Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on St. Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northwest of campus at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at St. Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

early voter turnout appeared diminished by the combat and a rebel-imposed transport ban. But Roman Catholic churches were crammed with faithful Sunday worshippers, at least some of whom planned to vote later.

Turnout was light in smaller towns. "With these problems, it's better to stay home," said Jose Carlos Ortiz, 32. He spoke in front of his home in the capital as guerrillas retreated from an assault on a military post three blocks away.

The Associated Press

Salvadorans voted to elect a president from among seven candidates. Fidel Chavez Menas of the incumbent Christian Democratic Party and Alfredo Cristiani of the rightist Nationalist Republican Alliance, or Arena, led the field in polls. But neither was likely to receive the more than 50 percent required to avoid a runoff next month.

Cristiani, favored to become the country's next president, pledged free-market policies and reduced state intervention in the economy. His party promised to step up the war against the guerrillas do not agree to lay down their arms.

Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador - Salvadorans voted for a new president Sunday as leftist revolutionaries opposed to the election attacked military posts and army troops countered with rockets and rifle fire.

At least five guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in fighting in nine provincial towns, according to military officials and witnesses. Two journalists and a Dutch television cameraman also were reported killed.

ầu

The Observer

Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on St. Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northwest of campus at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at St. Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today.

No details concerning the attacker were available.

Union: Pan Am might join strike

Associated Press

MIAMI - Teamsters officials threatened on Saturday to extend a 5-day strike to rival Pan American, while union leaders discussed a 4-day walkout as two key carriers in "the opportunity of a lifetime."

Eastern employees rallied in Washington, New Jersey and New York, where Governor Mario Cuomo threw his support behind the workers and challenged President Bush to interject.

See PAN AM, page 4

Revolutionaries disrupt voting in El Salvador

The Observer

Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on St. Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northwest of campus at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at St. Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today.

No details concerning the attacker were available.

Union: Pan Am might join strike

Associated Press

MIAMI - Teamsters officials threatened on Saturday to extend a 5-day strike to rival Pan American, while union leaders discussed a 4-day walkout as two key carriers in "the opportunity of a lifetime."

Eastern employees rallied in Washington, New Jersey and New York, where Governor Mario Cuomo threw his support behind the workers and challenged President Bush to interject.

See PAN AM, page 4

Revolutionaries disrupt voting in El Salvador

 early voter turnout appeared diminished by the combat and a rebel-imposed transport ban. But Roman Catholic churches were crammed with faithful Sunday worshippers, at least some of whom planned to vote later. By midfield, there were long lines at the downtown polling stations.

Guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front are waging a 9-year-old war against the U.S.-backed government.

San Salvador - Salvadorans voted for a new president Sunday as leftist revolutionaries opposed to the election attacked military posts and army troops countered with rockets and rifle fire.

At least five guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in fighting in nine provincial towns, according to military officials and witnesses. Two journalists and a Dutch television cameraman also were reported killed.

Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on St. Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northwest of campus at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at St. Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today.

No details concerning the attacker were available.

Union: Pan Am might join strike

Associated Press

MIAMI - Teamsters officials threatened on Saturday to extend a 5-day strike to rival Pan American, while union leaders discussed a 4-day walkout as two key carriers in "the opportunity of a lifetime."

Eastern employees rallied in Washington, New Jersey and New York, where Governor Mario Cuomo threw his support behind the workers and challenged President Bush to interject.

See PAN AM, page 4

Revolutionaries disrupt voting in El Salvador

early voter turnout appeared diminished by the combat and a rebel-imposed transport ban. But Roman Catholic churches were crammed with faithful Sunday worshippers, at least some of whom planned to vote later. By midfield, there were long lines at the downtown polling stations.

Guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front are waging a 9-year-old war against the U.S.-backed government.

San Salvador - Salvadorans voted for a new president Sunday as leftist revolutionaries opposed to the election attacked military posts and army troops countered with rockets and rifle fire.

At least five guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in fighting in nine provincial towns, according to military officials and witnesses. Two journalists and a Dutch television cameraman also were reported killed.

Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on St. Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northwest of campus at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at St. Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today.

No details concerning the attacker were available.

Union: Pan Am might join strike

Associated Press

MIAMI - Teamsters officials threatened on Saturday to extend a 5-day strike to rival Pan American, while union leaders discussed a 4-day walkout as two key carriers in "the opportunity of a lifetime."

Eastern employees rallied in Washington, New Jersey and New York, where Governor Mario Cuomo threw his support behind the workers and challenged President Bush to interject.

See PAN AM, page 4

Revolutionaries disrupt voting in El Salvador

early voter turnout appeared diminished by the combat and a rebel-imposed transport ban. But Roman Catholic churches were crammed with faithful Sunday worshippers, at least some of whom planned to vote later. By midfield, there were long lines at the downtown polling stations.

Guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front are waging a 9-year-old war against the U.S.-backed government.

San Salvador - Salvadorans voted for a new president Sunday as leftist revolutionaries opposed to the election attacked military posts and army troops countered with rockets and rifle fire.

At least five guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in fighting in nine provincial towns, according to military officials and witnesses. Two journalists and a Dutch television cameraman also were reported killed.

Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on St. Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northwest of campus at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at St. Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today.

No details concerning the attacker were available.
Notre Dame needn't be Harvard of the Midwest

We lost to Georgetown—surprise, surprise. But we did make a decent show of it—at least until the last nine or so minutes. We were actually leading at several points in the game. It seems that every time we have something going, either we lose momentum, or our strategy just falls apart.

What's really the case is the way the University talks about making Notre Dame a more "competitive" school. All it seems to compete with is the Ivy League, i.e., the Ivies. We already have a top-notch student body, faculty, and facilities. We even surpass other ivy institutions in some respects, such as having more approachable faculty, a more "family"-oriented atmosphere, and a championship athletic program to boot.

So why do we need to be more like them? Many of the things that are our greatest obstacles to becoming a top-ranked university is our lack of faculty-conducted research projects. After all, doing research undoubtedly does bring prestige to a university, not to mention grants. And the more prestigious we become, the more grants we receive, and the more and better professors we attract. And shouldn't that be the goal of any university—to attract the best faculty they can, so that the students can receive the best education possible?

Of course this is true, and a strong faculty is essential to the program of any solid institution. Notre Dame seems to be headed in the right direction. However, we might not be going about it in the right way. I'm not saying that Notre Dame has the same materials needed for the making of a championship team, or even that we need to focus our energy that way, so that we can actually accomplish our goals. Sure it's important that the University push for more extensive research, but that should only be the beginning. It's true that obtaining an established university from another, which is why it is time for Notre Dame to take the next step on the road to becoming a first-rate university. So we do have to focus our energy that way, but that should only be the beginning.

First and foremost, improvements is to have some places on campus that are open 24 hours. I'm not just talking about something like the Night Oak, which was destined to fail because of the University's unwillingness to lose a couple of hours in the night long enough to give the concept a fighting chance. The library should be open 24 hours. I think we are the only major school in the country with a library that closes before midnight. I don't know all that many people who would choose to study in the library until 6 a.m. on a regular basis, but I know that there have been a couple of times in my Notre Dame career where I really needed to, and couldn't. And while we are at it, perhaps the Student Union could have some places on campus that are open 24 hours.

The Honor Code is another concept that can be improved. As it stands, the code is an example of a good idea that went astray. Universities such as University of Virginia and Rice proved that it can work, and can only improve the overall academic atmosphere of a university, by promoting ethical conduct and better student-faculty relations. But, the code must be student-initiated, and not University-enforced. What we have at Notre Dame is not an honor code, but a quasi-secret police system. There must be a better way.

These are just a few comments and suggestions. And what we're really doing is just improving an already very good thing. But there are lots of good universities out there. No, we don't have to be Princeton West. We just have to be excellent at whatever course we do finally decide to take.
Archbishop: Attempt to inform Church of American issues

By LAURA DOWNS  Staff Reporter

American Catholics, in a meeting with Pope John Paul II, urged Church officials in Rome to realize that they are often misinformed about American issues, said Archbishop Weakland of Milwaukee, who attended the meeting.

