Administration denies University recognition to homosexual group

By MARK PANKOWSKI
News Editor

Student Affairs administrators have turned down a homosexual group's set of proposals seeking access to University facilities and media.

Administrators also declined the group's request to publish an openly homosexual version of its newsletter. The group's request was submitted in April.

The group's six proposals, submitted in April, in effect would have allowed for official University recognition, according to Tyson's letter. By declining the group's request, administrators deemed the group formal recognition.

The University recognizes its role in meeting the pastoral needs of all students, including homosexual students," Tyson's letter stated. "On the other hand, it is our judgement that formal recognition of GLNSDMC carries with it an implicit sanction for a homosexual lifestyle which is not in keeping with the values of the University or the teachings of the Church.

"Moreover, it is our opinion that formal recognition of any organization based on sexual preference is inappropriate."

Business dean to resign

Frank K. Reilly, dean of the College of Business Administration for the past 4 years, announced he will step down as dean at the end of the academic year.

Reilly, who will return as a specialist in finance, particularly investment banking and security analysis, will teach in the Department of Business Administration.

Reilly said he considers the position as dean of the College of Business Administration to have been an exciting and satisfying experience.

In a letter to the faculty and staff, Reilly said he hopes the two centers he created during his tenure will be further expanded research facilities in the business field.

"In a letter to the faculty and staff, Reilly said that holding his position as Dean of the College of Business Administration has been an exciting and satisfying experience.

He said the College has made enormous strides and is poised for even greater growth and development because of the fantasitic efforts of the faculty and staff and with the support and cooperation of the University Administration.

69 killed as jetliner, plane collide over California

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1986

CERRITOS, Calif. - An Aeroncajco jetliner and a light plane collided in clear skies yes¬terday, killing all 67 people on the ground and leaving two people on the ground as flaming wreckage fell on a suburban neighborhood, authorities said.

"We have at this time con¬firmed two to three victims in a single-family residence," Fire Department spokesman Rob Smith. "It was clear they were killed residents of the home."

In addition, he said, there was a possibility that a family of seven also perished in another home, but it was unconfirmed.

Four people on the ground, either family members or bystanders, suffered minor injuries after the wreckage fell about noon and were being treated at a local hospital, where officials said they had been told to expect more in¬juries.

The twin-engine McDonnell Douglas DC-9, bound for Los Angeles from Mexico City as Flight 498, was carrying 64 people and was making its final approach to Los Angeles International Airport when it collided with the single-engine Piper Archer with three people on board, said Los Angeles County Sheriff's Sgt. Mark Aguirre.

Earlier, authorities had said there were 51 people on the jet¬liner and a big fire had broken out in the small plane, but Aeroncajco spokes¬man Guy Arriola said later there were 58 passengers and six crew¬members aboard the jet and local officials said three people were on the small plane.

"It looked like a model plane going down. Then there was a split second and a huge ball of black smoke billowing up," said witness Keith Downey, 31, of Norwalk.

The Aeroncajco had not notified "about half the passengers' relatives by late yesterday afternoon," said Renee Robitaille, an Aeroncajco agent at the Los Angeles airport. A passenger list will not be supplied until all the families had been contacted, she said.

The DC-9 collided in flight with a small twin-engine aircraft, said Ira Furman, the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington, D.C.

The California Highway Patrol said the DC-9 went down at 11:56 a.m. and fell to the ground 30 miles southeast of downtown Los Angeles.

A motorist who watched the airliner plummet to the ground said the plane was upside down when it hit.

"It was just going straight down, no power at all," he said. I can see a smoke plume."

An auto mechanic was charged with maiming an animal after he hit off part of a dog's ear to win a $100 bet, police said Saturday. Warren Curtis, 23, of Weymouth, MASS., was arrested Friday. Stephan Rackett, who works with Curtis at Thomas Auto Body Shop, said shop owner John Thomas offered Curtis a $100 to bite off the ear of Fritz, a German shepherd guard dog owned by Thomas, said Sgt. Glenn Shaw. "It was disgusting," said Shaw. "This man went up to the dog, caught him and did it and then he spit the thing out. Afterward, the dog lay whimpering." - The Observer.

Soviet emigre: KGB tried to frame same U.S. journalist two years ago

Associated Press

NEW YORK The Soviet KGB tried two years ago to frame the same U.S. journalist, its agents arrested during the weekend on espionage charges, according to a Soviet emigre who says his father refused to help in the plot.

