Arms control progress stalls as leaders dispute Star Wars

Associated Press

REYKJAVIK, Iceland - President Reagan and Mikhail Gor­bachev, reportedly on the verge of an agreement to destroy all their offensive nu­clear weapons over the next 10 years, ended their summit in disappointment Sunday over a dispute concerning the testing of American "Star Wars" technology.

The hangup involved the Soviet's insistence that re­search on the anti-missile sys­tem be confined to laboratory work. Reagan declared, "This we could not and will not do." Gorbachev said that he made "very serious, unprece­dent­ed concessions and ac­cepted compromises that are unprecedented." But he said there was a "truce" over U.S. insistence on being al­­lowed to test space weapons outside the laboratory. "Who was going to accept that?" he said. "It would have taken a madman to accept that."

The Iceland impasse was so complete that the leaders did not set a date for a third su­perpower meeting, and the fu­ture of arms control talks was left in doubt.

Gorbachev told reporters "the Americans came to this meeting empty handed," and top Soviet official Georgi Ar­batov described the summit here as "the dead end to which they (the Americans) have driven the whole issue of arms control."

Secretary of State George Shultz said the two sides had verbally agreed to slash long­range missile and bomber arsenals in half in five years and completely by 1996. In addition, they were prepared to eliminate all but 100 medium-range missiles on each side - including all those deployed in Europe - during the first five-year phase and the balance of those in 1996 as well. Shultz said. "A tremendous amount of headway was made," he told a news conference here. "But in the end we couldn't make it.

The problem: U.S. Insis­tence on proceeding with test­ing of the Strategic Defense Initiative ("Star Wars") with the idea of using it a decade from now as an "insurance policy" to prevent any enemy from launching a successful nu­clear strike, Shultz said.

Reagan was greeted at Andrews Air Force Base by his wife, Nancy. The twoentered Elvis building several times before boarding a helicopter for the ride to­gether back to the White House.

see SUMMIT, page 3

Arms control progress stalls as leaders dispute Star Wars

Special to the Observer

Notre Dame's memorial foun­tain honoring alumni war dead will be dedicated with a Mass at 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 17. The Clarke Memorial Fountain, named after the Chicago couple who provided the fund­ing, was built to commemorate the estimated 90 Notre Dame alumni who died in World War II, Korea, and Vietnam. Another memorial on campus com­memorates World War I alumni dead.

University President Father Theodore Hesburgh will be prin­cipal celebrant of the Mass, which will be said at the site. The Notre Dame band and Chapel Choir will participate, as well as contingents from the Army, Navy, and Air Force Reserve Off­icers Training Corps detach­ments on campus.

Representatives from area vet­erans and military groups have also been invited to join faculty, staff, and students in the obser­vance. The Mass will be preached by Monsignor Francis Sampson, assistant to the pres­ident for military affairs at the University. Sampson is a retired major general who served as the Army's chief of chaplains from 1967 to 1977.

Mrs. John Clarke in memory of her husband, a member of the Advisory Council for the College of Business Administration at the University until his death in 1983. Mrs. Clarke, a former offi­cer in the Army Nurse Corps, died in September 1983. A 1964 Notre Dame alumnus, Thomas Shuff of Lake Forest, III., gave the initial gift in 1983 that al­lowed planning of the memorial to begin.

The fountain's four arches, each of sand­colored limestone columns and caps, each of the columns is 20 feet high, five feet square and weighs 20 tons. The columns are capped by four 10-foot lime­stone pieces. Within each arch is a fountain. In the center of the pool, which forms the base of the memorial, is a 4-foot brown granite sphere. Three of the stone caps bear inscriptions identifying the wars in which Notre Dame alumni have served and died within the past forty-five years. A fourth bears the Latin In­scription "Pro Patria et Pacis," which means "For our country and peace."

