Authorities net 200 in Lee's Ribs raid

By TRIPP BALTZ
News Editor

A raid of Lee's Ribs conducted by three law enforcement agencies Thursday night netted over 200 Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students. South Bend Police, Indiana State Police and Indiana County Excise Police made 13 arrests in the 11 p.m. raid, according to Lt. Richard Kilgore, public relations officer for South Bend Police.

Kilgore said that police records show only 20 to 30 patrons in the bar were of legal age.

The citations for being a minor in a tavern were the highest number ever delivered to students in one raid in South Bend history.

The previous record bust was of The Goose's Egg more than seven years ago. The tavern was located at the corner of Notre Dame Ave. and Howard St., according to Capt. Patrick Cotrell, who led Thursday's raid on Lee's.

Stateexcise police Sgt. Greg Delichly also led the raid. Kilgore said excise officers re-jumped from the ninth floor of a building in the Rio Piedras suburb Saturday, police said.

El Mundo newspaper quoted his wife, Juana, as saying he had been adherent to learning Friday that investigators planned to question him this Tuesday. Two men, including a bar busboy, have been charged with arson in the New Year's Eve inferno, and investigators have said there may be additional arrests.

Verges Gaeta left the house Saturday morning to buy bread for breakfast, his wife was quoted as telling the newspaper, and she heard nothing more of him until police told her he was dead.

Calls by The Associated Press to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, two agencies investigating the fire, were not returned Sunday. Hotel maintenance man Hecter Lee's undercover before the raid. One police officer wore a Notre Dame football jacket. Officers issuing citations referred to a Notre Dame Saint Mary's telephone directory to check for names on the identification cards students presented.

Arrested on charges of resisting law enforcement and minor in a tavern were Edwin Quinn, 19, of Keenan; David Kidder, 19, of Alumni; Joseph Suplick, 19, of Alumni; and Meghan Rafferty, 20, of Holy Cross, Saint Mary's.

Also arrested for charges of resisting law enforcement and minor in a tavern were Mark Runfola, 19, of Alumni; Kevin Rafferty, 20, of Holy Cross; John Wichart, 19, of Alumni; and Mark Gibbs, 20, of Alumni.

Renovations, construction continue on several buildings

By JULIE PALAMARO
Staff reporter

Renovations continue on Lafortune Student Center, the Law School, and Sacred Heart Church, with work on new buildings also beginning.

Lafortune renovations are just about finished, according to Don Dedrick, the director of Notre Dame's physical plant. "They are just working on some punch items," he said. "Those are things we have to get the contractors to go back and fix." All of Lafortune is now in use with the exception of some office space, and all work should be completed in a week or so, Dedrick added.

Renovations on the Law School are also almost completed, said Dedrick. A little work needs to be done on the exterior, which will take about two weeks, and the most courtroom should be finished in another month.

Renovations on Sacred Heart are an ongoing project, however, and are not likely to be concluded in the near future, according to Dedrick. A new fire protection system is being installed, which requires the emplacement of sprinklers in the attic of the sanctuary and the crypt, and an alteration of the electrical system. Furthermore, in addition to putting a new slate roof on the church and steeple, Dedrick's staff is examining the stained glass. "Our goal is to eventually take it out and restore it. Glass weathers like paint, and after a hundred years, it can use a little work," said Dedrick.

Exxon funds Hesburgh Program

By GREG LUCAS

A three year grant of $300,000 from the Exxon Education Foundation will be used to establish an interdisciplinary academic program in public service.

The new program is named the Hesburgh Program in Public Service to honor Father Theodore Hesburgh, University president, and his commitment to public service.

"There will always be a need for public servants whose understanding of complex issues is informed by a keenly Catholic insight, and this gift will help our university to respond to it," Hesburgh said.

"Exxon saw it as a way to honor the outgoing president of Notre Dame," said Nathan Hatch, associate dean of the College of Arts and Letters, who headed the faculty committee that submitted the proposal to Exxon. "I'm flattered by the honor and pleased by the promise of this instance of the Exxon

Father Hesburgh

Education Foundation's generosity," said Hesburgh. The program, which "will be up and running by next fall," according to Hatch, includes 20 summer internships to bring professionals on campus to interact with students, and a minor concentration in public service.