Alexander Goldfarb, a Columbia University professor, said yesterday that his father, David, was asked by the intelligence and security agency in April 1984 to ask U.S. News and World Report correspondent Nicholas Daniiloff to smuggle a package of written material out of the Soviet Union.

When the elder Goldfarb, a retired professor of genetic engineering, refused, his visa to leave the Soviet Union was canceled, according to his son, who came to this country 11 years ago.

Daniiloff's wife, Ruth, told reporters and U.S. authorities that her husband was detained Saturday by the KGB after an acquaintance handed him a closed packet that later was found to contain maps marked top secret.

She called the incident a setup and said Daniiloff denied any involvement in espionage.

In a telephone interview yesterday, Goldfarb said when he arrived in Moscow in 1981, he and the elder Goldfarb became friends, meeting occasionally for dinner. The younger Goldfarb, an assistant professor of microbiology, said he had never seen the journalist before Daniiloff went to Moscow and had asked him to say hello to his father.

He said that in 1984, a few days before his father was to pick up his visa to leave the Soviet Union, he was called in by the KGB and shown photographs of Daniiloff coming and going from the Goldfarb apartment.

The KGB wanted him to ask Daniiloff to help him get information out of the country, the younger Goldfarb said. The KGB also said it would provide his father with a package he was to pass along to Daniiloff as his own, he said.

Secrecy Father Andre Leveille could not be reached for comment.

Daniloff is a University professor, said his father refused to help in the plot.

According to Tyson's letter, the needs of homosexual students could best be met through the Office of University Ministry and the University Counseling Center.

"Not only should a homosexual student be afforded the same rights as any other student, he or she should be afforded, to the extent possible, those services of the University that may most appropriately meet the unique needs of that student," the letter stated.

"It is our conviction that the Office of University Ministry and the University Counseling Center are the best resources to be of assistance to homosexual students."

The co-chair said such services are inadequate, however. "University Counseling has been very good with us. But they're only a limited resource. "University Ministry won't do anything for us," he added. "They haven't done anything for us in the past nor will they."

Director of University Ministry Father Andre Leveille could not be reached for comment.

GLNDSMC members will try to work with University Ministry and University Counseling until they can convince administrators to meet with them again, the co-chair said.

"By no means are we going to endure the struggle at Notre Dame," he said. "This (the decision) only makes our fight a little stronger."

It offers you 180 total functions, including 83 scientific functions, such as hexadecimal/decimal/binary/octal conversions, standard deviation and regression analysis.

Making it easier to deal with long computations, its 12 character alpha-numeric display scrolls to 79 characters and its instant formula replay feature lets you review, edit and replay your formula at the touch of a button. It even has an answer key that stores your last computed value.

And to make things still easier, the FX-4000P has a “perfect entry” system, which allows you to enter and display a formula exactly as written.

Plus, it has a non-volatile 550 step program memory with 10 program divisions. This allows 10 different programs to be stored at once.

And it includes up to 94 data memories, which are invaluable for statistical analysis.

Finding all this power at your fingertips is remarkable enough, let alone at half the price of some competitors. If you can put your finger on a scientific calculator that gives you more power at any price, by all means buy it.

Arrest of naked girls sparks rampage

Associated Press

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. At least 100 rampaging teenagers set fire to five police vehicles and a lifeguard jeep in a beach riot yesterday sparked by the arrest of six naked girls, authorities said.

Police had the riot under control three hours after it began at 2:10 p.m. near the annual Op Pro Surfing Championships, said police Sgt. Ron Jenkins. A riot command post remained in operation last night. It was not clear how many people were arrested, Jenkins said. Two officers, suffered minor injuries, he said.

The surfing tournament at Huntington Beach Pier 35 miles southeast of Los Angeles drew an estimated 100,000 people yesterday. The riot began behind bleachers set up for the event when police arrested the six girls, said tournament spokesman Carol Kaisbash.

to push for new legislation to raise the drinking age from 19 to 21, said press secretary Brian Usher.

In the District of Columbia, Mayor Marion Barry Jr. says he will propose legislation to raise the drinking age to 21 when the City Council returns from summer recess this month.

"It's not just the highway revenue loss. It's being good neighbors," said Julius Hobson Jr., of the district's Office of Intergovernmental Relations, noting that Maryland and Virginia on either side of the city have raised their drinking ages to 21.

