Names of students arrested forwarded to ND by police

By TRIPP BALTZ
News Editor

Police have been forwarding the names of Notre Dame students arrested at raid of off-campus parties to John Goldrick, assistant vice president for residence life, according to Capt. Patrick Costello of the South Bend Police Department.

Costello said the police force met with the university at the end of the last school year and decided to begin the practice of arrested students to Notre Dame Security. "We take them to the head of Security after each raid," he said at a meeting with off-campus students at the Northeast Neighborhood Center Wednesday night.

While Rex Rakow, director of Security, confirmed that the police routinely bring the names of arrested students to Security, he said the reports do not go to the Office of Student Affairs.

"We review them to look for particular problems," said Rakow, "but the reports stay here.

Goldrick said he did not return a call made to his office yesterday.

Rakow said Costello "misunderstood" what happened to the names of arrested students once they are delivered to Security. After reviewing the arrest reports, if Rakow determines a student has conducted himself in a way "contrary to" to Notre Dame, he said he includes the student's case in a summary sent to the Office of Student Affairs.

The reports from the police are delivered the night of the raid or "in the next day or so," Rakow said. Sometimes the reports are nothing more than a list of names instead of a copy of the citations themselves, he said.

Security has been accompanying police during recent raids. "They call and say (the party) looks pretty bad," said Rakow, "so we go as observers. We really don't have any jurisdiction out there.

Rakow added that it is rare that security will get involved in law enforcement away from the campus. "We're there to see that everyone is protected," he said.

Rakow said that Goldrick was informed "left-handed" through Security that two citations were delivered to Notre Dame resident assistants last weekend.

The two resident assistants were dis­missed Tuesday by Goldrick. Rakow said a security officer who dates a policeman in the Roseland police force was looking for him that evening and dis­covered that he was involved in the raid at Bede and Douglas, where two RAs were arrested. According to Rakow, she went there as an off-duty officer, looking for her friend.

"She just happened to be there," said Rakow. "She was there on her capacity." He said. Citations were laugher by state excise police responding to the raid.

The security officer called in later and said Security about the raid. "She said a lot of students got arrested," Rakow said. She informed Security that two stu­dents were worried because they were RAs, according to Rakow. Later, this was reported to the Office of Student Affairs.

Rakow said the newly-appointed assis­tant of security, Phillip Johnson, also has attended police raids in a non-official capacity. Johnson went to a raid con­ducted near his home because he saw cars parked in the yard and the driveway.

According to Rakow, Johnson was at the Friday night raid on Marx street "just to see RAID, page 4

RASTA says guard did not alert of problem

By MARK MELLETT
Staff Reporter

A Notre Dame security guard failed to inform members of Rally Against Starvation that a prob­lem with alcohol and drugs ex­isted at the group's sponsored concert, said Cathy Anne Reynolds, former president of RASTA.

Sean Ever's, president of the banned group, said RASTA relied on the Notre Dame security guard present to monitor the concert and inform them of any problems.

Rex Rakow, director of securi­ty, said more than the one sec­urity guard requested was needed at the concert.

Rakow said the guard didn't in­form them of any problems. "He didn't give us a chance to ad­dress the problem," he said.

Reynolds said she also in­structed the security guard to in­form RASTA of any problems.

"I would have been glad if Security would have informed me," Reynolds said.

House approves new weapons for drug war

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The House gave final approval yesterday night to a bill providing new weapons for the war on drugs, including required use of the mil­itary and reinstitution of the federal death penalty for some drug dealers.

The vote of 392-16 sent the bill to the Senate.

The legislation also would change the "exclusionary rule," to allow some illegally obtained evidence to be used in court. That change, along with the military and death penalty provi­sions, were added to the bill as controversial amendments.

Because of such measures, what began as a bipartisan bill uniting Democrats and Republicans, liberals and con­servatives, has now become bit­terly contested. However, it still was expected to pass.

After the "exclusionary rule" passed, House Judiciary Com­mittee Chairman Peter W. rodino Jr. angrily commented that a bill designed to attack illegal drugs is now an "attack ... on the Consti­tution of the United States."

Rodino and others warned that the bill would be "filibustered to death." However, Rep. Tommy Robinson, D-Ark., said he was so delighted by the changes that he thought he had died and gone to heaven.

The overall legislation would escalate the war on drugs by pouring billions of dollars into enforcement, education, rehabilitation, crop eradication, and withholding of aid from recalcitrant producer countries. The significant changes were de­scribed in the report of the House Appropriations Committee.

Great traditions at Notre Dame do not end with football success

As the Irish take the field against Michigan this weekend, many Notre Dame students, alumni, parents and friends will be looking for a revival of the tradition for which this university is so often noted—a winning football program. With the defeat of a seemingly inexed Gerry Faust and the debut of godlike Lou Holtz, the hopes of the Irish are not unfounded.

For the past five years, the Irish football squad never could seem to break out of the endless mire in which they wallowed. The members of the team and staff worked hard, but the chips never quite fell their way. Saturday, Sept. 13, 1986 may be the date that marks a new era, a new glorious winning tradition for Notre Dame football.

However, lost in all of this hoopla about Irish football victory is the simple, overlooked word of tradition. Seemingly every writer who ever sits down to pen a story about Notre Dame mentions the great Irish sports legends of Knute Rockne and George Gipp; never overlooked are The Four Horsemen or the golden era of Ara. But people often limit the great tradition of Notre Dame to the gridiron alone; ignoring the myriad of traditions upon which this school was built and nurtured.

Certainly, many of the great Irish traditions revolve around winning football programs; however, the tradition is hardly reserved for the victories themselves. There is the great tradition of the marching band's concert on the steps of the administration building on the morning of the games; there is the tradition of the Victory March and Notre Dame never being played after the games to many Notre Dame alumni, students and fans. There are the tailgaters, there is spirit and there is the love for Notre Dame that is unique unlike any other in the world.

A tradition of love for Notre Dame does not stop after football weekends, either. In the evenings during the fall when the band is marching across campus on its way to or from practice, it is amazing to see the number of people who stop walking to wherever they are going to watch and listen as the musicians strike up the Victory March. Despite the fact that this is my third year at Notre Dame, that song still brings goosebumps to my skin every time it is played: the Notre Dame Victory March is to me, as I am assured it is to many people, all of the tradition and glory of Notre Dame put into music and words.

The tradition of the Notre Dame family's great spirit and zest also is evident in the everyday life on campus, as is the fact that they complain about the bookstores' prices, most students have a least a small part of their wardrobe composed of Fighting Irish shirts, shorts, shoes, or some various paraphernalia. As gametime draws nearer and nearer this weekend, the stadium stands will become a mosaic of green plaid pants and ND sweatshirts.

All of these Irish traditions combine with Notre Dame's more sacrosanct rituals and masses to make this university the special place that it ac- tually is. Regardless of the outcome of the game, the bells of Sacred Heart church will draw alumni, students and fans alike away from the playing field and into the heart of Notre Dame itself—its religious tradition.

Even though many of the people on the campus this weekend will have been drawn here because of the excitement and glamour of the Notre Dame football weekend, they will leave with the realiza- tion that Notre Dame is so much more. Win or lose, the spirit of Notre Dame will remain unbent and its tradition alive in the minds and hearts of those people who really understand its full richness.

Authorities question man on airliner hijack

Associated Press

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan - Authorities questioned a man with a Libyan passport yesterday about last week's seizure of a Pan Am jetliner, and sought a companion who fled into a Palestinian mission.

Officials said a man identified as Salman Taraki was seized Wednesday at Islamabad airport in connection with the seizure of the Boeing 747 in Karachi last Friday.

