Police crash AIDS demonstration

Associated Press

ROCKVILLE, Md.--Hundreds of demonstrators, demanding easier access to experimental drugs for people with AIDS, blocked entrances to the Food and Drug Administration's headquarters Tuesday, prompting police to close the building to arriving employees.

Vito Russo, a New York writer who said he was diagnosed with AIDS in 1985, said the demonstrators did not want the FDA to stop testing drugs, but to move faster and make AIDS drugs available as soon as it is determined they are safe—rather than waiting to judge their effectiveness as well.

"The side effect of AIDS is death," Russo said.

Montgomery County police some of them wearing clear plastic surgical gloves, arrested and charged 175 demonstrators with loitering for blocking entrances. One protester was arrested and charged with assault and battery of an officer during the slow, methodical process which went on for more than six hours.

Most of the arrested protesters elected to walk to the waiting police buses, where they were handcuffed with plastic ties. A few chose to be dragged and were accommodated by pairs of officers.

Police said all those arrested were later released and would be scheduled to appear in court at a later date.

Four men climbed atop two of the buses and huddled under blankets whipped by a chilly wind. Police made no attempt to see AIDS, page 7

Frosh at Bush rally forbidden to hold Duke sign

Associated Press

OTTAWA, Ohio A high school student molested the site and left Republican vice presidential candidate Dan Quayle temporarily speechless during a rally Tuesday when the youth announced he had been forbidden from displaying his homemade "Dukakis '88" poster.

The Indiana senator was caught by surprise when young Sean Hertzch rose during a question-and-answer session in the gymnasium of Ottawa-Glandorf High School to ask Quayle's position on freedom of speech in the school.

"Do you agree with the school's policy of not letting me hold this sign up?" the boy asked, waving the remains of a blue-and-white Dukakis sign.

"They won't let me hold this sign up," Quayle, obviously surprised by the query, paused as he searched for an appropriate response.

"Hold it up! hold it up," Quayle said, trying to make himself heard above the crowd's noisy rebuke of the youth.

Then, asking the crowd to be quiet, Quayle again asked Hertzch what his question was.

The boy repeated it, adding that although the Secret Service agents in the gym had said the sign posed no problem, the school's superintendent, Michael Ruhe, had told him such a display was inappropriate.

"I imagine the school policy here in this country and there are disagreements... that's what this election is all about," he said.

"There is a disagreement between George Bush and Michael Dukakis and you're going to make the decision," he said. Ruhe later said he had told Hertzch that he didn't care if the youth took the sign to the speech, so long as it was cleared with the people in

see QUAYLE, page 8

Student can pick up new ID cards

Special to The Observer

Student photo ID cards are now available for those students who had their ID photographs taken between Aug. 20 and Sept. 23, according to the University Registrar's office.

The cards may be picked up Monday through Friday at the Registrar's Office at 233 Administration Building from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Students must return temporary ID cards, the plastic Vail-dine card and the paper temporary card, to pick up their new student photo ID cards. Students who lose the temporary cards will be charged $5 for each lost card. If the Vail-dine card is lost, the ID photograph must be retaken.

ISP active in Peace Program

Special to The Observer

This fall the question, "What sort of world would you like to live in?" was asked of 13 students from nine countries study at Notre Dame.

The students, who represent the United States, Soviet Union, the People's Republic of China, Israel, Japan and other nations, are participating in the University's International Scholars Program (ISP) this year.

Conducted by Notre Dame's Institute for International Peace Studies, the program has begun its second year. ISP scholars will live together in a campus residence hall named International Peace House until June 9, 1989, pursuing master's degrees in peace
IN BRIEF

Divorces don't come cheaply, especially when you make $1 million, so a local rock band is throwing a benefit concert for Bruce Springsteen. The announcement for the Oct. 29 "Bucks for Boss" benefit by the Decibels was tinged with sarcasm. "His upcoming, self-inflicted divorce and all the time he has donated to causes have probably drained the guy," the release said. The Decibels plan to give away a pink Cadillac at the concert, a prize inspired by Springsteen's hit song about the car. -Associated Press

Princess Diana admitted a dislike for needles Tuesday when she visited a clinic where young children were being injected under a government inoculation drive. "What on Earth have you set this up for? you know I can't stand injections," she said to her aid while touring the clinic in Stevanage, in western England. The princess was returning after a 10-day stay in hospital to be treated for her burn injuries. -The Observer

Why Worker U.S.C. needs to attend. Questions? call Rob 1795, meeting at 7 p.m. today in 118 at Nieuwland Science Hall room 131 Decio Hall. "The Merchant of Venice, or Marxism in the Mathematical Moder," will be given by Assistant Professor David Russo, department of economics at 8-10:30 a.m. in room 131 Decio Hall. -The Observer

U.S.C. Trippers preferring to fly with someone specific need to submit this request to the secretary on the second floor of LaForte Student Center by noon on Thursday. -The Observer

Science Quarterly Magazine will be holding a meeting at 7 p.m. today in 118 at Newsworld Science Hall to discuss the second issue. Anyone wishing to write for the second issue needs to attend. Questions? call Bob 1795, Jackie 942, or Christie 4386.

Pax Christi Meeting today at 7 p.m. at the Center for Social Concerns. Raul Campasano, a Chilean graduate student in the International Scholars Program, will be speaking on the political situation in Chile and his own experiences in peacemaking. -The Observer

LaForte Macintosh Computer Lab is now open in room 10 of the LaForte Student Center from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursdays; Friday 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Sunday. -The Observer

Fall Break Service Opportunity with handicapped adults in small L'Arche households--Toronto, Canada, Daybreak Community, October 16-22. Contact Angi at the Center for Social Concerns (259-6250) for information. -The Observer

Observer Of Interests and other public service announcements may be submitted at The Observer main office on the third floor of LaForte Student Center until 1 p.m. prior to the date of publication. Of Interest announces free, campus-wide events of general interest. Lectures announces other events of general interest, free or paid. The Observer reserves the right to edit all submitted materials and determine if and where announcements will be published. -The Observer

---

INSIDE COLUMN

Most conversations cluttered by cliches

It's coming. Less than two weeks from now students will be faced with it. Some may come upon it in class. Others will encounter it in the dining halls. A few might even hear it on the quad.

The dreaded question: "Hi, how are you? How was your break?"

The dreaded answer: "Good."

Granted, by the time I finish saying, "Well, while I was in Florida after a 16 hour flight delay they told me my luggage was on its way to Turkey. I drove to the hotel only to find that the booking was for the following week, so I had to sleep on a cot in the conference room. It rained the entire week, and to top it all off, there wasn't a bar within twenty miles that would accept my fake ID."

The lucky recipient of my good tidings is probably halfway across the quad by now on his way to his 11:00 class. Still, every time I catch myself labelling something "good" I curse myself for my inability to use a term more interesting than one which can encompass feelings about Chemistry 117, University Foodservice's rendition of Double Donerburgers, yesterday's Far Side, or how I felt when I got out of bed this morning.

One would think, sometimes, that no one had anything more interesting to say than a few overused cliches. That can't be true: in the last few years, I have discovered that underneath the "good's" and "I'm fine's" there are people with unique and entertaining stories to tell, if only I take the time to engage them in conversation. It's far too easy to limit a relationship to the now and then exchange of a few frequently used phrases.

"Hey, what's going on?"

"Nothing much..."

A handful of people can honestly say, "I've decided to renounce the material world and become one with nature." That doesn't necessarily mean that the remaining ninety-nine percent of us lead humdrum lives.

A blow-by-blow recount of the most recent roommate squabble is probably inappropriate for a nodding acquaintance, but limiting a friendship to years of trading worn out jokes can also become tiresome. I spent a day searching for alternatives to "good," and tested them on various acquaintances I encountered on the quad. I found that "brilliant," "healthful," "palatable" and of course, "unobnoxious" merited some surprised expressions, but people were left in little doubt about how I felt. In addition, it was a wonderful conversation piece.

One might conclude that maybe my life isn't as ordinary as I had once thought.

I may not lead a dramatic life, compared to the lives depicted on the news or in "Days of Our Lives" but, realistically, no one else I know does either. Fewer awkward pauses, seven-minute lulls and nervous laughter punctuate my conversations because I crack one or two jokes whose origin I can no longer remember and then run out of topics of conversation.

Not only that, I might graduate in two years' time with fewer regrets because I tried to make the time to go beyond the superficial conversations once in awhile. I'm down to fewer "goods" a day and am the happier for it. It's the most enjoyable habit I've ever tried to break.
Shaw of CNN to moderate debate

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Bernard Shaw of Cable News Network will serve as moderator of Thursday night's prime-time clash between George Bush and Michael Dukakis, announced the sponsoring Commission on Presidential Debates on Tuesday.

The commission said Andrea Mitchell of NBC, Ann Compton of ABC and Margaret Warner of The Newsweek would pose the questions to the candidates.

The announcement came after CBS anchor Dan Rather said he had declined an invitation to be a panelist.

Rather said the format agreed to by the two campaigns was "not the best" and added he would rather report on the event than participate in it.

The 90-minute debate will begin at 9 p.m. EDT Thursday in Pauley Pavilion on the UCLA campus in Los Angeles, barring a rainout that delays the conclusion of the National League baseball playoffs.

In a reverse of the first debate, the first question will go to Dukakis, and Bush will have the final closing statement, according to Bob Neuman, spokesman for the commission.

Shouts of 'anti-Christ' interrupt Pope's speech

Associated Press

STRASBOURG, France - A militant Protestant leader from Northern Ireland, Ian Paisley, disrupted Pope John Paul II's unity speech to the European Parliament on Tuesday by shouting: "I renounce you as the anti-Christ!"

The pontiff had just begun delivering the key speech of his four-day trip to northeastern France, a talk in which he urged Europe to adopt a common political structure.

The European Parliament is an advisory body to the 12-member European Economic Community.

Paisley stood by his desk in the back of the assembly chamber during welcoming remarks by Lord Plumb, president of the Parliament. As the pope began speaking, he was immediately interrupted by Paisley, standing about 11 rows from the pontiff.

"I renounce you! I renounce you as the anti-Christ!" shouted Paisley, leader of the Irish Protestant Democratic Unionist Party, who was instantly surrounded by about a dozen deputies to the Parliament.

