The Observer

Security conducts searches of Flanner, Keenan rooms

By ALEX PELTZER

Notre Dame Security officers conducted surprise searches in some students' rooms in Flanner and Keenan halls Monday, according to Security Director Rex Rakow.

Rakow said one or more rooms in Flanner and one room in Keenan were searched but would not say what the officers were looking for or what was found.

The searches were "a disciplinary action taken against certain students," Rakow said. He added that it was an internal matter from the Office of Student Affairs.

A Flanner residence student, who requested anonymity, said he knew what Security was looking for but would not say what was found.

In the near future, dormitory administrators were told to ensure that "the spider's web of dependency" is broken.

The president suggested few initiatives in his fifth such address, boosting again his tax reform proposal and extolling Congress to cut the federal deficit by reducing spending. His remarks included an optimistic thumbs-down on tax increases.

By MARK PANKOWSKI

The University's Housing Rules and Regulations state: "The University reserves the right to enter rooms without a search warrant for the purpose of maintaining security, discipline, and the orderly operation of an educational institution."

Concerning the right of security to enter Flanner, Rakow said "the University reserves the right to search a student's room."

Washington and Security conduct searches of Flanner and Keenan halls Monday night.

Notre Dame Security officers conducted surprise searches in some students' rooms in Flanner and Keenan halls Monday, according to Security Director Rex Rakow.

Rakow said one or more rooms in Flanner and one room in Keenan were searched but would not say what the officers were looking for or what was found.

The searches were "a disciplinary action taken against certain students," Rakow said. He added that it was an internal matter from the Office of Student Affairs.

A Flanner residence student, who requested anonymity, said he knew what Security was looking for but would not say what was found.

In the near future, dormitory administrators were told to ensure that "the spider's web of dependency" is broken.

The president suggested few initiatives in his fifth such address, boosting again his tax reform proposal and extolling Congress to cut the federal deficit by reducing spending. His remarks included an optimistic thumbs-down on tax increases.

By MARK PANKOWSKI

The University's Housing Rules and Regulations state: "The University reserves the right to enter rooms without a search warrant for the purpose of maintaining security, discipline, and the orderly operation of an educational institution."

Concerning the right of security to enter Flanner, Rakow said "the University reserves the right to search a student's room."

Washington and Security conduct searches of Flanner and Keenan halls Monday night.

No parietals changes imminent at ND and Saint Mary's

Editor's note This is the last in a three-day series examining parietals at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. Today's stories will look at the future of parietals and coed dorms.

By MARK PANKOWSKI

Although the parietals regulations at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's may not be etched in concrete, they aren't written in sand either.

Changes in the parietals regulations at Notre Dame are unlikely in the near future, according to administrators. And the same holds true at Saint Mary's, College officials said.

"The rules and regulations that guide our lives together on this campus are not all etched in concrete," University President Father Theodore Hesburgh wrote to the Judicial Council last December.

"In fact, there have been many changes during my 33 years in the presidency, and I suspect that there will be further changes and clarifications in the years ahead," Hesburgh wrote.

Junior Bruce Lohman sees those words as "an invitation for discussion and perhaps change" in the punishment for overnight parietals violations at Notre Dame.

Proposal For Change

Lohman has drafted a proposal to change the wording in the Campus Life Council next week, said Hesburgh was steering students in the direction of change in the last part of his letter.

That last portion stated in part that "there are mechanisms for change and appropriate forums in which rules that are discussed should be addressed. The Office of the President is not the place to institute change." Lohman interpreted Hesburgh's words as "channeling students right to the CLC where (it) a proposal should be discussed.

According to Judicial Council Coordinator Karen Ingwersen, anyone can make a proposal to the CLC. If the CLC approves the proposal, it goes to Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson for his signature.

If Tyson signs the proposal, it becomes a University regulation, said Ingwersen. If the vice president vetoes the proposal, it can be taken before the Board of Trustees for approval, she said.

Student Body President Bill Healy also said suspension or dismissal for overnight parietals violations is too severe a penalty.

"I think the severity of the punishment for a parietals violation should range."

No parietals changes imminent at ND and Saint Mary's

By MARK PANKOWSKI

Although the parietals regulations at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's may not be etched in concrete, they aren't written in sand either.

Changes in the parietals regulations at Notre Dame are unlikely in the near future, according to administrators. And the same holds true at Saint Mary's, College officials said.

"The rules and regulations that guide our lives together on this campus are not all etched in concrete," University President Father Theodore Hesburgh wrote to the Judicial Council last December.

"In fact, there have been many changes during my 33 years in the presidency, and I suspect that there will be further changes and clarifications in the years ahead," Hesburgh wrote.

Junior Bruce Lohman sees those words as "an invitation for discussion and perhaps change" in the punishment for overnight parietals violations at Notre Dame.

Proposal For Change

Lohman has drafted a proposal to change the wording in the Campus Life Council next week, said Hesburgh was steering students in the direction of change in the last part of his letter.

That last portion stated in part that "there are mechanisms for change and appropriate forums in which rules that are discussed should be addressed. The Office of the President is not the place to institute change." Lohman interpreted Hesburgh's words as "channeling students right to the CLC where (it) a proposal should be discussed.

According to Judicial Council Coordinator Karen Ingwersen, anyone can make a proposal to the CLC. If the CLC approves the proposal, it goes to Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson for his signature.

If Tyson signs the proposal, it becomes a University regulation, said Ingwersen. If the vice president vetoes the proposal, it can be taken before the Board of Trustees for approval, she said.

Student Body President Bill Healy also said suspension or dismissal for overnight parietals violations is too severe a penalty.

"I think the severity of the punishment for a parietals violation should range."

Saying heavy federal deficits cloud the future, Reagan said, "We cannot win that race held back by heavy and burdensome programs that waste tax dollars and squander human potential."

Reagan also hopes to reform welfare programs, Reagan said: "In the welfare culture, the breakdown of the family, the most basic support system, has reached crisis proportions and in female and child poverty, child abandonment, horrible crimes and deteriorating schools," Reagan said.