South Dakota allows 19-year-olds to drink low-alcohol beer, but bans all other alcoholic beverage sales to people under 21. The state's two gubernatorial candidates, Democrat Lars Herterh and Republican George Mickelson, predict a change in the law, saying the state cannot afford to lose the highway money.
The current attitude of the American media and people towards South Africa of moral support to the black population and outrage at the South African government's policy of racial segregation has brought calls for American action ranging from a slap on the wrist of the South African government to a policy intent on destabilization of the South African economy.

The concept of pressuring the South African government is admirable; however a policy toward massive upheaval of the South African economy will serve to defeat their ultimate purpose, improvement in the South African quality of life.

Surviving at ND/SMC: a few suggestions

Did you get your Notre Dame Student Survival Kit? I bet you did. It's this red envelope with a really weak drawing of a leprechaun on the outside. It was shoved under your door and inside you found some pizza coupons and a letter from J Penney. I got real excited when I got mine. So excited in fact that I threw out my Right Guard deodorant and the letter from J Penney... but that's another story.

I really think I'm saying that there's no reason to think the Student Survival Kit is worthless? Dead wrong, as you will soon see. I'll bet that you're going to tell them that I threw out my Right Guard deodorant and the letter from J Penney. You'd all be wrong.

First of all, you'll have buttons and bumperstickers. Everyone on campus will get blistered. If we lose, we'll all get real angry and bitter. Students, faculty and alumni will mope all fall and into the winter. Everyone on campus will get blistered. Straining to see a pattern? That's right, win or lose everyone gets blistered. So how can you survive mass beating and bruising? I mean, what can you do? Bathing helps. Pick up lines often work. The following pick-up lines are guaranteed to work and, of course, will be included with the Survival Kit.

What you pick up with these is your fault. Results have ranged from a bad cold to relatives to future marriage partners. Meet work with both sexes.

1. The phone is ringing in my room. Want to help me answer it?
2. Your slip isn't showing. What's wrong?
3. That's it! I know you from past life.
4. Did you read those stupid pick-up lines in the Observer today? Ha. What a joke. Who does that moron think he is?

10. Last, and probably least, your Notre Dame Student Survival Kit will include...pizza coupons. You never know when you might run out of Old Spice.

What? Wait a minute. You say you're getting the impression that the Notre Dame Student Survival Kit is worthless? You think I'm saying that there's no need for a Notre Dame Student Survival Kit? Well then Donners and SMCs you'll all be wrong. Dead wrong, as Clint Eastwood would say. There must be a million uses for that little green envelope. You could line a kitty box with it. You could blow your nose in it. Why, you could even take notes (God forbid on it!) But as for helping you survive here at ND, you can forget it. What are you going to do on a lonely weekend without a friendly member of the opposite sex? Cuddle with your pizza coupon? And what will you do when your parents see your midriff grades and see you with electric shock? Are you going to tell them you were shopping at J C Penney? But don't get me wrong. I do believe that a survival kit is needed for a Survival Kit here at this really neat institution of higher learning. There's a lot to survive when you're here on campus, eating all the food, and I think an entire committee should be assigned to the problem. This suggestion will probably be ignored by the administration, though, so I am prepared to offer a few tips to the lucky son-of-a-whoever who eventually takes my idea and runs with it.

The first thing you'll have to survive in any given year at Notre Dame is football season. Allow me to explain to freshman and

Connors falls in another
Open upset
Associated Press

NEW YORK - Todd Witsken, playing in his first U.S. open, knocked off five-time winner Jimmy Connors yesterday to join another surprising winner, Gary Donnelly, in the fourth round at the National Tennis Center.
Witsken upset Connors, the
No. 6 seed, 6-2, 6-4, 7-5 after Donnelly ousted 13th-seeded Anders Jarryd of Sweden, 6-3, 6-7, 6-1, 6-3.
Several years ago guys in my position never would feel they could beat Connors, Witsken said. But now hes getting older and the guys realize hes beatable, that we can win.

The right-hander from Carmel, Ind., needed six match points to close out the two-hour, 11-minute victory over the 33-year-old Connors, who joined another heralded American left­ hander on the sidelines, John McEnroe. Paul Annacone eliminated McEnroe Tuesday in a first-round match.

Witsken, with a berth in the fourth round elicted, jumped into the air when the match ended.

Connors, his two-year, non­ title string stretched for another tournament, put away his old, no-longer-made metal rackets and prepared for the next stop on the Grand Prix circuit.

