Israelis, Arabs clash on border

Associated Press

JERUSALEM - Israeli troops on Tuesday tracked down and attacked a band of Arab guerrillas infiltrating from Lebanon into Israel. Two Israelis and three guerrillas were killed, authorities said.

Two other Israeli soldiers were wounded in the firefight. One was in serious condition with a bullet wound to his chest, authorities said.

The attack in the rocky terrain and scrub brush near the Lebanese border was bloodiest border clash since Dec. 8, when Palestinian rioters began in Israeli-occupied territories to the south.

In the Gaza Strip, meanwhile, the Army blocked roads and searched for the intruders, the spokesman said.

Dukakis topples Jackson; clinches front runner spot

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA - Michael Dukakis routed Jesse Jackson in the Pennsylvania Democratic primary Tuesday night, cementing his status as the presidential front-runner. George Bush won a resounding Republican victory and predicted the state would deliver the final delegates needed to clinch the nomination.

By their victories, Bush and Dukakis emerged as almost certain opponents in the fall general election campaign - survivors of a campaign marked by seven democratic candidates and six republicans.

Dukakis was gaining 67 percent of the vote with 43 percent of the precincts counted and said his victory would be "very, very helpful" in his quest for the White House.

Jackson was gaining 27 percent of the democratic vote and said he intended to compete through the end of the primary season on June 7. "The race is not to the swift and the strong," he said. "I'm a long-distance runner. It's too close now to turn around."

Network polling place interviews contained news that was as good for Dukakis as his vote totals.

Though Jackson gained more than 90 percent support from blacks, ABC polling analyst Robert Muzzio said that, for the first time in the campaign season, Dukakis was winning a majority of voters who cited the poor and elderly as their chief concerns - voters Jackson won in prior contests.

Doctors unsure if girl suffered brain damage

By DAN MURPHY

Melissa Sauceda, the high school senior struck in the head by a keg last Friday, is out of a coma after three days but remains in the intensive care unit at Notre Dame's Hospital, according to Marty Rodgers, a student counselor at the admissions office.

"She is, hopefully, a future member of the Notre Dame community," Rodgers said, addressing the Hall Presidents' Council Tuesday night.

"I don't know what her decision will be after the incident, but, hopefully, we can make her feel comfortable as part of our community," he said.

Rodgers told the HPC that the admissions office will bring any flowers, posters, cards or other gifts to Sauceda Friday afternoon. He encouraged the hall presidents to send something to Sauceda on behalf of their respective dorms.

"One of the great things about Notre Dame is how we all stick together, how we bond together as a community in the face of adversity," Rodgers said. He told the HPC that Sauceda is sleeping a lot during the day, and doctors are still unsure if she suffered any brain damage or if she will make a full recovery.

Airborne

A student on North Quad jumps for joy at the thought of campus are discovering new methods of eliminating smoke from the skies with flares and smoke bombs. In the hope that at least three homilies a year will be raised to 1988 designated to raise interest in cultural diversity

By MICHELLE DALL

In an effort to increase minority awareness at Notre Dame, "the University has designated 1988-89 as The Year of Cultural Diversity," according to Associate Provost Oliver Williams.

Williams said this plan evolved as an outgrowth of the minority report submitted to University President Father Edward Malloy in June 1987. Since that time, a committee comprised of Notre Dame students and faculty members has been formed to organize the effort.

Williams said the goal of the committee is "to raise the level of consciousness of all members of the Notre Dame community to the importance of minorities in American life and culture." To reach this goal, Williams said the committee is currently developing a schedule of events for the upcoming year. A "distinguished lecture series inviting minorities who are leaders in their fields to deliver addresses on their specialties" is one of the scheduled activities, according to Williams.

Other activities may include special exhibits at the Snite museum, featured music groups and halftime shows at football games. According to Williams, Notre Dame student government has also invited Rev. Jesse Jackson to speak at the University in either September or October of the coming year.

Campus Ministry is also organizing special events for Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday, as well as inviting a black and a Hispanic bishop to each serve one mass at Sacred Heart Church. The group is working in conjunction with priests who serve dorm masses in the hope that at least three homilies a year will focus on racism.

Williams said the students selected for the committee "have distinguished themselves in some way." According to Williams, the student committee members "hold elected leadership positions, are minorities themselves or are distinguished academically." Williams chairs the committee.

Williams said he is "overawed with the immense amount of enthusiasm and good will" the effort has produced. He continued, "The plan is part of our educational mission at Notre Dame... We are culturally deprived if we do not recognize the role minorities have played in American history and the role they will certainly continue to play in the future."
Patience difficult skill to learn for some

Sarah Voigt
Assistant Accent Editor

 design is about patience. A panel discussion concerning "Violence Against Lesbian Gay Lives" will be held tonight from 7:30 to 9 at the YWCA. The event is sponsored by N.O.W. in conjunction with the S.O.S. "Take Back the Night." March and Victim's Rights Week. For more information contact Elynn at 289-1316. -The Observer

The Royal Lichtenstein Quarter Ring Sidewalk Circus will be on the Fieldhouse Mall today from noon until 5 p.m. The event is sponsored by student government and the Center for Social Concerns. -The Observer

A panel discussion concerning "Violence Against Lesbian Gay Lives" will be held tonight from 7:30 to 9 at the YWCA. The event is sponsored by N.O.W. in conjunction with the S.O.S. "Take Back the Night." March and Victim's Rights Week. For more information contact Elynn at 289-1316. -The Observer

The Juggler's spring 1988 issue will be distributed today and throughout the week in LaFortune Student Center and the library. The Juggler poetry reading will be today at 8 p.m. in the library lounge, and the writing competition award winners will be announced. Refreshments will be served. -The Observer

Senior Month ticket sales will not be held in the Notre Dame Room as indicated. They will be in the Senior Class office from 3 to 5 p.m. on the second floor of LaFortune Student Center. -The Observer

Connecticut Club sign-ups for loading the baggage truck will be today from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the main lobby of LaFortune Student Center and from 9 to 9:30 p.m. in Leman's Lobby at Saint Mary's. For more information call Kent Weldon at 1228 or Andy Titterton at 271-9082. -The Observer

The An Tostal Jim E. Brogan Distinguished Spirit Award winner is the group "Brotherhood of the Druids." A member of that group should contact Ellen Bonfiglio at 2152. -The Observer

An Irish Guard help session will be conducted on Thursday at 4:15 p.m. on Green Field. All those interested in trying out next fall should attend. If anyone interested misses the meeting, be sure to attend this one. If you have questions, call Tom Lauer at 1850, or call the Band Office. -The Observer

Big Brothers and Big Sisters for transfer students are needed. Interested students should contact their hall presi-dents. KNOT and Siegfried residents should leave a note in the transfer orientation mailbox in the student govern-ment office. -The Observer

Campus Entertainment will be holding a 1988-89 concert series meeting Thursday at 3 p.m. in the SUB. Be sure to reserve your seats. -The Observer

Seniors who have received Senior Scholarship Fund applications should only return them if they intend to donate their room deposit money. Please check the "Yes" box. -The Observer

The Italian Club will have a very short meeting in the social space in the basement of Pangborn Hall today at 6 p.m. to choose officers for next year. -The Observer

Rev. Stanley Jaki, professor of physics at Seton Hall University, and recipient of the Templeton Prize for Progress in Religion, will give a lecture entitled "St. Thomas and the Universe" today at 4 p.m. in the Hayes-Helely auditorium. -The Observer

The Observer (IUP 599 1-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $60 per year ($3 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box C, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN-RACED IMPORTS

ATTENTION
1st Time Buyers & College Students

NISSAN is offering a 1st Time Buyers' Program for New or Used Cars & Trucks. If you are graduating or have a job lined up, you qualify for a new car or truck. Call or come see Kevin O'Reilly at CORAL NISSAN-1 mile north of campus on US31. PH. 277-5800

* Bring in ad and after best deal receive $100 cash in pocket.
El Salvador visit prompts awareness

By LYSEY R. STRAND
Staff Reporter

Editor's note: This is the first story in a three-part series of Notre Dame's recent trip to El Salvador and their call for international attention to the country's political and social strife.

