E. Germany frees citizens
Berlin Wall opened

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany opened the Berlin Wall and its other borders Thursday, and its 8.5 million citizens began crossing freely for the first time since 1961. Hundreds of people danced on the wall.

Late Thursday and early Friday, exultant East Germans coursed through Berlin Wall check points and other border crossings.

Near Brandenburg Gate, East Germans raced through streams of police water cannon and were pulled up the wall by the young West Germans along with some Germans used hammers to chip away at the barrier for keepsakes or in their own small way to try to destroy the infamous symbol of East-West division.

The sight of jubilant people prancing and dancing on the wall, so heavily guarded for years, had been unthinkable only hours earlier.

About 100 East Berliners at the Brandenburg Gate chanted: "Open the gate! Open the gate!"

Hundreds of West Berliners took advantage of the newly opened borders during the carnival-like atmosphere to head in the opposite direction and catch a glimpse of the other side of the divided city.

"What joy! This is the best thing that happened to us in 100 years," said a man who entered West Germany.

"It's crazy! It's crazy!" shouted a young man as he sat in the back seat of a car with his parents after a brief trip past the once-impenetrable Berlin Wall.

There is no cure and no vaccine for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), but those involved in educational and behavioral health education changes can an individual prevent the spreading of the virus.

AIDS is becoming one of the greatest public health concerns for the 1990s and beyond.

Currently there are 110,000 individuals with confirmed cases of AIDS in the United States. It is estimated that over one million individuals are carriers and potential spreaders of the virus, according to a representative from the National AIDS Hotline.

The most of one million carriers do not even know that they carry the virus, he said.

It is estimated that by the end of the current year, 270,000 cases of AIDS will have been diagnosed. In that same year, 145,000 people will need health care which will cost an estimated $8 to 16 billion.

Of the 270,000 cases reported, most victims were in the prime of life—90 percent between the ages of 20 and 49.

If citizens know the facts about AIDS it is essential that all persons take necessary precautions.

AIDS and its related viruses, such as the human t-lymphotropic, type III (HTLV III) are preventable. The Surgeon General states that risky behavior such as certain types of homosexual and heterosexual activities or sharing intravenous drug equipment can lead to infection by the AIDS virus.

To control the spreading of AIDS it is essential that all persons take necessary precautions.

The U.S. Public Health Service recommends that individuals:

• do not have sex with multiple partners or with persons who have multiple partners.

• avoid sex with persons with AIDS.

• use condoms during intercourse.

• avoid anal intercourse.

• do not use intravenous drugs. If you do, do not share needles.

The transmission of the disease can not be seen through the naked eye. It usually enters into a person's circulatory system through their penis, rectum or vagina.

Individual behavior key to preventing spread of AIDS

By KAREN NEWLOVE
News Writer

There is no cure and no vaccine for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS); only through educational and behavioral health education changes can an individual prevent the spreading of the virus.

AIDS is becoming one of the greatest public health concerns for the 1990s and beyond.

Currently there are 110,000 individuals with confirmed cases of AIDS in the United States. It is estimated that over one million individuals are carriers and potential spreaders of the virus, according to a representative from the National AIDS Hotline.

The most of one million carriers do not even know that they carry the virus, he said.

It is estimated that by the end of the current year, 270,000 cases of AIDS will have been diagnosed. In that same year, 145,000 people will need health care which will cost an estimated $8 to 16 billion.

Of the 270,000 cases reported, most victims were in the prime of life—90 percent between the ages of 20 and 49.

If citizens know the facts about AIDS it is essential that all persons take necessary precautions.

AIDS and its related viruses, such as the human t-lymphotropic, type III (HTLV III) are preventable. The Surgeon General states that risky behavior such as certain types of homosexual and heterosexual activities or sharing intravenous drug equipment can lead to infection by the AIDS virus.

To control the spreading of AIDS it is essential that all persons take necessary precautions.

The U.S. Public Health Service recommends that individuals:

• do not have sex with multiple partners or with persons who have multiple partners.

• avoid sex with persons with AIDS.

• use condoms during intercourse.

• avoid anal intercourse.

• do not use intravenous drugs. If you do, do not share needles.

The transmission of the disease can not be seen through the naked eye. It usually enters into a person's circulatory system through their penis, rectum or vagina.

A visible tear in the tissue or the occurrence of blood is not necessarily a sign of transmission.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) recommends the use of condoms. They are the best preventive measure against the virus, as well as other sexually transmitted diseases, besides abortion.

The CDC published guidelines for condom use.

CDC urges the use of condoms made of latex rubber. A spermicidal condom may provide additional protection. Condom use is safer with a water based ND visitors must watch alcohol abuse

We've all heard Surgeon Tim McCarthy, of the Indiana State Police warn fans about drinking and driving at all of the home football games. Concerned students, we bear a lot about the dangers of driving under the influence. The University makes it quite clear that they trust the thousands of alumni and the other out-of-town fans who come to campus, to drink before, during and after the game, but not drive home. If you pose the greater danger——the student who drinks on campus and stays on campus, the alumni and other fans who drink on campus and weave their way home a few hours later?

Case in point: after the USC game my parents and I were driving back home along the Chicago Skyway. As we approached the toll booth, we noticed that at least one fellow fan was paying a considerable amount of trouble getting past the booth.

First of all, the man was trying to use dollar bills to get through the exact change lane. His car had already passed up the basket where he supposedly tossed the coins, so he tried handing a fistful of bills to the attendant in the booth. There was one small problem: there was no attendant in the booth. When an attendant finally did walk over to see what was going on, the guy realized the error of his car. This guy certainly was pathetic, and he was well over 21. If it weren't for the fact that he bumbled out of a shiny new Cadillac, I would have mistaken him for a wino on the street.

This isn't the kind of person I want sharing the expressway with. I don't think he was the only visitor who paid himself back on the road and decided that he was sober enough to drive. The University is really good at limiting the alcohol consumption of the students, but they turn the other way when their favorite son——or party.

When the party's over the students will still be on campus, but the visitors will be on the road. I think a lot of students here are smart enough to let some else drive if they're going to drink, but I don't think the majority has hit home for some of our older fans. It wouldn't hurt any of the imbibed fans to wait a few hours to sober up before driving the road (or hitting someone else.)

So if there are any visiting fans out there who plan on waddling back to their cars and driving home while they're still well-tilt, keep this in mind: if you get yourself killed or hit someone else you have to live with it.

Deng Xiaoping, China's senior leader, passed his last formal leadership post to his chosen successor, Communist Party Chief Jiang Zemin, Thursday. Foreign diplomats and Chinese sources agree Deng is likely to remain the leading voice in party and government affairs, as he has been since leaving the Politburo and Central Committee in 1987.

Seventeen million dollars in artwork stolen from Pablo Picasso's granddaughters. An excavator by investigators Thursday, finding at the home of a restaurateur in Grasse, France, who was then arrested, police said. Police identified the missing works only as seven paintings by Pablo Picasso, a Breughel, an Odilon Redon, the lesser-known 19th century works and a bust by sculptor August Rodin.

Teaching chastity, not condom education in public schools was the focus of AB50, an AIDS stautus ap proved in a 219-4 vote by secret ballot at the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. The bishops also called upon the United States to press for Middle East talks leading to an independent Palestinian homeland in their Thursday statement in Baltimore. In other business, the bishops approved a rite allowing laypeople to conduct funeral services, though not Mass, and endorsed a plan to increase the participation of black Catholics in the church.

An assiant posing as a delivery man forced his way into a Munster, IN. home Thursday, then shot and killed the couple who lived there. The couple's son was pistol-whipped by the attacker, but was able to escape and run to a nearby school to call police. The slayings were the first in Munster in eight years, Police Chief William Sudbury said.

Students who park in the D1 or C1 lots must move their cars into White Field North or the D2 lot for the football game.

The infant boy born in an emergency Cesarean section to a pregnant shooting victim died Thursday, two weeks after his mother was shot to death and his father wounded when they were held up outside a childbirth class. Carol Stuart, 30, a lawyer who was seven months pregnant, was shot in the head by a gunman who held up the couple in their car after they left a Boston hospital Oct. 23. Charles Stuart, 29, who managed to contact rescuers with his cellular car telephone, was shot in the abdomen and listed in stable condition Thursday.

Students who park in the D1 or C1 lots must move their cars into White Field North or the D2 lot for the football game. Phil Johnson, assistant director of Security, said that students with D1 or C1 decals may not park in the D6 lot.

The Observer P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556

Frady's Staff

Newspaper

Katie Walsh

Ad Design

Joe Zakrzewski

Sports

Molly Schwartz

System

Michael Gargiulo

Viewpoint

Robyn Simmons

Robyn Simmons

Janice Covelli

Monica Yant

Staff

Joe O'Leary

Callahan

Cristina Yant

Andrew Yant

Molly Schwartz

Cristina Frey

INSIDE COLUMN

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4020) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Markets Update

Market Update

Closeses for November 9, 1989

Daily

143.39 Million

Stocks

Nasdaq

193.79

Yesterday: 186.90

Nasdaq

54.02

Yesterday: 52.50

S&P Composite

135.58

Yesterday: 133.58

Dow Jones Industrials

2,503.89

Yesterday: 2,502.47

Precious Metals

Gold 1,980.00

Silver 50.00

Source: AP

AMERICAN COLLEGE

AMERICAN

OF INTEREST

Glee Club will hold an open rehearsal today at 4:45 p.m. in Crowley Hall.

Tri-Military retreat ceremony in honor of Veterans Day will be held today at the South Quad flagpole.

Expo Roma '89, presented by the fourth year architecture class, is on display until Nov. 17 in the Architecture Building lobby.

Sophomore Applications for Junior Parents Weekend Sophomore Committee Chairperson are due today at 5 p.m. in the Office of Student Activities.

Almanac

On November 10:

October 10:

- In 1971: Journalist and explorer Henry M. Stanley of the British expedition party searching for the fabled King Solomon's mines, died on November 10.

- In 1928: Hirohito was enthroned as the emperor of Japan.

- In 1969: The children's educational program "Sesame Street" made its debut on PBS.

- In 1975: The ore-hauling ship Edmund Fitzgerald and its crew of 29 vanished during a storm in Lake Superior.

1928: Hirohito was enthroned as the emperor of Japan.
A Navy fighter explodes, crashes into building.

BY SANDRA WIEGAND

News Writer

"Take Back the Night," a campus march to promote awareness of and protest violence against women, attracted about 50 men and women Thursday.

The march began at the "Woman at the Well" statue in front of O'Shaughnessy Hall, then continued on Saint Mary's "Road to Rome," which connects Notre Dame to Saint Mary's College and finally returned to the Rockne Memorial at Notre Dame.

The route was intentionally designed to go through areas where assault has occurred in the past.

Before the march began, three women spoke briefly.

"Fear is something we just can't live with," said Kathy Royer, coordinator for sexual assault and victim assistance programs at the Center for Social Concerns.

"It doesn't just mean we're afraid to walk out at night; it means that when we go to class and when we're in the office, we're not our whole selves."

"We want to claim for us the ability to not be afraid, and to be our whole selves," she said.

