Reagan told by senators to get facts, take initiative

Associated Press

WASHINGTON -- From friend and foe alike, President Reagan is getting the same advice: take the initiative and get all the facts out about the tangled dealings by members of his administration in sending arms to Iran and money to Contras.

"He needs to get on top of it," Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas said on Sunday. "It's not going to go away." What steps Reagan takes could determine whether he comes out of this crisis able to govern effectively or whether the nation will watch the president struggling to survive a controversy he allowed to get out of control.

Reagan was back at the White House after a Thanksgiving holiday at his California ranch. He returned vowing to "do whatever we have to get to the bottom of this." The Sunday interview shows on the television networks reflected the high degree of skepticism and concern among Republicans and Democrats about what has been disclosed so far.

And while most members of Congress were reluctant to speculate on who might have known more than they now are admitting, two Republicans suggested that Vice President George Bush should have known.

"I don't know," said Richard Lugar when asked if he thought Bush knew. "I presume he should have known," the Republican senator from Indiana added on "Meet the Press." Lugar is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Reagan reiterates he knew nothing of Contra connection

Associated Press

WASHINGTON -- President Reagan ordered his National Security Council staff Monday not to conduct diplomatic, military or intelligence operations while a review board investigates the agency's role in the secret sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of profits to Nicaraguan rebels.

Assuring that "I want all the facts to come out," the president also said he would welcome appointment of a special prosecutor if recommended by the Justice Department to investigate possible wrongdoing.

And he reiterated that he had known nothing about the secret transfer of up to $50 million to the Nicaraguan rebels, known as the Contras. In a statement to his press spokesman in response to questions from reporters, Reagan said: "You can tell them flat out that I had no knowledge whatsoever of it until (Attorney General) Ed Meese briefed me on it Monday afternoon." Nov. 24.

Gripped in the gravest crisis of his administration, Reagan met with a three-member review board headed by former Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas to be charged with the task of investigating NSC staff operations.

Meanwhile, the Senate Intelligence Committee went behind closed doors to begin its own investigation of the Iran-Contra affair.

A committee member, Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., said former national security adviser Robert McFarlane should be censured under oath during the afternoon.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration would "object" to key figures in the case testifying before Congress. However, he said that legislation that constitutes advice to the president "could come under the claim of executive privilege" and might be withheld.

White House and congressional leaders debated a proposal from Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas for the president to call Congress back in town to form a Watergate-style investigative committee.

Reagan said the idea was "under discussion and there's been no decision yet. But we want to work with the Congress."

At the White House, Reagan gave marching orders to the review board composed of Tower, former Democratic senator and onetime Secretary of State Edmund Muskie, and Brent Scowcroft, who was national security adviser in the Ford administration.

Promising full cooperation from the White House and all agencies of the executive branch, Reagan told the commission:

"I want to assure you and the American people I want all the facts to come out -- about learning of a possible transfer of funds from Iran to Contras, to those fighting the Sandinista government in Nicaragua."

"I want to assure the nation we will take the actions we take and the information we obtain, with the American people and the Congress."

Low student interest cancels spring semester in Jerusalem

By JOE MARKE

Staff Reporter

Lack of student interest is responsible for suspended operation of the 1987 spring semester of Notre Dame's foreign study program in Jerusalem, according to Isabel Charles, director of foreign study programs.

"Only three students signed up. We need at least ten or more students to participate in order to run the program," she said.

Charles said the program will be reopened next fall if the minimum enrollment of ten students can be met.

Sikh terrorists kill total of 32 Hindus

Associated Press

NEW DELHI, India - Hindus rioted and Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi pledged "tough and strong action" against Sikh terrorists Monday, the day after four gunmen pulled Hindus off a bus in Punjab and killed 24 of them.