"We heard the testimony of Juan. He was just released from capture by the security forces," recounted Dan Stroup, a Notre Dame senior who visited El Salvador during the past Holy Week.

"As he was coming back from teaching catechism to children, members of the National Guard stopped him on a bus and accused him of being a guerrilla," said Stroup. "They took Juan in, shackled and tied him, and offered him no lawyer. They interrogated him for 48 hours, threatened his life and family. They promised to give Juan safety and money if he told them the truth about being a communist or an informant," continued.

"When Juan did not, they took his shirt off, put him tied up in a bag, stuffed him in a 2x4x11 cell, which was full of human excrement.

"Juan was finally set free after a group of internationals demanded his release in front of the First Battalion. Before he was released, he had to sign a document saying that he was grateful for his treatment. The international attention helped to release him," he said.

A Notre Dame group of 10 are calling for international attention to El Salvador's political and social strife after their recent Holy Week visit. Father Edward Malloy personally funded the group of students, administrators and clergy with his "seed money," said Stroup.

In the country's capital of San Salvador, the group joined Erica Dahl-Bredine, a 1987 Notre Dame graduate who works in a lay association with refugees. She was one of the key people who helped win Juan's release by writing to authorities and putting ads of the "disappeared" person in the newspaper.

Claiming how easy it is for Americans to help, Associate Professor of Law Carol Mooney noted, "In an air-conditioned office, I can pick up the telephone, take my charge card and send a telegram" to call for an El Salvadoran's release from the security forces.

Money warned, though, "Anything we can do to help a particular people is a bandaid on a situation which needs an overall cure. Therefore, the most important part of our mission is to talk about what we saw and let the rest of the world have some idea what life is like in El Salvador."

Since their return, the group is holding many lectures and slide shows at Notre Dame and urging people to contact their congressmen about the poor's plight in El Salvador. All members denounced the U.S. government's foreign aid to the country, which Mooney quoted at $608 million last year, adding that El Salvador's yearly budget is $865 million per year.

Out of El Salvador's population of five million, roughly 10 percent own 90 percent of the country's wealth, said Kopcynski, adding that "no doubt the oligarchy have the money at their disposal to maintain the repression, but not in definitely."

Kopcynski and her fellow members link the Reagan administration's strong support of Notre Dame graduate President Napoleon Duarte's government in military aid to the country's human rights abuses by its security forces. In 1983, El Salvador's right-wing death squads were responsible for 1,000 deaths, sources say.

"It's always such a politically charged situation," said Associate Director of Public Relations Michael Garvey. "I think there are lots of people who innocently, and I think rather naively, assume that to be in touch with poor people in Latin America means to be for some Communist uprising. It's just not."

Polish workers strike over pay, inflation

Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland—Hundreds of steelworkers in southern Poland went on strike for more pay Tuesday as laborers' frustrations over rising inflation boiled over for the second time in two days.

Other workers threatened a walkout at a heavy machinery plant to protest the firing of two leaders of the independent Solidarity trade union for calling for international attention to El Salvador.

On Monday, a strike by 2,000 transit workers in the western city of Bydgoszcz shut down buses and trams for 11 hours, forcing provincial officials to boost hourly wages by 60 percent.

The strikes appeared to be the biggest labor actions since the 1981 martial-law crackdown suppressed Solidarity, which remains banned, although its leadership is still active.

A wave of strikes in 1980 gave rise to Solidarity. Strikes over higher prices have a long tradition in postwar Poland and caused government upheavals in 1956, 1970 and 1980.

Prices have climbed 42 percent in the first three months of 1988, the government says, mainly the result of an economic reform designed to make prices more realistic and reduce subsidies for consumer staples like bread and milk.

But the planned inflation has resulted in demands for pay increases that are outrunning prices, prompting warnings from leaders of the communist government that managers should grant only raises that are economically justified.

As a result, the government this week ordered managers to freeze raises until prices stabilize.

GREYHOUND

WILL BE ON CAMPUS TUESDAY, MAY 3rd
THRU SUNDAY, MAY 8th TO PICK-UP YOUR TRUNKS, BOXES, STEREOS & BICYCLES FOR SHIPMENT HOME.

THE GREYHOUND TABLE WILL BE BEHIND THE BOOKSTORE MAY 3rd THRU MAY 8th FROM 10:00 a.m. UNTIL 4:30 p.m.

SHIP PREPAID (CASH) OR COLLECT (LET MOM & DAD PAY)

INDIVIDUAL TRUNKS & BOXES CANNOT EXCEED 100lbs.

WE’LL HAVE TAPE AND SHIPPING LABELS.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Violence that broke out following the Little 500 bicycle race at Indiana University last weekend will spark some changes in law enforcement practices during next year's festival, Police Chief Steve Sharp says.

One police officer was injured, and more than 70 people were arrested in what officials described as a riot early Sunday morning at Varsity Villa apartments on the city's north side.

"It is indeed regrettable from the department's standpoint that several hundred persons using the cloak of darkness attempted to engage in activities that injured others and preyed upon property," Sharp said Monday in a news release. "It is imperative that the participants themselves work to prevent such a future occurrence."

These arrested were taken to the Monroe County Jail on charges including criminal mischief, drunkenness, illegal consumption of alcohol, possession of marijuana and interfering with police.

Sharp said his department has been fairly lenient in the past in allowing students and others to enjoy the Little 500 weekend.
Alcoholism may be genetically linked

Associated Press

Children of alcoholics may be genetically predisposed to the affliction, but too few know about the extra risk, a researcher said in a conference at Notre Dame.

"The conference was to bring "major theorists" together to try to "reach a level of convergence of the many differing opinions," said David Dannison, director of alcohol and drug education.

The main purpose of the conference was to determine "the place of the teacher and to justify our existence," said Dannison.

Ways in which to intervene before students need help were discussed.

Researchers have uncovered evidence of the link between genetics and alcoholism only in recent decades, he said.

"Not every child born of an alcoholic parent will become an alcoholic, but it's a lot more likely to happen," he said.

Studies of identical twins with an alcoholic parent show that, if one twin has an alcoholic drinking pattern, the other twin almost certainly exhibits the same pattern, he said.

Even children separated from alcoholic parents in infancy run a greater risk, he said. Those children are four times more likely to become problem drinkers than the children of non-alcoholics.

"In the case where the child of non-alcoholics is adopted by an alcoholic family, the child is no more likely to develop alcoholism than if he had been raised in his original home," he said.

Smith said universities and professional schools, such as medicine, law and business, should teach their students more about alcohol and alcoholism.

"I believe it should be impossible for students to graduate from a professional training school without a thorough knowledge of alcoholism," he said. "To me, it's bizarre that it's possible to graduate from many medical schools without knowing really anything about the third-leading killer in the U.S. - alcohol.

Campus view

The campus appears deserted as students trudge to the library and bury themselves in their books to prepare for upcoming finals.

U.S. economy growing in first three months of year

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Strong spending by American consumers helped the economy grow at a healthy 2.3 percent annual rate during the first three months of 1988, the government said Tuesday, dispelling fear of any lingering ill effects from the October stock market crash.

The Commerce Department, in its first look at overall economic performance this year, said consumer spending, the biggest surge in business investment in more than four years and growing exports kept the gross national product rising, despite declines in government spending and housing construction.

Early this year, economists had feared the evaporation of $500 billion in wealth during the Oct. 19 stock market crash would scare consumers and cause a drastic slowdown, or even a recession.

Faculty discusses alcohol use

BY MAURA KRAUSE

Alcohol use and misuse among college students was discussed at an alcohol symposium attended by faculty and staff of various universities from all over the country.

The conference was to bring "major theorists" together to try to "reach a level of convergence of the many differing opinions," said David Dannison, director of alcohol and drug education.

At the conference, "Many people of vastly differing theories met to find a common ground," said Dannison.

The main purpose of the conference was to determine "the place of the teacher and to justify our existence," said Dannison.

Ways in which to intervene before students need help were discussed.

Researchers have uncovered evidence of the link between genetics and alcoholism only in recent decades, he said.

"Not every child born of an alcoholic parent will become an alcoholic, but it's a lot more likely to happen," he said.