They said his Libyan passport appeared to be a forgery, but that they had no evidence against him yet.

Twenty people were killed and more than 100 injured when the four hijackers of the Pan Am jet panicked and opened fired indiscriminately at the passengers and crew.

Inspector Javed Mirza, who arrested Taraki, said that police were watching the Palestine Liberation Organization mission in Islamabad, the capital, for a man who had been traveling with Taraki. The man eluded authorities at the airport and went to the PLO mission, where police could not follow because of its diplomatic immunity.

Israeli-Egyptian summit attempts to revive stalled Middle East peace

Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt - Prime Minister Shimon Peres and President Hosni Mubarak held the first Israeli-Egyptian summit meeting in five years yesterday in an effort to revive the quest for Middle East Peace.

The two leaders, dispensing with aides and interpreters, talked privately in English for several hours in this Mediterranean port.

The two shook hands cordially as they met at the Rash El-Tin presidential palace beside the Mediterranean Sea shortly after Peres arrived from Tel Aviv. Alexandria was the site of the last Israel-Egyptian summit meeting in August 1981 between Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Israel's Menachem Begin.

"Modern extremists assassinated Sadat two months later. Egypt is the only Arab nation with diplomatic relations with Israel, and any overture to the Jewish state is considered a political gamble for Mubarak. During a working lunch at which the Israeli leader was the guest of Mubarak's prime minister, Aly Lutfy, Peres said: "New and fresh substance has to be introduced between our two peoples. Israel does not have to impose anything on Egypt, but both countries want to overcome the desert that lies between them."

Peres' spokesman Uri Savi said there was no formal agenda for this meeting. Another Israeli official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said that was by mutual consent. Peres is scheduled to leave for home today.

"Both sides wanted an opened dialogue," the official said. "We view this as a positive thing which indicates Egypt's willingness to listen." Mubarak has said he considers the summit as primarily a forum for discussion of the Palestinian question.

Peres said before leaving Israel, "We shall not permit the peace process to die away or fade away, and we shall do whatever we can both to keep the spirit to the momentum for peace."

Relations between the two countries hit bottom in 1982 with Israel's invasion of Lebanon. This summit, hailed as the beginning of warmer relations, was made possible by an agreement, signed Wednesday, to submit a nagging dispute over the 250-acre border enclave of Tabo to international arbitration.

Speaking at the working lunch, both Peres and Lutfy said the Palestinian issue would be discussed during the summit. Peres said at the lunch that U.N. Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338 should serve as a basis for peace talks. But neither is acceptable to Palestinian leaders because both refer to the Palestinians as refugees and not a people with a right to self-determination.

Peres said Israel is willing to discuss the idea of an international peace conference, an Arab proposal strongly supported by Egypt and Jordan but unattractive to the United States and Israel because it would limit the Soviet Union.

"The Palestinians have a right to participate in the determination of their own future," Peres said. "Israel accords signed in 1979 by Israel, Egypt and the United States.

Motorists safer in large autos, says insurance report

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Motorists are likely to be safer and face lower collision repair costs in large, four-door cars, station wagons and vans, according to the latest insurance industry report released yesterday.

The study by the Highway Loss Data Institute, an affiliate of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, shows small 2-door models, such as many small or mid-size sport or specialty cars as having the worst injury and repair problems.

Many of those small cars show injury and repair losses of 80 to 100 percent, reflecting also high repair losses at least 30 percent higher than average, while many large cars, station wagons and vans typically show 40 to 50 percent better-than-average claim records, according to the analysis.

Government crash tests on a variety of cars over the years have shown little direct relationship between car size and how well occupants are protected from serious injury.

But auto safety experts emphasize that those test crashes were into a fixed barrier, which does not take into account the differences in size and weight among cars. A crash into a fixed barrier would be the same as a crash into another car of the same size traveling at the same speed. Most actual auto accidents do not occur that way.

The Highway Loss Data Institute report compared the frequency of insurance claims and average repair costs of 185 vehicles with adjustments made for factors such as driver characteristics. The study reflects claims filed on 1983-84 model cars.

The examination of claims shows "very wide variations in the injury and collision loss experience of various vehicles on the nation's highways," the study concludes.

Among small, non-sporty cars, the Saab 900 was shown to provide the best protection against injury, 24 percent to 52 percent below average. It also was found likely to have 51 percent to 41 percent higher repair costs, depending on whether it's a 2-door or 4-door model.

Generally, however, the large cars had the best claims record.

The insurance industry analysts, a motorist in a 4-door Oldsmobile Delta 88, for example, is 41 percent less likely than average to be hurt in an accident. Repair costs for the Delta 88 are 40 percent better than average. Similar top ratings were reported for the Buick LaSabre, Ford Crown Victoria and a dozen mid-size and large station wagon passenger vans and large luxury or specialty cars.

Among the best station wagon and van performers were the mid-size Volvo 240, and the large-size Pontiac Parisienne, Buick Electra and Mercury Grand Marquis. In the large luxury car or sports car category, the Mercedes 500 SD and the Cadillac Brougham 20 showed a likeslihood of injury 45 to 49 percent below average.

By comparison, most small 2-door models as well as many small 4-door cars showed significantly higher chances of injury and substantially higher-than-average repair costs.

Of 48 small 2-door or 4-door cars, 19 had injury losses of 30 percent or more above average and 17 had repair costs substantially above average.

Among the worst in protecting passengers as well as incurring high repair costs were three Mitsubishi models - the Tredia, Cordia and Starion - the Nissan Pulsar and 200 SX, Ford EXP, 2-door Toyota Corolla, and the Mercury Capri.

Of the 37 large cars examined, including all models from station wagons to luxury cars, 25 provided substantially better-than-average injury protection and 18 had substantially better-than-average repair costs.

The highest collision repair costs among all the cars included in the analysis went to Mitsubishi Starion, which had repair costs 159 percent above average. The lowest was attributed to three cars: the Pontiac Parisienne station wagon, Plymouth Voyager van and 4-door Mercury Grand Marquis - all of which had costs 45 percent below average.
Pinchot blasts Catholic Church and orders outing of three priests

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SANTIAGO, Chile - President Augusto Pinchot angrily criticized Chile's Roman Catholic Church, the United States and his political opponents yesterday in a speech that marked the 15th anniversary of the coup that brought him to power.

As Pinchot was giving his nationally televised address, three French Catholic priests who had been detained and ordered expelled following an assassination attempt on Sunday were placed by police on an airliner to Rio de Janeiro.

Pinchot also announced the government was suspending consideration of decrees banning 3,700 Chilean exiles from their homeland, and said he had signed a law to open voter registries by early next year for a 1989 plebiscite for which he is expected to seek aed forces nomination as the lone presidential candidate.

"Today, after suffering the most evil attack, I invoke Almighty God to permit me to continue living to fight for the freedom of my country," Pincho-t shouted at the end of his more than two-hour speech.

"As long as the lets me, I will put all my energies to the service of this land," said the 70-year-old

Pinchot, who led 1973 military coup that toppled elected

President Salvador Allende and resulted in Allende's death.

Pinchot, wearing a white general's uniform, spoke inside an auditorium in downtown Santiago before 3,000 government officials, supporters and diplomats.

At the same time, about 30 people gathered around the tomb of Allende. Riot police surrounded the seaside cemetery in Vina del Mar, searched visitors and barred some journalists.

Chilean newspapers said the expected priests - Fathers Pierre DuFournel and Daniel Caruelle - had been accused of "distributing written material inciting against the authorities." The three were seized in an army raid on their Santiago stum parish Monday and deported on the Interior Ministry's orders.