Two students then did a brief skit to emphasize the trauma that rape victims are often put through when they are queried about the trial of a rape victim, and graphically asking the questions many rape victims are asked such as, "What were you wearing?" and "Why were you out alone so late?"

At Saint Mary's College two students spoke.

"As incoming freshmen we were told, 'That's Rape Road.' No one questioned it. Why weren't we immediately outraged?" said Laurie Vickel.

Mary Twoby, a Notre Dame representative of Women United for Justice and Peace, said that the purpose of the march was not to create animosity throughout campus, but to "recognize the increased awareness" of security issues taking place.

"We've had the increased number of reported sexual assaults this year was a motivation to have the march. She said that she believes the increase is due to greater awareness rather than an increase in the frequency of the crime itself."

"Desire for increased awareness by both faculty and students, Twoby said, 'I don't think things are completely safe; I don't think it'll be completely safe on this campus 20 years from now.'"

"But you've got to recognize the good that's occurred," she added.

Some students on campus that Twoby perceived as unsafe included "Rape Road," areas including the lakes, and the route from graduate student housing to the library.

"I would not walk from Club 23 to Notre Dame alone," she said.

Before the march last night, a "speakout," with intentionally low profile and open only to women, took place.

The purpose of the speakeout was to allow women to share their experiences and fears regarding assaults, Twoby said.

"Women can basically say what they want without the fear of men being offended," she said.

An AIDS policy instituted by Notre Dame College two years ago outlines the role of the College in dealing with AIDS in the College community.

"Persons in the Saint Mary's community with evidence of the HTLV III antibodies or Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS) will be given the same attention and understanding that is given to any individual with a serious health problem," said Twohy, Notre Dame's AIDS policy instituted by Saint Mary's.

"AIDS is going to be given the same attention and understanding that is given to any individual with a serious health problem," said Twohy, Notre Dame's AIDS policy instituted by Saint Mary's.

"It is intentional for the College to give a very low profile and open only to women," said Twohy.

"Women are given the opportunity to configure their day completely safe on this campus," she said.

"The College is no different than an increase in the frequency of the crime itself."

"Desire for increased awareness by both faculty and students, Twoby said, 'I don't think things are completely safe; I don't think it'll be completely safe on this campus 20 years from now.'"

"But you've got to recognize the good that's occurred," she added.

Some students on campus that Twoby perceived as unsafe included "Rape Road," areas including the lakes, and the route from graduate student housing to the library.

"I would not walk from Club 23 to Notre Dame alone," she said.

Before the march last night, a "speakout," with intentionally low profile and open only to women, took place.

The purpose of the speakeout was to allow women to share their experiences and fears regarding assaults, Twohy said.

"Women can basically say what they want without the fear of men being offended," she said.
Church

continued from page 1

ing all 42 stained glass windows so that they can clean and restore the antique glass. According to Dedrick, Father
Sorin ordered this stained glass from the Casemiteums of Le Mans, France in 1872.

"Because many examples of it were destroyed during the Second World War, those windows represent the finest collection of this 19th century French stained glass in the world," said Dedrick. The windows contain 114 life size figures and 106 smaller figures.

Dedrick said that the tedious process of stained glass restoration has been going on for about 16 months and will probably continue for another year.

In addition, Conrad Schmitt Studios is now touching up the frescoes on the ceiling and high walls of Sacred Heart to resemble their original colors, said Dedrick.

These paintings were done over a four year period by Luigi Gregori, the Vatican artist who lived and worked at Notre Dame from 1874 to 1891, according to Garvey.

This is the first time that these Gregori frescoes have been cleaned, said Dedrick. The gold leaves and intricate stendils in the wall designs are finally becoming visible again, he added.

Dedrick said the renovations include the replacement of the old pews with carved pews that partner.

Within dating situations, it is safer if individuals do not become sexually active too quickly, according to the CDC.
One can not physically tell if someone is infected with the AIDS virus. However, individuals can talk with a prospective partner.

"If you know someone well enough to have sex, you should be able to talk about AIDS," said
Otis Bowen, M.D. and
Robert Windom, M.D., from
Health and Human Services.

AIDS can be transmitted through oral sex, said a representative from the National AIDS Hotline.

The virus no longer is contained within the homosexual communities of America. It has injected heterosexuals, infants, school age children, poor and wealthy, black, Hispanic and white.

Seventy percent of those di-

ND/AIDS

continued from page 1

lubricant as opposed to oil-based.

Within dating situations, it is safer if individuals do not become sexually active too
quickly, according to the CDC.
One can not physically tell if someone is infected with the AIDS virus. However, individuals can talk with a prospective partner.

If you know someone well enough to have sex, you should be able to talk about AIDS," said
Otis Bowen, M.D. and
Robert Windom, M.D., from
Health and Human Services.

AIDS can be transmitted
through oral sex, said a representative from the National AIDS Hotline.

The virus no longer is contained within the homosexual
communities of America. It has injected heterosexuals, infants,
school age children, poor and wealthy, black, Hispanic and white.

Seventy percent of those diagposed with AIDS die within two years. Usually their lives deteriorate very rapidly.

Germ, bacteria, protozoa, fungi, and malignancies are all able to infiltrate the AIDS infected body.

However, one does not catch AIDS like a cold or flu. The Surgeon General explicitly reminds the nation that AIDS cannot be transmitted through everyday contact such as:

• kissing
• donating blood
• sexual touching
• toilet seats, telephones
• shaking hands, swimming in pools, or sharing bed linens.

In receiving blood, one should remember that all blood after March of 1985 has been screened. It is estimated by the Surgeon General that infection from blood transfusions occurs in less than one of 100,000 du-nations.

"It is an epidemic that has already killed thousands of people, mostly young, productive Americans. It is the responsibility of every citizen to be informed about AIDS and to exercise the appropriate preventative measures," said former Surgeon General C. Everett
Koop, M.D.

All information was gathered from the Surgeon General’s Report on AIDS and Health and Human Services Reports.

For more information about AIDS contact University Health Services at 239-7497. In South Bend call the St. Joseph County Health Department’s AIDS information line at 284-9781.
The number for the National AIDS Hotline is (800)342-AIDS.

TRIDENT NAVAL SOCIETY

is sponsoring a

24 HOUR RUNATHON

to raise money for the

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

10:00am Friday-10:00am Saturday

Show your support for the Special Olympics by bringing donations to the tent set up

at Stonehenge.

CASH IN ON GOOD GRADES.

If you're a freshman or sophomore with good grades, apply now for a three-year or two-year scholarship. From Army ROTC.

Army ROTC scholarships pay tuition,
most books and fees, plus $100 per school month. They also pay off with leadership experience, extra college credentials impressive to future employers.

ARMY ROTC

THE SMARTEST COLLEGE

COURSE YOU CAN TAKE.

Contact Major Weiss 239-6264

RESERVE OFFICERS’ TRAINING CORPS

Lenny’s

18047 St. Road 23
South Bend IN
(1/2 mile east of Notre Dame)
271-8158
(formerly Lenny’s American Grill)

ALL NEW ITEMS:

Pizza Gyros
Philly Steak Sandwiches Burgers
assorted soups, salads, and appetizers

Bring this coupon in for 25% off
of any food purchase.

Under 21 always welcome
• coupon expires 11-30-89

John P. O’Malley
Sales Representative
New Memberships or Transfers
Auto & Property Insurance
A&G/CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB
5922 GRAPE ROAD
INDIAN RIDGE PLAZA
MISHAWAKA, INDIANA 46545
219/277-5790 RES: 219/288-0980
Please ask for John O’Malley.

TRIDENT NAVAL SOCIETY

is sponsoring a

24 HOUR RUNATHON

to raise money for the

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

10:00am Friday-10:00am Saturday

Show your support for the Special Olympics by

bringing donations to the tent set up

at Stonehenge.

CASH IN ON GOOD GRADES.

If you're a freshman or sophomore with

good grades, apply now for a three-year or two-year scholarship. From Army ROTC.

Army ROTC scholarships pay tuition,
most books and fees, plus $100 per school
month. They also pay off with leadership experience, extra college credentials impressive to future employers.

ARMY ROTC

THE SMARTEST COLLEGE

COURSE YOU CAN TAKE.

Contact Major Weiss 239-6264

RESERVE OFFICERS’ TRAINING CORPS

Lenny’s

18047 St. Road 23
South Bend IN
(1/2 mile east of Notre Dame)
271-8158
(formerly Lenny’s American Grill)

ALL NEW ITEMS:

Pizza Gyros
Philly Steak Sandwiches Burgers
assorted soups, salads, and appetizers

Bring this coupon in for 25% off
of any food purchase.

Under 21 always welcome
• coupon expires 11-30-89

John P. O’Malley
Sales Representative
New Memberships or Transfers
Auto & Property Insurance
A&G/CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB
5922 GRAPE ROAD
INDIAN RIDGE PLAZA
MISHAWAKA, INDIANA 46545
219/277-5790 RES: 219/288-0980
Please ask for John O’Malley.

TRIDENT NAVAL SOCIETY

is sponsoring a

24 HOUR RUNATHON

to raise money for the

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

10:00am Friday-10:00am Saturday

Show your support for the Special Olympics by

bringing donations to the tent set up

at Stonehenge.
Islamic fundamentalists score victory in Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Islamic fundamentalists stunned pro-government candidates by taking 34 of the 80 seats in Parliament in Jordan’s first general election in 22 years, according to results reported Thursday.

Fundamentalists rolled up huge totals in Wednesday’s election while powerful former government officials struggled to win and sometimes failed.

The outcome appeared a setback for King Hussein, who urged voters not to mix religion with politics.

It also was a disappointment to Jordanian women, who ran and voted in their first national election. None won of the 12 women among 647 parliamentary candidates won.

Victors included men once imprisoned on political grounds and one convicted in an attack on an Israeli airline office in Athens.

Israeli officials, who regard Hussein as a moderate Arab leader, expressed some concern about the election results. One said, on condition of anonymity: “What we are speaking about is a substantial opposition to the king from the right. ... This might bring a problem for the king.”

In the vanguard of the fundamentalist campaign was the Moslem Brotherhood. Its 26 declared and several allied candidates called for social justice, stricter Islamic morality and the destruction of Israel.

The new Parliament seems certain to be more assertive than the often passive legislature dissolved last year. Hussein retains ultimate power, however, and martial law in effect since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war continues.

Parliament must approve all laws and can dismiss governments, but the king can dissolve the legislature and rule without it, as he has done for much of the past 15 years.

Israeli officials, who regard Hussein as a moderate Arab leader, expressed some concern about the election results. One said, on condition of anonymity: “What we are speaking about is a substantial opposition to the king from the right. ... This might bring a problem for the king.”

In the vanguard of the fundamentalist campaign was the Moslem Brotherhood. Its 26 declared and several allied candidates called for social justice, stricter Islamic morality and the destruction of Israel.

“The people want Islam and it is not strange ... to have such a large number of Moslem candidates winning,” Brotherhood spokesman Ziad Abu Ghannimeh said.