Studies of identical twins with an alcoholic parent show that, if one twin has an alcoholic drinking pattern, the other twin almost certainly exhibits the same pattern, he said.

Even children separated from alcoholic parents in infancy run a greater risk, he said. Those children are four times more likely to become problem drinkers than the children of non-alcoholics.

"In the case where the child of non-alcoholics is adopted by an alcoholic family, the child is no more likely to develop alcoholism than if he had been raised in his original home," he said.

Smith said universities and professional schools, such as medicine, law and business, should teach their students more about alcohol and alcoholism.

"I believe it should be impossible for students to graduate from a professional training school without a thorough knowledge of alcoholism," he said. "To me, it's bizarre that it's possible to graduate from many medical schools without knowing really anything about the third-leading killer in the U.S. - alcohol.

U.S. ships can't counter all Iran's attacks says Navy's top admiral

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - American warships cannot be expected to counter every Iranian attack on merchant ships in the Persian Gulf, despite last week's destruction of a U.S. military presence, the Navy's top admiral said Tuesday.

"I can offer the observation of a lot of personal pride and satisfaction in the way they did their jobs," said Adm. Carlisle A. Call, the chief of naval operations, referring to fighting April 18 that saw six Iranian vessels crippled or sunk and no U.S. ships hit.

"But if someone wants to make an iron-clad guarantee that we will counter any Iranian attack, I'd say, first of all, that such a guarantee would be patently impossible, because you cannot foresee the possibility of attack by those large numbers of small craft that are always present out there," said Call.

"Secondly, readiness is a hard thing to measure," he said. "You don't put a dollar figure on readiness, generally, because no one can appreciate that.

"What they appreciate is the fact that, in last week's engagements, for example, everything went right for our guys and wrong for the other guy," said Call.

"I don't think it's realistic to say our kids need to just shape up," said Kinney, when speaking on the many myths associated with drinking among young adults.

"Some myths Kinney stated were, "Heavy drinking is just a stage, and alcohol problems in adolescence, by definition, are just adjustment problems."

Kinney stressed this was not true, as many students enter college with alcohol problems.

Kinney cited several statistics in her speech. "The age group 18-24 is the only group with a declining life expectancy. More people in this age group die each year by accidents, suicide or homicide, and alcohol can be key in all three," said Kinney. Also, Kinney cited the statistic that, "In a typical week, 27 percent of college students consume 0.6 drinks."

The symposium was held in the Center for Continuing Education on Monday and Tuesday.

U.S. ships can't counter all Iran's attacks says Navy's top admiral

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - American warships cannot be expected to counter every Iranian attack on merchant ships in the Persian Gulf, despite last week's destruction of a U.S. military presence, the Navy's top admiral said Tuesday.

"I can offer the observation of a lot of personal pride and satisfaction in the way they did their jobs," said Adm. Carlisle A. Call, the chief of naval operations, referring to fighting April 18 that saw six Iranian vessels crippled or sunk and no U.S. ships hit.

"But if someone wants to make an iron-clad guarantee that we will counter any Iranian attack, I'd say, first of all, that such a guarantee would be patently impossible, because you cannot foresee the possibility of attack by those large numbers of small craft that are always present out there," said Call.

"Secondly, readiness is a hard thing to measure," he said. "You don't put a dollar figure on readiness, generally, because no one can appreciate that.

"What they appreciate is the fact that, in last week's engagements, for example, everything went right for our guys and wrong for the other guy," said Call.

"I don't think it's realistic to say our kids need to just shape up," said Kinney, when speaking on the many myths associated with drinking among young adults.

"Some myths Kinney stated were, "Heavy drinking is just a stage, and alcohol problems in adolescence, by definition, are just adjustment problems."

Kinney stressed this was not true, as many students enter college with alcohol problems.

Kinney cited several statistics in her speech. "The age group 18-24 is the only group with a declining life expectancy. More people in this age group die each year by accidents, suicide or homicide, and alcohol can be key in all three," said Kinney. Also, Kinney cited the statistic that, "In a typical week, 27 percent of college students consume 0.6 drinks."

The symposium was held in the Center for Continuing Education on Monday and Tuesday.

Campus view

The campus appears deserted as students trudge to the library and bury themselves in their books to prepare for upcoming finals.

U.S. economy growing in first three months of year

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Strong spending by American consumers helped the economy grow at a healthy 2.3 percent annual rate during the first three months of 1988, the government said Tuesday, dispelling fear of any lingering ill effects from the October stock market crash.

The Commerce Department, in its first look at overall economic performance this year, said consumer spending, the biggest surge in business investment in more than four years and growing exports kept the gross national product rising, despite declines in government spending and housing construction.

Early this year, economists had feared the evaporation of $500 billion in wealth during the Oct. 19 stock market crash would scare consumers and cause a drastic slowdown, or even a recession.

Campus view

The campus appears deserted as students trudge to the library and bury themselves in their books to prepare for upcoming finals.

U.S. economy growing in first three months of year

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Strong spending by American consumers helped the economy grow at a healthy 2.3 percent annual rate during the first three months of 1988, the government said Tuesday, dispelling fear of any lingering ill effects from the October stock market crash.

The Commerce Department, in its first look at overall economic performance this year, said consumer spending, the biggest surge in business investment in more than four years and growing exports kept the gross national product rising, despite declines in government spending and housing construction.

Early this year, economists had feared the evaporation of $500 billion in wealth during the Oct. 19 stock market crash would scare consumers and cause a drastic slowdown, or even a recession.
Senate subpoenas North's diaries for drug investigation

Associated Press
WASHINGTON - The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted 16-1 Tuesday to subpoena the private working diaries of Lt. Col. Oliver North in its continuing investigation of international drug smuggling.

Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., expressed concern that the originals of the North diaries have never been turned over to government authorities in censored form but remain in the hands of North and his attorney, Brendan Sullivan. The subpoena calls for North and Sullivan to produce 2,348 pages of handwritten diary notes in their entirety and with no deletions.

The notes cover the period from September 1984 to November 1986, when North was fired from his position on the National Security Council in the Iran-Contra arms and money furor.

A version of the North diary already has been made available to the congressional Iran-Contra committees, but Kerry said North and Sullivan heavily censored 1,389 pages with black ink.

Speaking of the North diaries, Kerry told the committee, "I'm not asserting that there's a smoking gun or something hidden or that some of the redactions (deletions) are not appropriate. My assertion is that, given what has already been declassified, I don't know how we can proceed with our investigation without being able to see all of it."

"The issue is one of investigation," Kerry said. "We have the right to look at these classified documents, a work product of a government employee!"

Seventy-four pages of North's notes were released Tuesday. Often interspersed in notes about logistics of fighting in the war effort of the Nicaraguan Contras, the notes are numerous references to drugs, the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Customs Service, Panamanian ruler Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega and CIA agents.

But Kerry complained that most such references are preceeded or followed with large blacked-out sections.

One note, dated June 27, 1986, says, "Drug Case - DEA progress on combating cocaine and refs to possible Colombian negotiations to move drug refining to Nicaragua."

An entry from the previous month notes that CIA Latin American chief Duane Claridge had called and indicated that "(name deleted) contact indicates that Gustavo is involved with drugs." It is unclear to whom "Gustavo" refers.

But Kerry has made it clear he believes there was a connection between drug running and the Contras. Some testimony before the Senate committee on narcotics and terrorism has focused on that possibility.

Correction
Due to an editing error, names were listed incorrectly in Tuesday's Ugly Man on Campus story. Phil Marzolf won the fundraising contest, and Mike "Coma" Meyer came in second place. Michele Peick was a co-organizer of the event.

Associate Press
WASHINGTON - The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted 16-1 Tuesday to subpoena the private working diaries of Lt. Col. Oliver North in its continuing investigation of international drug smuggling.

Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., expressed concern that the originals of the North diaries have never been turned over to government authorities in censored form but remain in the hands of North and his attorney, Brendan Sullivan. The subpoena calls for North and Sullivan to produce 2,348 pages of handwritten diary notes in their entirety and with no deletions.

The notes cover the period from September 1984 to November 1986, when North was fired from his position on the National Security Council in the Iran-Contra arms and money furor.

