Asbestos not an immediate threat in Fisher, ND health director says

By JIM RILEY
Crazy Editor

There is no immediate danger because of the asbestos in Fisher Hall, according to Robert Zerr, director of environmental health and safety for Notre Dame.

Zerr said some of the ragged insulation on pipes in the Fisher basement was asbestos while other exposed portions were of an undetermined cardboard substance.

He said the substance must be analyzed before he can determine if asbestos is present.

Zerr also set up a device to measure the asbestos content of the air in the Fisher pool room, but the results will not be available for 10 to 14 days.

The device has one of the largest amounts of exposed pipe insulation in the basement of the hall, according to Fisher residents phosphore Greg Gibbons and junior Shawn Black.

"Anytime you break that canvas encasement (on the pipes), the asbestos can become flyable," said Zerr.

Noting the broken areas of the canvas, Zerr said, "As is now, there are very few fibers being released."

The loose insulation would have to be bumpy or shaken for this asbestos to become flyable, according to Zerr.

People normally develop medical problems from asbestos exposure only after inhaling flyable asbestos daily for 20 to 30 years, according to Zerr.

He said any exposure Fisher residents may have received would not be dangerous.

Though there is no immediate danger, asbestos is still a potential cancer-causing agent, according to Zerr. "We've got the means to fix it, so why present you with a potential hazard?" said Zerr.

Some of the insulation was loose enough that Zerr said it might as well be removed because it was not serving any purpose.

Zerr said he would put through the work orders necessary to take care of the situation.

The work will probably not be done until summer because the situation is not dangerous and the semester is almost over, said Zerr.

He added that he does not expect the results of the air sample test in Fisher to show any more than the usual background level of asbestos.

Zerr also said he would take a sample of the undetermined cardboard material that is exposed on many of the pipes.

During spring break, the insulation on the pipes in room 3 was changed from an asbestos material to a non-asbestos substance, according to Zerr. A resident of room 5, Black said the condition of the pipes in his room before the asbestos was replaced was much better than the condition of the pipes in the hallways and common rooms of the basement.

Zerr asked why the asbestos was removed from only one of the rooms.

Director of the Physical Plant Donald Dedrick said room 5 was the room in which a problem existed and that treating only one room was similar to making usual repairs to the one room that needs them.

Part of the reason Notre Dame does not want to remove the asbestos is that removal can make the situation worse, said Zerr. The asbestos has to be wetted down and contained for asbestos to be removed and cause high asbestos levels in the air.

The work dealing with asbestos is a problem facing schools all over the United States.

Zerr and other people with asbestos is a problem facing schools all over the United States.

Zerr also said he would take a sample of the undetermined card

U.S.S.R. reactor damaged; radiation reaches Sweden

Associated Press

MOSCOW -- The Soviet Union yesterday said that a nuclear accident at the Chernobyl nuclear power plant in western Ukraine, and Sweden reported radiation north of Stockholm, more than 750 miles away.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said affected people were being aided, but did not say whether there were injuries or deaths, when the accident occurred, nor the exact location of the plant.

Tass said it was the first nuclear accident in the Soviet Union and a government commission was appointed, an indication that it was serious.

Lars Erik de Geer of Sweden's Defense Research Agency said, "It must have been a real US-industry accident, since we have received such high levels in some of our stations so far away."

Finland reported picking up increased radiation Sunday night, but neither it nor Sweden said the levels were dangerous.

Denmark also was recording increased levels, indicating radiation had blown from the Ukraine over much of Scandinavia without warning.

Birgitta Dahl, Sweden's energy minister, said she asked for an extensive report and added, "They should immediately have warned us."

She said initial inquiries drew the response that Danish officials were not aware of a radiation leak, but she said the questions probably led to the unusual Soviet confirmation of the accident.

"We must demand higher safety standards in the Soviet Union," she said, and Sweden may insist that the Soviet civil nuclear program be overseen by the International Atomic Energy Agency, a U.N. agency.

White House spokesman Edward Harris said, "It must be taken seriously if the Soviets talk about it."

Soviet media seldom report natural disasters or accidents unless injuries and damage are widespread.

A subsequent Tass report called it the first such accident in the Soviet Union although some countries similar incidents have occurred more than once.

Tass mentioned the 1979 accident at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania, the worst accident at a US commercial nuclear plant.

No deaths resulted there.

In Washington, Jim McKenzie of the Union of Concerned Scientists, an anti-nuclear group, said the information "immediately raises the possibility that radiation in European countries is present and radiating at five to 10 times the natural levels. "There must have been quite a release of radioactivity," he said.

Asked about the core meltdown statement, Frank Graham, vice president of the Atomic Industrial Forum for international affairs, said, "We don't know enough to say."

Bo Honquist, a senior regional Swedish government official responsible for the Chernobyl nuclear power plant north of Stockholm, which detected the radiation, told The Associated Press, "the source of the leak is somewhere to the east of us and to the east of Finland, if you know what I mean."

