So­
---4

---J

cording to Transpo officials. trans­p­on­er

outes for convenient public trans­portation. The school bus which had been transporting students to the malls on weekends has not been combining the routes we added a route that runs from South Bend, recently added a route that runs from the University of Notre Dame to University Park Mall. The bus company initiated the new route Jan. 3 in response to numerous requests by Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students for convenient public transportation to the mall, according to Transpo officials. The Route Seven Notre Dame-University Park Mall bus operates Monday through Friday on half hour intervals and also on an hourly basis every Saturday. Stopping first at Notre Dame’s Library Circle, the bus goes to the Hesburgh Library, stops at Ironwood and State Road 23 and arrives at the mall within fifteen minutes of its departure from the library. A one-way fare costs 50 cents, and when Notre Dame is in session the inter-campus shuttle bus may be used to reach Saint Mary’s College. The new route is a combination of a downtown mall route and one which went from campus to downtown, said Transpo marketing and planning manager Mary Beth McAdams. Previously students had to take the bus to the downtown terminal and transfer to a bus going first to Miami Scottsdale Mall and then finally to University Park Mall. The school bus which had transported students to the malls on weekends has not been in operation this school year and has been replaced by the Transpo route. By combining the routes we will cut operational costs while increasing our ridership,” said McAdams. Transpo hopes to attract Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students to the new route with its upcoming promotion, “Notre Dame Night at the Mall,” she said. On Feb. 9 Transpo will transport students to the mall, where some of the stores will give discounts to students. McAdams said. Students will also be able to attend the theater at a special reduced price that night. “I’m hoping (the students) will try the bus and see how easy it is to get to the mall and will continue to ride it,” the manager said. On weekdays the first mall bus leaves at 7:35 a.m. and departs the last one leaving the mall at 6:10 p.m. Complete bus schedules can be found next to the Information Desk in the LaFortune Student Center. The new lab will be open the next day after the Research Center into the existing building.” Goodnight said she hopes to have the new lab open for the new lab by early March and complete it by May. But it remains uncertain whether or not there will be access to computers on a 24-hour basis. “We’re aware of the problem concerning students, and we hope to have 24-hour access in the LaFortune

New Mac lab to open in library

By MIKE O’CONNELL
News Staff

Final preparations are being made for the opening of a new computer lab in the Hesburgh Library which will replace the existing twenty-four hour Mac Lab at the Computer Math Building. The new computer lab will consist of 40 Macintosh computers and 30 IBM PCs mostly from the Computer Math Lab. “The new lab will be open to all students with special software applications for ar­chitects and engineers, such as Generic CAD, Turbo Pascal, and Quick C,” said Carolyn Goodnight of the Computing Center and Mathematics Building. “Once the computers have been moved to the new lab, one of our goals will be to expand the Computer Repair Center into the exist­ing space,” she said.

Rana Highs
warm with highs in r and cold Friday sunny and warm

The Independent newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s

Soviet­ian massacre

Afghan civilians in ‘major atrocity’

Associated Press

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan—So­viets massacred hundreds of Afghan civilians along the key highway carrying Red Army soldiers home from Afghanistan, West­ern diplomats said Thursday.

In Washington, meanwhile, Secretary of State James Baker ordered the closing of the U.S. Embassy in Kabul, the Afghan capital, because of turmoil from the Soviet troop withdrawal.

Western diplomats in Is­lamabad quoted Afghan sources and a witness as saying: “This was a massacre,” and “there are two cases of massacres by the Soviets.”

The diplomats, who spoke on condition of anonymity, quoted a report from Kabul as saying: “After shelling the north and south ends of the Salang tunnel, Soviet and Afghan artillery obliterated all dwellings and villages south of the tunnel.”

In Washington, State Depar­tement spokesman Charles Red­man said, “There are eyewitnesses who say no dwellings remain and hundreds of civilians were killed.”

see AFGHAN page 6

New bus will run directly from ND to University Park Mall

By NATASHA WILSON
Senior Staff Reporter

Transpo, the public bus ser­vice of South Bend, recently added a route that runs from the University of Notre Dame to University Park Mall.

The bus company initiated the new route Jan. 3 in response to numerous requests by Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s stu­dents for convenient public transportation to the mall, according to Transpo officials.

The Route Seven Notre Dame-University Park Mall bus operates Monday through Friday on half hour intervals and also on an hourly basis every Saturday. Stopping first at Notre Dame’s Library Circle, the bus goes to the Hesburgh Library, stops at Ironwood and State Road 23 and arrives at the mall within fifteen minutes of its departure from the library. A one-way fare costs 50 cents, and when Notre Dame is in session the inter-campus shuttle bus may be used to reach Saint Mary’s College.

The new route is a combina­tion of a downtown mall route and one which went from campus to downtown, said Transpo marketing and planning manager Mary Beth McAdams. Previously students had to take the bus to the downtown terminal and transfer to a bus going first to Miami Scottsdale Mall and then finally to University Park Mall.

The school bus which had transported students to the malls on weekends has not been in operation this school year and has been replaced by the Transpo route. By combining the routes we will cut operational costs while increasing our ridership,” said McAdams. Transpo hopes to attract Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students to the new route with its upcoming promotion, “Notre Dame Night at the Mall,” she said.

On Feb. 9 Transpo will transport students to the mall, where some of the stores will give discounts to students. McAdams said. Students will also be able to attend the theater at a special reduced price that night. “I’m hoping (the students) will try the bus and see how easy it is to get to the mall and will continue to ride it,” the manager said.

On weekdays the first mall bus leaves at 7:35 a.m. and departs the last one leaving the mall at 6:10 p.m. Complete bus schedules can be found next to the Information Desk in the LaFortune Student Center.

Social concerns

Seniors Karen Maier and Jim Mohan try to attract volunteers during the social concerns festival for Logan Center. Logan Center volunteers spend Sat­urday mornings working with the mentally handi­capped in a recreation program.

New Mac lab to open in library

By MIKE O’CONNELL
News Staff

Final preparations are being made for the opening of a new computer lab in the Hesburgh Library which will replace the existing twenty-four hour Mac Lab at the Computer Math Building.

The new computer lab will consist of 40 Macintosh com­puters and 30 IBM PCs mostly from the Com­puter Math Lab.

“The new lab will be open to all students with special software applications for ar­chitects and engineers, such as Generic CAD, Turbo Pas­sical, and Quick C,” said Carolyn Goodnight of the Computing Center and Mathematics Building. “Once the computers have been moved to the new lab, one of our goals will be to expand the Computer Repair Center into the exist­ing space,” she said.

Goodnight said she hopes to have the new lab open for the new lab by early March and complete it by May. But it remains uncertain whether or not there will be access to computers on a 24-hour basis. “We’re aware of the problem concerning students, and we hope to have 24-hour access in the LaFortune
OF INTEREST

Lectors for the JPW Mass will be Richard Shank, Sara Marley, Rachel Dougherty and David Bruner.

The Observer

Keenan Revue Tickets will be distributed today, at 3 p.m. at Gate 3 of the Haggar Hall Lobby and at 5 p.m. in the Haggar Hall Lobby for Saint Mary's students.

The Observer

Catholic Faith Series begins on Sunday, Jan. 29 in Keenan Chapel, 7-8:30. Sunday lectures are repeated on Tuesday evenings. Co-founders of the Urban Plunge and Program coordinator for the National Assembly of Religious Markets, Katherine Tillman, Sister Regina Coll, Father Eugene Gorski, Father Drew Keenan or Father Michael Himes.

The Observer

Mandatory Urban Plunge meeting will be held Sunday evening at 7 p.m. in the Library auditorium for all students who experienced the Urban Plunge over Christmas break. Everyone will be breaking up into small discussion groups. Please arrive early to check in and find your group assignment.

The Observer

CILA's Annual Weekend Workshop takes place today, Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Center for Social Concerns. Today's discussion will be titled "Call to Action for Justice and Peace" by Kathy O'Keefe, Notre Dame's Program in Urban Plunge and Program coordinator for the National Assembly of Religious Women. Tomorrow's discussion will be titled "Values: Definition and Exploration" by Father Michael Himes, followed by a panel discussion with Notre Dame alumni Brian and Andrew Schappell and Michael Lee. All sessions are open to the public.

The Observer

Neighborhood Study Help Program tutors children in South Bend at schools and neighborhood centers. Sign-ups will continue today at lunch and dinner in the dining halls, and our organizational meeting is Sunday at 6 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the CSC. All those who have signed up should attend. Those who have not signed up yet, more sign-ups will be taken on Sunday at the meeting.

The Observer

Logan Center Council for the Retarded welcomes everyone to a dance tonight from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Van pickups will be at Saint Mary's at 8:30 and 7:30 p.m. in front of Holy Cross Hall and at Notre Dame's Main Circle at 6:45 and 7:15. Also, this Saturday we're going snow skiing. Van pickup will be at 8:15 a.m. for Saint Mary's and 8:45 for Notre Dame. Questions call Karen 4900. The Observer

INSIDE COLUMN

All-nighters: fantastic fun for everyone

All-nighters. They're an essential part of any college career. But, sad to say, some people have never experienced the thrill of the all-nighter. While others approach them with fear and loathing, wallowing and gnashing their teeth at the thought of a dragged up, sleepless night.