They shouted to drown out his insults, threw paper at him and tore from his hands a crude orange banner reading: "Pope John Paul II, anti-Christ."

Paisley twice called for order and then evicted Paisley to the applause of deputies and an estimated 300 spectators in the gallery.

A group of deputies dragged and shoved Paisley from the hall.

Paisley has spearheaded opposition to the 1985 Anglo-Irish agreement which granted the government of Catholic-dominated Ireland a say in the running of Northern Ireland, a British province where 60 per cent of the population is Protestant.

Paisley urged the unification of Catholic and Protestant laws and controls in the Catholic province of Northern Ireland, a British province where 60 per cent of the population is Protestant.

As he has throughout his trip, John Paul has urged European leaders to adopt the unification of Catholic and Protestant laws and to work for peace and reconciliation between Catholics and Protestants.

The pope has not taken a stand on whether the province should be united with the Irish Republic but has called for peace and reconciliation between Catholics and Protestants.

Available for Sale Friday

LIVELY SCAT

Tickets on Sale Friday

With Special Guest

JOHN KILZER

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2

7:30 P.M.

Morris Civic Auditorium

All Seats Reserved

$16.50

Tickets Available At

The Auditorium Box Office

Night Winds (South Bend, Niles),

Record Connection (Elkhart),

World Record & Tapes (Elkhart) &

Super Sounds (Elkhart).

OR CHARGE BY PHONE (219) 284-9190
The International Student Organization is currently developing a publication dedicated to promoting awareness and understanding of international issues as experienced by students. We are looking for people interested in the following positions:

- Editors
- Operation Manager
- Photo Manager

Applications will be available at the ISO lounge, second floor La Fortune Center until Friday Oct. 14.

For more information, call: Manuel Cuevas 1233

Felix Villalba 2465

International Student Organization

The students' academic backgrounds include law, philosophy, political science, business, international relations, applied linguistics, French, journalism and physics.

Participants in the 1988-1989 program include:

-Jamal Abu-Attiyeh, 26, of the Jenin Refugee Camp on Palestine's West Bank. Abu-Attiyeh, a 1986 graduate of Birzeit University, worked as an English teacher and interpreter for tine's West Bank. Abu-Attiyeh, a graduate of Hebrew Institute, worked as an accountant for Proctor and Gamble in the Philippines.

-Edna Hidekel, 25, of Jerusalem. A graduate of Hebrew University, Hidekel served as a lieutenant in the Israeli Army and worked for the Likud Party.

-Susan Hixon, 22, of Carlsbad, Calif. Hixon, a graduate of Chapman College who lived with a French family during a year's study in Paris, was active in church-based peace groups.

-Maite Gallego, 22, of Manila, Philippines. Gallego, a graduate of De La Salle University, worked as an accountant for Proctor and Gamble in the Philippines.

-Edna Hidekel, 25, of Jerusalem. A graduate of Hebrew University, Hidekel served as a lieutenant in the Israeli Army and worked for the Likud Party.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

-Keiko Nagai Ito, 26, of Tokyo. Ito, a law graduate of Waseda University with a master's in international studies from Sophia University, is interested in international political economy and development problems.

-Felicia Leon, 24, of Wellsburg, W. Va. A Notre Dame graduate who served as a residential assistant in London, Leon has done postgraduate work at West Virginia University.

-Vitaly Rassolov, 26, of Kishinev, U.S.S.R. Rassolov, a fourth-year student in aerodynamics and physics at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, is an accomplished chess player.

Another nuclear plant shut down due to health and safety violations

Associated Press

GOLDEN, Colo.—The virtual shutdown of the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant because of a safety violation follows repeated complaints by workers, citizens' groups and the government that management had a cavalier attitude toward health and safety.

Jim Wilson, who heads a state-appointed monitoring commission on radioactive waste at Rocky Flats, called the shutdown Saturday symbolic of the Department of Energy's new attention to problems at the country's aging nuclear weapons plants.

He gave the DOE credit for "taking the offensive." It was the second major suspension of nuclear weapons production in two months. Three reactors at the Savannah River Plant in South Carolina were shut down in August because of safety concerns.

The DOE has made no plans for either plant to reopen. Tom Rauch of Citizens Against Rocky Flats Contamination, a grassroots group formed last year to protest the proposed incineration of radioactive wastes at Rocky Flats, saw the shutdown as a slap at plant management.

"It simply confirms what many people have said all along: that safety and health problems at the plant are greater than the DOE and Rockwell (International Corp., which operates the plant) have been willing to admit," he said.

DOE shut down the main plutonium processing room at Rocky Flats, 16 miles northwest of Denver. The shutdown in Building 771 at Rocky Flats apparently stems from a Sept. 29 incident in which a Rockwell supervisor and two employees entered the building without respirators because a warning sign was blocked from view.

Energy Department adopts new nuclear safety rules

Associated Press

WASHINGTON -Seeking to "rectify past sins" in the operation of weapons reactors, Energy Department officials on Tuesday announced new safety procedures that they said would delay the reopening of the Savannah River Plant but would not jeopardize the nation's nuclear deterrent.

"We are about to embark on a program to restart, to move back to a safe operating level, those reactors...at the end of the year," Energy Secretary John Herrington told a news conference called to discuss problems with the three reactors at Savannah River. Department officials had planned to restart one of the reactors as early as November, but now plan to begin a four-week "phased restart" that will begin in December, said Herrington's deputy, Joseph Salgado.

Salgado sought to calm fears about possible shortages of the nuclear weapons material produced at Savannah River, especially of tritium, which decays more quickly than plutonium, the other fuel produced there.

"We are comfortable that Savannah River will operate at a sufficient level to meet the tritium needs of the future," Salgado told reporters.

The news conference was called to defuse criticism of the Energy Department not only of lax security at weapons laboratories in New Mexico and California.

The chairman of E.I. du Pont Nemours and Co., which operates Savannah River under contract for the Energy Department, reacted angrily to charges that company employees had a lax attitude about nuclear safety. R.E. Heckert charged that du Pont was "caught in a political crossfire" between the Energy Department and Capitol Hill.

Energy Department not only committed to making sure that all safety precautions are taken and that all rules and regulations be followed."
DEAN WITTER CAPITAL MARKETS

Invites All Accountancy, Finance and Economics Majors To A Presentation On

Opportunities In Corporate Finance

Morris Inn
The Notre Dame Room
Wednesday, October 12, 1988
8:00 p.m. – 10:00 p.m.
Soviet war veterans have same stress as Vietnam vets

Associated Press

ZIONSVILLE, Ind.—Many Soviet veterans of the Afghanistan war suffer from depression, combat flashbacks, drug and alcohol abuse and high suicide rates, a Purdue University psychologist said Tuesday.

"They don't understand what's happening to them, and the people in the country who are responsible for them don't either," said psychologist Charles Figley.

The symptoms are identical to the post-traumatic stress disorders that has troubled thousands of American veterans of the Vietnam War, Figley said.

Figley joined American experts in fields such as artificial limbs and wheelchairs on a 15-day trip to the Soviet Union to work with counterparts there. He also met with 68 "Afghanit," or returned veterans of the Afghan war, before returning Saturday to Indiana.

"We went as a scientific group to exchange knowledge in our specialties, but it turned out to be a much more personal kind of thing," he said. The trip was organized by Earth Invaders Inc., a Seattle peace organization, and approved by the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party and the Soviet military, he said.

One member of the group found himself drinking shots of vodka for six hours with an emotionally abused group of Soviet veterans, members of an informal Afghanaity club, said Figley.

The club has sprung up across the Soviet Union and gives the veterans a chance to begin healing the traumas of war by talking with each other, he said.

A 25-year-old veteran imitated Figley for help in coping with the fact he shot to death a child who had fired on his tank, wounding two fellow soldiers.

"He missed the kid with his last round, and was reloading and hoping the kid would either be killed or run away," said Figley. "But he killed the kid, right through the temple."

"Fearing his own potential for future violence, the veteran has chosen not to have children, he said. "And that led up to the question, 'Can I ever forget this?'" he said. "And I told him, no, he'll never be able forget this."

But remembering the incident in detail will help relieve the stress, as well as realizing that he might have intention to do more damage to himself, he said.

The Soviet military bureaucracy is not geared up to offer adequate services to its Afghanit veterans, he said. The general public has been generally sympathetic to their service in an unsuccessful war, although civilians were apathetic during the early years when the government's role was non-military, he said.

America's Cup yacht seized by Cuban navy

Associated Press

MIAMI—A Cuban gunboat seized a 160-foot supply ship carrying New Zealand's entry in the America's Cup race and detained eight United States citizens Tuesday, the Coast Guard said.

The Tampa Seawhore, a New Orleans-based ship, was sailing about 13 miles off the southeastern tip of Cuba when the gunboat approached and seized it, said Coast Guard spokesman Dan Vogeley.

The ship's agent later told the Associated Press that the vessel was inside the territorial waters and placed an urgent call to the Coast Guard at about 10 a.m. EDT. Coast Guard officials advised the master to comply, Vogeley said.

The ship was escorted to the port for inspection purposes, said Maggie Kerrigan, a spokesman at New Zealand consultate in Los Angeles.

Kerrigan said New Zealand officials have asked the State Department and Coast Guard to help gain the vessel's release.

"They are confident of no significant threat" to the vessel's release by both vessels, said Kerrigan.

Air Force tanker returning to base crashes and kills six military men

Associated Press

OSTCADA, Mich.—An Air Force tanker plane crashed Tuesday at Wurthmith Air Force Base, killing six people and injuring 10 others, authorities said.

A KC-135 Stratotanker used to refuel other planes was down at 2:20 p.m. as it was returning to the base from a mission to K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, said Staff Sgt. Donald Lawver, a spokesman at the air base in the northeastern lower peninsula.

Reports received by the Pentagon indicated the plane was carrying six crewmen and 10 passengers, said Lt. Col. Dick O'Brien, a Pentagon spokesman in Washington, D.C.

Eight of the 10 injured were treated at the base hospital, Sgt. Darryle Moody said. He said the two people admitted to the base hospital were in good condition Tuesday night.

