Viewpoint: Monk on Bookstore

VOL. XXI, NO. 112

The Observer

the independent newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's

---

Sandinistas and Contras call truce

Associated Press

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Nicaragua's Sandinistas and Contras rebels that may bring peace for the first time since 1981.

Both sides kept their guns silent by mutual consent. A business leader said the cease-fire accord signed Wednesday night was a miracle.

During three days of negotiations in a border town that resulted in an agreement Wednesday night, both sides had said it was the last chance for peace in Nicaragua. The formal cease-fire is to begin April 9.

Washington reaction. page 7

Virgilio Godoy, president of the opposition Independent Liberal Party, said Thursday: "I believe that the agreement is a hope. It is not a question of saying now who won and who lost in the agreement, but that Nicaragua and thousands of mothers who have sons in the war won.

Alonso Moreno, who owns a shoe store and has three nephews in the army, said: "This is the most important thing that has occurred since 1979 when the Somoto dictatorship was overthrown."

In a broadcast Thursday, the rebel Radio Liberacion said:

"The (Nicaraguan) Resistance has taken an initial step to end the hostilities in Nicaragua, a very significant step."

El Nuevo Diario, a pro-government newspaper, asked the question in its banner headline: "Cease Fire! Peace Exposed!"

Enrique Bolanos, president of the private enterprise council and staunch government critic, called the pact "a miracle," and added: "Perhaps the Sandinista Front will finally comply with its word."

During the negotiations at Sapoa, on the Costa Rican border 90 miles south of Managua, President Daniel Ortega made a surprise visit and said it was time "to bury once and for all the military confrontation."

Rebel leader Alfredo Cesar told journalists at the meeting: "It is not just a chance to achieve peace and harmony, but the only chance."

Leaders of the Sandinistas and the U.S.-sponsored Contras stood side-by-side on a makeshift dais Wednesday night in Sapoa, sang the national anthem together and signed the cease-fire.

During the three days, both sides retreated from hard positions, especially the Sandinistas, who stood to gain the most from an agreement that would virtually end the insurgency.

The Contras agreed not to accept military aid and to receive non-lethal supplies exclusively from neutral organizations.

---

Assailant at D2 lot will be tried as an adult, faces jail

By MICHELLE DALL

Copy Editor

The case against Harold Leroy Frazier, Jr., accused of assaulting a female Notre Dame student in the D-2 parking lot on Feb. 7, will be waived to an adult court, County Prosecutor Michael Barnes said Wednesday.

Frazier, a Edwardsburg, Mich. resident, will be tried as an adult, despite the fact he is still 17, it was decided at a hearing on Wednesday.

Frazier is being charged with Class A felony attempted rape, Class C felony battery, and Class B felony criminal confinement.

As an adult, Frazier will face imprisonment if convicted. The maximum sentence for attempted rape is 20 to 50 years, battery, two to eight years, and criminal confinement, six to 30 years.

"The case will now be moved to an upper court," to continue proceedings, said Barnes. "If the suspect were tried as a juvenile, "the sentence would be much less severe," said Barnes. If convicted, Frazier may have spent time in a juvenile home or served a much shorter prison sentence.

The victim of the assault was attacked at knife-point at around 5 p.m. on Feb. 7. Security officers, working in con-junction with the Indiana state police, the Elkhart county and city police and the St. Joseph county police, arrested Frazier.

---

Diet, lifespan link found at ND

By KIMBERLY TRENNER

Senior Staff Reporter

"There is no question that diet has a direct relationship to aging," said Professor Morris Pollard, Coleman Director of Lobund Laboratory at Notre Dame.

Preliminary findings in what is believed to be the largest and most comprehensive study of the effects of restricted diet on aging in laboratory animals will be presented at a symposium March 27 to March 30 at Notre Dame.

"The Lobund Aging Project is a four year study supported by the Retirement Research Foundation of Chicago," said Pollard.

"Researchers studied conditions in conventional and germfree rats, all of the same sex and strain," said Pollard.

"A consortium of 26 investigators from the United States and Canada examined tissues in the aging animals according to their areas of expertise," he said. These areas include endocrinology, anatomy, the brain, and gastrointestinal functions.

"Half of each group of rats were fed the same diet reduced by 30 percent. The restricted animals had a significant increase in life and a lower incidence of disease," said Pollard.

"Since 1935 the reduction of diet has been linked to aging," he said. "What we are trying to see AGING, page 4
In Brief

Officers for the Law School’s chapter of the Federalist Society for Law and Public Policy studies were recently elected for the 1988-89 school year. Norbert Hart was chosen as president; Lester Syen, vice-president; Edward White, secretary; and Daniel Squires, treasurer. - The Observer

Of Interest

Model UN General Assembly meeting will be Saturday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in 125 Hayes-Healy. Protection of Palestinian Homeland, Panama, and the International Drug Crisis will be discussed. Call Chris at 239-1466 with any questions. - The Observer

A Jump Rope-a-thon sponsored by the Student Government to raise money for the American Heart Association will be held in Stepan Center at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 29. Return applications through April 24. Accordingly, the Bookstore Lot, Lyons Court, and Stepan Court parking area will be closed to parking from March 23 to April 24. Vehicles with A-7 decals may park in the South Dining Hall Lot (A10), the Infirmary Lot (A10) or the Laundry Lot (A-B). Vehicles with “B” decals may park in the South Lot (B-16) or the East Faculty Staff Lots (B-2) across from Hesburgh Library. Those with ‘Construction’ parking decals may park in White Field, just north of the D-2 lot (east of the East Gate entrance to campus). If you have questions about where to park, please contact Security at 239-5505 or 239-4444. - The Observer

Today is the last in the Friday Forum Series on the Notre Dame academic honor code. The talk will be at 12:15 at the Center for Social Concerns. - The Observer

Black Law Student Association’s Alumni Weekend will be this weekend. See the BSJA bulletin board in the basement of the Law School for the schedule of events. - The Observer

The International Festival will be held on Saturday at 7 p.m. in the University Club. - The Observer

Engineers’ Week concludes today with Fluid Friday. Events include an ice cream social at 2 p.m. in the engineering student center, followed by the faculty/senior reception at 5 p.m. in the University Club. - The Observer

Glee Club tickets for tonight’s concert will be available at the door beginning at 8:05 p.m. based on availability. - The Observer

A Lenten Twilight Retreat for women will be tonight from 6:30 to 11 p.m. at 1104 N. Notre Dame Ave. For information call 288-3665. - The Observer

CILA is sponsoring an all day workshop tomorrow beginning at 8 a.m. in the Hesburgh Library Lounge. The workshop is run by Network, a Catholic social justice lobby, and will deal with the platforms of the 1988 Presidential candidates along with practical information on how to effectively participate in the ’88 elections. - The Observer

Human Rights internships application deadline has been extended to Monday, Mar. 28. Return applications to 1233. - The Observer

Steve Daley, candidate for Governor of Indiana, will speak to College Democrats and all other interested students and faculty Monday at noon in Montgomery Theatre. - The Observer

Jaroslav Pelikan, Yale University theologian and historian, will speak in the Louis Leory Auditorium on Tuesday, March 29 at 8 p.m. on "A Church Between East and West: The Millennium of the Ukrainian Experiment." - The Observer

Media stresses style at expense of substance

"Who’s in first?"
"That’s right."
"What?"
"He’s running second."
"What’s running second?"
"No, Who’s in first, What’s running second."

This old Abbott and Costello comedy routine sounds like the present-day presidential campaign. Today’s media has lost focus on what’s important on the campaign trail. All its attention now goes to the two big Ps - the polls and the personalities.

Although personalities influence many voters’ decisions, the media floods the public with personal flairs, rather than concentrating on the issues. Candidates are constantly categorized by the media with short one-liners, such as Bush the Wimp, Dole the Hatchet Man, or Robertson the TV evangelist. In the media’s search for easy quips, they have distorted what the public really needs to know.

Don’t misunderstand me. Personalities do have their role in politics. It is true that Ronald Reagan’s personality had a lot to do with his election, but does that make him a good president? Not in and of itself. Voters need to know how a candidate will handle what kind of person he is. After all, voters wish to elect someone who has ideas and aspirations similar to their own.

The media must take more responsibility for elections because their coverage of the campaign affects peoples’ votes. Most people make their decision on a candidate based on what they read in the newspaper and what they see on TV.

The media needs to cover the whole campaign objectively. When the nightly news only shows us the one-liners from a speech or debate, rather than the overall tone and content, the public is left asking what kind of person he is. After all, voters wish to elect someone who has ideas and aspirations similar to their own.

The media must cover more for elections because their coverage of the campaign will deal with the platforms of the 1988 Presidential candidates along with practical information on how to effectively participate in the ’88 elections. - The Observer

Polls are used as the standings of a presid­ential race. Almost every newspaper, network, and campaign staff conducts their own polls, yet many have different results. Earlier this week, I heard on the news that if Dukakis and Bush were nominated, the former would win. That’s a pretty tough call to make eight months before the election, especially since the Demo­cratic race is so close.

Polls, personalities and comic lines are great, but why doesn’t the media report more of what we want to hear? We want to know what the candidates are likely to do about Central America, the Middle East, the economy, the abortion issue and others, but they don’t seem to want to tell us.

Now that the delegates are being counted and the media can make their bar-grapred polls with caricatures of each candidate under their respective totals. But when a winner is finally crowned, and the pomm is over, the voters will be left asking ‘who’s who?’

"Stop lying about my record!"

These sharp comments do need reporting, because they do say something about the candidate’s personality, but unfortunately they overshadow all the other relevant information of the campaign.

Polks are used as the standings of a presiden­tial race. Almost every newspaper, network, and campaign staff conducts their own polls, yet many have different results. Earlier this week, I heard on the news that if Dukakis and Bush were nominated, the former would win. That’s a pretty tough call to make eight months before the election, especially since the Demo­cratic race is so close.

Polls, personalities and comic lines are great, but why doesn’t the media report more of what we want to hear? We want to know what the candidates are likely to do about Central America, the Middle East, the economy, the abortion issue and others, but they don’t seem to want to tell us.

Now that the delegates are being counted and the media can make their bar-grapred polls with caricatures of each candidate under their respective totals. But when a winner is finally crowned, and the pomm is over, the voters will be left asking ‘who’s who?’