This trepidation is totally unnecessary. With the proper information and tools, the all-nighter can be a fun, enlightening and enriching experience. To help the neophytes out there, I've prepared a little question-and-answer guide to the perfect all-nighter.

What night should I pull an all-nighter?

Any night is a good night! Sleep is for the weak! Some of the best all-nighters are those that are totally unnecessary.

Besides, you might be surprised to discover that all-nighters actually relieve stress. Here's how. If you're planning on getting a few hours of sleep, you'll probably freak out because of the time pressure.

Once you decide to pull the all-night, however, vast vistas of time stretch out before you. If you're a professional procrastinator, it gives you a few more hours to blow off. Imagine the immense sense of satisfaction you get when you say, "Sure, it's a.m. and I haven't started my paper on Existential Angst and the Possible Presidency of Dan Quayle, but that's OK! I still have plenty of time!"

What tools do I need?

The main one is caffeine. By the way, it's about time to clear up some misconceptions about caffeine. Caffeine does not make you nervous or shaky. Caffeine turns you into an invincible studying Superman, a throating superman before your friend.

There are two favored methods of caffeine dosing: coffee and Mountain Dew. If you need a really quick jolt, try mixing four or five teaspoons of instant coffee grounds in a cup of boiling water instead of one. This tastes pretty vile, so add lots of sugar. If you can't drink it, pretend it's some new mixed drink at an OC party, and that people will really respect you as a party animal if you manage to choke it down.

What if I start falling asleep?

First of all, don't take a nap. You know deep down inside that you're not going to get back up, no matter what you tell yourself-you're deceiving yourself. Even if you do wake up, you won't feel any better. Imagine having all of your internal juices pumped out and replaced by a goofy green paste. That is what you'll feel like when you wake up.

Instead, drink a cup of coffee. If this doesn't work, drink another cup. . .

Why not just get your work done far enough in advance so that you don't have to stay up all night?

Balderdash! You have the rest of your life to be responsible-why start now? You're in college, a time to do really perverse things for no apparent reason. When you're in the middle of your next all-nighter and trying hard to keep from slipping into a merely zombie-like stupor into total catatonia, remember that one day, years from now, you'll look back on your all-night with wistful nostalgia. . . .

Question: How do you reach over 12,000 people daily?

Answer: Buy Observer ad space. Call 239-6800.

Applications are being accepted for:

THE OBSERVER

Editor-in-Chief

1989-1990

A 5-page personal statement and résumé are due in Chris Murphy's office by Friday, January 27 at 3 pm.
WASHINGTON -- Senate committees, working Thursday to fill vacancies at President Bush's Cabinet table, examined one nominee's relationships to defense contractors, heard another defend Bush's "flexible freeze" budget plan and got suggestions from a third on how he will manage America's open spaces.

As the process unfolded, former Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas told the Senate Armed Services Committee that the $763,777 he made as a defense consultant over the past three years will not influence his actions if he is confirmed as Bush's secretary of defense.

Michael Boskin, selected to be Bush's chief economic adviser, told the Senate Banking Committee he believes Pentagon officials should spend cuts can be made in defense and health care spending and profiting unfairly, unethically, and inordinately over the defense industry.

Tower, a former Armed Services Committee chairman, told that panel Congress should endorse the Lujan nomination and send it to the full Senate where a vote is expected next Wednesday.

Tower questioned about defense ties

WASHINGTON -- Senate joint meeting of Congress on Wednesday.

Bush to travel to China soon

WASHINGTON -- President Bush, who served as envoy to China during the rule of Mao Tse-Tung, will spend Feb. 25-26 in China on a working visit, which traditionally has less pomp and ceremony than a full-blown state visit.

Bush will travel to Japan for the Feb. 24 funeral of Emperor Hirohito. He will spend Feb. 25-26 in China on a working visit, which traditionally has less pomp and ceremony than a full-blown state visit.

Fitzwater left open the possibility Bush would confer in Tokyo with other foreign leaders.

"Obviously when a president goes to these kinds of events there are opportunities for bilateral meetings and obviously there are a lot of countries who would like to have them, but we have to consider the time constraints involved in moving around -- in this case moving on to China and protocol restraints associated with the funeral," Fitzwater said.

TRENTON PRESENTS

AMY GRANT

Featuring MICHAEL W. SMITH
GARY CHAPMAN

lead me on tour

FEB. 21
7:30 PM
JOYCE ACC
AT NOTRE DAME

Tickets available at Joyce ACC Box Office and All Ticketmaster Locations including: S. Ayers at U.P. and Scottsdale Malls, Nightwinds in North Village and Niles, Mi., Supersounds at Concord Mall, Michigan Carsons in Michigan City and Music Magic in Benton Harbor or Charge by Phone with Visa/MasterCard; 800/284-3030

Sunday, Jan. 27, 1985

The Observer
Sakharov: Gorbachev will fall

Associated Press

PARIS — Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev probably will be ousted because he has failed to seek popular support in direct elections, Andrei Sakharov and his wife were quoted as saying in an interview published Thursday.

"The conservatives will overthrow Gorbachev or at least impose their views on him," the conservative French daily Le Figaro quoted Sakharov, the dean of the Soviet human rights movement, as saying. Le Figaro said the six-hour interview with Sakharov and his wife, Yelena Bonner, also a prominent rights activist, was conducted over three consecutive evenings at their Moscow home.

The newspaper quoted Bonner as saying: "The only real defense for a chief of state is direct election. Why is Gorbachev afraid? We would elect him. Our country has no other leader. "I think he will be overwhelmingly soon," she was quoted as saying. "I would not bet 10 rubles on Gorbachev."

Bonner said that if Gorbachev is ousted, "so will be all those who believed in perestroika," his program to restructure Soviet society and its economy, the paper reported.

Sakharov, who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1975, said the West must continue to press the Soviet Union on rights issues, at least until an international human rights conference that is scheduled in Moscow in 1991.

He said the meeting, which initially was opposed by Britain and the United States, "should only take place if the (human rights) situation in the Soviet Union is truly satisfactory."

Le Figaro quoted Sakharov as saying that perestroika was "absolutely necessary. There is no other solution. This doesn't mean that you have to support Gorbachev without reservation. To associate perestroika 100 percent with his name would not be fair.

"Gorbachev could come under pressure. He could have other ideas," Sakharov was quoted as saying.

Two British hostages may soon be released

Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Radio and press reports Thursday said the release of two British hostages might be imminent, and British Ambassador Allan Ramsay crossed into Moslem West Beirut.

After Ramsay's return to the British Embassy, in the Christian sector of the divided capital, an embassy official said, "We have no additional information."

Asked whether a hostage release was expected, he said, "All I can tell you is that we're not on alert. "The official spoke on condition of anonymity.

Earlier, when asked by telephone if his trip was linked to the press reports, Ramsay said from the British consular office in the Moslem sector: "I often come to west Beirut and there's nothing significant in my current visit."

An embassy spokesman had said the purpose of Ramsay's journey was to check the reports.

The British Embassy and Ramsay's residence are in east Beirut. Most hostages are believed held in west Beirut's Shiite Moslem slums.

The reports said kidnapped British journalist John McCarthy and teacher Brian Keenan, who has Irish and British citizenship, could be freed within days.

Patrick McCabe, who is Ireland's ambassador to Lebanon but is based in Iraq, said he would fly to Beirut immediately to investigate.

McCarthy and Keenan are among 15 foreigners missing in Lebanon, who include two more Britons and nine Americans. Held longest is Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press, who was abducted March 16, 1985.

AP Photo

Observer classifieds will be accepted from 9am-3pm M-F at the Observer offices, 314 LaFortune.
Borelli appointed to new post

By JIM LANG
News Staff

Mario Borelli, associate professor of mathematics at Notre Dame, was recently appointed to the newly created position of Director of Special Instructional Projects and Activities by Provost Timothy O'Meara. "The role," Borelli said, "entails seeking sources of outside funding for instructional activities which are aimed at improving the situation for groups which have previously been neglected," such as minorities, women, and the disabled.

The search for funding, however, will not just be limited to minority groups, Borelli said. Others which will benefit from the new director's efforts are gifted and talented high school students, students working towards teacher certification, and teachers continuing their education, he said.

Borelli said that he would seek funding from federal and state agencies as well as private endowments and foundations, and even private firms. Prior to this appointment, O'Meara said, individual teachers, groups, or students were forced to seek and apply for funding on their own.

Borelli was chosen for the role because of his "excellent track record" in seeking funding for the math department, said O'Meara. Because of the broad and somewhat ambiguous duties of the new position, Borelli is officially on leave of absence from the university for a semester, and will teach only half of his regular load for the next three years.

"I hope to be able to do this work and still do at least a minimal amount of teaching," he said.