Moody said all the people aboard the plane were military personnel.

The four-engine plane was reported to be on fire at the end of the runway after the crash, he said.

According to a U.S. Air Force fact sheet, the KC-135 is a military version of the Boeing 707 transport and can fly at near sonic speed and at altitudes up to 50,000 feet, allowing receiver aircraft to onloan fuel without slowing down or descending to lower altitudes where jet engines burn fuel more rapidly.

AIDS

continued from page 1

to remove them until they got ready to move the buses. When the men refused to get off the rooftops, they were arrested and dropped through hinged skylights into the compartment, and led off. Doctors and police from their watching compatriots.

At least two glass door panels were broken during jostling between surging crowds and police during the early minutes of the demonstration.

---

NORTHERN IRELAND SEMINAR

SPRING BREAK 1989

10 DAYS IN IRELAND

A LAND OF SUFFERING AND HOPE

with pre trip orientation and follow up reflection

INFORMATION NIGHT:

THURSDAY OCTOBER 13

7:30 PM

CENTER FOR SOCIAL CONCERNS

---

American Red Cross

Be a volunteer.
High and dry
A replica of Columbus' ship, the Santa Maria, makes its way down Manhattan's Fifth Ave. The centipede ship was one of the many attractions in New York's annual Columbus Day parade on Monday.

Most elderly drivers found to pose less of a driving risk than teenagers

Associated Press

WASHINGTON—A federal study of elderly motorists called Tuesday for better screening to identify impaired drivers, but concluded there is no justification to restrict driving solely on the basis of age.

The report by the National Research Council said that older drivers pose a greater risk of being involved in accidents because of their slower reaction time, vision problems and difficulties in gauging heavy traffic flow.

But the study said while driving skills often deteriorate after age 75, many elderly people are "capable and safe drivers" who pose less of a risk to highway safety than teen-age drivers.

The panel of experts suggested some of the problems with elderly drivers could be eased if roadway signs were made larger and brighter and high-way markings were redesigned to meet the needs of older drivers. Many road signs cannot properly be seen by 40 percent of the drivers who are 65 years of age or older, the study said.

"Age alone is a poor predictor of the driving performance of any individual," said the report, although after 75 a driver is "about twice as likely (per mile driven) to be involved in a crash" as middle-aged drivers.

Quayle continued from page 1

charge, including the Secret Service.

"Apparently, some students asked him to put it down or move the sign he was taking some peer pressure from fellow classmates," Rube said.

"But at no time did anyone from the administration say he could not put that sign up."

Rube said he did overhear some people remark that they felt the sign was inappropriate. He said he believed it was a group of students, adults including some members of the office staff - and community leaders, but no teachers or administrators.

Quayle quickly turned to another question, but shot a worried glance toward the youth who was soon surrounded by reporters.

Hertch said not only had he been told not to display his sign, but it also had been torn in half by fellow freshman Donald Stover.

"I'm a Democrat and I like Mike Dukakis and I think I should be able to carry this sign in here," Hertch said.

Stover, however, was mad at his classmate and said he was glad he had torn the sign, leaving Hertch with only the letters "Duk."

"I didn't like it," Stover explained. "Dukakis don't even believe in the death penalty."

Hertch appeared unimpressed with the attention his question had drawn, but wavered when asked if he expected to be punished for his actions.

"Now," he said, then smiled nervously. "Well, maybe."

Asked if he planned to take action against the youth, Ruhe said, "No. Absolutely not. I think he has to be talked to about getting his facts straight, but as far as disciplinary action goes, no."

Drought-stricken farmers aided

Associated Press

WASHINGTON— The Labor Department awarded two million dollars in emergency grants Tuesday to programs in four states, including Indiana, for retraining migrant and seasonal farm workers whose jobs were lost to the effects of the summer drought.

The funds are from a special five million dollar account established under the Job Training Partnership Act when it became clear that workers because of the dry summer weather would have a devastating effect on fall harvest employment.

"These workers are caught in an adverse situation beyond their control," said Labor Secretary Ann McLaughlin. "We want to provide them with the necessary skills training so they can quickly return to being productive."

Five areas of Texas will get a total of $1.5 million to assist some 1,000 migrant workers returning to the state, their home in the winter, with little or no income because of the effects of the drought on crops. The five areas are Rural Costal Bend, Midland, Grand, South Texas, Cameron County and Hidalgo and Webb Counties. Oregon will get $824,500 to help up to 360 of some 12,000 seasonal farm workers because water shortages in the eastern part of the state decimated sugar beet, onion, potato and bean crops.

The Rural Alabama Development Corp. was awarded $200,000 to help up to 155 seasonal farm workers.
Top 10 Reasons to Hate Miami: 2.

Anybody who's anybody knows where he's going.

1. I'D LOVE TO HAVE SOMEONE ELSE'S PROBLEMS.

2. I'D GIVE ANYTHING TO HAVE MARYLAND'S COUNTRY CLUB.

3. I'D LOVE TO BE A HICK.

4. I'D BLOW IT BACK TO THE HARDEE'S.
Bush faces media and Dukakis

Separating fact from fiction during a presidential campaign can be a very trying task. Charges and countercharges fill the air. Television and print media tout their "conventional wisdom" and put "spin" on events in order to interpret them to the average voter. To be more concise, we can call this media's "conventional spin." This would not be a problem, except too many people accept conventional spin as fact—which, believe me, it is not. To see what I mean, let's look at some examples.

Kevin Smant

on politics

"Michael Dukakis is now courageously rallying from behind." Rallying from ahead, you mean. Here's the man who held a seventeen point lead in July over someone caricatured in the media as a cross between Bobo the Clown, Pee Wee Herman and Tiny Tim. Now, Dukakis actually trails by between four and nine points—yet the media acts as if the preceding two months never happened. Or they ascribe it to the Pledge of Allegiance issue. Excuse me, but twenty-point swings don't happen over issues like that.

"George Bush is running a 'mean' campaign." This shows what short memories people have. Remember the Democrats' convention back in July? Their keynote speaker used the high-toned tactic of referring to Bush as being "tied with a silver foot in his mouth." A later speaker called him a "wimp." Ted Kennedy could barely hold back his contempt as he asked "was there George?" Now Lloyd Bentsen personally attacks Dan Quayle for being "no Jack Kennedy." Of course Quayle was comparing his Senate experience with Kennedy's—not his person. But if you're a Democrat, I guess personal slurs count as brave moral judgment.

"Michael Dukakis' proposals for health care, child care, and student aid show that he 'cares' and George Bush doesn't." This one comes mostly from the self-appointed guardians of American virtue located in their academic world. And they are right, to a point: understanding people's actual dollar federal dollars in those three areas will not Bush. And why is that so virtuous? All he is doing is trying to coax students, older people and mothers to vote themselves government benefits—benefits that will come from the pocketsbooks of other people. Gee, I always thought the purse had something to do with not coveting other people's things. Don't tax dollars count? George Bush pledges not to raise taxes. This applies to both rich and poor, black and white. They would keep what they earn. But what can you expect from those Ebenezer Scrooge-like Republicans?

"Selecting Lloyd Bentsen for vice president is purely an example of Michael Dukakis' judgment." "Demons" of humiliation must be read. But Quayle has done nothing to justify such a shameful display of negative publicity from both Democrats and the news media itself.

One would expect political mud-slinging from Sasso and the Dukakis campaign, which had produced commercials critical of Quayle before the vice-presidential debate had even begun.

Among the news media, however, overly negative reporting cannot be tolerated. The American public can hardly be blamed for having doubts about Quayle. Since the day of Quayle's selection in New Orleans, the nation's papers and airwaves have been filled with negative journalism the likes of which have rarely been seen in a national election. He has been hounded relentlessly by members of the media, and nothing Quayle can say or do will satisfy reporters eager to see him fall.

Members of the press are quick to point out their First Amendment freedoms and the public's right to know. But with freedom comes responsibility, and the media must acknowledge that their reporting does more than merely inform the public. It helps shape public opinion. The hole dug for Senator Quayle by the Democrats and the news media is deep indeed, but I applaud Quayle for his courage and in standing his ground.

Linda Thimons

Women United for Justice & Peace

P.O. Box Q

Quayle endures unfair exposure

Dear Editor:

Enough is enough. How much longer must Dan Quayle endure the current media torture? The constant mudslinging of this political puppet has done nothing to justify such a shameful display of negative publicity from both Democrats and the news media itself.

One would expect political mud-slinging from Sasso and the Dukakis campaign, which had produced commercials critical of Quayle before the vice-presidential debate had even begun.

Among the news media, however, overly negative reporting cannot be tolerated. The American public can hardly be blamed for having doubts about Quayle. Since the day of Quayle's selection in New Orleans, the nation's papers and airwaves have been filled with negative journalism the likes of which have rarely been seen in a national election. He has been hounded relentlessly by members of the media, and nothing Quayle can say or do will satisfy reporters eager to see him fall.

Members of the press are quick to point out their First Amendment freedoms and the public's right to know. But with freedom comes responsibility, and the media must acknowledge that their reporting does more than merely inform the public. It helps shape public opinion. The hole dug for Senator Quayle by the Democrats and the news media is deep indeed, but I applaud Quayle for his courage and in standing his ground.

P.O. Box Q

Sexism promulgates hurtful attitudes

Dear Editor:

Have you ever been hurt by insensitive jokes directed at you? If you haven't, try to put yourself in that position, and imagine that the jokes are an accepted part of the community in which you live. This is the group of people who experience this here, at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. An offensive and demeaning attitude toward women has become an integral part of our community. Insults and harmful comments about women can be found in our campus jokes, t-shirts, comic strips, class discussions, and everyday conversations.

We ask all members of this community to make an effort to become more aware of and sensitive to this problem. Count the number of times, in one day, you encounter such offensive or insulting comments and attitudes. When you do, have the courage to express your disapproval. This problem hurts all of us—both men and women. Please don't allow it to be incorporated into our community.

Linda Thimons

Women United for Justice & Peace

Quote of the Day

"With all the crap I learned back in high school, its a wonder I can even think at all."

