day and declared that they had crushed an attempted coup.

 rebellious troopers seized the headquarters compound in the morning but apparently failed to capture Noriega, and loyal forces counterattacked. After a six-hour gunbattle, the government claimed victory.

“We want to underline that the situation in the country has been duly controlled to guarantee the peace and tranquility that the state should assure for its citizens,” said a statement released by Justice and Interior Minister Omar Norita.

The United States has been trying to oust Noriega, who leads the Defense Forces chief who controls the government for nearly two years. However, officials in Washington said they were not responsible for the fighting among the coup and U.S. troops were not involved.

The Justice Department statement declared an 8 p.m.-to-5 a.m. curfew and said the news media could report only official statements on the rebellion.

PANAMA City's rebellion claimed victory on Tuesday when it rejected his call for an emergency ban on workers' strikes.

Gorbachev defeated in bid for ban on workers' strikes

Gorbachev defeated in bid for ban on workers' strikes

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—A curtain of an emergency ban on workers' newly won right to strike.

It was the first time the new Supreme Soviet legislature stood up to the government and opted for its own policy, though it had previously rejected several bills that banned strikes.

The legislature’s display of independence was particularly significant because it came on a package of emergency measures that prohibits strikes in the transportation, energy, raw materials and metalurgy industries, but only until the legislature passes a detailed law defining the right to strike.

That could be as soon as Monday, at the next session of the full legislature. Nearly half of the articles in the strike law were approved Tuesday.

The more controversial sections, which have yet to face floor debate, would ban strikes that threaten human life or health, as well as any aimed at overthrow of the government or violation of ethnic equality. It also would ban strikes in the transportation, communications, energy and defense industries, and among civil servants.

The draft also requires arbitration before a strike and alows the Supreme Soviet or its ruling Plenum to halt or delay strikes.

It also says those found responsible for a strike can be fired and fined up to three months’ pay to help cover economic damages. It does not define responsibility, leaving open the possibility that managers who fail to resolve labor disputes could be held as guilty as strike leaders.

No children were injured at Kilimanjaro Elementary School but there was “total pandemonium for a short period of time,” Campbell said.

“We believe it was an employee situation,” he said. “There’s been no indication as to any other motivation.”

Mitchell was arrested soon after the shootings on charges of murder, aggravated assault and resisting arrest after a brief scuffle with police about five miles away and just yards from another school.

Mitchell quit his job, left the school, went to his car and got a rifle, then re-entered the building through the cafeteria, Campbell said.

State of the University: There's room for bettering

The gist of Father Edward Malloy's state of the University address Monday is that we're not where we need to be, but that it's possible to get better in a variety of ways.

Malloy told faculty that the University has made big improvements in its academic life and needs to work on the campus side. He cited a need for some new buildings and improvements to the Hesburgh Library, which was ranked near the bottom of several national surveys of research libraries.

"Obviously bricks and mortar, while important, may not be a proper or adequate gauge of the academic direction and vitality of the institution," Malloy said.

This is true. No amount of campus expansion and beautification will make a dime's worth of difference if faculty, academic improvement, and students aren't given attention.

Nevertheless, the bottom of several national surveys of research libraries.

Four of Angus' concerns is the lack of minority teachers on the faculty. He'll talk about the need of enrolling worlds and the opportunity the University has to enroll new worlds in the existing university.

Another concern is the location of the University's mission and philosophy, but should reflect the larger community outside it. The University community should reflect the larger community outside it.

Another of Father Malloy's concerns is the location of the University's mission and philosophy, but should reflect the larger community outside it.

There are few competent minority teachers on the faculty.

Notre Dame can, and should, do all it can to recruit minority professors and students to the University.

Getting minority professors and students to the University is an essential part of the University's mission and philosophy.

Malloy said that the next decade will be the time for full-time programs to reach their potential. He admitted that outsiders see the University as a place for graduate work with a few outstanding graduate programs.

The University has about 1,500 graduate students and 10 to 12,000 undergraduates and 7,600. That's a lot of students. Except for those who live in residence halls as assistant rectors or resident assistants, few undergrads are really contact with students in graduate programs.

Boeing union votes to strike

Associated Press

SEATTLE—Machinists at Boeing Co. voted overwhelmingly against a contract offer from the company Tuesday and reaffirmed a midnight strike deadline by an 85 percent margin.

"At 12:01 a.m. (PDT) tonight the pickets will start," said Tom Baker, president of the Machinists Union. "This is a vote against a contract offer that's worse than the last contract, and worse than the one we have." The union would notify a federal mediator who joined negotiations last weekend, that they would be willing to consider resuming negotiations.

But Baker said the union would not be in favor of extending the strike deadline. Boeing spokesman Bill Clark declined comment, saying the company hadn't received official word of the union's decision.

Baker said the main reason for the strike vote was a feeling that Boeing workers deserved a greater share of the company's record profits.

Boeing, the world's largest commercial airplane builder, is enjoying its fifth consecutive year of record-jumper orders, with carriers and leasing companies ordering 737 planes worth $38.5 billion so far this year of record jetliner orders, commercial airplane builder, is

"We have gone through the hard times with this company," Baker said. "We just want to go through the good times with them as well as the hard times." Boeing offered an immediate raise of 4 percent, with 3 percent raises in 1990 and 1991. The proposed three-year contract also contained annual bonuses of 8 percent of a worker's gross earnings this year and 3 percent the next, insurance improvements and reduced compulsory overtime requirements to 160 hours a quarter.

