Bush to give own budget this year

Associated Press

WASHINGTON: President Bush is expected to submit detailed revisions to Ronald Reagan's budget next month, and suggested an early agreement.

The White House acknowledged that Bush had not kept his promise to spend his team of budget negotiators to Congress on the first day of his presidency. Likewise, it appeared unlikely Bush would follow through on his promise to personally lead the budget talks.

A amid a glow of bipartisan goodwill on the fourth day of his presidency, Bush met at the White House and Congress to produce an early agreement.

Bundy executed while demonstrators celebrate

Associated Press

STARKE, Fla.: Ted Bundy, a charming law school dropout who ended years of denials that he killed anyone, confessed to the gruesome slayings of 20 women in four states, was electrocuted Tuesday at 7:16 a.m.

Bundy, 38, was convicted for a crime committed almost 11 years ago. Three earlier execution dates were stymied by appeals.

The people of Florida today administered justice," Gov. Bill Clinton, who had counseled Bundy during a game of football at 7:06 a.m. when he was escorted into the death chamber. But he moved easily to the chair, nodding to his attorneys, James Coleman, and Gainesville minister Fred Lawrence, who had counseled him earlier.

"He was calm but visibly shaken," said state Rep. Charlie Mackey of Lake City, an official witness.

A doctor pronounced him dead at 7:16 a.m.

A group of 45 Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students rallied Monday before the Supreme Court in Washington, D.C. to protest the Jan. 22, 1973 ruling which legalized abortion. Almost 70,000 joined the annual March for Life rally.

Social concerns festival will be held at CSC

By JEFF SWANSON
News Staff

The Center for Social Concerns is holding a "CSC Festival" on Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. at the center.

There will be representatives from all 43 service action groups at the event, said Kathy Royer, coordinator of service and social action groups for the CSC. "People who want to get involved in volunteer work should come because they will be able to talk to any representative and will have the opportunity to sign up for a service group," she said. About three hundred people showed up for last year's CSC night, but Royer said she expects more people this year because of increased interest in volunteerism at Notre Dame. As evidence she cited the addition of thirteen new social action groups since last year.

Royer said that there is a real variety of options for people who want to join volunteer groups. Both student and community groups will be represented, including the Logan Center for the retarded, the Dismas House for former prisoners, and the Student Tutorial Education Program for South Bend school children. Many of the groups are active in aiding residents of South Bend, including the homeless and the elderly. Besides groups which are active locally, the CSC also has groups involved on the national and international level such as Amnesty International and the World Hunger Coalition.

Royer said that the setup of the festival will be similar to that of the Activities Night which was held at the beginning of this school year. According to Royer, people can get involved in most of the service groups at any time during the year, but the CSC Festival will be especially helpful for those interested in finding out what service groups are active at Notre Dame and what particular groups do.

Only one survives in Soviet town destroyed by earthquake

Associated Press

MOSCOW — Mountain villagers in "endless" funeral processions Tuesday buried their dead from the Tadzhikistan earthquake that killed up to 1,000, and rescuers slogged through muddy rubble in a desperate search for survivors. Rescuers reportedly found one survivor from the Tadzhikistan quake, although an official spokesman denied it.

New warnings were issued for more possible landslides caused by thawing snow in the Central Asian republic 1,800 miles south of Moscow that was hit by Monday's predawn earthquake. In northwestern Armenia, which was devastated by a Dec. 7 quake that killed 25,000 people, a powerful aftershock was reported Tuesday. An Armenian official said the population had been warned and no casualties were reported.

Rescuers reportedly found one survivor from the Tadzhikistan quake, although an official spokesman denied it.

A 40-second tremor, which U.S. seismologists registered as 5.4 on the Richter scale, hit before dawn Monday. It loosened layers of mud that cascaded onto mountain villages in a rural area about 20 miles southwest of the republic's capital of Dushanbe. Workers using shovels and bulldozers continued digging for survivors, the Soviet news agency Tass said, but a local official said the efforts might be in vain.

"There is little hope because of the flood of dirt and mud," Erkin Kasymov, a spokesman for the Foreign Ministry of Tadzhikistan, said by telephone.