Simon and Garfunkel

"Kodachrome"
Kevin Walsh

The Smithereens are a supergroup of '60s rock-'n'-roll outfits, most of whom you may have hopefully already heard of. If you haven't, then Wednesday night is your perfect opportunity. They've been called "Beatle-esque." "Who-like" and now they've been called "the Observe..." We spoke to Dennis Diken, the band's drummer and here's some of what he said:

The Observer: Okay, stupi questions first... How did you guys get together? Diken: Well, Jimmy (Bakajin, guitar) and I have known each other since third grade. We started playing together and then we met Mike (Mesaron, bassist) in high school. We were basically a band looking for a lead singer and some original material and we put an ad in a music newspaper and that's how we found Pat (Dimitio, the lead singer, guitarist and songwriter). Our first gig to¬gether was on March 30, 1980...so we've been together almost nine years.

O: How about the name, "The Smithereens"? Anything interesting about where that came from? Diken: Well, I guess it was from the old cartoons. Somebody was always talking about blowing somebody else to... smithereens! Probably, specifically Yosemite Sam from the old Warner Brothers cartoons. O: You guys have been labelled by a lot of critics as revivalists. How do you react to that? Diken: Well, that's not something we ever do on purpose. We don't sit down and say that we'll try to sound like the Beatles or something. It's just sort of a combination of who our influences are at the time. You know, we're out on the road, we meet people, we see movies, we see bands, just generally hang out then we just get up there and play.

O: What about the rumor that Pete Townshend was going to produce your last album? Diken: I think we approached him but he wasn't available at the time.

O: What are some of your favorite songs from your current "scene"? I know you've worked with Don Dixon. Diken: Yes. I'm a big fan of him...producer and a great guy.

O: Marti Jones? Diken: She's basically a casual acquaintance.

O: Suzanne Vega? Diken: Pat used to work in the same office as Suzanne Vega in New York City, so they've known each other for a while.

O: I noticed that the song "Especially For You" wasn't on the album "Green Thoughts." Is that an old song?

Diken: No that was written a few weeks before we recorded Green Thoughts. It was a new one.

O: I also noticed that "Something New" on Green Thoughts, was the title of a Beatles' album, and seemed to owe something to "Stop Your Sobbing" by the Pretenders.

DD: Yeah, people tell us that...I'd say that the Beatles album was probably an inspiration, but not the Pretenders. At least not consciously.

O: So finally, what's next for the Smithereens?

DD: Well, we're touring until about Halloween, which is actually the eighth anniversary of the release of our first LP (the now-unavailable Girls About Town) and I'd expect us to be going into the studio around the beginning of the year.

O: So is the new stuff written yet? Will we hear some new stuff on Wednesday? I've heard rumors about your shows where you do a short show of your own stuff and then come back and do a monster show of covers. Is that pretty much what we can expect?

DD: Well, actually, that's not so true. We do a long set of our own stuff, then come back for our encore and do a bunch of covers mixed in with our own stuff. We'll play until everybody wants us to stop. So if you like good, high-energy rock 'n' roll, go and see the Smithereens. You won't regret it.

ROBYN SIMMONS assistant accent editor

William Shakespeare once wrote that "All the world's a stage." Almost 400 years after Shakespeare penned these words, there are still so many places where visitors can see the stage of his world. One place is Stratford-upon-Avon, Shakespeare's English birthplace. Another location is Stratford, Ontario where the plays and spirit of Shakespeare have been a tradition for 35 years. We started playing together 74 when we met Mike (Mesaron, bassist) and I have known each other since third grade. We started playing together and then we met Mike (Mesaron, bassist) in high school. We were basically a band looking for a lead singer and some original material and we put an ad in a music newspaper and that's how we found Pat (Dimitio, the lead singer, guitarist and songwriter). Our first gig together was on March 30, 1980...so we've been together almost nine years.

O: How about the name, "The Smithereens"? Anything interesting about where that came from? Diken: Well, I guess it was from the old cartoons. Somebody was always talking about blowing somebody else to... smithereens! Probably, specifically Yosemite Sam from the old Warner Brothers cartoons. (Does Yosemite Sam imitation) "I'll blow ya to smithereens!!" Diken: You guys have been labelled by a lot of critics as revivalists. How do you react to that? Diken: Well, that's not something we ever do on purpose. We don't sit down and say that we'll try to sound like the Beatles or something. It's just sort of a combination of who our influences are at the time. You know, we're out on the road, we meet people, we see movies, we see bands, just generally hang out then we just get up there and play.

O: What about the rumor that Pete Townshend was going to produce your last album? Diken: I think we approached him but he wasn't available at the time.

O: What are some of your favorite songs from your current "scene"? I know you've worked with Don Dixon. Diken: Yes. I'm a big fan of him...producer and a great guy.

O: Marti Jones? Diken: She's basically a casual acquaintance.

O: Suzanne Vega? Diken: Pat used to work in the same office as Suzanne Vega in New York City, so they've known each other for a while.

O: I noticed that the song "Especially For You" wasn't on the album "Green Thoughts." Is that an old song?

Diken: No that was written a few weeks before we recorded Green Thoughts. It was a new one.

O: I also noticed that "Something New" on Green Thoughts, was the title of a Beatles' album, and seemed to owe something to "Stop Your Sobbing" by the Pretenders.

DD: Yeah, people tell us that...I'd say that the Beatles album was probably an inspiration, but not the Pretenders. At least not consciously.

O: So finally, what's next for the Smithereens?

DD: Well, we're touring until about Halloween, which is actually the eighth anniversary of the release of our first LP (the now-unavailable Girls About Town) and I'd expect us to be going into the studio around the beginning of the year.

O: So is the new stuff written yet? Will we hear some new stuff on Wednesday? I've heard rumors about your shows where you do a short show of your own stuff and then come back and do a monster show of covers. Is that pretty much what we can expect?

DD: Well, actually, that's not so true. We do a long set of our own stuff, then come back for our encore and do a bunch of covers mixed in with our own stuff. We'll play until everybody wants us to stop. So if you like good, high-energy rock 'n' roll, go and see the Smithereens. You won't regret it.

Shakespeare's world

ROBYN SIMMONS assistant accent editor

William Shakespeare once wrote that "All the world's a stage." Almost 400 years after Shakespeare penned these words, there are still so many places where visitors can see the stage of his world. One place is Stratford-upon-Avon, Shakespeare's English birthplace. Another location is Stratford, Ontario where the plays and spirit of Shakespeare have been a tradition for 35 years. We started playing together 74 when we met Mike (Mesaron, bassist) and I have known each other since third grade. We started playing together and then we met Mike (Mesaron, bassist) in high school. We were basically a band looking for a lead singer and some original material and we put an ad in a music newspaper and that's how we found Pat (Dimitio, the lead singer, guitarist and songwriter). Our first gig together was on March 30, 1980...so we've been together almost nine years.

O: How about the name, "The Smithereens"? Anything interesting about where that came from? Diken: Well, I guess it was from the old cartoons. Somebody was always talking about blowing somebody else to... smithereens! Probably, specifically Yosemite Sam from the old Warner Brothers cartoons. (Does Yosemite Sam imitation) "I'll blow ya to smithereens!!" Diken: You guys have been labelled by a lot of critics as revivalists. How do you react to that? Diken: Well, that's not something we ever do on purpose. We don't sit down and say that we'll try to sound like the Beatles or something. It's just sort of a combination of who our influences are at the time. You know, we're out on the road, we meet people, we see movies, we see bands, just generally hang out then we just get up there and play.

O: What about the rumor that Pete Townshend was going to produce your last album? Diken: I think we approached him but he wasn't available at the time.

O: What are some of your favorite songs from your current "scene"? I know you've worked with Don Dixon. Diken: Yes. I'm a big fan of him...producer and a great guy.

O: Marti Jones? Diken: She's basically a casual acquaintance.

O: Suzanne Vega? Diken: Pat used to work in the same office as Suzanne Vega in New York City, so they've known each other for a while.

O: I noticed that the song "Especially For You" wasn't on the album "Green Thoughts." Is that an old song?

Diken: No that was written a few weeks before we recorded Green Thoughts. It was a new one.

O: I also noticed that "Something New" on Green Thoughts, was the title of a Beatles' album, and seemed to owe something to "Stop Your Sobbing" by the Pretenders.

DD: Yeah, people tell us that...I'd say that the Beatles album was probably an inspiration, but not the Pretenders. At least not consciously.

O: So finally, what's next for the Smithereens?

DD: Well, we're touring until about Halloween, which is actually the eighth anniversary of the release of our first LP (the now-unavailable Girls About Town) and I'd expect us to be going into the studio around the beginning of the year.

O: So is the new stuff written yet? Will we hear some new stuff on Wednesday? I've heard rumors about your shows where you do a short show of your own stuff and then come back and do a monster show of covers. Is that pretty much what we can expect?

DD: Well, actually, that's not so true. We do a long set of our own stuff, then come back for our encore and do a bunch of covers mixed in with our own stuff. We'll play until everybody wants us to stop. So if you like good, high-energy rock 'n' roll, go and see the Smithereens. You won't regret it.
FOR SALE:

TV尉RENALS. You can REPAIR A COLOR TV FOR ONLY $8.50 PLUS $15 FOR DELIVERY. CALL COLLEGE RADIO IN THE NIGHT TIME 520-1920.

APPLE II COMPUTER PACKAGE including keyboard, green screen monitor, Apple II, II+ or IIe, 80 column printer, 40 column printer, 30 disk drives, $295 or offer. Call Brian at (619) 287-3939.

FOR SALE ONE MAN STUDENT TICKET Best Old Comps. 1506

FRED CROWENCO IN MIDDLE 1980'S 1700B SHORE DRIVE 2S3-6282. Phone available by asking. Call Sherry at (619) 270-3398.

SPORTS: NOW WATCHING WITH BLACK LEATHER STRAP NEW DAVID 202 THREE YEAR. EXTREMELY LOW ENTRANCE. NEED NUMERAL. WANT TO BUY ANYTHING. TELEPHONE NUMBER: (619) 270-3398.

CASH: $525.00. LOST AND FOUND SYSTEM: THE OBSERVER WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1988

LOST: Found during our dormitory inspection.求 a pair of bifocals. If you happen to find them, please contact Capt. Collins (619) 699-8326.