The Observer

The Observer (219) 745-1900 is published Monday through Friday except during spring and summer recesses. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s College. Subscriptions may be purchas­ed for $4.00 per year in advance by writing The Observer, P.O. Box 9, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is the Official Student Publication of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s College. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Former national security aides Lt. Col. Oliver North and John Poindexter and two businessmen pleaded innocent Thursday to charges they ran the Iran-Contra affair as a vast criminal conspiracy and defrauded the government of $17 million.

One by one, the defendants were called before U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell at their arraignment, and asked by courtroom clerk Barbara Montgomery, "How do you wish to plead?"

"Not guilty," replied Poindexter, President Reagan's former national security adviser, and North, a top assistant to Poindexter.

All four defendants were released on their personal recognizance and told to report weekly by telephone to a pre-trial agency. Although criminal defendants are often asked to surrender their passports, Gesell said he would not impose that condition.

Dressed in conservative business suits, the four men made their first appearance in court since a federal grand jury, convened by Independent Counsel Lawrence Walsh 14 months ago, handed down a 23-count indictment March 16.

North, retiring as a Marine lieutenant colonel May 1, and Poindexter, a retired Navy rear admiral, embraced before the judge entered the crowded courtroom.

The defendants are charged with conspiring to defraud the United States "by deceitfully ... organizing, directing and concealing" a program of support for the Nicaraguan Contra rebels at a time such assistance was barred. The indictment also said the defendants "knowingly did embezzle, steal and convert to their own use" part of the proceeds generated by the sale of weapons to Iran.

Gesell set no trial date but said he would hold an early hearing to determine whether evidence gathered by Justice is not tainted and therefore admissible.

North, Poindexter plead innocent to charges

Opposition leader returns to Panama

Associated Press

PANAMA CITY, Panama — A leading opposition figure returned from exile Thursday and rejoined an increasingly desperate struggle to topple Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

"We have but one objective: to get rid of Noriega and build reconciliation and democracy in Panama," said Ricardo Arias Calderon, the president of the Democratic Christian Party, in an address to a cheering crowd of about 300 people who greeted his flight from Costa Rica.

"I am profoundly moved to be back in my own land," he said.

The return of Arias Calderon, considered a presidential aspirant in elections scheduled for May 1989, came on the fourth day of a nationwide general strike aimed at ousting Noriega as head of the Defense Forces.

"There are growing pockets within the Defense Forces that are against Noriega," said Jose Miluno, an attorney and opposition leader. "What we don't know is if they will act.

But in his speech to a group of about 600 supporters, Noriega claimed the military was maintaining "its high moral and patriotic beliefs" despite a failed barracks coup last week.

Eleven officers were arrested in that failed plot. Noriega dismissed more than a dozen officers and shifted the assignments of other key personnel.

Despite almost unanimous support for the strike by business and industry, Noriega remained defiant, saying Wednesday night his opponents at home and in the United States don't "have the capacity" to overthrow him.

Contra affair as a vast criminal conspiracy and defrauded the government of $17 million.

Pakistan military ally of US, opposed to US interests in the Middle East

Gephardt to quit if no victory soon

Associated Press

Democrat Richard Gephardt, who has fallen on hard times since his Iowa victory 45 days ago, will quit the presidential race unless he scores an upset victory in Michigan this weekend, aides said Thursday.

George Bush, meanwhile, headed for Connecticut expecting to pad his huge lead on the GOP side.

Gephardt said he'd made no decision to drop out, declaring, "My mother always told me to cross one bridge at a time." But the scramble was already on to pick up supporters who would be freed if he withdrew.

"There's no question there are some union leaders who are now supporting Dick Gephardt who would find Paul Simon the most attractive of the alternatives," said Illinois Sen. Simon at an appearance in Kalamazoo.

Simon, who is in fourth place in the Democratic delegate count, just ahead of Gephardt, spoke of getting "back in the ballgame." Among the Republicans, former Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, wife of Bush's main rival, Sen. Bob Dole, said in Oshkosh, Wis., that her husband now has merely a "long shot" chance, but she added, "He's got the grit and determination needed to keep him in the running." She said neither she nor her husband have discussed the possibility that one of them might be Bush's running mate for the general election. "I'm really not seeking to be on the ticket. I'm going 12 hours a day just trying to carry Bob's message," she said.

Vice President Bush, holding a commanding lead in the battle for Republican convention delegates, was traveling to Connecticut, saying he was taking nothing for granted in the primary there next Tuesday.
3:15 p.m. - A resident of Flanner hall in St. Edward's Hall reported the theft of his wallet and contents were taken from an unlocked locker in the Rockne Memorial sometime between 1:15 and 2:30 p.m. His loss is estimated at $80.

3:32 p.m. - A South Bend resident reported the theft of his driver's license and cash from an unlocked locker in the Rockne Memorial about 1:00 p.m. His loss is estimated at $18.

4:38 p.m. - A St. Edward's Hall resident reported that his wallet and contents were taken from an unlocked locker in the Rockne Memorial at about 1:00 p.m. His loss is estimated at $20.

7:50 p.m. - Two Notre Dame students reported that their watches were stolen from outside of a raquetball court in the JACC sometime between 7:05 and 7:45 p.m. Their combined loss is $75.

8:45 p.m. - A Morrissey Hall resident reported the theft of his wallet and watch from a handball court in the JACC sometime between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m. His loss is estimated at $200.

Time: JACC

The Observer / Suzanne Poon

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - A west Hollywood nail salon is justified in refusing to work on an AIDS patient because there is no conclusive medical evidence on how the deadly disease is spread, a judge ruled in a decision disclosed Thursday.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence Waddington said in a 14-page decision that Jessica's Nail Salon could legally refuse to give Paul Jasperson a pedicure despite a West Hollywood ordinance banning AIDS discrimination.

The ordinance "fails to respect the right not to be involuntarily exposed to a risk of personal harm," the judge said. The decision late Wednesday successfully that refusal was justified because experts aren't positive how AIDS is transmitted.

"Is it necessary to maintain your livelihood to expose yourself?" attorney Paul Geragos asked during the non-jury civil trial on behalf of Jessica's. "We're talking about self-protection and a court-ordered pedicure.

Geragos said Thursday he was pleased with the decision. While an ordinance barring AIDS discrimination is fine, he said, requiring people to do something that threatens their life isn't.

AIDS is caused by a virus that damages the body's immune system.

Associated Press

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. - It was a special delivery, even for workers of United Parcel Service.

The package was an 8-pound baby boy born to Bob Turner, an UPS delivery driver, and his wife, Deanna.

Unfortunately, Turner didn't make the delivery. The job went to his boss, Bloomington UPS supervisor Pem Lincoln. Mrs. Turner called UPS about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday to say she was starting labor and asked that her husband be notified.

Lincoln called back about 15 minutes later to say Turner would be home in 45 minutes. "She said that was fine," said Lincoln. "But the way she said it indicated to me that there was some concern."

Another 15 minutes went by, and Lincoln called again. This time, Mrs. Turner said she needed to go to the hospital immediately.

Lincoln rushed to the Turner home. While he was dialing an ambulance, the baby arrived.

Lincoln, the father of four and a grandfather of four, worked in a pediatrics ward in the Navy 25 years ago.

Mrs. Turner and son Daniel Lee were taken by ambulance to Bloomington Hospital.

They were discharged Thursday.

"Everybody is OK," Turner said Thursday. "I was very surprised. I thought she would have a quick delivery, but not that quick."

When you finally finish War and Peace, a small celebration is in order.

Security Beat

TUESDAY, MARCH 22

8:00 p.m. - A South Bend resident was issued a citation by Notre Dame Security for traveling 55 mph in a posted 30 mph zone on Ivy Rd.

8:30 p.m. - A resident of Pangborn Hall reported the theft of his leather jacket from his unlocked room sometime between 12:15 and 1:15 a.m. His loss is $150.

THURS., MARCH 24

12:03 p.m. - A St. Edward's Hall resident reported that his wallet and contents were taken from an unlocked locker in the Rockne Memorial at about 12:03 p.m. His loss is estimated at $18.

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - A west Hollywood nail salon is justified in refusing to work on an AIDS patient because there is no conclusive medical evidence on how the deadly disease is spread, a judge ruled in a decision disclosed Thursday.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence Waddington said in a 14-page decision that Jessica's Nail Salon could legally refuse to give Paul Jasperson a pedicure despite a West Hollywood ordinance banning AIDS discrimination.

The ordinance "fails to respect the right not to be involuntarily exposed to a risk of personal harm," the judge said. The decision late Wednesday successfully that refusal was justified because experts aren't positive how AIDS is transmitted.

"Is it necessary to maintain your livelihood to expose yourself?" attorney Paul Geragos asked during the non-jury civil trial on behalf of Jessica's. "We're talking about self-protection and a court-ordered pedicure.

Geragos said Thursday he was pleased with the decision. While an ordinance barring AIDS discrimination is fine, he said, requiring people to do something that threatens their life isn't.

AIDS is caused by a virus that damages the body's immune system.

Associated Press

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. - It was a special delivery, even for workers of United Parcel Service.

The package was an 8-pound baby boy born to Bob Turner, an UPS delivery driver, and his wife, Deanna.

Unfortunately, Turner didn't make the delivery. The job went to his boss, Bloomington UPS supervisor Pem Lincoln. Mrs. Turner called UPS about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday to say she was starting labor and asked that her husband be notified.

Lincoln called back about 15 minutes later to say Turner would be home in 45 minutes. "She said that was fine," said Lincoln. "But the way she said it indicated to me that there was some concern."

Another 15 minutes went by, and Lincoln called again. This time, Mrs. Turner said she needed to go to the hospital immediately.

Lincoln rushed to the Turner home. While he was dialing an ambulance, the baby arrived.

Lincoln, the father of four and a grandfather of four, worked in a pediatrics ward in the Navy 25 years ago.

Mrs. Turner and son Daniel Lee were taken by ambulance to Bloomington Hospital.

They were discharged Thursday.

"Everybody is OK," Turner said Thursday. "I was very surprised. I thought she would have a quick delivery, but not that quick."

When you finally finish War and Peace, a small celebration is in order.

Security Beat

TUESDAY, MARCH 22

8:00 p.m. - A South Bend resident was issued a citation by Notre Dame Security for traveling 55 mph in a posted 30 mph zone on Ivy Rd.

