Theodore Hesburgh to assist the University in soliciting grants but by the University. Contributions and submitting the proposals, and they (the committee) are there to back us up," said Kenahan.

"It is a good investment on their part in helping Notre Dame to become a better school and improving Notre Dame programs," said Kenahan.

Citing national competition for grants, Kenahan said many universities, such as Purdue and Indiana, attract large corporate sponsorships by supplying the companies with their graduates. He said one company, General Motors, contributes heavily to Purdue and then hires many of the university's engineering graduates.

"Notre Dame will improve facilities and programs by providing improved computer facilities, endowed professorships, and Memorial Library Improvements through the assistance of the committee," said Kenahan.

All of these improvements, Kenahan said, would benefit students and the corporations for

SMC weekend set to begin

By KATIE SULLIVAN

The fathers of more than 200 St. Mary's seniors will grace the College's campus this weekend as the fourth annual Senior Father/Daughter Weekend gets underway, according to Jennifer Hirschfield, chairperson of the event.

"This is one of the most important weekends for seniors," she said. "It is the first time a lot of the fathers will be spending a weekend with just their daughters." Events for Friday night include Irish singer John Kennedy, who will be performing at Haggar Center from 7:30-10 p.m., and dancing afterwards at Senior Bar.

Planning and organizing the event is one of the most important weekends for seniors, she said. "It is the first time the fathers and daughters will be spending a weekend with just their daughters." Events for Friday night include Irish singer John Kennedy, who will be performing at Haggar Center from 7:30-10 p.m., and dancing afterwards at Senior Bar.

The weekend’s events begin with a fathers' daughter golf tournament on Notre Dame's course. Tee off is 8 a.m. A tailgater will also be held Saturday at Haggar Center for the Alabama-Notre Dame game. Brats, hot dogs, and beer will be served. Three large-screen televisions will be available for watching the game.

The fathers of more than 200 St. Mary’s seniors will grace the College’s campus this weekend as the fourth annual Senior Father/Daughter Weekend gets underway, according to Jennifer Hirschfield, chairperson of the event.

"This is one of the most important weekends for seniors," she said. "It is the first time a lot of the fathers will be spending a weekend with just their daughters." Events for Friday night include Irish singer John Kennedy, who will be performing at Haggar Center from 7:30-10 p.m., and dancing afterwards at Senior Bar.

Planning and organizing the event is one of the most important weekends for seniors, she said. "It is the first time the fathers and daughters will be spending a weekend with just their daughters." Events for Friday night include Irish singer John Kennedy, who will be performing at Haggar Center from 7:30-10 p.m., and dancing afterwards at Senior Bar.

The weekend’s events begin with a fathers' daughter golf tournament on Notre Dame's course. Tee off is 8 a.m. A tailgater will also be held Saturday at Haggar Center for the Alabama-Notre Dame game. Brats, hot dogs, and beer will be served. Three large-screen televisions will be available for watching the game.
Of Interest

Of Interests and Briefs are accepted Sunday through Friday to The Observer offices on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center before 1 p.m. on the day prior to publication. Of Interests and Briefs are also accepted through the mail. Send announcements to The Observer, P.O. Box 99, Saint Mary’s College, IN 46165. - The Observer

"On Exhibit," an artist’s cooperative, will hold an opening reception for Mary Blek and Gregg Crandall tonight from 7 to 10 in the 107 W. Monroe St. gallery. The show, "People in Darkness," presents photographer and co-op member Crandall’s recent photographs of El Salvador. Mary Blek, a Saint Mary’s graduate, shows her latest ceramic installation. Regular gallery hours are Saturday and Sunday from 12 to 4, with the show closing Sunday. 26 - The Observer

The Circle K Clubs of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s are hosting the Indiana District Conference today through Sunday. Leadership and other workshops will be held all day Saturday in the Memorial Library auditorium. Everyone is welcome to attend. - The Observer

A monthly literary for the Hispanic community will be celebrated this Sunday morning at 11 in the Farley Hall chapel. Father Anthony Gionfriddo, S.M., will provide the mass which is sponsored by the Center for Social Concerns. All are welcome. - The Observer

A recital of chamber music will be performed by Lauren Klugherz on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Annenberg Auditorium in the College of Art. The concert will feature the Septet by Beethoven, Duo for Violin and Bass by Bottesini and Concerto for Bartok. The concert is free and open to the public. - The Observer

Shelter for the Homeless will be conducting its training sessions for those interested in volunteering on Sunday and Sunday, October 12 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Fatima Retreat Center. New volunteers need to attend one of the sessions. For more information, call John at 283-1666. - The Observer

Student photo I.D. cards are now available for those students who had their I.D. photographs taken between August 22 and August 27. The cards will be picked up Monday through Friday at the Register’s Office, 215 Administration Building, from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m. Students must return their two temporary I.D. cards in order to pick up the new cards. There will be a $5 charge for each lost temporary card. If the Volk Dent card is lost, the I.D. photograph will have to be retaken. - The Observer

Weather

The future is cloudy as today offers a low to mid 70s. Highs in the low to mid 70s. Rainfall is expected through the weekend. - The Observer

The Observer

Senior Father/Daughter Weekend more than just the events planned

Senior Father/Daughter weekend. What does it mean? For me it is a time to reflect on the past and share a lifetime of memories with my father. I look back on the past four years and I can't believe it has gone so fast. I remember my senior year of high school like it was yesterday. I was confused about the future and I remember looking to my father for advice about whether to go to college, and basically what to do with my life. I remember some of the guidelines he set for me; I had to attend a Catholic college and I had to take a year of accounting. As it ended up I spent my freshman year at Iowa State University then went to my father’s dismay. After that year, I realized I had to ‘get serious’ about my education. I wanted to learn and not just get by. I then turned to my father for more advice, which he willingly gave to me. I transferred to Saint Mary’s. He never said, "I told you so," but only encouraged me to excel in my new school.

Senior Father/Daughter Weekend is not only going to senior bar for a dance contest, or watching the Indiana/Potomac game, or even going to Casino Night. It is also a time of reflection. I reflect on the first dance I had with my father; when he attempted to teach me the waltz, with equally shoddy results. 'Don't lead!' he remembers. Remember the first Potomac game I watched with him - quickly learned the Potomac Father/Daughter March. I also remember my experience at the casino. My first was when I was 14 and walked "on the carpet" in Las Vegas with my father. I remember gambling in Monte Carlo where he encouraged me to double my bet each time I lost Black Jack; I was content betting the same amount each time. He’s taught me to always strive to do the best I can do. I reflect upon these experiences and realize how much my father has given me and how much he has sacrificed for me. He has taught me by his example and given me invaluable experiences.

Now let’s face it. We’ve all had fights, disagreements and completely different philosophies about life with our parents. My father and I are no different. He is 40 years my senior and I often feel the effects of the generation gap between us. Yet there is always a bond, because he is my father. This weekend will allow us to re-define that bond in our own words. Now, as a senior in college, I still look to my father for advice. What to do after graduation? What will I do? I feel I am more mature and confident than I was as a senior in high school and through my father’s examples and the education he has given me, I am able to realize more clearly, what I want to achieve. My father has always been there for words of encouragement. Especially before final exams. If it always seems to come in a package – the kind with apples, oranges, Trident Gum and other various kinds of food that is supposed to keep you sane during the long rigorous testing, included in the packet is a note from my dad that reads, “If you don’t pass, you don’t come home.” He is also good about sending me letters – well, semi-letters – more like a two-line note on the paper that says, “From the desk of…” He’s also taught me to say, “Of course you can do it, what do you mean, you can’t?” And of course, my father has always ambased the monthly box of candy he sends to me.

This weekend gives me the opportunity to say thank you. Thank you for sacrificing, giving and being patient through my four different majors, my indecisiveness about which college to attend and my inability to budget as well as I should. I look forward to the memories we will create this weekend. I realize being a senior not only means graduating and making my own life, but it also means finally cutting the rope; I will never live at home again. It will take an effort on both of our parts to keep in touch because it won't just happen by itself. This weekend can help start this effort and allow me to say I love you.

Senior Father/Daughter Weekend - Margie Kersten

Saint Mary’s Editor

Godfather's Pizza, Inc. (765) 473-0222 - 323 Dunes Plaza

Michigan City, Indiana 46360 - 330 Dunes Plaza

Indianapolis, Indiana 46203

Godfather's Pizza, Inc. Find one. It's worth it.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY SPECIALS

TWO LARGE THIN CRUST ONE TOPPING EACH $9.99 plus tax & delivery

View menu for ingredients.

Offer expires 10/17/86

LARGE FOR MEDIUM-MEDIUM FOR SMALL

Godfather's

Offer expires 10/17/86

We Deliver to a Limited Area

336 Dunes Plaza

Michigan City, Indiana 46360

Phone (219) 874-5288

You only turn 21 once!

Love, WOSL

Another inexpensive 8-day ad.

Godfather's Pizza, Inc. Find one. It's worth it.

You only turn 21 once!

Love, WOSL

Another inexpensive 8-day ad.
University receives gift for business studies

Special to the Observer

The University of Notre Dame has received a $250,000 gift from the Donnelly Corporation of Holland, Mich., toward the establishment of a special academic program in participatory management within the University's College of Business Administration.

John Donnelly, Sr. Program in Participatory Management memoerizes John Donnelly, Sr., chairman of the board of Donnelly Corp, who died last June, and his wife Katherine. Born May 16, 1912 in Holland, Mich, Donnelly studied chemical engineering at Notre Dame and completed work on his B.S. degree at Catholic University of America.

In 1932, he began to work for Donnelly Corporation, a manufacturer of automobile accessories which had been founded by his father, Bernard. He became president of the Corporation in 1960 and chairman of the board a few years later. He and Mrs. Donnelly have three children.

"John Donnelly's frequent emphasis on the crucial role of respect for the dignity of all people in management makes it particularly appropriate that a Notre Dame program will be named after him," said Father Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University.

A frequent lecturer on management and organizational themes, Donnelly was also active in several trade, civic, and church organizations. At various times he served as president of the National Council of Catholic Men, the Holland Chamber of Commerce, and the Holland Hospital board.

White House admits scare tactics

Associated Press

WASHINGTON: Administration officials acknowledge the White House plotted to deceive Libyan leader Muammar Gadhafi into thinking he faced a new round of U.S. bombing and a possible coup, but President Reagan insisted Thursday there was "not any plan of ours" to mislead the American people and the press.

The aim of the secret plan was to convince Gadhafi that an American raid—such as the April 15 attack by U.S. bombers against Tripoli and Benghazi—was being planned against him, said administration sources who spoke on condition they not be identified.

At the United Nations, Secretary of State George F. Shultz told a news conference Thursday night he sees nothing wrong with the use of disinformation campaigns to dissuade opponents. "If I were a private citizen reading about it and I read that my government was trying to confuse somebody who was conducting terrorist acts and murdering Americans, I'd say, 'Gee, I hope it is true,'" Shultz said.

