The Observer

VOL. XXIII NO. 54
THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1989

Cause of laundry fire still unknown

By JOHN O'BRIEN
News Writer

University officials and fire department investigators spent much of Thursday assessing the damage and preparing a response to the fire which gutted St. Michael's Laundry early Thursday morning.

Vice President for Business Affairs Thomas Mason said that it would be some time until the cause of the fire could be determined.

"We have to get the roof out of there before the investigators can go in," Mason said.

While there is no damage estimate yet, Mason said that the middle portion of the building, called the "1934 section," is "gone." The roof to this section collapsed in a rush of flames at 3 a.m. Thursday morning.

Mason said, however, that the end sections of the building, which contained the offices of the Laundry and the dry cleaning operation; "escaped in relatively fair shape. All our records and our computer in the office appear to be, at this time, salvageable."

The laundry is one of the few buildings on the Notre Dame campus that did not have a fire alarm, said Rex Rakow, director of Security, in an interview with the South Bend Tribune.

University President Father Edward Malloy, who cancelled a speaking engagement at the Air Force Academy, said "We are so happy that there was no injury or loss of life.

Malloy met on Thursday afternoon with the officers of the University and administrators whose departments were involved in the fire. "All of the immediate steps have been laid out and responsibilities assigned," he said.

The Earth Science portion of Brow踵son Hall sustained minor damage, including broken windows and some "water damage to their computer room but as far as we know it was not extensive." Mason said.

"With the way the wind was blowing, we could have lost a number of buildings," Mason said.

Malloy praised the work of firefighters who battled the blaze. "There was a time where we were at serious risk of losing a couple of other buildings. They did a great job of containing it and controlling it."

"The loss of the Laundry is a bad situation, but when you look at the potential of what could have happened, we have a lot to be thankful for," Mason said.

see FIRE / page 5

The Fall of St. Michael's

JOHN O'BRIEN
News Writer

Lewis reacts / page 6
Reimbursements / page 6
The laundry is one of the few buildings on the Notre Dame campus that did not have a fire alarm, said Rex Rakow, director of Security, in an interview with the South Bend Tribune.

Lewis Hall
Office, records & computers still salvageable
"1934 Section": Heart of the laundry operation; sustained little damage, including broken windows and some "water damage to their computer room but as far as we know it was not extensive."

The Laundry sustained minor damage, including broken windows and some "water damage to their computer room but as far as we know it was not extensive."

see FIRE / page 5

Six Jesuit priests killed in San Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Armed men killed and mutilated six Jesuit priests, their housekeeper and her daughter Thursday after bursting into their house at a leading university. A priest quoted witnesses as saying government forces were involved.

The government denied responsibility, condemned the slayings as "savage and irrational" and said an investigation was underway.

The U.S. National Council of Churches also denounced the slayings, and the U.S. ambassador said the slayings would have a "negative impact" on President Alfredo Cristiani's rightist government.

Two witnesses said about 30 uniformed police or army soldiers entered the campus before dawn and killed the eight "with lavish barbarity," said the Rev. Jose Maria Tojeira, the Jesuit order leader for Central America. "For example, they (the troops) took out their brains.

A priest quoted witnesses as saying government forces were involved.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Arturo Rivera Damas compared the killings to the slaying of his predecessor, Oscar Arnulfo Romero. That 1980 assassination marked the beginning of years of killings and kidnappings by right-wing death squads.

"If this spiral of violence continues, death and destruction will sweep away many, especially those who are of most use to our people," said Rivera Damas after leading a prayer over the mutilated bodies. The slayings came on the sixth day of fierce combat around this capital following an attack by leftist Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN) guerrillas.

The dead included Ignacio Ellacuria, rector of Central America. "For example, they (the troops) took out their brains.

see SLAYINGS / page 7

A farewell to fall

The Observer/Kevin Weise

A farewell to fall

The Grotto, in the final days of fall, awaits the blanket of snow that would hit Thursday. The South Bend area received five to seven inches of snow in the storm.
Don't abandon problems after the hype ends

I pass that table on the way out of the dining hall everyday. Often there are people there; they are selling things or trying to sign you up for something. T-shirts, blood drive, Chicago trip, “Fast for a World Harvest.” I walk past with a glance and continue on my way, day after day. Fast — what is this? Actually, what are these?

Yesterday, the Saint Mary’s community participated in Oxfam’s “Fast for a World Harvest.” This is a nationwide fast of 24 hours, to show support and raise money and awareness for people who have little or no food.

How did I walk past with hardly a glance all those days?

I paid attention four years ago when Bob Cogan wrote about the “Live Aid” to the forefront of the hunger fighting campaign. I was one of the many people who gave up a day for “Helping Africa.”

What has happened to my humanitarain spirit?

Trying to figure out what happened, I came to the conclusion that the American public has been under a barrage of “causes” in the last few years.

First, there was the famine in Ethiopia. Then, human rights and homelessness. Now, we have the Amazon rain forests and environmental destruction.

I do not mean to say that there is anything wrong with the efforts different organizations have made on behalf of various causes.

The American public has been made aware of atrocities that are occurring in the world and the time and money it has contributed has helped. But these efforts should not give Americans a “Cause-of-the-Month” attitude.

The issue of hunger — national and worldwide — seems to be at the back of the general public’s minds. It was almost five years ago that hunger gained worldwide media attention.

We have moved on to the equally devastating problems of “crack” and AIDS. But in reality, we should abandon these causes to which we committed ourselves in the past.

Participating in the fast, Saint Mary’s has shown that it is aware of the problems that still exist and is helping work to toward an end. We all need to remember that all the problems, all the causes, still exist when the TV has turned off. The day is over or “Time” magazine moves on to a new cover story.

The views expressed are the author’s and not necessarily those of the Observer.

Don’t abandon problems after the hype ends

Thousands of residents stranded along the newly inaugurated San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge Thursday, saluting the workers who got it back in shape just a month after the structure was damaged by an earthquake.

Reported damage included broken windows, bent doors and structural damage to the bridge's towers. The bridge was closed for two weeks after the quake and then reopened in time for the Golden State Warriors' home opener the next day.

The bridge, which cost $3.5 billion to build, is the world's longest suspension bridge. It is a vital link between the east and west coasts of the United States.

The legal blood-alcohol level in Indiana would be reduced from .10 percent to .08 percent in an effort to crack down on drunken drivers if legislation supported by the Governor’s Task Force to Reduce Drunk Driving is passed in the 1989 General Assembly. “This isn’t necessarily going to reduce fatalities because there’s not much difference between .10 percent and .08 percent, but it does send a message that alcohol and driving aren’t acceptable,” said Robert Good, a task force member Thursday in Indianapolis.
Polish Solidarity leader Lech Walesa salutes members of the AFL-CIO convention Wednesday in Washington. Walesa will appear in Chicago, which is second only to Warsaw in polish population, today. Story below.

Solidarity leader Walesa to visit Chicago today

CHICAGO (AP) — The city that boasts the world’s largest Polish population alter Warsaw on Thursday prepared a joyous welcome for Solidarity leader Lech Walesa.

“Next to the pope’s visit here, it’s the biggest thing that’s happened,” said Anthony Piwoszczynz, vice president of the Polish National Alliance.

“There’s no question about it,” said Roman Pucinski, a city alderman and president of the local Polish American Congress.

“The two top figures of the world today, the pope and Walesa, are both Polish.”

Signs depicting Walesa were taped to store windows and down a section of Milwaukee Avenue, center of the city’s Polish community. “Solidarimie: A leader who is changing the world,” read one, urging attendance at a rally Saturday in Walesa’s honor. Another read simply: “The Man.”

As many as 50,000 people are expected at the rally, including thousands of children from Polish “Saturday Schools,” schools in Polish language, history and culture. It is Walesa’s only public appearance in Chicago, with private meetings occupying most of the rest of his one-day visit.

When asked about Walesa, Wlodzimierz Cioromski immediately pulled two invitations from his breast pocket — one to a Saturday breakfast and the second to a lunch honoring his side to do with the occupied territory.

The first solution is the continuation of the status quo. A solution that would be neither side’s first or second choice for a settlement, although perhaps preferable when both side’s views were taken jointly, is also “a high cost both economically and humanely,” he said.

The second, the annexation of Israel, would cause war, isolation, and civil strife, Dowty said, adding that by the year 2010, Arabs will be a majority in Israel and its occupied territories.

The third possible solution, a Jordanian/Palestinian confederation, would be “too risky for Israel,” he said. This solution would not be acceptable to Palestinians either, 95 percent of whom are in favor of the Palestinian Liberation Organization, Dowty said.

The fourth solution, unilateral Israeli withdrawal from Gaza, would probably turn the area into a mini-state with even more conflict, Dowty said.

Two more workable solutions, Dowty said, are highly preferred by one of each of the two factions, but highly objectionable to the other. The first, autonomy within the state of Israel, is rejected by almost all Palestinians. The second, the formation of a Palestinian state, is not agreeable to the Israelis.

Dowty pointed out that neither side was completely “monolithic,” however, and that opinions vary within the populations of the two factions.

When the Jaffee Center found that none of their proposed solutions seemed agreeable to both parties, Dowty said, they had another conference which produced a settlement proposal that the committee found more reasonable, and that Dowty himself felt was the best possible solution.

The solution would involve a transition period of 10 to 15 years of “broad autonomy to be implemented in the occupied territories without explicitly stating that this is evolving toward statehood, but without rejecting that possibility either,” Dowty said.

As far as the role the United States should play in resolving the Palestinian/Israeli conflict, Dowty said that Americans often become an “illusion of omnipotence,” believing that once they set out to do something they will be able to do it.

Dowty expressed satisfaction that the United States gives relatively equal amounts of aid to both factions, and tries to serve as a “honest broker” between the two.

“Reassurance and subtle pressure,” Dowty said, is the underlying attitudes of the United States toward the resolution of the conflict.

Family and Gender week sponsors panel discussion on having a family and a career

By HANNAH WU

A panel discussion on the difficulties of having both a family and a career titled "Families and Career in Conflict" was held Thursday.

This panel discussion was the last event in the Family and Gender week on campus. Seven panelists representing diverse personal backgrounds offered their views on how to build a healthy family and a satisfying career.

"I did not get married before I really felt safe," said Kathleen Bidick, associate professor of history at Notre Dame.

Compromise needed in W. Bank

By SANDRA WIEGAND

Mutual compromise is the only way to resolve the Palestinian-Israeli conflict, Dowty said, as he drank coffee across the street from a lunch honoring Walesa.

"The Man," he said.

Tuesday referred to a study conducted by the Jaffee Center for Strategic Studies at the University of Tel Aviv, which suggested a number of possible solutions to the question of what to do with the occupied territory.

The only final solution is the continuation of the status quo. A solution that would be neither side’s first or second choice for a settlement, although perhaps preferable when both side’s views were taken jointly, is also "a high cost both economically and humanely," he said.

The second, the annexation of Israel, would cause war, isolation, and civil strife, Dowty said, adding that by the year 2010, Arabs will be a majority in Israel and its occupied territories.

The third possible solution, a Jordanian/Palestinian confederation, would be "too risky for Israel," he said. This solution would not be acceptable to Palestinians either, 95 percent of whom are in favor of the Palestinian Liberation Organization, Dowty said.

The fourth solution, unilateral Israeli withdrawal from Gaza, would probably turn the area into a mini-state with even more conflict, Dowty said.

Two more workable solutions, Dowty said, are highly preferred by one of each of the two factions, but highly objectionable to the other. The first, autonomy within the state of Israel, is rejected by almost all Palestinians. The second, the formation of a Palestinian state, is not agreeable to the Israelis.

Dowty pointed out that neither side was completely "monolithic," however, and that opinions vary within the populations of the two factions.

When the Jaffee Center found that none of their proposed solutions seemed agreeable to both parties, Dowty said, they had another conference which produced a settlement proposal that the committee found more reasonable, and that Dowty himself felt was the best possible solution.

The solution would involve a transition period of 10 to 15 years of "broad autonomy to be implemented in the occupied territories without explicitly stating that this is evolving toward statehood, but without rejecting that possibility either," Dowty said.

As far as the role the United States should play in resolving the Palestinian/Israeli conflict, Dowty said that Americans often become an "illusion of omnipotence," believing that once they set out to do something they will be able to do it.

Dowty expressed satisfaction that the United States gives relatively equal amounts of aid to both factions, and tries to serve as a "honest broker" between the two.

"Reassurance and subtle pressure," Dowty said, is the underlying attitudes of the United States toward the resolution of the conflict.

Family and Gender week sponsors panel discussion on having a family and a career

By HANNAH WU

A panel discussion on the difficulties of having both a family and a career titled "Families and Career in Conflict" was held Thursday.

This panel discussion was the last event in the Family and Gender week on campus. Seven panelists representing diverse personal backgrounds offered their views on how to build a healthy family and a satisfying career.

"I did not get married before I really felt safe," said Kathleen Bidick, associate professor of history at Notre Dame.

Family and Gender week sponsors panel discussion on having a family and a career

By HANNAH WU

A panel discussion on the difficulties of having both a family and a career titled "Families and Career in Conflict" was held Thursday.

This panel discussion was the last event in the Family and Gender week on campus. Seven panelists representing diverse personal backgrounds offered their views on how to build a healthy family and a satisfying career.

"I did not get married before I really felt safe," said Kathleen Bidick, associate professor of history at Notre Dame.

Biddick also advised students to be very careful about putting a committed relationship into a commuting life.

"It is very difficult. Try to stay together, especially if you are married," said Biddick, whose marriage suffered as a result of commuting years of commuting.

The panelists also talked about the struggles they had to go through between age 18 and 22 as they began careers and families. "I was taught that as a girl I was equal in the eyes of God," said Dr. Eileen Stecker, chair of the local chapter of the National Organization of Women (NOW). She was surprised that there were a lot of things she could not do.

