Explosion at refinery kills one, injures three

Associated Press

WHITTING, Ind. - One worker was killed and three others were seriously injured by asphalt tar that burned through their clothing Sunday following an explosion and fire at an Amoco Oil Co. refinery, authorities said.

Two of the injured were in critical condition with third-degree burns over at least 60 percent of their bodies, said Dr. Michael Pepper, an emergency room physician at St. Catherine's Hospital in East Chicago.

"They were covered with tar from their heads down to the tips of their toes. We had to cut all their clothes off with a cast saw," Pepper said.

It was not immediately clear what caused the fire and explosion shortly before 2 p.m. in the refinery's No. 3 oxidizer unit, which makes industrial asphalt, said Elise Sims, an Amoco spokeswoman.

Sims said the fire began about 2 p.m. CST and was fought under control by the refinery's firefighting crew within about an hour.

"The fire was contained in one small area of the refinery and no outside assistance was necessary. We have had one fatality," Sims said.

The refinery in this Chicago suburb along the Illinois-Indiana state line was once the largest in the nation and has been the scene of several major fire and explosions in the past ten years, including two earlier this year.

Notre Dame to welcome Pres. nominee Bush

By CHRIS MURPHY

NEW YORK - Kraft Inc. said Sunday it had agreed to a $13.1 billion buyout bid of Kraft by Glenview, Ill.-based Philip Morris Cos. Inc., ending a short but tense takeover fight in the food giants said they reached a definitive agreement in Gulf Corp. by Chevron in 1984.

A ghoulish ghost ... Dorm decorations

A boo-tiful pumpkin

Room 423 Farley is the location of this truly scary pumpkin doing its best to frighten its residents.

A wicked witch ...

A devilish door ...

A screaming student (Laura Cannom) ...

And a student's spirit (Angie Belayanca).

Major merger with Kraft will be biggest non-oil merger

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Kraft Inc. said Sunday it had agreed to a $13.1 billion buyout by Philip Morris Cos. Inc., ending a short but intense takeover fight in the biggest merger ever between two non-oil U.S. companies.

Kraft said its board of directors had no other formal merger proposal under consideration and that its shareholders will vote on the proposed acquisition in the next 90 days.

A major merger with Kraft will not only be the biggest non-oil merger, but also would be the biggest buyout ever between two non-oil U.S. companies.

In a joint statement, the two food giants said they reached a definitive agreement in which Philip Morris would pay $106 cash for each of Kraft's outstanding shares.

If completed, the merger would be second in size only to the $13.8 billion acquisition of Gulf Oil Corp. by Chevron Corp., in 1984.

The agreement comes just five days after Kraft, which is based in Glenview, Ill., said it would negotiate with Philip Morris only if the tobacco and consumer products company raised its initial $90 a share buyout offer to equal the value of a defensive restructuring proposed by Kraft.

Kraft on Oct. 22 rejected Philip Morris' initial offer as inadequate, and unveiled a restructuring it said would raise its shareholders' a share in cash and securities, but also would bep 12.4 billion in new debt on the company.

"Our shareholders are receiving full value, and this Hamish Maxwell, chairman and chief executive of Philip Morris, said in a statement his company believed the merger would create "a U.S.-based food company that will compete more effectively in world food markets.

"Kraft's products provide an excellent complement to our existing product lines and position us to capitalize on marketing opportunities worldwide.

Those products include some of the best known foods on U.S. supermarket aisles, including Philadelphia cream cheese, Miracle Whip salad dressing, Sealy and Breyers' ice creams and Velveeta cheese spread.

Still pending is a $2.3 billion buyout proposal by the investment firm Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co. for food and tobacco giant RJR Nabisco Inc.

Penn State football game on November 15, 1986. He also participated in the International Summer Special Olympics Games' closing ceremonies in the summer of 1987.

The center sponsoring the campaign address was established in 1977 to examine public policy questions within a framework of Judeo-Christian values, according to Conklin.
Halloween is Jayne Ware's time to howl, so to speak, because it's about the only time of year she finds a big audience for talk about her line of work: ghostbusting. The vanity license plate on her van says "GHOSTBUSTERS," and her business card says "Grammar Ghostbuster" alongside "Parapsychologist." For most of the year, Mrs. Ware says she does serious investigation at the request of people who have "unexplainable happenings" in their buildings. But around Halloween, "people usually expect me to take a break to 1 to 1 3/4 it up a bit, and say the idea," she said, laughing. "These are about the only two weeks of the year I talk about ghosts. The rest of the year, for research and for lecture purposes, I prefer to call them 'energies' or 'vortexes.'" Associated Press

Terry Coyne took second place in extemporaneous speaking, and third in impromptu speaking to pace the Notre Dame Debate and Speech Team to a strong finish in the Age of Aquarius Tournament this past weekend at Ball State University. Fred Tomyar finished fifth in prose impromptu, and Jim Mercurio narrowly missed placing in impromptu speaking for the Irish. - The Observer

300 Rice Student Tickets are needed to allow interested handicapped adults from the LaPorte County Sheltered Workshop and Logan Center to attend the Nov. 5 game. Students can drop off donated tickets in the dining halls or at the Center for Social Concerns this week. - The Observer

The Feast of All Saint's, a holy day of obligation, is celebrated tomorrow. A Vigil mass will be held in Sacred Heart Church today at 1:15 p.m. Mass will also be celebrated on Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Please check your residence hall bulletin board for the time of hall masses. - The Observer

Free Flu Shots are offered today in the Library Concours from 9 a.m to 9 p.m. - The Observer

Manufacturers Bank will be on campus today in Room 132 Hayes-Healy to discuss career opportunities in Commercial Lending and Financial Analysis. - The Observer

Humanitas, the journal of the College Arts and Letters, is soliciting essays, interviews, fiction, and reviews. Include your submissions to the third floor of LaFortune. Deadline is November 4. - The Observer

Sexual Harassment, a panel discussion, will be held tomorrow from 12:15 to 1 p.m. in the Library Lounge. It is sponsored by the Women's Resource Committee of the Graduate Student Union. - The Observer

