Hiler, Ward to debate at ND

Notre Dame will host a debate between Indian 3rd Congressional District candidates Rep. John Hiler and Tom Ward, Student Body Vice President Mike Paese said Monday.

A panel of five or six students and a faculty moderator will question each candidate during the debate, said John Hamill, student political affairs commission. Panelists have not been chosen yet, Paese said.

"We want to focus issues on students: financial aid, grants, and also some national issues," said Mike Keegan, student executive coordinator of political, cultural, and social concerns. The one-hour debate will be held in either the Monogram Room or the Concourse of the JACC, said Paese. About 100 invi-tations are being sent to faculty, administration officials and student leaders, he added.

General seating would probably be on a "first come, first served" basis but had not been finalized as yet, Paese said. Student Body President Tom Doyle said about 400 seats would be available.

The debate at Notre Dame will be the third of four debates between the Republican Hiler and Democrat Ward, a Notre Dame graduate, said Hamill. A televised debate between the candidates is scheduled for Oct. 27 between Indiana's two candidates, a senior political science major said. "We want to do a student-oriented program, run by students, set up by students," said several student organizations are co-sponsoring the debate.

The debate will consist of two-minute opening statements by each candidate. In a format similar to the recent Presidential debates, each candidate will have two minutes to answer questions from the panel and one minute for a rebuttal. The debate will be open to students. Presidential debates, each can-

Students in Zambia Hall got an unexpected visit Friday night from one of the dorm's most famous former residents - talk show host Phil Donahue.

Donahue, who lived in 115 Zambia as a freshman in 1953, returned to his old room and dropped in at a party on the third floor at about 11 p.m., said sophomore Dave Latherow.

"He came in and the next thing I knew he was standing on the couch and talking about being 'here,'" said Latherow, a surprised resident who was one of 250. The Donahue debate will not be televised.

Hiler Campaign Manager Chris Nicholas and Ward Cam-

"I would say they were very easy to work with," said Marshall. "I was really impressed.

Student government plans to provide information on each candidate to voting students from now until the election. We're going to provide the forum and we're going to pro-

"We really wanted this to be something generated by the students," said Hamill. "We wanted it to be a student-oriented program, run by stu-

Officials wrongly attacked for views on abortion

OF late we residents of the Notre Dame community have been quite inebriate on the Viewpoint page.

Dr. Theodore Cooper, the Chief Executive Officer of the Upjohn Corporation, failed to deliver a talk on proper public policy options in response to the AIDS emergency. He was basted for his company’s involvement with prostaglandins, drugs used, among other things, to induce miscarriage. Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens visited to dedicate the new courtroom at the Notre Dame Law School and was abused for his pro-choice position in the landmark case Roe vs. Wade of 1973.

The issue at hand is not the abortion question. I am an adamant anti-abortionist and would much enjoy convincing Dr. Cooper and Justice Stevens that their ways are errors. The issue is the myopic vision with which debate has been approached.

To object to the views of these two gentlemen is to focus one’s deliberative energy wrongly on one singular issue and then draw one’s conclusions solely from this one issue. I ask that a bit more prudence be applied by those who make such objections.

Consider for a moment Dr. Cooper and Justice Stevens. I do not know the specifics of either gentleman’s character and accomplishments. However, each stands today in a position of considerable importance, and to reach such positions it is fair to say both must be relatively intelligent and responsible. (Indeed, I pray this is so of Justice Stevens.) I think it highly unlikely either has whimsically developed his views on abortion. Each has, as have all responsible individual, carefully weighed the many complex aspects of this agonizing issue and developed a coherent stance.

The crux of the problem is to recognize that, important as it is, the abortion issue is but one of many. The nuclear arms race, capital punishment, the strangling Third World debt, apathetic in South Africa are equally perplexing problems which also divide rational people. Why, I ask, were Dr. Cooper and Justice Stevens not grilled on their views on these issues as well? Surely they have developed positions on these just as they have done with abortion. One cannot reject the abortion is in some way more “moral” a problem; all these issues are equally weighty and merit similar consideration. In the name of consistency, if we’re going to question their views on abortion we must question them on much more than that. Draw up questionnaires for any prospective guest speaker, submit them to lie detector tests, bring out the leeches—and remember, if she weighs more than a duck she’s a witch.

Enough sarcasm. This extreme is obviously unwarranted—but so is the other which has been so endemic of late. Moderation must be the rule. Individuals should not be judged on every important issue: such an approach is undesirable because no two people agree on what constitutes “important”, desirable because difference of opinion is a necessary and healthy gaddy. Nor should individuals be judged on one single issue: such an approach is undesirable because one stance does not an individual make.

Thus I hope in the future we will greet our guest speakers on campus with a more accommodating mindframe. Judge them, but not too hastily.