"Always looking into yourself and asking yourself 'why my dream is my dream?" said panelist Suzanne Bullock, who has recently reenterered the workforce after staying home with five children.

Other panelists were Jennifer Cahn, associate professor of sociology, and her husband Bruce Juenit, a case manager for Cass County Mental Health; Peter Smith, professor of Mathematics at Saint Mary’s College, who is married to Jeanne Smith, a counselor-in-training; and Suzanne Bullock, a graduate of St. Mary’s College in Berkeley, Calif.
The Macintosh Sale

Tis the Season...
...To Buy a Macintosh!

Macintosh Plus/Hard Disk Bundle
• 68000 microprocessor, 1 megabyte of memory
• 5 expansion ports
• 1 internal 500K floppy disk drive
• Apple Hard Disk 20SC
• HyperCard software
• Microsoft Word 4.0
• Macintosh Plus keyboard
Was $1650 Now $1522
Save $128

Macintosh SE/ImageWriter Bundle
• 68000 microprocessor, 1 megabyte of memory
• 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
• 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
• HyperCard software
• Microsoft Word 4.0
• Standard keyboard
• Apple ImageWriter II printer
Was $2260 Now $2005
Save $255

Macintosh SE/30 Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
• 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
• 1 megabyte of memory
• 1 expansion slot, 7 ports
• 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
• 40-megabyte internal hard disk
• HyperCard software
• Microsoft Word 4.0
• Standard keyboard
• Apple ImageWriter II printer
Was $3692 Now $3409
Save $283

Macintosh Ilcx Hard Disk/ImageWriter Bundle
• 68030 microprocessor, 68882 math coprocessor
• 1 megabyte of memory
• 40-megabyte internal hard disk
• 1.4-megabyte internal floppy disk drive
• 5 expansion slots, 7 ports
• AppleColor RGB monitor & 8-bit video card
• HyperCard software
• Microsoft Word 4.0
• Standard keyboard
• Apple ImageWriter II printer
Was $5111 Now $4773
Save $338

For more information on how you can save hundreds of dollars on a variety of Apple Macintosh computers and peripherals, contact the:

NOTRE DAME COMPUTER STORE

Office of University Computing
Computing Center · Math Building
Phone: 239-7477
Hours: Mon. - Fri., 9:00 - 5:00

Now through January 26
Cafeteria wall collapses during storm, 7 pupils dead

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A school cafeteria wall collapsed during a severe thunderstorm Thursday, toppling concrete blocks onto lunching pupils and killing seven of them, authorities said. Eighteen others were injured, four critically.

It was a very quick thing and there wasn't anything anybody could do about it because it happened all at once," said Donald Presutti, mayor of the city of Newburgh, about five miles east of the school and 60 miles north of New York City. From 113 to 125 students in first, second and third grades were in the cafeteria when the storm struck East Caldebram Elementary School about 12:30 p.m., said Newburgh Police Chief John Kullerk.

"You are talking about huge concrete blocks that fell on top of the kids," state police Lt. Robert Hughes said.

The storm system was the same one that moved through the South on Wednesday, spinning off tornadoes that killed 17 people in Alabama.

Friday, November 17, 1989

Cafeteria

..jured, four

The lights, powered by generators, produced an eerie glow in a area that was otherwise largely without power. Tall crates lifted the heavy rubble, while firefighters and police picked through the smaller pieces.

As daybreak came, people began returning to the scene, some looking for valuables in ravaged cars or businesses, others simply out of curiosity. Many carried cameras or video cassette recorders.

Police Maj. Ralph May of Newburgh said there was no indication that anyone was left in the rubble. "We don't have any reports of people missing," he said Thursday morning.

Moder said 463 people were injured and more than 150 of that number required at least overnight hospital treatment. Authorities had said 19 people were killed but later lowered the death toll by two.

As one of the victims, who ranged in age from 7 to 12, was found on North Boulevard, a busy thoroughfare that seemed to be a guide for the storm's path, the other victims perished in apartment buildings on the city's outskirts, authorities said.

Most of the dead were in apartment buildings and stores that were torn into twisted wreckage.

27 dead in violent two-day storm

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — National Guardsmen stood watch against looting Thursday while work crews dug at the debris of a 250 mph tornado that struck virtually without warning, leaving 17 people dead and about 1,000 homeless.

No bodies were believed left in the rubble, but portions of the city resembled a bombing target. A shopping center and clusters of apartment buildings were leveled. Cars were piled atop each other. Utility poles had been snagged like twigs.

The National Weather Service said the tornado path had covered between 20 and 30 miles and that its wind speeds were as high as 250 mph.

"It's like taking six to 10 city blocks and putting them in a blender and putting it on ice, "said rescue worker Bob Caraway.

The storm system that struck Huntsville — a violent clash of unusually warm and cold air that continues its march north on Thursday, leaving seven people in Alabama. The storm was blamed for at least 26 deaths and more than 500 injuries over the two days.

In Alabama, Gov. Guy Hunt said he would ask President Bush to declare Huntsville a disaster area to open the door to millions of dollars in federal relief. Mayor Steve Hettiger said no firm damage estimates were expected until Friday, but he put the number of homeless at 1,000.

Hunt assigned nearly 200 Guardsmen to assist in the cleanup and help law officers guard against looting. Police spokeswoman Susan Williamjohnson said there had been no major looting the night of the storm but no arrests.

The storm system was the same type that killed 17 people in Alabama and also struck New York and New Jersey.

The storm system was the same type that killed 17 people in Alabama and also struck New York and New Jersey.

The storm system was the same type that killed 17 people in Alabama and also struck New York and New Jersey.

The storm system was the same type that killed 17 people in Alabama and also struck New York and New Jersey.

The storm system was the same type that killed 17 people in Alabama and also struck New York and New Jersey.
Students can fill out claims for clothing lost in the fire

By KELLEY TUTHILL Assistant News Editor

The computer register of items at St. Michael's Laundry as well as some bundles of clothes and dry cleaning appear to have survived Thursday's fire.

A center for student claims will be established at LaFortune Student Center early next week, according to Paul Morrow, assistant vice president for business affairs.

It will be four to five weeks before students receive their reimbursements, said Lyphout after speaking to insurance representatives. The computer must be moved and cleaned, but no one was allowed in the building Thursday until the roof was removed, said James Fordson, assistant director of laundry and dry cleaning at the laundry.

"If interested to students is the reassurance that everything is insured and everything is going to be in a matter of days," said Vice-President for Business Affairs, Paul Morrow.

"We should be able to determine what we have registered," Fordson said.

"We believe the computer is all intact. And of course everything that went into the laundry is logged in, so presumably it's all on the computer. There is some stuff there that was damaged. But it may have some water damage," Mason said.

During the school year, between 25 and 30 tons of laundry are handled weekly at the laundry.

"With the dry cleaning, the worst that happened down there was smoke. The clothes are hanging in the bags on the racks. The dry cleaning will have to be reprocessed at another facility because of the smoke situation," Mason said.

"The worst damage we're seeing is setting up a claim center and making sure that none of the St. Michael's employees lost their jobs," said Lyphout.

"I think it's a disgrace that they said that there would be a four or five week delay before students will be reimbursed. Each article of clothing will be reimbursed according to the scale for losses or damages set at the beginning of the year," said Lyphout.

The reimbursement of the remainder of this semester's laundry fee assessed to all male students living on campus has not been settled yet, according to Lyphout. The $30 fee for next semester will be taken off the student's bill.

"We are the (University) are out of the student laundry business for the rest of the year," according to Lyphout.

Men must do their own laundry in existing campus facilities in Radin Hall and LaFortune for the remainder of the semester.

"For next semester (we will) try to establish three or four units on campus in terms of washers and dryers. I don't know where we're going to find the space. We might have to bring in some portable units to accomplish that," Mason said.

"We were hoping that when the students come back we would have those centers set up."

"If going to take a while before we are able to rehaul the laundry. The insurance office here said the replacement value is about $3 million. A large part of the loss is going to be the equipment," Mason said.

"It has not been decided whether it (the Laundry) will be rebuilt. We don't know yet," said Lyphout.

Built in 1933, St. Michael's Laundry served Notre Dame students, as well as the Holy Cross religious community, the Morris Inn, and the Athletic Department.

Lyphout said institutional laundry may be done at St. Joseph's Medical Center in South Bend.

St. Michael's employees may be able to work a second shift at the medical center, solving part of the problem of employee placement, Lyphout said. Other employees will be placed elsewhere in campus jobs as soon as possible, according to Lyphout.

"Many people contributed to this story."

Lewis residents shocked by fire

By MONICA YANT News Writer

Lewis Hall residents were shocked to find an inferno outside their windows in nearby St. Michael's Thursday morning.

"The whole room was glowing red. We could have reached out and touched the flames, we could have roasted marshmallows," said Julie Zepeda, a Lewis resident about the fire which destroyed St. Michael's Laundry.

At 2 a.m., Zepeda's roommate Joanie McCasland smelled smoke. Twenty minutes later, "I could just see orange, like a fireball, right through the window," McCasland said.

"I couldn't put my hand on the window, it was so hot," said McCasland of her third floor window which faces St. Michael's.

Lewis resident Sarah Else­line actually Albania with her windows open. When she went to bed early Thursday morning, her room was freezing. "Something woke me up, a noise, probably the explosion" she said. "And the room was boiling."

The room was totally orange. "My roommate awoke. Whose brake lights are on?" Elseline said.

Shores and sparks flew into the room of a neighbor, Elseline said. "Firemen were ducking the flames."

Catherine Fairley was working at Senior Bar when she heard a noise, stayed 30 a.m. from a security guard. When she arrived at Lewis, she was shocked. "I thought it was well handled," she said.

"I thought the whole evacuation of Lewis was done well," Hogan said. "We weren't told where the fire was, just that it would affect us."

Other residents of Lewis disagreed. "If they knew at 2:10, then why didn't we leave until 3 a.m." Elseline said.

Mengucci said that residents were notified at the same time and were out leaving the building until they were told to do so.

"I guess the situation was safe, but when I saw those huge flames, I wouldn't have minded if they would have got us out earlier," said Halder.

Angie Birkingham said that students in other dorms knew of the fire before Lewis. "We should have been evacuated earlier, or at least told," she said. "I thought it had just started (at 3 a.m.) until I read about it in The Observer today."

Allan Vink said the resid­ent's assistants were doing a good job, but when she woke up, "no one was really in charge."
The evacuation was directed to other dorms for the remainder of the night. Some residents said the directions were confusing. "I got no direction to where to go. They (the resident assistants and hall staff) just said 'go to a girl's dorm,'" just to any dorm on North Quad," Estefane said.

Fairly, however, she said it was generally specific to go to a female dorm.

"People knew to seek out women's dorms on North Quad," Menguçi said. Those dorms had blankets, pillows, and open rooms for Lewis residents.

Compo

sity to connect the three new student computer centers to the backbone network. "This networking will allow machines in the public computing clusters access into the mainframe computer," stated Wruck.

The mainframe computer can facilitate electronic mail and can store large amounts of information useful to students and faculty members such as the Hesburgh Library catalog, he said.

The rewiring in the academic buildings for networking will make possible three new computer facilities to be located in Fitzpatrick Hall, Notre Dame Science Hall, and the Computing Center/Math Building, Wruck said.

Carolyn Goodnight, a computer system analyst, said these new centers will be geared to meet the needs of science and engineering students. "They will feature Sun Spars, Sun Stations, and workstations, each with greater speed and memory than the basic Macintoshes," she said.

In addition, Assistant Provost for Academic Affairs Robert Fabry said all student computer facilities are in operation.

The goal of the three facility project is to furnish every faculty member on campus with a desk computer, according to Fabry. Scott, assistant director of public relations and information, said Spencer said that the program would have a "total impact." Spencer said that the program would have a "total impact." Currently about 300 out of 800 faculty members have computers," Spencer said. "However, not every faculty member is in a position to purchase a computer," he said.

The faculty members make the computer request through the dean of their college or the Office of University Computing Buys and installs the systems.

The expanded educational possibilities provided by the new networking and increased numbers of computers are virally spreading," Wruck said. "It is evident that networking is a "like with the introduction of any enhancing technological change -- that is, you just know it will be substan-

Networking is a lot like the phone system was to the state of public affairs ten years ago," Wruck said. "When only a few people had it, it was a specialized device.

Once the new technology became pervasive, it changed the way in which we conduct daily business," Wruck said. "Networking is pervasive." The reason for this change is that it is changing the way in which we conduct daily business," Wruck said. "Networking is pervasive.

Once the new technology became pervasive, it is changing the way in which we conduct daily business," Wruck said. "Networking is pervasive. We see a comprehensive change in collaboration and communication patterns and we discover people communicating in ways that we didn't know existed.

Slayings

continued from page 1

Simeo Canas Central American University's. Father Ciriaco Martínez was killed last week, and the country's leaders expressed concern. The day before the killings, the government announced that it had located the body of Father Celina, also killed, said Tojeira.

"They did not want to leave witnesses," said Eduardo Valdez, director of Jesuit studies at the university.

The educators had received threats since the heaviest fighting of the 10-year-old war began Saturday, and callers to radio talk shows had vehemently chastised Jesuits as subserviens and demanded their expulsion or punishment.

The extreme right has for more than a decade accused local Jesuits and their university of being subservient ideological

The ambassador, William Walker, called the slayings "a barbaric act." Walker said that the killings were a "further blow to the international community and the academic community.

Walker condemned the killings to the Dec. 2, 1980, slayings by troops of U.S. Maryknoll nun

Editor's Note: This is the last list of closed DART courses that The Observer will publish. This is the last list of closed DART courses that The Observer will publish. We do not have a complete list of closed courses.