Observer Of Interests and other public service announcements may be submitted at The Observer main office on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center until 1 p.m. prior to the date of publication. Of Interest announcements free, campus-wide events of general interest. Lecture Circuit announces on-campus and local lectures. Campus announces other events of general interest, free or paid. The Observer reserves the right to edit all submitted materials and determine where announcements will be published. - The Observer

Halloween has taken on an evil meaning

Mark Ridgeway
Systems Manager

INSIDE COLUMN

Halloween... a night for investigating the "dark side" of life. It's a night on which kids and groups of people get together to swap horror stories, visit graveyards, and hold seances with the hopes of contacting the dead or not-so-dead. The fascination with the unexplained and the unknown has become an integral part of what happens on this holiday. However, it is often this way in the past. The word "Halloween," which stems from the word "All Hallow Eve," began as a night in which the deceased heroes and loved ones were remembered and their lives were celebrated. The tradition of the time was to act out the many adventures of their lives by dressing up as the hero and putting on skits describing the battles and bravery of their lives. This was continued to the next day, "All Saint's Day," in which the faithful would celebrate the saints which had devoted their lives to the service of God.

As time went on, the evil characters became just as prominent as the heroes and soon practical jokes took place among the children. The now popular form of trick-or-treating was a method of quelling the children and keeping the mischief to a minimum. However, as the adults began to join the more mystic activities, the evil side of the evening became popular.

Today, the fascination with evil has become an everyday occurrence in books, magazines, and movies. Writers such as Stephen King explore horrifying events which would normally seem impossible, but after reading his works, seem to be happening just around the corner. Horror magazines including "Fangoria," showing monsters and victims with a great deal of blood and guts, are found on most bookstores shelves. The most famous of all media displaying this is the motion picture. Billions of dollars are made each year on mindless flicks starring ghouls, goblins, ghosts, lunatic axe murderers, aliens from outer space, and even usually harmless animals such as birds, ants, frogs, and most ordinary house pets.

If all of this is mere fantasy, then why is the subject so popular?

It has to do with the "dark side" within all of us. This is the same force which makes you want to jump when looking over a high ledge, or ride the highest, fastest roller coaster in the world. This adventurous spirit creates an adrenaline high which can be just as good and just as addicting as most drugs.

It also seems to prove your manliness by not showing fear in the sight of all the disaster.

Seeing a movie in which every minute most people would be frightened to a near-death point can show off your courage, bring others closer, and boost your ego without actually risking your life. However, it seems that most of today's movies deal so much with reality that paranoia is an evident result.

The last reason has to do with mere curiosity. The unknown usually does not stay unknown for too long because of this instinctive feeling. We hold seances to see if ghosts do exist and try to learn if contact with dead spirits is possible. We also explore the possibilities of monsters of this world or some other in the hopes that all species are not yet accounted for.

As an adult, looking at the way Halloween is today, I feel that the true meaning of the night has been lost, but that the fun of the celebration has not been lost. There are still costumes which depict courageous heroes and beautiful princesses, and cute little boys and girls, dressed as pumpkins and cowboys, who still enjoy the mystery and magic of Halloween in the sense it meant to be when the tradition first began.

The Observer (GSPS 197 1-1400) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and recess periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and圣玛丽学院. Subscriptions are for postseason (non-endorsed) entries by submitting The Observer, P.O. Box 6, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
Future election in Israel creating more violence

Associated Press

BEIT SAHU, Occupied West Bank Israeli soldiers shot to death a Palestinian on Sunday, and Arab sources said 21 others were wounded in clashes across the occupied lands. A firebomb hurled at an Israeli bus injured five people, the army said.

Extra soldiers were deployed throughout the territories for fear Tuesday's national elections would bring more violence. Troops in black berets were seen moving into a girls high school in Bethlehem.

The military didn't say how many extra soldiers were put on patrol.

Israeli officials have said election day may bring an upsurge in violence in the 10-month Palestinian revolt against Israeli rule. At least 305 Palestinians and six Israelis have died since the uprising, known by its Arabic name "intifada," broke out Dec. 8.

The uprising and the future of the occupied territories have become the major issue in Israel's parliamentary elections. Near the West Bank town of Jericho, an attacker threw a firebomb that destroyed an Israeli bus, the army command said.

Four of the injured were brought to Bardasah Hospital in Jerusalem, hospital spokesman Ruth Metzel said. She said two were soldiers. No details were immediately available on the fifth injured passenger.

Underground Palestinian leaders called a general strike Tuesday to coincide with the parliamentary elections, and they joined Moslem fundamentalists urging another strike for Wednesday.

An army spokesman said a Palestinian teen aged died under "unsuitable conditions" but was not killed in clashes with Israeli troops.

Joyce B. Wilkerson

Don't Squander Time.

Buy It.

And plan it. And make the most of it for some of this country's largest advertisers.

Leo Burnett U.S.A., the world's second largest advertising agency, is looking for entry-level recruits for their Media Department. You have the option of planning and buying advertising time and space. This presentation is open to graduate and undergraduate students of every major. You will learn about planning and buying advertising time and space. This presentation is open to graduate and undergraduate students of every major.

A Career In Media - Tuesday, November 1, 8:00pm - University Club

Leo Burnett Company, Inc.
The Quest for the Crown
Monday, October 31 - Friday, November 4

The week-long adventure to capture the glory for your dorm

Monday
4:00 - 4:30 Win, Lose, or Draw Tournament
first rounds in the three-day tournament,
to be held in various dorm lounges

9:00 - 12:00 Halloween Masquerade Party at Theodore's
There will be dancing, refreshments, games, the dorm pumpkin carving competition, and a costume contest (with prizes!!)

Tuesday
4:00 - 5:30 Win, Lose, or Draw Tournament
second and third rounds, to be held in various dorm lounges

4:00 - 5:00 Scavenger Hunt at Fieldhouse Mall
The team to complete the set number of clues first and return to the start is the winner.

8:00, 10:15 Movie: The Princess Bride
at Cushing Auditorium: admission is $1

Wednesday
4:00 - 5:00 Medieval Obstacle Course on South Quad
5:15 - 6:30 Win, Lose, or Draw the final rounds of the three-day tournament,
to be held in various dorm lounges

7:00 - 9:00 Variety Show at Theodore's
Dorm teams will present a creative skit as they continue their Quest for the Crown.