Workers filing more than half of the 65,000-seat Kingdome jeered the offer and folded summaries of it into paper; and create smart-looking documents as well.

The lectures will take place throughout the academic year. The basic goal is that every organization which holds special events will try to incorporate the role of the family somehow into a few of its activities.

The Year of the Family series not only consists of lectures, but workshops and support groups as well.

The types of issues that will be discussed will all focus on the family, yet the perspective from which they come will be different. As a committee we are attempting to be inclusive in our definition, which requires us to think of the family in the broadest of terms," said Smith.

WASHINGTON—Leading experts on the potential for harnessing the energy that makes stars shine told Congress Tuesday the government should speed the pace of experiments that could produce a breakthrough in the next decade.

Harold Furth, director of the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory, told a House panel that government leadership for the magnetic fusion program was floundering just as scientists near the most important experimental stage in 40 years of work.

"At the moment, there is no schedule," for beginning the next key experiments, Furth told the House Science, Space and Technology subcommittee on investigations.

said there were some dead and wounded, but the number of casualties was not immediately known.

Jose Blandon, a Panamanian defector and former close aide to Noriega, said in Washington a leader of the assault told him by telephone Noriega was wounded and captured.

He said officials intended to send Noriega to the United States to face drug charges but that it would be difficult because other officers in the Defense Forces, which includes the military and police, also were involved in the drug trade.

Troops of the U.S. Southern Command were put on Detaa Alert, the highest level of readiness, and U.S. soldiers in combat gear took up positions only 600 yards from the barracks.

President Bush told reporters in Washington: "There were rumors around that this was some American operation, and I can tell you that is not true. Nobody's sure what's happening there."

Shooting began with a few bursts of fire at about 7 a.m. (8 a.m. EDT).

Rebels took control of the military headquarters in a congested part of downtown Panama City. Those loyal to Noriega then went to the roofs of surrounding buildings, hurling grenades and firing machine guns and small arms into the compound.

Several hours of heavy gunfire inside and outside the headquarters preceded the rebel radio broadcast, which said the entire high command was forced into retirement by middle-ranking officers led by Maj. Moises Giraldo Vega, head of the Urraca battalion that handles security at Defense Forces headquarters.

A walker stands on the parched shoreline of the Ladybower Reservoir, near Sheffield, England, Tuesday, where the village of Derwent, submerged 40 years ago, has reappeared in the worst water shortage for a decade. Water chiefs said they are within six weeks of ordering standpipes to be set up throughout the Yorkshire region.

A free-lance camcorder accused in a free-lance newspaper of taking combat footage aired on "The CBS Evening News" on Tuesday, with the CBS newsman who covered it sitting in the audience.

The New York Post reported claims last Wednesday that broadcast footage by CBS in 1984 was fake - that Hoover staged scenes of guerrilla sabotage and had made a Pakistani jet fighter on a training run appear to be a Soviet plane.

Congress also wants to know what other newspaper stories may be false, and the Defense Department is investigating whether any classified material was compromised.

The teacher ducked to the floor and Mitchell left the cafeteria.

The school's head custodian encountered Mitchell as he left the building and asked him what he was doing with a rifle. Mitchell then fired twice at the more than 50 children on the playground, Campbell said.

it could be risky. "Sometimes if the family gets hold of you, they'll ask for more than you can give," said Anderson, who also chairs this project.

By selling M&M's Candy, the Juvenile Court hopes to raise enough money to cover the expenses of the food and gifts, which are estimated at $700 a day for each family.

The idea for Notre Dame students to volunteer with the elderly was partially the brainchild of Anderson, who feels that "society tends to forget about them." Although SAVE, has been in existence since the 1970s, its grant was not renewed in the spring of 1988.

With the aid of the Center for Social Concerns, the project grew from the concern of a few students in a team of 20 which grow until it now includes a team of 50 students.

WASHINGTON— President Bush declared Tuesday that the attempted coup against Panama's Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega was "some American operation." Bush's spokesman said the government would continue seeking Noriega's ouster.

"Nothing's changed. Everything remains the same. We'll continue to press for Noriega's removal" and his arrest to stand trial in the United States on drug charges, said spokesman Martin Fitzwater.

Late Tuesday, after a day of sorting out conflicting reports on the coup attempt, Fitzwater said U.S. officials had determined it had failed. Soon after, Noriega's officials claimed victory in Panama City.

Though the overthrow attempt, by members of the Panamanian Defense Forces, failed after a morning gun battle at the forces' headquarters, Fitzwater said the attempt "shows the opposition to Noriega within Panama. It shows there is a strong reaction at least within the PDF (Panamanian Defense Forces) that felt he should be removed."

"We did not take any action that would be perceived as direct involvement," said Fitzwater. "We had helicopters that were in the air observing and we had some troops around one of the causeways there to protect access and rights and so forth."

Bush himself told reporters emphatically, "There were rum­mers around that this was some American operation and I can tell you that it is not true."

Fitzwater said a State Department official, Bernard Arosnon, informed Bush after the president met with the visit­ing Soviet defense minister that Noriega's forces appeared to be prevailing.

"He just said 'OK,' and went into another meeting," said Fitzwater.