8:30 p.m. - A resident of Pangborn Hall reported the theft of his leather jacket from his unlocked room sometime between 12:15 and 1:15 a.m. His loss is $150.

THURS., MARCH 24

12:03 p.m. - A St. Edward's Hall resident reported that his wallet and contents were taken from an unlocked locker in the Rockne Memorial at about 12:03 p.m. His loss is estimated at $18.
Two more die in West Bank unrest

Associated Press

HEBRON, occupied West Bank - Soldiers shot two Palestinians dead in street battles Thursday after a night of Israeli raids in which Arabs were arrested and taken to schools converted into detention centers.

Seven Arabs were wounded in confrontations in the occupied West Bank, including a 12-year-old girl shot in the left leg in Tamoun, a village 10 miles west of Nablus, hospital officials reported.

Thursday's deaths brought to 109 the number of Palestinians killed since the Arab rebellion began Dec. 8 in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip, according to U.N. figures. One Israeli soldier has been killed.

Monsignor Michel Sabbah, Roman Catholic patriarch of Jerusalem, canceled the traditional Palm Sunday procession from the biblical Mount of Olives to Jerusalem's Old City because of continuing violence.

Ariel Sharon, the hawkish former general who now is in charge of the Israeli army, has been holding hundreds of Palestinians since the West Bank uprising began. He would not identify them or say how many were arrested.

An Islamic official in Hebron said about 200 imams - Muslim religious leaders - had been arrested in the West Bank city this week. He said, on condition of anonymity, that most were members of a fundamentalist group.

Many of those arrested were taken to half a dozen Arab schools the army converted into temporary detention centers.

Israeli warplanes raid Palestinian guerrilla bases

Associated Press

JERUSALEM - Israeli warplanes dropped chemical weapons in raids on refugee camps and Arab villages in the West Bank Thursday night and early Friday, military officials reported.

Soldiers have rounded up at least 700 Palestinians in the past week, and about 3,000 since the rebellion began, in nightly sweeps through villages and refugee camps aimed at removing leaders of the rebellion.

Chemical weapons used by Iraq

Chemical weapons have been used by Iraq in the Gulf war. The use of chemical weapons in the Gulf war was condemned by the United Nations.

ALL NOTRE DAME CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

Registration materials are now available for you to:

1. REGISTER for the 1988-89 ACADEMIC YEAR--Registration is MANDATORY to be an officially recognized organization on campus.
2. APPLY FOR FUNDING.
3. APPLY FOR FOOTBALL CONCESSION STAND.
4. ACTIVITIES NIGHT table registration.

DEADLINE FOR REGISTERING YOUR ORGANIZATION IS: FRIDAY, APRIL 8 BY 4:00 P.M.

pick up packets in the Student Activities Office 315 LaFortune Student Center
Taking the pill does not increase risk of cancer

Associated Press

CHICAGO - Long-term use of birth-control pills, even by women who began taking them as teen-agers, does not increase the risk of breast cancer, a new study of more than 9,000 women concludes.

The findings were reported in Friday's Journal of the American Medical Association.

Previous studies disagreed over whether the pill increases the risk of breast cancer for women through middle age. Some researchers have suggested the conflicting conclusions might be the result of a long-term latent effect from early use.

"But we found no direct human evidence for such a latent effect," said Dr. Bruce Stadel, one of the study's authors. Stadel was at the National Institutes of Health when the study was conducted and now is with the Food and Drug Administration in Bethesda, Md.

"This was a very, very large study...and these data are reassuring," he said.

You're in the Army now

You're in the Army now

You're in the Army now

You're in the Army now

You're in the Army now

New McDonald's a big hit in Yugoslavia

Associated Press

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia - Communism suffered its first Big Mac attack Thursday as McDonald's opened a restaurant in Yugoslavia, and police were called in to keep customers from getting too unruly under the golden arches.

"I just wanted to taste genuine American hamburgers," said Milica Nikolic, a high school student who waited for three hours to taste her first Big Mac.

People curiously examined the renovated restaurant's plush interior and the backlit signs depicting the hamburgers, french fries, milk shakes and other fare more familiar in the West. It also featured amber-colored tables and floors, pastel-colored upholstery, modern art paintings and discreet illumination.

The fast-food outlet, located on a downtown square, had drawn crowds in recent days, and they began gathering long before it opened Thursday.

Police kept watch on the lines of customers snaking around the block, and they regulated the number who came inside to avoid overcrowding.

"No opening of a restaurant in Belgrade has created such a sensation as this one today," one policeman said.

"I think this restaurant has no competition in Belgrade," said Milica Danic, a housewife who treated her son to a cheeseburger. "It is much cleaner, the service is faster, the interior is neater and it is not too expensive."

The Belgrade media have suggested that the success of McDonald's in Yugoslavia depends on its acceptance by citizens long accustomed to a hamburger-like fast-food dish called the Pjeskavica: ground pork and onions on a bun.

"In fact, this is a clash between the Big Mac and Pjeskavica," said Vesna Mileovic, an official of Genex, a Yugoslav state-run enterprise that has contracted a joint venture agreement with McDonald's.

"Our aim is not to destroy the Pjeskavica on the Yugoslav market," said Predrag Dostanic, managing director of the Genex-McDonald's.

"We want to change customs of the local people used to completely different eating habits," said Milosevic. "Our aim is not to destroy the Pjeskavica."
Jessica’s rescuers argue over movie rights

Associated Press

MIDLAND, Texas - For 58 hours after a toddler tumbled into an abandoned well, hundreds of rescuers worked together to free her, but now an effort to bring their heroism to television has divided them.

Two groups - one mostly volunteer rescuers and the other city officials - are negotiating separately with different TV producers for a movie of the story that capped an effort to bring their heroism to television.

One volunteer rescuer, Bruce Peeler, said he is remaining neutral in the dispute. But he said he wonders whether the story could be told properly in any case.

“I am wondering if a unified group got together ... if it really true, accurate picture of what took place could ever be put on the screen,” said Peeler, president of Midland’s Airmaster Equipment Corp., which contributed drilling materials for the rescue.

The effort brought praise and a $20,000 reward on behalf of Midland, an oil town of 97,400 people in western Texas.

“It was a special event. There was so much effort, and everyone had their own story,” said Capt. James Spivey, president of Highland Communications Group, Inc. The group has asked all rescuers to join in.

The association’s president, Kragg Robinson, said 33 members have signed a contract that includes an initial $30,000, plus future payments, to be divided among the membership.

Disolving checks a surprise for banks

Associated Press

CHICAGO - Checks treated with a chemical that causes them to disintegrate into confetti shortly after being deposited have shown up in at least two states, costing banks nearly $70,000 since the beginning of the year, police said Thursday.

A check clearinghouse said it has warned 142 banks to be on the lookout for the dissolving checks, which may have an unusual odor and feel oily.

The checks have turned up at five or six banks in the Chicago area and at one in Tennessee, said Capt. James Zurawski of the Chicago Police Department’s financial crimes division. Authorities also are checking a report of a possible dissolving check in Indiana, Zurawski said.

“The one I’ve got in front of me looks like a handful of ashes,” Zurawski said.

The checks, supposedly drawn on personal accounts at banks in California and Tennessee, have been reported in about 12 incidents in recent weeks, costing banks about $70,000, he said.

In most of the cases, someone would open a new account at a bank with a small amount of money and later make a larger deposit with a dissolving check. Later, the money would be withdrawn from the account before the bank could learn that the second check was bogus. The check’s decompositio would leave little for evidence.
EVANSVILLE, Ind. - Police and psychological counselors met Thursday night with parents at Reitz High School following the suicides of three students in the past two weeks.

"It's a scary situation," said Patty Kelley, a senior at the school. "Even people who didn't know them are affected by it." Police were there to head off rumors about the deaths, said Vanderburgh County Sheriff Clarence Shepard.

There are a number of rumors going around about satanism and cults and things of this sort," Shepard said. "We have found nothing in any of the three that indicates any satanism or cult.

The three victims were boys who knew each other and were in the same year in high school, the sheriff said. Two were Reitz sophomores, and the third was a former student who transferred to another school.

The latest victim, Larry "J.J." Orth, 15, was found dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound at 6:30 Wednesday morning. Orth had called friends to tell them he wouldn't be back at school, and the friends went to his home and found the victim in his living room, along with a note indicating he was having family problems.

Eric Sanders, 16, and also a Reitz student, died March 15; and Steven Schaefer, 15, who left last year, died March 12.

"The last two appear to be copycats," Shepard said before the meeting. "But all three were immediate, personal, emotional problems with the young men. One was a boyfriend-girlfriend problem, and the others were tamiy problems.

School officials acted quickly to prevent more "copycat suicides," said Susan McDowell, head of psychological services for the Evansville-Vanderburgh School Corporation.

"It happens with one, and it kind of spreads," she said. "Kids are kind of impressionable and they're easily influenced. And if they see that one of their friends has dealt with a problem that way, they may try to handle it the same way. They don't look at the long run."

Six psychologists and two counselors were sent to the school of 1,350 students on Wednesday to assist the four counselors normally assigned to Reitz. The school corporation began a training program for school officials in the fall that included education about the danger signals evidenced by youngsters contemplating suicide, and a video tape program about a suicidal student.

"Almost eight out of 10 kids who commit suicide will leave clues," McDowell said. "They may not talk about it, and typically it's not as overt as telling someone what they're going to do, but they will leave signs of some sort, and that's why we've had our in-service (training) this year."

The school was to begin a "buddy system" to pair new-comers with older students, and peer counseling groups headed by trained juniors and seniors to talk to troubled youngsters, said principal Christine Settle.

New Math?

An engineering student is caught in an unusual display of math anxiety during the calculator toss which was part of the Engineering Week. The winner of the competition was sophomore engineer Tim Withum.

Ryan White, AIDS victim, is honored in Omaha

INDIANAPOLIS - Teen-age AIDS victim Ryan White will attend "Ryan White Day" activities this week in Omaha, Neb., and also will visit Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Ryan, 18, and his mother, Jeanne White, will visit the Father Flanagan's Boys Town on Friday in Omaha before speaking at a forum on AIDS education, The Indianapolis Star reported Thursday.

In Council Bluffs, Ryan will visit a children's hospital.