In New York, Eugene Ganzhur, an analyst at the office of the Atomic Industrial Forum, a US group of utilities and suppliers, said the Chernobyl plant is located in a "no fly" zone called Pripyat near Chernobyl.

The plant consists of four 1,000-megawatt reactors of identical design.

It opened in 1977, 1980 and 1981. He said it is a light-water reactor, graphite-moderated design not used in the United States.

Zerr said it was not known if any of the four Soviet reactors had a containment structure like the steel and concrete surrounding key components of all US plants, insulated to contain radiation.

He said the Atomic Industrial Forum had no idea what happened at the Soviet reactor.
Mud, cow chips, slam dunks: Who had time for books?

Marty Strassen
Asst. Sports Editor

There were licorice-eating contests and people were being pelted with pies in South Quad. Then, all of a sudden, people started throwing cow chips around. Now where did classes have any place in all of this? I'm sure there was fun to be had on Saturday morning as well. I don't know. I can't remember seeing a Saturday morning in a while. But I'm sure a lot of people will not soon forget Saturday afternoon. That was when a group of so-called mature young college students jumped around in the mud and hit each other with pillows. A few scratched knees and a broken bone here and there couldn't even spoil that. And just when you thought you could not possibly invest another ounce of energy into good times at Notre Dame, An Tosal refused to slow down even as it came to a close. I rolled out of bed on Sunday at about 2:30 p.m. (I must have received a late phone call the night before), and made it out to Stepan just in time to see Jim Dolan and Lee's BBQ Roundhouse win the Bookstore Basketball Championship. When, it was finally over. But don't let me sound pessimistic. An Tosal exceeded all my expectations. It's good to know that the students at Notre Dame know how to have fun, even with those dreaded finals inching hauntingly closer. After all, there is much more to school than sitting in a classroom taking notes and answering questions. No one ever said you can't have fun while you learn.

Thanks to you... it works... for ALL OF US

United Way

GEOPGRAPHICAL CLUBS

If you are providing a BAGGAGE TRUCK for students from your area, you MUST REGISTER with the Student Activities Office by FRIDAY, MAY 2.

The Observer (ISSN 0194-2752) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions can be purchased for $9.00 per year ($20.00 per issue) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
The new position was created in response to a growing need for religious education at Notre Dame, McCabe was chosen for the job and was appointed directed of the Office of University Ministry. "More religious education for Notre Dame's faculty, staff and students is needed," McCabe said.

During her first year, McCabe said she will have the freedom to define many of her responsibilities because the office is new. During her first year, McCabe said she will have the freedom to define many of her responsibilities because the office is new.

"We were appointed by the Office of University Ministry's confirmation program, its Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults program and the Share Your Faith lecture series," said Leveille.

"We hope to expand the program in future years, maybe by developing a drug counseling service with the Center for Social Concerns," McCabe added. "This first year I will spend learning the climate at Notre Dame, getting the lay of the land," she said. McCabe said she is most looking forward to contact with people, especially students. She said she will be directly involved in the education process, not just in administrative decisions.

"When someone is confirmed, for example, the whole community gets involved. It's not just the confirmand, but his sponsor, and everyone who supports him," she said. McCabe said the Rite of Christi-
Democrats support 'tax reform' only by name

The tax reform issue which has been batted around the nation's capital for the past year has suddenly been asked to create a grand coalition as a reaction to the actual orientation of Republicans and Democrats on the issue.

Tony Lanza

guest column

Currently, the tax reform legislation, which would undoubtedly have met defeat in the House Rules committee had the Reagan administration not initiated an intensive lobbying campaign, is confronting stiff opposition in the Senate. This development has prompted many observers to conclude that Senate Republicans are opposed to tax reform. This conclusion presents an interesting paradox in light of recent Republican support for Reagan's tax reform initiative.

Actually, with a little knowledge of the tax reform legislation in question, this paradox can rather easily be eradicated: Republican support in support of tax reform, however, are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.

Treasury 1 broadened the tax base by eliminating numerous deductions and credits (largely personal and state and local tax deductions and several business loopholes), thus effectively reducing marginal tax rates while maintain­ing revenue neutrality. The proposal also de­poly the idea that the American public opinion is shifting to the right. In fact, they are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.

Treasury 1 broadened the tax base by eliminating numerous deductions and credits (largely personal and state and local tax deductions and several business loopholes), thus effectively reducing marginal tax rates while maintain­ing revenue neutrality. The proposal also de­poly the idea that the American public opinion is shifting to the right. In fact, they are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.

Treasury 1 broadened the tax base by eliminating numerous deductions and credits (largely personal and state and local tax deductions and several business loopholes), thus effectively reducing marginal tax rates while maintain­ing revenue neutrality. The proposal also de­poly the idea that the American public opinion is shifting to the right. In fact, they are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.

