Freshman Frederick Shacky was rushed to St. Joseph’s Medical Center and a spokesperson for the hospital said Sunday that he was listed in serious condition and is in the intensive care unit.

According to Rex Rakow, director of Security, the incident occurred between 11:45 p.m. and midnight. The student fell from a window that was opened 18 inches, he said.

Rakow said the student fell out of the west or back side of Pangborn onto a loading dock. He said he was not sure what the circumstances of the fall were, “but it appears that the student was near vomiting.”

No blood alcohol test was taken, said Rakow.

Shacky was placed in a neck brace and a back board and was taken to the hospital in an ambulance, said Rakow.

Pangborn’s rector, Father Wilfred Freden, declined to comment.

Three new computer systems bought by ND

By DAN DWYER

Three new computer systems were recently acquired by the University to support research as part of a four-year, multi-million dollar effort to upgrade and expand the computing facilities on campus, according to Donald Spicer, assistant provost for university computing.

The systems, a CONVEX C220 and two smaller CONVEX C120s, give the University community processing capabilities that were previously available only off-campus, Spicer said. “Essentially, their primary capability is to support computationally-intensive tasks,” he added.

The addition of the CONVEX systems has improved large-scale computing on the campus, said Spicer. The CONVEX systems are computer networks, and users may log on through modems.

The CONVEX system is a class of computing power that did not exist on campus previously. Off-campus ties will stay in place, but not everything will have to be done remotely. It’s intended that these two (the C220 and on-campus computing systems) will complement each other,” he explained.

Users of the new system will include faculty, graduate students, and undergraduates affiliated with research projects, said Spicer. “People who need this resource will be those in the fields of science, engineering, business, and economics.”

In addition to the new systems, a new computer store and repair shop have recently been opened.

Jogger returns who asks to be punched

A man in a navy running suit approached three different groups of females Sunday. According to Joseph Araman, captain of Security’s afternoon shift, the first incident occurred at 5:32 p.m. when two females were approached near Gate six in the JACC parking lot.

Araman said the man asked the students what time it was and proceeded to tell them that he was jogging, had cramps and needed to be punched in the stomach.

The women declined to help him and went to Carrier Field and told a representative from non-varsity athletics who called Security on a radio, said Araman.

The second incident occurred at 7 p.m., when a female student was jogging eastbound on Bulla Road near the O’Hara-Grace Decio Faculty Hall and the Snite Museums of Art. The man approached two female students, asked for the time and to be punched in the stomach.

The women fled and notified Security, he said.

Araman said the third incident occurred at 7:26 p.m. on the sidewalk between Decio Faculty Hall and the Snite Museums of Art. The man approached a female student he was having a comment.

Victims of Hugo try to get bare necessities

Associated Press

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Victims of Hurricane Hugo scrambled to meet life’s basic needs Sunday, sweating out shortages of food, fresh water, gas and electricity. Lines for hot meals were blocks long and people waited up to four hours to buy gas and other supplies.

“There’s no bread, there’s no meat,” said Harold Washington, 21, at a supermarket that had doughnuts and peanut butter but lacked staples. “You can’t survive like that. Things just aren’t working fast enough.”

Washington, who lives with his mother and four siblings, said the family was burning candles at night and washing clothes by hand. They worried that the water they were using to brush their teeth was contaminated.

National Guardsmen with M-16 rifles patrolled the streets of the battered city of 65,000 people, guarding against looters and keeping order at locations where residents lugged coolers and plastic jugs to get fresh water.

An emergency law enacted Saturday night gives guardsmen the power to keep thieves from charging $10 for a bag of ice and $600 for a car tan.

“People were... beggin for ice,” said Staff Sgt. Bill Potts of the South Carolina National Guard. “There were flightless in the line. They were down-on Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze washed ashore near Lake Ohau, New Zealand, searchers for cutout fish on Sunday, but he’ll have to tell his Kremlin buddies about the one that got away. “I have no fishing license, and I caught nothing,” Shevardnadze joked as he and Secretary of State James Baker ended their early morning fishing expedition. “I’m no pro,” he laughed.