Ryan's efforts to attend school even though he carries the virus divided the community of Kokomo, Ind. In spite of national health officials' assurances, school officials and worried parents weren't convinced that other children would be safe sitting next to Ryan, who contracted AIDS through infected treatments for hemophilia.

Three suicides in two weeks stuns Evansville school

Honor continued from page 1

The first step is discussing honesty and formulating a definition of an honor code, he said. The next step is finding out to what extent students want to be involved in an honor code system.

Non-proctored exams and informing on peers are the two most controversial issues over the adoption of an honor code system, said Misiewicz. Both issues were addressed at the conference.

"It is difficult for faculty members to give up the idea of proctoring exams," said Misiewicz. He said non-proctored exams place greater responsibility on students in a climate established for honesty.

Informing on peers means reporting fellow students involved in academic dishonesty. This practice, also known as non-tolerating, is often fundamental to honor code systems and places additional responsibility on students, said Misiewicz.

Non-tolerating poses a difficult dilemma for students, according to Associate Provost Father Oliver Williams.

"Somehow loyalty has to take the backseat to integrity," he said. "It's not easy. Before you see the value of turning someone in you have to see that there are high costs in not turning them in."

Misiewicz thinks a period of education and growth is necessary for Notre Dame students to accept the responsibilities created by an honor code. He said, "It's not something that's there, it's an attitude that develops. It's countercultural in our society."

Instituting an honor code at Notre Dame is a big challenge, said Misiewicz, but he thinks the University can apply its pride in athletics to academics.

"We have to look at Notre Dame and find a way of approaching an honor code given our heritage and tradition," he said. "I don't know what will happen, but I think that's good." said Misiewicz. "This isn't an area where the administration says 'You must do such and such'."

Ryan White, AIDS victim, is honored in Omaha

Associated Press

Ryan White, AIDS victim Ryan White will attend "Ryan White Day" activities this week in Omaha, Neb., and also will visit Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Ryan, 18, and his mother, Jeanne White, will visit the Father Flanagan's Boys Town on Friday in Omaha before speaking at a forum on AIDS education, The Indianapolis Star reported Thursday.

In Council Bluffs, Ryan will visit a children's hospital.

Ryan's efforts to attend school even though he carries the virus divided the community of Kokomo, Ind. In spite of national health officials' assurances, school officials and worried parents weren't convinced that other children would be safe sitting next to Ryan, who contracted AIDS through infected treatments for hemophilia.

Three suicides in two weeks stuns Evansville school

Honor continued from page 1

The first step is discussing honesty and formulating a definition of an honor code, he said. The next step is finding out to what extent students want to be involved in an honor code system.

Non-proctored exams and informing on peers are the two most controversial issues over the adoption of an honor code system, said Misiewicz. Both issues were addressed at the conference.

"It is difficult for faculty members to give up the idea of proctoring exams," said Misiewicz. He said non-proctored exams place greater responsibility on students in a climate established for honesty.

Informing on peers means reporting fellow students involved in academic dishonesty. This practice, also known as non-tolerating, is often fundamental to honor code systems and places additional responsibility on students, said Misiewicz.

Non-tolerating poses a difficult dilemma for students, according to Associate Provost Father Oliver Williams.

"Somehow loyalty has to take the backseat to integrity," he said. "It's not easy. Before you see the value of turning someone in you have to see that there are high costs in not turning them in."

Misiewicz thinks a period of education and growth is necessary for Notre Dame students to accept the responsibilities created by an honor code. He said, "It's not something that's there, it's an attitude that develops. It's countercultural in our society."

Instituting an honor code at Notre Dame is a big challenge, said Misiewicz, but he thinks the University can apply its pride in athletics to academics.

"We have to look at Notre Dame and find a way of approaching an honor code given our heritage and tradition," he said. "I don't know what will happen, but I think that's good." said Misiewicz. "This isn't an area where the administration says 'You must do such and such'."

Ryan White, AIDS victim, is honored in Omaha

Associated Press

Ryan White, AIDS victim Ryan White will attend "Ryan White Day" activities this week in Omaha, Neb., and also will visit Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Ryan, 18, and his mother, Jeanne White, will visit the Father Flanagan's Boys Town on Friday in Omaha before speaking at a forum on AIDS education, The Indianapolis Star reported Thursday.

In Council Bluffs, Ryan will visit a children's hospital.

Ryan's efforts to attend school even though he carries the virus divided the community of Kokomo, Ind. In spite of national health officials' assurances, school officials and worried parents weren't convinced that other children would be safe sitting next to Ryan, who contracted AIDS through infected treatments for hemophilia.
Heed the voice of divestment

Listen. It is still there. It is not on the front pages. It is not in the headlines. It is not in the current affairs. But it is there. It is still on the pages of our University. It rattles our buildings and destabilizes the ethical cornerstone of this place we call second home. It is the painful evidence that we are living and propagating a lie. It is a poignant reminder of our failure to bear the calling of Christ.

Listen. As in Poe’s “Tell-Tale Heart,” it is there still—constantly nagging on our collective conscience. Brickoning a response. Reverb-berating. Resonating. Resilient. Haunting. Maybe by our silence we shall silence the irritating noise which burdens us and which names us an acccomplice to atrocious acts against humanity. Our policy of selective divestment is predicated on the exposed Sullivan Position which Satur-gahm himself has recently denounced. Would you stay on a plane if the chief engineer just grabbed a parachute and said that the plane is failing and won’t reach its desired destination? As the Supreme Court came to recognize the error of its ways in Korematsu, Dred Scott, and Plessy we have previously served to justify and augment the sins of rac­ism and prejudice, so too Notre Dame must recind its current and equally erroneous stance regarding South Africa.

As the Supreme Court realized that these precedents were incongruous with the Constitution, we too must acknowledge that our current policy of selective divestment must be reversed, for it is undermining the eth­ical matrix upon which our policy is predicated and the very construction of our University rests.

Under the guise of selective divest­ment, Notre Dame has issued its hyp­ocritical message which it shall pass on to the Holy Cross community and U.S. Catholic Bishops have realized that such policies do not work and have withdrawn their re­sources from the oppressive machinery of apartheid.

One day, hopefully soon, Notre Dame will see that it has fallen short of thebat­tle of Christ and remove its investments. But when will that day of re­ckoning come? When will Notre Dame confess that it is no longer allow­ed to stay in the valley of in­diction and in­consistency? The words of Dr. Martin Luther King answer that question for us: “I know you are asking today, ‘How long will it take?’ I come to you this long celebration of cultural diversity. We are working hard on creating a more diverse student body here at Notre Dame. Next fall we will begin a year­long celebration of cultural diversity. Now is the time for each of us to commit our­selves to this positive development.

Racism is one of the great scourges in world affairs and in our national his­tory. There is no place at Notre Dame for comments or actions that display racial or ethnic insensitivity. I am con­fident that together we can celebrate the time of Spring as a pro­test Notre Dame fashion. Thank you for your help.

How long? Not long, because you still reap what you sow. How long? Not long, because the arm of the moral universe is long but it bends towards justice.”

Listen. This Sunday, Palm Sunday, when you listen to the Passion of Christ, listen to the cries of the children of South Africa. This Sunday, when you reflect on the hypocritical sign of the Kies of Judas and the betrayal of Christ, reflect also on our hypocritical sign of moral divestment and our betrayal of Christ, of our mission, and of our­selves. This Sunday when you pray for the children of South Af­rica and pray that the inevitable day on which Notre Dame acknowledges it has walked an errant path will soon. Truth is calling. Listen.

Marty Rogers is a senior enrolled in the College of Arts and Letters.

P.O. Box Q

Bookstore: an athletic tradition

Dear Editor:

One of the great traditions of Spring at Notre Dame is An Tostal Weekend and the related event called Bookstore Basketball. Over 600 teams are scheduled to compete in this latter activity. For some, it is a lighthearted moment, a mockery of itself by asserting that we can maintain leverage against South Africa when the government has banned and censored all anti-apartheid organizations such as the United Democratic Front (UDF) and African National Congress (ANC). We are attempting to dammulate a bastion of brutality by noble, but frivolous, prin­ciples. South African government­ would ban.

We must wake up and admit that our policy is just as impotent as our silence. Our policy of selective divestment is predicated on the exposed Sullivan Position which Satur-gahm himself has recently denounced. Would you stay on a plane if the chief engineer just grabbed a parachute and said that the plane is failing and won’t reach its desired destination? As the Supreme Court came to recognize the error of its ways in Korematsu, Dred Scott, and Plessy we have previously served to justify and augment the sins of rac­ism and prejudice, so too Notre Dame must recind its current and equally erroneous stance regarding South Africa.

As the Supreme Court realized that these precedents were incongruous with the Constitution, we too must acknowledge that our current policy of selective divestment must be reversed, for it is undermining the eth­ical matrix upon which our policy is predicated and the very construction of our University rests.

Under the guise of selective divest­ment, Notre Dame has issued its hyp­ocritical message which it shall pass on to the Holy Cross community and U.S. Catholic Bishops have realized that such policies do not work and have withdrawn their re­sources from the oppressive machinery of apartheid.

One day, hopefully soon, Notre Dame will see that it has fallen short of thebat­tle of Christ and remove its investments. But when will that day of re­ckoning come? When will Notre Dame confess that it is no longer allow­ed to stay in the valley of in­diction and in­consistency? The words of Dr. Martin Luther King answer that question for us: “I know you are asking today, ‘How long will it take?’ I come to you this long celebration of cultural diversity. We are working hard on creating a more diverse student body here at Notre Dame. Next fall we will begin a year­long celebration of cultural diversity. Now is the time for each of us to commit our­selves to this positive development.

Racism is one of the great scourges in world affairs and in our national his­tory. There is no place at Notre Dame for comments or actions that display racial or ethnic insensitivity. I am con­fident that together we can celebrate the time of Spring as a protest Notre Dame fashion. Thank you for your help.

