McCafferty dies after cancer bout

Father Michael McCafferty, 40, assistant dean of the Notre Dame Law School, died June 12 of cancer at Saint Joseph Medi cal Center in South Bend.

McCafferty was one of the four finalists in last year's search for a successor to Theodore Hesburgh as University president.

Born on Aug. 14, 1946, in Cincinnati, McCafferty received a bachelor's degree in government and international studies from Notre Dame and stayed to earn a master's degree in theology in 1974.

Making his first vows in Holy Cross order on July 16, 1967, McCafferty was named assistant dean of the Notre Dame Law School in 1975.

For 1974 to 1976, he served as a trial lawyer for the Equal Employment Commission in Washington, D.C., and in the following year became a consultant for one of Chicago's most prestigious law firms, Winston & Strawn. The lawyer and priest was awarded a master of laws degree from Harvard in 1978.

McCafferty was named assistant dean of the Notre Dame Law School. Author of "Medical Malpractice: Bases of Liability," published in 1985, he said the widening in the gap...

A Stonehenge replica made of old cars in Alliance, Neb. will be completed now that state officials say it is not junk after all. The attorney general’s office told James Reinders in July that he would have to get a junkyard license because “Carhenge” was a junkyard according to state law. “At this particular point, the state doesn’t plan to proceed with any action,” Assistant Attorney General Carly Welch said Tuesday. It is not the state’s position to determine the difference between junk and art, Welch said. -The Observer

For $20,000, would you read this entire column?

“Would you be willing to give up sex for five years if you could have wonderfully sensual and erotic dreams any night you wished?”

“You, your closest friend, and your father are on vacation together, hiking in a remote jungle. Your two companions stumble into a nest of poisonous vipers and are bitten repeatedly. You know neither will live without an immediate shot of anti-venom, yet there is only a single dose of anti-venom and it is in your pocket. What would you do?”

“Given the choice of anyone in the world, whom would you want as your dinner guest? as your close friend? as your lover?”

For example, “If you could script the basic plot for the dream you will have tonight, what would the story be?” Or, “Would you be willing to reduce your life expectancy by five years to become extremely attractive?”

But wait. There’s more.

For slobs, there’s the question, “For $20,000 would you go for three months without washing, brushing your teeth, or using deoderant? Assume you could not explain your reasons to anyone.”

And for pet lovers, “Would $50,000 be enough money to induce you to take a loyal, healthy pet to the vet to be put to sleep?”

For the animal and nature lover, “Assuming that complete recovery was instantaneous, would you be willing to accept a year of complete paralysis below the neck to prevent the otherwise certain extinction of the blue whale?”

And there’s a question for ROTOs, too. “Would you accept $10,000 to shave your head and continue your normal activities sans hat or wig without explaining the reason for your haircut?”

And for those reading this at lunch: “Would you be willing to eat a bowl of live crickets for $40,000?”

A question for gamblers: “You are offered $1,000,000 for the following act: Before you are ten pistols -- only one of which is loaded. You must pick up one of the pistols, point it at your head, fire it. What would you do?”

For the cruel: “For an all-expense paid, one-week vacation anywhere in the world, would you be willing to kill a beautiful butterfly by pulling off its wings? What about stepping on a cockroach?”

And for the unsatisfied: “If you were able to wake up tomorrow in the body of someone else, would you do so? Whom would you pick?”

Then there are the questions that for some, have what appear to be obvious answers. For example, ask a Saint Mary’s student, “Would you generally rather be overdressed or underdressed at a party?”

Or ask a Notre Dame student, “Have you had satisfying sex within the last three months?”

Can I say that?

Anyway, you may be wondering how successful Stock’s book has been. Well, Stock apparently got rich; “The Book of Questions” was recently on the best-seller list.

Which brings up a question that’s not in his book. Why didn’t I think of it?

Iran-Contra source: Cables not missing

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The chief of the CIA's clandestine service told Congress that Iran-Contra independent counsel Lawrence Walsh is probing the mystery of missing CIA cables alerting the spy agency in late 1985 that U.S.-made missiles were being shipped to Iran, according to testimony released Wednesday.

Clair George, the CIA's deputy director for operations, raised the possibility the cables could have been destroyed in a cover-up, but he discounted the likelihood.

George's private testimony on Aug. 5 and 6 before the congressional Iran-Contra committee was distributed Wednesday although some sensitive portions remain classified and were blacked out.