Stock-trading scandal hits Japan; third cabinet member resigns

Associated Press

TOKYO-Japan's Economic Planning Agency chief resigned Tuesday, becoming the third Cabinet minister in less than two months to fall victim to a major stock-trading scandal.

Ken Harada stepped down after news reports said he had received regular political donations from Recruit Co., the company at the center of the scandal.

Harada's resignation was a serious blow to Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita, who reshelved his Cabinet on Dec. 27 with a pledge to restore public trust in political ethics. The Japan Socialist Party, the largest opposition group, quickly called for Takeshita's resignation. Opposition criticism of the administration also was expected to delay parliamentary debate in coming weeks over the fiscal 1989 budget.

Harada is the second member of the new Cabinet to resign because of links to the stock scandal. A member of the previous Cabinet, Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa, also stepped down in early December.

The nationally circulated newspaper Asahi Shimbun reported Tuesday that Harada, 69, had chaired a special parliamentary committee examining the stock-trading scandal until he was made the country's chief economic planner in the Cabinet reshuffle. Harada submitted his resignation shortly after the Cabinet met to approve the budget. Takeshita named Koichiro Aino, 60, a six-term member of parliament and former vice foreign minister, to succeed him.

Harada is the second member of the new Cabinet to resign because of links to the stock scandal. A member of the previous Cabinet, Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa, also stepped down in early December.

The nationally circulated newspaper Asahi Shimbun reported Tuesday that Harada had received about $80 a month from Recruit for 14 years.

Quayle will travel to Venezuela, El Salvador

Associated Press

WASHINGTON-Vice President Dan Quayle will be the first Bush administration representative to make an official foreign visit, going next week to Venezuela and El Salvador, the White House announced Tuesday.

The Feb. 13 trip was timed so that Quayle can attend the presidential inauguration of Venezuela's Carlos Andres Perez on Feb. 2.

Others scheduled to attend the inauguration are Cuban President Fidel Castro and Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega.

Quayle and his wife will stay two nights in Caracas, Venezuela, March 16-17, and then fly to San Salvador, El Salvador, March 19, to meet with other officials as appropriate.

Polls have said the ARENA candidate is leading. U.S. officials are concerned that an ARENA victory could further polarize the war-torn country and make it more difficult to get further aid to El Salvador through Congress. The Salvadoran elections are March 19. Duarte is constitutionally barred from seeking office again, but is backing fellow Christian Democrat Fidel Chavez Mena, a former foreign minister.

 Pep rally for football team discussed in HPC meeting

By MAURA KRAUSE
Staff Reporter

Hall Presidents Council held its first meeting of the new year Tuesday.
Tom Doyle, student body president, relayed plans for a pep rally for the football team to the Council. The team will be formally honored for the first time on Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. in the Joyce ACC. Speakers will be Coach Lou Holtz, Student Body President Tom Doyle and senior captains Mark Green, Andy Heck and Ned Bolcar. The Irish band and cheerleaders will be present and the movie, "They Wanted to Win" will be shown. The event is open to the public.

Sally Derengoski, representing the Late Night Olympics, described the Olympics' traditional grand prize system. This grand prize system is designed with each participating team contributing $100. Of the money collected, 30 percent is donated to Special Olympics and the remaining 70 percent goes to the winning team. If the winning team did not contribute to the grand prize fund the money goes to the next runner up. The winner of the Olympics receives a pizza party courtesy of the Alumni Association.

The late Night Olympics is taking place this weekend. The Olympics is still in need of volunteers to collect donations at the doors. A Charity Ball will be held on March 31 in South Dining Hall. The theme of the ball will be "We Are One World," as part of the Year of Cultural Diversity.

A brief Senate report covered the All Campus SYR on Feb. 24 and ND night at University Park Mall on Feb. 9. Eric Straub, from Irish Infinity, spoke to the council about plans to increase spirit at basketball games. The group will be selling t-shirts at the dining halls next week. The shirts are $6 and have "RUN N.D." printed on the front and "Battle for Seattle" on the back.

Keenan Hall President Joe Hippler asked for and received $1,000 from the Hall Presidents Council Fund. The money will be used for the Keenan Revue which is free to the public.