Rev. Edward A. Malloy, C.S.C.
Notre Dame, IN
March 24, 1988

South Africans wrongly depicted

Dear Editor:

The absurdity of Professor Peter Walshe’s attack on President Bean­gan’s South African policy is starkly revealed by his comments regarding the African National Congress. For those who may be unaware, the ANC is an extremely moral organization that deeply supports the Soviet Union and its allies. Contrary to Professor Walshe’s contention, the ANC’s goal of a com­munist South Africa and the means which it employs are abhorred by the vast majority of black South Africans. Unfortunately, those blacks with the courage to speak out against the ANC are usually executed publicly by a bar­baric process known as “necklacing,” which involves burning a person alive by igniting a gasoline-filled tire hung above his/their body. The ANC has subjected numerous women and children “collaborators” to this in­human act. Yet, in spite of these well documented facts, Professor Walshe contends that the ANC and its “humane leaders,” such as Nelson Mandela, are truly representative of the black citizens of South Africa. It is indeed tragic that leftists such as Professor Walshe are working so diligently to im­pose a communist regime upon the people of South Africa. We can only hope that South Africa is spared the fate of nations such as Ethiopia and Angola, which are suffering from the disastrous effects of communist takeovers.

Ron Kunkel
Carmel, IN
March 9, 1988

Quote of the Day

“The only people who never fail are those who never try.”

Ilka Chase
By MARK McLAUGHLIN and REGIN CICCIA

Denny's is the only place you can get Slammed and like it. That's Slam as in Grand Slam, the most popular breakfast in the Denny's chain. But the food is well worth putting up with the decor. Prices range from $3 to $7 for entrees, mostly of which come with side dishes of veggies or salads. We got the Denny's Combo, which offers a large cheeseburger, a large salad, a choice of dressing, the poppy seed dressing is recommended, and with fast-food? The atmosphere is casual. The menu offers many types of food, ranging from a steak and shrimp dinner to chili and homemade pastas come with a variety of sauces, and also keep in mind writer

Theatrical scene

The atmosphere of the place leaves a little to be desired. Mindless Musak variations fill the airwaves, unless you're lucky enough to hear Anthony the late night cook sing. He'll also offer opinions on Notre Dame football if you ask him. The decor is pseudo-wood formica and green plastic that appears on the seats, in the plant holders, and in The Astroruf surf of the mirrored pie rack. The pictures on the wall look like cerebral cross sections of an optimist's head, with clouds and brain tissue forming the strata. But the food is well worth putting up with the decor. Prices range from $3 to $7 for entrees. Mostly of which come with side dishes of veggies or salads. We got the Denny's Combo, which offers a large cheeseburger, french fries, and a huge garden salad for $4.05. This meal was quite filling, and not at all that expensive.

Susan Elias turned in a neat performance of the party. Although the candidates were fictitious, Cane Vidal saw past and present political figures into his tight dialogue. The candidates' personalities were well developed, but from the clues, it wasn't really public. The writer didn't immediately win the audience's sympathy for his likeable intellectual candidate, William Russell (played by Joe Markey), but the more charismatic but devilish Joseph Cantwell (played by Matt Azer) aroused interest from the start.

The plot follows rival presidential candidates' moral dilemmas in the heat of the race for nomination at the party convention.

The atmosphere is casual. The menu is predominantly Italian and for a good reason: that is what the Spaghetti Works does best. Each table is given a bottomless basket of garlic bread to begin the meal. And if you still can't wait for the entree, the appetizers are a solution. The fried zucchini is a good choice. It is cut into large pieces, dipped in a tempura-like batter and deep fried. Each entree comes with a soup and salad. The soup is a robust homemade minestrone that tends to be spicy. The small dinner comes with your choice of dressing. The poppy seed dressing is recommended as it is not too sweet or sour.

Then, if you haven't eaten enough, the entree arrives. The pastas come with your choice of a marinara, meat, hunter's, Alfredo, white clam, or red clam sauce. The hunter's sauce is the perfect end to a great cheap meal. We have been told that the Denny's Grand Slam, with a side of hash browns and a large glass of O.J., is the perfect cure to late-night hangovers. Many people apparently think this, and there are often lines about 2:30 a.m. on weekends to sample the fare. If eating at Denny's is dietetically criminal, we'll be repeat offenders.

The atmosphere is casual. The menu is predominantly Italian and for a good reason: that is what the Spaghetti Works does best. Each table is given a bottomless basket of garlic bread to begin the meal. And if you still can't wait for the entree, the appetizers are a solution. The fried zucchini is a good choice. It is cut into large pieces, dipped in a tempura-like batter and deep fried. Each entree comes with a soup and salad. The soup is a robust homemade minestrone that tends to be spicy. The small dinner comes with your choice of dressing. The poppy seed dressing is recommended as it is not too sweet or sour.

Then, if you haven't eaten enough, the entree arrives. The pastas come with your choice of a marinara, meat, hunter's, Alfredo, white clam, or red clam sauce. The hunter's sauce is the perfect end to a great cheap meal. We have been told that the Denny's Grand Slam, with a side of hash browns and a large glass of O.J., is the perfect cure to late-night hangovers. Many people apparently think this, and there are often lines about 2:30 a.m. on weekends to sample the fare. If eating at Denny's is dietetically criminal, we'll be repeat offenders.

The Old Spaghetti Works is an excellent alternative to the usual dining hall fare. The prices are right and the quality of both the food and the service are excellent. The Old Spaghetti Works is a tasty addition to the South Bend restaurant scene.

"Best Man": Cavanaugh presents a timely political satire

SUSAN HRACH accent writer

The atmosphere is casual. The menu is predominantly Italian and for a good reason: that is what the Spaghetti Works does best. Each table is given a bottomless basket of garlic bread to begin the meal. And if you still can't wait for the entree, the appetizers are a solution. The fried zucchini is a good choice. It is cut into large pieces, dipped in a tempura-like batter and deep fried. Each entree comes with a soup and salad. The soup is a robust homemade minestrone that tends to be spicy. The small dinner comes with your choice of dressing. The poppy seed dressing is recommended as it is not too sweet or sour.

Then, if you haven't eaten enough, the entree arrives. The pastas come with your choice of a marinara, meat, hunter's, Alfredo, white clam, or red clam sauce. The hunter's sauce is the perfect end to a great cheap meal. We have been told that the Denny's Grand Slam, with a side of hash browns and a large glass of O.J., is the perfect cure to late-night hangovers. Many people apparently think this, and there are often lines about 2:30 a.m. on weekends to sample the fare. If eating at Denny's is dietetically criminal, we'll be repeat offenders.

The Old Spaghetti Works devotes itself to making fine Italian cuisine at a price that won't drain your wallet. The homestyle pastas come with a variety of sauces, and also keep in mind writer
Bridget’s: an old favorite

DAN GERLACH

accident writer

Home football and basketball games, 50's. AnToast is events that most Notre Dame students will fondly recall after graduation. I, however, will also remember the fun times I spent at Bridget McNeill’s Filling Station, a.k.a. Bridget’s, a.k.a. Dan’s second home.

BAR BEAT

A scant five minute drive from the recesses of the 1970 orange Ford Pinto, Bridget’s offers reasonably priced drink specials, a relaxed atmosphere, and opportunities to meet lots of people from Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s. I prefer to park in the back, as I am that much closer to the Great American Hot Dog Stand for post-bar nourishment.

Upon entering, I never fail to be greeted by my favorite South Bend police officer who asks for my ID and says things like, “Say, kid, is this really you?” and “Werein’t you in here last night-when do you study?” Once inside, proceed straight ahead to the bar. This might take quite a bit of doing on crowded nights, which is why it is not such a bad idea to frequent Bridget’s on Mondays, Wednesdays, some Tuesdays and Thursdays—when everyone else is in the ‘bar.’

Do not be discouraged; Bridget’s barkeeps keep things moving, although there are never enough of them. It’s especially a problem on weekends, and can get frustrating after a seemingly endless wait with thirsty boners on each side. Upon ordering, be sure to flash a bill or two (this will catch the bartender’s eye) and know what you want (“two specials” is my frequent order.) Ordering two beers at a time can often prove to be a time-saver; Bridget’s offers other activities as well. Pool playing is a big favorite, mainly because the pool table is smacked dab in the middle of the bar. I must caution you that their pool table has had more beer spilled on it than most breweries produce in a month, and pool sticks at people in the ribs can be quite painful when carrying beer back to your friends. The music is so loud; you can always hear it—as long as you’re within a one block radius. I warn against singing along with the tapes, because they often quit in the middle of songs, and singing alone in a bar is quite embarrassing.

I highly recommend casual dress (flannel shirts and old jeans are preferable) as beer has a way of getting spilled on that new blouse or shirt. I also recommend ordering specials: eighty-five cent Molson on Thursdays, twenty beers on some Wednesdays (with a $2 cover) and ninety cent 16 oz. drafts on Mondays are all worthwhile bets. I personally miss the old fifty-five cent draft specials and the ninety cent vodka and grapefruit specials. Bridget’s has begun to feature bands on occasion, giving yet another reason to stop by. Although it is far and away my favorite, I warn you that Bridget’s is not for everyone, but on weeknights, it is a place to relax and talk with your friends, while meeting new people at the bar. This might take quite a long time, but it’s worth it. Hopefully, I’ll see you there. Monday night; I’ll be the one who looks like he’s just come home.

‘Intimate Jazz’ creates mood

BETH HEALY

accident writer

The lights are low, the air is smoky and everyone in the Blue Wisp Club is ready for the sultry jazz tunes of the Steve Schmidt Trio. It’s show time. Energy level is high in general, lagging in the audience’s attention. The audience is relatively quiet, with the occasional sound of a father who accidentally switches places with his son. “Vice Versa.”

One of the reasons the Jazz Society is bringing the band to Indiana is because of the Steve Schmidt Trio’s Jazz band that makes its home in the Blue Wisp Club in Cincinnati. The band has produced six albums and is well known in Cincinnati jazz circles. The band’s nameake, Steve Schmidt, plays the piano. He also used to play for Count Basie’s Big Band. The bass player, Mike Sharpe, is especially well known in Cincinnati. The band’s drummer, John Von Ohlen, is the most well known member of the group. He played with Woodie Herman’s Big Band, as well as Stan Kenton.

The goal of the Michiana Jazz Society, in association with WVPE FM88, is to recreate this type of informal jazz atmosphere. “Intimate Jazz” is the title of a series of three concerts that will be held in South Bend with the Steve Schmidt Trio and a different featured artist each session. The Steve Schmidt Trio is a jazz band with members from both Chicago and New York. The band’s drummer, John Von Ohlen, is the most well known member of the group. He played with Woodie Herman’s Big Band, as well as Stan Kenton.