Student Senate debates fees

By JEFF SWANSON
News Staff

Tennis court fees and upcoming events were discussed at the Student Senate meeting on Monday night.

District 4 Senator Tom Rask questioned the University policy of charging students a one dollar fee to use the Eck Pavilion tennis courts.

One of the explanations offered was that the fee is used to decrease usage of the courts since there are only six courts.

Rask said that it was unfair that students must pay to use the courts.

Brian Riley, Student Union Board Manager, reminded Senate members that the debate between Phil Donahue and Vladimir Pozner is to take place this Thursday in the JACC and that tickets are on sale at Gate 19 of the JACC.

Representatives of districts one and two had nothing new to report while Rask said that he will talk to Notre Dame Security about problems in the teacher parking lot.

He is also awaiting the delivery of a stamp machine which will be placed in the North Dining Hall.

Student Body Vice President Mike Paese said that plans for the Indiana 3rd district congressional debate to be held in the Joyce ACC on Oct. 27 were finalized yesterday afternoon.

He said that the Student Senate is expecting the debate to draw media attention because it is so unusual for university students to sponsor a congressional debate.

Michelle LaRose of the Hall President’s Council reported that the Weekend Wheels program will begin Oct. 29.

The program provides transportation for students from various locations in the South Bend area on weekend nights.

Executive Coordinator of Special Projects Melissa Smith said that the Notre Dame United Way Drive has begun.

She said that no definite financial goals have been set at this point, but that the drive is looking for approximately three dollars from each student.

Where the need is... there we will be.

As individuals and as a community, we will work toward the alleviation of hunger, misery and the lack of knowledge.

Student Activities Board sponsors Fall Festival

By JOANNA GRILLO
News Staff

The Student Activities Board’s Fall Fest was the main focus of Monday evening’s Saint Mary’s Programming Board meeting.

Student Activities Board, who is sponsoring this week’s events, wishes to stress that in addition to the famous “Beverage Gardens,” Fall Fest includes many other activities open to all students.

“Fall Fest is not revolving around alcohol,” said Julie Wagner, SAB commissioner. “I don’t want anyone to take advantage of this because we want it to be available to the students next year,” said Wagner in response to underclassmen’s protests that some activities are open to those of legal drinking age.

The Beverage Gardens take place on Thursday, but are only open to those students who are 21 years of age and have two forms of identification. “We don’t want anyone’s feelings to be hurt, but it is something for underclassmen to look forward to,” added Wagner. As there is only room for 300 people, those planning to attend the gardens should come early.

Other activities planned include Thursday’s picnic featuring root beer and brats. Notre Dame students who wish to attend can pick up coex’s in the dining halls today and Wednesday.

Also coming soon to Saint Mary’s campus is Founder’s Day, October 11. Student government and SAB will be sponsoring a Cup and Cider Giveaway which will take place outside Haggar College Center. At this time student government will also be passing out a short survey, giving the students a chance to express their opinions.

The Programming Board also announced this week’s movie, “She’s Having a Baby.”

Court to debate church and state

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court began a new term Monday and set the stage for an important church-state ruling in a Pittsburgh dispute over religious displays.

The justices issued orders in some 1,000 cases as they returned to the bench after a three-month summer recess. They agreed to grant full review in 20 of them.

Most significantly, the court said it will decide whether displays of a Christmas nativity scene and a menorah, symbolizing the Jewish holiday of Chanukah, should be allowed at religious freedom largely are unknown.

In a separate action, the justices said they will decide whether a railroad routinely may require its employees to take drug tests.

They agreed to grant full consideration of religious body but on his personal Christian belief.

Despite his 12 years as a federal appeals court judge before becoming a justice last February, Kennedy's views on the politically volatile issue of religious freedom largely are unknown.

In separate actions, the justices said they will decide whether a railroad routinely may require its employees to take drug tests.

The court may be poised to make dramatic changes in the collective bargaining process with the unions that represent rail road workers.

Although such disputes are not new to the court, the case offers Justice Anthony Kennedy his first opportunity to consider how high a wall the Constitution requires between government and religion.

Many experts believe the court may be poised to make dramatic changes in the collective bargaining process with the unions that represent railroad workers.

They said it couldn't be done, but last year second-year Notre Dame law student Katharyn Barron started Foodshare, a group formed by Notre Dame students to prevent food waste in the dining halls.

Foodshare serves the Hope Rescue Mission and Re-Op 60.

Foodshare is also looking forward to serving the downtown Center for the Homeless which will soon be open, said Father Michael Heppen, Foodshare's faculty advisor.

The project was the initiative of several individuals. Mackett remembers working in the dining hall her freshman year and being amazed at the amount of food going to waste every night.

Because of high dining hall quality standards, already prepared leftovers may not be reused. This results in huge amounts of edible but unusable food.

To combat this waste, Mackett, together with students Michael Lieberth, Tom Kelly, and Katharyn Barron, contacted Bill Hickey, director of University Food Services, and got the ball rolling.