Their arrest was prompted by the scoop and generic attack

Sunday that slightly injured Gen.

Pinchot's left hand and killed five of his bodyguards, but officials said none of the priests were considered a suspect in the attack.

The government has blamed the Communist-backed Rodriguez Patriotic Front for the ambush near Santiago.

U.S. soldiers will remain in Bolivia to assist in battle against narcotics

Associated Press

LA PAZ, Bolivia - The 170 U.S. soldiers and six helicopters helping to fight drug trafficking in Bolivia will remain in the South American nation for 30 to 60 more days, the interior minister indicated Wednesday.

The American troops arrived to help local police uncover clandestine operations in the jungles of the Beni region.

Interior Minister Fernando Barthelemy said his government had not officially requested a continued U.S. presence, but he said if the Americans left now it would "provide drug traffickers with a truce during which time they could arm themselves and return with greater force."

Said one U.S. official, speaking on condition of anonymity. "Most cocaine labs have shut down and traffickers taken a forced vacation waiting for the rains to end."

Edward Rowett, U.S. Ambassador to Bolivia, said recently, "We cannot pressure traffickers for one or two months and then leave."

Barthelemy said the American soldiers, six Black Hawk helicopters and communications equipment would remain at least 30 days but no more than 60 days. He said that would be long enough to train Bolivians to use the equipment the U.S. government would provide.

Reagan decries U.S. drug ‘culture of license’

WASHINGTON President Reagan, preparing to unveil new measures to combat drug abuse, decried yesterday “a culture of license that encourages drug use, promising kicks but delivering only despair and destruction.”

The president spoke to 150 business leaders a few hours before going into a lengthy Cabinet meeting to receive recommendations for steps to curb drug abuse, both on the trafficking and consumption side.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said that Reagan would decide on the recommendations this week and disclose some of his decisions in a nationally broadcast speech that he and wife Nancy will make Sunday.

Speakes said the recommendations being presented to the president, which were prepared by the White House Domestic Policy Council, were mostly unanimous, but that some of them gave him a choice among options.

“He will, I assume, probably take them under advisement and make a decision on the options before the weekend,” Speakes said of Reagan.

White House spokesman Albert R. Brashear said after the Cabinet meeting, "The president has made no decisions. He took it all under advisement.”

Brashear declined to say what recommendations were made.

The first lady, joining in the buildup for the Sunday speech, traveled to Harpers Ferry, W.Va. yesterday for an anti-drug picnic and rally with school children and adults.

In his speech to chief executive officers of corporations, Reagan said he and the first lady would be “addressing the nation with an urgent message: that now is the time to stand up and get involved and do something about drugs.”

“We must hold the sellers and users of illegal drugs accountable for their actions. We must seek ways to help users quit using and accept no excuses. "None of us can rest while our children are still prey to pushers and a culture of license that encourages drug use, promising kicks but delivering only despair and destruction," said Reagan, who last month took a drug test to lead the way in his administration’s quest to encourage drug testing in the workplace.

The factory demanded much of the attention of RASTA members. "Beside the fact that we were restricted in our numbers, we had to run the concert, move equipment on and off the stage, work the lights and distribute the tickets," he said.

RASTA was banned on campus due to their failure to comply with the rules outlined in DuLac, according to Joni Neal, director of student activities.

"They did not take appropriate actions when alcohol was being obviously used," she said. "They should have closed the event."

Neal stated that a security report from RASTA's concert on May 3, 1986, revealed evidence of alcohol and drug use. A letter sent by Neal, dated July 3, 1986, stated, "Four security reports cited use of alcohol by concert organizers and members of the Rugby team (listed as security). Drug use was cited through the smell of marijuana and actual confiscation of mirrors, razor blades, a marijuana pipe, tobacco papers, etc."

Neal said the University's decision to disband RASTA was not the result of four or five people caught using illegal stimulants, but by a "fairly obvious" use by a significant number of people.

Reynolds denied that the problem was as obvious as it is claimed. "As the concert proceeded, there seemed to be no obvious problem," said Reynolds.

Neal said that the group was irresponsible in not addressing the use of alcohol and drugs. "We're not accusing the holders of the event of alcohol or drug violations," said Neal. "We're holding them to their irresponsibility in coordinating the event."

Neal said that RASTA agreed in writing to abide by University policies outlined in Du Lac when reserving Stephan Center, the site of the concert. The security report tells of a "plain" use of alcohol and drugs, both of which are illegal on this campus, said Neal.

The final decision to abolish RASTA was made by Father David Tyson, vice president of student affairs, said Neal. She said the case was referred to Student Affairs after the directors of RASTA denied the security report.

Tyson couldn't be reached for comment yesterday.

Reynolds said that she felt that Student Affairs over-reacted when they decided to disband the organization. Based on RASTA's past record and the groups purpose, she said a community service project or some like punishment would have been appropriate.

Neal said that she felt the University's policy was realistic. "Of all the student groups that hold activities we have never had this problem," she said.

Referring to the Charity Ball and the beach dance, Neal said, "Only a small minority used alcohol."

The letter sent by Neal to RASTA said that the group shall no longer act as a group on or off campus. Neal said that RASTA could appeal the decision. She said an appeal would probably involve a re-evaluation of the case by Tyson.

Evers indicated that RASTA will appeal.

According to Neal the Rugby club was not disbanded but reprimanded for alcohol violations.

Introducing BASIC CALC: The new Texas Instruments programmable calculator.

Now there's a programmable scientific calculator that solves even the most complex math, engineering and science problems in a BASIC way.

The TI-74 BASIC CALC.

Unlike most other programmable calculators that require you to learn a new, complicated system of keystroke commands - in effect, a new programming language - the TI-74 BASIC CALC allows you to use the BASIC language programming you already know.

But don't let the BASIC CALC's ease of operation fool you. It also has more calculating power than comparably-priced programmables. And a variety of options, like software cartridges, are available that make it even more powerful and convenient.

Stop by and see the TI-74 BASIC CALC for yourself. In basic terms, what it really offers you is a bargain.

Scott Bearby but wait, there's more

The author chose Notre Dame's system of rules and compared it to those of American University, where, according to the article, they have "complete freedom to have radical frat parties, protest against the firing of a老师, hold rallies for South Africa, sleep with anyone in anybody's dorm room and even walk on the grass if they want to.

However, in comparing lifestyles the author uses information which he admits is "secondhand." This is a dangerous tool and this result was a "name and number" it didn't even recognize. True, we don't have the ability to legally "sleep with anyone in anybody's dorm room," but we did protest the removal of a half rector last year. That's not on South Africa, and let's not overlook the alcohol policy rebellion of the not-yet-graduating class. And, yes, we can even generally walk on the grass when we want to. The parties? Well... we do what we can.

Information becomes distorted secondhand and easily becomes twisted to fit the need. Our partial rules were made more even severe when it was said "no members of the opposite sex are allowed in dorm rooms" at any time. The author further cited a case where brother and sister were kicked out of school when they fell asleep in the same room. Despite the graphs in this policy, I hope the administration would find it possible not to exploit them.

No, Notre Dame is not noted for regular protests. But the editorial focused on an unidentified rally which was broken up because students were protesting on the grass. The author must not have been the only one present at the parade. The town's reputation suffered a blow this summer after Parade Magazine ran an article on child prostitution which focused on Waterville and other selected cities. It seems Parade obtained second hand information from a West Virginia Criminal Justice Department handbook which cited the problem of child prostitution existing from Waterville, ME to Ketchikan, AK. Doing this information, the magazine apparently staged "a dramatization," according to the Parade managing editor. The dramatization consisted of a 15-year-old model. In mini-skirt, on the streets of Waterville. One of the staged photos then ran on the front cover of the publication with photos taken of real child prostitutes from New York City and Los Angeles under the title "Kids for Sale". In the photo credits, there was no indication that the Waterville photo was indeed staged.

