Six dorms change rectors for next fall

By SEAN NEALON and TRIPP BALZT

One-fourth of the residence halls on the Notre Dame campus will have new rectors next fall, according to an Observer survey of the current hall rectors.

The Observer contacted each of the 24 rectors about possible changes in the rector positions at each hall. According to the rectors:

Brother Edward Luther, former rector of Morrissey for eight years, is leaving Morrissey after this semester.

Brother Lyons Hall after this semester.

Brother Edward Luther is leaving Morrissey for a series of meetings with administrators to address issues of the GLND/SMC's proposals, said he couldn't discuss the proposals because no decision had been reached on them.

State television showed colorfully dressed folk dancers performing there. The cause of the accident has not been revealed, but Soviet radiation expert Pavel Ramzaev said when asked yesterday if it was a meltdow of the reactor core: "I suppose that is so."

There were conflicting reports about whether the reactor fire had been extinguished. U.S. Intelligence sources had said Wednesday in Washington that it still raged and could burn for several hours.

Vitaly Churkin, second secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, testifying before a House of Representatives subcommittee yesterday, was asked whether the fire had been put out. He said, "I don't know."

that "the accident is not over with. That is clear. We have not told other countries that everything is OK and they can relax."

The U.S. Agriculture Department said shifting winds were carrying a radioactive plume from the stricken plant over the rich farmlands of the western Ukraine and into Romania, Hungary, eastern Czechoslovakia and Austria. Poland reported less fallout than in previous days but said radioactivity levels in water and soil remain high.

The Soviet government said only that "efforts to implement a complex technical measure continued at the Chernobyl nuclear power station in the duration of April 30. The radioactivity on the territory of the NPS and the "The NPS' settlement dropped 1.5 to 2 times."

"Work is under way to deactivate the contaminated areas adjacent to the NPS territory."

"Medical assistance is being ad­ ministered to those affected of whom 18 people are in serious con­ dition. There are no foreign citizens among those affected," said the Soviet government.

The "settlement" is Pripyat, a town of 25,000 built at the plant site. Officially, the casualty toll is two dead and 197 injured, but Secretary of State George Shultz said it was higher "by good measure."

An Israeli amateur radio operator in Tel Aviv said a Soviet ham radio operator told him there were 300 casualties, but how many were dead was not clear.

David Ben-Bassat said the Soviet ham operator told him Wednesday that he lived 30 miles north of the reactor and "nobody drinks the water. We are afraid."

The Soviet Union's first public mention of any effect on other countries came in a report yesterday by the official news agency Tass on a meeting in New York between U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar and Yuri Dubinin, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

It said: "the Soviet government has informed a group of European states of the accident and steps undertaken to liquidate its con­sequences, so that the governments see SOVIET, page 4

Homosexual group proposes access to facilities

By MARK PANKOWSKI

A homosexual group's set of proposals seeking access to University facilities and media remains under considera­ tion, almost two weeks after it was submitted.

The campus-based group, the Gays and Lesbians at Notre Dame/Saint Mary's College, submitted the pro­ posals several days after an April 8 meeting with Student Affairs administrators.

During that meeting, the administrators offered to consider any proposals the group might submit.

The GLND/SMC's proposals seek to use the facilities of the Center for Social Concerns, to sponsor events in University-owned facilities and to advertise in University-owned and operated media, all privileges now denied the group.

The group also submitted a proposal seeking to establish a series of meetings with administrators to address issues now separating them.

Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson, who attended the meeting and received a copy of the pro­posals, said he couldn't discuss the proposals because no decision had been reached on them.

Christa McAuliffe, who was to test yesterday in a hillside cemetery overlooking the city where she taught school, the first of the seven Challenger astronauts to be buried. "A private Roman Catholic burial ceremony will be held at 11 a.m. for St. Christa McAuliffe," said family spokesman Michael Callahan. The service was conducted by McAuliffe's cousin, the Reverend James LeBaron, immediately after the ceremony, workers removed the flowers from the bare gravesites, presumably to direct attention to the service.

A grant of $75,000 from the Charles Culpeper Foundation has been awarded to Notre Dame's department of modern and classical languages, according to David Ladouceur, chairman of the department. The grant will be used to establish a summer language institute, to provide scholarships, to fund lectures by visiting scholars and to organize workshops. In addition, the grant will aid the department's faculty development by providing stipends for foreign travel, course reductions and course planning.