DART courses closed on November 16

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Code</th>
<th>Course Name</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>201</td>
<td>English 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>210</td>
<td>Math 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>220</td>
<td>History 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>230</td>
<td>Science 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>240</td>
<td>Social Studies 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>250</td>
<td>Art 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>260</td>
<td>Music 101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>270</td>
<td>Theater 101</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WEEKEND LITURGICAL SCHEDULE

Saturday, November 16, Eucharist, 5:00PM at Notre Dame Women's Choir.

SKITEAMBOAT

SUN., JANUARY 7TH TO MON., JANUARY 15TH

Round trip luxurious motorcoach transportation
Condo's on the slopes (no annoying slopes)
Optional Hot Tub, Sauna
 Breakfast, 1 or 2 baths, Fireplaces

Round trip luxurious motorcoach transportation

$359 with transportation

$277 without transportation

Information and Sign-Up Meetings:
Nov. 19, Rm. 118, Newhall Center at
Dec. 6, 118, Newhall Center at OR CALL JEFF BURGFECHTEL AT 283-1874

THANKS

To everyone who helped me celebrate my 21st birthday, it was the BEST and so are all of you.

I love you guys!

Gretchen
Students show lack of respect at game

Last Saturday afternoon Notre Dame Stadium was the scene of a battle — not on the field, but in the stands. The students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's waged a war with marshmallows, oranges and plastic cups.

While the student section is known for school spirit, this incident had nothing to do with that spirit. Spirit involves cheering for the team and not prohibiting others from watching and enjoying the game. Some people do not consider dodging flying objects enjoyable.

The students' actions are not a matter of maturity or simply having fun, acting in an immature manner does not necessarily bother others. Rather, there is a question of respect.

Do students lack such respect for each other and the other patrons that they do not care what effect their actions have? Respect involves consideration for others; students who throw objects were not considering anyone but themselves.

Most people at the stadium were there for one reason: to watch the game. Ticketholders have the right to watch the game and not be interrupted by the irresponsible acts of others. What happened Saturday showed a lack of respect by students for each other, the team and the people unfortunate enough to be seated around the student section.

Why did students feel that the football game gave them the right to throw things? Just because the students were together in a large group is not an excuse. People don't throw things at each other in lectures or while walking on the quads.

A football game does have a different atmosphere than a classroom or lecture hall. Some people probably considered Saturday's events fun, but the game should not have been an excuse for students to put aside the courtesy and respect they exhibit the other six days of the week.

The last home game of the season should be memorable. This is the last game that seniors will see or play in as students. Unfortunately, some will remember this year's game for reasons that were not limited to the victory on the field.

Schlafly belittles the women's movement

Dear Editor:
Phyllis Schlafly's contribution to the lecture series in gender studies on "The Changing Roles of Men and Women" compelled me to comment on particular points stressed throughout her otherwise skilful oration on women's issues, and to examine what seemed to be indefensible responses to questions posed following her lecture.

It is important to note the dubious nature of the title given Schlafly's lecture; she spoke little of "changing roles," but rather advocated maintaining the status quo of the "nuclear family." While this is an insightful standpoint, she fails to recognize the family as an institution, which like all others, changes decade upon decade, through different political administrations, and most importantly, among different generations, which with them bring changing values.

Schlafly's contribution is propositioned with the possibility of role reversal within marriage, merely responded that it should be the woman's position, in such a case, to change her potential husband what it is the "expects of him." While I find the traditional family nucleus admissible, in certain instances even preferable, I must disagree that men should be warned of their position in an alternative family lifestyle.

This implies that the role of the homemaker is one of considerable inferiority to the position of the provider, and therefore must be prepared to accept a role often devalued by society. It is clearly on this point that Schlafly's philosophy of women as powerful in relation to roles and in accordance with their biological family structure also often considered passe in light of modern concepts of alternative lifestyles.

In addition, it is ironic that Ms. Schlafly would not be able to express her anti-feminist position if it were not for the existence of the women's movement which provided women a public forum formerly forbidden to them. Regardless of our personal choices for or against the traditional family structure, we must recognize the women's movement as providing women protection under the Constitution, in areas such as voting rights and equal protection under the law.

Kelly Leigh Kneef Off-Campus Nov. 15, 1989

GARRY TRUEAU

DOONESBURY

SOL GUY!—IF YOU'RE WANTING A BANNER, WHAT DO YOU DO?" "HELL, I USED TO BE AN OLYMPIC SWimmer, WHEN I RETIRED, I DESIGNED AND MANUFACTURED A LINE OF SWIMWEAR, MY COMPANY IS NOW THE LARGEST SUPPLIER OF SPORTSWEAR, SWIMWEAR, IN THE U.S.

"HURT? HURT! NOOOOO! "I WANT TO GROW ORNTH THIS LADY! DO YOU AND OLD?"

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"The sexes were made for each other, and only in the wise and living union of the two is the fullness of health and duty and happiness to be expected." — William Hall

Disrespectful audience undermines speaker's right to free speech

Dear Editor:

At Phyllis Schlafly's lecture, "How the Family is Changing," we were disappointed by the reactions of the audience to Mrs. Schlafly's presentation. We concede that there should be opposition to Mrs. Schlafly's views; however, we were often offended to hear people making comments under their breath, hissing, and actually laughing aloud at Mrs. Schlafly rather than with her.

Someone of Mrs. Schlafly's stature and prestige merits much more respect than she received here at Notre Dame. We feel that it was her right to discuss the subjects she feels strongly about, and that she was entitled to express her opinions without the threat of a hostile audience. Unfortunately, Mrs. Schlafly did not receive the cordial welcome that we, as Notre Dame students, pride ourselves on giving.

Mrs. Schlafly's opinions are recognizable as conservative. Consequently, we would expect to be open to objections to her beliefs. Nevertheless, we did not anticipate such belligerence. It was unfortunate that we left the discussion with such a feeling of indignation toward the audience.

Hopefully, in the future, other speakers can feel comfortable addressing an audience with conflicting viewpoints at Notre Dame.

Kathleen Daglelore Murray Studen Hall Nov. 13, 1989
Using Zionism to rectify Arab-Israeli relations

By Charlie Maher

Zionism. A political movement tied closely to the Jewish faith that inspires a promise of an eternal homeland for the Jewish people, a tower of strength toward salvation for some. For others, it signifies the embodiment of worldly suffering and oppression.

The realization of the form of the Zionist state of Israel is lauded as the just restitution for the thousands of years of persecution and slaughter, yet the Zionist state as an institution is condemned for the inhumane acts it brings upon the Palestinians.

The imperative which is at the heart of Zionism is the reconstituting of a Jewish society in the promised land, free to live a Jewish lifestyle. The establishment of the Jewish state is not intrinsic to the Zionist vision; yet it symbolizes the mistrust of which we are most familiar with because the creation of Israel is a direct challenge to the Jewish people. The creation of Israel is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

The prevailing version of Zionism, both political and religious, is the creation of Israel, notably the version preferred by David Ben-Gurion, the founder of the Jewish state. He maintained that the sovereignty of a nation requires the establishment of a Jewish state, an institution which is necessary for being Jewish and to establish defenses for that society. Given these conditions, establishing the Jewish state of Israel as it manifests itself in the political and cultural state of Israel, is instructive to investigate an alternative view of Zionism, a view which maintains that the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism. All decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

Martin Buber is one of the foremost Jewish philosophers, and his ideas are insightful even in the present context of the Arab-Israeli crisis. As we see in the daily news, the world which saw Jews working urgently to end the oppression of Palestinians through the creation of an independent state. Different factors are present here.

Firstly, the presence of different means: residents of the occupied territories are about to begin a third year of economic and physical hardship in the West Bank, Middle East peace talks have made very little progress, and seeking negotiations and radical solutions will not be realized by the parties. This profile of liberation activities is not unlike the profile of the Israelis who went against the British and the Poles for the first few years before 1948.

The attitudes prevailing among the Palestinians are entrenched by days and months of despair and the inability of the Jewish society to provide the people's desire for work and with evil with no end in sight to this natio­nal crisis. What can break the despair and the society's stagnation? Against the grain of mainstream Zionism, with supported by the institution of religion, the claim that Jewish immigration to the Jewish state is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

The prevailing version of Zionism, both political and religious, is the creation of Israel, notably the version preferred by David Ben-Gurion, the founder of the Jewish state. He maintained that the sovereignty of a nation requires the establishment of a Jewish state, an institution which is necessary for being Jewish and to establish defenses for that society. Given these conditions, establishing the Jewish state of Israel as it manifests itself in the political and cultural state of Israel, is instructive to investigate an alternative view of Zionism, a view which maintains that the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism. All decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

Martin Buber is one of the foremost Jewish philosophers, and his ideas are insightful even in the present context of the Arab-Israeli crisis. As we see in the daily news, the world which saw Jews working urgently to end the oppression of Palestinians through the creation of an independent state. Different factors are present here.

Firstly, the presence of different means: residents of the occupied territories are about to begin a third year of economic and physical hardship in the West Bank, Middle East peace talks have made very little progress, and seeking negotiations and radical solutions will not be realized by the parties. This profile of liberation activities is not unlike the profile of the Israelis who went against the British and the Poles for the first few years before 1948.

The attitudes prevailing among the Palestinians are entrenched by the people's desire for work and freedom. The society's stagnation is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

The prevailing version of Zionism, both political and religious, is the creation of Israel, notably the version preferred by David Ben-Gurion, the founder of the Jewish state. He maintained that the sovereignty of a nation requires the establishment of a Jewish state, an institution which is necessary for being Jewish and to establish defenses for that society. Given these conditions, establishing the Jewish state of Israel as it manifests itself in the political and cultural state of Israel, is instructive to investigate an alternative view of Zionism, a view which maintains that the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism. All decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

Martin Buber is one of the foremost Jewish philosophers, and his ideas are insightful even in the present context of the Arab-Israeli crisis. As we see in the daily news, the world which saw Jews working urgently to end the oppression of Palestinians through the creation of an independent state. Different factors are present here.

Firstly, the presence of different means: residents of the occupied territories are about to begin a third year of economic and physical hardship in the West Bank, Middle East peace talks have made very little progress, and seeking negotiations and radical solutions will not be realized by the parties. This profile of liberation activities is not unlike the profile of the Israelis who went against the British and the Poles for the first few years before 1948.

The attitudes prevailing among the Palestinians are entrenched by the people's desire for work and freedom. The society's stagnation is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

The prevailing version of Zionism, both political and religious, is the creation of Israel, notably the version preferred by David Ben-Gurion, the founder of the Jewish state. He maintained that the sovereignty of a nation requires the establishment of a Jewish state, an institution which is necessary for being Jewish and to establish defenses for that society. Given these conditions, establishing the Jewish state of Israel as it manifests itself in the political and cultural state of Israel, is instructive to investigate an alternative view of Zionism, a view which maintains that the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism. All decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

Martin Buber is one of the foremost Jewish philosophers, and his ideas are insightful even in the present context of the Arab-Israeli crisis. As we see in the daily news, the world which saw Jews working urgently to end the oppression of Palestinians through the creation of an independent state. Different factors are present here.

Firstly, the presence of different means: residents of the occupied territories are about to begin a third year of economic and physical hardship in the West Bank, Middle East peace talks have made very little progress, and seeking negotiations and radical solutions will not be realized by the parties. This profile of liberation activities is not unlike the profile of the Israelis who went against the British and the Poles for the first few years before 1948.

The attitudes prevailing among the Palestinians are entrenched by the people's desire for work and freedom. The society's stagnation is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

The prevailing version of Zionism, both political and religious, is the creation of Israel, notably the version preferred by David Ben-Gurion, the founder of the Jewish state. He maintained that the sovereignty of a nation requires the establishment of a Jewish state, an institution which is necessary for being Jewish and to establish defenses for that society. Given these conditions, establishing the Jewish state of Israel as it manifests itself in the political and cultural state of Israel, is instructive to investigate an alternative view of Zionism, a view which maintains that the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism. All decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

Martin Buber is one of the foremost Jewish philosophers, and his ideas are insightful even in the present context of the Arab-Israeli crisis. As we see in the daily news, the world which saw Jews working urgently to end the oppression of Palestinians through the creation of an independent state. Different factors are present here.

Firstly, the presence of different means: residents of the occupied territories are about to begin a third year of economic and physical hardship in the West Bank, Middle East peace talks have made very little progress, and seeking negotiations and radical solutions will not be realized by the parties. This profile of liberation activities is not unlike the profile of the Israelis who went against the British and the Poles for the first few years before 1948.

The attitudes prevailing among the Palestinians are entrenched by the people's desire for work and freedom. The society's stagnation is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

The prevailing version of Zionism, both political and religious, is the creation of Israel, notably the version preferred by David Ben-Gurion, the founder of the Jewish state. He maintained that the sovereignty of a nation requires the establishment of a Jewish state, an institution which is necessary for being Jewish and to establish defenses for that society. Given these conditions, establishing the Jewish state of Israel as it manifests itself in the political and cultural state of Israel, is instructive to investigate an alternative view of Zionism, a view which maintains that the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism. All decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.

Martin Buber is one of the foremost Jewish philosophers, and his ideas are insightful even in the present context of the Arab-Israeli crisis. As we see in the daily news, the world which saw Jews working urgently to end the oppression of Palestinians through the creation of an independent state. Different factors are present here.

Firstly, the presence of different means: residents of the occupied territories are about to begin a third year of economic and physical hardship in the West Bank, Middle East peace talks have made very little progress, and seeking negotiations and radical solutions will not be realized by the parties. This profile of liberation activities is not unlike the profile of the Israelis who went against the British and the Poles for the first few years before 1948.

