Gunman killed women because they 'spoiled his life'

Montreal (AP) — The 23-year-old student who ranged through the University of Montreal's engineering school and killed 14 women carried a suicide letter complaining that women had spoiled his life and he was seeking revenge, police said Thursday.

The young killer — identified Thursday night as Marc Lapin — also wounded nine women and four men before killing himself Wednesday in the worst mass murder in Canadian history.

As he roamed through the modern, six-story engineering building firing a rifle, Lapin ranting, "I want the women!" and "You're all a bunch of feminists!" witnesses told police.

One of the wounded remained in critical condition Thursday. The rest were out of danger.

Little was known of the killer's background, but the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. said police confirmed his identity through his mother and quoted detective Sgt. Robert Fuller as giving the man's name as Marc Lapin.

In his letter, Lapin said he was committing a "political act" in killing the women because "feminists had always ruined my life," police reported.

Senior police investigator Jacques Duscheneau told a news conference Lapin used a .22-caliber Storm Rofer semiautomatic assault rifle.

Lapin also carried a hunting knife and sheath, two boxes of bullets and a .30-caliber clip.

He was described as being about 5-foot-9 inches, weighing about 160 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes.

Duscheneau said the rifle "is the type of weapon you can use for hunting reasons" in Canada with proper certification.

Andre Tesser, director of operations of the Montreal police, told reporters Lapin had obtained a permit for the rifle.

Canada's gun control laws are generally stricter than those in the United States.

Duscheneau said "it was quite clear" that a three-page handwritten letter signed "Marc" and found on Lapin's body was a suicide note. He said it specified Dec. 6 as the date for Lapin's death.

He said it contained the names of 15 women that were believed taken from a newspaper.

The budget debate for 1991 comes amid the Pentagon's attempts to grapple with restraints over the long term in light of eased tensions abroad and budget-deficit problems at home.

Chairman Young has ordered the service chiefs to come up with plans that could allow up to $180 billion to be trimmed from future budgets in the years from 1992 to 1994.

Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams said Cheney received a figure...
A candlelight vigil presented by Right to Life will begin at 6 p.m. tonight on the fieldhouse mall.

Shenanigans Christmas concert is tonight at 7 p.m. in Washington Hall. Free tickets are available at the door.

Armenia marked the first anniversary of the earthquake that killed 25,000 of its people, stopping the town clock forever at 11:41 Thursday, the minute the 1988 disaster struck. The earthquake measuring 6.9 on the Richter scale left 20,000 missing and destroyed the homes of 200,000 more. As the quake shook Armenia, the Soviet Union opened its borders to foreign assistance for the first time, accepting the help of thousands of experts, including rescue teams, doctors and construction specialists.

A vaccine for AIDS may be on the horizon, according to an expert who says a new vaccine against a virus that causes AIDS in monkeys "is the most significant advance in the vaccine field since we started the AIDS vaccine program." Dr. Wayne Koff, chief of AIDS vaccine research at the National Institutes of Health, said Thursday the discovery "has dispelled any doubts about ever being able to create a vaccine against HIV the virus that causes AIDS in humans."

A doctor accused of soliciting college students to have sex with his wife was found dead Thursday in what was apparently a suicide, police said. Rodney Thorp Wood, 60, and his wife, Nancy Steffen Wood, 44, were arrested in September after allegedly conducting a phony research project at the University of Oregon in which "evaluating the sexual potential of the mature female" involved paying male students for taking part in research sessions, police said.

The Isis Gallery presents "New Faces," a collection of work from Notre Dame graduate students, opening today from 5 to 7 p.m.

Advent lessons and carols by the Notre-Dame Liturgical Choir and Brass will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Moreau Seminary Chapel.

Nicaragua's government has emphasized "a clear pattern of abuses" designed to intimidate political activists and voters before February's national elections, said a senior State Department official Thursday. In Nicaragua, meanwhile, President Daniel Ortega announced the Bush administration of sabotaging a meeting of Five Central American presidents to be held Sunday and Monday in San Jose, Costa Rica.

Debris from the Three Mile Island nuclear plant will be routed to an Idaho laboratory for examination via a 10-state journey, the Transportation Department has concluded. The Energy Department is 3 1/2 years into a program to haul 300,000 pounds of damaged, radioactive fuel by train from the crippled TMI Unit 2 reactor in Middletown, Pa., to an Idaho federal laboratory 2,400 miles away.

The Observer
P.O. Box G
Notre Dame, Indiana 46556
(219) 239-7471
Friday's Staff
News
Kathy Tulli
Mary Yannakos
Ancient
Phyllis Simmons
Liz Healy
Brian Gurri
Production
Lady Anthony
Osmena Ortiz
Ad Design
Amy Eppler
Val Poletto
Mag. Catahan
Ann Coote
Jannine Haynor
Viewpoint
Kathy Taggart
Colleen Spagon
Systems
Zoe Zielke
Sports
Molly Manthey
Interviews
Michael Gargiulo

The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reprints rights are reserved.
Friday, December 8, 1989
The Observer

Page 3

Nun urges women to fight for sexual equality in the Church

By PAUL PEARSON
News Writer

Women need to fight for more equality in the Catholic Church. Sister Theresa Kane said in a videotape presented at the Center for Social Concerns Thursday.

The videotape, sponsored by the Committee on Women's Ordination Concerns, aired last October on the second anniversary of Kane's address to Pope John Paul II about the plight of women in the Church.

In the tape, Kane said that women need to feel "...not only an awareness for the holiness of life, but an awareness for the holiness of life.