The conference, held in Rome from March 8-11, was attended by Pope John Paul II, the heads of the curial offices in Rome, and 35 Archbishops of the United States. There were 10 themes for discussion, the main one being Evangelism and American Culture, said Weakland.

Other issues included marriage annulments, the role of bishops, and the place for women in the Church. "Feminism in the U.S. came up quite often under many themes as being part of the U.S. culture today," said Weakland, who spoke on campus last week about the Church and South America.

The point of the conference was to open up discussion and exchange opinions on 10 Church themes. He said, "Although no conclusions were reached, I believe the conference was an overall success because the Europeans got a good view of the complexity of issues in the U.S."

Father Richard McBrien of the theology department said that he followed the conference carefully. "The most significant result was that certain Curial officials were so extreme in their views and showed such ignorance of the way things are done in the U.S. that they seemed to disturb even conservative American bishops," said McBrien.

McBrien said that this was a positive outcome because conservative bishops may become more realistic about future Vatican directives since they now realize that their information is often coming from misinformed officials.

Both Weakland and McBrien said that the format of the conference made it somewhat difficult to get a discussion going since so many people were present. Weakland said that 20 papers were delivered but that overall preparation for the conference was inadequate for any ultimate decision making.

"The greatest point of tension," he said, "was over the annulment process."

Archbishop Weakland characterized the conference as an important step towards a better understanding between European and American Church officials, and was optimistic that "it will probably serve to open up dialogues of this sort in the future."

Gun makers urged to cease sale of semiautomatic rifles

WASHINGTON Gun manufacturers should follow the example of Colt Industries Inc. and stop nonmilitary sales of semiautomatic assault rifles, the head of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration said Sunday.

"I thought that was a very courageous action on the part of Colt Guns," DEA administrator John Lawn, said on the CBS-TV program, "Face the Nation."

"I am asking them to (take this action), on behalf of the officers who are in danger every single day, because a police officer dies every 57 hours in this country," said Lawn.

But Attorney General Dick Thornburgh and the new drug czar, William Bennett, said they did not think the government should call for private manufacturers to stop retail sales of semiautomatic weapons.

Colt announced that it was suspending sales of its AR-15 semiautomatic rifle starting last Thursday, the day after President Bush decided to ban temporarily the import of foreign-made assault rifles.

Bennett and Thornburgh called for debate on whether the federal government should ban nonmilitary sales of semiautomatic weapons or urge private companies to voluntarily suspend sales.

"As an official of the federal government, I don't want to speak in such ways that suggest that I'm pushing them in any direction or another," Bennett said on the NBC-TV program, Meet the Press.

But he added: "I think we can say to the people that we don't need a whole lot more assault rifles on our streets right now."

Bennett and Thornburgh said a comprehensive solution was needed.

"If we think that the only way to deal with the drug problem is to ban a particular type of weapon, we're dead wrong," Thornburgh said on the ABC-TV program, "This Week with David Brinkley."

If you've ever dreamed of being behind the controls of an airplane, this is your chance to find out what it's really like.

A Marine Corps pilot is coming to campus who can take you up for trial flights.

We're looking for a few college students who have the brains and skill—as well as the desire—to become Marine pilots.

If you're cut out for it, we'll give you free civilian flight training, maybe even $100 a month cash while you're in school. And someday you could be flying a Harrier, Cobra or F/A-18.

Get a taste of what life is like at the top. The flight's on us. Maybe you can be one of us.

Get a taste of life at the top.

Marines

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CALL
1-800-728-9229
Rescue efforts
Rescue workers watch as heavy equipment is used to search through the rubble of a 900-year-old tower that collapsed in Pavia, Italy, Friday.

The collapse of the 255-foot-tower killed at least two people, injured 15 others and damaged an adjacent cathedral.

Pan Am continued from page 1

vene in the labor war with Eastern boss Frank Lorenzo. Eastern's 8,500 machinists entered their third week on strike, which has crippled the nation's seventh-largest airline and forced it to seek bankruptcy protection. The workers have refused to give wage concessions.

And a top Teamsters official warned that the strike could be expanded to struggling Pan Am, which competes with Eastern on the Boston-New York-Washington shuttle route.

"One of the (strike) targets would be the shuttle of Pan American ... where Eastern Airlines is now being picketed," said William Genoese, director of the Teamsters Air Division. "Therefore we could tie up the Northeast corridor of the United States."

"The strike at Eastern Airlines is a fight for every working person in the United States."

Chiropractor agrees to stop demonic diagnosis on patients

Associated Press

EVANSVILLE, Ind.- An Evansville chiropractor has agreed to stop advising patients their health problems are caused by acts or influences of demons, evil spirits or other supernatural creatures.

Lee Walden, owner of a chiropractic clinic that bears his name, also has met a state request to stop advertising and performing a sinus treatment in which a balloon is inserted into the nose, inflated and then burst.

The agreement, which also placed Walden's chiropractic license on probation for six months, culminated three years of investigation.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Editor

A resume and a two-page personal statement is due to Matt Gallagher by 3 p.m. on Tuesday, March 21.

Call 239-5303 or 283-1957 for information.

Join The Observer

HERE'S ONE COLLEGE MEMORY WE'LL HELP YOU FORGET.

If you're like a lot of people, your longest-lasting memory of college might be the pinch on your student loan. The Army has a solution, though, quickly, sign up with us, and we'll sign off your loan. Each year you serve as a soldier, the Army will reduce your college debt by $1500, whichever is greater. So, after serving three years, your government loan could be completely paid off. You're eligible for this program if you have a National Direct Student Loan, Guaranteed Student Loan, or Federally Insured Student Loan made after Oct. 1, 1979. The loan must not be in default. Find out how the Army can repay your student loan.

Call SGT Robert Hackley 234-4187

ARMY BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Archbishop ROMERO

Lecture series

MARTYRDOM and BEYOND: A Journey in Memory of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero

DR. FRANCES O'GORMAN
CEAR - Ecumenical Center for Action and Reflection
Rio de Janeiro

Public Reception 7:15 p.m. Lecture 8:00 P.M.
Monday March 20th
CENTER for CONTINUING EDUCATION
University of Notre Dame

sponsored by the
INSTITUTE FOR PASTORAL & SOCIAL MINISTRY and the SHAHEEN BISHOPS' LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE
Exiles from Tibet: A portrait of persecution

Associated Press

DHARMSALA, India-For Tibetans, this is a place of crushed hopes and cherished dreams, a sanctuary far from their homeland and close to their spiritual leader, the Dalai Lama, himself an exile for 30 years.

High in the Himalayan foothills of north India, with big brown monkeys scurrying across slate roofs and shaggy little terriers yapping in muddy streets, Dharmsala is a way station for Tibetan activists who fled from the Chinese, a storehouse of Tibetan culture, a shrine for Buddhist pilgrims and a center for plotting political strategies.

Sonam Tobgyal, a 47-year-old man with hard eyes and a network of scars across his thumbs and knuckles, left Tibet six weeks ago because he thought the Chinese were on the verge of arresting him for pro-independence activities. It was not fear of prison that made him leave, he said, but fear of torture that might cause him to betray others who were not yet under suspicion for organizing demonstrations or slipping information to foreign travelers.

"I was getting known by the Chinese. One of my friends was arrested," he said, seated in the sunshine on a rooftop terrace. "I had to escape." Tobgyal said he knew about torture from the 11 years he had already spent in Chinese prisons in Tibet. Speaking through an interpreter, he said the scars on his hands were the result of beatings with wooden clubs and iron bars and being suspended by his thumbs from the ceiling for 15 minutes to an hour at a time.

