ND Security still searching for 2 armed robbery suspects

By MARK PANKOWSKI

Notre Dame Security was continuing its search yesterday for a pair of men in connection with Saturday night's armed robbery and assault of two University alumni on Green Field.

The suspects, one of whom was armed with a small-caliber handgun, fled with $600, said Assistant Director of Security Phillip Johnson.

Neither of the 22-year-old victims was seriously injured in the incident, which occurred at about 8:20 p.m. behind Lafortune. Officers in the area were unable to apprehend the suspects because of darkness and the large number of people on the field, he said.

At a meeting with University oficials last spring, South Bend Police agreed to turn over the names of cited students to Notre Dame Security Director Rex Rakow.

St. Mary's Security was not invited to the meeting because St. Mary's students do not sponsor off-campus parties. Chlebek said.

St. Mary's students "do not have these keg parties," Chlebek said. "Our students are not creating the problems. We were not invited to the meeting," he said.

The suspects allegedly approached the two graduates as they were sitting in their car. Johnson said. While one suspect held his hand in his pocket, the other demanded money from the victim in the driver's seat.

When the victim displayed his empty wallet, the suspect struck him three times in the face. Johnson said. The victim in the passenger's seat then gave the suspect $10.

The suspect walked over to the passenger's side of the car and demanded more money, Johnson said. However, the victim claimed he had no more and showed him his empty wallet.

After the suspect repeated his demand once again without success, he hit the victim in the left eye, said Johnson. The victim then reached into a compartment in his wallet and handed him $70.

The other suspect, who up to this point had kept his hand in his pocket, pulled out a semiautomatic handgun, said Johnson. The suspects then fled.

The first suspect was described as a black man, about 24 years old, between 5 feet 9 inches and 6 feet 2 inches tall, slender with a medium complexion, and wearing a dark blue jacket and blue pants. The other suspect was described as a black, man, about 27 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, medium build with a medium complexion, and wearing a baggy blue sweatshirt and dark pants.

SMC Security receives no reports about students cited in police raids

The names of St. Mary's students issuing citations at raids of off-campus parties are not reported to College authorities, un-lke those of Notre Dame students, which are forwarded to Security.

St. Mary's Security Director Richard Chlebek said his Departmant had not arranged to get the names of cited students from any police agency.

"We receive no information, that I know of, on any of our students," he said. "We have not met with South Bend Police officers of the Indiana State Excise Police..."

St. Mary's Director of Residence Life Patricia Rossneyer said police usually do not inform her if a student is arrested or issued a citation.

At a meeting with University oficials last spring, South Bend Police agreed to turn over the names of cited students to Notre Dame Security Director Rex Rakow.

St. Mary's Security was not invited to the meeting because St. Mary's students do not sponsor off-campus parties, Chlebek said.

St. Mary's students "do not have these keg parties," Chlebek said. "Our students are not creating the problems, so we were not invited to the meeting," he said.

South Bend Police Capt. Patrick Cottrell said his department had never issued a ticket to a St. Mary's student for having a party where minors were served alcohol.

Cottrell said he did not know whether St. Mary's students had ever been cited for consumption of alcohol by a minor because Indiana State Excise Police issue those citations. Excise police were not available for comment.

At least 141 students have been cited for violations of state liquor laws during raids of off-campus parties and bars this year.

The raids were part of "Operation Stop Underage Drinking and Sales.

Rakow said he reviews the citations and arrests and forwards the names of students who he believes have acted in a way "contradictory to the University" to John Grolerich, associate vice president for residence life.

Rissmeyer said her office occasionally receives complaints about St. Mary's students sponsoring events like hotel parties. She added, however, that such complaints usually come from hotel employees and not police.

Priest warns about 'mercy killing'

By CHRIS REDMERSKI
Assistant News Editor

Legalized mercy-killing of terminal ill patients could cause other people to consider suicide, according to Father Robert Barry, professor of religious studies at the University of Illinois.

Barry spoke on the topic of euthanasia during a lecture in the Architecture Building last night sponsored by the Notre Dame- Saint Mary's College Right to Life Club.

"If we allow a certain specif-class of citizens to kill themselves when they claim their suffering is too great to bear, then we create a breach that is going to exploit the desperate, immortal, and the lonely," he said.

Barry said suicide has traditionally been a device of the financially desperate, lonely, those who suffer mental illness and those who are often just not very bright.

"It's those people who will see that if some people can commit suicide because of their suffering, then they will ask them-
"mercy" from it, Barry said. The people who are not given the option of suffering are the most unfortunate people, he said.

"Euthanasia is an International movement," Barry said. He cited a 60 Minutes segment that said in 1986, one out of six terminally ill patients in Holland died from physicians administered lethal injections.

