Suspect caught in Beauchamp slayings
Associated Press

MECOSTA, Mich. - A suspect in the slayings of the parents of Notre Dame Executive Vice President Father E. William Beauchamp was arrested Sunday at a cabin near here, Michigan State Police said.

Police said印章 who had accompanied the suspect in recent days in western Lower Michigan and also recovered a car belonging to the victims, Edward and Marion Beauchamp, of Ferndale, Lt. Tom Powers said.

The woman was being held Sunday in the Mecosta County Jail, and the male suspect was being returned to Ferndale, where he was expected to be arraigned Monday on charges of murder, armed robbery and criminal sexual conduct.

Two women were slain Friday and were theBeauchamps', second in command of the top item on the agenda. The ground-launched vehicle was known as the SLAING, or Surface to Air-Launched Antiaircraft weapon. The Soviet Union is believed to be the only country completing such a development. The administration is preparing for the visit to Washington this week by Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, with arms control high on the agenda. According to the unidentified defense officials quoted by the Post, the Pentagon wants to prevent any agreement that could undermine the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

The agency said the communists ordered the amnesty and reduced the terms for 5,520 other prisoners to mark two anniversaries. It said some of the prisoners already were freed. Among those granted amnesty were 480 military and civilian personnel of the former South Vietnamese government, including two ministers, nine officers of general rank, 246 field officers and 117 junior officers, it said.

They were all convicted of crimes against the people," said the agency, monitored in Bangkok. "However, the government applied a lenient policy toward them by sending them to re-education camps. In the process, they have shown their resolve to mend their ways."

After the communist victory over South Vietnam in 1975 following the withdrawal of U.S. forces, tens of thousands of South Vietnamese were sent to re-education camps. Some were released after a few days, others after years. Those termed "diehards" by Hanoi have been incarcerated since the victory.

Hanoi officials said recently that about 7,000 people remained in re-education.

The official news agency's report said the Council of Ministers granted the amnesty to mark National Day Sept. 2 and the 42nd anniversary Aug. 19 of Vietnam's "August Revolution," when a communist government was first proclaimed in North Vietnam.

It said 365 prisoners were released in Ho Chi Minh City formerly Saigon where authorities "provided material and moral conditions for their quick rehabilitation into social life."

Hanoi has in the past reported releases of re-education inmates but did not provide the details carried in Sunday's report.

The report did not spell out under what conditions the prisoners had been released.

Vietnam frees 6,685 prisoners
Associated Press

BANGKOK, Thailand - Vietnam is releasing 6,685 prisoners, including generals and senior officials of the South Vietnamese regime it toppled in 1975, the official Vietnam News Agency said Sunday.

The agency said the Communist government ordered the amnesty and reduced the terms for 5,520 other prisoners to mark two anniversaries. It said some of the prisoners already were freed.

Among those granted amnesty were 480 military and civilian personnel of the former South Vietnamese government, including two ministers, nine officers of general rank, 246 field officers and 117 junior officers, it said.

They were all convicted of crimes against the people," said the agency, monitored in Bangkok. "However, the government applied a lenient policy toward them by sending them to re-education camps. In the process, they have shown their resolve to mend their ways."

After the communist victory over South Vietnam in 1975 following the withdrawal of U.S. forces, tens of thousands of South Vietnamese were sent to re-education camps. Some were released after a few days, others after years. Those termed "diehards" by Hanoi have been incarcerated since the victory. Hanoi officials said recently that about 7,000 people remained in re-education.

The official news agency's report said the Council of Ministers granted the amnesty to mark National Day Sept. 2 and the 42nd anniversary Aug. 19 of Vietnam's "August Revolution," when a communist government was first proclaimed in North Vietnam.

It said 365 prisoners were released in Ho Chi Minh City formerly Saigon where authorities "provided material and moral conditions for their quick rehabilitation into social life."

Hanoi has in the past reported releases of re-education inmates but did not provide the details carried in Sunday's report.

The report did not spell out under what conditions the prisoners had been released.

Local residents: ND parties too 'messy' and 'loud'

By ANN MARIE DURNING
Assistant News Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of three stories concerning off-campus living in the Northeast Neighborhood. "Inconsiderate" and "irresponsible" is how many permanent residents of the Northeast Neighborhood describe their student neighbors. Most residents are quick to add that not all off-campus students fit this characterization, noting that many volunteer their services to the community and throw more moderate parties. Nevertheless, those who live closest to students are the most critical of them.

"The students" that live down on Notre Dame Ave., and Corby and some on St. Louis... those are the boys that give the neighborhood and Notre Dame a bad name," said Phyllis Beck of North Frances St.

Most of the residents' complaints center on off-campus student parties.

"If you have a house built for one family and you have a party with 300 or 400 people, you're really raping the city and the neighborhood," said Arthur Quigley, president of the Northeast Neighborhood Council and professor emeritus of engineering at Notre Dame. He elaborated, "You don't have toilet facilities, etc. for them. Residents... cited trash strewn over students' lawns on daylight following parties and late-night noise as the worst problems. The trash is just absolutely a bit too much.

Everything goes outside, beer cans, McDonald's bags. Just take a walk... and look," said Beck. She added her friends quip the end of summer means the beginning of the garbage around their neighborhood.

Quigley said that often the area outside Notre Dame Avenue remains a "mess" from the weekend until Tuesday or Wednesday. Several residents say they Senator Daniel Moynihan, of New York, said Saturday that one-half of the Senate has signed on to co-sponsor a sweeping welfare reform bill. In it, states would be required to set up within three years job opportunities and basic skills program that would be mandatory for many welfare recipients, including mothers of children age 3 or older. The five year, $3 billion proposal would replace Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the welfare system now serving nearly 3.8 million families. Moynihan said, "It is time to replace welfare with a system where parents take responsibility for their children, and society helps them do so." - Associated Press.

The eternal question: Is PLS for real?

There is a small group of students on the Notre Dame campus who are continuously abused, tormented and misunderstood by their peers. Even though outwardly they appear like anyone else, their lifestyle and beliefs constantly make them the target of ridicule and hate. I know. I am one of them. I am a PLS major.

"What is a PLS major?" you ask. No one is certain but there are many theories. The major itself is described in the student course guide as, "The Program of Liberal Studies: a multi-faceted multidisciplinary multidimensional mishmash which links, inter alates, meshes, fuses, and unites everything and nothing, being and non-being, form and matter, life and death, Judge Bork and feminists, oil and water, and spam and jello. Course content may or may not include metaphysics, questions the self, vegetarianism, gargoyles, hubris and evolution."

Most students are more direct in their explanations of what the PLS in "PLS student" stands for. They affectionately refer to us as: Pieces of lazy s-, Psuedo-Literary Snobs, People (who) Like Sleep or Plato's little sophists. They also claim that: our Personality Lacks Substance, we Prefer Little Studies and we have Pathetically Loose Standards.

You may have actually crossed paths with a PLS student. We are not hard to spot. Generally, we tend to amble without direction across the quad. We use words like "non sequitur" and "modernity" in long, qualified statements uttered in hushed tones, and we also habitually ruminate in public while occasionally exclaiming "Why?!" for no apparent reason.