In a prepared response, the Democratic Party said Reagan's view of the condition of America is too rosy, that under Reagan's leadership, the country is too far from "the possibility of coed dorms, said Ingwersen. He's convinced that students... would want coed dorms."

Healy said, "I think there's a significant number of students wanting coed dorms," Healy said. "But I wouldn't necessarily say a majority."

"Beaucamp, however, said he's "not convinced that students... would want coeducational dorms."

"I'm not my impression that there's been any serious discussion," he said. "If push came to shove they really wouldn't want them."

Although student government is not working on any coed dorm proposals, Healy said he thought Notre Dame should have them.

"The possibility should be open for the people who would want to choose them," Healy said.

Several factors play a part in explaining the absence of coed dorms at Notre Dame, including the design of the University's current dorms, said Beaucamp, who stressed that, because administrators haven't discussed the possibility of coed dorms, he was giving his own opinion and not speaking for the University.

see PARIETALS, page 3

Coad dormitories at ND not likely

No parietals changes imminent at ND and Saint Mary's

By MARK PANKOWSKI

Although the parietals regulations at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's may not be etched in concrete, they aren't written in sand either.

Changes in the parietals regulations at Notre Dame are unlikely in the near future, according to administrators. And the same holds true at Saint Mary's, College officials said.

"The rules and regulations that guide our lives together on this campus are not all etched in concrete," University President Father Theodore Hesburgh wrote to the Judicial Council last December.

"In fact, there have been many changes during my 33 years in the presidency, and I suspect that there will be further changes and clarifications in the years ahead," Hesburgh wrote.

Junior Bruce Lohman sees those words as "an invitation for discussion and perhaps change" in the punishment for overnight parietals violations at Notre Dame.

Proposal For Change

Lohman has drafted a proposal to change the wording in the Campus Life Council next week, said Hesburgh was steering students in the direction of change in the last part of his letter.

That last portion stated in part that "there are mechanisms for change and appropriate forums in which rules that are discussed should be addressed. The Office of the President is not the place to institute change." Lohman interpreted Hesburgh's words as "channeling students right to the CLC where (it) a proposal should be discussed.

According to Judicial Council Coordinator Karen Ingwersen, anyone can make a proposal to the CLC. If the CLC approves the proposal, it goes to Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson for his signature.

If Tyson signs the proposal, it becomes a University regulation, said Ingwersen. If the vice president vetoes the proposal, it can be taken before the Board of Trustees for approval, she said.

Student Body President Bill Healy also said suspension or dismissal for overnight parietals violations is too severe a penalty.

"I think the severity of the punishment for a parietals violation should range."

Saying heavy federal deficits cloud the future, Reagan said, "We cannot win that race held back by heavy and burdensome programs that waste tax dollars and squander human potential."

Reagan also hopes to reform welfare programs, Reagan said: "In the welfare culture, the breakdown of the family, the most basic support system, has reached crisis proportions and in female and child poverty, child abandonment, horrible crimes and deteriorating schools," Reagan said.

In a prepared response, the Democratic Party said Reagan's view of the condition of America is too rosy, that under Reagan's leadership, the country is too far from "the possibility of coed dorms, said Ingwersen. He's convinced that students... would want coed dorms."

Healy said, "I think there's a significant number of students wanting coed dorms," Healy said. "But I wouldn't necessarily say a majority."

"Beaucamp, however, said he's "not convinced that students... would want coeducational dorms."

"I'm not my impression that there's been any serious discussion," he said. "If push came to shove they really wouldn't want them."

Although student government is not working on any coed dorm proposals, Healy said he thought Notre Dame should have them.

"The possibility should be open for the people who would want to choose them," Healy said.

Several factors play a part in explaining the absence of coed dorms at Notre Dame, including the design of the University's current dorms, said Beaucamp, who stressed that, because administrators haven't discussed the possibility of coed dorms, he was giving his own opinion and not speaking for the University.

see COED, page 3
Birth control or abortion?

New drug raises ethical questions

If there is one issue most Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students agree on, it is abortion: most believe the Catholic Church's doctrine that says abortion is murder and it is wrong. The pro-life movement has a lot of support here, as evidenced by the handful of students which recently trekked to Washington D.C. for the annual march and protest against abortion. Some pro-lifers believe the battle is nearing a conclusion, claiming that public opinion on the issue is shifting toward an anti-abortion stance. They may be only half right. "RU-486, a new pill which could end the abortion debate - with the pro-life movement on the losing side." As New York University's Tony Kaye reported in a recent issue of The New Republic, "RU-486 is an experimental pill which is at least five years away from commercial release. Nonetheless, it has the potential to end the abortion debate because of its convenience and because, for many people, it will blur the line between abortion and contraception.

RU-486 is a steroidal compound which "blocks the cells in the lining of the uterus from receiving progesterone, the hormone that builds up the uterine wall, allowing the fertilized ovum to implant in the womb and mature," Kaye reported. "Deprived of progesterone, the wall of the uterus breaks down, just as it does in a normal menstrual cycle. The ovum breaks off from the uterine wall and is discharged in a period."

As far as efficiency is concerned, RU-486 has had a 90 to 99 percent success rate in recent laboratory tests. The new pill has induced spontaneous and serious bleeding in several cases, but researchers believe those problems will be eliminated when the proper dosage is discovered.

If its imperfections are worked out, RU-486 will pose several problems to the pro-life movement.

From a practical standpoint, RU-486 will rob the pro-lifers of one of their most potent weapons: their war against abortion: shock value. While Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students may oppose abortion for moral or theoretical reasons, the public has been influenced largely by emotionally momentous. Grisly photos of aborted fetuses and moms such as "The Silent Scream" have presented a brutal, ugly picture of abortion. Such displays have been very useful in the pro-life movement's effort to sway public opinion.

But, as Kaye points out, RU-486 will provide no such

Keith Harrison

Assistant News Editor

Opportunities it will, indeed, make early pregnancy abortions more attractive, because the RU-486 method can be used at home, rather than at an abortion clinic. Thus, the explicit photos of newly-developed fetuses will no longer be germane to the debate. They will have to be replaced by much less convincing pictures of embryos. For many people, then, RU-486 would be a form of contraception rather than abortion.