"Mercy-killing is upon us and I don't know if we can stop it," he said. "I'm very pessimistic. I think it's lost. Only the Vatican can stop it," he said.

Dressed for success

A student models the latest SYR look yesterday on the main quad. Although this style is not for everyone, it will be fairly common to see such semi-formal attire this week, as seniors file to Lafortune to have their yearbook picture taken.

"It's those people who will see that if some people can commit suicide because of their suffering, then they will ask themselves, if my suffering is as bad as theirs, why can't I kill myself," he said.

"The chance that mercy-killing will be legalized in the United States is great because of "a very effective and potent right to die movement in our country," said Barry.

"Legalized mercy-killing and assisted suicide are being promoted in this country by various organizations," he said.

The Hemlock Society is supporting legislation in California that will make it legal for physicians to give lethal injections to terminal patients upon request, he said.

Barry said the leadership of the American Medical Association is also promoting mercy-killing. He quoted from a judicial council decision of the APA saying "there is nothing objectionable about removing nutrition fluids from persistently terminally ill patients who are judged to be permanently unconscious."

"In my opinion this judgment is illegal, it's unethical. It's discounted on the re-expression and it is against good medical practice," he said. "It is simply against the ethos of American medicine to give up on these people and not even provide them with food and water," he said.

"Euthanasia is an International movement," Barry said. He cited a 60 Minutes segment that said in 1986, one out of six terminally ill patients in Holland died from physicians administered lethal injections.

Fat Shirley's: perfect solution to late-night munchies at ND

Nothing in the world is more irresistible than the late-night munchies.

They are most demanding after bar-hopping or off-campus party-going. The craving for pizza, hot dogs, and, of course, breakfast food, draws horde's of hungry nocturnal nomads to morning institutions such as Naugle, Arz's, and the Great American Hot Dog Stand.

Legendsary for its post-midnight fare is the White House System, better known as Fat Shirley's. Shirley NC Alexander is one of the workers at White House, but she doesn't own it. She works there from 9 to 5 every day except Thursday. That's a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. And you thought your summer job had hours.

White House is easily recognizable at night because of the bright words emblazoned over it. The message: 24 Hours. Coffee Shop. 24 Hours. bathes the joint in a surreal pink aura. To reach it, one drives south of the Five Corners on Tauchenhm and looks for the glow. During the day, it's impossible to find the place.

Inside, White House looks like the soda fountain set from, well, your favorite Fifties movie. One row of sweat stools lines the food counter. Beyond this works the indomitable Shirley. Shirley's personality has earned White House its reputation and its nickname. But the dawn patrol of students faithful to White House return again and again for its perfect food. Not necessarily great food, but perfect for the late-night munchies.

For example, try the classic Truckers Special. This includes eggs, toast, hash browns and either bacon, ham or sausage - all for $2.30. Add $.35 for all the poutine you can down. I doubt any truckers actually eat at White House, judging from the size of the parking lot. But I suppose Donner's Special would have been too cute. And too typical that lingers everywhere in the community.

Maybe that's part of the great appeal of White House. It's one of the few places in town a student can go and escape from the Notre Dame mystique that lingers everywhere else in the community. The college bars are draped with Irish paraphernalia and packed with drink-laden Domers, while fun-seeking students at other bars stand out like the nay-gayer signs at White House.

White House is devoid of Notre Dame bric-a-bric. The walls are covered with little signs like "Please Pay When Served," written in the same handwriting as the are the final credits in "Happy Days." Although the local clientele is always well-represented at White House, the student drivers often overflow. To Shirley, this is nothing new.

"It's not quite as heavy now as it used to be," she said, when asked how many students visit White House on a regular basis. "Kids are taking more to studying these days. Back then, they were more into partying."

Back then is when Shirley first started working at White House, 17 years ago. Shirley took a five-year vacation from White House, sometimes even longer, but besides that she hasn't passed for a coffee break.

Last Saturday was a very busy night at White House. Shirley said home football weekends always make things more active at the dive. "We were visited by some of the old alumni who used to drop in," she added.

As long as Shirley keeps pleasing the late-night student crowd with her cooking, she's sure to be called upon by more White House alumni.

Board of Programming presents plans to improve campus security

By SHARON HEGG

Increased campus security was the topic of discussion at last night's joint meeting of the Saint Mary's Board of Governance and Programming Board. According to Assistant Director of Safety and Security, Richard Oleszek, the meeting was mainly concerned with the security issues surrounding parietal violations.

Senator Brian Holst, representing the committee on parietals, addressed the Senate. He emphasized that parietal violations are taken very seriously and that the committee is working to improve campus security.