The attitudes prevailing among the Palestinians are entrenched by the people's desire for work and freedom. The society's stagnation is abysmally inadequate. As I will demonstrate, the question of and to the Jewish state is the most critical challenge to Zionism; all decisions must be made with full respect to the impact of the Arab-Zionist conflict.
Next stop: Penn State

ROBYN SIMMONS
assistant accent editor

After four home games in a row, it's time for the warriors of the road to follow the Fighting Irish to their next game. This time around, roadtrippers are in for a bit of a long haul. Next stop: Penn State.

Penn State is located in State College, in central Pennsylvania, 70 miles northwest of the state capital Harrisburg. The drive to State College should be approximately nine hours. Nine hours is a long time, but the hills and forest of central Pennsylvania will be a refreshing change from the flatlands of Indiana. Once the roadtripping donners arrive on campus, the main objective will be Beaver Stadium. Beaver Stadium is just north of the central campus on Curtin and Fox Hollow Road.

Like most state colleges, Penn State offers a college town atmosphere complete with a fraternity row and a main drag where the fast food restaurants are located. After the game, students can choose from a number of fast food restaurants on College Avenue. Visitors wishing for a taste of the Greek life at Penn State can find most of the frat houses on Burrowes Road.

For good food and drink, check out the following establishments in State College. Most of the popular restaurants offer cheesesteaks, which appear to be an integral part of Penn-Sylvania cuisine, as you might as well try one while you're out there.

Baby's Burgers & Shakes, 1315 Garnet St. Baby's has a 50's atmosphere, and specializes in burgers, shakes, fries, sandwiches and chill. Brothel's Pizza, 129 N. Fraser St. Brothel's offers pizza, hot and cold sandwiches, and cheesesteaks.

Bubba's Breakaway, 451 Railroad Ave. Bubba's serves up subs, sandwiches and cheesesteaks.

C.C. Peppers, 434 E. College Ave., 709 Bellaire Ave. Westerly

Penn State offers casual dining in a roaring 20's setting and there is live Jazz every weekend. Spats serves fresh seafood, steaks, pasta, salads, and has complete cocktail/bar service. Reservations are suggested.

Since the roadtrip to Penn State will be rather long, it's impossible to make it a day long excursion like the trips to Michigan and Purdue. For those visitors who don't know anyone on campus to stay with, there are several hotels and motels within a few blocks of the Penn State campus.

The following hotels and motels in State College are probably the best bet for roadtripping students:

The Boathouse, 451 E. College Ave., located one block from campus.

The menu features hand-spun traditional pizza and original stuffed pizza, Italian sandwiches, pasta, beer and wine.

The Hop, 1450 S. Atherton St. The Hop features nightly specials, complete cocktail/bar service and entertainment on Friday and Saturday.

Lee's Hoagie House, 222 W. Beaver Ave. "Hoagie" is Penn-Sylvania talk for submarine sandwiches. Lee's was voted #1 by State College Magazine poll. The Hop offers hoagies, cheesesteaks, and salads.

The Saloon, 101 Heister St. The Saloon serves Hi-Way Pizza menu items in a Victorian Style Pub. The Saloon also features happy hours, complete cocktail service and nightly entertainment.

Spats Cafe & Speakeasy, 142 E. College Ave. (corner of College Ave. and Pugh St.)

Half Way Pizza Pub. A State College tradition since 1963. Hi-Way Pizza was voted the best pizza in State College. There are four locations in State College, Westby Parkway Plaza, 340 E. College Ave., 1688 N. Atherton St., and the Hi-Way Pizza. The World's Best Sicilian shop is located at 128 N. Garnet St. The menu features hand-spun traditional pizza and original stuffed pizza, Italian sandwiches, pasta, beer and wine.

MUSIC

Vermeer string quartet, featuring violinists Schmuel Ashkenas and Pierre Menard, violist Rauli Young, and cellist Marc Johnson. Washington Hall, 4 p.m. General admission is $5, and $2 for children and senior citizens.

THEATER

"Three Sisters," O'Loughlin Auditorium, Saint Mary's College, 3:10 p.m. Tickets are $6 general admission, $5 for senior citizens, and $4 for students.

NOTRE DAME

Friday

"The G, the R, and the B," Engineering Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Saturday

"One Night," Engineering Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Sunday

"Pass and Shoot," Engineering Auditorium, 3:10 p.m.

"Beaut-Arts Ball," featuring St. Paul & the Marys, Architecture Building, 9 p.m. Tickets are $5.

On Campus

"Theater of the Mind," featuring the students of the Theater Department. The Hop, 1450 S. Atherton St. General admission is $5, and $2 for children and senior citizens.

Next stop: Penn State.
Brown patiently waits for his chance to shine

By STEVE MEGARGEE

Derek Brown has heard the question so many times this season that he has the routine down pat.

"I always get a lot of, 'How come you don't get the ball more,' " said the Notre Dame tight end.

"It's not really any big deal. It just wasn't my number that time. I'm sure my day's going to come."

Brown ranks second on the team in receiving with 11 catches for 185 yards, including a 100-yard day in receptions against Purdue. Those statistics would appear impressive enough for the normal tight end.

But Brown, the 1987 Parade High School Player of the Year, is not exactly your normal tight end. Your normal tight end doesn't open up a Sports Illustrated in September and find himself listed on a projected 1995 All-Pro team.

Thus, Brown hears the questions from fans wondering why the ball is not thrown his way more often. For Brown, it's all a matter of having patience and keeping priorities in order.

"I have nothing to complain about. We're winning; we're 10-0," said Brown. "I just have to wait my turn. It's like the punt return and kickoff return team with (flaghib) Liamal and (flicky) Watters. They're not going to run back for a touchdown every time. People won't even kick it to them every time, but they just have to stay patient."

Brown knows all about patience. Coming from Merritt Island (Fla.) High School, he needed all kinds of strength to resist the temptations to stay instate for college football. Brown considered Miami and the University of Florida before deciding on Notre Dame.

"There was all kinds of pressure," said the sophomore. "I think some of the pressures is what kept me away. I was tired of hearing people say, 'Who are you kidding? You're going to be a Goate.'"

Brown ranks second on the team in receiving with 11 catches for 185 yards, including a 100-yard day in receptions against Purdue. Those statistics would appear impressive enough for the normal tight end.

Brown is more satisfied with his play so far this season, and he is particularly happy with the strides he has made as a blocker.

"I feel very confident in my blocking," said Brown. "I'm much more aggressive, and very seldom do I make any mental errors."

He also feels he has adjusted to the cold weather of South Bend and the pressures of major college football.

"I considered 40 or 50 degrees cold back home," said Brown. "Last year (the cold) would affect me, and I'd be wearing a lot of thermals, but we've had cold games here."

"This is bigtime football," Brown continued, in reference to the Notre Dame program. "I was kind of used to this from high school, but at least there I had basketball and track also."

Of course, the more things change, the more they stay the same. Although Brown earned high school All-America honors at Merritt Island, he recalls being scouted by several colleges during his senior year (three at Auburn, two each at Miami and Florida) on a team that lost only three games in his four years of play.

Now Brown again has to wait his turn for the ball, but the Irish have posted a perfect 22-0 record with him on the roster.

"It leaves Brown with no regrets about his college selection.

"I look back at my decision, and Florida has all the troubles going on there and at Miami. (Jimmy) Johnson's gone," said Brown. "Here, I'm undefeated going on two years there."

Irish Extra

Notre Dame vs. Penn State

It's a virtue

By PAT PAGNA

Notre Dame tight end Derek Brown.

Brown's younger twin sisters, Renee and Jenae, read all the literature that colleges sent to the household and recommended Notre Dame to their brother. Choosing between Notre Dame and Miami, Brown made his final decision while watching television one day.

"I was sitting at home by myself and watching Wake Up the Echoes," said the 6-7, 235-pounder. "As weird as it may seem, I got a feeling about Notre Dame."

He had that same feeling about the 1988 national championship team. Brown says that it did not take long before he realized that group would be something special.

"I felt something was about to explode here, and I wanted to be a part of it," said Brown. "After the Michigan game, I felt we'd go all the way."

That 19-17 season-opening win over Michigan led to a year that included many potential spots for future releases of Wake Up the Echoes.

Brown earned a starting role midway through that year and caught 12 passes for 150 yards and three touchdowns. His top games came in the two biggest contests of the season, making two catches for 46 yards against Miami and two catches for 70 yards in the Fiesta Bowl win over West Virginia.

Brown is more satisfied with his play so far this season, and he is particularly happy with the strides he has made as a blocker.

"I feel very confident in my
The Game...

BY STEVE MEGARGEE
Associated Press

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. -- Every intangible you possibly could think of has come into discussion this week.

History: Notre Dame never has defeated Penn State in four trips to Beaver Stadium. The Nittany Lions have won six of the last eight meetings between the two teams. The Irish have not won at Penn State since 1913.

Weather: When Notre Dame last traveled to Happy Valley, the Irish ran into a wind-chill factor that went as low as 20 degrees below zero. A Notre Dame team still holding out hopes of a national title lost 21-20 and went on to fall in its final three games.

The weather figures to be frigid again come Saturday. Blair Thomas factor: Penn State's Heisman Trophy candidate enjoyed the best day of his career in the 1987 matchup, rushing for 214 yards on 35 carries. After a knee injury forced him to sit out last season (as Notre Dame beat Penn State 21-3 and held the Lions to 105 rushing yards), Thomas is back this year and has rushed for more than 100 yards each of his last four games.

"I've never seen a player dominate a game that I've been involved with like Blair Thomas did last Sunday," said Irish coach Lou Holtz.

Destiny: Playing an unusually difficult schedule for them, the Lions have posted a 6-2-1 record. But it could have been much better.

In a 17-16 loss to Alabama, Thomas appeared to score a game-winning last-minute touchdown but was ruled down just short of the end zone. Ray Tarasix had a 17-yard potential game-winning field goal blocked on the following play.

In a 13-12 loss to Maryland last week, Penn State had the ball inside the Terrapins' 20-yard line three times in the first half but only scored three points.

Penn Staters have to think it is about time for breaks to be going their way.

With all the talk about the intangibles, not much has been said about the actual Penn State team looking to end the nation's longest winning streak and crush Notre Dame's hopes of defending a national title.

The 17th-ranked Nittany Lions have overcome quarterback problems to post victories over Texas, Syracuse and West Virginia. A win over Notre Dame or Pittsburgh (or both) to end the perfect way for the Lions to end an overarching season.

"It's been a very rewarding season for us," said Penn State coach Joe Paterno, who last season suffered the first losing season of his 23-year head coaching career. "We have a bunch of kids who have worked like dogs. It's been tough. We haven't had a lot of luck. These last two years have been very difficult for us because we haven't gotten any breaks."

"These are two teams of very solid, intelligent people," Paterno continued. "Both teams will play as hard as they know how, and we'll go from there."

PENN STATE OFFENSE

VERSUS NOTRE DAME DEFENSE

For a team that has a 1,000-yard runner in its backfield, the Nittany Lion offense has an awfully hard time putting points on the scoreboard.

Much of the blame for Paterno's team's lack of offense has been placed on the shoulders of the two Nittany Lion quarterbacks - Tony Sacca and Tom Bill.

Sacca, a heralded recruit from high school who has yet to deliver in two years as a collegiate starter, has been Penn State's regular quarterback for most of the year.

Sacca has completed less than 40 percent of his passes, with five interceptions and five touchdown passes, as a sophomore.

Bill, a fifth-year senior, replaced Sacca when Penn State's offense struggled last week against Maryland. Playing the second half, Bill was 8-of-16 passing for 119 yards.

Paterno has indicated that Sacca probably will start against Notre Dame.

Whoever gets the call will have split end Dave Daniels (15 catches, 282 yards), tight end Dave Jakob (13, 111) and flanker Terry Smith (12, 280) as his receivers.

"Penn State's passing game is a little more sophisticated than ours," said Holtz. "They do some awfully good things; they just haven't been really consistent. I think they could throw the ball better if they needed to throw the ball more."

While Penn State's passing game hasn't exactly been overpowering, Thomas has proved to make a complete comeback since undergoing knee surgery a year ago.

Thomas has 1,077 rushing yards and is averaging 5.2 yards per carry this season. In Penn State's near-upset of Alabama, the senior from Philadelphia gained a season-high 160 yards.

A tailback, Thomas has proved to be the workhorse in the backfield, with about 23 carries per game. No other Penn State back has as many as 60 carries all season, with Terry Thompson and John Gera sharing the fullback role.

"I didn't know how he'd come back after knee surgery, but he seems to have come back exceptionally well," said Holtz.

Thomas will probably be the best running back that the Notre Dame defense faces all year.

The Irish have stuffed every other team that has tried to run on them, allowing just 2.8 yards per rush and 93.5 rushing yards per game.

Worse yet for Penn State, Irish standout safety Chris Zorich says he likes playing in cold weather.

"I hope it snows," said Zorich. "It's going to be cold, and I'm going to enjoy it. It's hard to dress up."

Penn State's passing game is a little more sophisticated than ours," said Holtz. "They do some awfully good things; they just haven't been really consistent. I think they could throw the ball better if they needed to throw the ball more."

While Penn State's passing game hasn't exactly been overpowering, Thomas has proved to make a complete comeback since undergoing knee surgery a year ago.

Thomas has 1,077 rushing yards and is averaging 5.2 yards per carry this season. In Penn State's near-upset of Alabama, the senior from Philadelphia gained a season-high 160 yards.

A tailback, Thomas has proved to be the workhorse in the backfield, with about 23 carries per game. No other Penn State back has as many as 60 carries all season, with Terry Thompson and John Gera sharing the fullback role.

"I didn't know how he'd come back after knee surgery, but he seems to have come back exceptionally well," said Holtz.

Thomas will probably be the best running back that the Notre Dame defense faces all year.

The Irish have stuffed every other team that has tried to run on them, allowing just 2.8 yards per rush and 93.5 rushing yards per game.

Worse yet for Penn State, Irish standout safety Chris Zorich says he likes playing in cold weather.