Fundamentalists often have allied themselves with Hussein, a descendant of the prophet Mohammed, against secular leftists, but have pressed him for restrictions on Western-type entertainment, more social welfare programs and greater separation of the sexes.

Final results gave 22 seats to Brotherhood candidates. Other Islamists won 12 seats, and some of the 20 or so pro-government figures also had links to the Islamic movement.

Leftists, Arab nationalists, tribal leaders and others took the rest of the seats.
Student Government sponsors family social

By MONICA YANT, News Writer

Parents, students, faculty, staff and administration can share dessert and coffee, while listening to the Glee Club Saturday, 8:30-11:30 p.m.

Wendy Burek of student government says this Saturday might be the start of something that "could be an annual event."

Burek said that parents’ weekend has traditionally consisted of only a football game in which parents receive tickets.

A social function of some type was needed, "so that when parents come for the game, they have something to do with their students," she said.

The coffee and dessert will be held in South Dining Hall.

Cost is $5 dollars per family, or $2 dollars per person.

---

Cutting Edge Review Sharpens Study Skills

CHICAGO—Viewed by the industry as the most progressive CPA review program in the country, Conviser Duffy continues to make unprecedented achievements in applying accelerated learning techniques.

Michael J. Duffy, National Program Director, feels that the learning method used by their lecturers "eliminates the mental block that inhibits most students' natural learning ability. As the student becomes more relaxed, his or her ability to recall increases."

Duffy feels that his program exercises the ability of the CPA candidate to both visualize their goal (passing the CPA exam) and realize it. How? By learning to do the following:

- Create a relaxed study environment
- Make the mental associations upon which visual learning depends
- Rehearse and immediately reinforce information
- Organize and group ideas
- Interact with the lecturer.

The above points are neatly tied together with Conviser Duffy's live/video presentation, comprehensive textbooks, workbook, tape make-up facilities and unconditional guarantee.

Says Duffy, "Preparing for the CPA exam is serious business and it takes a serious commitment from both parties to succeed." All this is powerful news for the accountant who wants to gain his certification with the most professional streamline review on the market.

Further information may be obtained by phoning 1-800-274-EXAM.
Experts say that alcoholics will drink any type of alcohol

BOSTON (AP) — Kitty Dukakis remained hospitalized Thursday, recovering from the effects of drinking rubbing alcohol, but Gov. Michael Dukakis refused to speculate on whether the gesture was a relapse of an alcoholic or a self-destructive act.

Mrs. Dukakis was treated for alcoholism earlier this year, and has previously admitted to a 26-year addiction to diet pills. She has been lauded for her candor about her chemical dependency and her efforts at recovery.

Several alcohol and drug abuse experts said recovering alcoholics will drink anything containing alcohol if liquor isn’t available when the craving hits.

“Rubbing alcohol is not uncommon,” said Dominie Ciraulo, a senior consultant in substance abuse at New England Medical Center in Boston. “People drink shaving lotion, mouthwash, you name it. Sometimes the craving for alcohol becomes so intense that they ignore the risks.”

Rubbing alcohol is normally about 70 percent isopropyl alcohol, and 10 ounces of isopropyl alcohol can be lethal, said Alan Wool, director of the Massachusetts Poison Center at Children’s Hospital in Boston.

Mrs. Dukakis was taken to the hospital by ambulance after experiencing “severe reaction” to drinking rubbing alcohol Monday night, which she swallowed in a state of exhaustion with flu symptoms and depression, her doctor said.

She had been asleep for several hours when the governor returned home, said Dukakis’ press secretary, Mindy Lubber. Dukakis woke his wife when she received a phone call; it was upon awakening that Mrs. Dukakis said she felt groggy and sick, Lubber said.

Gerald Plotkin, the Dukakis family physician, said Mrs. Dukakis had been taking anti-depressants prescribed by her psychiatrist but tests indicated no other drugs or alcoholic beverages were involved in her current illness.

Mrs. Dukakis was said to be suffering from exhaustion stemming from a hectic schedule of speaking engagements and work on her upcoming book. She recently returned from a trip to Colorado, where she participated in an Outward Bound program.

Dukakis, who returned to work Thursday after two days by his wife’s side, issued a statement saying he would stand by her.
The Wall, a symbol of oppression

BERLIN (AP) — The jagged, gray concrete wall that divides Berlin is a Cold War symbol of freedom denied. It was built under the direction of Erich Honecker to stop the hemorrhage of East Germans fleeing to the West — about 2.5 million escaped to freedom between 1949 and Aug. 13, 1961. Now, in one of history's ironies, the flight to freedom of hundreds of thousands of East Germans around the wall and through neighboring countries has forced the Communist government to back down and declare free travel will be allowed. And 77-year-old Erich Honecker has been swept out as Party leader by the exodus and by protests by East Germans demanding democratic reforms. The 15-foot high structure cut through the city divides families, friends from friends. Berliner from Berliner and communists from capitalism. The surprise move to open the wall was announced at a Central Committee meeting Thursday. The Central Committee scheduled a Communist Party conference — the first since 1956 — for Dec. 15-17.

Hundreds of brave East Germans tried to scale the wall or tunnel under it or crash through a checkpoint. Many died in the attempt. The 28-mile-long wall is only a part of elaborate fortifications that stretch all along the 860-mile border between East Germany and West Germany. A barrier of barbed wire, armed guards, death strips and eerie lights that played over the border at night.

But it was the cold concrete wall in Berlin, which is surrounded by East German territory, that became the symbol. "We kept telling ourselves, 'You cannot put a wall right through a major city,'" said Helmut Haar on the wall's 25th anniversary. "Now we're used to it.

Visiting presidents and prime ministers climbed a special stand to peer over the wall into East Germany. Many called for the wall to be dismantled. But East Germany insisted they dared not open the wall. Honecker said time and again, "The wall will remain as long as the conditions that led to its construction endure."

With the political change sweeping in from Moscow and striking reforms taking place in nearby Poland and Hungary, the disciplined and hard-line East Germany was finally overwhelmed by a popular revolt.

From barbed wire and simple barricades until it first started in 1961, the wall has grown in some areas to a parallel of concrete barriers with a "death strip" in between.

Many escape attempts have ended with freedom-seekers trying to die in the shadows of the Berlin Wall or somewhere along the frontier between the two countries.

Running, driving and even swimming, thousands of people have been caught trying to flee from East Germany over the Berlin Wall or across fortifications along the border with West Germany.

Mention of the Berlin Wall conjures up memories not only of desperate escape attempts, but also of major spy swaps between East and West.

For years, border guards watching out for escapes had shown a cold hand, but earlier this year the East Germans announced that the orders had been lifted.

The Berlin Wall, one of Europe's most eloquent chopping strips. For decades, East Germans locked up behind the now-crumbling Iron Curtain could only dream of seeing the West.

"We heard it on TV, we just decided to go over and have a look," said the young man's father. "We want to show our son a little bit of Kurfuersten-damm."

The Kurfuersten-damm is one of Europe's most eloquent chopping strips. For decades, East Germans looked up behind the now-crumbling Iron Curtain could only dream of seeing the West.

They became a mere monument to the past."

For years, border guards watching out for escapes had shown a cold hand, but earlier this year the East Germans announced that the orders had been lifted.
SECURITY BEAT

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 8

A ring was found in the Snite Museum on Saturday, 11/04/89 and was turned in to Security.

7:47 a.m. Security discovered a vehicle in the D02 lot that was vandalized. Estimate of damage is unknown at this time.

12 p.m. An administrator reported finding a bike near Alumni Hall. The bike was taken to Security.

2:10 p.m. A University employee reported that a floor jack had been taken from Galvin Life Science sometime during the past six weeks.

8:48 p.m. An Iowa resident was cited for exceeding the speed limit. The vehicle was traveling at 44 mph in a 25 mph zone on Juniper near Don Road.

9:48 p.m. A South Bend resident was cited for exceeding the speed limit. The vehicle was traveling 44 mph in a 25 mph zone on Juniper near Don Road.

THURSDAY, NOV. 9

10:20 a.m. Security responded to a non-injury traffic accident on Old Juniper Road near Lake Road. A resident of P.W. reported that her car was broken into in the D02 lot sometime between 5:30 p.m. on 11/2 and 9 a.m. on 11/7. A radio system valued at $350 was taken from the vehicle.

Crime of the Week

The Crime of the Week is the theft of Notre Dame's Golf Course Pro Shop sign. Security reports that the sign, valued at several hundred dollars, was taken sometime between 11/4/89 and 11/8/89. Crime Stoppers wants to know who took this sign and will pay a cash reward for information. If you know about this or any crime at Notre Dame, call Crime Stoppers at 288-STOP. You won't be asked to give your name.

---

Determined to vote

An elderly disabled woman crawled to cast her vote in Namibia Wednesday while SWA and UN police looked on.

---

HAPPY 19TH BIRTHDAY

KIRSTEN BROWN

LOVE,

GRETCHEL AND BILL

---

SMC/AIDS

continued from page 1

Thursday's meeting was to inform and educate individuals on the most recent facts about AIDS in preparation for next week's event. Jacob discussed and clarified the definition of HIV and AIDS, transmission, symptoms and treatment. She stressed that there is no vaccine or cure for the disease and said that "it is universally fatal."

"Anybody can choose whether or not to put themselves at risk," Jacob said, referring to high-risk behaviors, such as sharing intravenous drug needles or having sex with someone you don't know.

The Wellness Committee at Saint Mary's, which emphasizes physical and mental fitness as well as spiritual growth, sponsored Thursday's meeting.

---

Parents Weekend is more than a football game!!

Dessert Buffet

at South Dining Hall
Saturday, November 11
8:30-11:00 p.m.

Glee Club will perform. All are welcome!!

$2 per person
$5 per family

sponsored by

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

1989 - 1990
Getting Comfortable With a Zenith Laptop Now

Can Make for a Comfortable Future in the Real World
Zenith Puts the Power of a Desktop in Your Lap

For More Details Contact
Notre Dame Computer Store
Office of University Computing
Math/Computer Building
239-7477
Mon. Fri. 9 - 5
The U.S. military has become a major factor in determining access to higher education on upward of ROTC at Notre Dame (Oct. 31) was right on target. The chief issues do not involve any religious objections to military participation, Notre Dame's identity as a Catholic institution, and the inconsistency of the University's efforts to establish peace studies while sponsoring one of the largest ROTC programs in the country. Mr. Redmann puts the emphasis squarely where it belongs when he notes that ROTC "pays the tuition for a large number of students, some of whom might not be here without it.

One of ten students attending Notre Dame on a ROTC scholarship, Mr. Redmann correctly observes that these scholarships are not given by Notre Dame; the Army, Navy, Air Force give students scholarships to attend any accredited university." In other words, the U.S. military has become a major factor in determining access to higher education. This is particularly true at Notre Dame.

The University's efforts in recruitment, admissions, and financial aid need to be examined in light of the significant military presence on campus. ROTC does not "give scholarships." ROTC pays tuition and provides a substantial financial incentive in return for the student's participation in military training and subsequent military service. It goes without saying that Americans are free to choose military service and some may wish to do so as a career. Perhaps a significant portion of Notre Dame's prospective ROTC students have already made this choice before seeking admission. I have no quarrel with these students.

