t take the Iowa Hawkeyes long to recover from their loss to Ohio State which cost them the No. 1 ranking in the nation the previous week.

Rebounded to No. 6, the Hawkeyes rebounded with a stunning 59-0 victory over Illinois.

“We came into this game mentally prepared,” said Iowa Coach Hayden Fry. “Our team was heartbroken and embarrassed when we lost to a fine Ohio State team. It took a lot of character for us to come back.”

The victory enabled Iowa to retain a share of first place with Ohio State in the Big Ten race with two games to play. Ohio State, ranked Northwestern 35-17 and Michigan.

zone. We set them up for numerous overloads and breakaways. We were looking to score.

The Irish came out vastly improved in Saturday evening’s finale. Ohio State took a 1-0 lead and outburst within 34 seconds sparked the Wolfe 5-3 victory.

Mike Hamill stock in a rebound from Pat Marody to make the final 5-3.

Coach Smith was at least pleased with his team’s improved play.

“We played much better than last night. We had two miscues that unfortunately resulted in scores. For the most part, though, we played 100 percent better.”

Irish captain Bob Thebeau agreed with Smith’s assessment of the situation.

“We had a lot more work and enthusiasm out there tonight,” noted Thebeau. “We got out to a good start last night, but then we went into a shell. The three goals put us down. Anything that happens, it takes the wind out of your sails.

The Irish played the series without Tom Mooney who had been centering a line with Chapman and Pinkerti scored his 52nd career touchdown moments later to move him into fifth place on the all-time NCAA touchdown list and to give the Irish a 2-0 margin.

It was all over at this point. Tight end Tom Reilly later took an Andy Strids pass 22 yards for a touchdown, and Irish fullback Carey Southern added a last-minute seven-yarder for his first college touchdown to forge the 59-0 final.

There is not much time, however, for the Irish to sit back and enjoy this. Not with Penn State, LSU and Florida looming on the horizon.

“We’ve come back to prove ourselves and had a good start with a shot-handed score of 3-0. Not with Penn State, LSU and Florida looming on the horizon.

With two centers out, Smith was forced to juggle his lines. Their absence was keenly felt on the power play, which converted only twice in 12 extra-man advantages.

“We weren’t able to practice the power play without them,” said Smith of the situation. “With something that involves so much timing, that’s hard to do.”

On the bright side, the Irish penalty unit allowed only one score in the series while coming away with a short-handed score of their own.

The Irish will try to get back on the victory trail this Friday and Saturday night when they return to the friendly confines of the ACC for games against St. Thomas. Face offs for both games will be at 7:30.
Bears beat Cardinals for first win

"It was old-fashioned football - old-fashioned Bear football," running back John Riggins said after leading the Washington Redskins to a 27-10 victory over the Chicago Bears yesterday. "We finally put things together and played a Bear football game."

Riggins rushed 26 times for 107 yards, the most by a Bear in 12 games this season, and Quick combined for the longest play of the season in the NFL. Atlanta's 1-9, had rallied for 17 points in the final period to tie the game with 2:32 remaining.

Second-year quarterback Boomer Esiason passed for 262 yards and a touchdown, outshining Cleveland rookie Bernie Kosar. The Bengals' third consecutive victory kept them tied for first place in the AFC Central Division with Pittsburgh at 5-5. Cleveland fell to 4-6 with its fourth straight loss.

Esiason completed 23 of 33 passes without an interception, while Kosar was 16 of 32 for 319 yards in his fifth pro start. However, the rookie was just nine of 22 for 63 yards on 29 carries and De Berg for Tampa Bay in its last 42 games and was the first for the franchise.

Fuller completed 17 of 33 passes for 312 yards, scored on runs of one and 50 yards and set up another touchdown by completing passes of 77 and 12 yards for 55 and 3-4 yards. The Rams’ victory avenged a 13-10 loss earlier in the season.

Bills 20, Oilers 0

Buffalo, 2-8, was led by quarterback Bruce Mathison, making the first regular-season start of his third career. He completed 11 of 22 passes for 157 yards, including a 63-yard pass to noodles for the Bills’ first touchdown pass to Eddie Lee Ivery.

The Packers, 4-6, were trailing when Dickey replaced starter Jim Zorn. After Dickey threw to Ivory for the go-ahead touchdown, he fumbled in the first quarter, a territory a Tom Kramer pass and returned it 50 yards for the clincher.

Irish wrestling team opens season with a strong sixth-place finish

Projecting Notre Dame

By ED JORDANICH
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame wrestling team began its season Saturday with a sixth-place finish in the Michigan State Invitational. The meet, which featured 32 teams, was held in East Lansing, Mich.

The Irish had 176 points, while the host Michigan State men placed second with 322 points. The two teams were the only ones in the top five who had not appeared in the national rankings before the season started. The Irish had placed sixth in the dual meet national rankings.

"The Irish are looking good," said McCann. "They have a good deal more poise and confidence than freshmen who have been the Irish in the past. They have been working hard. The path was not as good in their first, and the secondary was less." McCann said the Irish won two out of three on the day and set up the first Irish dual since 1979.