A mass will be held for Grace Hall resident Rick Macrina, who died over Christmas break. The mass will be held in Sacred Heart Church at 5 p.m. on Thursday.

Mine collapses in Peru; up to 200 workers trapped

Associated Press

LIMA, Peru — Rescuers saved three buried miners Tuesday and heard faint tapping inside a rundown gold mine where up to 200 men were trapped in a cave-in, officials said.

Energy Minister Jose Carrasco said saboteurs set a fire that ate through wooden supports and caused Monday’s collapse. But police Lt. Juan Robles in Nazca, the southern town near the Sol de Oro mine, said the mine’s operations were extremely disorganized, and he blamed the collapse on poor maintenance.

Carrasco said the tapping indicated that scores of miners might still be alive. He said the number of miners trapped in the mine was unknown but ranged from 15 to 200.

Robles said three bodies have been recovered so far. He estimated Tuesday that about 100 miners were trapped. Hours after the cave-in, Robles said 150 to 300 miners were trapped.

Carrasco met with civil defense officials Tuesday after reaching Nazca, 250 miles south of Lima. He told reporters on his return to Lima Tuesday evening that two of the rescued men were hospitalized and a third was only slightly injured. Officials said fallen earth, smoke and poison gas prevented rescuers from entering the mine until midday Tuesday, when special teams from state mines and the Lima fire department, supported by air force helicopters, reached the site.

W-2 Forms due by January 31

Special to The Observer

Wednesday, January 31, 1989

from 1988 a Form W-2, able to each of their employees will be asked to provide the employer's name, address and employer identification number, if known. Having the necessary information available on the first contact will expedite the process.

Employees who receive a W-2 from each employer for whom they worked in the year if only worked for a particular employer for part of the year. Employers should be aware that if they leave their employer, still do not have their W-2 by January 31, they should contact the IRS. When contacting the IRS, employers will be asked to provide a copy of the W-2 itself and be contacted by the IRS. When contacting the IRS, Management has the powerhouses as Harvard schools of Cornell and the graduate business schools at the University of Chicago, usually near the top of other conventional top-20 lists, which often comprise conventional top-20 lists. The Business Week said its annual poll of corporate recruiters was a survey that showed that among other surprises, 12th on the list.

The survey, which appears in the Nov. 26 issue of the news weekly, also said that among other surprises, the graduate business schools of Cornell and Dartmouth made its top five, while Stanford and the University of Chicago, usually near the top of other rankings, finished lower.

The survey's findings of greatest danger for a recession in 1989 that will make his job less secure, was the annual survey conducted by the National Association of Business Economists said a survey of 206 of its members found them pessimistic about growth prospects because of a belief that inflationary pressures will mean higher interest rates and thus lower consumer demand for cars, houses and other big-ticket items. An overwhelming majority of the economists, 88 percent, predicted that Bush would have to deal with a recession in his first two years in office; 40 percent forecast that the country would be in a downturn by this time next year.

The cost of group-term life insurance over $50,000. If a Form W-2 contains an error, the employer should notify the employer so that the employer can send a corrected Form W-2 to the employee, the IRS and the Social Security Administration.

Survey: Bush will face economic slowdown, must cut federal spending

The Reagan administration, using far more optimistic economic assumptions, is projecting a federal deficit of $135 billion in the fiscal year that begins next October. That means the administration will have to hew to a budget deficit in the cuts it sends to Congress on Jan. 9 to keep the federal budget deficit. Bush should make reducing the deficit his No. 1 priority.

A credible, multi-year deficit-reduction plan "would remove one major risk overhang the financial markets, threaten to send the dollar lower and interest rates far, far higher," Woodworth said at a briefing for reporters. Many of the economists surveyed were skeptical of Bush's "flexible freeze" to cut the deficit by simply holding overall spending and growth to the level of inflation. The overwhelming majority said a credible deficit-cutting package will have to include both spending cuts and revenue hikes, something Bush has vowed to avoid.

Woodworth said the last half of 1989 and the first six months of 1990 represented the period of greatest danger for a recession. The Business page will appear every Wednesday in The Observer.
Hoffman and Cruise at their best in ‘Rain Man’

ROBYN SIMMONS assistant accent editor

Who would have thought that Dustin Hoffman and Tom Cruise would appear in a movie together? And who would have thought that the result of such a pairing would turn out to be one of the best movies of the year?