At another point, he said he knows of no decision "to have people go out and tell lies to the media."

Meanwhile, the Senate Intelligence Committee staff conducted an immediate inquiry into whether the CIA had violated presidential prohibitions against planting story with U.S. news organizations and reached a preliminary conclusion that no regulations were broken either in letter or spirit, said the committee's staff director, Bernie McMahen.

The Washington Post reported in Thursday's editions that an elaborate White House campaign included "a disinformation program with the basic goal of making Gadhafi think that there is a high degree of internal opposition against him in Libya, that his key trusted aides are disorderly, that the U.S. is about to move against him militarily."

The plan was described in a three-page memorandum sent to Reagan by John Poindexter, the president's national security adviser, and was presented at a White House meeting Aug. 14, the Post said.

The newspaper said the plan, as described in the memo, involved "a series of closely coordinated events involving covert, diplomatic, military and public actions."

"Those (allegations) I challenge," Reagan said in the interview, a partial transcript of which was released by the White House. "They were not a part of any meeting I've ever attended. ... This was not any plan of ours.

Pepperdine University School of Law wishes to announce that an admission officer will be on campus to speak with anyone interested in pursuing a legal education.

To arrange for an interview or to attend a group session, contact the office listed below.

DATE: Thursday, October 5, 1986

CONTACT: Career Planning & Placement Office

You'll see the savings!

CONTACT LENSES

- Softlens Daily or Extended Wear Contact Lenses $39.98 per pair
- Tinted Contact Lenses 2 Pairs for $99.98

All students are invited to take part in a Bible study sharing which will begin Monday, Oct. 6 in Lewis Hall Chapel at 8:00 p.m.

Call Kristen Stروع at 283-4173 or Fr. D’Alonzo at 239-5577 or 239-6919.

White House admits scare tactics

Associated Press

WASHINGTON: Administration officials acknowledge the White House plotted to deceive Libyan leader Muammar Gadhafi into thinking he faced a new round of U.S. bombing and a possible coup, but President Reagan insisted Thursday there was "not any plan of ours" to mislead the American people and the press.

The aim of the secret plan was to convince Gadhafi that an American raid—such as the April 15 attack by U.S. bombers against Tripoli and Benghazi—was being planned against him, said administration sources who spoke on condition they not be identified.

At the United Nations, Secretary of State George F. Shultz told a news conference Thursday night he sees nothing wrong with the use of disinformation campaigns to dissuade opponents. "If I were a private citizen reading about it and I read that my government was trying to confuse somebody who was conducting terrorist acts and murdering Americans, I'd say, 'Gee, I hope it is true,'" Shultz said.

At another point, he said he knows of no decision "to have people go out and tell lies to the media."

Meanwhile, the Senate Intelligence Committee staff conducted an immediate inquiry into whether the CIA had violated presidential prohibitions against planting story with U.S. news organizations and reached a preliminary conclusion that no regulations were broken either in letter or spirit, said the committee's staff director, Bernie McMahen.

The Washington Post reported in Thursday's editions that an elaborate White House campaign included "a disinformation program with the basic goal of making Gadhafi think that there is a high degree of internal opposition against him in Libya, that his key trusted aides are disorderly, that the U.S. is about to move against him militarily."

The plan was described in a three-page memorandum sent to Reagan by John Poindexter, the president's national security adviser, and was presented at a White House meeting Aug. 14, the Post said.

The newspaper said the plan, as described in the memo, involved "a series of closely coordinated events involving covert, diplomatic, military and public actions."

"Those (allegations) I challenge," Reagan said in the interview, a partial transcript of which was released by the White House. "They were not a part of any meeting I've ever attended. ... This was not any plan of ours.

White House admits scare tactics

Associated Press

WASHINGTON: Administration officials acknowledge the White House plotted to deceive Libyan leader Muammar Gadhafi into thinking he faced a new round of U.S. bombing and a possible coup, but President Reagan insisted Thursday there was "not any plan of ours" to mislead the American people and the press.

The aim of the secret plan was to convince Gadhafi that an American raid—such as the April 15 attack by U.S. bombers against Tripoli and Benghazi—was being planned against him, said administration sources who spoke on condition they not be identified.

At the United Nations, Secretary of State George F. Shultz told a news conference Thursday night he sees nothing wrong with the use of disinformation campaigns to dissuade opponents. "If I were a private citizen reading about it and I read that my government was trying to confuse somebody who was conducting terrorist acts and murdering Americans, I'd say, 'Gee, I hope it is true,'" Shultz said.

At another point, he said he knows of no decision "to have people go out and tell lies to the media."

Meanwhile, the Senate Intelligence Committee staff conducted an immediate inquiry into whether the CIA had violated presidential prohibitions against planting story with U.S. news organizations and reached a preliminary conclusion that no regulations were broken either in letter or spirit, said the committee's staff director, Bernie McMahen.

The Washington Post reported in Thursday's editions that an elaborate White House campaign included "a disinformation program with the basic goal of making Gadhafi think that there is a high degree of internal opposition against him in Libya, that his key trusted aides are disorderly, that the U.S. is about to move against him militarily."

The plan was described in a three-page memorandum sent to Reagan by John Poindexter, the president's national security adviser, and was presented at a White House meeting Aug. 14, the Post said.

The newspaper said the plan, as described in the memo, involved "a series of closely coordinated events involving covert, diplomatic, military and public actions."

"Those (allegations) I challenge," Reagan said in the interview, a partial transcript of which was released by the White House. "They were not a part of any meeting I've ever attended. ... This was not any plan of ours.
Catholics from China to tour ND
By MARGARET MONAHAH
News staff
A Catholic delegation from China will visit the University Oct. 4-7 as part of a 10-day trip in the United States to tour Catholic universities and meet Chinese Catholics living in the country. The 10 members of the Chinese Catholic Friendship Delegation, including four bishops from Beijing, Shanghai and Wuhan, were invited by the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities to visit universities like Notre Dame, that have scholarly exchange agreements with Chinese institutions, according to Richard Conklin, director of public relations. Notre Dame was chosen because of its strong exchange programs with China, said Michael Garvey, assistant director of public relations.
The Chinese leaders hope to get a glimpse of the life of an American Catholic and see how Catholic institutions are run, said Garvey. He also said the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities is trying to gain insight on Catholics from other nations, in this case China.
This cultural and scholarly exchange should increase lines of communication and dialogue between the two countries, according to Garvey. Conklin said the delegation is interested in discussing pastoral problems and opportunities, especially social action programs. While at Notre Dame, the delegation will meet with the Holy Cross religious community. Chinese students and faculty tour the campus and attend mass at Sacred Heart, said Garvey.
Notre Dame is the second stop on the group’s first trip to the United States. They are arriving from San Francisco and will later go to Newark, New Jersey, New York and Washington D.C., said Garvey.
Sanctions
continued from page 1
objections of the president of the United States notwithstanding,” the House had voted 315-63 Monday to override Reagan’s veto.
As a first step, the legislation bars new investment and new bank loans.
It also bars the importation into the United States of South African steel, iron, coal, uranium, agricultural products, food, arms, ammunition and military vehicles. And it transfers the South African sugar quota to the Philippines.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 6th:
Lithography Display
St. Francis Shoppe Display
Fireside Chat with Dr. Thomas Swartz
Ethnic Clubs on the Quad
Russian Video
Multicultural Dinners
Russian Lecture by George Feifer
Snite Museum Library Foyer
9:00 until closing 9:00-4:00
ISO Lounge Fieldhouse Mall
12:00 (Europe) 12:00-1:00
New Orleans Room Dining Halls
2:00-5:00 4:45-6:45
Washington Hall
7:00

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7th:
Lithography Display
St. Francis Shoppe Display
Ethnic Clubs on the Quad
Multicultural Dinners
Fireside Chat with Dr. Silvia Anadon
Snite Museum Library Foyer
9:00 until closing 9:00-4:00
Fieldhouse Mall 12:00-1:00
Dining Halls 4:45-6:45
ISO Lounge
9:00-4:00 (Middle East)
Dining Halls
4:45-6:45
Snite Museum
7:30-9:00
CSC
9:00

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8th:
Lithography Display
St. Francis Shoppe Display
Ethnic Clubs on the Quad
Fireside Chat with Dr. Mahr Daher
Multicultural Dinners
Student Reception
Movie: Running Brave
Snite Museum Library Foyer
9:00 until closing 9:00-4:00
Fieldhouse Mall 12:00-1:00
Dining Halls 4:45-6:45
ISO Lounge
4:00 (Middle East)
Dining Halls
4:45-6:45
Snite Museum
7:30-9:00
CSC
9:00

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9th:
Lithography Display
St. Francis Shoppe Display
Ethnic Clubs
Multicultural Dinners
Fireside Chat with Provost Timothy O’Meara
Snite Museum Library Foyer
9:00 until closing 9:00-4:00
Fieldhouse Mall 12:00-1:00
Dining Halls 4:45-6:45
ISO Lounge
8:00

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10th:
Lithography Display
St. Francis Shoppe Display
Ethnic Clubs
Fireside Chat with Dr. Jim Bellis
Multicultural Dinners
Lecture by Bobby Mills
Snite Museum Library Foyer
9:00 until closing 9:00-4:00
Fieldhouse Mall 12:00-1:00
Dining Halls 4:45-6:45
ISO Lounge
12:00 (Africa)
Dining Halls
4:45-6:45
Washington Hall
3:00

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11th:
Taste of Nations
Stepan Center
8-8:30 International Music
8:30-9:30 African Dancers
9:30-10 Polish Music
11:30 Breakdancers
10-1:00 American Music Survey
Admission $2.00

Music by
THE SOUNDMASTER
Man fires pistol at Indian leaders

Associated Press
NEW DELHI, India - A man in an army uniform fired a homemade pistol Tuesday at Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and President Zail Singh, missing them but slightly wounding six other people. Authorities said the captured assailant did not belong to a terror group.

The shooting triggered an investigation into protection given the prime minister, who has been threatened repeatedly agencies as Sikh separatists. Police said the gunman was not a Sikh.

The government said several police assigned to protect Gandhi were suspended after the attack, which occurred as Gandhi, 42, and the president left a prayer service commemorating the 117th anniversary of the birth of Mohandas Gandhi, who led India's struggle for independence from Britain.

Police said the attacker hid in heavy vines that covered a gazebo on the grounds of the Rajghat, or State Memorial, where the Mahatma was cremated. He fired a homemade pistol several times, they said. Two of the injured said they were standing next to Gandhi when the gunman fired, and were hit by pellets intended for the prime minister.

Indian news agencies said the shots were fired as Singh was getting into a car and Gandhi and his wife, Sonia, stood nearby. Reporters who later surveyed the scene said the gazebo was about 50 yards from where the prime minister stood.

