Breslin, Rask to compete in run-off election

District One Senate race also in Wednesday vote

Failure of a candidate to receive more than 50 percent of the votes in Monday's campus wide election has forced a run-off election for student body president and vice president and District One student senator.

The run-off election, which will be held Wednesday, will be between the student body president/vice presidential tickets of Matt Breslin and Dave Kinkopf, and Tom Rask and Melissa Smith.

In the District One Student Senate runoff, Scott Murray will face Chris Frigon.

"Obviously we were happy we were able to get so many votes, but it would have been nice to have it all over with tonight," said Breslin who, with Kinkopf, received 1,845 votes or 43.72 percent of the total vote.

"We're very pleased, we're very excited to be in it this far," said Rask. He and Smith received 781 votes or 18.76 percent of the vote total.

In the District One Senate race, Frigon received 487 votes or 43.72 percent of the total vote. Murray received 302 votes or 27.44 percent.

"Going into the race with three candidates, the probability of a run-off was high," said Frigon. "I was encouraged by the voter turnout and the amount of votes that I received," he said.

Murray said his "initial reaction was to get out there and get some posters out."

A third candidate, Jim Neils received 222 votes or 23.85 percent, but failed to win enough votes to include him in the run-off.

In the District Two Senate race, Michael Gaffney defeated Megan Hines by a margin of 438 to 344 votes or 55.9 percent to 44.1 percent.

In District Four, Sigi Loyda

A lack of regular student election proceedings at Fisher Hall may have played a part in the subsequent runoff election for student body president.

Voting was not opened in Fisher at all on Monday, forcing Ondulmanus Rules Committee chairman Pat Stadter to start a door-to-door vote drive on Monday night. The regular voting did not take place because of "miscommunication," said Stadter and ball Judicial Board chairman Mike Steinlage.

"(Matt) Breslin and (Tom) Rask were about even in Fisher," said Stadter. He added that no one could be whe-

Sophomore tailback Tony Brooks, the second-leading rusher on the national champion Fighting Irish football team, was arrested and ticketed for a hit-and-run accident and driving with a suspended license, South Bend police said Monday.

No one was injured in the accident, which occurred Sunday at 3:18 a.m. when a car driven by a South Bend man was sideswiped as a car ahead of him attempted a U-turn, police said.

Stonebreaker case forwarded to prosecutor, decision by Wednesday

Associated Press

The investigation report into a car accident involving Notre Dame linebacker Michael Stonebreaker was forwarded Monday to the county prosecutor, who may decide within 48 hours whether to file charges, police said.

Stonebreaker, 22, of River Ridge, La., and a passenger in his car, Ursula Garzia, 26, of Foxboro, Mass., were injured early Saturday when Stonebreaker's car left the road less than a mile north of campus and struck a sign pole on Route 33.

Stonebreaker, an All-America selection on the national championship Notre Dame football team, was in fair condition Monday at Memorial Hospital with a broken right knee and dislocated right hip.

Garzia remained in serious condition with internal injur-

Tests showed Stonebreaker had a blood-alcohol level of .127 percent after the accident. Indiana's legal intoxication level is .10 percent.

The test results and accident report were given to St. Joseph County Prosecutor Michael Barnes, said Cpl. Charles Feir, chief of the county sheriff's office.

SMC Board looks at poor attendance

By LAUREL VITALE

Poor attendance at campus events this semester was the topic of Monday's Saint Mary's Programming Board meeting. Lisa Hill, vice president for Student Affairs, expressed her disappointment with the low student body turn-out to last week's Winterfest activities. Hill believes that the publicity for planned campus activities has been thorough and the entertainment has been of high quality.

"We hope to get more future support from the student body for the hard work put into events by the Student Activities Board and the entertainers themselves," said Hill.

The Board will sell St. Patrick's Day T-shirts beginning March 12. The shirts will be sold in the Haggar College Center game room and will cost approximately $7.

Student government is also co-sponsoring with Logan Center the sale of green clown noses for St. Patrick's Day. The noses are $1 and available now in Haggar game room or from board members.

Student Senate clarifies SUB role

By FLORENTINE HOELKER

Although provisions were proposed to clarify the financial activities of SUB, Paese objected that they would not be enough.

Student Body President Tom Doyle emphasized that since SUB board members are not elected by the student body and because SUB has the largest budget of any student organization, both their financial and their general policies should be under closer scrutiny of the senate.

SUB manager Brian Reilly held that the provision to review the financial activities would suffice, but student government and other members of senate disagreed.

The issue was resolved with a proposal to add a new article to the constitution. The new article would create a council composed of the student body president, the SUB manager, and the Hall President Council chairperson.

This council would discuss the policies of each represented organization, including SUB, and would report any mis-management to senate.

The new constitutional article was unanimously approved, along with other minor changes regarding SUB.