“One people think that he’s one of the best drummers in the world,” said Dr. Philip Schneider of the Michiana Jazz Society. “When I was in Cincinnati I used to enjoy just sitting back and watching him play. It’s a very subtle kind of playing.”

MUSIC

The first artist to be featured is guitarist Bruce Forman. He will be playing with The Steve Schmidt Trio on March 25 at the Eriebine Club House in South Bend, from 8:00 p.m. to 12:00 a.m. Tickets are available by mail, at the St. Vincent Record Store, Record Connection and at the door for $15.00.

Local Theater Directory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>University Park East</th>
<th>6424 Grape Rd.</th>
<th>277-7336</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Vica Versa Police Academy V Johnny Be Good Frantic</td>
<td>Broadband News Off Limits</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>University Park West</td>
<td>2340 Hickory Rd.</td>
<td>259-9090</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Nikita Good Morning Vietnam Moving</td>
<td>The Fox &amp; the Hound</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Town and Country</td>
<td>2340 Hickory Rd.</td>
<td>259-9090</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scottsdale Cinemas</td>
<td>1153 Scottsdale Rd.</td>
<td>291-4583</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Fox &amp; the Hound Johnny Be Good</td>
<td>100 Center Cinema</td>
<td>259-0414</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>She’s Having a Baby Fatal Attraction</td>
<td>Ready III Cinemas</td>
<td>420 E. Main St. Niles, Michigan 683-1112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Batteries Not Included Three Men &amp; A Baby Moonstruck</td>
<td>Forum Cinemas North Village Mall</td>
<td>277-1522</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shoot to Kill Missing in Action 3</td>
<td>DOA A New Life Masquerade</td>
<td>488-1522</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
A feast day for a lonely God

Holy Week is at hand. What do you make of the poor, luckless Jew who dies on the Cross? A modern cynic once wrote: "They should have fed film to the foxes. His followers would have had a hard time making a religious symbol out of min-cemeat."

If he had been judged guilty of loitering, he might have died in the electric chair. As an itinerant rabbi accused of disturbing the peace in an obscure corner of the Roman Empire, he was punished like a slave to whom no justice is owed.

The imperial governor before whom he was tried offered the howling mob on his doorstep a choice between Christ and Barabbas. D.L. Sayers describes Barabbas: "It does not do to think of him as just a robber or a murderer—we must think of him as a member of the I.R.A., arrested for the kindly theft of a Dublin rabbi accused of disturbing the peace in an obscure corner of the Roman Empire. He was punished like a slave to whom no justice is owed.

The imperial governor before whom he was tried offered the howling mob on his doorstep a choice between Christ and Barabbas. D.L. Sayers describes Barabbas: "It does not do to think of him as just a robber or a murderer—we must think of him as a member of the I.R.A., arrested for the kindly theft of a Dublin rabbi accused of disturbing the peace in an obscure corner of the Roman Empire. He was punished like a slave to whom no justice is owed.

If you could talk to film as Christians are supposed to do when they pray, you would never be able to find him in a film; he is so full of truth. He wouldn't allow you to lie to yourself. "Yet was I sore afraid, I fled, having nought beside," wrote Francis Thompson in the "Hound of Heaven." This fear is why believers keep film at an arm's length for a lifetime. Possibly the saint of the Church whom Jesus loves the most is Francis of Assisi; yet Jesus, in making Francis film all-time favorite, took none of the joy from his youth.

Francis has been popularized as the original flower child. Francis, a nature poet and singer of romances, was more than a hippie; he was deeper than that. Perhaps more than any other Christian we know of, he was in love with God's world. He didn't want to own any piece of the world; he only wanted to take care of the people who were in it.

So close was he to Christ that, at the end of his life, God returned him in the form of the wounds (or stigmata) of the Passion, so that all ages could appreciate him as the visible image of Christ, honored as the Lamb of God and the Suffering Servant of Yahweh.

What do you think of the Son of Man, whom Francis worshiped as his Lord and Savior? Are you afraid he might move in on you with his grace, and try to make you—inevitably and against your will—a saint; and having film as a friend, you might have naught beside such as wealth and fame?

St. Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Jesuits, so they say, used to meet Francis Xaver when he was student at the University of Paris. Loyola would unselfishly let him with his question: "What does it profit a man to gain the world if he loses his own soul?" In the end, Francis Xaver was converted, and became a great missionary of the Jesuit order.

I'm not Loyola, and none of you are Xaviers. To tell the truth, I'm more worried about the loss of my own soul than I am about losing yours. Is the pale Galilean waiting to sweep you off your feet in Holy Week with offers of sanctity that you can't turn down? I don't think he's going to knock you off the road to Damascus.

I see film as the Gospels picture film: an observer watching people entering the Temple, loving the children excited by their visit to Jerusalem, the widows dropping their small coins in the poor box, and the teenagers pleased with their lives as young Jews. They were probably shy with film as He was shy with them. Knowing how important they were, He must have put truth in front of them so that they wouldn't be hurt by this world's lies.

Does the stock market close on Good Friday? It hardly matters at noon time during Lent, the churches in the financial districts of cities like New York are usually crowded with workers from Wall Street, worshiping the Prince of glory whom this world once crucified. Power brokers from the most secular establishments pay their homage to the Son of the Most High who lived among us as a homeless street person.

Could you not pray to film as the lonely God? In that lonely kingdom in which you pay taxes on your isolation. Good Friday is kept as the feast day of the lonely God. The Church's hymn on that day is the Lamentations: "Does it mean nothing to you, all that pass by? Look and see if there be any sorrow like unto my sor-row...

Under the rubric of loneliness, which Holy Week highs- lights, you may find that the God of love is waiting for you, a stranger whose attention He's been trying to get.
Friday, March 25, 1988

The Observer

page 13

Home

continued from page 20

against Big Ten schools since beating Northwestern on March 4, 1986.

Saturday's doubleheader with Michigan will be No. 13 Illinois's first meeting with Butler in the 101-year history of the program.

The Illini were members of the MCU's Southern Division, while the Irish play in the Northern Division.

Butler was defeated by Indiana last weekend, but they do return 12 letter-winners from that squad that returned to Evanston to compete for the NAIA Division II title.

The Irish have been booted out of all three-man hitting attack

by Indiana's weekend "dandy," but they do return 12 letter-winners from that squad that returned to Evanston to compete for the NAIA Division II title.

The Irish have been booted out of all three-man hitting attack

by Indiana's weekend "dandy," but they do return 12 letter-winners from that squad that returned to Evanston to compete for the NAIA Division II title.

The Irish have been booted out of all three-man hitting attack

by Indiana's weekend "dandy," but they do return 12 letter-winners from that squad that returned to Evanston to compete for the NAIA Division II title.

The Irish have been booted out of all three-man hitting attack

by Indiana's weekend "dandy," but they do return 12 letter-winners from that squad that returned to Evanston to compete for the NAIA Division II title.
Track moves out, hosts ND invite

By MIKE SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

After spending a long, cold winter running indoors, the Notre Dame men’s track team moves outdoors to greet the spring weather. The Irish open the season this Saturday at home, hosting the Notre Dame Invitational.

As can be expected, the team is eager to begin the outdoor season.

“...We’re very enthusiastic about the outdoor season,” said head coach Joe Piane. “Any time you have a long break you’re especially anxious about starting again. It should be a really interesting season.”

This Saturday’s meet will feature such teams as the University of Detroit, Western Michigan, Aquinas College, Lewis, and Southwestern Michigan. “Most of our athletes haven’t run since the end of February, so we’re opening with a fairly low key meet to get them going,” explained Piane.

Among the Irish athletes competing this weekend is sophomore Glenn Watson.

Purdue beats S. Alabama

Associated Press

AMARILLO, Texas — Aided by Christa LaCroix’s game-high 14 points, Purdue University outscored South Alabama four minutes to play in the tight contest and earned a 63-55 victory in first-round action Thursday.

Sophomore Van Scary and junior David Warth both will compete in the 800 meter run for the Irish, and senior Dan Cahill will be running the steeple chase, a “new and different event,” according to Piane.

As Notre Dame begins its outdoor season, one of its most important goals is to quality runners for the NCAA Championships. In particular Piane is looking for senior co-captain Dan Garrett, junior Ron Markenzie, and Sophomore Mike O’Connor to qualify.

This Saturday’s meet on the Monogram Track in Krause Stadium will begin at 1:00 with the field events. Running events start at 2:00.

Sable

continued from page 20

four-time All-Americans in their careers.

Dan Yu, Notre Dame’s other entry in the sabre competition, finished 13th.

In today’s final competition, the Irish will send two-time All-American Yehuda Kovacs and Phil Leary, and Saturday in the epee competition, Todd Griffis and Ted Fay will represent Notre Dame.

Happy Belated Birthday

Chris Frigon!!

Enjoy your last year as a teenager.

WE LOVE YOU!!

XO Megan, Michele, and the rest of the Frigon’s!!

Irish Gardens

Irish Gardens will be open Thursday before Easter. Take advantage of our new LOW prices on roses:

- single rose $2.50
- 1/2 dozen $13.00
- 1 dozen $26.00

The Observer / Suzanne Poch

The Notre Dame men’s fencing team continues action at the NCAA Championships at Princeton. Nowosleski, the Irish currently stand in third place.

The Observer

The Observer / Suzanne Poch

J. Philip Clarke Family Lecture in Medical Ethics

‘Being a Christian Physician Today’

Edmund D. Pellegrino, M.D.
Director, Kennedy Institute of Ethics
Georgetown University

Auditorium
Continuing Education Center
Friday, March 25
4:15 p.m.

Dr. Pellegrino is currently Director of the Kennedy Institute of Ethics at Georgetown University. He was formerly President of the Catholic University of America and President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Yale- New Haven Medical Center. He is one of the most influential contributors to recent discussions of medical ethics. Among his many writings are Humanism and the Physician (University of Tennessee Press, 1979), A Philosophical Basis of Medical Practice (Oxford University Press, 1981), and For the Patient’s Good (Oxford University Press, 1988).
Irish find solace at home

Women's tennis hosts E. Michigan tonight at Eck

By FRANK PASTOR
Sports Writer

After ten straight matches on the road, the Notre Dame women's tennis team returns to the friendly confines of the Eck Tennis Pavilion tonight at 6:00 to take on Eastern Michigan. Home sweet home.