RU-486 will pose another problem for pro-lifers: Women will be able to use it without ever knowing whether or not they are pregnant. A woman who has missed her period can quickly take RU-486 and it will induce a period within 48 hours. This convenient procedure will seem very attractive to many women, much to the pro-life movement's dismay. For, as Kaye noted, RU-486's "llducation committee is not sure she is having an abortion does not mean she is not having one.

None of this means the battle is over for the pro-life forces. They can emphasize the theoretical side of their argument: that life begins at fertilization, regardless of how little an embryo resembles a human being. And they can try to get The Supreme Court to outlaw abortion before RU-486 becomes available.

But one thing is certain: if and when RU-486 is released commercially, it will make the pro-life movement's battle against abortion a much tougher one.

---

The Observer is always looking for talent. If you have any, come to our offices and start working on your newspaper.

---

Engineers

February 26

Sundstrand on Campus

Sundstrand, a leading technology-based company, supplies advanced electrical and mechanical aerospace systems for commercial, business, and military jet aircraft as well as missiles and space applications.

Substrand is a Fortune 500 company headquartered in Rockford, Illinois with annual sales of about $1 billion. Through our worldwide network of manufacturing and service locations, we apply the latest technologies in designing, manufacturing, and marketing our products.

In addition to openings for graduating engineers, we have a cooperative education program for engineering students. We offer a competitive salary and a solid benefit package including health and dental, educational reimbursement, and a liberal vacation and holiday schedule, and we're all about campus or write:

College Relations Representative
Sundstrand Corporation
4747 Harrison Avenue
P.O. Box 7002
Rockford, IL 61125-7002

An Equal Opportunity Employer

---

Weather

Permacloud shows no signs of leaving South Bend as the friendly neighborhood weatherman predicts a 20 percent chance of rain today with highs in the upper 50s. A 40 percent chance of showers tonight and tomorrow with lows in the mid 30s and highs in the upper 50s.

---

The Observer

In Brief

Berke Breathed, creator of the "Bloom County" comic strip, was injured in the crash of his ultra-light airplane in New Mexico and is in good condition after surgery. He is expected to be out of action for 4 to 8 weeks. In the interim, he has suggested that his newspaper clients receive previously published but not distributed strips, daily and Sunday. - The Observer

The Circle K clubs of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's sent ten members to the Circle K International Midwestern Leadership Training Conference held in Toledo, Ohio last weekend. The group was among more than 200 participants from eleven states who exchanged the latest ideas in service projects, social activities, and leadership techniques and hope to implement them on the two campuses. - The Observer

The Army ROTC Drill Team was second place trophy at the Purdue Invitational Drill Meet last Saturday. The team placed in both the regulation and exhibition categories in competition against fourteen other teams. The team was led by First Sergeant Joe Schwenger and Commander Laura McKnight. - The Observer

Of Interest

"The Transformation of American Sisters: The Sister Formation as Catalyst for Change, 1954-1964," is the topic of a lecture by Professor Mary Schneider tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the lounge of the Memorial Library. Schneider is a member of the Department of Religious Studies at Michigan State University. The lecture is part of the American Catholic Studies Seminar, sponsored by the Charles and Margaret Hall Cushwa Center for the Study of American Catholicism. - The Observer

The Notre Dame Shakespeare Club will hold its last meeting of the semester tonight at 8:15 in the lounge of the Memorial Library. All new members are welcome. - The Observer

Toastmasters International will meet tonight at 8 in room 225 Hayes-Healy. All guests and new members are welcome. - The Observer

Want to sound off? Dr. Dan Lapley, professor of psychology at Notre Dame will be the guest on "Campus Perspective" tonight at 10 on WFTY-AM 64. Host John Deckers will have kept phone in questions and comments at 239-6400.

Spiritual Rock will hold a Christian Fellowship meeting tonight at 7 in Keenan and Stanford Chapel. All are welcome. - The Observer

Non-violence is the subject of a forum centering on Thomas Merton today at 4 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns. Sister Elena Malan, an expert on Merton, will lead a discussion on his life. The forum is sponsored by Pax Christi. - The Observer

The ND Chicago Club will be having its organizational meeting tonight at 7 in the Little Theater of LaFortune. - The Observer

---

The Observer (ISSN 592-4600) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $10 per year (40) per semester by writing The Observer. P.O. Box 9, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
The Observer

Parietals continued from page 1

from community service to being kicked off campus,” said Healy.

“I think there are very few cases where suspension or dismissal should occur, and then it should be limited to the severest violations of the most important rules on campus,” he said.

No Current Administrative Dis­cussion

Tyson, who was interviewed before lohnson’s proposal was drafted and who declined to com­ment afterward, said Student Affairs had not discussed a change in the punish­ment for overnight parietals violations.

The reason, he said, was because overnight parietals violations do not automatically result in suspension or dismissal. In contrast to what du Lac seems to state.

“Normally an overnight parietal violation will result in suspension or dismissal,” Tyson said. “If the circumstances don’t warrant that, I don’t think that will happen.”

In fact, the University has no set punishments for any violation, said Tyson, echoing the sentiments expressed in Heubschy’s letter to the Judicial Council.

The Dec. 11 letter stated that the circumstances relevant to a parietal case are always considered in determining the appropriate punish­ment, “whether the issue at hand be an overnight parietals violation or some other matter.”

Although no automatic punish­ment exists, Ingwersen asked whether suspension or dismissal might be too severe a punishment to be imposed even ordinarily.

“I think there are two questions,” said Ingwersen, speaking after last Thursday’s Judicial Council meeting.

“One dealing with extenuating circumstances, which has been answered; the second question being the severity of the penalty in proportion to the rule or regulation. I don’t think that has been answered,” she said.

Heubschy’s letter indicated that a change might be possible in du Lac’s wording regarding punishments for overnight parietals violations, but only to reflect that all circumstances are taken into account before a punishment is imposed.

“Perhaps the wording in du Lac’s wording regarding punishments for overnight parietals could be changed to indicate more clearly that the penalty is not automatic, but the fact is that it is not automatic,” he wrote.