The question "why?" is the essence of the PLS student. He wants to know why he's studying Plutarch. He wants to know why he's studying. He wants to know why he and Plutarch isn't studying him.

The PLS student knows hundreds of unwritten questions; in fact he knows nothing else. Except, of course, he knows that he knows nothing else. He doesn't know how to adjust an income tax statement, and yet he regards business majors as the mental equivalent of assembly line workers -- neglected assembly line workers at that.

At this point you may be tempted to ask (if you are a PLS student you certainly will ask) "Why are you rambling about PLS?"

Well, my fellow Athenians -- I mean Doners. I have just come from the lofty peaks of contemplation at the annual Program of Liberal Studies picnic at the Pottozwni zoo and feel that it is my duty to share the truth.

Contrary to popular belief, we of the PLS inclination do know how to relax and have a good time. In fact we work very hard at enjoying our leisure and take great pride (that is justifiable pride as opposed to the other, nasty, kind) in our games and festivals. If the truth be known, it is just one for my peers, I admit that the truth might not be known -- if the truth be known, our picnic yesterday was just like any other picnic. We did sit and brood together in the grass. No one brought a lyre. The poetry reading was kept to a minimum.

Instead, we played modern sports like football, softball and volleyball. We frolicked in the sun and enjoyed the day in a very simple and nonrecreational way. I did not hear the "A-word" (Aristotle) once.

Some of you may have actually been at the picnic and do not have a recollection of the events which coincide with mine. In fact, you might say that I am making most of this up. That is your right. You perceive reality your way, I'll perceive it mine.

The Observer Monday, September 14, 1987

The Observer (USPS 599 2-400) is published Monday through Friday except during breaks and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $40 per year ($22 per semester) by writing, The Observer, P.O. Box 70, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Robertson sweeps GOP straw poll

Associated Press

Ames, IOWA - Television evangelist Pat Robertson gave his backers an emotional charge with a call for "moral strength" and won an easy victory in a straw poll of activists who gathered to listen to seven GOP presidential hopefuls.

Robertson got a lot of the votes in the straw poll Saturday at the state GOP's "Cavalry of Stars," outdistancing Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole and Vice President George Bush. Former Secretary of State Alexander Haig was the only candidate who did not attend the state GOP's "Cavalry of Stars."

"I was surprised and I was impressed," said Iowa Republican Chairman Michael Mahaffey. "They (Robertson backers) were able to marshal their forces."

"He is a serious candidate and this is another indication of the seriousness of his candidacy," said George Wittgraf, Bush's Iowa campaign manager.

"He (Robertson) got a lot of respect tonight from the other candidates," said Dole spokesman Steve Roberts. "He's a force to be reckoned with."

Most polls have shown Bush and Dole locked in a close race in Iowa, with the other candidates trailing far behind. While Bush leads in most national polls, Dole has built a strong organization in Iowa, which holds an important early test of the candidates' ambitions with its Feb. 8 precinct caucuses.

Robertson got 25.6 percent of the votes, compared to Dole's 24.9 percent and Bush's 22.4 percent. Rep. Jack Kemp of New York was favored by 13.5 percent while former Delaware Gov. Pierre du Pont got support from 4.1 percent. Haig and little-known candidates Ben Fernandez and Kate Heslop were under 1 percent.

Bush's Iowa campaign manager.

"Robertson got a lot of respect tonight from the other candidates," said Dole spokesman Steve Roberts. "He's a force to be reckoned with."

Most polls have shown Bush and Dole locked in a close race in Iowa, with the other candidates trailing far behind. While Bush leads in most national polls, Dole has built a strong organization in Iowa, which holds an important early test of the candidates' ambitions with its Feb. 8 precinct caucuses.

Robertson got 25.6 percent of the votes, compared to Dole's 24.9 percent and Bush's 22.4 percent. Rep. Jack Kemp of New York was favored by 13.5 percent while former Delaware Gov. Pierre du Pont got support from 4.1 percent. Haig and little-known candidates Ben Fernandez and Kate Heslop were under 1 percent.

Parties continued from page 1

BUSD TRASPORTATION,
CHARTER SERVICE, **
SHUTTLE SERVICE **

Reasonable Rates
Call 259-9506 anytime

Moments of solitude
Two Notre Dame students spend some time at the Grotto Friday afternoon. A prayer vigil was held at the Grotto for

Moments of solitude
Two Notre Dame students spend some time at the Grotto Friday afternoon. A prayer vigil was held at the Grotto for

Father Beauchamp and his family throughout the week.

Eastern business.

The TI Business Analyst-Solar
has all the right functions to help you get down to business.

Is your present calculator good enough to make it in business? Probably not. That's why we made the TI BA Solar. The BA Solar provides you with preprogrammed functions for the interest, loans, real estate, bond, pricing and profit problems you'll find throughout your business courses.

The BA Solar speeds you through your assignments because the preprogrammed functions execute many business formulas at the push of a single key.

And not only does the BA Solar give you higher finance, it gives you higher technology. The TI BA Solar is the only financial calculator with solar capabilities. Thanks to TI's Anytime Solar Technology, you can use the BA Solar in any low light conditions.

So get your own BA Solar at your bookstore today. After all, the last thing you want to do in business is take any unnecessary risks.

© 1987 TI. "Anytime Solar Technology" is a trademark of Texas Instruments Incorporated.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
LA FORTUNE OPEN HOUSE

MONDAY,
SEPTEMBER 14

12:00 noon * WVFI D.J. outside, Fieldhouse Mall
  * A Pool full of ice cream to make your own sundae!, Fieldhouse Mall
  * DENNY LEE, Illusionist, teaser, Main Lobby

1:00 p.m. * Scavenger Hunt throughout LaFortune
  Prizes donated by LaFortune businesses:
  food certificates, $50 savings bond, gift certificates,
  plants, albums, and more
  LOOK FOR CLUE #1 IN MONDAY’S OBSERVER
  OR IN LA FORTUNE MAIN LOBBY
  * DENNY LEE, Illusionist, Magic Workshop, Main Lobby

1:00-4:00 p.m. * THEODORE’S OPEN

1:00-? * NEW TV Lounge Open-Lower Level

4:00-6:00 p.m. * WVFI D.J. - Fieldhouse Mall

5:00 p.m. * DENNY LEE, ILLUSIONIST, MAIN PERFORMANCE

7:00 P.M. * Alpha Omega Players present
  “Barefoot in the Park” Notre Dame Room

9:30 p.m.-1:00 a.m. * Theodore’s Open, Campus D.J.

SPONSORED BY OFFICE
OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES
AND STUDENT
UNION BOARD

CLUE 1
Share the fun of a scavenger hunt.
Give all of your friends the word.
To join in the search,
Not hang in the lurk,
Or they might lose the reward.

So take a walk to the student center.
Don’t listen to any lies,
Just look for the place
Where money is kept safe,
And you might win a surprise.
Republican News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus, quoted the U.N. chief as saying the talks were “valuable.”