Hesburgh continued from page 1 of the bill. Hesburgh said President Johnson was the driving force to take the commission's suggestions and push them through the legislature. Hesburgh said Johnson had told him before the bill was started that blacks were freed from slavery, but had "little liberty, little human dignity.

In fact, he said the Nixon administration was "dragging its feet on civil rights." Hesburgh said the Nixon administration was troubled with the finding of the commission that of the 40 departments the administration had only one was rated above poor in respect to the civil rights issue.

Hesburgh was called into assistance on a number of political issues during the subsequent administrations. Ford called on Hesburgh to offer his advice on how to deal with the problem of the one-half to one million people who found themselves in legal trouble regarding the Vietnam War with such issues as burning draft cards. Hesburgh suggested amnesty, a council of religious individuals who raised funds. According to Hesburgh, the drive, "saved a million people.

Hesburgh stated it is his policy not to comment on the current president. He did say, "The next president is going into a financial mess."

Most individuals attending the forum expressed amazement that Hesburgh worked so closely with many of our nation's leaders. David Brennan, senior said, "I learned how great an influence he (Hesburgh) had on the country in general."

The people of Bangladesh have suffered a lot during their seventeen years of independence. Unfortunately, most of what we know about the country and its people is as a result of the seemingly endless string of disasters that they experience.

Richard V. Warner

The Bangladesh of today is the result of a year of almost continuous suffering. In a period of nine months as many as three million people died, many of them slaughtered by troops sent to put down a revolt in what was then East Pakistan. More deaths were avoided only when India finally intervened to end the war in 1971. The first few days of the new independent nation were spent not only by a struggle to recover from the loss of many educated people executed during the war, but also by the need to overcome the effects of a tidal wave which caused widespread death and destruction in 1970.

Bangladesh is currently suffering some of the most severe flooding in its recent history. News reports from Bangladesh have indicated that more than 12 million people are as a result of the seemingly endless string of disasters that they experience. Nineteen million tons of stored food have been destroyed by the effects of the water. The next rice crop will not be harvested for nine months.

Nine million tons of stored food have been destroyed by the effects of the water. The next rice crop will not be harvested for nine months.

with misery. While the total loss of life—now estimated at over 1,500—and damage to crops, dwellings, and livestock may not be known for several more weeks, there is an immediate need for relief on a significant scale for what the Information Minister of Bangladesh has called "a situation which is beyond description or definition."

The Bangladesh flood victims cry for help

Flooding waters still cover most of the land, although the waters crested on Sept. 7. More than 40 percent of the capital city of Dhaka, populated by two million people, is still seriously affected. Fifty of the 64 districts of the country are still under water, and more than 12 million have been washed away. A recent article in The New York Times dramatically described the plight of people "wading through water searching for food." Nine million tons of stored food have been destroyed by the effects of the water. The next rice crop will not be harvested for five months.

Flooding during the monsoon season in Bangladesh is expected and is necessary for a good crop of rice. During a normal rainy season approximately 40 percent of the total rainfall occurs in the monsoon. Bangladesh is liable to flooding when the monsoon season is long and heavy.

While it will be essential in the months to come for the countries of the world to assist the Bangladesh government in abating the long term results of the disaster, the immediate response is important.

For more than 130 years, priests, Brothers, and Sisters of the Congregation of the Holy Cross have worked in Bangladesh. During that time, more than a score of them have died at ages ranging from shipwreck, disease and violence. The most recent death is that of Father William Evans, a Holy Cross priest killed during the war for independence and a man who is considered a martyr by Christians and Moslems. The Holy Cross Mission Center, located at Notre Dame, serves as a support office for the work of these men and women, many of whom are now Bangladesh Holy Cross religious. The Center has also sent a significant contribution to assist the first efforts at relief. A recent letter from one of the others describes not only the work of housing and feeding almost 1,000 people at Notre Dame College, Dhaka, but also the continual boat trips to isolated villages to provide stranded people with food, medicine, and water purification supplies.

Any funds sent to the Center to aid Bangladesh flood victims will be transferred immediately to Dhaka and distributed to their entirety to those who are most in need. If you are able, please send a generous contribution to:

In the months to come, more than 1,400 families nationwide who have supported the work of Holy Cross in Bangladesh for decades will help us to do what we can to alleviate the famine and disease sure to come in the wake of the floods. But your help is needed now.

The sacrifice you make today can make a difference tomorrow in Dhaka or one of the needy villages, because the money will be placed at the people's disposal within days. Contributions are tax deductible and will be acknowledged.

Crime Stoppers at Notre Dame

Dear Editor:

Crime Stoppers International was formed in 1976 as "an imaginative and innovative program in which citizens in meaningful efforts to protect all members of society. Today, the University of Notre Dame has become the first to offer a Campus Crime Stoppers Program.