The Student Senate proposed extending dorm visitation hours and making penalties for parietal violations less severe, during a meeting last night.

A student government committee on parietals recommended starting the daily visitation hours at 9 a.m. and advancing the hours on Sunday night to 12:30 a.m.

The committee also suggested that only visitors who are suspended or dismissed be allowed to visit dormitories. They added that the committee should be made less ambiguous.

The Senate also passed a resolution to gain greater student access to Lafortune Student Center.

The Senate plans to improve campus security by offering more services throughout graduation week, better lighting, and signs posted at the main entrance of each building to warn students not to walk alone.

The Senate also discussed parietal issues, with emphasis on the need for more strict rules and punishments for violations.

The committee also suggested extending dorm visitation hours and making penalties for parietal violations less severe.

Two of the authors of the best seller "Growing Up Catholic" will be appearing at Saint Mary's O'Loughlin Auditorium on Wednesday, Sept. 24 at 8 p.m. The speakers will present a comical view of being raised in the Catholic tradition, said Betsy Burke, vice president of academic affairs and college relations.

The show is sponsored by the student government and admission is free.

Aquino arrives in U.S. seeking support, aid

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO - Philippine President Corazon Aquino ar­rived in the United States yesterday for a nine-day visit to seek political and economic support for her faction-ridden govern­ment.

Aquino was greeted by Gov. George Deukmejian, U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston and a crowd of cheering supporters as she reached San Francisco on a reg­ularly scheduled Philippine Air­line flight. Air Force Two waited to take her to Washington.

In her homeland, military leaders judged it wise to keep the sit­uation "stable and safe" in her ab­sence.

Aquino, who will meet Presi­dent Reagan and address a joint session of Congress this week, said before departure she would try to convince U.S. political and business leaders that Philippine problems are "as much their concern as ours."

"I shall remind them all of what Filipinos can accomplish when they set their minds and hearts to it. I shall do this to convince them that they can depend on us to meet the unfair obligations that we, out of honor have taken upon ourselves," she said in a departure statement.

Her visit includes meetings with officials of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank to try to obtain more lenient terms on repaying the Philippines' $26 billion foreign debt.

She also planned to meet New York business leaders to try toPersuade them to invest more in the Philippines.

Aquino did not elaborate on her "unfair obligations" remarks, but she appeared to be referring to interest payments on foreign debts.

In a nationally-televisioned depar­ture ceremony, Aquino remarked: "Those who are afraid that my absence will endanger the democracy are those on whom we cannot depend to protect it. For democracy here is not held up by me alone, but by the power of the people who won it."

Reagan puts drug speech into action with staff

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan, unveiling his plan to attack drug abuse in America, or­dered the executive branch yester­day to set up mandatory tests for federal workers in sensitive jobs.

But Reagan's program drew immediate resistance from the American Civil Liberties Union and labor organizations representing federal employees.

In an Oval Office where he signed the order and put his name on letters to Congress ac­companying a series of legisla­tive proposals, Reagan said, "This is the federal government's way of just saying 'no' to drugs."

Reagan's move came one day after he and his wife, Nancy, made a nationally televised broadcast, appealing to people's consciences and their sense of patriotism, for help in waging war on drug abuse.

With the formal announce­ment of his anti-drug-abuse plan, including Reagan's en­dorsement of capital punish­ment for certain drug-related of­fenses, the president joined members of Congress who have been scrambling to enact new measures of their own.

But beyond the consensus in official Washington that some­thing must be done about the drug abuse problem, there were indications that some suggested solutions face heavy obstacles.

Leaders of federal employee unions, and the American Civil Liberties Union, challenged the administration to define "sensi­tive" jobs.

Said Alan Adler, legislative counsel of the ACLU: "The pres­i­dent's proposal is a blatant violatesion of the rights of American workers to be free of search and seizure without probable cause."

Wander Indiana and visit Amish Acres

MIKE BEAHAN

Features writer

Imagine life without television or cars. Not a single luxury. Gilligan's Island, you say? No, this and more exists about 45 minutes from campus.

Ten to fifteen thousand people settled in Nappanee, Indiana, this historic farm and restaurant that is a slice of rural lifestyle, to avoid fighting wars for their government. Ten to fifteen thousand settled in the Hoosier state.

In this village located in Nappanee, Indiana, the Amish are a religious and peaceful group that has remained relatively unchanged over the past 350 years. The Amish are a religious community that practices simplicity and often away from the hustle and bustle of modern life. They are known for their strong sense of community and tradition, living in close-knit communities and following a lifestyle based on their religious beliefs.