Gandhi's security guards fired in the air around the gazebo and flushed out the attacker. Police said he was in his early 20s and wore an olive army uniform. The Home Ministry said he "changed his name several times" during questioning.

The suspect was questioned by police but his motive was not clear. Police and government officials said he did not belong to any terrorist groups.

After the shooting, Gandhi appeared on government television and said smiling, "Everything is okay. There is nothing to tell."

He then cloaked himself with flowers. Minister Bota Singh, who is responsible for internal security, and other officials. Indian news agencies said they discussed the security lapse and tightening protection for Gandhi. Gandhi is guarded by an elite sharpshooter unit, the National Security Guard, formed after Sikh bodyguards assassinated his father, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, in October 1984.

Three civilians and three police officers were hit by pellets and suffered "minor and superficial" injuries, the Home Ministry said.

Report cites sharp rise of poor kids

The number of poor children jumped 30 percent between 1979 and 1984, while participation rates in two key federal programs dropped sharply among America's impoverished young, a congressional report said Thursday.

The rate of participation in Head Start and Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or AFDC, under the Reagan administration fell more than 20 percent during the five-year period as the number of poor children jumped from 9.9 million to 12.9 million, the study said.

"The record growth in poverty among children has not been accompanied by increased availability of key safety net programs," said the report by the Democratic-run House Select Committee on Children, Youth and Families.

"To the contrary, support programs are not reaching the majority of those in need, are not most available where child poverty is greatest."

But the report, entitled "Safety Net Programs: Are They Reaching the Poor?" concludes that the report's findings disqualifies itself from serious consideration by Congress when it examines our welfare programs," said a 35-page statement signed by seven GOP members.

Grants continued from page 1

which they eventually work.

The members of the committee are also chief contributors to the University. Kenneth said.

They include: Donald Keough, chairman of Notre Dame's Board of Trustees and president and chief operating officer of the Coca-Cola Company; Donald F. Kelly, chairman and chief executive officer of Beatrice Companies; Dr. Roger E. Birk, chairman emeritus of Merrill Lynch and Company; and Robert W. Galvin, chairman of the board of Motorola, Inc.

"Simply having such a committee will lend a good deal of credibility to our efforts to enlist corporate support for Notre Dame, but we are particularly delighted that such an impressive group of business leaders is willing to help us," said Hesburgh in a press release sent out to the chief executive officers of each of the Fortune 500 companies.

JEREMIAH SWEENEY'S

Daily and Nightly Specials with free munchies

Monday thru Friday 4:00-7:00 pm

Monday thru Saturday 10:00 pm - Close

Phone 277-6368
6402 Grape Road
Across from University Park Mall on Grape Road

Join our "Around the World with 80 Beers" Club
As I walked to the science building last Wednesday night, even the steady drizzle couldn't dampen my spirits. I was on my way to the second meeting on students' rights at off-campus parties. The county prosecutor was scheduled to be present with answers to questions on legal rights. I had attended the first meeting the week before, and while it was informative, I was a little disappointed by the size of the crowd. But this meeting will be different, I told myself, because the subject is one I'm interested and involved in. As I went in the door and rushed down the hall to the lecture room, I feared that I wouldn't get a seat. I entered the room and my fear was dispelled, I could find a seat. In fact, I could find a lot of seats. There were only 17 people in the audience.

Christy Wolfe

We've all heard it - the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community is apathetic. We care more about football than foreign policy. We grumble more about parietals than apartheid. And we all say the same thing - football and parietals are part of our world, foreign policy and apartheid aren't. In the past few weeks, we have been besieged by the treatment of NGMC students at off-campus parties. From party raids to citations to the firing of two resident assistants. Then, The Observer has kept us informed. We feel violated, harassed and we want action.

Student Senator John Gardiner knew what was at stake, and organized a legal forum with the judicial co-directors of Legal Aid at the Notre Dame Law School and with the judicial coordinator of Notre Dame. The meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 17, and was mentioned on the front page of The Observer. Would they have been better seen on the sports page? Why are the incidents of citations and parties not making the front page of the paper? Obviously, very few people read this paper. Why are people like Student Senator John Gardiner and others in student government working to get answers? Relax, guys, you might as well do your homework, or work on "important" issues. Besides, we gave the county prosecutor a message to take back to Notre Dame. By having 17 people at that meeting, we let him know that we can and will continue to put up with the abuse of our rights. This must be noticed by law officers.

I now assumed that this meeting would draw a large crowd. At least the people who had been issued citations or arrested would be there. When I reached the library auditorium, I was disappointed by the size of the crowd: less than 100 people. Obviously, very few people read this paper. Why are people like Student Senator John Gardiner and others in student government working to get answers? Relax, guys, you might as well do your homework, or work on "important" issues. Besides, we gave the county prosecutor a message to take back to Notre Dame. By having 17 people at that meeting, we let him know that we can and will continue to put up with the abuse of our rights. This must be noticed by law officers.

As you read this, you may be thinking ahead to your plans for the weekend. If you plan an off-campus party, bring your checkbook and make sure your insurance covers dog bites. Because we have run out of excuses.

Christy Wolfe is a Sophomore English and Sociology major at Saint Mary's College.

Doonesbury

Mike, I know you thought that I should get a GAG of the same sort for Kris, but I know that a gag of the same sort for Kris is not appropriate. I think you should put it away. But people do change their minds, don't they? Over the years, I've found out things that I didn't know: for instance, a citation is similar to an arrest on your record and will stay on it permanently. The word interest. And the questions were good but the answers just weren't that easy.

On Wednesday, Sept. 24, again on the front page of the newspaper, wasmentioned the second meeting on students' rights at off-campus parties. This time, the prosecutor was coming to speak and answer questions. The next day, I told all inquiring minds what had transpired: the prosecutor's "real world" view. How does it make you feel to know that you are trained to attack as if it were at those parties as a "real force"? Or that your fate relies totally on the "police officer's discretion"? The message was clear. We stood before you versus a South Bend police officer. If he or she so desired, he or she appeared to have been drinking or out of line, there is little you can say or do in your defense. But the article in the paper failed to mention what I consider the most critical thing - apparent by this meeting. There were only 17 people in the audience.

The excuses are gone. We are all affected by treatment of ourseleves or our fellow students. Be it off-campus or on. Both meetings were mentioned on the front page of The Observer. Would they have been better seen on the sports page? Why are the incidents of citations and parties not making the front page of the paper? Obviously, very few people care. Why are people like Student Senator John Gardiner and others in student government working to get answers? Relax, guys, you might as well do your homework, or work on "important" issues. Besides, we gave the county prosecutor a message to take back to Notre Dame. By having 17 people at that meeting, we let him know that we can and will continue to put up with the abuse of our rights. This must be noticed by law officers.

I now assumed that this meeting would draw a large crowd. At least the people who had been issued citations or arrested would be there. When I reached the library auditorium, I was disappointed by the size of the crowd: less than 100 people. Obviously, very few people care. Why are people like Student Senator John Gardiner and others in student government working to get answers? Relax, guys, you might as well do your homework, or work on "important" issues. Besides, we gave the county prosecutor a message to take back to Notre Dame. By having 17 people at that meeting, we let him know that we can and will continue to put up with the abuse of our rights. This must be noticed by law officers.

As you read this, you may be thinking ahead to your plans for the weekend. If you plan an off-campus party, bring your checkbook and make sure your insurance covers dog bites. Because we have run out of excuses.

Christy Wolfe is a Sophomore English and Sociology major at Saint Mary's College.

Garry Trudeau

"A proud man counts his newspaper clippings, a humble man counts his blessings." - James F. Ward

Campus quote

"The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame-Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unnamed editors represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged."
ROBIN SQUIRES
features writer

Clubs, bars, parties—that's all out these days. With police crackdowns, the traditional forms of entertainment are getting risky for Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students. But there is an alternative—bowling.

Don't laugh. Bowling is becoming a formidable presence in the social scene. Many dorms and university organizations have regular bowling events, and some even have official bowling clubs. A "club" includes all the good things: a presiding bowling commissioner, trophies, prizes and the ever important social advantages.

"Chicks dig Morrissey guys who bowl," claims Brad Edmonds, a sophomore partial to the sport. Edmonds bowls regularly with the Morrissey club, which is one of the oldest on campus.

"It's a tradition in Morrissey," says Ted Edbrecht, the dorm's esteemed bowling commissioner. "It started with Brother Ed. He always went. He was a very big supporter." Brother Edward Luther, Morrissey's former rector, apparently enjoys a game or two. He was moved to Fisher Hall only this year, and there are rumors of a new bowling club already in progress.

"Morrissey bowling is the place to be," according to Jared Desrosiers. "The weekend starts on Wednesday for us, and this kind of gets things rolling." No pun intended.

"People are blowing off tests to go bowling," said Patrick Brisbane. He defines bowling as "more fun than the average human being should have at Notre Dame." It certainly sounds serious. In fact, bowling's increasing momentum has rolled it right off campus. Ralph Mastrangelo and his housemates make it to the bowling alley up to two times a week. "We go during the week, when there's nothing else to do. It's pretty inexpensive," says Mastrangelo. They usually head to Shula's 31 Bowl, just into Michigan.

These guys are really hard-core: they compete for blood. "We gamble amongst ourselves; we bet things like dish nights..." see Bowling, page 2

Xavier Wynn is having a ball, but he is not playing catch, he's bowling—maybe for dollars.

Mary Clare Sheerin does her 1-2-3 soft-shoe step and bowls for a strike.
Quiet Riot and Poison to perform in Goshen

The heavy metal rock groups Quiet Riot and Poison will be performing this Monday night at the Goshen Theater in Goshen, Indiana. Quiet Riot has enjoyed great success in the past with their albums Metal Health and Condition Critical. Their latest album, QR/1, is currently at number 31 on the Billboard album chart. Quiet Riot's hit singles include "Cum On Feel The Noize," "Bang Your Head/Metal Health," and "The Wild And The Young." Opening the concert for Quiet Riot will be Poison. Poison has just released its debut album, Look What The Cat Dragged In, and features a flashy onstage image and lots of loud hook-filled music.

Bowling

continued from page 1

WVFI Top Ten

1. Walk Like an Egyptian The Bangles
2. What About Love 'til Tuesday
3. Superman REM
4. Wild Wild Life Talking Heads
5. Heartache Gene Loves Jezebel
6. There Is A Light That Never Goes Out The Smiths
7. (Forever) Live and Die Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark
8. People Like Us Talking Heads
9. Whole New World It Bites
10. Fall On Me R.E.M.

This chart compiled from the playlists of WVFI-AM/1010 as of Oct. 1.

What if... you could carry your own Professional Business Consultant in your briefcase—NOW you can with the HP-18C calculator.

Professional Business Consultant in your briefcase—NOW you can with the HP-18C calculator.

Use Industry Standard Algebraic Operating System (Not RPN).