Salvage crews resumed efforts Sunday to remove the wrecked hull of a U.S. jet that crashed in the ocean near the East River in New York so federal investigators can examine the parts to see if mechanical problems contributed to the crash. Queens District Attorney John J. Sauter’s office has entered the investigation to be “on the lookout for violations of local laws,” said Sauter spokesman Michael Capra. A grand jury may be asked to investigate possible criminal wrongdoing related to last week’s crash.

Tens of thousands in Sioux City, Iowa, turned out to honor flight and ground crews who brought in a disabled jumbo jet to land safely, the passengers and the emergency workers who helped rescue passengers. “This is unbelievable,” said Capt. Al Haynes, pilot of United Flight 282. “It’s like a continuance of everything they did on July 19.”

The path of a collision that killed 20 students in Altam, Texas, has retracted Sunday by a self-driv- ing delivery truck and a school bus carrying federal investigators. The National Transportation Safety Board said the tests helped determine the speed the bus was traveling Thursday on the two-lane road in southern Texas, 15 miles from the Mexico border. “We feel reassured that the speed of the bus was somewhere in the range of, give or take, 30 miles per hour,” said NTSB member Lee Dickinson.

Swallowing cocaine to avoid detection has become an increasingly common practice, according to U.S. Customs agents in Miami. Plainclothes inspectors roving the huge customs area at Miami International Airport are capturing an average of a half-dozen of what they called “internal” every week, said senior customs inspectors George and Maria Bloom. The swallowers are taken to a doctors driven to leave the campus with the guard’s permission.

Indianapolis Star:

A Tale of Two Families

By JOHN CREEK

News Staff

The federal government is starting to become more aware of the needs of the American family in its policies after a long period of neglect, according to Thomas Long, a 1973 graduate of Notre Dame.

It was not until recently that the government took the family into consideration when creating federal policy, said Long. The family suffered a decline during "The Great Society" as a result of a high divorce rate and increased teen pregnancy.

This decline was not caused by the Federal Government, but it did not provide adequate assistance to its people when they were in need, said Long. Long stressed that several excellent programs were developed during the sixties and seventies, but "The war on poverty was hardly a renaissance, it was more of a disaster."

Two aspects of the Federal policy that greatly affect the condition of the American family are the tax code and education. Mr. Long remarked, "The present tax code is compromising the economic life of the family."

In order for the tax code to be better suited to the family three adjustments should be made, said Long. Taxes should be based on people's ability to pay, dependents should lessen a family's tax requirement, and the poor should not be taxed.

The personal tax adjustment for families with children has also fallen behind the times because the government has failed to adjust it to keep up with rising inflation, said Long.

Education is also vital to the survival of the family, he said. Poor conditions and low test scores in some inner city schools have led an increasing number of school-aged youths to flee to the streets and drugs and to leave their families. A system of open enrollment in which students would choose the school they would attend has proved effective in areas such as Harlem. Legislation to improve the tax code and the education system are necessary and are receiving greater consideration in Washington, said Long.

"There has never been a federal policy regarding the family," he said. He added that the best available option is the use of local governments to organize improvements because the Federal Government does not have the discretionary funds to finance these programs. The poor have become largely dependent on the Federal Government for survival.

Long said, "It is necessary to recognize the dignity of the family. People must participate in programs and help themselves."

If people become involved in their communities they will have a sense of pride and the family will be strengthened, he said.

Dr. John Watson, head of Saint Mary's Career and Placement Services, said Long's lecture was timely and relevant.

"We've talked about the problems of inner-city riots, frustration, drugs, and crime all being the result of the lack of national education and tax policy," said Watson. "The American family needs help and the government is beginning to recognize this."

Long graduated from Notre Dame with a degree in government. Long said, "It is necessary to recognize the dignity of the family. People must participate in programs and help themselves."

The lecture, titled "The American Family and Federal Policy: Recipe for Disaster or Opportunity for Renaissance?" was held Friday afternoon in Hayes-Henry auditorium.
Colombia's judges may strike because of death threats

Associated Press

BOGOTA, Colombia — Colombia's 4,600 judges, facing persistent death threats from drug traffickers, threatened Sunday to strike if the government doesn't give them better protection.