When efforts to reach that awareness are blocked, Kane said, "We need to show courage and with rage. We are called to be artisans and authors of our own destiny."

After the presentation, the audience participated in a brief discussion of what has happened since the address to Pope John Paul II. One participant stated that since then, "there has never been a reply. Another participant defended the women's current place in the Church as the subject of the ordination of women, she said, "Being ordained is not going to do away with things."

Another participant asked about the Committee's tactics. "If you want to speak to the Church, why are you only talking to the University?" he asked.

To conclude the evening, the audience conducted a brief prayer service where they called the people to "...speak our truth in love without vengeance or hostility. The vision is inscribed on the tablets of our hearts, and it will not go away."

Speaker praises blacks as the 'world's strongest people'

By PATRICK HEALY
News Writer

Jawanza Kunjufu, president of African American Images, spoke on the topic of black Americans in a Year of the Belize lecture.

Lecturing on "The Black Family," he cited three of the most pressing problems facing blacks as self-esteem, economics, and drugs.

On the topic of black self-esteem, Kunjufu said blacks do not understand who they are and don't even care. He said that the black value system is in conflict with its race because blacks who are taught history that is focused on Western culture cannot understand themselves as light skin, long hair, and blue eyes, and have been told that they are by others since the time of slavery.

He said that the first humans were black, as were Jesus and King David, and offered several examples to show that many black achievements are not overlooked in teaching history.

At one point in the lecture, in the Church, Kane said, "...an audience if they could name many prominent blacks in science, literature, and education, as compared to those in sports, television, and music, few could.

Speaking on self-esteem, Kunjufu stated that "...racism is a sign of insecurity, not inferiority." He said that whites "...know more about you (blacks), that you know about yourself," and that learning about racism and black history is the key to solving this problem.

Kunjufu accused the media of focusing on blacks when discussing poverty. He noted that blacks are white, and that a sizable percentage of blacks make over $40,000 a year. He said that economically blacks are "...not monolithic" and shouldn't be put in the same group of which the media speaks.

A major theme of the lecture was that blacks who are successful should not forget the others less fortunate. He said that black values had changed from "we to F," from cooperation to competition, and from interior feelings to exterior appearances. He stated that those who have done should give thanks to God, good teachers and caring parents.

Kunjufu asked the audience if they could have been as successful if they had been born into a less fortunate environment. He told them that some of the success they have had in the world is because they are blacks.

Speaking on drugs, Kunjufu criticized Reagan and Bush for cutting the Coast Guard's budget. He said they are afraid to cut out a $150 billion dollar drug industry from which, he believes, banks receive funds.

He added that 76 percent of drug users are white.

He presented many suggestions for solving the drug problem, such as focusing on the poor, self-esteem, halting sales of drug paraphernalia, and increasing the number of treatment centers.

Kunjufu proposed giving the money from drug busts to the community, stating that the "police are in on the take" from these busts. He said that communities must organize themselves as well as drug dealers do.

Kunjufu praised blacks as the "world's strongest people" because they survived their transfer from Africa to America, slavery and the depression.

However, he said that "America believes they have us" in regard to AIDS, drugs, teenage pregnancy and unemployment.

He also stated that "America would rather have [blacks] on welfare than independent." He noted they would be a lot more economical to train welfare recipients that to pay them throughout their lifetime.

The speaker also criticized "the design purpose of schools" which he said was to either "destroy" blacks or "make them white," by trying to make them embrace white values.

Kunjufu offered many solutions to the problems he presented in his lecture. He said blacks must study history, understand racism and become familiar with God. He also proposed effective time management, knowledge of economics and politics, and good diet and exercise.

On a community level, Kunjufu stressed programs concerned with culture awareness, tutorials, rites of passage, junior businesses and role models.

Week-end Liturgical Schedule at Stepan

FAMILY SKATE NIGHT
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15
5:30 - 7:45 PM
JACC ICE RINK

A VISIT FROM SANTA
GAMES
REFRESHMENTS
FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY
FREE SKATE RENTALS WHILE THEY LAST

THUMBS UP!
CINEMA AT THE SNITE

"FRESH, FUNNY AND WINNING."
--JANET MUSIL, THE NEW YORK TIMES

"TWO THUMBS UP!"
You end up trying to pick which is your most favorite character, and the last time I did that was with 'American Graffiti.' Could be a top-ten-of-the-year film."
--SISKEL & EBERT

CO-SPONSORED BY THE GENDER STUDIES CONCENTRATION
TONIGHT 7:30; 9:30

MYSTIC PIG
A ROMANTIC COMEDY WITH THE WORKS

"PROUTTIMES" OF THE "STARK" "SUBWAY"""
Former Boeing Co. exec. convicted on 39 counts

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A federal court jury Thursday convicted a former Boeing Co. marketing executive on 39 counts arising from his possession of secret Pentagon budget documents.

The 12-member jury in U.S. District Court deliberated about two hours before returning the verdicts against Richard Lee Fowler, who worked for Boeing from 1978 until he was fired in 1986 after an investigation was begun.

Fowler could be sentenced to 310 years in prison and fined $225,000 if the maximum penalties are imposed. The counts with which he was charged included conspiracy, mail fraud and illegal conveyance of classified documents.

Fowler has pleaded guilty to receiving classified documents from Fowler and has agreed to pay fines of $5.2 million. In addition, the company's Washington-area office has been suspended from bidding on government contracts, a largely symbolic punishment.

Fowler faced the jury as the verdict was read, occasionally closing his eyes while members of his family cried in the background.

Asked later whether he had been made a scapegoat for others he said: "I would rather not comment on that. I mean you can draw your own conclusions."