In the presidential race, the ticket of Dan (King) Fahey and Pat Russell, vice president, the Hall President Council Mike Paese, received 506 votes or 35.64 percent.

All four candidates in the run-off elections were optimistic of their chances in the runoffs.

Doctors say Stonebreaker could be discharged later this week and transferred to the Notre Dame infirmary to continue his recovery. Bankoff said he will be on crutches for a month.

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME
Circuit Court of Appeals ruled the South Bend plan amounted to unlawful reverse discrimination. The appeals court said a disparity between the percentage of black employees in safety jobs and the percentage in the city's population was too vague to warrant denying jobs to white applicants.

The suit was brought by Timothy Janowiak, who claimed he was unfairly denied a fire department job because of race. "We are now set to come back down here and get ready for trial," said Thomas Bodnar, chief deputy city attorney.

The city has new evidence not presented in the original case to support the need for the plan, said Bodnar. It includes figures showing the percentage of minorities in the city's workforce, rather than in the general population. The city had been unable to provide that figure when the courts asked for it earlier, he said.

"It could be at least a year before the trial begins," Bodnar said.

Janowiak's attorney, Patrick McFadden, said his client would consider discussing a settlement with the city. A trial, if one is held, might be limited to issues of damages or Janowiak's employment by the department, McFadden added.

The challenged affirmative action plan has remained in place during litigation, Bodnar said. Black and Hispanic police employees currently make up about 17 percent of the police department and 13 percent of the fire department, he said.

Census statistics from 1980 indicated the minority population of the city was about 20 percent. The percentage of minorities in the workforce did not exceed 1 percent or 2 percent, he said.

Indiana House passes bill to ban random drug testing in workplace

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, would permit drug tests only when there was probable cause to believe a worker, job applicant or student athlete was abusing drugs.

High school and college athletes, including those now under school or NCAA orders to undergo random tests, would be protected from random testing under the legislation.

However, the bill does not cover professional athletes whose collective bargaining agreements permit random testing and world-class amateurs who must take tests to compete in international competitions such as the Olympics and Pan American games.

Mass transit workers also could be tested. New federal regulations call for testing of those workers.

Rep. Jerome Reppa, R-Munster, called the bill "a terrible piece of legislation." "I wonder what kind of message we're sending to our children with this kind of bill," said Reppa.

Reppa also said the bill would undo two Tippecanoe County high schools' drug testing programs that have been upheld by federal courts. A federal district court at the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals have upheld the plan of Lafayette Harrison and McCutcheon high schools to test athletes and cheerleaders.

Reppa said lawmakers should instead support Senate Bill 265, which would permit drug testing of employees and job applicants but establish a protocol for conducting the tests. The measure doesn't apply to students.

That bill sponsored by Sen. Patricia Miller, R-Indianapolis, passed the Senate Monday on a 26-24 vote.

The bill would require companies to put their drug testing policies in writing; use specific testing methods and safeguards to ensure samples were not altered; allow re-testing if a sample tested positive; and allow employers to discipline, fire, refuse to hire or require rehabilitation for workers who tested positive for drugs.

The bill also would set up an appeals process for employees but would make employers who acted in good faith immune from civil lawsuits by employees who had false-positive test results.

Sen. John Buhenmi, D-Gary, said he opposed the bill because it would allow testing to be conducted randomly and without probable cause.

Bush returns after 5-day Asian trip

Associated Press

WASHINGTON -- President Bush returned home Monday night from a five-day Asian voyage that he pronounced a "productive and rewarding" journey and moved to take personal command of the struggle to win confirmation for John Tower as defense secretary.

In a prepared statement he read at the foot of the ramp to Air Force One, Bush said his trip to Japan, China and South Korea demonstrated that the United States "is and will remain a Pacific power."

"It's great to be home. God bless the United States of America," Bush said in the chilly darkness at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. Vice President Dan Quayle was on hand to welcome the president back from his first overseas voyage.

In his brief statement, the president said he had had "thoughtful and candid conversations" with world leaders, including the several he met with in Japan, where he attended the funeral of Emperor Hirohito. From there he went to China for two days, followed by a five-hour stopover in Seoul.

"I return tonight pleased with the progress made toward lasting and mutually beneficial relationships," Bush said. He said work remains to be done toward encouraging the growth of democracy, working for human rights and strengthening international alliances.

But in comments to reporters just before his plane touched down, he said, "No one has challenged his qualifications to head the Pentagon."

"I don't have any predictions nor do I plan to except to say I haven't wavered one iota and I don't intend to," he said.

Asked whether Tower's weeklong voyage of alcohol abstinence would help his chances, Bush laughed and said, "I don't know."