"I hope it snows," said Zorich. "It's going to be cold, and I'm going to enjoy it. It's hard to dress up."

Penn State's passing game is a little more sophisticated than ours," said Holtz. "They do some awfully good things; they just haven't been really consistent. I think they could throw the ball better if they needed to throw the ball more."

While Penn State's passing game hasn't exactly been overpowering, Thomas has proved to make a complete comeback since undergoing knee surgery a year ago.

Thomas has 1,077 rushing yards and is averaging 5.2 yards per carry this season. In Penn State's near-upset of Alabama, the senior from Philadelphia gained a season-high 160 yards.

A tailback, Thomas has proved to be the workhorse in the backfield, with about 23 carries per game. No other Penn State back has as many as 60 carries all season, with Terry Thompson and John Gera sharing the fullback role.

"I didn't know how he'd come back after knee surgery, but he seems to have come back exceptionally well," said Holtz.

Thomas will probably be the best running back that the Notre Dame defense faces all year.

The Irish have stuffed every other team that has tried to run on them, allowing just 2.8 yards per rush and 93.5 rushing yards per game.
Jones rallies both Irish fans and defenses

By KEN TYNIAC
Sports Writer

It is October 21, 1989. Notre Dame Stadium erupts as quart­er­back Tony Rice drags two University of Southern California tacklers into the end zone to give the Irish a 20-24 lead late in the fourth quarter. But there is still time for the Trojan drive to drive down the field and take the lead.

Enter Andre Jones. The junior defensive end from Hyattsville, Maryland, bounds onto the field, waving his arms in the air to give the kickoff. The crowd instantly transforms into a sea of Irish fans as Jones guides them on. For Andre Jones, the mission is accomplished.

"I think it's the crowd that sometimes keeps us going. They make us want to perform, to do something for the defense."

And Jones is a key player in the Irish defensive scheme, as he is one of three defensive ends who rotates in regularly to fill two positions on the field.

"It wasn't really concerned with anything but getting from point A to point B without getting caught from behind," says Jones of his first collegiate score, "And before I knew it, I was in the end zone."

Jones is also a key player in the Irish defense, as he says, "I like to give the kickoff return men so they can't get their blocks set up."

Last Saturday against SMU, Jones found himself running back a kick and bled as he could once again after a blocked Mustang extra point attempt. Only this time he had the ball. After freshman Nick Smith batted the ball to the ground, Jones scooped it up and raced untouched into the end zone for the first defensive two point conversion in Notre Dame his­ tory.

"I wasn't really concerned with anything but getting from point A to point B without getting caught from behind," said Jones.

Jones says of his first collegiate score, "I wasn't really concerned with anything but getting from point A to point B without getting caught from behind."
Brian and Erick were Pitts­burgh Steelers fans. After all, they lived in Sis­cove, a town about three miles outside of Pittsburgh. The Chimzar brothers were glued to the television every Sunday, but this only lasted until halftime.

In the half, they would throw on their jackets, grab their football and take off for the Dixon Field, the high school field, about 50 yards from their house. Here they would proceed to block kicks into each other’s fares.

Brian would center the ball as Erick moved back to punt. As soon as he kicked the ball, Brian jumped in front of it to block it.

"For this day I think my brother kept letting me block the punt. I think he liked watching the ball hit off my face," Brian, Penn State’s senior linebacker, says.

"I never purposefully kicked it in his face, but I heard a laugh. "We were pretty goofy, though, especially when it came to football," Brian said.

As a kid, Brian played with his brother’s friends, since there weren’t so many younger kids on the block. He even fol­lowed when Erick wouldn’t take him, and usually ended up on the field with the bigger boys. "I never being involved with anyone of my own age," Chimzar said. "I was around older people like that and having to fit in. I learned how to overcome things, I think that, and then throw at you. I learned a lot of parents were very lenient on me."

"I think that’s kind of helped me out so as not to be intimidated," Erick said.

Brian now is intimating op­ponent’s as member of the Nittany Lions’ outstanding 1989 defensive unit. Brian is very aggressive by nature, Tom Bradley, Brian’s recruiter and outside line­backer coach, said, "He has a go get attitude and he likes to go out there and get it."

"I was always active, always out doing something new, wanting around and getting stitches. Between me and my brother, we are at Children’s Hospital so much they actually thought my parents were very lenient. We were always in there getting stitches," Brian said.

When Erick had finally gone his own way, I’d see kids up at our house. I’d go up and we’d play six, on-one. I wasn’t allowed to run, but I would try to walk when I carried the ball. My parents used to laugh, because I had to have all of these kids all drapped over me and I was being for a walk around the neighborhood.

He isn’t one of the biggest players on the Penn State team, but the Nittany Lion (trip-captain and junior, Erick with Brian’s Chimzar form of lead­ership.

"He doesn’t have the strength or the size or the speed, but he’s got a good combination of it," Tom Bradley, said. "He has a good game awareness and experi­ence because he’s learned from past mistakes."

IRISH EXTRA

Chimzar grew up punting at his brother

By COLLEEN WALKER
Penn State St

Lions
continued from page 2

for us to have any chance," said Paterno.

The defense is far from the top-notch player on the Penn State defense. Linebacker Brian Chimzar has 95 tack­les on the season, and his 227 career tackles rank him ninth on the school’s all-time list.

Outside linebacker Mark D’Onofrio has recorded 11 quarterback sacks, four short of the school’s season record. Defensive tackle Rich Schafer is well-respected for his study play.

"They’re probably the best defense we’ve played against," said Holtz. "They’re all very talented, they play as a team and are especially well-drilled in fundamentals. They also give you an awful lot of different looks. They’ll give you about 40 different looks, and that’s no exaggeration.

Tom Bradley, a Penn State senior, has provided stellar play all season, the biggest performer on the Notre Dame offense lately has been backfield Ricky Watters. Since receiving a challenge from Holtz before the Air Force game, the junior from Harrisburg, Pa., has rushed for 408 yards on 44 carries (on average of nine yards per rush).

Another Pennsylvania resident, Raghib "Rocket" Ismail, ranks first on the team in receiving (24 catches for 665 yards) and fourth in punt returns (23 carries for 365 yards).

Paterno is particularly impressed with senior fullback and two-time captain Anthony Johnson, calling the South Bend product "the best fullback in the East, " and describing him as a "high 693 rushing yards and has di­rected 31 touch­downs.

Quarterback Tony Rice has come under fire for his unimpressive passing statistics (26-of-112, two touchdowns, three interceptions), but he has high 693 rushing yards and has di­rected 31 touch­downs.

Ismail and Rice are the biggest backfield of the offensive unit. The Irish have returned two punt and two kickoff for touch­downs this season. Penn State returner by Watters at the rest by Ismail. The Penn State team understands the cat­austrophes in trying to control Notre Dame’s Pennsylvanians速度sters on kickoffs and punts.

"You’ve got to try to kick it intellig­ently," said Paterno. "You’ve got to be careful that you don’t get too cute trying to kick the ball away from some­one. What you don’t want to occur should happen, that is giving them good field position. If you try to be too clever, they end up getting the ball on the 45."

IRISH STATISTICS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TEAM STATISTICS</th>
<th>NO</th>
<th>OPP</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>TOTAL OFFENSE</td>
<td>4096</td>
<td>2065</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Plays</td>
<td>703</td>
<td>397</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yards per Game</td>
<td>409.8</td>
<td>290.6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PENALTY YARDS</td>
<td>51.419</td>
<td>48.243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FUMBLES LOST</td>
<td>22.15</td>
<td>26.13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FIRST DOWN LOST</td>
<td>213</td>
<td>285</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>By Rushing</td>
<td>158</td>
<td>59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>By Penalty</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penalty</td>
<td>73</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DOWN TO GO</td>
<td>465</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PENALTY TIME</td>
<td>314.85</td>
<td>285.98</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>RUSHING</th>
<th>5YDS</th>
<th>AVG</th>
<th>TD</th>
<th>LG</th>
<th>AVG</th>
<th>CMP</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>1258</td>
<td>5.0</td>
<td>37</td>
<td>27</td>
<td>11.6</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johnson</td>
<td>470</td>
<td>6.1</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Culver</td>
<td>220</td>
<td>3.8</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis</td>
<td>90</td>
<td>2.5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>46</td>
<td>1.1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boyd</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>3.9</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>3.9</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brooks</td>
<td>54</td>
<td>2.7</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>94</td>
<td>2.5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>93</td>
<td>2.4</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>85</td>
<td>2.9</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PASSING</th>
<th>75</th>
<th>282</th>
<th>595</th>
<th>0</th>
<th>0</th>
<th>0</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Opp.</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>935</td>
<td>282</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>RUSHING</th>
<th>5YDS</th>
<th>AVG</th>
<th>TD</th>
<th>LG</th>
<th>AVG</th>
<th>CMP</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>318</td>
<td>6.9</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.90</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johnson</td>
<td>170</td>
<td>4.1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.90</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Culver</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>1.6</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.90</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lewis</td>
<td>132</td>
<td>2.5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.90</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>36</td>
<td>0.8</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.90</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boyd</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>3.9</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>3.9</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brooks</td>
<td>54</td>
<td>2.7</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>94</td>
<td>3.9</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>93</td>
<td>2.4</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>85</td>
<td>2.9</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0.0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PASSING</th>
<th>75</th>
<th>282</th>
<th>595</th>
<th>0</th>
<th>0</th>
<th>0</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Opp.</td>
<td>330</td>
<td>935</td>
<td>282</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Squeeze sensational on stage

TIM O'KEEFE

Squeeze came out and enjoyed themselves at the JACC Thursday night, and so did the audience.

From the beginning, front man Glen Tilbrook and the rest of Squeeze showed their enthusiasm, drawing the crowd into their performance. Squeeze played their hit "Black Coffee in Bed," and without any prompting, the crowd sang along. Squeeze kept up the momentum from then on.

Squeeze is best-known for their catchy, intelligent pop hits from the late 70s and early 80s. On album, their songs are highly polished, but they kept their songs full of energy and drive in concert.

Squeeze played a variety of songs, mixing in old hits among cuts from their new album. "Frank." "Pulling Mussels from a Shell," "Cool for Cats," and "Take Me I'm Yours" were all enthusiastically received, as might be expected. What's more surprising is that their new songs were just as popular. "Rose, I Said," was hook-filled and had a strong beat. "Dr. Jazz," a rockabilly-style number reminiscent of Jerry Lee Lewis, had the audience dancing, which they continued to do for most of the night.

Tilbrook did an excellent job involving the crowd in the show. For their new song, "If It's Love," Tilbrook got the women to sing melody, while the men sung harmony. All night, Tilbrook looked like he was just having fun, running around the stage as fast as he could, swinging his microphone, and acting goofy, and this helped make the concert fun for the audience.

The concert was livened up by some silliness. For the song, "Cool for Cats," three cat puppets danced along. One of the songs off "Frank" they performed is called "She Doesn't Have to Shave." During Squeeze's second encore, the keyboard player came on stage, with an accordion, and his solo was given rousing applause.

Katrina & the Waves, best known for their hit "Walking on Sunshine," provided a rocking opening at the Squeeze concert.

Katrina & the Waves, best known for their hit "Walking on Sunshine," provided a rocking opening at the Squeeze concert.

STEFANIE SNYDER

The jazz music, the shining cast of characters, the insightful views on real-life situation, and most importantly, the silly, yet wonderful humor could only be the ingredients of a Woody Allen classic.

The King of the screen returns this winter with the un-bearably funny and moving "Crimes and Misdemeanors." The film touches on love, loneliness, God, and evil all twisted and incorporated into scenes from people's lives, ranging from the rich, successful man to the hard-working failure.

Woody Allen, himself, caps off the well-known list of cast members including Mia Farrow, Alan Alda, Daryl Hannah and Angelica Huston among others. The scene is set in New York. Allen plays Cliff Stern, a sensitive man with a passion for making film documentaries whose marriage is on the rocks. He is struggling to keep his head above water in a world where appearances and wealth establish one's position in society.

Cliff's wife Wendy, played by Joanna Gleason, pleads with her brother Lester (Alan Alda,) who is a big-shot public figure with an enormous ego, to let Cliff adopt a scheduled profile of Lester. Out of sympathy, Lester agrees and Wendy is happy that her quirky husband will finally be earning some money.

Allen proceeds to fall in love with the director of Lester's profile, Hayley Reed, played by Mia Farrow (Allen's real-life love.) At the same time, another dramatic story unfolds. Actor Martin Landau plays Jewish Rosenthal, a prominent ophthalmologist who falls in love with a young woman, De- bora Paley (Angelica Houston.)

The scene becomes sticky when Judah realizes, after two years of adultery, what he's been missing - life with his wife Miriam (Claire Bloom.) Of course, Dehors will do anything, including blackmail, to keep the only man she has ever loved.

Needless to say, Landau's character name, Judah, comes into play as the movie progresses and the situation becomes more desperate. Humor connects the stories within the movie. However, despite the continual joking, sometimes sarcastic sometimes friendly but always true to life - the dilemmas faced by each of the characters do have a very serious side to them.

Allen makes the audience think; every scene, title and name has a deeper meaning. Viewers would need to see the movie several more times to catch even half of the meaning that Allen is trying get across.

Throughout the movie, the audience will find themselves questioning their own beliefs and/or relating to the confusion that abounds in the minds of the characters, coming from such sensitive issues as moral- ity, adultery, and faith in God. "Crimes and Misdemeanors" is a pleasant change from the chain of adventure-horror movies that have been so popu lar and overused this season.

Woody Allen offers a refreshing look at how people choose to live their lives. This look is personal, touching and as with every Allen film it will make you laugh.

---

Motel, 1040 N. Atherton and two blocks from on valley Motor Inn, 1245 n St., located one half mile on campus.