Notre Dame Crime Stoppers is an affiliate of South Bend Crime Stoppers and therefore part of a national organization to promote community involvement in solving crimes. This is accomplished through a system which publicizes a "Crime of the Week" and a telephone hotline to encourage citizens to give information concerning specific crimes. The callers are assigned secret code numbers to insure their anonymity and receive rewards if the tips lead to the arrest of a criminal.

The Campus Crime of the Week can be seen courtesy of The Observer, to the first to offer a Campus Crime Stoppers Program.

Like other programs, ours is led by an Executive Board of Directors. The Board at Notre Dame consists of Ann-Marie Walker (president), Joe Lacher (vice-president), Jim Peddie (secretary), John Horning (treasurer), Eric Emerson, Pat Cooke, Molly Jason, Victoria Moran, and other Bonaventure Scully, Jim Roemer (Director of Notre Dame Community Relations), and Phil Johnson (Assistant Director of Security). Anyone wishing to serve on the Board or as a member of a committee for publicity, fundraising or education should contact one of the Board members.

Campus crime has become an increasingly significant problem at colleges and universities across the country. A recent issue of USA Today reported that there are an "estimated 500,000 thefts and as many as 20,000 violent crimes—from homocide to rape—occur yearly on campuses."

Programs like ours will hopefully begin to grow throughout the country. In order for this to happen, however, we must first prove a worthy example. I urge each of you to become aware of this program and to serve on the Board or as a member of the Board members.

Symposium on the S-Word

The S-word. Everybody wants it. Some people have it. For some it comes naturally; others have to work at it. It’s not unique to men or women, young or old. Everybody can have it.

Tweeds, a catalogue featuring clothes with “casual American comfort combined with European sophistication,” defined the S-word well: style is “the image expressed by those comfortable with themselves.”

But how, exactly, is this comfortable with self image expressed? “For many,” as the Tweeds catalogue says, “personal style is creatively reflected in the body’s closest environment – the clothing they wear.”

MARY BERGER
Back in the Highlife

My roommate and I were in Chicago this weekend and noticed that a lot of people strolling the streets of the windy city have style. While sitting at an outdoor cafe in the early evening, we studied the passersby and tried to determine what it is about someone that makes them stylish. We now present our conclusions.

First of all, there are a few styleless moves that we think should be avoided at all costs. Style presents itself from head to toe and the following just scream “incomplete style.”

For a woman dressed in a nice suit or dress, the style faux pas is the running or walking shoes and tennis socks she wears when out of the office. Understandably she may do a lot of walking, but a comfortable pair of flats are just as easy to find as athletic shoes, and they can just as easily slip into a bag or desk drawer. For a man who is dressed in a suit or nice slacks, the eyesore is the white tube socks he wears with his loafers.

A few years ago it was stylish to be scruffy, but now the “Don Johnson look” is out. A natural man has style, but that means a well-scruibed face and well-kept hair. The wet look with a five o’clock shadow just does not bring out the Jane in many women.

The natural look is key for women too. Because style is a comfortable-with-self feeling, stylish women don’t need lots of liner to catch someone’s eye, nor do they need blotches of pink blush to have a natural glow. Grooming for the stylish is simply the enhancement of the beauty they naturally have.

As for clothing, people with style don’t wear outfits. They have wardrobes of mix-and-match clothes. They have many accessories which they use often and in uniquely personal ways. Women drape and tie scarves, they perk up an ensemble with panty hose, and they dance which they use often and in uniquely personal ways. Women drape and tie scarves, they perch up an ensemble with panty hose, and they dance which they use often and in uniquely personal ways.

We now arrive at one of the sweetest senses of style: Cologne and perfume. In any store, there is a plethora of scents for men and women to choose from. Most of us have our own personal favorites, those we love to wear ourselves, and those we love to catch a whiff of on someone else. You know the kind of cologne we speak of when we say it enhances someone’s style – one that will turn a man or woman’s head, melt his or her heart, and make him or her want to nibble on your neck.

On that note, we now conclude our style symposium. Style is not only the comfortable and confident expression of self, but it is the celebration of self. Men and women with style express their beliefs in the clothes they wear and the way in which they wear them.

We all wear clothes, but those with style seem to enjoy it more. They may be funky one day and conservative the next, but they are always themselves. They swing through life with styles all their own.

Sorin College: 100 Years of Tradition

assistant accent editor

"Time has written romance on these walls and here tradition finds a fitting home," wrote the 1925 Dome in a reference to Sorin College. These words apply even more so today.

Founded in 1888 by Father Edward Sorin, Sorin College was the first college dormitory to feature private rooms. Since its founding, it has garnered a wealth of tradition and undergone several face lifts to reach its present state.