At the beginning of the film, Charlie doesn’t even know he has an older brother. Charlie and his girlfriend Susanna (Valeria Golino) travel to Ohio upon hearing the news of his father’s death, where Charlie discovers his older brother Raymond, and also learns that Raymond inherited all of his father’s money.

Infuriated, Charlie literally kidnaps Raymond. Charlie feels that the money could be better used to save his own ailing business, and he decides to take Raymond back to California with him, and notifies Raymond’s doctors that he’ll return Raymond in exchange for his share of their father’s money.

What starts out as a kidnapping turns into a journey in which Charlie learns about himself and his past through his interaction with Raymond. Soon after they leave the institution with Raymond, Susanna becomes fed up with Charlie’s selfishness and goes back home on her own. Charlie makes plans to fly back to California with Raymond, but Raymond’s tremendous fear of flying prevents it, and the two of them end up driving across the country.

Their road trip together is where the real film begins. Autistic persons are very dependent upon routine, and any change in that routine can be very upsetting. The irreversibility of Raymond’s condition forces Charlie to adapt to the pattern of living his brother has developed. The performances in “Rain Man” are what really makes the movie work. Hoffman is outstanding in a very difficult role. Raymond is virtually unable to communicate emotionally or verbally, yet he has fantastic mathematical abilities and memory skills. One particular quirk of Raymond’s personality is his frequent recital of Abbott and Costello’s “Who’s on First?” routine whenever he gets distracted by his new surroundings. Raymond is a man living in a world of his own, and Hoffman’s portrayal reminds us that it will be the only world Raymond will ever know. The expressionless look on Hoff- man’s face says it all.

While Cruise doesn’t stand out as much as Hoffman, he does a surprisingly good job in his first (and hopefully not his last) “meaty” role. “Rain Man” is in a different league than Cruise’s previous vehicles such as “Top Gun” and “Cocktail” but, in the course of “Rain Man”, Cruise makes a believable transition from a self-serving jerk to a more sensitive, well rounded person.

Charlie and Raymond’s journey comprises most of the film and the excellent performances by both actors make this trip worthwhile. “Rain Man” will be a tough act to follow for both actors, because their work in this movie is probably their best to date.

Back in the Highlife

The letter told me I would “receive a good luck within four days. . . provided I send it back out.” Supposedly I would receive my luck in the mail just like Constantine Deus did when he won a two million dollar lottery. I decided I didn’t want to wait four days. I don’t believe in luck, however, I mliged that Andy Daddit did, my spouse (or latest scope) like Gene Welch did, or my like Dall Fairchild did.

I have received chain letters like this one before. About two years ago, as a matter of fact, I think I received this same one and decided to send it out to my friends just for fun. I was curious what their reactions would be, and if they would send it back out.

I have never seen so many irate and nervous people! I was having a party the week after everyone had received their letters. It was the hot topic of conversation to say the least. Everyone wanted to know if the other people had gotten one, and if anyone knew who had the gall to send them.

At the time, I kept my lips sealed because I couldn’t believe everyone was so mad, and I wanted to see if anyone could guess I was the culprit. Some people finally did guess, and everyone eventually lightened up; but for some unknown reason, nobody was laughing much.

If this letter were demanding that money be sent in order to avoid bad luck, then it just tries to scare me. However, it just tries to scare people into mailing off copies of the letter, in hopes that maybe they will meet with the same good fortune some people have supposedly encountered.

On second thought, maybe it’s not such a bad investment. I can make 20 copies for about $1.50, use 30 envelopes for about 35 cents, and mail them off for $5. For that initial investment of less than $7, I could win $50,000 like an air force officer did. That’s one million percent profit!

Let’s see. I received the letter either on Thursday or Friday of last week. That means five or six days have gone by.

Just let this serve as a warning to the rest of you if anything does happen. “This is no joke. . . Do not keep this letter. . . Please don’t ignore this. It works.” I guess I can’t go into that much to invest after all.