A version of the North diary already has been made available to the congressional Iran-Contra committees, but Kerry said North and Sullivan heavily censored 1,389 pages with black ink.

Speaking of the North diaries, Kerry told the committee, "I'm not asserting that there's a smoking gun or something hidden or that some of the redactions (deletions) are not appropriate. My assertion is that, given what has already been declassified, I don't know how we can proceed with our investigation without being able to see all of it."

"The issue is one of investigation," Kerry said. "We have the right to look at these classified documents, a work product of a government employee!"

Seventy-four pages of North's notes were released Tuesday. Often interspersed in notes about logistics of fighting in the war effort of the Nicaraguan Contras, the notes are numerous references to drugs, the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Customs Service, Panamanian ruler Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega and CIA agents.

But Kerry complained that most such references are preceeded or followed with large blacked-out sections.

One note, dated June 27, 1986, says, "Drug Case - DEA progress on combating cocaine and refs to possible Colombian negotiations to move drug refining to Nicaragua."

An entry from the previous month notes that CIA Latin American chief Duane Claridge had called and indicated that "(name deleted) contact indicates that Gustavo is involved with drugs." It is unclear to whom "Gustavo" refers.

But Kerry has made it clear he believes there was a connection between drug running and the Contras. Some testimony before the Senate committee on narcotics and terrorism has focused on that possibility.

Correction
Due to an editing error, names were listed incorrectly in Tuesday's Ugly Man on Campus story. Phil Marzolf won the fundraising contest, and Mike "Coma" Meyer came in second place. Michele Peick was a co-organizer of the event.

Barfoot girl electrocuted by exposed 480 volt wire

Associated Press
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. - A 17-year-old girl was electrocuted when she stepped on a steel plate that covered wiring for a light post, authorities said.

Seven-year-old Diego Martinez's accident that killed 17-year-old Veronika Beatriz Feria "was a tragic accident," said Otto Cefkin, a Fort Lauderdale police spokesman. The street was closed and wiring had been moved to make way for the entrance of a new shopping center. It was badly rewired and set the grating alive with 480 volts, said police and a Florida Power and Light spokesman.

Had the victim been wearing shoes, she probably would have been electrocuted from the current, said FPL spokesman Don Grenier.

Cefkin said city workers were investigating the accident told police a poorly insulated wire had been improperly positioned on the lid of the box beneath the steel plate. When the lid was placed on the box, the insulation was severed.
ANNOUNCER: The following is a re-creation of a fictitious political interview between Mr. Kevin Smant and President Ronald Reagan. It is partly a product of what Mr. Smant wished the president would say, and partly what he feels the president should say. I, in fact, say, should such an encounter ever take place. And now, without any further ado, let us turn to that eminent historian, Mr. Smant.

Kevin Smant

guest column

K.S.: Thank you very much. Mr. President, it's a real honor for me to be talking to you. I've been writing about politics for some time now, and...

R.R.: Oh, I know, Kevin. I've followed your career. I loved your piece on Gorbachev.

K.S.: Wow! Thanks! But I thought Larry Speakes said you only read the comics.

R.R.: Well, I do read them—got to get your laughs somewhere, anywhere, in my job. But I read too much stuff too. Did you know I was one of the early subscribers to Bill Buckley's National Review back in the '70s? Some of the ivory-tower fellows think I'm kind of dense. But they didn't become president, either.

K.S.: Well put. But back to that Gorbachev piece. As you remember, I criticized you for signing the new INF treaty.

R.R.: Well, I appreciate your concern. And I really didn't mean it when I said conservatives feel war is inevitable. But on to the next question. I've been writing about Central America receive a lot of praise from you.

K.S.: You think it's OK to intervene in the affairs of Honduras because of Nicaragua. But, again, they sure denounce me for interfering in Nicaragua. Do they really ignore me when I point out Sandinista abuses of human rights, or their running gun to El Salvador? You know, if anything, I think I was too easy on you on this issue. I should have asked for more aid to the Contras, enough to give them a real chance to win.

R.R.: Yes, that's the problem. Do you also take a lot of flak for your policies supposedly favoring only the wealthy, and discriminating against minorities. I can tell by your grins that you're not morally ashamed. Can you explain why?

R.R.: Well, again, I feel my critics are... well... unfair, at least. As for blacks, why, my father drilled into me at an early age that prejudice was wrong. Do you know that once he would... I don't think it's true to discriminate against someone because of his skin color?

K.S.: You're too sensitive.

R.R.: I know you were one of the early subscribers to Bill Buckley taught me (maybe all of us) that prejudice is wrong. Do you know that once he would... I don't think it's true to discriminate against someone because of his skin color?

K.S.: Yet, you felt you could justify your policies on the basis of them favoring only the wealthy?

R.R.: Well, we're talking about the policies of an administration of either institution. The news is reported as objectively as possible. Unbiased reports represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to representatives of the school community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Editorial Board

GARY TRUDEAU

Dinosaurs

K.S.: To do that, Kevin.

R.R.: Well, I appreciate your concern. And I really didn't mean it when I said conservatives feel war is inevitable. But on to the next question. I've been writing about Central America receive a lot of praise from you.

K.S.: You think it's OK to intervene in the affairs of Honduras because of Nicaragua. But, again, they sure denounce me for interfering in Nicaragua. Do they really ignore me when I point out Sandinista abuses of human rights, or their running gun to El Salvador? You know, if anything, I think I was too easy on you on this issue. I should have asked for more aid to the Contras, enough to give them a real chance to win.

R.R.: Yes, that's the problem. Do you also take a lot of flak for your policies supposedly favoring only the wealthy, and discriminating against minorities. I can tell by your grins that you're not morally ashamed. Can you explain why?

R.R.: Well, again, I feel my critics are... well... unfair, at least. As for blacks, why, my father drilled into me at an early age that prejudice was wrong. Do you know that once he would... I don't think it's true to discriminate against someone because of his skin color?

K.S.: You're too sensitive.

R.R.: I know you were one of the early subscribers to Bill Buckley taught me (maybe all of us) that prejudice is wrong. Do you know that once he would... I don't think it's true to discriminate against someone because of his skin color?

K.S.: Yet, you felt you could justify your policies on the basis of them favoring only the wealthy?

R.R.: Well, we're talking about the policies of an administration of either institution. The news is reported as objectively as possible. Unbiased reports represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to representatives of the school community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.
The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three networks presented a great lineup for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applause and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three major networks unveiled their lineups for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applauded and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three major networks unveiled their lineups for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applauded and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three major networks unveiled their lineups for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applauded and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three major networks unveiled their lineups for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applauded and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three major networks unveiled their lineups for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applauded and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

The year's best in television

Expectations were high last September when the three major networks unveiled their lineups for the new television season. During the past eight months, viewers have laughed, cried, applauded and "booed" their way through the various shows, but "Heartbeat" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realism evident in no other show. Its characters and situations are effervescent and believable. "A Year in the Life" is worth living.

Joe Bucolo

To be continued...

networks' contenders. Now, at the end of a most intriguing season, it is only fitting to honor those shows which stood out against extraordinary entertainment.

Best New Comedy: All three networks presented a great deal of new television comedies. Some were good, but even more were bad. This season saw the demise of "The Charmings," "Sledgehammer," and "My Sister Sam." While there were a few noteworthy comedies, none stands out above the rest: ABC's "The Wonder Years," Fresh, innovative and of talented actors, "The Wonder Years" deserves an Emmy Award.

Best New Drama: The competition in this category was a little more rigorous. "Tour of Duty" and "Heartbeat" are excellent shows; however, NBC's "A Year in the Life" presents itself with a realiz
Northern Indiana Public Service Company

Appliances & Grills

No Money Down • Low Monthly Payments

Free Gas Grill Giveaway!

Free Accessories with every grill sold!

Washers & Dryers • Refrigerators

* TAPPAN Washers & Dryers * Speed Queen

Polk Audio Speakers $69.95

Polk Audio • SONY • Pioneer • Yamaha

Many more incredible specials up to 60% off

Leather Jackets

$300 More

News & Women's Leather Jackets

Fashion & Style

50% off

Leather Pants & Leather Skirts $199.50

MANY MORE

FOOT & MOUTH & MONKEY

CONVERSE

Adidas

Reebok

Firestone Tires

Oil Change $20 • Tire Rotation $20

$10 each

White-Wall All-Season Tires in Stock

$20 more

Most styles at 50% off - Uninterested?