In addition to his comments on the missing cables, George also:
- Testified that the White House and the late CIA director William J. Casey ignored his strong complaints that un­savory and untrustworthy people were helping run what George viewed as a total "arms for hostages deal" with Iran.

Suggested that Lt. Col. Oliver North's engaging personality won him friends at the CIA but a tendency toward exaggeration and melodrama kept even those who liked him skeptical about things he told them. Still, he said, North had endeared himself to Casey, in part because he was "action oriented" and reminded Casey of his own exploits during World War II with the Office of Strategic Services, the military precursor to the CIA.

Declared that the North­directed diversion of arms-sales profits to aid the Contras was something the CIA could not properly be involved in.

"You cannot take United States weapons and just go out and sell them for a profit and use the profits as you see fit," he said. "That's the gospel."

In another development, the Republican Party's effort to capitalize on North's popularity has drawn a rebuke from Sen. Warren Rudman of New Hampshire, the senior GOP member of the Senate Iran-Contra committee.

"If you're like me, you're very proud of Oliver North," said the fund-raising letter signed by party chairman Frank J. Fahrenkopf Jr.

Rudman, however, said in a letter to Fahrenkopf that North had participated in deceiving the president and other officials and "these are not actions that are representative of the party of Lincoln, Eisenhower and Reagan."
The Loftus Indoor Athletic Facility seems completed as work continues on the inside of the structure. Construction should be completed later this year.

Pilot error examined in crash

WASHINGTON - With pilot error developing as the most likely culprit, the recent Northwest Airlines crash is raising questions about cockpit discipline and how flight crews battle complacency amid highly repetitive routines.

Aviation psychologists have been concerned about flight crew coordination in commercial airliners for years, including increasing evidence of danger of complacency in cockpits that are highly automated and where critical chores become a matter of habit.

Federal aviation accident investigators say more than 80 percent of the airline accidents involve human error. About 40 percent of the time the mistake is made in the cockpit, according to statistics from the National Transportation Safety Board.

A rash of embarrassing mistakes, including two that nearly caused air tragedies, brought attention to Delta Air Lines earlier this summer.

Investigators believe the likely reason for the Aug. 16 crash of Northwest Flight 255 on takeoff from Detroit, which killed 156 people, was the failure of the flight crew to properly set the wing flaps, a basic chore of flying critical to get the plane safely airborne.

"Why are such mistakes made?"

The Federal Aviation Administration is bringing together chief pilots of the nation's airlines for a meeting today in Kansas City, Mo., to discuss the problems, which have been the topic of aviation literature for years.

"We must return to the basics - the basics that put all of us in the left (captain's) seat, in a word, our professionalism," FAA Administrator Allan McArtor recently told an Air Line Pilots Association safety seminar.

Since coming to the FAA last month, McArtor has promised a "top-to-bottom" review of pilot training to reduce the likelihood of careless mistakes.

"The reasons (for a pilot mistake) are probably as extensive as the reason any person makes a mistake: distraction, fatigue, task overload or stress. It can be complacency. It can be inexperience," said Clay Fougasse, a NASA psychologist who specializes in human factors in aviation.

If the theory that the Northwest pilots neglected to set their plane's wing flaps holds true, it will not be the first time a pilot has been forced to perform one of the most basic pre-flight tasks in aviation, according to reports filed with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Since 1981, there have been at least seven incidents reported through NASA's Aviation Safety Reporting System in which flaps were improperly set for takeoff. In six cases, warning alarms sounded and the takeoffs were aborted.

In another incident, the pilot noticed the wrong setting too late, but adjusted his takeoff speed and lifted off successfully.

Human errors in the cockpit also seem to have little relationship to experience, according to specialists.

Two of the Delta incident this year involved senior captains. The captain of Northwest Flight 255 was a 32-year veteran, and his co-pilot was well seasoned.

"Human error has been there since the Wright brothers flew and all we can do is design against it," said Henry Duffy, national president of the 34,000-member Air Line Pilots Association.

"The reaction of the workers has shown that they are rejecting the offer," National Union of Mineworkers President James Mofatli had said earlier in an interview in western Transvaal province. "The ball is in the chamber's court."

The management offer would have slightly improved death benefits and holiday pay, but it did not address the union's demand for a 30 percent wage hike, the main reason the strike was called.

Union leadership did not recommend approval or rejection of the offer.

The union planned to reply Wednesday night to the management offer.

Union officials say 340,000 miners are on strike at 45 gold and coal mines in the biggest legal walkout in the country's history. The chamber puts the number of strikers at 210,000 at 25 mines.