Features:
- Menu labels
- Soft keys
- Formula solver
- Separate alpha and numeric keyboards
- Four-line LCD display
- Infrared printer interface (printer available soon)

Built-in functions:
- Interest rate
- Payment schedules
- Statistics
- Internal rate of return
- Markup and margin
- Time and appointments
- Interest rate conversions

Application books available

CALL TOLL FREE 800/521-1269 EXCEPT Illinois, Alaska, Hawaii

Adapters discounted too. National or Visa by phone or mail. Mike Cashier's Check, Money Order, Personal Check (IR). Or use MasterCard, VISA, DISCOVER. Ask "M" if you want M/C, VISA or DISCOVER charge, & hand sheet in for "M" order. Please allow 7 to 10 days for delivery. Merchandise is returnable for exchange or credit only. All ELECT-TEK merchandise is brand new.

HEWLETT PACKARD

1967 North Lincoln Avenue, Chicago, IL 60614
(312) 677-7360

ELEK-TEK, INC.
"Armed and Dangerous" is a cop-comedy clone that tries to follow in the tradition of "Beverly Hills Cop," but turns in a performance that doesn't compare to his character's acting ability. Ryan's comedic timing, as well as Eugene Levy's portrayal of a successor to Ken McMillan, are portrayed as a success in the wake of this movie's poor performances in the wake of this movie's poor reception. The film is directed by Mark L. Lester, who directed "Jagged Edge." Lester plays a role in "Police Academy," and "Running Scared." The film is a fantasy about encounters during one long night in Cleveland Roads at 277-0441.

Also at the Snite Museum is an exhibition of "Photographers" exploring the history of photography, running through Sunday in Northside Recital Hall at Indiana University. Admission is free.

The exhibit "Tamarind: 25 Years," continues this weekend at the Smale Museum. The exhibit marks the 25th anniversary of the Taft-Lotograph Workshop. Works by the following artists will be included in the show: Joseph Albers, Richard Diebenkorn, Sam Francis, Philip Guston, David Hockney, John Altoon, Louise Nevelson, Rufino Tamayo, Judy Chicago, and the Olivia. Fritz Scholder, Roy DeFeror and Joseph Raphael among others prominent in the print field.

Town and Country at 2540 North Hickory Hills Road at 258-6480. Also at the Smale Museum is a "National Master Photographers" exhibit located in the Print, Drawing and Photography Gallery and the "Pirates Prints from Indiana Collections," featuring the works of Giovanni Badiata,832. Headline the weekend with pieces of a dream will perform in a "Jazz Explosion" at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday at the Holiday Star Theater in Merrillville, Ind. Tickets for the event are available by calling (219) 769-6600.

Announcing "Armed and Dangerous" takes a reasonable basic premise and turns it into a contorted plot. It lacks the comedy punch needed to make it a success. The film is a fantasy about encounters during one long night in Cleveland Roads at 277-0441.

The Sweet Sorghum Festival will take place this weekend at Saint Patrick's Park at 50651 Laurel Road. The festival will feature numerous craft and food booths.

Notre Dame women's volleyball takes to the court of the ACC this weekend in its North Star Conference competition. The Irish will meet Marquette on Friday and DePaul on Saturday. Times for both games is 7:30 p.m.

John Candy reverses his old days at a motorcycle officer, complete with uniform, as he chases the bad guys in "Armed and Dangerous."
The Grotto - A way to celebrate the reflection of our God

The church has the New Testament. It took a generation for the stories to be written down. In the beginning, you had the faith communities which knew the stories the teaching and the primitive liturgies. They guaranteed the genuineness of the written accounts, separating them from the apocryphal versions.

Interior speculation went on without the aid of Jesus. Was He God or was He a man? Was the appearance of God or with a man’s appearance? He was a long time before the Gabriel and the Annunciation and the orthodox doctrine. Christ is true God and true man; the Second Person of the Trinity. He has a human nature and a divine nature.

The Church fathers must have had the New Testament spread out in front of them as they argued. The Word had become flesh: how astounding! How to look at the mother. She gave him the appearance of God, or with a man’s appearance? We couldn’t have been there at that time, but the Father. We honor Mary because she is part and parcel of the mystery of Incarnation. If you leave her out, the mystery is diminished. She was the earthly partner of the man and the Son of God.

Revelation tells us that in the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God, and the Word was with us.

Sometimes at one or two a.m., when I fell asleep, I see the tip of my nose, I go down to the garden. The peace and friendliness there are as refreshing as sleep. Faith is easy at the gutter. Religion has its mysteries, but having faith beats being blind.

Our Lady is called stella maris, the star of the sea, and storm; the star that leads the way for the light of Our Lady’s Star. Seeing it, they knew the shape of the sky, the direction, home of the closedness of God. Created presence in the script God, and light treatment of a rather sensitive subject. Taylor is an intelligent and light treatment of a rather sensitive subject. Taylor, a professor at Notre Dame, has written a play probing how Shakespeare’s classic tragedy, Macbeth," directed by Reg Bain, professor of theater at Notre Dame. Macbeth’s evil power has made his name synonymous with evil. One of Shakespeare’s more intense characters, Macbeth is a study of the corruption of power, and the final play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is an intelligent and light treatment of a rather sensitive subject. Taylor, a professor at Notre Dame, has written a play probing how Shakespeare’s classic tragedy, Macbeth," directed by Reg Bain, professor of theater at Notre Dame. Macbeth’s evil power has made his name synonymous with evil. One of Shakespeare’s more intense characters, Macbeth is a study of the corruption of power, and the final play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’ The play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’

Special to The Observer

Three plays and one dance concert will comprise the 1986-87 season. Light of the Dames/Saint Mary’s Theatre, according to Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s Communications, and Theatre Department Chairmen Mark A. Christensen and Clayton Henderson.

Selections range from classic tragedy to contemporary comedy. Two of the shows will be performed at O’Laughlin Auditorium on the campus of Saint Mary’s College and the plays will be presented at Washington Hall at Notre Dame.

The season begins with the Pulitzer Prize-winning "Crime of the Heart" by Beth Henley. This off-beat comedy revolves around the sisters in Hazlehurst, Mississippi. The occasion of the reunion is that of the sisters, Babe, has shot her husband. The other two have returned home to help her with her writing.

Lenny, the oldest is brooding about turning thirty and her painful lack of romantic prospects while Meg, a failing high school English teacher, finds the best lawyer in town to represent Babe. Her legal sense of humor has been characterized as Southern Gothic and will be performed at O’Laughlin Auditorium in October. Saint Mary’s Theatre professor Julie Jensen will direct "Crime of the Heart." Jensen grew up in the area and has returned from Washington, D.C., where she was involved in the production sponsorship of the Arena Stage. Her play was selected above 1,200 others and was produced at the Arena Stage. Jensen also received a cash award of $500. Mark Pilkinton will direct the second offering in Washington, D.C. for the student dancers and choreograph a number of original pieces. The other two have returned home to help her with her writing.

"Macbeth," directed by Reg Bain, professor of theater at Notre Dame. Macbeth’s evil power has made his name synonymous with evil. One of Shakespeare’s more intense characters, Macbeth is a study of the corruption of power, and the final play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’ The play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’

"Macbeth," directed by Reg Bain, professor of theater at Notre Dame. Macbeth’s evil power has made his name synonymous with evil. One of Shakespeare’s more intense characters, Macbeth is a study of the corruption of power, and the final play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’ The play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’

"Macbeth," directed by Reg Bain, professor of theater at Notre Dame. Macbeth’s evil power has made his name synonymous with evil. One of Shakespeare’s more intense characters, Macbeth is a study of the corruption of power, and the final play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’ The play of the season will be Macbeth in 1982. Macbeth is a devoted family man whose best friend is a Jewish psychoanalyst. Through a succession of events, the plot shows the transformation of the Nazi party, who is instrumental in developing the ‘final solution.’
Green finds role model

"Tailback cites mother as ‘number-one influence’"

By PETE GEEGEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Most athletes have role models - older athletes whose excellence they try to duplicate in their respective sport. But for Irish tailback Mark Green, he chose a role model which is not necessarily confined to sports.

"My number-one influence throughout my entire high school career was my mom," says Green. "My parents divorced when I was nine, and I moved with my mom from Los Angeles to Long Beach, Calif., and then one year later we moved to Riverside, Calif."

So Green enrolled at Riverside-Poly High School, which has one of the top five football programs in California. He was a standout at both defensive back and running back, collecting 21 career interceptions and averaging over 1 yard a carry his junior and senior year.

And as he led his team to the state title his final two years, his mom was with him every step of the way.

"During the entire time that I was in high school, my mom missed a total of two games - was they too far away."

The influence his mother had on him can be seen in other areas. He was president of his senior class, and he was on the state's Black Student's Union advisory board.

So when it came down to the recruiting process, Green was looking for more than just a good football team.

"What really stood out was that they push you toward graduating," Green remembers. "The first thing I did when I got here was talk with mom she missed those two years, and that's where the fun really, really begins," said Head Football Manager Joe Puetz, who is one of three seniors who have coached the Fighting Irish. The managers are a completely run organization that extends their membership to all freshmen and managers who stay with the program until their senior year are automatically entitled to at least a 65 percent scholarship.

"When you get to your senior year, all of a sudden you find out where you stand, and that's where the fun really, really begins," said Head Football Manager Joe Puetz, who is one of three seniors who devote their managing efforts exclusively to football. Puetz has a full scholarship, while co-seniors Bryan Fenton and Don El-Etr have 75 percent scholarships.

"Managers play big role in game preparations"

By TERRY LYNCH
Sports Writer

"We're the roadies of the football team," said junior Brian Moffitt as he tried to sum up the experience of being a student manager. For the amount of time, dedication and attention to detail that the student managers put into the team, nothing could be closer to the truth.

The student managers organization at Notre Dame has a long and tradition-filled history that dates back to the days when Notre Dame coach the Fighting Irish. The managers are a completely student-run organization that extends their membership to all freshmen and managers who stay with the program until their senior year are automatically entitled to at least a 65 percent scholarship.

"When you get to your senior year, all of a sudden you find out where you stand, and that's where the fun really, really begins," said Head Football Manager Joe Puetz, who is one of three seniors who devote their managing efforts exclusively to football. Puetz has a full scholarship, while co-seniors Bryan Fenton and Don El-Etr have 75 percent scholarships.

Until senior year, however, the "fun" of managing looks a lot like pure drudgery. The managers cover all practices, making sure the players are properly equipped for each day, regulating the gates to the practice field, making sure practice runs smoothly and arranging training table schedules. And that has nothing to do with the dreaded "Game Prep."
Mike steps out from Don's shadow

By KEITH DUMAVANT
Chattanooga Times Free Press

Starting guard Bill Condon remembered how his palms sweated as he peered over the shoulder of No. 2 quarterback, but as a man in the Dolphin's sideline. Shula's son, the kid who grew up on the Dolphins sideline. Shula loves a challenge. He's looking for one.