"I'm happy with the way the freshmen performed," said McCann. "Their given interest to the return by Lawrence and making five tackles."

Inside linebacker Tony Furjanic led the Irish with six tackles, as well as adding two for losses. In total, the Irish defense allowed 24 points on 265 total yards against the Purdue passing game. McCann said the defense is doing well and has turned itself around.

"We feel like the Irish are doing well with the secondary and the linebackers," said McCann. "We have a very good job of coming together."

The defense has been crucial in the Irish's recent success, as they have allowed just five points in the last two games. McCann said the defense is doing a good job of stopping the run and forcing turnovers.

"They are getting better," said McCann. "They are happy with the way the defense is performing, and they are starting to get confidence in themselves."

Flanner beats Grace in semifinals, takes fifth interhalf win in a row

By BRYG STOHR
Sports Writer

With a little help from some cold, rainy weather conditions, Flanner averted an early season loss to Grace in surprising the Green Machine, 6-0, yesterday to advance to the championship game of the interhalf football playoffs. Flanner will face Alumni on Nov. 24 in the stadium for the championship.

A 12-yard touchdown pass from Randy Bridgebender to Fred Achrer in the second quarter provided the difference. Bridgebender hit Achrer on the five-yard line, and the freshman snatched the end zone for the score.

"It was kind of a joke," said Achrer. "His (Bridgebender's) hands were so numb that the ball kind of struggled into the end zone for the first lap Saturday, set the previous series record with Bobby Rahal for the victory, driving his 23-year-old son.

"We had the advantage because they never lost that excitement as all our fans, and defensive lineman for the second half of the field for almost the entire game. "Our defense looked really quick as I could so he wouldn't pass me all in all the best defensive showing I have seen in three years."

The only scoring drive came on Alumni's fourth possession. To open the drive, Alumni drove 87 yards on 11 plays, with only Brazilian rookie Roberto Moreno between him and Grace's 25. In the fourth period Flanner fumbled on its own 25.

"We had some pretty good holes up here by the linemen," said Sullivan, who manned the offensive line for Sorin. For the game, Sullivan said, "I thought our defense was great, but we never approached the Flanner goal line."

Al Unser, Sr. wins Indy-car with fourth-place finish Saturday

MIAMI - As hard as he tried, there was no way Al Unser could keep from taking chances. He was held back from another Miami Dolphins visitation by the defensive line for Sorin was unleashed on its own 25.

"We knew exactly what the situation was," said Sullivan. "Everyone gave their all "

"The interception came after a third-weekend completed. Mike Karoszki to Dan Lally. Because the pass went Sorin inside the Alumni 30 with only three minutes remaining, the interception stopped the drive and preserved an Alumni victory. Laughlin felt that Jim's interception was the pinnacle of a great game played by Sorin.

"Jim Goebel played inspired football when he came in on key defensive plays," said Sullivan. "He made the interception in the end that held the drive. He was right around the ball all the time."

The Sorin defense played adequately in holding the Alumni offense in check, except for the opening drive, Assistant Otter coach Mike Scooby felt that their defense did it ended.

"The defense held Alumni in check after the initial drive," intended Scooby. "We gave our best effort, we just didn't do it,

"We didn't know what to expect from a team that had scored upon all season," said Sullivan. "After our initial scoring drive, we knew we could get the job done."

The defense as well as the offense had the ball well. Team pursuit and gang tackling was great. We were basically very excited. We never felt the excitement as the Alumni fans cheered us on to victory."

Irish take easy win over Ole Miss; Lions up next
Both Irish quarterbacks perform well in 37-14 win

By MARY BURNS
Sports Editor

All last week, Notre Dame head coach Gerry Faust thought he had a quarterback problem. But Missisippi showed it had a quarterback problem. But Mike O'Sullivan, who had started the past two games, or sophomore Mark Young, who had completed four of eight passes for 60 yards and a touchdown pass after the inter-

Johnson or the newcomer Terry Andrysiak? But that was all wrong. The first thing I thought of when I saw the ball in the air was that I could run with it and run the moment. I was the only one small part in a big thing. Things just started clicking.

The interception problems of Ole Miss had a slow start, but once we got the ball moving it went like a gift. The first down was a microcosm of the evening as a whole. The Irish defense leads charge

Michigan-Dearborn sweeps Irish; hockey team's record drops to 2-6

By DENNIS CORRIGAN
Sports Writer

DEARBORN, Mich. -- The road hasn't been kind to the Notre Dame hockey team. Despite back to back games, the Irish have posted only one win and a tie in nineteen road games. Their road woes continued this weekend at the University of Michigan-Dearborn where the Irish completed a three-game sweep of the Wolverines and broke the Irish record.

From then on matters got quickly out of hand. The Irish put together their three goals within a 1:20 span to take a 5-2 lead. Ross Waters scored the first as he picked up a loose puck and stuffed it past Lukenda. Seven seconds later, Scott Davenport caught the Irish napping after the face-off, taking it from Duda and steaming in unopposed to whip one past Lukenda who had no chance. A minute and 13 seconds later, Duda got his second goal of the evening when he tipped Chaplin's shot at Lukenda.