8:00, 10:15 Movie: Sleeping Beauty
at Cushing Auditorium: admission is $1

Thursday
4:00 - 5:30 The Heraldry Tournament on North Quad
a medieval tournament consisting of six separate events:
the Egg Toss, Pie in the Sky, Crazy Dice, Super Skiing,
the Shaving Spoon, and Tricycle Jousting

8:00 - 10:00 Merlin Visits Notre Dame magician Bob Garner will perform at Theodore's

8:00, 10:15 Movie: Holy Grail
at Cushing Auditorium: admission is $1

Friday
5:00 Banner Competition
Banners which fire up the crowd for a victory over Rice should be displayed on residence halls: winning dorm teams will be determined by both quality and quantity.

7:00 - 7:30 Pep Rally at Stephon Center
7:30 - 8:00 Tug-of-War at Stephon Center
The two teams with the highest point totals will compete to determine the winning dorm.

8:30 - 12:00 J.P. and the Cats host a Medieval Ball at Stephon Center: admission is $1
Nagrida will serve periodically for a tour around campus.
Ghosts roaming Cline Ave. in Ind.

Associated Press

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. - Years ago a woman's two children drowned along the banks of the Calumet River. Now her spirit returns each Halloween to search, but she never seems to find them.

So goes one version of the story of the Cline Avenue Ghost, who, along with a different apparition known as the Cudahy Ghost, roams a popular haunting strip along Cline Avenue.

Charlie Tinkham, a 58-year-old Hammond resident and professor at Purdue University-Calumet, said there are several versions of why these ghouls continue to stalk Indiana's most dangerous highways.

Another version portrays the ghost as a broken-hearted soul who supposedly went to the Calumet River to kill herself.

Yet another adaptation has this story always claim it's one of Indiana's most dangerous highways.

And then there's the other spirit that haunts Cline Avenue.

Every year a crowd ranging from dozens to hundreds gathers near the Calumet River west of Cline Avenue to spot the Cudahy Ghost, Tinkham said.

This spirit, also a woman, was supposed to have taken a taxi ride to a Mexican neighborhood in East Chicago some time around Halloween of 1966. The cabdriver took her to the address and, after dropping her off, realized she hadn't paid her fare.

He returned to where he'd left her. But the matronly lady answering the door denied seeing his passenger. She later brought out a photo of her daughter, which the cabby recognized as his passenger.

"She's been dead for years," said the woman.

Tinkham said the tellers of this story always claim it's true.

"The truth is that there are stories like this in every major American city," he said. "It's a very popular urban legend."

NOTRE DAME STUDENTS & STAFF
DO YOU NEED A GOOD SHOT IN THE ARM?
GET YOUR FREE FLU SHOTS
MONDAY, OCTOBER 31
LIBRARY CONCOURSE 9:00am--
9:00pm
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1
LAFORETUNE (RM. 108) 9:00am--
9:00pm
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2
LIBRARY CONCOURSE 9:00am--
9:00pm
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3
LAFORETUNE (RM. 108) 9:00am--
9:00pm

HAPPY BELATED BIRTHDAY TO ONE OF N.D.'S FINEST
GENE PILAWSKI
CLASS OF '44

CHIMES LITERARY MAGAZINE
NOW ACCEPTING PLAYS POEMS SHORT STORIES
SUBMIT TO 303 MADELEVA
BY TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22
FOR FALL CONSIDERATION

CAMPAIGN '88: THE REAL ISSUES
Notre Dame Student Government
PRESENTS A DEBATE BETWEEN

LIBERAL VIEWS
John Gilligan - Professor & Director of Institute for International Peace Studies
Joseph Bauer - Law Professor, University of Notre Dame

AND

CONSERVATIVE VIEWS
Charles Rice - Law Professor, University of Notre Dame
James Carberry - Professor Chemical Engineering, University of Notre Dame

On November 1st at 7:30 p.m. in the Norman Barry Courtroom of the Notre Dame Law School.

Correction
Two members of the ward/Hiller debate panel were identified incorrectly in Friday's article. The members were Bob Hawkins, SUR's ideas and issues commissioner, and Ed Yevoli of WYFI Radio. The Observer regrets this error.
Editor's Note: Students interested in taking Theology and Community Service should go to the Center for Social Concerns to pick up a learning agreement form before Nov. 7. There will be a meeting for all interested students on Monday, Nov. 7 at 4:15 p.m. at the CSC.

It is special when a student has a chance to take a class that offers a new way of thinking about the world and the people in it. Even more rare is the opportunity to participate in a class which stimulates change in the way a student reacts to his or her environment. As difficult as these classes are to find, Notre Dame offers one in particular that has given its students the chance to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler
guest column

Hearing the name, Theology and Community Service, one is hard pressed to find a relationship that has given its students the chance to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivate more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.

Laura Sheffler

to develop and cultivating more than book learning. This class enables a student to experience the chapters of text and incorporate the ideas into weekly tests of values, faith, and incorporate love. The class to which I am referring is Theology and Community Service, and the type of knowledge the student leaves the class with is invaluable.
Halloween festivities got started a wee bit early as this summer's Monsters of Rock headliners took the stage last night at the Joyce ACC. In the spirit of the holiday, Van Halen brought Notre Dame a monster of its own in the form of a ferocious two-hour rock 'n' roll show. Though the band had been playing to crowds of more than 30,000 over the summer months, they looked right at home in the small basketball arena. Lead vocalist Sammy Hagar sang, shouted, and sometimes screamed out the lyrics to tunes from Van Halen's latest albums, 5150 and OU812, as well as a few songs that remain in the live set, like the David Lee Roth era, like "Panama" and " Ain't Talkin' 'Bout Love". Hagar also performed an acoustic version of his song, "Eagles Fly," which fit surprisingly well into Van Halen's riveting, 90-minute show. And, late in the show, Hagar admitted once again, "I Can't Drive 55." Drummer Alex Van Halen has a speech impediment problem as well. Throughout the evening, he displayed what might be the quickest and surest double-bass footwork in the realm of rock drumming. Certainly, OU812 included some of Alex Van Halen's hottest drum licks (or "licks") yet recorded, and last night his solo, during which his entire set was elevated above the stage, highlighted his superior playing. As for the other half of the rhythm section, bassist Michael Anthony held down the heavy back beat while supplying high, backing vocals. For the encore which included, "You Really Got Me," "Girl Gone Bad," and "Rock 'n' Roll", Anthony brought out his bass guitar shaped like a Jack Daniels bottle, which gave the crowd something else to cheer about.