Gerald Ford pardons 4,000. A cheering crowd of about 4,000 West Point cadets received pardons for minor conduct infractions from the former president on Wednesday. By tradition, any head of state or former head of state has the right to relieve U.S. military academy cadets from punishment incurred for minor violations. Ford's action removed obstacles to graduation for some of them, a spokesman said. — AP

Finals thieves abound, so watch your books

Hang onto your books, boys and girls! It's end-of-the-semester time, that semi-annual period featuring early parietals, studying for finals (an activity which, Father Tyson figures, increases because of early parietals), newly-graduated, and packing to go home. It is also the time to become increasingly cautious if one is in the habit of leaving a backpack full of books in such locations as dining hall or bookstore lobbies. Everybody brings a blanket and a pillow out to sleep on the quad outdoors!)

A textbook takes on an ever-magnifying importance as the final exam covering it approaches until it becomes indispensable the night before the final. Discovering that a book which has not yet been read, much less studied, has been stolen less than 24 hours before the final exam in that class can throw even the calmest student into panic.

The end-of-the-semester backpack bandit indeed is a unique sort. Not yet a hardened criminal, he may display signs of compassion toward the victims by not swiping items of personal value or by stealing only a limited amount from any one person. Given a choice, he would much sooner steal a text on personal finance than a checkbook. Perhaps he sees having $40 worth of books as less "personal" than forging someone's name on a check for $40.

Don't make sure you are hearing these words, not saying them.

South African blacks stage nationwide work stoppage

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - Millions of blacks stayed away from jobs and schools yesterday, crippling factories, mines and stores in the largest anti-apartheid protest in South African history.

The nationwide strike, demanding in part that May Day be declared a national holiday, signaled in part that May Day be Beyond those 2.5 million strikers, there was no way to calculate how many others left school and work for the day in rural areas and the nation's 10 tribal homelands, scenes of turmoil in recent months.

The national Associated Chambers of Commerce reported "massive absence from work" across the country, ranging from 70 to 100 percent. The black workforce is estimated at more than six million in a population of 24 million.

Both Vincent Brett, manpower director for the chamber, and Professor Eddie Webster, head of the academic monitoring group, agreed the strike was the largest ever in South Africa.

Transport to and from townships halted as bus, train and taxi drivers joined the strike. Most companies adopted a policy of "no work, no pay, no penalty."

A government spokesman also estimated at least one million urban black students boycotted classes for the day.

An academic monitoring group said at least 1.5 million workers, and possibly many more, struck for the day in the nation's four largest cities alone. A government spokesman also estimated at least one million urban black students boycotted classes for the day. Beyond those 2.5 million

Shultz defends Marcos' rights as 'free man'

BALI, Indonesia - Secretary of State George Shultz said yesterday the Reagan administration considers deposed Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos "a free man" entitled to call supporters in his homeland and to move from the United States if he wishes.

In bluntly-spoken language exposing tension between the administration and the government of Marcos' successor Corazon Aquino, Shultz also said "we do have infinite capacity to provide money" to Manila.

Shultz said Philippine Vice President Salvador Laurel, in a meeting with President Reagan, was told the administration believes the courts - and not the executive branch of the U.S. government - must resolve claims by the Aquino government that Marcos stole billions in money and other valuables belonging to the Filipinos.

Asked whether Reagan had provided to Laurel sufficient assurances of U.S. support for the Aquino government, Shultz snapped to reporters: "You will have to ask Mr. Laurel if he is satisfied. Let me remind you the president is not on trial here."

In his last full day on this tropical island before heading off to Tokyo and the seven-nation international economic summit, Reagan met with Laurel, conferred separately with Indonesian President Suharto and spoke to the foreign ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN). Reagan then was joined by his wife Nancy for an elegant evening dinner and cultural performance hosted by Suharto and his wife, Tien.

In a toast, Reagan noted strong ties between the two nations "even though our methods of government differ."