Tehran Radio quoted Khamenei as telling him Iran had been “disapponted with decisions made by the Security Council” but that “considering your good intentions, we hope that this trip will be fruitful.”

The radio, monitored in Nicosia, did not say whether Khamenei conveyed Tehran’s final word on the U.N. cease-fire resolution. So far, Iran has neither accepted nor rejected the resolution.

The broadcast quoted Khamenei as saying “no peace-seeking group has objected to the Nuremberg trials” of top Nazi leaders after Germany’s defeat in World War II, so punishing Iraq as instigator of the Iran-Iraq war “is acceptable to the world.”

The official Iraqi News Agency, also monitored in Nicosia, said Iraq’s ruling Revolutionary Command Council met overnight under President Saddam Hussein and declared Iraq will abide by the resolution “provided Iran declares a clear-cut stand in the matter.”

Iraq occupied part of Iraq’s southern Faw peninsula in February 1986 and holds pockets of territory around Basra and other sectors along the 730-mile front.

Iran’s official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus, quoted the U.N. chief as saying the talks were “valuable.”

Tehran Radio quoted Khamenei as telling him Iran had been “disapponted with decisions made by the Security Council” but that “considering your good intentions, we hope that this trip will be fruitful.”

The radio, monitored in Nicosia, did not say whether Khamenei conveyed Tehran’s final word on the U.N. cease-fire resolution. So far, Iran has neither accepted nor rejected the resolution.

The broadcast quoted Khamenei as saying “no peace-seeking group has objected to the Nuremberg trials” of top Nazi leaders after Germany’s defeat in World War II, so punishing Iraq as instigator of the Iran-Iraq war “is acceptable to the world.”

The official Iraqi News Agency, also monitored in Nicosia, said Iraq’s ruling Revolutionary Command Council met overnight under President Saddam Hussein and declared Iraq will abide by the resolution “provided Iran declares a clear-cut stand in the matter.”

Iraq occupied part of Iraq’s southern Faw peninsula in February 1986 and holds pockets of territory around Basra and other sectors along the 730-mile front.

Associate Press

WASHINGTON - Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze said Sunday a decision on another super-power summit meeting depends on the outcome of his talks with President Reagan and Secretary of State George Shultz.

"We have come here in order to roll up our sleeves and work at the stage of implementation," he said on his arrival from Moscow.

The radio, monitored in Nicosia, said Iraq’s ruling Revolutionary Command Council met overnight under President Saddam Hussein and declared Iraq would abide by the resolution “provided Iran declares a clear-cut stand in the matter.”

Iraq occupied part of Iraq’s southern Faw peninsula in February 1986 and holds pockets of territory around Basra and other sectors along the 730-mile front.

The official Iraqi News Agency, also monitored in Nicosia, said Iraq’s ruling Revolutionary Command Council met overnight under President Saddam Hussein and declared Iraq would abide by the resolution “provided Iran declares a clear-cut stand in the matter.”

Iraq occupied part of Iraq’s southern Faw peninsula in February 1986 and holds pockets of territory around Basra and other sectors along the 730-mile front.

Associate Press

WASHINGTON - Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze said Sunday a decision on another super-power summit meeting depends on the outcome of his talks with President Reagan and Secretary of State George Shultz.

"We have come here in order to roll up our sleeves and work at the stage of implementation," he said on his arrival from Moscow.

The radio, monitored in Nicosia, said Iraq’s ruling Revolutionary Command Council met overnight under President Saddam Hussein and declared Iraq would abide by the resolution “provided Iran declares a clear-cut stand in the matter.”

Iraq occupied part of Iraq’s southern Faw peninsula in February 1986 and holds pockets of territory around Basra and other sectors along the 730-mile front.
Vietnam War movies overlook ideology

Last spring a movie appeared that, for many, seemed to heal a long-standing wound in the American psyche. "Platoon," written and directed by Oliver Stone, was displayed to many theater-goers as the Vietnam war "as it really was," so the audiences believed. But was this film really the definitive story of Americans in Vietnam? Is there a crucial dimension of the war that is missing?

Kevin Smant

guest column

There is no question that Stone, directing leaves us with an intense and vivid message: war is hell. The new film won, it does the American people exactly what the U.S. presence in Vietnam meant. Nor did he explain how U.S. national security -- albeit indirectly -- was affected by the conflict. Does anyone want to believe why Pueblo Casto felt so conflicted in sending the Vietnamese troops to Angola in 1975? A generation's guilt over the outcome of a past conflict, or its angst from the excesses that war often creates, is not create a historical blind spot, or relieve our will to resist Communism. Our film industry must not give the impression that Communism was not an issue in Vietnam -- it was. And the failures of this ideology are oh, so evident today. "Platoon" thus joins "The Deer Hunter," about a Vietnam veteran who uses films portraying one piece of the Vietnam puzzle. But the definitive film on this conflict has yet to be written.

Kevin Smant is pursuing his doctorate degree in history.

Doonesbury

Dome alleviates freshman's doubts

Dear Editor:

Freshman Year. Just last month I began what are supposed to be the best 4 years of my life. I spent 3 days saying goodbye to friends, bosses and relatives, 3 hours packing, and rolled into the car. Driving through the midwest I asked myself why I was leaving Notre Dame, little did I know the doubts had only begun. My parents left the next day and I thought the fun was about to begin.

It began Saturday when I walked into my room to change; my roommate's girlfriend walked in and I introduced myself while pulling my pants on. Some of my fears were lessened when I discovered she didn't dress like Potzie Webber or "Lawrence Welk's polka favorites" on his stereo. After meeting my roommate I tried to get to know the University. (Here's where the fun starts.) I was amazed to discover that in all the information the Admissions office sent me they forgot to mention partitas or the Alcohol Policy.

I'm confident that this was merely an oversight, as they would never try to conceal anything this important from someone applying to the school.

I began to reconsider my decision. Instead of being free and easy among a wide mix of people brought together to learn and grow I felt like a prisoner in a sick laboratory experiment. It all became clear: they brought together 7000 people who were extraordinarily similar and forced them to live under rules designed to retard their development into mature adults capable of functioning in the world outside the campus.

As the week progressed I began classes; still not feeling the flame of enlightenment burning within, I attended extracurricular meetings. I was on my way back to my dorm after one of those meetings when I began to understand what brought me here. I walked across the campus, not much impressed by these trees and ivy-covered buildings than I had been on 5 to 15 other university campuses, and I thought about transferring to one of the others. "This place doesn't have any more to offer me than the rest," I decided. "Why not transfer?"

Then I looked up and through the trees I saw the dome. I'd seen domes before, but this really was special. I thought back on the week before, and the people I'd met. There was the senior who told me about the banks on campus while waiting in line, the sophomores who invited me into their 'party room,' the rule designed to retard their development into mature adults capable of functioning in the world outside the campus.

I tried to make light of a situation which can be extremely difficult at times, especially for those who haven't known we were going to come here for the past 18 years. What can I say but try, and look at that dome once in a while, it may help.

Garry Trudeau

P.O. Box Q

7000 people who were extraordinarily similar and forced them to live under rules designed to retard their development into mature adults capable of functioning in the world outside the campus.