WANTED: Help me in my present and urgent problems. Mike x4141

WANTED: I am looking for 4 GA's to any home game to attend this meeting. Contact me on any of my special cellular phone number.

WANTED: Help me in my present and urgent problems. Mike x4141

WANTED: help me in my present and urgent problems. Mike x4141

WANTED: ATTEND this meeting. Mike x4141

TICKETS:

BIG MONEY

NEED 2 FOR MASTERS GAMES. Phase Cell at 309 or room no will work.

NEED FOR MASTERS GAMES. Phase Cell at 309 or room no will work.

NEED FOR 2 GAME TICKETS FOR MASTERS GAMES. Phase Cell at 309 or room no will work.

NEED FOR 3 MASTERS GAME TICKETS. Phase Cell at 309 or room no will work.

NEED 2 MASTERS TIX TO WIN THE 2ND PHASE. Cell at 309 or room no will work.

NEED 3 MASTERS GAME TICKETS. Phase Cell at 309 or room no will work.

NEED 2 MASTERS GAME TICKETS. Phase Cell at 309 or room no will work.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.

HELP HELP HELP! I need 1 GA, 2 GA's, and I may trade for 1 GA.
The Top Twenty college football teams in The Associated Press poll have been determined by coaches' votes, the season's records and total points. Points are based on 20-10-5-3-2 for a win, loss, tie, 0-0 or no contest. The coaches' names and cities are indicated in parentheses.

1. Miami 12-0 (Fla.) 600
2. UCLA 12-0 (Cal) 560
3. Southern Cal 12-0 (Cal) 513
4. Texas 11-1 (Texas) 449
5. Florida State 11-1 (Fla.) 417
6. West Virginia 11-1 (W. Va.) 385
7. Arkansas 11-1 (Ark.) 377
8. Oklahoma 11-1 (Okla.) 350
9. Oregon 11-1 (Ore.) 344
10. Alabama 11-1 (Ala.) 336
11. Auburn 11-1 (Ala.) 328
12. Georgia 10-2 (Ga.) 315
13. Wisconsin 10-2 (Wis.) 307
14. Nebraska 10-2 (Neb.) 295
15. Texas A&M 9-3-0 (Texas A&M) 290
16. Boston College 9-3 (Mass.) 282
17. Arizona 9-3 (Ariz.) 273
18. Colorado 8-4 (Colorado) 255
20. Brown 6-5-1 (R.I.) 191

Others receiving votes: Alabama East, Duke, East Carolina, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Northwestern, Notre Dame West, Oklahoma State, Purdue, Richmond, Saint Louis, Syracuse, Temple, Texas A&M, Tennessee, Texas Tech, Texas Western, Tulsa, Western Michigan, West Virginia Tech, Wisconsin East, Wisconsin West.

AP Football Poll

Country Cross Poll

Men’s Interall

National League

Women’s Interall

NCAA Men’s Cross Country Top 20

1. Wisconsin
2. Arkansas
3. Clemson
4. Arizona
5. Notre Dame
6. Texas
7. Penn State
8. Ohio State
9. Stanford
10. Providence
11. Duke
12. Boston College
13. Arizona
14. Clemson
15. Penn State
16. Bucknell
17. Arizona
18. Colorado
19. North Carolina State
20. Brown

Delaware

Scoreboard

Football (6-5)

Notre Dame 36, Pittsburgh 20

Volleyball (6-5)

Notre Dame vs. Kentucky 15-13, 15-9, 15-6, 16-14

Women’s Soccer (10-1-2)

Akron 3, Notre Dame 2 OT

Women’s Soccer

Notre Dame vs. Denver 4-0

Women’s Soccer

Notre Dame 4th at Notre Dame Invitational

Women’s Soccer

Notre Dame 6th vs. Notre Dame Invitational Theresa Rice, 3rd (19-12)

Tennis Men

Saint Mary’s 6-1, Santa Clara 3-0, Wheaton 3-1, Saint Mary’s 5-3

Tennis Women

Mary’s 11-16 record at Ball State Invitational

Paul Oland 1st in No. 6 singles and Waterfall, 1st in No. 2 doubles

Saint Mary’s 6-1, Santa Clara 3-0, Wheaton 3-1, Saint Mary’s 5-3

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

East

1. Buffalo 3-3-0
2. Buffalo 3-3-0
3. Buffalo 3-3-0
4. Buffalo 3-3-0
5. Buffalo 3-3-0
6. Buffalo 3-3-0
7. Buffalo 3-3-0
8. Buffalo 3-3-0
9. Buffalo 3-3-0
10. Buffalo 3-3-0

West

11. Buffalo 3-3-0
12. Buffalo 3-3-0
13. Buffalo 3-3-0
14. Buffalo 3-3-0
15. Buffalo 3-3-0
16. Buffalo 3-3-0
17. Buffalo 3-3-0
18. Buffalo 3-3-0
19. Buffalo 3-3-0
20. Buffalo 3-3-0

IRISH Women’s Soccer

Irish Women’s Soccer

Through Sunday

PLAYER, POSITION

G-SOG G A PTS GW

K.T. Sullivan, MF 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2
Amy Talley, F 13-13 13 9 2 20 2

EVENTS

10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena
10:30 a.m.-Andre’s Women’s basketball scrimmage, Joyce ACC Arena

Wednesday

No sports scheduled

Thursday

Friday

Saturday

Sunday

Ireland Program

Information Meeting

Tonight 7:00 p.m.

304 Haggard College Center SMC

Applications Distributed

Newcomers Welcome

HAPPY 20TH ELIZABETH CRISP

"JOHN-E LOVE"

---

Sports Wednesday

Wednesday, October 12, 1988

Sports Wednesday

---

IRELAND PROGRAM

---

Information Meeting

Tonight 7:00 p.m.

304 Haggard College Center SMC

Applications Distributed

Newcomers Welcome

---

HAPPY 20TH ELIZABETH CRISP

"JOHN-E LOVE"
Whose career best?
Mets continued from page 20
Los Angeles won two of three games at New York to take a 3-2 lead into Game 6 and the warmth of the SWAYING PALM TREE.

After the Mets won the first game 3-2 with three runs in the ninth off Hershiser and Jay
Howell, Cone wrote in a first-
person article for the New York
Daily News that Howell looked like a
"high school pitcher" and Hershiser was "lucky" to throw eight straight innings.

The Dodgers, inspired by
Cone's praise, chased him after two innings of Game 2, scoring five runs on five hits en route to a 6-3 victory. It was Cone's shortest outing as a starter this year, and his career as a columnist lasted only one more day.

Cone then came back and got
the last three outs of the Mets'
8-4 victory in Game 3 on Saturday but still was given a chance to prove his 20-3 season was not a fluke.

After a shaky first inning,
Cone shut the Dodgers out on one hit until two were out in the fifth when reliever Brian Holton singled, Steve Sax walked and Mickey Hatcher singled in a run to make it 2-1. Holton was those trying to create even more anomy with that is. And there are a few ways would be old and praiseworthy and decisive.

How do you feel about the Mets' first game? Gosh, I'm just happy to be in the same Stadum as they are.

They won something like 60 straight games on the road? Heck, I think 10-1 would be a good season, don't you?

Wait, didn't you guys used to say their players were stupid?

Well, I'm not sure what to say we did. But they've more than doubled the graduation rate of their artists in the last five years. Notre Dame can't say that. Don't mention the fact that it is mathematically impossible to double 100%.

Is the campus going crazy? Hate is a strong word. Gosh,
how can you not be impressed with Steve Walsh and Gary Cleveland or Cleveland Gary or Elikait Toledo or whatever his name is. (Don't mention that maybe that Gary guy's ability to stay away from tacklers has something to do with the fact that he is named after cities
with distinctive colors.)

Might there's teams
you like better than Miami, but I'm confident that our fans
will be perfect hosts and show them
the tremendous respect they deserve.

"We don't hate Miami. How can a good, Christian school
like Notre Dame hate
anybody? It goes against everything we believe."

Trading cards to be distributed
Saturday

Special to The Observer
Sixty thousand Notre Dame sports cards promoting fire prevention will be distributed Saturday as fans enter Notre Dame Stadium for the Notre Dame-Miami football game.

A different one of the 15 full-color cards in the set will be handed out at each Notre Dame Stadium, making spectators enter
Saturday.

Also, 10,000 full sets will be available beginning next week at area fire departments.

The cards, printed courtesy of the United States Forest Service, feature Irish football coach Lou Holtz; players Andy
Heck, Ricky Watters, Mark
Green, Ned Bolcar, Wes Fritchett, George Streeter, Anthony Johnson, Tom Gorman and Braxston Banks; plus home schedules for volleyball, women's basketball, baseball,
soccer and hockey.

Answers continued from page 20
Now I'm not saying we should lie. This is a Catholic university. But perhaps the best way the Notre Dame student body can influence the game's outcome beyond making an awful lot of noise on Saturday is to practice the method of college football's university. But perhaps the best coaches--artful deceptive
best way the Notre Dame student body can influence the questions we could expect by game's outcome beyond making an awful lot of noise on Saturday. But perhaps the best coaches--artful deceptive

How do you feel about the Miami football team? Gosh, I'm just happy to be in the same Stadum as they are. Haven't they won something like 60 straight games on the road? Heck, I think 10-1 would be a good season, don't you?

Wait, didn't you guys used to say their players were stupid?

Well, I'm not sure what to say we did. But they've more than doubled the graduation rate of their artists in the last five years. Notre Dame can't say that. Don't mention the fact that it is mathematically impossible to double 100%.

Is the campus going crazy? Hate is a strong word. Gosh,
how can you not be impressed with Steve Walsh and Gary Cleveland or Cleveland Gary or Elikait Toledo or whatever his name is. (Don't mention that
maybe that Gary guy's ability to stay away from tacklers has something to do with the fact that he is named after cities
with distinctive colors.)

Might there's teams
you like better than Miami, but I'm confident that our fans
will be perfect hosts and show them
the tremendous respect they deserve.

"We don't hate Miami. How can a good, Christian school
like Notre Dame hate
anybody? It goes against everything we believe."

Do you hate the Miami players?