LaMour's Pool Center

24 ft. Round Above-Ground Pool

$1,399

Built-Ins-Complete Sale

Hargreaves

Guaranteed Lowest Prices

Sleep Sale!

Day Beds $29

Night Beds $68

Essential Comforts

167

Bedding

Liquidators

1128

230 E. 1st Street

1-800 BEDDING

Sleep the way you should — at

Quality Furniture from Southside Furniture

Twin Branch Furniture

Southside Furniture

Recliners • Bedrooms • Dinettes

Floor Lamps $28

Table Lamps $19

Gallery-Styled Sofas $297

300 Century

Recliner Group $488

Colonial Cocktail HX-Commode

& Square-Commode Tables $69

Solid Oak, Inlaid Glass, Brass Trim End Tables $79

All Wood Bar Stools $44

"Quality furniture at the best prices ever offered!"}

Furniture

Twin Branch

Furniture

Southside Furniture

Recliners • Bedrooms • Dinettes

Floor Lamps $28

Table Lamps $19

Gallery-Styled Sofas $297

300 Century

Recliner Group $488

Colonial Cocktail HX-Commode

& Square-Commode Tables $69

Solid Oak, Inlaid Glass, Brass Trim End Tables $79

All Wood Bar Stools $44

"Quality furniture at the best prices ever offered!"
Sports Wednesday

Wednesday, April 27, 1988

NBA Standings

Eastern Conference

- New York: 58 (6) 56
- Boston: 56 (6) 56
- Philadelphia: 54 (6) 54
- Cleveland: 54 (6) 54
- Atlanta: 53 (6) 53
- Miami: 51 (6) 51
- Milwaukee: 49 (6) 49
- Indiana: 48 (6) 48

Central Division

- Detroit: 54 (6) 54
- Chicago: 52 (6) 52
- Milwaukee: 43 (6) 43
- Chicago: 42 (6) 42
- Indiana: 38 (6) 38

Western Conference

- Houston: 57 (6) 57
- Boston: 53 (6) 53
- Minneapolis: 50 (6) 50
- Portland: 49 (6) 49
- LA Lakers: 31 (6) 31

Pacific Division

- Los Angeles: 52 (6) 52
- Portland: 52 (6) 52
- Seattle: 42 (6) 42
- Phoenix: 33 (6) 33
- LA Clippers: 17 (6) 21 (4.4)

---

Summer Calendar

Home games in CAPS

Baseball

- May 7: @ Valparaiso (2)
- May 8: @ Valparaiso (2)
- May 9: @ Illinois-Chicago (4)
- May 11: @ Ball State (4)
- June 3: @ Missouri (2)
- June 5: @ North Carolina (3)
- June 6: 3 NCAA College World Series

Track

- May 13: M&O Twilight Invitational (2)
- May 21-22: NCAA Championships (2)
- June 27-28: CENTRAL COLLEGE CONFERENCE

June

- 14 NCAA Championships

Golf

- May 25-26: NCAA Championships

---

Irish Baseball Box

Notre Dame 5, Purdue 2

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Notre Dame</th>
<th>5</th>
<th>9</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>0</th>
<th>2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Score</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purdue</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Sports Lists

NHL Franchises That Have Never Won a Division Title

- Detroit—20 years
- Los Angeles—20 years
- N.Y. Rangers—20 years
- Pittsburgh—20 years
- Toronto—20 years
- Washington—13 years
- Winnipeg—8 years

---

Sports Calendar

Today

- Women's tennis vs. Western Michigan

Friday

- Track at Ball State Relays and Penn Relays

Saturday

- Men's tennis at Illinois State

Thursday

- Golf at Midwestern Invitational

Irish Baseball

Through Monday

- Craig McNamara, DH: 20: 66: 16: 0: 6: 0: 0: 6: .438
- Tim Hixon, 1B: 15: 43: 34: 5: 7: 12: 0: 49: .345
- Dave Skagles, 2B: 28: 64: 20: 2: 8: 1: 0: 3: .438
- Ed Costa, LF: 44: 111: 40: 0: 1: 0: 0: 2: .300
- Mike Martin, AAB: 35: 110: 28: 8: 2: 0: 0: 19: .325
- Mike Cline, LF: 40: 107: 33: 6: 2: 0: 0: 2: .293
- Jeff Knight, C: 9: 12: 1: 2: 0: 0: 0: 1: .167
- Daniel Legue, 1B: 18: 5: 0: 0: 0: 0: 0: 0: .000
- David Yancey, C: 17: 25: 3: 2: 0: 0: 0: 2: .200
- Jim Foran, OF: 13: 2: 0: 0: 0: 0: 0: 0: .000

Left on base: Notre Dame 351, Opponents 136

Trenton (13-12)

- Kahalumani, 5, Notre Dame 4
- Wisconsin 8, Notre Dame 1

Men's (17-12)

- Kahalumani, 5, Notre Dame 4
- Wisconsin 8, Notre Dame 1

Golf

- 6th at Spartan Invitational

---

PITCHER

- Erik Madsen: 15: 12: 83.1: 20: 51: 3: 7-0: 3.89
- Tony Lovato: 6: 0: 15.0: 20: 7: 4: 2-5: 1.20
- Kevin Cravens: 11: 10: 39.0: 36: 16: 12: 23: 4-3: 5.31
- Mike Paskalis: 14: 8: 49.2: 33: 15: 10: 30: 4-4: 3.14
- Tim Howard: 8: 2: 18.0: 28: 6: 14: 8: 2: 3: 3.34
- Mike Ashby: 14: 8: 49.2: 33: 15: 10: 30: 4-4: 3.14
- Mike Coffey: 6: 0: 37.2: 15: 6: 6: 0: 0: 0: .830
- Zac Noble: 1: 0: 1.3: 3: 0: 2: 0: 0: 10.80
- Dan Madstatt: 1: 0: 1.3: 3: 0: 2: 0: 0: 10.80

Opponents

- Notre Dame 4 (Pasilla, Harman, 3)
- Opponents 0

---

The Observer Typesetting Service

- Is Now Hiring Students

Typesetters For The 1988-89 School Year

Call Chris Hasbrook at 239-7471

Through Wednesday 427

---

Enjoy

Saint Louis University

Madrid Campus

Graduate Program in Hispanic Studies

Seiz 0 on ALCEDO

Apply Now for Summer & Fall
Irish continued from page 16 believed, in addition to the fact that Murray decided to remove the pitchers from the bench so the right-hander could concentrate on hitting. The tactic worked as Piotrowicz allowed only one earned run in nine innings and gave up only seven hits, no walks and struck out seven.

The performance was a reprieve for the pitching staff, giving them a much-needed snap after giving up nearly six runs per contest. Piotrowicz upped his record to 3-0 for the season.

"That's as good as he's pitched in a game since I've been here," Murphy noted. Piotrowicz was not the only candidate for the pitching award against the Holmackers. Pesavento was kept busy at the plate, throwing all over to keep the play in the infield.

"Pesavento was great, just a great today," Murray praised. "He fields balls that no one else could. Sometimes he could get to the ball but can't make the throw and someone will say 'He should have,' but on one else would have even gotten near the ball.

The win also means the Irish have made it to the tournament for the first time in the last 30 years that the Irish have beaten a Big Ten team, and in 1989 they will try to make it two in a row with a win over the Indiana Hoosiers.

"I'm happy whenever we win," Murphy said, "but in today's game, I think we really played one of our best games.

Big 10 program, I know we really battled.

Irish ace Erik Madsen (7-4) will probably start the game at Jake Kellman at home Tuesday.

"We've got to stay up," Murray said.
Hernandez, Mets lash Braves

Associated Press

ATLANTA—Keith Hernandez drove in a career-high seven runs and hit two home runs, one a grand slam, as the New York Mets routed the Atlanta Braves 13-4 Tuesday night. Hernandez, who was batting .188 with four RBIs going into the game, boosted Davey Johnson to his 400th win as a manager.