Following the Mass, Father Hesburgh will bless the mem­orial, and remarks will be made by Lieutenant General Win­field Scott, Jr., superintendent of the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado. Scott graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1950 and subsequently received a master's degree in in­ternational law and relations from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. He was appointed to his current post in June 1983.

The dedicatory plaque, written by Father Hesburgh, ends with these words, "This is our prayer: that all living Notre Dame men and women dedicate themselves to the service of their country and world peace."

Rescuers search for quake victims

Associated Press

SAT SALVADOR, El Salvador - Rec­cuers digging through col­lapsed buildings pulled out three more survivors Sunday, but offi­cials said it was impossible to determine how many people remain buried following an earthquake that killed hundreds. Jose Morales Chavez, a Sal­vadoran Red Cross coordinator, said three more survivors were rescued from the wreckage of the Ruben Dario building.

Rescuers pulled at least 24 sur­vivors from that building and an­other that collapsed Saturday and worked through the night under the glare of lights in hopes of finding others. Aftershocks from Friday's quake meanwhile con­tinued to rock the city.

"It is impossible to say how many more are trapped," said Dr. Antonio Silva Camarasa, a member of a volunteer Guatemala rescue squad, as workers dug through rubble seeking more survivors.

There was no official casualty count.

The International Red Cross said in Geneva on Sunday that 350 people were killed and 6,000 injured, with 600 requiring hospitalization. It said about 30 people were still trapped under debris.

President Jose Napoleon Duarte said Saturday that at least 100,000 people were killed, 6,000 in­jured and many more believed trapped in the rubble.

The Red Cross said the homes of about 40,000 families were damaged, and that 20,000 people were left homeless.

The organization said immedi­ate medical needs have been met, and no epidemics are feared. It said electricity has been restored to about 60 per­cent of San Salvador, the capital. Telephone service is being res­tored and distribution of water has begun.

Many countries, including the United States and El Salvador's neighbors, Mexico and Nicaragua, pledged to send aid, including emergency supplies and rescue teams.

The downtown area and shan­bytowns on the outskirts of the capital were hardest hit. The presidential palace, the U.S. em­bassy, six major hospitals and several schools were severely damaged. At least seven major buildings collapsed.

Four American volunteers with trained dogs helped in the search for bodies, crawling with their animals through dark tunnels and passageways. It takes experience and some guts," said Caroline Rican, of Bernardville, N.J., who also helped in the rescue efforts in the Sept. 19, 1985, earthquake.

see QUAKE, page 4
Michael Langhome has been appointed to the position of assistant director of educational media at Notre Dame, replacing Albert Large, Jr., who resigned to become director of media services for the South Bend Community School Corporation. - The Observer

$46,900 has been granted to Saint Mary's as part of a curriculum-development award from Lilly Endowment, Inc., for the College's Writing Program. College President William Mickey has announced. Saint Mary's will use the grant to reduce teaching loads, develop a writing center and help to defray costs for outside consultants to teach faculty workshops. - The Observer

The International Union of Bricklayers and Allied Craftsmen, IAC, will hold its annual three-day leadership conference today. The conference will draw approximately 200 officers from U.S. and Canadian locals. IAC President John Joyce, a Notre Dame alumnus, will preside at the conference. - The Observer

Students do not read any newspaper other than The University Daily at Texas Tech, a readership survey showed. Half of those surveyed read nothing but the school paper, and the same number read a newspaper. - The Observer

An alligator at Walt Disney World campground attacked an 8-year-old boy Sunday, biting him on the left leg. The boy suffered only superficial cuts which according to his father do not require surgery. The 7-foot, 4-inch female reptile was shot by game commission agents. A Disney spokesman said that it was the first such attack at the sprawling theme park. - Associated Press

Riot gear was used by South Bend law enforcement officers Friday to remove an inmate from a cell in the County Jail after the inmate, Robert Reed, 27, and about 15 others refused to allow officers inside. Reed surrendered after about half the officers and two police dogs were called in to remove him. Soap was placed on the jail floor to make it slippery for officers. - Associated Press