Also Sunday, the army said it had captured a suspected drug trafficker wanted by the United States for extradition. Carlos Zapata is not on the U.S. Justice Department's list of 12 wanted drug traffickers.

The son of a crusading newspaper editor who was killed by drug traffickers said Sunday that Colombia's congress is cowardly and corrupt in the government's fight against drug traffickers.

Residents of this capital city of 6 million endured another night of bombings Saturday as bombs exploded in a theater, a city bus company's garage and at a neighborhood headquarters of the ruling Liberal party.

The three bombs injured two people, national police said.

In the last month, 103 bombs have killed six people and wounded 130.

Colombia's judges, fearing for their lives, said in a statement issued through their labor union, the National Association of Judicial Workers, that they will go on strike if immediate action is not taken to address the dangers they face.

Since 1981, about 50 judges and 170 judicial employees have been killed.

Antonio Morales, president of the Association of Judicial Employees, has said at least 1,600 of Colombia's 3,000 judges have been threatened with death in the last 12 months.

"We don't see any will on the part of the government to increase security for our lives," the president of the judges' union, Antonio Nino, said in the communiqué.

The judges repeated previous demands for bulletproof cars and vests, guards with metal detectors at their offices and other security measures.

Judges in Colombia earn about $400 a month. In interviews last month many said they were forced to take buses to work because they couldn't afford cars. A compact car here costs $20,000.

Monica de Gavilán, who resigned as justice minister last week after being threatened by drug traffickers, said she was promised $19 million in U.S. aid earlier this month for the purpose of protecting judges.

But the union said it has heard nothing since about the aid.

Colombia's army said Sunday it had captured a suspected drug trafficker wanted by the United States for extradition.

The army's 2nd Brigade, in the Caribbean coast town of Barranquilla, said it had captured Gomez, 42, said Gomez has been wanted on drug trafficking charges in Florida since 1985.

Last month, Colombian government security forces claimed to have arrested two Colombians wanted by the United States for extradition. The two were released after the U.S. Justice Department said it had no charges pending against them.

U.S. Ambassador Thomas McNamara and other embassy employees have refused to comment on extraditions.

The anti-drug crusading newspaper El Espectador, in a column by its editor, Juan Carlos, accused Colombia's congress Sunday of being cowardly and corrupt.

Where can Morgan's Audit-Plus Training Program lead you?

Each year we hire a small team of college graduates to participate in a unique management training program. Our program, Audit-Plus, offers a career path in either financial or general management at J.P. Morgan.

J.P. Morgan develops and executes complex financial transactions for the world's leading corporations and governments. Our business requires specialized support in areas such as risk analysis, control evaluation, accounting policies, and taxation. As an Audit-Plus trainee, your role will be vital in providing essential management support.

To qualify, graduates with concentrations in accounting, finance, economics, or other business subjects should have at least two courses in accounting for the general management path and four courses for the financial management path.

Baker proclaims talks with Soviet foreign minister highly successful

Associated Press

JACKSON HOLE, Wyo. — Secretary of State James Baker said Sunday that the success of his meeting with the Soviet foreign minister should silence congressional critics and dampen their appetite for unilateral arms cuts.

Despite progress on talks to cut strategic, conventional and chemical weapons, Baker said the Soviet Union was still "a military threat."

"I think it would quite naïve for the United States to talk about unilateral reductions of its strategic arsenal," Baker said on the CBS-TV program "Face the Nation."

The Bush administration, he said, remains committed to the Strategic Defense Initiative and deploying new classes of long-range bombers and mobile missiles.

Baker's four-day session with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze yielded an agreement to hold a summit in the United States next spring or summer.

It will be the first meeting between President Bush and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev since Bush took office, although the two met in New York between Bush's election and his inauguration.

In the course of the Baker-Shevardnadze talks, the Soviets also said they would withdraw a demand that the United States agree to curb work on "Star Wars" before conclusion of a Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START).

Baker told a news conference Saturday the Soviet decision could speed conclusion of START, which would cut long-range strategic arms by 30 to 50 percent.