He said he was released from prison in 1979 and started peddling clothing from village to village, a job that enabled him to spread news of upcoming anti-Chinese demonstrations. Dekey is a rosy-cheeked, angelic-faced 2-year-old who hugs strangers exuberantly and demands to be cuddled.

She was brought to Dharmsala from Lhoka, a town in southern Tibet, a year ago by a mother who returned home to the rest of her family and may never see Dekey again.

$99 Roundtrip Airfares
On Northwest Airlines.

A special offer for students, only for American Express Cardmembers.

If you want to go places, it's time for the American Express Card. Because now you can take advantage of new travel privileges on Northwest Airlines only for full-time students who carry the American Express Card.

Travel privileges that offer:
- Two $99 roundtrip tickets—fly to many of the more than 300 cities served by Northwest in the contiguous 48 United States. Only one ticket may be used per six-month period.
- Special Quarterly Northwest Destination Discounts throughout 1989—up to 25% off most available fares.
- 5,000 bonus miles in Northwest's WORLDPERKS free travel program—where only 20,000 miles gets you a free roundtrip ticket to anywhere Northwest flies in the contiguous 48 United States or Canada—upon enrollment through this special student offer.

And, of course, you'll enjoy all the exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express.

The only requirements for privileged travel: you must be a Cardmember, you must be a full-time student, and you must charge your Northwest Airlines tickets with the Card.*

Getting the Card is easier than ever because now you can apply by phone. Just call 1-800-942-AMEX. We'll take your application and begin to process it right away. What's more, with our Automatic Approval offer, you can qualify now while you're still in school. Apply now. Fly later—for less.

Apply Now: 1-800-942-AMEX

*Fares are roundtrip travel on Northwest Airlines. Tickets must be purchased within 24 hours after making reservations. Fares are non-refundable and no itinerary changes may be made after purchase. Seats at this fare are limited and may not be available when you call. Travel must be completed by certificate expiration date and may not be available between cities to which Northwest does not have direct connections or routing. City tax surcharges not included in fare from Boston ($2.50), Chicago ($5.00) and Florida cities ($2.00). Certain blackout dates and other restrictions may apply. For complete offer details, call 1-800-942-AMEX. Current student Cardmembers automatically receive two $99 vouchers in the mail. © 1989 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.
De Klerk's effect on South Africa's future questioned

Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - The selection of a shrewd, affable pragmatist as President P.W. Botha's successor is contributing to a surge of hope for a peaceful breakthrough in South Africa's political stalemate.

News Analysis

So far, however, the optimistic musings are coming almost exclusively from whites.

Black leaders make clear they will be relieved when Botha steps down. But they suspect his heir apparent, F.W. de Klerk, will preside over changes more cosmetic than substantive.

Mangosuthu Buthelezi, the Zulu political leader denounced by many black activists as too conservative, says he will oppose De Klerk until the government gives blacks full voting rights. There is no sign De Klerk contemplates such action.

At the other end of the black political spectrum, the African National Congress guerrilla movement says changes under De Klerk will be in personal style, not National Party policy.

De Klerk and Botha "are pieces of the same carcass," spokesman Tom Sebina said from the outlawed movement's exile headquarters in Luaka, Zambia. "If the meat is bad, the meal is bad."

Botha, 73, resumed his presidential duties last week after an eight-week convalescence from a stroke. In the interim, he resigned as National Party leader and was replaced by De Klerk, the minister of national education.

In a dramatic chain of events, Nationalist newspapers and politicians began suggesting that Botha should retire, Botha responded by declaring he would stay in office until next year, and the party's parliametary caucus resolved that it wanted De Klerk to be president.

However, the party has neither the constitutional power nor the appetite to force Botha from office. De Klerk said Friday he will seek cordial coexistence with the president while urging his party to "break new ground" in pursuing political reform.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a "break from the bitter and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws--those segregating residential areas and public facilities--may be modified.

President P.W. Botha steps down. But they will be relieved when Botha steps down. But they suspect his heir apparent, F.W. de Klerk, will preside over changes more cosmetic than substantive.

De Klerk and Botha "are pieces of the same carcass," spokesman Tom Sebina said from the outlawed movement's exile headquarters in Luaka, Zambia. "If the meat is bad, the meal is bad."

Botha, 73, resumed his presidential duties last week after an eight-week convalescence from a stroke. In the interim, he resigned as National Party leader and was replaced by De Klerk, the minister of national education.

In a dramatic chain of events, Nationalist newspapers and politicians began suggesting that Botha should retire, Botha responded by declaring he would stay in office until next year, and the party's parliamentary caucus resolved that it wanted De Klerk to be president.

However, the party has neither the constitutional power nor the appetite to force Botha from office. De Klerk said Friday he will seek cordial coexistence with the president while urging his party to "break new ground" in pursuing political reform.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a "break from the bitter and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws--those segregating residential areas and public facilities--may be modified.

Smooth sailing

The NASA shuttle Discovery touches down on the morning. The shuttle successfully completed a six-runway at Edwards Air Force Base early on Saturday day mission in space.

Issue of raising the minimum wage set for debate in House this week

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - As business and labor argue over raising the minimum wage, the potential impact on the federal budget, and taxpayers, as much as $5 billion.

Although most Democrats have downplayed any budget impact, an analysis prepared last week by the Congressional Budget Office for the Democratic sponsors of the legislation conceded that raising the minimum wage could cost the government money and possibly force cuts in at least four jobs programs.

But a House Republican analysis estimates that if the Democrats' bill becomes law it would cost $70 million a year by 1992 to maintain current staffing levels in just those four programs, College Work Study, Head Start, Community Service for Older Americans and the federal government's summer youth jobs program.

Smooth sailing

The NASA shuttle Discovery touches down on the morning. The shuttle successfully completed a six-runway at Edwards Air Force Base early on Saturday day mission in space.

Issue of raising the minimum wage set for debate in House this week

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - As business and labor argue over raising the minimum wage, the potential impact on the federal budget, and taxpayers, as much as $5 billion.

Although most Democrats have downplayed any budget impact, an analysis prepared last week by the Congressional Budget Office for the Democratic sponsors of the legislation conceded that raising the minimum wage could cost the government money and possibly force cuts in at least four jobs programs.

But a House Republican analysis estimates that if the Democrats' bill becomes law it would cost $70 million a year by 1992 to maintain current staffing levels in just those four programs, College Work Study, Head Start, Community Service for Older Americans and the federal government's summer youth jobs program.
Spreading the Catholic version of love

Love one another. The message of Christianity is often reduced to this. And Christ himself did not hesitate to simplify much of his teaching and the teaching of the Old Testament in this way. Not infrequently the core content of each and every religious and philosophical view is reducible to this command.

Thomas D'Andrea
inside out

There is probably some justification for this in that it has seemed evident to man from time immemorial that much of what is deeply mysterious in life is about being properly related to the "other"—be that other animate or inanimate nature, the universe of other human beings, or the Creator Himself. But it is of particular importance that what one understands "love" to be, and beyond this, what one deems necessary and appropriate to do, and by what means, is reducible to this command.

The Roman Catholic Church puts forward one such understanding of what authentic love of the other is and how it is to be attained and maintained. And from an important, if incomplete, point of view, the Catholic Church in all its history has pursued this end through a sustained argument, a constant appeal, and a claim, about who man is, where he came from, where he is headed. With a very definite and specific understanding of the point of human life and the nature of man, the Catholic Church directs its members to love the other for all that love is, how it is to be maintained and defensibly excluded. It will then see that the following activities and practices (among others) seriously curtail our ability to love: selfish careerism, temperament, all sexual meandering outside the context of marriage, bourgeois materialism, laziness and comfort, self-indulgence. We simply cannot engage in these things and "love" (i.e., be properly related to God and one another). We can take part in them and wish others well, but we will be impotent to help them and will end up manipulating them to serve our own selfish purposes in the end.