Police said Sikh militants killed eight more people in Punjab state Monday. Sikh extremists, who want independence for Punjab, killed 24 Hindus in a similar bus hijacking July 25. Paramilitary troops were ordered to patrol New Delhi during a general strike called for Tuesday by an opposition Hindu political party. Strikes also were scheduled in the Hindu-dominated states of Haryana and Kashmir near to Punjab, which has a Sikh majority.

Shops were closed Monday by general strikes in towns and cities throughout Punjab. Clashes between Sikh and Hindu youths were reported in Jallianwall, but police said no serious injuries resulted.

About 3,000 Hindus rioted and threw stones on the edge of New Delhi. Police fired shots into the air and lobbed tear gas to scatter the crowds.

Officers said they arrested 100 people for trying to block traffic on the main ring road around the capital. "There is a lot of tension in the city, but we are keeping a watch on things," said Police Commissioner Ved Marwah, who prohibited public gatherings for four days.

Near Parliament, police hauled away 200 supporters of the opposition Janata Party who held a non-violent protest against the ban. They were released later.

The lower house of Parliament was adjourned briefly because members shouted "We want action!" and demanded the resignation of Home Minister Bata Singh, the chief law enforcement official.

Gandhi appealed in Parliament for all Indians to be "careful and good people down." He said "a concrete plan" of strong action had been devised to combat Sikh extremism, but did not elaborate.

Techinicolor in old movies makes some people see red

I can't understand why so many people are upset about this business of coloring black and white films. This new process will enable us to see classic oldies like "It's a Wonderful Life" in vibrant technicolor. It's a miracle of modern technology. I'm all for technology and progress. After all, technology and progress brought us color movies in the first place. Imagine the initial impression on the 1930's audience of "Gone With the Wind." Color movies became the rage, black and whites became a sad remnant of the distant past.

Who watch Jimmy Stewart wander through drab, black and white Bedford Falls when you could see Atlanta collapse in a fury of red and orange flames? Why see Humphrey Bogart say "Here's lookin' at you, kid" in the gray, uncolored setting of Casablanca?

Those who protest the idea of colorization should be thankful for its implementation. God willing, we'll get all those embarrassing oldies switched over to glorious color before our grandchildren have the chance to laugh at the primitive form of black and white cinema.

Recently I read that the same computer process involved in colorization can add much-needed features to those outdated actors of the archaic black and whites.

Now computer wizardry can put facial hair here and remove a bald spot there. Shelia might look interesting with a red toupee in "A Miracle on Thirty-Fourth Street." We could remove Clark Gable's mustache and give it to Gary Cooper. I always thought Claudette Colbert would look good with a beard. Why not?

Why indeed? Now that we're coloring old films, why don't we change them completely? We could modernize the set of "High Noon" by smashing a few microwop skyscrapers behind the dusty Western buildings.

We could let King Kong and black and whites become a sad remnant of the black and white films. I'm willing to sell a black and white film for a red one. I'm sold.

$1 investment could return $100 in ND's Mock Stock Market game

By CAROLYN GILLESPIE

Staff Reporter

Invest $1 with the hopes of winning $100 in a low-risk, low-cost chance to learn about Wall Street investments.

Play the Notre Dame Finance Club's Mock Stock Market, which began on November 17 and will run until March 13. An executive committee headed by senior finance majors Jim Vizzini and Erin Jilek is in charge of this year's game, which is open to all Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students and faculty.

"The main objective of the game is to gain hands-on experience and a knowledge of how the stock market works at no risk," said Vizzini. "It is a great opportunity to learn about various types of investments, especially for those without any type of business background," he said.

For a $1 entry fee, which will be collected at a later date, each entrant is given a Cash Management Account with $100,000. This money is automatically invested into a tradeable money market fund earning a fixed yield of 8%.

Stocks, bonds, mutual funds and options may be bought and sold during the market hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with the purchase or sale price for any security trade being the last closing price reported by the Wall Street Journal for the previous day.