"Taking on domestic critics Sunday," Baker said. "There was a lot of criticism in advance of this ministerial (meeting) that I hope is absolutely gone now because we have made some really fundamental progress."

The most influential critic, Senator Majority Leader George Mitchell, tempered his remarks somewhat on another interview program, but did not recant.

"The events of the last 24 hours are certainly positive ... but I still think there are a number of steps that should be taken, should have been taken previously," the Maine Democrat said on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley."

He specifically mentioned the Democratic call for more financial aid to Poland and expanded trade with the Soviet Union as areas needing more attention.

Baker and Shevardnadze went fishing Sunday morning in the Snake River on the Rocky Mountains before flying separately to New York for a Nations meeting. Baker caught three trout, but Shevardnadze caught nothing.

Their mood appeared warm and friendly, as it has been since they arrived in this beautiful mountain resort Thursday night.

Despite progress in talks across a broad range of issues, and the signing of six accords on Saturday, Baker said the Soviet Union remained a threat.

"The military threat is not diminished if you look at 60 just in terms of military to military," Baker said.

He complained that while the Soviet Union has two classes of mobile missiles, the SS-24 and the SS-25, the United States has yet to deploy two it has under development, the rail-mobile MX and the Midgetman.

ND students receive $34 million in financial aid for year

By JEFF SWANSON

Business Writer

Approximately two-thirds of all undergraduate students receive financial aid, according to figures from the Notre Dame financial aid. The aid that students receive in the form of student loans, grants-in-aid, loans, campus work, and scholarships is approximately $34 million in the academic year 1988-89.

"An essential part of our policy is that a student demonstrate financial need," he said.

"The single largest source of funding for financial aid at Notre Dame is the Student Loan. It is a need-based loan which is available to students who have filled financial aid forms and been awarded eligibility by the office of financial aid. If the student is enrolled, the federal government pays the costs of the loan and interest to participating lenders. Students do not have to begin repaying the loan until six months after the student has left the University.

The University recommends that students apply for the Parental Loan for Undergraduates (PLUS). This is one of the few programs that is not need-based and is available to parents of dependent students, totaling approximately $3.5 million in loans from the Perkins Student Loan program allowed students to borrow $2.3 million last year.

"The whole meeting of the G-7 became electric when we started talking about the events going on in the Soviet Union and Poland," Brady said.

"At this point, the leaders said they hoped the 152 nations involved in the Third World's crushing debt would work toward debt reduction, with the International Monetary Fund being asked to lend $4 billion to Poland and $1 billion to Hungary, the communique termed 'historic.'
Christianity clearly labels homosexuality a sin

By Rick Acker

Are anti-homosexuality laws fair? Is homosexuality a legitimate "alternative lifestyle"? As the controversy surrounding homosexuality has grown, the willingness to give straight answers to questions like these has dwindled. In this essay, I will attempt to openly address the issue of homosexuality from the standpoint of a believer in democracy and Christianity.

As a believer in democracy, the issue of homosexuality is political. Do the freedoms that give rise to human rights to sexual freedom in the same way that religious minorities have rights to religious freedom? The Supreme Court answered this question in its 1986 decision in Bowers v. Hardwick. In this case, the Court allowed Bowers to press sodomy laws and "social morality" to make its laws stick. The law against cutting beards and sideburns, for instance, states that any law that is "degrading," "indecent," and "unnatural" in Roman 1:26-27. While few today would advocate the death penalty for homosexuals, Christians cannot deny the clear message of both the Old and New Testaments on the immorality of homosexuality.

Some Christians have attempted to evade the strict biblical condemnation of homosexuality by arguing that the laws as applied are mere anachronisms. They think that these rules may have had some function at the time of Moses, but are irrelevant today. They reach this conclusions more by analogy than logic. They point to outdated laws like the one in Leviticus 19:22 which regulates men not to cut their beards or sideburns, or 1 Timothy 2:9 which prohibits women from wearing jewelry or braiding their hair. When pressed, however, they can find no legitimate distinction between the rules they want to keep and the ones they want to throw out and the sin nature they want to keep (banning child molestation, murder, etc.). Why was ND tempted by ‘Last Temptation’?