Mac continued from page 1

"Mac Lab," said Scott Cowdrey, director of user services. "There is also a possibility of making the library lab into a 24-hour computing center, but there are security problems and costs to consider," Cowdrey said. "The plan is to keep looking for new locations to meet the students' growing needs."

SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS MARKETING MANAGEMENT POSITION

GAIN VALUABLE BUSINESS EXPERIENCE MAKE $3,000 TO $4,000 PART-TIME

Campus Marketing Associates (CMA) will visit the University of Notre Dame campus on Thursday, February 2 to interview students for a SPRING SEMESTER position in marketing management. CMA has developed a unique advertising concept that received unanimously favorable responses in its initial test markets.

The ideal candidate will be a personable, well-organized, and highly-committed individual who has a genuine interest in marketing, management, or entrepreneurship. Responsibilities will include developing a marketing plan, making sales presentations, developing advertising strategies, managing account relationships, and reporting to a regional marketing director. Associates will need their own transportation. The company produces student directories and campus related advertising products.

For more information, please see our job description and sign up for an interview in the Career and Placement Services office in the Hesburgh Library.

INTERVIEWS LIMITED TO THE FIRST 14 APPLICANTS TO SIGN-UP ON THE SCHEDULE.
Ringo will become latest American children’s TV Starr

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The 8-year-old girl who wrote a letter of paper and a pen and pleaded, “Could you just write one more?” was recognized Saturday by Starr, the rest of the cast and the producers as the country’s first pint-size autograph hound.

The girl, Nicole Leach, is no pint-size autograph hound, but one of Starr’s co-stars on “Shining Time Station,” a new PBS children’s series that premiered Saturday.

Starr, the rest of the cast and the producers had just completed a cross-country promotional tour for “Shining Time Station,” which has gotten more than the usual dollop of publicity due even the most charming of children’s programs — which “Shining Time Station” is — thanks to the presence of the former Beatle in the cast.

“We all know it’s the truth. It’s a lot easier if I’m on the tour, too, because people want to come and ask what you’ve been doing’ for the last 100 years. But somewhere in there they mention the show,” said Starr, chatting in a suite overlooking Central Park.

“I’ve always enjoyed children,” Starr said. His own children are grown and he has a 3-year-old granddaughter, Tatia.

“The songs in the old days, I sort of went to the kiddy crowd, so it was sort of a natural thing, you know,” he said. “But to be magic and little, it was fabulous.”

Britt Allcroft, co-creator and producer of the show with Rick Siggelkow, said she talked Starr into narrating “Thomas the Tank Engine and Friends” in England after hearing him on the television in another room.

“I heard this voice being interviewed, and I thought, that’s the voice of Thomas’ storyteller,” she said.

She calls the show “storybook television” — television programming that has sort of qualities more akin to those you’d find in children’s literature.

Starr said he “can’t wait” to be as big a kiddle star in this country as he is in England. After all, his career has not exactly been booming.

Four injured in shooting at Washington school

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A gunman opened fire on a crowd of students outside a District of Columbia high school Thursday, wounding four, police said. The incident apparently erupted because of a dispute earlier in the day.

One witness said the man “knew where he wanted to shoot, and then he just started shooting at random.” Police said the assailant seemed to have targeted the students involved.

There were no immediate arrests, but authorities were said to be searching for three men. The shooting “seemed to be the result of an altercation that had taken place earlier in the day,” said Capt. Robert Gales of the District of Columbia police.

School system spokesman Charles Seigel said two “outsiders” entered the school about noon and were involved in a “verbal altercation” with students.

The students agreed to a fight after school, Seigel said, and were on their way to the site when the shootings occurred.

When asked if any of the victims knew the assailants, Gales said, “I think some of the victims know who was involved.”

The shootings at Wilson High School in affluent northwest Washington occurred about 1:30 p.m., moments after the students were dismissed for the day. None of the injuries was thought to be life-threatening, although police said at least one of the students was seriously injured.

“DUNK ME”

TONITE

AT THE LATE NIGHT OLYMPICS

GATE 6 AT THE JACC

TANK SCHEDULE

9:00 PM TONY RICE - N.D. QB
9:30 PM GEORGE WILLIAMS - HE DARES YOU
10:00 PM PAT COOKE - REMEMBER...
10:30 PM MICHELLE PARAI SO - N.D. CHEERLEADER
11:00 PM STEPHANIE HAYASHI - N.D. CHEERLEADER
11:30 AM CAPTAIN GEORGE DEWHIRST - UNARMED
12:00 AM MARTY STRASSEN - YOU’LL READ ABOUT IT
12:30 AM BRIAN O’GARA - GET A PHOTOGRAPHER
1:00 AM FRANK STAMS - I WILL REMEMBER
1:30 AM THE LEPRECHAUN - RAY LOPEZ

Sacred song

Freshmen Amy Lutz, center, and Ann Crawford practice for Liturgical Choir. The Liturgical Choir sings at High Mass every Sunday morning at 10:00.

MS continued from page 1

said, detected the virus in only one.

A report on the study will be published Friday in the journal Science.

Both HTLV-I and the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) that causes AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, are retroviruses. Reddy said both of the viruses also appear to infect immune cells in the blood.

“Even though these two viruses are not causing the same disease, their basic mechanisms of infection are very, very similar. Something that works for HIV should also work for HTLV-I,” Reddy said.

Multiple sclerosis is a disease that attacks the brain and other parts of the central nervous system. It causes damage by destroying a tissue called myelin that covers the nerves.

There are about 250,000 MS patients in the United States. The disease strikes most frequently between the ages of 20 and 40. In about a third of the patients, the disease is very mild, but for others, MS can cause great disability and crippling. Currently, there is no cure, though the disease frequently goes into remission.

Reddy and his associates at Wistar proved that there is HTLV-I in the blood cells of multiple sclerosis patients by performing extremely precise assays for the genetic pattern of the virus.

As a control, similar assays were performed on blood samples from 20 healthy persons, 10 from Sweden and 10 in Philadelphia.

continued from page 1
Furry jury sniffs at Soviet sausage

Associated Press

MOSCOW — Angry meatpackers are using a newspaper for an article that said their sausage was so bad even cats couldn't stomach it, but editors said they turned to a furry, four-legged jury that proved their point.

"Twenty-four sausage experts don't eat it at all; five only eat high quality sausage or out of extreme hunger. Only one, the 2-month-old kitten Mura, you can say actually sits down to the sausage," the weekly Literaturnaya Gazeta said in announcing the feline findings.

"The dispute started with the literary weekly's story on June 15 titled "The Cat Doesn't Know . . .," and was brought up recently in the Dzerzhinsky regional people's court.

"In a complaint signed by Yuri Luzhkov, chairman of the Moscow agroindustrial complex, officials demanded a retraction of the newspaper's report that producers were breaking the law by putting protein additives in the sausage, known in Russian as "kolbasa."

"Because of a shortage of meat in many Soviet stores, finding good quality sausage has become a fixation for many people. A cartoon in an October edition of the satire magazine Krokodil showed a line of shoppers standing outside a theater, not to buy tickets but to buy the sausage for sale in the theater's buffet.

"The case also shows that the more aggressive style of reporting by the Soviet press under President Mikhail Gorbachev's encouragement of greater openness is likely to get it into occasional legal trouble. The Tass news agency said this week a court had dismissed a lawsuit against a film producer by a biochemical plant near Leningrad that objected to his documentary about pollution.

"Literaturnaya Gazeta reported about its dispute with the sausage manufacturers in an article in this week's edition titled, "May the Cats Judge Us." It gave no indication that the case had gone any further than the initial complaint.

"It said that using the permission of state quality control officials to add protein additives, the factories were grinding up the skin and bones of cattle and throwing them into the sausage."
Bundy gives bodies' locations on tape

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Serial killer Ted Bundy, in a tape recording made 45 minutes before his execution and released by Florida's governor on Thursday, disclosed where he left the bodies of two victims in Colorado and Utah.

Bundy's final confession came in a five-minute conversation with Florida State Prison Warden Thomas Barton at 6:15 a.m. Tuesday, the day he was executed, spokesman for Gov. Bob Martinez told The Associated Press.

Although he didn't know the identity of his Utah victim, Bundy said he believed the Colorado victim was Denise Oliverson, 24, last seen riding her bicycle in April 1975 near her Grand Junction home.

Using a map, Bundy gave directions to the sites where he left his victims. His memory of the Utah victim was detailed, telling investigators to look for a dirt road between Price and Green River, Utah.

"About 200 yards in on the dirt road ... and to the left, maybe 50 yards, there's the remains of a young woman who disappeared from Brigham Young University in June of 1975," Bundy said.

"And that's as close as I can get it ... with the map and with what we have here," said Bundy, who said he did not know the name of his victim.

Bundy had been suspected in the death of Susan Curtis, 15, who was attending a youth conference at Brigham Young University when she disappeared in June 1975, according to The Salt Lake Tribune.

Bundy, 42, also directed another confession to Colorado detectives about the killing of Oliverson.