They must not have been all that impressed. And they showed it with increasing accuracy for much of the 1985 season, finishing fifth. He directed a late rally against arch-rivals Penn State, which wanted him as a running back. He told Shula that he's been throwing for a week's national wire service.

"I love the managers' football game," said Puetz. "It's like fulfilling a childhood dream."

"The players really get a kick out of it. Steve Beuerlein was one of the referees in last year's game, and a couple of players have asked me when the game this year is. They look at it as a kind of peer-pleasure game."

It's an intense game, continued Puetz. "But you can really tell who's played before and who hasn't."

The managers have a good working relationship with the players and coaches, while the latter has come to depend on the managers of the players by the managers, as is usually the custom in high schools.

"A mutual respect between the players and the managers," said Reouch. "We realize that we're there to prepare them for the game, and they realize that our job is necessary."

Before the season began, some were clamoring about a Heisman Trophy for Shula, which is unlikely. Others spoke routinely of all-America honors, which is a distinct possibility. But Shula just wants to talk about winning.

"With the schedule we have, we have the chance to do some great things this year," Shula says. "I don't consider it a burden. I consider it a challenge to have the opportunity to play Ohio State, Penn State, Notre Dame and all the tough SEC schools. If you want to be the best, you have to play the best, and we have that challenge."

Shula loves a challenge. He remembers those first few months on the Alabama campus, when he was not regarded as another rookie quarterback, but as a man in a race to challenge himself.

"I was a moment I'll never forget," says Shula. "That gave me a lot of confidence. I think it gave the team confidence too. You want to have the chance to challenge yourself like that. It's exciting to find out what you can do in that kind of situation."

The excitement has continued for Shula, who has lead Alabama to a 4-0 start and a No. 2 national ranking in this week's national wire service polls. The Crimson Tide plays host to Notre Dame tomorrow at Birmingham's Legion Field.

That in itself would be some challenge. All the while, he was considered the number-three man in the three-man race. After quarterback Walter Lewis finished his eligibility in 1983, the chase would match two tough all-America quarterbacks with impressive credentials and one all-state signal bunny with a famous name. Flashy Georgian Vince Sutton, with a rifle for an arm, was considered the favorite. Shula was a decided longshot.

On the front stretch, the disastrous 5-6 season of 1984, neither one looked impressive. Both had chances at the title. Both won, both lost.

"I realized I wasn't performing," Shula says in hindsight. "I had no shoes gripping time with Vince."

But the complexion of the race changed dramatically in the spring of 1985. Shula the hard worker with limited tools pulled ahead of Sutton, the flashy kid with all the right moves. The long shot won the race.

So on that night in question. Shula stepped on to the giant stage just before the curtain was to fall, and he put on a performance that made jaws drop in awe. He showed a talent few knew he had, displaying a cocked and funny stance in the clutch, and a touch that was good enough to get the job done. For that, he was Ray Perkins' quarterback. For that, he was the unofficial leader on a team that cried out for a long-shot won the game.

Perhaps it wasn't the same Shula. Sure, it was the same kid with the average tools. But if it was a wobbly ball he was tossing, he was learning to toss it with increasing accuracy.

The game with the weak arm lead the nation in passing efficiency for much of the 1985 season, finishing fifth. He threw for 16 touchdowns and set a new school record for single season completion percentage (60.3). He directed a late rally against arch-rival Auburn, allowing Van Tiffin to kick the winning points.

While all the experts were talking about Shula's weaknesses, he was charting his own limits and learning to live within his own God-given means.

"I realize my limitations," he says. "I don't have the tools of a Vince Sutton, no way. But all that means is that I have to make up for it with a lot of hard work."
If it’s Crimson Tide, why have an elephant?

By MARTY STRASEN
Assistant Sports Editor

What really happens when an indestructable force meets an immovable object?

That was the question some 85,000 fans in New Orleans and millions of viewers all over the nation wanted to see answered in the 1973 Sugar Bowl, when two undefeated and highly-ranked college football teams battled it out for the national championship.

The answer was a 24-23 upset victory for Notre Dame over No. 1 Alabama, in one of the greatest college gridiron games ever played.

Bob Thomas, who had missed a pair of field-goal attempts earlier in the game, connected on a 19-yard chip shot with 4:26 remaining to give Ara Parseghian’s Fighting Irish the national championship. The kick marked the sixth lead-change in the contest.

Then, with three minutes to play, Alabama’s Greg Gantt backed up the Irish to their own one-yard line with a 69-yard punt. Gantt was fooled on the play, but Tide coach Paul “Bear” Bryant chose to decline the penalty and let his defense go to work rather than keeping the ball.

Notre Dame had different plans, however, as quarterback Tom Clements fired a pass to tight end Robin Webster at the 38 to put the final nail in the ‘Bama coffin.

Irish fullback Wayne Bullock capped a 64-yard scoring drive in the opening quarter to put his troops on the board first with a 60-yard kick, but the powerful running backs of the Tide began to roll in the second quarter. Randy Billingsley scored on a six-yard run with 13:34 remaining to give Alabama a 7-3 lead, but the powerful running backs of the Tide did not. It’s enough to make a mother proud.

The 1973 team posted an overall 10-0 record. It shut out eight opponents and allowed only 13 points all season while scoring 217. The “Red Elephants” ruled over Washington State 24-0 in the Rose Bowl and were declared National Champions.

The emergence of freshmen running back Anthony Johnson and the return of Jef- ferson and D’Juan Francisco, the number of players who can do the job has increased.

Green, however, still remains front. “Naturally we try to put the best 11 guys on the field,” says Holtz. “And Mark Green is a guy who will compete for you.”

Green was now more comfortable with college life. The homecoming seemed easier, and he looked forward to the next football season. But then, unexpectedly, his mother died in February.

Green now was more comfortable with college life. The homecoming seemed easier, and he looked forward to the next football season. But then, unexpectedly, his mother died in February.

Green was now more comfortable with college life. The homecoming seemed easier, and he looked forward to the next football season. But then, unexpectedly, his mother died in February.

The Time Capsule

By NARTY STRASEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Time capsule: Notre Dame vs. AP Top Five

Rank | Notre Dame | Opponent
--- | --- | ---
1986 Michigan  | 3 | 23 - 24
1985 Miami * | 4 | 7 - 58
1984 Penn State | 1 | 6 - 36
1982 Penn State | 5 | 14 - 24
1980 Pittsburgh | 1 | 31 - 16
1981 USC | 5 | 7 - 14
1980 Georgia | 2 | 10 - 17
1979 Alabama* | 5 | 8 - 10
1978 USC* | 3 | 25 - 27
1977 Michigan | 5 | 14 - 28
1976 Texas | 1 | 38 - 10
1975 USC | 5 | 17 - 24
1974 Alabama | 2 | 13 - 11
1973 Alabama | 2 | 24 - 23

* Away
Source: Notre Dame Sports Information Department
Observer Graphics/Mike Weinholt

Thomas finds redemption

Field goal gives Irish ’73 National Championship

By NARTY STRASEN
Assistant Sports Editor

What really happens when an indestructable force meets an immovable object?

That was the question some 85,000 fans in New Orleans and millions of viewers all over the nation wanted to see answered in the 1973 Sugar Bowl, when two undefeated and highly-ranked college football teams battled it out for the national championship.

The answer was a 24-23 upset victory for Notre Dame over No. 1 Alabama, in one of the greatest college gridiron games ever played.

Bob Thomas, who had missed a pair of field-goal attempts earlier in the game, connected on a 19-yard chip shot with 4:26 remaining to give Ara Parseghian’s Fighting Irish the national championship. The kick marked the sixth lead-change in the contest.

Then, with three minutes to play, Alabama’s Greg Gantt backed up the Irish to their own one-yard line with a 69-yard punt. Gantt was fooled on the play, but Tide coach Paul “Bear” Bryant chose to decline the penalty and let his defense go to work rather than keeping the ball.

Notre Dame had different plans, however, as quarterback Tom Clements fired a pass to tight end Robin Webster at the 38 to put the final nail in the ‘Bama coffin.

Irish fullback Wayne Bullock capped a 64-yard scoring drive in the opening quarter to put his troops on the board first with a 60-yard kick, but the powerful running backs of the Tide began to roll in the second quarter. Randy Billingsley scored on a six-yard run with 13:34 remaining to give Alabama a 7-3 lead, but the powerful running backs of the Tide did not. It’s enough to make a mother proud.

The 1973 team posted an overall 10-0 record. It shut out eight opponents and allowed only 13 points all season while scoring 217. The “Red Elephants” ruled over Washington State 24-0 in the Rose Bowl and were declared National Champions.

The emergence of freshmen running back Anthony Johnson and the return of Jefferson and D’Juan Francisco, the number of players who can do the job has increased.

Green, however, still remains front. “Naturally we try to put the best 11 guys on the field,” says Holtz. “And Mark Green is a guy who will compete for you.”

Tom Clements fired a pass to tight end Robin Webster at the 38 to put the final nail in the ‘Bama coffin.

Irish fullback Wayne Bullock capped a 64-yard scoring drive in the opening quarter to put his troops on the board first with a 60-yard kick, but the powerful running backs of the Tide began to roll in the second quarter. Randy Billingsley scored on a six-yard run with 13:34 remaining to give Alabama its lead, which could have been even more trouble for the Irish were it not for the ensuing kickoff.

That’s when Notre Dame’s Al Hunter broke free for a dazzling 55-yard touchdown return and Clements added a two-point conversion pass to Pete Denenhoux to give the Irish a 14-7 lead.

After an even third quarter which left Notre Dame with a 21-17 lead, a second-string quarterback named Richard Todd and a halfback namedMike Stock combined on a trick play to give the Crimson Tide the edge. Todd handed off to Stock, the son of the running back coach of the 1986 Irish, who raced to the sidelines and tossed a 25-yard touchdown pass back to Todd.

The extra-point attempt was missed, however, giving Alabama only the two-point lead and setting the stage for Thomas to redeem himself.

Thomas did just that, making the 1973 Sugar Bowl one of the ‘sweetest’ victories in the long history of national-championship-clinching wins at Notre Dame.
By MARTY BURNS
Assistant Sports Editor

Birmingham, Ala. - North against South, Catholics versus Baptists. Clash of the Titans.

So, it's not another ABC mini-series, although it will be televised nationally by that network. What it is is a classic match-up of the two greatest traditions in college football. Tomorrow afternoon, in Birmingham's Legion Field, second-ranked Alabama (4-0) will do battle with a 1-2 Notre Dame team that is running out of chances to prove it merits post-season bowl consideration.

The Irish, who are coming off a 4-1 shell­ling of Purdue, must play a near-perfect game tomorrow, however. If they are to upset head coach Ray Perkins' Crimson Tide squad. Seventeen starters return from last season's Bama team, which rolled up a 9-2-1 slate and put the Tide back at the national championship.