For many teams, a month-long road trip can be hazardous to both their record and their confidence level. For a team as young as this year's Irish squad, the results can be downright calamitous. Just ask coach Michelle Gelfman.

"Traveling has been a very hard adjustment for all of the freshmen," says the Irish coach. "It has hurt us psychologically as well as physically." An important deterrent to the unpleasant effects of the road is the emergence of a team leader. To that end, captain Michelle Dasso has performed admirably. Although the Irish roster is virtually depleted of upperclassmen, its sole senior is a gem. Like all respected leaders, Dasso leads by example.

"Michelle has found a good balance between traveling, academically, and her social life," says Gelfman. "She is traveling extremely well, and I think she'll find success for us this year." Dasso plays at number two singles behind freshman Ce Ce Cahill. She also teams with Callan to form the top doubles tandem for the Irish. The freshman's astounding success in singles play since being teamed with her captain cannot be dismissed as mere coincidence. It is precisely this senior leadership which insured the Irish success in Las Vegas. Although the Irish won two of six matches on the trip, the players learned a great deal about themselves and each other, and most importantly, they learned that they possess the talent to pull out the tough matches.

"The girls learned that you can't let down," said Gelfman. "You have to play tough every single match. You have to want it more than the next player. You have to want it for Notre Dame.

The lessons the team has learned from its grueling road schedule will benefit it in the long run, but the immediate results will be on display Friday evening.

Once again, the team will be playing in front of a partisan crowd. For the first time in a month, however, all on hand will be cheering for the Fighting Irish.

---

Sports Briefs

Bookstore Basketball begins today at 4 p.m. on the Bookstore courts. The Ball of Fame game will have Tim Brown, David Rivers, Tony Rice playing on the same team against the Digger Phelps Fan Club and Five Other Guys. -The Observer

Bookstore Basketball scorekeepers who missed last night's meeting, please call Mike at x1962 if still interested, or stop by room 108 of Keenan. -The Observer

In the NBA last night Washington edged Atlanta 94-91, Houston thrashed New York 134-117, Utah dumped Sacramento 117-97, and Phoenix surprised Milwaukee 119-114. -Associated Press

In the NHL last night several fourth-place teams tried to improve their positions for playoff berths. In the Patrick Division the New York Rangers came through with a 6-1 victory over Edmonton. Hartford likewise helped its chances with a 3-2 win over Detroit, but Toronto came up empty, losing to Calgary 7-1. In other games Boston edging Winnipeg in overtime 4-3, and New Jersey blanked St. Louis 8-2. -Associated Press

The ND Sailing Club is looking for anyone interested in teaching sailing for the spring semester. Call Mike at x308 or interested. -The Observer

The ND Water Polo club will practice this week at 7 p.m. each night at the Rolf's Aquatic Center. Any questions should be directed to Tom Cashman at 234-6727. -The Observer

The ND Men's Volleyball defeated Aquinas College last night at the Joyce ACC Pit. Tonight the club closes its home season as the Irish host Indiana-Purdue at Fort Wayne, the 12th-ranked varsity team in the nation. The match will start at 7:30 p.m. in the JACC Pit. -The Observer

The ND Rugby Club will continue its spring season this Saturday. The Irish will travel to Ball State at 1 p.m. to put its undefeated record on the line. -The Observer

---

The DePaul University Professional Master of Science in Accountancy Program

1988 L&S GRADUATES: A Special Announcement concerning Careers in Business Specifically for Liberal Arts and Sciences Students.

The School of Accountancy of DePaul University, Chicago, Illinois, a 75-year leader in innovative accounting education, offers to selected graduates of prestigious Liberal Arts and Sciences programs the Professional Master of Science in Accountancy. The program is offered in conjunction with the nation's leading accounting firms, is highly competitive, and restricted to students sponsored by the participating accounting firms.

The 15-month program entails:

• immediate (June 1988) employment in the Chicago office of a sponsoring accounting firm.

• an accelerated course of study in business and accounting -- a growth industry -- at Chicago's DePaul University.

Successful completion of the DePaul PMSA program results in:

• A Master of Science in Accountancy degree from DePaul University

• Full-time business and accounting experience with a major accounting firm

• Eligibility to sit for the CPA Examination in Illinois

• Broad career opportunities, and advancement, in professional accounting with your sponsoring firm.

Participation in the PMSA is restricted to candidates sponsored by participating accounting firms.

The PMSA Program begins June 20, 1988.

For more information on the PMSA Program, contact the placement office on this campus, which is cooperating with this program, or Dr. John T. Ahern, Jr., Director, School of Accountancy, DePaul University, 25 E. Jackson, Chicago, Illinois 60604, (312) 341-8770.
Spring training roundup

Soto makes pitch to return

Associated Press

After spending most of the past two seasons on the sidelines, Mario Soto is making his pitch to return to the Cincinnati Reds' starting rotation.

Soto, idled by shoulder troubles for most of 1986 and 1987, pitched six scoreless innings Thursday as the Reds defeated the Houston Astros 3-1.

Soto, who has won all three of his spring decisions, allowed only one hit, walked none and struck out two. He faced the minimum of 18 batters.

In five exhibition starts, Soto has allowed 12 hits and three earned runs in 19 2/3 innings for a 1.37 earned run average.

Chris Sabo had three doubles and scored two of Cincinnati's three runs.

Expos 4, Braves 1

Neil Heaton pitched a six-hitter as Montreal beat Atlanta in a game shortened to seven innings by rain.

Giants 13, Angels 1

Bob Melvin had two of San Francisco's nine hits in a nine-run fifth inning as the Giants mauled the Angels.

Phillies 16, Cardinals 7

Newly acquired Bill Almon went 5-for-6 and Chris James and Darren Daulton drove in three runs to pace Philadelphia.

Indians 6, Brewers 0

Scott Bales allowed two singles and struck out six in six scoreless innings Thursday, and Carmen Castillo, Jay Bell and Brook Jacoby had three hits each for Cleveland.

Tigers 5, Royals 3

Jim Morrison hit his first home run and Frank Tanana won his first exhibition game for Detroit, which snapped Kansas City's seven-game winning streak.

Pirates 4, Blue Jays 2

Ruben Rodriguez had a solo homer and Dave Hostetler drove in two runs as Pittsburgh ended a five-game losing streak.

Yankees 6, Twins 1

Jose Cruz went 3-for-3 to boost his spring training average to .540 and three New York pitchers combined on a six-hitter.

Red Sox 5, Dodgers 3

Boston pounded Fernando Valenzuela for seven hits and all their runs in the first two innings.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the Cubs.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.

Cubs 10, Athletics 4

Rafael Palmeiro had three hits, including his second spring homer, and drove in five runs for the cubes.
Blue Devils escape Rhode Island 73-72

Associated Press
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - Kevin Strickland scored 11 of his 12 second-half points during a 22-10 spurt that brought Duke from behind for a 72-72 victory over upset Rhode Island in the NCAA East Regional semifinals Thursday night.

The fifth-ranked Blue Devils, 27-6, play the winner of Thursday night's second game between top-ranked Temple and Richmond in Saturday's regional final. Temple had beaten Rhode Island, its Atlantic 10 Conference foe, all three times they met this season.

Duke, which led by as many as 13 points early in the first half, trailed 51-46 with 15 minutes left in the game.

The Blue Devils, looking to make their sixth trip to the Final Four, responded with their 22-10 spurt to make it 68-61 with 12:13 left. He also hit Duke's only 3-pointer during the rally.

Rhode Island, which finished the season 26-7 after upsetting Missouri and Syracuse in the first and second rounds, closed the gap to 68-65 on two free throws by Kenny Green with 1:10 left.

But Robert Bricky, who scored 15 points, hit four straight free throws in the final 1:05 to grab a key rebound and off a missed free throw by Strickland with 50 seconds remaining.

Bricky's two free throws with 13 seconds left made it 73-69. Rhode Island rushed the ball upcourt without a timeout and got a 3-pointer from Carlton Owens, the Rams' only 3-point goal of the game, with seven seconds left.

Duke quickly inbounded the ball, and no Rhode Island player could stop the clock with fouls before the game ended.

Danny Ferry led Duke with 17 points, Strickland finished 14 and John Smith 12.

Rhode Island was led by Owens with 15 points and John Evans, Tom Garrick and Mer­gin Sina with 14 each. Garrick had averaged 30 points in Rhode Island's five previous tournament games, including a 68-63 loss to Temple in the Atlantic 10 tournament final.

The victory was the 18th straight for the top-seeded Owls, 32-1, and moved them into Saturday's regional championship game against second-seeded Duke, which defeated Rhode Island 73-72.

Temple handles Richmond

Associated Press
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - Mike Veeckewyck scored eight of his 19 points in a 20-8 spurt midway through the second half, and No. 1 ranked Temple defeated Richmond 68-47 Thursday night in the NCAA East semi­finals, ending the Spiders string of postseason surprises.

The victory was the 18th straight for the top-seeded Owls, 32-1, and moved them into Saturday's regional championships game against second­seeded Duke, which defeated Rhode Island 73-72. The teams have not played this season.

Temple, which went into the game as the No. 1 ranked team in defensive field goal percentage at 39.5 percent, rarely was threatened against Richmond. The Owls' stingy matchup zone constantly forced the Spiders to shoot from much farther than they wanted.

Richmond, the champions of the Colonial Athletic Associa­tion, stayed close for about 24 minutes. Then the Owls took over behind Veeckewyck and sensational freshman guard Mark Macon, who scored 24 points.

Leading 39-34, Macon hit a 15-foot jumper to start the Owls on their big run, and Veeckewyck followed with two free throws. Point guard Howard Evans converted a layup off a steal, and STD. Steve Kurkiewicz hit a layup for Richmond, Evans fol­lowed with a 3-point shot for a 48-36 lead.

Veeckewyck added a pair of 3-point field goals late in the run and Macon finished it with a turnaround jumper from 15 feet for a 59-42 lead.

Tim Perry and Evans both finished with 11 points for Temple.

Ken Atkinson led the Spiders with 15, and Paul Lemon scored 14 and 13 points.

Richmond, 26-7, was the 12th seed in the East, the lowest seed in the tournament. The Spiders didn't want to defend 1984 NCAA regional champion Indiana and Georgia Tech in advancing this far, but were no match for Temple.