The tour then moves into the Amish home. The guides explain the hierarchy of the Amish family, their roles, and the way of life they maintain. The Amish are a close-knit community, living in small groups and following strict religious and cultural traditions.

The tour is a unique experience that allows visitors to gain a deeper understanding of Amish culture. It provides an opportunity to learn about their history, traditions, and way of life, and offers a glimpse into a world that is often unfamiliar to those who do not live in rural communities.

There are various activities that can be enjoyed at Amish Acres, including visiting Amish homes, seeing Amish farming, and exploring the Amish gardens. The tour is a great way to learn about Amish culture and experience life in a different way.

The tour ends at the restaurant, a place where one is encouraged to try Amish cuisine. Amish food is known for its simplicity and use of fresh, local ingredients. The meals are hearty and satisfying, with a focus on wholesome, nutritious foods. Visitors can enjoy traditional Amish dishes such as Amish noodles, Amish potato soup, and Amish chicken and vegetables.

Chris Julka’s Viewpoint column of September 5 (‘‘Homosexuality rooted in sociological factors’’) contains an unfortunate error. While this is a prevalent belief among homophobes, we can then eliminate and technical as genetic research.)

A more interesting assumption is one of the causes of homosexuality. We are forced to conclude that conditioning and convincing are identical. But condition-ing, as he describes, is an involuntary process, and convincing, at least from an ordinary-language perspective, requires a decision on the part of the subject after the presentation of evidence. We are left with the contradiction of saying that homosexuality is (involuntary) caused by conditioning, and at the same time is the result of a person’s having been convinced in later life. We are thus forced to put aside Mr. Julka’s reasoning in favor of something that might work better.

The fundamental question, it seems, is whether or not homosexuality is a voluntary or involuntary aspect of one’s personality. If it results from free choice, it is the former. If it results from genetic arrangement or childhood conditioning, it is the latter. There are the advocates of the former mechanism: most writers in the field presume in the one or the other options under the latter. Since this implies an involuntary state of affairs, a condition of ethical neutrality must be assigned to it.

The next issue one might profi tably address is the ethical status of homosexual activity. They are by definition distinct from a person’s being homosexual. Many homosexuals choose not to engage in homosexual activity; similarly, many heterosexuals engage in homosexual activity at some point. That topic is too large for the present column, but perhaps it will suffice to say that most scholars in We can then modify Mr. Julka’s reasoning to ‘‘since homosexuality is not caused by free choice, it is the former. The Vietnam War remains a mystery to many.

never again. That's all I heard for one week. I was not celebrating the tenth anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War, the soldiers the agencies were rehabilitating this ugly part of American history. Since I was not old enough to experience the war first hand, it was my first real exposure to the Vietnam War.

Tom Varnum guest column

In 1975, I was in second grade. My biggest concern in life was learning the multiplication tables. My biggest moral crisis was scrapping up enough money to buy a package of baseball cards. I was being from Massachusetts, was the Bos­ ton Red Sox. My biggest concern about the Vietnam War was just a blur on the way to the sports section of the newspaper. Vietnam was just big word in all the “big” people's conversations. I remember asking my father, “What's happening in Vietnam?”

“It's hard to explain,” he replied. “You'll have to learn about it in school.” So I waited.

In 1978, I was in fifth grade. My biggest concern in life was little league baseball. My biggest monetary crisis was buying a new baseball bat. The idea of international news was the Red Sox losing to the Yankees in a playoff game. We saw a movie on In School about a bunch of gorillas being chased around the jungle by some men. I innocently asked my father, “Is that what gorilla warfare was like in Vietnam?”

“My God!” You'll learn about Vietnam in junior high school history class,” he said.

In 1980, I was in seventh grade. My biggest concern in life was C.Y.O. bas­ ketball. My biggest monetary crisis was begging my father to take me to a Boston Celtics playoff game. My idea of international news was Larry Bird's rookie season. In history class that year. I asked the teacher, "Are we going to talk about Vietnam?"

“No,” he replied, “you'll learn about it in your high school history class.”

Still I waited.

In 1984, I was a junior in high school. My biggest concern in life was preparing for college. My biggest monetary crisis was in life was paying for college. My idea of international news was the Celts win­ ning the NBA World Championship.

“How do you know about Vietnam?”

“I read it.”

In 1985, I was in senior in high school. My biggest concern in life was how to use birth control. I read an article on this. My biggest monetary concern was finding a summer job. My idea of international news was Larry Bird’s retirement. And my biggest concern at this time, “we don't have enough time to cover that in class.”

So I waited.

Ten years after the fall of Saigon,” he announced, “we still do not know who started the war, who was fighting whom, what we really did over there, or why we were even there.”

“I can't even count the number of times I was asked, “What's Vietnam?”