Hate is a strong word. Gosh, how can you not be impressed with Steve Walsh and Gary Cleveland or Cleveland Gary or Elikait Toledo or whatever his name is. (Don't mention that
maybe that Gary guy's ability to stay away from tacklers has something to do with the fact that he is named after cities
with distinctive colors.)

OK, OK enough hints on how to deal with those incessant
reporters. In all sincerity, though, it is entirely possible
that our desire to, shall we say,
kick Miami's tail, will come back to haunt us by inspiring
Miami. So just be careful out there.

Mets continued from page 20
Los Angeles won two of three games at New York to take a 3-2 lead into Game 6 and the warmth of the SWAYING PALM TREE.

After the Mets won the first game 3-2 with three runs in the ninth off Hershiser and Jay
Howell, Cone wrote in a first-
person article for the New York
Daily News that Howell looked like a
"high school pitcher" and Hershiser was "lucky" to throw eight straight innings.

The Dodgers, inspired by
Cone's praise, chased him after two innings of Game 2, scoring five runs on five hits en route to a 6-3 victory. It was Cone's shortest outing as a starter this year, and his career as a columnist lasted only one more
day.

Cone then came back and got
the last three outs of the Mets'
8-4 victory in Game 3 on Saturday but still was given a chance to prove his 20-3 season was not a fluke.

After a shaky first inning,
Cone shut the Dodgers out on
one hit until two were out in the fifth when reliever Brian Holton singled, Steve Sax walked and Mickey Hatcher singled in a run to make it 2-1. Holton was those trying to create even more anomy with that is. And there are a few ways would be old and praiseworthy and decisive.

How do you feel about the Mets' first game? Gosh, I'm just happy to be in the same Stadum as they are. Haven't they won something like 60 straight games on the road? Heck, I think 10-1 would be a good season, don't you?

Wait, didn't you guys used to say their players were stupid?

Well, I'm not sure what to say we did. But they've more than doubled the graduation rate of their artists in the last five years. Notre Dame can't say that. Don't mention the fact that it is mathematically impossible to double 100%.

Is the campus going crazy? Hate is a strong word. Gosh,
how can you not be impressed with Steve Walsh and Gary Cleveland or Cleveland Gary or Elikait Toledo or whichever his name is. (Don't mention that
maybe that Gary guy's ability to stay away from tacklers has something to do with the fact that he is named after cities
with distinctive colors.)

Might there's teams
you like better than Miami, but I'm confident that our fans
will be perfect hosts and show them
the tremendous respect they deserve.

"We don't hate Miami. How can a good, Christian school
like Notre Dame hate
anybody? It goes against everything we believe."

Do you hate the Miami players?

Hate is a strong word. Gosh, how can you not be impressed with Steve Walsh and Gary Cleveland or Cleveland Gary or Elikait Toledo or whichever his name is. (Don't mention that
maybe that Gary guy's ability to stay away from tacklers has something to do with the fact that he is named after cities
with distinctive colors.)

OK, OK enough hints on how to deal with those incessant
reporters. In all sincerity,
though, it is entirely possible
that our desire to, shall we say,
kick Miami's tail, will come back to haunt us by inspiring
Miami. So just be careful out
there.
Miami linebacker rebounds from knee injury

By GREG GUFFEY
Sports Writer

The bad news for Miami outside linebacker Rod Carter was that antthroscopic knee surgery forced him to miss the first two Hurricane games against Florida State and Michigan.

Now the bad news for Notre Dame is that Carter is back and playing in the form that made him a pre-season candidate for the Butkus Award honoring the nation's most talented linebacker.

Missing the first two games, two of the biggest contests of the year, was especially hard for Carter. Instead of being the vital clog on a stingy Miami defense, the fifth-year senior could only watch and hope.

"It was very hard just to sit back and watch my teammates, wishing I could help," Carter said. "But we have so much depth we're not going to play badly."

Carter rebounded from the injury quickly. He garnered 10 total tackles against Wisconsin and eight versus Missouri. Miami won those two contests by a combined score of 79-3.

"When I first got back in the Wisconsin game, it was still bothering me," Carter said. "The next game against Missouri, I felt fine."

The Hurricanes didn't play badly when Carter was injured, but they do play better when he is healthy. Carter has started 24 games for the Hurricanes, and they have won 23 of those contests, including two victories over Notre Dame.

Carter and defensive end Bill Hawkins will be the only Hurricane defenders starting their third game against the Irish. Miami downed Notre Dame by scores of 56-7 in 1985 and 24-0 in 1987.

"It means a lot to play Notre Dame because of all of the national championships they've won in the past," Carter said. "We're just concentrating on Notre Dame, what they're doing, and taking it one day at a time. They're big in the skills positions. We're expecting those guys to handle the ball and make the plays."

In 1987, Carter excelled on the Miami defense, while playing in the shadow of All-Americans Bennie Blades and Daniel Stubbs. He led the Hurricanes in assisted tackles with 80, a new Miami record, and earned honorable mention as an AP All-American. His top performance was 19 total tackles, 13 unassisted, in a 41-3 romp over East Carolina.

At the same time, the total defensive effort of the Hurricanes has dominated opposing foes. Last year, the defense held opponents to 111 points, while the offense scored 392. 1988 Miami foes have scored just 33 points in four games and only three points came when Carter was playing.

"I think we're faster this year," Carter said. "We get to the ball better than we did the last three years."

Before his injury, Carter had gained 12 pounds and planned to switch to middle linebacker. His speed is also somewhat surprising. The 6-1, 230-pound Carter runs the 40 in 4.8.

Carter was redshirted his freshman year after a successful high school career in Fort Lauderdale, the same area that turned out first-round draft choices Lorenzo White, Michael Irvin and Bennie Blades. He worked with the scout team as a linebacker and then battled George Mira for the starting spot in 1985.

"I think everyone should be redshirted," Carter said. "When you get here, you're lost. The older guys talked to me and I appreciated it. You get to learn the system so that next year, you have the feel for it. It also helps with the books."

And Carter has not forgotten about hitting the books with as much vigor as he hits opposing players. Majoring in art, he hopes to be a cartoonist and later own a studio.
All in the Corrigan family
New Irish coach keeps lacrosse connection going

By FETE LaFLEUR
Sports Writer

For new Notre Dame lacrosse coach Kevin Corrigan, the "fastest game on two feet" runs in his family.

Corrigan, the fourth of seven children, grew up with the game under the example of his father and former Notre Dame Athletic Director Gene Corrigan and two uncles. These three brothers then passed the love for lacrosse on to their sons, who have branched out into prominent playing and coaching positions in the East and Midwest. And according to Kevin, he still consults his father and uncles for coaching advice.

"There's a million things I've learned from my father, the biggest of which is how to take proper care of your body," says Corrigan, a 29-year-old native of Charlottesville, Va. "I still call him and ask him things and, even though the game has changed, the fundamentals are the same.

There is also a significant Notre Dame connection among the Gene Corrigan clan. The elder Corrigan, after coaching and administrative stints at Virginia and the Atlantic Coast Conference, became the athletic director at Notre Dame in 1981 before returning to the ACC in 1986. "Contrary to popular belief, Corrigan did not push for Irish lacrosse to become a varsity sport; instead, outgoing athletic director Ed Warde appointed Kevin's father William Joyce made the decision several months before Corrigan arrived.

Nonetheless, the elder Corrigan did see his sons take turns among the Irish playing and coaching ranks. Kevin Corrigan began the Notre Dame connection as an assistant coach in 1983. His brother Tim then played for the Irish from 1984-86, with two more brothers, Bryan and David, holding assistant coaching duties through 1986.

"And now I'm the head coach, so there's definitely an Irish connection in my family," says Corrigan. A rich family tradition aside, Corrigan realizes the Notre Dame lacrosse team still needs improvements in areas such as recruiting and scheduling if they are to match the success he experienced at Virginia.

Corrigan played four years for the Terrapins before returning to Virginia as an assistant, where he coached the last four seasons. In those six years at Virginia, Corrigan played on a national title-winning team and eventually took over as head coach when another coach in the family, his brother Mike, was named the Irish's head coach.

Corrigan replaced Rich O'Leary, the only coach Notre Dame has ever had. O'Leary resigned to devote full time to his position as assistant director of athletic operations.

As only the second coach in the Gene Corrigan clan to hold the head coaching position, Corrigan has the reputation of having a significant effect on the team.

"He (Corrigan) has a definite aura of excitement about him such that the players have to show more of a respect and desire to be on the team," Spencer says. "He's used to top-notch lacrosse and he wouldn't be happy if anything fell short of that." O'Connor added that Corrigan's family experience further helps the Irish.

Soccer
continued from page 20

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Soccer
continued from page 20

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Not so long ago!
Happy 19th Birthday Glenn

Women confident at tourney

By CHRIS COONEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's tennis team travels to St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21-23 to participate in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Tournament.

Coach Michele Gelfman is very confident in her team's chances in the meet. "We should probably win," Gelfman said. "The competition is not nearly as strong as our previous competition this fall."

The Irish are much improved this year, largely due to the presence of a talented group of freshmen. Katie Clark, Tracy Barton, Kristy Doran, Ann Bradshaw and Tyler Musleh all are among the top seven singles players on the Irish team. Clark and Barton were ranked among the top 40 in this fall's USTA 18 and under Junior girls standings. The other Irish freshmen all achieved high rankings within their own home regions.

Gelfman does not think experience will hinder the success of this year's Notre Dame squad. "All the girls are experienced tournament players," she said. "Our exceptional youth should not hurt us at all."

Sophomore CeCe Cahill returns to the No. 1 singles spot for the Irish. Sophomores Kim Pacella and Cathy Bradshaw and senior Natalie Illig complete the roster.

The team has been practicing for an average of 2 1/2 hours a day in preparation for the upcoming meet. In addition, the women lift weights three days a week and most of them run five to six times a week.

Notre Dame will be without junior captain Alice Lehner, who is out for the semester with back problems. Cahill is also recovering from a knee injury; however, Gelfman says that she is hitting well and back to full strength.