Representatives of the union and the chamber met for four hours Tuesday in the first contract negotiations since the strike began Aug. 9.

African workers continue strike

Johannesburg, South Africa - The National Union of Mineworkers voted Wednesday to continue a 17-day-old strike, rejecting an offer by the top mining companies that slightly improved benefits but not wages.

A grim-faced union general-secretary Cyril Ramaphosa read a statement prepared by union leaders at a two-hour meeting that followed daylong voting by thousands of black miners on the offer from the Chamber of Mines, which represents the top mining companies.

"The telex that we transmitted to the chamber was to inform them that our entire membership on the striking mines has decided not to accept the chamber's offer," Ramaphosa said.

Thousands of miners voted by show of hands in hostels and unions halls in South Africa's longest and costliest mine strike.

7 governors seek Auto Pact

Associated Press

LANSONG, Mich. - The governors of seven carmaking states, complaining that the current treaty is "distorting investment and trade to the benefit of U.S. workers," are urging the U.S. government to negotiate a new Auto Pact.

"We believe that an equitable agreement which lowers the existing barriers should enhance the economies of both countries," the governors of Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio and Wisconsin agreed in a statement released Wednesday.

"The U.S.-Canadian Automobile Agreement represents a departure from free and fair trade between our nations," the governors said. "The Auto Pact in its present form cannot continue as the basis for a long-term bilateral trading relationship in automotive products between our two countries."

The governors said the 1965 treaty "limits our ability to at-ttract new investment and hinders our companies' access to the Canadian market."

The Auto Pact allows some motor vehicles to pass duty-free between the United States and Canada.

It is not a formal part of free-trade talks between the two nations, but members of Congress have promised them confidentiality.

Laxalt out of nomination race

WASHINGTON - Former Sen. Paul Laxalt announced Wednesday he is withdrawing from the race for the 1988 Repub­ lie primary presidential nomination after "a careful and realis­tic assessment of our financial situation." Laxalt, who has raised more than $1 million, made the an­nouncement in a statement issued about 7 p.m. EDT Wed­

In the statement, Laxalt, a former Republican senator from Nevada, said his commit­tee has "thoroughly tested the polit­ical and financial waters for the past four months."

"While the political response was encouraging, the financial outlook was not as bright," he said.

Army grounds new helicopters

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The Army on Wednesday grounded its entire fleet of new AH-64 Apache helicopter gunships, describing the action as a precautionary measure in the wake of a fatal crash last week.

The service said the directive applied to all 264 Apaches now in the inventory and will remain in effect until an invest­i­gation is completed of an Aug. 21 crash at Fort Rucker, Ala. An instructor pilot was killed and a student pilot seriously in­jured in last week's crash.

"This action is a precautionary measure taken as the result of the crash of an Apache for what appears to be a mecha­nical failure in the tail rotor swashplate," the Army said in a statement.

The statement said the Army was still investigating the cause of the failure. After the investigation is complete, the Army said, instructions would be issued on what would be needed to bring the AH-64 back into service.

The Aug. 21 crash was the third major accident involving AH-64s during the current fis­cal year, but the first to produce a fatality. The other two accidents also occurred at Fort Rucker, on Aug. 10 and July 9.

Earlier this summer, the Army ordered all Apaches temporarily grounded for modifi­cations to an engine wiring har­ness. These modifications took only about four hours per helicopter, however, and the fleet was quickly returned to service.

The Apache is replacing the Cobra helicopter gunship as the Army's primary attack helicopter. Designed to kill enemy tanks, the Apache is also a twin-engine copter and is loaded with Hellfire and Hydra 7 missiles and a 30mm cannon.

It is built by McDonnell Douglas Helicopters, formerly Hughes Helicopters, and costs about $11.5 million. The Army plans to buy a total of 573 of the aircraft.

Textbook ban reversed

ATLANTA - A federal ap­peals court Wednesday reversed an Alabama judge's order that had banned 44 textbooks from Alabama public schools on the grounds they promoted a belief in secular humanism.

In allowing the textbooks to remain in use, a three-judge panel of the 11th U.S. circuit Court of Appeals ruled that U.S. district Judge Howard Hand's order had turned the First Amendment requirement that the government be neutral on the subject of religion "into an affirmative obligation to speak the religion." The ruling, which also or­dered Hand to dismiss a law­suit brought by parents, cleared the way for the textbooks to be used in Ala­bama classrooms.

The appeals panel said there was no question that the pur­pose behind using 39 history and social studies books was secular, and that selecting a text for non-religious reasons is differ­ent from requiring the omis­sion of material.