In fact, I would like to emphasize that some of the best students I have had the pleasure of teaching at Notre Dame have been ROTC students. People from a variety of socio-economic and cultural backgrounds enrich the international life of an academic community and the Notre Dame administration seems to be genuinely interested in working to create a less homogeneous atmosphere. However, while I applaud Notre Dame's recent successes in military recruitment, I am troubled by the University's failure to recognize the importance of military dollars to help shape the undergraduate student body.

The necessity of having a military presence on campus is therefore not questioned. At Mr. Redmann's point, "the military is necessary to defend the country and "if all else fails... we need a way to defend ourselves." What is of great concern, however, is the degree to which the military dominates the U.S. economy and the way in which the military values reach into our society and affect us. It is my opinion that 50 percent of our Federal income tax dollars are spent on military and war past debts and that 35 percent of our scientists and engineers currently work on military-related projects.

The military aspect of life at Notre Dame reflects and contributes to the high level of militarism in American society. To be sure, given that we live in a militaristic society and participate in an economy based on war, perhaps we should not be surprised that ROTC pays the way for a tenth of Notre Dame's undergraduate students. At the same time, we must acknowledge that ROTC money is qualitatively different from the scholarships and financial aid which allow other needy students to enroll here. Notre Dame's official (and unofficial) policy of relying so heavily on ROTC has a tremendous impact on the lives of its students. This salient feature of the Notre Dame experience should not go unexamined.

Israelis inflict suffering on innocent families

By Carl Loesch

When I first met Yousef in Jerusalem last semester, he was teaching us about Islam for our Middle East politics course. He was only a year or two older than the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students when he was teaching. He had one year of college to finish at Bethlehem University, but he had to wait because the schools had been closed since the Israeli military saw them as hotbeds of political activity in the intifada—the uprising. I felt sorry for Yousef because he was denied the basic human right to an education; only a few weeks later did I learn what Yousef and his family really suffered.

Only July 4, 1988 while the majority of Americans were celebrating with fireworks, Yousef's family suffered a terrible injustice. Yousef was home with his widowed mother, his sister, and his grandparents when two older than the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community? First, Yousef asked me to tell what I saw to the people back home in the United States. He realizes that the people of the United States are generally pretty ignorant about what is going on in the Middle East; he wants the truth to be known. Secondly, this week is Middle East week at Notre Dame, and I want to share a personal experience of my last semester in Jerusalem. Thirdly, as members of this university it is our responsibility to learn as much as we can about areas of injustice around the world. As citizens of the United States we have the ability to change injustice throughout the world either through exercising our right to vote or by participating in the political system as a representative. And lastly, I tell this story to encourage every one to pray for peace and an end to the suffering of the Palestinians and Israelis.

Carl Loesch is a senior theology and math major.

Knute Rockne

"Football should develop in the young men initiative, resourcefulness, and the ability to think for themselves."
 ll babies have a mind of their own, but how can they say what’s on their mind? Baby Mikey has a lot to say, even if he is too young to speak. The thoughts of a one-year-old are expressed through the voice-over talents of Bruce Willis. He steals the show in the new romantic comedy “Look Who’s Talking.” The movie opens with Mollie (Kristin Alcky) an accountant, who is having an affair with her client Albert (George Segal), who is a very married man. Albert keeps promising he’ll leave his wife as soon as she gets over her hystria, and when Mollie becomes pregnant he keeps his promise and leaves his wife—for his interior decorator. Albert explains to Mollie that he can’t help support Mollie or her unborn baby because he’s going through “a selfish phase.”

Even in the womb, Mikey’s mind is pretty active (even the sperm get a chance to speak). When Mollie finally goes into labor, the first person available to take her to the hospital is James (John Travolta), a rather likable cab driver. In a wild driving sequence that only Hollywood can dish up, James takes Mollie “safely” to the hospital, and he even accompanies Mollie into the delivery room. One of the funniest scenes in the movie is right before Mikey delivers, when Mikey reacts to the painkiller the doctor gives Mollie. James’ interest in Mollie and her baby does not end with Mikey’s birth. James becomes Mikey’s “baby-sitter,” and he is clearly interested in Mollie, but Mikey is busy dating other men in an effort to find the perfect mother for Mikey. Mikey, on the other hand, has already made up his mind—he wants James to be his daddy. Unfortunately, Mikey is unable to articulate his feelings to the adults in his life. Apparently, Mikey isn’t the only kid on the block who’s “talking.” In one scene, Mollie takes Mikey for a stroll in downtown New York City, where Mikey gets a chance to try out his baby talk on the other kids in strollers. Travolta doesn’t appear in this sequence, but he should have, because the song playing in the background is “Staying Alive.”

Both Alley and Travolta are good in their respective roles, but the movie wouldn’t be nearly as funny without the voice-overs of Willis. Willis’ dialogue adds life to the movie, making Mikey the real star of the movie. The result must have been intentional on the writers’ part, because Mikey gets all of the best lines. The actors who portray Mikey at various stages in his babyhood (from a few hours old to one-year-old) are cute enough, but they probably wouldn’t have been as appealing to the audience if they were not backed up by Willis’ humorous remarks. “Look Who’s Talking” is not the first film to center around an infant, but it is the first movie that tries to do things from a baby’s point of view. It is doubtful that anyone will ever be able to tell exactly what’s going on in a baby’s mind until the child learns to speak, but the writers evidently had a lot of fun guessing, and the audience will also have fun watching “Look Who’s Talking.”

James (John Travolta) demonstrates a dance step for Mikey (Jason Schaller) in the romantic comedy, “Look Who’s Talking.”

Mollie (Kristin Alcky) an unmarried working mother, starts to fall for James (John Travolta), an easy-going cab driver, who, when she meets on route to hospital to deliver her baby in "Look Who’s Talking."
Francisco getting older, but still getting better

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Associate Sports Editor

D'Juan Francisco has grown accustomed to taking the jokes from his teammates this year. "You know his uniform number represents his age," says one player, pointing to the No. 32 on Francisco's jersey.

"We always give him a hard time because he's the oldest player on the team. We call him Grandad," says one player, pointing to the No. 32 on Francisco's jersey.

"We'd really tease him about it, but it's all in fun," said Francisco. "It's positive. I love all these guys, and we're just having a good time."

Francisco, a fifth-year senior, has seen his speed benefit his play. "They tease me about it, but it's all in fun," said Francisco. "It's positive. I love all these guys, and we're just having a good time."

"Age hasn't exactly caught up to Francisco, who ranks third in the team with three interceptions. In fact, hardly anyone is able to catch up with the Cincinnati native."

Francisco ran a 4.35 in the 40 last spring, one year after his 4.33 time made him the fastest player on the 1988 national championship squad.

"We'd really tease him about it, but it's all in fun," said Francisco. "It's positive. I love all these guys, and we're just having a good time."

Francisco actually had come to Notre Dame as a running back after breaking the Moeller High School records for rushing yards in a season (1,658) and career (4,032). He broke the marks that had been set just a couple of years earlier by his brother Hiawatha.

"We had some guys who were already on the (Notre Dame) team from Moeller, but people did not necessarily expect you to come here," said Francisco. "I came up here to visit my brother a couple of times, and I got to see what it was like here without them rolling out the red carpet for me."

Francisco remembers just how much having an older brother on the team helped him during his first year at school. "We'd really grown close at Moeller," said Francisco. "I knew he'd be here, and being able to play with him was a thrill. As a freshman, especially first semester, I felt homesick, and he helped me go places off-campus like the mall and do things a lot of freshmen can't do right away."

Francisco's brother, who spent much of his Notre Dame career hampered by knee injuries, may have provided even more help in another area. After seeing his older brother move from tailback to the defensive backfield, D'Juan Francisco knew the same thing could happen to him.

"I anticipated it in a sense," the younger Francisco said of his own move to the defense. "Hiawatha was a Mr. Everything in high school, and when he switched positions, I knew anything could happen."

After a freshman season that saw him carry the ball 18 times for 84 yards, D'Juan Francisco moved to the secondary the spring before his sophomore season.
The Game...

BY KEN TYSIAC

The Mustangs from SMU will ride into town Saturday to see if they can prevent Lou Holtz's Fighting Irish squad from notchirig a school record 22nd straight victory at Notre Dame Stadium.

Before they became the first football team to be required to remain in a Southern powerhouse. Now, those not-so-far-off teams are the ones. SMU's Scott Holtz, who once managed to make his own maneuver off, is resident Holtz. "But that's a whole new game to me. I'm not going to insult your intelligence, that's not my intention, it's just that any time you play an opponent, you always get scared, and you get nervous.

Holtz is no doubt that SMU has good young athletes. They play hard, they're well coached, and I think they're going to be an outstanding football team in this game.

That's right, Lou, in the future, they will be a good football team. Right now, however, they are setting records for future. Scott Holtz on October 21, the Mustangs gave up an NCAA record 1,121 total yards. Houston's Heisman-worthy quarterback Anthony Jordan passed for a career high 410 yards in the first half of that game for 517 yards, obliteration of Rice's 43-yard all-time passing yardage in a half.

The pressure is on Holtz to show that SMU has good athletes. They have a strong arm. I don't think they'll learn a lot of things that they can do this week.

It will be a great experience for our kids playing against the number one team in the nation," says Gregg. "It will be our opportunity to show the nation that we are a football team. I think they'll learn a lot. Playing Notre Dame in South Bend is a lot of our kids probably never dreamed would happen to them. From that standpoint, it can be a positive experience."
You can bet on it: Smagala returns to get his interception

By KEN TYBIAC
Sports Writer

Early in the season, the defensive back on the Notre Dame football team had a经过 with each other. Whoever intercepted a pass on a given weekend would be treated to dinner after the game by the other members of the secondary.

Stan Smagala is sure glad that bet was put on the back burner.

"I'd have paid for a lot of dinners by now if the bet was still on," he laughs, "because the rest of the guys all have quite a few interceptions and I don't have my first pick-off yet."

Although the senior corner back from Burbank, Illinois has not picked off any passes, he has been a steady performer all year in the Irish secondary. Smagala has punished many an enemy receiver in his years under Lou Holtz's tutelage. Smagala will be on the Notre Dame field for the last time as a player Saturday.

"It's already sunk in for me, and it's really not that big a deal," Smagala, "I'll miss it, but we have three more games after SMU, and I think I'll enjoy it no matter where we play.

Smagala is especially anxious to play this week because he has missed the last two weeks with a hip injury suffered late in the game against USC. On the flip side of this injury, the Irish got the benefit of play from the Irish seven yard line, quarterback Todd Marinovich threw the ball in Smagala's direction.

"This with in mind, Smagala hopes NFL scouts are watching him in his senior season. Whereas NFL contracts are a near certainty for such players as Anthony Johnson, Pat Terrell, and Ned Bolcar, Smagala seems to realize that there is a possibility that he won't be drafted.

"I hope I have the opportunity to play for some teams after I graduate," he says. "But I guess I'll have to wait for draft day to find out. If I don't get drafted, I plan to graduate with my business degree, so I'll have that to fall back on.