By Edward J. Murphy

A department of the university is sponsoring a pub-\hubium discussion of "The Last Temptation of Christ." Why? Why is Notre Dame participating in this controversial Communication and Theatre do-\n
We could wonder why the Notre Dame student council has included this as a topic for a discussion. Maybe the student council thought it is a timely issue to raise in light of the recent controversy over the movie "The Last Temptation of Christ." The movie, directed by Martin Scorsese, was released in 1988 and has been at the center of much debate and controversy.

The movie tells the story of Jesus Christ from a different perspective. It portrays Jesus as a man who struggled with doubts and temptations, and even considered suicide. The film also includes scenes of Jesus being tempted by Satan, and the final scene shows Jesus being crucified and killed.

The controversy surrounding the movie has been intense, with many people expressing outrage and anger at its portrayal of Jesus. The film has been criticized for its depiction of Jesus as a flawed and human figure, and for its depiction of the crucifixion as a violent and painful event.

In the context of Notre Dame, a university known for its strong Catholic identity, the topic of the movie has been particularly controversial. Some members of the Notre Dame community have expressed concern that the movie could be seen as a challenge to the university's values and teachings.

The discussion at Notre Dame is likely to be a thoughtful and respectful exchange of ideas, as members of the university community engage in a conversation about the implications of the movie and its impact on the Catholic faith.

So why is Notre Dame sponsoring this discussion? Perhaps it is an attempt to engage with the broader cultural conversation about the movie, and to explore the complex and challenging themes it raises. Whatever the reason, it is clear that the Notre Dame community is taking this issue seriously, and is committed to having a meaningful dialogue about the movie and its implications.
‘Chicken Soup—ABC’s appetizer

If the Christians thought the lions were tough, they should meet Bea Fisher. Overprotective mother is an understatement for this woman whose accent immediately suggests her Jewish heritage. She’s serving up matzo and a great deal of trouble in her ‘Chicken Soup.’

The newest special on ABC’s Tuesday night menu is ‘Chicken Soup,’ which comes to a boil at 9:30 on Tuesday nights. Jackie Mason stars as Jackie Fisher, a Jewish pajama salesman. Well, he uses a pajama salesman until he quit his job in the first episode. Now he helps his next door neighbor Maddie Peerce (Lynn Redgrave) at an inner-city community center.

It’s Bea Fisher (Ilka Karlin) who adds the flavor to the broth. Bea wants Jackie to find a nice Jewish girl to date. In fact, she immediately expresses concern that anything Jackie does around town is going to be a couple. She replies, ‘Why couldn’t you be gay like everyone else?’ And they thought Pharaoh was bad.

The (ex-trained) star of the show is obviously Mason. He steals the show with his witty comments and monologues. Karlin is also quite good, but obviously models her character after Sophia from ‘The Golden Girls.’ It’s Redgrave who needs work. Apparently a series isn’t easy as a vector Weight Watchers commercials. Mason seems unsure of herself and (gulp) even uninterested. Viewers may be disappointed in her portrayal of the show’s leading lady. She’s defined in Mason’s shadow.

The first new show of the season may be one of the highlights. No doubt positioning ‘Chicken Soup’ between ‘Roseanne’ and ‘thirtysomething’ will ensure the show high ratings. However, the appealing nature of the program makes it able to stand on its own. This is a flavorful, fun show. No flies in this ‘Soup.’

‘The Package’ promises guts and gore for Hackman fans

‘The Package’ is an exciting movie and well-worth seeing for those who don’t mind putting forth a little effort.

‘The Package,’ starring Gene Hackman and Joanna Cassidy, is action-packed. The action opens in East Berlin, where the President of the United States and the General Secretary of the Soviet Union are hammering out the last points of a revolutionary treaty. This treaty, which is to be signed at the United Nations only days before Christmas, will forever eliminate the threat of nuclear war. All nuclear weapons are to be rendered useless.