During his address to the Southeast Asian officials, Reagan voiced great disappointment that Vietnam had broken off talks on the search for Americans still listed as missing in action.
Soviet nuke catastrophe sends futures skyrocketing

LONDON - The nuclear accident in the Ukraine, one of the Soviet Union's biggest farming regions, has caused a sharp rise in wheat and livestock prices on world markets, commodities analysts said yesterday.

In the absence of any word from the Soviet Union on possible radiation damage to soil, water, crops and herds, commodities markets have been gripped by speculation that the Soviets will be forced to increase imports of grain, sugar and milk products.

Commodities analysts said it was too early to assess the extent of radioactive pollution in the Ukraine from the Chernobyl nuclear reactor but that heavy fallout could damage Soviet agricultural output for years to come.

Sweden and Denmark have already banned food imports from the Soviet Union and some Eastern European countries.

"The market is going through the roof," said Bill Kemaria, an analyst with the London-based International Wheat Council. "We haven't seen excitement like this for months and months."

In Washington, the U.S. Agriculture Department reported shifting winds were carrying the radioactive plume to the southwest yesterday, in a direction that could ultimately affect some of the Soviet Union's richest, black earth areas.

Analysts in London and Chicago attributed the commodities rally mainly to speculative buying and said it could fizzle out.

between the University and GLND/SMC in order that we may learn from each other... the propo- nal states.

The group also requested regular opportunities to:

- Use the Center for Social Con- cerns for meetings, rap sessions, films and lectures, and to maintain a mail box on campus.
- Sponsor programs, services and events in University-owned facilities on campus.
- Include its address and/or phone number in notices or an- nouncements to be placed in or read over University-owned media.
- Maintain an address and/or phone number in the student direc- tory.
- Advertise programs, services and events in University-owned and operated media in accord with the various media organizations.

One of the primary reasons the group requested the April 8 meeting was the University's ban of the group's announcements from the student-run radio stations, the group said. That ban prompted the stu- dent managers of WVFI-AM and WSND-FM to resign their positions.

"The airwaves are free and the radio station is there to serve the public," Jenny said. "We are part of the public."

Another member of the group said the real issue for the group is censorship.

"For the radio station, the issue is censorship," said the member, a Notre Dame graduate student who also spoke only on condition his name not be used. "For us, it goes deeper than that, all the way to our exisitence as an organization and even as people," he said.

"The University wants to do everything it can to keep us quiet. We're not the type of image that the University wants conveyed," the graduate student said.

Cafarelli has said the public ser- vice announcements were banned because allowing them to be broad- cast would make it seem the University was endorsing the group.

Although the group has a 15-year history, only at the beginning of last year did it change from a group meeting primarily for parties to a more socially-active organization, said the graduate student.

In addition to informing its members about developments of concern to gays and lesbians, the group attempts to educate the com- munity about homosexuality, he said.

The group has provided lec­ turers to four classes at Saint Mary's as a part of this education process, Jenny said. The group also has co-sponsored a poetry reading with the Saint Mary's College Cam- pus Ministry, an organization which has been very cooperative with the group, she said.

Despite the change in its focus, the GLND/SMC still gives its members the opportunity to socialize with those of the same sex- ual orientation, said Jenny. She stressed that the group, which meets once every three weeks, is 'not a singles' club.'

"It's a minority group. It's like being black or hispanic at Notre Dame, we feel alienated," she said, adding, "The group is one place we don't feel alienated."

The group's members, who range from the celibate to the sexually ac- tive, are not concerned with other members' sexual relationships, ac- cording to the graduate student. "Sexual activity is not part of our group," he said.

Most of the undergraduates who are members weren't aware of their homophobia when they decided to attend Notre Dame, said Joe, an undergraduate and the group's other co-chair, who spoke on con- dition that his last name not be us- ed.

In order to become a member, a person must write for information at least twice, thereby avoiding a student's signing-up another stu- dent as a prank, he said.

"If people find out, you're pigeonholed," he said. "People no longer look at you as the smart skinny student but as a homosex­ ual. It colors everyone's opinion of you."

Senior pre-med accepts Niland service award

By ELLYN MASTAKO
Senior Staff Reporter

The first Patrick John Niland Memorial Service Award was awarded to John Muffoletto, a senior pre-med, at the volunteer recognition banquet of the Big Brothers/Big Sisters of St. Joseph County.