The Big Chill continues with "Beyond" is on show through January 6 at Nadeau Hall's Carroll Auditorium at Saint Mary's. Everyone is welcome to this free talk. - The Observer

"New Class Theories and Beyond" is the topic of tonight's lecture. The lecture will be held at 8 p.m. In Room 124 of the Center for Social Concerns. The Hungarian-born Szelenyi is speaking as part of the Notre Dame Sociology Department's Distinguished Visiting Scholar Series. Szelenyi is the director of the Center for Social Research and Executive Officer of the Sociology of the Program of Graduate Study of the City University of New York. - The Observer

Hot Tamales on financial aid for undergraduate and graduate students are available in a free pamphlet offered to the public by the National Endowment for the Arts. The pamphlet, "Hot Tamales," presents important "Do's and Don'ts" to guide both inexperienced high school students and well-seasoned graduate students. To obtain the pamphlet, call toll-free: 1-800-USA-1221, extension 6101 or write to OPRC Hot Tamales, 2529 North Ridge, Chicago, IL 60617, specifying the need for undergraduate or graduate school aid information. - The Observer

Time can fly from your grasp if you don't learn to use it.

---

Celebrate Life!
Help the
March of Dimes
Fight Birth Defects

Wish your friends a Happy Birthday through Observer advertising. Call 239-5303 for details.
Reagan set to blame stalemate on Soviets

Associated Press

REYKJAVIK, Iceland - President Reagan will be attempting in a planned television address Monday night to convince the world that Soviet insincerence is a fault for the summit stalemate in Iceland and that his Star Wars program is worth the price of stalled arms reductions.

To protect his Strategic Defense Initiative, as Star Wars is formally known, Reagan apparently declined an agreement under which the superpowers would sharply reduce nuclear weapons over a 10-year period.

Star Wars, as his program is commonly known, did not exist as an arms control issue before Reagan unveiled it in March 1983 as a plan to use exotic weapons to knock out incoming strategic missiles.

But it emerged from the summit as the central issue in East-West relations, the issue the Soviet say is blocking accord in all fronts.

Reagan said that "While both sides seek reduction in the number of nuclear missiles and warheads threatening the world, the Soviet Union insisted that we sign an agreement that would deny to me and to future presidents for 10 years the right to develop, test and deploy a defense against nuclear missiles for the people of the free world."

This we could not and will not do," Reagan said as he began his journey back to the White House.

Three weeks before an American election day, Reagan will want to convince voters, members of Congress and allies that the Star Wars plan is worth the world-wide chill that could spread from his summit stalemate.

The Soviets presumably hoped to take advantage of the pre-election mood to get Reagan toward an agreement.

The first challenge could come from Democratic-controlled House of Representatives, which last week backed down from a vote freezing funds for Star Wars research and calling for America to join a Soviet moratorium on nuclear weapons testing.

The next challenge will come not to Reagan himself, but to the narrow Republican majority in the Senate, a margin that has been key to the administration's military and foreign policy.

But, the president said, "there remained at the end of our talks one area of disagreement. The Soviet Union insisted that we sign an agreement that would deny to me and to future presidents for 10 years the right to develop, test and deploy a defense against nuclear missiles for the people of the free world."

Shultz told reporters, "The two leaders just decided they were not able to agree. At that point, the two leaders, being unable to agree, adjourned."

But asked whether there would be another summit meeting between Reagan and Gorbachev, Arbatov said, "If the Americans do not change their position on this basic issue, I am afraid not."

Shultz said the leaders had "concluded generally on ways to deal effectively with intermediate range missiles," and had made progress toward an agreement on limiting underground nuclear tests, but that the potential agreements failed to materialize because all the parties were interested.

"It became more and more clear that the Soviet Union's objective was effectively to kill off the SDI program, and to do so by seeking a change in the ABM treaty that would so constrain research that it would not be able to proceed forcefully," he said.

"The president ... simply would not turn away from the basic interest of the United States' allies in the free world by abandoning this."