HOW TO USE THE SUNCHASE SPRING BREAK PRICING CHART:

The first number of the pair across the top of the chart indicates the number of persons in your spring break party. The second number indicates the maximum number of persons the hotel or condominium unit can accommodate. Several trips are most economical when a full party fills the unit. By choosing the highest number of persons you can accommodate, you will enjoy the lowest possible price paid per person.

REMEMBER

Each trip package participant is required to pay a $3.00 cancellation fee per person, with no refundable damage/security/missing items deposit. See Below:

1. You cancel:
   a. Prior to arrival date — all payments made will be refunded, less $3.00 per person cancellation fee. Cancellation is subject to a 30 day notice to the Collins, Colorado office no later than May 19, 1982.
   b. Within trip package dates — all payments made will be refunded, less $3.00 per person cancellation fee.

2. If you decide to cancel your trip package, regardless of reason, the following refundable damage/security/missing items deposit shall be refunded:
   a. In the event any cash advance is charged to you, if any, the refundable damage/security/missing items deposit (if any) shall be refunded. As a result of the $3.00 per person cancellation fee, you will receive a refund of $26.00 per person plus the refundable damage/security/missing items deposit
   b. Any advances made shall be refunded

GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ALL TRIP PACKAGES

1. CHANGES IN YOUR TRIP: If at any time during the trip package, your plans for travel change, you are responsible for any additional costs associated with your change. If there is a need to cancel any of the services originally booked by us, your original deposit will be refunded or applied toward any changes made.

2. CANCELLATION FEES: If you cancel your travel plans for any reason, regardless of your decision to cancel, you are responsible for all costs associated with your travel. Cancellation fee will be refunded if you cancel the trip package at least 30 days prior to the scheduled arrival date.

3. CANCELLATION POLICY: If at any time during the trip package, your plans for travel change, you are responsible for any additional costs associated with your change. If there is a need to cancel any of the services originally booked by us, your original deposit will be refunded or applied toward any changes made.

4. ADJUSTMENTS FOR COMPARATIVE PURPOSES: In order to provide you with the most accurate information, we have included costs associated with the trip package. All prices are subject to change without notice and in the event you are charged a different amount, you will be notified in advance of your trip. All charges are subject to change without notice due to unforeseen circumstances.

5. PRICING: Pricing includes all costs associated with the trip package and is subject to change without notice. All pricing is subject to change without notice due to unforeseen circumstances.

6. REIMBURSEMENTS: Our local representatives have been trained to provide you with the most accurate information. They are not employed by us, and the information they provide is not subject to change without notice.

7. DISCOUNTS: Discounts are subject to change without notice and in the event you are charged a different amount, you will be notified in advance of your trip.

8. INSURANCE: Insurance is recommended for the spring break package, including travel insurance.

9. ADDED SERVICES: All services are subject to change without notice and in the event you are charged a different amount, you will be notified in advance of your trip.

10. CONDITIONS AND DISCLAIMERS: Sunchase Tours Inc. shall not be responsible for any changes in travel plans or any other unforeseen circumstances.

Never a dull moment.
Commentaries, letters and the inside opinions
Notre Dame du Lac and any other way of living. It was the liveliness according to race. It was a time before the nation began to awaken to the consciousness was bred from an experience that my three friends were black and people treated us that Slaves could change for the better--that all courts at Georgetown not until some of them could picture a people of good will could wake up and way. It was the llivenness that my three friends were black and what they had done to their fellow to their friends missed out in the truck and we will serve there.

Edward A. Malloy, C.S.C.
I was angry very quickly because they were my friends and I didn't know this guy from Adam. It so happened that my three friends were black and one of them was named John Thompson--the same John Thompson who, two days ago, walked off the courts at Georgetown University.

I couldn't understand why these people treated us that way. A kind of consciousness was bred from an experience of living, of being, of seeing, of loving, of hope, and of understanding, a word of comfort, and a word of praise. As he began to teach them that they did not have a right to judge others, they had strength together--if they could only recognize the power and the grace that existed from their own native talent, from God, and from the recognition of the possibilities that lay ahead. He began to see the strength of his people and call to them to do great things with their lives. In the process, others began to sit up and take notice. White people, Northerners, and Southerners began to look at their neighbor down the street, or the person who worked for them, or with them, and began to see in them a human being, the worth and dignity.