If we trust the wisdom of the Catholic Church, we will see that we are thoroughly incapable of authentic love without God's grace, and that we cannot get that grace but through a lot of prayer and receiving the sacraments often (particularly the sacrament of Holy Communion and the sacrament of reconciliation). A Catholic who neglects these things or even fails to give them first importance is like a Manist who fails to meditate faithfully on "his Little Red Book," or a Zen monk who leaves off the practice of his meditation, or a disciple of the Rev. Sun Yun Moon who refuses to sell his flowers. For us Catholics, prayer, the sacraments, and the disciplining of the lusts of the flesh and the pride of the spirit are where it's at if we want to love more. And Lent is a good time to start again.

Thomas D'Andrea is a graduate student in philosophy and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

Minorities need to preserve culture

Dear Editor:

In response to Ms. Alvarez's column on Feb. 27, I'd like to discuss the hackneyed notion of "culture" yet again. Although Ms. Alvarez made some good points about the prejudging tendencies of the persons who were blanco written at Notre Dame, she didn't carry home any new insights.

As Ms. Alvarez stated, no one in America is 100 percent black, white, or anything else, so there is much diversity within groups. And we as a community, particularly minorities at Notre Dame, would do well to join together and see that black skin and white skin are just one color.

What? Do all blacks sound like the titles of rap songs? I think not. There are all kinds of accents here, from as far west as California to as far east as Boston. These accents have no color, thus there is no one particular way of speaking for blacks or whites.

But though there are no accents bound to one another, especially within institutions such as this, there is a need to bond with familiar cultural heritages. As Ms. Alvarez wrote, Notre Dame's own group is comfortable, nurturing, and educational. In short, it is a necessity, particularly here where minorities make up such a small percentage of students.

It is from our own that we learn about ourselves—from whom we cannot and where we are going, because no one else will give us an accurate account but ourselves. It is from our own that we can talk about problems and cope with life here. It is from our own that we learn to share and to understand one another, and in turn accept and respect others. It is from our own that we learn to talk to each other, to have a common language.

So it is for these reasons that any black person here would be friendly to blacks, regardless of where we are going, because we are alike in color—there is diversity among diverse groups. But within that diversity we can be unified, strong, unique, and proud, without a special year set aside for this discovery.

Instead, we have to unify with the understanding that we are not all alike in character just because we are alike in color—there is diversity among diverse groups. But within that diversity we can be unified, strong, unique, and proud, without a special year set aside for this discovery.

It is through an understanding of our own culture's diversity that we can command respect from ourselves and others—by not picking fights in words and deeds—or in print.

Leah D. Franklin
Pasquerilla West
Feb. 28, 1989

P.O. Box Q

Doonesbury

Garry Trudeau
Quote of the Day

'A stumble may prevent a fall.'

-Thomas Fuller

The Observer retains the right to edit all commentaries submitted to the Viewpoint department. Please note that the more concise the piece, the less we will have to edit it to fit our space.
La Celebración de Negro

CINDY PETRITES accent writer

Saturday night at the Century Center, the cranberry curtains parted to reveal fashion, flair and fun. Not too much of the unexpected, but a very professional presentation awaited the viewer at the 16th Annual Black Cultural Arts Council-sponsored Fashion Show.

Alliterative announcers Jocelyn Allen and Roderick West set the stage for fashion and fun with a tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr., a brief presentation on the richness of black heritage, and La Celebración de Negro began. Against a watercolor backdrop of jazz musicians and palm trees, the eleven handpicked models strutted their stuff. The first skit had models Pat Terrell, Calvin Allen and Audrey Brent appearing in an interpretation of traditional African tribal costume complete in gold-embroidered fez, leather sandals, and tribal poncho.

The women were hot, but the men clearly got the audience motivated as they sauntered in their full-length wool Calvin and Hobbes tweeds, oversized linen dusters and too-cool black shades, "exercising their prerogative to look good." The crowd clearly went wild when LA rapper Tone-Loc's "Wild Thing" heralded the swimsuit fashions. As the women frolicked in modest but flattering one-pieces, the men peeled down to the briefest of Speedos, much to the delight of the audience. The skit was entitled "Walking on the Beach, Kicking up Sand," but no sand was kicked Saturday night, that's for sure.

The palm trees played backdrop to a "starlight night" as leather, silk, and suede in traditional black and brown and in the jewel colors of fuschia and purple took the stage. Particularly memorable was the royal purple leather ensemble sported by model Tracy Lowery. The black silk duster with leather trim and the body-hugging black tank dress worn by Niobe Joseph left a lasting impression, too.

Then the amiable announcers ceded the mike and stage to South Bend's own androgynous designer, Fuddie, of Studio Five's Fuddie Fashions. Fuddie encouraged the audience to "put our hands together" as he came out with the most un-"fuddy-duddy" of fashions. First on the runway were models James Suttle and Pat Terrell sporting glorified white long-johns which, as Fuddie himself cautioned, were for the man with nothing to hide. Following these were a series of dramatic blacks and whites -- in emblazoned T-shirts, rayon pants, Zorro hats. Sophistication took the stage as model Frances Shavers made her appearance in thigh-high leather boots and midnight-black cape. Lavender and camel pantsuits, emerald green leather minis, blood red silk evening gowns complete with cape, and sequined velvet floor-length formals all floated by, with this section of the show culminating in Fuddie's wedding fashions.

The show's finale, featuring Mr. Leonard's furs and a cameo appearance by the show's coordinators Lauren teen Carla Morris and Delia Lozano, provided a fitting close to an evening of fitting clothes which was professionally done and fun for all.

Bill Watterson

Observer photos by Scott McCann

(page 6)

Monday, March 20, 1989
After a thrilling overtime victory against No. 1 Marion Saturday morning, some might have expected South Bend St. Joseph’s to be flat in the night’s semifinal.

But the No. 3 Indians responded with a convincing 78-55 win over unfinished Elkhart Memorial in front of a sold-out Joyce ACC crowd to gain a trip to tomorrow’s 11:30 a.m. final this weekend at Market Square Arena in Indianapolis.

"It’s an awesome feeling," St. Joe coach Steve Austin said.

"Basically it came down to heart.

"It marks the first time since 1973 that a South Bend area team has advanced to the finals, and the first appearance ever for the Indians.

St. Joe’s will meet Lawrence North at 3 p.m. Saturday, while Floyd Central and Kokomo square in the first semifinal at 11 a.m.

The Indians drowned Marion 26-4 in the first half, while the Chargers defeated Fort Wayne Concordia 84-75 in overtime in the second morning contest.

In the championship game, Elkhart Memorial streaked to a 15-3 lead after one period, but the Indians hit for 30 points in the second stanza to take a 43-30 lead, a score they could never lead into the digits in the second half.

The guard duo of Darran Teamor and Rodney Holmes swept the Indians in the final Teanor scored 22 points, and Holmes chipped in 21. Daivon Beathia led the Chargers with 22 points.

"We executed a lot better, hit our free throws and Rodney Holmes had two better games than in the afternoon," Austin said.

In the morning contest, Marion almost had the game out of reach before St. Joe’s got its wake-up call.

The Giants built a 65-56 advantage with 1:49 to play, but couldn’t connect on free throws down the stretch. Marion almost had the game in the front ends of one and one opportunities.

Holmes nailed a three-pointer with 59 left to cut the lead 48-46. Jason McCuan then hit one free throw for the Chargers, but Kevin Lorton hit a three-pointer as time ran out to force overtime.

Lorton was an unlikely hero for the Indians. It was his first overtime attempt season.

"When I looked around all I saw was gold staring at me," Lorton said, "so I just let it fly.

The Indians never trailed in the overtime, but Marion had a chance to tie with five seconds left. With the score 76-72, the Chargers had nine seconds left. With the score 76-72, the Chargers had nine seconds left...

Sutton resigns as UK basketball coach

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. - Twenty-four hours after saying that resignation could be avoided, a conference of guilt, Eddie Sutton resigned Kentucky coach on Sunday. He insisted he was not forced to resign and that he is innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with an NCAA investigation of the program.