For anyone wondering if Eddie Van Halen's visit to the Betty Ford Clinic earlier this year has effected his playing, it hasn't. He gave a typically 'Eddie' performance, leaping into the air for scissor kicks and splits, and soloing with absolute precision as a cigarette burned at the end of his trademark red and white Kramer guitar--the usual legendarily hero stuff. Overall, the material from the OU812 album had more drive and raw energy than the selections from 5150. But, Van Halen proved that, in a live setting, they are still the world's greatest hard rock band.

Washington Hall haunted by mystery ghost

Paul Pilger

Halloween festivities got started a wee bit early as this summer's Monsters of Rock headliners took the stage last night at the Joyce ACC. In the spirit of the holiday, Van Halen brought Notre Dame a monster of its own in the form of a ferocious two-hour rock 'n' roll show. Though the band had been playing to crowds of more than 30,000 over the summer months, they looked right at home in the small basketball arena. Lead vocalist Sammy Hagar sang, shouted, and sometimes screamed out the lyrics to tunes from Van Halen's latest albums, 5150 and OU812, as well as a few songs that remain in the live set, like the David Lee Roth era, like "Panama" and "Ain't Talkin' 'Bout Love". Hagar also performed an acoustic version of his song, "Eagles Fly," which fit surprisingly well into Van Halen's riveting, 90-minute show. And, late in the show, Hagar admitted once again, "I Can't Drive 55." Drummer Alex Van Halen has a speech impediment problem as well. Throughout the evening, he displayed what might be the quickest and surest double-bass footwork in the realm of rock drumming. Certainly, OU812 included some of Alex Van Halen's hottest drum licks (or "licks") yet recorded, and last night his solo, during which his entire set was elevated above the stage, highlighted his superior playing. As for the other half of the rhythm section, bassist Michael Anthony held down the heavy back beat while supplying high, backing vocals. For the encore which included, "You Really Got Me," "Girl Gone Bad," and "Rock 'n' Roll", Anthony brought out his bass guitar shaped like a Jack Daniels bottle, which gave the crowd something else to cheer about.

For anyone wondering if Eddie Van Halen's visit to the Betty Ford Clinic earlier this year has effected his playing, it hasn't. He gave a typically 'Eddie' performance, leaping into the air for scissor kicks and splits, and soloing with absolute precision as a cigarette burned at the end of his trademark red and white Kramer guitar--the usual legendarily hero stuff. Overall, the material from the OU812 album had more drive and raw energy than the selections from 5150. But, Van Halen proved that, in a live setting, they are still the world's greatest hard rock band.

Washington Hall haunted by mystery ghost

Paul Pilger

Halloween festivities got started a wee bit early as this summer's Monsters of Rock headliners took the stage last night at the Joyce ACC. In the spirit of the holiday, Van Halen brought Notre Dame a monster of its own in the form of a ferocious two-hour rock 'n' roll show. Though the band had been playing to crowds of more than 30,000 over the summer months, they looked right at home in the small basketball arena. Lead vocalist Sammy Hagar sang, shouted, and sometimes screamed out the lyrics to tunes from Van Halen's latest albums, 5150 and OU812, as well as a few songs that remain in the live set, like the David Lee Roth era, like "Panama" and "Ain't Talkin' 'Bout Love". Hagar also performed an acoustic version of his song, "Eagles Fly," which fit surprisingly well into Van Halen's riveting, 90-minute show. And, late in the show, Hagar admitted once again, "I Can't Drive 55." Drummer Alex Van Halen has a speech impediment problem as well. Throughout the evening, he displayed what might be the quickest and surest double-bass footwork in the realm of rock drumming. Certainly, OU812 included some of Alex Van Halen's hottest drum licks (or "licks") yet recorded, and last night his solo, during which his entire set was elevated above the stage, highlighted his superior playing. As for the other half of the rhythm section, bassist Michael Anthony held down the heavy back beat while supplying high, backing vocals. For the encore which included, "You Really Got Me," "Girl Gone Bad," and "Rock 'n' Roll", Anthony brought out his bass guitar shaped like a Jack Daniels bottle, which gave the crowd something else to cheer about.

For anyone wondering if Eddie Van Halen's visit to the Betty Ford Clinic earlier this year has effected his playing, it hasn't. He gave a typically 'Eddie' performance, leaping into the air for scissor kicks and splits, and soloing with absolute precision as a cigarette burned at the end of his trademark red and white Kramer guitar--the usual legendarily hero stuff. Overall, the material from the OU812 album had more drive and raw energy than the selections from 5150. But, Van Halen proved that, in a live setting, they are still the world's greatest hard rock band.

Washington Hall haunted by mystery ghost

Paul Pilger

Halloween festivities got started a wee bit early as this summer's Monsters of Rock headliners took the stage last night at the Joyce ACC. In the spirit of the holiday, Van Halen brought Notre Dame a monster of its own in the form of a ferocious two-hour rock 'n' roll show. Though the band had been playing to crowds of more than 30,000 over the summer months, they looked right at home in the small basketball arena. Lead vocalist Sammy Hagar sang, shouted, and sometimes screamed out the lyrics to tunes from Van Halen's latest albums, 5150 and OU812, as well as a few songs that remain in the live set, like the David Lee Roth era, like "Panama" and "Ain't Talkin' 'Bout Love". Hagar also performed an acoustic version of his song, "Eagles Fly," which fit surprisingly well into Van Halen's riveting, 90-minute show. And, late in the show, Hagar admitted once again, "I Can't Drive 55." Drummer Alex Van Halen has a speech impediment problem as well. Throughout the evening, he displayed what might be the quickest and surest double-bass footwork in the realm of rock drumming. Certainly, OU812 included some of Alex Van Halen's hottest drum licks (or "licks") yet recorded, and last night his solo, during which his entire set was elevated above the stage, highlighted his superior playing. As for the other half of the rhythm section, bassist Michael Anthony held down the heavy back beat while supplying high, backing vocals. For the encore which included, "You Really Got Me," "Girl Gone Bad," and "Rock 'n' Roll", Anthony brought out his bass guitar shaped like a Jack Daniels bottle, which gave the crowd something else to cheer about.