Fowler, 64, also said he considered Boeing "the best employer I ever had."

Fowler's attorneys said they would appeal the verdict and sentencing was set for Jan. 12. He will remain free on bond.

This case, in my view, puts everyone in the defense contracting industry on notice that theft, conversion and conveyance of classified documents will not be tolerated," said U.S. Attorney Henry Hudson.

Hudson said investigations will continue into the trafficking of classified Pentagon documents.

John Bray, Fowler's attorney, said he was disappointed and the "first day parade of brass was no help." A string of generals testified the first day of the trial.

Bray said the verdict "certainly ... has a signal in it. But this case isn't over."

In testimony this week, employees of several defense contractors said they were part of a nine-company network whose Washington representatives traded Pentagon budget documents in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

The '90s

continued from page 1

organs; expected advances in mass transportation; and the automobiles of the '90s.

Associated Press contributed to this story.

WE'D LIKE TO REMIND YOU THAT THE UNCENSORED CONTENT OF THIS NEWSPAPER IS MADE POSSIBLE BY THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE CONSTITUTION

You've read it. You've believed it. Now you can live it.

STAKES

PRIME RIB

SEAFOOD

REGISTRY RALLY TO THE ORANGE BOWL

December 26th, 1989 - January 4th, 1990

3 Nights $430.00
5 Nights $645.00
Prices per person, double occupancy
(Single occupancy rates available)

Upgrade to deluxe room
Special in-room amenities each evening
Bottle of wine with Manager's compliments during dinner in Lafite
Courtesy airport pickup
Chartered bus to Orange Bowl, then return to Naples
Orange Bowl Brunch game day
Box of "Gourmet Goodies" for your game day dinner

See your travel agent or call 1-800-247-9810

HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY, ANNE HART!
Can you believe it??

Love,
Dad, Mom & Susan

THE OBSERVER FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1989
ND receives human rights grant

The University of Notre Dame Law School's Center for Civil and Human Rights has received a $380,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to establish a teaching and research program in international human rights law.

"We are grateful to the Ford Foundation for this timely and important grant," said University President Father Edward Malloy. "Because the problems of international human rights require our most disciplined and persistent efforts, Notre Dame intends to build on the Ford Foundation's participation in seeking permanent endorsement for the Center for Civil and Human Rights and by encouraging other institutes and academic departments to collaborate in its endeavors."

According to Father William Lewers, professor of law and director of the Center, "As a Catholic university, Notre Dame has a traditional and solid commitment to human rights which makes it a natural home for this sort of project."

The new program, while based in the Law School, will cooperate with Notre Dame's Kellogg Institute for International Affairs, the Institute for International Peace Studies, the Department of Government and International Studies, and other academic units of the University.

A major component of the program will be the offer of a master of laws degree in international human rights for lawyers primarily, though not exclusively, from outside the United States. The program will also assist in developing a joint degree program in law and peace studies.

During each academic year, the program will bring to Notre Dame visiting faculty members from other countries. In 1990-91, the principal visitor will be Igor Grazin, professor of constitutional law at Tartu University in Soviet Estonia. Grazin is an elected member of the Supreme Soviet and a member of that body's newly formed committee on constitutional reform.

The policies and programs of the Center for Civil and Human Rights are developed with the assistance of an advisory council whose members are at present drawn from the Kellogg Institute, the Institute for International Peace Studies, the Department of Government and International Studies, the University's administration and the Law School faculty.

The Center for Civil and Human Rights was established in 1973 with assistance from the Ford Foundation. Influenced by the work of Father Theodore Hesburgh, then president of Notre Dame and member of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, the Center at first concentrated on civil rights in the United States. In recent years, its interests have expanded to include human rights issues both in this nation and abroad.

Among its research projects have been immigration and naturalization law reform and proposals for amnesty for violators of selective service laws.

The president has not yet made a decision on a figure for the budget authority for the Pentagon, a number that usually is derived first in the budget process, and includes funds for longer-term weapons buying, the source said.

The spokesman said the department now must make its plans conform with the new figure, for the fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1, so they may be included in the formal presentation of the president's budget to Congress next month.

He said Cheney is determined to send "a realistic budget" to Congress.

Cheney himself has said he will not have his budget labeled "dead-on-arrival" because it contained unrealistic expectations of increased spending.

Under the last budget put out by the Reagan administration, projected military outlays for fiscal 1991 were estimated at $304.7 billion.

In the budget for the present fiscal year, Pentagon appropriations as set by Congress were $286 billion. An increase to $292 billion would be 2.1 percent, though the $286 billion figure is not final.

The administration is projecting 1990 inflation will increase at an average rate of 4.1 percent.

The president has not yet made a decision on a figure for the Pentagon, a number that usually is derived first in the budget process, and includes funds for longer-term weapons buying, the source said.

All decked out for the holidays
Notre Dame junior Dave Latherow and Andrea Matovina, a Saint Mary's student, rehearse a dance for the Saint Mary's annual Madrigal Christmas dinners held at Regina Hall, December 7-9.
Filipino troops celebrate the end of their six-day coup attempt against President Corazon Aquino Thursday during a victory march through Manila. Aquino remains in power, although officials doubt her political future.

Shootings

continued from page 1

prisoners after killing three people and wounding 13 in 1984 with submachine-gun fire in the Quebec legislature.

Copies of the letter were sent to a psychiatrist and a graphologist for analysis. Ducheneau said Lapin identified himself as a school student but did not specify a school.

He also said Lapin wrote that he was refused for military induction because he "wasn't a social person."