PROBLEM:

A Notre Dame student and a St. Mary's student have flights to catch at O'Hare Airport in Chicago. Assuming they both want to enjoy every minute of their break, what mode of transportation should they use to get from South Bend to O'Hare?

a) car
b) commuter flight from Michiana Regional Airport
c) United Limo

SOLUTION:

City traffic, tolls and parking charges clearly make traveling by car an incorrect answer.

And while "a" may seem to be a good solution, remember that any kind of delay in South Bend could mean missing flights at O'Hare. Or, worse yet, cancellation in South Bend could mean... well, let's just say it could be a nightmare.

If you answered "b", congratulations! Not only is United Limo the most reliable mode of transportation to O'Hare, it also offers the lowest fare, the most convenient departure/arrival point for the most convenient departure/arrival point for the students.

FAA has ‘no plans’ for new cargo door locks on 747s

Associated Press
WASHINGTON—The Federal Aviation Administration said Monday it has no plans to speed up mandatory changes in cargo door locks on older Boeing 747s even though investigators are looking at a door malfunction as the most likely cause of the accident that killed nine people over the Pacific Ocean.

The FAA last summer gave airlines up to two years to strengthen damaged locks on older models of the jumbo jet. As for Friday’s incident, in which part of the right side of a United Airlines 747 ripped off, taking two rows of seats with it, FAA spokesman Fred Farrrar said, “first of all, we’ve got to find out what happened” before issuing additional orders.

Experts from the National Transportation Safety Board were going over flight data and cockpit voice recorders from Flight 811. The recorders contain data from sensors throughout the aircraft, voices and other noises that might add to information about the accident, which left a 10-by-20-foot hole in the plane.

Despite the lack of federal urgency, United and at least one other airline were stepping up inspections of the cargo door locks. Others said they already had made the changes ordered by the FAA.

United officials said mechanics had inspected all of the fleet’s 31 747s and found no cargo door defects. Nevertheless, the airline was assigning mechanics to check the doors before each flight.

The change had not yet been made on the United 747 used on Flight 811 before Friday’s incident, airline officials said.

Northwest Airlines began precautionary inspections of cargo doors on Sunday, said spokesman Bob Gibbons, and intends to complete them on the 26 affected planes by Tuesday night. Improved locks had earlier been installed on 15 other jumbo jets.

‘Jokester’ released to mother after alleged airplane bomb threat

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS: A self-described jokester accused of making an airplane bomb threat that forced an emergency landing in Indianapolis was released to his mother’s custody Monday.

Anthony J. Pierson, 23, of Rochester Hills, Mich., had been held in the City-County Lockup in Indianapolis since his arrest Saturday on charges of violating the false information act and making threats. Pierson is scheduled to appear before U.S. Magistrate Judge Patrick Endicott on March 15 for a preliminary hearing.

Pierson allegedly made a threat on an American Airlines charter Flight 1011 Saturday morning, carrying 328 passengers and crew members from Detroit to Cancun, Mexico.

If convicted, he could face a sentence of up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

No explosives were found in a search after Flight 309 made an emergency landing at Indianapolis International Airport. Passengers were told the plane was making an unscheduled landing because of possible mechanical problems.

The FBI says Pierson told authorities he had told the flight attendant he had propulsion, but Indiana State Police Sgt. John Wheeler said many witnesses reported Pierson had said he had plastic explosives.

The object in question turned out to be a briefcase containing a camcorder that a seatmate had borrowed from another friend.

Airline fined for security failures

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS: An Indianapolis-based airline was fined $1,000 last year after federal agents smuggled a weapon past security guards at a passenger checkpoint, according to federal reports.

The Federal Aviation Administration fined American Trans Systems Co., at the Indianapolis International Airport, the reports said. It was the third such violation by the airline in seven months, according to federal records.

Written reports show that Globe workers failed to detect a “test device” carried by FAA agent David Kaze at the course B and C passenger screening point on May 6, 1988.

Airline and FAA officials declined to release further details of the incident.

“This time, we got caught. We catch most of them, but here’s one we missed,” Recker said.

FAA test devices include phony bombs, hand grenades, detonator wires and guns. Many are hidden in carry-on luggage.

Democrats ‘unmoved’ on Tower

WASHINGTON—Senate Democrats remained unmoved Monday on John Tower’s nomination as defense secretary despite his unprecedented pledge to abstain from alcohol if confirmed.

Senators, looking to a special committee hearing room to read the latest FBI report on Tower, while those members the Bush administration hopes to sway indicated they are either undecided or leaning against confirmation.

Sen. Bob Graham, D-Fla., considered by some a swing vote, told reporters in Miami that Tower’s pledge helps but “it’s not just the drinking which is the problem.”

“It’s a pattern of bad judgment—bad judgment in the ‘70s in drinking, bad judgment by placing himself in compromising positions as the U.S. arms negotiator in Geneva in the mid-80s, bad judgment in accepting large sums from the defense industry in the late 1980s,” Graham said.