A "400" Motor Inn, Atherton St., located one fourth from campus.

By Linn Inn, N. Atherton
Ave., located on campus.

Evens Motel, 1275 N. vis St., located four blocks from campus.

- a plenty of places to things to do at Penn make this roadtrip a trip to remember, and well the trip. Besides, fans of Janny Lions will probably be of interest. Next stop on Dripper's travel log.

Front man Glenn Tilbrook gets the crowd going with a enthusiastic rendition of Squeeze singles at the JACC on Thursday night.
Letters to a Lonely God

Vatican conference on AIDS the other day probably did much more harm than they did good, since they were symptomatic of something that could be called, in Shakespeare's phrase, "the insolvency of office."

You don't have to be a Philadelphia lawyer to see that when he urged that AIDS victims not be treated as outcasts, perceived only as public health hazards and left to die, he was distancing himself from the unfortunate, though perhaps not deliberately, and he did so in a way that left him looking like an angel of light.

I mean, he does show that he feels compassion for these poor fellows whom we want to keep dying in the streets of his city like parishioners. I'm sure he is concerned with helping AIDS patients, and that he spends a great deal of money setting up shelters for them, and that he sees to it that they are treated with great kindness.

I'm too much of a lightweight to take it on myself to tell Cardinal what he should be doing. However, I suspect that the Cardinal's attitude towards AIDS patients is a mite too detached. His mother's milk should have been laced with raven's blood, to make him passionately concerned about the welfare of the black sheep of his flock, starting on their way through the valley of the shadow of death. Doesn't "black sheep" sound too judgmental? Aren't the black sheep the ones dearest to the shepherd?

A churchman's kindness can become incandescent as a great act of love as soon as he realizes that the human beings whose welfare he has in mind are not only the down-and-out brothers of Christ, so that in helping them, he's doing his Gospel duty as he's expected to do; but in addition, he accepts these apparently reprobates as his own very dear brothers in need.

Nothing can get me more passionately involved in a mission of caring than this realization that no man is an island and that when the bell calls to signify birth or death, it calls for me, living and dying on my way to the new birth in heaven. Mother Teresa, serving the poor, becomes one of them. Father Damien, living in the leper colony at Molokai, finally contracted the disease. His faithful must have realized how faithful he had been to them as their pastor on the Sunday morning when he began the sermon at Mass with the words, "Peace..."

If a priest doesn't stand shoulder to shoulder in solidarity with the victims he is allegedly commiserating with, he may be doing something that is even worse than talking to them—he may also be standing in their light. "The truth is not in condoms or clean needle cards," the Cardinal said. "These are lies... told by often well-meaning counselors."

I appreciate what the Cardinal has in mind, but if he were talking to AIDS patients, instead of about them, feeling as though they were his children, would he hesitate to tell them as they headed out for the evening, "Well, son, if despite everything I say, you're still hooked on this madness of dope, for God's sake, make sure the needles are clean?"

If he were saying goodnight to a son or daughter in the habit, as he knows, of enjoying sex as a服务区able feast, would he shy away if he suspected, if he really didn't keep you from driving the car off the cliff, but please, please, Junior, make sure you use every precaution...? A word to the wise: as you enter into life, you must remember the axiom, "With the family gambler who belongs to a religion which, they must believe, never offers forgiveness, what ever may be doing something that is even worse than talking down to when prelates meet, then the Church doesn't really have the right to AIDS patient, even if the Pope did go to San Francisco to hug sick and dying gays in an AIDS shelter..."

I was glad to hear the Holy Father went to visit AIDS patients as the representative of a great-hearted Church. But while in San Francisco, John Paul also heard of black gays who refused to receive the sacrament of the dying from a Church that they cannot forgive because, they claim, Rome has repeatedly trashed the human rights of gay men and women. If the Bishop of Rome wants to help AIDS patients shouldn't anmber them further. From listening to him, you could get the idea that a ten-foot pole is not half long enough to measure the distance between the "insolvency of office" and the human condition of Catholics with AIDS. I don't think that an increase in the embittered alienation of gay Catholics from the Church was what anyone had in mind when the conference at the Vatican was called. "Other sheep I have that are not of this flock," said the Lord. Could he have meant by this that He loves gays and straights equally well? Then why do gays so often feel straight-armed by "the insolvency of office?"

The Cardinal attacks the gay community professionals who, he says, believe that they have nothing but condoms and syringes to offer persons with AIDS or at risk. What encour­aging new thing is he telling gays who have given up on the Church rather than doing something about not offering false hopes. But, I wish he could have shown love, instead of a cold, professional detachment from gay Catholics who belong to a religion which, they must believe, never offers to bring them in from the cold. If you offer people enough love, instead of a cold, professional detachment from gay Catholics who belong to a religion which, they must believe, never offers to bring them in from the cold. If you offer people enough love, instead of a cold, professional detachment from gay Catholics who belong to a religion which, they must believe, never offers to bring them in from the cold. If you offer people enough love, instead of a cold, professional detachment from gay Catholics who belong to a religion which, they must believe, never offers to bring them in from the cold.

The above points are neatly tied together with Conviser Duffy's live/video presentation, comprehensive textbooks, workbook, tape make-up facilities and unconditional guarantee.

Duffy says, "Preparing for the CPA exam is serious business and it takes a serious commitment from both parties to succeed." All this is powerful news for the accountant who wants to gain his certification with the most professional streamlined review on the market.

Further information may be obtained by phoning 1-800-274-EXAM.
Former Sooner tried and sentenced in rape trial

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Former Oklahoma football player Derick T. McCoy was convicted Thursday night of first-degree rape.

The jury was unable to reach a verdict for a third defendant, Clay Healy, but did reach deliberations Thursday morning and which way the jury - which reached its verdict on sentence for

Clay Healy, dressed in a rose-colored, face-fronted gown, was dazed in the courtroom.

"I'm pleased with the jury's verdicts on the two defendants," District Attorney Tuffy McCoy said. "It was a very difficult case. We presented the defense to the jury and justice was done."

A solemn-faced Bell, dressed in LaFortune. Have lost in.

18 K necklace with charms

please lost in Chicago.

If

quired? Lisa X4916

Call

1-602-838-2363.

LA

FORTUNE ON MON

11/13/89

200 DEPOSIT, MANY

TOP

CORONA

DILLON NIGHTS

3:30 Goofery, 5:30 Planes,

-It's

9:00 Morning, Vietnam

attorney. It was obviously a disappointment to co-coounsel and his defense.

scrapped its water polo program in favor of a swimming team. As a new team, there will be some unexpected surprises for some, some going and some bad,"

Webb said.

The meet will begin at 5 p.m.

Saturday at Rolfs Aquatic Center.

The opposite end of the spectrum is Wisconsin, which placed fifth at the NCAA national championships. Barry

Kneess is the defending champion in the 200 yard breaststroke.

"The men's back to back

O'Shag, 11/15.

The Notre Dame women's

Green which was one of its best

year.

week's 149-151 loss to Bowling

Green.

The Notre Dame men's team defeated

Wisconsin last year, but is far less in Chicago.

Myndy @2472

Call 1-602-838-2363.

Losing:

losts in stock!

lot's of paperbacks in stock!

BEDROOM HOUSE PRiCE REDUCTION

Call 1-602-838-2363.

lost in room 122 Hayes

IN A M.

To identify:

Please

women's back to back

national championships. Barry

Kneess was the defending champion in the 200

yard breaststroke.

"The men's back to back

O'Shag, 11/15.

The Notre Dame women's

Green which was one of its best

year.

week's 149-151 loss to Bowling

Green.

The Notre Dame men's team defeated

Wisconsin last year, but is far less in Chicago.

Myndy @2472

Call 1-602-838-2363.

lost in room 122 Hayes

IN A M.

To identify:

Please

women's back to back

national championships. Barry

Kneess was the defending champion in the 200

yard breaststroke.

"The men's back to back

O'Shag, 11/15.

The Notre Dame women's

Green which was one of its best

year.

week's 149-151 loss to Bowling

Green.

The Notre Dame men's team defeated

Wisconsin last year, but is far less in Chicago.

Myndy @2472

Call 1-602-838-2363.
Associated Press

Andre Ware makes no apologies for the awesome power of 13th-ranked Houston's run-and-shoot offense. "It's our philosophy; we put points on the board," the quarterback said. "You can't ask guys to sit and fall on their faces."

Ware set numerous NCAA records in a 95-21 victory over Southern Methodist and the Cougars were criticized for running up the score.

Top-ranked Notre Dame beat SMU 59-6, holding down the score by refusing penalties and running out the clock.

Ware said such tactics were embarrassing.

"That's humiliating to SMU," Ware said. "I heard a comment from an official recently that he didn't think they played a football game after they played us.

"They played our Notre Dame, they never got a chance. Because the Irish weren't taking penalties and making mistakes and stuff like that. That's not football." Only Texas A&M has stifled Houston's pass-oriented offense.

"It's a wide open attack."

Ware said. "You can't ask the quarterback not to throw the ball. You can't ask guys who work hard all week and expect to play a game to go out and do something like that."

With games remaining against Texas Tech and Rice, Ware has completed 292 of 464 attempts for 3,824 yards and 40 touchdowns, leading the Cougars to a 7-2 record.

While Ware has been mentioned for some postseason honors, Coach Jack Pardee is emphatic about his quarterback's talents.

"They started pumping up the football a long time ago and he's done things that no other quarterback has ever done," Pardee said.

"I've played with Sonny Jurgensen and Roman Gabriel. I've been around the greatest quarterbacks who have ever been in the game, and Andre has the right throwing touch."

Ware has six games of 400 or more total yards, tying him with Jim McMahon of Brigham Young for the NCAA record. Ware has national records of 340 yards in one quarter, 517 yards in a half, five touchdown passes in a quarter, 1,430 yards in three consecutive games, 1,820 yards in four consecutive games and a 179.4 efficiency rating for a game.

He completed 76 passes against Arkansas and Texas Christian, tying the record for most passes completed in consecutive games.

His records aren't merely a byproduct of the Cougars' run-and-shoot offense, Pardee said.

"You can't just play in anybody and get that kind of output," Pardee said.

Ware said the offense helps him exploit his talents.

"A lot of teams have tried to duplicate what we're doing here and have not had as much success," Ware said. "So I can't say it's the system but a combination of myself and the system."

Houston is on NCAA probation, which includes a ban on television appearances this season. It could have an affect on voting for postseason honors, Ware said.

"We weren't on television all year and people wanted to know more about us," Ware said. "So they go down here and they saw the clips on television stations. A lot came down to actually see us in person at the games."

Ware is within reach of 10 other NCAA records.

Cavs send Harper to Clippers

Associated Press

The Los Angeles Clippers traded the rights to Danny Ferry to the Cleveland Cavaliers on Thursday along with Reggie Williams for Ron Harper and three draft picks.

Ferry, the second pick in last summer's NBA draft, decided to not to play for the Clippers and is playing for Il Messaggero Roma of the Italian Professional League under a one-year contract.

Harper, a 6-foot-5 guard in his fourth NBA season, is averaging 22 points in Cleveland's first seven games. He has averaged 6.9 rebounds and seven assists per game.

He averaged 18.6 points last season with the Cavaliers and played in all 82 games. He averaged 19.6 points in the playoffs.

Williams, a 6-foot-7 guard-forward, was the fourth pick in 1987 but has been a disappointment. He averaged 10.3 points in his first two seasons while making 40.4 percent of his shots from the field. He has averaged 12 points, three rebounds and two assists in the Clippers' five games this season.

The University of Notre Dame's award-winning programs explore the ethical overlay of social issues continue on local public television.

WNIT-TV, Channel 34 and on Heritage Cablevision, Channel 32.

The Observer Friday, November 17, 1989

Houston's Ware blasts Irish

Associated Press

Roy Tarpley of the Houston Rockets is in trouble again as he faces suspensions indefinitely by his colleagues in the NBA's substance abuse treatment program.

BUY OBSERVER CLASSIFIEDS

NOTRE DAME ON TELEVISION

The University of Notre Dame's award-winning programs exploring the ethical overlay of social issues continue on local public television.

WNIT-TV, Channel 34 and on Heritage Cablevision, Channel 32.

MAJORING IN PEACE

At Notre Dame's Institute for International Peace Studies, young people from around the globe take a fresh look at something that has largely eluded their elders.

WNIT-TV, Channel 34-Nov. 13, 5:30 p.m. (EST), repeated at 11:30 a.m. Nov. 18, Heritage Cablevision, Channel 32, Nov. 15, 8 a.m. (EST)

FROM DETENNE TO WHAT?

With "Cold War" and "Iron Curtain" fad ing figures of speech, what are the words for the post-Cold War era?

WNIT-TV, Channel 34-Nov. 27, 5:30 p.m. (EST), repeated at 11:30 a.m. Nov. 15, Heritage Cablevision, Channel 32, Nov. 15, 8 a.m. (EST)

THE RETURN OF RACISM

The American version of apartheid was thought to have been vanquished by the civil rights legislation of the 1960s, but racism has reappeared.

WNIT-TV, Channel 34-Dec. 4, 5:30 p.m. (EST), repeated at 11:30 a.m. Dec. 24, Heritage Cablevision, Channel 32, Dec. 8, 9 a.m. (EST)

HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE 21ST CENTURY

Recent events around the globe have underlined the resiliency of the human spirit in its search for freedom and democracy.

WNIT-TV, Channel 34-Dec. 18, 5:30 p.m. (EST), repeated at 11:30 a.m. Dec. 24, Heritage Cablevision, Channel 32, Dec. 20, 9 a.m. (EST)

HERITAGE CABLEVISION

CHANNEL 32 WEDNESDAYS 9 A.M.

THE HEALY COMPANY

OFFERS YOU LOW COST TERM LIFE INSURANCE TO help provide your family or business with the NEEDED protection.