"I believe the date was in April 1975," Bundy said. "The young woman's body would have been placed in the Colorado River five miles west of Grand Junction. It was not buried."

"That's all the ones that I can help you with," Bundy said. "The ones that I know about. No missing ones outstanding that we haven't talked about."

Barton then continued with more queries from investigators in several other areas where Bundy was suspected in killing young women.

"Ted, I have some inquiries from Illinois and New Jersey," said Barton.

Afghan

continued from page 1

A dispatch from Kabul received by one Western embassy quoted reports of witnesses seeing "Soviet tanks rolling over dead bodies of victims" along the highway, which runs for 250 miles between Kabul and the Soviet border.

It said the report of all houses being destroyed came from three separate sources, including a diplomat who defends the Afghan government.

Afghan media and military officers had reported 377 guerrillas were killed Tuesday along the Salang Highway, where the insurgents have attacked many food and fuel convoys trying to reach Kabul.

Heavy snows also have blocked part of the highway, and Kabul has suffered severe food and fuel shortages as the end of the Soviet military withdrawal approaches.

Curler craze

shakes up
North Dakota politicians

Associated Press

BISMARCK, N.D. — Women whose beauty salons have been barred from using traditional brush curlers are making a hair-raising noise in the state Legislature, which is considering a bill to lift the ban.

"This was the one thing we found during our campaign that people were really opposed to," said Rep. Wilbur Vander Vorst.

The state Board of Cosmetology issued its edict banning brush curlers last July. The board contended the curlers, which are rather like little round hairbrushes without handles, are unsanitary because hair tends to stick in the bristles.

But many women prefer them. Rep. Kathi Gilmore said the board should have sanctioned beauty parlors whose brush rollers were found to have stray hairs on them, rather than banning a vital tool of the trade. Gilmore, who is sponsoring legislation to lift the prohibition, testified at a state House committee hearing Wednesday.
A Valuable Summer Experience

Court to review abortion issue

Dear Editor:

America has the opportunity to take a big step toward affirming the belief that human life is sacred. Since 1973, when abortion on demand became legal in the United States, the United States Supreme Court has agreed to hear Webster v. Reproductive Health Services. With this case the court can set aside Roe v. Wade.

Life begins at conception when the male sperm fertilizes the female ovum. Two and a half weeks after conception, the child's heart begins to beat. Between six and eight weeks after conception, the child's organs are fully formed. Ten weeks after conception, the child feels pain.

Since 1973, when abortion on demand was decriminalized in the United States, more than 23 million babies have been killed in hospitals and abortion clinics; that is, one abortion every 21 seconds. These babies are innocent and defenseless.

Unborn babies are human beings. A society that denies them their right to life cannot call itself civilized.

With Webster v. Reproductive Health Services, the Supreme Court has the opportunity to reconsider its decision in Roe v. Wade. According to our legal system, the Court decides what is correct and what is incorrect. But no matter what the Court decides, we all have to account for our behavior before the tribunal of God.

Please write to the justices of the Supreme Court, your congressional representatives, and your state legislators to encourage the overturning of Roe v. Wade.

Edward L. White III

Workshop promotes social awareness

Dear Editor:

During the week of Jan. 6, we were among the 400 plus Notre Dame students who had the opportunity to cover 48 hours to cities across the country. Miami and New York were the sites we visited. Through the Urban Plunge we were brought face to face with the social conditions prevalent in metropolitan areas, from the refugee centers to the poor in the Bowery of Manhattan. We have become more aware of poverty and injustice; but now back at Notre Dame, many questions arise. How can we coordinate our experiences with the life we lead at this University? What are our opportunities for action? As one way to further pursue these questions, we would like to recommend the workshop “Values in Action,” being held at the Center for Social Concerns this weekend, sponsored by the Center for the Lay Apostolate (CILA). On Friday night from 6 to 8:30 p.m., the co-founder of Urban Plunge, Kathy Oberbier, will be speaking. She will share her experiences working in Chile and Peru, and reflect with us on the importance of putting our values into action.

Kate Clark
Andrea Reilly
Howard Hall
Jan. 25, 1989

Donnesbury

Garry Trudeau

Viewpoint would like to occasionally highlight quotes from faculty members, students and readers. So If you or someone you know says something intellectually stimulating, brilliantly funny, or clearly controversial, send the quote to Viewpoint, P. O. Box Q, Notre Dame

Quote of the Day

“Even if you're on the right track, you'll get run over if you just sit there.”

Will Rogers
FRIDAY
Movies:
"The Terminator" Eng. Audit. 8 and 10 p.m.
"Colors" Annenburg Audit. 7:30 and 9:45
"Ten Little Indians" by the St. Ed's Hall Players in Washington Hall at 8 p.m. Admission $2.

Music:
The Lark String Quartet in O'Laughlin Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are $7.50, $6.50, $5.50 at the O'Laughlin Box Office.

Late Night Olympics at the JACC:
9 p.m. Basketball, Water Lacrosse, Nerf Football, Inner tube Water polo, Reaction--Singles, Dunk Tank--Tony Rice, Indoor Soccer.
10 p.m. Whiffle ball, Volleyball.
10:30 Open skating, Table tennis, Obstacle course relay, arm wrestling.
11 p.m. Broom ball.

SATURDAY
Movies:

Music:
London USA at Theodore's at 9 p.m.

Calvin and Hobbes

I DON'T KNOW. PROBABLY NOT UNTIL SPRING?
I THINK HE'S GOING TO MELT BEFORE WE CAN BRING HIM TO LIFE.

Mendelssohn and Mozart: the song of the Lark

JANICE O'LEARY
accent writer

String four fantastic female musicians together with a contemporary flair and the result is the Lark String Quartet. The Lark will be performing at Saint Mary's College this evening, 8 p.m. in O'Laughlin auditorium. This dynamic quartet consists of four females: Robin Mayforth and Eva Gruesser on violins, Anna Kruger on viola and Laura Sewell on the cello. The women bring a lively and upbeat style to traditional classical music. The energy and imagination in the group's performance is perhaps responsible for their entrance into the classical music world in 1985. Originating from Minneapolis/St. Paul, the quartet relocated to New York City where they made their debut after winning the Self Magazine 1986 "Fresh Start" contest. Since then the youthful quartet has fiddled, pulsed and made melodious music throughout Western Europe and was a top prize winner in 1986 Banff International String Quartet Competition.

The women are in their mid to late twenties and are one of the most promising all-female quartets of their age group. Ms. Mayforth, Ms. Gruesser and Ms. Sewell are all graduates of Juilliard where the quartet worked as teaching assistants for a while, and Ms. Kruger is a Manhattan School of Music alumna. Lark's repertoire is varied and interesting. It includes pieces by traditional classical composers such as Beethoven, Mozart, and Mendelssohn, and they often have music written specifically for them by more contemporary composers such as Libby Larson.

The performance promises to be exquisitely written and well performed.

TEN LITTLE INDIANS

MICHELLE McNAMARA
accent writer

The St. Edward's Hall Players present Agatha Christie's TEN LITTLE INDIANS

"Anxiety and as one by or mysteriously with an eerie child an eerie childhood rhyme about ten little Indians that lies above the mantel in the living room. As the play advances we learn more about the characters' questionable pasts and their reasons for being summoned to the remote island. Initially each vehemently denies having committed murder, but slowly their true stories emerge. Between acussations and nervous outbursts, the number of guests decreases until those who remain are afraid to leave each other's company. The one room set of "Ten Little Indians" was perfect for the paranoid fright generated by the plot. Despite strange lighting techniques in a few scenes, the decision to and terror increase by one the guests piously die in accord with childhood rhyme."

The Observer / Jennifer On

Good fortune awaits you at Hunan

MARK McLAUGHLIN

accent writer

A

to be exciting as the quartet will be playing Mozart's Quartet in C Major, K. 465, "The Dissonant," promises to be a beautiful performance, so make an attempt to hear the music of the Lark.

senior Duane DiFranco certainly shone as an experienced and talented actor. Playing Sir Lawrence Wargrave with an air of dignity and conceit, DiFranco led the Players through the fun and frightening play. The most interesting aspect of "Ten Little Indians" was that it actually sustained an element of surprise at its conclusion. A close observer could not fully predict the lunatic at hand, and those who relied on Christie's original ending were equally as surprised due to a change in the script. As a storm raged outside and only three scared guests remained, the unexpected climax unfolded. Screams, shots, and the timely ringing of the Sacred Heart bells all added to make an unexpected and twisted ending to a well-performed play.

Tickets are on sale at the O'Laughlin Box Office, priced at $7.50, $6.50 and $5.30. Phone orders by Visa or Mastercard are accepted. The number at the Box Office is (219) 284-4626. It promises to be a beautiful performance, so make an attempt to hear the music of the Lark.

MARK McLAUGHLIN

accent writer

All right, so it's a converted McDonald's. The food here will make you wish that more McDonald's would close.