Sorin originally housed the law school, the law library and its ostentatious dean, "Colonel" William Hoynes. Hoynes was responsible for one of Sorin’s most distinctive physical features, the front porch. Erected in 1905 to prevent mischievous residents from dumping water on people leaving the dorm, the porch has served as the site of pep rallies, talent shows and concerts.

Sorin’s porch was also the site of the dorm’s 1969 “sacredness” from the University. Protestors resident declared themselves an independent college and posted a “Sorin College” placard on the porch. The placard hangs above the porch today, and residents still refer to their dorm as Sorin College.

Another architectural distinction of Sorin, the turrets, have housed some of the most famous Notre Dame football heroes. “Horsman” Harry Stuhldreher, quarterback of the 1924 National Championship team, lived in one. The basement turret, named the “Captain’s Corner,” has housed team captains such as Jim Lynch, Rocky Bleier, Larry Dinardo, and Tom Clements. Current dorm life at Sorin turret continues this tradition of housing football captains.

Sorin was the home of heroes and heroic efforts. Legends such as Knute Rockne, George Gipp, Gus Dorais and Frank Leahy all made their home there. In addition, the “Notre Dame Victory March” was composed by residents John and Michael Shea during the 1908 football season. Sorin was the home to even more heroes, all of whose feats are documented and displayed in the recently opened Sorin Centennial Room.

Today, the most prominent resident of Sorin College is University President Father Edward “Monk” Malloy. Monk organizes one of Sorin’s more famous traditions, the pick-up basketball games affectionately known as “Monk Hoops.” Each Monday and Wednesday night, Sorinites migrate to Moreau Seminary to play the fiercely competitive basketball games until after midnight.

One of the dorm’s lesser known traditions is the Sunday night laundry drop. Each Monday night from 9 to 11 p.m. until morning, Sorinites journey to the heights of the third floor to at tempt “the drop.” The goal of the contest is to drop the laundry bundle onto the narrow landing between the basement and first floor. Those who successfully execute “the drop” are rewarded by the respect of their peers.

In celebration of the Sorin Centennial last year, Sorin College started another tradition. A graduation ceremony was held last spring for graduating Sorinites, who received diplomas to commemorate their four years in Sorin.

The Sorin experiment seems to have payed off. Sorin remains one of the most respected and popular dorms on campus, with perhaps the richest history of any.

ND still ranked fifth in nation

Associated Press

Notre Dame remained No. 5 in the latest Associated Press college football poll after defeating Stanford 42-14 last Saturday night.

The first 13 teams in the poll remained the same Monday while Arkansas made the Top Twenty for the first time this season and LSU fell out.

Miami, a 35-0 winner over Missouri, received 33 of 39 first-place votes and 1,133 of a possible 1,160 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

UCLA, which scored two touchdowns in the final period to defeat No. 16 Washington 24-17, received three first-place votes and 1,088 points.

The other two first-place votes went to No. 3 Southern California, which beat Arizona 38-15 and received 1,037 points. Auburn beat North Carolina 47-21 and remained fourth with 959 points.

Florida State was again sixth. The Seminoles received 778 points after defeating Tulane 48-28. Seventh-ranked West Virginia received 758 points by turning back Virginia Tech 22-10.

Eighth-ranked South Carolina received 732 points following a 35-9 triumph over Appalachian State. Nebraska, the No. 9 team, whipped Nevada-Las Vegas 48-6 and received 692 points. Oklahoma again rounded out the Top Ten.

Last week, it was Clemson, Alabama, Oklahoma State, LSU, Georgia, Washington, Florida, Wyoming, Michigan and Oregon.

Florida's 19-6 victory over LSU lifted the Gators from 17th to 14th and knocked LSU out of the rankings for the first time this season. Arkansas made the Top Twenty by routing Texas Christian 53-10 and raising its record to 4-0.

The "A" Division boat was raced by Pete Wall and Watts Hugens, while the "B" Division boat was captained by Patti Losinske and Tom Seffions. Both teams were pleased with their performance at the regatta even though they did not place higher.

The club will attend a regatta at Purdue University this weekend.

The Water Polo Club took 14 players to Hope College in Michigan last Friday to compete in its first match of the season.

The attending teams included Hope College, Michigan, and Michigan State. Notre Dame beat Hope and Michigan, but lost to Michigan State in a tight battle.

The club participated in this match without any practice because of the closure of Rol's Aquatic Center. They will begin practice after Fall break if the pool is reopened.

Water Polo Club President Jay Blount is planning to hold a major meet at Notre Dame later in the spring. He hopes to attract some major teams in order to strengthen the reputation of the club.

The Men's Volleyball Club has begun practice for the upcoming season. Coach Bill Anderson practices the team three times a week in the Joyce ACC Pit. The Irish will possibly make a trip to Canada later in the semester.

Suba vital to success of ND soccer program

By Barb Moran

Sports Writer

When Sylvia Kathleen Suba was a little girl, she, being the baby of the family, always wanted to tag along with her older siblings.