Reagan pushes for arms agreement

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - President Reagan on Wednesday ap­plauded West Germany's will­ingness to destroy its Pershing 1-A missiles and declared that the Soviet Union must "erect additional barriers" to a superpower agreement on the global elimination of intermediate-range missiles.

In a speech to the Town Hall of California, a civic organiza­tion, Reagan also challenged the Soviet Union to bring a spirit of "glasnost!" or open­ness to its military affairs and said past U.S.-Soviet arms talks have been "too often vio­lated by the U.S.R.R."

The address, billed in ad­vance by White House officials as a major assessment of U.S.-Soviet relations, came as Chan­cellor Helmut Kohl said in Bonn that West Germany's per­suade the Soviets to destroy rather than modernize its Pershing missiles if the super­powers scrap all their medium- and short-range mis­siles in the Intermediate Nuclear Force, or INF, class.

The Soviet Union has said it would sign an INF disarmament agreement unless it includes the 72 Pershing II missiles, which are owned by West Ger­many but have nuclear war­heads controlled by the United States.

"We can wrap up an agree­ment on intermediate-range nuclear missiles promptly," Reagan said. "There are still issues to be worked out, but our delegation in Geneva has already pointed the way toward eliminat­ing verification requirements now that we have agreed to the total elimination of U.S. and Soviet INF missiles."

But the president, without mentioning the name of his So­viets counterpart, Mikhail S. Gorbachev, said that the Kremlin to smooth the way toward an arms accord.

He said the United States has "repeatedly pointed out that there is substance behind the rhetoric they have repeated so often of late -- that they genuinely want a stabilizing INF agreement."

"If so, they will move to meet our proposals constructively rather than erect additional barriers to agreement."

A senior administration offici­al said before the speech that "there was absolutely no pres­sure" brought to bear on the Bonn government by Wash­ington.

The president's speech ap­peared to be a new attempt to take the offensive in the long­running public relations struggle with the Kremlin. Gor­bachev has scored some major victories over Reagan, with recent polls in Europe showing that a majority of people believe the Soviet leader -- rather than Reagan -- is a champion of peace.

Memories of plane crash linger on

Associated Press

MAPLE GLEN, Pa. - The survival of 4-year-old Cecilia Cichan from the crash of Northwest Airlines Flight 255 helps give the rest of her family the strength to cope with the deaths of her parents and brother, a priest said at their funeral Wednesday.

Michael Cichan, 33; Paula Cichan, 33; and their 6-year-old son, DJ, David, who were among the 156 people who died, were remembered during Mass at St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church, where the couple was married.

"Talking about Cecilia will always remind us of the miracle of life. We believe God spared her to give the rest of her family the strength to bear the grief," the Rev. Anthony Robberecht said during the service.

Three matching, chestnut-brown caskets rested before the altar adorned with more than a dozen flower arrangements. About 300 people packed into the church, 25 miles from Philadelphia. The Cichans had been visiting relatives in the area and were en route to their home in Tempe, Ariz., when the plane crashed Aug. 16.

"Today as in the past few days, we all stand together as a shocked and stricken group of people. Death brings us face to face with the deepest questions of faith," Robberecht said.

The priest, who is also a teacher at nearby Archbishop Wood High School, commended the Cichans and baptized their two children. He described them as "a young, beautiful family with a promising future."

INDIANAPOLIS - When an Edinburgh police officer loaned a Cincinnati college student $20 earlier this month, he never expected to see the money again. But an envelope arrived with a crisp $30 bill this week - from the White House.

"It shocked me," Detective Capt. Ron Beier, 41, said Wednesday. The envelope contained $30, an autographed photograph of President Ronald Reagan and a note on White House stationery.

"I started all day on a mountain of work, only to be handed that kind of money," Beier said.

The dollar was worth $20 when Beier borrowed it from the Dairy Queen restaurant.

here, there and back

Each year for the last six years I've been a little nervous about returning to Notre Dame. It's not just the thought of going back to school, it's more an anxious fear of the unknown. But this year, unlike past years, the administration had actually come up with a good idea on how to deal with this problem. They had brought in RV's and mobile homes to house the freshmen until more permanent housing could be found.

This year, I got a special surprise. At first I thought there was a football game going on. I could barely control myself. It's always hard waiting for the home opener to finally roll around, but this year I thought maybe we were just playing season games or something like that. But I got closer to campus, I realized this was no football game. What was going on? Everywhere I looked there were people singing and playing guitars and mobile homes dotted the landscape. I was really impressed. I had no idea what they were doing here.