"Students will be able to choose any combination of courses and one will have to take five courses to complete the concentration," Hatch said. The program also allows for the creation of at least one entirely new course and modification of some already established courses, Hatch added.

The interdisciplinary program, which will be run by a committee in the College of Arts and Letters and a director to be named later, will be open to all students in any major. "We certainly aren't trying to make it restrictive," Hatch said.

Faust moves in new direction but holds onto his memories

First, he pointed to a plaque on the wall facing his desk. It was the seal of the University of Notre Dame. On his bookcase were a clutter of pictures, some of them taken at ND, along with a madonna and child statue and with a football figurine wearing a "Moeller" jersey. The colors of the office were again blue and gold. But the rest of the odds and ends in the office of head football coach Gerry Faust had Akron U. written on them. The Akron Zips football team, coached by Faust in his first year at Akron, had compiled a 7-4 record.

In December, the team was elevated to Division I-A status, the level where the football giants play. The University of Akron is now to Division I-A. Faust obviously is not.

The new status allowed Akron to hire another coach and to add more scholarships. "Things are going well," said Faust. "We had a good year. The season wasn't disappointing, but it wasn't a season that would've led us to the championship."

Faust admitted that there is a difference between the approach he took to discipline at Notre Dame and the approach he takes now at Akron. "I'm tougher on 'em here," said Faust. "I didn't have the same tough attitude at ND."

"I feel very comfortable now. I know what has to be done. Before, I had to feel my way."

Another difference is the size of the operation - it's small. Very small. The football office is in an upstairs corner in the gymnastum building. There is no large lounge area lined with pictures of past football greats.

Faust has as many coaches as he had at Notre Dame, but he has only one secretary (instead of five). He handles the business of running a football team. The stadium is different - it's not as large as Notre Dame's was always. To fill it up, Faust has to promote the team constantly. And he gets plenty of chances because of his celebrity status.

"He gets hundreds of personal appearance requests per week. And Faust seems to enjoy the challenge and the frantic pace.

But Faust himself, however, aren't all that different.

Faust said he originally was apprehensive about the type of student with which he would have to deal at Akron. But he was quickly surprised. "The kids are really neat here, a lot like ND kids," Faust said. "Kind of curious but there because they want to be there. Here, kids want to get a degree. They may be the first generation of the family to go to college. He said the students at Akron are motivated to achieve and really want to learn. "Faust "got to see the kids in action more at ND" than at Akron. Many leave school after their classes and go straight to work to pay the tuition, Faust said.

One big difference--no groto. "I miss the groto," said Faust. For five years, he never missed a day at the groto unless he was on the road. He said that over the years, he visited at every time of the day or night. Now, he visits a small church across the street from the campus.

He also misses the people at Notre Dame. "I try to keep in touch. There are a lot of people there I really think the world of," said Faust. "I still root for the Irish."

Faust said recruiting for next year's team is going pretty well. Fourteen players have already committed themselves. But things will not be easy next year. Faust said he may have difficulty filling all of the 36 scholarships he can award, and, as a former Division I-AA school, Akron doesn't have many scholarship players already on the squad. They'll have to play seven of their 11 games against Division I-A teams, with full rosters of experienced scholarship players.

Though the going will be tough, there are some glimmers of hope on the wall of the Akron football office: "The greatest thing in the world is not where we are, but in what direction we are moving."

A commentary on the team and also on the coach.

Notre Dame Communication and Theatre Film Series

This week at the Snite, the spring film series begins with three great films:

Monday, January 19 at 7:00 and 9:00 pm:

Casablanca (1942) BW, 102 min.