But for the time being, Smagala will concentrate on SMU. Even though SMU comes into Notre Dame Stadium as a 36-point underdog, Smagala says he and his teammates will not take the Mustangs lightly at all.

"Actually, our practices have been very difficult this week," he says. "Their quarterback (Mike Romo) is ranked very high in terms of completion percentage. In the secondary we're looking to see if we can get big hits.

And some interceptions?"

"Definitely. I hope I get the opportunity to pick off one or two this Saturday."

SMU is expected to throw the ball early and often, so maybe Smagala will get his wish.

"They (the Mustangs) have a similar attack to the one employed by Miami, so we'll use this game to prepare for the Hurricanes," says Lyght. "Definitely, we'll use this game to prepare for the one at the University of Miami."

And in Stan Smagala's case, we'll have to look for the interception contest.

Almost, but not quite: Mustangs edge Irish in '84

By VIC LOMBARDI Sports Writer

Sure, they're considered schedule passins nowadays. But it wasn't too long ago when the Time Capsule

Southern Methodist football team gave Notre Dame a run for its money.

After the old Pony Express backfield (Eric Dickerson and Craig James) migrated to the NFL in the early 1980's, the Mustangs still fielded some pretty talented football teams.

Of course, back then SMU stood for Slip da Money Under da table-indicative of the Mustang's numerous recruiting violations.

But the Mustangs still managed to win big games. The Mustangs fed off a late Notre Dame rally in the 1984 Aloha Bowl to defeat the Irish 27-20 before 41,000 fans in balmy Honolulu, Hawaii.

The story was all too familiar for Irish fans. The poised young quarterback mounts a late-desperation drive to set-up the game-winning touchdown. But when Steve Beuerlein's pass flew past the outstretched hands of flanker Milly Jackson on the last play of the game, the classic comeback was no more.

The Mustang's option-run played a large role in the 1984 game. After the defense held, the Mustangs drove the ball to the Notre Dame 11 yard line where quarterback Don King and the ball, the Mustangs drove the ball to the goal line on a seven-yard deficit to 14-7.

Possessions. The Mustangs option-run played a large role in the 1984 game. After the defense held, the Mustangs drove the ball to the Notre Dame 11 yard line where quarterback Don King and the ball, the Mustangs drove the ball to the goal line on a seven-yard deficit to 14-7.

The next time they had the ball, the Mustangs drove 80 yards in 14 plays to set-up a 21-yard touchdown toss from King to Cobb Morrison. Two possessions. Two touchdowns.

But after Tim Brown took the ensuing kickoff 23 yards to the SMU 47, the Irish offense went to work. Tailback Allan Pinkett (4 carries for 33 yards) marched 78 yards in 16 plays to jump on the scoreboard on the outstretched arms of Reggie Dupard and Jeff Alkins. Altogether, the backs accounted for 147 of the Mustangs' 276 yards.

The Mustang's option-run played a large role in the 1984 game. After the defense held, the Mustangs drove the ball to the Notre Dame 11 yard line where quarterback Don King and the ball, the Mustangs drove the ball to the goal line on a seven-yard deficit to 14-7.

The next time they had the ball, the Mustangs drove 80 yards in 14 plays to set-up a 21-yard touchdown toss from King to Cobb Morrison. Two possessions. Two touchdowns.

But after Tim Brown took the ensuing kickoff 23 yards to the SMU 47, the Irish offense went to work. Tailback Allan Pinkett (4 carries for 33 yards) marched 78 yards in 16 plays to jump on the scoreboard on the outstretched arms of Reggie Dupard and Jeff Alkins. Altogether, the backs accounted for 147 of the Mustangs' 276 yards.
IRISH EXTRA
D’JUAN

Even then, he saw most of his playing time come on special teams. Francisco finally became something of a regular last season at cornerback.

Francisco started two games and played a big role in the secondary, backing up Todd Bertling.

In his fifth year, Francisco finally has a firm assignment, solidifying his status as an important part of the team. He does not really think of himself as an experienced leader in the secondary.

"Like as far as I’m on the field, I’m probably the one with the least experience out there, so they believe," said Francisco. The other defensive backs do not quite see that way.

"He’s been around the program when it lost, and he always reminds us that any team is capable of turning it around."
A strong new LP from Kate Bush

ALISON COCKS
accent writer

Kate Bush successfully combines her original musical style with the imagination of a fiction writer once again in her latest album release, "The Sensual World." Four years have passed since the release of her greatest hits album, The Whole Story, time she spent compiling material for her new album. The result is a collection of powerful songs characterized by Bush's four octave soprano which joins with her lyrics to evoke strong emotions in her listeners. Her songs, referred to by Bush as short stories, present new scenarios each time. Her clever combinations of lyrics and words create vivid images.

The title track is, to say the least, seductive. Based on a soliloquy from James Joyce's "Ulysses," it tells the erotic story of a woman's experience with her lover. It sets the tone for the album which is a telling exploration of mature human relationships and emotions. "Heads We're Dancing," a penetrating, fast tune tells the story of a young girl in 1939 who meets a seductive man at a dance. She is shocked the next morning when she reads the paper to discover her charming new friend is Adolf Hitler. "They say the Devil is a charming man/And just like you I bet he can dance," accuses Bush in her lyrics.

Bush also addresses anger and its expression in "Between a Man and a Woman" and "Love and Anger." Her tone is furious, her rhythm fast as she confronts an unwanted interloper in "Between a Man and a Woman" and struggles to release pent-up fury in "Love and Anger."

Tracks such as "Deeper Understanding," about a lonely person who finds solace in the voice console of a computer, "The Fog," whose imagery depicts loss of innocence in the transition from childhood to independence, and the tender, regret-filled "This Woman's Work," an expression of a man's tumult of emotions as he realizes his wife might be dying, enhance the emotional tone of the album and add dimension to the moody theme of the album.

Bush explores a range of common human emotions with depth and sensitivity. Her use of symbolism and vivid imagery and her original musical style makes her album a pleasure to listen to. Bush's unique style is refreshing at a time when lack of originality has become all too common. "The Sensual World" is a triumphant addition to Kate Bush's impressive collection of innovative LPs.

'Baker Boys' offers steam but no depth

DEBBIE CHARLESWORTH
accent writer

It's a smoke-filled lounge with two men playing on two grand pianos. The two men, Jeff and Beau Bridges, portray "The Fabulous Baker Boys," a bawdy piano act wedged in mediocrity. This act survives through the goodwill of nightclub and hotel owners and on ten years of endurance in the binges. Their act merely provides background noise at clubs where the main attention of the patrons is focused on bad jokes, cheap booze and promotions.

Although the act is tolerable at best, the movie freely attempts to show the audience that Jeff Bridges is in fact a stilted genius. Overshadowed by his older brother's practical instinct, the younger Bridges remains in the rut of the Fabulous Baker Boys, instead of fostering his supposed musical genius. Beau Bridges, the practical brother, decides a female singer will add glamour to their failing and blund act. The act introduces Michelle Pfeiffer who plays Susie Diamond, the panacea for the troubled Baker Boys. The slyly act soars to new heights with the hot addition of Pfeiffer flesh.

Susie Diamond portrays a hardened street girl who is supposed to sing well, however, her sultry voice and lip-licking does not equal talent. Just塞里

Fortunately for the act, Pfeiffer wears dresses that show more skin than material which is supposed to compensate for her sub par voice. Despite the half-hearted effort to show the act as actually popular, it does not deserve to play beyond the lounge of a Holiday Inn.

The development of the relationship between the two brothers shows the actors to be as deep as an empty wading pool. The relationship between Jeff and Beau Bridges lacks substance. The relationship frustrates the audience, because it never fully develops. Just when the audience thinks it is all lost, a fist fight erupts between the two, setting ten years of pent up frustrations. Aside from that one attempt, little is done to inform the audience of the feelings the brothers have for each other.

On the other hand, the relationship between Pfeiffer and the younger Bridges produces chemistry which erupts into a steamy massage scene in an empty smoke-filled lounge after a New Year's Eve performance. The relationship between Pfeiffer and Bridges is subtle, yet the audience is always aware of the attraction the two share. If nothing else, the development of their relationship will make you stay in your chair to watch the end of the movie, no matter how uninterested you may be in what goes on between the Baker Boys.

Although it has potential to be good, the movie just misses. There are better movies to see. Unless you love the seductive Pfeiffer or the pensive Jeff Bridges, wait for this one to come out on video.
On listening to symphonies of the air

A week ago, I went to St. Ed’s to attend the forum on racial tension at Notre Dame. My hearing has never been good, so last spring I was fitted with a pair of hearing aids, one for each ear, which are sensitive enough to pick up the sounds of bats squeaking, unusually on Mars. I only wear them on occasions when I don’t want to miss a trick.

I’m glad that I wore them at St. Ed’s because I heard something beautiful which could be described, in Wordsworth’s phrase as, “The still, and sad music of humanity.”

When you’re wearing those bugs in your ears, you become highly imaginative about hearing the outside in, adding the cries of the poor, for example, to the Jews-for-Jesus, hoping the combination will sound like a chorus.

I’m not ashamed of the letter. It was written to a friend about to be rendered hors de combat. I was afraid, because of the emotions that were swirling around him. By the time the letter appeared, the Donnybrook had been peacefully settled, and so hadegg on my face, but not much.

I really do hate mentioning that letter, though I’m willing to explain anything in it, to anyone, at any time, to show it was written with love and respect for students for gathering information in a way that that I thought was unfair.

I would be honestly proud to be the closest friend of any black student willing to give me their time and their opinion, and I would do the same for students of color, I know of number minority students at Notre Dame; Marxist nephews of the late Ayatollah; Bosnian refugees on the lam, a colony of white parents who pass as Franciscans, and probably some others who wear golf caps to keep their acne covered; for you don’t have to get to keep them in a closet. A number of gays here. I wouldn’t like to be forced to hold public forums at St. Ed’s. Women in the Catholic Church feel pushed to the margins. It’s sad for everyone if the only forum available to them is in the pages of a newspaper, where everything turns out sounding angry. It’s not even easy to be a priest at Notre Dame (two remarkably outspoken) when you hear of the priest-bashing and Pope-bashing that goes on in classrooms.

When the monologues are finished, with each of us telling the horror stories of his or her choice, then the dialogue can begin, in which each one starts listening to the others, as well as asking to be listened to him­self. As soon as you start lis­tening, your education begins. Any good school should want to be famous as a listening place. People should go to a university to listen and talk, the way people used to listen and talk at the village well.

Notre Dame, being Catholic, has no strong title to shape it­self, because of the religion, into a talkathon, or a town meeting, or to collect funds to endow conversation pits. But, since it is Christian, students have a right to expect the kind of healing that is most avail­able through education. I have no great vision of what Notre Dame’s future could be like, if the school became all things to all comers.

But it’s a vision. I have this great pair of hearing-­aids. They bring harmony out of several levels of discourse which discours. What’s the matter? St. Ed’s last week may have been the beginning of the end of the "Unfinished Symphony," or the last notes of "Nearer, My God, to Thee." And if there was much promise of some great future, which I always thought that all of us can join in a mov­ing rendition of "We shall over­come," with nobody off-key.