Police said 35 to 37 shots were fired from the assault rifle.

The school was crowded on the last day of classes before examinations when the killer arrived at about 4:30 p.m. EST.

Police said he first shot a woman in a second-floor corridor, then entered a room on that floor where a class with about 50 male and 10 female students was in session.

Witnesses said he told the class to separate by sex and sent the men into the corridor before opening fire, killing six more women.

"It was just like Rambo. He had at least two ammunition belts on his chest," said engineering student Robert Leclerc, who was in the classroom.

Leclerc, 23, said the killer told the women, "You're all a bunch of feminists. I hate feminists."

"My friend, Nathalie, said, "No, it's not true. We're not feminists." He fired into the group," Leclerc said.

Police said Lapin then went to the first floor where he killed three women in a cafeteria, next entered a third-floor classroom where he shot four women to death and then killed himself.

The engineering school was closed Thursday in mourning.

"What do I say to the parents," he said, his voice breaking with emotion. "They send us their daughters who are then killed."

"I feel angry. I feel useless. I feel powerless."

Montreal Mayor Jean Dore visited the site and told reporters, with tears in his eyes, that his babysitter was one of the women killed.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney expressed shock and sent condolences.

Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa told the legislature Thursday, "All of Quebec is in mourning."

A male student laid a wreath of roses in the snow outside the engineering building Thursday morning.

Thursday night, about 1,000 people walked to the school in stiff winds and freezing temperatures to hold a candlelight vigil.

St. Nick's Bazaar

St. Mary's College, Le Mars Hall

Open daily this week, 10-5

• wood crafts • decorated baskets • wreaths

Come to booth #17 and receive 10% discount with this ad.

Seniors,

Commencement Weekend is closer than you think.

Let the Commencement Accommodations Committee (CCE) help ease your way into it.

Notre Dame residence halls will be available to accommodate parents and friends of the students who will be graduating during the weekend of May 18-20.

Non-resident students must request and receive permission to remain on campus beyond May 12, 1990.

The meals services, provided through our office, will include buffet lunch on Friday, brunch and Graduation Dinner on Saturday, and a Sunday brunch.

Information about tickets for these events will be in a brochure sent to your parents in late February.

Friday will feature...

• Last Call for Communion
• University Concert Band
• Feast of Our Lady Dinner
• Grad School Reception
• Graduation Dance

Saturday will feature...

• ROCYC Communion
• Phi Beta Kappa Installation
• Academic Procession into Baccalaureate Mass
• Concert
• University of Notre Dame Glee Club

Sunday will feature...

• Academic Procession into Commencement & Confirmation of Degrees
• MBA and Law School Diploma Ceremonies

For more information, call us at 239-7640.
Miami policeman found guilty of manslaughter

MIAMI (AP) — A Hispanic policeman was found guilty of manslaughter Thursday in the deaths of two black men, and black leaders praised the verdict as a just response to the shooting that set off three days of racial violence.

Miami Officer William Lomazo, 31, showed no emotion when he heard the verdict in the Jan. 16 deaths of motorcyclist Clement Lloyd, 23, and passenger Allan Blanchard, 24. The two counts carry a total maximum sentence of 45 years.

Circuit Judge Joseph Farina deferred adjudication on the jury’s findings, an administrative formality to allow a pre-sentencing investigation. He ordered everyone involved to return to court Jan. 24. Lomazo remained free on $10,000 bond and had to surrender his passport.

The televised verdict by the six-member, multi-ethnic jury brought relief to an inner-city black community that feared the trial would spark another round of racial unrest.

"It just shows that our system works if people will give it a chance to work and that there are other ways of impacting the system than through violence," said Willis Sims, a black community leader who is a member of Dade County’s community relations board.

Miami has been racked by racial unrest four times this decade, including riots in 1980 and 1984 sparked by acquittals of police charged in the deaths of blacks.

Lithuania challenges Communism

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party suffered a major defeat in the Soviet Union on Thursday when the republic of Lithuania abolished the constitutional guarantee of Communist supremacy and legalized a multiparty system.

Similar action has been taken in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany as part of the wave of political upheaval and reform that is diminishing the role of the Communist Party in those nations.

Lithuania’s parliament defied Moscow with a resounding 243-1 vote to end the party’s total dominance of all political and social organizations within the Baltic republic. Another 98 deputies abstained or stayed away from the session.

President Mikhail Gorbachev has resisted opposing a multiparty system for the Soviet Union. The challenge to the Communist power structure comes at a time when he faces a crippled economy, growing conservative communists for the other 14 republics.

Word of the call for a general strike to demand a parliamentary vote on the national version of Article 6 began to percolate through Soviet society Thursday, after it was reported by Western radio stations.

On Thursday, the newspaper Izvestia published the first mention of a workers’ call for a generally circulated Soviet publication. The article was highly critical of the multiparty system, but nevertheless spread the word to the Soviet people’s 9.5 million readers nationwide.

In Latvia, the People’s Front is scheduled to meet with factory and labor leaders to respond to the call for a general strike.

Iraq claims it has test-fired two missiles

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Iraq claimed Thursday it has test-fired two long-range missiles and successfully launched a rocket able to carry satellites into space, developments that could affect the Middle East’s military balance.

Hissein Kamel, minister of industry and military industrialization, said the three-stage rocket was launched Tuesday from the Al-Anbar space launching center 50 miles west of Baghdad.

He also claimed in a statement broadcast by state-run Baghdad Radio that Iraq has test-fired two surface-to-surface missiles with a range of 1,240 miles.

That is enough to reach Cairo to the west, Athens and Istanbul to the northwest, all of Iran to the east, and the southern Soviet Union to the north.