Martin Luther King, Jr. was a bookish man who studied some of the great thinkers of all times. He began to read the Gospels and tested them through his own experiences of suffering and pain. Through the prism of that experience, he began to develop a faith in his own people and to all people. He spoke of a world in which black and white, and yellow and red and brown, men and women, old and young, could stand together and face the future with strength and purpose.

He began to dream for us all and he began to develop some of the weak alone, mutual understanding, friendship, and love. He saw the Sermon on the Mount, the great teaching of the Lord, with the great possibilities that lay ahead. He returned and took a pastorate in Atlanta and began to enter the lives of his friends and to provide proper jobs with dignity and good pay for all. We need to raise up leaders among ourselves to carry that agenda into government and into the universities, committees, and agencies of this community. No one can do it for us. We can build coalitions around the state and around the nation. But we need to look at home first of all.

If Martin Luther King, Jr. were with us this evening, he would pass on a message that we have heard so eloquently from some of the previous speakers. Stay in school, stay away from drugs, stop killing one another in the streets. Let us look in each other's eyes and recognize a friend.

Rev. Edward A. Malloy, C.S.C., is the President of the University.

P.O. Box Q

Rev. King caused many white Americans to see beyond the color, religion, and ethnicity of their fellow countrymen. Whites realized that minorities are people with emotions and dreams just like them. We have come a long way. However, we have not reached the "promised land." Let us continue to follow Rev. King's dream for a better world for our future generations.

CANTON, OHIO—Art Shell of Oakland, Willie Wood of Green Bay and Pittsburgh teammates Terry Bradshaw and Mel Blount, key players for three of the game's most successful teams, were named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame on Tuesday.

"You've got representatives of the best teams of the '60s and '70s," Bradshaw said. "It speaks to you that athletes are taught. Athletes are told to win and they are judged on how many games they win. It's not personal accomplishments or statistics that matter most. America loves winners."

Wood spent 12 seasons as a defensive back with the Packers, won five NFL titles, and the first two Super Bowls, in 1967 and 1968. "I was selected as a finalist a couple of years ago, but I didn't think I would make it," Wood said. "I started thinking that so many Green Bay Packers had gone in, maybe they might have used up their quota."

Shell played offensive tackle for the Raiders from 1966-1983 and participated in eight AFL and NFL title games and two Super Bowls. He remembered that he had walked the floor of a Fame a decade ago prior to a Raiders exhibition game at Canton.

"I had no idea I'd ever be here," he said. "You never think in terms like that. I was in awe walking through that building and reading about the people enshrined. It is hallowed ground. To walk through it was enough, but to be included in it is almost too much to believe."

Bradshaw and Blount were both inducted in their first year of eligibility.

Notre Dame last season at Lin­coln, Neb., said Wenzel. "This is going to be a tough matchup," he said.

"I imagine that they have not forgotten last year's game," said McCam. "They will come in with a lot of fire."

Notre Dame placed 37th at last year's NCAA championships, while the Cornhuskers finished 30th. Nebraska is re­turning six ranked wrestlers from last year's squad and the Irish are not far behind with five.

Seven of the 10 wrestlers in Nebraska's lineup presently are ranked among the top 20 individuals in their respective weight classes.

scored 14 first-half points, was held to one point on 0-of-7 shooting in the second half. Rutgers shot 33 percent as a team for the game.

"We just couldn't score on layups," said Wenzel. "This should have been an easy game to win."

Scotto ended the night with a 1-of-2 free throw, a three-pointer and five rebounds in the second half."We came in with a lot of confidence," he said. "We had a lot of experience and we were going to play our best game."
Hersher's latest vote: AP Man of the Year

Associated Press

NEW YORK—Orel Hershiser, a picture of perfection on and off the field, was named the Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year on Tuesday, finishing far ahead of his Olym- pic competition.

The Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher became the first non-Olympian to win the honor in an Olympic year since Denny McLain in 1968. Hershiser, who set a record with 99 consecutive shutout innings, is the 22nd baseball player to win the award in its 58-year history and the first since Dwight Gooden in 1985.