The spokesman said visiting Mexico President Carlos Salinas de Gortari in a meeting earlier Tuesday with Bush had "emphasized the integrity of the various countries in Central America, and we have respected that integrity and have not interfered."

The Bush administration, like the Reagan administration before it, has called repeatedly for Noriega's ouster.

Bush, speaking to reporters before the outcome in Panama City was clear, appeared intent on influencing the situation in Panama in favor of the insurgent rightists.

Referring to the words he hoped his words would be "conveyed instantly" to Panama, Bush said, "We have no argument with the Panamanian Defense Forces. We've had good relations with the Panamanian Defense Forces.

"Our argument has been, as have many other countries, with Mr. Noriega who aborted the democratic will of the people of Panama. And that's where our argument was and that's where our argument is."

Last May, Bush had told reporters, "I would love to see them get him out."

Asked then if he were calling for the Panamanian Defense Forces to overthrow Noriega, Bush replied, "Well, I'd like to see him out of there, not just the PDF, the will of the people of Panama. ... I would add no words of caution. The will of the people should be imple­mented."

Fitzwater acknowledged that the United States had some ad­vance word that a coup attempt might be afoot but said he was unaware of Noriega's fate or even his whereabouts.

"We had some indications this sort of thing was in the works, but until it happens, you never know," Fitzwater said. He characterized the prior in­formation as "rumblings."

Secretary of State James Aderman said the United States would move quickly toward normalizing relations with Panama if Noriega is deposed.

Notre Dame's team came in first place in the 1989 Annual 10K Grape Stomp.

Notre Dame's team earned nine team points in this 10K race which proceeds up to the upper of the bicycle and jogging paths in St. Patrick's County Park. According to Rod Goodchild, run founder and chairman, the run is the "largest corporate run in the tri-state area." This year 24 teams, a total of 1100 runners competed, he said.

The Grape Stomp Corporate Cup Award ceremony was September 27. Pete Cordell, offensive coach for the Notre Dame football team was guest celebrity and Charlie "Big Guy" Adams, sports director, WSBT Channel 22, served as the announcer, said Goodchild.

The Notre Dame team won the Corporate Cup 10K which will be displayed at the Joyce A.C.C., he said.

Susan Kircher, a Notre Dame law student, took first place in the 24 & under category and teammate Tom Worth took first in the 25-29 mens' cate­gory. William Hickey, director of University Food Services and William Sexton, vice president for University Relations also ran in the race.

This year the run took place on August 26 and marked the 10th anniversary of the race. "It's the oldest run in South Bend," he said.

Goodchild said the "out and back" course runs through St. Patrick's and Madeline Ber­trand County Parks.

Bakker fraud trial over, to go to jury today

Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - PTL founder Jim Bakker is a "world-class master of using half truths" and should be convicted of fraud and conspiracy, a prosecutor said Tuesday in closing arguments at the fallen minister's trial.

"If he lied to people, he used half truths to manipulate people," said special prosecutor Deborah Smith. "He used his position to maintain his power and wealth."

Bakker's attorney, George Davis, said Bakker was a victim of circumstance and urged jurors to keep an open mind.

"He's facing the most serious moment I'm sure he'll ever face in his life," Davis said. "He doesn't expect you to give him sympathy. He doesn't expect you to give him justice under the law."

Bakker, 49, is charged in U.S. District Court with 15 counts of fraud. Eight counts stem from mail fraud and one count of conspiracy to commit wire and mail fraud. He is accused of diverting more than $3.7 million in PTL money for his own benefit and of conspiring to defraud PTL followers of their money to support a lifestyle.

If convicted on all counts, he faces up to 120 years in prison and more than $5 million in fines.

Prosecutors contend that Bakker solicited money for lifetime partnerships at his Heritage USA retreat near here, but used the the money for projects other than the lodging he promised. Lifetime partners paid $1,000 for an annual guarantee of three night and more than $5 million in fines.

Bakker raised $158 million through partnership sales.

Smith called Bakker the prosecution's "star witness."

"There may have been a time when Bakker was a man of good deeds back in the 1970s, but as time progressed into the 1980s, he began to use people to obtain possessions and power and keep it," she said.

Bakker, who had sparred with Smith on the witness stand, scrabbled notes during her arguments and glanced at the screen when she played videotapes of his old television shows.

You can't lie to people to send you money - that's simple," she said. "You can't tell half truths. If you do it, if you use the postal service and the public airwaves you will find yourself in federal court answering charges of fraud.

As part of his testimony, Smith showed Smith's former television collection of videotapes of Bakker's old television shows.

Kemp calls for HUD management change

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Housing Secretary Jack Kemp on Tuesday proposed major management changes at the scandal-tarred Department of Housing and Urban Development, including eliminating a program and special fund he said were used to reward politically connected developers.

"Many past funding decisions were, frankly, based on political influence rather than merit," Kemp said in releasing his 58-point plan to reform the agency. "Under my stewardship, no decisions will be made at HUD for the political advantage or personal gain of any one person or of a political party.

Kemp, in his first news conference as secretary, also announced that HUD has barred from doing government business a mortgage lender whose defaults in a HUD program totaled more than $700 million.

While praising the congressional investigation of influence peddling, fraud and mismanagement at HUD during the Reagan administration, Kemp said he did not believe it was necessary to appoint a special prosecutor, as suggested by some Republicans and Democrats involved in the investigation.