Rumors of Sutton’s resignation, or possible firing, had circulated since last October, when the NCAA announced it would review the basketball program.

Ole Miss coach, who on Saturday had repeated his intention to remain as coach, said he had reached a decision because of the increasing rumors about his status. One such report, which surfaced last Friday, had Sutton said to fire him if he would be retained.

"These instances have increased," said Sutton, "and I think we will continue to do that, and I think that it may get hurt and I can’t do that thing.

During a news conference, Sutton said he made his decision Saturday night after consulting with his family and doing "a lot of praying." He met Sunday with UK president David Roselle, who, according to the coach, accepted the resignation and extended his gratitude to Sutton's dedication to the program.

Making his own news conference Sunday night, Roselle said the question of Sutton’s status came up in a meeting last Wednesday at the president’s home in the UK campus.

"We talked about it but he was very firm that it was good for the program," Roselle said of the session, which also included athletic director Joe Burke and UK lawyer James Park Jr., among others.

Roselle praised what he called Sutton’s "willingness to recognize that his resignation was in the best interest of the program.

Roselle added that the UK athletics board was scheduled to meet on Tuesday to discuss the matter, but the situation, what the UK president termed a "management decision.

Asked if his leaving might soften any possible punishment by the NCAA, Sutton said, "I would hope they would take it into consideration.

Roselle added: "one hopes that it does, but one does not do it for that reason."
Big crowd honors champions

By GREG GUFFEY
Assistant Sports Editor

More than 2600 fans honored Notre Dame's national football championship team Friday night at the team's National Championship Testimonial Banquet at the Joyce ACC.

Associated Press college football editor Herschel Nisenson presented the Irish tri-captains with the AP championship trophy, while Fighting Irish coach Lou Holtz gave them the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame award.

"I've presented a lot of AP trophies at a lot of banquets, but I've never seen such an overwhelming and overwhelming response," Nisenson said.

"Heart of a Champion." A high-light medley prepared by Golden Dome Productions came later in the evening.

Don Criqui, a Notre Dame graduate and a sportscaster at NBC since 1979, served as the master of ceremonies.

"I saw one poll where Don Nehlen was voted the number-one coach, Troy Aikman will be the first player selected in the draft and the Heisman Trophy went at Barry Sanders," Criqui said. "Without a doubt, Lou Holtz was the best coach in college football and the Most Valuable Player was No. 9, Tony Rice.

Many of the Irish seniors had a turn at the microphone, including the tri-captains. Mark Green said it took awhile for the national championship to settle in.

"I can honestly say now, I feel like a champion," Green said.

Irish head coach Lou Holtz took the opportunity to look back on the season, but also said it was time to move ahead.

"It isn't often you get to stand up and say you're the best at what you've chosen to do," Holtz said. "We're here because of attitude, the self-confidence, the self-belief.

"I love you guys because you refused to be mediocre, Holtz commended. "I've presented the football team refused to be second. People come and people go. That's life. There's one thing you can't lose and that's the faith in Notre Dame.

"But after tonight," he concluded, "we're going to put it away.'"

Kite wins second straight tourney

Associated Press

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. — Tom Kite, getting the break he said he would need, shot a 71 on Sunday for a one-stroke victory in the Players Championship, his second consecutive victory of the season.

"Good golf won't get it," Kite said after the third round of this annual championship of golf's touring pros. "Whoever wins it will have to get one more break than the other guys."

Kite's came on the par-5 16th hole, where, with a two-shot lead, he hit a wood club for his second hole-in-one of the week.

It went through the green, the ball skipping and scooting toward the water further on, with Kite grinning on a knuckle in anxiety.

Only the collar of high grass behind the green prevented the ball from plunging into the pond. It stopped inches short.

Kite, 39, made par on the hole and went on to a 1-under-par round under difficult scoring conditions at the TPC course at Sawgrass—hard, fast greens and gusty winds.

Kite had a final score of 279, nine under par, in posting the 12th victory of his 18-year PGA tour career.

"I received his gift victory last weekend at Orlando, Fla., where he became a winner when Davis Love III bogeyed the second playoff hole.

Kite's victory was worth $243,000 from the total purse of $125 million, pushed his earnings for the season to $481,725.

And gave him the money-winning lead.

Tom Watson, although never in contention, also achieved a money-winning milestone.

The five-time British Open champion pocketed $31,050 for his tie for 11th at 285 and joined Jack Nicklaus as the only career $5 million winners. Watson now has six $1 million winners.

Chip Beck, the third-round leader, rallied from a dreadful start with a 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole that gave him second place alone at 286.

Beck's 73 included a 41 over the front and a 32 on the back nine.

Bruce Lietzke, who had a tie for second until Beck's last-hole heroics, was third at 27-281.

The evening started with two videos highlighting the season—"They Wanted to Win" and "I wanted them to win."
Tennis team splits pair on road

By DAVE McMAHON
Sports Writer

The men's tennis team split matches last Wednesday and Thursday while playing at Marquette and the University of Wisconsin. The Irish came away with their 13th win of the season against the Badgers, one of the top teams in the conference, before losing the next day in Madison.

Notre Dame proved to be invincible in the singles bracket at Marquette, as the top six players failed to lose a set. Dave DiLaccia, Walter Dolhare, Ryan Wenger, Paul Odland, Dave Reiter, and John Silk all posted wins for the Irish. The lone Warrior victory came at number two doubles in a threenset tiebreaker.

Irish coach Bob Bayliss was pleased with the performance, considering the match was on the road.

"It's tougher to win on the road in tennis than in other sports," said Bayliss. "The lighting and playing surface can have a great effect on a visiting team, but we handled it well."

While Irish tennis is a program on the rise, Marquette had neither the quality players nor quality facilities that Notre Dame boasts.

"The University has made a much bigger commitment to tennis than they have, so we really felt that it was a match we should win," said Bayliss. Notre Dame faced a much stiffer test the following day, venturing to Madison to take on the Badgers, one of the top teams in the region. After shuffling the lineup because of an injury to Mike Wallace, who plays at number-one doubles, the Irish suffered a 6-2 defeat. But Bayliss would not use injuries as an excuse.

"We had to play with the hand we were dealt, and we just didn't play it good enough," said Bayliss. DiLaccia extended his win streak to 13 after a 6-3, 6-4 win. The freshman standout improved to 16-4 in the spring season and 29-6 overall.

Wenger, playing at number-four singles, lost his first set 3-6 before winning the last two, 6-3, 7-5. The number one doubles team of DiLaccia-Dolhare posted a 6-4, 6-2 win.

Captain Brian Kalbas, suffering from an intense stomach pain, showed great effort before succumbing to his opponent.

"He showed a tremendous amount of courage," said Bayliss. "He couldn't serve effectively because of the pain, which took a lot out of his game."

Notre Dame will have a few days to nurse the injuries before hosting Miami of Ohio Friday morning at 10:30. Northern Illinois will test the Irish following the Miami match.

Indiana State, which beat the Irish 6-3 and 7-2 last season, will wrap up the weekend festivities with a match against Notre Dame on Saturday.

ND downs Bonnies; splits against Duke

By DAVE McMAHON
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame baseball team improved to 10-4 on the season with a victory over St. Bonaventure and a two-game split with Duke this weekend.

Pitcher Erik Madsen improved to 3-0 on the season and the Irish beat the host Blue Devils 5-4 in the first game Saturday. Dan Pelletier went 4-for-5 with a double and a run scored and Ed Lund had two doubles to power Notre Dame's offense.

The Irish jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first when Pat Peavento walked, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch by Blue Devil starter Jim Bostic, and scored on Pat Eiler's sacrifice fly. They added two in the second when Mike Messineo hit a bases filled single home Lund and Mike Coss, but Duke answered with two unearned runs to make the score 3-2.