If you meet me on campus, for God’s sake, don’t come up to me and ask what you to. If those egg bugs are in place turn up high, you could blast me into orbit.
Wings continue their winless string

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Dave Gagner and rookie Mike Modano scored two goals each as the Minnesota North Stars extended Detroit's winless streak to nine with a 3-1 victory over the Red Wings. The last three Red Wings, 0-3-1 in their last nine, are on their longest winless streak since 1980.

Joe@ x2922.

TYPING AT 3-619.

IN U.S.A.

In Chicago. Call Jim Cabot @ 277-9198 or Mike Affeck @ 287-4082.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING & DELIVERY AT ST. MARYS.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.

TYPING AT 3-619.
McDonald wins Golden Spike prize

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Louisiana State pitching star Ben McDonald was selected Thursday the winner of the Golden Spikes Award, presented annually by the United States Baseball Federation to the top amateur player.

Dan Piane, an All-American outfielder for Notre Dame last spring, had been a finalist for the award.

McDonald, who was 14-4 for LSU this season, was the Baltimore Orioles' No. 1 draft pick in June and spent part of September in the major leagues.

"It's very meaningful for me," McDonald said. "I think it's the biggest amateur award, and I'm real pleased about it. It's a goal I set for myself, to try to achieve it. I think it just tops off a good amateur career."

McDonald was one of nine finalists for the award. The others were Scott Bryant of Texas, John Huntington of Texas A&M, Alex Fernandez of Miami, Todd Goodwin of Fresno State, Peltier, Eric Wedge of Wichita State, Dan Wilson of Minnesota and Alex Zinter of Arizona.

"This was the final thing," McDonald said. "This last several months, I've been really lucky — the Olympic team, that really got me going, got to be in three or four different countries and 24 different cities in a matter of three and a half months. I matured a lot as an individual on the road trips, and I matured a lot as a baseball player. It's something I'll never forget."

In three years at LSU, McDonald was 29-4 with six saves, and struck out 373 in 308 1-3 innings.

The Orioles and McDonald spent much of the summer negotiating his contract, and he didn't make his first major league appearance until Sept. 2.

His father, Larry McDonald, represented him through most of the talks, which began shortly after the draft.

During a fall in negotiations with the Orioles, McDonald spent a week playing with other top U.S. amateurs in the Cape Cod League, but returned home afterward because of what he said was media distraction.

Runners

continued from page 24

a surprising Ball State team also have received votes in the NCAA poll.

But as Irish head coach Joe Piane pointed it is performance, not rankings, that will determine who gets to make the trip.

"I think that there are 10 teams with a legitimate shot, but it matters not what you're ranked going in, it's how you're ranked going out that counts," he said.

Notre Dame is definitely a team with a legitimate shot. The Irish finished second to Wisconsin in the District Meet last year, and Piane was named the district's coach of the year for the second season in a row.

The Irish went on to place ninth in the NCAAs.

So far in 1989, the Irish have been having a stellar year, winning every meet except the Notre Dame Invitational, when a surprising Ball State team went on to win.

But as Irish head coach Joe Piane pointed it is performance, not rankings, that will determine who gets to make the trip.

"I think that there are 10 teams with a legitimate shot, but it matters not what you're ranked going in, it's how you're ranked going out that counts," he said.

Notre Dame is definitely a team with a legitimate shot. The Irish finished second to Wisconsin in the District Meet last year, and Piane was named the district's coach of the year for the second season in a row.

The Irish went on to place ninth in the NCAAs.

So far in 1989, the Irish have been having a stellar year, winning every meet except the Notre Dame Invitational, when a surprising Ball State team went on to win.

But as Irish head coach Joe Piane pointed it is performance, not rankings, that will determine who gets to make the trip.

"I think that there are 10 teams with a legitimate shot, but it matters not what you're ranked going in, it's how you're ranked going out that counts," he said.

Notre Dame is definitely a team with a legitimate shot. The Irish finished second to Wisconsin in the District Meet last year, and Piane was named the district's coach of the year for the second season in a row.

The Irish went on to place ninth in the NCAAs.

So far in 1989, the Irish have been having a stellar year, winning every meet except the Notre Dame Invitational, when a surprising Ball State team went on to win.
Macintosh Plus/Hard Disk Bundle
- 68000 microprocessor, 1 megabyte of memory
- 5 expansion ports
- 1 internal 800K floppy disk drive
- Apple Hard Disk 20SC
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Macintosh Plus keyboard

Was $1650  Now $1522
Save $128

Macintosh SE/30 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $3692  Now $3409
Save $283

Macintosh SE/300 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $2115  Now $1900
Save $215

Macintosh SE/300 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $3692  Now $3409
Save $283

Macintosh SE/300 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $3692  Now $3409
Save $283

Macintosh SE/300 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $3692  Now $3409
Save $283

Macintosh SE/300 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $3692  Now $3409
Save $283

Macintosh SE/300 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
- 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
- 1 megabyte of memory
- 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
- 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
- 40-megabyte internal hard disk
- HyperCard software
- Microsoft Word 4.0
- Standard keyboard
- Apple ImageWriter II printer

Was $3692  Now $3409
Save $283

For more information on how you can save hundreds of dollars on a variety of Apple Macintosh computers and peripherals, contact the:

NOTRE DAME COMPUTER STORE

Office of University Computing
Computing Center / Math Building
Phone: 239-7477
Hours: Mon. - Fri., 9:00 - 5:00

Now through January 26
College bowl picture starts getting clearer

(AP) - Bowl bids won't be announced until Nov. 25, but the postseason picture is already coming into focus.

Pending the results of several games, here are the most likely matchups in the Jan. 1 bowls:

ORANGE: Colorado vs. Notre Dame

SUGAR: The Southeastern Conference champion vs. Miami

COTTON: The Southwest Conference champion vs. Nebraska, Michigan-Illinois loser vs. SEC runner-up

ROSE: Pacific 10 champion vs. Big Ten champion

HALL OF FAME: Florida, Auburn, or Virginia vs. Penn State, or Michigan vs. Alabama

MINNESOTA (AP) — Everybody knew Luther Darville was diverting funds from the University of Minnesota to give to student-athletes "and nobody objected," Darville's attorney said Thursday as the defense opened its case in Darville's theft trial.

"Money passed through his (Darville's) hands to students with advice, consent and full knowledge of many people at the university, including Dr. Frank Lawton," said Lawton, referring to the former university vice president of student development who was Darville's boss.

Lawton said he would call just two witnesses: Darville and Bon Edwards, former head of the Minneapolis Urban League.

Darville is charged with three felony counts of theft by swindle in the disappearance of $186,000 from the university's Office of Minority and Special Student Affairs, which he headed before being fired last year.

The prosecution, which rested its case this morning after calling 32 witnesses, contends that Darville stole the money for his personal use, but Darville has said he gave the money to needy students and student-athletes at the behest of his superiors.

Darville, in testifying for the prosecution, denied that he ordered Darville to make such payments and said he had no knowledge of them.

In his opening statement, Lawton said Darville would testify that, as the request of Wilderson, he became involved with helping sort out problems in the university's athletic department.

"He'll testify that Dr. Wilderson relied on him greatly to see what was going on, to act as his eyes and ears," Lawton said.

Darville also will tell of a pattern of recruitment, which included promises for many things, Lawton said. "They were promised the use of cars. They were promised jobs. They were promised money on the side," the attorney said.

Darville will testify he was assigned to help reduce racial barriers at the university and to improve academic standing, Lawton said, adding that Darville was to do this through encouragement and financial support to athletes.

Happy 2nd Birthday KINKO'S!!!!
To Celebrate KINKO'S is having a Free Copy Day! 100 Free Copies Today only Sale applies to 8.5 x 11 20# white only. Self serve or auto fed ONLY. Offer good on 11/20 only. Limit one per customer. Not to be used with any other offers or discounts.

Happy 2nd Birthday
KINKO'S
the copy center

THE FAMOUS
SORIN HALL
TALENT SHOW
IS TONIGHT
Showtime is 8:30 p.m. in front of Sorin Hall After the SMU Pep Railey. All are welcome.

The Famous
SORIN HALL
TALENT SHOW
IS TONIGHT
Showtime is 8:30 p.m. in front of Sorin Hall. All are welcome.

N.D./MIAMI GAME
NOV. 24-26, 1989
$599
The famous
Dowdy-Kerr
Guaranteed Service
Edgerton's
350 McKinnon-287-0727
1-800-833-2818 (INIA)
1-800-643-4604 (U.B.A.)

THE HEALY COMPANY
OFFERS YOU LOW COST
TERM LIFE INSURANCE
to help provide your family or business with the NEEDED protection.

Annual Premiums for $250,000 Coverage

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>35</td>
<td>$365</td>
<td>$417</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>65</td>
<td>$1,163</td>
<td>$1,292</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Healy Co. brings you the best the insurance industry has to offer.

The Famous
SORIN HALL
TALENT SHOW
IS TONIGHT
Showtime is 8:30 p.m. in front of Sorin Hall. All are welcome.
ND tennis enters Wisc. Invite, eyes brutal spring schedule

By BOB MITCHELL
Sports Writer

It was 3:15 Thursday afternoon in Notre Dame men's tennis coach Bob Bayliss' office when Paul Odland, last year's No. 5 player, walked in and put on Bob Blake's "It switZ Two" over the PA system.

"Coach, can I put on this motivational music?" Odland asked Bayliss. "You'll love it," the Irish junior added as the sound began to vibrate in the Eck Tennis Pavilion.

The Irish will take all their motivation and more than two players to take on the top three Midwestern regional powers (Northwestern, Ball St. and host Wisconsin) in the Wisconsin Invitational this weekend at Madison, Wisc.

"This event gives us a chance to play some excellent teams in our region," said Bayliss.

"We've faced players from all these teams throughout the fall and that gives us another chance to see how we stack up. Without question, these teams are definitely at the top of the region. "It is going to be a challenging event; any one of our players could finish fourth or first (in their individual flights)."

The top player in the field is Todd Martin of Northwestern. Martin is one of the top 15 players in collegiate tennis, and he knocked off teammate Steve Herdoiza to capture the 1989 Rolex Regional No. 1 flight Championship earlier this fall in Bloomington, Ind.

According to Bayliss, Martin is the odds-on favorite to win the No. 1 flight.

As for Bayliss & Co., the Irish are coming off an impressive showing in the Rolex Regional where they placed three players in the final 16 of the tournament and an encouraging loss to No. 11 Southern Cal.

Once again, Notre Dame will sport an extremely young team. Four of the six singles spots and three of the six doubles positions are filled by Notre Dame's best freshman class in history.

The Irish boast one of the top three recruiting classes in college tennis. The headliner of the show is the Irish's No. 3 player Chuck Coleman.

"Chuck is tremendously talented," said Bayliss. "He has great wheels. Chuck can hurt you off both wings, but he needs to be more consistent and play within himself. He is a very gifted player.

"The freshmen really give our team depth," continues Bayliss. "We are going to handle injuries this year unlike last year. Moreover, they are so talented that they are continuously pressuring each other. If you don't perform at a high level, you know someone is ready to step in.