Parade, according to the Waterville mayor, never bothered to talk to anyone in the surrounding area of the town to see whether child prostitution was a problem. Instead, the magazine claimed to have talked with an unidentified police officer, "not the most solid of sources." There was no effort to even stage the dramatization to prove a point that symbolically child prostitution exists from coast to coast. An issue as serious as this deserves thorough investigation, however, not just between bits of nothing real evidence that child prostitution occurs in Waterville, according to the Waterville mayor.

Unfortunately, having "no real evidence" does not stop people, even reputable publications, from sometimes staying from the facts in order to prove a point.

At the end of the American University piece on Notre Dame, the writer tells the reader to "take a step back and compare the view of Notre Dame, as presented by him, to A. American University. The Parade Magazine piece leaves with the impression that serious social problems in Waterville compare with those in New York City and Los Angeles. A few assumptions and misplaced facts, and myths are started.

Before going out to prove a point, we all have an obligation to think about from where the information comes. Is it secondhand? Is it reliable? The argument may be won in the short run with inaccurate information, but in the long run someone will catch on and the real facts will be discovered.

Communication is probably the single most important part of our lives. Unfortunately, miscommunication is as well. Bearby, Scott. "The Offensive Side of Lou Holtz." 1978

Scott Bearby is a junior government/Alper major and is Viewpoint Editor.
Question of the week:

As a new year of social activity begins, there must be student input on what events they would like to see on campus. Students have complained of lack of variety and events uninteresting to the campus in previous years. What would you suggest be done to get a greater variety of activities and to increase participation in campus events? What type of activities would you like to see?

P.O. Box Q

DeWalD, Petersen see incongruity in policy

Dear Editor:

We would like to thank those students and faculty who have given us so much support and kindness these past few days. We are truly grateful for everyone's concern.

Even the Observer showed great patience and tact for our delicate situation. We were, however, like to recall some misunderstanding. Yesterday's article stated that we never thought that anyone at the party was underaged. Obviously, we knew some students were minors, but our point remains that our action simply did not seem wrong at the time. We were simply helping our friends as people have done hundreds of times before. Granted, ignorance is no excuse, but it should be given some consideration since we never intended to violate the law or harm anybody. We fully realize some retribution was necessary, but the extreme action of the administration baffles our sense of justice. If a child steals a piece of candy, you do not cut off his hand. We feel there is an incongruity between the University's claim of community and family and their often harsh and abrupt actions.

Although the student body often becomes irritated. It rarely becomes active. By Monday, this issue will be forgotten as the Michigan game will come to the fore. Then, only three people-Mr. Goldrick, and the two of us-will retain the bitter and distasteful memories of this week. We are still wondering whether it had to end this way.

Kurt Petersen
Anne DeWald

Distrust of students evident in termination

Dear Editor:

Every so often we students are witness to a miscarriage of justice and common sense so extraordinary as to set our heads spinning. The parietals flop of last fall are evident in termination.

Both Kurt Petersen and Anne DeWald were told that they were being removed as R.A.'s from Reeman and Lewis respectively and that they would have to vacate their rooms. Why? It seems that at an off-campus party most of Kurt's friends were having, both Kurt and Anne were discovered distributing cups to students who were drinking at all and though not arrest them, the administration decided that they must both forfeit their jobs and the room and board money that pays for payment to R.A.'s. Many some how "privileged" students have been punished less for more.

The only proper response from students is disgust. Such a severe punishment is absolutely unjust and also inexcusable. Obviously not responsible, intelligent, concerned individuals. The decision stands. I suggest that not only is this a reflection of the pervasive distrust of students, but evidence here. This distrust extends from the Dome into the Security office, bookstore, Credit Union and domicile. To bring to light, sensitive Catholic men and women to Notre Dame and then to treat them as Kurt and Anne have been is simply and clearly wrong.

Dear Editor:

On May 3, 1986 Rally Against Starvation of Notre Dame/Saint Mary's held a benefit concert at Neopen Center. The concert was the culmination of a year's hard work, the last of 23 cultural, educational and fundraising events. For those of you who worked on or attended the concert, on behalf of Rally Against Starvation I'd like to thank you for your help. It is because of you that we were able to help in this small way. We can continue to recognize how lucky we are and how much compassion and cooperation with developing nations is needed in our world today. May we remember why we attended the concert. Let us not forget to send money to the students and others for Rally Against Starvation until there is no more need to rally.

The search continues for next ND President

As most of us know, or will come to know soon, is the last year of Father Ted Hesburgh's illustrious career as the President of the University of Notre Dame. Father Hesburgh has held this post for over three decades. He will be long remembered.

Brian Broderick
sincerely yours

Of course a replacement must be chosen before the shoes of Father Ted. The Board of Trustees has been scrambling to come up with a worthy successor. Soon Notre Dame will see white smoke being puffed from our golden dome signaling the end of another long, hard search.

The Board of Trustees has a mammoth-size task in front of it. It is every student's obligation to help this Board in its search. (Lord knows that any Board which raises an already exorbitant tuition to greater amounts needs help.) I have prepared what I my view, could be nine possible successors to the post of the Presidency.

Obviously, my first choice has to be Mr. Lee Iaccoca. Though he has repeatedly denied his candidacy for any Presidency, this job may have a certain appeal. First of all he could get the press of his back and more importantly he could use this position to start another self-funding campaign. Why, it could be bigger than the Statue of Liberty oneself.

My second choice is Mr. Du Lac. He is a little closer to home. Who could be better than Lou Holtz head football coach of the Fighting Irish? He could make anything look good. Just think, if his boyhood dream was to coach Notre Dame, why the Presidency must have been at least eight or ninth on his list. There lies the problem: taking the position of President would be a tremendous step down for Mr. Holtz.

Third on the possible list of candidates is the Holy Father himself, Pope John Paul II. From our side the Pope would be a piece of cake. We would all simply love him, but just think the administration would execute him, the administration decided that they must both forfeit their jobs and the room and board money that pays for payment to R.A.'s. Many some how "privileged" students have been punished less for more.

The only proper response from students is disgust. Such a severe punishment is absolutely unjust and also inexcusable. Obviously not responsible, intelligent, concerned individuals. Notre Dame Victory March

Rally sons of Notre Dame:
Sing her glory and sound her fame,
Raise her Gold and Blue
And cheer with voices true:
Rah, rah, for Notre Dame
We will fight in ev-ry game,
Strong of heart and true to her name
We will ne’er forget her
And will cheer her ever
Loyal to Notre Dame

Cheer, cheer for old Notre Dame,
Wake up the echoes cheering her name,
Send a volley cheer on high,
Shake down the thunder from the sky.
What though the odds be great or small?
Old Notre Dame will win over all,
While her loyal sons are marching Onward to victory.

Letters to a Lonely God

The week before last, I wrote an ill­ corporal act that sounded like a cheap shot. The words I regret were:

"Thomas Merton now sounds very
dated, and it's been a long, long time since Daniel Berrigan was any real help.