Tyson also said he thought Associate Vice President for Residence Life John Goldrick and Director of Residence Life Ann Firth were looking into such a change in du Lac’s wording, but Firth said Student Affairs currently has “no plans to present anything to the CUC on parietals.”

The student affairs office at Saint Mary’s also has not discussed revis­ing its punishment policy, said former Deans of Students Karen Jackowski.

The College has no set punish­ments for specific violations, she said. “We used to have set punish­ments for set violations about ten years ago,” Jackowski said. “We moved from it because we felt it was a real injustice to our students.

“We think there’s always more to a situation than meets the eye,” Jackowski said.

The student affairs office rules at both schools are not considering a change in violation hours, ad­ministrators said.

Coed continued from page 1

Notre Dame’s current dorms “are ill suited for being coeducational,” said Beauchamp. “We don’t have suites. . . . We have long hallways. “But that’s minor,” he said.

Instead the primary reason is people’s need for privacy, Beauchamp said.

“After a certain time at night, people deserve privacy,” he said. “Students are entitled to privacy first of all in their room and second of all in their residence hall,” he said.

The absence of coed dorms ult­i­mately boils down to their relation to the University’s mission in higher education, Beauchamp said.

“Anything we consider we have to think of in terms of that mission. Does it add to it? Does it subtract from it?” said Beauchamp, who added that if coed dorms con­tributed to the University’s mission in higher education, “we’d have coeducational dorms.”

Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson expressed similar sentiments.

According to Tyson, the argument in favor of coeducational dorms is always “that it improves the quality of life.” But “not necessarily the case,” he said.

The student affairs office likewise aren’t looking into such a change in du Lac’s wording, but Firth said Student Affairs currently has “no plans to present anything to the CUC on parietals.”

The student affairs office rules at both schools are not considering a change in violation hours, ad­ministrators said.

We invite you to stop by, meet us, and talk about opportunities in Sales and Marketing.

MORRIS INN - ALUMNI ROOM

February 5, 1986

7:00 - 9:00

Presentation and Refreshments

Graduating Seniors & MBA Students

Campus Interviews to be held on February 27, 28
Shuttle boosters, cabin possibly located in sea

Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - Searchers may have found one of Challenger's two rocket boosters yesterday, which could be "a very valuable piece of evidence" in the investigation of the space shuttle's explosion, according to NASA.

"Sonar soundings indicate a solid rocket booster may have been located," a NASA statement said. There was no information on the precise location.

There also was no indication whether it was the right booster, which is the chief suspect in the catastrophe, according to NASA.

"Some remainders indicate a solid rocket booster may have been located," a NASA statement said. There was no information on the precise location.

It would be a miracle if we could find the right hand segment we saw in the pictures and everybody has a precise location," said the Associated Press.

"But we have a very valuable piece of evidence for the (accident) board," Mizell said.

When the shuttle blew up, the two boosters separated and began flying crazily in the sky. When one of them appeared to be headed toward the Florida coast, a range safety officer sent a radio signal that detonated an explosive charge and blew the tops off both boosters.

That had the effect of shooting flame out both ends, stopping the forward motion and tumbling the rocket into the sea. Under such circumstances, the casing could have survived almost intact; NASA was expected to summon a salvage ship to bring up the remains of the astronauts floated to the surface.

The LaFortune Student Center renovations continue as a worker puts the finishing touches on the atrium window in Joan Mondale. Work on the building is expected to be complete in about three weeks, while the renovations should be entirely finished early next fall.

HPC spotlights ND/SMC Theater

This page contains a story about the LaFortune Student Center renovations and some other news items. The story about the LaFortune renovation is located near the right edge of the page, with the main story appearing on the left side of the page. The page also includes some smaller text items, such as a story about the season's first production and a story about the season's first production in the school's new theater. and how to overcome them. Their only specific diet suggestions are that the dieters cut out sugar and fat.

The authors also examine such areas as the "guarantees of failure" and how to overcome them. Their specific diet suggestions are that the dieters cut out sugar and fat.

The authors say three of their findings should be encouraging to anyone faced with the same problem.

First, these people didn't possess ironclad willpower; virtually all of them had failed at weight loss more than once.

Second, despite their different personalities and lifestyles, all the winners followed a predictable pattern from self-delusion to self-honesty. To learn how their subjects managed to take it off and keep it off, the pair interviewed more than 100 people in the Phoenix metropolitan area who lost an average of 53 pounds and maintained the loss for an average of six years.

"There are techniques common to all winners we studied," Olson said. "These successful dieters have told us how they did it, and we've culled what worked from them to tell others how they can achieve the same results."

The resultant book, "Keeping It Off," offers not a set of dieting prescriptions, but rather a set of principles and passages. "We don't tell people how to diet at all," said Olson. "We tell them what worked for others and why."
Send inconsistent ND parietals policy packing

Inconsistency seems to be adjective that best describes the parietals policy at Notre Dame. As several rectors have admitted, the procedure for reporting minor parietals violations to the Office of Student Affairs varies from hall to hall. Subsequently, the punishment for breaking parietals in different dorms also varies. In effect, this means there are 24 parietals policies at Notre Dame.

Duc Laci has no penalty for minor parietals violations, only for overnight parietals violations, which involve suspension or dismissal. Nowhere are "overnight parietals" defined. John Goldrick, assistant vice president for residence life, has said he could not define at what hour a parietals violation becomes an overnight violation. Father Theodore Hesburgh, University president, wrote to the Judicial Council that common sense should determine an overnight violation. "I do not believe it would be in the best interest of anyone, including the students, to set a specific time as to when overnight parietals violations occur," Hesburgh wrote.

Once a rector or security guard uses his or her common sense to determine a violation serious enough to report to the Office of Student Affairs, this office says it treats each case individually.

In reality, Duc Laci's suggested penalties for overnight parietals violations are imposed more often than not. In deciding whether to suspend a student, the administration appears only to be paying lip service to its claim that it looks at individual circumstances. In fact, Hesburgh has said the punishment for parietals violations must be as strict as Notre Dame states, even for first-time offenders, so that students abide by the policy and the common good of the community is served.