The award was named for Niland, a 1982 graduate of Notre Dame. A Big Brother while at Notre Dame, he was killed in a car accident in 1985.

When asked why he thought he was chosen for the award, Muffoletto said, "I think I've had a big impact on my Little Brother. He was put into a foster home and then sent back home, and I kept seeing him and helping him through it all." In his presentation speech, Father Edward Malloy, associate provost of Notre Dame, said when Niland's accident occurred, Niland deliberately swerved to save his roommate's life.

He feel that since I've been involved. "It's a really good feeling to have received this award," said Muffoletto. "After reading about Niland and what the award means, it seemed more important. Actually, when I got it, I had a really special feeling," he said.

Muffoletto has been a Big Brother for over two years. He said his roommate's involvement in the program prompted him to get involved. "I feel that since I've been here four years, I should do something in the community," said Muffoletto.

Muffoletto said he spends about one afternoon per week with his Little Brother, Chris. "We go bowling or to the movies; the possibilities are endless. I just do the things I did with my older brother, so it really is easy."

"Chris is a great kid. We've built a really open relationship over the years," said Muffoletto.

Muffoletto encouraged students to join the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program. "For people like myself who were a bit leery of joining the program, give it a try. You learn much about yourself through the experiences you have with the child."

Fear of homosexuality separates us from God

Going into the Roar: Exploring Attitudes Toward Homosexuality

As the story is told, the old toothless, clawless king of the pride of lions till leads the hunt long into his old age. When the pride enters the field for the hunt, the king goes to one end and the younger lions to the opposite end. They lie in wait and when the prey enters the field the old king lets out his mighty roar. The lions, fleet from the roar, and runs directly into the paws and claws of the waiting pride. And so it is with us, I believe.

Elizabeth Smoyer

When we avoid the roar of our own negative feelings about those we label "queer," "fairy," one of "those kind," I believe we risk perishing in the jaws and claws of our own prejudgments, condemnation, stereotypical attitudes and thinking. I choose to apply this story to our attitudes toward individuals and the group known as the gay/lesbian community. I choose to write not about "them" but about the other half of the dialectic, the "us." In doing so, I invite the readers to look into the roar of our own attitudes about homosexuality in hope of avoiding the loss of something of in-calculable value to the whole human community. I believe that stereotyping, labeling, and projecting onto others are not those of us in our midst. We, as a community, are in danger of being domi­ ated by a minority group. Such attitudes do much to keep the gay/lesbian members of our community and even the whole community's wholeness. Such attitudes do much to keep the gay/lesbian members of our community and even the whole community's wholeness.

I also fear that, projection and a perceived threat to a cherished value may contribute to behaviors such as isolating, labeling and rejecting gay/lesbian persons.

To the extent that I isolate, label or project onto others, I cut myself off from my own wholeness and, by extension, the community's wholeness. Such attitudes do much to keep the gay/lesbian members of our community and even the whole community's wholeness.

I fear that, projection and a perceived threat to a cherished value may contribute to behaviors such as isolating, labeling and rejecting gay/lesbian persons.

I fear that these untended attitudes create silent divisions in our community. The more we cut ourselves off from this painful reality, the more we cut ourselves off from the life-giving, reconciling spirit of God who seeks to move within us. God's grace is always offered. The choice of accepting the gay/lesbian person or group, which difference we may find upsetting is ours.

We are betrayed into the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, we Christians are called to face the "framing" of God's grace. Each time we celebrate the Eucharist together, we renew our commitment to this calling. I pray that we may respond with an un­breakable union with God in love. Will we let our choice to isolate and label others of those from our community we fear because they bear the label of gay/lesbian? Will we risk perishing in our feelings about them? Will we, on the other hand, trust that each and all of us, gay/lesbian or not, are unique and lovable expressions of a loving and gracious God?

Will we perish in our fear, or will we "go into the roar?"

Dear Editor:

Notre Dame must now say "good-bye" to one of her quiet heroes, to the man who has stood for strength and humility for over half a century.

Dominick J. "Nappy" Napolitano taught me, and thousands of other guys, how to be a strong yet gentle man.

It was, in fact, a communist ploy to achieve a planned disaster of a nuclear war. I remember him as a planned disaster of a nuclear war. He was a strong yet gentle man.