This year, in Tuscaloosa, in our mistakes to a minimum. It's that much harder. Ray Perkins was Newspaper royalty (a

9-2-1 slate and put the Tide back at the national championship.

Ray Perkins was head coach Don Shula, is at the controls of the Tide offense and senior quarterback is the one who will cook up the Crimson Tide offensive show.

Start with an intelligent and versatile quarterback, add in a pair of lean tail­backs and a bustling fullback, throw in an all-­American split end, finish it with an offensive line led by a guy named Horns, and you have the recipe for a typical Alabama offense.

And in the tradition of 'Bama greats like Ken Stabler, Joe Namath and Bart Starr, the quarterback is the one who will cook up the Crimson Tide offensive show. Senior Mike Shula, son of Miami Dolphins' head coach Don Shula, is at the controls of the Tide offense and will be the key to Bama's offensive performance. The 6-2, 198-pound southpaw asserted himself into the 1986 Heisman Trophy race by finishing fifth in NCAA passing efficiency (150.0) last season, throwing for 2000 yards and a 60-percent completion rate. While Shula (47-of-77, 502 yards so far this season) has been victimized by interceptions six times already this year, Holtz sees very few weaknesses in Alabama's best clutch-performer.

"I don't think there's any question we know we're playing a great football team this week in Alabama," said Irish head coach Lou Holtz. "Just like against Michi­gan (a 24-23 Irish loss), we can't expect to have a chance unless we go down there and play with great intensity and keep our mistakes to a minimum.

"It's tough enough to play a team like Alabama anyway. But when they've had an open date to get healthy and get ready for us, that's it. It's much harder. Ray Perkins was here personally to play Purdue, so you know he'll be ready for us."

There is little doubt that this game means a great deal to Perkins, who succeeded Alabama's legendary Paul 'Bear' Bryant as head coach four years ago. Although Bryant's 323 coaching victories made his act a tough one to follow for Perkins, the Bear lost all four of his games against Notre Dame as head coach.

It's funny to think Alabama sure national championships. It has been said in Tuscaloosa, in fact, that on some level, Loadshing, the Bear muttered, "yeah, I never could beat Notre Dame."

Alabama's offense vs. Notre Dame's defense

"Mike Shula just makes the big plai­ the time," said Holtz. "It's smart, checks off at the line very well, doesn't make mistakes and he does the things necessary to win football games."

Alabama, however, always has been a tough team to stop. On this one is no different. Four or five different backs carry the brunt of the Bama running attack which has averaged 250.5 yards per game (3rd in NCAA). Sophomore tandem Gene Jelks (32 carries for 243 yards) and Bobby Humphrey (59 for 298) lead the charge while fullback Perry Goode has returned nicely from injury problems to pace an other serious threat to Tide opponents. The Irish may dodle one bullet, though, as Jelks is still questionable for the game because of a minor ankle injury.

When Shula goes to the air, he always looks first to third-team all-America receiver Don Belt. Belt made a first down or touchdown on 36 of his 41 catches last season and always draws enough coverage to free up teammates like Greg Richardson (eight catches, two touch­downs) and sophomore wide receiver Terry Washington (11 catches, 152 yards, one touch­down). Shula is a threat to move the football even with the current linemen will be drafted by the NFL when their collegiate days are finished.

The biggest concern for the Irish defense, therefore, will be to generate a heavy pass rush to keep Shula from finding the defense on third-down situations. The Notre Dame pass rush, while certainly better than last season's, has been a disappointment as op­posing quarterbacks have gone down only four times. The return of tackle Robert Banks, who missed the Purdue game with an injury, should help in this regard.

If Notre Dame is to upset Alabama, Holtz knows his team will do it with defense. So far, the Irish rushing defense has recorded high marks, and that will have to be the case again. The secondary, which has proved to be vulnerable, may get support in the form of veteran free safety Mike Haywood, who is trying to come back after sitting out the last two games with calf strains. "Eagle" end Cedric Figueroa, meanwhile, suffered a knee sprain against Purdue and is listed as questionable.

Notre Dame's offense vs. Alabama's defense

The Notre Dame offense, with its multiple sets and a surprisingly good front line, has managed to outgain every opponent this season en route to its 16th-place cur­

The Irish receivers, meanwhile, callers have been effective this season (in­ head coach head coach Lawrence Taylor, who Perkins coached during his stint as head coach of the New York Giants. Bennett, along with three other returning starters, makes the Tide's line-backing corps one of the most experienced and formidable in the conference.

The front line of Bama's multiple defen­ ive line is led by one star player. 6-2, 266-pound noseguard Curt Janis. A 5-10, all-SEC performer, will be flanked by two talented but inexperienced tackles in sophomore Anthony Smith and senior Mark Hunter. As Jelks is No. 1 on his team's depth chart at 424.7 yards a game. The fact the Irish running defense has averaged 250.5 yards per game (3rd in NCAA), Sophomore tandem Gene Jelks (32 carries for 243 yards) and Bobby Humphrey (59 for 298) lead the charge while fullback Perry Goode has returned nicely from injury problems to pace an other serious threat to Tide opponents. The Irish may dodle one bullet, though, as Jelks is still questionable for the game because of a minor ankle injury.

When Shula goes to the air, he always looks first to third-team all-America receiver Don Belt. Belt made a first down or touchdown on 36 of his 41 catches last season and always draws enough coverage to free up teammates like Greg Richardson (eight catches, two touch­downs) and sophomore wide receiver Terry Washington (11 catches, 152 yards, one touch­down). Shula is a threat to move the football even with the current linemen will be drafted by the NFL when their collegiate days are finished.

The biggest concern for the Irish defense, therefore, will be to generate a heavy pass rush to keep Shula from finding the defense on third-down situations. The Notre Dame pass rush, while certainly better than last season's, has been a disappointment as op­posing quarterbacks have gone down only four times. The return of tackle Robert Banks, who missed the Purdue game with an injury, should help in this regard.

If Notre Dame is to upset Alabama, Holtz knows his team will do it with defense. So far, the Irish rushing defense has recorded high marks, and that will have to be the case again. The secondary, which has proved to be vulnerable, may get support in the form of veteran free safety Mike Haywood, who is trying to come back after sitting out the last two games with calf strains. "Eagle" end Cedric Figueroa, meanwhile, suffered a knee sprain against Purdue and is listed as questionable.

Notre Dame's offense vs. Alabama's defense

The Notre Dame offense, with its multiple sets and a surprisingly good front line, has managed to outgain every opponent this season en route to its 16th-place cur­
Sports Briefs

WVU-AM 64 will provide live coverage of tomorrow's Notre Dame-Alabama football game. Frank Mastro and Kevin Her- bid will do the play-by-play from Landover, Maryland. Studio host Rudy Brandt will update scores from around the country throughout the afternoon. All 2 p.m. with the pregame special "Showcasing College Football Today" with Brian Broderick and Sean Munster, "The Lou Holtz Show" and "Irish Review."

The ND Women's Soccer Club increased their record to 5-4 with a 2-0 victory over Wheelan. Kate Tallentine scored twice and Kerry Hankenava had one assist. Teresa Shepherd had both assists on Tallentine's goals. The team's next game is today against Hope College at 4:30 p.m. Anyone interested in trying out for the team or in the Christmas trip to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, should attend. If you have any questions, call Katly (4029), Jeff (3660), or Joe (1190) or Lida (284-4415). Joe

The ND Ragguetball Club will sponsor a men's clinic on Monday, Oct. 7, from 8 to 9 p.m. at the ACC Court One. A ladies clinic will be held Tuesday, Oct. 8, at the same time and place. All are welcome. For more information call Dave Pryon at 1315. -The Observer

The SMC Varsity basketball team will host practice Monday, Oct. 6, from 4 to 6 p.m. at Angela Athletic Facility. Interested players should bring proof of a recent physician's clearance to the first practice. Call 284-5544 for more information. -The Observer

The ND-SMC Ski Team will have its first organizational meeting Tuesday, Oct. 7, in the Library Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Classifieds

NOTICES

TYPING AVAILABLE 273-4233

WANTED: FRIENDS FOR OCTOBER BREAK. 661-3075

SAME DAY TYPING

NO QUALITY, NO BUSINESS

285-0888

TYPING/PROCESSING CLERK

PROFESSIONAL wedding planning and coordinating. Valerie is on the island. Call WES 273-4233.

LOST FOUND

HELP! I LOST MY FAVORITE NO. 19 ISLAND SINGLE NORMAN ROGERS, AROUND 10:30 PM TUESDAY NIGHT. AROUND THE GREENS IN THE LAKE AREA. PLEASE CALL DAVE OR KATHY AT 309-2071 OR 274-7309. EMPLOYEES, IF YOU FIND IT, PLEASE CALL.

NO. 1 ADVERTISING STRATEGY

IS COMING FOR BIRTHDAY. PLEASE CALL 383-7284.

FOUND: lost purse by airport Laundry Tuesday night. Great stack of ClassIFIEDS and other junk. All items are yours if you pick them up Thursday. Call MME 285-2395.

FOUND: one gold charm bracelet between Alumni and 0ber. Call Mark at 1712 for possible D.

LOST: Black Patagonia w/hoodie and baby hat in Senior parking. Please call 383-7284.

LOST: The New Wood. HALL SMALL. Typeset TIMENTAL VALUE. PLEASE, IF YOU'VE SEEN IT, CALL 1127. LOST: Blue HAT. LOST: One ADVERTISING STRATEGIES text in Hurley. If you see it, please call 283-2999.

TYPING AVAILABLE 273-4233

PROFESSIONAL wedding planning and coordinating. Valerie is on the island. Call WES 273-4233.

LOST FOUND

HELP! I LOST MY FAVORITE NO. 19 ISLAND SINGLE NORMAN ROGERS, AROUND 10:30 PM TUESDAY NIGHT. AROUND THE GREENS IN THE LAKE AREA. PLEASE CALL DAVE OR KATHY AT 309-2071 OR 274-7309. EMPLOYEES, IF YOU FIND IT, PLEASE CALL.

NO. 1 ADVERTISING STRATEGY

IS COMING FOR BIRTHDAY. PLEASE CALL 383-7284.

FOUND: lost purse by airport Laundry Tuesday night. Great stack of ClassIFIEDS and other junk. All items are yours if you pick them up Thursday. Call MME 285-2395.

FOUND: one gold charm bracelet between Alumni and 0ber. Call Mark at 1712 for possible D.

LOST: Black Patagonia w/hoodie and baby hat in Senior parking. Please call 383-7284.

LOST: The New Wood. HALL SMALL. Typeset TIMENTAL VALUE. PLEASE, IF YOU'VE SEEN IT, CALL 1127. LOST: Blue HAT. LOST: One ADVERTISING STRATEGIES text in Hurley. If you see it, please call 283-2999.