For anyone wondering if Eddie Van Halen's visit to the Betty Ford Clinic earlier this year has effected his playing, it hasn't. He gave a typically 'Eddie' performance, leaping into the air for scissor kicks and splits, and soloing with absolute precision as a cigarette burned at the end of his trademark red and white Kramer guitar--the usual legendarily hero stuff. Overall, the material from the OU812 album had more drive and raw energy than the selections from 5150. But, Van Halen proved that, in a live setting, they are still the world's greatest hard rock band.
Sports Briefs

A swimmers meeting will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. in the office of The Observer in the third floor of LaFortune. Any questions should be directed to Marty Strasen at 283-1471 or 332-5303.

The ND men’s soccer team defeated Penn State 1-0 and Boston University 5-1 over the weekend. Tomorrow’s issue of The Observer will detail the two matches.

The Irish women’s cross country team placed first in the Cross Country Invitational. Details will appear in tomorrow’s Observer.

The ND women’s soccer team lost 6-0 to Dayton and fell 2-1 to Xavier over the weekend. Tomorrow’s issue of The Observer will feature those two matches.

The ND lacrosse team lost 22-3 to Johns Hopkins on Friday. Tomorrow’s issue of The Observer will have a story on that match.

Basketball Season Tickets are accepted in writing Sunday through Friday in the office of The Observer on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center before 3 p.m. on the day prior to publication. The Observer to Erik Affhelter as third- ranked Southern California took sole possession of first place in the Pacific 10 Conference football race with a 41-3 victory over Oregon State on Saturday.

UCLA continued from page 12

Peete connected with his fa­vorite receiver on touchdown plays of 21, 11 and 55 yards as the Trojans improved to 5-0 in the Pac-10 and 7-0 overall, their best start since 1975.

Irish Outdoors is holding an organizational meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Notre Dame office on the second floor of LaFortune. Plans for the spring semester will be discussed. Questions should be directed to Shawn Foley at 271-0782.

The Observer

The ND-SMC Ski Team will hold a meeting at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday in room 127 of Newell Science Hall. All skiers planning to go or planning to go to Steamboat must attend. Bring any information you have or ask for Steamboat money ($240). Those who can not make it to the meeting should call Woody at 288-5423.

The Off-Campus hockey team is holding signups for anyone wanting to play hockey this year. Those interested must sign up on the roster and show proof of insurance at the NVA office by Wed­nesday. A team meeting will be held shortly after the roster deadline. Any questions should be di­rected to John Kirk at 289-1124.

The Observer

Note Dame office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center, will open Tuesday at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Observer Saint Mary’s office, located on the third floor of Haggerty Center, will open Tuesday at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Deadline for next-day-classified is 6 p.m. at classifieds@nd.com or person by mail. The charge is 10 cents per five characters per day.

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer
Dilucia wins singles title at Fallon Invitational

By BOB MITCHELL
Sports Writer

This weekend at Notre Dame's Eck Tennis Pavilion, members of the Irish men's tennis team pooled their talent to defeat Rochester in the fall season, lost to Scott Hulse in the B draw, 6-7,(2-7), 7-6(7-5), 6-4. Dilucia lost in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2 to Wisconsin's No.2 team of Nelson-Schwartz. Number-one duo of Dave DiLucia-Walter Dolhare advanced to the finals. Yet, they lost in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2 to Wisconsin's No.2 team of Nelson-Schwartz.

The Irish continued from page 12

RIT continued form page 12 on Wednesday.

Notre Dame extended its lead to 2-0 with a power play goal four minutes later. Matt Hannel received a pass from Tim Kuehl on the right circle and beat RIT goalie Fred Abraham for the second score. But RIT came back to tie the game in the first six minutes of the third period against goals by Todd Person and Jim Regan. The game stayed that way until a short and frantic overtime. Each team had opportunities to score in the first minute of the 10-minute sudden death overtime period, but only the Irish took advantage. RIT had three men in front of Notre Dame goalie Lance Madson in the third period. Notre Dame's Bob Herber was flying down the right side with the puck. He passed left to Bruce Guay, who shot past Abraham just 42 seconds into overtime. Madson recorded 32 saves for Notre Dame, while RIT's Abraham turned back 24 Irish shots.

"There was much less room to roam on the ice," RIT first-year coach Buddy Powers said. "Our guys were consistently picked up and covered. Last night, we got a lot of second chances at goals, but tonight they did a better job of clearing out." Nonesided, the Irish accumulated a 5-3 record.

Irish continued from page 12

of the three Notre Dame touchdowns. "When you don't relax, you start thinking about things a little bit more than you normally do."
The Irish defense must only two lengthy touch-down drives, of 84 and 67 yards, after capitalizing on an early fumble by Tony Brooks in the second quarter. Otherwise, the offense was relatively unproductive. The Irish lost two fumbles, one by Tony Brooks in the second quarter that made Holtz lerey of calling the pitch the remainder of the game and another by Green in the fourth. Three times the Irish ran only two plays and punted.

The Navy defensive line consistently penetrated into the Irish backfield, beating the Irish off the line of scrimmage. The offensive line, a question mark at the beginning of the season, has been hurting lately because of injuries. "I think we lost a unity factor today," said guard Tim Grunhard, who did not play Saturday. "There's been a shuffling going around on the offensive line on consistency and streaks and we didn't get ourselves on a consistent streak today."

RIT certainly did have plenty of chances to score in Friday's game, which opened the Tigers' season. RIT was particularly adept at cashing in on those opportunities in the second period, when the Tigers scored six times to break open a game Notre Dame had led. Notre Dame's Bob Hilton scored the only goal of the first period, on assists by Kevin Patrick and Guay. RIT's Regan scored in the first minute of the second period, but Notre Dame regained the lead when Kuehl scored at 8:00 of the period.

The Tigers scored three times in a span of three minutes during the middle of the period, then scored twice more to take a 6-2 lead into the third period. "We had far too many miscues and far too many giveaways, but I think this underlines that we are not a highly skilled team," Schafer said after Friday's game.