Iraq’s other main foes, Israel and Syria, are already within the range of missiles reported in Iraq’s army’s weaponry.

If the Iraqi claims are true, the developments will heighten Soviet and U.S. fears of a new arms race in the Middle East.

State Department spokesman Richard Boucher said he had heard reports Iraq had developed an intercontinental ballistic missile but knew nothing about their viability.

Kamel gave no details of the surface-to-surface missiles and did not say when the test firings occurred.

The heaviest missile the Iraqis are believed to have developed is the al-Hussain, with a range of about 560 miles. The U.S. Polaris nuclear missile weighs only 13 tons.
Fear hinders entry of women into the Church

By Mary Abowd

On Thursday night of Call to Peacemaking Week, you may have noticed a candlelight procession of fifty or more women and men walking through the darkest of the campus. You may have heard chants like "Women united, Notre Dame's On Fire!" or "The rising of the women means the rising of the race!" This was all part of a march entitled "Take Back the Night" in which we purposes to reclaim what is rightfully ours-the freedom to walk where we would like at any time and to walk without fear.

In my first year at Notre Dame, I was told "you must never walk around the lakes alone at night!" I learned that there was a long, scary road called--much to my horror--"rape road," and, if I walked down it at the wrong time, I could learn of its true meaning for myself. The seemingly safe and harmless atmosphere of Notre Dame soon became a myth for me and for many other women I knew. The stifling fear we feel walking after dark as a nameless, faceless stranger approaches us, and our sense of duty to anal- yze us. On one level, this fear keeps from enjoying the night, yet on a much deeper level, it keeps us from being our whole selves because our growth is stunted by fear. Women are victims of assault and rape in ways which are unique to us, and, thus, our fears are unique.

By unitsing to "take back" the night, we were joining together to walk through the darkest places in campus--perhaps those which incite the most fear. We were joining together as a way of experiencing those places without fear. This was extremely freeing and freeing, for as long as we are threatened by our fear, we are, in a sense, held hostage.

Self-defense expert Judith Fein put it well when she said "fear is more of a woman's en- emy than a rapist." She sug- gests that we should follow our anger and our outrage to moti- vate us to constructive action. Although we have these very limite- gimate fears, we must not let them keep us down.

We cannot respond to our fears but instead must try to overcome them. We cannot let our socialization where we are taught that it is "unlady-like" to scream or be rude or inflict pain keep us from warring off an attacker. We must get an- other message. We must become resisters. Whether it means tear gas or verbal and physical self-de- fense, we women must refuse to be intimidated.

These reflections on "Take Back the Night" prompted some further thoughts on how fear can be the enemy if it is al- lowed to prevail. Women do be- come victims of their own fear, but more often, they fall prey to the fears that other people may have in regard to them.

The immediate example that comes to mind is the ordination of women to the priesthood. The Church has prohibited from entry into the ordained ministry of the Catholic Church? Could it be the fear that seeps through the ranks of the Church's hierar­ chy: a poison which chokes out the possibility of women and men sharing equally in the of­ ficial life of the Church? A fear to try what has never yet been tried?

With the present shortage of priests, I think it is high time that those standing in opposi­ tion to the ordination of women begin to swallow their fears and cast a vision toward the future of the Church.

Letters

Dear Editor:

I would like to address this letter to all the students at Notre Dame who eat in the din­ ing halls. I'm sure that, at one time or another, most of us have complained about bad food or slow service at the din­ ing halls. But I think we fail to see the enormous amount of work these people do for us. The dining halls serve thou­ sand of meals every day to often unappreciative students.

With all the faces dining hall workers look at every day, it can be discouraging to see peo­ ple grimace in disgust and say, their fullest capacity, of being people they want to be. There is a succinct and properly biting description of women which seems to cut to the heart of this matter. It goes like this: "If you don't ordain women, stop baptizing them."

Just as women must confront their fears as potential victims of violent crimes, those who perpetuate unjust structures such as an exclusively male priesthood need to confront their fears. Reluctance to take action and tactics of delay are both ways in which fears take over.

Meanwhile, the entire Church is missing out. To those who refuse to allow women to as­ sume a more public role in the Catholic Church, I say take back the night inside your­ selves, take back your fear. Imagine all the good that can come about from men and women sharing together equally in their ministry, imagine the transformation and life-nurturing influence that women can bring. Perhaps the gaps between laity and clergy would begin to narrow; new ways of viewing the clergy would come about where a priest would be more of a brother or sister than an untouchable "holy per­ son" to be venerated but not talked to like a real person. Male-female relationships within the Church would only improve, and women would no longer feel like second-class cit­ izens in the Church.

As just as we marched to feel empowered and overcome our fears, so too must those who fear a changing Church over­ come their fears. We must imagine a better Church, a Church which includes women in its every capacity. Then we can take action to make it bet­ ter. The time has most defi­ nitely come to give it a try.

Mary Abowd is a senior in the Program of Liberal Studies and a member of Women United for Justice and Peace.

Dining hall employees deserve respect

Dear Editor:

I would like to address this letter to all the students at Notre Dame who eat in the din­ ing halls. I'm sure that, at one time or another, most of us have complained about bad food or slow service at the din­ ing halls. But I think we fail to see the enormous amount of work these people do for us. The dining halls serve thou­ sand of meals every day to often unappreciative students.

If you don't ordain women, stop baptizing them."

Just as women must confront their fears as potential victims of violent crimes, those who perpetuate unjust structures such as an exclusively male priesthood need to confront their fears. Reluctance to take action and tactics of delay are both ways in which fears take over.