Her constant cries of "Me too! Me too!" prompted her father to nickname her "Mimi"—the same by which she is still known.

Though the nickname sticks to this day, sophomore Mimi Suba no longer is a follower, but rather has emerged as a leader on the Notre Dame women's soccer team.

Suba and the rest of the team will be displaying their skills tonight against Indiana University of South Bend. It was in the season-opening 5-1 victory over IUSB that Mimi scored the first goal ever by the Notre Dame women's team, which is in its first year of varsity competition.

"Scoring that goal made all the hard work worthwhile," said the St. Louis resident, who rates the moment right up there with the time her high school basketball team won the Missouri state championship.

"I couldn't have scored unless the other people passed me the ball. It's the defense that gets the ball to me. I just kick it in." Suba's soccer career started at an early age, as she began team play when she was just seven years old. Despite many successful years of athletics, she never dreamed of playing sports in college, especially at Notre Dame.

"I never thought I would make the team," said the Farley Hall resident, "but I played Intramural soccer last year, and that made me realize how much I wanted to play varsity."

Even though playing a varsity sport cuts down on both social life and studying time, Mimi has never regretted making the commitment.

"It's not like a job or something you're forced to do," she explained. "It's a lot of fun. You just have to love the sport."

Scheduling will become more important during the 1988-89 season, when an NCAA rule goes into effect that states an independent must have a minimum of 26 games against Division I opponents to be considered for the NCAA tournament.

The demise of the ACHA also would probably benefit the Dearborn program. The Wolves had the toughest nonconference schedule of the four ACHA teams last season. Dearborn also won the regular-season ACHA title and defeated Notre Dame in three of the teams' five meetings.

"They've improved dramatically," said Schafer, who had faced Dearborn in previous years when he coached Alaska-Fairbanks. "As they're getting better, they're finding it easier to schedule CCHA teams and other good teams."

As things currently stand, three teams remain in the ACHA. It would be in the best interest of at least two of those teams for the conference to disband. The only solution seems fairly obvious.

back. The Irish, coming off a best-ever 27-4-2 campaign last season, are awarding hockey scholarships for the first time in five years. Dearborn, currently an NAIA school, also offers hockey scholarships and is attempting to receive NCAA Division I affiliation.

Meanwhile, Kent State, which had a hard time competing with its league rivals last season, won't even get the chance this year.

Lake Forest failed to defeat either Notre Dame or Dearborn in nine tries last season. With both those teams upgrading their programs, the Foresters won't find the going much easier in the near future.

The Division III school won five league games last season only because it played Kent State five times. With the Golden Flashes now on a mandatory hiatus, those free victories are over.

"The conference served its purpose very well for the schools involved," said Irish coach Ric Schafer. "Now things have changed. We have our sights set on a higher level in Division I."

Notre Dame can reach that higher level by upgrading its schedule. This year's list of opponents already is stronger than any the Irish have faced in years, with schools like Michigan and Boston College replacing the Daytonos and Villanovas that dotted last season's schedule.

Last year, Notre Dame was ranked among the national independents because the NCAA did not officially recognize the ACHA as a conference. If the Irish could become a true independent, it would allow Schafer more freedom in scheduling more opponents of a higher caliber.

"I don't think we need to be a part of any league," said Schafer. "I've been getting phone calls from just about every team in the country wanting to play Notre Dame now that they know we're coming back."
LA, Mets open series tonight

For the Los Angeles Dodgers to beat the New York Mets in the National League playoffs, it will take some strong-armed tactics.

In head-to-head competition this season, the Mets beat the Dodgers 10 of 11 games and outscored them 49-18.

"They have an outstanding team and are strong in every area," Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda said. "But we have outstanding pitching, too."

Lasorda will go with his best arm, right-hander Orel Hershiser, in Game 1 of the playoffs Tuesday night at Dodger Stadium against Dwight Gooden, 18-9.

Hershiser's last defeat was a 2-1 setback by the Mets on Aug. 24 at Dodger Stadium. He pitched a complete game and allowed seven hits.

The Mets and Dodgers had an afternoon workout at Dodger Stadium Monday. The Mets left for the coast Tuesday, 24 at Dodger Stadium. He pitched a complete game and struck out 178 batters.

Gooden loves pitching in Los Angeles, and his record shows it. In six career starts at Dodger Stadium, Gooden is 4-0 with an 0.32 ERA.

Hershiser finished the season with a 2.26 earned run average and struck out 178 batters.

"It's a thing that snowballs," Belcher said of the Dodgers' excellent pitching of late. "(John) Tudor, Orel and (Tim) Leary throwing all these shutouts this season and lately, everybody just takes the field and expects a line of goose eggs."

Hershiser had an outstanding pitching, too.

I'm thinking about the Associated Press percent of the feelings of the team you win.