Since this event is garnering such media attention, the U.S. Army has troops patrolling the woods outside the building where negotiations are taking place. Johnny Gallagher (Hackman) is the leader of this group. While on patrol, Gallagher and his team come across two backpackers and turn them over to the East Berlin police.

Later on, high-ranking Soviet and American officials are seen discussing plans. The purpose of these plans is not clear. What is apparent is that one American refuses to be a part of the plot. While the distracting American is being driven down a winding road, the backpackers re-enter the movie. They pull out a detonator and blow up the back of the car. In a rather gory scene, the backpackers proceed to kill the American and the others in the car with sub-machine guns. Since this takes place in Gallagher’s territory, he is blamed. He is promptly given a new assignment—to deliver a package to the United States. This package is unsettling. A soldier being sent home for a court-marshall hearing.

From this point, the movie takes off with twists and turns requiring the viewer’s undivided attention. It has a well-crafted plot, in the style of recent films such as ‘The Presidio’ and ‘No Way Out.’

Joe McPOTO

Finally, Jackie decides to turn his life around. He goes into his boss’ office to quit; however, his boss fires him first. Jackie argues and manages to get rehired—only to turn around and quit. Then he tells Bea about his relationship to Maddie. ‘We’re going to be a couple,’ she replies. ‘Why couldn’t you be gay like everyone else?’ And they thought Pharaoh was bad.

The (ex-trained) star of the show is obviously Mason. He steals the show with his witty comments and monologues. Karlin is also quite good, but obviously models her character after Sophia from ‘The Golden Girls.’ It’s Redgrave who needs work. Apparently a series isn’t easy as a vector Weight Watchers commercials. Mason seems unsure of herself and (gulp) even uninterested. Viewers may be disappointed in her portrayal of the show’s leading lady. She’s defined in Mason’s shadow.

The first new show of the season may be one of the highlights. No doubt positioning ‘Chicken Soup’ between ‘Roseanne’ and ‘thirtysomething’ will ensure the show high ratings. However, the appealing nature of the program makes it able to stand on its own. This is a flavorful, fun show. No flies in this ‘Soup.’

His character’s slow determination to find out what is going on is the driving force behind the advancement of the plot. Hackman is extremely likable in this role, gaining viewer sympathy while keeping the audience glued to the action.

Joanna Cassidy, as Lt. Col. Ellen Gallagher, Gallagher’s ex-wife, does a fine job with a role that is relatively supportive to Hackman. After Gallagher lands in Arlington with his ‘package,’ plans go awry and he calls her for help. As the action moves from Arlington to Chicago, where the President and the General Secretary are also making a stop on a peace tour, Cassidy’s character drops into the background while the action becomes more fast-paced.

Small details in ‘The Package’ that appear inconsequential at the time return only to be extremely important later, as in the case with the backpackers, so the effort to pay attention is well-rewarded. This is a very exciting movie with nail-biting scenes, so viewers cannot be studying their pop-corn or the eyes of their date while watching this movie.

McDonald kept the adrenaline alive to start the second half giving Hickson a two-yard gain on MSU's first play of the half before slamming him to the sod.

McDonald made his presence known on the field, whether pouncing Spartans individually or with help of teammates. "MSU's got a tough line," McDonald said. "Personally, I think they're better than Michigan. But we were a little more effective than them today."

"I've been working on staying on my feet and keeping my body square. All week in practice (Defensive End) Coach (Jay) Hayes showed me some new techniques and I used them, so it looks like they worked."

guy to defend. I've never had to be on defense where we had such a skilled back at the quarter­back position. His judg­ments were good. He ran the ball, and that's where he is dangerous. He threw the ball on occasion pretty well. It was really the big difference."

Perles was true to his word, as he said prior to the game that he would not kick off return specialist Raghib Ismail. "I wasn't worried about him," Perles said. "I could kick away from him. I can't do anything about the quarterback. He's got the ball in his hand on every down. It's a great one."

Apparently Rice was not as impressed as Perles. "It will go down as a win," Rice said, "but in my book it was only so-so. We made too many mistakes and we have to learn from them in order to get better."