Directed by Michael Curtiz

The story of a love-affair-a-la-madonna and child amidst the English civil war, the latter a gaunt-looking Humphrey Bogart finding old friend Ingrid Bergman and her husband, underground leader Paul Henreid, among skeletons in his closet. Claude Rains is marvelous as the deader policy chief, and nobody-plays "As Time Goes By" like Dooley Wilson. See it in preparation for Woody Allen's tribute. Play It Again, Sam, scheduled to show Friday, Jan. 30. As a special introduction to the spring film series, the first 300 patrons will be admitted to Casablanca free for both the 7:00 and 9:00 show.

Come and pick up a film calendar.

Tuesday, January 20 at 7:00 pm:

Carefree (1938) BW, 80 min.

Directed by March Sandrich, USA

Marilyn Monroe does go to college. In this wacky musical comedy with outstanding Berlin songs, it's a fine time for the true love. Here the Astaire/Rogers series is infected by the screwball comedy to wail music that is funnier than ever.

Friday, January 23 at 7:30 and 9:30 pm:

Hannah and Her Sisters (1986) Color, 100 min.

Directed by Woody Allen

By all accounts, one of Woody Allen's greatest films and the best film of 1986 is this one of his last college shows before he was expelled from distribution to wait for the academy awards and theatrical reviews. A story about three sisters and their romantic entanglements and a satirical comedy about TV producer Allen's fears that he may have a fatal disease. Hannah is Allen's first real audience film since Annie Hall. With Michael Caine, Mia Farrow, Cara Filler, and Barbara Hershey.

All shown at the Annenberg Auditorium, Snite Museum. Individual admission $1.50. Series ticket also available. Film calendars will be coming in the first issue of Scholastic Magazine. Or pick up a copy in 320 O'Shaughnessy or at the door at the Snite.
Procedures for moving student cars during heavy snows detailed by Security department

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame Security has announced the following snow removal guidelines:

1) All student-owned vehicles are to be removed from any faculty/staff parking lots before midnight each night. Vehicles left in faculty/staff lots will be towed away at owners' expense. This measure is necessary to effectively clear the student lots when they become impassable. Student-owned vehicles must be removed from the designated temporary lot within 24 hours or whenever normal assigned lots are clear, depending on which comes first.

As in the past, shovels will be available at either Grounds Maintenance or Security for those who cannot wait for the lots to be cleared. Owners of vehicles who happen to be "plowed in" should contact Grounds Maintenance for assistance.

2) Faculty/staff lots from which student vehicles will be towed after midnight are: 3, 24, 2 & 3; Administration, Bookstore, North Dining Hall, south Dining Hall, and Stadium. Additionally, all roadways, sidewalks, loading zones, time zones, and traffic circles.

Student parking lots will be plowed when passage becomes difficult or hazardous and the faculty/staff lots are cleared. Normally this would occur 36-48 hours after a significant snowfall. Major snowstorms would delay this process.

Once Resident Assistants receive notice to move student vehicles to a specified area, this measure is necessary to effectively clear the student lots when they become impassable. Student-owned vehicles must be removed from the designated temporary lot within 24 hours or whenever normal assigned lots are clear, depending on which comes first.

As in the past, shovels will be available at either Grounds Maintenance or Security for those who cannot wait for the lots to be cleared. Owners of vehicles who happen to be "plowed in" should contact Grounds Maintenance for assistance.

ten Hall's new air conditioning system should have been completely installed by some time in February.

The Eck Tennis Pavilion, northeast of the ACC, is to be finished as well by some time in April.

Directly north of the new tennis pavilion and three times its size will be the All Sports Building. Workers are currently laying the foundations and putting in the landfill for the building and will begin erecting the steel late in February, said Dedrick. The building will contain a weight room, classrooms, and an indoor, full-size football field, suitable for practicing place-kicking but not punting. A blue and gold, six-lane track will run around the field, allowing track meets to be held in the All Sports Building, in addition to football practice and soccer games.

Bids will open this week to build the two new women's dorms on north quad. The two dorms will each house 250 students, and will be next to the Pasquerillas, of which they will be virtually mirror images. Workers have already cleared the site, and construction will begin as soon as possible. The new dorms are slate for completion June 1, 1988, and will be ready for occupancy in the Fall of 1988.