Unbeaten Dwight Gooden became the first-period lead on goals by the Canadiens dating back to 1943. They had lost 18 straight games after he set a franchise record for most points during the regular season with 94.

The victory at the Montreal Forum gave the Bruins the Adams Division championship and marked the first time they have taken a playoff series from the Canadiens dating back to 1943. They had lost 18 straight series before Tuesday night.

The victory propelled the Bruins into the Wales Conference finals against the winner of the Patrick Division series between the New Jersey Devils and Washington Capitals.

Tradition continued from page 16

turning around the women’s basketball and hockey programs in just one year.

The Fighting Irish spirit is not limited to varsity athletes alone. Hundreds of students devote their time to intracollegiate competition like interhall, NCAA events and Bookstore Basketball. Competitors like interhall basketball champion Stanford’s Al Martin and hockey semifinalist Cavanaugh’s Hugh Wade put their all into the game in the name of dorm and individual pride, while Monk Malloy and Lou Holtz set lofty goals on the backburner in the name of Bookstore Basketball.

Sports Illustrated’s Rick Tocander in 1978 claimed after a week as an undercover reporter on Bookstore that the Notre Dame campus resembled an Olympic village every day.” It may not next week when finals take over, but the events and people mentioned above have proved this past year that the world of sport is alive and well at Notre Dame.

Knight’s TV remark causes furor

Associated Press

NEW YORK—Indiana basketball coach Bob Knight’s nationally televised remark comparing rape and the handling of stress drew a sharp reply from an IU women’s affairs official, according to a published report.

“Coach Knight’s stature as a role model and as an educator make it particularly damaging,” Trisha Bracken, assistant to IU dean for women’s affairs, told the New York Times on Tuesday.

“People who don’t normally pay attention to sexist remarks are astounded. It’s something you expect your grandfather to say. That man with Coach Knight’s education would say that is shocking.”

During an interview with NBC Monday night, correspondent Connie Chung asked Knight how he handled stress.

“I think that if rape is inevitable, relax and enjoy it,” Knight responded.

He added: “That’s just an old term that you’re going to use. The plane’s down, so you have no control over it.”

“I’m not talking about that, about the act of rape. Don’t misinterpret me, I mean what I’m talking about is, something happens to you, you have to handle it now.”

IU president Thomas Ehrlich, reached at his Bloomington, Ind., office, said, “Coach Knight was not speaking for the university. His reference to rape and his coarse language were in very poor taste. Period. That’s all I really want to say.”

Knight was traveling and unavailable for comment, according to a secretary in his office.

NBC received 25 to 30 calls complaining about Knight’s remark, according to spokesman Kevin Monaghan. The IU women’s affairs office received 12 to 15, according to Laura Crain, a secretary.

Hoosiers beat the jinx

Associated Press

The New Jersey Devils turned back the Washington Capitals 3-1 on Tuesday night at Landover, Md. The victory gave the Devils a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Patrick Division final, with the winner taking on the Adams Division champion Boston Bruins.

If you missed sing-ups for the USC Trip on Thanksgiving weekend - You're still not out of luck! Sign-ups will continue on 3rd floor LaFortune, Student Activities Office, until the end of the semester, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. $150.00 Down, $400.00 Total

Includes:

- Round-trip air fare
- Tickets to the game
- 4 nights Anaheim Marriott etc...

Don't Miss Out!
Twins keep Orioles winless
Birds one away from AL record after 19th straight loss

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS: The Baltimore Orioles stumbled to 0-19 and within one game of the longest losing streak in American League history, falling to the Minnesota Twins 4-2 Tuesday night on two home runs by Kent Hrbek and another by Randy Bush.

It seemed like this would be the Orioles' night to win when Fred Lynn opened the game with a home run. Instead, it disintegrated into another disaster when Hrbek's two-run homer and Bush's solo shot in the sixth inning wiped out Baltimore's 2-0 lead and gave the Twins their second victory in eight games.

Not even Monday's encouraging telephone call from President Reagan to Baltimore Manager Frank Robinson could help the Orioles, who had champagne on ice in their clubhouse in case they won.

Baltimore can tie the AL mark of 20 consecutive losses, last done by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1961, with another loss Wednesday night in Minnesota. The all-time major league record in 23 consecutive losses by the Philadelphia Phillies in 1961.

The Orioles' slide is the longest losing streak in the majors since Detroit's 19-game streak in 1975.

Yankees 5, Royals 4

Don Slaught opened the eighth inning with an opposite-field home run Tuesday night to tie the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals in New York.

Slaught's homer, his fourth of the season, came on the first pitch from Charlie Leibrandt, 1-4, and gave the Yankees their second triumph in the last 25 games against the Royals at Yankee Stadium.

Cecilio Guante, 2-0, the second of three New York pitchers, was the winner, allowing one hit in two innings, with Charles Hudson pitching a hitless ninth for his first save.

New York took a 3-1 lead in the fourth when designated hitter Jack Clark got his first Yankee Stadium hit, a two-run homer. He had been 0-19 at home.

Athletics 6, Blue Jays 1

Mark McGwire, who hadn't homered in 10 games, hit a pinch-hit three-run shot in the eighth inning Tuesday night at Toronto that broke a 1-1 tie and powered the Oakland Athletics to a 6-1 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Winner Storm Davis, 2-1, allowed four hits and struck out seven in seven innings to win a duel with Dave Stieb. Dennis Eckersley pitched the final two innings for his major league-leading ninth save.

Tigers 6, Angels 0

Gary Pettis, in his first game against his old club, drove in three runs Tuesday night at Detroit to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 6-0 victory over the California Angels behind Jeff Robinson's six-hit pitching.

Pettis, who was traded to Detroit last winter for pitcher Dan Petry, drove in two runs with a single in the third inning and singled home another in the Tigers' four-run fifth.

Robinson, 2-2, walked five and struck out three in his first complete game of the season and second major-league shutout. Loser Mike Witt, 1-2, gave up seven hits and all six Detroit runs in five innings.

Rangers 3, Brewers 1

Jose Guzman continued his strong pitching with a three-hitter and Pete Incaviglia hit his fourth home run in six games Tuesday night, leading the Texas Rangers to a 3-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers at Arlington, Tex.

Guzman, 3-1, struck out eight and was in trouble only in the first inning as he lowered his ERA to 1.41 in 32 innings. Loser Chris Bosio, 3-2, allowed only seven hits.

Red Sox-White Sox pod.

Tuesday night's scheduled game between the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox at Chicago was postponed by rain and will be played as part of a twi-night double-header on Wednesday.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ANNE DONOVAN!

There once was a girl named Anne
Drunk on her birthday was her plan
Before the night is done
She'll be 21
And we're sure she'll be worshipping the can!
Agreement reached at NBA discussions

Associated Press

NEW YORK. The NBA and its players association announced a six-year agreement Tuesday that will grant some players unrestricted free agency, limited the salary cap system and reduce the college draft to two rounds after this year.

Before next season, a seven-year NBA veteran whose contracts has expired will have complete freedom to sign with any team, and his original team will no longer have the right to match an offer and keep him, as it does under the current right-of-first-refusal system.

Among the veterans benefiting immediately from this provision will be Moses Malone of Washington, Sidney Moncrief of Milwaukee and Tom Chambers of Baltimore.

The union had asked for unrestricted free agency and the abolition of the salary cap and the college draft, but compromise was the order for both sides.

"This is the first time in professional basketball that a player will be able to play with any team he chooses," Larry Fleischer, executive director of the players association, said.

"Both sides made compromises from their original positions in order to reach agreement," NBA commissioner David Stern said.

After the 1988-89 season, the free-agency provision will apply to five-year veterans, and in the last year of the agreement, 1993-94, a four-year vet-teran with three years of unrestricted free agency provided he is not in his first NBA contract.

In order to retain the right-of-first-refusal for players who do not have enough years of service or who have just completed their first contract, a team must offer a player a new contract that is worth 125 percent of his previous yearly salary. Teams also are not allowed to match an offer and then trade a player.

In addition, right-of-first-refusal applies only to players who are offered $25,000 or more by their old team.