According to the administration, the reason for the parietals policy mainly is to protect the students' privacy. But Hesburgh has categorized parietals violations with such offenses as possession and distribution of illegal drugs, causing physical or moral violence, and stealing and destroying property. That is ridiculous.

Suspending a student from Notre Dame, the usual punishment for violating visitation hours, is inconsistent with Christian notions of justice. Notre Dame and Saint Mary's share similar philosophies concerning the collegiate Catholic experience. They also share many of the same regulations for maintaining such an environment, including a parietals policy.

The same offense that at Notre Dame would send a student packing is treated more justly at Saint Mary's. No specific penalty for any offense is stated in the College's Social Conduct Code. Saint Mary's considers each case individually in practice as well as in its words. The College places the parietals policy in the proper perspective. Notre Dame should be able to say the same.

---

Doonesbury

The Observer

Garry Trudeau

---

Keenan lines disastrous for revue patrons

Most early winter afternoons at the ACC are rather monotonously similar. There's usually a few responses to the basketball arena, and little except for our spot and walked up front. It was 1:30, so I got there and spent about 30 minutes there. Then I replied. I asked if there would be a problem getting tickets. He informed me that there were 1,200 tickets available if I asked for them the next day. Great - I still had a chance for Saturday tickets. So I strolled out on the floor to get some reading done, as had most of the people in line around me.

As I looked up from my work around 2:30, I noticed some people walking up to the middle of the line and staying there. Their techniques were remarkably similar. Most of these line-cutters would wander along the corridor until they spotted someone they knew. Then they would stand around and chat for a few minutes, drawing attention to books to the floor so they wouldn't have to hold them. Then the jacket would end up on the floor all the time, in lines for football tickets, for basketball tickets, for registration, even sometimes in the dining halls. Let's face it, Notre Dame is a place where we have to wait on lines a lot. A little common courtesy would go a long way toward making those lines a little more pleasant.

And for those of you who waited, thanks. You are true Domers.

Mark McLaughlin is a sophomore aerospace-psychology major.

---

Quote of the day

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I - took the road less traveled by, and that has made all the difference." - Robert Frost (1874-1963) "The Road Not Taken"
Sports Briefs

Three ND Squash Club members took part in the Western Singles Championships in Indianapolis, Ind. last weekend. Chaithanya Panchal finished in the quarterfinals of the "A" division, while Sanjay Dalal and William Mapother competed in the "D" division. - The Observer

Men's and Women's indoor soccer tournaments will be held by the NBA. Rosters must include a minimum of eight players and should be turned in with a $5 entry fee today. For more information call the NBA - The Observer

The NBA field hockey team will hold a meeting tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. in the Football Auditorium of the ACC. All members of the 1985 team and any new prospects should attend. Members also are reminded to come dressed to participate. For more information call Head Coach Jill Linderfelt at 239-6281 - The Observer

The ND /SMC women's golf team will be videotaping indoors today as scheduled. Members are reminded that there will also be a meeting at 5 p.m. in the Football Auditorium of the ACC. For more information call Laura Gleason at 283-3551 - The Observer

A campus tug-of-war contest is being organized by the ND Promotions Dept. and Lee Jeans. Dormitory and class groups will be held. Interested groups should begin to assemble teams. For more information call Kevin Lenin at 239-6440 - The Observer

No. Carolina catches Tech, wins in OT

Associated Press

ATLANTA - Brad Daughtry sent the game to overtime with a 10- footer from the baseline and then gave top-ranked North Carolina the lead in the Tar Heels' 13-point second-half rally at Georgia Tech 77-77 in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game last night.

Joe Wolf hit four free throws in the final 30 seconds and then the Blue Devils turned the game with 11-5665 remaining to give the Yellow Jackets a 77-56 victory.

Wolf started a 9-0 run by the Tar Heels, who eventually cut the lead to two. But Wolf turned it around for an open jumper from nine feet away with 3:45 to play.

Daughtry had 22 points and Hale 18 for the Tar Heels, 23-5 overall and 7-1 in the ACC.

Freshman Tom Hammond had 16 points and 10 rebounds for Georgia Tech, 17-4, and 6-2. It was the second straight ACC game in which the Jackets defeated a ranked team.

The ND /SMC women's golf team will be

The Observer Sports Briefs office located on the third floor of Labrador Student Center accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. The Observer Sports Briefs office located on the third floor of Huggie College Center accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Deadline for next-due classifications is 5 p.m. All classifications must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. 1) Charge, 10 cents per character. 2) Money order.
The Deadball Voce
Notre Dame 18
Connor Peters
Nickgorski Stevenson 18/14
Price 17/1
Barlow Royal Rivers 18/17
Player G/GS F/GA PCT FT/FTA PCT REB/AVG PF/FO AST BK ST PTS AVG
Rivers 18/17 594 / 33 101/225 .448 91/116 .777 55/3.1 47/ 0 86 1 34 290 16.2
Barlow 17/16 465 / 27 96/186 .526 52/ 57 .912 89/5.2 46/ 6 19 7 14 248 14.5
Royal 18/18 501 / 27 52/ 94 .553 67/ 99 .702 83/4.6 38/ 3 11 3 6 27 171 8.5
Stevenson 18/14 362 / 20 57/105 .542 22/ 24 .916 41/2.2 15/ 2 17 4 7 136 7.5
Price 17/1 316 / 18 47/ 89 .505 11/26 .423 39/2.2 28/ 1 8 5 9 111 6.5
Kempston 17/17 366 / 21 42/ 79 .531 28/ 37 .756 85/5.1 30/ 30 16 4 11 132 6.5
Hicks 18/5 299 / 16 39/ 62 .475 22/ 27 .814 51/2.8 15/ 7 29 2 20 100 5.5
Dolan 18/2 385 / 21 36/ 64 .562 19/29 .555 27/3.4 43/ 3 27 5 12 91 5.0
Connor 10/0 89 / 8 18/ 29 .620 6/ 8 .750 16/1.6 12/ 0 5 0 0 6 42 4.2
Voice 12/0 120 / 10 14/ 27 .518 15/ 15 .666 36/3.2 45/ 3 1 6 5 38 3.1
Smith 10/0 49 / 4 6/ 16 .375 3/ 4 .750 5/ 0 .5 0 9 3 15 1.5
Beuchertart 10/0 65 / 6 6/ 13 .461 3/ 6 .500 16/1.6 8/ 0 3 0 3 15 1.5
Napoli 5/0 71 / 1 3/ 4 .750 0/ 0 .0 0 0 0 0 0 6 1.2
Peters 7/0 192 / 2 9/ .222 1/ 2 .500 5/ 0 .7 0 1 0 0 5 0.7
Team Rebounds 57/8.1
Notre Dame 18/ 3650/202 / 521/1027 .507 324/424 .766 *678/375 .301/ 6 257 42 143 1363 76.8
Opponents 18/ 3650/2027 / 473/1013 .466 187/268 .693 *496/27.5 678/37.6