USX workers approve new contract

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH - United Steelworkers local union presidents Sunday overwhelmingly approved a four-year contract with USX Corp. that cuts pay 8 percent and eliminates 1,350 jobs while boosting job security for those who remain.

The presidents voted 38-4 in favor of the pact after a nearly six-hour briefing in a downtown hotel that ended about 7 p.m.

The settlement reached early Saturday was then sent to the union's International Executive Board, where passage was virtually assured.

The new embryonic program will be shaped and formulated by the faculty committee and the director of the College of Arts and Letters. "The program is the fruit of the best insights of the faculty," said Hatch.

The USW claimed victory on its top priority, the company's widespread practice of contracting work to cheaper non-union labor.

The USW's ability of being performed by bargaining unit employees shall be performed by such employees," the union said in a contract summary. "Our perseverance clearly paid off in securing key changes which will go a long way toward resolving the long-festering contracting out problem once and for all."

Acceptance comes through immersion in culture

Last week I celebrated the completion of my first year in Chile, and I can honestly say that it has been far the most challenging year of my life. Learning a new language, living in a poor neighborhood in a different culture, confronting the brutality of a military dictatorship, and working harder than ever before have made this year a critical time of personal and intellectual growth. However enriching these challenges may be, our lives would still be lacking something crucial without one particularly profound and formative experience: the occasional visit of a friend from the United States.

Gib Gallus

guest column

From backpackers who somewhere along their Latin American hike get a hold of our address, to university presidents (Father Ted Hesburgh of Notre Dame was with us last week), to our own family members, at least once a month a visitor gives us the opportunity to share our experiences, and the coming back together, becomes apparent to our small group

Each visit reminds us of our first days in Chile, and of those humorous and sometimes shocking first impressions. Observing the way we live, the newly arrived American usually comments, "How interesting." Besides marking a rather simple vegetarian diet and shopping at the corner vegetable stands, we share true Chilean custom of "onces" (bread with jam and tea in the late afternoon). When in need of a telephone, we walk a few minutes and wait in line in front of the house of our family block, who has one. When the dust and smog have dirtied our clothes, we wash them hand in the sink and leave them to dry (a process requiring at least five days in the winter-time). The shower cleans us up when our bodies get dirty, but the water is icy cold. And even though the five of us living in the house are Americans, we converse in Spanish. After seeing all these habits in practice and up close, our visitor normally asks the inevitable question, "Why do you do it?"

The answer has a lot to do with how it is that we come to share the lives of the poor, and how we gradually come to be accepted by our neighbors. Becoming a member of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible.

Dear Editor:

After months of oppression and discrimination, we have decided to make our acceptance the primary goals of our work. Because I have decided to make my disillusionment in my childhood experiences of being a part of both worlds, but for a time belonging to neither.

Bowlers band together to stop discrimination

Dear Editor:

After months of oppression and discrimination we have decided to bring our problem to this open forum. It has become apparent to our small group that the body that represents the non-DNSMC community to be educated concerning the alternative sports life of the bowler.

For years the bowler has been shunned and misunderstood among "normal" sports activists and has been the subject of ridicule. Recently more blatant name calling has begun to surface, one popular name being "pinheads." This type of social criticism has driven us to coalesce and we feel that it is time to introduce the Bowler's Society of Notre Dame's Saint Mary's College. We believe it is time to come out of the alleys, and with the support of our administration, we feel BSNDSMC can make great headway in the reduction of bowler discrimination.

Our primary goal is the relation of the message that bowling is not a dis­ ease, it is a way of life. We were born bowlers, we do not feel BSNDSMC have decided to make our names public regardless of the ridicule to which we will no doubt be exposed. Action is necessary to improve any situation

Dear Editor:

In last semester's P.O. Box Q column, a letter was printed in which John Schoegel told of his disillusionment in his childhood dreams about Notre Dame. After reading this, all that came to mind was, "Who cares?"