Kemp's proposed changes range from regulatory and administrative steps he can take immediately to more complex changes that would require congressional approval.

The agency's Federal Housing Administration and its multibillion-dollar loan programs would be significantly affected, with several programs Kemp said have deviated from helping the needy eliminated outright.

And the entire agency would be subjected to intense public scrutiny through the publishing of all funding and other major decisions in the Federal Register. Kemp also promised to improve targeting of scarce HUD funds to those most in need and vowed to try to collect money bilked from the agency in the past.

More proposals are likely, he said, after additional reviews of HUD management.

Initial reaction from members of Congress was favorable, although there was opposition to a Kemp proposal to kill the Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program, which HUD's inspector general said in April was riddled with influence peddling by former agency officials and prominent Republican consultants.

"I think the secretary's recommendations with respect to ethics, management reform, tighter fiscal controls, the introduction of a chief financial officer of HUD, are all excellent," said Rep. Thomas Lan tos, D-Calif., the chairman of a subcommittee investigating the department.

"When we come into the program's facts in mind we're going to have to study those recommendations much more carefully," said Lantos, among a number of lawmakers who said they were not yet convinced the re habilitation program should be killed instead of reformed.

Many of Kemp's proposals mirror those in a largely ignored 1984 General Accounting Office report to Congress, while others were molded after more recent suggestions made in Congress to limit the role of lobbyists and consultants in government funding decisions.

If any proposals did come from Kemp aides after their own review.
House likely to repeal elderly insurance

Associated Press

WASHINGTON— The House, bogged down with other legislation, postponed for one day, until Wednesday, its likely vote to repeal catastrophic health insurance for the nation’s elderly.

Proponents of the program, enacted a year ago in a rush of bipartisan fervor, acknowledged Tuesday that the best they could hope for was to savor a sliver of the new benefits, which marked the first major expansion of Medicare in two decades.

Since that program began, legislators have been buffeted by criticism from elderly Americans upset about the costs of the insurance.

The chamber had been expected to vote on repealing the program Tuesday, but scheduled debate on other legislation took so long that the vote was put off until Wednesday.

Even if the House votes to repeal the program, its fate won’t be known until later in the fall, after negotiations with the Senate, which is not expected to act with the matter on its own later this week.

At stake were significant new benefits for millions of elderly and disabled Americans covered by Medicare. Many of the benefits do not take effect until January.

The cry for repeal came from three sources:

—Retirees who complained that their former employers were already giving them additional benefits they were being forced to purchase from Medicare.

—Upper-income retirees who objected to having to pay a disproportionately share of the costs — in the form of an income tax surcharge — to make up for a more modest assessment on the estimated 56 percent of Medicare beneficiaries who don’t have enough money to owe any income taxes.

—Those who complained that the program did not address the main need of elderly Americans — better insurance for nursing home and other long-term care, a benefit that many studies have said would be as much as 10 times as costly.

Ironically, House leaders said legislators’ painful experience with this run at a major expansion of acute care health protection probably would make them less inclined to pursue even more costly programs for the elderly in the future.

“Future programs are going to have to be more carefully considered,” House Speaker Thomas Foley told reporters shortly before debate was to begin on the proposal to repeal catastrophic health insurance.

Earlier, Foley had described a “sense of frustration” as settling over House health policy leaders.

Indeed, Rep. Fortney Stark, D-Calif., a major force behind the catastrophic program, said Monday that “I think they (lawmakers) feel they’d just like to get rid of this annoyance and they certainly are going to be very skeptical about us coming up to them in the future with a bill to help the senior citizens.”

Stark said catastrophic care supporters “lost the information battle” to groups that were more influential on the fears of the elderly.

“It’s very easy to take very fragile, very insecure seniors and make them even more insecure,” he said.

The income tax surcharge ranges up to $800 this year for Medicare-eligible people in upper income ranges.

E. Germany bans further free travel after massive emigrations

Associated Press

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — East Germany issued an order Tuesday banning free travel to Czechoslovakia but agreed that at least 10,000 of its citizens already in Prague could emigrate to the West.

East German leader Erich Honecker accused West Germany of “insolently breaking promises” by letting the East Germans into its embassies in Prague and Warsaw.

“They believe in West Germany that they can destabilize East Germany with a broad-based attack, but it will not work,” he said in his first major speech since returning to work after a long convalescence from gallbladder surgery.

ADN, the official East German news agency, carried his remarks.

The crackdown on travel came after hundreds of East Germans stormed through police lines to get inside the embassy in Prague.

They climbed fences, roof tiles and a fence to reach the crowded compound. Many were left blood-spattered by the police and some fell unconscious inside the grounds.

Rudolf Seiler, Chancellor Helmut Kohl’s chief of staff, said East German refugees would begin leaving Prague for West Germany by train Tuesday evening.

He said the East German decision would allow an estimated 4,700 refugees in the embassy and about 6,000 milling outside to travel west.

Seliers said Kohl was informed of the East German decision by Premier Ladislav Adams of Czechoslovakia.

East Germany’s decision appeared to be part of an effort to avoid possible embarrassing disturbances during celebrations of the communist state’s 40th anniversary Saturday.

Prime Minister Mikhail Gorbachev is scheduled to attend.