I'm thinking about the Associated Press percent of the game, but it's not a thing that was a team-related thing. It was a bunch of things that were a streak, because of the fact that there was a team-related thing.

"There's 24 guys when I walk out onto the mound. People talk about how pitching is 70 or 80 or 90 percent of the game, but I'm walking out there with 80 or 90 percent of the feelings of 24 guys and a coaching staff. And for me to be thinking about a streak would be wrong. So I'm thinking about the Mets.

Hershiser's last defeat was a 2-1 setback by the Mets on Aug. 24 at Dodger Stadium. He pitched a complete game and allowed seven hits.

The Mets and Dodgers had an afternoon workout at Dodger Stadium Monday. The Mets left for the coast Sunday evening after beating St. Louis 7-5 in the regular-season finale for their 100th victory.

Special to The Observer

Students must go to Gate 10 of the Joyce ACC between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. to fill out an application for season tickets.

At this time students will have to specify if they will want lower arena or bleacher seats, and must pay a deposit on the ticket.

Ticket prices for 17 home games are $85 for lower arena seating and $68 for bleachers.

A deposit of $45 for lower arena seats or $40 for bleachers is required during this application period.

The ticket distribution will begin Oct. 21 with seniors. The balance of the ticket price is due at this time.

As reported in Friday's issue of The Observer, the purpose of this new application period is to insure every student who wants a ticket will get one.

The 1988-89 home basketball schedule includes games against Indiana, SMU, Syracuse, Temple, Duke, Houston, DePaul and Louisville.

Last-second FG lifts Saints

NEW ORLEANS - Morten Andersen's 49-yard field goal as time ran out Monday night gave the New Orleans Saints a 20-17 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Andersen's winning kick came after Roger Ruzek - who earlier had missed a 39-yard field goal that hit the upright - connected from 39 with 24 seconds to go to tie it 17-17. The Cowboys went 43 yards on eight plays to set up the kick.

But Mel Gray returned the ensuing kickoff 39 yards to his 42. Bobby Hebert hit Brett Periman with a 26-yard completion to the 32, setting up Andersen's kick.

Hebert threw two early touchdown passes and Andersen kicked a 27-yard third-quarter field goal for the Saints, only to see Steve Peluer and Herschel Walker lead Dallas back.

The win, the fourth straight after an opening loss to Houston, then switched to third-year quarterback Jack Trudeau, who injured his knee against Cleveland in the third week. Rookie Chris Chandler led the team to its victory over Miami and its loss Sunday to New England, and the offense sputtered both times. On Sunday, the Colts converted just one of 12 third-down opportunities, bringing the season count to 11 of 53 (21 percent).

Colts better than record

INDIANAPOLIS - Despite their record, the Indianapolis Colts are playing better football in some areas than they were a year ago, Coach Ron Meyer said Monday.

"It's just not registering in wins," Meyer said one day after the Colts' record dropped to 1-4 with a 21-17 loss to New England. "There's a lot of reasons for that: three quarterbacks in five games, third-down conversions, shoddy tackling."

The Colts started veteran Gary Hogeboom in their opening loss to Houston, then switched to third-year quarterback Jack Trudeau, who injured his knee against Cleveland in the third week.

Rookie Chris Chandler led the team to its victory over Miami and its loss Sunday to New England, and the offense sputtered both times. On Sunday, the Colts converted just one of 12 third-down opportunities, bringing the season count to 11 of 53 (21 percent).

West with San Francisco and the Los Angeles Rams. But it wasn't easy.

After Andersen's field goal with 3:45 left in the third period put the Saints ahead, they thwarted Dallas twice. The first time came on an interception, the second when Ruzek's 39-yard field goal attempt hit the left upright with 2:24 left.

But Ruzek nailed his next try. New Orleans jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first 19 minutes as Hebert threw touchdown passes of seven yards to Lonzell Hill and 17 to Perriman.

But Dallas came back with two TD passes from Pevler to Kelvin Martin, the first for 13 yards midway through the second quarter, the second for 14 midway through the third.

Belles remain unbeaten following weekend wins

The Saint Mary's tennis team remained undefeated with triumphs over Taylor University and St. Francis Saturday.

The Belles won the majority of the matches in straight sets. Outstanding performances were turned in by Jen Block, who won 6-2, 6-4, and Ellen Mayer, who recovered from her loss in the second set to conquer her opponent 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

The highlight of the matches occured with the number-one doubles team as Block teamed with Marie Koscielski. The duo won the first set 6-3, but was defeated 1-6 in the second.

The third set shifted back and forth between games frequently. Block and Koscielski were trailing 5-4 in the third with their opponent serving for match point. They broke their opponent's serve and forced the match into a tie-breaker. They rallied from behind in the tie breaker to win the set and the match 7-6.