One of Fr. Berrigan's admirers - a Notre Dame student - wrote to tell me that Berrigan, as a peace advocate, was a continuing help and inspiration to him and a number of other young people. Tom then went on to describe his recent attendance at a demonstration protesting nuclear weapons, to which the police came to terms with his head and made arrests. I could have told Tom that such confrontations were useless and unprogressive in the 1980s and that Berrigan, if he inspires the clashes with the cops, seems like the spirit of a long­ gone era. I could have told Tom that deeks in a head and a year in jail weren't going to bring the world a second closer to nuclear disarmament. I could have given Tom a lot of unwanted advice, if I hadn't figured out that my advice was:

"I'm sorry for shooting off my mouth. I'm sorry for taking a cheap shot at one of the giants. There has always been stupid. Nuclear warfare is madness multiplied to infinity. Who could have told Tom that such events, to which the police came to terms with his head and made arrests, seems like an unwanted piece of the past.

the theme is, presumably, the kind of Church that the Lord has in mind. None of the gag rule in truth and grace has been easy or uncomplicated. St. Athanasius was often ignored by every bishop he ever met. Yet the Nicean creed, which he favored in opposition to the heresy, is now recited at every Sunday Mass.

In reporting the sad little passion play that all of us in this place have been to before the Old World and the New, the secular newspapers loaded the dice:

"Thomas Merton now sounds very
dated, and it's been a long, long time since Daniel Berrigan was any real help.

The student activities board at Notre Dame is planning a series of events to remember the 25th anniversary of Tamarind. Tamarind's goals were multiple: to create a pool of master printers in the United States, to train artists here and abroad in printmaking, and to give the students involved an opportunity to experiment with new materials and techniques. The exhibit "Tamarind: 25 Years," which opened at the Snite Museum, marks the 25th anniversary of the printing shop. The exhibit is on view through Sunday in the Snite Museum. Admission is free. The schedule for confessions in the St. Mathilda Church is: Monday through Friday at 5 p.m.; Saturday only 4-5 p.m. in the crypt. The rosary is said daily at 6:45 p.m. at the Grotto.

Kevin Hurley...

Hurley comes back to visit ND

By BETHE CORNWELL

Kevin Hurley, the Notre Dame student who was injured by a hit-and-run driver while crossing the street, has been making progress and is expected to return to school in the near future.

Hurley enjoys visit at ND for weekend, anticipates his return

A message to the Class of '89:

"I know they're sophomores now, but maye you can tell the Class of '89 something for me, please. Would you please tell them that their support has, and will continue to encourage me through my rehabilitative process. I have my sites set for my return to Notre Dame. We don't know if I'll recover enough to return, though. All I can do...is pray like a madman that I may return."

Kevin's courage has been and should continue to be an inspiration to us all. Let's not forget Kevin, and what he means to the Class of 89. Our encouragement and support is important to Kevin's recovery. I ask the students of Notre Dame and in particular, the Class of 89, to keep Kevin in their thoughts and prayers. As Kevin said, "All we can do is pray like madman that he will someday be able to return to Notre Dame." Our prayers are Kevin's hope - let's not let him down.

Patriots remain unbeaten at 2-0 after handing Jets a 20-6 setback

Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - Tony Collins caught two touchdown passes, one on an option pass from fellow running back
Craig James, as the New England Patriots beat the New York Jets
20-6 last night in an early-season AFC east showdown.

The Patriots, who defeated the Jets 26-14 last December in the AFC wild-card game and then marched to the Super Bowl where they lost to Chicago, are 2-0 this season and alone atop the division. They have allowed just nine points and no touchdowns in the two games.

The Jets, who lost star running back Freeman McNeil with a right elbow injury in the second quarter, are 1-1.

Collins was wide open for a six-yard touchdown loss from quarterback Tony Eason in the first quarter. He and James combined to clinch the victory at 6:25 of the third period on a gaffy fourth-and-1 call from the New York 10.

The Patriots called a timeout before Eason pitched to James,
who was sweeping to the right.
James stopped and lofted a pass over two defenders to the uncovered Collins at the goal line.
Tony Franklin added a 45-yard field goal at the end of the third quarter and a 42-yarder with 3:12 remaining.

The Jets got two field goals from Pat Leahy, who has hit on da club-record 14 consecutive attempts. Leahy hit from 33 and 47 yards.

McNeil was injured after gaining seven yards on a second-period running play. He felt heavily on his right arm and was helped from the field with a possbly dislocated elbow. He was taken to a hospital for an examination.

Things did not start well for the Patriots as Eason fumbled on the third play from scrimmage.
Dropping back at his own 37, he was hit by nose tackle Joe diego and the ball bounced toward the New England end zone. Linebacker Lance NFL fumbled on the 10.

But the Jets gave the ball back on the next play when Collins nose tackle Tony Williams stripped fumble Tony Faige and end Brent Williams recovered.

New England scored first on a 40-yard touchdown drive, culminating with Eason’s pass to a wide-open Collins in the left flat.

New England has thrown a touchdown pass in 27 straight games.

Szanto to lead Irish soccer vs. IU

By PETE GEGEN
Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — For sweeper Pat Szanto, the goal has basically been accomplished. In fact, it was the only three-time monogram winner for Notre Dame. And in this, his final year, Szanto would like nothing better than to get to the NCAA playoffs.

“Really tough because there are usually two automatic and one at large bids from our region (the Midwest),” noted Szanto. “Usually Evansville, Indiana, and Akron get those. But we’ve taken the steps to get there.”

One step is the upgrading of the Irish schedule. Opponents this year include second-ranked Evanstan, 10th-ranked Penn State, and 13th-ranked Connecticut. And tonight the team is in Bloomington to face the 18th-ranked Indiana Hoosiers.

Because Indiana is tradition- ally one of the teams to get the NCAA bid from the Midwest, a victory for the Irish would be the first step toward reaching that goal.

Another step was taken by Szanto. A proven forward, he scored 27 goals and registered three assists in his senior year. But going into his senior year, Szanto would like nothing better than to get to the NCAA playoffs.

Red Sox drop one, finally

BOSTON - Red Sox left fielder Lee Lacy singled home the tiebreaker in the eighth inning Thursday night and the Baltimore Orioles beat Boston 8-6, ending the Red Sox's 1-game winning streak.

The Orioles, who scored twice in the seventh for a 6-6 tie, loaded the bases in the eighth on a double by Mike Young, a walk to John Stefero and an error on Floyd Rayford's bunt.

Lacy singled to center against Bob Stanley.

But Santor assures everyone that he is not afraid of anyone. In fact, one look at Szanto on the field would show you that he intimidates the opponents. His rough appearance and hunching style accents his defensive ability, and his consistent offensive contributions, where he already has two goals and an assist.

But as Szanto and the rest of the Irish take the field at Bill Armstrong Stadium at 7:30 tonight, they will be facing a hungrier-than-usual Hoosier squad. Indiana will be looking for its first victory of the season after emerging from the Adidas-Metropolitan Life Soccer Classic with an 0-1-1 record.

"That is a big disadvantage for us," said Grace, himself a former player under Indiana head coach Jerry Yeagley. "They are always prepared, always hungry.

I know there is a lot of work he wants to do with his team, a lot of questions he wants answered.

So while the circumstances may not be the best, Grace would still like nothing better than to beat his former coach.

"We've had a good week of practice," he said. "We'll be mentally ready.

Grace also added that the longer the game goes with the score 0-0 or 1-1, the better the chances are for his squad. And with the experienced defense led by guys like Szanto, his reasoning is understandable.
Pep rally tonight

Special to The Observer

While Head Coach Lou Holtz and the Notre Dame football team will not kick off the 1986 season until tomorrow, plenty of action should be on hand outside Gate 9 of the ACC tonight at 7. That’s when the first pep rally of the year will take place, and a large crowd is expected to help the team open the season in grand fashion.