Thousands of East Germans have streamed across the border into neighboring Czechoslovakia and to other Soviet bloc countries in the last few weeks in an attempt to reach West Germany.

ADN, the East German agency, said the travel ban stemmed from reports “that certain circles in West Germany are preparing provocations” in conjunction with the celebrations.

Last weekend, East Germany agreed to the departure of about 7,000 refugees from the embassy and its offices in Prague and in Warsaw, Poland, but said it was a one-time arrangement.

Previously, East Germans did not need a visa or passport to reach Czechoslovakia, but ADN said such documents would be required from now on.

That effectively bans all ordinary East Germans from traveling to Czechoslovakia.

It also will make it much more difficult for East Germans to reach Hungary, where the liberal leadership opened its western border Sept. 11, since the usual route to Hungary is through Czechoslovakia.

West Germany closed its embassy early Tuesday after thousands of East Germans streamed into the compound overnight, bringing the total seeking asylum there to some 4,500. Red Cross officials said they feared sanitation problems.

After the East German decision was announced, the embassy opened its doors, refugees said.

Hundreds of East Germans hopeful of gaining access to the embassy had continued arriving throughout Tuesday, and they grew desperate as the day wore on.

Police had blocked the embassy’s garden fence, but nearly 300 refugees stormed the police lines, scaled the fence and fought off club-wielding police trying to keep them back.

“They clubbed like mad,” a Czechoslovak witness said.

Witnnes said many people were injured in scuffles with police. Others got caught on the sharp spikes at the top of the fence and still others jumped or fell head first to the ground.

Some lay unconscious inside the compound, witnesses said.

“This is pandemonium,” said a Red Cross assistant handling surcharged refugees. Only a doctor and several refugees witnessed the incident.

Priestly duty requires male

By Kevin McCormick

"Shouldn't the Catholic Church also ordain women?" If the title didn't give it away, the event itself would have relinquished any doubt that this recent "open panel discussion" was probably one-sided as any event could be and still be called a "discussion." Being one of the few in attendance who supports the Catholic Church and its dogma, I would like to attempt to shed a bit of light on what has become a terribly clouded issue and focus on why the Church stands as it does.

I think that the main problem with this issue is that those who speak in favor of women being ordained are presenting arguments which are irrelevant to the Catholic Church's stance. In terms of belief and dogma, the priest's primary role in the Church is to perform the Eucharistic Prayer at the Mass. The Eucharistic Prayer is a symbolic reenactment of the Last Supper, and its sacramental value lies in the fact that it is our opportunity to experience Christ and the Grace of God through this physical act of eating. It is the ultimate combination of the spiritual and physical, and because of this, we use the exact physical, earthly elements which Christ used at the Last Supper, i.e. the sacraments are not beer and pizza, but bread and wine. Therefore, the physical, earthly representation of Christ at the Mass is central to the experience of the sacrament because the Eucharist is a religious reenactment. If we were to reenact the manger scene by placing a man dressed in drag at the foot of a manger with a female baby inside it would seem ludicrous. As the highest sacraments and the symbol of Christ's sacrifice, the Eucharist as reenactment must be treated with utmost respect because there is a difference in Christ's masculinity and femininity. Now, if one were to say that Christ's maleness made no difference to his being human, then we must wonder whether or not Christ should have been a woman. If we believe in an omnipotent God, then clearly the answer would have to be yes, Christ could have been a woman, because to say otherwise would be to limit God to social standards of the time or some other earthly limitation. Therefore, we can only believe that God's choice of Christ as man was not an arbitrary, one but an intended and significant one.

This Catholic belief is not a statement of gender superiority any more than Christ's manhood is itself. Rather, it is an acknowledgement of the humanity of Christ, because Christ's gender is an integral part of that humanity. As humans, we are spiritually similar, but we are physically different, and it is the physical presence of spiritual grace which is the entire reason for the Eucharistic celebration. Therefore, if the priest represents Christ, as human, at the Last Supper, he must be male. Why? Because it is an integral part of his humanity. I think it is imperative that the American Catholic community recognize and understand this position. The question does not involve the spiritual quality of the priest; it does not include his manner, his kindness, his political opinions, his role as Church administrator, his role as spiritual counselor. The question deals with his humanity and clearly we cannot separate our gender from our humanity.

Lessons from ND football history

Dear Editor:

While I enjoyed Vic Lombardi's football flashback (The Observer, Sept. 29), the article did contain one major error. While 1984 may have been Gerry Faust's best year at Notre Dame, the Irish definitely did not defeat SMU in the Aloha Bowl of that year. In fact, the Mustangs toppled Notre Dame 27-20 in the game. The Irish had a chance to win the game in the last minute, but Steve Beuerlein overthrew a wide-open Matt Jackson in the end zone.

It is easy to forgetting that happened to Notre Dame football during the Faust years, especially in light of the program's return to greatness. The point is that we should not be afraid to remember, and it is possible that someday in our lifetime, Notre Dame football will fall on hard times again. Part of the greatness of last year's national championship is that it compensated somewhat for the sour years which preceded it. So let's not treat lightly anything bad which happened to Notre Dame football in the past. If we never forget, we may have the chance to avoid repeating the same mistakes. If not, at least we'll savour our victories even more.