Don't get me wrong - I'm the first to admit that there is no better way to bring awareness to a problem, but I do think that we should have faced reality sooner; those of us who do face things the way they are know that nothing is perfect, and we do the best we can to improve upon them - through criticism and through action.

I'm afraid Schloegel's viewpoint does not relate to my experience not come true, but I don't feel like reading his whining in the paper. Why can't we wake up and smell the coffee or do something about what he thinks is wrong with his environment? He can write back to P.O. Box Q when he has a point to make.

Have you ever had the horrible feeling that someone or something is watching you? I haven't either but welcome back anyway. Yes, welcome back to another semester of fun in the sun at our hallowed University. But even as we begin a new chapter of the great adventure we call youth we cannot forget the spine-tingling excitement we have only recently left behind. Yes, you're correct, I'm talking about Christmas Break and it was incredible huh?

Kris Murphy
Altered

To give you just a small taste of all the adventure, romance, and downright knee-slapping craziness that I savored over break I've decided to set down (in words) a short summary of the ecstasy that was my vacation. December 18, 1986—It all started with a bang. In other words someone slammed the car door and we were suddenly leaving Notre Dame, the scene of so many trials and tribulations, the scene of some of the finest cuisine in the Western Hemisphere. I was so excited by the prospect of seeing my hometown (Dayton, Ohio) that I immediately fell asleep and drooled all over the bucket seats. There is no doubt in my mind that this was an attempt to rest up for all the Intense joy I knew awaited me. I awoke four hours later and was immediately awed to the max by the grandeur, the sheer wonder that was Dayton, Ohio. I saw old landmarks like Emie's Pawn Shop, the downtown parking garage and the Brown Street Burger Ring. These sights touched my heart in a way that I haven't felt since Vanna White stroked my ankles repeatedly several months ago. So awed was I by all that I saw that I immediately became car sick. My carmates were deeply moved by this show of heartfelt emotion and they ordered me to clean it up myself.

My homecoming was a thing of beauty. Dad greeted me with a heartfelt "Harva beer, sliddown and watch the game," while Mom showed true sensitivity by saying "Get your feet off the table before I smack you silly." I nearly said the American family was an endangered species? Little brother kneed me in the groin when I attempted to leave my luggage. In his room and I returned the favor by running over his dog with the snowblower several days later. What a great kid is. I'm sure he'll go far.

Christmas Eve was upon me before I knew it. I thought I was going to cry when I saw the stockings hung with care and smelled the latex needles of the fake Christmas tree. We all went to midnight Mass and I got to sit behind a woman who smelted like mothballs. We went home to open gifts. I got McDonald's gift certificates and underwear. My thanks knew no bounds and to show my appreciation, I gathered up all the gifts I had given and returned them for cash. This went over rather badly with the rest of the family and they stopped speaking to me.

I took this as a good sign for the New Year but I suddenly became ill with the flu. My friends at home visited me bringing gifts of good cheer and beer which they drank themselves. They also threw the empties behind my couch. I was still sick on New Year's Eve but I managed to get out of bed to treat myself to Brent Musberger who was counting down to the New Year. As Brent babbled my mind turned to my friends who were out there in the night. They would be singing "Auld Lang Syne" and carousing with members of the opposite sex. I was watching Brent Musberger. There is a hell.

I got better by Jan. 4 and horizons broadened considerably. I watched countless hours of ever-stimulating MTV where the sight of Dweezil Zappa and his wavy sister made me shiver with delight. I watched as Billy Idol made musical history by singing with three (count 'em) sleazy backup singers and writhing on the floor at the same time. I visited the world-renowned bars of Dayton, Ohio where I watched 250 pound rednecks beat up a juke box. Mighty brave guys. I took pleasure upon the incredible female beauties that frequent those bars and I heard them speak. They said "Do I have a Dorito stuck between my teeth?"

One day, as I gasped with excitement over an action packed HBO movie. I realized what was wrong. I was missing something. I felt out of place, lonely. Could it be? I thought. "Do I miss Notre Dame?" I decided I did so called my friends, packed my bags and came back. End of story. Eat your chicken patty and have a good semester.