TYPING AVAILABLE 273-4233

PROFESSIONAL wedding planning and coordinating. Valerie is on the island. Call WES 273-4233.

LOST FOUND

HELP! I LOST MY FAVORITE NO. 19 ISLAND SINGLE NORMAN ROGERS, AROUND 10:30 PM TUESDAY NIGHT. AROUND THE GREENS IN THE LAKE AREA. PLEASE CALL DAVE OR KATHY AT 309-2071 OR 274-7309. EMPLOYEES, IF YOU FIND IT, PLEASE CALL.

NO. 1 ADVERTISING STRATEGY

IS COMING FOR BIRTHDAY. PLEASE CALL 383-7284.

FOUND: lost purse by airport Laundry Tuesday night. Great stack of ClassIFIEDS and other junk. All items are yours if you pick them up Thursday. Call MME 285-2395.

FOUND: one gold charm bracelet between Alumni and 0ber. Call Mark at 1712 for possible D.

LOST: Black Patagonia w/hoodie and baby hat in Senior parking. Please call 383-7284.

LOST: The New Wood. HALL SMALL. Typeset TIMENTAL VALUE. PLEASE, IF YOU'VE SEEN IT, CALL 1127. LOST: Blue HAT. LOST: One ADVERTISING STRATEGIES text in Hurley. If you see it, please call 283-2999.
The same thing with the faculty representatives and athletic directors. At the same time, we try to think of things in terms of the things that will enable you to keep your program alive financially. Things keep getting more expensive, and we're in a period now where there's not inflation so adding a lot of money to the cost of your ticket becomes a problem. People resent it because the inflation figures are not that high.

But the split between the schools playing Division I-A football means that the CFA's goal of a unified arena for discussing the issues confronting college football has never been realized, and the organization is now known more for its television negotiations. Corrigan, however, indicates that something else for achieving that goal is on the horizon.

"The fact that the university presidents of the Big Ten and Pac 10 would not allow their schools to be members of the CFA in many ways has dampened some of the enthusiasm for what the CFA is all about." Corrigan says. "Some people felt in the beginning that what they wanted to do was add more coaches, add more scholarships and add more money. That's not the case at all. The case is to make football better in every way. Again, the fact that those two conferences haven't joined really has been unfortunate because over and over I've had athletic directors from both those conferences say, 'Gee I wish we were in the CFA because we do need to meet and talk.'"

"This summer we had a meeting of all the athletic directors of the Division I-A schools, which was what the CFA was intended to be the first time around. We're going to have another meeting (at the end of this month), and we're going to see how it goes from there. That may be something good. The thing I'm interested in the most is getting all the schools together that have the same problems," Corrigan continues. "I don't think one group should be over here and another group over there. That doesn't make any sense to me. The NFL and AFL were wasting a lot of talent, and I think that's a powerful thing. I think we should be together and it's a powerful thing. We're not blaming the CFA for where we are. This new thing of having the athletic directors meet could be very influential in the future.

Still, the CFA has at least kept its smaller members in the television-revenue picture. Corrigan points out that Notre Dame could go it alone and do better financially than it does with the CFA, but that wouldn't be good for college football.

"I'd like to see all of the big schools together on the same page moving in the same direction for the good of college athletics and I think that's the critical thing," says Corrigan. "I don't want to get into the Big Ten, Pac 10 and CFA. Hey, we're all in this thing together. The sooner we bring ourselves together, the better off we're going to be."

Ryan expects a lot out of Lehman and the rest of the Irish as they run against Detroit Saturday on Burke Golf Course at 10:00 a.m. The Irish are looking to prove themselves at the dual meet. Each team has finished ahead of the other at one of its two previous matches.
Fallon leads ND tennis for 30th and final time

By GREG ANDRES
Sports Writer

Saturday, Oct. 4, will begin the end for Notre Dame’s winningest coach.

For the 30th and final time, head Coach Tom Fallon will be at the helm of the Irish women’s tennis team.

Fallon, through this season “in many ways is just like the first, moves up to you always try to do the best job you can.”

Fallon will showcase the 1986 Irish in the Notre Dame Invitational which takes place this weekend. The man whose name has become synonymous with tennis and winning, at Notre Dame will be looking to add to his 556 career victories.

And rightly so.

The Irish return six seniors from last year’s Eastern Collegiate Tennis Championship team. In addition, last year’s team placed second in a hard-fought bid for the Midwestern Cities Championship and compiled 26 wins against only nine losses.

What is even more impressive is that the Irish accomplished this with four freshmen.

Dan Reitter feels, as a sophomore, he has “more confidence going into the season having a year of experience behind me.”

Reitter commented that as a freshman, “I often fell intimidated playing against more experienced college players.”

Reitter will be joined by sophomores Todd Cahill, Tony Caahill and Tim Carr, occupying the top four slots for the Irish.

Walsh is the only senior on the Irish in the Notre Dame

Walsh, who has played tough all fall, will play No. 1 for the Irish a year ago. Walsh will be looking to get his name in the lineup. Right behind Walsh will be Todd Cahill, who will most likely see doubles action this season.

Playing doubles for the Irish will most likely be Wallace and Cahill, Carr and Reitter, Walsh and Boggs, and Cahill and Greir. But the challenges matches have yet to be completed.

Winning the season in the Invitational, the Irish will face Campbellville at the Western Michigan at 1 p.m. on Saturday, and Oral Roberts on Sunday at 1 p.m. Fallon

The Irish will most likely find Oral Roberts to be the biggest obstacle standing in the way of capturing their third consecutive national title. It was Oral Roberts which the Irish nipped, 5-4, on Carr and Walsh doubles and Walsh and Greir last year’s final. However, it was the same Oral Roberts team that deprived the Irish of the Midwestern Cities Championship in April. In this Saturday’s match with Oral Roberts, a strong Mid-America team, though, the Irish will be tough, according to Fallon.

Fallen enters his final season with a team that he feels is a “good bunch of players, who are anxious to play and eager to work.”

“I’ve been through this long enough to know that a lot of things you don’t anticipate, like an injury or bad brakes, can happen and throw off your whole schedule.”

We DO NOT CURE BALDNESS!
We help you grow thicker, healthier hair.
- The treatment after Blossom-
A new system of applying a medicated solution which is not a scalp treatment but an actual new concept in the manner of hair loss prevention. Call or write for information.

HAIR LOSS CENTER
702 LWW, Michigan
Ph: 288-4800

MICHIANA STABLES
Trail Rides • Pony Rides • Hay Rides
- Lessons - Boarding
U.S. 12 (East of Michigan City)
MICHIGAN CITY, IN 46360

Friday, October 3, 1986 - page 9

Mattingly sets Yankee hit mark; Mets pound Expos behind Gooen

Associated Press

BOSTON - Don Mattingly set the New York Yankees' single-season hit record with a double and single last night in a 6-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Mattingly singled in the seventh inning for his 232nd hit of the season, breaking the club record of 231 set by Hall of Famer Earle Combs in 1927. During a four-run fifth, Mattingly hit his 52nd double of the season.

Three-time American League batting champion, went 2-for-4 and his average stayed at .350.

Mets pitcher Bruce Hurst, 13-8, took the loss.

Mattingly, bidding to overtake Boston’s Wade Boggs for the American League batting championship, went 2-for-4 and his average stayed at .350. Boggs, hitting .357, set out the game with a hamstring injury.

Doug Drabek, 7-8, pitched three-hit ball for 8 1/3 innings. Drabek walked seven and struck out six.

Dave Righetti got the final out for his 44th save.

Buck Winfield went 3-for-5, including a triple and double with two runs batted in, in New York’s 15-hit attack.

Bruce Hurst, 13-8, took the loss.

Mets, Expos 2

MONTREAL - Dwight Gooden pitched a four-hitter over eight innings and set a standard for strikeouts as the New York Mets, with Gary Carter and Darryl Strawberry hitting homers, beat the Montreal Expos 8-2 last night for their record-tying 53rd road victory.

Drabek walked seven and struck out 10 before leaving the game in the ninth. Gooden finished the night exactly at 200 strikeouts while Rick Anderson came on to pitch the ninth.

Randy Johnson, 15-9, struck out 10 batters to also raise his season’s total over the 200-mark. Gooden finished the night exactly at 200 strikeouts while Rick Anderson came on to pitch the ninth.

With the victory, the Mets tied the National League record for most road wins set twice by the Chicago Cubs in 1972 and 1976.

Astros 2, Giants 1

SAN FRANCISCO - Bill Barbour led off the 10th inning with a solo homer to give Houston a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants in a game that saw all the Astros Mike Scott make a bid for his second straight no-hitter.

Will Clark ended Scott’s no-hitter with a lead-off double in the seventh inning and scored on Candy Maldonado’s double, giving the Giants a 1-0 lead.

Scott had a perfect game for 5-1/3 innings on the heels of his no-hit victory over the Giants Sept. 25 at Houston that clinched the NL west division for the Astros.

Keith Hernandez (17) and the New York Mets easily slid past the Montreal Expos by an 8-2 score in baseball action yesterday. More details on last night’s games appear below.

Special Hours for Saturday’s Game!

Come watch the Irish CRUSH the Crimson Tide.

Saturday, Oct. 4th
1:30 - one hour after the game

Pizza, Burgers, Brats
Big Screen T.V.

Cheer the Irish on to another victory.

(Must be 21)

AP Photo
Irish hope solid pitching continues in Bradley Fall Baseball Tourney

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Sports Writer

For Notre Dame head coach Larry Gallo, the fall baseball season has brought its share of good news and bad news. He hopes this weekend he will see an end to the bad news. Rain forcing game cancellations, and a second straight weekend of good news, the excellent pitching that has propelled the Irish to a 3-1 fall record.

Weather permitting, Notre Dame will face its sternest test of the fall tomorrow and Sunday in the Bradley University Fall Baseball Tournament at Peoria, Ill.

The Irish will meet St. Xavier and Bradley tomorrow, before facing Creighton and Lewis on Sunday.

"Creighton is an excellent team, Bradley is a good team, and Lewis and St. Xavier have small athletic programs where baseball is the kingpin," said Gallo. "We've got to get some good weather just to be able to get back to work on the things on which we've been concentrat­ing... Rain in South Bend already has forced the postponement of a Blue-Gold intra­season game scheduled for last Saturday, but players feel they still have had a productive fall season.

"Having the tarp to cover the field has really helped," said sophomore infielder Pat Pesavento. "We've gotten in as much as we could this fall with the weather being the way it is.... It's nice to have pitched nine scoreless innings this fall.

"We've had pretty good pitching," said senior left fielder Scott Rogers. "Our pitchers have worked really hard. At times our bats weren't doing the job, but I feel our hitting's coming around."

It appears Rogers will be one of three senior outfielders this spring, Ken Soos and John Loughran probably will fill the other starting slots.