As the week progressed I began classes; still not feeling the flame of enlightenment burning within, I attended extracurricular meetings. I was on my way back to my dorm after one of those meetings when I began to understand what brought me here. I walked across the campus, not much impressed by these trees and ivy-covered buildings than I had been on 5 to 15 other university campuses, and I thought about transferring to one of the others. "This place doesn't have any more to offer me than the rest," I decided. "Why not transfer?"

Then I looked up and through the trees I saw the dome. I'd seen domes before, but this really was special. I thought back on the week before, and the people I'd met. There was the senior who told me about the banks on campus while waiting in line, the sophomores who invited me into their 'party room,' and all the people who gave me directions when I couldn't tell "the Rock" from a stone and LaFortune was what came up.

I tried to make light of a situation which can be extremely difficult at times, especially for those who haven't known we were going to come here for the past 18 years. What can I say but try, and look at that dome once in a while, it may help.

David Lawlor

Kearan Hall

Campus Quote

"Every time we won a game last year, someone would say we turned the corner. With our schedule, every time you think you've turned the corner, there's another corner waiting for you."

Lou Holtz

Monday, September 14, 1987

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 239-3503

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame to dic and Saint Mary's College. It does not reflect the official positions of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

General Board

Editor-in-Chief: Kevin Becker

News Editor: Mark Parise

Not Editor: Chris Bednarz

Viewpoint Editor: Chris Murphy

Sports Editor: Jim Rink

Accent Editor: Michael Naughton

Saint Mary's Editor: Sandy Carnes

Photo Editor: Jim Carroll

Business Manager: Brian P. Murray

Advertising Manager: Anthony Cardarelli

Advertising Director: Melinda Chapleau

Production Manager: Melissa Warrick

Projects Manager: Mark McLaughlin

Sports Manager: Shawn Sexton

Controller: Tracy Schindler

Graphic Arts Manager: Laura Sexton

Established November 3, 1966
Takeovers spreading

Corporate raider T. Boone Pickens and his Ivanhoe Partners announced that they will offer $9 a share for 28 million shares of Newmont Mining. If Newmont Mining shareholders accept the offer, Pickens' group would be able to increase their current holding of 9.96 percent to 51 percent. In addition, the Ivanhoe group may change Newmont's board of directors.

Each of the parties have employed its strategy. Many analysts expect Newmont's leaders to look to Consolidated Gold Fields for help in fending off the Ivanhoe bid. CGF owns 26.2 percent of Newmont and may be willing to increase its stake. This could lead to a bidding war and increase Newmont's stock price from Friday's close of $93.875.

Ivanhoe's stock price has risen substantially since Newmont opened a branch in LaFayette, a small Illinois town, was recently acquired by a holding company to increase their current stake. This could lead to a major trade bill captured Congressmen, lobbyists, businessmen, and the administration for a month.

Titled the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1987, this legislation originally addressed only America's international trade deficit.

After pork barrel politics took over, however, the bill became laden with special interest amendments.

The core of the bill is a provision allowing the president to negotiate U.S. trade relations with other countries. If a country is found to consistently discriminate against U.S. products, then the president will be required to take certain actions.

The use of duties, quotas and tariffs to prevent the goods from a country from entering the United States is a few of the president's possible remedies. The bill should force a country to open its borders to American goods. Japan and South Korea are two of the countries at this point which the president has aimed to negotiate. Consumers can expect prices for products from these targeted nations to rise if the Trade Act becomes law.

One amendment to the bill which students should be interested in is a provision introduced by Sen. Clairborne Pell, D-R.I. This amendment eliminates the small state minimum on chapter 1 programs of the Guaranteed Student Loan program.

Despite strong opposition from the Reagan administration, the trade bill was passed. Now it is up to a committee of senators and representatives to combine the Senate bill with the House trade bill. The resulting legislation will be sent to President Reagan for approval.

The administration has already narrowed important provisions of the two trade bills as "veto bait." Reagan has threatened to automatically veto the trade bill if any of these provisions are included in it.

Another trade issue which held Washington's attention was the case of Toshiba of Japan and Kongsberg Vaapenfabrik of Norway.

It was discovered this summer that these companies sold the Soviets sensitive technology. Supposedly this technology has cut the American lead in submarine technology by half.

Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., estimates that it will cost taxpayers $30 billion to compensate for the Soviet's new underwater capabilities. Congress immediately demanded that action be taken against Toshiba and Kongsberg. Included in the Senate trade bill is a five-year ban on all Toshiba and Kongsberg imports to the United States. The only exceptions are spare parts, contracts already signed and "components vital to the American economy."

The administration maintains that the American government has no right to punish Toshiba and Kongsberg. Administration officials say that these companies did not break any U.S. laws, but that they did violate the laws of their respective countries.

Congress, however, asserts that the laws of Norway and Japan are not stringent enough and that additional legislation is needed.

Businesses' response to the Hill's proposed action has hardly been supportive. James Johnson of Apple Computers, testifying before the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Trade, said it would take his company two years to find another supplier to replace Toshiba.

Bruce Reale, president of Advanced Telecom, told the subcommittee that banning all Toshiba imports is unfair. A subsidiary of Toshiba, not the entire corporation, Reale said, was responsible for the sale to the Soviets.

Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., however, has warned others to find new suppliers to replace Toshiba and Kongsberg. Gibbons said that, based on his interpretation of Congress' mood, action will be taken against Toshiba and Kongsberg.

The impact on consumers from a ban on Toshiba and Kongsberg could be severe. Besides losing the ability to buy Toshiba's and Kongsberg's products, there will possibly be a cut back in consumer support.

In addition, Toshiba is the sole source of production of some of the components needed in cellular phones. A ban could greatly effect their price and availability.

After concerns about Toshiba, the trade bill and Ollie North died down, Washington turned its gaze to the first banking reform bill in five years.

Signed into law by Reagan on Aug. 19, this legislation contains some provisions which should be of interest to Notre Dame students.

One portion of special interest to students is a limit on how long banks can hold out-of-state checks. Presently some banks have been known to hold checks for up to 14 working days. The government has had no time to clear checks. An increased use of computers, however, has changed this, and a bank usually has the funds within three days. During the rest of the hold time, you can still not access your money, and some banks also won't pay you interest during that time.

Under the new bill banks can hold out-of-state checks for only six working days as of Sept. 1988 and for four working days as of 1990.

The full implications of this summer's legislation for consumers and businessmen have yet to be realized. Washington has proved without a doubt that the business world is influenced by Capitol Hill as well as Wall Street.

WASHINGTON BUSY WITH TRADE, TOSHIBA AND BANKS

By STEVE CLAEYS
Business Editor

While most of the country was enjoying this past summer, politicians in Washington worked overtime on trade and business legislation:

This legislation promises to greatly affect what Notre Dame students buy and how they do their banking.

The Iran-Contra hearings was not the only show followed by Washingtonians. In the nearby Senate chambers, debate over a major trade bill captivated Congressmen, lobbyists, businessmen, and the administration for a month.

Titled the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1987, this legislation originally addressed only America's international trade deficit.

After pork barrel politics took over, however, the bill became laden with special interest amendments.