And now... counseling just a phone call away

Counsellor volunteer Patti Brilley talking with a troubled student.

SHANNON SWEENEY features writer

Are you lonely? Are you depressed? If you answered yes to any of these questions, well then pick up your phone and call the University Counseling Center's Counsellor.

Counseling consists of a confidential telephone service offering information from professional tapes, which deal with topics ranging from "Depression" to "Dating Skills."

Patre Dame began Counseling 6 years ago when the Counseling Center purchased their tapes from the University of Texas. Over the years, some tapes were added and others modified, but the basic format remains. Counseling is available from 4 to 12 p.m. Monday through Thursday. During this time, student volunteers man the phones connecting the caller with the tape they wish to listen to. The tapes run anywhere from 3 to 16 minutes and the format of each differs according to the topic. Some tapes deal with communication skills while others relate the signs of depression or eating disorders. A full list of tapes is listed on the first page of the student directory.

After listening to the tape, student volunteers are available to talk with the caller. However, Counseling is not a Crisis Line. It is not maintained by professional psychologists, but rather students. If the volunteers notice a real problem, they will refer the person to the University Counseling Center for therapy sessions. "Counseling is a good referral service to people who need help otherwise. However, she also says that Counseling is not just for those who need help, but for anyone who needs information. Counseling receives an average of 600 calls a year with an equal number of men and women calling. Around mid-terms and finals more calls are received for the tapes "Relaxation Exercises" and "Coping with Stress."

The five most requested tapes are: "Male Homosexuality," "Physical Intimacy," "Female Homosexuality," "Dating Skills" and "Infatuation or Love."

If you have problems facing a week of tests or if you are worried about a depressed friend, Counseling provides the services you may be seeking for. The number of Counseling is 239-7953 and the tapes are listed in the beginning of the student directory.

Freshmen have impressive showing at the Hoosier Dome invitational

By PETE GEGEN Assistant Sports Editor

The performance of two freshmen and their around team performance were the highlights for the Irish at the 12th annual Indiana Hoosier Dome invitational Friday.

Galen Watson, a freshman from Okemos, Mich., surprised himself and everyone else by winning the 40-meter hurdles with a time of 8.9 seconds.

"I hadn't expected to do so well," said Watson. "I really didn't have a plan or anything. I just did the best I could.

Watson won his first heat but finished second in a runner from Indiana St. in the semi's. Watson won out on top from Indiana St. as the Irish lead the way with his first goal of the year.

"We were missing three players, but we came in and still came out and play this way was outstanding," said Smith. "It was O'Brien's first time ever at left wing, and he played well and even scored that goal.

Notre Dame's offense quieted down in the third period, as the Irish only had three shots on goal in the final twenty minutes. In the meantime, Matt Wilson scored his second goal of the night to tie the game and the final game would be heading for overtime until the Cadets decided to lead the way to win it.

Bob Brennan from a slap shot just past Notre Dame's blue line that somehow slipped by Madonna's goalie gave the Irish the lead with his second goal of the night.

"Of course it's disappointing American College Hockey Association and Notre Dame qualified for the ICA's with a time of 7-3. 15.2. I balanced between 1/2 and 1/14.2. Bought the fourth one for about $15. The Irish are being defeated.

Ditka to leave following '87 season because of general manager ouster

Associated Press

BOSTON - Chicago Bears Head Coach Mike Ditka has told his bosses he will not return after the 1987 NFL season because of a dispute over the team's firing of its general manager, according to a newspaper report published yesterday.

The Boston Sunday Globe said Ditka told Michael McCaskey, the team president, of his intentions after McCaskey refused to rehire general manager Jerry Vainisi, who was fired last week.

"Then this season is my last," Ditka is reported as saying. "Don't even bother to ask me about signing an extension of my contract, because I won't do it."

After the conversation, Ditka reportedly told his assistant coaches that 1987 would be his last season with the Bears and if they wanted they were free to start looking for new jobs immediately.

In Chicago, Bears spokes­man Brian Harlan said he had heard the report but could not confirm it. He said he did not know how to reach McCaskey or Ditka, who reportedly was on vacation.