The place is the Hunan Restaurant, located at 3262 Lincoln Way. It looks... well, like a McDonald's with curtains. But the inside is in typical Chinese restaurant decor, with red curtains, paper lanterns, and a Chinese zodiacal calendar on the placemat. The seats are plastic-covered, for some obscure reason, but the atmosphere is otherwise not too obnoxious.

The menu items range from $10 for a Hong Kong steak to $4.55 for egg foo young, with egg rolls ($2.95) and soup starters extra. Rice, tea, fortune cookies, and egg drop soup apparently come with the meal, since we got them without ordering them and weren't charged for them. Most of the dishes are in the $6 to $7 range.

The appetizer list had all the usual standbys, with egg rolls, fried shrimp, and the ever-popular combination platters. We tried the eggrolls and the potstickers, and were pleasantly surprised. The eggrolls were a bit greasy but quite large and tasty. The potstickers were correctly prepared and the sauce was a good complement, although a sugary substance had crystallized in it by the time we were finished. The aforementioned free egg drop soup was a bit bland, but the biggest disappointment were the condiments, with a chunky and too-sour sweet and sour sauce and a spicy but tasteless mustard.

The main course menu is predominantly Hunan and Szechwan, although dishes from other regions occasionally make an appearance. We were tempted to try the dinner for two, with two main courses, pork fried rice, and many appetizers for $15.95. The Kun-Pao Shrimp we ordered instead, however, was no disappointment. The shrimp in the dish were large and tasty, spiced up by an assortment of vegetables and a peanut sauce that was mild for Szechwan but adequate for Midwest spice tastes. We also sampled the beef fried rice, and found it to be fairly flavorful even without soy sauce.

Service was courteous, our order was not mixed up, and courses were brought out in the correct order, which puts the Hunan above most other Chinese restaurants I've been to in the area. However, we had to wait a little for our water glasses to be refilled (a pet peeve of mine) and a lot for our check. Oh well, you can't have everything. They were nice about giving us more fortune cookies when my guest wowed both of them down the first time. Why he did this, I don't know, since they were too thick and too well done.

We were at the Hunan for dinner but did notice their lunch special, which offered a choice of several dishes, soup and an egg roll for $3.50. Looked like a good deal to us. But we would go back for dinner as well, simply because the food is the best of South Bend's admittedly limited Chinese food offerings.

To get there, just take Ironwood Drive south until you hit Lincolnway, then turn right and look on the right. They're open 7 days a week from 11:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Weekends tend to be crowded, but otherwise don't worry about getting a table. Trust me, it's worth the trip. It's not New York Chinatown, but it's the best you'll find around here.
Thoughts for an athlete dying young

A poem by A.E. Housman called "To an Athlete Dying Young" contains the verses: "Smart lad, to slip betimes away From fields where glory does not stay! And early though the laurel grows!"

Last week, attending the memorial Mass for Bob Satterfield in Sacred Heart Church, I decided that "To an Athlete Dying Young" would be appropriate as a reading. The Notre Dame athlete taken from us early and the Shropshire lad of the poem lived in different worlds.

The Mass for Bob Satterfield was beautiful, but I wonder if, from a black perspective, it lacked soul. We needed Ethel Waters to liven things up with, "I sing because I'm happy," the song she gave us is of course a black Christ. Jesse Jackson says, "Nobody has a right to take away what they used to be."

You'd need poetry to describe what went on as those certified football champions filled the front pews of Sacred Heart Church to say goodbye to one of their own: black and white together, too much at home with each other as team buddies to be conscious of themselves except for the paths of glory lead but to the grave. Preferably, they will remember, in a painful way that spoils their fun, that the paths of glory lead but to the grave.

In the Temptations' "Papa Was a Rollin' Stone," black song writers speak frankly and explicitly about a key black male stereotype. "Papa was a rolling stone! Wherever he laid his hat was his home And when he died All he left us was alone."

Color Him Father" depicts an ideal male parent: steady, kind, protective and willing to struggle. The Westons sing, "I got to color him father!"

In a poem called "Heritage," a Shropshire lad of the poem, the athlete dying young, always remind us of Christ.

The good, dying young, always remind us of Christ.

"He that shall see this day/ Will yearly on the vigil feast his neighbors..."

From this day to the ending of the world, But we in it shall beremembered.
MONTEREY, Calif.—Bill Walsh went out a winner Thursday when he resigned as coach of the San Francisco 49ers and joined Vince Lombardis old team, the Raiders, as a defensive coordinator. Walsh was reported to be interested in getting a well-known coach to take over, while Walsh himself hard to be seen for Seifert.

Walsh also went on with the power struggle with owner Eddie DeBartolo Jr. as the 49ers selected defensive coordinator George Seifert as their new head coach. DeBartolo was reportedly interested in getting a well-known coach to take over, while Walsh himself hard to be seen for Seifert.

Walsh wants to stay on with the 49ers as executive vice president for football operations. Walsh coached the 49ers his third Super Bowl championship in the 1980s of the last Sunday, beating the Denver Broncos 38-28.

Regarding the 49ers, Walsh has been of the same team. Walsh joined the 49ers in 1979 after two years as head coach of the Washington Redskins. In his first season, the stumbling 49ers picked up a new coach in Seifert.

In 1981, the 49ers, with Joe Montana out of Notre Dame at quarterback, went 13-1 and defeated Cincinnati in the Super Bowl.

In shortened 1982, the 49ers went 6-4. But they bounced back to 10-6 in 1983 and in 1984 went 15-1, winning their second Super Bowl over the Miami Dolphins.

They went 10-6 in 1985, 10-5 in 1986 and 13-2 in 1987 but bred of dissent between Walsh and Montana. Montana won the team's first five to go 10-6 in the regular season.

Last season looked to be more of the same, and the 49ers at one point were just 6-5. Embroidered in a nasty quarter-back controversy and all but written off for the playoffs.

But Montana returned to form after Steve Young to the bench, the team won four of their last five to go 10-6 in the regular season.

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaPorte Student Center, accepts classifieds advertising from a newspaper. on Monday, 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggar College Center, accepts classifieds advertising from 12:00 p.m. on Monday, 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3:00 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. The charge is 10 cents per five characters per day.

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaPorte Student Center, accepts classifieds advertising from a newspaper. on Monday, 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggar College Center, accepts classifieds advertising from 12:00 p.m. on Monday, 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3:00 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. The charge is 10 cents per five characters per day.
Irish wrestler Jerry Dursy, shown here in his win against Nebraska's Dave Droegmuller, can move into first place on the Notre Dame all-time career victory list with two wins in this weekend's National Catholic wrestling meet.

'88 Interhall hoops heat up

By BARBARA MORAN
Sports Writer

As men's Interhall basketball action continues, several teams have emerged as leaders in their respective divisions.

Keenan Hall is currently in first place in the Big Sky division with a record of 4-0 after its recent 62-53 win over Planter. Captain Steve McCarthy cites a combination of rebounding strength and hard practice as the reasons for Keenan's success.

"Gary Anderson and Joe Hippler are great on the boards," said McCarthy, "and Tony Dill is a tough point guard and defensive player. We have three games left and a good shot at winning the division." Keenan will attempt to hold their first place slot against Stanford on Monday.

In the Big Ten league, undefeated Fisher is holding first place. Fisher will face a challenge when they play second place Pangborn in early February. Pangborn recently defeated Alumni to move into second place, and count on the play of high scorer Martin Somervell to move them into the playoffs.

The ACC league is being led by undefeated Morrissey. They will face their greatest challenge against the strong off-campus Invincibles. Second place in the ACC league is held by Carroll. Tough play by Bob Kloska and Joe Meyer has led the talented Morrissey squad.

The ACC league is being led in Division III, will present the towards the end of the season. Durso credits his success to the commitment of Catholic wrestling team hosts the National Catholic wrestling meet. McCann. "We're better balanced then we were last year and I think we can do it." The field of teams, including Marquette, Dayton, John Carroll, Manhattan, Sienna Heights, and LaSalle, should provide the Irish with a break from a schedule that has been one of the strongest nationwide.

"The schedule has been intense throughout the season, so we're using this as a break," said McCann. "But each team has a few wrestlers who can get to the finals." John Carroll, highly ranked in Division III, will present the Irish with the most problems. Record breaking almost surely will occur when senior co-captain Jerry Dursy takes the floor for his second match.

Dursy, a starter from beginning of his five years at Notre Dame, needs two more wins to break the record of most wins in a career, which now stands at 118.

"Numbers aren't really important to me," said Dursy, ranked seventh in the nation. "I stayed healthy for four years and the wins just came along." Dursy credits his success to the coaches and program that has gained ground over the last few years. "The new coaches were here during my freshman year and they started what has become a stable program. We also have some really good guys to work out with and that helps everyone," said Dursy.

"My greatest goal is to become a National Champion or All-American. I'd like to peak toward the end of the season so we can do well at nationals," said the 134 pounder.