Treasury 1 broadened the tax base by eliminating numerous deductions and credits (largely personal and state and local tax deductions and several business loopholes), thus effectively reducing marginal tax rates while maintain­ing revenue neutrality. The proposal also de­poly the idea that the American public opinion is shifting to the right. In fact, they are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.

Treasury 1 broadened the tax base by eliminating numerous deductions and credits (largely personal and state and local tax deductions and several business loopholes), thus effectively reducing marginal tax rates while maintain­ing revenue neutrality. The proposal also de­poly the idea that the American public opinion is shifting to the right. In fact, they are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.

Treasury 1 broadened the tax base by eliminating numerous deductions and credits (largely personal and state and local tax deductions and several business loopholes), thus effectively reducing marginal tax rates while maintain­ing revenue neutrality. The proposal also de­poly the idea that the American public opinion is shifting to the right. In fact, they are not in support of the collection of superfluous ambiguities and inequitable complications which Dan Rosenskwozlik (Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee) has forced through the House and into the Senate in his quest to fulfill the current Speaker of the House's soon-to-be-occupied position. The tax reform legislation which now confronts Republican senators is a sad mutation of the purer concept which the Reagan administration unveiled approxi­mately a year ago.

The Treasury's original tax reform pro­posal (commonly referred to as treasury 1) proved to be more enduring than the nation's current tax policy which effectively en­compasses the three goals of taxation which are so thoroughly lacking in our current system: growth, simplicity and equitability.
Spring has sprung! This is the Irish's favorite time of year (Eire-Go-Braugh and all that) - and also a time of changes. A change from snow to sun (or that is snow to less snow), from the 'bear to Notre Dame's famed "quadr labor," a time of changing majors (I'm on my fourth), and with all of this plus Bookstore mania and An Teastal comes the rise of spring fever (which seems to lead to) "The Fall of the GPA - Part II" for me.

Carroll Brown
in these times

Not literally (at least most of the time) - I mean. Not literally (at least most of the time) - I famously heard from Notre Dame's majors (I'm on my fourth), and with all of their perspective gained by people who work and the free Catholic Church views of our nation have attempted to discourage us from taking its name.
And this type of abuse is needed in the courtroom, as it is often used to mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to
mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
and this type of abuse is not needed in the
courtroom, as it is often used to mock a referee. After all, they are students also,
The meaning of life is Calculus 105

Kris Murphy

Altered

This is my last column of the year. I can't believe it's 9 months and I was a graduate student this year. Full of naiveté, won earnest and anxiety. Today I'm a well adjusted, good looking, virile Domer who also happens to be extremely experienced in everything from great theological thinkers to fine French wines. Amazing.

I wasn't easy, though. I really applied myself this year, and I realized my dream of learning life's most complex and important concepts. Mandy, life is hell. War is also hell. Come to think of it, Calculus 105 is hell, too. If we apply our powers of reasoning to the previous statements and make the proper inferences we come to realize that: a) Calculus 105 equals hell and b) Life equals Hell. Therefore Life equals Calculus 105.

Are you following my line of reasoning? If you are, you'll come to the realization that life is just like Calculus. It's really hard and you never understand it the first time and you love to talk about it with others. Unfortunately, it's required, so you're stuck in it. To make it more bearable you sleep through class, flirt with all members of the opposite sex and draw funny stuff in your notebook. You also ignore all the lectures and anything else the teacher says until ten time. This is analogous to life because most people live recklessly until they sense death. Then they get scared and start to study.

You're saying, "Like wow, Kris. This is too heavy. But what does it all mean??" Then I say, "What's this 'Like wow' stuff?? Where did you learn to talk, in a nudist camp??" Let me try to translate it for you. Life is really bogus. It gives me the dry heaves. Starting to get the idea? Good! Because the big one's coming and we're all gonna die! Yeahah (horrifying groaning noises and nasty scraping sounds.)

Cheez. I think everything was easier when I was a simple little freshman. I didn't have these horrible flashes of impending doom. It's probably just impending finals. The big one is coming down. If you are interested (and even more infatuated) I have decided to share them with you:

1.会 the first time and you'd love to
2. Good! Because the big one's coming and we're all gonna die! Yeahah (horrifying groaning noises and nasty scraping sounds.)
3. We applie our powers of reasoning to the previous statements and make the proper inferences we come to realize that: a) Calculus 105 equals hell and b) Life equals Hell. Therefore Life equals Calculus 105.

The Sexual Insouciant

The majority of team names fit into this category. Some of the names are relatively mild while some are totally tasteless. Some of the less offensive are Much More Manhood, Baby Let Go Of My Ears I Know What I'm Doing, Keep Us In A Weapon as a Weapon, Milk Bag and the Nojiber Clippes, The Embarrassing Stains, Hang-11 Surf Naked, Five Screams from the Left, I Have A Lovely Bunch of Coconuts for Some Reason, Five Times Longer, Five Guys Who Get Horizontal, We Would Have Called You Back But You Didn't Stay The Night, and Catherine the Great Meets Mr. Ed. The Final Encounter. Just imagine the team names that were more offensive than those.