After giving it a great deal of thought, I realized what had happened. This year, as usual, a surprising number of freshmen were without dorm rooms. But this year, unlike past years, the administration had actually come up with a good idea on how to deal with this problem. They had brought in RV's and mobile homes to house the freshmen until more permanent housing could be found.

There are a couple of problems with this arrangement. How will parietals be enforced? Will RA's patrol the RV's, turning back tent flaps to make sure no one has snuck off into the woods? What about privileges? Should the lucky students who get a camper be allowed to have bonfires just because they're on the outskirts of the University? Or should they be made to pack up and leave by 8 a.m. days of home games? And what about night games? What if some students want to go to bed early? Will MUSCO have to dim certain lights so some of our freshmen can get a good night's sleep? Other sports may suffer too. Will we ever have another home basketball or hockey game?

Despite these minor drawbacks, I think this camper idea is one of the best new ideas Notre Dame has ever come up with. It's great for tourism, it solves the housing crunch, and it gives the grounds crew a much needed vacation.

The incoming freshmen must feel great seeing the campus all prepared just for them. I know I'm proud knowing that the people in the administration think enough of us to do whatever it takes to make sure we're all comfortable. I just wish they would have thought of this when I first came here. I would have never worried about coming back.

Mike Wilkins is a third-year law student and a 1985 Notre Dame graduate.

Kim Yuratovac
Assistant Features Editor

The glamour of Marilyn Monroe, the tension of the Korean War and the dawn of the 1950’s era of stability are among the images that make “Life” Magazine so popular during the years immediately after the Second World War.

“Life: The Second Decade, 1946-1955” includes photos that reflect the post-World War II era. The exhibit is on display until October 11 in the O’Shaughnessy Galleries of the Snite Museum of Art.

“Life” introduced a brand of photojournalism that needs no words to evoke the power and real feeling of the events that have influenced the latter half of the twentieth century.

“The first ‘Life’ exhibit was such a success,” said Peggy Tolbert, Educational Coordinator at the Snite. “That we began planning about the second exhibit before it was even finished.” The first “Life” exhibit contained famous photos from World War II. The Snite is one of ‘The Second Decade’s’ last stops.

“People who have seen the exhibit in other museums have complimented us on our display,” said Tolbert. “They say it looks different because we have memorabilia from the era and we have used color, music and videos to accent the photos.”

Many of the innovations the Snite used were made possible by a grant from the DeCicco family of Elkhart, Indiana.

“We have to pay for the shipping of the exhibit so normally we wouldn’t have the money to add the extras we have in this exhibit,” said Tolbert. “But because of this grant, we were able to add items that complement the photos and make the era come more real.”

Among the dated relics are a Coke bottle machine, a 1950’s party dress, 3D glasses and magazines. “I think our display is interesting because people are able to touch things to get a better idea of the time period,” added Tolbert. “In most exhibits people are not allowed to touch any of the art. Because we encourage people to get involved with this exhibit, they are less inclined and they enjoy themselves a lot.”

A collection of old “Life” Magazines are part of the display. There is also a 30 minute video featuring interviews with former “Life” correspondents and a 10 minute video produced by Pam Falkenberg of the Department of Communication and Theatre, combining “Life” headlines and advertisements of the era.

The exhibition of 200 photographs, collected from the 520 issues between 1946-1955, is part of the largest indexed picture collection in the world. The photos were chosen by Doris O’Neill, “Life’s” Director of Vintage Prints and formerly Chief of the “Life” Picture Collection, from the 156,000 photos taken in that era.

The pictures were not chosen as a review of photojournalism, nor as a guide to world events of the period,” O’Neill writes in the exhibition catalogue. “This is, rather, a selection of some of the most remarkable and compelling images of that time, regardless of subject matter. Since ‘Life’ was dedicated to covering national and world events, however, many of these pictures do reflect the decade’s history. Another major area of the magazine’s concern -- the human condition -- is reflected in many more.”

According to Tolbert, the Snite’s exhibit has received many positive responses. “There are always people in the galleries to see this exhibit,” she said. “They seem to like the way we have organized the exhibit, using music and videos to enhance the display.”

Aside from the display itself, the Snite Museum is sponsoring a related film series, featuring films of the era. “Rear Window,” “The African Queen,” and “Brigadoon” are among the films already shown.

September 3 is scheduled as Marilyn Monroe night and September 10 is Marion Brando night. September 17 is 50 night. September 24 features the films of James Dean and the October 1 theme is teen rebellion. All films are shown in the Annenberg Auditorium in the Snite.