The Globe said Ditka was "humming" because Vainisi is his best friend and Ditka's strongest ally in Chicago's front office.

"Ditka and Jerry are best of friends," according to an unidentified source quoted by the newspaper. "When the big four (Ditka, McCaskey, Vainisi and personnel director Bill Tobin) got together, Jerry usually backed Ditka. This is what happened with (Doug) Flutie, and McCaskey didn't like it. It happened three or four times, and McCaskey wasn't happy about it."

McCaskey said he dismissed Vainisi because of "philosophical differences." He said Vainisi is still a consultant.

Vainisi, however, still con­siders himself the team's gen­eral manager and has two years left on the contract given to him by George Halas in 1983.

Blue team gets playing time

By MARTY STRASSEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Among four freshmen and one sophomore on the Notre Dame basketball team, there seems to be a case of the blues going around.

Not the sad type. Not the musical type. Not even the color type. No, these blues are more the happy type.

For sophomore Michael Smith and freshmen Tony Jackson, Scott Paddock, Joe Fredrick and Jamere Jackson, getting the blue means seeing a little more floor time for the Irish. Head Coach Digger Phelps calls this group of five the blue team.

"This is the time of the season when we start diversifying our game plan, and it's important to get our younger players needed experience," Phelps said. "It just happens that, with their size and playing positions, they can go out on the floor as a unit. The cohesion they're learning now will be a big plus in future games."

Against Winthrop on Saturday afternoon, the blue squad did not quite live up to Phelps' billing. The team entered the game with 8:30 to go in the half, turned the ball over on three occasions, allowed a three-point basket by the Mountaineers' J.J. Crawl and was pulled from the game after less than two minutes on the floor.

The squad has been more successful in past games, however, being used in pressing situations and to give the starters some rest. Although Phelps has not pointed out any particular role for the other team other than to run the regular offenses and defenses, its quickness seems to be its strength.

"We've just got to get it in our heads before the game that we might be going in there," Smith said. "We've got to be ready to do the job when we're called on, and do it."

Paddock feels the game experience as a unit helps the blue team give the starters a better challenge in practices.

In his particular case, it makes the battle in the paint with Gary Voce a more physical one.

"Gary and I have been having some great match-ups," he said. "It's great going in and playing against those big people, doing some banging."

"They've had their positives and I've been doing my positives," Phelps said. "But more importantly, they've gained court time and it makes us that much more consistent. It's good to play them as a team, and you've also got times when we're going to need one of them to come in and contribute. Frederick has done that recently, and I think Paddock is really going to come around."

Poor shooting costs Irish dearly as Mountaineers claim 57-55 win

By DENNIS CORRIGAN
Sports Editor

If you wanted to give Saturday's made-for-television match up between Notre Dame and West Virginia a title, you'd have call it the Big Chill. A five-and-a-half minute cold spell near the end of the first half enabled the Mountaineers to get back in the game and take the lead. Ultimately, the Irish never recovered, dropping a 57-55 decision to the Mountaineers.

With over 11 minutes gone in the first half, the Irish (now 9-4 on the season) had built a 10-4 lead. True, the Irish had struggled, but the Mountaineers (11-3) until that point were worse, going scoreless for seven minutes. Then, the icy winds that blew outside found their way to the hardwood of the ACC. West Virginia closed out the half by outscoring Notre Dame 26-4 and taking a lead it never relinquished.

The Mountaineers opened up a 13-point lead in the second half as the Irish continued to shoot poorly and commit turn overs when they got close. Notre Dame still had a chance from three-point land, but only clicked on three-of-eight in the half in dropping their second in three games.

"We just aren't scoring when we need to score," said Irish head coach Digger Phelps. "We played well when we got down 12, but we should have been playing that way the entire game. It wasn't a defensive letdown. It was an offensive breakdown. We're not scoring points."