The Democrat-controlled Senate Armed Services Committee voted 11-9 along party lines last Thursday to recommend that the full Senate reject the nomination, with panel chairman Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., citing Tower’s drinking habits among other concerns.

Tower on Sunday sought to allay the fears of his former colleagues by issuing an extraordinary pledge not to take a single drink if he is confirmed. The full Senate is expected to take up the nomination Wednesday.

Democrats hold a 55-45 majority in the Senate, meaning Bush must pick up at least five Democrats and hold all Republicans to assure confirmation.

The 1989 Bengal Bouts are finished, and not a moment too soon. I was tired of getting pummelled into the ground by my friends to go and view Notre Dame stu­dents beat the hell out of each other. What a waste of time! Never did I imagine our narrow-minded air of super­iority would be reshaped into a pride in the cause of Justice. We are pro­ducing quality products and making decisions that we believe are right. But somehow, I doubt that we are changing the world.

Elvis Costello
Spike

Spike’s unusual cast of characters shows Elvis’ incredible diversity.

KEVIN WALSH
accent writer

If you put all the characters on Elvis Costello’s new album Spike in one room, you’d probably have a riot on your hands. At the very least, you’d have a roomful of weird people.

You’d have the disillusioned entertainer of “This Town”; Bentley and Craig, the two convicted murderers from “Let Him Dangle”; Veronica, a senile old lady; and a dead priest, now working as God’s court jester in “God’s Comic.” (Not to mention a God who wonders if he “should have given the world to the monkeys.”)

The room would also contain a mail-order bride and her new husband; a husband who knows his wife is cheating on him; Miss MacBeth, questioning his duty in Ireland; and a little boy whose father is leaving.

Roger McGuinn, and T-Bone Burnett, now working as God’s court jester in “God’s Comic.”

In “This Town,” another great song in the more pop vein, “Pads, Paws, and Claws,” a pseudo-rockabilly workout; and the instrumental “Stalin Malone.”

With Spike, Elvis Costello renews his artistic license and matures into the best he’s ever done.

You’d have a really noisy room.

Some good points, but ‘True Believer’ gets a fair rating

In “True Believer,” James Woods stars as Eddie Dodd, a once-idealistic lawyer who rediscovers his passion for justice and the law in the reopening of an old murder case.

Well, February is almost behind us, and if you haven’t been thinking about JWP, the Bengal Routs, that tough midterm coming up or packing your bags for Padre, then you might be someone who remembers that there are still new movies out there to be seen.

The latest big release is entitled “True Believer.” In it, James Woods stars as Eddie Dodd, a college activist-turned-lawyer, renowned for taking on and winning the cases nobody else wanted. But with time, a change in philosophy and the smell of money, Dodd has since converted to defending guilty drug dealers for handsome cash rewards.

Directed by newcomer Joseph Ruben, this film isn’t bad (in fact, it’s only recom- mended for it you murder mystery fans), but it just doesn’t reach out and grab you like the many stellar productions released over these past few months. So if you see it, take one way or another.

Ester Roger Barron (Robert Downey Jr.), a yuppie fresh out of Michigan Law School. He was recruited by all the big Wall Street firms but chose instead to work for Dodd, the man he idolized throughout law school, in defending those who might otherwise go undefended. In little time, unfortunately, he realizes that his hero has degenerated into a pot smoking, drug dealing defense lawyer, and it appears the honeymoon is over.

With impeccable timing, though, a case just like the Eddie Dodd cases of old comes along, and Barron convinces Dodd to take it. Of course it’s a murder case, and as with most murder trial movies, it is long, complicated, and features a surprise “who-done-it” ending.

Crediting Barron for making him see the light, Dodd returns to his old self, and the two become good friends.

James Woods is energetic, but Robert Downey is immemorable. The writing is a bit dry—a fair dose of gore, no sex, half-hearted attempts at comedy, and some neat black and white flashback scenes—but it will keep you going if you give it your full attention.
Holtz looking toward next year with skeptical eye

Lou Holtz

Holtz said: "I've never seen so much information and facts out by one university. The SID's office can always be very optimistic and I hate to defend all this work and this information, but we don't plan on defending anything. We're going to fight for what we've got this year out this year and fighting for it just like we did last year.

I think we're going to be a good football team because we have some people coming back (of 46 starters, including 16 starters) as we assume and as realistic as it was to feel that we were going to be a poor football team last year because we wouldn't have anybody coming back. We've already lost an out- standing lineman, a couple of big defensive players. I don't know how we're going to make up for the folks that broke the record (in an automobile accident); (tailback) Tony Brooks will probably not participate in spring practice and we don't know what else will happen as you go along.

We're going to have a difficult time of it, and if something were to happen to quarterback Tony Rice, people have no idea how severe a predicament we would be in.