The core of the bill is a provision allowing the president to negotiate U.S. trade relations with other countries. If a country is found to consistently discriminate against U.S. products, then the president will be required to take certain actions.

The use of duties, quotas and tariffs to prevent the goods from a country from entering the United States is a few of the president's possible remedies. The bill should force a country to open its borders to American goods. Japan and South Korea are two of the countries at this point which the president has aimed to negotiate. Consumers can expect prices for products from these targeted nations to rise if the Trade Act becomes law.

One amendment to the bill which students should be interested in is a provision introduced by Sen. Clairborne Pell, D-R.I. This amendment eliminates the small state minimum on chapter 1 programs of the Guaranteed Student Loan program.

Despite strong opposition from the Reagan administration, the trade bill was passed. Now it is up to a committee of senators and representatives to combine the Senate bill with the House trade bill. The resulting legislation will be sent to President Reagan for approval.

The administration has already narrowed important provisions of the two trade bills as "veto bait." Reagan has threatened to automatically veto the trade bill if any of these provisions are included in it.

Another trade issue which held Washington's attention was the case of Toshiba of Japan and Kongsberg Vaapenfabrik of Norway.

It was discovered this summer that these companies sold the Soviets sensitive technology. Supposedly this technology has cut the American lead in submarine technology by half.

Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., estimates that it will cost taxpayers $30 billion to compensate for the Soviet's new underwater capabilities. Congress immediately demanded that action be taken against Toshiba and Kongsberg. Included in the Senate trade bill is a five-year ban on all Toshiba and Kongsberg imports to the United States. The only exceptions are spare parts, contracts already signed and "components vital to the American economy."

The administration maintains that the American government has no right to punish Toshiba and Kongsberg. Administration officials say that these companies did not break any U.S. laws, but that they did violate the laws of their respective countries.

Congress, however, asserts that the laws of Norway and Japan are not stringent enough and that additional legislation is needed.

Businesses' response to the Hill's proposed action has hardly been supportive. James Johnson of Apple Computers, testifying before the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Trade, said it would take his company two years to find another supplier to replace Toshiba.

Bruce Reale, president of Advanced Telecom, told the subcommittee that banning all Toshiba imports is unfair. A subsidiary of Toshiba, not the entire corporation, Reale said, was responsible for the sale to the Soviets.

Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., however, has warned others to find new suppliers to replace Toshiba and Kongsberg. Gibbons said that, based on his interpretation of Congress' mood, action will be taken against Toshiba and Kongsberg.

The impact on consumers from a ban on Toshiba and Kongsberg could be severe. Besides losing the ability to buy Toshiba's and Kongsberg's products, there will possibly be a cut back in consumer support.

In addition, Toshiba is the sole source of production of some of the components needed in cellular phones. A ban could greatly effect their price and availability.

After concerns about Toshiba, the trade bill and Ollie North died down, Washington turned its gaze to the first banking reform bill in five years.

Signed into law by Reagan on Aug. 19, this legislation contains some provisions which should be of interest to Notre Dame students.

One portion of special interest to students is a limit on how long banks can hold out-of-state checks.

Presently some banks have been known to hold checks for up to 14 working days. The government has had no time to clear checks. An increased use of computers, however, has changed this, and a bank usually has the funds within three days. During the rest of the hold time, you can still not access your money, and some banks also won't pay you interest during that time.

Under the new bill banks can hold out-of-state checks for only six working days as of Sept. 1988 and for four working days as of 1990.

The full implications of this summer's legislation for consumers and businessmen have yet to be realized. Washington has proved without a doubt that the business world is influenced by Capitol Hill as well as Wall Street.

TUTORS NEEDED

Notre Dame-Saint Mary's Students needed to serve as tutors for illiterate adults at the Center for Basic Learning Skills in South Bend. Tutors work one day per week, from 1:15 - 3:15 p.m. Transportation provided, no experience necessary. Call Christopher at x1952 evenings for Information Orientation meeting tonight (Monday, 14th) in CSC Coffeehouse at 6:30 p.m.

Corporate Contributions to Charity

1970: $797,000,000
1975: $1,202,000,000
1980: $2,359,000,000
1985: $4,300,000,000

Source: Giving U.S.A.

Professional Vision

Eye Exams
Large Selection of Frames
All Types of Contacts

20% DISCOUNT TO STUDENTS AND FACULTY

1635 N. Ironwood
277-1161
South U.S. 23

Monday, September 14, 1987

Business
Mark Green breaks a tackle and runs for some of his 46 yards on the day. The Irish flew high after the Irish added 26-7 upset victory.

Two Notre Dame diehard fans in Ann Arbor on Saturday, flying high after the Irish added 26-7 upset victory.

Alonzo Jefferson sprints past a Michigan defender and turns upfield for a big gain on Saturday. It was sweet revenge for...
AJ, who was injured two years ago at Michigan on a kickoff return.

Michigan's Jamie Morris falls victim again to a determined Notre Dame defense. 'Flash' Gordon (38) and Corny Southall (21) are shown in hot pursuit.

Jamie Morris coughs up the football on first down, giving the Irish the opportunity to go ahead 10-0 in the opening period.
All My Children: Jackson Montgomery arrived to a cool reception from his brother Travis. A furious Frank overheard Rosalee and Natalie argue about her confessing their affair to Ellen. Jerry realized Dr. Lazare has been brainwashing Rosalee and vowed to look into it. Spoilers finally found a note saying that Ellen had Julie's marriage proposal shortly after he was diagnosed with cancer. Dinah has learned that Cam slept with Lacey. Ral relaxed post from Alan-Michael and saved him from a bust. Rusty was bothered that Will was getting to know Mindy.

Coming: Phillips sees revelation

Loving: Ava prompted much gossip as she planned a lavish wedding. April knocked out Alan, but was unable to escape from the法律. All arrived to the meeting. nanny admitted she was an alcoholic. A seductive Shana promised a new closeness between herself and Jim. Mark, trying to break away from Lily, offered to get her a job elsewhere.

Coming: Ned searches for April.

One Life to Care: Court moved into Limfairy to keep an eye on Tina. Tom was upset over Mar-Lynn and Wade's relationship. After accepting her as his mother, Mar-Lynn learned of Lee's hooker past. Tina was charged with first-degree murder. Jamie offered to trade information about Tina and Mar-Lynn for a reduced sentence. Kate informed John that Sandra changed her story.

Coming: John and Cassie grow closer.

Ryan's Hope: Blaming Ryan for the miscarriage. Rick told her they were too young to marry and he was leaving. Dee was enraged to find out that she was pregnant for the second time.

Coming: Ned searches for April.

Nurse: Dangerous things used to be different. It's the first year we have had representatives at Notre Dame's activities night.

Coming: Phillip seeks revenge.

The Bold and the Beautiful: John told Frank and Jill that Lizzie's been with Ben. Cruz and Eden shoot Cain. Kelly helped a bag lady wearing a locket of Jeffrey and Mason.