The Observer

The independent student newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is accepting applications for the following position:

DAY EDITOR

For further information contact Jim Winkler at The Observer (239-5303)

HAPPY 19TH BIRTHDAY TO #8, 32, 19, 12

MUCH LOVE, MOM, DAD, ED, CHRIS AND BRANDY

SUMMER 1989

Like children? Like the outdoors? Like Water Activities?

Be a counselor in Pine River, MN at CAMP FOLEY

We Will Be On Campus Jan 30 10:00-3:00 O'Hara Lounge La Fortune

Now hiring counselors in 14 areas including swimming, tennis, sailing, and many more.

Questions? Call Mike 283-3520

CATHOLIC FAITH SERIES

CATHOLIC FAITH AND DOUBT

The Mind's Search for God

Is the mind to stop asking questions and reason to be "left behind" in the commitment of religious faith? How does the Roman Catholic tradition address these questions in the lives and writings of its holy and great thinkers?

KATHERINE TILLMAN, Ph.D. Associate Professor, Program of Liberal Studies will address these questions on Sunday, Jan 29 and on Tuesday, Jan. 31 in Keenan Chapel 7-8:30 pm.

For further information call Sister Mary Curran, CSC, Campus Ministry 239-5242

FRIDAY, JAN 27

THE TERMINATOR

8 &10:15 pm
Engineering Auditorium
$2

SATURDAY, JAN 28

THE UNTouchABLeS

THEY COULDN'T BE BOUGHT. THEY WOULDN'T BE STOLEN.
Irish hockey battles Canisius in weekend series

By FRANK PASTOR
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame hockey team hopes to continue "doing the little things right" this weekend when it hosts Canisius in a two-game series at the Joyce ACC.

Starting times for the Friday and Saturday games will be 7:30 p.m.

The Irish (7-21-2) have won three of their last four games, including last Saturday's 4-2 victory over Lake Forest. According to Coach Pat Schafer, solid play away from the puck has been the key to Notre Dame's recent string of victories.

"We've been paying particular attention to the little things that make a difference," said Schafer. "Checking somebody away from the play, keeping them tied up so they can't break in for an open shot."

"It's the plays away from the puck that win hockey games. We payed a little more attention to that last Saturday night, and it paid dividends for us."

Another factor that has contributed to Notre Dame's improved play is its increased productivity in the scoring department.

Right wing Tim Kuehli, who leads the Irish with 16 goals this season, has scored seven goals in his last four games. Left wing Mike Hanzel, Notre Dame's second-leading scorer with 15 goals, has netted eight goals in his last eight games.

"We scored more away from the puck that we usually do," said Schafer.

"That helped the cause-to be up and playing with confidence. It would be nice to jump out to a lead in both games this weekend and then carry on from there."

Canisius (10-6-1) is led by left wing Mike Slye, who paces the team with 16 goals and 32 points. Right wing Dave Vahbecki (8-15-23) and defenseman Craig Jantz (6-13-19) also play prominent roles for the Ice Griffins. Goalie Scott Diedohl has posted a 9.6-1 record in 15 games this season, while giving up an average of 3.50 goals per game.

"We had two good games with them last year," said Schafer, referring to Notre Dame's 5-4 and 7-4 victories at Canisius. "They're a Division I hockey team as we are, but I don't think they have many scholarships, as we don't."

"I think we've gonna have a good game this weekend. All we have to do is keep playing the way we did last Saturday night."

Notre Dame might have to play without the services of right wing Mark McClew this weekend. McClew has spent most of the week in the infirmary and is listed as questionable for the weekend series.

Women's tennis battles Minnesota

By CHRIS COONEY
Sports Writer

Two of the best women's tennis teams in the region will face off this Saturday when No.4 Notre Dame travels to Milwaukee, Wis., to confront No.5 Minnesota. The Gophers are currently ranked fourth in the Big Ten.

"We're going to have to give it our all," said Irish head coach Michele Gelfman. "Our top players are just about there so the matches should be excellent."

One such battle will occur when Notre Dame's No.1 player, CeCe Cahill, meets Minnesota's Ann Gordie. Cahill is ranked fifth in the region while Gordie occupies the eighth position.

The two have never played before and because they have such diverse styles, the outcome cannot be easily predicted.

"CeCe is a baseliner, consistent, with finesse and a great lob," said Gelfman. "Gordie, on the other hand, is a serve-and-volleyer. She's not afraid to approach the net and she's a sound midcourt game. Their opposing techniques should make the match exciting." Gordon currently stands at No.3 in the nation before and because they have such diverse styles, the outcome cannot be easily predicted.

In doubles, the top Irish combination of Cahill and Tracy Barton will take on Minnesota's Gordie and Natalie Breitag.

"We're going to have to give it our all," said Irish head coach Michele Gelfman. "Our top players are just about there so the matches should be excellent."

One such battle will occur when Notre Dame's No.1 player, CeCe Cahill, meets Minnesota's Ann Gordie. Cahill is ranked fifth in the region while Gordie occupies the eighth position.

The two have never played before and because they have such diverse styles, the outcome cannot be easily predicted.

"CeCe is a baseliner, consistent, with finesse and a great lob," said Gelfman. "Gordie, on the other hand, is a serve-and-volleyer. She's not afraid to approach the net and she's a sound midcourt game. Their opposing techniques should make the match exciting." Gordon currently stands at No.3 in the nation before and because they have such diverse styles, the outcome cannot be easily predicted.

In doubles, the top Irish combination of Cahill and Tracy Barton will take on Minnesota's Gordie and Natalie Breitag.

Breitag, Cahill and Barton are ranked sixth in the region while Gordie and Breitag are eighth. Notre Dame will be without No.4 singles player Kristy Davis while one of the top Irish doubles teams also lined up includes Cahill, followed by Barton, Katie Clark, Kim Pacella, Tyler Musleh and Natalie Illig.

While the contest between Notre Dame and the Gophers is the first between the two schools, the Irish hold a 7-0 record over Marquette, the team they will face on Sunday.

"I don't expect any problems with Gordie," said Gelfman. "Their best competitor will play Cahill and CeCe's been beaten her before."

The weekend matches are Notre Dame's first of the regular season. The Irish hope to establish a winning pace right out of the gate.

"Most of the girls played in tournaments and stuck to their lifting programs," said Gelfman. "They're not afraid to approach the net and they're still on top of their games."

Career Opportunities with ECOLAB

Interested in career opportunities with a fast growing premium service company? Ecolab is the leading worldwide developer and marketer of premium institutional and residential services. Our worldwide institutional business includes cleaning products and services for the hospitality and food processing markets. Residential services are provided by our ChemLawn subsidiary. Ecolab is a $1.2 billion company positioned for rapid growth.

Our Residential Services Group is the market leader in each of its key processing markets. Residential services are provided by our ChemLawn subsidiary. Ecolab is currently ranked fourth in the Big Ten.

One of the best women's tennis teams in the region will face off this Saturday when No.4 Notre Dame travels to Milwaukee, Wis. to confront No.5 Minnesota. The Gophers are currently ranked fourth in the Big Ten.

"We're going to have to give it our all," said Irish head coach Michele Gelfman. "Our top players are just about there so the matches should be excellent."

One such battle will occur when Notre Dame's No.1 player, CeCe Cahill, meets Minnesota's Ann Gordie. Cahill is ranked fifth in the region while Gordie occupies the eighth position.

The two have never played before and because they have such diverse styles, the outcome cannot be easily predicted.

"CeCe is a baseliner, consistent, with finesse and a great lob," said Gelfman. "Gordie, on the other hand, is a serve-and-volleyer. She's not afraid to approach the net and she's a sound midcourt game. Their opposing techniques should make the match exciting." Gordon currently stands at No.3 in the nation before and because they have such diverse styles, the outcome cannot be easily predicted.

In doubles, the top Irish combination of Cahill and Tracy Barton will take on Minnesota's Gordie and Natalie Breitag.

Breitag, Cahill and Barton are ranked sixth in the region while Gordie and Breitag are eighth. Notre Dame will be without No.4 singles player Kristy Davis while one of the top Irish doubles teams also lined up includes Cahill, followed by Barton, Katie Clark, Kim Pacella, Tyler Musleh and Natalie Illig.

While the contest between Notre Dame and the Gophers is the first between the two schools, the Irish hold a 7-0 record over Marquette, the team they will face on Sunday.

"I don't expect any problems with Gordie," said Gelfman. "Their best competitor will play Cahill and CeCe's been beaten her before."

The weekend matches are Notre Dame's first of the regular season. The Irish hope to establish a winning pace right out of the gate. The team did not practice over winter vacation; however, the women did play on their own.

"Most of the girls played in tournaments and stuck to their lifting programs," said Gelfman. "They're not afraid to approach the net and they're still on top of their games."
Irish race Cyclones, Badgers

By MOLLY MAHONEY
Sports Writer

Saturday will definitely not be just another stroll in the park for the Notre Dame men’s track team when it travels to Madison, Wis. to take on Big Ten powerhouse Wisconsin and Iowa State.