Enrollment and trade forms are located on the second floor of Hayes-Healy in front of the Finance Office. Trade forms will be collected on a daily basis, and enrollment is allowable any time during the game's running. A maximum of 250 portfolios may enter, with one portfolio per person or team.

The portfolio with the best after-tax return on their initial $100,000 investment will win the first prize of $100. A second prize of $50 and a $25 third prize will also be awarded.

"The difference between this year's game and those in the past is a software package that was donated by a well-known and well-respected brokerage firm," said Vizzini. "This software will be used on the IBM PC and taken into account commissions, taxes, accrued interest and dividends," he said.

The information from the trade orders is input by the committee at the end of each week.

According to Jilek, the Mock Stock Market "is more comprehensive this year than in the past because it is running for a longer span of time. The idea is to hold various investments over a longer period of time rather than just practicing pure market speculation."

North building air resupply wing for Nicaraguan rebels, officials say

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Senior Reagan administration officials knew that a now-fired White House aide was building an American-manned air resupply wing this year for the Nicaraguan Contra rebels, according to government sources.

Lt. Col. Oliver North, dismissed last week for what the administration says was his role in diverting to the Contras as much as $30 million in Iranian arms sale proceeds, arranged the purchase of a five-plane air force and delivery of military supplies to the Contras, said the sources, who insisted on anonymity.

An administration official said an internal White House review of the Contra resupply operation found that the Iranian payments were used to pay for the air wing.

North's role in both the Contra resupply operation and the Iranian arms deal raises questions about what President Reagan and other top advisers knew about the Iran-Contra connection.

U.S. government officials, familiar with the North operation, said that although the Iranian-Contra link was a closely held secret inside the White House, North's management of the air operation was known to officials in the State Department, Pentagon, CIA and the National Security Council.

"Everyone knew something was going on down there and that Ollie (North) was doing it," one official said.

In explaining North's firing from the National Security Council staff last Tuesday, Attorney General Edwin Meese said only North "knew precisely" about the Iran-Contra connection and his boss, national security adviser John Poindexter, who resigned, "did know that something of this nature was occurring."

But congressional investigators have begun examining how an operation as large as the Contra air resupply mission, based at El Salvador's Llopango military airport in clear view of U.S. military advisors, could have been funded from Iranian arms sales without Reagan and other top officials knowing.

The air resupply operation came to light Oct. 5 when an American-manned C-123K cargo plane was shot down over southern Nicaragua while flying guns to the Contras. Two Americans were killed and one crewman, Eugene Hasenfus, is now a prisoner of the leftist Nicaraguan government.

Documents recovered from the plane and interviews with principals show that the Llopango operation was a major resupply effort, involving more than 100 flights dating back to early 1986. Reagan secretly authorized U.S. arms sales to Iran in January.

Workers continue to build concrete wall around Soweto

Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - A concrete wall is being built around parts of Soweto. The government said Sunday the barrier would not enclose the entire black township, but workers building the wall contradicted this.

Construction began last week, but there was no official announcement.

Andrana Andersen, a spokesman for the government Bureau for Information, said the wall was designed to block children and animals from running onto a major highway which curves around an area of Soweto called Diepkloof.

She said the wall would not enclose the entire township, which covers 38 square miles near Johannesburg and is home to about 1.7 million blacks. She said the wall so far extends several hundred yards and is about 7 feet high.

The Sunday Star, an independent English-language newspaper, quoted workmen at the site as saying they were told the wall was meant to enclose the entire township.

Three black townships around the Indian Ocean city of Port Elizabeth have been fenced off by barbed wire for months, with access to the townships possible only through checkpoints manned by the security forces.

Preservation of human life is our duty

Dear Editor:

On Dec. 6, the first annual Respect for Life Mass and Dinner will be held on the Notre Dame campus. I encourage all of you to attend and to support these significant events at the University.

The respect for human life from the moment of conception to the time of death is the responsibility of all of us. It is important that we take the occasion of this Mass and dinner to reflect upon this issue and to re-commit ourselves to the protection and preservation of this gift from God. We can do no less than to preserve what is most sacred and most human.