The Bad Taste Hall of Fame

Some teams have names that are so tasteless that they deserve some special recognition for reaching new heights in low taste. Here are this year's recipients.

Christa McAlulife and the Houston Rockets. A Wheelchair and Four Useless Limbs on Jake Nevin's Body. Bookstore Basketball is a showcase for athletic prowess, but it also showcases creativity when it comes to naming teams. Next year will bring another 580 teams, and it can be certain that reading the team names will be just as fun.

The name is the game

ERIC BERGAMO

When it comes to the naming of athletic teams, things are kept relatively simple. There are the Chicago Bears, Houston Oilers, Los Angeles Rams, New England Patriots and Seattle Seahawks in the realm of football. College Teams have names that are slightly more unusual. There is the Georgetown Hoyas, for instance, and the Cornell Big Red. And don't forget the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. Then there are the teams that are in the Bookstore Basketball Tournament.

The majority of team names fit into this category. Some of the names are relatively mild while some are totally tasteless. Some of the less offensive are Much More Manhood, Baby Let Go Of My Ears I Know What I'm Doing, Keep Us in A Weapon as a Weapon, Milk Bag and the Nojiber Clippes, The Embarrassing Stains, Hang-11 Surf Naked, Five Screams from the Left, I Have A Lovely Bunch of Coconuts for Some Reason, Five Times Longer, Five Guys Who Get Horizontal, We Would Have Called You Back But You Didn't Stay The Night, and Catherine the Great Meets Mr. Ed. The Final Encounter. Just imagine the team names that were more offensive than those.

The Bad Taste Hall of Fame

Some teams have names that are so tasteless that they deserve some special recognition for reaching new heights in low taste. Here are this year's recipients.

Christa McAlulife and the Houston Rockets. A Wheelchair and Four Useless Limbs on Jake Nevin's Body. Bookstore Basketball is a showcase for athletic prowess, but it also showcases creativity when it comes to naming teams. Next year will bring another 580 teams, and it can be certain that reading the team names will be just as fun.

The name is the game

ERIC BERGAMO

When it comes to the naming of athletic teams, things are kept relatively simple. There are the Chicago Bears, Houston Oilers, Los Angeles Rams, New England Patriots and Seattle Seahawks in the realm of football. College Teams have names that are slightly more unusual. There is the Georgetown Hoyas, for instance, and the Cornell Big Red. And don't forget the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. Then there are the teams that are in the Bookstore Basketball Tournament.

The majority of team names fit into this category. Some of the names are relatively mild while some are totally tasteless. Some of the less offensive are Much More Manhood, Baby Let Go Of My Ears I Know What I'm Doing, Keep Us in A Weapon as a Weapon, Milk Bag and the Nojiber Clippes, The Embarrassing Stains, Hang-11 Surf Naked, Five Screams from the Left, I Have A Lovely Bunch of Coconuts for Some Reason, Five Times Longer, Five Guys Who Get Horizontal, We Would Have Called You Back But You Didn't Stay The Night, and Catherine the Great Meets Mr. Ed. The Final Encounter. Just imagine the team names that were more offensive than those.

The Bad Taste Hall of Fame

Some teams have names that are so tasteless that they deserve some special recognition for reaching new heights in low taste. Here are this year's recipients.

Christa McAlulife and the Houston Rockets. A Wheelchair and Four Useless Limbs on Jake Nevin's Body. Bookstore Basketball is a showcase for athletic prowess, but it also showcases creativity when it comes to naming teams. Next year will bring another 580 teams, and it can be certain that reading the team names will be just as fun.

The name is the game
Today's baseball game between Notre Dame and Purdue will be broadcast at 5 p.m. on WVFI AM-646. Chuck Freytre returns for his final night of stumpers, joined by hosts Rudy Brandl and Frank Mastro. The trivia answer hotline is 234-7083.

Off-campus lacrosse players are reminded of the playoff game against Keenan tonight at 8 on Cartier Field. For more information call Tom Grove at 232-4692.

Any Bengal Bouters who have not yet returned their ticket money to Jim Kaltenbach at 8:30 p.m. or 7:15 p.m. Saturday night at the Stadium. Call 965-5790.

The Irish Guard will hold an organizational meeting on Thursday at 5 p.m. at the band cover on Green Street. You must be at least six feet, two inches in height. For more information call John Kennedy at 283-3407.