Scheduled to speak at the rally are Defensive Coordinator Foge Fazio, Irish captain and inside linebacker Mike Kowaleski and, of course, Holtz himself.

Morin adjusts to new role as setter

By KEVIN HERBERT

Sports Writer

Kathy Morin, in her third season as a Notre Dame volleyball player, has established herself as a proficient starter at the setter position.

"One of Kathy’s greatest attributes is her versatility. She is a great all-around player," said Notre Dame head volleyball coach Art Lambert.

The two-time monogram winner from Mishawaka, Ind., began her playing days here as a side-hitter. She moved to the setter position last October break during a contest on the team’s California trip, when Junior Jill Suglich was sidelined with an injury. She really started to progress when she got to practice early and spent extra effort with us. She is a good hitter and good blocker, a very versatile player.

"My improvement in setting has really pleased me," Morin said. "During the summer I would come over from Masheda for extra practice and I also go to practice early to work on my setting. I am happy this extra effort has improved my setting."

"I respect Coach Lambert alot.

At the end of the 1986 Notre Dame women's tennis season, the win-loss record might not stand up to last year's 28-6 finish, but that's because this year's competition is 50 percent tougher.

Head Coach Nichole Gottman recognizes that if the Irish are to gain respectability, they must compete against the top teams.

This weekend the Irish open the season by hosting two formidable opponents, Illinois and Miami (Ohio). Match play with Illinois begins today at 3 p.m. and Miami is next up tomorrow morning at 9 a.m.

So far, Gottman says her team is playing extremely well.

"Last week at the Midwest Invitational, our returning players were steady and consistent throughout," Gottman said, "and the freshmen got progressively better as the tournament went on. If we remain healthy, we should have a successful season."

Notre Dame players got a preview of Illinois and Miami at the Midwest Invitational, going 1-4 against the Illini and 1-1 against Miami. According to Gottman, both teams post a solid lineup in singles and doubles, especially Miami. Last year both teams beat the Irish in close matches and this duel meet will undoubtedly give Gottman some indication of her team's mental toughness, which she sees as the key to this season.

Nicholle Dasso, Stephanie Tolstedt, Alice Lohrer, and freshman Tami O'Keefe has impressed Plane and figures to be among the top eight competitors for the Irish.

The Ohio State team "had a banner recruiting year and will add a 4-10 and 4-13-13imer to a team that has the bulk from last year returning," Plane said. "Michigan State lost one person from a year ago and has brought in a couple of high school state champs."

The Irish open their season today at 4 p.m. with a five-miler starting on the second fairway of Burke Memorial Golf Course. Think the home-course advantage can only help them.

"The guys know the course and running in front of friends and roommates is a plus," Plane said.

Women's cross country now varsity ...

By PETE LAPLEUR
Sports Writer

The women's cross country team opens its first season of varsity competition tomorrow at the Hillsdale Invitational in Hillsdale, Mich. The sport has been club-oriented for the past 12 years and will compete in three additional competitions before the North Star Conference Meet in late October.

Head Coach Dan Ryan, a third-year Notre Dame law student, expressed confidence that the team will be able to compete on the Division I level. He said the team will be led by juniors Kathleen Lehman and Julia Merkel and freshman Linda Filar. Ryan is a graduate of the University of Detroit, transferring from the University of Michigan his junior year. He ran varsity all four years and was a second team All-American. Ryan is currently on The Athletic Congress' Elite List, which denotes the top 10 percent of runners in the nation.

"Kathleen is our No. 1 runner and by far the most improved. Based on this year's time trials, she's running a minute and 27 seconds faster than last year," Ryan said. "Linda is an All-American in high school and is our No. 3 runner. She will be extremely good down the road."

The Hillsdale Invitational will consist of 11 Midwest teams, including Michigan State and Wisconsin Parkside, which are both ranked in the NAIA top 10. Ryan said he also expected good competition from the University of Detroit and Akron.

According to Ryan, who was also last year's coach, the goal of the 1985 squad was to gain Division I status. see VARSITY, page 16

It will be a very young Notre Dame cross country team running on Burke Memorial Golf Course today.

Five runners with sophomore eligibility and three freshmen will represent the Irish against Michigan State and Ohio State to open the 1986 season.

Head Coach Joe Plane must piece together his cross country team after losing All American Jim Tyler, monogram-winner John Magill and Indiana Intercollegiate 10,000-meter champion Tom Warth. Plane calls this a "rebuilding year that will be very interesting and open to many pleasant surprises."

"However, his young team conceives nothing. The goals of this season remain consistent with those of past teams, "to win every dual meet, the National Catholic Invitational, the Notre Dame Invitational and quality for the NCAA's," Plane said. "This team is a close-knit group of guys who run well in a pack."

Two juniors with two remaining years of eligibility, co-captains Rick Mulvey and monogram-winner Dan Garrett, return after sitting out last year with injuries. The leadership roles of this team will rest heavily upon Mulvey and Garrett.

Mulvey calms the 1986 Irish like "are a legitimate team, with a legitimate chance of qualifying for the NCAA's."

Helping the Irish reach that goal will be sophomores Ron Markizech, an accomplished runner from Detroit, transferring from the University of Michigan his junior year. He ran varsity all four years and was a second team All-American. Ryan is currently on The Athletic Congress' Elite List, which denotes the top 10 percent of runners in the nation.

"Kathleen is our No. 1 runner and by far the most improved. Based on this year's time trials, she's running a minute and 27 seconds faster than last year," Ryan said. "Linda is an All-American in high school and is our No. 3 runner. She will be extremely good down the road."

CSC programs offer a new view of world

The future is of primary concern to people who live and work in the academic world. The goal of students is to prepare for "life." As students move through the tangle of intellectual pursuits they sometimes forget that while they are "preparing" they are also living. They love and laugh. They are able to find time for parties and dates between the long nights with the books. They ponder the large questions of life while muddling through such details as laundry and roommate problems. It is clear that one cannot wait to live, and the best preparation for life is risking involvement.

Fortunately, here in the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community we have an opportunity to integrate the preparation for life with involvement in the real nitty gritty issues that life presents. Through the Center for Social Concerns there are a variety of service/social action opportunities available over 24 organizations both on and off campus.

The exciting and invigorating effects of these opportunities is that it enables members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community to break out of the protective bubble that surrounds those who are "preparing." Life and allows the wonderful, frightening living world to invade and color that preparation.

Group allows reflection

The Senior Reflection Group provides an arena for senior men and women to meet and discuss some common feelings and reflections as they near the end of their four years at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. The group offers them the opportunity both to look back on their college experience and to articulate their hopes for the future, and provides students to examine how social concern is and will be integrated into their lives.

Each group of 12 students -- six men and six women -- meets five times during the spring semester. The first four sessions are held from 6 to 9 p.m. in the homes of a faculty or staff host and consist of a meal prepared and paid for by the students followed by discussion.

The final meeting is an overnight retreat at Lake Michigan or some other place chosen by the group. Past retreats have been a stimulating mixture of fun, serious discussion, and prayer.

The group belongs to the students, who are responsible for sharing the tasks of shopping, meal preparation and clean-up, selecting topics and leading the discussion, and offering a prayer before the meal. A critical ingredient to the success of a group is student commitment to participate fully in all sessions throughout the semester as well as planning the retreat.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is a non-profit social service organization primarily focused on providing mentorship programs for children. The branch operates in the South Bend Community and aims to provide help "growing pains." These youngsters desire a positive role model to help offset their adult companionship, to supplement those within the home. It is hoped that Big Brothers will make a match. The purpose is to establish a one-to-one relationship to provide the child with the guidance and love needed to make a positive difference.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters directly addresses the needs of a youngster in the South Bend community who is currently experiencing uncomfortable socialization.