Notre Dame scored again in the third when James Sass singled home Pelletier, and made it 5-2 in the seventh when Duke second baseman Tony D'Ambrosio booted Smith's groundout, allowing Pelletier to score.

Saturday's second game was a 7-5 Duke win. Adam A&K was called in the fourth inning because of rain with one out in the inning.

After allowing the first two batters to score in Sunday's first game, pitcher Mike Passilla shut down the Bonnies for 7 2/3 innings, allowing the Irish to come back for a 5-2 win.

Duke got revenge in Sunday's second game, blasting the Irish 6-3. Passilla's 7 2/3 no-hit innings helped the Blue Devils to build a 5-0 lead before Jason Martinez hit a two-run double in the ninth.

Tourney continued from page 16

eliminated. Radenbaugh won a preliminary match over Robert Symmans of Wisconsin-Lake Superior before losing to Ben Reichel of Tennessee-Chattanooga. Geneser won his preliminary match over G.T. Taylor of Arizona State and lost his second round match to Mike Amine of Michigan. In the consolation bracket, Geneser won once and then was eliminated by Jason Morris of Syracuse. Neither wrestler placed in the final tournament standings.

Boyd, who was wrestling in his first ever NCAA Tournament, could do no wrong all the way into the semifinals. In the final four, he lost a tight match to the defending champion before being eliminated in the consolation bracket. His fifthplace finish was the highest since Golic in 1978.

"Pat's performance, when you consider that he has never been to the NCAA's before, and that he was out for five weeks earlier in the season, was truly remarkable," said McCann.

Durso made it all the way into the quarterfinals before losing his first match. He then went on to win in the consolation bracket and grab an eighth place finish along with All-American honors. Durso finishes his career as the all-time winningest wrestler in Irish history with 127 wins. His roommate, Geneser, became the second winningest wrestler with his wins in the NCAA tournament.

The future looks great for Notre Dame wrestling as it returns eight out of ten starters for next year, including Boyd who won hardship after his senior season. As goodbyes are said to the best ever in Durso and Geneser, one must also say hello to the exciting future of a new power in collegiate wrestling—Notre Dame.

"This was an important tournament for us because people finally realized that we are for real," said an enthused McCann. "Notre Dame wrestling is finally for real."
By STEVE MEGARGEE
Associate Sports Editor

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Lock finally was with the Irish on St. Patrick’s Day. It just took a little cooperation.

Entering Friday’s first-round NCAA tournament game, which a 2-3 record in St. Patrick’s Day games, the one of the Commodores’ three-pointers came in the final 20 minutes.

“We just planned on picking them up halfway court and at the pro line instead of the college line because they’d shoot them anywhere,” said Irish point guard Tim Singleton, who scored six points with seven assists.

Fredrick and Ellis took control of the game in the second half. Despite playing in obvious pain at times, Fredrick scored eight points in the second half. After scoring his final two points in half, he took control of the game.

“The gameplan was to try and get the ball inside as much as possible, and if I wasn’t open for the shot, to kick it out to the guard,” said Ellis. “I’ve said all year what the team needed me to do. I’d respond, and Keith (Robinson), Jamere and Fred just told me to get down and score.”

“Ellis played well inside,” said Vanderbilt center Frank Kornet, who scored 17 points. “We kept coming inside.”

As the game got later and later and we were chasing them down, they played an exceptional game.

With Keith Robinson adding eight boards, Notre Dame out-rebounded Vandy 24-16. Shootout just 6-5 percent in the second half (44 percent for the game), the Commodores had no answer.

“We knew we were a good rebounding team, and they showed it tonight,” said Gobein, who led Vandy with 18 rebounds.

“They played volleyball with it a couple of times,” Goheen said. “Against a good rebounding team, you have to shoot good-percentage shots, and we didn’t do that.

“Those of you who haven’t seen us didn’t see a real Vanderbilt team tonight.”

Vanderbilt’s loss ended the coaching career of C.M. Newton. After posting a 308-273 record in 32 years of coaching, Newton returns to his alma mater to become athletic director at Kentucky.

“I told Digger that if you have to end a career against someone, I’d rather it be against a school like Notre Dame,” said Elmer Bennett, whose 17 years at the helm of DePaul stands for a quality, class university.

IRISH ITEMS: Ellis had more difficulties with the post-game drug test than the post-game front line. He spent over three hours trying to find an acceptable urine sample before leaving the Civic Center at 3 a.m. All three tournament teams from the Southeastern Conference lost in the first round. Notre Dame last wore solid green jerseys March 1, 1980, in a 62-54 win over Dayton.

FREDRICK COMES OFF BENCH TO ENTFRE IREISH

ND wears green uniforms in St. Patrick’s Day victory

By THERESA KELLY
Sports Editor

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Everything turned for the Irish in that last week, Joe Fredrick had been answering the question, “Are you going to play?”

“If I can jog, I’ll play,” Fredrick answered.

The Irish junior did more than just jog Friday night in Notre Dame’s first-round NCAA Tournament game against Vanderbilt. He scored 17 points with 18 rebounds, 13 of which were offensive rebounds.

“I knew a week ago I’d play. This first time down the floor, looking like a man who had been in the game from the start and not like a man who hadn’t practiced for a week.”

“At the NCAA’s, you play if you can walk,” said Vanderbilt senior Barry Gobein, who was on of the victims of Notre Dame’s defense of the three-point shot. “I’m not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played.”

The second half was a mirror image of the first, as Fredrick came in with 15:22 to go and hit another three form the left side, this time giving the Irish a nine-point lead.

“When I get in the game, I feel as if I’ve been in the whole time,” Fredrick said. “I saw their zone, and I saw that Jamere was getting some shots. The first time down the court I was open, so I put it up.”

Fredrick’s ankle sprain occurred in the last few minutes of practice Monday.

“I did not travel with the team to play DePaul, but instead stayed in the Notre Dame infirmary nursing the injury.”

“I turned it twice in the game, and it was bothering me,” Fredrick said. “But I knew a week ago I’d play. This tournament is why you play college basketball.”

Fredrick’s return to the lineup, he was a perfect four-four from three-point range, and the completions marked a career high for a single game. From the left wing, looking like a man who had been in the game from the start and not like a man who hadn’t practiced for a week.”

“At the NCAA’s, you play if you can walk,” said Vanderbilt senior Barry Gobein, who was on of the victims of Notre Dame’s defense of the three-point shot. “I’m not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played.”

The second half was a mirror image of the first, as Fredrick came in with 15:22 to go and hit another three form the left side, this time giving the Irish a nine-point lead.

“When I get in the game, I feel as if I’ve been in the whole time,” Fredrick said. “I saw their zone, and I saw that Jamere was getting some shots. The first time down the court I was open, so I put it up.”

Fredrick’s ankle sprain occurred in the last few minutes of practice Monday.

“I did not travel with the team to play DePaul, but instead stayed in the Notre Dame infirmary nursing the injury.”

“I turned it twice in the game, and it was bothering me,” Fredrick said. “But I knew a week ago I’d play. This tournament is why you play college basketball.”

Fredrick’s return to the lineup, he was a perfect four-four from three-point range, and the completions marked a career high for a single game. From the left wing, looking like a man who had been in the game from the start and not like a man who hadn’t practiced for a week.”

“At the NCAA’s, you play if you can walk,” said Vanderbilt senior Barry Gobein, who was on of the victims of Notre Dame’s defense of the three-point shot. “I’m not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played.”

The second half was a mirror image of the first, as Fredrick came in with 15:22 to go and hit another three form the left side, this time giving the Irish a nine-point lead.

“When I get in the game, I feel as if I’ve been in the whole time,” Fredrick said. “I saw their zone, and I saw that Jamere was getting some shots. The first time down the court I was open, so I put it up.”

Fredrick’s ankle sprain occurred in the last few minutes of practice Monday.

“I did not travel with the team to play DePaul, but instead stayed in the Notre Dame infirmary nursing the injury.”