The infiel situation, having lost two of last year's starters in Tom Shields and Rich Vanthour-nest, is much less certain.

The veteran Garrett also is im­pressed with O'Connor's atti­tude.

"He's a very talented runner," says Garrett. "And he pushes both himself and us during prac­tice. No one can stay with him."

Even though O'Connor seems to be out in front, the rest of the Irish squad is steadily improving.

"Mike is 100-percent cor­rect," said Plane. "We can't look to the future."

Instead Plane will look to today's meet and get a look at his team's potential and deter­mination in its last home meet of the year.

Today's race will start at 2 p.m. on the 16th fairway of the Burke Memorial Golf Course and will end on the 2nd fairway.

 Invite
continued from page 12

The veteran Garrett also is im­pressed with O'Connor's atti­tude.

"He's a very talented runner," says Garrett. "And he pushes both himself and us during prac­tice. No one can stay with him."

Even though O'Connor seems to be out in front, the rest of the Irish squad is steadily improving.

"Mike is 100-percent cor­rect," said Plane. "We can't look to the future."

Instead Plane will look to today's meet and get a look at his team's potential and deter­mination in its last home meet of the year.

Today's race will start at 2 p.m. on the 16th fairway of the Burke Memorial Golf Course and will end on the 2nd fairway.

"We've had pretty good pitching," said senior left fielder Scott Rogers. "Our pitchers have worked really hard. At times our bats weren't doing the job, but I feel our hitting's coming around."

It appears Rogers will be one of three senior outfielders this spring, Ken Soos and John Loughran probably will fill the other starting slots.

The infiel situation, having lost two of last year's starters in Tom Shields and Rich Vanthour-nest, is much less certain.

The veteran Garrett also is im­pressed with O'Connor's atti­tude.

"He's a very talented runner," says Garrett. "And he pushes both himself and us during prac­tice. No one can stay with him."

Even though O'Connor seems to be out in front, the rest of the Irish squad is steadily improving.

"Mike is 100-percent cor­rect," said Plane. "We can't look to the future."

Instead Plane will look to today's meet and get a look at his team's potential and deter­mination in its last home meet of the year.

Today's race will start at 2 p.m. on the 16th fairway of the Burke Memorial Golf Course and will end on the 2nd fairway.

"We've had pretty good pitching," said senior left fielder Scott Rogers. "Our pitchers have worked really hard. At times our bats weren't doing the job, but I feel our hitting's coming around."

It appears Rogers will be one of three senior outfielders this spring, Ken Soos and John Loughran probably will fill the other starting slots.

The infiel situation, having lost two of last year's starters in Tom Shields and Rich Vanthour-nest, is much less certain.

The veteran Garrett also is im­pressed with O'Connor's atti­tude.

"He's a very talented runner," says Garrett. "And he pushes both himself and us during prac­tice. No one can stay with him."

Even though O'Connor seems to be out in front, the rest of the Irish squad is steadily improving.

"Mike is 100-percent cor­rect," said Plane. "We can't look to the future."

Instead Plane will look to today's meet and get a look at his team's potential and deter­mination in its last home meet of the year.

Today's race will start at 2 p.m. on the 16th fairway of the Burke Memorial Golf Course and will end on the 2nd fairway.

"We've had pretty good pitching," said senior left fielder Scott Rogers. "Our pitchers have worked really hard. At times our bats weren't doing the job, but I feel our hitting's coming around."

It appears Rogers will be one of three senior outfielders this spring, Ken Soos and John Loughran probably will fill the other starting slots.

The infiel situation, having lost two of last year's starters in Tom Shields and Rich Vanthour-nest, is much less certain.

"We've had pretty good pitching," said senior left fielder Scott Rogers. "Our pitchers have worked really hard. At times our bats weren't doing the job, but I feel our hitting's coming around."

It appears Rogers will be one of three senior outfielders this spring, Ken Soos and John Loughran probably will fill the other starting slots.

The infiel situation, having lost two of last year's starters in Tom Shields and Rich Vanthour-nest, is much less certain.
Suddenly, the living room was flooded with light and the angry sounds of an engine being revved. And everyone knew — the cat was back.
Today, the Notre Dame men's cross-country team will play host to the Notre Dame Invitational. The race, one of the oldest and largest in America, figures to be a real challenge for the young Irish team.

One of the Notre Dame runners ready to meet this challenge, though, is freshman Mike O'Connor. O'Connor already has shown his collegiate running skill by placing fourth overall in the NCAA Cross Country Invitational. His time of 24:40 was exceptionally good given the wet course and the inclement weather.

Despite the youth of the team, O'Connor feels that it should concentrate on the present and not the future. "We have the talent to race well against anyone," O'Connor said. "But the responsibility of the guys on the team is very close. Once we get it together, we can win. With the talent we have we should talk about now and make our impact now."

In his high school, O'Connor made a definite impact in the 2000-meters with a time of 5:25, tying an American record, and he had a personal best of 4:08 in the mile. With performances like the last week's and his hard working attitude, O'Connor's presence will add greatly to the team.

"Mike is a tremendous worker," said Irish coach Joe Flane. "With Dan Garrett, Rick Mulvey, and Ron Markezich to push him, (O'Connor) is expected to be one of the best. He's more concerned with the team's performance than his own."

The Notre Dame men's cross-country team hosts the Irish Invitational this weekend, while the women's team is on the road to take on Detroit. Kelly Townsend previews the men at left and Theresa Kelly takes a look at the women at right.

Women's tennis keeps improving, heads north to play Michigan State

By SHEILA HOROX Sports Writer

What makes the members of the Notre Dame women's tennis team better players each time they step onto the courts?

The answer, according to Irish head coach Michele Dasso is competition, heart, and integrity. The team is committed to improving and improving each week. In that respect, the women's tennis team has not suffered from division III weakness.

Tomorrow, the Irish travel to Michigan for their first non-tournament match in three weeks. The mental preparation takes on a different perspective because each match, six singles and three doubles, represents a point in the team total. Tournament play, on the other hand, tends to promote individual play. "We've got to think as a team at Michigan State," said Dasso. "Every match is for the team and we need a total team effort this weekend."

Last year the Irish toppled Michigan State, 6-3, and Geifman feels that memory will serve as a distinct mental advantage for her team. Top to bottom the Irish have a stronger team than the Spartans, and Geifman hopes the team's depth will tip the scales in favor of the Irish in a match that could go either way.

In a tight match, the outcome might rest with the play of the doubles teams. The Notre Dame doubles pairs of Michelle Dasso and Stephanie Todtstedt, Natalie Illig and Alice Loher, and Tammy Schmidt and Julie Sullivan have worked extremely hard this year, strictly as it did, the NCAA was in violation of anti-trust laws. The result was that colleges were allowed to make their own deals with the networks. The CFA went one way, and the Big Ten and Pac 10 went another.

The problem - Notre Dame was one of the few members of the CFA that played a number of Big Ten and Pac 10 schools. The suit dragged on until 1984 when a compromise was reached, giving the home team the television rights when a CFA team played a member of the Big Ten or Pac 10.

But in retrospect, Corrigan is not sure the suit was good for college football at all.

The lawsuit, he said, "was left to Fr. Joyce and me. We would not have gone through with the lawsuit," Corrigan said. "Neither one of us felt that the suit was really all that wise. We were a little bit upset with the NCAA as everybody gets from time to time. The two of us would not have instigated it." The CFA, though, has proven to be a useful institution not only for Notre Dame, but for the rest of the college football world as well. Such topics as Proposition 48 were originally discussed by the CFA before the NCAA adopted the measures.

At a CFA meeting, you have the coaches, faculty reps, athletic directors and commissioners of all the schools, says Corrigan. "They come in and discuss matters of integrity and sanctions to try to find better ways to handle those issues. It's a very heartening thing to attend. To go into the football-coaches meeting and its created from the people talk about how the game can be better presented not only on the field, but how we can do a better job academically and every other way.

CFA was spurred on by efforts of Joyce and Notre Dame

By DENNIS CORRIGAN Sports Editor

(Editors note: Today The Observer completes its series on the College Football Association with a look at its impact on the colleges.)

Of the 63 schools comprising the College Football Association, none had as much impact in the organization's formation as Notre Dame. And the guiding force in Notre Dame's involvement was the chairman of the faculty board in charge of varsity athletics, Father Edmund Joyce.

"Father Joyce felt, as a lot of other people did, that the people who were controlling college football programs could have a place where they could go and talk about college football, the good and the bad," says Notre Dame Athletic Director Gene Corrigan, himself a major force in the CFA.

Joyce's dream has always been for college football to be as big as it is now but the CFA was spurred on by the efforts of Joyce and Notre Dame.

The Notre Dame women's tennis team has not suffered from division III weakness. Kathryn Lehman has proven her commitment to the Notre Dame women's cross country team.

Lehman, a junior from Akron, OH, and classmate Julia Merkel lead the Irish runners by example. Although she was battling illness early in the season, Lehman still managed to improve and put together a strong performance at the Illini­dale Invitational and the National Catholic Cross Country Championships.

"My best race was the team's time trial this year," Lehman says. "But the whole team is improving over past times."

In its first varsity season, the Irish team has generally improved over the club status teams of the past.

"We were dedicated as a club team," says Lehman. "People were there because they wanted to run."

The new status has cultivated that dedication. The team's endures more difficult workouts under Coach Dan Ryan. Practices were at 6:15 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. each day. In the season, the team usually runs six to ten miles per day in various warm-ups, long runs, and quarter- mile sprints.

Lehman began running cross country during her junior year at Lady of the Elms High School in Akron. She was her team's MVP twice and was also active in track and gymnastics. A year-round athlete at Notre Dame, Lehman runs both indoor and outdoor track in addition to cross country.

Women's team battles Detroit

By THERESA KELLY

Sports Writer

To run for fun and exercise is a lot of work. Running at the Division I varsity level requires dedication and commitment. Kathryn Lehman has proven her commitment to the Notre Dame women's cross country team.

Lehman, a junior from Akron, OH, and classmate Julia Merkel lead the Irish runners by example. Although she was battling illness early in the season, Lehman still managed to improve and put together a strong performance at the Illini­dale Invitational and the National Catholic Cross Country Championships.

"My best race was the team's time trial this year," Lehman says. "But the whole team is improving over past times."

In its first varsity season, the Irish team has generally improved over the club status teams of the past.

"We were dedicated as a club team," says Lehman. "People were there because they wanted to run."

The new status has cultivated that dedication. The team's endures more difficult workouts under Coach Dan Ryan. Practices were at 6:15 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. each day. In the season, the team usually runs six to ten miles per day in various warm-ups, long runs, and quarter- mile sprints.

Lehman began running cross country during her junior year at Lady of the Elms High School in Akron. She was her team's MVP twice and was also active in track and gymnastics. A year-round athlete at Notre Dame, Lehman runs both indoor and outdoor track in addition to cross country.