The U.S. open has been one of the brightest tournaments in Connors' career. He is the only person to win America's premier tennis event on all three surfaces on which it has been played - grass in 1974, clay in 1976 and hard courts in 1978, 1982 and 1983. But on this sunny day, Connors was eliminated in the third round, the earliest exit he has made from the U.S. open since losing to Australia's John Newcombe in the quarterfinals

My game was flat, my zest for the game was flat and I was flat.
It is all equals flat, Connors said.
Witsken will next face Czech­ oslavikia's Milan Stejber, who advanced with a 6-3, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Peru's Jaime Vargas.

Donnelly's surprising victory pits him against Wimbledon champion Boris Becker of West Germany, the No. 3 seed who defeated Spain's Sergio Casal
7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

Czechoslavikia's Miloslav
Mecir, the No. 16 seed, crushed
Eddie Edwards of South Africa
6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

quarter incident. He saw action on almost every defensive down from that point on.

But Notre Dame's leading tackler in 1985 certainly would not attribute his fortune to the Lock-o-the-Irish.

It was unfortunate that Jim broke his leg, he said. But I was ready, the coach prepared me well and I think I did OK. You have to be on your toes at all times because you never know when someone coming going to go down like that.'

Furjanic stepped in and picked up three tackles, all in the second half, and even got a piece of William "The Refrigerator" Perry on a short-yardage situation for the Bears in the third quarter.

"Welcome to the NFL, Tony. " (Playing in) the NFL is more mental than anything." Furjanic said. "The game is still the same. The guys are a little faster but the biggest thing is the mental aspect of the game."

"It's great to be back at Notre Dame. I was looking forward to this game for a long time, and I saw a lot of guys from last years team. It's just a good feeling." That good feeling might not last for long, however, as the former Irish co-captain has his work cut out for him. Bullough will attest to that.

Former Notre Dame gridiron star Tony Furjanic discusses strategy with Irish coach George Kelly in a game last year. Marty Strasen explains on page 12 how Furjanic has found himself in a starting role for the NFL's Buffalo Bills.

- (Haslett knew our defense and, for us, he was like (Mike) Singletary to last years Bears defense and (Jack) Pardee was to the Redskins' defense in the knowledge department.

"He's the kind of guy in the office every day, going over films every day and were going to miss that part. We won't have anybody to really take over that kind of thing."

So on Sept. 7, it appears Furjanic will be the man lining up beyond the trenches in Buffalo, a long way from his hometown of Chicago.

But the kind of guy in the office every day, going over films every day and were going to miss that part. We won't have anybody to really take over that kind of thing."

"He's just another player", Furjanic said. "You can be scared of anyone, and we even made him cough up the ball on one occasion. That shows he's human too."

"I got to hit him a little," he laughed. "It doesn't hurt as long as you're going in there with more force than he is.

of touchdowns. Challenging signals from Terry Andrysiak and Steve Bellis, meanwhile, had less success directing their units against the number one defense.

That main defensive unit, which Holtz has tabbed as the key to any success the Irish may have in 1986, was consistent throughout the day. Senior corner Steve Johnson and junior cornerback Nick Buoniconti were banged up all game, yet held the Bills to a season-low in total yards (141), third-down conversion percentage (2-for-15), and five costly pass interference calls.

The Bears solidified their lead in the fourth period on a

42-yard field goal by placekicker

Kevin Butler's 46-yard field goal set up by a 32-yard pass from quarterback Jim Mcmahon to receiver Olindo Mare for the score.

Buffalo had another break go against them as the kickoff bounced off the 12-yard line and was badly fielded, enabling

Bears' player Shaun Gayle to recover the fumble. After a seven-yard run by Tim

Whitehur, McMahon passed to a wide-open Thomas, who went in from four yards out.

Kelly then reentered with 1:48 remaining and quickly moved the ball downfield via a 22-yard pass to Don Rolle and an 18-yard pass to Andre Reed at the Chicago 22-yard line. Butler and placekicker Scott Norwood, however, had his 42-yard field goal attempt blocked by Tyrone

Keys as the half ended.

In the first half, Buffalo led in total yards (141), third-down efficacy (.50-0), possession time

(37:19), and penalties (67).

Chicago had 142 total yards, 1-for-4 third-down efciency, and held the ball for 12:21 of the half.

Chicago changed quarterbacks at the start of the second quarter, going to Mike Tomczak, who quickly connected with

Williams. Chicago had 141 total yards, 1-for-4 third-down ef-

ciency, and held the ball for 12:21 of the half.