Men face "cream of crop" at Volvo All-American

By BOB MITCHELL
Sports Writer

This weekend, members of the Notre Dame men's tennis team will face the cream of the crop in the Volvo All-American Collegiate Tennis Tournament. The Irish will fly south to Athens, Georgia, home of University of Georgia and the last ten NCAA Championships, to participate in the premier fall collegiate tennis tournament.

"It is simply the best players in collegiate tennis," said head coach Bob Bayliss. "It is the only event of its kind."

Among those standouts are Andrew Sznaider of Pepperdine, Buff Farrow and Brian Garrow of UCLA and Jeff Tarango of Stanford. All ranked in the Top 50 in the United States. Players from 80 teams will participate in this prestigious event.

The tournament begins with pre-qualifying matches on Saturday with a group of 128 players, each selected by a panel of tennis coaches affecting almost the top 28 players in college tennis. Out of these 128 players, eight will join a nationally selected 56 players in the main qualifying draw to compete on Tuesday and Wednesday. From that group, four players will go on to battle the top 28 players in college tennis. The main draw will produce the winner of the tournament.

Recently, Notre Dame has been plagued by a rash of injuries affecting almost the entire team. But the Irish have heated nicely, except for Walter Dohare, the No. 3 singles player, who will not make the trip because of an ankle problem.

Notre Dame will send six players to the competition. Dave DiLucia, the No. 1 singles player, suffered a bruised shoulder but will be ready to play this weekend. "Dave is looking to make his mark," said Bayliss. "In this tough event. He will find out in a hurry where he stands."

So far this season, DiLucia's play has been sporadic as evidenced by his overall record of 3-3. "He has had trouble putting people away," said Bayliss. "He'll get a lead and then let people creep back into the match."

DiLucia will enter the tournament in the main qualifying draw. He is one of only two freshmen in the country that was ranked in the nationally selected 56, the other being Todd Martin of Northwestern.

The other members of the Irish squad will enter the tournament in the pre-qualifying stage. Brian Kalbas, the No. 2 player, received a first round bye. Mike Wallace, Ryan Wenger, Dave Reiter and Paul Odland will start from the bye. Mike Wallace, Ryan Wenger, Dave Reiter and Paul Odland will start from the bye. "Odland has been a pleasant surprise, to say the least, boasting a 5-1 season record."

"Odland has gone from a guy who was going to fill the bottom of the lineup to a player who is going to challenge the middle of the lineup," said Bayliss. "Odland has raised his game to a higher level."

"It is an honor in itself just to get in," said Bayliss.

BETA ALPHA PSI and COOPERS & LYBRAND

in support of

"The Year of Cultural Diversity"

present

Miguel "Mike" Valdes, Partner-International Tax

speaking on

"AN INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE ON A CAREER IN PUBLIC ACCOUNTING"

Date: October 13, 1988
Time: 4:30 PM
Place: Hayes-Healy Auditorium
Room 122

Everyone is welcome and encouraged TO ATTEND!!!
Hockey

continued from page 20

last year. During last year’s games, every guy on the team went out on the ice expecting to win. That can’t change just because the teams we play are of a higher caliber.”

In fact, Schafer believes that his team, featuring scholarship players for the first time in five years, actually may have more talent than last year’s squad.

“I think overall we’ll be a better hockey team. If there’s an index for hockey players, we’ve gone up a notch or two,” said Schafer. “We don’t have any (1988 grad) Mike McNellis on our team that could steal the show, but overall we’ll be strong.”

Following is a position-by-position outlook of the 1988-89 Notre Dame hockey team:

Forwards

The Irish lose McNellis, the leading Irish scorer for the last three years, and Tom Mooney from last year’s team. Stopping up to the first line this season are Irish co-captain and center Brian Montgomery, Hanzel and right wing Tim Kuehl. Those three players comprised the Irish second line last season.

“We’ve played so much together that we seem to know where the other two are on the ice at all times,” said Hanzel. “I would expect our line, especially Kuehl, to do the majority of the scoring now that McNeill and Mooney are gone.”

Mike Curry, a freshman from New York, has found a spot on the second line, quickly assuming the left wing slot alongside senior center Bob Bilton and senior right wing Bob Herber.

“He (Curry) fits into our line just great,” said Herber, “because Bilton and I are both reasonably quick. Curry is probably one of the fastest players on the team after only two weeks. Although it’s taken us a while to get, I’m sure we’ll be a good line both even-handed and on the power play.”

Junior Bruce Guay, who was second on the team in scoring at midseason last year before being sidelined with an injury, is the left wing on the third line. A pair of freshmen—center Mark McClow and right wing Mark McClew—comprise the rest of the third line.

Center Rob Bankoske, left wing Lou Zadra and right wing Andy Slaggert are battling for ice time with left wing Chris Olson, center Pat Arnedt and right wing Mike Musty. One of those trios will make up the fourth line.

Defensemen

The Irish lose starters Pat Foley and Lance Madson once again be the man in the nets for Irish hockey team this season.

Mike Curry, a freshman from New York, has found a spot on the second line, quickly assuming the left wing slot alongside senior center Bob Bilton and senior right wing Bob Herber.

“He (Curry) fits into our line just great,” said Herber, “because Bilton and I are both reasonably quick. Curry is probably one of the fastest players on the team after only two weeks. Although it’s taken us a while to get, I’m sure we’ll be a good line both even-handed and on the power play.”

Junior Bruce Guay, who was second on the team in scoring at midseason last year before being sidelined with an injury, is the left wing on the third line. A pair of freshmen—center Mark McClow and right wing Mark McClew—comprise the rest of the third line.

Center Rob Bankoske, left wing Lou Zadra and right wing Andy Slaggert are battling for ice time with left wing Chris Olson, center Pat Arnedt and right wing Mike Musty. One of those trios will make up the fourth line.

Defensemen

The Irish lose starters Pat Foley and Lance Madson, but “We’ve still got to go into every game with the same confidence we had last year,” said Schafer.

“The important thing about both these guys is they don’t hesitate for a moment to use their bodies,” said Schafer. “They play with reckless abandon, and because of that, they’re effective.”

Freshman Kevin Patrick and senior Roy Bemiss, who played forward last season, make up the third line of defensemen.

Goalsies

This portion of the team presents both Notre Dame’s biggest strength and weakness.

The Irish have Lance Madison returning from an exceptional 1987-88 campaign, but once again, it appears as though the junior from Minnesota, Minn., will be manning the nets for virtually every game of the season.

Madison won the approval of his teammates last year after recording a 3.44 goals against average and an .882 save percentage.

“He refuses to let the bad goal in,” said Hanzel.

Herber echoes the sentiment.

“We’ve just got to have him,” said Herber. “He knows he’s got to be great in goal. If he’s down, the team’s down because we’re not going to be winning many 8-7 shootouts this year. He’s got plenty of confidence, and he seems to thrive on pressure. He’ll have plenty of it this year.”

Senior Mark O’Sullivan and sophomores Steve Hurds and Dave Kolata will back up Madison at goal.

“Lance Madison’s picked up right where he left off last season, and that is as an outstanding goaltender,” said Schafer. “He’ll receive the bulk of our playing time. I think it will probably have to be Lance Madison just about every game.”

Organist

Schafer also has one more new player that he is only too enthusiastic to mention.

“We’ve probably recruited one of the best organists you can ask for in Mike Callahan,” said Schafer, an accomplished pianist himself. “I went out and bought a new keyboard that’s fantastic. It can make a one-finger pianist sound good. This guy’s a 10-finger keyboard artist, and we’re pleased to have him.”

Both the players and coaches are confident that the Irish also can be making sweet music on the ice.

“We know we can play hockey with the big boys,” said Hanzel. “I know I speak for the rest of the team when I say we’re ready to get our feet wet and see just how good we can be. We’ve got a great opportunity this year.”

Added Schafer, “I’m certain we’ve taken Notre Dame hockey a step further. I think that we have to win a couple of major upsets this year.”

THE SENIOR CLASS AND THE ALUMNI-SENIOR CLUB is sponsoring

Sr. Trip to the Bahamas send-off with The Famous Vacationers

(Chicago Reggae Band)

Thursday, Oct. 13 from 9pm - 2am at ALUMNI-SENIOR CLUB

WEAR your shades and get you leis!

(ALL ARE WELCOME TO JOIN THE FESTIVITIES!)
CAMPUS
7 p.m. Pax Christi meeting about the political situation in Chile at the Center for Social Concerns.
7:30 p.m. Michael Novak, Welch Chair of American Studies and the Director of Social and Political Studies at the American Enterprise Institute will hold the second of three lectures on Choosing Our King, 1988: Monthly Election Watch, in the Center for Continuing Education.
8 p.m. Presentation/Reception for all Finance, Accountancy and Economics majors interested in discovering career opportunities with Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. at the Notre Dame Room, Morris Inn.
8 p.m. Presentation/Reception for MBA students only who are interested in career opportunities with General Mills Restaurants in the Alumni Room, Morris Inn.

NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD
ACROSS
1 Jean de Brunschwig creation
2 Broom wiper's sigh
19 "Dixie, Dixie..."
20 Sugar-cane lei flowerers
21 Polyurethane foam
22 Delightful place
24 Set of doctor's
26 Remain
27 They were her scenes
30 They were her scenes
36 Woody's son
37 Phillips University is here
38 Actress
39 Supermarket clerks, often
42 Genes material
43 Racists
45 Stalemate
46 Vast, warm, in the Bard
48 Hooded cloak
50 Eureka Springs, e.g.

1 Frozen dessert
2 Winning
3 Sight on the Chesapeake
4 Plan
5 Light lines
6 Declines
7 Concealed
8 Is mistaken
9 Word (is ecstatic)
10 Novel by Samuel Lever
11 Spiny plant
12 Saucy young woman
15 Emulates Ruth
16 Famed ring Zadora
17 Buffoon clerks, often
18-were (so to speak)
19 "Oui ou-?"
20 Sugar-cane lei flowerers
21 Polyurethane foam
22 Delightful place
24 Set of doctor's
26 Remain
27 They were her scenes
30 They were her scenes
36 Woody's son
37 Phillips University is here
38 Actress
39 Supermarket clerks, often
42 Genes material
43 Racists
45 Stalemate
46 Vast, warm, in the Bard
48 Hooded cloak
50 Eureka Springs, e.g.