He said Reagan had been prepared to agree to a 10-year period of nonwithdrawal from the Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty, during which "the United States was prepared to do ... permitted by the ABM treaty."

Shultz said the Soviets insisted on "a change in the ABM (anti-balistic missile) treaty ... that would confine research and testing and development to the laboratory."

He added: "There is nothing in the APM treaty about that, so this would definitely be a change. They described it as a strengthening, but American officials found it unacceptable.
LaRouche records seized in raid

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Federal investigators, with more than two truckloads of sealed records to sort through, are focusing on obstruction of justice charges as they try to untangle political extremist Lyndon LaRouche's network of organizations.

After nearly two years of investigating what U.S. attorney Henry Hudson called "an organizational policy of fraud and bilking," the government last week raided LaRouche's Virginia headquarters and indicted several of his inner circle members, his fund-raisers and assorted corporations and committees.

The government provided a broad look at its case last week in persuading a federal magistrate to hold without bond two top LaRouche lieutenants facing obstruction charges.

That evidence touched LaRouche himself, who has not been charged but who prosecutors contend "dominates and controls" an organization charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice. It also shed light on what is one of the most bizarre political organizations ever-whose members, according to the FBI, make late-night harassing telephone calls to opponents and thought they could get CIA help to "spike" a federal fraud investigation of them.

LaRouche is a frequent fringe candidate for president who espouses a complex conspiracy view of the world that defies ideological labels, lumping the government, the capitalist system and drug dealers.

"It's like Watergate," said one source.

Mother Teresa's plane runs into crowd, kills 5

Associated Press

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania - Mother Teresa said her visit to Tanzania was partly to blame for the deaths of five people, killed when her plane crashed into a crowd of well-wishers just short of landing.

A plane carrying the Nobel Peace Prize winner, a second passenger and the pilot veered into the crowd in an aborted takeoff Saturday. A nun, two boys and two women were killed and two nuns were slightly injured.

Not all of the passengers could be trapped and still be alive, but we cannot know until we reach the plane." She boarded a private plane for Tabora on Sunday after visiting the two injured nuns.

``Women were rescued from the rubble of the presidential palace on the city's southern outskirts."

``One of the survivors, two children and a woman, were found buried under 90 feet of rubble on what had been the third floor of the Ruben Dario Building."

``We heard them," said John Carroll, deputy director of the Metropolitan Fire-Rescue Department, who helped supervise the slow, exacting rescue effort at the Ruben Dario Building.

``That's the way it always is," Carroll said. "We listen for the voices and start digging toward them, and sooner or later we can get to them, we can touch them, we can reach them, we can comfort them a little bit and keep them from losing it mentally until we can get them out."
Dear Editor:
I write to invite the Notre Dame community to the dedication of the Clarke Memorial Fountain October 17. We will celebrate a Mass and dedication at 4 p.m. at the Fountain site. While we have not had the opportunity to dedicate a Notre Dame Memorial Fountain? War? No. In the spirit of upcoming All Souls’ Day, it may be fitting to dedicate a memorial to those Notre Dame men who made the supreme sacrifice for their country.

All of these young men, like all of those here at Notre Dame, had their whole lives ahead of them. When their country called, they answered. In the agony of war, far from home and country, their lives ended. And so, at long last, we remember them here at Notre Dame where they all had gone and served the country so well.

The memorial was designed by two of the greatest living American architects, John Burgee, a Notre Dame architecture alumnus, and Phillip Johnson, who donated their services as an act of charity to these young men. Afloat three of the four twin columns are named the wars in which these men died: Korea and Vietnam.

The memorial was designed by two of the greatest living American architects, John Burgee, a Notre Dame architecture alumnus, and Phillip Johnson, who donated their services as an act of charity to these young men. Afloat three of the four twin columns are named the wars in which these men died: Korea and Vietnam.