SPORTS WEDNESDAY

All-Star Game

HARTFORD, Conn. - Bryan Trottier scored the winning goal 3:05 into overtime after taking a goalmouth pass from New York Islanders teammate Mike Bossy as the Wales Conference continued its domination in domination of the Campbell Conference with a 4-3 victory last night in the 11th National Hockey League All-Star Game.

Campbell goaltender Grant Fuhr of the Edmonton Oilers was named the Most Valuable Player of the game.

Bossy gathered the puck in at the blue line and skated in on the right side of Edmonton goalsayer Andy Moog before sliding a pass through the legs of Older defenseman Paul Coffey to Trottier, who knocked in a five-footer past Moog.

The goal was the first in All-Star competition for Trottier, who had played in six of these previous games.

Buff's work in the nets for the Campbell was outstanding. He stopped all 18 shots he faced before relinquishing the net to his teammate, Mong, with nine minutes left in the second period.

Also scoring for the Campbell Conference in the second period was Perry Snatiny of Quebec, while Edmontont's Wayne Gretzky had a goal, his eighth in All-Star competition, for the Campbell Conference.

NHL

PRINCE OF WALES CONFERENCE

Edmonton 37 21 9 19 58.5
Calgary 35 20 9 6 60
Vancouver 30 16 8 6 55
Saskatchewan 28 12 10 4 46

L.A. Kings 37 25 5 7 58
Los Angeles 30 17 6 7 50
San Diego 22 10 11 1 31
Utah 27 17 5 5 47

Scheme 32 18 7 7 57
Boston 29 19 3 7 49
Philadelphia 27 16 8 3 46
New York 22 12 10 6 38

PROVINCE CONFERENCE

Philadelphia 33 16 2 9 58
Toronto 32 15 4 5 51
Montreal 29 17 7 5 47
Montreal 23 12 10 1 35

Winnipeg 24 12 1 9 39
Winnipeg 22 12 10 6 38
Montreal 24 12 10 6 38
Toronto 24 12 10 6 38

CHICAGO 27 16 7 4 43
St. Louis 22 10 11 1 31
Minnesota 20 12 6 2 34
Toronto 20 12 6 2 34

TOLEDO 19 12 7 4 36
Cleveland 16 10 6 4 26
St. Louis 16 10 6 4 26
Cleveland 16 10 6 4 26

Saskatoon 15 14 5 6 26
Salina 15 12 7 6 24
Saskatoon 15 14 5 6 26

UNLV 21-2
Syracuse 21-3
St. John's 21-3
Syracuse 21-3

You've come a long way... but being a woman at ND may not be easy.

WOMEN'S SUPPORT GROUP

Every Thursday 5:30 - 6:30, starts February 6.
Come to room 316, Counseling & Psych Services
in Student Health Building

All Welcome - Come Join Us!

For more info, call 239-7336 (Jean or Peggy)
SMC basketball team falls to St. Francis, rebounds to edge Grace College for 7th win

By JILL SABRENOFF
Sports writer

Last Saturday the Saint Mary's basketball team traveled to Fort Wayne, Ind., to take on the St. Francis College. The Belles lost in overtime, 59-55, to the 2nd ranked St. Francis team. Saint Mary's averaged this loss on Monday night, however, by defeating Grace College, 56-50, on grace's home court.

The key to the victory over Grace, according to Head Coach Marion Wood, was the team's togetherness. "We had a great team effort," he said. "Togetherness was an important factor. Whenever we needed a shot, someone came through for us most of the time. We had to have it to win." Wood went on to say he felt that the togetherness that the Belles had has been apparent throughout the season.

That's the beautiful thing about this team," he said. "The girls always take what the other team gives them."

The leading scorer for Saint Mary's in the game against Grace was Tammie Radle, who had 17 points. She was followed closely by Beth Kreber who contributed 15 points, and Jean Harte, who added 13. Harte also paced the defense with nine rebounds.

Junior Kris Pansilla also chipped in to the Belles' cause, handing out six assists. Pansilla, in addition, made a couple of key baskets near the end of the physical game to cement the victory for the team.

In the game against St. Francis, Saint Mary's scored throughout much of the second half. However, with six minutes left, the Belles tied it up at 49. In overtime, though, the ball seemed to belong to St. Francis.

Wood commented on a couple of dead spots that occurred in Saturday's game.

“We hit a dead spot when the ball just could not go in," he said. "It was almost as if someone put Saran Wrap over the basket.”

Another problem that the Belles faced on Saturday, and throughout much of this season, was the team's lack of execution on the offensive side of the ball.

"We always are on the short end in terms of size," Wood said. "Our size, although very much talent (as their opponents) is not enough. Size has been our biggest problem this year, though.

"I felt that there were other ways to compensate for this problem."

"We need to have more finesse against people with excellent quickness," he replied. "We need to be alert and aggressive."

Kreber, who was the leading scorer against St. Francis, had 18 points, while Radke contributed 12. Kreber and Radke also led in rebounds with eight and seven respectively.