In it is contained a profound disaster of a nuclear war. "There is nothing so strong as gentleness; there is nothing so gentle as real disaster of a nuclear war. "There is nothing so strong as gentleness; there is nothing so gentle as real disaster of a nuclear war."

Kiev nuclear meltdown a planned Soviet ploy

Dear Editor:

Calling the meltdown of the nuclear plant outside Kiev an "accident" is a misnomer. It was, in fact, a communist ploy to achieve many anti-Western objectives.

Why, one asks, would the Russian government undertake such an apparently disastrous "accident"?

There are many reasons:

1) to test radiation experiments which test unsuspecting subjects, thus preparing for the disaster of a nuclear war;

2) to advance the anti-nuclear movement in the West. The United States has 101 operational nuclear power plants ready to close. Why else would they evacuate thousands, if not Pravda insists, only two people died?

3) to genetically damage the future generation of the free world's resistance to communism.

4) to advance the anti-nuclear movement in the West. The United States has 101 operational nuclear power plants ready to close.

Together, these motives reveal the diseased minds ruling from the Kremlin.

James S. Peters

Dear Sir:

Why did they evacuate thousands, if not Pravda insists, only two people died?

I call the evacuation of a densely populated area in the event of a nuclear war. to practice the evacuation of a densely populated area in the event of a nuclear war.

The costs of this operation are staggering. In it is contained a profound disaster of a nuclear war. "There is nothing so strong as gentleness; there is nothing so gentle as real disaster of a nuclear war."

‘West Side Story’ power packed show

J. CHRISTOPHER MURPHY
features writer

Last night the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's production of West Side Story opened at O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's. The show will be the last productions of the season for the department of communications and theater at Saint Mary's.

The classic stage show is a modern adaptation of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, modern to the 1950s. It revolves around the troubled inhabited of a lower class American neighborhood and the sister of a rival Puerto Rican gang. Their 'love affair must face a fatal rumble of the two gangs.'

The Notre Dame/Notre Dame freshman Brian Loefler, struggles to keep alive his love for Maria, played by Notre Dame senior Sarah Bradley. A bad situation is made worse when their best friend Riff, played by Notre Dame senior Kevin O'Carroll, is killed by Maria's brother Bernardo. Played by Notre Dame sophomore Jack Blakely. Toni in turn kills Bernardo.

Loefler's performance was very good. His vocal performance geared to match his excellent acting abilities. When singing with Bernardo, they truly complement each other very well, as seen in "One Hand, One Heart." Bradley's performance was excellent. From her powerful "Tonight," to her impetuous final scene Bradley carried herself beautifully.

Loefler and Bradley's performance together were outstanding by the superb performance of Lauren Longua as Anita, Bernardo's girlfriend. Dancing and acting were nearly flawless and there are admirable enthusiasm. Blakely and O'Carroll worked well together on stage and off were well cast. O'Carroll was noted. Robert Ellsworth, playing Doc, a local storekeeper, made the most of his time on stage, as did Tony Lawson as Schrank, the ever ominous detective, and David Schaefer as Officer Krupke.

There were two performances that would have made the show excel by themselves. "Tonight" performed by the entire cast in the first act was very powerful. "One Officer Krupke" performed by Bernardo and the Jets in the second act showed incredible creativity and execution. These performances coupled with the extensive choreography of "The Dance at the Gym," made for a very enjoyable show worth fighting to get tickets to see.

The stage was extensive. Moving balconies, and instant for the bar, the musical technology was outstanding. Simple room scenery showed incredible projection and lighting and efficiency in set design.

The production continues through tonight, tomorrow night, May 15, 16, and 17 at 8 p.m. at O'Laughlin.

reggae in the moonlight with the dallol band.

"Dallol's star rises in Bob's footsteps. I can see a great future for them."
Rita Marley

Stitch glittering praises, coming from the widow of the late reggae superstar Bob Marley, shows how acceptable Dallol, the band that was formed after Dallol's father, Bob Marley, died, is to internationally respected interregional scene. Dallol, the band's new singer, will provide the band's new momentum. The band's members have played for hunger-relief aid to Ethiopia. They are the band's home team.