Let us join together as the Notre Dame family on Dec. 6 to celebrate human life and our commitment to it.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.
President, University of Notre Dame

Everyone must respect holiness of life

Dear Editor:

I wish it were possible for me to be present for your celebration at Eucalyptus and dinner on Dec. 6. Although a long-standing commitment will have me in Atlanta, Georgia on that day, I shall be with you in spirit as you celebrate. Let us join together as the Notre Dame community in saying mass and dinner Dec. 6.

We have worked very hard in preparing for this Mass and dinner. I can't imagine that the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community isn't ready to show their support for life. We urge everyone to attend the Mass and offer prayers for life with us. And we hope many will come to the dinner and meet faculty and townspeople who have actively worked to fight the great evil of abortion.

Bishop D'Arcy is coming to say the Mass, and our speaker for the dinner is the United States Assistant Deputy Attorney General. Prof. Douglas Kmiec is another great speaker that has been lined up, too.

It will be embarrassing if the turnout is small for this will suggest that this community is apathetic in its commitment to defending the lives of innocent human beings. We really need students to turn out in large numbers and buy tickets today in the dining hall or their last chance to obtain tickets.

The Mass will be at 3 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church, and the dinner will be in the North Dining Hall at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 6. Student tickets are $8, Faculty tickets are $10 (call 5825 for reservations).

Before Contra time. The Church in Nicaragua is divided and the higher number of priests today is made up of those who subscribe to liberation theology, which has no conflict with man being made subvertive to the state. These are specifically imported priests to train others in their views and ultimately engulf the hierarchical Church, led by Cardinal Obando y Bravo, who is still the most popular man in Nicaragua.

It is not surprising that Ramirez would call those who oppose his government Somocistas; under the Sandinismo banner you are either friend or foe. Ironically, it is Ramirez who has the best Somocista credentials, which cannot be said of any of the Contra leaders Calero, Cruz and Robelo. His apologologies to the Somozas in the newspaper "Poliendo" are still well remembered in his homeland of Masatepe as an old Masatepeño lawyer told me just recently.

Ramirez did not deny what I said about his parents and himself, he said that he had not come to discuss his family, but this may have been too subtle for the reporter present there that day. My conscience is at ease for I know I have told the truth; I have no fear.

Tucked away in the basement of the Administration Building, the tiny Office of Financial Aid quietly processes thousands of forms and appropriates millions of dollars each year. Two-thirds of the Notre Dame student body make use of some kind of financial aid, and a great majority of these students are processed through this office.

Amazing enough, for the amount of money that is handled, the Office of Financial Aid is essentially a system of manual filing; there is only limited computer assistance. Regardless, this office can provide the most up-to-date financial information needed to set up a financial plan for any student demonstrating monetary need.

The staff must serve as counselors, public relations officers and finance experts and must stay on top of all new legislation that may change the funds they receive and the qualifications necessary to distribute them.

They try very hard to keep a "personal touch" in the often confusing sphere of financial aid.

"To see financial aid as both an art and a science," says Joe Russo, director of the Office of Financial Aid, "We try to use compassion and understanding... rather than just formulas and boxes."

The art and science of financial aid

ROBIN SQUYRES

Financial Aid: the words bring to mind visions of greedy government officials gleefully enticing innocent college students to sign their earnings away for educational loans. Thereafter, the victims are hounded down for the impossible payments until their dying day. Scenes of hundred-page forms, which, if even one box is missed, will be sent back with a huge REJECT stamped across the cover become common nightmares.

It doesn’t have to be this ugly. You don’t have to wander through the halls of financial aid in aimless confusion, quizzifying your notion on every government door you try to open. You, too, can enjoy the benefits of financial aid.

Here is a behind-the-scenes look at the powers which influence the aid available to students. It’s the origins of the current machinery of the mechanics of the financial aid system at Notre Dame.