Hershiser got nearly twice as many votes as his World Series rival, Jose Canseco: 67 first-place ballots and 460 points, with Canseco—the first player to hit 40 home runs and steal 40 bases in a season—getting 30 first-place votes and 228 points.

Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders, who set all-time college records for rushing yards and touchdowns, was third with 207, followed by Olympic swimmer Matt Biondi with 152, NBA star Michael Jordan with 91 and Olympic diver Greg Louganis at 38.

Voting was done by sports writers and broadcasters on a 5-3-1 basis. The AP’s Female Athlete of the Year will be announced Thursday.

“This caps a year of fantastic awards,” Hershiser said. “It is a tremendous honor to be recognized with an award which covers all sports.”

Hershiser spent the 1988 season setting records and collecting trophies. His wholesomeness and his hymn- singing earned him adulation among children and adults.

Hershiser's record streak, 38-8 record and 2.36 earned run average made him the unani­ mous National League Cy Young winner.

By the time it all ended, helped by a How To Pitch card he carried in his uniform back pocket, Hershiser had allowed just five earned runs in his final 10 innings.

Directions: For the following question, select the best answer choice provided:

1. Only if we know human nature can we know the nature of the true good for human beings. And only if we know the nature of the true good for human beings can we arrive at an idea of the truly just society. Thus, if we know human nature and the nature of the true good for human beings, we can arrive at an idea of the truly just society. Which of the following points out a potential flaw in the reasoning above?

(A) What one human being thinks is good might well be something that another human being thinks is not good.

(B) Many people have arrived at ideas of the just society, and all of them have slightly different views.

(C) It is quite possible to know human nature without in any way being able to know what is the good for human beings.

(D) Philosophers have argued for centuries over what specifically defines human nature, without ever coming to a general agreement.

(E) Arriving at an idea of the just society may be impossible, new section. By anticipating the changes all the time...

THE NEW YORK TIMES
Michigan biggest, latest step for men's tennis

By BOB MITCHELL
Sports Writer

Welcome to the big time. The national schedule that the Notre Dame men’s tennis program has longed for will become reality when the No. 11 Michigan Wolverines set foot on the Eck Pavilion courts at 3 o’clock today. It is truly a David vs. Goliath battle for the unranked Irish.

“We have to play a perfect match,” said Head Coach Bob Bayliss. “We must play an error-free and airtight match.” Indeed, they will have to if the 0-1 Irish squad hope to even their record.

Michigan, who reached the semi-finals of the 1988 NCAA championships, has won 28 of the last 24 Big 10 championships including the last two. This year’s team looks to rival the great Michigan teams of the past. The Michigan roster, which reads like a Who’s Who in Collegiate Tennis, includes the No. 1 and No. 7 players in the entire nation along with one of the best freshmen in the country.

Malivai Washington, the No. 7 player in America, leads the lineup for the Wolverines. Washington, a sophomore, won the 1986 Volvo All-American Tournament which is the first leg of the collegiate Grand Slam. The 1987 Wimbledon junior finalist is known for his strong serve and aggressive net play.

“Malivai is one of the finest athletes to come through college tennis in the last ten years,” said Michigan head coach Brian Eisner, who holds the fifth-best winning percentage among active coaches (77 percent).

Bob Bayliss

Dan Goldberg, the No. 7 player in the nation, plays at the No. 2 position for the Wolverines. Among the senior’s accolades is that he was the singles semi-finalist in the 1987 NCAA Championships. At the No. 3 position for the Wolverines is David Kass, a freshman, won the Rolex Regional Qualifier in November. Kass captured the Ohio and Florida state titles in 1988.

“We have to be better than Michigan on that particular day,” said the second-year head coach. “Home is a big place for us.” And so, who knows? Maybe those Wilson rackets will turn those stones that knock down the mighty Wolverines.

Irish beat Rutgers in 2nd half outburst

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

Looking at the halftime statisticsthe Irish had scored 37 points to 31 for Rutgers in a Notre Dame-Rutgers basketball game, someone had to wonder what spirits were invading the Joyce A.C. That was because Rutgers (6-8) was outrebounding Notre Dame 21-8. Who cares if the Scarlet Knights had no player taller than 6-7, or if the Irish were the nation’s top team in rebounding?