To this day, I am still waiting.

In 1986, I am a sophomore at Notre Dame. My biggest concern is that the Red Sox are in the pennant race. My biggest monetary concern is paying for my next semester. My idea of international news is what the Redskins did. Over the summer, my young your worms are rising! If you count the number of times someone came up to me and asked me, “What's McCarthy?”

“I would explain,” I replied, “maybe you will learn about it in school.”

The Saint Mary's tennis team posted their second NCAA victory last Thursday by beating Anderson.

Last season the competition between the teams was tight, setting up an inter-league tiebreaker.

"It was a tough game," recalled Head Coach Beverly Block. "Many matches went three sets."

The team, now 2-0, played consistently.

"I was really happy with the team's performance," said Beverly. "They all played well and kept their concentration throughout their matches.

One key to the team's success is freshman Jennifer Anderson, the team's first seed, Block defeated Anderson's Carol flut, a second place finisher at the Indiana State Tournament, last year, by the score of 6-7, 5-7."

"Jennifer played excellent tennis," coach Larry said. "I am really proud of her."

Another key match was held on court three. Sophomore Charlene Szajko defeated Youth Hickey sanding 7-6, 6-1.

Anderson's Barb Curtes met a similar fate, falling to Saint Mary's sophomore Shawn Boyd. Sheri Charlene Szajko also had an impressive showing, defeating Palma Surya, 6-0, 6-1.

The team's only loss occurred in the first-seed doubles. Block and Peters defeated Hill and Yoder, 6-4, 5-7, 1-6.

The team hopes to repeat their success against the University of Boyd and Hickey defeated Curtes and Fair with scores 6-2, 6-2. And the doubles team doubles team defeated Stuppy, Heinz and Flynn destroyed Tabor and Luck with impressive scores of 6-0, 6-0.

Based upon performances such as this, the team is to meet today at 6 p.m. in the gym of Lafortune. or call 233-96.

The team's two goals for the upcoming season include: A. To become the best team in the conference. B. To achieve a first place finish at the Indiana State Tournament.

"I think it can be done," said Beverly. "If we continue to play as we have been, we will be able to beat us."

The team hosts Lufkin this afternoon at 3:00. The jeans are looking forward to winning Gaussian and will take the field one step closer to their goal.

Career-threatening injury

Montana has back surgery

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO - Joe Montana underwent back surgery yesterday, even though verdict still unknown whether the San Francisco 49ers' quarterback will be able to play in coming football games.

"He did undergo surgery, and he is resting comfortably," said St. Mary's Hospital spokes­woman Roberta Fischer, who refused to give any details of the operation.

It was reported, however, that the surgery involved cutting away a portion of the herniated disc that extended out from the spine, without the necessity of fusion.

The 49ers said on Montana's status they would be informed from time to time.

On Sunday, team physician Dr. Michael Dickerman said Montana would be out for three months.

The team, now 3-0, expects to face this entire season without Joe," said San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh. Wide receiver Dwight Clark, one of Montana's best friends, said he thought it was a joke when Montana told him badly his back was injured.

Dr. Robert Gamburd, the team's back specialist, said Montana would not be able to play without the operation.

"We discovered the herniated disc on Friday," Gamburd said. "He made the decision to go ahead and have the surgery. He was a very tough guy. He was very professional about it. He has been aware for a while that surgery might be a possibility. He has been doing this for a long time, and he didn't want to play football again."

Before Sunday, Montana had missed just one quarter of his career due to injuries, both of them relatively minor.

Walsh said that although a young backup such as an unsigned rookie Jason Trucios refuse to give any details of the operation. He's a Purim-galactic, would be sought, bringing the team's leash to the team, so that Walsh plans to play pro football again.

Young pitching staff hurls Irish to split

By PHIL CASTELLANO

The Notre Dame baseball team opened its fall schedule by splitting a doubleheader with Bradley on Sunday.

In the opener, the Irish lost by a score of 3-1 in extra innings. Bradley pitchers Pat Roynan and Dave Brittschick combined to shut down the Notre Dame offense, allowing just one unearned run on two hits in nine innings.

Despite the poor hitting, Notre Dame pitchers Robert Fitz, Rob Kramer, Mike Hamann, John Gleason, and Erik Maddox held the Irish in the game long enough for the team to have an opportunity to win.

The Irish had an excellent chance in the bottom half of the seventh inning. With runners on first and second, left-off man Steve Skupien snatched a hard ground ball which would have brought the winning run home, but the Bradley third baseman made a fine defensive play.

In the second game, the Irish bats came alive, scoring five first-inning runs as they cruised to a 6-1 victory. Freshman Dan Pelletier contributed to the rally with a line-drive triple over the left fielder in his first at-bat with the team.