Holtz also predicted that Virginia would be in the pre-season Top Ten, although that probably is far-fetched since the Cavaliers are not a traditional power.

They do return 18 starters (after losing 10 last year). Virginia's record the last five games and finished second in the Atlantic Coast Conference in the second year in a row.

"We should have a good football team," Holtz said. "I'm not going to downgrade things for us."

CHRISTMAS in APRIL is a one-day work session during which the homes of the needy, elderly, and handicapped residents of the Northeast Neighborhood will be renovated and repaired by teams of volunteers. The South Bend Community has joined forces with the students, faculty, and staff of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's to make Christmas in April a reality for some Northeast Neighborhood homeowners. It will be followed by a picnic.

Who can volunteer for CHRISTMAS in APRIL?

Anyone eighteen or older can be a Christmas in April volunteer. Volunteers come from churches, businesses, schools, community service organizations, corporations, associations, and interested individuals. They represent all professions. What repairs are done?

Each scope of repairs is tailored to the need of the individual participant and the capacity of the volunteers recruited for the Christmas in April. It is anticipated that roofs, weatherization, plumbing, heating, and electrical needs will be addressed. Yards will receive a Spring cleaning and, if needed, the painting of home exteriors to give a new face to the neighborhood.

Cowboys, Landry bid tearful farewell

Associated Press

IRVING, Tex.—Tom Landry tearfully bid farewell to the Dallas Cowboys Monday, saying he loved them and asking them to give their best for new coach Jimmy Johnson.

"It was hard to keep your emotions under control," said a red-eyed Landry afterward. "I tried to tell them that this crisis will pass, that you have to keep moving forward."

The 54-year-old Landry choked up and couldn't finish his speech to the players assembled in the lecture hall.

"It was one of the most difficult things I've had to do," Landry said. "It was hard saying goodbye to the players."

Landry spent 29 years as the Cowboys' head coach, the only one in the team's history. His teams won two NFL championshipships and set a league-record of 20 consecutive winning seasons. The team went 5-11 last year, worst in the NFL, but Landry had hoped to eventually take them to another Super Bowl, the Cowboys' sixth.

Landry cleaned out his desk on Sunday, making room for Johnson, who also said goodbye to a football team Monday, the University of Miami Hurricanes. He coached at Miami five seasons, leading them to the national championship in 1987.

Johnson, a college roommate and football teammate of new Miami coach Jimmy Johnson, will meet the Cowboys Tuesday. He has scheduled a 1 p.m. press conference.

ND women swimmers fifth in weekend meet

By MARY GARINO

Sports Writer

Sophomore Becky Wood grabbed two victories for the women's swim team and helped give the Irish a fifth place finish at the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships over the weekend.

West Virginia, the host team, captured first place from among the ten teams competing with a slim margin over second place Duke. Notre Dame totaled 405 points.

Wood set two University records and swam her best times ever as she won both the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke races. Two of her classmates, Ami Tri and Christy Moston, also swam well for the Irish.

Until the last night of competition, Tri was among the top scorers in the meet.

Coach Tim Welsh noted that Wood has improved with every meet, and her victories combined with the record-setting times made her performance especially outstanding.

"There are different grades of excellence, and to get both time and place is ideal," Welsh said.

The performances of Wood, Tri, Moston and two freshmen, Kathy McKinney and Jackie Jones, are a good sign for the future, according to Welsh. The sophomore class especially turned in a very good meet performance as it dominated the point scoring for the Irish.

Welsh also pointed out that the diving team competed well during the championships. Three of the divers earned places in the championship finals, Kay Richter in the one-meter event, and Allison Baker and Jenny Kipp, both in the three-meter event.

"Their performances helped to demonstrate that we are a championship team in the diving field," Welsh said.

This was the last meet for the Irish women's team, and the seniors on the team finished their Notre Dame swimming careers with strong meets. The co-captains, Tracy Johnson and Kelly Quinn, helped the 200-yard medley relay team to a second place finish on the first event of the championships.

Johnson later also placed third in the 50-yard freestyle race.

Overall, Coach Welsh was satisfied with what he called a "solid, dependable performance." Notre Dame had gone into the meet thinking that their swimmers would be in the middle of the ten teams, and a fifth place finish did nothing to dispute that. The Irish found out that they could be competitive with some very strong teams.

"We were less than 40 points from fourth place, and about 60 points from third," Welsh pointed out. "We also had some very good races between Duke, the second place team, and Notre Dame."

The women's swim team will take a break for a while and then resume practice after spring break with a training program. They will also look forward to next year and hope to improve on their final record for 1988-89 of 6-6.
Irish women gain split over weekend

By CHRIS COONEY

A battered and bruised women's tennis team came within a game of upsetting Miami of Ohio this weekend, but Notre Dame's makeshift line-up could not achieve the victory. After decisively downing Illinois 7-2 on Saturday, the Irish fell to the Redbirds of Miami 5-4 in a match charged with emotion. Notre Dame, marred with injuries, had to readjust the roster halfway through the meet.