Annual Premiums for $200,000 Coverage

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age</th>
<th>Male</th>
<th>Female</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>25</td>
<td>$ 174</td>
<td>$163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55</td>
<td>$190</td>
<td>$174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>65</td>
<td>$280</td>
<td>$280</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>75</td>
<td>$225</td>
<td>$225</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Healy Co. brings you the best insurance industry has to offer. For more information call:

Go Irish Beat Penn State
The Associated Press

The Minnesota Vikings, long a symbol of man's triumph over the elements, have been run out of town by a little snow.

The Vikings, who for years considered frigid weather and a frozen field the perfect combination to ice an NFL opponent, had given up on it Thursday night, went to Charlotte, N.C., on Thursday to prepare for the Philadelphia Eagles.

This, after an inch of snow — an inch! — fell Wednesday accompanying a forecast for the Twin Cities of temperatures in the teens with wind-chill factors near zero for the next two days.

Where have you gone Bill Brown? Nowhere. But the former Vikings fullback isn’t about to call the current crop of purple-clad warriors assiss for fleeing.

“We went down to Tulsa Okla. a few times,” he said by telephone from his suburban Minneapolis home. “You can’t practice if they can’t clear the snow off the field.”

But Brown added a word of caution, noting that Charlotte isn’t all that far from Atlanta.

“It isn’t supposed to be cold in Atlanta, Georgia, is it? It was 1973 and we were playing a Monday night game,” he said when asked what he thought about the most chilling experience tied for his 13 NFL seasons. “It was about 27 or 28 degrees and raining. I ruined two toes, maybe three. My feet had to turn a couple of shades to get back to normal.”

Maybe the Vikings should have stayed at home to prepare for Philadelphia.

The forecast for Friday in Charlotte in a chilly 40 degrees, more Viking-like than Carolina weather — perhaps an omen as Minnesota (7-3) tries to hold its one-game lead in the NFC Central. The Eagles (6-4) already have been told by Coach Buddy Ryan that they “must” win if they hope to keep the (8-2) New York Giants in sight in the NFC East.

The Giants entertain the Seattle Seahawks. Elsewhere, it will be Buffalo at New England, Detroit at Cincinnati, Kansas City at Cleveland, Miami at Dallas, New Orleans at Atlanta, San Diego at Pittsburgh, Tampa Bay at Chicago, Phoenix at the Los Angeles Rams, Los Angeles Raiders at Houston, Green Bay at San Francisco and the New York Jets at San Diego. Denver is at Washington on Monday night.

The Giants, whose loss Sunday to Los Angeles broke a four-game winning streak, may get tight end Mark Olton and linebacker Steve DeOssie back from injuries. The Seahawks are changing quarterbacks, replacing Dave Krieg with Kelly Stouffer.

A knee injury may prevent Green Bay quarterback Dan Majkowski from playing against San Francisco. Majkowski, heading the NFL in several passing categories, has missed practice because of a hyperextended right knee suffered in Sunday's loss to Detroit.

If Majkowski doesn't play, the Packers (1-5) will have to choose between rookie third-round draft pick Anthony Dilweg and veteran Blair Kiel.

Although three-time Pro Bowl offensive tackle Luis Sharpe and defensive tackle Bob Clasby have been on injured reserve since tearing knee ligaments in the fourth quarter of last season, the Rams are changing quarterbacks, replacing starter Doug Flutie with Roger Staubach.

Staubach, who will be Buffalo at New England, is currently accepting applications for the following paid positions:

Day Editors

For information, please contact Erin O’Neill at 239-5303 or 283-4215

Snow transplants Vikes

The Associated Press

The Minnesota Vikings, long a symbol of man’s triumph over the elements, have been run out of town by a little snow.

The Vikings, who for years considered frigid weather and a frozen field the perfect combination to ice an NFL opponent, had given up on it Thursday night, went to Charlotte, N.C., on Thursday to prepare for the Philadelphia Eagles.

This, after an inch of snow — an inch! — fell Wednesday accompanying a forecast for the Twin Cities of temperatures in the teens with wind-chill factors near zero for the next two days.

Where have you gone Bill Brown? Nowhere. But the former Vikings fullback isn’t about to call the current crop of purple-clad warriors assiss for fleeing.

“We went down to Tulsa Okla. a few times,” he said by telephone from his suburban Minneapolis home. “You can’t practice if they can’t clear the snow off the field.”

But Brown added a word of caution, noting that Charlotte isn’t all that far from Atlanta.

“It isn’t supposed to be cold in Atlanta, Georgia, is it? It was 1973 and we were playing a Monday night game,” he said when asked what he thought about the most chilling experience tied for his 13 NFL seasons. “It was about 27 or 28 degrees and raining. I ruined two toes, maybe three. My feet had to turn a couple of shades to get back to normal.”

Maybe the Vikings should have stayed at home to prepare for Philadelphia.

The forecast for Friday in Charlotte in a chilly 40 degrees, more Viking-like than Carolina weather — perhaps an omen as Minnesota (7-3) tries to hold its one-game lead in the NFC Central. The Eagles (6-4) already have been told by Coach Buddy Ryan that they “must” win if they hope to keep the (8-2) New York Giants in sight in the NFC East.

The Giants entertain the Seattle Seahawks. Elsewhere, it will be Buffalo at New England, Detroit at Cincinnati, Kansas City at Cleveland, Miami at Dallas, New Orleans at Atlanta, San Diego at Pittsburgh, Tampa Bay at Chicago, Phoenix at the Los Angeles Rams, Los Angeles Raiders at Houston, Green Bay at San Francisco and the New York Jets at San Diego. Denver is at Washington on Monday night.

The Giants, whose loss Sunday to Los Angeles broke a four-game winning streak, may get tight end Mark Olton and linebacker Steve DeOssie back from injuries. The Seahawks are changing quarterbacks, replacing Dave Krieg with Kelly Stouffer.

A knee injury may prevent Green Bay quarterback Dan Majkowski from playing against San Francisco. Majkowski, heading the NFL in several passing categories, has missed practice because of a hyperextended right knee suffered in Sunday's loss to Detroit.

If Majkowski doesn't play, the Packers (1-5) will have to choose between rookie third-round draft pick Anthony Dilweg and veteran Blair Kiel.

Although three-time Pro Bowl offensive tackle Luis Sharpe and defensive tackle Bob Clasby have been on injured reserve since tearing knee ligaments in the fourth quarter of last season, the Rams are changing quarterbacks, replacing starter Doug Flutie with Roger Staubach.

Staubach, who will be Buffalo at New England, is currently accepting applications for the following paid positions:

Day Editors

For information, please contact Erin O’Neill at 239-5303 or 283-4215
LaFontaine leads Isles past Toronto; Blues win

Pat LaFontaine had two goals and an assist as the New York Islanders broke a six-game losing streak with a 6-2 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night.

The Islanders won for the first time since a 3-2 win over Detroit on Nov. 4 and for only the second time in 13 games. Their record in that period is 2-9-2. The Maple Leafs were 4-1 in their previous five games.

The Islanders, 2-9-2 at home this season, took a 4-1 lead after one period against goaltender Peter Ing, making his first start in the NHL. They scored four times on only seven shots against Ing, who was brought up from Newmarket of the AHL on Wednesday.

Mick Vukota beat Ing from the top of the right circle at 2:24. Gerald Diduck gave the Islanders a 2-0 lead when his shot went into the net off the stick of defenseman Tom Kurvers at 6:11 on a power play.

LaFontaine made it 3-0 when he deflected in a pass by Alan Kerr at 8:33 from the slot. Tom Fergus' slap shot at 10:51 cut New York's lead to 4-2 on a power-play goal, a deflection from the side of the net at 11:31, restored the Islanders' three-goal lead.

Ing was replaced for three minutes by Mark LaForest before returning later in the first period.

He looked less shaky in the second and so did the Maple Leafs as they cut the Islanders' lead to 4-2 on Gary Leeman's goal during a scramble in front of goalie Glenn Healy.

But the Islanders wrapped things up on Brian Trottier's 493rd career goal and LaFontaine's second of the night and 15th of the season. Trottier put a backhander past Ing at 1:03 after skating in from center ice and LaFontaine added a short-handed goal at 4:26. Ing finished with 19 saves for the Leafs, who had won three straight games at Nassau Coliseum before Thursday night.

Pens 8, Nordiques 2

John Cullen had two goals and two assists and Kevin Stevens added a goal and three assists, leading the Pittsburgh Penguins to an 8-2 victory over the Quebec Nordiques Thursday.

The Penguins matched their longest winning streak this season with their second consecutive victory. They've outscored opponents 14-2 in the two games. The Nordiques have an NHL-low 11 points after losing 3-0 to the Islanders Friday.

Buccy 7, Red Wings 2

Paul MacLean and Paul Cavallini scored two goals each in the second period Thursday night, leading the St. Louis Blues to a 7-2 victory over Detroit, the Red Wings' seventh straight loss.

The Blues capitalized on four of six power-play chances for their sixth victory against one defeat and three ties in 10 games. Detroit (4-13-3) has allowed 11 power-play goals in its last 23 short-handed situations.

The Red Wings, who lost 10 straight before winning Wednesday, have an NHL-low 11 points.

Flyers 6, North Stars 3

Pelle Eklund scored twice and Mike Bullard had one goal and assisted on three others as the Philadelphia Flyers defeated Minnesota 6-3 Thursday night, ending the North Stars' four-game winning streak.

The victory gave the Flyers a 500 record for the first time in franchise history.

Bruins 3, Canadiens 2

Ray Bourque, Cam Neely and Glen Wesley scored goals 57 seconds apart late in the third period Thursday night, rallying the Boston Bruins to a 3-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

Patrick Roy appeared on his way to his 11th NHL shutout with 25 saves and a 2-0 lead when the Bruins erupted for their fourth victory in a row, extending their season streak to six games (5-0-1).

Bourque took a pass from Ken Linseman and scored his second goal of the season on a slap shot from the left faceoff circle at 17:35. Linseman earned his 500th NHL assist on the play.
Fencers in Wisconsin for their first dual meet

By CHRIS FILIO
Sports Writer

Notre Dame's fencing team will travel to Madison, Wisconsin, this weekend to begin their official dual meet competition. While at the University of Wisconsin, the Irish will do battle against host Wisconsin as well as the University of Chicago. This trip will mark the beginning of the official dual meet schedule for the Irish.

The Notre Dame fencing team will travel to Madison, Wisconsin this weekend to battle teams from the University of Wisconsin, the University of Lawrence, and the University of Chicago. This trip will mark the beginning of the official dual meet schedule for the Irish.

In men's sabre, all hopes will rest on three men: senior Dan Yu, captain Chris Baguer, and top newcomer James Taliaferro. "We're looking for Dan Yu to make a big contribution this weekend," said DeCicco.

Sophomore Ed Baguer will be a junior Olympic Qualifying tournament competitor in Detroit, Michigan. Sabreman Leszek Nowosielski and Henry Hou have signed up to sit out for the semester. Junior Dave Kirby will also be out this weekend.

"They've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.

Tarlary suspended for DWI arrest

Associated Press

Dallas Mavericks forward Roy Tarpley was suspended indefinitely Thursday by counselors in his after-care program, one day after he was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

In a telephone hookup from the ASAP Family Treatment Center in Van Nuys, Calif., Dr. David Lewis told a news conference that Tarpley would be suspended without pay "until we can sort everything out.".."We've got a very nice sabre team headed up by DeCicco of the University of Chicago. Fortunately their strongest weapon will be sabre, as will ours. I'd like to think that our foil and epee teams will dominate," said Kirby.

The Irish will perform in their final full season match on the first weekend in December.
Alumni, Cavanaugh collide in finals of Interhall playoffs

BY DAVE DIETEMAN
Sports Writer

Eager Notre Dame football fans can watch their appetites this Sunday as Alumni and Cavanaugh face off in the championship game of the 1989 men’s Interhall season. Although Alumni and Cavanaugh have been rivals in the medium-dorm 1953 League, these two teams make football programs at the peak of rebuilding. This year’s edition of Cavanaugh football was the first to advance to the championship game since 1987. Alumni’s struggle through a winning season in 1986, just a year after being crowned champions in 1985. Both teams have steadily risen from the depths of their division to the upper crust, with a combined record of 9-1 thus far this season.

The two teams clashed earlier this season, with Cavanaugh prevailing 7-0 behind the 135-yard rushing performance of Dave Ludwig and Mark Ross. Both Ludwig and Ross have a habit of demolishing opposing defenses, and have demonstrated their ability to perform in key situations. Split end John Martin should also figure in the Dogs’ offensive strategy. Finally, kicker John Carretta, with his quick release and accurate foot, presents a problem for any opposing team.

The Dogs stack up just as well on defense, with nose tackle Justin Pollit leading the way. However, as linebacker Paul Sperczykowski stated, “Our defense has really been a collective effort.” Defensive back Ryan Roberts agrees, saying, “We’re trying to cut the hype and play as a unit. We just want to play one-dimensional football, come together as a team and do our job.”

Where Cavanaugh is concerned, offense and defense are well-balanced. Quarterback Chris Fox will run the Crusader offense, utilizing rushing sensations Trent Bonneau and Marty Kelly, as well as receiving threat Steve Brackett. Also, kicker Britt Lebo provides a reliable boot when needed. But once again, team play has been the key.

Says Marty Kelly, “We’ve had an awesome season, but the real key to our success is that we’ve been working together – it’s just been an incredible team effort.”

On defense, Cavanaugh looks to its line-backing corps of Açık Caroline, Lisah Reith, and Christine Rankin, with Trent Bonneau, and David Short for big plays. Cornerbacks Jim Hawkins and Kyle Sullivan have also demonstrated impressive potential. But depth may be the most crucial element on this team.