Heading into this season, Holtz expressed concern about the depth and experience of the Irish offensive line. The line answered the question marks in opening season wins over Michigan and Michigan State. Grunhard says the offensive line won't be forced into answering the same question again.

"I think it's going to be easy to get up (against Rice)," he said. "We have to play our football to beat them. We're not just going to lay our helmet on the field and beat them."
Irish volleyball wins international battle with LSU

By MOLLY MAHONEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's volleyball team won more than the Louisiana State Tigers last Saturday night. The Fighting Irish faced an international contingent of players from Brazil, Turkey, Sweden and Canada—all trying to prove they could put up a fight against the Irish.

Notre Dame, now 12-9, won a hard-fought four-game match 14-16, 15-13, 15-5 and 15-10, but not before the Tigers and Brazilian Monica Freitas made the Irish work for every point. In the first game, Notre Dame and LSU exchanged points and side outs until the Irish used their depth and grabbed their largest lead of the game at 10-6. Seniors Mandy Kay Waller and Zanette Bennett and sophomore Tracey Shelton all bailed the Tigers with a series of kills and service aces. But the Irish could not maintain their momentum, as the Tigers turned the four-point deficit into a three-point lead at 14-11 and then survived 14 sideouts to claim the victory at 16-14.

The second game was played at much the same tempo, as neither team could maintain a clear advantage for more than three points.

The twin towers, Waller and fellow senior Maureen Shea took charge throughout, as Shea led the offense with five kills and Waller controlled the net for the defense, contributing three-assisted blocks on the last three Irish points of the game. The Irish hit the ground running in the third game after evening the score with the Tigers and winning 15-5 on a slew of kills from the trio of Waller, Shea and Bennett.

Game four saw the return of the Irish to their best form as they characterized the first two games, but Notre Dame grabbed the lead early and never relinquished it. A balanced offensive attack and the continued strong play of Shelton and senior Whitney Shewman defensively knocked the Tigers down and kept them down to help the Irish take the match.

Even the brilliant play of LSU's Monica Freitas, who tallied 16 kills and 10 digs for the match, could not prevent freshman setter Julie Brenner from orchestrating a number of brilliant performances from her hitters. Brenner did it all for the Irish, as she contributed 61 assists for an impressive .302 setting percentage and added 11 digs, four kills and four total blocks to the Irish cause.

Brenner's efforts helped guide Waller and teammate Bindu Shukla to a team-high 21 kills and eight total blocks. Bennett and Shea followed close behind Waller, adding 19 and 16 kills, respectively. Shea also finished with a team-high .600 hitting percentage for the match.

Shelton stepped into the lineup once again to provide another fine performance, as she tallied 13 kills and a team-high 15 digs.

"I'm really, really pleased," said Irish head coach Art Lambert. "This is the best we've played all year. We came back after the first game and just said 'We're not going to lose this thing.'"

"Every win helps you down the road and as the team gets more and more consistent in its play, I think we'll do really well." Saturday night's optimism was a far cry from Friday night's disappointment after the Irish fell to 6th-ranked Nebraska in three games, 15-12, 15-7 and 15-13.

The Irish kept the first game close, but the Tigers took the early lead and the Irish could never mount a comeback strong enough to take it away from them.

A number of service errors and a lack of communication prevented the Irish from maintaining a consistent attack. Notre Dame's offense disintegrated in the second game, as the Irish hitters could only manage nine kills for the game. The Irish would fight back only to see the Cornhuskers jump ahead again.

The Irish, led by Waller's net play, broke out of their two-game trance to gain some momentum in game three, but the jump-serves of Nebraska's Becki Bolli broke the Irish and put the Cornhuskers in charge for good.

"It was a good night for us," said Lambert. "Nebraska's got a great team and plays great defenses. We played well in spurts and then let them turn it around on us."

Nebraska's head coach Pettit, who coached Waller on the Olympic B-team last summer, praised the Irish effort.

"I'm impressed with what Art (Lambert) has done at Notre Dame. They're a whole level above what they were last year. Notre Dame has a fine team."
Monday, October 31, 1988

CAMPUS

11:30 a.m. Dept. of Economics Workshop "China's Economic Development Strategies for the Coastal Areas," by Prof. Gao Xin, Kellogg Institute, Room 131 Decio Faculty Hall.

4 p.m. Philosophy Colloquium, "The Relation of Philosophy and Theology," by Father O'Meara, and Prof. Freddoso, Library Lounge.

4 p.m. Kellogg Institute and Dept. of Sociology Lecture "Base Ecclesial Communities in the Latin American Church," by Pedro Ribiero de Oliveira, Room 110 Law School.

4:15 p.m. Philosophy Dept. Lecture "Causal Decision Theory and Game Theory," by Prof. William Harper, University of Western Ontario, Room 131 Decio Faculty Hall.

7 p.m. ND Communication and Theatre Film "Psycho," directed by Alfred Hitchcock, Annenberg Auditorium.

DINNER MENUS

Notre Dame
Spediano Romano
Baked Sole
Baked Ziti
Top Round of Beef
Almond Chicken

Saint Mary's
Halloween Buffet
Roast Beef
Seafood Newburgh
Almond Chicken

NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Like the American eagle 12 Waiter's friendly
2 Athirst 13 Frenzied
5 Athirst 14 "I cannot tell"
10 Eastern church title 15 Turned rigid with fear
14 "I Cannot tell" 16 Topsoil
17 Preparad beginning 17 Preparad reading
19-Domini 18 Declaim
20 Raiment 20 Raiment
21 Larch 21 Larch
23 Entry 23 Entry
25 Close a deal 25 Close a deal
26 Smokers' gadgets 26 Smokers' gadgets
28 Long-limbed 28 Long-limbed
30 Acted violently 30 Acted violently
37 Londoner's tax 37 Londoner's tax
38 Kind of knife 38 Kind of knife
39 Street sign 39 Street sign
40 Part of I.L.O. 40 Part of I.L.O.
41 A suburb of Boston 41 A suburb of Boston
43 More pity 43 More pity
45 Intervals of rest 45 Intervals of rest
47 Sharif and 47 Sharif and
53 Clergyman or college bigwig 53 Clergyman or college bigwig
57 Organic compound 57 Organic compound
58 Not a la carte 58 Not a la carte
59 Contrite 59 Contrite
60 Composer 60 Composer
61 Give instruction 61 Give instruction
62 Nobelist Weesel 62 Nobelist Weesel
63 Secondhand 63 Secondhand
64 Hair-raising 64 Hair-raising
65 Shop, for one 65 Shop, for one