Although playing on the road was not a factor in the games against St. Francis and Grace, it nonetheless affected each team's performance. "Travel was not a big factor," added Wood. "Our league is like the Big 10 or the league Notre Dame plays in (North Star Conference). It isn't easy to win away from home."

The Belles' coach has some goals that he would like to see the team accomplish by the end of the season. "I'd like to see them get into double figures as far as wins are concerned," he said. "Right now we are 7-8. We'd like to win at least three more. However, we have some real tough opponents ahead of us, so we'll have to play our best basketball.

The next game for Saint Mary's is on Saturday night at Taylor College.

Attention All Students!!!

The Chicago Tribune's Advertising and Marketing Departments are sponsoring an

Question and Answer Reception

Wednesday, Feb. 5
6 - 8 pm
Senior Alumni Club

Even if you are unable to schedule an appointment with one of our recruiters, we encourage you to attend this reception and to submit your resume to the placement office for our review.

SMC basketball team falls to St. Francis, rebounds to edge Grace College for 7th win

"We hit a dead spot when the ball just could not go in," he said. "It was almost as if someone put Saran Wrap over the basket.”

Another problem that the Belles faced on Saturday, and throughout much of this season, was the team's lack of execution on the offensive side of the ball.

"We always are on the short end in terms of size," Wood said. "Our size, although very much talent (as their opponents) is not enough. Size has been our biggest problem this year, though.

"I felt that there were other ways to compensate for this problem."

"We need to have more finesse against people with excellent quickness," he replied. "We need to be alert and aggressive."

Kreber, who was the leading scorer against St. Francis, had 18 points, while Radke contributed 12. Kreber and Radke also led in rebounds with eight and seven respectively.

Although playing on the road was not a factor in the games against St. Francis and Grace, it nonetheless affected each team's performance. "Travel was not a big factor," added Wood. "Our league is like the Big 10 or the league Notre Dame plays in (North Star Conference). It isn't easy to win away from home."

The Belles' coach has some goals that he would like to see the team accomplish by the end of the season. "I'd like to see them get into double figures as far as wins are concerned," he said. "Right now we are 7-8. We'd like to win at least three more. However, we have some real tough opponents ahead of us, so we'll have to play our best basketball.

The next game for Saint Mary's is on Saturday night at Taylor College.

Attention All Students!!!

The Chicago Tribune's Advertising and Marketing Departments are sponsoring an

Question and Answer Reception

Wednesday, Feb. 5
6 - 8 pm
Senior Alumni Club

Even if you are unable to schedule an appointment with one of our recruiters, we encourage you to attend this reception and to submit your resume to the placement office for our review.
Freshman forward adds enthusiasm

Connor fast becoming a key factor off Irish bench

By DENNIS CORRIGAN
Sports Writer

The latest fan favorite, at least in the student section of the ACC, is a freshman forward Sean Connor. Given the ovations that Connor has received when he comes off the bench for the Irish basketball team, the newcomer has become a favorite with the students not only because of his outside-shooting ability, but also because of his unbridled enthusiasm.

Head Coach Digger Phelps is among those fans of Connor's enthusiasm.

"(Sean's) the type of player you love to get because he is full of enthusiasm and takes it on the court," says Phelps of the 6-7, 207-pound native of Zeigler, Ill. "That rubs off on the other players."

Connor is appreciative of the fans' reaction toward him.

"It's a good feeling," he says. "The student body does an excellent job rooting for the team.

But, as anyone who has seen him play knows, Connor brings more than his enthusiasm with him when he steps onto the floor. Connor has a deadly outside shot and has been able to hit it at times when the rest of the team hasn't been able to start an effective perimeter game. Case in point, the game with American University two weeks ago. The game was Connor's first real chance to show his ability. With the rest of the team struggling midway through the first half, Connor entered the game and proceeded to knock home three long-range jumpers. From then until now, Connor's reputation has been sealed.

"It was a situation where the upperclassmen were struggling," Connor says of the game. "I was able to come in and fortunately hit the shots. It was not a chance to prove myself. I was helping the team."

Since then, Connor has seen an increased amount of playing time. Phelps has had a lot of confidence in the freshman.

"I am obviously not afraid to play him a lot," Phelps comments. "He has a good attitude, works hard, and waits for his moment. He listens to what we want and plays with confidence."

Phelps' confidence in the young player was never more evident than when he had Connor on the floor in the waning moments with the game on the line Saturday against Marquette.

"He was a spark for us against Marquette as much as Jimmy Dolan was," Phelps said. "I told him to take the last shot, he was open."

Although Connor's shot was off, Dolan was able to rebound it and send the game into overtime, and the Irish went on to the victory.

"It was not a set play," Connor recalls. "If I was open and had the shot, I was able to take it. I was a little disappointed that I wasn't able to hit it but thanks to some hard work by Ken Barlow and Jim Dolan, we were able to tie it."

While attending Zeigler-Royalton High School, Connor averaged 33.4 points per game to lead the state of Illinois in scoring during his junior year. In the same campaign, Connor scored a single-game high of 61 points and expounded the team his sophomore through senior years.

Connor was also captain of the school's football team during the same period, and quarterbacked the team to the Illinois Class A championship in his sophomore year. Although he had a lot of success at football, he says that there was never a choice between football and basketball.

"I was offered a few scholarships from Illinois, Iowa and Indiana, but I like basketball better, that's all," Zeigler-Royalton is not a large school. In addition to his basketball (his jersey was retired by the school), football and track activities, Connor was also president of his senior class and says there was a little bit of an adjustment to be made when he became just another face in the crowd at Notre Dame.

"It was an adjustment coming here and playing with 12 other players who are equally talented. Once I made the adjustment, it's been a good experience."

Connor also has learned the occasional difficulties of being a Notre Dame student-athlete. After tonight's game at Dayton, he has to return for an exam tomorrow.