“I turned it twice in the game, and it was bothering me,” Fredrick said. “But I knew a week ago I’d play. This tournament is why you play college basketball.”

Fredrick’s return to the lineup, he was a perfect four-four from three-point range, and the completions marked a career high for a single game. From the left wing, looking like a man who had been in the game from the start and not like a man who hadn’t practiced for a week.”

“At the NCAA’s, you play if you can walk,” said Vanderbilt senior Barry Gobein, who was on of the victims of Notre Dame’s defense of the three-point shot. “I’m not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played.”
NC State advances

Associated Press

Rodney Monroe scored a career-high 46 points to lead N.C. State to a 77-64 double overtime victory over Iowa in the East Regional. He had 11 in the second overtime and hit baskets that tied the score at 64 and 66 with 1:09 left. Monroe also played mostly reserves, getting his first start in the first overtime. His performance gave N.C. State 29-7, fell behind 29-19 in the second overtime. State.

Missouri 108, Texas 89

Doug Smith scored a career-high 30 points and Missouri advanced to the regional semifinals for the first time since 1982. Missouri, 29-7, fell behind 51-40 with four minutes left. Mills had 24 points. The Tar Heels, 29-7, scored just three points in the second half and the Tar Heels lost 77-73 to the Hoosiers. The Hoosiers thoroughly outplayed the Tar Heels, 18-1. Smith said.

Unc 86, UCLA 81

Playing without the suspended J.R. Reid, North Carolina overcame a 10-point deficit with four minutes left. Madden finished with 24 points. Seton Hall a 77-73 overtime victory over Iowa in the East Regional. Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz. — Even at half strength, Indiana is an intimidating force in the NCAA tournament.

Freshman Eric Anderson scored 24 points Sunday as the Hoosiers crushed Texas-Erl Paso 92-69 in the second round of the West Regional despite an 18-point deficit with four minutes left in the second half. Indiana's Bob Knight, coach of the Hoosiers, has said Anderson's first half shooting was crucial.

The Associated Press

We needed some offense and Eric is the best combination of our inside and outside players,” Knight said. “We took a bit of a chance ... but the kid really came through for us.”

Guard Joe Hillman, one of three starters in early foul trouble, said Anderson's first half shooting was crucial.

“We played awfully well today, especially the first 10 minutes,” Hillman said. “Then we got some guys in foul trouble. He also ended the game with a game-high six points and three steals.

Notre Dame alternated Jamere Jackson and Tim Singleton, the team's two best defenders, on Smith, but nothing could stop him on Sunday.

“When we got close to him, he'd run away, and we couldn't get any help because we were worried about their inside game,” said Singleton.

Jamere Jackson and Tim are great defensive players,” said Irish guard Joe Fredrick. “Anytime a guy scores 30 points on them, he's a great player.”

The only person not handing out post-game accolades to Smith was the All-American himself.

“Everybody did an excellent job,” said Smith. “I've got to thank my teammates.”

Thompson has heard all that before.

“Georges gets too caught in that company line, then he goes on the court thinking it's an equal opportunity sport,” said Thompson. "We're a good team when he's not so democratic on the basketball court."
ND overcomes sloppy doubles’ play in victory

By CHRISS COONEY
Sports Writer

Gusty shot selection and gritty perseverance helped the Notre Dame women’s tennis team rebound from some erratic doubles play to overcome Purdue on Sunday 6-3.

The Irish were up 4-2 after the singles competition and all three doubles pairs had won their first sets. A victory seemed guaranteed at that point. The trouble began when all three duos dropped their second set simultaneously.

At the number-three spot, Kim Pacella and Natalie Hig were down 4-5, double match point, after splitting sets 6-0, 4-6. In addition, Pacella had just injured her knee. Amazingly, the combination fought back and won the set 7-5 to clinch the team victory.

Pacella was shocked that they came back to win and could not find a logical explanation for it.

“I have no idea how we won that match,” Pacella said. “After I hurt myself, I just concentrated on getting my serves in and Natalie and I started playing smart. I think once we came back the other team got worried because they knew they had blown two match points.”

Pacella also remarked that looking down the court and noticing that her teammates were losing inspired her to not give up.

“I knew Coach was counting on us winning and that the team needed it,” Pacella commented. “That was in the back of my mind.”

Notre Dame’s victory was the second of the weekend. The Irish trounced Western Illinois 9-0 on Saturday. The Irishmen only won fifteen games off the entire Irish squad.

“They definitely are not as strong as they used to be,” commented Irish coach Michele Gelfman. “Our girls played great, but WIU lost their best player and that has really hurt their line-up.”

Gelfman said that she was especially pleased that the Irish did not “play down” to the Westerners weaker level of play.

“We have a tendency to lower our intensity to accommodate the other team,” Gelfman explained. “I think we made tremendous strides by not doing that. Saturday we needed a good warm-up for Purdue.”

The victory over Purdue was especially sweet since the Boilermakers are ranked ahead of the 9-4 Irish regionally.

“After losing some matches we dropped to seventh and Purdue is at five or six,” Gelfman said. “This win proves that we can play with the best in the region and be effective against our Big 10 competition.”

Despite the success of the Irish, who have won five in a row, Gelfman was not entirely pleased with the performance.

“T’m really glad we won, but we had some problems with our doubles,” Gelfman commented. “We didn’t play as sharp today as we usually do, but I think individually the girls played gutsy and stayed positive.”

Gelfman mentioned the number one doubles duo of CeCe Cahill and Tracy Barton as especially working hard to overcome a sub-par outing.

“CeCe and Tracy did not play as well as they usually do,” said Gelfman of the 1-5 tandem. “They were down 3-0 in the third set, then 4-3, then 5-4 and they stayed in it.”

The pair won 6-2, 7-6, 7-5. Gelfman worried after the singles that the Irish did not realize the Boilermakers strength at doubles. These fears were confirmed when Purdue began to “feed off of the pace” that Notre Dame put on the ball.

Although the second doubles team of Katie Clark and Kristy Doran lost their three-set match, 6-4, 14, 1-6, Gelfman lauded the two for their outstanding singles play. Both girls had straight set victories.

“I especially have to give Kristy credit,” Gelfman praised. “She was down 1-4 in both sets and could not get into a rhythm against her opponent. Kristy could have easily given up. I was pleased to see her own that kind of fight.”

Gelfman also commended Kim Pacella who lost only one game in her two singles matches this weekend.

“Kim is on a hot streak, just playing great tennis,” Gelfman said.

Pacella commented that the team’s trip to California over spring break helped her and the entire team gain confidence.

“We got into a groove over break as we got used to winning,” Pacella said. “We started to believe in ourselves.

Personally, I had been frustrated in January and February, but I’ve started playing my game and hitting with confidence.”

Both Gelfman and Pacella are hoping that the win this weekend will help the Irish continue to improve as they look to face the toughest part of their schedule in the coming weeks.

Waltrip wins 500-mile race

Associated Press

HAMPTON, Ga. — Darrell Waltrip outraced Dale Earnhardt over the last nine laps Sunday to win the Motorcraft USA 500 NASCAR stock car race, giving him two victories in three starts this season.

The three-time Winston Cup champion, who opened the year by winning the Daytona 500, earned the 75th victory of his career by beating Earnhardt to the finish line by six-tenths of a second in a battle of Chevy Monte Carlos.

It appeared that Earnhardt, who is mired in a 13-race win-less streak, was on the way to a runaway until Geoff Bodine brought out the sixth and final caution flag just 15 laps from the end at Atlanta International Raceway.

Bodine was running third when he blew a tire heading into turn four on lap 313 and skidded sideways. Rick Wilson ran into Bodine’s car and sent it spinning to the top of the track just to the inside of the final turn. Neither driver was injured.