Manny Trillo of the Chicago Cubs dives back to first ahead of the tag of the St. Louis Cardinals' 5-4, and the Cubs edged the San Diego Padres, 4-1, and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1.
Continual improvement drives ND to 5th place at Kent. Invitational

By MIKE SZYMANSKI
Assistant Sports Editor

Four seniors on the Notre Dame men's golf team made an impressive charge after the first 18 holes at the 13th Annual Kent State Invitational to lead Notre Dame to a fifth place finish in a field of 13. The Irish finished with a score of 1152, as 11 of the 13 teams honored with a score of 1103.

After the first 18 holes on Saturday at the Windmill Lakes Golf Course in Ravenna, Ohio, the Irish were in 12th place at 308. "It wasn't that we shot badly with a 78.8 average," said Notre Dame head coach Noel O'Sullivan. "We just could not click like we wanted to.

"The course has a 73.4 rating, and this was our first year here. We needed another day to warm up on the course, and our continual improvement with the tournament testified to that.

"The team put it together for the second 18, concentrating on 306 78 average for five members) to move into our 11th place and 15th performance of Saturday afternoon. The Irish closed on Sunday with a 378 (75 average) to complete their ascent.

"It was a magnificent climb, and we left on a high note," said O'Sullivan. "You cannot be down, because it is the end of the race that counts.

The top finisher for Notre Dame was Lon Huffman (76-75-71), who placed fifth out of 78 players with 222. Team captain John O'Donovan shot a 225 (75-75-75) in a model of consistency to place 10th. Steve Fuhrer recorded a 235 (81-74-77), and John Anthony carded a 242 (78-78-86) to round out the late-round senior rally.

"Hoffman had a tournament in the class of an MVP," said O'Sullivan. "It was a thrill to watch him perform. He has been our number-one man for the last three matches.

"He has a terrific temperament on the course and in the van. His lively personality, and the fact that he is a mover and a hustler at practice shows in his upbeat play. As a coach, you have to concentrate on the team, but you have to allow for individuality. You cannot make them all the same.

"The fifth man for the Irish was sophomore Rich Connelly (61-70-78), who finished with a 239, and junior Chris Bona rounded out the Irish squad and recorded a final score of 240 (82-77-81).

Kent State is ranked in the top five in Notre Dame's district. Bowling Green finished third at 1118, and Toledo finished fourth at 1127.

"The last outing of the season for Notre Dame is the Mid-American Conference championships at Northern Illinois which fields 24 teams, including 10 from the Big Ten, 10 from MAC and four major independents.

"We could end the season on an upbeat note," said O'Sullivan, "and that is what student athletics is all about. I want the seniors to have a fine taste in their mouths as they move through graduation.

"There will be no pep talks. We wish we had more time and more tournaments, and it has been a long, slow process. When the players will return to their home courses, they will be throwing some impressive numbers."

Wisconsin's McClain dies

Associated Press

MADISON, Wis. - University of Wisconsin football Coach Dave McClain collapsed in a sauna and died of cardiac arrest yesterday shortly after working out on an exercise machine. A police and Randall Stadium, authorities said.

McClain, 48, died at St. Mary's Hospital in Madison after suffering the cardiac arrest between 2 and 2:15 p.m., said Jim Mott, the Badgers' football team's associate athletic director.

McClain was pronounced dead at 3:12 p.m.

The coach was exercising on his stationary bicycle, going through his normal exercise routine," Mott said. "He then went into a sauna."

"Steve Zimmerman was in the sauna when McClain entered, but left the room like a shower, Mott said. When he returned and began talking to McClain, the coach didn't respond and Zimmerman called for help, Mott added.

McClain led the Badgers to a 5-6 overall record this year, 2-6 in conference play. It was his first losing season after four straight winning seasons.

McClain became the Big Ten school's 24th head football coach on Dec. 16, 1977. He graduated from Bowling Green State University in 1960 and came to Wisconsin from Indiana's Ball State University, where he coached seven seasons and posted a 46-23-3 record.

Wisconsin's McClain was the first coach to have four consecutive winning seasons in Wisconsin since Ivan Williamson in 1949-54. He was 46-42-3 in his eight seasons and his Big Ten record was 32-34-3.

The Badgers were invited to the Bowl by bowl by bowl in 1984, their third post-season bowl game in four years. Previously they had gone to the Independence Bowl in 1982 and the Garden State Bowl in 1983.

McClain began his coaching career at Creighton (Ohio) High School and became an assistant coach at Cornell University in 1962, at Miami University in Ohio from 1963-66 at Kansans from 1967-68, and at Ohio State from 1969-70.

University Chancellor Irving Shaw mourned McClain as a man "totally dedicated to his profession, who recognized the important role of intercollegiate athletics."

"Dave's thoughts were always with the student athlete. He took great pride in their accomplishments both on and off the Field. He was a gentleman who worked hard at establishing positive relations with the university's many constituencies," Shaw said.

"The university will miss his leadership and commitment to excellence," the chancellor said.