Notre Dame continues its fall baseball season this weekend with intrasquad games Saturday and Sunday at Jack Klein Field. Saturday's action begins at 1 p.m. while the time for Saturday's contest has not yet been determined.

PITTSBURGH - John Elway threw three touchdown passes as the Denver Broncos held off a fourth-quarter Pittsburgh rally to defeat the Steelers 21-10 last night. Pittsburgh's dormant offense, held without a touchdown for eight consecutive quarters dating back to last season, scored on Rich Erenberg's 7-yard run with 3:54 remaining as the Steelers closed to within four points.

But Steelers reserve running back David Hughes fumbled on the Steelers' next possession. Malone was intercepted by Tony Lilly. Denver then drove 51 yards for the clinching touchdown on a 13-yard pass from Elway to running back Sammy Winder with 1:53 to play. It was the third consecutive victory for Pittsburgh for the Broncos, who had an apparent 80-yard touchdown pass from running back Gerald Washington to Steve Watson midway through the final quarter ruled an illegal forward pass.

The Broncos, 5-3-1 in Pittsburgh, are the only NFL team that holds an edge over the Steelers in Three Rivers Stadium. The last time the Steelers opened the season 0-2 was 1981.

Watson got behind Steelers cornerback Harvey Clayton to catch a 21-yard scoring pass from Elway with 8:01 remaining in the second period, giving the 2-0 Broncos a 7-0 halftime lead.

After Gary Anderson's 42-yard, third-period field goal gave the Steelers their first points of the season, Elway quickly went back to work.

Picking on Steelers' cornerbacks Clayton and rookie Chris Sheffield, Elway threw 17 yards to Mark Jackson and 18 to Watson before faking a handoff to Winder on a third-and-1 play from the Steelers' 34.

As Winder dove over the line of scrimmage, distracting the Steelers' defense, Steve Sewell - a running back converted to wide receiver only last week - easily beat Clayton on a 34-yard pass play that gave Denver a 1-3 lead.

Elway finished 21-for-39 for 243 yards.

Steelers quarterback Mark Malone suffered through a miserable first half, completing only six of 22 passes for 50 yards.

Denver took the second-half kickoff and moved 58 yards to the Pittsburgh 10 on a drive marked by a 34-yard ramble by Clarence Hay with a short pass from Elway.

But Rich Karlis' 27-yard field goal attempt went wide to the left.

Then Pittsburgh's offense finally got hot - hot enough to score its first points of the season 10:54 into the third quarter of their second game. Anderson's 42-yard field goal cut the deficit to 7-3.

It was set up by five straight Malone completions that moved the ball from the Pittsburgh 20 to the Denver 27. But then the Steelers switched to the ground and David Hughes was thrown for a yard loss on a third-and-1 at the 25, bringing on Anderson.
Prospects are looking good for the 22nd edition of the Rowing Club. The varsity rowers are back on their routine 5 a.m. practices in preparation for fall school.

The club's coach, Chris Fyfe, said that the rowers were currently challenging for spots in the boat in what the team calls "seat races."

"They are a really competitive bunch of people," he said. "It should be a good fall season."

One reason for the bright outlook is the rowing done this summer by several rowers. About ten members of the team were able to row with various rowing clubs across the country.

Mark Gaudis and Tim Poehles rowed for the Potomac Boat Club near Washington, D.C. Their club traveled to St. Catherine's, Ontario, to race in a regatta involving teams from all over the U.S., Canada and Germany. In the men's eighth division, Gaudis and Poehles finished third in the fastest heat of the regatta. Their boat also took third at the PMRC regatta on the Potomac River.

Carol Blanchette, Mike Schmidt's wife, rowed in a pair at Rutgers University in New Jersey. She was a first-time rower in coaching, rowing, and coxing for the Oklahoma City Rowing Club. Shadid, the club's varsity coxswain, cox-ed his boat to a gold medal in a regatta featuring teams from Texas, Wichita State, Tulsa, and Kansas.

A group of rowers remained in South Bend over the summer, hoping to row. Carol Blanchette, Mike Songer, Bill Bridenstine, and John Staudt hit the St. Joseph's River a few times early in the summer. Two other members of the women's varsity, Nellie Filar, and Amy Junius, learned how to stroke under Fyfe's instruction. Harrington is trying to enter the skulling races of the Head of the Charles regatta, but no word has been received from Boston.

John Gilly, the club's Oarsman of the Year last year, rowed in a pair at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, New Jersey. And, finally, Steve Folan picks up skulling experience at Orange Coast College.