Notre Dame needs a smoking policy

By Garry Trudeau

Smoking is a hazard to your health, according to the Surgeon General of the United States. Smoking cigarettes has been shown to cause respiratory disease, emphysema, and damage to unborn fetuses. Indeed, some studies indicate that smoking is the number one hazard to non-smokers' health as well, with so-called secondary smoke almost as dangerous as the smoke inhaled directly.

Indeed, some studies indicate that smoking is the number one hazard to non-smokers' health as well, with so-called secondary smoke almost as dangerous as the smoke inhaled directly.

It is now time for Notre Dame to adopt a campus-wide smoking policy. A good University policy on smoking would include banning smoking in all indoor public areas of University buildings. This includes class lecture halls, dining facilities, hallways, restrooms, and public spaces in dorms.

This is not to begrudge the smoker his or her right to smoke; if the individual chooses to smoke, that is the individual's choice. However, when that choice puts others in danger and discomfort, it is no longer acceptable. This is precisely what happens when someone chooses to light up in a public place. All non-smokers around a smoker are forced to inhale the smoke, causing not only irritation, but also a potential health hazard.

In addition, the University Counseling Center should offer programs to help individuals quit smoking, just as they do for alcohol and drugs. Nicotine is a drug, as harmful, if not more harmful, than any other.

Freshmen should be asked to indicate on their housing form whether they prefer a no-smoking roommate. The University would agree to abide by this request.

It is now time for the University to recognize that smoking, while not a large problem in terms of numbers, is nonetheless one which must be addressed.

Not everyone... is as impressed with Desmond Tutu as I am. Frankly, he is one of the most despised men by the South African government...

Before I began my work with Archbishop Desmond Tutu, I was the victim of a disastrous misconception. I was of the belief that Tutu was first and foremost a political leader. I thought politics, specifically the liberation of his people, was the driving force behind the man. As winner of the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize, he had risen to world prominence as the leading spokesman against the brutal and repressive measures of the South African regime. Ultimately, I expected Archbishop Tutu to epitomize politics rather than religion. I was wrong.

At risk of making a cliched generalization, Desmond Tutu is a true man of God. Ultimately, God is the controlling and dominant force in his life, and Archbishop Tutu believes the power of God will be the final salvation of his country. The man is magnetic in personality and inspiring in demeanor. He lights up a room, he is with two or two hundred people, and friends and foes alike readily admit his uncanny mastery of languages, be it English, Afrikaan, or Xhosa. I literally found myself hanging onto every word he said, and when he wasn’t speaking, he was usually laughing. He laughs more than anyone I have ever met, and he loves to joke around with people whether he knows them or not. He is exceptionally personable, and it seemed as if we were old friends the first time we met.

Not everyone, however, is as impressed with Desmond Tutu as I am. Frankly, he is one of the most despised men by the South African government due to his outspoken criticisms of apartheid and his ceaseless calls for comprehensive sanctions against his country. I had not been aware of the extent to which the government will go to discredit Tutu, and his staff members explained that it is a constant game for local officials to discredit Tutu’s reputation.

Tutu sure of peaceful end

Archbishop motivated by God and not politics

Bishopscourt. In other words, the entire event had been completely orchestrated by the government to make Tutu look bad. Tutu accepts such events calmly and with a terrific sense of humor, and he responds by merely praying for the government officials. Prayer is his final refuge for dealing with a bitter and relentless government, and it is his faith in God which is the foundation for the stability in his life. The man is adamant that South Africa will be saved and that it will be accomplished peacefully without bloodshed. Ultimately, it is his faith in God which manifests his call for social justice and equality for his people. And so the prayers continue as do the international pleas to help save South Africa. There was a time when I would have thought the two acts were mutually exclusive. Archbishop Tutu taught me differently.

CHICAGO — The San Francisco Giants have plenty of playoff experience and the Chicago Cubs have hardly any at all.

So how important is it, any- way?

"The more you're in it, the better you play under pressure," Giants manager Roger Craig said. "You don't see many teams come out of nowhere to win it all."

"I don't see any advantage in experience," Cubs star Ryne Sandberg said. "What makes this so special is we weren't expected to do anything."

The Giants, with nearly 20 players who have been in the postseason, and the Cubs, with only six who have been there, open the National League play- offs Wednesday night. The weather at Wrigley Field is ex- pected to be clear but chilly, with the temperature dropping into the 40s because of the wind off Lake Michigan.

Greg Maddux (19-8) will start for the Cubs against Scott Garrelts (14-5), the league earned run average champion. Garrelts is one of several Giants who have pitched well in the playoffs, although he wasn't so great in the 1987 series against St. Louis.

"They've got older pitchers," Maddux, 23, said. "I think they might be more relaxed on the mound than some of ours."

But what good is playoff experience if it isn't so good?

Rick Reuschel gave up seven runs on 15 hits in 10 innings of the 1987 playoffs and Bobby Thompson hit only .100 in that series. Kevin Mitchell is only 12-for-46 with one home run in postseason play, Candy Maldonado is a career .179 hit- ter in the playoffs and Terry Kennedy batted .217 for San Diego in 1984.

Luis Salazar is the only Chicago player who has been in the World Series. He helped the Padres beat Rick Sutcliffe in the deciding game of the 1984 playoffs. The Cubs' Andre Dawson would like to forget his only other postseason appearance, when he went 3-for-20 with Montreal in 1981.