On Memorial Fountain October 17, we will have our Respect Life Mass and Dinner this past weekend. We had hoped to commemorate Respect Life Sunday with this annual event, but due to the time constraints of the University’s administration, we were not able to do so.

It is an invitation to each of us to serve our country, and a prayer for our lives for our country and peace as well.

Now this is not the first postadolescent male here on "Our Lady's campus" to strut his homosexual stuff with this quaint tavern motto, attached or stenciled onto his clothing like some sartorial tattoo. But it is the last time I will accept the community without comment. For the tainted and impoverished sexual imagination expressing itself under the veil of such dim wit can only partially conceal the inmost anxieties and confused aggroression burdening the male shoulders needing to thus proclaim in public the "silent scream" that is their true text.

But the appropriate response to such vocalization is not why are you so disturbed? but rather: You are so disturbed - why? Here is an opportunity for our community of the most dedicated feminists, secular humanists, fundamentalists, liberals or conservatives forgotten to burn such textually offensive substitutes for the cultural script of a dying World. That script is, in fact, being subjected daily to increasingly skewed critique from all quarters.

What is needed here, as in every community, is not freedom of expression under the umbrella of fundamentalist, puritanical, perpetual enterprise. Is a loud and clear, full exercise of the free speech, a maximum number of respondents.

Trained for the exercise from preschool days, it is time for us to begin the Respect Life Mass and Dinner. "What's Wrong With This Picture" to the confused disseminators of such mess-ages. Gag orders - even when gagging on a so-called gag, are always a noxious prescription in a university. The healing authority has been, as well as the ill are always made worse by this pseudo-remedy that cures nothing, and no one.

Kris Murphy
President, Notre Dame/Saint Mary's Right to Life Group

Crude 'mess-ages' have no place at university

Dear Editor:
Concerning free speech and righteous restraint, topics recently featured in Observer reports and correspondence, consider the following local vignette: today I left the sidewalk past Decio and O'Shaughnessy Halls and onto the Engineering Building where his elevator key took him from sight. This person obvi­ously felt not only free, but quite clever, to communicate a crudely offensive message displayed on the back of his jacket in letters large enough for a kindergarten child to read: Liquor In The Front - Poker In The Rear.

Now this is not the first postadolescent male here on "Our Lady's campus" to strut his homosexual stuff with this quaint tavern motto, attached or stenciled onto his clothing like some sartorial tattoo. But it is the last time I will accept the community without comment. For the tainted and impoverished sexual imagination expressing itself under the veil of such dim wit can only partially conceal the inmost anxieties and confused aggroression burdening the male shoulders needing to thus proclaim in public the "silent scream" that is their true text.

But the appropriate response to such vocalization is not why are you so disturbed? but rather: You are so disturbed - why? Here is an opportunity for our community of the most dedicated feminists, secular humanists, fundamenta...
Altered

want to have a gorgeous wife and 10 kids. I want to leave a financial legacy worthy of kings when I die. I want to be part of history, to have enough money and power to back it all up. I want to wear the best clothes, and I want to be respected. I want to have thirty cars and a big dog. I want to retire at forty. I want to throw up a lot. I can’t believe I really want to be like that. It’s all so selfish and cold. It reeks of snobbery and irresponsibility. Oh, well. I always have my other dreams.

I want to be dirt poor. I don’t want a family to tie me down, and I don’t want anybody to know where I am or even if I’m still alive. I want to drive around the world on a motorcycle with a sidecar. I’ll drive the motorcycle, and I’ll keep all my earthly posessions in the sidecar. I’ll have a notebook, a pen, a basketball, and a live monkey named Koko. Koko and I will ride across America picking up beautiful women and looking real lonely and tough.

Koko will eventually eat too many bananas and croak. I’ll get a social disease and wreck my motorcycle. I’ll write the great novel, perhaps. I’ll write songs nobody willls songs about, and we’ll play them way too loud.