Number four singles player, Kristy Doran, succumbed mid-match to a knee ailment that left her struggling to walk in the third set of her match. Doran had won the first set 7-5 when the impairment began to hamper her performance. By the third set, she could hardly reach the ball and was forced to default.

That left the Irish at 3-3 after the singles competition and with a position to fill at number two doubles. Rosa Kelly combined with Doran's regular partner, Katie Clark, but the tandem lost 6-2, 7-6. The top pair of CeCe Cahill and Tracy Barton won their match, setting the stage for the deciding contest at the number three spot.

Playing at number three were Cathy Bradshaw and Kim Pacella. Pacella had the flu and sat out of the singles round, but felt strong enough for the doubles and wanted to make her contribution. The duo lost the first set 3-6, but came back with a 6-4 score in the second to split sets. In the third, Bradshaw and Pacella were serving for the match and the meet, but could not seal the victory and lost 5-7.

Despite the disappointing loss, Irish head coach Michele Gelfman had nothing but praise for her 2-3 squad, which lost to Miami 8-1 last year.

"Every year we've gotten closer and closer and this year we were really ready to take it," said Gelfman. "The girls played their hearts out. At the end, we had Kim Pacella driving into the net going after balls. I can't ask for much more than that.

"It was down to the wire and I really thought we had them. There were at least twelve deuces in the last game but we couldn't pull out the victory. With a full line-up, we had a legitimate shot."

Gelfman explained that Doran was dominating her match when her knee, injured last week, began to wear from the constant pounding it was taking on the court.

"Kristy would have won if she was healthy, but she couldn't even walk, much less run, by the end of the match," Gelfman commented.

Saturday's meet against Illinois was a much different story as the Irish trounced the Illini. Notre Dame lost to them by an identical 7-2 score last year.

"I think that meet demonstrates the tremendous strides we've made since last year," said Gelfman. "Even with our young team of mostly sophomores and freshmen, we had more depth than they did.

Gelfman was especially pleased that the Irish, after winning the singles 4-2, swept the doubles.

"That was exactly what I was hoping for," Gelfman commented. "We were stronger at the top than them, but we proved our all-around strength in the doubles. Right now we know our potential and we realize that the wins will come."

The women's team was lead by senior captain Janice Hynes (5-0) and freshmen Tara Kelly (7-0). The freshmen duo of Heidi Piper (4-1) and Mary Westrick (6-2) also had good meets. Lynn Kadri finished at 7-4, while seniors Kristin Kraiciek (6-2) and Brenda Leiser (3-2) had respectable finishes.

This past weekend's action finishes out the regular season for the Irish fencing teams.

Arizona's Sean Rooks (left) defends Stanford star Todd Lichti in a Pac-10 game played earlier this year. The Wildcats rose to the top of the AP Top Twenty poll by virtue of their narrow one-point win over Duke Sunday and Oklahoma's loss to Missouri.

Arizona reluctantly takes top spot

Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz.--When it comes to the top ranking in college basketball, the first time around is best, says Arizona coach Lute Olson.

Olson's Wildcats moved up a notch to No. 1 this week after a 77-75 victory Sunday over No. 9 Duke in East Rutherford, N.J. It was Arizona's second time on top this year and fourth in the past two seasons.

"I don't know that it will have much effect on us," Olson said Monday. "I think our players have been there, not just this year but, with most of them, a year ago.

"We'd like to finish the total season ranked No. 1," he said. Arizona, 22-3, the fourth team to be honored as No. 1 this season, spent only one week on top this first time before an 82-80 loss to Oklahoma on Feb. 12. The Sooners then held the top rung for two weeks but dropped to fourth after a 97-84 loss Saturday at Missouri.

Georgetown and Indiana moved up one spot each to second and third as no teams dropped from or broke into the Top Twenty.

Duke held the top spot from the preseason through the first nine polls. Illinois replaced the Blue Devils for a week, followed by Oklahoma and then Arizona the first time around. Oklahoma's loss cleared the way for the Wildcats to regain the No. 1 ranking, and Sean Elliott made a 3-pointer and another basket in the last 53 seconds as Arizona seized the opportunity against Duke.

Elliott had made only four of 19 shots before his 20-foot jumper from the top of the key, but Olson said he had no doubt the 6-foot-8 senior would come through.

Duke's Danny Ferry, who was guarding Elliott when the Arizona star sank the clutch 3-pointer, said after the game he expected to see the Wildcats regain the top spot.

Olson, whose squad made the Final Four last season after a total of six weeks atop the poll, said he'd like to have seen the voters pick Georgetown, which received five first-place votes and 1,219 points to Arizona's 54 first-place votes and 1,305 points.