"You only get here so often, and some don't make it at all," Dawson said, referring to Cubs Hall of Famers Ernie Banks and Billy Williams. "But I have been in big games and I know a lot is expected from me."

A few of the Cubs and Giants have done well. Sandberg, the only everyday starter left from the Cubs' 1984 team, batted .368 in that playoff series.

"I've forgotten what that was like in 1984," Sandberg said. "That seems like a long time ago.

Will Clark hit .360 with a home run for the Giants in the seven-game loss in 1987. Their star that series was Jeffrey Leonard, who was named most valuable player, then traded to Milwaukee the next season.

Some of the Giants' best playoff performers may play little, if at all. Dave Dravecky, who has allowed only one earned run in 21 career post season innings, is out with a broken arm.

Reliever Craig Lefferts, who has pitched 12 shutting outings for San Diego in 1984 and the Giants in 1987, has a sore shoulder.

"I probably won't be able to use him as much as I'd like," Craig said. "We'll see how he feels."

The same goes for Kennedy and pitcher Don Robinson. Kennedy is bothered by a sore arm and Craig said the left- handed hitting catcher might not start against all of the Cubs' right-handers.

Robinson, bothered by stretched ligaments in his right knee, pitched batting practice during Tuesday's workouts.

"We may be the only team in history to have a simulated game during the playoffs," Craig said.

Robinson and Craig are among the Giants' postseason veterans. Robinson helped Pittsburgh win the 1979 World Series and was with the Giants in 1987. He has a 2-1 record despite a 5.40 ERA.

Craig pitched in four World Series with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was the pitching coach for Detroit's World Series champions in 1984 and has managed the Giants into the playoffs.

Cubs manager Don Zimmer was Craig's teammate in 1955, the only year Brooklyn won the World Series. He also coached under Craig in 1987.

"He was one of the greatest pitchers I ever coached," Craig said. "From the dugout, I used to send him signs, asking what he would do sometimes."

This weekend proved to be one of intensity for the Women's Interhall flag football teams. In Sunday's action, Pasquerilla West's women's interhall flag football team was upset 12-6 by Knot. Pasquerilla West sent two players to the hospital with injuries in this controversial game. The tie-breaking touchdown occurred on the final minutes of the game, giving Knot the lead. Knot faces Farley at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Howard and Radin will square off after that contest.

In another close game Wednesday, Breen-Phillips shaved Lyons Hall 14-12 in an intense match. B.P.'s Kristy Alkidas scored both of the Blitz's touchdowns. "We played really well," said B.P. captain Mary Beth Hoveda.

In other action, Farley defeated Radin 1-4, Howard blanked Pasquerilla East 6-0 and Siegfried won a shootout with Walsh 26-14.

The Notre Dame volleyball team is hoping that its series history with Ohio State won’t hold true this season.

The Buckeyes were victorious in five games in the teams’ first meeting in 1985 but the Irish averaged the loss the following year in a four-game match.

After a two-year interruption in series, the squads met again in 1988 as Illinois-who was ranked sixth nationally last week-is primed and ready to do just that.

The Buckeyes are led by junior setter Taryn O’Lary who has amassed 252 kills with a 4.52 kill per game average and teammated Audrey DiPronio and Dawn Douglas.

DiPronio, a junior setter who has 637 assists and a 13.0 assist per game average, and Douglas, a middle blocker who has tallied 72 total blocks for a team-high 1.30 block per game average, will try to take advantage of Notre Dame’s recent shuffling in its lineup situation.

Senior captain Kathy Cunningham, who has tallied 282 kills per game average, will try to keep putting well-placed sets within the reach of Turner and hitter Jessica Fiebkelorn.

Power football was the order of the day on the second Sunday of men's Intrahall football, as Alumni, Dillon, and Fisher slugged their way to convincing victories.

In the Leahy League the Alumni Bugs, captained by Urban Gillespie, rocked 1988 runner-up Stanford 20-0, behind stellar performances of backup quarterback Mark Ross and defensive end Renae Hoberts. On Saturday night, Dogs regular quarterback Jim Passinault suffered a sprained ankle. To add to the plight, the starting tailback came down with mononucleosis on Sunday morning.

Yet the reserves were a force of their own, as Alumni led 14-0 following a five yard rush by Mark Ross and a failed two-point conversion. Ross then plunged 1 yard for a score, spreading 60 yards for a score, which, coupled with a successful two-point conversion, put the Dogs up 14-0.

Alumni's frustrating defense, bolstered by utility-man Brenda Fitzpatrick, also accounted for a score, as Greg Culligan returned an interception to the Stanford 5 yard line. Ryan Roberts then cruised across the goal line, ending the scoring at 20-0.

In Parseghian League action, 1988 champion Dillon evened its record at 1-1 with a 13-6 triumph over Morrissey, while the third-ranked Ordinary surged 6-0.

The Big Red held an early 7-0 lead, the result of a Michael Duddy touchdown and an Anthony Coury kick. Morrissey rolled back, narrowing the margin to 7-6, after a touchdown and an unsuccessful two-point attempt.

Dillon was able to break the big play at the end, as Scott Frigon panned 60 yards to the end zone, putting Dillon up for good.