McClain is survived by his wife, Judy, and their three children, Tom, a freshman at UW-Platteville, Marycy and Mindy, Mott said.

Milwaukee Breuer

Milwaukee Bucks center Randy Breuer reaches for Philadelphia's Charles Barkley in a game earlier this season. Tuesday, the Bucks and the Leafs meet in game one of their second-round playoff series. In other NBA playoff games tonight, Atlanta will meet Boston, and Denver will play at Houston. Both the Celtics and the Rockets lead their respective series, 1-0, going into this evening's action.
Women’s tennis tops SIU, SLU; to face Northwestern in meet today

By MIKE SZYMANSKI
Assistant Sports Editor

The Notre Dame women’s tennis team completed a successful sweep this past weekend by defeating Southern Illinois (Edwardsville), 6-3, and dominating St. Louis University, 7-0, to raise the Irish to a record of 14-4.

"SIU (Edwardsville) is ranking number one in Division II," said Notre Dame head coach Michele Gelfman, "so it’s unfortunate that we’re still not in Division I after the way we played against them.

In singles action, senior Susie Panther defeated Michelle Wrenn, 6-4, 6-7, 6-3, and junior Mary Colligan ousted Christina Bakeland, 7-5, 6-7, 6-3. Junior JoAnne Biafore downed Liz Bresnahan, 6-7, 6-2, and Reuter/DeMuro downed Natalie Ilig and Biafore, 6-4, 7-5.

"We saw sparkling play from Panther individually as well as in doubles with Dasso," said Gelfman. "The doubles team they played was ranked number one, and they just picked them apart."

"Colligan had a tough match but hung in there and came out ahead. It was good to see some solid support coming from the lower end of the lineup too."

On Sunday, Notre Dame set the record for the fastest match time, taking only 49 minutes to completely dismantl St. Louis, which could not give any real competition to the Irish.

In the singles matches, Colligan defeated Deanne Keilmann, 6-0, 6-0, and Dasso came back from the previous day’s loss, topping Amy Buscher, 6-0, 6-0. "Our team was good to see some solid support coming from the lower end of the lineup too."

"The season has been going well for us," said Gelfman. "We have been playing well through a tough part of our schedule. Our toughest match of the year, however, is today against Northwestern. We will need some solid performances individually, and everyone has to pull their game and ability up.

NHL roundup

Leaves, Oilers keep series alive

Leaves 5, Blues 3

TORONTO Walt Poddubny scored the winning goal with 7:15 remaining and Dan Daoust scored into an empty net with 44 seconds left as the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Calgary Flames, 5-2, in a game earlier this season. These two teams will meet tonight in Montreal to decide the Adams Division championship. Last night’s playoff action was summarized at left.

The Edmonton Oilers a come-from-behind 5-2 victory over the Calgary Flames last night to tie the best-of-seven series at 3-3 and keep alive their hopes for a third straight Stanley Cup championship.

The Oilers put the game away when Mike Krushelnitski scored into an empty net with 22 seconds left and Craig MacTavish closed out the scoring.

Steve Thomas was Toronto’s scoring leader, scoring twice and setting up Tom Fergus for another. Doug Gilmour scored twice and Mark Hunter once for the Blues.

Oilier's doubles team won by 15:15 Stanely Cup championship.

In doubles action, the team of Ando and Colligan beat Wrenn/Schmidt, 6-3, 6-2, but Reuter/DeMuro outplayed Natalie Ilig and Biafore.

"Defensively," said Gelfman. "We have been playing well through a tough part of our schedule. Our toughest match of the year, however, is today against Northwestern. We will need some solid performances individually, and everyone has to pull their game and ability up.

Pain!

Montreal Canadiens’ Bobby Smith grimaces as he checks Hartford Whalers’ Dean Evason in a game earlier this season. These two teams will meet tonight in Montreal to decide the Adams Division championship. Last night’s playoff action was summarized at left.
Irish depend on depth to notch three victories

By RICK RIETBROCK
Sports Writer

Depth is an important characteristic of any successful team, and Notre Dame tennis coach Tom Fallon got a chance to utilize this in his squad’s recent road trip.

The Irish swept the three games against DePaul, Michigan State and Kalamazoo to boost their season record to 23-8, despite a back injury to number-one singles and doubles player Dan Walsh, that kept him out of the Michigan State and Kalamazoo matches.

On Thursday, the Irish, as Fallon expected, easily subdued a weak DePaul squad, 8-1.

Indiana State, however, was supposed to present a more difficult challenge. This was not the case though, and the Irish swept the Spartans, 9-0.

“We played well, especially considering that we had to juggle our lineup with the loss of Dan Walsh,” Fallon said. “But Michigan State really was not very strong.”