He said was more concerned with a season-ending road trip Thursday at Washington State and UCLA Blue week end.

ND Water Polo Club wins

The Water Polo Club competed in their first tournament of the season last weekend at Notre Dame. Teams representing Iowa, Iowa State, Purdue, and Michigan State all competed in Notre Dame's first ever water polo tournament. The Irish were victorious in all three of their matches in winning the tournament.

Greg Scheckebach
Club Corner

In the first match, Notre Dame crushed intrastate rival Purdue 18-9 with the help of four talented freshmen, Nick Costello, Kelly Traino, Andy Cavallari, and Kevin Keleiber. The second match was just as easy for the Irish as they cruised to a 16-7 over Iowa. Senior goaltender Sam Bailey performed outstandingly while also providing the leadership for the Irish. Against Michigan State in the finals, Notre Dame drubbed the overmatched Spartans 20-4, provided a sweep in the tourney. Later this semester, the club will be involved in many tournaments including another one at Notre Dame.

Women's Track Club traveled to the Indiana Intercollegiate Meet at University two weekends ago bringing six runners who qualified for competition. The meet was based strictly on invitation, only taking the top 15 marks in each event. Theresa Rice placed 5th place in the mile with an impressive time of 4:57, while teammate Lucy Nusralla placed 7th in the half mile. In the 3000m, Terry Kreibis finished 7th in one of her better performances of the indoor season.

Last weekend, Notre Dame hosted an indoor meet at Mayoro track where numerous varsity teams competed against Notre Dame's club team. Easterner Patrick Miletic and Paul Fulling from getting off the fastbreak and we'll need to slow the tempo so our biggest task will be to defend our man-to-man defense, will look for Todd and Paul to do the job during crunch time.

Morrissey, Fisher in IH men's final

By DAVE McMahan
Sports Writer

After battling their way through rigorous post-season action, Morrissey and Fisher meet tonight in the pit of the Joyce ACC to possibly deter through rigorous post-season action, Morrissey and Fisher champion.

Thursday night to decide the winner's bracket of the playoffs to Fisher, defeated against the Green Wave, going into the contest.

Morrissey, after losing in the final battling their way through the regular season last year before going undefeated through the fastbreak offense, led by returning starters Tom Veltz, Kevin Keyes, and Derek Johnson. Kevin Cade and Rod Culver also start for the Irish. "Our offense is strongest on the fastbreak and we'll need to prevent Todd Wagenblast and Paul Pulling from getting off the shots they want," said Tom Veltz.

Morrissey went undefeated through the regular season last year before going undefeated through the season and didn't play well man-to-man defense, will look for a stellar all around performance to come out with the win.

"Playing in the pit will help Morrissey's fastbreak offense, so our biggest task will be to slow the tempo down," said Fisher's Sean Kriebis. "We'll have to stay even on the boards and look for Todd and Paul to do the job during crunch time."

John Piecyk and Collin Lahiff started for the Green Wave, along with Kriebis, Wagenblast, and Pulling.

Lewis reaches IH basketball finals

By Ken Tysiac
Sports Writer

The Rebels from Lewis Hall advanced to the finals of the women's Interhall basketball playoffs with an intense come-from-behind victory over Pasquerilla East on Monday night.

The Rebels, who lost to P.E. on Sunday, have to beat Brennan's tonight and again later in the week in order to win this double elimination tournament, in which B.P. has yet to lose.

It certainly didn't look good for Lewis in the first half. P.E. used its superior inside strength and balanced scoring to run out to a 19-9 halftime lead. P.E.'s zone defense frustrated the Rebels, who looked like they needed a miracle to come back in the second half.

That miracle appeared off the bench early in the third quarter in the form of reserve guard Lori Cicone. Cicone hit two three-pointers and was perfect from the field in five attemps. Largely on the strength of Cicone's shooting, Lewis closed the gap to 29-24 after three quarters.

In the fourth quarter, Lewis' full court press really began to take its toll on Pasquerilla East, and when Ellen Moosh made two free throws with less than two minutes to play, Lewis had its first lead of the ball game at 33-31. P.E. countered quickly with a power layup by Colleen O'Connor.

But Sue Lippa answered with an inside bucket for Lewis with one minute to play and the Rebels used good foul shooting to kill any hopes P.E. might have had of catching up. Lippa and Marcie Powell, who consistently buried P.E. with baseline jump shots, each had 13 points for Lewis, while Cicone finished with 12.

Tonight's matchup against Brennan's should be an even greater challenge for Lewis. The Rebels are even more talented than P.E. inside, and have not had a close game yet in the playoffs.

ND fencing teams finish year in style

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame fencing teams wrapped up the regular season with a weekend sweep at Detroit and East Lansing.