DINNER MENUS
Notre Dame
Devonshire Sandwich
BBQ Pork Chops
Pastar Bar
Beef Turnover

Saint Mary's
Braised Thin Steak
French Bread Pizza
Florentine Omelette

COMICS
Bloom County
Hello, Jean! Unendless Youth. I'm from the government.

Berke Breathed
When you could be working honestly at McJobs.

Michael F. Muldoon
These buildings are where all the classes are held.

The Far Side
Gary Larson
Tell me what sort of garbage are you filling these kids heads with this time.

Caricature of Tom Pomposo page 19

STUDENT UNION BOARD
Irish need great play, not green jerseys

By MARTY STRASSEN
Sports Editor

Irish head coach Lou Holtz said he is not breaking out the green jerseys for this game’s showdown against No. 1 Miami.

But the third-year coach of the fourth-ranked Irish knows how important one football game is. Holtz insists that the battle of unbeatens is nothing more than a game.

"Keep in mind that it’s just a football game," Holtz said Tuesday at his weekly press conference. "But it’s a game you will remember for the rest of your life. And you have a game to live with for the rest of your life.

This is what Notre Dame is all about.

"Notre Dame has had a history of beating No. 1 teams, a history of doing the impossible, a history of coming up with the unexpected performance by a player you never dreamed of, a history of making critical plays at critical times. That’s what we’re going to need, and Notre Dame history is on our side."

But the Hurricanes will be on the other side Saturday afternoon, and Holtz said he thinks Miami has proven its billing as the best team in college football by amassing a 36-game regular-season winning streak, including 20 straight on the road.

"I think Miami is a better football team than last year," Holtz said. "They might be the best passing team in college, they run the ball effectively, and I think they’re defense is what makes them a great team."

"I see people saying don’t have a chance, and looking at the two teams, I might be inclined to agree with them, except for one thing--on a given Saturday, that’s this Saturday, we do have a chance to win this football game. The reason I think we have a chance is because Miami is going to see a great bunch of competitors on Saturday.

One person the Hurricanes are unlikely to see is Irish junior offensive guard Tim Grunhard. Grunhard tore ankle ligament against Pitt this past Saturday and is listed as doubtful for the Miami game. Freshman Joe Allen moved into the starting spot.

At the other guard position, sophomore Tim Sandy is expected to start for sophomore Tim Ryan, who suffered an shoulder injury in the 30-20 victory over the Panthers. Sandy started the Michigan game before Ryan was moved to center. Sandy and Holtz said there is a slight chance Ryan could be ready to play if needed.

EXTRA POINTS: Holtz expected some comments in both players and the Notre Dame student body that Saturday’s game will not turn into something ugly.

"I don’t think ‘hate’ is a proper thing," said Holtz, who is a native of South Bend, Indiana.

Deadline is Friday for basketball tickets

In other words, if students want to be sure to get good tickets, they should apply by Friday.

Students must go to Gate 10 of the Joyce ACC between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to fill out an application for season tickets. At this time students will have to specify if they will want lower arena or bleacher seats, and must pay a deposit on the ticket.

Ticket prices for 17 home games are $85 for lower arena seating and $20 for upper. A deposit of $45 for lower arena seats or $40 for bleachers is required during this application period.

The balance of the ticket price is due at the ticket distribution.

Moving up in hockey world

Tougher schedule awaits 1988-89 Irish hockey team

By STEVE MEGARGEE
PETE SKIPO
Assistant Sports Editors

Ric Schafer is doing the best he can to make sure his second season as Notre Dame hockey coach is as similar as possible to the first.

"The promotionable events are back and better than ever. The Beatles and Barbra's part shotout for a car is back. A new organ has been acquired, and seats will be available on both sides of the ice."

But all that remains to be seen is whether the team on the ice can be as successful as last season, when the Irish compiled a best-ever 22-7-2 record. Notre Dame opens its season Oct. 18 at Western Michigan.

The Observer / Duane Hernandez

The Notre Dame women's soccer team, fresh off its 3-0 victory over Northwestern Tuesday night, travels across the highway Thursday for a rematch with the Belles.

The Observer / Duane Hernandez

The Notre Dame women's soccer team raised its record to 11-3 last night with a 5-0 shootout win over Northwestern. Despite their total domination over the hapless Wildcats, a club team that falls to 9-3, the Irish did not look particularly polished in the effort.

"We're still having a little bit of a problem with our offensive transition," admitted Notre Dame head coach Dennis Grace. "But a team cannot get to a point where it will be able to stop working on that skill.

Brian O'Gara
Irish Items

There is so much national attention on this one football game, probably much more for any other this season. Both school's sports information departments are flooded with work--arranging interviews, distributing stats and preparing for the media onslaught on game day.

Several members of the media have already found their way to this campus to do prep work. Among them are the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and, rumor has it, the Miami student newspaper, The Hurricane. Granted it is just a rumor, unconfirmed by Alumnae-Senior Club or Senior Class managers, but word has it that The Hurricane had ideas of going to Senior Bar tonight and interviewing Notre Dame students about the game.

Innocent enough, you say, until you hear that they plan on posting the quotes (unfavorable towards Miami, I’m guessing?) on their own campus newspaper. The Hurricane.

Worse or not, The Hurricane does this, the truth is an awful lot of reporters are seeking to scoop one of the major reasons this game is so big--the revenge sentiment of Notre Dame fans. Some have called it hate.

By ALSIELE LACROCE

LOS ANGELES--Dave Cone wrote a different story in Game 6 of the National League playoffs, pitching a five-hitter as the New York Mets beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 Tuesday night to tie the best-of-seven series at three games apiece.

The decisive seventh game will be played Wednesday at Dodger Stadium. Orel Her-shiser, a 23-game winner, will start for Los Angeles against Ron Darling, 17-9.

Cone surrendered Games 1 and 3 without getting a decision, and got a save in the保险金转保-6, 5-4 victory in Game 4.

Kevin McReynolds, with a two-run homer among his four hits in four at-bats, provided the offense against loser Tim Leary. McReynolds, who also had a sacrifice fly, drove in three of the five runs as New York's leadoff hitter. The scoring Manager Davey Johnson had moved him to the second spot.

The four hits tied an NL playoff record accomplished by eight players, the last Tito Landrum of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1985.

The Mets dominated the season series against the Dodgers, winning 10 of 11.

By MARK SALTZMAN

see HOCKEY, page 18

see METS, page 14

see HOLTZ, page 14

ideas for answering

Miami questions

On Saturday, the eyes of the nation will be on Notre Dame. And that’s just how we want it.

No. 1 vs. No. 4. Miami vs. Notre Dame. Played in the mecca of college football as the defending national champion against a team that finally has a legitimate chance to pay the Hurricanes back for 26-7 and 24-0.

Brian O'Gara
Irish Items

There is so much national attention on this one football game, probably much more for any other this season. Both school's sports information departments are flooded with work--arranging interviews, distributing stats and preparing for the media onslaught on game day.

Several members of the media have already found their way to this campus to do prep work. Among them are the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and, rumor has it, the Miami student newspaper, The Hurricane. Granted it is just a rumor, unconfirmed by Alumnae-Senior Club or Senior Class managers, but word has it that The Hurricane had ideas of going to Senior Bar tonight and interviewing Notre Dame students about the game.

Innocent enough, you say, until you hear that they plan on posting the quotes (unfavorable towards Miami, I’m guessing?) on their own campus newspaper. The Hurricane.

Worse or not, The Hurricane does this, the truth is an awful lot of reporters are seeking to scoop one of the major reasons this game is so big--the revenge sentiment of Notre Dame fans. Some have called it hate.

By ALSIELE LACROCE

LOS ANGELES--Dave Cone wrote a different story in Game 6 of the National League playoffs, pitching a five-hitter as the New York Mets beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 Tuesday night to tie the best-of-seven series at three games apiece.

The decisive seventh game will be played Wednesday at Dodger Stadium. Orel Her-

shiser, a 23-game winner, will start for Los Angeles against Ron Darling, 17-9.

Cone surrendered Games 1 and 3 without getting a decision, and got a save in the insurance zoom-6, 5-4 victory in Game 4.

Kevin McReynolds, with a two-run homer among his four hits in four at-bats, provided the offense against loser Tim Leary. McReynolds, who also had a sacrifice fly, drove in three of the five runs as New York's leadoff hitter. The scoring Manager Davey Johnson had moved him to the second spot.

The four hits tied an NL playoff record accomplished by eight players, the last Tito Landrum of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1985.

The Mets dominated the season series against the Dodgers, winning 10 of 11.

By MARK SALTZMAN

see HOCKEY, page 18

see METS, page 14

see HOLTZ, page 14

ideas for answering

Miami questions

On Saturday, the eyes of the nation will be on Notre Dame. And that’s just how we want it.

No. 1 vs. No. 4. Miami vs. Notre Dame. Played in the mecca of college football as the defending national champion against a team that finally has a legitimate chance to pay the Hurricanes back for 26-7 and 24-0.

Brian O'Gara
Irish Items

There is so much national attention on this one football game, probably much more for any other this season. Both school's sports information departments are flooded with work--arranging interviews, distributing stats and preparing for the media onslaught on game day.

Several members of the media have already found their way to this campus to do prep work. Among them are the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and, rumor has it, the Miami student newspaper, The Hurricane. Granted it is just a rumor, unconfirmed by Alumnae-Senior Club or Senior Class managers, but word has it that The Hurricane had ideas of going to Senior Bar tonight and interviewing Notre Dame students about the game.

Innocent enough, you say, until you hear that they plan on posting the quotes (unfavorable towards Miami, I’m guessing?) on their own campus newspaper. The Hurricane.

Worse or not, The Hurricane does this, the truth is an awful lot of reporters are seeking to scoop one of the major reasons this game is so big—–the revenge sentiment of Notre Dame fans. Some have called it hate.

By ALSIELE LACROCE

LOS ANGELES--Dave Cone wrote a different story in Game 6 of the National League playoffs, pitching a five-hitter as the New York Mets beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 Tuesday night to tie the best-of-seven series at three games apiece.

The decisive seventh game will be played Wednesday at Dodger Stadium. Orel Her-