To celebrate the success of the exhibit, the Snite is sponsoring a Fifties Party and Sock Hop on Friday, September 18 from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Snite. Admission is free and Tolbert is encouraging students to attend and wear Fifties clothing to keep with the theme of the party.

A lecture series also accompanies the exhibit. Upcoming lectures include a talk with W. Eugene Smith at noon on September 8 in the O’Shaughnessy Gallery, a lecture by Cornell Capa, executive director of the International Center of Photography and photographer John Phillips September 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Annenberg Auditorium, and a seminar led by Capa and Phillips on September 17.

Guided Gallery Tours will be available for museum visitors who wish to learn more about the exhibit. Tours begin in the O’Shaughnessy Gallery and are 45 minutes in length. Upcoming tour dates are September 13 and October 4.

“To see life; to see the world; to eyewitness great events; to watch the faces of the poor and the gestures of the proud; to see strange things machines, armies, multitudes, shadows in the jungle and on the moon; to see man’s work” is part of the prospectus that “Life” created to shape its first issues. This theme is carried through the exhibit which contains some of the most dramatic and influential photos of the time period.

The magazine was first published as a weekly on November 23, 1936. The last weekly issue was published on December 28, 1972. Monthly editions began in October, 1979. A 1948 issue cost 20 cents with a yearly subscription at $6.

The “Life” exhibit is one of several exhibits featured at the Snite each year. Museum hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sunday 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and Thursday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The museum is closed on Mondays and all major holidays. Admission is free.

Carter gets cold shoulder

NEW YORK - Cris Carter, the Ohio State wide receiver made eligible for a supplemen

Bennett seeks pact similar to Bosworth
Associated Press

ANDERSON, Ind. - Indianapolis Colts owner Robert Irsay and the agent for holdout rookie linebacker Cornelius Bennett will meet for contract talks within the next week, Jim Irsay, general manager of the NFL team, said Wednesday. Jim Irsay, speaking to reporters while the Colts practiced at Anderson College, said his father had recently telephoned agent Richard Woods and that the two had "a good conversation." The two agreed to meet perhaps as early as Friday, but no later than Wednesday in Chicago, Jim Irsay said.

The Colts withdrew their most recent contract proposal, valued at $4 million with incentives over five years, at the end of June, after Woods was quoted as saying he wanted the linebacker from Alabama to receive a contract worth a single dollar more than that given Brian Bosworth, the rookie linebacker out of Oklahoma. Bosworth recently signed with Seattle for $11 million over 10 years.

Woods said Monday he still wanted Bennett to receive a contract comparable to Bosworth's. Jim Irsay, however, said the Colts would be reluctant to sign to such a long-term pact.

"I wouldn't rule anything out, but I would say that doesn't make a lot of sense to us," Irsay said. "I think we can do something to satisfy everyone if he (Woods) is willing to be flexible.

"We'd be starting at Square A," Irsay added.

The Colts, meanwhile, released three players Wednesday, leaving their roster at 46 heading into their first home preseason game against Houston Saturday night in the Hoosier Dome.

Released were defensive end Booker Reese, a free agent from Bethune-Cookman; nose tackle Isaac Williams, a free agent from Florida State, and wide receiver Byron Williams, a free agent from Texas-Arlington.

Sixty-four players are considered healthy enough to play against Houston, Coach Ron Meyer said, but probably only 45 to 47 will see extensive action.

Meyer said he is attempting to "project who will make the final roster."

Meyer planning for a 45-man roster even though a new labor agreement might increase that number.

"I think you have to plan for 45 and anything after that is a bonus," said Meyer.

Meyer said the Oilers, who the Bills are 1-1 with, will pose a good test for his team's defense.

"Houston is very much an improved team," he said. "They're very much a press team, a very aggressive team. They like to make the big play defensively. They very easily could be 2-0 in preseason play." Meyer is looking to improve his team's success rate of third downs. The Colts have converted only seven of 31 third downs (22.6 percent). The coach said the conversion rate is even worse on third downs with more than one yard to go.

"It's a horror show," Meyer said. "All three of our turnovers (two fumbles, one interception) have come in third-and-long, and a majority if not all our sacks have occurred in those situations."

Patriots overwhelming choice to capture AFC East title
Associated Press

FOXBORO, Mass. - Passing should be the focus in the AFC East this season. Passing the football, not passing the Patriots.

In a division loaded with strong quarterbacks, weak defenses and questionable running attacks, New England figures to have little trouble repeating as champions.