Meanwhile, Fisher toppled Carroll 7-0 in a key Rockne League matchup. After a scoreless first half, Fisher came out and swapped the Vermin in the second half. Interceptions by Tim Kaiser and Chris McCarthy hampered Carroll's efforts, giving the Fisher offense all the room it would need, as Rick Ebert connected with Jonathan Jordan on a 50 yard touchdown pass. Don McGahn then kicked the extra point, giving the A's a 7-0 victory.

In the day's other games, Sorin thumped St. Ed's 12-6, Cavanaugh outdiced Holy Cross 7-0, and Ambushed Keenan 17-0.

Next Sunday in the Parseghian League, Grace (1-1) meets Flanner (0-1-1) at Stepan North at 1 p.m., Keenan (0-1) will test Morrissey (0-2) at Stepan North at 4 p.m., while Dillon (1-1) and the off-Campus Crusade (2-0) collide at Stepan South at 1 p.m.

In the Rockne League, Sorin (1-0) faces Fisher (1-1) at 3 p.m. (Oakland). The Observer / Kevin White.

The Oakland Athletics capitalized on a combination of power, speed and pitching to take Game 1 of the American League Championship series. The A's rode an excellent pitching performance by Dave Stewart to a 2-1 victory in Oakland, Ca. The Blue Jays will try to even the series Wednesday afternoon in Oakland's Coliseum.

Henderson's Heros lead A's to Game 1 win

OAKLAND, Calif.—Is there anything the Oakland Athletics can't do?

Power. Pitching. Speed.

The dimension Rickey Henderson added to the A's was never more evident than in Game 1 of the best-of-7 American League play-offs on Tuesday night.

Henderson broke up a potential double play ball with a hard slide into second baseman Nelson Liriano in the sixth inning when the A's trailed by one to beat Toronto 3-2.

"It was a great slide," Henderson said. "With my speed I have to get down there."

Dave Stewart, who also opened the last season's playoffs sweep against Boston, pitched with his heart to give the A's the advantage over Toronto.

Toronto starter Dave Stieb took a 3-2 lead into the sixth inning when Mark McGwire hit off with a long home run over the right field wall.

One out later, Tony Phillips quit the plate and stole second. Jim Acker replaced Stieb and Mike Gallego legged out an infield single. Acker then hit Henderson on the wrist to load the bases.

"It's a little wounding, but it's OK," Henderson said.

Caryn Lakso, who finished second in batting in the AL at .336, hit a hard grounder to Tony Oliva at first with Stieb short that looked like a sure double.

Fernandez made the flip to get the force, but Henderson

Lou Holtz, who has gained a reputation for speaking pessimistically about his own teams while complimenting the opposition, explained his index of putting opponent on pedestal.

"I try to be as honest as I can," said the Notre Dame coach. "I don't try to con people. When I look at an opponent, I do not try to build them up for a psychological gain, nor do I ever downplay our capabilities.

"I've never been involved in a game since I've been at Notre Dame where the other team played the best they could and we played as poorly as we have shown at times where we did not have severe problems," Holtz continued. "If the other team plays the best they're capable of playing and we play poorly and they still couldn't come close, then hey, we're going to sit here and eat hot dogs, drink Cokes, laugh and tell stories. But that's not really the case.

The biggest concerns Holtz has with his team right now are at running back and defensive end, where he is concerned about a lack of depth.

Holtz has said that sophomore defensive end Devon McDonald, one of the team's top rushers, is being bothered by a recurring knee problem. Freshman Karl McGill is leading at defensive end this week.

Notre Dame will need strong play from the ends at Stanford. Although Dennis Green's team has a 1-3 record, the Cardinal pro-style offense has averaged over 260 passing yards per game.

"Most of the pressure on the passer has to come from the ends," head coach Holtz said. "We've had a lot of pressure on your defensive ends."

Senior tight end Rod West, who has missed the last three games with a knee injury, is practicing at fullback. Anthony Johnson and Ryan Mihalako are the only healthy fullbacks now with any kind of collegiate experience.

When Holtz introduced Derek Brown at the Tuesday press conference, he praised Brown's twin sisters Renae and Jenne. The twins seem to have had a big impact on the tight end's decision to attend Notre Dame.

"Rene is very smart," said the sophomore from Merritt Island, Fla. "Jenne is too. Rene does a lot of reading, and she read everything that came to the house about Notre Dame, and she even knew the dates of when buildings were built, like 1830."

"She asked Coach Holtz when he came to my house what year a certain building was built and she had to correct him and say, 'Sorry, Coach.'"

Brown selected Notre Dame over Miami and the University of Florida.

Todd Lyght's first-quarter interception against Purdue last weekend gave him four for the season. The last Notre Dame player with at least four interceptions in a season was Dave Davison, now of the Chicago Bears, who had seven in 1982.

Lyght, a junior cornerb ack, started 10 games for the Irish last season but did not have a single interception.

The Notre Dame-Southern California game is more than two weeks away, but some Trojan fans apparently just can't wait for the two rivals to butt heads.

A pair of morning disc jockeys from Los Angeles radio station KLOS make a habit of laying their rear ends on the field (or court, whatever the case may be) to bring good luck to their local NFL and NCA A teams.

Reportedly, the deejays, who have the 6 a.m.-to-10 a.m. Pacific Standard Time shift, are thinking of bringing their act to Notre Dame on Oct. 21. The report says that they will try to sneak into Notre Dame Stadium and do their thing in hopes of helping end the six-year Irish hex on USC.

Stay tuned for details.