To play the Spartans was not the only reason the team visited East Lansing, however, as Fallows wanted to see the new indoor facility that Michigan State has built. “We wanted a chance to see their facility because we hope to have our own indoor facility by next season,” he said. “We wanted to get a few ideas, and right now, I think it’s the best facility in the nation.”

The 9-0 win against Kalamazoo was an impressive one for the Irish, as Kalamazoo had a sparkling 18-1 record heading into Sunday’s match.

Kalamazoo will most likely be the top seed in the NCAA Division III Tournament as well. These figures combine to make the victory quite impressive.

“That win is really a good one for us,” said Fallon. “I was worried going into the doubles matches tied at three, but our guys came through.”

Coming through first was the team of Tim Carr and Dave Reiter, who took over for the team of Dan Walsh and Paul Dagg at the number-one slot and recorded a 6-3, 6-3 victory. Joe Nelligan and Tony Cahill then lost a disappointing 6-2, 6-4 decision before the new team of Dagg and Brian Kalbys played well and took a 6-2, 6-0-match-clinching win.

Fallon said he was very pleased with the performance of the players who were inserted into the void left by Walsh.

“Our depth really came through for us,” he said. “Joe Nelligan played well at the number-six singles spot, and the juggled doubles teams performed very well.

The Irish are back home for a match against Purdue today. Purdue defeated the Irish in last year’s match, 5-4, and figure to bring essentially the same team, while the Irish will sport what Fallon calls a “much improved” version over last year’s squad. The action will take place at the Courtey Courts, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Assistant Production Manager

• Salaried Position
• Duties include: supervision, hiring, and training of layout personnel
• Previous design and layout experience is preferred

Interested contact Chris Bowler at The Observer (239-5303)

SPECIAL SHOWING FOR: ND-SMC Faculty, Students, Staff
Bring ND-SMC I.D. - FRIDAY NIGHT ONLY - MAY 2 8:00pm
ADMISSION PRICE DRastically REDUCED!

River Park Theatre  May 2  8:00 p.m.

SMC tennis edges DePauw
falls to Toledo,

By CHRISTINE FORTIN
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's tennis team closed its spring season with one win and one loss. The Belles defeated DePauw 5-4 on Friday, and were handed a 1-8 loss from Toledo on Wednesday.

Winning singles matches in the DePauw match for Saint Mary's were number-two player Karen Kerich, number-three player Charlene Szajko, and number-two doubles teams of Sandy Hickey and Sandy Scott. The number-one doubles team was Charlene Szajko. Temofeew, number-three player for Saint Mary's, won easily, putting the Belles ahead 2-1.

The Saint Mary's squad could not maintain its one point lead, and were handed a 1-8 loss from Toledo on Wednesday.

“Overall, I would say the season was a good one,” said Kerich. “We had an enthusiastic team, and we were competitive at our meets.”

“This was a big meet, and as far as the girls who were there, we were represented very well,” Kerich noted. Among the members who placed at the meet was freshman Theresa Rice, who finished second in the 600-meter run with a time of 2:28.8.

Cathy Kennedy, a sophomore, ran the event in 2:32 for fourth place.

Temofeew, number-three player for Saint Mary's, won easily, putting the Belles ahead 2-1.

“I would say the season was a good one,” said Kerich. “We had an enthusiastic team, and we were competitive at our meets.”

Junior Marichaire Driscoll was fourth in the 15,000-meter run with a time of 45:09.

The 1600-meter relay team of Kennedy, Rice, junior Anne Bianco and freshman Loa Gill finished sixth with a time of 4:29.7.

Temofeew won easily, putting the Belles ahead 2-1.

“Overall, I would say the season was a good one,” said Kerich. “We had an enthusiastic team, and we were competitive at our meets.”

To play the Spartans was not the only reason the team visited East Lansing, however, as Fallows wanted to see the new indoor facility that Michigan State has built. “We wanted a chance to see their facility because we hope to have our own indoor facility by next season,” he said. “We wanted to get a few ideas, and right now, I think it’s the best facility in the nation.”

The 5-4 win against Kalamazoo was an impressive one for the Irish, as Kalamazoo had a sparkling 18-1 record heading into Sunday’s match.

Kalamazoo will most likely be the top seed in the NCAA Division III Tournament as well. These figures combine to make the victory quite impressive.

“That win is really a good one for us,” said Fallon. “I was worried going into the doubles matches tied at three, but our guys came through.”

Coming through first was the team of Tim Carr and Dave Reiter, who took over for the team of Dan Walsh and Paul Dagg at the number-one slot and recorded a 6-3, 6-3 victory. Joe Nelligan and Tony Cahill then lost a disappointing 6-2, 6-4 decision before the new team of Dagg and Brian Kalbys played well and took a 6-2, 6-0-match-clinching win.

Fallon said he was very pleased with the performance of the players who were inserted into the void left by Walsh.

“Our depth really came through for us,” he said. “Joe Nelligan played well at the number-six singles spot, and the juggled doubles teams performed very well.