Meanwhile, the entire Church is missing out. To those who refuse to allow women to as­ sume a more public role in the Catholic Church, I say take back the night inside your­ selves, take back your fear. Imagine all the good that can come about from men and women sharing together equally in their ministry, imagine the transformation and life-nurturing influence that women can bring. Perhaps the gaps between laity and clergy would begin to narrow; new ways of viewing the clergy would come about where a priest would be more of a brother or sister than an untouchable "holy per­ son" to be venerated but not talked to like a real person. Male-female relationships within the Church would only improve, and women would no longer feel like second-class cit­ ians in the Church.

As just as we marched to feel empowered and overcome our fears, so too must those who fear a changing Church over­ come their fears. We must imagine a better Church, a Church which includes women in its every capacity. Then we can take action to make it bet­ ter. The time has most defi­ nitely come to give it a try.

Mary Abowd is a senior in the Program of Liberal Studies and a member of Women United for Justice and Peace.

GARRY TRUDEAU

GARRY TRUDEAU

GARRY TRUDEAU

DOONESBURY

"Gimme some of whatever that is supposed to be."

Even the lack of appreciation shown by the way students leave extra dishes and trash strewn about the dining halls after meals doesn't exactly encourage these people to be enthusiastic about their work.

Dining hall employees are not emotionless automatons. If they feel that their hard work is appreciated, they will most likely be willing to put a little bit of extra effort into serving your meals. Snide remarks and childish pranks in exchange for little or poor service or a bad dinner are not going to improve any­ thing. Rather, with a little consider­ ation and kindness, you will be making the worker's day a bit more pleasant and thereby making the workers themselves try a little harder to make their service to you better.

Even if you don't want to treat these people with kindness and respect for their sakes, at least do it for the improvement of the service you love to complain about.

Jennifer Nesbella

Leona Hall

Dec. 4, 1989
Supermarket visit conjures up profound ideas

Glenn G. Fogarty

With No Apologies

point page, since columns are written in pairs, and I quote
"serious and weighty issues.
Therefore, I suppose that at least try too sufficiently serious for a change. Since I just Kroger visit.
"Let's go Kroger-
ing....Ina.Ina.Ina." (I forget Forgive me.) I suppose with your 'buying spirit,' to get you 'in the mood' as it were.

One thing is for sure, though and that is Kroger has taken the idea of the 'power of suggestion' quite seriously. G and I discovered that 'Marcus' refers to one Marcus Atlanticus et Pacificus,

In the Latin, it may bilerly be translated as "that which stands over Marcus,' seemingly referring to a large Kroger. After much serious and weighty thought, I decided that 'Marcus' refers to one Marcus Atlanticus et Pacificus, an ancient Roman trader with an especially large tent. (The American is impressed by the fellow's skill, is adhered to, and I am a bit skeptical of this claim. I must be for eymodors.

As you enter a Kroger store,

CROP walk alleviates plight of poor

Dear Editor:

On Oct. 8, 1989 over 600 women walked the North Bend in the city-wide CROP walk, raising over $25,000 to help feed the hungry in our community and around the world.

The Notre Dame student body contributed over $1000 to that total, the largest amount we have ever raised for the South Bend CROP Walk in the 6 years it has been in existence. Student government and the Center for Social Concerns sincerely give thanks to all who walked or contributed. Your participation in this CROP Walk one of the most meaningful service projects we participate in.

The CROP Walk is the annual project of the Center for Social Concerns which raises cash money for the South Bend Food Rank, the Center for the Homeless, and other international relief organizations. By walking we increase awareness of the South Bend, participates earn the donations of their sponsors while increasing community awareness about the needs of the hungry.

On the Notre Dame campus

stipulated students walked,

nialing to this very suc-

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
I was not told or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.

Dear Editor:

I am disturbed as to what
was not said or was inadequate to the tragic loss of
St. Michael’s Laundry a few weeks ago.

St. Michael's Laundry was a "must" for many people in our city.

Time and energy have made a noticeable difference.
Chicago shopping, museums, and more

Friday

- MUSIC
  - St. Paul and the Marys, McCormick's, 10 p.m. $2
  - Shenanigans Christmas Concert, Washington Hall, 7 p.m. Free admission.
  - Break-Up Band, Duffy's, 10 p.m. $3 at the door.
  - Zeto & the Heat, O'Laughlin Hall, 10 p.m. $1 at the door.
  - Madrigal Christmas Dinner, Regina Hall, Mary's College, 7 p.m.

- THEATER
  - "Tiny Alice," Lab Theater, Washington Hall, 8 p.m.

- OFF CAMPUS
  - Middle Eastern Dinner, Club 23, 6 p.m. $5.

Saturday

- MUSIC
  - The Sharks, Blues and Motown music, Center Street Blues Cafe, 9:30 p.m. $4.
  - Fine Arts, acoustic guitar music, Club 23, 10 p.m. 2 a.m. $1.
  - Fiesta featuring Supercombo Pan Americanos, Theodore's, 8:30 p.m.-1:30 a.m.
  - South Bend Symphony Orchestra Concert, Morris Civic Auditorium, 8:15 p.m.
  - Madrigal Christmas Dinner, Regina Hall, Mary's College, 7 p.m.

- THEATER
  - "Tiny Alice," Lab Theater, Washington Hall, 8 p.m.
  - Misfits in Disguise, Comedy improv company, Alumni Center, 9:30-10:45 p.m.