BIG SISTERS provide services for the following age groups: 2 to 12 years old.

- Mentoring and friendship
- Academic and life skills
- Social and emotional awareness

Services provided:

- Mentoring and life skills
- Academic and life support
- Social and emotional education

The program seeks to develop and add some recreation/socialization program in any or all of the areas. The child can meet and enjoy activities such as swimming, parties and other miscellaneous odd jobs.

Because of the diverse needs of students that are interested in being helped to provide help "growing pains." These youngsters desire a positive role model to help offset their adult companionship, to supplement those within the home. It is hoped that Big Brothers will make a match. The purpose is to establish a one-to-one relationship to provide the child with the guidance and love needed to make a positive difference.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's provides a specially trained staff. The child and adult can meet and enjoy themselves through recreational and educational activities. To request the meeting the child and adult experience on their own.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program represents all backgrounds. What all big brothers and sisters share is a desire to help children through their loneliness, confusion and lack of guidance in the area of adolescence. Each student and child share some of the same goals, backgrounds, personalities and goals. These goals will establish the foundation for a growing friendship.

A balanced and challenging life and friendship can last a lifetime, and the potential of the child is endless. Please share the experience with us.

Fun and Learn

The Fun and Learn Program is a recreation/socialization program for children and adolescents who are experiencing difficulties in school, emotional problems, or disabilities in any or all of the following areas: reading, writing, math, memory, socialization, attention span, control, behavior, organizing, planning, learning, study, work, making friends and social skills. The program seeks to help establish self-confidence and self-esteem; and to challenge children physically and mentally, through recreation and activities. It is not a tutorial program.

There program teachers plan activities that are consistent with the following concepts. RECREATION team work and cooperation. SOCIALIZATION - appropriate behaviors, personal interaction with volunteers. ACHIEVEMENT - communication, acceptance of limitations, coping. The children are divided into two groups, by age, to better meet their specific needs and interests. Volunteers are needed every Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. to support and work with children in activities to attempt to develop these skills. (Located on Saint Mary's campus, transportation from Notre Dame is provided.)

Northern Indiana State Developmental Center

Northern Indiana State Developmental Center is a residential facility for mentally retarded children and adolescents. The residents of NSDC go to special education classes in the St. Joseph County School System without the south Bend Community. Their education does not stop in the school; however, as the children also participate in a variety of training programs at the Northern Indiana State Developmental Center.

Located across from the University of Notre Dame, NSDC offers an excellent opportunity for students to observe and experience the handicapped as volunteers. Students that are interested must have permission from their school programs such as speech therapy, physical therapy, occupational therapy and training programs. The speech therapy program incorporates training in various communication methods such as sign language, symbol language and simple conversation.

SAVE

Student Volunteer for the Elderly is a service organization that helps the elderly with the everyday tasks of living. The primary work of SAVE for the last 10 months has been the collection of used newspapers, although in many cases SAVE has been involved in other activities such as watering plants, gardening, babysitting, and other miscellaneous odd jobs.

Because of the diverse needs of the elderly, the organization relies on the help of volunteers. Student volunteers are asked to provide help "growing pains." These youngsters desire a positive role model to help offset their adult companionship, to supplement those within the home. It is hoped that Big Brothers will make a match. The purpose is to establish a one-to-one relationship to provide the child with the guidance and love needed to make a positive difference.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is a non-profit social service organization primarily focused on providing mentorship programs for children. The branch operates in the South Bend Community and aims to provide help "growing pains." Schools

Save Student Assisting Students is a volunteer organization which, in cooperation with the South Bend Police Department, is working in conjunction with the Center for Childhood Education to offer services for the retarded and developmentally disabled. The program seeks to develop and add some recreation/socialization program in any or all of the areas. The child can meet and enjoy activities such as swimming, parties and other miscellaneous odd jobs.

Because of the diverse needs of the child, the organization relies on the help of volunteers. Student volunteers are asked to provide help "growing pains." SPEECH. Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy programs focus on the mental development of the children. Programs are developed for head control, sitting, standing, walking and proper use of a wheelchair or walker. Occupational Therapy focuses on fine motor and sensory integration activities.

Recreation comprises a major portion of volunteer opportunities. Community outings, leisure skill training and social events are sponsored. Activities include ice skating, swimming, horseback riding, parties and special events. Service training programs for skill development such as feeding, dressing and buttoning clothes are also as opportunities for volunteer involvement.

Please consider a volunteer experience at Northern Indiana State Developmental Center. Our facility is convenient and close for students and our resident would really enjoy having you come.
sion to student life

NCAA Volunteers for youth

For some Notre Dame varsity athletes, the commitment to excellence reaches beyond academic and athletic competition. For many young people, junior high school is a time of change, new responsibilities, loneliness or inexperience. The Notre Dame/NCAA Volunteers for Youth is a unique community program that brings together these student-athletes and junior high school-aged youths in special one-to-one friendships. Athletes and youths are matched according to mutual interests. Each pair develops a friendship through simple, everyday activities.

NSHP

The Neighborhood Study Help Program is the largest volunteer service organization on the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's campuses. We tutor South Bend area school children in reading from kindergarten to the high school level. Each tutor is assigned one child. The tutor visits the child's home twice each week for approximately one hour. This program allows Notre Dame Saint Mary's students to help children academically as well as socially and emotionally. Tutors work at helping the children develop skills they may lack and showing them that learning can be enjoyed in a relaxed, informal atmosphere. This program offers students a nice break from studying and campus life.

Head Start

Head Start is a child development program to give pre-school children from an economically and/or culturelly disadvantaged background an educational and social experience before entering school. The Notre Dame and Saint Mary's student who take part in the program volunteer once a week to help children in an area of much-needed help. The Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students often serve as much-needed role models for many of the children. Though it seems like children are the only ones to reap the benefits of the program, our tutors experience some of the most enjoyable and satisfying times in their college careers.

SHELTER FOR THE HOMELESS

Over 300 members of the Notre Dame - Saint Mary's community have volunteered at this shelter for the Homeless. In its second year of operation, the shelter now welcomes volunteers to help maintain the facility and provide services to the homeless. Volunteers offer the guests a warm welcome, unconditional regard, and an opportunity to maintain contact with others who value an individual's worth and dignity.

Guests are greeted between 10:30-11:00 p.m. nightly. They are served a meal, given a room to sleep and are given a daytime activity. They are given a chance to take a shower, and offered a pair of clean socks. Guests are awakened at 6:30 a.m. and served a breakfast, purchase by the shelter, is served at Hope Rescue Mission.

Our staff at the shelter from 10:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. Because the shelter's client population includes people at risk from chemical and emotional stress, volunteers must be thoroughly oriented to both our helping philosophy and our helping strategies. Attendance at a three-hour training session is required.

STEP

The Student Tutorial Education Program is dedicated to helping the residents of the South Bend Juvenile Facility to develop both socially and educationally. As tutors, our major goal is to motivate the residents to complete assignments and improve their work and to teach them better study habits, however, the one-on-one interaction of the program enables the tutors to develop a special relationship with their assigned resident. The evenings we tutor are Monday and Thursday from 7 to 9. The participants in S.T.E.P. are tutors on either one of these nights— whichever is more convenient. Transportation to and from the Juvenile Facility is provided for through the Center for Social Concerns.