Rice finished the day with 90 yards passing on 8-of-13 completions, with two interceptions. He ran for a net of 78 yards on 14 carries. Watters led the Irish with 89 yards rushing on 16 carries.

On the defensive side, Ned Bolcar and Chris Zorich had 10 and nine tackles, respectively. The Irish sacked Enos four times, twice by McDonald. The Spartan running game netted 156 yards, as tailback Blake Ezor left with an articu­lar strain in the first quarter.

"I think our football players hung in there, and we beat a very good football team," Holze said. "I'm pleased with the way we played the run, particularly in the second half. Our football team did the things we had to do to win."

"We played well on occasion, but we certainly didn't do it the entire game."

"We have to play the 60-minute game," Zorich said. "We played strong for about thirty minutes, but that isn't going to be good enough against the teams we face. Even with one minute left I was still shaking, because you never know what can happen."

Kelly passes Buffalo past Oilers

Associated Press

Jim Kelly's fifth touchdown pass gave Buffalo a 47-41 overtime victory over Houston on Sunday in a game of big plays that saw Oilers' kicker Tony Zendejas go from hero to villain in less than 10 minutes.

Kelly already had thrown touchdown passes of 6, 63, 78 and 26 yards before his 28-yarder to Andre Reed with 6:18 left in overtime ended this exhausting exercise in give-and-take. Reed also caught the 78-yarder.

"The Buffalo Bills have arrived," Kelly said. "When you can score that many points when you have to, you've really done your job."

Zendejas kicked a 52-yarder, his longest of the season, with three seconds to play, forcing the overtime. Houston won the toss and Warren Moon, sacked three times in the game, drove the Oilers to the Buffalo 25.

The Bears remained unbeaten, led by a career-high 202 passing yards to Mike Tomczak in their rout of winless Detroit. Tomczak, who had completed only 40 percent of his passes this season, completed 17 of 25 against the Lions.

Tomczak is 9-3 as a starter for the Bears, 18-3 in regular-season games.

Perseverance and hard work are the keys to success in any sport. The Irish women's golf team proved that last Thursday as the Irish captured first place at the University of Indianapolis Golf Invitational.

"We were really thrilled," said Irish coach Tom Hanlon about the victory.

In addition to winning medal honors with a score of 327, the Irish also broke the team tournament scoring record. DePauw followed with a distant 347 to take second and the host team, the University of Indianapolis, rounded out the tourney in third place with a total of 360.

"I think we're starting to show we're more capable than we've shown in the past," said Hanlon.

Irish freshman Kathy Phares headed the individual competition with a score of 73, also a new tournament record. Also contributing to the win were Allison Wognas with a score of 83, Bert Breyer at 84 and P. Fecke, Cappy Mack and Liz Podeni all at 87.

"I hope that the tournament is going to be a stepping-stone for improved play," Hanlon said.

The Irish will travel to Michigan State for a tournament this week.

Notre Dame escapes with victory over MSU
Irish remain unbeaten despite four turnovers

The visiting Notre Dame football team won Saturday's game against Michigan State. The unfamiliar, mistake-prone, pressurized Irish made the game close, as it took a fourth-quarter drive to settle the contest at 21-13.

"I think our guys will grow from this week," Notre Dame head coach Lou Holtz said. "They faced adversity when things weren't going well. "We played badly and kind of got frustrated and tried to do things that aren't built into the system. There were a lot of mistakes made during the course of the football game. We have an awful lot for work to do, we're just going to have to go forward.

Wait a minute, who won this game?

Give some credit to the Spartans, though. Playing without their leading ground-gainer, they turned to a passing attack to get a scare into the Notre Dame team that was an 18-point favorite.

The Irish started strong, barrelling in on the Spartan defense with a six-minute, 72-yard scoring drive on their first possession. At third and one on the Michigan State two, Rice took a hit but pitched to Ricky Walters, who handed it off and followed the open field to the end zone on the left side of the line. A Craig Hentrich point after gave the Irish a 7-0 lead.

The defenses dominated until another Irish drive midway through the second quarter, capped off by another Walters two-yard score on a play where what was almost a broken play. The Irish 14-0 lead.