For Connor, the future appears to be unlimited. If he continues to develop as he has so far, Connor should be a fan favorite for the next three years.
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 Bath powder
5 Prune
9 Ceil
14 Escapet
15 Cucunel
16 Global
17 Nameplace
19 – cur laude
20 Rode
21 Wandering
23 Big Sue’s
24 Caves
25 Raw metal
28 Striking
29 Shining
31 Kar
32 Baby’s misery
36 Food of the islands
37 Gambling term
41 Nettle suff.
42 Sandal
43 – Me:
44 Felt bitterly
46 Porcini
48 Ripen
49 Outlaid
51 One who
55 Disconcerted
59 Pigeon
60 Go along with
62 Miss
63 Perlman
64 Aired
65 Change color
66 Queen’s
67 River from
Lake Erie
27 Unile
28 Pouting
32 12 midnight
33 11:30 – 12 midnight
34 11:00
35 11:00
36 10:30
37 9:30
38 9:00
39 8:30
40 8:00
41 7:30
42 7:00
43 6:00
44 5:00
45 4:00
46 3:00
47 2:00
48 1:00
49 0:00
50 0:00

TUESDAY SOLUTION

66 61 60 59 58 57 56 55 54 53 52 51 50 49 48 47 46 45 44 43 42 41 40 39 38 37 36 35 34 33 32 31 30 29 28 27 26 25 24 23 22 21 20 19 18 17 16 15 14 13 12 11 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

10 Ocean fish
11 Birdseed
12 Acting award
13 Aunts in
14 Miami
15 To — (unanimously)
22 — — — financial 23 — — — area of debate
24 Fantasize
daddies
25 Panton
26 Snake
27 Unile
28 Pouting
30 Forarm bone
31 “!led” and
32 “Odyssey”
33 Jungle beast
34 Horns —
35 Women’s wear
36 Just a contest
38 Chemical
39 Squash
40 Wrestling
41 Magazines
43 Shadowfax
45 Oiler
46 Make a raised
design
47 Enlarged
48 Nate (—)
49 Chemical
50 Nut
51 Shadowfax
52 Dune trim
53 Smoke abbr.
54 Window frame
55 Maze
56 Nate (—)
57 Squash
58 Unit of force
59 P vacant
60 Nervous
61 Hits

The Goonies

They call themselves “The Goonies.”
The secret cave. The old lighthouse.
The lost map. The treacherous traps.
The hidden treasure. And more.
Juts the adventure.

Bloom County

Wednesday, February 5, 1986 - page 11

Berke Breathed

Kevin Walsh

The Far Side

Gary Larson

Zesto

Eventually, the chickens were able to drive a wedge between Farmer Bob and Lulu.

Campus

7:00 - 11:30 P.M. — Movie, “Goonies,” Engineering Auditorium, Sponsored by SAB, $1.50
7:00 P.M. — Lecture, “Halley’s Comet,” Prof. Terrence Retig, Notre Dame, CCE Auditorium, Sponsored by Dept. of Physics.
7:00 & 8:00 P.M. — Information Night, Spring Break, Florida 1986, Room 122 Hayes-Healy, Sponsored by SAB
7:00 P.M. — Wednesday Night Film Series, “The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari,” and “Northwest,” Center for Social Concerns Building.
7:00 P.M. — Natural Family Planning Class Part I, Room 124 Hayes-Healy, Sponsored by the Natural Family Planning Program of St. Joseph County Inc. and University Ministry.
7:30 P.M. — Women’s Basketball, Notre Dame vs. Dayton, ACC Arena.
7:30 P.M. — Meeting, New Products, Technical Issues and the Fare of General Micro, Philip Okun, Apple Computer, Room 221 Hayes-Healy, Sponsored by Notre Dame Macintosh Users Group.
8:00 P.M. — Presentation-Receptions for juniors or seniors of any major interested in career opportunities with Merrill Lynch and Company, Inc., Notre Dame Room 500, Morris Inn, Sponsored by Career and Placement Services.
8:15 P.M. — Meeting, Shakespeare Club, Library Auditorium Lounge.

Dinner Menus

Notre Dame

Saint Mary’s

SAB.

Scottish Beef Roast

Scottish Beef Roast

Spatheggi with Italian Meat Sauce

Spatheggi with Italian Meat Sauce

Broiled Haddock Almandine

Broiled Haddock Almandine

BBQ Rib Sandwich

Baked Ham

Potato Pancakes

Lanzagna

Beef Stroganoff

$1.50

We can make you laugh

We can make you laugh to the person who doesn’t laugh.

Tickets 25¢ or at the door

Saturday, February 8

7 p.m.

(If you can’t make it, we’ll refund your money.)

Washington Hall

Hall of Engineering Wed., Feb. 5 & Thurs., Feb. 6

7:00

9:15

11:30
Irish prepare to confront "real" Flyers
By BRY STOHR
Sport Writer
When one analyzes the Dayton basketball team prior to its clash with Notre Dame tonight at 7:30 in the U.D. Arena, one must not be deceived by the home team's mediocre 12-8 record. The Flyers may very well be two vastly different teams this year. One team is the 20th-ranked Flyers, while the other is the team that has taken on Notre Dame in the past. This past season the Irish have been able to secure a victory in the ACC tournament. This year Notre Dame is looking to get past this phenomenon of the ACC again and make it to the NCAA tournament in March. These two teams have played against each other many times in the past and have always come out with Notre Dame ahead. This year will be different, according to theCummins couple. The Flyers will be looking to show that they have improved and are ready to make it to the NCAA tournament. The Flyers have had a rough season so far, but they are looking to make a comeback and prove to everyone that they are a tough team to beat. The Flyers have a talented roster with players such as Pooh Richardson and Sean Connors. These players have shown that they are capable of taking the game to the next level and leading the Flyers to victory. Notre Dame is looking to make a statement and show that they are the team to beat in the ACC. The game is set to start at 7:30 and it is expected to be a close one. The Flyers will be looking to show that they have improved and are ready to make it to the NCAA tournament. The Flyers have had a rough season so far, but they are looking to make a comeback and prove to everyone that they are a tough team to beat. The Flyers have a talented roster with players such as Pooh Richardson and Sean Connors. These players have shown that they are capable of taking the game to the next level and leading the Flyers to victory. Notre Dame is looking to make a statement and show that they are the team to beat in the ACC. The game is set to start at 7:30 and it is expected to be a close one.