The members of Dallol - Kephawel W. Mariam on drums, Melaku Retta on synthesizers, Dereje Mekonnen on keyboards and synthesizers, Amber Sellasse on percussion, and brothers Zeleke and Mahatgna Sasah house of Mann - are very well known for their quality African-influenced reggae sound and their humanitarian concern, manifested in the many benefits the band has played for hunger-relief aid to Ethiopia and their homeland.

"He said publicity director Mike Mazza. "It is quite remarkable that Bob Marley's" ilio saga has come a long way from the hardship of the two gangs."

Aid to the victims of African famine, has earned this praise throughout the world. The headlining band tomorrow night will be providing the music, and the sister of the member of a reggae band, Rita Marley, is a charismatic, impactful performer, who helped to make the show claim its place in the reggae world.

"Catholic Relief Services has been providing the music, and like their name they play a bit of everything."

Things were relatively simple for Pinkett in those days four years ago when he and his classmates first came to play for ex-head coach Gerry Faust. Faust, secure in his job, watched Pinkett burst on the scene with some dazzling rookie running and then get most of the media attention. This year, however, Pinkett often became the restless team spokesman for media probing into the reactions of the players to Faust's steadily deteriorating job security.

"It was strange because week after week it wasn't how well we had played, just what the situation with Coach Faust was," he said.

The impact of the record really hasn't hit me yet," said Pinkett. "I owe it to the guys on the line of scrimmage who paved the way. It was just me trying to help Notre Dame win and I guess the records are not losing anyone next year, and we will definitely win the team title.

Sullivan is reserved about her success this season. "A lot of girls on the team were ranked in the top 10 senior fencers in the nation, will compete in Nationals this June. She will continue to compete on the Olympic point system in order to qualify for the University Games and the Pan-Am Games next year, and ultimately for the '88 Olympic team.

Under the point system, five major events are scored each year, and the lowest finish is dropped. Points are accumulated over a fencer's career. As aside from being named an alternate to the '85 Junior World Olympic team last spring, Sullivan has competed in the '84 Junior World Olympics in Switzerland. She is also a former Junior Olympic champion in the under-16 category.

came in the event of that." For Pinkett, who follows sophomore basketball player David Rivers as recipient of the Krause Award, still greater challenges ap-appear on the horizon. This summer, the third-round draft choice of the Houston Oilers will attempt to gain a spot on the roster of the NFL club. It will be just another obstacle to run around, and Pinkett, so doubt, will do it with class and style.

"I'll miss this place but I'm looking forward to moving on and facing up to the one heck of a challenge that awaits me," he said. "One thing I'll always have with me, though, is the pleasant memories of the memories of this place. And I just hope I can continue to represent the Notre Dame community well.

and Shields. They kept constant pressure on the goal and made the most of the opportunities.

The win raised Notre Dame's overall record to 9-3, and an unblemished 5-0 Great Lakes Conference record. Ohio State fell to 6-9, 3-1 in the conference.

The tenth inning proved disastrous. Purdue scored four runs, while the Irish could only come up with one. Purdue won the game 6-5.

On Wednesday, the Irish dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Broncos of Western Michigan. In the opener, the Irish lost, 5-4 and in the nightcap the team lost, 8-7. The games proved extremely frustrating for the Irish because both were only lost by one run.

In the opening game, the Irish lost when Western Michigan scored a run in the bottom of the sixth inning to break the 4-4 tie. The Irish were unable to come up with a run in the top of the seventh inning.

In the nightcap, Western Michigan scored in the bottom of the seventh to break the 7-7 tie that the Irish had established in their last at bat. A bright spot for the Irish was Tom Shields who went 3-for-3. Following the game, Gallo wondered whether or not the team enjoyed winning.

"Sometimes I wonder if the team enjoys prosperity," said Gallo. "We could have easily won our last three games. It has been frustrating all year long. The situations and opportunities were there for us to win, but we didn't. We never capitalized. Since our Bowling Green win, we should have gone 9-0 in our last nine games. It is frustrating not to win the games we know we should have."