Sunday

- NOTRE DAME
  - Friday Night Christmas Movies, $5 for whole night, $2 for individual movie.
  - It's a Wonderful Life, Engineering Auditorium, 8 p.m.
  - Adventures of Winnie the Pooh, Engineering Auditorium, 10:10 p.m.
  - A Christmas Story, Engineering Auditorium, 12:22 a.m.
  - Miracle on 34th Street, Engineering Auditorium, 2:30 a.m.
  - Mystic Pizza, Annenbarg Auditorium, 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m.

- UNIVERSITY PARK EAST
  - Franchise, 5:10 & 9:20 p.m.
  - All Dogs Go To Heaven, 5:30, 7:30 & 9:30 p.m.
  - Gross Anatomy, 5:10 & 9:20 p.m.
  - Shockers, 9:30 p.m.
  - Stealing Together, 7:30 p.m.
  - Steel Magnolias, 7:45 & 9:30 p.m.
  - Old Gringe, 7:10 & 9:40 p.m.
  - Welcome Home, 5:15, 7:45 & 9:45 p.m.

- UNIVERSITY PARK WEST
  - Little Mermaid, 5:10, 7:45 & 9:45 p.m.
  - Look Who's Talking, 5:25, 7:20 & 9:30 p.m.
  - Back to the Future II, 7 & 9:40 p.m.

COLLEEN CROWN ROBYN SIMMONS assistant accent editors

This is the last weekend before the finals crunch, so for real, the last weekend to have anything resembling a social life. Why not take off to Chicago for at least part of it?

With the Christmas season now in full swing, Chicago is at its very best. From shopping North Michigan Avenue to browsing through museums, there is enough to fill up an afternoon and then some. The trees along State Street and North Michigan Avenue are fully decorated with those small Italian lights, and the windows of the major department stores are decorated as well. Marshall Fields at Water Tower Place has always been the granddaddy of window shopping, and should not be missed. Also, for those who still need to do Christmas shopping, check out the new Bloomingdale's mall, at 900 N. Michigan, which is enough to keep even the quickest shopper busy for hours. While the checkout is still handly, take a walk to Guess', Tiffany's, and Burberry's just to name a few and see how that "other half" lives. All nine floors of Water Tower Place go without saying. If you desire a more educational (and cheaper) visit to Chicago, she has some great museums. Working south from North Michigan, the Museum of Contemporary Art on East Ontario is known as one of the most daring modern art museums, and a few of the galleries are devoted specifically to Chicago-area artists. It is open Tues-Sat. 10 to 5 and Sunday 12 to 5.

A 20-minute walk south along Michigan will lead you to The Art Institute of Chicago. This is one of the world's leading art museums and houses some of the finest French Impressionist and Post-Impressionist collections outside of France. George Seurat's Sunday in the Afternoon on the Island of La Grand Jatte (the painting of dots) and Van Gogh's American Gothic. These are collections of Oriental, European, primitive and textile art. One of the special exhibits now open is the Thorn Miniature Rooms. These are detailed miniature rooms that give a history of American and European interior design from 1500 through 1948. They are on a one-inch to one-foot scale and are remarkably and beautifully detailed.

Running south on Lake Shore Drive (with the water on your side) you will have a number of museums. Even though it's possible to spend an entire day in just one of these places, their close proximity to each other makes it possible to visit four museums in one afternoon.

Not only are the exhibits fascinating, but the museum gift shops offer a wide variety of holiday gift ideas.

The Field Museum of Natural History has over 19 million artifacts and specimens in the fields of anthropology, botany, geology, and zoology. The highlights of the Field Museum include the gem exhibit with jewels from around the world, towering dinosaur skeletons, ancient Egyptian mummies, and a rather extensive Native American clothing, jewelry, and art exhibits. From the children's section to the Native American to the European, the museum has a little bit for everyone, and is a great place to visit with the family.

The Oriental Museum houses one of the best collections of Oriental art in the world. This collection includes Chinese, Japanese, and Korean art. The museum is open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The American Art Museum has one of the finest collections of American art in the world. It is open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Museums at the Art Institute of Chicago are open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Art Institute of Chicago is one of the world's leading art museums and houses some of the finest French Impressionist and Post-Impressionist collections outside of France. George Seurat's Sunday in the Afternoon on the Island of La Grand Jatte (the painting of dots) and Van Gogh's American Gothic. These are collections of Oriental, European, primitive and textile art. One of the special exhibits now open is the Thorn Miniature Rooms. These are detailed miniature rooms that give a history of American and European interior design from 1500 through 1948. They are on a one-inch to one-foot scale and are remarkably and beautifully detailed.

Running south on Lake Shore Drive (with the water on your side) you will have a number of museums. Even though it's possible to spend an entire day in just one of these places, their close proximity to each other makes it possible to visit four museums in one afternoon.

Not only are the exhibits fascinating, but the museum gift shops offer a wide variety of holiday gift ideas.

The Field Museum of Natural History has over 19 million artifacts and specimens in the fields of anthropology, botany, geology, and zoology. The highlights of the Field Museum include the gem exhibit with jewels from around the world, towering dinosaur skeletons, ancient Egyptian mummies, and a rather extensive Native American clothing, jewelry, and art exhibits. From the children's section to the Native American to the European, the museum has a little bit for everyone, and is a great place to visit with the family.

The Oriental Museum houses one of the best collections of Oriental art in the world. This collection includes Chinese, Japanese, and Korean art. The museum is open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The American Art Museum has one of the finest collections of American art in the world. It is open every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Museums at the Art Institute of Chicago are open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
JOHN BLASI
accept editor

Leona's: Italian food at its best

I you're looking for a great Italian restaurant that Leona's offers in abundance, plentiful portions, and you've worked up quite an appetite running between floors at Water Tower Place, then try one of Leona's restaurants in Chicago.