Tourney

continued from page 20
NCAA Southeast Regional Thursday night.

The Sooners, topping the 100­point mark for the 20th time this season, surmounted an early 11-point lead in the second half. They saw Louisville close to 76-74 midway through the half and then pulled away again.

It was the seventh victory in a row and the 10th in 20 games for the Sooners, 33-3, who will face Villanova in the regional title game on Saturday for a berth in next week's Final Four in Kansas City.

Villanova, playing near flaw­less ball, upset No. 6 Kentucky 80-75 in the other semifinal game Thursday night.

Grant hit his first six shots of the first half, including the team's first four baskets to help build a 44-33 lead at the 17:22 mark.

Louisville, 24-11, made a run on two baskets in the first half, including the team's first four baskets to help build a 44-33 lead at the 17:22 mark.

The Sooners wasted little time in asserting control against Dave Sieger sank a 3-point basket and King followed with a three-point play to build the lead to 42-74 with 1:18 to play. The Cards never got closer than six points the rest of the way.

Kansas takes on Vanderbilt in the opening game while Kansas State meets Purdue in the second game.

Associated Press
PONTIAC, Mich. - There should be plenty of fans from the state of Kansas in the Silverdome Friday night as a team from the state plays in the NCAA Regional.

Kansas State meets Purdue in the East Regional semifinals.

The fans deserve this. They've been great all year."

Kansas State beat the Jayhawks two of three times the schools met this season, including a 72-61 victory that snapped Kansas' 5-game home winning streak.

Kansas influences Midwest action

Both coaches talked of pride in the Big Eight Conference and in the state for having two teams in the 16 still remaining but downplayed pointing toward a meeting.

"Kansas State has to be happy if we win because they've proved they can beat us," Kansas Coach Larry Brown said.

Kansas State beat the Jayhawks two of three times the schools met this season, including a 72-61 victory that snapped Kansas' 5-game home winning streak.

PONTIAC, Mich. -- Vanderbilt guard Barry Goheen had nothing but praise for the Commodores fans.

"The Vanderbilt community and the city of Nashville has been sort of electric since our win," Goheen said of the over­time victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday. "It's about time they've had something to cheer about. It's been 14 years since Vanderbilt has won a game in the NCAA tournament and we hope to deserve this. They've been great all year."

This is Vanderbilt's third ap­pearance in the tournament and the Commodores came within two points of the Final Four in 1964. Michigan, led by Cazzie Russell, beat Vanderbilt 87-85 in the Midwest Regional final that year to advance to the Final Four.

PONTIAC, Mich. -- The Big Eight and Big Ten are the only conferences with two teams each in the round of 16.

Kansas and Kansas State of the Big Eight are both in the Midwest Regional, while Okla­homa is the top seed in the Sout­heast.

Purdue is the top seed in the Midwest, while Iowa and Mich­igan are both in the West Regional.

The appearance in the round of 16 is the third straight for Kansas and the Jayhawks are one of three teams to have advanced that far in each of the last three tournaments. Duke and North Carolina are the others.

PONTIAC, Mich. -- The Sil­verdome is an imposing struc­ture but the players who prac­ticed on it Thursday for this Midwest Regional didn't seem that impressed.
The first sign of spring

QB Fouts retires
Associated Press
RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif. - Quarterback Dan Fouts, a star who directed San Diego's record-setting offense of the late 1970s and early 1980s, plans to retire this year, the team announced Thursday, saying his body couldn't take the battering of another football season.

"After 15 years, this body has taken as many hits as it can," Fouts said in a news conference at his Rancho Santa Fe estate, about 20 miles north of San Diego. "It's just time for me to move on to a new phase in my life."

I feel fortunate that I have more sports are more important than my health intact, that I have a few yet-unscreamed brain cells, and that I want to go through the rest of my life. I want to enjoy it, and I believe I will."

Fouts, 36, said his decision to retire is a mutual one by him and club officials. At no time was he pressured into leaving, added that he doesn't consider going to another team.

Fouts acknowledged there had been differences at times between him and some club officials, including owner Alex Spanos. But asked if he held grudges, Fouts said, "No, there really isn't any."

The club reportedly reached a contract boycott agreement with Fouts' agent in late November in which the six-time Pro Bowler gave up all contractual guarantees in a specific contract for an undisclosed bonus, last year's salary and any other deals despite the strike-interrupted season, and $375,000 for 1988, when the pact expired.

The Chargers, meanwhile, have been actively trying to trade Fouts, usually considered the way the team wanted to go through the rest of his career.

The holder of seven NFL records, Fouts once was considered one of the most durable quarterbacks.

Spring continued from page 20
ent or former NCAA Division I basketball player, male or female, can see the game on three varsity football players, or two football players and a Division I basketball player, are allowed on one team.

Another rule that is part of the uniqueness of Bookstore Basketball is that games are played regardless of weather conditions. It has not been unusual to see thunderstorms and snowfall on the tarmacked court during the tournament, but the games go on. Also, no substitutions or timeouts are allowed. Free throws and field goals are both worth one point, and the games are played to 21.

In 1978, the tournament was given national attention in a four-page Sports Illustrated article in the May 15 issue. The writer chose Teldelan's team undercover and did not interview all players openly to avoid glory-seeking students.

"I've never seen a campus where students are more important," said Teldelan. "Even in the calmest of times Notre Dame can resemble an Olympic training village."
Campus

Friday

11:15 a.m.: Department of Economics Public Policy Workshop with Wayne Pulitzer, graduate student, Room 131 Decio.
12:15 p.m.: Friday Forum at the Center for Social Concerns, Perspectives of Members of Notre Dame's Academic Honor Code Committee, Room 124 Snite.
5:30 p.m.: Open Art Exhibition, Douglas Kinsey: Images of Survival, Snite Museum.
6 p.m.: Women's Tennis vs. Eastern Michigan, Eck Tennis Pavilion.

Saturday

8 a.m.: National Teachers Exam, Engineering Auditorium.
8:15 p.m.: Department of Music Concert, Notre Dame Glee Club, Washington Hall.

Sunday

4 p.m.: Wrestlemania IV, Joyce ACC, $9 and $13.

---

Dinner Menus

Notre Dame
Pasta Bar
Grilled Cheese
Filet of Sole
Clam Chowder

Saint Mary's
Batter Fried Fish
Cheese Enchiladas
Eggplant Parmesan
Deli Bar

---

The Observer

Notre Dame and Saint Mary's newspaper
Be a part of it.

---

Comics

Bloom County

Calvin and Hobbes

The Far Side

Woody Allen Week

"A MID SUMMER NIGHT'S SEX COMEDY"

Friday & Saturday
8:00 & 10:00 PM
Cushing Auditorium
$2.00
Irish baseball hosts Wisconsin in opener

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

After playing 17 of its first 18 games on the road, the Notre Dame baseball team returns home in grand style this afternoon.

The 8-10 Irish take on Wisconsin at 2 p.m. today in Notre Dame's first game at Stanley Coveleski Stadium. The new South Bend facility seats 5,000 fans and will house the fledgling Class A South Bend White Sox franchise.

"Coveleski Stadium is another indication of where our program is going," said first-year Irish coach Pat Murphy. "It is a tremendous facility, and we are very lucky to be able to use it for some of our home games. It is as good as any Division I ballpark in the country."

Notre Dame's clash with Wisconsin will be just one of five games on the Irish schedule for this weekend. Notre Dame will go to Indianapolis for a doubleheader against Butler on Saturday, then returns home on Sunday for a doubleheader with Chicago State at Coveleski Stadium.

Dick Vitale's One-Eyed Bandits, and the new, revamped edition of Screaming Midgets from Oklahoma take Stephan Court 2 on Monday.

The tournament has grown in prominence since its first tourney spring since 1972 when two students, Fritz Hoefer and Vince Meconi, decided that Notre Dame needed to liven up the campus athletic scene. It got its name from the spring that year, 31 teams competed in the tournament.

This year's Bookstore's initial year's Irish baseball squad was led by Irish baseball star Bill Fennelly. He graduated in 1987 from the University of Notre Dame with a degree in business administration.

getStore Basketball: spring has arrived

By PETE SKIKO
Sports Writer

The first robin, the first 70-degree day, hopefully the last ice patchpaddle— they've all made their appearance on the Notre Dame campus.

But springtime officially kicks off today at 4:00 when Bookstore Basketball teams take the court for the 17th consecutive season.

The largest basketball tournament in the world only got bigger this year, at the expense of the more superstitious players. Also of the number of teams in this year's tourney swelled four there's been a lot of work to do on the part of Lou's Two QB's.

One of the number of teams in this year's tourney swelled four there's been a lot of work to do on the part of Lou's Two QB's.

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

The last 20-point effort of Doug West, Villanova upset the Wildcats Thursday night as the team held off Kentucky 60-74 in the Southeast Regional semifinal. The Wildcats will face Oklahoma in the regional final.

Dick Vitale's One-Eyed Bandits, and the new, revamped edition of Screaming Midgets from Oklahoma take Stephan Court 2 on Monday.

The tournament has grown in prominence since its first tourney spring since 1972 when two students, Fritz Hoefer and Vince Meconi, decided that Notre Dame needed to liven up the campus athletic scene. It got its name from the spring that year, 31 teams competed in the tournament.

This year's Bookstore's initial year's Irish baseball squad was led by Irish baseball star Bill Fennelly. He graduated in 1987 from the University of Notre Dame with a degree in business administration.

STORE Basketball: spring has arrived

By PETE SKIKO
Sports Writer

The first robin, the first 70-degree day, hopefully the last ice patchpaddle— they've all made their appearance on the Notre Dame campus.

But springtime officially kicks off today at 4:00 when Bookstore Basketball teams take the court for the 17th consecutive season.

The largest basketball tournament in the world only got bigger this year, at the expense of the more superstitious players. Also of the number of teams in this year's tourney swelled four there's been a lot of work to do on the part of Lou's Two QB's.

One of the number of teams in this year's tourney swelled four there's been a lot of work to do on the part of Lou's Two QB's.

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

With the 20-point effort of Doug West, Villanova won the battle of the Wildcats Thursday night as the team held off Kentucky 60-74 in the Southeast Regional semifinal. The Wildcats will face Oklahoma in the regional final.