Financial Aid Forms

If you are interested in researching the possibilities of financial aid, your first step is to submit the Federal Aid Form (FAF). This is a long-winded government form which merely creates a financial profile of a student and his family. Forms are available at the Office of Financial Aid.

The results of the FAF, along with other family circumstances, are reviewed by the financial aid staff at Notre Dame. They will determine need on the basis of the above qualifications.

The Office of Financial Aid is not the primary policymaker in the area of student financial aid, however. Since the federal government funds many of the aid programs, the government determines the qualifications for those it will give money to.

The Reagan myth

It is often heard that Reagan has drastically reduced student aid but this is not an accurate picture. The truth: first, Reagan has restricted eligibility. Before the Reagan administration, Rockefeller’s son could have gotten government aid for schooling. Rather than institute an expansive selective program determining need eligibility, past administrations have allowed money to flow restriction-free. They did not anticipate the tremendous increase of demand for governmental student aid. Consecutive administrations have not unrestricted program became an enormously draining system that obviously needed some limitations. Cost of student aid dropped 25 percent when Reagan came into office.

Second, Reagan has "stabilized" the money the government offers for financial aid programs; that is, he has not increased the amount allotted, but he has not decreased it either. It can be argued that this is the same as a reduction since a "stable" amount will not rise to match inflation, but since fewer people are qualified for aid, the money available can be concentrated on those who need it rather than freely distributed.

New legislation

A few weeks ago major legislation was passed by Congress that will affect student aid. The "Education Amendments of 1986", contain good news and bad news. Impoisite: If your family amount a student can borrow has increased. The bad news: Eligibility has once again been reduced. New legislation, as well as other governmental regulations, sets the ground rules for the Office of Financial Aid.

After identifying a student as qualified for aid, the financial aid staff determines what the student’s family can realistically contribute, and then attempts to assist with the remaining expenses.

Gifts and scholarships

There are three general types of aid to students in college: aid is gift aid which does not require repayment, aid given in the form of scholarships. The University itself offers scholarships to students in recognition of exceptional excellence, but only to students who demonstrate a definite need.

The Pell Grant is aid from the federal government which could range from $250 to $2100. The government also offers supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, which are intended to "supplement" other forms of aid that a student may have.

Several states have their own scholarship programs and milli-

Financial aid horror stories may be few in number in regard to Irish students at Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s whose education costs are successfully covered by monetary support, but this does not demon the serious of some economic crises.

Some students have suffered from the intricacies of the financial aid process and the impersonality of being reduced to a file bunching with forms and applications. Despite the fact that the Offices of Financial Aid claim to encourage questions to raise the individuality of this formal process, select student experience often nullify this claim.

The Interactions of two sophomores with the Office of Financial Aid at Notre Dame is characteristic by severity and hardship. One student was instructed to the Office of Financial Aid and asked to pay her entire bill before enrollment for the second semester last year.

She attempted to explain the gravity of her financial situation, but her finance officer remained unresponsive and all-

Another sophomore was treated similarly. Between last year and this, she had accepted a cruded a bill of $300. Without notice, payments for the second semester were add, increasing the amount to $700. She was instructed to pay this amount in full, or she would for-
Tips for Financial Aid

The system of Notre Dame's Financial Aid helps record students' financial needs without use of a large computer system.

Joe Russo, director of the Office of Financial Aid, advises: "First exhaust all the normal routines." In other words, don't start your search by calling a number from the National Enquirer which promises you untold millions.

WorkStudy Program

This is the College WorkStudy Program. The University offers various on-campus employment opportunities to students demonstrating financial need.

The Office of Financial Aid will work with a student and often will create a package, or a combination of the above sources, that will best suit the student's needs.