The Irish are back home for a match against Purdue today. Purdue defeated the Irish in last year’s match, 5-4, and figure to bring essentially the same team, while the Irish will sport what Fallon calls a “much improved” version over last year’s squad. The action will take place at the Courtey Courts, beginning at 2:30 p.m.
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 palm
5 Son of Jacob
10 raw
13 intimate
14 Grid Hall-of-Famer
15 Pro—
16 Food
18 Persian poet
19 Son of Odin
20 Hole makers
21 Ultimate conclusion
22 Goddess of Wisdom
24 "Down to the—ships"
25 Bed canopy
29 Memo
30 Appraised
31 "Blaire" composer
32 Self—quantity
35 Taj Mahal
37 Crew hands
38 Leafy recess
39 Wrath
40 Ready
42 Tossing pole
43 Track events
45 —around
46 Man of running
47 Part of OED
48 Legal matter
49 Penitent one
50 Store sign
53 Ms. Merkel
54 Melancholy
60 Actor Bruce

DOWN
1 Loony
2 Wrong
3 Hebrew judge
5 Solution
6 Official 7 Linden and culvert
8 Guido's note
9 Made amends
10 Food
11 Catchall abbr.
12 Rank above
13 Like some
14 Part of QED
15 Pen
16 Seal family
17 Pipe part
18 Hobo
19 Ship's part
20 Food
21 Cafe patron
22 More crude
23 Tree man
24 Cut
25 Hobo
26 Cafe patron
27 Tree man
28 Memo
29 White heron
30 Gulfstream
31 Store sign
32 Hebrew
33 Solution
34 Minute
35 Tree man
36 Taj Mahal
37 Crew hands
38 Leafy recess
39 Wrath
40 Ready
41 Food
42 Tossed a room
43 Food
44 Photo finish
45 Learn of
46 Heraldry band
47 Stew
48 Nat King
49 Fret
50 Store sign
51 Part of OED
52 Food
53 Ms. Merkel
54 Melancholy
55 Can. prov.
56 Growing out
57 To shelter
58 Legal
59 Sent forth
beams
60 Actor Bruce

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

6 Official
7 Linden and
culvert
8 Guido's note
9 Made amends
10 Food
11 Catchall abbr.
12 Rank above
13 Like some
14 Part of QED
15 Pen
16 Seal family
17 Pipe part
18 Hobo
19 Ship's part
20 Food
21 Cafe patron
22 More crude
23 Tree man
24 Cut
25 Hobo
26 Cafe patron
27 Tree man
28 Memo
29 White heron
30 Gulfstream
31 Store sign
32 Hebrew
33 Solution
34 Minute
35 Tree man
36 Taj Mahal
37 Crew hands
38 Leafy recess
39 Wrath
40 Ready
41 Food
42 Tossed a room
43 Food
44 Photo finish
45 Learn of
46 Heraldry band
47 Stew
48 Nat King
49 Fret
50 Store sign
51 Part of OED
52 Food
53 Ms. Merkel
54 Melancholy
55 Can. prov.
56 Growing out
57 To shelter
58 Legal
59 Sent forth
beams
60 Actor Bruce

Need an Apartment

Need a first-floor apt. for May 20 until Aug. 23. Apt. will be used for storage. Rent will be paid. Call Joe at 239-7471.
By KEVIN HERBERT
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame lacrosse team continued to show that it is a formidable team and a team to be reckoned with in the Midwest as it split two games over the weekend. The Irish travelled to Wittenburg on Friday night and came away with a 13-4 victory. Senior Bryan Tucker started the game and played a real good team Saturday as he went 4-for-5 with four runs, two RBIs, and two walks. The Irish were also the benefactors of good pitching in Sunday's second game as senior Mark Wat errick (3-3) went seven innings, yielding eight runs, but also picking up three RBIs and four walks. Sophomore Steve Powell picked up the save, pitching two scoreless innings.

The Irish were undefeated in GL conference movement. Nine of our 11 goals on Friday were assisted, and four of our five goals on Sunday were also assisted. This points out that we have become more team-oriented.

This weekend the Irish started strong against Utah State, the team that played earlier this season. Watching the action is senior midfielder Tom Lanahan (24). The Notre Dame lacrosse club hot with victory over Valparaiso

The Women's Softball Club has been tearing up the field with victories over Valparaiso and Saint Mary's. The action gets underway on the Saint Mary's campus.

This weekend the club will sail in the Michigan City open with both games to be played on Ohio Wesleyan's field. Senior Steve Powell picked up the save, pitching two scoreless innings.

Onlly six in the second, including a Shields home run, and never looked back as the team's top performer. Coach O'Leary. "They look forsee LACROSSE, page 9

Shields' hitting leads Irish to four victories over Butler U.

The Irish were the second best team ever if not our overall and undefeated in the Great Lakes Conference.