The score has been the same for all four games of the Women's Soccer Club. The team lost to Indiana, Illinois, and St. Mary's all by the same 2-1 score, but was able to turn the tables against Illinois State, 2-1.

The Indiana and Illinois contests marked a significant improvement for the club.

"Everyone was surprised how well we did, even though we lost," noted Club President Kerri Haverkamp. "We usually lose to them something like 6-0, so we're improving."

Kate Titterton scored the lone goal for the Irish in the overtime loss to the Bears. Against Illinois St., Kathy Birmingham and Kate Kennelly scored to give Notre Dame its first victory of the fall season.

The Women's Golf Club likewise is making its best showing in the team's history. The club placed third behind Michigan and Purdue in its fourth annual Big Ten Invitational on the Burke Memorial golf course.

Amy Junius of St. Mary's led the club with a two-day score of 80-80-160. And Notre Dame's Angie Lloyd registered a score of 85-82-177.

This weekend the team is looking to states, playing at Lones College in Dubuque on Friday and at Waterloo College in Waverly on Saturday.

The reports of the Rugby Club's demise were greatly exaggerated. Unfortunately not everyone is aware of this fact, at the impact has hurt the team.

"Alot of the freshmen still don't know we're around," noted Club President Quentin Williams. "It has hurt recruiting."

The Irish did begin their season last weekend, facing the graduate student team from the University of Michigan. The A-side dropped a 26-6 decision and the B-side fell 36-12.

The team is not concerned, however, about the losses. Last year the Irish lost to Michigan, only to win their next thirteen games and advance to the Northeast Cup tournament.

The club has lost only of its 15 starters from last season. Including a list of transfers are scrub-wall halves. Inside center Tiggy Sigler, eight-man Sean Manion, and second row Paul Bridenstein.

ND women's cross-country races to fourth place in first varsity meet

By DANIEL COYLE
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's cross-country team knows what a difference one year can make. In one year's time, the Irish have changed from club to varsity status, from listening to an assistant coaching a group of a dozen to becoming a full-fledged varsity coach, and from finishing a distant tenth at last year's meet to achieving a competitive fourth place Saturday in the Hillsdale Invitational at Hillsdale, Mich.

Julia Merkel led the Irish around the three-mile course, finishing fifth overall with a time of 17:51. Freshman Jude Filar followed closely, finishing eighth overall with a time of 18:10. Numbers four through eight included Kathleen Lehman, battling a severe case of stomach flu, was third for Notre Dame and 26th overall with a time of 20:36.

Notre Dame head coach Dan Ryan was pleased with his team's showing.

"Every one of our runners improved over last year's times," he noted. "I'm pretty happy with the way we are running, but that doesn't mean we don't have a lot of work to do."

Host Hillsdale College, ranked first in the NCAA, placed the meet easily with 37 points. Michigan State, who finished fifth in the Big Ten last year, and Akron, the defending Ohio Valley Conference champions, scored 81 and 81 points, respectively. Notre Dame edged the University of Detroit for fourth place, 92 to 94 points.

The stepwatch was testament to the team's hard work on Saturday. Lehman, for example, trimmed a full eight minutes from her time last year despite her illness. "I know that I could have run faster, but I'm still really happy," she said. "I'll be right there with the other two girls, hopefully by the next meet."

Team captain Merkel bettered her time last year by 58 seconds and earned All-Invitational honors. Filar, in her first race for Ireland, equaled the previous best Irish time on the Hillsdale course.

Another freshman, Wendy Murray, cut 30 seconds from her best high school time, while finishing 29th overall.

Ryan is looking toward this Friday's National Catholic Invitational meet on the Burke Memorial golf course as the next challenge for his squad.

"Last year we finished 14th," said Ryan, "this year we hope to crack into the top seven."

He concedes that it will be difficult to compete against the larger schools, but that he enjoys the challenge of building the women's cross-country program.

"Notre Dame can be a complete club," the Division I school he said. "These girls are just learning the ropes of this level of competition, and everyone is working hard and improving."

Phillies win
Champagne still on ice for Mets

Associated Press

ST. LOUIS - Roger McDowell walked Curt Ford with the bases loaded and one out in the 13th inning Saturday, and the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the New York Mets their fifth straight loss with a 1-0 victory last night.

The Mets were shut out for a second consecutive game - for the first time in the last 16 years. They have not scored in 23 straight innings and their batting streak matches their longest this year.

Their magic number is still two for winning the National League East.

Roger McDowell, the fourth Mets pitcher to walk Ford, hit the batter with a pitch that hit the plate. Ford became the third to intentionally walk, then Ford walked on a pitch.

John Crilly, the club's right-handed reliever, bated in the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-0 for their fourth straight victory.