"As far as overall depth, we definitely are in the driver's seat," says Bill Parcells, the Patriots' pro scouting director. "I don't know how you could pick against this ballclub." New England, with the top-ranked pass defense in the AFC last season, is best equipped to handle the division's quarterbacks.

In Buffalo, quarterback Jim Kelly should benefit from his first full training camp with the Bills. In Indianapolis, Gary Hogeboom guided the Colts to victories in their last three games after missing 11 weeks with a shoulder injury.

The division's running games are not as potent.

Moreover, New England's division rivals are hurt by injuries. Marino should be ready for the season opener with the Dolphins after dislocating a finger in the opening exhibition game. But linebacker John (Fer­dahl), who made the Pro Bowl as a rookie last year, is gone for at least the first six games with a torn knee.

The Jets are missing defensive stars Joe Klecko, Marty Lyons and Lance Mehl and McMillan leaves the Colts with out much of a running game.

Holdouts by first-round draft choices - linebacker Cornelius Bennett in Indianapolis and defensive lineman John Bosa in Miami - won't help either.

New England has great depth at nearly every position and new faces should improve its ground attack.

Henderson drug use detailed in book

Associated Press

DALLAS - Former linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson says in his autobiography, "Out of Control," that he used drugs while playing for four different NFL teams and sniffed a cocaine-laced inhaler during Super Bowl XIII as a Dallas Cowboy.

Henderson, a former first-round draft pick of the Cowboys, traced his drug use from his days with Dallas to San Francisco, Houston and Miami, where he served time after pleading no contest to sexual battery and burglary in California.

He was released last Oct. 15 and now gives lectures on the evils of drug abuse.

In his book with co-author Peter Knobler, Henderson says that at the Super Bowl game against Pittsburgh in 1978, he put 1.5 grams of cocaine powder into an inhaler and mixed it with water.

"I was being put on waivers," Henderson said Wednesday in a telephone interview from Los Angeles.

"Now I've changed my life. This is not a self-serving yearbook of my evils. I hope it does a service to the public." Henderson, who gets a check for $700 a month from the NFL for a neck injury, said he hopes what happened to him helps someone else.

Although he visited recently with Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, Henderson said none of his former teammates will talk to him about his book.

"They didn't call me in prison so why should they call me now," said Henderson, who served time after pleading no contest to sexual battery and burglary in California.

The once-powerful Dallas Cowboys have fallen on hard times. Former Cowboy linebacker Thomas 'Hollywood' Henderson has added to the fading mystique by revealing he used cocaine during a Super Bowl while he was a member of the team.

AL roundup

Tigers beat Twins

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS - Pinch-hitter Matt Nokes lined a two-run single with two outs in the ninth inning and Chet Lemon followed with his second homer of the game Wednesday night, rallying the Detroit Tigers past the Minnesota Twins 10-8.

Jeff Reardon, 6-7, relieved to start the ninth with a 6-5 lead and walked leadoff batter Darrell Evans. Bill Madlock walked with one out and Alan Trammell's infield single loaded the bases with two outs.

Nokes then hit an 0-2 pitch to right field that put Detroit ahead 7-4 and Lemon connected for his 16th homer of the season for his seventh save.

The victory gave Detroit sole possession of first place in the American League East, one-half game ahead of idle Toronto. Minnesota lost for the 14th time in its last 18 games.

White Sox 5, Red Sox 3

BOSTON - Carlton Fisk hit two home runs for the 19th time in his career and rookie Bill Long allowed only two hits for six innings Wednesday night, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 5-3 victory over Roger Clemens and the Boston Red Sox.

With two out in the second inning, Fisk hit a towering shot into the left-field screen in left for his 16th homer of the season and No. 297 of his career.

Harold Baines led off the fourth with a single and two outs later Fisk lined a drive that just cleared the 37-foot high wall for another homer. Long, 8-6, had a string of 14 1-3 scoreless innings snapped in the seventh. Clemens, 15-6, had won five straight decisions.

Royals 3, Rangers 0

KANSAS CITY - Danny Jackson pitched a four-hitter and Kevin Seitzer snapped a seventh-inning tie with a two-run double as the Kansas City Royals beat the Texas Rangers 3-0 Wednesday night.

Jackson, 7-18, struck out seven and walked five en route to his ninth complete game, helping the Royals snap a three-game losing streak.