The influx of talent also has caused Bayliss to experiment with the doubles lineup the entire fall.

"I don't think I have ever juggled the lineup this much in my life," says Bayliss.

BANK'S BIKE SHOP INC.

Welcome Bishop D'Arcy

Solemn Mass, 10:00 am,
Sunday, November 12, 1989

All the members of the Notre Dame family are warmly welcomed to participate in this special Mass, on the occasion of our bishop's annual pastoral visit to the University

ATTENTION STUDENTS!! ATTENTION STUDENTS!!

NOTRE DAME'S DEVELOPMENT PHONE CENTER
NOW HIRING FOR THE 1990 SPRING SEMESTER

20-30 Student Positions Available
$4.70 Per Hour
Flexible evening hours: 6:45-10:45
All interested are invited to an informal Open House/Information Session at the Development Phone Center (southeast corner of Basin Hall)
Monday November 13 or Tuesday November 14
From 4:30pm-5:00pm

PLEASE JOIN US

For more information, call
Carol McCoy 239-7938
Mike Bracht 239-7241
Irish fencers set to open season

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Beginning their 1989-90 seasons, the Notre Dame men's and women's fencing teams will travel to University Park, Pa., this weekend for the Penn State Open.

The Irish will compete against fifty schools from both the U.S. and Canada, including traditional powerhouse schools such as the University of Pennsylvania, Columbia, and host Penn State.

"Though it is not the first collegiate event of the season," said Irish head coach Mike DeCicco, "it is the first college tournament of quality. This competition should serve as a yardstick for our progress."

DeCicco is entering his 29th season as head coach for the Irish. He guided the men's squad last season to a perfect 21-0 meet record, along with first place honors in Great Lakes championships and an overall fourth-place finish in the nation.

For the first time in recent memory, the full team will have to do without the services of graduated four-time All-American Yehuda Kovacs. Freshmen Noel Young and Jeff Pipher, both Irish natives, appear ready to pick up some of the slack.

"Those two guys look like they will really be making a serious contribution," stated DeCicco.

In addition, the Irish foil team has some top returnees in junior Phil Leary and senior foil captain Joel Baguer. Senior Colin Gumba (Freepoint, N.Y.) will travel as the fifth man on the foil squad.

The Irish epee team is wide open following the losses of seniors Todd Griffter and Ted Fuy, both NCAA championship participants last year. Sophomore Mark Lawless, junior Dave Kirby and senior Dan Yu. Ed Ruggeri is just recently coming off competition in Cuba at the Junior Pan-Am Games. Also joining the squad as a Holy Cross Junior College transfer is James Tafalfero.

"While Jim is quick on the foiling strip, he's still not as disciplined," stated DeCicco. "But his athletic ability should make him very competitive. Ultimately, the newcomers should all be polished sabreurs."

The women's foil team comes off it's first season out of the top-two in the NCAAs since Yves Auriol assumed the reigns, despite an 18-1 season record.

Fifth-year senior Kristin Kraick brings much experience back to this year's team. Joining her as returnees (Heidi Piper (sofP, Brisbane, Australia), Lynn Kridl (junior, Chatham, N.J.), and Tara Kelly (junior, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.) "Heidi Piper is fencing even a little better than last year, perhaps from the pressure that she knows that she will have to do without the benefits of a mentor.

"Her 18-1 season performance was the best of any season since [her] senior year, per­haps from the pressure that she knows that she will have to do without the benefits of a mentor."

Twin men's epee champions Noel Young and Jeff Pipher are both returning for their junior seasons. Young is wide-eyed and ready to go as he returns for his second season as Irish captain.

"Those two guys look like they will really be making a serious contribution," stated DeCicco.

In addition, the Irish foil team has some top returnees in junior Phil Leary and senior foil captain Joel Baguer. Senior Colin Gumba (Freepoint, N.Y.) will travel as the fifth man on the foil squad.

The Irish epee team is wide open following the losses of seniors Todd Griffter and Ted Fuy, both NCAA championship participants last year. Sophomore Mark Lawless, junior Dave Kirby and senior Dan Yu. Ed Ruggeri is just recently coming off competition in Cuba at the Junior Pan-Am Games. Also joining the squad as a Holy Cross Junior College transfer is James Tafalfero.

"While Jim is quick on the foiling strip, he's still not as disciplined," stated DeCicco. "But his athletic ability should make him very competitive. Ultimately, the newcomers should all be polished sabreurs."

The women's foil team comes off it's first season out of the top-two in the NCAAs since Yves Auriol assumed the reigns, despite an 18-1 season record.

Fifth-year senior Kristin Kraick brings much experience back to this year's team. Joining her as returnees (Heidi Piper (soph, Brisbane, Australia), Lynn Kridl (junior, Chatham, N.J.), and Tara Kelly (junior, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.) "Heidi Piper is fencing even a little better than last year, perhaps from the pressure that she knows that she will have to do without the benefits of a mentor."

"Her 18-1 season performance was the best of any season since [her] senior year, per­haps from the pressure that she knows that she will have to do without the benefits of a mentor."

Twin men's epee champions Noel Young and Jeff Pipher are both returning for their junior seasons. Young is wide-eyed and ready to go as he returns for his second season as Irish captain.

THE BEACH!

HIT THE BEACH!

Show your volleyball talent... and take on the best beach volleyball duo in South Bend on the JACC Arena court

Notre Dame's Beach Volleyball Night

Notre Dame vs. Texas-Arlington

7:30 pm Saturday, Nov. 11

*Join the Irish, Outpost Sports and Zip 104 for great intercollegiate volleyball as the Irish host the nation's 11th-ranked team

*First 1,000 fans get free 3 oz. Coca-Cola squeeze bottles!

The Outpost "Locals" Challenge

*Sign up a team of up to four students at the Gate to enter

*Five teams will be chosen to take on the best local male-female duo

*Beat the locals and win a valuable Outpost Sports gift certificate

*Come dressed to play-athletic shoes are mandatory!

*Wear sunglasses to become eligible for the Notre Dame Serving Contest; win Notre Dame & Outpost sponsor's or a Fisher stereo

*Join the Irish for a post-match Coca-Cola reception in the concourse above the courts during the Outpost Challenge!

*COST: Just $2 for adults and $1 for students & youths under 15

Free Parking Enter Joyce ACC Gate 10

DON'T MISS THIS GREAT NIGHT OF NOTRE DAME VOLLEYBALL AND BEACH VOLLEYBALL FUN!
NBC gets NBA package

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC took the NBA away from CBS Thursday with a $600 million, four-year contract that could push average pro basketball salaries into the $1 million range next season.

The NBA is in the final season of a four-year, $773 million deal with CBS, which refused to meet the league’s new pricing.

“It’s a big increase, but one I think is justified,” NBA commissioner David Stern said. “This makes the owners and players very happy.”

said Charles Grashtah, executive director of players’ union. “We were close to the $1 million per player projected when the collective-bargaining agreement was signed” in 1988.

Under the agreement between the league and the NBA Players Association, 53 percent of the gross revenue goes to player salaries.

Stern said that for purposes of the salary cap, the contract was evaluated at $126 million for 1990-91. Under the formula, the salary cap would rise from $9.8 million to at least $11.5 million per team. It would increase even more if non-television revenues rise.

Milwaukee finally outlasts Seattle following five periods of overtime

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tony Brown’s 3-point shot with 1:30 left in the fifth overtime put Milwaukee ahead to stay and the Bucks defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 155-154 Thursday night in the longest NBA game since the adoption of the 24-second clock 35 years ago.

With the score tied 146-146, the Bucks outscored the Sonics 9-0, starting with Brown’s 3-pointer from the left corner and ending with 34 seconds remaining on Jeff Grayer’s lay-up which made the score 155-146.

Ricky Pierce had a career-high 36 points for Milwaukee before fouling out in the first overtime. Alvin Robertson added 28 points, Dale Ellis scored a career-high 31 points for Seattle, including 20 in the five overtimes, and Xavier McDaniel added 35.

After Milwaukee’s 9-0 run, Seattle countered with a 3-point basket by Dana Barros, a free throw by Nate McMillan and Sedale Threatt’s rebound which made it 155-152. Seattle had a chance to tie the game but McDaniel’s desperation 3-point shot missed. He was fouled by Humphries as time expired and his two free throws made it 155-154.

Knicks 107, Nets 105

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Oakley had 17 of his 22 points and 11 of his 18 rebounds in the second half and Patrick Ewing’s dunk with 1:22 left gave New York its first lead of the game.

The Knicks, who trailed 62-42 in the final minute of the first half, came back from a 10-point deficit in the last nine minutes. They finally pulled ahead 106-105 on Ewing’s dunk off an inbounds pass, giving him 20 points in the game. New Jersey got 21 points from Chris Morris and 20 from Dennis Hopson.

Nuggets 128, Rockets 127

HOUSTON (AP) — Alex English hit an eight-foot jumper with four seconds left in overtime to give Denver the victory. Fat Lever had only one point, seven assists and four rebounds at halftime but finished with 19 points, 10 assists and 14 rebounds for his second consecutive triple-double.

Reserve forward Bill Haklitz scored eight of his 16 points in the fourth quarter as the Nuggets outscored the Rockets 30-24 to force the overtime.

Los Angeles 136, Milwaukee 121

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Alton Lister, out for the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon, to dominate the boards, 69-34, against their smaller teammates.

Johnson had 19 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists and Ewing, who led New York with 34 points, scored eight of his 11 points in the fourth quarter. Chris Mullin led the Warriors with 31 points and Mitch Richmond added 19.

Lakers 106, Warriors 95

OAKLAND, Calif. — A.C. Green scored 24 points and grabbed 16 rebounds and Michael Cooper and Magic Johnson led a fourth-quarter Los Angeles runaway.

The Lakers took advantage of the absence of Warriors center Alton Lister, out for the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon, to dominate the boards, 69-34, against their smaller teammates.

Johnson had 19 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists and Ewing, who led New York with 34 points, scored eight of his 11 points in the fourth quarter. Chris Mullin led the Warriors with 31 points and Mitch Richmond added 19.

This could be the most important test of your senior year.

Wildfire

Gourmet take-out

French Bakery

European meats

Cheeses

Tailgate Picnics

• Please call ahead for special orders & requests.

Swim teams face Bowling Green after good performance in Relays

By JANICE ARCHER
Sports Writer

In their first road trip of the year, the Notre Dame men and women's swimming teams will take on Bowling Green at 4 p.m. today.

It will mark the 24th time the teams have competed against each other, with Bowling Green leading the series 16-7.

Based on their impressive performance in the Notre Dame Relays last Friday, the Irish are well-prepared to meet the Falcons. The Notre Dame men recaptured the crown from Texas Christian University in the 25th anniversary of the event.

"It meant a lot to the team to win the title back for the silver anniversary," said captain Tom Pavek. In the relays, the men's team scored 216 points to defeat Wabash, which earned second place in the six-team field with 176 points. Notre Dame took nine first-place finishes, with victories in the 400-yard freestyle relay, the 500-yard backstroke relays, and a record-setting time of 4:08.44 in the 400-yard breaststroke, led by the squad of Ken Winko, Jay Nash, Greg Cornie and Ed Bruderick.