But the Irish have momentum after beating Loyola last week to claim the Midwestern track team when it travels to be just another stroll in the park for the Notre Dame men’s State, Collegiate Conference title and of polished distance runners, as country champion--on their Iowa Madison, Wis. to take on Big tum after beating Loyola last the nation, so the distance earned All-American honors- -defending national cross the tri-meet. IC4As in both events, will be known for his rocket-like speed meter dash and a 23.37 in the first place and qualified for the Smith, who won the long jump with a leap of 7.81 will need to turn qualified for fu- ture meets."
LNO Schedule

9 p.m. Halfcourt Basketball
Water Lacrosse
Nerf Football
Inner tube Water Polo
Raquetball Singles
Indoor Soccer
Dunk Tank

10 p.m. Whiffle Ball
Volleyball

10:30 p.m.
Arm Wrestling
Table Tennis
Obstacle Course Relay
Open Skating

11 p.m.
Broomball

Late Night Olympics returns

NVA's big event is more than just a good time

By BARBARA MORAN Sports Writer

For all you sports fans out there who hate pre-dawn jogging and 9-05 physical education classes, do not dispair: the Late Night Olympics have finally arrived!

The third annual Late Night Olympics will be held tonight from 9 p.m. to 4 a.m., in the JACC.

All 26 Notre Dame and St. Mary's halls are entered in the Olympics and will participate in events ranging from inner-tube water polo to broomball to nerf football.

Each dorm will be grouped with two or three other dorms to make up each team. Teams will score points not only for winning events, but also for the number of games they participate in, and for involvement in the Not-Quite-Olympic games, such as the celebrity dunking booth. The dunking booth will feature many Notre Dame celebrities, including football players Tony Rice, George Williams and Frank Stamps and the Notre Dame Jerecichan.

All the events will be run simultaneously, and the game length and format for each tournament will be determined by the number of entries in each event.

Spectators are also welcome and the charge for admission be 50 cents. The public will be allowed to take part in several events, such as the dunk tank, and there will be open skating on the ice rink after 10:30 PM. A concession stand will also be open, and commemorative t-shirts will be sold.

The admission cost, together with the $100.00 entry fee donated by each team, will go toward the grand prize for the winning team and also to benefit the St. Joseph County Special Olympics. In addition to the money prize, the winning team will also receive a pizza party donated by the Alumni Association.

Although over 1000 competitors participated last year, an even greater turnout is expected this year.

"Last year we had to compete with Notre Dame and the Keenan Revue," said NVA official Matthew Halsey. "We're expecting a lot more people this year -- it should be a lot of fun.

Assistant NVA director Sally Derengowski agreed:

"We're expecting a bigger turnout this year. Team entries for every sport but one have gone up -- it's very encouraging.

"We're hoping 1000-2000 people to participate and to raise over $2000 for the St. Joseph's County Special Olympics."

This Spring Break, go Greyhound instead.

For just $49.50 each way, you and your friends can afford to pile on Greyhound. Whether it's the beach, the slopes or your hometown, going Greyhound won't cramp your style.

$49.50 each way based on round-trip purchase.

4671 Terminal Drive • 287-4541

Most present valid college ID card upon purchase. Nothern discount apply. Tickets are non-transferable and good only for travel on Greyhound and other participating carriers. For tickets, check out some NVA's Secret fares. Some restrictions apply. Spring break fare available 2/1 through 4/30 and is subject to change without notice. ©1999Greyhound Lines, Inc.

Owls

continued from page 20

does not mean less of a challenge for the Irish.

"Their record this year is no indication of how well they're able to play in a game," Phelps said. "Knowing how good a coach John Chaney is, and knowing how good Vreeswyk and Mac are as players, they'll shoot the ball as well as anybody we play.

"They'll play smart defense, that match-up zone which they've done for years. I think we'll have to play with a lot of concentration. We have to know where the shooters are as well as where the gaps are.

"Temple looks for the deep jump shot frequently, hitting 11-of-27 three-point tries this season, led by Mac (36-of-40) and Vreeswyk (47-of-112). Other starters for the Owls are 6-6 forward Ernest Pollard, 6-7 freshman forward Milik Kim, and 6-1 center Duane Causewell, who leads the team with 9.1 rebounds per game.

"Notre Dame may be without the services of junior center James Jackson, who hyperextended his knee in a collision with teammate LaPhonso Ellis against Rutgers Tuesday night. Jackson did not practice Thursday, and his status is day-to-day. Without him, the Irish will look to two freshman guards from Texas, Elmer Bennett and Daimes Sweet.

"If (Jackson) doesn't go, we've got to go with Elmer or Daimes," Phelps said. "We'll see what happens. The Texas Express is ready to go.

"We're getting our depth to play with confidence. I think that's starting to show. The other night when Jamere got hurt, Sweet came off the bench and scored 15. We want to get eight or nine guys playing in that rhythm we want to play.

"Sophomore forward Kevin Ellery, who has missed action because of an outstanding grade, was still in limbo Thursday, with no decision yet being made on his eligibility.

Rounding out the starters for the Irish will be forwards Ellis and Keith Robinson and guards Joe Fredrick and Tim Singleton.
Sweet gets put on the spot
Irish freshman responds with 15 points against Rutgers

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Assistant Sports Editor

Notre Dame basketball fans knew what they were losing when Jamere Jackson, one of their team's most consistent players, hyperextended his knee Tuesday night against Rutgers.

But they probably had no idea what they were getting in return.

Da'mon Sweet, a 6-5 freshman from Beaumont, Tex., who had scored a total of 22 points in Notre Dame's first 11 games, replaced Jackson and scored 15 points in his 31 minutes on the floor. Sweet's performance helped turn what had been a close game into an 85-61 Notre Dame runaway.

"Dannon Sweet played his best game as far as I'm concerned,"said Digger Phelps. "He did some good things that don't show up in the box score. He played well, and we'll need him for the big stretch.

While Sweet's performance surprised many observers who had not seen him on the court yet for an extended period of time, it did not catch any of his teammates off guard.

"He's been playing that all year in practice," said Irish guard and co-captain Joe Fredrick. "It's just a matter of coming onto the court. He played well, and we'll need him for the big games down the stretch."

Sweet, who is seeing playing time at both guard and forward, credited a major factor coming off the Irish bench at about the same time as classmate and fellow Texan Elmer Bennett.

"I think Sweet and Bennett are getting more confidence as the season goes on," said Phelps. "As freshmen, I think they're doing an outstanding job to add to the backcourt."

The two teammates, who both come from the Houston area, are not exactly strangers before arriving at Notre Dame.

Bennett, who led the state of Texas in scoring during his junior and senior seasons at Houston Bellevue High, met Sweet at the BCI (Basketball Congress International) All-Star Camp after both players had completed their junior years in high school. That started a friendship between the two players both on and off the court.

"We've been playing together on national teams, traveling together and playing with the Greater Houston all-star team," said Sweet. "He (Bennett) was the main influence on my decision to come here."

Sweet almost went elsewhere for college basketball. was even giving Notre Dame a second look. He had verbally committed to Southern Methodist and was waiting for his SAT scores to arrive when he decided to start looking at some other schools.

About that time, the star of Beaumont Central High received a phone call from a friend in Houston.

"Notre Dame really wasn't interested in me at first," said Sweet. "Elmer called me one night and said, 'Guess what, Notre Dame's interested in you.' Coach (John) Shumate said he was going to give you a call this week."

"He (Shumate) called, and I was overwhelmed by the fact he did call," Sweet continued. "We arranged a visit to come to the Notre Dame campus I came up one weekend, and I had a pretty nice time. I believe Fr. Malloy was there. I met him, Prof. DeCicco and a couple of other influential people. When I returned home, I decided to attend Notre Dame."

Shumate, the Irish assistant coach last year who recruited Notre Dame's talented five-player freshman class, now is the new head coach at Southern Methodist. Ironically, Sweet's recent progress dates back to last week's 67-45 win over the school he almost attended and the coach who lured him away.

"It was an emotional game, but I tried not to let it affect me," said Sweet. "I try to put those things aside when I'm playing. If you have a lot of things on your mind when you're playing and worry about anything besides basketball, it tends to mess you up."

Since that time, Sweet has scored four points in his next three games against Syracuse, poured in 15 points in 17 minutes on the court.

"People have given me a lot of nicknames, 'Too Sweet,' " said Sweet. "Brown Sugar,' all kinds of stuff," said Sweet, whose last name evidently is easy fodder for people who make up such things. "but I never heard this before."

If Sweet continues to progress like he has in the last two weeks, Notre Dame fans could be hearing it an awful lot over the next few years.

Irish
continued from page 20

clock buzzer. Further, the Irish inside strength took over, as classmate and fellow Texan Elmer Bennett.

"He's been playing that all year in practice," said Irish guard and co-captain Joe Fredrick. "It's just a matter of coming onto the court. He played well, and we'll need him for the big stretch.

Sweet, who is seeing playing time at both guard and forward, credited a major factor coming off the Irish bench at about the same time as classmate and fellow Texan Elmer Bennett.