Freshmen impress in soccer workouts

By PETE GEGEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Ever since practice began Aug. 18, the players have been pouring in to the Notre Dame soccer practices. By this weekend, about 75 players have tried out for the Irish soccer squad. Twenty players have already been cut or sent to the junior varsity team, which has been restructured after a one-year hiatus.

With enough players to start a six-team league, Head Coach Greg Grace has had his hands full.

"The large numbers are a pain, but it's worth it to find a diamond in the rough," says Grace. "So far we've had a bunch of surprises."

Most of the surprises have come in the form of freshmen. Many of Grace's recruits have a good chance of making the 25-man roster, including Larry Scanlon from New York, Steve Archer and Mike Drury from New Jersey, and Paul and Mike LaVine, a twin combination from St. Louis. Other names include Rob LaMear, Tom Conaghan, Danny Stiebkins and Mike Sattan.

"The frosh are pushing the upperclassmen on the team for their positions," says Grace. "I think (junior captain) Johnny Guignon said it best when he said that no one's position is safe on the team."

Senior captain Steve Lowney agrees.

Special to The Observer

Three new faces joined the Irish coaching ranks this summer in a vacation period marked by comings and goings. New to Notre Dame are women's basketball coach Muffet McGraw, baseball coach Pat Murphy and hockey coach Ric Schafer.

Mussy Comby, a former Irish women's basketball player, was recently named an assistant athletic director.

The announcement that McGraw would be Notre Dame's third women's basketball coach came May 18. McGraw spent the last five years as the head coach at Lehigh where she posted a record of 87-41 (.679) including the 1985-86 East Coast Conference championship.

"I think accepting the position at Notre Dame is going to be a real challenge," McGraw said at her hiring. "but it's a challenge that I'm very excited about. Notre Dame has developed an excellent program, and it's definitely headed in the right direction - upward. I would like to see the program get into the Top 20 within a three- or four-year span."

McGraw replaces Mary Distelrath who resigned last spring to pursue an MBA at Northwestern. Joining McGraw on the bench this season will be Liz Fleeley, who was a graduate assistant for McGraw at Lehigh last season, and Bill Fennelly, an assistant under Distelrath last year.

Schafer becomes the second hockey coach at Notre Dame since the program was resumed 19 years ago by Lefty Smith, who resigned at the end of last season. Schafer is a former player and assistant for Smith, spent the last seven years as the head coach at Alaska-Fairbanks where he posted a record of 100-93-4 (.530). In his last three years as coach of the Nanooks, the program was raised to Division I status, and Schafer's squads finished with three-straight seasons of 20 wins or more.

"When I first learned the position was open, I was very excited about returning," said Schafer.

Murphy replaces Larry Gallo, coach of the Irish baseball squad. He coached the last two seasons at Claremont-Mudd-Scripps College where he put together teams that combined a record of 48-34-1. In his second year as coach of the Stags, Murphy also coached Class A Tri-Cities Triplets of the Northwest League.

Additionally, Murphy is also the coach of the Dutch national baseball team. This summer, Murphy coached Holland to the European championship and has a shot at managing the squad in the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul.

Streak ends at 39 with Molitor on deck

Associated Press

MILWAUKEE - Milwaukee's Paul Molitor went 0-for-4 against Cleveland Wednesday night, ending his 39-game hitting streak.

Molitor was attempting to equal Ty Cobb's 49-game streak in 1911, the fourth-longest in modern major league history.

Milwaukee won the game 1-0 in 10 innings on Rick Manning's RBI pinch single. Molitor was the on deck batter. Rob Deer was hit by Jones' pitch leading off the 10th and Mike Felder pinch-ran. Ernest Riles then grounded out and Felder took second. After Dale Sveum was intentionally walked, Manning batted for Juan Castillo and singled.

"I went up to Rick and he said 'Sorry,' and I said 'Sorry,'" Molitor said after a curtain call outside the Brewers dugout.

"It's been an emotional night for me, being called out at the end of the game and seeing my family in the stands. It reminds me of what I've been through. It's been humbling and I'm glad for the opportunity. In a lot of ways it's disappointing."

Molitor struck out in the first inning, grounded into a 6-4-3 double play in the third and grounded out to shortstop in the sixth. He reached base in the eighth on an error by first baseman Pat Tabler.

With two outs in the eighth and a runner on second, Molitor hit a slow grounder that third baseman Brook Jacoby charged and threw to Tabler. First base umpire Mike Reilly originally called Molitor out, but ruled him safe when Tabler bobbed the ball. Jacoby's throw beat Molitor to the bag by about two steps. Molitor waved his arms in the air and slammed his helmet onto the field.