The Days of Our Lives: Roman and Diana battled over their friendship with Victor. Diana discovered that her father planted bugs in her new co-workers. Justin Kiriakis had threatened by a gunman. Victor assigned him a bodyguard. Jennifer asked Frankie to spend the night with her. They came home without her. Beth was stunned when Eric visited her, but wouldn't allow herself to encourage him.

Coming: Eric can't hide his feelings.

Days of Our Lives: Roman and Diana battled over their friendship with Victor. Diana discovered that her father planted bugs in her new co-workers. Justin Kiriakis had threatened by a gunman. Victor assigned him a bodyguard. Jennifer asked Frankie to spend the night with her. They came home without her. Beth was stunned when Eric visited her, but wouldn't allow herself to encourage him.

Coming: Eric can't hide his feelings.

The Young and the Restless: Cricket was proud that Philip attended an AA meeting and refused liquor at Danny's party. Victor discovered Nikki's secret apartment and installed a two-way mirror from the room next door. Steven warned Victor not to interfere with Ashley's feelings. Faye had flashes of her car exploding. John warned Jack to support the men's line - or else.

Coming: Kay and Jill have dates.

The Restless: Victor was warned to stop molesting his massage therapist. Debra was upset as Mason was getting ready to move into Llanfair to keep rooms from Lily, Maria for a reduced sentence. Rafe informed John that Sandra changed her story.

Coming: Jack's proposal. Kiriakis planted bugs in her new condo. When Justin was sleeping with Marsh and comforted her. They agreed to discuss their problems at Cross World.

As the World Turns: After an overnight stint in jail, Holden made peace with Lance and was forgiven by Lily. Casey gave Lyla a meaningful painting gift. Fran's was surprised to learn that Seth's novel is about Sabrina. Paul saw James embrace Corinne.

Coming: Ellen encourages Mark.
The Observer

Sports Briefs

In AL action yesterday, New York beat Toronto, 8-5; Detroit defeated Milwaukee, 5-1; Minnesota outscored Cleveland, 7-3; Chicago blanked Seattle, 24-0; KC defeated Oakland, 6-5; and Texas whipped the Angels, 8-2. -Associated Press

In NL action yesterday, New York defeated St. Louis, 6-2; San Diego ripped Houston, 10-2; Pittsburgh crushed Philadelphia, 6-1; LA outscored Atlanta, 6-2; San Francisco defeated the Reds, 6-1; and Chicago beat Montreal, 5-2. -Associated Press

TheBoxingClub will continue training for the novice program today and throughout the week at 4 p.m. in the Boxing Room of the ACC. All new and old members experience necessary. Any questions call Kevin at 283-1419. -The Observer

The Sailing Club will be offering sailing lessons for all experience levels at 3:30 p.m., Mondays, Tuesdays and 4 p.m. Thursdays. Dues must be paid at or before your first lesson. -The Observer

The Windsurfing Club will be giving lessons to all members or potential members at St. Joe’s Beach from September 14, to Friday, September 18. Any questions call Carter at 1728. -The Observer

The Bicycle Club now has application forms for the Leaves Century bicycle tour on Sunday October 4. Call Robert Kahayashi at 1502 and get the name and address for an application. There are also daily rides from the Buo Stop at 4 p.m. -The Observer

Monday, September 14, 1987

The Observer Note Desk Office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Stu- dio, Suite 100, 10th Floors, Monday through Friday. The Observer Saint Mary’s office, located on the third floor of Haigler Hall, also continues to be open Monday through Friday. Deadline for next-day classes is 3 p.m. All classifications must be printed, either in person or by mail. The charge is 10 cents per page character per day.
NFL Roundup

Bucs rip Atlanta in opener

Associated Press

Steve DeBerg, who threw seven interceptions on the first week of the 1986 season, when Tampa Bay was 2-14 for the second straight year, looked like an All-Pro on opening day in the NFL Sunday, who beat out No. 1 draft pick Vinny Testaverde, passed for 333 yards and a team-record five touchdowns as the Buccaneers crushed the Atlanta Falcons 46-10 in Ryan Raymond's debut at Tampa Bay coach.

There were 12 other season openers Sunday...

Redskins 34, Eagles 24

Doug Williams, replacing the injured Jay Schroeder, threw two touchdown passes to Art Monk leading Washington over Philadelphia. Williams passed 272 yards in his second NFL appearance since 1982.

Steelers 30, 49ers 17

Rookie cornerback Delton Hall put Pittsburgh in the lead with a 56-yard fumble recovery return and Mark Malone overcame a nine-of-33 passing performance against turnover-prone San Francisco. The Steelers are coming off their first winless preseason in 22 years.

Cards 24, Cowboys 13

Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes in the first quarter and Jim Breech kicked a 29-yard field goal after a first-quarter tie against Denver. Elway completed 22 of 32 passes. Denver rocketed Seattle. Elway returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Broncos 40, Seahawks 17

John Elway threw for 338 yards and four touchdowns, Rich Karlis kicked four field goals and Dennis Smith forced two third-quarter turnovers as Denver routed Seattle. Elway returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Raiders 20, Packers 0

Marcus Allen rushed for 136 yards and a touchdown on a career-high 33 carries and Vann McElroy had an interception 35 yards for a touchdown as the Los Angeles Raiders blanked Green Bay.

Leans 34, Lions 19

Wade Wilson, whose three interceptions put Minnesota in a 16-3 first-half hole, threw a 73-yard touchdown pass to Anthony Carter to spark a 21-point third-quarter rally against Detroit. Carter was an even bigger culprit than Wilson on two of the interceptions, as perfect passes from Wilson went right through his hands and into the arms of Detroit defenders.

Suns 28, Browns 21

Bobber Jefferson threw two touchdown passes to Hobo Breener, and Bruce Clark and Brett Maxie both sacked Bernie Kosar in the end zone in the fourth quarter as New Orleans whipped Cleveland.

Bengals 23, Colts 21

Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes in the first quarter and Jim Breech kicked a 29-yard field goal after a first-quarter tie against Denver. Elway returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Oilers 21, Chiefs 7

Hector ran for two scores as San Francisco. The final 1:58 against Dallas.

Oilers 24, Cowboys 13

Hector ran for two scores as San Francisco. The final 1:58 against Dallas.

Chiefs 20, Chargers 13

Rookie Paul Palmer returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Packers 20, Cowboys 17

Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes to Hobo Breener, and Bruce Clark and Brett Maxie both sacked Bernie Kosar in the end zone in the fourth quarter as New Orleans whipped Cleveland.

Oilers 21, Chiefs 7

Hector ran for two scores as San Francisco. The final 1:58 against Dallas.

Chiefs 20, Chargers 13

Rookie Paul Palmer returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Packers 20, Cowboys 17

Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes to Hobo Breener, and Bruce Clark and Brett Maxie both sacked Bernie Kosar in the end zone in the fourth quarter as New Orleans whipped Cleveland.

Steelers 30, 49ers 17

Rookie cornerback Delton Hall put Pittsburgh in the lead with a 56-yard fumble recovery return and Mark Malone overcame a nine-of-33 passing performance against turnover-prone San Francisco. The Steelers are coming off their first winless preseason in 22 years.