Avoiding pitfalls

On the quest for financial aid, there are definite pitfalls to be avoided. Slick advertisements promising personalized lists of possible aid sources are often a complete waste of time, and more importantly, money. "HOT Tips for Financial Aid," "Student Loans Now Available up to $1,000,000" sort of deals should not be taken as a probable source of aid.

Bowman had received a Guaranteed Student Loan her three previous years in school amounting to $2500 each year, but this year she has not yet received the necessary aid. She went to her finance officer defining her problem; she could only pay the balance of her education with a loan. Then, almost six weeks later, she received a bill for $1100 which she cannot pay, and has not yet. Her complaint is not directed at the impersonality of the system, rather she is distressed by the difficulty of attaining necessary aid and the complexity of all the forms.

These students have valid complaints against the Offices of Financial Aid at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's for their impersonality, harassment and mechanical errors. Although their numbers seem insignificant when juxtaposed with the tremendous success of the dealings of each office with a large number of students, the mere recognition of such problems could only improve the system.

Women's basketball drops season opener to Rutgers, 71-50

By DENNIS CORRIGAN

Notre Dame women's basketball coach Mary DiStanislao tried an old Notre Dame psyche tactic Saturday afternoon against Rutgers. But to her dismay, DiStanislao found that an older cliché still applies as her Irish lost to the No. 6 Lady Knights, 71-50.

"There you have it," said DiStanislao when informed of the number of turnovers her squad had. "The two things we worked on before the game were the transition game and protecting the ball. We didn't do either."

Behind the strong inside game of all-American Sue Wicks, the Lady Knights were able to convert numerous Irish miscues into easy buckets. Wicks finished with 24 points, a career-high 20 rebounds (nine on the offensive glass) and four blocked shots. As a team, Rutgers outrebounded Notre Dame, 50-40.

The Irish warmed up in their regular home white uniforms, but came out of the locker room wearing new gold uniforms. Behind the strong inside game of all-American Sue Wicks, the Lady Knights were able to convert numerous Irish miscues into easy buckets. Wicks finished with 24 points, a career-high 20 rebounds (nine on the offensive glass) and four blocked shots. As a team, Rutgers outrebounded Notre Dame, 50-40.

The Irish started off in good shape, jumping out to a 4-2 lead in the first minute of the ballgame. After a Rutgers time out, however, it would be over eight minutes before Notre Dame scored again. The Lady Knights went to a full-court press which resulted in three straight layups for Telicher Austin.

The Irish battled back to cut the deficit to 26-18 at the half. But from there, it was the Sue Wicks Show. The Irish had held the 6-2 forward to just four points in the opening half, but behind an assortment Of Wicks shots and rebound outlets in the second half, the Lady Knights bolted to a 41-22 lead with just under 12 minutes left to play. With both Sandy Botham and Beth Morrison (who started in place of Heidi Buneck, who is recovering from pneumonia) in foul trouble, The Irish could not offset the strong inside play of Wick and teammate Regina Howard. Howard finished with a game-high 25 points and 12 rebounds.

IRISH ITEMS - Irish guard Mary Gavin had three assists against Rutgers, moving her just two behind Laura Dougerty's career mark of 326.

consecutive points over the last 12 minutes of the contest, after USC had scrapped and clawed its way to a 37-20 lead.

The furious Irish assault began at this point, with Beuerlein (18 completions, 27 attempts, 265 yards) linking up with Jackson on a 20-yard pass, the second going 42 yards for the touchdowns. Jackson even caught a subsequent two-point conversion attempt, although it was nullified by an illegal motion penalty. Despite this setback Carney managed to get one point to put the Irish back in the game at 37-27 with 11 minutes left to play.

"We kept believing," said Beuerlein. "The offense had so much confidence today, and we knew if the defense could hold, we'd keep fighting until we won it."