Earnhardt and Waltrip pitted quickly, while NASCAR rookie Dick Trickle, the only other driver on the lead lap, remained in the 1.3-mile oval and took the lead.
NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Units of elec. 16 Among 14 Lima at its capital 15 Not concealed 16 Pols with physics or maths 17 Dutch cheese 18 Subsequently 19 Again 20 I least bright 22 "---Leaves," 1956 film 24 Suites with major or kitchen 25 Hodges of hawaii 26 Hare 29 Yearly records 33 Priest's garments 34 Rainbow 37 Exclusively 38 Bogart-Mills, "Hm. 1961."
43 One who detects 44 Waxcoat 45 Setting or Singer 46 Tall 47 Assails 51 Kopper or Turner 52 Break suddenly
53 Johnny guitar from Mee
57 Wim 61 Melody 62 Flower part 66 Hero 68 Serena 69 Monroe's co-star in "The Seven Year Itch"
70 Waves 71 Individuals 75 Prepared

DOWN
1 Mincemeat 2 Modulo Comb. form 3 Fish baby's carriage 4 Donna singer from Boston 5 Seed of cattle 6 Egg-shaped 7 Permit 8 Before, in poesy 9 Overwrought 10 Amo, amas 11 Bit of fare 12 Article 13 Daybreak 14 Useful abstr.
15 Salad 16 Obi, e.g. 17 Transparent 18 More concise 19 Ely 20 Salt, in Savers 21 Rare 22 Melody 23 Rare 24 Hero 25 Gold 26 Bowstring hemp 27 Burn with hot liquid
28 Moderate 29 Yearly records 30 High-hat 31 River in France 32 Female sheep 33 Female sheep 34 Capricious 35 Wandered 36 Bowstring hemp 37 Finishes
38 Finishes 39 Pertaining to railways 40 Salt, in Savers 41 Emile W. J. Bryan 42 How some music is simplified 43 More concise 44 Sista 46 Elasticity 47 More concise 48 Fresh 49 Sista 50 Break suddenly 51 Break suddenly 52 Break suddenly
53 City in Tex.
54 Machault's locale
55 Where Aswan Dam is
56 Scottish caps
57 Thought
58 Moe's hood
59 Otherwise
60 Female sheep
61 Pod occupant

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
23 Amipotes 25 Parts volatility 26 Obs., e.g. 27 Transparent 28 Moderated 30 Hid and Jelson 31 River in France 32 High-hat 33 Wandered 36 Bowstring hemp 37 Finishes
38 Finishes 39 Pertaining to railways 40 Salt, in Savers 41 Emile W. J. Bryan 42 How some music is simplified 43 More concise 44 Sista 46 Elasticity 47 More concise 48 Fresh 49 Sista 50 Break suddenly 51 Break suddenly 52 Break suddenly
53 City in Tex.
54 Machault's locale
55 Where Aswan Dam is
56 Scottish caps
57 Thought
58 Moe's hood
59 Otherwise
60 Female sheep
61 Pod occupant

CAMPUS
5 p.m. High School Track Classic, Joyce ACC Fieldhouse. Admission $2 adults, $1 children.
7 p.m. Career and Placement Services presents "Janesville: How to Plan an Effective Job Search," 127 Nieuwland Science Hall.
7 p.m. Film "Some Like It Hot," Annenberg Auditorium.
9:30 p.m. Film "Chicago Maternity Center Story," Annenberg Auditorium.

LECTURE CIRCUIT
3:30 p.m. Inshbrook Program presents "Austria and the European Community: Looking Ahead to the Nineties," by Dr. Clemens Cernth, Austrian Consul General, 875 Auditorium, Center for Continuing Education.
4:15 p.m. English Department Ward-Phillips lectures "After the World View of the Nation-State: To Rewrite the Human Humanities," by Sylvia Warner, Stanford University, 875 Auditorium, Center for Continuing Education.
4:30 p.m. Biological Sciences seminar "Proteins Involved in Excitation-Contraction Coupling in Skeletal Muscle," by Dr. Susan Hamilton, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, Room 236 Galvin Life Sciences Auditorium.
5 p.m. Pastoral Institute lecture "Martyrdom and Beyond: A Journey in Memory of Archbishop Romero," by Frances O'Gorman, Saint Joseph's College, New York, Room 236 Galvin Life Sciences Auditorium.

DINNER MENUS
Notre Dame
Ham & Turkey Sandwich  Baked Sole  Top Round of Beef  Eggplant Parmesan

COMICS

Bloom County
The Far Side

Berke Breathed
Gary Larson

Mike Muldoon

The Far Side

Gary Larson

"Dear Henry: Where were you? We waited and waited but finally decided that . . . ."

"Andrew! So that's where you've been! And good heavens! ... there's my old hairbrush, too!"
Georgetown eliminates Notre Dame 81-74

Hoyas control second half with 88 percent shooting

By THERESA KELLY
Sports Editor

PROVIDENCE, R.I.—The Notre Dame basketball team couldn't win the war against top-seed Georgetown Sunday, ending the "Battle to SSTle" with an 81-74 loss in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

"Charles Smith, the Hoyas' senior guard, was unstoppable," said Smith's 34 Keys victory

By STEVE MEGAREGG
Associate Sports Editor

PROVIDENCE, R.I.—Notre Dame had one too many fans at the Providence Civic Center Sunday.

As Georgetown came onto the court for the second half, trailing the underdog Irish 36-32, "The Hoyas" inverted a crowd capacity of 12,106 for Hoy guard Charles Smith.

"Someone out there said I was overrated," said the 6-1 senior guard. "Every time I scored, that's what I thought. 'I'm overrated, I'm overrated.'" Smith had plenty of opportunities to think that in the second half. The Hoyas closed the gap from 16 points to 19 points to rally to an 81-74 victory in the second round of the NCAA East Regional.

During that second half, Smith shot 8-of-9 from the field, including a perfect 3-of-3 from three-point range, and 8-of-8 from the foul line.

"As Smith plays, (Georgetown) plays," said Hoyas coach Digger Phelps. "Today he took over when it counted.

Smith, 6-1, is the Hoyas' second leading scorer with 14 points per game. In Smith's first year of eligibility, "I added 17 points," said Smith, "making sure I was going to play, and I thought I was the key to the run. I was the key to the run, and the key play in the game according to Phelps, was when, with 9:37 to go, Mourning hit a shot in the paint over Ellis and Robin­ son, drew the foul from Ellis and completed the three-point play."

"I thought the key was the three-point shot," Phelps said, "with Mourning inside. I thought Ellis had position, went straight up, and I thought he got hooked, and the three-point turnaround really turned this game.

"I was playing post defense on him," Ellis said, "and it was pretty physical inside. It was a very controversial play."

Secondary looks impressive

By FRANK PASTOR
Associated Sports Editor

Quarterback Tony Rice out played some of the finest signalcallers in the country last season in leading Notre Dame to its first national title in eleven years.

But there is another side to that story.

For it was the defensive secondary which was responsible for stopping Heisman candidates Rodney Peete and Major Harris, in the team's first nine meetings with the Irish, as well as providing some of the most memorable moments of the season.

As Notre Dame moves into its third week of spring prac­ tice, the defensive secondary looks to be one of its biggest assets in the coming season.

The Irish return three starters from last year's squad and ex­ pect contributions from a number of recent converts from the offense.

"Game had a great year for us," said Healer. "When a guy has a great year for you, you want to make sure you have someone who can give you as good a performance."

"Francisco will be counted on to replace Streeter at strong safety. Francisco is switching from the corner, which he started two games for the Irish last season."

Unfortunately, Francisco's departure from the corner leaves an inexperienced, albeit talented pool of converted defensive players from which to construct a second team.

"What I'm worried about is depth," said Healer. "I think we've got four regular players, and from there on I think we've got to develop a second team of players. We've got to have at least six players and we'd like to come out of spring football with eight if we can."

"Our goal is to get those players who have played a lot for us a bit better and then to make sure we develop some depth," he said.

Sophomore George Poor­ man, Shawn Davis and Rod Smith, and junior Greg Davis were selected to the "37th place finish in the NCAA."