The two-man team of Bill Campbell and John Godfrey posted a win in the 1000-yard freestyle relay with a time of 10:00.48, and the duo of Ed Veome and Pat Dugan swept the one-meter and three-meter diving relay contests.

"The victory was definitely a measurement of our improved depth and balance," said Irish coach Tim Welsh.

The team is nearing the end of a period of intense training. Over the six days of fall break, the swimmers logged 75,000 meters. They are building toward the National Catholic Meet, held at Fordham during the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green today will allow them to find out just how much the grueling practices have helped them.

"Hopefully, we will see our hard training pay off," says Welsh.

After the teams return, their practices will be tapered down in yardage and in intensity.

The meet today holds an added significance for Coach Welsh. The trip to Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

Jamere Jackson repeats his duties as a co-captain of the Notre Dame basketball team this season. Joe Fredrick, the leading scorer on last season's 21-9 squad, is also a returning co-captain for the Irish.

Israel

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.

Flanner, Zahm in IH soccer finals

By CHRIS FILLIO
Sports Writer

Defending champion Flanner will play Zahm A for the Interhall soccer title Sunday afternoon. The championship match is scheduled for 1 p.m. at Stepan Fields.

Flanner and Zahm reached the finals after a week full of high drama. Zahm A knocked off previously unbeaten Alumni 2-1, while Flanner had to play in the first week of December. The meet at Bowling Green was his first road trip event with Notre Dame.

"It is a water mark for me because this was my first away meet five years ago," said Welsh. "It will be interesting to see how our improvement has been in the last five years."

continued from page 24

game last year, while Jackson scored at a 13.5 clip.

The remaining seniors are Keith Robinson (12.3 ppg, 9.3 rebounds) and Scott Paddock (2.7 ppg, 4 rebounds).

"We've got seniors who know it's their last shot," Notre Dame coach Biggie Phelger said. "This team has a lot of confidence. I thought last year we really showed a lot of improvement as a basketball team as the season went along.
Friday
4 p.m. Peace Studies presents, "After the Cold War: What?" by Seyom Brown, Brandeis University, Room 121 Law School.
8:15 p.m. Notre Dame Chorale in concert, Washington Hall.

Saturday
9:30 a.m. Closed meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous and At-Anon, Center for Social Concerns.

Sunday
9:30 a.m. Film, "After the Cold War: What?" by Seyom Brown, Brandeis University, Room 121 Law School.
8:15 p.m. Notre Dame Chorale in concert, Washington Hall.

CROSSWORD
ACROSS
1 Author Hamill
5 Con-
10 Wire measure
13 Satanic
14 Patten's cousin
15 Lagomorph
16 Start of a quip
19 Coterie
20 Twin "The Other"
21 Stop, Coward's
22 Conditions
23 Staggard's suggested role model
24 More of the quip
33 Temporary loss of breath
34 Neck and neck
35 Moroccan mountains
36 Screams, to
38 Compressed cotton pad
39 Kady or pet as us
40 Punkie
41 Usher's beat
42 More of the quip
46 Started the bridge game
47 Tidbit for Seattle Slew
48 Unflappable
49 Kady or pet as us
50 Shopping center
54 Equivoke
57 End of the quip

DOWN
1 Threws
2 Cry of Pan's parties
3 Joust
4 Sprite
5 Town near Perugia
6 Shopping center
7 Drama award
8 South Korean G.I's
9 Jun, juillet et aout
10 Dress length
11 Angered
12 --majeste
15 Waste maker
17 Below Party
18 Chinese dynasty
19 Roman dates
20 Topkapi
21 Trump's Princess, e.g.
24 Trump's Princess, e.g.
25 Shopping center
26 Wed
27 Early sci-fi writer
28 Kind of mineral water
29 Seed coat
30 Claptrap
31 Nobleman's inheritance
32 Frequently
33 Like good cheese
34 Bollard
35 "..which will live in infamy...": F.D.R.
36 Dance smoothly
37 Receipt, in Reims
38 Bollard
39 Mah-jongg piece
40 Baby food
41 Nonesuch
42 Within: Comb.
43 Squire in "The Faerie Queene" of Spenser
44 Adjective for Yorick
45 Bandbox
46 To laugh, in Lille
47 Forearm bone
48 Across
49 "...when my marshmallow caught on fire..."
50 Nonchalant
51 To laugh, in Lille
52 Within, Comb.
53 Squire in "The Faerie Queene" of Spenser
54 Adjective for Yorick
55 Forearm bone
56 Bandbox
57 By 58 Secreted

MENUS
Notre Dame
Chicken Fried Steak
Chicken Tetrazini
Mushroom Stroganoff
Law School Grill
Saint Mary's
Batter Fried Fish
Beef Pot Pie
Cheese & Veggie Strata
Deli Bar

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
ACROSS
1 Author Hamill
6 Con-
9 Wire measure
13 Satanic
14 Patten's cousin
15 Lagomorph
16 Start of a quip
19 Coterie
21 Stop, Coward's
22 Conditions
23 Staggard's suggested role model
24 More of the quip
33 Temporary loss of breath
34 Neck and neck
35 Moroccan mountains
36 Screams, to
38 Compressed cotton pad
39 Kady or pet as us
40 Punkie
41 Usher's beat
42 More of the quip
46 Started the bridge game
47 Tidbit for Seattle Slew
48 Unflappable
49 Kady or pet as us
50 Shopping center
54 Equivoke
57 End of the quip

DOWN
1 Threws
2 Cry of Pan's parties
3 Joust
4 Sprite
5 Town near Perugia
6 Shopping center
7 Drama award
8 South Korean G.I's
9 Jun, juillet et aout
10 Dress length
11 Angered
12 --majeste
15 Waste maker
17 Below Party
18 Chinese dynasty
19 Roman dates
20 Topkapi
21 Trump's Princess, e.g.
24 Trump's Princess, e.g.
25 Shopping center
26 Wed
27 Early sci-fi writer
28 Kind of mineral water
29 Seed coat
30 Claptrap
31 Nobleman's inheritance
32 Frequently
33 Like good cheese
34 Bollard
35 "..which will live in infamy...": F.D.R.
36 Dance smoothly
37 Receipt, in Reims
38 Bollard
39 Mah-jongg piece
40 Baby food
41 Nonesuch
42 Within, Comb.
43 Squire in "The Faerie Queene" of Spenser
44 Adjective for Yorick
45 Bandbox
46 To laugh, in Lille
47 Forearm bone
48 Across
49 "...when my marshmallow caught on fire..."
50 Nonchalant
51 To laugh, in Lille
52 Within, Comb.
53 Squire in "The Faerie Queene" of Spenser
54 Adjective for Yorick
55 Forearm bone
56 Bandbox
57 By
58 Secreted

CALVIN AND HOBBES
I wonder why man was put on earth. What's our purpose? Why are we here?

WILBUR AND WENDEL
I think I have the solution to your problem, Wendel.

TRY NOT TO BE SO ANXIOUS AND BE MORE CHEERFUL
SURELY, YOU DON'T MEAN...

I'M GONNA FIND BOBBY, MY PERRINO AND WHEN I DO...

THE FAR SIDE
"You guys are both witnesses... He laughed when my marshmallow caught on fire..."

THE STUDENT UNION BOARD
FRIDAY - 4:00 PM
Obstacle Course - South Quad
SUNDAY - Nov 12
GREEK WEEK '89 - 5K
Fieldhouse Mall
Sign up 3:00 $5 Entry Fee
Run 4:00 FREE T-shirts for runners

MOVIE: (Friday)
"SAY ANYTHING!"
Cushing Auditorium
8:00 & 10:15 $2.00

STUDENT UNION BOARD
Sports

ND cross country teams ready for District Meets

Men are competing for berth to NCAAs

By MARY GARINO

Sports Writer

It's do or die time for the Notre Dame men's cross country team.

The Irish travel to Ypsilanti, Mich., this weekend to compete in the NCAA District IV meet on Saturday, hoping to earn a berth at the NCAA Championships on November 20.

The District Meet qualifies only four teams out of 39 to participate in the NCAA meet, which means that unless the Irish finish in the top four tomorrow, they can hang up their sneakers for the rest of the year.

That doesn't seem like it would be any problem for the Irish, the ninth-ranked team in the latest national coaches' poll. But the competition may have other ideas.

The Irish are racing in the toughest district in the nation, with two teams besides Notre Dame ranked in the top 20, including Big Ten champions Wisconsin. The Badgers have won the national championship for the last two years, and should be the obvious favorites in Saturday's races.

Also vying for an NCAA berth will be Central Michigan, another top 20 team and the only school this year to have defeated the Irish.

Against Holy Cross by scores of 10-4 and 9-2 last weekend, Bankoske and his Wolves tonight at the University of Chicago.

They have started the season off with a bang.

It's do or die time for the Notre Dame men's cross country team.

By GREG SCHECKENBACH

Sports Writer

Both the best and the worst of college volleyball will be on display at the Joyce ACC this weekend, as the Irish go to battle against some of the nation's finest.

Illinois-Chicago, the team on the weaker end of the spectrum, will face the Irish at 7:30 tonight in the Joyce ACC Pit, rather than the Main Arena which houses most of Notre Dame's home matches.

The following evening, Notre Dame, 12-15, will challenge the 10th-ranked Texas-Arlington at 7:30 p.m. in the JACC Main Arena.

Illinois-Chicago comes into tonight's match holding an 11-16 record, with most of the Flames' wins coming against area opponents.

Earlier in the year, Illinois-Chicago lost in five games to Big Ten representative Northwestern, a team that beat the Irish this week in five games 15-12, 15-12, 6-15, 14-25, 15-7.

"We are going to have to play as if they are national champions," said Notre Dame assistant coach Mark Perez. "If we take them lightly, they'll come at us and keep coming at us.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.

"They are not a tall team, but they are scrappy and relentless," stated Perez. "We must find a way to stop them, or we will lose.

"We are going to have to play as if they are national champions," said Notre Dame assistant coach Mark Perez. "If we take them lightly, they'll come at us and keep coming at us.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.

"They are not a tall team, but they are scrappy and relentless," stated Perez. "We must find a way to stop them, or we will lose.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.

"They are not a tall team, but they are scrappy and relentless," stated Perez. "We must find a way to stop them, or we will lose.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.

"They are not a tall team, but they are scrappy and relentless," stated Perez. "We must find a way to stop them, or we will lose.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.

"They are not a tall team, but they are scrappy and relentless," stated Perez. "We must find a way to stop them, or we will lose.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.

"They are not a tall team, but they are scrappy and relentless," stated Perez. "We must find a way to stop them, or we will lose.

"We are just going to have to come in and play our best, and to do that we have to get a win," added Perez.

The Irish lead the lifetime series 2-0 with wins in 1986 and 1987.

Illinois-Chicago is led by the strong arm of Joe Fekets, who has recorded 434 kills in a team high 414 digs. Carolyn Fisk will handle the setting duties for Illinois-Chicago.