And that was leading Irish scorer LaPhonso Ellis with no points next to his name, and second-leading rebounder Keith Robinson with no rebounds in his column.

And that was Notre Dame (9-3) still somehow managing to lead Rutgers 36-29. Can you imagine what might have happened if Robinson was pulling down more boards and Ellis was scoring at his normal 15.2 clip?

You’ve got that right, a Notre Dame team that has scored 72 second-half points to lead all scorers, Robinson recorded five rebounds with 11 points and the Irish went on to pound the Scarlet Knights 85-63.

“In the second half, we just went zone press back to zone,” said Notre Dame assistant coach Digger Phelps. “That was the difference in the game.”

Ellis hit a jump shot and scored two-three point shots to lead a 9-2 Notre Dame run that opened the second half. After Rutgers guard Rick Diddaka connected on a three-point shot to pull within 42-35, the Irish went on a 13-4 spurt to turn what had been a relatively close game into a rout. Ellis scored four points and Robinson added a three-point shot during that second Irish burst.

By the end of the game, all the Notre Dame players had gotten on the scoreboard, including walk-on Tim Crawford. DePaul seemed at times to have six women on the court alone. DePaul All-American Diana Vines also proved too much for DePaul and its zone defense.

“DePaul tried to get us to kick the ball outside if they could penetrate inside,” said Robinson. “We did a lot of good things as far as rebounding and running and getting the ball back to LaPhonie,” said Notre Dame coach Frank Pastore.

CHICAGO — Ill. — They turned the volume at Alumni Hall up to 11. Tuesday night, DePaul’s Lady Blue Demons turned the volume up to 20 for the Irish as they stole their way to an 83-62 victory.

Rutgers, which had struggled with small and extremely quick teams, saw the Irish’s 5-foot-6 point guard LaPhonso Ellis, who is averaging 21.8 by a smaller Rutgers squad.

“LaPhonso Ellis (20) reaches high to block the shot of Lee Perry of Rutgers. Ellis was a key factor in Notre Dame’s second-half surge that lifted the Irish past the Scarlet Knights 85-63...”

Wrestlers ready for Nebraska

In perhaps its toughest dual meet of the season to date, the 16th-ranked Notre Dame wrestling team will be looking to extend its 10-match winning streak against highly-touted Nebraska at 8 p.m. tonight in the Joyce A.C. area.

Nebraska (7-4) currently is ranked 13th in the country and already has defeated Iowa State, which was then ranked third, 9-2 by a smaller Rutgers squad. “We see Ellis, page 12

The Irish struggled on offense. Notre Dame found the basket unforgiving, shooting 8-of-23 (.31 percent) in the first half.

Throughout the first half, the play of freshmen Margaret Nowlin and Comaila Hayber kept the Irish close. Each grabbed three offensive rebounds and scored five first-half points.

“It was a tough game,” said Irish coach Muffett McGraw. “They (the freshmen) played well.”

Karen Robinson led Notre Dame with 18, and Cathy Emigholz added 12.

No goals by DePaul. No screaming crowd. No Notre Dame loss.

Ellis keys Irish effort in victory

By FRANK PASTORE
Sports Writer

LaPhonso Ellis found himself in an unusual position at halftime Tuesday night against Rutgers in the Joyce A.C.

Notre Dame was down 36-29. But Ellis, tied with Joe Fredrick at 15.5 points per game and rebounder (10.8 per game) had four total rebounds and two personal fouls to show for his efforts at the midway point of the Journal’s 85-63 win over the Scarlet Knights.

Ellis’s scoring troubles reflected Notre Dame’s inability to pound the ball inside to its big men in the early going, which allowed Rutgers to stay close for most of the first half.

“We just didn’t get the ball down to Ellis and he wasn’t getting open,” said Irish coach Digger Phelps, analyzing what might have happened if they had gotten on the scoreboard, including walk-on Tim Crawford. “We see Ellis, page 12

“Our big men are the core of our offense,” said Sweet. “They are so much out there.”

“The same arms that had pulled in touchdown passes or brought down opposing tailbacks were now draped around each other’s shoulders in perspective—football is only a game. There is something so much more important—the game of life.”

And that is what matters.