It took a little while, but eventually the Irish defense did hold, stopping the Trojans in dramatic fashion on a fourth-and-inches from the Notre Dame five-yard line. On the play, which concluded a 66-yard march built on a relentless ground attack, USC quarter back Rodney Peete (10-of-23, 171 yards) was met on the sneak by Kleine, Kovaleski, and a wall of white. "I thought I had made about a yard and a half," argued Kovaleski. "We anticipated the sneak when we saw him looking going to go over, and we stopped his momentum. He twisted, but it was over once we stopped his momentum."

The Irish defense certainly stopped Southern Cal's momentum with that play. Up to that point, USC had been running well for 193 yards on 33 plays for 57 yards in the second half.

This was in sharp contrast to the first half, when saw Notre Dame play well only to give up 17 points on big plays. Southern Cal's Rod Braxton (son of the ex-baseball star by the same name) made the biggest play, racing 58 yards for the touchdown after stepping in front of an unwisely-thrown Beuerlein pass, while Trojan kicker Don Shafer made the most outstanding, two-point conversion, a school-record 69-yard field goal before the half to forge the 39-35 halftime margin.

Still, these feats just weren't going to be enough on a day when Notre Dame was not to be denied. With the ball on their own 20-yard line and down by 10 points late in the game, Beuerlein and crew went back to work, this time marching 80 yards in eight plays for the game-winning touchdown. Beuerlein hit back-to-back passes for 49 yards to the 16-yard line, where six plays later, Beuerlein hit a streaking Braxton Banks for a five-yard touchdown.

Irish tight end Andy Heck then took a Beuerlein pass at the one-yard line and fought his way into the end zone for the all-important two-point conversion that made it 37-36 in favor of the Trojans.

Still more greatness was to come from Brown, though, after the defense wrapped up Southern Cal in three plays to force them to punt the ball away one last time. Brown, who had raced back a kickoff 23 yards earlier in the half to set up the second Irish touchdown (a 22-yard Beuerlein pass to Banks), was inserted by Holtz into the punt-return team.

Brown, of course, made Holtz look like a genius, freeing himself from the grasp of Trojan tackler Ernest Spears and racing 56 yards down the right sideline to the Southern Cal 15-yard line.

"I just wanted to make sure I caught the ball," smiled Brown, "and after that it was just watch the blocks. The guys did a great job."

Riding the wave of emotion, Notre Dame then ran the ball down the goal line, setting up Carney's chip-shot game winner. Appropriately, it was Carney who sealed the victory. The senior kicker missed the potential game-winner in the Michigan game, a contest in which the Irish back on the road to gridiron excellence.

"We played better this year than I had any right to expect," said Holtz. "We just had to learn how to come back and win."

Saturday, ten games after the bitter opening defeat to Michigan, the Irish crossed the perhaps the final bridge.

number-one, when he soared eight yards through the Trojan defense. On the day, Green picked up 119 yards on 24 carries, the best day of any Irish back this season.

"I ran hard, felt great, and was just real pumped up," said Green. "I've been thinking about it all year. To come down today, to beat up on USC in front of the hometown fans and my family is fantasti"c."

I thought USC played an outstanding game," said Holtz. They were well-coached and well-prepared.

Irish ‘homecoming’ sacks Trojans

By MARTY BURNS
Assistant Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES - All week long Notre Dame players Steve Beuerlein, Mark Green, Durell Taylor, Tom Rehder, Braxton Banks, Reggie Ward, Chris Rivers, and Tom Riley had been California dreaming.

For those native Californians, Saturday’s 38-37 thrilling Irish victory over Southern California was an especially sweet capper to a season filled with its share of disappointments.

"This was way more than I could ever imagine," said Beuerlein, who returned to the game to engineer the comeback after being benched briefly by Head Coach Lou Holtz following an interception that was returned for a Trojan touchdown. "I had been warned earlier that (Holtz) didn’t want any turnovers from me, and if that if I did make one, something drastic would take place. I was on the sidelines thinking, ‘Oh no, is this my last game, my family and friends were here, and all that. But I just thank God he put me back in. I told him I wouldn’t regret it. I just thank God, for all he’s done for me this year.’