Cards 24, Cowboys 13

Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes in the first quarter and Jim Breech kicked a 29-yard field goal after a first-quarter tie against Denver. Elway completed 22 of 32 passes. Denver rocketed Seattle. Elway returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Broncos 40, Seahawks 17

John Elway threw for 338 yards and four touchdowns, Rich Karlis kicked four field goals and Dennis Smith forced two third-quarter turnovers as Denver routed Seattle. Elway returned a kickoff 95 yards late in the fourth quarter to give Kansas City its victory over the Rams.

Raiders 20, Packers 0

Marcus Allen rushed for 136 yards and a touchdown on a career-high 33 carries and Vann McElroy had an interception 35 yards for a touchdown as the Los Angeles Raiders blanked Green Bay.

Leans 34, Lions 19

Wade Wilson, whose three interceptions put Minnesota in a 16-3 first-half hole, threw a 73-yard touchdown pass to Anthony Carter to spark a 21-point third-quarter rally against Detroit. Carter was an even bigger culprit than Wilson on two of the interceptions, as perfect passes from Wilson went right through his hands and into the arms of Detroit defenders.
Irish tennis eases past NIU

By STEVE MEGAREGG
Sports Writer

Last year, Northern Illinois University men's tennis was a challenge to the Notre Dame women's tennis team in the North Star Conference.

If that's still the case, the Irish might have proved last Saturday how much distance they have put between themselves and the rest of the conference.

Notre Dame thrashed the Huskies, 9-0. In nine matches, Notre Dame won 18 of 19 sets. Only fourth-seeded Alice Lohrer was required to go more than the minimum of two sets on her way to victory.

"I know we were better this year than we had been in the past," said Irish coach Michele Gelfman. "It was important for the team to get in a competitive match with another school. It was a good test on how strong and mentally tough we are."

If this dual match, the opening match of the fall season for the Irish, was any test, Notre Dame has quite a bit of mental toughness this season.

Each of the singles players had quite an easy time of it in the first set of their matches. While the second sets of the singles matches were closer, the Irish enjoyed similar success.

"In the past we'd lose our mental toughness in the second set and let the matches drag into a third set," Gelfman said. "Here, we were able to get the second sets, but we were able to come through."

Singles winners included top-seeded Ce Ce Cahill, 6-2, 6-2, second-seeded Stephanie Tolstedt, 6-0, 7-5, third-seeded Michelle Dasso, 6-2, 6-4, Lohrer, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, fifth-seeded Kim Pacella, 6-1, 6-4, and sixth-seeded Resa Kelly, 6-3, 6-1. In doubles matches, Lohrer and Dasso won, 6-2, 6-0, Cahill and Tolstedt won 6-2, 6-1, and Pacella and McNamara won 6-4, 6-3.

"It executed in a match what we did in practice," Gelfman said. "In the past we've had a lot of things go wrong, but in a match we would fall back to our old habits."

Next weekend, the Irish will head for Bloomington, Ind., to participate in the Midwest Fall Invitational. The tournament is individual play, with competition with no team scores. It also should provide the Irish with another chance to considerably toughen opposition.

"We need to get in a situation where we play the majority of Indiana people and the ranked people," Gelfman said. "We don't play Indiana in a dual meet, and they're consistent enough that it'll go to the NCAA's, hopefully."

ND field hockey drops two

By MOLLY MAHONEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame field hockey team lost 3-0 to Michigan and 4-0 to Kent State this weekend, easier on Saturday 10-0 overall.

On Saturday, the Irish received little hospitality from the Wolverines as they traveled to Ann Arbor to take on Big Ten rival Michigan.

The Irish were unable to tally a goal against a strong Michigan team but were able to keep the game close going into halftime down 1-0. Notre Dame's 30 shots and pressure on the Wolverines defense with shots on goal but very consistent forward "but we were able to come through."

"Right now we want to concentrate on improving our passing and scoring opportunities," said Lindeneff, "but I am pleased with the way the girls kept their poise and con-

"Here, we were able to get the second sets, but we were able to come through."

Singles winners included top-seeded Ce Ce Cahill, 6-2, 6-2, second-seeded Stephanie Tolstedt, 6-0, 7-5, third-seeded Michelle Dasso, 6-2, 6-4, Lohrer, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, fifth-seeded Kim Pacella, 6-1, 6-4, and sixth-seeded Resa Kelly, 6-3, 6-1. In doubles matches, Lohrer and Dasso won, 6-2, 6-0, Cahill and Tolstedt won 6-2, 6-1, and Pacella and McNamara won 6-4, 6-3.

"It executed in a match what we did in practice," Gelfman said. "In the past we've had a lot of things go wrong, but in a match we would fall back to our old habits."

Next weekend, the Irish will head for Bloomington, Ind., to participate in the Midwest Fall Invitational. The tournament is individual play, with competition with no team scores. It also should provide the Irish with another chance to considerably toughen opposition.

"We need to get in a situation where we play the majority of Indiana people and the ranked people," Gelfman said. "We don't play Indiana in a dual meet, and they're consistent enough that it'll go to the NCAA's, hopefully."

ND field hockey drops two

By MOLLY MAHONEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame field hockey team lost 3-0 to Michigan and 4-0 to Kent State this weekend, easier on Saturday 10-0 overall.

On Saturday, the Irish received little hospitality from the Wolverines as they traveled to Ann Arbor to take on Big Ten rival Michigan.

The Irish were unable to tally a goal against a strong Michigan team but were able to keep the game close going into halftime down 1-0. Notre Dame's 30 shots and pressure on the Wolverines defense with shots on goal but very consistent forward "but we were able to come through."

"Right now we want to concentrate on improving our passing and scoring opportunities," said Lindeneff, "but I am pleased with the way the girls kept their poise and con-
Notre Dame's Brandy Wells sticks Michigan's Jamie Morris in Saturday's upset victory. The Irish defense dominated the Wolverines title even though they would be her only two titles of the year. It was the third Grand Slam final between Graf and Navratilova this year. Graf won the French Open while Navratilova captured Wimbledon. The key turns, Dennis Cerrigan features the defense's strong play on page 16. Holtz continued from page 16 scoring on an 18-yard touchdown run by freshman tailback Ricky Watters. Watters high-stepped over a defender at the line of scrimmage and put on a burst of speed to get to the right sideline and into the endzone. That touchdown would mark a junior free safety Corney Southwell's second interception of the game. "The entire defense did a great job," Southall said. When the linemen and linebackers are pressuring the quarterback like they did today, it makes a whole lot easier back in the secondary. We were all relentless. We want this game, and it just feels great to win it." The secondary got in on pressuring Brown as well. Sophomore linebacker Stan Smagala laid a vicious hit on Brown as he released the ball on the first down, and senior linebacker Cedric Figaro came up with the interception. That interception was Notre Dame's first score, a 44-yard field goal. The senior walk-on was good on two of three field-goal attempts and perfect on his two extra points. Michigan fumbled on their first Wolverine play from scrimmage after Southall's first field goal, and Jeff Kunz fell on it for the Irish. Three plays later, Andrysiak found Tim Brown double covered in the endzone, and the flanker outjumped his defender and pulled in a 11-yard touchdown reception. Andrysiak estimated his time in the pocket at about 10 seconds on that play, as the Irish offensive line held the Michigan rush at bay. "I saw the guy in front of me," Brown said. "But I didn't know there was a guy behind me. After I found that out, I couldn't believe he [Andrysiak] threw it." That score gave Notre Dame a 16-0 first-quarter lead, and Notre Dame took that advantage into the lockerroom at halftime. Southwell's second interception of the game in the third quarter gave Notre Dame the ball at its own 46-yard line, and sophomore fullback Braxton Banks dove over from one yard out to complete another scoring drive after a turnover. That gave the Irish a commanding 17-0 advantage. Andrysiak was 11-of-16 for 137 yards in the air. He threw one up for grabs and was intercepted with 12 seconds left in the game. "I think [Terry] played very well," Holtz said. "It was a big win for us - a team win. We had a pretty conservative game plan and we executed." "I guarantee you we're not as good as we looked today," Schexnieder said. "We looked bad. Notre Dame is a good team... They're probably not as good as they looked. We're both probably somewhere in between." The Irish are 4-8 for the first time since 1983.
Campus