Yesterday, the Irish decided that the frustration of the week's games had been enough. On Jake Kline Field, the Irish easily beat Valparaiso, 6-1. Craig Passilla pitched a complete game. Over nine innings, Passilla allowed one run on four hits, struck out three and walked none. Ken Sween and Tom Shields led the team in hitting. Sween went 2-for-3 with one RBI and Shields went 1-for-3 with two runs batted in. The Irish also played solid defense committing only two errors during the game.

With this win, the Irish will bring a 21-23 record into this weekend's four-game series with Northwestern. Gallo believes that injuries have prevented the team from a better overall record.

"I wonder how well this team would have done if we did not have so many injuries," said Gallo. "Conservatively speaking, I think that we could have achieved between 28-18 and 33-13. We have never had our predicted season lineup in a game once this year. We have always had to fill empty spots because of injuries to key players."

The weekend's series with Northwestern will be a tough one for the Irish. Northwestern has 13 scholarship players on their squad to provide depth and balance. Last year, the Irish lost all four contests to the Northwestern team. On Saturday, the Irish travel to Northwestern for a doubleheader which starts at 1:00 p.m. CDT. On Saturday, the Irish will play another doubleheader against Northwestern on Jake Kline Field at 1:00 p.m.

For O'Brien, it's time to move to a different court

By TRISH SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

From the tennis courts to a court of law, Notre Dame senior Iszy O'Brien will attempt to dominate the justice system much the same way she has dominated opponents during her short stint with the Irish women's tennis team.

O'Brien transferred to Notre Dame at the beginning of her sophomore year, forfeiting a season of eligibility. But her first year with the squad compiled a 27-6 record at the sixth singles spot and this season stands at 11-7 in singles and 16-5 in doubles with a partner Mary Colligan, as she heads to law school after graduation.

"Iszy has definitely improved since the fall and her doubles play has been outstanding this season," comments head coach Michele Gelfman. "I am very happy to have had the experience to coach her and get to know her as an individual. She will be very missed and very difficult to replace."

O'Brien began her athletic career as a swimmer, competing for eight years before trying her hand at tennis. "Izzy became disillusioned because there was always someone older and bigger he can kill," says O'Brien. "So my brother and I started taking private (tennis) lessons and that's how it all started. It was great having him around because there was always someone to hit around with. At first I would beat him, but now that he's gotten older and bigger he can run me."

O'Brien became disillusioned with Michigan during her first year, and began searching for another resident. "I stopped swimming because there wasn't a swim team in our high school and I was getting a little tired of it," recalls the Walsh Hall student. "Izzy's program and visiting the campus, she knew Notre Dame as the place to go. The program was on its way up and the academics were unbeatable."

"I have no regrets about transferring," adds O'Brien. "I've enjoyed my experience here tremendously. And I've gotten the chance to see the team grow in many ways, least of which is the move to Division I this season. I think we've done a good job with the switch, and although we won't have any postseason to look forward to, I would do it all over again."

First year coach Gelfman is certainly glad O'Brien was a part of the team when she came. The coach uses words such as "quiet, methodical, intense, mature and coachable," in describing her senior leader. Gelfman and the team had the last practice of O'Brien's career yesterday as the Irish head into a weekend of season-ending action.

The team will travel to Northern Illinois to take on Northern and Bowling Green. The squad should come out on top if everyone maintains their game.

"I want to win both," says Gelfman. "But I want to come off knowing that we played the best tennis we can possibly play to the end the season. I want to have outstanding performances all the way down the line." "The odds are in our favor," echoes O'Brien. "We definitely should beat them both this weekend. Everyone's game is doing well and since this is the last stand for us seniors, we want to to out on a winning note."

Pinkett, Sullivan named top athletes for 1985-86

ND’s No. 1 rusher maintained poise

By MARTY BURNS
Assistant Sports Editor

For Notre Dame tailback Allen Pinkett, 1985-86 was a year that presented bigger challenges than just carrying a football past 11 hurrying bodies 30 times a game. With the all-time school rushing record within his reach, frustrated Irish fans on his mind, and a relentless media grilling him about his head coach, there was more than enough pressure on the 5-9, 181-pound frame of the dynamo from Sterling, Va. But always the gentleman, Pinkett maintained poise and showed greatness both off the field as well as on it.

Because of these contributions to the 1985 Notre Dame football team, Pinkett has been named the winner of this year’s Edmund A. “Moose” Krause Award given annually to the Male and Female Athletes of the Year as determined by the sports department of The Observer.