"I think Sweet and Bennett are getting more confidence as the season goes on," said Phelps. "As freshmen, I think they're doing an outstanding job to add to the backcourt."

The two teammates, who both come from the Houston area, are not exactly strangers before arriving at Notre Dame.

Bennett, who led the state of Texas in scoring during his junior and senior seasons at Houston Bellevue High, met Sweet at the BCI (Basketball Congress International) All-Star Camp after both players had completed their junior years in high school. That started a friendship between the two players both on and off the court.

"We've been playing together on national teams, traveling together and playing with the Greater Houston all-star team," said Sweet. "He (Bennett) was the main influence on my decision to come here."

Sweet almost went elsewhere for college basketball. was even giving Notre Dame a second look. He had verbally committed to Southern Methodist and was waiting for his SAT scores to arrive when he decided to start looking at some other schools.

About that time, the star of Beaumont Central High received a phone call from a friend in Houston.

"Notre Dame really wasn't interested in me at first," said Sweet. "Elmer called me one night and said, 'Guess what, Notre Dame's interested in you.' Coach (John) Shumate said he was going to give you a call this week."

"He (Shumate) called, and I was overwhelmed by the fact he did call," Sweet continued. "We arranged a visit to come to the Notre Dame campus I came up one weekend, and I had a pretty nice time. I believe Fr. Malloy was there. I met him, Prof. DeCicco and a couple of other influential people. When I returned home, I decided to attend Notre Dame."

Shumate, the Irish assistant coach last year who recruited Notre Dame's talented five-player freshman class, now is the new head coach at Southern Methodist. Ironically, Sweet's recent progress dates back to last week's 67-45 win over the school he almost attended and the coach who lured him away.

"It was an emotional game, but I tried not to let it affect me," said Sweet. "I try to put those things aside when I'm playing. If you have a lot of things on your mind when you're playing and worry about anything besides basketball, it tends to mess you up."

Since that time, Sweet has scored four points in his next three games against Syracuse, poured in 15 points in 17 minutes on the court.

"People have given me a lot of nicknames, 'Too Sweet,' " said Sweet. "Brown Sugar,' all kinds of stuff," said Sweet, whose last name evidently is easy fodder for people who make up such things. "but I never heard this before."

If Sweet continues to progress like he has in the last two weeks, Notre Dame fans could be hearing it an awful lot over the next few years.
DINNER MENUS

Notre Dame:
Fried Clam Rolls
Bouillon
Apple Pancakes with toppings

Saint Mary's:
Fish Parisienne
Beef Tacos
Vegetable Kabobs

Saint Joseph's:
Apple Pancakes with toppings

Deli Bar:
Vegetable Kabobs

NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD

Across
1 Mine is the pity! (10)
6 Primal component (4,6)
10 —— morgana
14 Bombay bigwig (11)
15 Bowquet
16 Monumental (7,3)
17 Almost simultaneously (4)
20 Circle measure
21 Magistrate in ancient Rome
22 Lawyer’s thing
23 Laughed like a gibbon
25 First name of a Wharton man
26 Palette color
29 Helkites
31 Needelfish
32 Bedstaff
36 La’s lead-in (6)
37 He arouses a woman’s fury (9)
40 O’Neill monogram
41 Egyptian king
43 Egg Combo form
44 Ending with nor or sou
46 Throat
48 Across Speare
49 Coal miners
52 —— Kruger
55 Tremendous leader
57 Zorba

Down
1 Nickname of a famous Greek
2 Catch a carp
3 Oppositionist
4 Resembling part of Africa
5 Bullfighters’ maneuvers
6 Part of Q.E.D
7 Tauke a problem
8 —— Tragedy’s Deserter
9 Collar
10 —— of Blue Eyes
11 Judge’s role
12 Kind of page or role
13 Felt pity for
14 Corrects a text
15 Network in one’s body
16 —— (forsook)
17 Almost
18 Coat
19 Bovver
20 —— of the podium
21 —— of Aeneas
22 —— prides oneself
23 TV’s "—— Make a Deal"
24 —— sidestep
25 News
26 —— than you think
27 —— of some motorists
28 The cops, to think
29 —— of Q.E.D
30 —— of Q.E.D
31 —— of Q.E.D
32 —— of Q.E.D
33 —— of Q.E.D
34 —— of Q.E.D
35 —— of Q.E.D
36 —— of Q.E.D
37 —— of Q.E.D
38 —— of Q.E.D
39 —— of Q.E.D
40 —— of Q.E.D
41 —— of Q.E.D
42 —— of Q.E.D
43 —— of Q.E.D
44 —— of Q.E.D
45 —— of Q.E.D
46 —— of Q.E.D
47 —— of Q.E.D
48 —— of Q.E.D
49 —— of Q.E.D
50 —— of Q.E.D
51 —— of Q.E.D
52 —— of Q.E.D
53 —— of Q.E.D
54 —— of Q.E.D
55 —— of Q.E.D
56 —— of Q.E.D
57 —— of Q.E.D
58 —— of Q.E.D
59 —— of Q.E.D
60 —— of Q.E.D

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

15 Bouquet monogram ending
16 Monumental
17 Almost simultaneously
18 Corrects a text
19 Network in one’s body
20 —— (forsook)
21 —— Bovver
22 —— of Blue Eyes
23 —— of Aeneas
24 —— of Aeneas
25 —— of Aeneas
26 —— of Aeneas
27 —— of Aeneas
28 —— of Aeneas
29 —— of Aeneas
30 —— of Aeneas
31 —— of Aeneas
32 —— of Aeneas
33 —— of Aeneas
34 —— of Aeneas
35 —— of Aeneas
36 —— of Aeneas
37 —— of Aeneas
38 —— of Aeneas
39 —— of Aeneas
40 —— of Aeneas
41 —— of Aeneas
42 —— of Aeneas
43 —— of Aeneas
44 —— of Aeneas
45 —— of Aeneas
46 —— of Aeneas
47 —— of Aeneas
48 —— of Aeneas
49 —— of Aeneas
50 —— of Aeneas
51 —— of Aeneas
52 —— of Aeneas
53 —— of Aeneas
54 —— of Aeneas
55 —— of Aeneas
56 —— of Aeneas
57 —— of Aeneas
58 —— of Aeneas
59 —— of Aeneas
60 —— of Aeneas

COMICS

Bloom County

Jerk

ON THE RUN

IN A NEW SERIES

IN A NEW SERIES

IN A NEW SERIES

Berkie Breathed

The Far Side

Gary Larson

STUDENT UNION BOARD Presents...

MOVIES

Coming February 24 -- The first All-Campus SYR!! Watch for details...
Irish break up Musketeers

Freshman Newlin keys victory with 17 points, 10 boards

By TIM SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's basketball team faced the Temple Owls Sunday afternoon, it will be another in a series of "big games" for the Irish.

"I think we're fortunate enough to be able to schedule power games," Irish head coach Digger Phelps said. "That gives us an opportunity to take this young team and let them play people, let them get used to it."

Karen Robinson (with ball) looks for the shot in Notre Dame's win over Xavier. Lady Musketeers at the Joyce ACC last night. Tim Sullivan details the action at right.

Irish freshman Elmeter Bennett will play a big role in the game against the Temple Owls as he and fellow freshman Daimon Sweet help the Irish run the clock on the Musketeers. After a 60-57 Lady Musketeer run to close the score to 24-20 in the first half, Notre Dame finished the game strongly for a 35-24 lead. The game was won by Notre Dame's superclass offensive play against the Temple Owls, who are ranked No. 1 in the country. Notre Dame finished the game strongly for a 35-24 lead. The game was won by Notre Dame's superclass offensive play against the Temple Owls, who are ranked No. 1 in the country.

The papers they talked up the Heisman,

But Xavier continued to stay close, despite a pesky Irish press and an aggressive 2-3 zone. The Lady Musketeers boasted the MCC Player of the Week in Kelly Benintendi and the MCC three-point percentage leader in Kim Blan-...

I'm not going to write about the Owls, but I will write about the Irish. We're keying on 30 (Benintendi) and 3 (Blanton)," said McMillan, "and the other girl (Durham) wound up hurrying us. It was kind of (the coaches) fault.

"We were keying on 30 (Benintendi) and 3 (Blanton)," said McMillan, "and the other girl (Durham) wound up hurrying us. It was kind of (the coaches) fault."

And forgot his teammate wasn't Smagala.

"We were keying on 30 (Benintendi) and 3 (Blanton)," said McMillan, "and the other girl (Durham) wound up hurrying us. It was kind of (the coaches) fault.

And forgot his teammate wasn't Smagala.

"We were keying on 30 (Benintendi) and 3 (Blanton)," said McMillan, "and the other girl (Durham) wound up hurrying us. It was kind of (the coaches) fault.

And forgot his teammate wasn't Smagala.

"We were keying on 30 (Benintendi) and 3 (Blanton)," said McMillan, "and the other girl (Durham) wound up hurrying us. It was kind of (the coaches) fault.