DOWN
1 All chaser 1 Nothing
2 Touched down 2 Nothing
3 Spirited song 3 Spirited song
4 Joys 4 Joys
5 Worn-out 5 Worn-out
6 Sandy's comment 6 Sandy's comment
7 Nanny 7 Nanny
8 Pound and Stone 8 Pound and Stone
9 Crop up again 9 Crop up again
10 Call to arms, to 10 Call to arms, to 11 Waiter's friendly 11 Waiter's friendly
12 Judge's bench times 12 Judge's bench times
13 Franzied 13 Franzied
14 Declaim 14 Declaim
15 Out of town 15 Out of town
16 Cell to arms, to 16 Cell to arms, to
17 A Forsyte.. 17 A Forsyte..
18 Declaim 18 Declaim
19 Southern French city 19 Southern French city
20 Flynn of flics 20 Flynn of flics
21 Timid 21 Timid
22 Permissible 22 Permissible
23 A Forsyte 23 A Forsyte
24 Carnivorous 24 Carnivorous
25 Carpenter, at 25 Carpenter, at
26 Gourmet words 26 Gourmet words
27 A Forsyte 27 A Forsyte
28 Gourmet words 28 Gourmet words
29 Carpentry, at 29 Carpentry, at
30 Crop up again 30 Crop up again
31 Mug 31 Mug
32 Hoodwinks 32 Hoodwinks
33 Southern French city 33 Southern French city
34 Hair clasp 34 Hair clasp
35 Tarnished 35 Tarnished
36 Kind of belt 36 Kind of belt
37 Londoner's tax 37 Londoner's tax
38 Hair clasp 38 Hair clasp
39 Tarnished 39 Tarnished
40 Part of I.L.O. 40 Part of I.L.O.
41 A suburb of Boston 41 A suburb of Boston
42 Career 42 Career
43 More pity 43 More pity
44 Hair clasp 44 Hair clasp
45 Intervals of rest 45 Intervals of rest
46 Tranquil 46 Tranquil
47 Sharif and 47 Sharif and
50 Contrite 50 Contrite
51 A son of Seth 51 A son of Seth
52 Skier's transport 52 Skier's transport
53 Lacquered metalware 53 Lacquered metalware
54 Southern French city 54 Southern French city
55 Auricular 55 Auricular
56 Portable 56 Portable
57 Organic compound 57 Organic compound
58 Not a la carte 58 Not a la carte
59 Contrite 59 Contrite
60 Composer 60 Composer
61 Give instruction 61 Give instruction
62 Nobelist Weesel 62 Nobelist Weesel
63 Secondhand 63 Secondhand
64 Hair-raising 64 Hair-raising
65 Shop, for one 65 Shop, for one

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

1 Ali chaser
2 Touched down
3 Spirited song
4 Joys
5 Worn-out
6 Sandy's comment
7 Nanny
8 Pound and Stone
9 Crop up again
10 Call to arms, to
11 Waiter's friendly
12 Judge's bench times
13 Franzied
14 Declaim
15 Out of town
16 Cell to arms, to
17 A Forsyte
18 Declaim
19 Southern French city
20 Flynn of flics
21 Timid
22 Permissible
23 A Forsyte
24 Carnivorous
25 Carpenter, at
26 Gourmet words
27 A Forsyte
28 Gourmet words
29 Carpentry, at
30 Crop up again
31 Mug
32 Hoodwinks
33 Southern French city
34 Hair clasp
35 Tarnished
36 Kind of belt
37 Londoner's tax
38 Hair clasp
39 Tarnished
40 Part of I.L.O.
41 A suburb of Boston
42 Career
43 More pity
44 Hair clasp
45 Intervals of rest
46 Tranquil
47 Sharif and
50 Contrite
51 A son of Seth
52 Skier's transport
53 Lacquered metalware
54 Southern French city
55 Auricular
56 Portable
57 Organic compound
58 Not a la carte
59 Contrite
60 Composer
61 Give instruction
62 Nobelist Weesel
63 Secondhand
64 Hair-raising
65 Shop, for one

COMICS

Bloom County

Berke Breathed

The Far Side

Gary Larson

"So! ... you STILL won't talk, eh?"
Irish struggle to beat Navy, make claim on No. 1

By PETE SKIKO
Assistant Sports Editor

Notre Dame defeated Navy 22-7 in Baltimore on Saturday, probably controlling college football's number one ranking this week after UCLA's loss to Washington State. But what was reason for celebration in most Irish camps was reason for consternation on the face of Head Coach Lou Holtz after the game.

"The first thing I want to do is to compliment the Navy," Holtz said. "I think they played above their ability and they really took it to us. At the same time, I am very disappointed with the way we played, especially on offense."

"Offensively, we just got whipped. The offensive line was simply controlled by Navy's defensive line. That forced us to gamble, and we made some mistakes with the ball game we gave away. We just weren't sharp on offense today at all." Holtz was not just trying to fire his team up to play hard for the remainder of the season. The Irish truly could not put the clearly inferior team to play hard for the remainder of the season.

Irish senior Ron Markezich won the meet in 10 yards (30).

Holtz puts heat on offensive line

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Writer

BALTIMORE—Moments after a lackluster 22-7 Irish victory over an inspired Navy squad, the reporters covering Notre Dame huddled around a television set in the interview room, watching the Maryland-North Carolina game on a local television station.

As Irish coach Lou Holtz entered the room, someone suggested turning the game off in order for Holtz to give the interview. But after driving 33 minutes into Navy territory on the next series, Tony Brooks fumbled, and Navy recovered.

"It's more or less a rhythm," Holtz said. "I think things on offense happen in a rhythmic pattern. Things were disrupted today."

The offense appeared lethargic at times, never obtaining the unity it exhibited in the opening seven games. Receivers dropped passes with running room ahead, backs lost key fumbles and linemen missed important blocks.