Taste of the tropics: Reggae band Ipso Facto visits Mitchell’s tonight

Special to The Observer

Next week Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s seniors may be sunning themselves in Jamaica, but tonight Jamaica comes to South Bend when the reggae band Ipso Facto performs at Mitchell’s Indiana University. The eight-piece, multi-racial band plays solid reggae bass and drum vocals, JuJu on bass and brother Micah as manager. They play UB40; Darda’s unique sound is apparent by the range of musical groups they’ve performed with. They’ve played the Black Musicians Award for “Best Reggae Group.”

Ipso Facto is one of the rare reggae bands to have a female drummer. The band was formed in 1983 by the talented McFarlane family featuring sister Jullia on drums, brother Wain singing lead vocals, Alu on bass and brother Mich as managers. They play original reggae tunes (Ipso Facto is Latin for actual fact) and chosen cover songs. Ipso Facto’s unique sound is apparent by the range of musical groups they’ve performed with. They’ve toured the southeast coast with UB40; opened several times for Steel Pulse opened for the Kinks, the Clash, Burning Spear, Black Jack and Third World.

The mayor of Minneapolis proclaimed September 1 “Ipso Facto Day.” In that city in honor of the band, which recently representing America at the 1986 Reggae Sunsplash music festival in Montego Bay, Jamaica.

The eight-piece, multi-racial band plays solid reggae bass and drum vocals, JuJu on bass and brother Micah as manager. They play UB40; Darda’s unique sound is apparent by the range of musical groups they’ve performed with. They’ve played the Black Musicians Award for “Best Reggae Group.”

Getting into the spotlight!

The Features Department of The Observer is looking for writers interested in art, theatre or movies. See the Features Editor for more information and application form.

Taste of the tropics: Reggae band Ipso Facto visits Mitchell’s tonight

Special to The Observer

Next week Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s seniors may be sunning themselves in Jamaica, but tonight Jamaica comes to South Bend when the reggae band Ipso Facto performs at Mitchell’s Indiana University.

In August, the Minneapolis-based Ipso Facto was the only American Reggae band to perform at the annual Reggae Sunsplash music festival in Montego Bay, Jamaica.

The eight-piece, multi-racial band plays solid reggae bass and drum vocals, JuJu on bass and brother Micah as manager. They play UB40; Darda’s unique sound is apparent by the range of musical groups they’ve performed with. They’ve played the Black Musicians Award for “Best Reggae Group.”

Ipso Facto is one of the rare reggae bands to have a female drummer. The band was formed in 1983 by the talented McFarlane family featuring sister Jullia on drums, brother Wain singing lead vocals, Alu on bass and brother Mich as managers. They play original reggae tunes (Ipso Facto is Latin for actual fact) and chosen cover songs. Ipso Facto’s unique sound is apparent by the range of musical groups they’ve performed with. They’ve toured the southeast coast with UB40; opened several times for Steel Pulse opened for the Kinks, the Clash, Burning Spear, Black Jack and Third World.

The mayor of Minneapolis proclaimed September 1 “Ipso Facto Day.” In that city in honor of the band, which recently representing America at the 1986 Reggae Sunsplash in Jamaica.

Ipso Facto has already won 10 Minnesota Music Awards, including the for “Best Ethnic Group” and the for “Best Reggae Group.”

Beginning in October Ipso Facto will be seen on national television singing the rockreggae song “No Cocaine” in a MTV public service spot, a national campaign against cocaine abuse.

Ipso Facto will be seen on national television singing the rockreggae song “No Cocaine” in a MTV public service spot, a national campaign against cocaine abuse.

Ipso Facto’s music can be heard on WYFE-FM 88 each Saturday night between 10 p.m. and midnight on the station’s “88 Reggae Street” program.
"A man can be destroyed but not defeated"

- Ernest Hemingway

Photographs and design by Greg Kohs
Panthers continued from page 12

I just felt fortunate that we were only down by six at the half with our field goal. The Panthers' best opportunity in the first half came when a Terry Andresky fumble was recovered by Steve Apke at the Notre Dame 37-yard line in the second quarter. The Irish defense came up big. We stopped the drive, driving the stop in three plays and then blocking Jeff Van Horne in the backfield.