On Friday the Irish were hosted by the team from Wayne State. The men's team went 19-8, with both foil and sabre winning while the epee team dropped a close contest at 4-5. The women's team reinforced their claim as a midwestern power by defeating WSU for the second time this season by a score of 10-6. The women's victory was all the more reward as the fact that WSU had returned to their lineup internationally ranked Lorendan Ranza.

The Irish traveled to the Michigan State campus on Saturday. Once again the men cruised to easy victories over Purdue (34-3), Illinois (30-7) and host Michigan State (22-5). The women's team likewise polished off Eastern Michigan (12-4) and Purdue (15-1). Last week, Head Coach Mike DeCicco was quite skeptical about the men's chances against the Fighting Illini.

"You're not going to beat Illinois this time by a score of 21-6," stated DeCicco in a team meeting last Thursday. "Maybe 17-10, at best." But there won't be another chance for Landry because last Saturday the pro football world really did pass him by. New Cowboy owner and Arkansas alumnus Jerry Jones fired Landry and named Miami Dolphins' coach Jimmy Johnson as the new coach. Landry foresaw himself leading Dallas into the Super Bowl. It may have been even a sadder day for all of pro football, especially the Dallas fans. The legend may have been even more devastated by the fact that WSU had returned to their lineup internationally ranked Lorendan Ranza.

Ironically, the Irish bunched Illinois 20-7 in a surprisingly easy matchup.

The Irish men's foilists had a veritable field day. Four fencers went undefeated this weekend. All American Yehuda Kovacs (7-0) and sophomore Phil Leary (6-0) were also perfect.

Seniors Ted Fay (7-1) and Todd Goffe (9-3) led the way for the epee team. Freshman David Calderhead experienced some difficulties in his single elimination at 5-6, while junior Mark Gugel was 8-2.

As with the foil team, the Irish Sabre boasted a plethora of undefeated fencers. The sophomores sabremen headed the charge with Leonard Kaminski (6-0) scoring spots less, as did seniors Tim Collins (5-0), Jim Kowalski (3-0) and Steve Rawlings (4-0). With the sendoff, senior Bill Pietrusiak were 2-1, while Geoff Rossi went 9-2 for the weekend.

Senior fencing manager Bob Keune made his debut on the strip and emerged victorious two out of three times, with victories against both WSU and Purdue.

The Saint Mary's Basketball team defeated the University of Michigan-Dearborn 91-76 at home Saturday and also learned that it had qualified for the NAIA District 21 tournament by virtue of its 14-7 record.

The Belles took on Purdue University-Calumet tonight at 8 at the Angela Athletic Facility in the first round of the tourney.

Saint Mary's dominated the entire game against the Wolves.

The Belles led 44-32 at the half and stretched the margin to as much as 68-43 at one point. Michigan rallied to close the gap toward the end of the game, but was unable to beat the clock and suffered the 15-point loss.

Once again the bench contributed significantly to the Belles' victory. Every player for Saint Mary's got playing time and each performed equally well.

"We are really happy to be in the position we are in," said head coach Marvin Wood. "It was nice to finish our season with a victory at home."

But there won't be another chance for Landry because last Saturday the pro football world really did pass him by. New Cowboy owner and Arkansas alumnus Jerry Jones fired Landry and named Miami men's coach Jimmy Johnson as the new coach.

At first I read with disbelief. How could you fire Landry being the coach of America's Team is like having Lyndon Baines Johnson as President of the United States.

Randy White wasn't quite as graceful as he used to be.

Landry brought a certain style and class to the game, a flair that made pro football lucky to have him.

And now Jones has chosen to replace class and tradition with a college coach not exactly known for his ability to win admirers. Having Jimmy Johnson as the coach of America's Team is like having Lyndon LaRouche as President of the United States.

Johnson leaves Miami just weeks before the start of spring practice, taking up to six assistants with him and leaving a group of recruits searching for answers.

Jones better hope those old friendship ties are good for some loyalty at Dallas.

When Dallas is mentioned, the image of Landry solemnly pacing the sidelines will always remain. Landry spoke softly, but commanded attention. He insisted on calling the plays, even with Roger Staubach at quarterback.

Landry foresaw himself leading Dallas into the 1990s. There was never a doubt in his mind. Jones left little doubt Saturday that he didn't want Landry to end the 1980s.

It may be time to put all of the Dallas memorabilia in the basement. JeffCoat was a "sad day for the Dallas Cowboys." But the Dallas Cowboys can go on.

It may have been even a sadder day for all of pro football, especially the Dallas fans. The legend may have been even more devastated by the fact that WSU had returned to their lineup internationally ranked Lorendan Ranza.

"We all have, a positive frame of mind going into this game," said Wood. "We will need to improve our offense, get more shots off, sharpen our passing and foul less in order to beat them this time, though."