At home against St. Francis Saturday, the Belles won 9-0. Saint Mary's dominated all of the singles and doubles matches with several of the players losing only one or two games.

"There is always one team from Illinois to go to nation­als and St. Francis is usually fairly good competition for us," said Laverie. "To beat them so handily shows how strong we are at the national level. I feel we are the best team in the Midwest at this point."

Letdowns and heroics dominate Interhall

Anticipated women's battle dominated by defenses

By MARK SLOAN Sports Writer

The matchup between PW and Farley was less than spectacular, as both teams put their undefeated records on the line. In a battle of defenses, Farley won 10-0 to improve to 3-0. The loss dropped PW to 2-1.

The first half saw both defenses stifled by overpowering defenses. No points were scored until the first drive of the second half when Farley's Jeni Siefried scored on a 35-yard pass and then added the two point conversion.

"Except for the one lapse that resulted in the touchdown, our defense played exceptionally well," said PW quarterback Jill Bodensteiner. "We just had no offense."

"I'm really happy with our defense, which has yet to allow a point. A safety by Connie Sohn and Chris White made the final score 10-0. The defense has scored more points than it has allowed."

Men's Interhall football teams completed their third week of action last Sunday. In a key matchup, Keenan handed Dillon its first loss of the season on a third-quarter touchdown. Games will conclude with the annual finale in Notre Dame Stadium.

Terrill's late FG boosts Keenan past Dillon

By DAVE MACMAHON Sports Writer

Kelly Terrill kicked a field goal in the third quarter as Keenan handed Dillon its first loss of the season Sunday in Interhall football action.

Paul Stephan put Keenan on the board with an option touchdown run. Dillon's lone score came on a run up the middle by Gary O'Brien.

"We didn't do too much right," said Dillon captain Paul Drey.

Flanner 7, Grace 6: With a little help from the wind on the score. The defense stood tall and stopped PW's two point conversion attempt, making the score 7-0.

A key interception by Carl Martinez and a punt blocked by Howard Iqbal tied up the ball and the win. Siefried 20, Walsh 8: Siefried played well on both offense and defense in its victory over Walsh.

Siegfried was well aware of Walsh's excellent passing attack led by Amy Farahbaugh and was prepared to stop it. Caroline Kleine's interception resulted in a touchdown and was one of a few Siegfried interceptions.

Siegfried's quarterback led the offensive attack, passing for one score and running in another herself.

"Teamwork was the key," stressed Siegfried captain Chris Finn. "The whole team played well." 10-0.

Lewis 7, Bidin 0: Bidin's woes continued as Lewis rolled on to its second straight victory.

"Things were looking up for Bidin as it held Lewis scoreless until the final 30 seconds of the game. Valerie Lamatta took the hand-off from quarterback Ellen Mouch for a 10-yard touchdown run. Sue Lippa kicked the PAT.

Once again it was a lack of offense that resulted in Bidin's loss. However, both teams were plagued by the cold and slippery conditions at game time.

Knoth 6, Howard 0: A Howard blitz on the first drive of the game backfired as Knoth found the opening and scored the only points of the game.

Knoth got its first win and a chance to salvage its season after opening with three losses.

The good news is that the Notre Dame men's soccer team is still undefeated.

"Notre Dame's performance. Grace was not happy with the game at 20:01 of the first half. Tiger McCourt had fired a shot at Titan keeper Don Koontz who could not handle the shot cleanly.

LaVigne took the loose ball out of Koontz's hands with his head, and the Irish were up 1-0.

Notre Dame kept the pressure on Koontz for the remainder of the half with several good scoring chances. McCourt picked up his second goal on Koontz's own net.

"Now anything can happen," said Grace at the 2-1 score at that point. "One more goal up (and it's a tie). We can't afford to put ourselves in that position."

But the Irish did respond. An obviously fired-up Detroit team pressed in mind, but two veterans added an insurance goal for Notre Dame.

ACHA disbanding would benefit Irish

The one-year suspension of Kent State's hockey program casts doubt on the future of the American Collegiate Hockey Association. That's probably good news for the Notre Dame hockey team.

Steve Megargee Assistant Sports Editor

Nothing against the ACHA, for the conference was formed with the best of intentions two years ago. At the time, Notre Dame, Kent State, Lake Forest and Michigan-Dearborn were founded with similar philosophies toward education, finances and collegiate hockey as reasons for starting the league.

"The American Collegiate Hockey Association is a big plus for its four members," ACHA commissioner Brian Boulac said at the time. "With the spiraling costs of college athletics and with major Division 1 hockey these days, you're seeing more and more programs forced to cut back. Another reason is that schools have had to drop out of the more established hockey leagues because of the cost of staying competitive with the top teams in those leagues could not be paid.

But what may have been true two years ago just isn't the case today. Notre Dame and Michigan-Dearborn now are building up their hockey programs, rather than cutting..."