“Single player is irre­placeable. We’ve got enough capable players on the sidelines to fill in for the starters, and one of the biggest reasons for our success this year has been that everyone practices hard, plays hard and is enthusiastic,” said defensive end Phillip Molloy.

Win or lose, both teams appreciate the appeal of playing in storied Notre Dame Stadium.

“We’re pretty excited to be in Notre Dame Stadium,” exclaimed Marty Kelly, “but Cavanaugh is excited, too,” admitted Alumni defensive back Ryan Roberts. Cavanaugh all-per­sonal man Marty Kelly agreed, commenting “I’ve been watching Notre Dame football since I was five, and I’ve always wanted to play in the Stadium. This is almost like reliving the Texas state championship from high school.”

The game is tentatively schedule for Sunday at 2 p.m. at Notre Dame Stadium. However, due to weather conditions, the game may be moved to the Loftus Sports Center.

Howard, Lewis will fight to decide Interhall crown

By THERESA KELLY

Two teams similar in style will face off Sunday for the women’s Interhall football championship.

Defending champion Lewis will try to make it two in a row against upset-minded Howard at the Stadium at 1 p.m., unless the game is moved indoors to the Loftus Sports Center.

Lewis won at the Stadium last year in extremely wet and muddy conditions. Howard is appearing in the finals for the first time. Both teams say they would rather play outside than move to the turf at Loftus.

“They’ll go right at us and run a lot,” said Tom Zidar. “I think Lewis is the favorite going in. They were in the finals last year, and they have most of their team back. We don’t think it’s anything different, but you never know what to expect.”

Both teams are coached by residents of Sorin Hall, and both offenses are patterned after the Sorin team’s style – consisting largely of a ground game with an occasional pass thrown in.

“Our offense is similar to ours,” said Lewis captain Bill Campagna. “We both run many plays. We have more of a running game, and they run a lot of sets. I think it’s all who wants to win it the most. Howard’s in the position we were in last year, when we came from nowhere and nobody expected us to win.”

On the defensive side, both teams play tough, and the game is expected to go down to the wire. Lewis has many games in overtime, and “run a lot,” said Zidar, who was low-scoring this season.

Lewis stands at 3-2, having suffered regular-season losses to Breen-Phillips and Farley. Howard will try to improve to 6-1 in the regu­lar season.

“I think it’ll all go right down to the wire,” Campagna said. “I wouldn’t be surprised to see it end on an overtime play.”

Collins continued from page 20

of the tournament and will be pitted against the winner or loser of the Indiana-Western Michigan game Saturday, depending upon its outcome.

11-11 Argos will attack the Irish with their big gun Amy Cunningham, who totalled 261 kills with 261 errors and 32 assists. Texas A&M’s setter, Yvonne Van Brandt has set the Aggies in motion all season by picking up 261 digs and putting up 877 assists.

Taryn Collins (3), Kathy Cunningham, and the rest of the Notre Dame volleyball squad hope to have many chances to slap hands in this weekend’s matches with Texas A&M and Indiana University.

Indiana has the reciprocal record of the Argos at 15-11 and are led by junior Diane Horeth’s team-high 375 kills and sophomore Nancy Mason’s 302 kills.

The Hoosiers’ freshman setter has been a catalyst for many of these kills, providing her teammates with 972 assists, while adding 225 digs, and 32 blocks. Junior middle blocker Julie Goodale has established herself as a force at the net, recording 89 total blocks.

The host Broncos are 16-9 thus far primarily because of elder statesman Joanne Bondoc’s 450 kills and 42 blocks to her name. Bingham’s partner in crime, sophomore Jan Cotrell, has 1,054 assists.

The Observer/Dave Moskop

Two young players—sopho­more Julie Young and freshman Kim Lee—lead the Broncos with 228 digs and 71 total blocks, respectively.

“I think they’re all beatable teams,” senior captain Kathy Cunnigham said of her last collegiate tournament. “It would be nice to win the whole tournament and maybe even turn the heads of the Nitro judges if they see us making a late-season surge. We’ve had some intense practices this week and I know we’re ready to win. We barely got Michigan in five games earlier this season so it would be especially nice to knock the top off if we have to play them.”

Don’t drink and drive

A public service message from The Observer

INTERNATIONAL BANQUET

Saturday, November 18
7:00 P.M.
FACULTY DINING ROOM
(Second Floor South Dining Hall)

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT THE DOOR
204 La Fortune Center
PRICE: $5
(Limited number of tickets)

Sponsored by:
Friday, November 17, 1989

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Thai run, in horse racing
5. Mocha
10. Kind of glass
14. Below
15. Man from Mars
16. English river
17. Alfresco
18. British gun
26. Persecuted, bothersome person
27. Drift
28. Did ones are
31. Obvious
32. Finishes
33. Feathered on appetizer feet
36. "Yankee Doodle Dandy"
37. Lighting gas
41. Former, lightweight champ
42. Mail payment
46. Play the ponies
47. Adhere
50. "Nearest to the gods"
51. Charivari
52. "I am immediately, on a prescription"
53. Sable
54. Hurricane centers
55. Monarch
57. Actress Hagen

DOWN
1. Support
2. Rakehell
3. Gobbles
4. Squawk
5. Bare-bones military units
6. Anaglyph
7. Memorable fashion designer
9. Fodder
10. Pilgrims' shelter
11. Vulnerable
12. Employer
13. Let
18. "Having the wants; I am nearest to the gods"
19. Dried ivy
20. Beyond reason
21. Stigma
22. Singer Davis
23. Yap
24. Stretch the neck
25. A 1961 Oscar winner
26. Beyond reason
27. Draconian language
28. Maternally related
29. Clara Barton's org.
30. Indentations
31. Cactus Jack
32. John or Bob
33. Dravidian language
34. Clara Barton's org.
35. Behung
36. Indentations
37. Mendacity
38. Cactus Jack
39. The Far Side

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

1. Support
2. Rakehell
3. Gobbles
4. Squawk
5. Bare-bones military units
6. Anaglyph
7. Memorable fashion designer
9. Fodder
10. Pilgrims' shelter
11. Vulnerable
12. Employer
13. Let

---

MENUS

Notre Dame
- Hamburger
- Veal Marengo
- Chili Cheese Macaroni
- Devonshire Sandwich

Saint Mary's
- Eggplant Parmesan
- Chicken Enchilada
- Vegetarian Moussaka
- Deli Bar

---

COMICS

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILL WATTERSON

---

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

---

Tonight...It's the 70s Bell Bottom Fest

CARRIE 6:00 PM

SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER 10:10 PM

JAWS

Cushing Auditorium

Admission: $2.00

12:20 AM
Collins, Irish volleyball prepare for IU, Texas A&M

BY MOLLY MAHONEY
Assistant Sports Editor
Senior setter Taryn Collins has her sights set on a strong finish for the Notre Dame volleyball team.

"The Oak Park, Ill. native arrived here in 1986 and immediately stepped into the limelight, garnering All-North Star Conference and First-team honors and tallying 822 assists in her first collegiate season. And during his senior and sophomore season, Collins continued to astound the record books, setting a school single-match record of 86 assists against William and Mary, tallying single-season record for digs average and assists average, with 3.38 and 11.64, respectively and becoming Notre Dame's all-time assist leader with 1,832. But the following spring, things took a downsampling for Collins. Having been dismissed from the team for disciplinary action, Collins—who had become a permanent fixture in the Irish lineup and a major contributor to the team's success—had to watch the matches from the comfortable seats instead of the court. "It wasn't really hard sitting out a year," Collins said. "In fact, I think I needed a mental break from the game and I don't think my game has suffered at all. Physically, I feel as strong as I did when I left."

Collins returned to the squad this year in the wake of her man sensation Julie Bremner's decision to forego collegiate play to join the United States National team after setting a single-season school record of 1,340 for the Irish in 1988. "When Julie left, the team needed another setter because they only had one left," Collins said. "I wanted to play for Notre Dame again and prove to myself that I had the dedication and commitment to come back. "I love playing volleyball. I'm glad I could help the team out and I'm glad they gave me the chance to do it."

She has returned to the court with a vengeance for her final season, recording 1,023 assists thus far for a flagging Irish squad.

And Collins has displayed her versatility as well, tallying 4 kills, 26 service aces and 235 digs for the Irish. "I think experience has a lot to do with my success," Collins said. "I played four years in varsity in high school and three years on a club team, so I've got plenty of experience under my belt."

"Setting is completely different from any other position on the court because everything you do effects everyone else. It's your job to worry about what everyone else is doing on the court."

Because of the added responsibility on a setter's shoulders, Collins would like to see herself in the middle of a deadly triple play. "If you're weak, I've hurt the whole team," Collins said. "So it has a huge impact on the team when you have a bad game. My goal is to sharpen my game and hopefully help the team in the process."

The Irish will need Collins at her most consistent this weekend, as the 12-16 Irish travel to Kalamazoo, Mich. to play in the Western Michigan Invitational—the squad's last tournament of the winter season.

Although many Irish fans have become accustomed to the Irish's success, the squad is no stranger to defeat. "You've got to keep things in perspective. We're not unbeatable," Collins said. "It's important that the Irish get as many wins as they can while playing at home. The Irish will faceoff at home six times in the next eight games but then will play 14 of their last 20 on the road."

Swim teams set to dive in

BY MARY GARINO
Sports Writer
The Notre Dame swimmers have two chances to face this weekend: their opponents and each other.

The men's swimming team faces a tough test this weekend as it travels to Milwaukee on Friday and Indiana on Saturday. The men's team does not dive this weekend, so they won't just be competing against their opponents. The swimmers will be challenging each other. The meats are the last races for the Irish before the Notre Dame-Carlow meet next month, and each Irish swimmer will be vying for a spot on the relay team for the National Championships. See SWIM / page 13.

ND hockey hosts two vs. St. Cloud

BY MIKE KAMRATH
Sports Writer
Few people have heard of the Huskies from St. Cloud State, and even less know that they are from Minnesota. The Notre Dame hockey team, however, will become quite well acquainted with the Huskies this weekend, as they meet in games Friday and Saturday at 7:30 at the Joyce ACC.

The Joyce ACC Cloud plays in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, one of the toughest conferences in college hockey, and has 20 players on full scholarship. The Joyce ACC will certainly provide a stiff test for the Fighting Irish. "The Joyce ACC will give us a good challenge," said Schafer.

"I talked to a coach who played them recently, and he said that they have a pretty deep team," said Schafer.

St. Cloud State has never been defeated in their 36-3-4 record. They lost to top ranked Lake Superior State in the West. When St. Cloud State will play in the third-ranked Providence Friars in the West. When St. Cloud State will play in the third-ranked Providence Friars in the East (when they go over time), and also came up short against the fourth-ranked Wisconsin Badgers by one goal. In order for the Irish to be successful and extend their four game winning streak, they'll have to continue scoring goals at the blistering pace they have been so far this year. As a team, the Irish have scored 43 goals in only six games and scored at least six goals in each of their five wins. Sophomore Center Dave Banko leads the Irish with 9 goals and 6 assists. Senior captain and right wing Tim Kuehl has added 7 goals and 6 assists, while left winger Mike Curry has contributed 5 goals and 8 total points. Center Curtis Janicke has totaled 10 points and freshman Dan Sawyer (4 goals, 2 assists), gives the Irish scoring punch from the defensemen position.

Schafer hopes the Irish can continue to spread the scoring around. "Everyone must contribute," commented Schafer. "We also need to have fewer penalties than our opponent and we need to get our power play going a little better."

From the defensive end, the Fighting Irish will be crucial to Notre Dame's success this weekend. Although many teams have the tendency to get complacent and have a letdown after a good start to the season, Schafer doesn't expect that to happen to the Irish. "We've had a week of practice," observed Schafer. "But we're not so naive to think we can just keep working hard."

"I'm confident that the Irish get as many wins as they can while playing at home. The Irish will faceoff at home six times in the next eight games but then will play 14 of their last 20 on the road."

Irish travel to St. Louis

BY MIKE CANZONIERO
Sports Writer
After their overwhelming victory in the Michigan State Invitational, the Notre Dame wrestlers were rated 15th in the nation by the Amateur Wrestling News rankings this week. This week is the highest the Irish have ever been ranked in a pre-season poll. Coach Fran McCaill stated that this is "a legitimate ranking," and "it gives a chance for the team to move up throughout the season."

This Saturday, at the St. Louis Invitational Tournament, the Irish will match up against tough competition from other top-20 teams including top-ranked Oklahoma State, second-ranked Arkansas State, third-ranked Oklahoma and sixth-ranked Nebraska.

"The tournament will be a pretty good test for us," McCaill said. "Especially our younger guys who have not really gotten a chance to see where they stand.

Twenty-five wrestlers will enter the tournament in either the freshman, sophomore or open divisions. McCaill said the freshmen and sophomores on the team will have a good test for the walk-ons, while the open division will provide stiff competition for the top wrestlers.

McCaill said he would like to see several wrestlers place in the tournament. He said senior Andy Hadlenburg (ranked 12th in the nation) and sophomore co-captain Pat Roy (ranked second in the nation at 142 lbs) have good chances at becoming finalists. A key man could be ranked 15th in the nation at 162 lbs with number one-ranked Junior Saunders of Arizona State. A team score will not be kept in the tournament. McCaill doesn't believe that the tournament is that important, but would like to see what his younger wrestlers can do.

"I want our kids to continue improving," McCaill said. "We have a bunch of fighters this year and that kind of toughness is something we have lacked in the past. We have been aggressive so far and that is the kind of team I like."

The Irish travel to the Las Vegas Invitational on Dec. 1st, and then begin their tough dual meet schedule starting with the third ranked Michigan State at Notre Dame. The Irish will face five opponents in the Amateur Wrestling News Top 20.

"By far it's the toughest schedule we have had, but the kids are not intimidated by it," McCaill said.