Kelly's ensuing attempt for a touchdown on a deep throw to receiver Jimmy Connors was broken up by Bills' cornerback

Reggie Phillips in a play that many Bills' players felt was pass interference. The drive was sustained, however, when Kelly ran a bootleg for seven yards and converted a broken pass play on 19-year-old receiver Olindo

Mare for the score. Norwood hit the 25-yard field goal from there to cut Chicago's lead to 4.

After the two teams traded possessions, Kelly was replaced at the Bills' helm by Brian

McClure. Kelly finished his NFL debut with 5-of-9 passing for 60-yards. Starting signal-caller

Reich was 7-of-14 for 156-yards.

"For the first time out I thought I did pretty well," said Kelly. "The Second-half surge keys Bears to 31-17 victory over Buffalo

By MIKE SZYMANSKI
Assistant Sports Editor

Despite a 31-17 exhibition-game victory over the Buffalo Bills Saturday at Notre Dame Stadium, the Chicago Bears now understand why repeating as NFL champions is one of the toughest feats in sports.

The Bears' first-team offense had trouble moving the ball consistently early in the game against the Bills, while the team defense lacked a pass rush. The Bills also won the war on both lines in the first half.

"It was an understatement to say that we did not move the ball," said Bears' head coach Mike Ditka. "We saw the same game as I did. It was an old-fashioned punt-whipping. We need to stop reading the clippings and play football."

"Cleveland (the Bears opening-day opponent) is going to laugh when they see the films. I can't take anything away from the Bills. They came after us well; we had pads on just like they did and did not perform." The game did not begin well for the Bears as Buffalo's Walter Broughton returned the kickoff 57 yards to the Chicago 34-yard line. After two short runs, starting quarterback Frank Reich hit Jerry Butler over the middle for a 30-yard touchdown pass.

The Bears were then stopped cold after three running plays and punted. Following the punt and a penalty, the Bills mounted an impressive 90-yard scoring drive which included 14 plays and 7 first downs, taking over seven minutes.

The drive was kept alive by a costly offsides penalty by Richard Dent on third down. Bills' running back Rob Riddick teamed up with fullback Ricky Moore to move the ball on the ground all afternoon. Riddick swept left, out-running the defense to take it in from seven yards for the score.

The Bears and Bills traded possessions as the first quarter ended with Chicago going 0-for-3 on third down conversions. The Chicago offense began to stir in the second quarter as fullback Calvin Thomas ran for a first down and running back Walter Payton broke into the open for 18 yards. Quarterback Jim McMahon hit Dennis Gentry on a 20-yard pass play and Payton scored from seven yards out to cap the 77-yard drive, using 11 seconds.

Former Irish star Furjanic finds himself in key role for Bills

By MARTY STRASEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Former Notre Dame inside linebacker Tony Furjanic came to Notre Dame Stadium Saturday for a position on the Buffalo Bills' 1986 roster. Furjanic, San Francisco's unpredictable clinch to the top of the depth chart on defense.

With 3:48 remaining in the first half of the preseason game against the Chicago Bears, eight-year veteran linebacker and defensive tackle Jerry Butler was on the field on a stretch. He could be out for the season and Furjanic is in.

"He has no choice," Buffalo head coach Hank Bullough said of the 6-1, 228-pound rookie. "We're down to two inside backers. I like Tony. I think he's a very smart guy and I'm happy with the way he's progressing. Tony's a good guy."

Furjanic began Saturday's game on special teams for the Bills, before being thrust into the limelight after the second-

Injury to Francisco spoils Irish scrimmage

By MARTY BURNS
Assistant Sports Editor

A nasty thing happened to Notre Dame tailback Hiawatha Francisco on his way back to the top Friday afternoon.

Running the ball on severely arthritic knees which many people felt would not allow him to play at all this season, the 5-10, 194-pound senior turned Friday's scrimmage into a personal forum to officially shelve his retirement plans.

But just as Francisco's 61 yards on 10 carries was prompting Irish head coach Lou Holtz to rethink his backfield depth chart, a hand injury sustained late in the three-hour practice session put an end to any of Francisco's comeback hopes for awhile. Although the exact nature of the injury could not be determined at the time, Holtz stated it was basically a hyperex-

10-for-18 at practice.

Senior tailback Hiawatha Francisco follows the lead of center Tom McKhugh (64) as defensive tackle Fred Szymanski (63) and linebacker Otis Wilson (91) take the centerfield. Francisco's running comeback was cut short by a severe hand injury that may sideline him for as long as eight weeks. Marty Burns has details at right.