On the 47, Rice dropped the snap from center, but recovered, then tripped as he pitched left to Walters. Walters gave it back to Mike Brennan, then reversed his field, took advantage of a block by Anthony Johnson and sprinted for a 73-yard touchdown run. The Pat got the Irish a 14-0 lead with nine minutes left in the half.

"Both of my touchdowns should be credited to Tony Rice," Walters said. "The defense tried to shut him down against the spread, but when they did he was able to get me the ball. After that I got some blocks down field and was able to move the ball very well."

The rest of the half was marked by inconsistent plays on both sides, especially Notre Dame's, as two turnovers, a Rodney Culver fumble and Mike Inquam's interception of a Rice pass, led to Spartan field goals by John Langefeld, the second as time ran out to make the halftime score 14-6.

The Spartans carried the momentum into the second half, stopping the Irish on four plays and getting their first and goal on the seven before the defense came through, stopping the offense on three plays before Todd Lyght intercepted a Dan Enos pass in the end zone to protect the Irish lead.

Rice returned the favor, however, three plays later as he made an ill-advised pass under pressure and had it intercepted by Carlos Jenkins. This time, the Irish defense couldn't hold, as Enos had all day to hit James Bradley for an 80-yard touchdown pass. The PAT got the Spartans to within one, 14-12.

The teams traded possessions through the third quarter and into the fourth without scoring, until Rice engineered the best Irish drive yet, an all-run, 62-yard sequence that gave the Irish a 21-12 lead. The Spartan defense was hard-hitting, but the Irish used big ground gains to get to the Michigan State one, from which Johnson bullied over the middle and scored on a second effort. Hentrich's PAT ended the scoring as the Irish stalled the Spartans next drive and ran down the clock.

ND goes 1-0-1 in weekend soccer action

Even though the Notre Dame soccer team did not win both weekend games, it put forth two solid efforts. In so doing, they accomplished a positive feat, and displayed character and composure in some testing circumstances.

The weekend started out hurricane-like weather Friday night, not to mention an opponent opposed, the Michigan State Spartans, by a 4-1 score. On Saturday, the Irish won Marquette 2-2, with a goal in the second and final overtime period.

Friday's game, the Spartans won the coin toss and chose to have the wind on their backs for the first half. Apparently they thought they could get an early lead and hang on for the victory. Only half of this equation evolved. At 9:17 of the first half, the Spartan's Carl Hupfinger scored on a rifled shot from about twenty-five yards out. The shot went in off of the far post, to Irish goalkeeper Danny Lyons' right. The Spartans had their lead, but it would not even last the remainder of the first half.

However, despite the head wind, the Irish scored the second two goals. At 21:28, Sophomore Robbie Allen knocked in his own rebound during a wild goalmouth scramble. Dave Augusn had entered the ball in play with a throw-in deep in the Spartan's zone.

Then, at 35:20 of the first half, Freshman Jeff Rhodes volleyed a Kevin Pendergast corner kick into the near upper corner to give the Irish a 2-1 lead. That goal broke the Spartan's back. They could not hold on to a lead even with the wind in their favor. With their coin toss strategy failed, the Spartans had little hope of winning in the second half.

In that half, the Irish continued and their confident, aggressive play. Ten minutes into the half, Sophomore Mitch Kern made a 3-1 on a pretty shot to the upper corner from about 18 yards out. The goal was unassisted. At 77:29, Kevin Pendergast capped the scoring with a breakaway goal on a long pass from Robbie Allen.

"I feel good about my play," McDonald said. "But there is always room for improvement."

All were asked to pick the Notre Dame football player who would surprise people in 1989 and chose the same person—Devin McDonald.

Before the season started, the 6-3, 228-pound sophomore didn't expect to make a considerable impact on the defensive squad this soon, but his teammates prophesied greatness and he hasn't let them down.

McDonald recorded three unassisted and one assisted tackle against Michigan State Saturday and flattened Spartan quarterback Dan Jones twice for a total 14-yard loss. "I got my first start last week against Michigan, so I expected to start this week against Michigan State," McDonald said. "But before the season started, I wouldn't have even expected to play to the extent I am now."