The agreement, which is subject to court approval, was reached after a seven-hour negotiating session Monday and was supported by the league's owners and the executive boards of the players union, which also will drop its antitrust lawsuit against the league.

The agreement provides for a reduction in the June 20 colleague draft from seven to three rounds. Subsequent drafts will include two rounds, making free agents of all but 54 college players each season.

A minimum amount oftered to first-round draft picks also will be raised from $75,000 to $150,000 this year, with additional escalations next year.

The league also retained the salary cap system that is based on the players' reered salaries for all four years and the team captain's senior year.

The game with the Spartans will carry even further significance for the Irish besides being a chance for revenge. Notre Dame, Michigan State, and Ohio State still are in contention for the Great Lakes Lacrosse Association title, with the Buckeyes playing the Irish here on Saturday. Notre Dame won the title in 86 and 87, Michigan State already has beaten Ohio State, so the Irish would need victories over both the Spartans and then the Buckeyes to avoid a three-way tiebreaker situation.

According to Irish head coach Rich O'Leary, the team will have to regroup after a poor effort against Ohio Wesleyan Saturday if they are to regain the Great Lakes title.

"We'll have to go back to basics and not worry about what the other team is doing," O'Leary said. "Michigan State is relatively even with us based on results this year, so it should be a good game."

The apparent equality of the teams is evident when looking at several games this year. Both squads were handled rather easily by Denison and the two teams battled in a seemingly even scrimmage before the regular season. Additionally, both the Irish and the Spartans played Kenyon one-year drop to avoid the game escaped with a win while Michigan State came up short against the Lords.

With a close game expected, a key factor could be the Irish's man-up attack. Notre Dame has converted only 16 of 89 power play attempts this year.

Justin Shay's homecoming will be bittersweet for his brother Jeff. The younger Shay, who will miss the game with a knee injury, said he was particularly looking forward to playing against the team coached by his brother.

"This was the game I was really excited for, but a victory is more important to me than playing," he said. "If we win it will make the season a great success."

The Notre Dame seniors are out for even further revenge against Michigan State. Two years ago, the Spartans came to South Bend and overcame an 8-3 Irish halftime lead to escape with a 12-11 victory.

Schafer received more good news during the season when it was announced that the hockey program would be granted 10 scholarships over the next four years. The hobby program had no scholarships since its inception.

But Schafer may have helped the hockey program almost as much with his marketing abilities as with the team. The home season included an Elvis-impersonator singing the national anthem, Pete "The Whip" Abelow, providing keyboard entertainment during the games, a between-periods pack of 10,000 free hot dogs, and crowds regularly between 1000 and 2000 per game.

"We're not the same natural draw as football and basketball, but I think we made good on our promise of showing how exciting the game can be," said Schafer. "We made one step forward as a hockey program."

Sports Briefs

WVFJ Sports Staff members must attend a meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the station. Next year's plans will be discussed. Call Janey Rapp at 2226 or Greg Gufsey at x710 if you have any questions. The Observer

Aerobics and stretchercise sessions will be held during finals week. Aerobics will be held at 4:30 p.m. at Gym 2 of the JACC on Monday, May 23 to Thursday, May 5. Stretchercise will be held at 5:30 p.m. in Gym 2 of the JACC on Tuesday, May 3 and Thursday, May 5. The Observer

The Burke Memorial Golf Course will hold graduation priority tee times on Friday, May 13 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday, May 14 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Call 228-5721 for special graduation reservations. Special graduation weekend hours of the course's pro shop will be 6:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday, May 13 and 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 14 and Sunday, May 15. The Observer

ND AVE APTS.

SPECIAL SUMMER RATES AVAILABLE also renting for Fall

2 Bedrooms completely furnished

CALL 234-6647

Protected by Pinkerton Security Agency

TUTORING

All Ages. . . . . . All Subject Areas

Sterling Learning Center 511 So. St. Joseph St.
South Bend
Phone: 232-4415
Cahill reaching new heights in freshman year

Associated Press

NEW YORK - The NFL draft was half over when several general managers in Cleveland and Philadelphia had a good draft and the Denver Broncos and Los Angeles Rams had a bad one.

A day later, another analyst decided that Finks and Rams had prospered.

If it takes three years for football people to accurately determine if a draft is successful, Finks did it in four. The Rams met all their needs, said general manager Jack Ham.

The one exception was Jim Cahill, the candid general manager of the New Orleans Saints.

"Average," based on my expectations," said Cahill, who had a successful off-season: personnel director and general managers from declaring those drafts an unqualified success.

"Sure, we're competing for spots at the beginning, but after that we're together as a team," he said. "We're competing against ourselves, not against each other. It's not like we don't want each other to win, which I have seen a lot in other schools we played this year."

Cahill feels comfortable in his current role as the top-seeded player for the Irish, but she is well aware that her status is a responsibility as well as a privilege.

"I'm glad that I have been able to be part of the team and to be able to play at number one," said Cahill. "To play for Notre Dame, I think, is itself a great honor. But I know that it's much more a responsibility than anything else, and that I have a commitment to the team as a scholarship player."

At the conclusion of the fall season, Cahill became Notre Dame's first women's tennis player to qualify for a national tournament when she received an at-large bid to the Rolex National Qualifier.

"I was pretty happy to go, and it was a good experience," Cahill says of the Rolex Qualifier. "It was definitely playing on a different level, because I had been up against that kind of competition in a long time. I hope that maybe I can do that again next year."

A trip to the NCAA championships this summer would certainly cap off a perfect year for Cahill. Bids are distributed on May 6, just as finals culminate for Notre Dame students.

"I think I have a good chance of making the tournament, but I'm really not going to think about it," asserts Cahill. "We have one more match left, and I just want to play my best."

Draft ends, analysis starts

Experts list fortunes of the Johns, Eagles and Browns

Brown continued from page 16

all year in leading Notre Dame to an 8-4 record, including a Cotton Bowl bid in his hometown.

The senior touched the ball 138 times in 1,847 all-purpose yards, moving into first place on Notre Dame's career list in that category. He also had 202 receptions for 846 yards and three touchdowns. He scored three more points on punt returns, both of those in the second game of the season against Michigan State.

Notre Dame basketball standout David Rivers won the award last year.

"Tim is the most gifted, talented athlete I've ever been around," Irish head coach Lou Holtz notes. "He's an intelligent athlete, and he makes things happen. Lots of times, you watch the things he does on the field, and there's nothing anyone can say to add to it. He plays he makes speak for themselves."

A major factor in her choice of college was the concept of team unity professed by Notre Dame. Cahill was not impressed by the cutthroat competition for spots prevalent among many other universities.

"Sure, we're competing for spots at the beginning, but after that we're together as a team," she says. "We're competing against ourselves, not against each other. It's not like we don't want each other to win, which I have seen a lot in other schools we played this year."

Cahill feels comfortable in her current role as the top-seeded player for the Irish, but she is well aware that her status is a responsibility as well as a privilege.

"I'm glad that I have been able to be part of the team and to be able to play at number one," says Cahill. "To play for Notre Dame, I think, is itself a great honor. But I know that it's much more a responsibility than anything else, and that I have a commitment to the team as a scholarship player."

At the conclusion of the fall season, Cahill became Notre Dame's first women's tennis player to qualify for a national tournament when she received an at-large bid to the Rolex National Qualifier.

"I was pretty happy to go, and it was a good experience," Cahill says of the Rolex Qualifier. "It was definitely playing on a different level, because I hadn't been up against that kind of competition in a long time. I hope that maybe I can do that again next year."

A trip to the NCAA championships this summer would certainly cap off a perfect year for Cahill. Bids are distributed on May 6, just as finals culminate for Notre Dame students.

"I think I have a good chance of making the tournament, but I'm really not going to think about it," asserts Cahill. "We have one more match left, and I just want to play my best."

Draft ends, analysis starts

Experts list fortunes of the Johns, Eagles and Browns

Brown continued from page 16

all year in leading Notre Dame to an 8-4 record, including a Cotton Bowl bid in his hometown.

The senior touched the ball 138 times in 1,847 all-purpose yards, moving into first place on Notre Dame's career list in that category. He also had 202 receptions for 846 yards and three touchdowns. He scored three more points on punt returns, both of those in the second game of the season against Michigan State.