Andresky started the game at quarterback for the Panthers, but did not attempt a pass as Steve Beuerlein stepped in and saw most of the action, completing 15 passes in 26 attempts by six interception.

Beuerlein and the Beuerlein started the offensive unit far more efficient in the second half of the game. It was the special teams releasing to cooperate.

"You look back and there are so many things," Holtz said. "But this game was a chance to see the third quarter was critical." Beuerlein led the offense on an impressive drive on that first possession of the second half, but it ended at Pittsburg's 40-yard line after Beuerlein threw a pass into traffic. The ball was deflected by defensive end Rusty Grouseman and wound up in the arms of Aple.

Panthers quarterback John Congemi then ailed the ball up in the third quarter and finally found a way to move it past Notre Dame defense, leading an 83- yard scoring drive that ended on a one-yard quarterback sneak. Congemi fumbled the game-affecting touchdown fumble, good for 310 yards. The Panthers' biggest threat of trying to get the team moving," Congemi said. I told our guys we were going to win. I never really had it in my mind that we were going to lose, but I didn't even think it if it was out of my hands.

With the score 7-6 late in the game, it was the Irish special teams which found the gap in the Panthers' line. A fullback driving the passing combination of Beuerlein and flanker Tim Brown, Carney put the Irish on top by hitting a 20-yard field goal with 4:49 remaining.

The Notre Dame defense then simply stopped Congemi and the Pan-

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer, Saint Mary's University, South Bend, Ind. All classified ads are available in the Observer. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3 p.m. Please call 272-3483...
Playoffs
continued from page 12
To replace the injured Tony Armas in center field, was the goal.

The Red Sox, who had blown a three-run lead in the ninth inning Saturday night in a stunning game won by Grich’s RBI single in the 11th, took a 2-1 lead into the sixth behind Bruce Hurst. With two outs, DeCinces doubled before Hurst worked a 1-2 count on Grich, who had struck out in his previous two at-bats. This time, Grich hit a long drive that Henderson seemed to take at second base.

Henderson leaped just short of the fence and got his glove on the ball, but his momentum carried his gloves above the wall and he bumped the ball loose and over the fence for a two-run homer.

Henderson threw his arms up in despair and Hurst knelt with his head down as Grich circled the bases triumphantly.

Mike Witt, who won Game 1, had cruised into the ninth with a 9-2 lead. But with the crowd of 64,225 screaming for the Angels to wrap up their first AL pennant, Bill Buckner opened the inning with a single.

One out later, Baylor homered over the left-field fence and cut the deficit to 5-4. Witt retired Evans on a popup, and then was relieved by left-hander Gary Lucas. But Lucas hit Icy Rice with a pitch, and relief ace Donnie Moore was summoned.

Henderson fouled off a 2-2 pitch before launching a drive over the left-field fence. Henderson danced down the first-base line and his teammates streamed onto the field to greet him while the crowd sat in shocked silence.

Kevin Bass and Jose Cruz. He had a 3-1 count on Ashby when the catcher hit a high popup toward the left-field.

Ray Knight, batted backadministered from his third base position with a decent chance of catching the ball for the third out of the inning. Instead, shortstop Rafael Santana, out of position to make the play himself, called Knight off at the last second, and the ball was dropped into some VIP boxes constructed especially for the playoffs. Ashby fouled off one pitch, then hit the next one into the visiting bullpen in left field for a 2-4 Houston lead.

Ashby had just seven home runs during the season. The Astros got their third run in the ninth inning when Thom homered to left with one out. Then, who had just three regular season home runs, hit an 0-1 pitch from Fernandez.

Fernandez was lifted for a pinch hitter after six innings, giving up three runs on just three hits. But two of them were homers. Wilson led off the Mets eighth with an infield hit behind second base before drove him home with a fly ball to medium-depth center field.

line and his teammates streamed onto the field to greet him while the crowd sat in shocked silence.