Beuerlein is the only quarterback in history to start and defeat USC for all four of his years.

Green, meanwhile, was visibly pumped from carry his normal level. "I had to come back and get used to the environment." He’s just got to come back and play the game like a kid who didn’t play at all," he said. "I was on a positive note for Notre Dame, which finished 5-6 and lacking a bowl bid it probably deserved. USC, meanwhile, will take its 7-6 record to the Florida Citrus Bowl on Jan. 1 for a date with Auburn.

It was evident in Saturday’s Irish win, however, that there was much more at stake for Head Coach Lou Holtz’ squad than merely the chance to gain a more respectable record. And in the end, as the ball sailed easily through the uprights, the Notre Dame team poured out on the field in wild jubilation releasing the frustrations of having come so close before only to have their feet knocked out from under them every time.

"I can’t think of a finer way to finish the season," said Holtz, "so frustrated so many times this year. Every time we’d try to come back, somebody would kick dirt in our face."

Third-ranked Hoosiers challenge Irish tonight

By RICK RIETBROCK
Sports Writer

Just as the film “Hoosiers” has gotten off to a successful start at the box office, Bob Knight’s Hoosiers have started quite as well, showing their No. 3 ranking is no fluke.

The Hoosiers present stiff opposition for Digger Phelps’ Irish, who are looking to rebound from a 40-42 thumping against Western Kentucky in the first round of the Coca-Cola NIT Classic. In particular, Notre Dame wants to rebound on the defensive boards and take better care of the ball, two which were glaring weak spots against the Hilltoppers.

"We had 23 turnovers against Western Kentucky and gave up 18 offensive rebounds," says Phelps. "So that’s what we’ve worked on.

Part of the problem can be attributed to the condition of junior point guard David Rivers, who saw his first game action against the Hilltoppers. Rivers will move into the starting lineup tonight, and Phelps says it should only be a matter of time before he’s playing at his normal level.

"He’s just on the floor playing the game like a kid who hasn’t been on the playground for a while," he says. "Now he’s just got to come back and get used to the environment."

The rest of the starting lineup will feature a three-guard look with Scott Hicks and Mark Stevenson manning the wing spots.

Hicks did a masterful defensive job in Notre Dame’s victory against Indiana two years ago when he held Indiana’s Steve Alford to only four points. Stevenson continues to show his scoring capabilities, as he tallied 13 against Western Kentucky.

David Royal, who picked up where he left off last year with a 17-point, 7-rebound effort in the opener, and junior center Voice, who was held scoreless against the Hilltoppers, round out the starting five.

Carney’s 19-yard field goal lifts ND over USC, 38-37

By MARTY BURNS
Assistant Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES - They played the greatest of games in the greatest of college football’s rivalries, and most importantly, this time they got it right.

The Notre Dame football team, last second loser this season to Michigan, Michigan State, Pittsburgh, Penn State, and LSU, finally turned the corner Saturday, stunning 17th-ranked Southern Cal, 38-37, on placekicker John Carney’s 19-yard field goal with no time remaining on the clock.

The victory ended the season on a positive note for Notre Dame, which finished 5-6 and lacking a bowl bid it probably deserved. USC, meanwhile, will take its 7-6 record to the Florida Citrus Bowl on Jan. 1 for a date with Auburn.

It was evident in Saturday’s Irish win, however, that there was much more at stake for Head Coach Lou Holtz’ squad than merely the chance to gain a more respectable record. Smith gets 300th victory as ND sweeps

By DENNIS CORRIGAN

Home sweet home was the place to be this Thanksgiving as a sort of giving season for the Notre Dame hockey team.

The Irish swept two games from the visiting Foresters of Lake Forest, 7-5 on Friday and 4-1 Saturday. During the way, the Irish gave their six games of 1998, Lefty Smith, the 300th and 310th wins of his career and upped their season record to 4-3-2 in the ACHA.