In this season of inflated scoring, the Irish have scored more than 65 only three times this season, including an 82-76 overtime victory. Saturday, against a team that hasn't been led by the inside scoring of junior Sandy Botham and sophomore Heidi Bunek, DePaul opened up a quick 11-2 lead before Junior Mary Gavin hit three 15-footers and Botham added her only four points of the contest to close the gap to 15-14.

The game turned into a tough defensive battle as the two teams kept even until the half. The Irish used a collapsing zone defense to stop DePaul's leading scorer, Diana Vines (averaging 19 points a game), while DePaul's quick defense forced the Irish to commit nine turnovers.

Gavin led the Irish through the final minutes of the half as both teams scored two goals in this period. The Mountaineers with 15. Darryl Prue had 10 for West Virginia before fouling out with 9:30 to go.

"I didn't know he had that many fouls," admitted Catlett.

DePaul overtakes Irish as women have more problems

By BRIAN O'GARA

Despite battling back strong against adversity on and off the court, the Notre Dame women's basketball team dropped their fourth consecutive game yesterday with a 60-68 loss to DePaul.

On Friday, the Irish discovered that junior Kathy Brommeland had quit the team, citing personal reasons. She is the third Irish player to leave the team this season, and the second in just two weeks.

For most of Sunday afternoon, however, the Irish looked strong against the 11-4 Lady Blue Demons, as Head Coach Mary D'Siantalao used her depleted bench and a tough defense to come back against the quick DePaul team.

Losing 33-31 at halftime, the Irish suffered a ten-minute lapse as DePaul ran up a 57-42 lead after the intermission. The Irish peaked away at the lead to close the gap to 68-66, then dropped their fourth straight game as DePaul controlled the final two minutes of play and came away with a 80-66 victory.

"We played hard," said D'Siantalao. "I think we made a real good comeback, and I'm proud of them for that. DePaul did what you have to do to beat us. They packed down their defense, and their quickness was able to cut off our passing lanes."

The Lady Blue Demons opened the game with a full-court press and played a tightly-paced zone, frustrat ing the Irish offense which has been led by the inside scoring of junior Sandy Botham and sophomore Heidi Bunek. DePaul opened up a quick 11-2 lead before Junior Mary Gavin hit three 15-footers and Botham added her only four points of the contest to close the gap to 15-14.

The game turned into a tough defensive battle as the two teams kept even until the half. The Irish used a collapsing zone defense to stop DePaul's leading scorer, Diana Vines (averaging 19 points a game), while DePaul's quick defense forced the Irish to commit nine turnovers.

Gavin led the Irish through the final minutes of the half as both teams scored two goals in this period. The Mountaineers with 15. Darryl Prue had 10 for West Virginia before fouling out with 9:30 to go.

ND and Army battle to weekend series split

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Sports Writer

Between the first and second periods of both Notre Dame-Army hockey games this weekend at the ACC, the Indiana Youth Hockey League Mini-Mites played against each other. It was about the only time all weekend two opposing teams met on the ACC Ice for 15 minutes without a war nearly breaking out.

Throughout the weekend series, the crowds of over 1,300 fans saw two of the most exciting games of the Notre Dame season as both matchups included more than their share of comebacks, clutch goals, board-bitting checks, and physical play before the series ended the only way it could - in a tie.

Notre Dame won Friday night's game, 6-4, while Army took the Saturday matinée, 4-2. Notre Dame is now 6-10.

"It was just an excellent series. Everyone out there really gave their 110 percent. We were in excellent shape and went hard the full sixty minutes," said Head Coach Lefty Smith.

A first period goal by Kevin Markovitz gave the Irish a 1-0 lead before Army tied the game later in the first period, and both teams scored two goals in every other period to keep the score tied after forty minutes.

Less than two minutes into the final period, Bob Bilton scored to give the Irish a 4-3 lead, but the Cadets rallied back to score a tying power play goal with less than nine minutes to play.

Just 36 seconds later, Mike Lehner scored the game-winning goal for the Irish, and an insurance goal by Roy Bemiss nineteen seconds after Lehner's goal sealed the scoring at 6-4 with a minute left. The Irish were then forced to split with Army.