The Red Sox saw a chance to go ahead in the 10th when Ber- retti, who had burst into a scor- eout, took third on Dave Stapleton’s one-out single. But Rice, 4-for-22 in the series, grounded into an inning-ending double play.

The Angels played for the second straight day without first baseman Wally Joyner.
Mistakes
continued from page 12
ception dashed Notre Dame's hopes of victory.
It didn't appear that the Irish would even need a comeback in this game.
With 2:53 left, the Irish had a 9-7 lead and the ball. Two short runs and one incomplete pass later, the Irish were faced with a fourth-down and the punt unit came out. Pitt figured to get decent field position but it got a lot more.
Matt Bradley, one of a pack of Panthers that broke through the Irish line, tipped Dan McGillin at 12:05 into the opening period. Because the turf was slower than usual, however, there was no more scoring until the second half.
Fourteen minutes into the second period, though, Notre Dame's all-time scoring leader Corrine DiGiacomo tallied the...
Dear David Letterman,

Come home to Indiana and we'll name a parking lot after you.

Affectionately yours, The Notre Dame Student Activities Board
ND falls to 1-4 as Pitt rallies to 10-9 upset win

Pittsburgh quarterback John Congemi fires a pass over Notre Dame defenders Cordel Figgins (48) and Jeff Alm (60) Saturday's 10-9 Panther upset over the Irish. Although Congemi's 25-of-47 passing for 310 yards helped Pittsburgh to rally past the Irish, Notre Dame once again had a last-minute attempt at victory fall short. With the loss, the Irish record fell to 1-4. Details appear at right and below.

Two 9th-inning clouts key Sox to clutch win

The victory went to Steve Crawford, who pitched out of a bases-loaded jam with one out in the ninth and also worked the 10th.

Calvin Schiralid tagged with Boston's heart-breaking loss in Game 4, worked a perfect 11th for the save.

The Angels battled back against three Boston relievers to tie it 6-5 in the bottom of the ninth.

Trailing 6-5, Bob Boone led off with a single against Bob Stanley, Boone, 3-for-3 Sunday and 6-for-17 in the series, was replaced by pinch-runner Ruppert Jones, who took second on a sacrifice bunt.

Joe Sambito relieved Stanley, and Willitt grounded his first pitch just beyond the reach of second baseman Marty Barrett. Jones was running all the way and slid home safely, just ahead of right fielder Evans' strong throw to Gedman.

Dick Schofield then greeted Crawford with a single that sent Williams to third, and Brian Downing, who intentionally walked to load the bases.

Dwight Evans singled Baylor to second and Rich Gedman's fourth hit of the game, a bunt single, loaded the bases. Henderson followed with his sacrifice fly to medium-deep center.

The victory was already in the third such situation this year, and it had all the same characteristics as the first two heartbreakers: the long drive, with just precious few ticks left on the clock aborted by mistakes that spelled defeat.

Against Michigan in the season opener, the Irish stopped the Wolverines to give the offense a chance to get the winning score with 1:53 left in the game. A couple of big plays moved the ball 45 yards to the Wolverine 29-yard line.

But the Irish movement stopped there. A penalty for incompletions and a short gain forced the Irish to try a 45-yard field goal that missed.

Michigan State provided the Irish with a chance to redeem themselves the very next week.

Once again, errors spoil comeback

The Irish movement stopped there. A penalty for incompletions and a short gain forced the Irish to try a 45-yard field goal that missed.

Michigan State provided the Irish with a chance to redeem themselves the very next week.

After pulling to within five points with a touchdown on its previous drive, Notre Dame got the ball again with 2:37 left on the clock. The Irish got a first down on a third-and-sixteen play and, with the aid of a roughing-the-passer penalty, moved to the Spartan 31-yard line before Todd Krumlin's in.

The Observer / Greg Kehl