Mike Schmidt homered for the Pittsburgh fifth run. His 36th home run of the season - the best in the majors - was the 404th home run of Schmidt's career, and moved him past Lou Gehrig into 14th place on the all-time list.

Carmen 9-5, struck out four batters and walked one. Rick Rhoden, 15-9, took the loss for Yankees 5, Orioles 3

NEW YORK - Don Mattingly hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning to rally the New York Yankees to a 5-3 victory last night over the Baltimore Orioles.

The home run came off reliever Don Aase but made a loser of Orioles right-hander Mike Boddicker, 14-11. He struck out 10 but is 0-6 in his last nine starts and has not won since Aug. 4.

Tim Stoddard, 4-1, earned the victory with one inning of relief and Dave Righetti finished up for his major league leading 40th save. Righetti has converted 22 consecutive save opportunities.

Volleyball wins Rice tourney, faces W. Michigan tonight

By BRIAN O'GARA
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame volleyball team won its first tournament ever this past weekend at the Gene Hackerman Showcase in Houston, Texas. The Irish won 11 out of 14 games to take the five-team tournament, which included North Carolina, Rice, Rutgers and Illinois.

The Irish now turn their attention to 19th-ranked Western Michigan in a tough early-season match tonight at 7:30 PM.

In Houston, the Irish swept through Tulane (15-9, 15-6, 15-11), Connecticut (15-10, 15-9) and Rutgers (15-2, 15-3, 15-0) next, the Irish faced the tournament host Owls. The Irish won the first two games, 15-11, 15-0, to come within one game of a tournament sweep. Rice's powerful offense sparked a comeback and the Owls took the two, 12-15, 15-13, and the Irish lost the deciding match in a thrilling five-games-to-three.

Due to an earlier Rice loss to North Carolina, Notre Dame and Rice were tied for the tournament championship. So the next deciding factor was the team's overall tournament record. Rice won 13, 15-11, and 15-13, while the Irish went 8-3. Thus Notre Dame volleyball had it's first tournament championship.

"Of course, it's nice to win a tournament this way," said Lambert. "This is becoming a very prestigious tournament. It is an event that college athletic associations with comparable academic backgrounds. It's a great idea."

Sophomore Janette Bennetti, who led the team in offensive kills, had 37 kills in the four games, and freshman Kathy Cunningham, a former college tennis player, performed beautifully for the Notre Dame injury. The absence of Cunningham on defense was key in the loss to Rice, according to Lambert.

The outlook for the Irish seems bright in comparisons to the young and inexperienced squad which posted a 12-21 record last year. Returning most of that team, the Irish have a second chance at the Houston Classic this weekend.

"The team has made excellent progress and I am extremely pleased with the attitude and commitment they are displaying," said Lambert. "They are beginning to realize what they can accomplish."

Lambert hopes to see his team gain a victory tonight against a tough, experienced Western Michigan team. Notre Dame, this team that defeated the Irish handily last year, is 15-3, 15-5, 15-4, and is currently ranked 13th in the country.

"We have improved a lot since last year," said sophomore outside hitter Maureen Shea. "This game will be a good test of our team's ability."

Coach Lambert and his players agree that the change of atmosphere from playing games in the ACC to playing games in a more prestigious tournament is a good test of their abilities. "The fans are a big part of the game," said Lambert. "They can add a lot of pressure to playing Western Michigan here at home."

Field hockey drops two

DiGiacomo breaks scoring record

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Sports Writer

Senior forward Corinne DiGiacomo broke the school record for career scoring, but it wasn't enough to prevent the Notre Dame field hockey team from losing two games this weekend to Michigan and Southern Missouri. The Irish were able to take a 4-2 start to the weekend, but now face six first-year starters, while both opposing teams have more veteran players back from last year.

Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing.

"That's one of the toughest ways to get a goal," added head coach Jill Lindstedt. "Under the penalty shot situation, there's no pressure. Even in a pressure situation with an opponent watching, her score. It shows how much of a gamer and a scorer she is."

DiGiacomo's goal with 19:34 left in the game made the score 1-0 after sophomore Dianna Faust scored on a penalty corner goal by Dawn Murray of Southern Missouri Sunday.

"It was really nervous," said DiGiacomo. "I hadn't done the penalty shot ever before in a game, so it was the first time I'd done that."

DiGiacomo's goal with 19:34 left in the game made the score 1-0 after sophomore Dianna Faust scored on a penalty corner goal by Dawn Murray of Southern Missouri Sunday.

"That's one of the toughest ways to get a goal," added head coach Jill Lindstedt. "Under the penalty situation, there's no pressure. Even in a pressure situation with an opponent watching, her score. It shows how much of a gamer and a scorer she is."