3:00 p.m. G.T.E. Emerging Scholar Seminar by Dr. F.M.A. Salam from Michigan State University. 356 Fitzpatrick.
4:15 - 5:00 p.m. Individual Development Within the Family: Operation Marriage: Can You Really Leave Home?* by Prof. David Olson, University of Minnesota, Library Auditorium.
6:45 p.m. CARE (Campus Alliance for Rape Elimination) lecture "The Victim and the Offender." speakers will be Peter Russell and Sarah Cook, Carroll Auditorium in Madeleva Hall, Saint Mary's.
7:00 p.m. Notre Dame Communication and Theatre Film "Crime de Mon­sieur Lange," directed by Jean Renoir.
7:30 p.m. Seminar by Dr. F.M.A. Salam from Michigan State University. 356 University of Minnesota, Library Auditorium.
9:00 p.m. UW Dance Ensemble "Dancing Movies" in Hayes-Healy Auditorium.
9:00 p.m. Notre Dame communications faculty senate meeting, 210-214 CCE.

Dinner Menus

Notre Dame
Boneless Rib Sandwich
Roast Beef
Sweet and Sour Pork
Petrucci Alfredo

Saint Mary's
Ham Steak Hawaiian Style
Italian Style Lasagne
Seafood Crepe

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1. Scratches
6. Sign
12. Embroidered loop
15. Road for Punny Needle case
16. Needle case
17. Mountain crest
18. - boy)
19. Control strap
20. Bask pel
23. New Deal letter
24. At village
25. Bob or dog
28. Calendar abbr.
31. Castro
35. Actor Linden
36. M. Hayworth
37. - cotta
38. Almost never
42. Water containers
43. End a flight
44. Pinder specialty
45. More fortuitously
46. Math points
47. Oranges
48. - La Douce
50. Paddle
52. Gerstnhi hit
55. Emoters
56. Knitst
61. Groups of cattle
63. NY canal
64. Small duck
65. Beginning
66. Goes sum
67. Ancient laborer
68. Brings up

DOWN
1. Numbers man
2. Trumpeter Al
3. Mapie genus
4. Portly
5. Direct
6. Rotating disk
7. Alfiean
8. Experiment again
10. Wrapping paper
11. Part of a.m.
12. Demolish
13. Bridge
21. Depression
22. Used a floating platform
25. Goes to a mall
26. Hawaiian island
27. Sp. hero
28. Zeta tollower
30. Cellist Casals
32. Tag
33. Dishintegrate
34. Paths
35. Stairway parts
36. Plane curves
39. Resin
40. Miners
41. Oneness
42. Lords and -
43. TV panelist
44. Math points
45. SW tree
groove
precipice
Leathar
Minor
Zoe
Difficult to find by
51. Plan of a.m.
52. Mother of Jesus
55. Give birth to a lamb
57. - Minor
58. Gas
59. Letters
60. Needle case
61. Frigate

What's Happening this week:

MONDAY
La Fortune Open all day

WEDNESDAY
ODC San Francisco Washington Hall

THURSDAY
"Tough Guys" Engineering Aud.

FRIDAY
IPSO FACTO
Stepan Courts "Hoosiers" Engineering Aud.

SATURDAY
"Hoosiers" Engineering Aud.

The Observer
Notre Dame and Saint Mary's newspaper Be a part of it.

Comics

Bloom County

Berke Breathed

The Far Side

Gary Larson

Beer nuts

Mark Williams

What's Happening this week:
MONDAY
La Fortune Open all day

WEDNESDAY
ODC San Francisco Washington Hall

THURSDAY
"Tough Guys" Engineering Aud.

FRIDAY
IPSO FACTO Stepan Courts "Hoosiers" Engineering Aud.

SATURDAY
"Hoosiers" Engineering Aud.
ANN ARBOR, Mich. - They call them the "No Name Defense." Saturday at Michigan this group of no names turned in a performance that should get them some attention. The Irish defense came up with seven scores, and generally made life rough for Wolverine quarterback Demetrius Brown and his substitute Michael Taylor in Notre Dame's 26-7 win.

The Irish came up with four interceptions, two by Corry Southall and one each by Cedric Figaro and Wes Fritchett, and three fumble recoveries - Southall's secondary partners, Brandly Wells, Stan Smagala (who had one of the fumble recoveries) and George Streeter, each turned in a big performance to limit Brown to four completions on 15 attempts (one of eight in the first half) before he was replaced by Taylor in the fourth quarter.

"We moved around, and made it hard for (Brown)," said Cedric Figaro of the Irish defensive scheme. "He was never in that situation where he had to come in, start a game and read coverages. If we stayed locked in, it would have been that much easier for him. We tried to move around and confuse him a little bit. We made him think more. We moved around and he didn't know whether to check off or stay with it."

Pass defense wasn't the only area to check off or stay with the No Names stood out. While Wolverine tailback Jamie Morris ran for 9-0 yards on 12 plays, the No Names' defense consistently frustrated Brown whenever the Wolverines moved the ball.

Brown completed six of 20 passes for 73 yards on 12 plays, most of their opportunities.

"When the quarterback gets stymied, it's very disheartening," said Grace's former mentor, Indiana head coach Lou Holtz. "I'm not surprised at how well we played."}

"I'm not surprised at how well we played,' Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"We didn't have a lot of turnovers. We had to make up for our mistakes by going 7-0 on defense. Our defense was our No. 1 strength on the day."

The Irish defense consisted of former mentor, Indiana head coach Lou Holtz. "I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.

"I'm not surprised at how well we played," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "But this was an opportunity for our team to show the coaches and fans that we can beat the team ranked in front of us." And the Irish did.

"I feel that was a critical defeat," said Holtz, whose Irish rounded out the largest crowd of the season - 106,098, there was nothing magical about the way Notre Dame ended that streak and handed Michigan a 26-7 defeat. The Irish scored four of five touchdowns on defense, and played almost error-free defense behind senior quarterback Terry Andrysiak.