“I am very honored and I have to say I didn’t expect it,” said Pinkett. “I guess this just goes to show that anything can happen at Notre Dame. If Paul Hornung can win the Heisman Trophy with Notre Dame going 2-8, I guess Allen Pinkett can win a ‘Moose’ Krause Award with his team going 6-6.”

The sup-par season slate of ’85 was one of the few disappointments for Pinkett in a year which saw him rush for 1,100 yards and 11 touchdowns in 255 carries. In the addition, you brought him a career total of 4,131 rushing yards - the largest number ever accumulated by a Notre Dame player.

Still, the repeated and bitter disappoint­ment of more losses than he or his fans were willing to accept too preceded in post-game press conferences over whatever personal feat he had accomplished. And though a 24-21-1 career record may not have been how he wanted to finish it all, he made it clear on every handoff that he wanted desperately to wake the echoes once again for the Irish fans.

“This was a very difficult year despite the 5-6 record we had,” notes Pinkett. “It was my senior year and it was just great playing with all the guys on the team, especially the senior class.”

Lacrosse team came back to beat Ohio St.

By PETE SKIKO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men’s lacrosse team once again exhibited its flair for the dramatic by pulling out a tense 13-9 victory over Ohio State on Wednesday at Carrier Field.

Tomorrow, Michigan State rolls in for a 3:30 p.m. battle at Carrier Field.

Ohio State took early control Wednesday, jumping out to a quick three-goal lead in the first quarter. The Irish quickly erased that, however, and began to set the offensive pace. Notre Dame could not pull away from the stubborn Buckeyes, never enjoying more than a two-goal advantage until late in the fourth quarter.

The game’s critical point came after Ohio State scored to tie the game at nine with just under eight minutes to go. Then, at the six-and-a-half minute mark of the final frame, senior co-captain Tom Grote beat Buckeye goalie Pat Lebby for what was eventually the game winning goal. Grote’s tally sparked three more Irish scores which provided the final margin of victory.

Head Coach Rich O’Leary was more than happy with his team’s effort and expressed confidence heading into the season finale at home against Michigan State.

“I thought our team played with a lot of character and poise,” said the sixth-year head coach. “We got behind at first, fought back and really took control of things in the fourth. Offensively, we played pretty well and our defense took everything they could shoot at us.”

Grote had four goals, including his game-winner, while Joe Franklin and Dave Shields added three goals apiece. Junior Jim Shields scored twice and set up three others. Sophomore goalie Matt McQuillan recorded his second straight game victory. O’Leary was satisfied with both team and individual efforts.

“Everyone played real well,” he added. “I was especially pleased with both team and individual efforts.”

Irish frustration ends with 6-1 win vs. Valpo

MICHAEL KEEGAN
Sports Writer

Except for yesterday’s home win against Valparaiso, this has been a very frustrating week for the Notre Dame baseball team. Since Monday, the Irish have dropped three games, a doubleheader to Western Michigan and an extra inning contest to Purdue.

Irish head coach Larry Gallo says the team’s performance has been inconsistent all week.

“Feels as though the team has been on a rollercoaster ride as of late,” said Gallo. “The situations were there for us to win, but we didn’t. We never capitalized on our opportunities, and as a result, we lost three of the four contests played this week.”

On Monday, the Irish lost a home game to Purdue. After the first inning, the Irish trailed, 1-0. However, in the bottom of the fourth inning, the Irish grabbed the lead by scoring four runs. Pat Pesavento got the inning going with a one-out double. Tom Shields followed with a walk, and then Pat Quinn Loughran singled to drive in both runners. Two more runs crossed the plate and the Irish had a 4-1 lead. The lead was quickly erased as Purdue scored three runs in the top of the sixth to tie the game. In the eighth inning, Chris Flynn hit a home run that put the Irish up by a run going into the top of the ninth.

Then the frustrations began for the Irish. After a one-out single, a wild pitch moved the runner to second. Bill Schiavone followed with a sacrifice fly to center to put the Irish up by two runs in the top of the ninth.

“The situations were there for us to win, but we didn’t. We never capitalized on our opportunities, and as a result, we lost three of the four contests played this week.”