The Hospitality area provides formal and informal opportunities to share the CSC's facilities and resources. In the midst of the library, residence halls and classroom buildings, the Center is a welcoming place for people to gather. CSC hosts University classes, group meetings and meals, educational events, prayer and many other events.

Plunge participants gain insight from experience

The Urban Plunge program is a unique learning opportunity offered at the University of Notre Dame which enables students to gain a glimpse of inner-city life - its problems, but also its possibilities. It is a 48-hour immersion into the kind of life that most Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students have never seen. For two days of the first week of January, students go to urban areas across the nation for best encounters with persons and organizations working for social justice in the United States. Caring individuals, concerned communities, and willing agencies apply for a new perspective on urban poverty in order for those who have little contact with the unemployed, homeless, the hungry.

The Plunge has three goals: 1. To enable students to experience, learn from and for themselves the problems of injustice, poverty and apathy in the urban areas of the United States. 2. To increase awareness of and contact with groups who are working to improve situations, and to evaluate their strategies. 3. To gain fresh insights into issues.

Misa en Espanol

On the first Sunday of every month, while school is in session, the Center of Social Concerns hosts a group of Hispanic students in Mass celebrated in Spanish. This is done in order to give the Hispanic community a chance to worship in accordance with both their cultural and religious traditions as well as offer an opportunity to non-Hispanics to learn more about Hispanic culture. Celebrants are Spanish speaking members of the Notre Dame community or an occasional visitor from Hispanic countries. A special feature of these masses is a choir with guitar accompaniment. The Mass for the program is taken at Farley Chapel. We invite all Faculty, staff and students to join us in these monthly celebrations.

Summer Service

Summer Service Projects are intended to provide ND students and Alumni an opportunity to address the injustice of poverty. The projects are available to ND students who will be returning to campus in the fall. Projects last eight weeks during the summer and at sites in cities where there is a sponsoring Notre Dame Alumni Club. 1986 SSP sites included Ecuador and Puerto Rico.

The Summer Service Projects are underwritten by Notre Dame Alumni Clubs and the James F. Andrews Scholarships. Social Concerns Scholars which are tuition credits of up to $1,200 are awarded to those students who apply and are chosen to take part in the SSP program. The Center for Social Concerns has more information. Applications for the program are taken in January for the following summer.

CULTURAL ARTS SERIES

This year the Center for Social Concerns is initiating a new Social Concerns Cultural Arts Series. This series will replace, and is an outgrowth of, the Social Concerns Film Series. Through it we plan to move into other creative realms such as dance, theatre, and music to help raise issues of social concern. This series is made possible through collaboration with Student Government and co-sponsorships by such organizations as the Office of Student Activities.

Our inaugural performance will be held Thursday, September 18 at 8:00 p.m. in Washington Hall. Don Mcleod, the world's foremost modern mine, will perform a series of topical pieces including 'The Creation' which portrays God's creation of the world, humanity's growth in it and its eventual destruction by the 'bomb'. Many people are already familiar with Don through his part as the gorilla in the American Tourist Luggage commercial. Others dates in the series will be announced as the year progresses.

Students network for peace and justice
Groups organize for campus-wide events

The Network for Peace and Justice is an organization which brings together leaders from various campus and community groups concerned with issues of peace and justice. The network serves as a clearinghouse for coordinating campus events, alerting groups to opportunities outside the University community, and co-sponsoring major events such as "Call to Peacemaking Week" during fall semester and the "Peace with Justice" emphasis during spring. Membership is open to individuals who are concerned with these issues and who want to work on the various activities.

For more information contact Mary Jane Luton, Alan Nunno or Miguel Mendivil.

Pax Christi

According to Pax Christi International, "Pax Christi has as its primary objective to achieve peace for all humankind, always witnessing to the peace of Jesus." Because Pax Christi springs from a Gospel vision of peace, it asks its members to ground their peace-making in prayer and ongoing reflection on the peace message of Jesus.

More specifically, we meet five times a month to pray for peace. We participate in the "Call to Peacemaking" week during fall semester and the "Peace with Justice" emphasis during spring. Membership is open to individuals who are concerned with these issues and who want to work on the various activities.

VORP

VORP is a United Religious Community Program headquartered at DePaul University. The Midwest St. South Bend DePaul Center provides alternative sentencing programs for drug offenders who choose to participate in the program. VORP is an alternative program available to judges and probation officers for dealing with criminals, especially those involved in property offenses. VORP offers a variety of services to the community.

Dismas House

The Dismas House student group is a relatively new project working in cooperation with the Dismas House board of South Bend to establish a community of former prisoners and students. This community will promote friendships between students and former prisoners and will work as a substitute for rehabilitation programs for the former prisoners who often need to be reconciled with society. Any student who is interested in living at Dismas House may contact Sister Mary Karen at the Center for Social Concerns.

World Hunger Coalition

The World Hunger Coalition works to increase education and awareness of hunger issues on campus. Through speakers, films and participation in hunger-awareness events, we hope to bring the Notre Dame community to a greater understanding of world hunger. Every Wednesday lunch Fast Program of fed students the opportunity to give up one lunch a week, helping others who are hungry throughout the world. The money raised by this fast goes directly to rural development projects in different parts of the world. VORC works with the St. Augustine Soup Kitchen in South Bend, preparing meals for local homeless and helping hungry children and adults collected at holy Masses. The Hunger Coalition works to eliminate different hunger problems through speakers and question-and-answer sessions. In addition to raising awareness for the cause, we provide service projects, such as "Caring for the Hungry." What is hoped is to end the many needs of Latin America? Please join us as we continue to search for ways to help our hungry sisters and brothers.

"There are many worlds which come to mind to try to explain myself fully: incomes, contradictions, etc. Basically I envision the community of hunger as a puzzle where all the pieces never seem to fit together at all. These incongruities were encountered at many levels..." (Pax Christi USA)

All service organizations will be represented at Student Activities Night.

"It is the hope of this group that the students join us as we continue to search for ways to help our hungry sisters and brothers.

"And I believe that Kerr talks for most of us in characterizing her recent experience in the South Bend Coalition for Social Concerns Seminar, in its fifth year. This year the students traveled to Washington, D.C. over the fall break to explore the relationships between social action and policy formation and the Catholic social concerns.

"The year the three issues around which the seminar was organized were South Africa, the nuclear dilemma and the environment and corporate responsibility.

"And I think of the root of this frustration came from a sense that many of the men and women that we speak to had lost touch with the human fact within the reality of speaking of one such encounter.

"The Holy Cross Justice and Peace Center is an agency which provides four basic things: The Center provides support for other private and public agencies, direct aid to the poor of South Bend. This is done primarily through rental and utility bill assistance. The Center also donates a variety of activities to educate the people of the South Bend area on issues of social justice. The Bad Bond Project, directed by the Center, assists the emancipated who are without financial means to post bond. It is the most important of all.

Community for the Lay Apostolate

The Lay Apostolate is sponsored by Pax Christi USA and is in established in 1986 and is one of Notre Dame's oldest and most prestigious service organizations. Originally formed as a support group for students doing service projects internationally. It has evolved into a diverse organization, complete with three community service projects and an active Education Committee. The Center students still has students doing summer service projects.

The Center is supported by the three local parishes of Holy Cross, the Midwest Province of Holy Cross Brothers, and the Indiana Province of Holy Cross Brothers.

Exposure to government brings valuable insights

I think of the root of this frustration came from a sense that many of the men and women that we speak to had lost touch with the human fact within the reality of speaking of one such encounter. Such an experience is significant because it is the first step in a process of searching for new political structures that are truly rooted in the human reality.