Notre Dame basketball standout David Rivers won the award last year.

"Tim is the most gifted, talented athlete I've ever been around," Irish head coach Lou Holtz notes. "He's an intelligent athlete, and he makes things happen. Lots of times, you watch the things he does on the field, and there's nothing anyone can say to add to it. He plays he makes speak for themselves."

A major factor in her choice of college was the concept of team unity professed by Notre Dame. Cahill was not impressed by the cutthroat competition for spots prevalent among many other universities.

"Sure, we're competing for spots at the beginning, but after that we're together as a team," she says. "We're competing against ourselves, not against each other. It's not like we don't want each other to win, which I have seen a lot in other schools we played this year."

Cahill feels comfortable in her current role as the top-seeded player for the Irish, but she is well aware that her status is a responsibility as well as a privilege.

"I'm glad that I have been able to be part of the team and to be able to play at number one," says Cahill. "To play for Notre Dame, I think, is itself a great honor. But I know that it's much more a responsibility than anything else, and that I have a commitment to the team as a scholarship player."

At the conclusion of the fall season, Cahill became Notre Dame's first women's tennis player to qualify for a national tournament when she received an at-large bid to the Rolex National Qualifier.

"I was pretty happy to go, and it was a good experience," Cahill says of the Rolex Qualifier. "It was definitely playing on a different level, because I hadn't been up against that kind of competition in a long time. I hope that maybe I can do that again next year."

A trip to the NCAA championships this summer would certainly cap off a perfect year for Cahill. Bids are distributed on May 6, just as finals culminate for Notre Dame students.

"I think I have a good chance of making the tournament, but I'm really not going to think about it," asserts Cahill. "We have one more match left, and I just want to play my best."
Campus

Wednesday

9:15 a.m.: CLMTD Session II, The Economic Context of the Transition and the Relative Strength or Weakness of Labor, CCE.

10 a.m.: Ceramics department spring pottery sale, O'Shaughnessy Great Hall.

11:15 a.m.: CLMTD Session III, The Impact of the Prior Authoritarian Regime and Its Industrial Relations System on Labor in the Transition, CCE.

12:15 p.m.: Closed meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous, Holy Cross House.

2:15 p.m.: CLMTD Session IV, The Impact of the Prior Authoritarian Regime and Its Industrial Relations System on Labor in the Transition, CCE.

2:30 p.m.: Women's Tennis vs. Western Michigan, Courtesy Courts.

3:30 p.m.: Civil Engineering Massman Distinguished Lecture, "Stochastic Response and Damage Analysis of Inelastic Structures," by Professor Y. Wen, University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, Room 303 Cushing.

4 p.m.: CLMTD Session V, The Modalities and Political Alliances of the Transition, CCE.

4 p.m.: Career and Placement Services presents "Graduate School Preparation," a faculty panel discussion, Notre Dame Room, LaFortune.

4:30 p.m.: Physics Colloquium, "Reflections on the Higgins," by Professor M. Vennemann, University of Michigan, 118 Nieuwland.

4:30 p.m.: Air Force ROTC awards ceremony, Hesburgh Library auditorium.

8 p.m.: SMC music department concert, spring coral concert, O'Laughlin

9 p.m.: Notre Dame Folk Choir in Concert of Liturgical Music, Sacred Heart Church.

---

Dinner Menus

Notre Dame

BBQ Pork Chops

Pasta Bar

Devonshire Sandwich

Turkey Rice Soup

Saint Mary's

Grilled Pork Chops

Beef Tacos

Cajun Seafood Rice

Deli Bar

---

Comics

Calvin and Hobbes

Bloom County

Berke Breathed

Far Side

By Gary Larson

---

TIMMY

GUSHING AUD. APRIL 27 and 28

ADMISSION

PLEASE:

$2.00

NO FOOD OR DRINK!

8:00 a.m. 10:00 a.m.
1987-88 Krause Award winners named

Brown, Sullivan are ND Athletes of Year

By MARTY STRASEN
Sports Editor

They were named the best in the nation in their respective sports. And Tuesday the best college football player and the best women's fencer in the country were announced winners of the Edward W. "Moore" Krause awards as Notre Dame's top male and female athletes of 1987-88, as selected by the Observer sports staff.

Heisman Trophy winner Tim Brown was selected male Athlete of the Year and national fencing champion Molly Sullivan was named female Athlete of the Year by the sports staff of The Observer.

Brown, who was selected sixth in the first round of the NFL draft by the Los Angeles Raiders on Sunday, became the seventh Notre Dame football player to receive the Heisman Trophy when he won it last December.

"I couldn't ask for a better senior year," Brown says. "We had a good season, winning the Heisman and, now to get the chance to play somewhere millions of people would love to play. This is all such a thrill."

Plenty of thrills are what Brown provided see BROWN, page 14

Schafer leads ND's hockey resurgence

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

This time a year ago, Ric Schafer was afraid he might be out of the running for the vacant Notre Dame hockey coaching position.

But after months of persistence, Schafer finally was named the new coach last July. Irish hockey couldn't be better.

The first-year coach won the Edward W. Krause Award for Notre Dame Coach of the Year on Tuesday, as named by the Observer sports staff.

After suffering three straight losing seasons since spending the 1983-84 season as an assistant coach, Schafer was named the new coach in charge for the Fighting Irish Hockey Association Tournament championship.

But after attending an interview last April concerning the coaching spot, Schafer's hopes of coaching at Notre Dame appeared remote.

"I guess I didn't make a good impression," said Schafer, who had been coaching at Alaska-Fairbanks for seven years after serving as both a player and an assistant at Notre Dame. "That bothered me because I'd worked seven years to put together a

Piotrowicz, ND stop Boilers

By THERESA KELLY
Assistant Sports Editor

Ground balls led the Irish to victory yesterday afternoon.

The Notre Dame baseball team upped its record to 26-20 thanks to 23 ground balls in a 5-2 victory over Purdue.

Sophomore starting pitcher Brian Piotrowicz had his sinking fastball working in top form, yielding 23 ground balls throughout the course of the game.

The other ground ball was the one hit by Irish right fielder Dan Pelletier in the seventh inning with the score tied 2-2.

Mike Coss led off the third with a walk courtesy of Purdue pitcher Tom Mayer, who was lifted in favor of lefthander Mike Drum. Irish shortstop Pat Murphy. "We're able to take advantage of that play."

"It's apparently harmless ground ball play continued to be a nightmare for the Boilers."

First baseman Troy Aschliman retrieved the ball and flipped to Murphy, who scooped it off the ground and flipped it cleanly but threw wildly in the general direction of first base. As the fielder tacked on the ground ball, Coss scored to put the Irish up 5-2.

"Those mistakes are part of baseball," said Irish head coach Pat Murphy. "We're able to take advantage of that play."

Irish Items

Irish floor general who gave her all for the Irish...

Brian O'Gara

Irish Items

Another Irish athlete reached the top of her field, but it wasn't unfamiliar turf for Molly Sullivan, who won her second individual national championship in fencing. Like Brown, the senior fencing queen will leave Notre Dame next month for new worlds to conquer—for starters, the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul.

An integral part of building a great basketball team is the leadership of a point guard, and next month's graduation will take two talented floor generals from the men's and women's basketball teams. David Rivers has done it all for the Irish since he first stepped on campus for the 1983-84 season as a fresh man from Jersey. He led the charge in the North Carolina upset, amazed fans with his slick moves, but most impressively he said no to death on the side of the road two Augusts ago, and his example will live on at Notre Dame.

Another Irish floor general who gave her all for the Blue and Gold is Mary Gavin, Jersey-bred as well. Gudy is the best description of Gavin, who had stolen and dished out more passes in her first three years here than anyone else had in four. Few 5'8" women have worn such big shoes to fill.

The Notre Dame spirit is carried on by coaches as well as players. Besides serving as mentor for the fencing teams, which have brought home two team national titles in three years, Mike DeCicco heads the academic advising for Irish hockey, keeping Notre Dame's graduation rate among the nation's best. And a walk through Rockne Memorial might bring you face-to-face with golf coach Noel Whitfield or Irish head coach.