By no means was it a typical offensive performance from the team that could soon be No. 1 in the country.

Notre Dame gained 267 yards on the ground and 129 from five or more passes. Rod Crowell ran 26 times, 57 yards. Navy fumbled a total of 14 first-quarter yards.)

"It was a disappointing because of the standard and level we have," Holtz said. "The thing that concerns me is that we didn't portray our expectations on offense."

"Our offense today at a better level," Holtz said. "The area that felt the brunt of Holtz's criticism was the offense, particularly the inability of the offensive line to control the line of scrimmage."

Irish team effort takes MCC title

By SCOTT BRUTOCAO
Sports Writer

With its back against the wall, the Notre Dame men's cross-country team turned in a revised performance for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Championships held on Saturday in Chicago.

With the District IV meet just around the corner, the Irish needed to bounce back from disappointing performances in the previous meet.

And bounce back they did, in the form of running as a team. The team was the second running in the top ten places, all of them running the 8000-meter course in under 30:00.

"This was the most aggressive we have for the team as a whole," said Irish head coach Joe Plane. "The guys ran like they wanted to win." In a field of eight teams and 78 runners, Irish senior Jon Markenich won the meet in 24:01. Senior captain Dan Garret finished third in 25:51. Jim Westphal from Loyola (Ill.) finished second in 24:14. Loyola, despite hosting the meet and being designated as "the team to beat" by Notre Dame head coach Joe Plane, was unable to upset the Irish and finish second.

The secret to the Irish's success was a strong overall team effort. The third, fourth and fifth runners all ran well, which solidified the Irish overall performance.

Junior Tom O'Rourke, senior Rick Mulvey, and sophomore Ryan Cahill finished fifth, ninth, and tenth in the meet, respectively, which put the Irish in command at the finish line.

"It's wonderful that Ron won the meet," said Plane, "but the team couldn't have won without the great performances from O'Rourke, Mulvey and Cahill."

"This was the best Mulvey looked all year," said Plane. "He couldn't have come up with a better race at a better time. The same goes for Cahill. "Their runs are going to serve as a confidence booster for the district meet coming up in two weeks," continued Plane. "None of their performances came as a surprise; we've just been waiting for them to come around." The meet also showed that the Irish can run better.

None of the runners have reached their potential, and they hope this potential will be realized at the District IV meet being held on November 12.

The District IV meet, which will be attended by such powers as Wisconsin, Michigan, Michigan State, and Central Michigan, will qualify four teams to the NCAA Championship.

see NAVY, page 10

Defence dominates as ND escapes 22-7

By PETE SKIKO
Assistant Sports Editor

Notre Dame defeated Navy 22-7 in Baltimore on Saturday, probably controlling college football's number one ranking this week after UCLA's loss to Washington State. But what was reason for celebration in most Irish camps was reason for consternation on the face of Head Coach Lou Holtz after the game.

"The first thing I want to do is to compliment the Navy," Holtz said. "I think they played above their ability and they really took it to us. At the same time, I am very disappointed with the way we played, especially on defense."

"Offensively, we just got whipped. The offensive line was simply controlled by Navy's defensive line. That forced us to gamble, and we made some mistakes with the ball game we gave away. We just weren't sharp on offense today at all."

Holtz was not just trying to fire his team up to play hard for the remainder of the season. The Irish truly could not put the clearly inferior team to play hard for the remainder of the season.

Irish senior Ron Markezich won the meet in 10 yards (30).

Holtz puts heat on offensive line

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Writer

Holtz put the heat on his offensive line. "I think things on offense happen in a rhythmic pattern. Things were disrupted today.

The offense appeared lethargic at times, never obtaining the unity it exhibited in the opening seven games. Receivers dropped passes with running room ahead, backs lost key fumbles and linemen missed important blocks."

By no means was it a typical offensive performance from the team that could soon be No. 1 in the country.

Notre Dame gained 267 yards on the ground and 129 from five or more passes. Rod Crowell ran 26 times, 57 yards. Navy fumbled a total of 14 first-quarter yards.

"It was the running of Mulvey that particularly impressed me," Holtz said. "We're not a good football team right now."

"The area that felt the brunt of Holtz's criticism was the offense, particularly the inability of the offensive line to control the line of scrimmage."

Irish team effort takes MCC title

By SCOTT BRUTOCAO
Sports Writer

With its back against the wall, the Notre Dame men's cross-country team turned in a revised performance for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Championships held on Saturday in Chicago.

With the District IV meet just around the corner, the Irish needed to bounce back from disappointing performances in the previous meet.

And bounce back they did, in the form of running as a team. The team was the second running in the top ten places, all of them running the 8000-meter course in under 30:00.

"This was the most aggressive we have for the team as a whole," said Irish head coach Joe Plane. "The guys ran like they wanted to win." In a field of eight teams and 78 runners, Irish senior Jon Markenich won the meet in 24:01. Senior captain Dan Garret finished third in 25:51. Jim Westphal from Loyola (Ill.) finished second in 24:14. Loyola, despite hosting the meet and being designated as "the team to beat" by Notre Dame head coach Joe Plane, was unable to upset the Irish and finish second.

The secret to the Irish's success was a strong overall team effort. The third, fourth and fifth runners all ran well, which solidified the Irish overall performance.

Junior Tom O'Rourke, senior Rick Mulvey, and sophomore Ryan Cahill finished fifth, ninth, and tenth in the meet, respectively, which put the Irish in command at the finish line.

"It was wonderful that Ron won the meet," said Plane, "but the team couldn't have won without the great performances from O'Rourke, Mulvey and Cahill."

"This was the best Mulvey looked all year," said Plane. "He couldn't have come up with a better race at a better time. The same goes for Cahill. "Their runs are going to serve as a confidence booster for the district meet coming up in two weeks," continued Plane. "None of their performances came as a surprise; we've just been waiting for them to come around."

The meet also showed that the Irish can run better.

None of the runners have reached their potential, and they hope this potential will be realized at the District IV meet being held on November 12.

The District IV meet, which will be attended by such powers as Wisconsin, Michigan, Michigan State, and Central Michigan, will qualify four teams to the NCAA Championship.

see MCC, page 10