Located in three different places in Chicago, Leona's features an extensive menu that includes everything from fried mozzarella and buffalo wings for appetizers to Fresh swordfish, Rotini Primavera, hamburgers, and ribs for main course selections.

The casual and friendly atmosphere we encountered at Leona's supported their "good food—good attitude" motto. Leona's varied menu and trendy atmosphere make it an overall success.

One thing we noticed about Leona's was that you really get more time for your money's worth for the entrees. In addition to the broad selection of fresh bread and ri·

sounded and looked tempting.

Many of the main courses were also served as side dishes and appetizers for those with appetites for those with smaller appetites. Spaghetti, rotini, monteauolo, and the fettuccini Alfredo all were served as appetizers ($3.75). The antipasto salad ($5.95) sounded very tempting with Genoa catalani, imported ham, and various cheeses.

Leona's menu also featured some tempting sandwiches including bours ($5.45), Italian sausage ($5.65)
and steak sandwich ($8.95).
Every type of pizza imaginable including pan ($11.45 for an 18") and stuffed ($11.95) was available on the menu. Leona's also featured a wine list and several varieties of imported beer. We tried Leona's own brew which proved to be quite good. If diners have room for dessert, the homemade

...
Servants of Mary, honoring her on her feast

A lovely legend tells how Mary, the Mother of God, when she was first taken to the temple at four years old, danced for joy at the sight of the Holy of Holies. The painful part of lovely legends, of course, is that since we have the same father, but she has no authority over us, we have to admire, but not imitate.

The poets were the first to reject the heresy of the mad Mienehacenas, who declared the universe evil in itself. Blake saw the world as the reflection of the eternal images. If the ideal is more actual than the real, this means, as Chesterton explains it, you might kill all the lambs of the World and eat them; but you could not kill the Lamb of the imagination, which was the Lamb of God that took away the sins of the world.

As you can see from this, philosophy in our tradition is deeply theological, just as theology is deeply philosophical. That's why human reflection on God, man and the universe can be described as "a theology of the secular." Such theology must be open to the divine as it reveals itself in the secular.

Nature, the stepmother, then, speaks for herself to those who give her their attention: the scientist, the artist, the philosopher, the poet. If the theologian believes that Christ is "all in all," then His image is everywhere in a universe that reveals Him sacrificially as in monstane.

The Irish Carmelite, Noel Dermot O'Donoghue, takes note of the evangelical fundamentalism and the attitude of contempt for the world felt by the New Testament writers. It has taken two thousand years for Christianity to face the world and accept it without fear, he says. Gaudium et Spes affirmed this acceptance of the world which, for all its frailty is, after all, God's creation, in and with the Word, who became Man in Mary. She is not an goddess, the Carmelite points out; she is a woman who shares with us our fragile humanity. This has been called the Age of Mary, "in the mind of a pious Catholic literature no longer much regarded.

Perhaps if we can look at the tragedy and glory of this age, so strangely overshadowed by the Power of the Spirit, so tense with the strain of liberation, so filled with the new openness to love we find among the young, "we may discover within and around, ungenin, a mother of the faith, a woman of the Spirit, renewing the earth, bringing to birth the Christ who fills the whole universe.

I don't bother Darby's head with the theology of Mary conceived without any stain of original sin, which is the mystery celebrated in today's feast. Father O'Donoghue complains that speaking her as "the Woman Without Stain," exposes her to being misunderstood as a porcelain figure or madonna in a niche. "Yet what is being asserted is that she is perfectly a woman... I don't try to tell Darby all the ways in which our Blessed Mother shares in the mystery of God's life, I don't think it hurts him to hear how matchless she is in her sinlessness, or that it's not for nothing that she's described as "our tained Nature's solitary boast.

A Carmelite nun from England explains this way, it's to be seen as "on orientation, a more or less continual series of choices against what one knows in one's deepest heart is right. It is an evasion of life, a refusal to stand in the truth of one's being. This is the offence to God, that his beloved creatures, to whom he longs to give himself, refuse this gift.

I tell the beastie, "Do you see? It's the totality of our God centeredness that we should worry about. So stop worrying about whether He's listening to hear if we say "damn," when we have split milk.

Why is this a breakthrough in truth for Darby and me? Because I used to wonder if she ever said "damn," when she split the milk. She probably didn't, but even if she did, it wouldn't make any difference, or mean her devotion. Obvi­ously, being sinless doesn't mean she wasn't human.

I wonder about the hidden years in Nazareth, before she became the "Stabat Mater dolorosa," was being the Mother of God over a bed of roses, packed with mystical visions and divine communications? For my pet as for myself, "At my bark I always hear/Time's winged chariot hurrying near." Does it seem irrelevant to in­troduce my dog into an article written in praise of Our Lady on her great feast? I have a precedent for doing so. In the 18th century, the mad poet, Christopher Smart wrote a poem famous for its ecstatic sense of the presence of the Holy Spirit. The most famous passage describes Smart's cat.

Jeffrey: "For I am possessed of a cat, surpassing in beauty, from whom I take occasion to praise God... For he is the ser­vant of the living God duly and daily serving Him..." Then, at great length, the poet describes how this very real cat, in all its frisks, celebrates the Maker, as all things do, in his very living.

What I'm trying to say is much simpler, sending me a small rockier spaniel is one of the ways in which Mary has shown her mother's love for me. In accepting rascally Darby O'Gill as God's servant, grace has come into my life in a way that it might not otherwise be there.

In telling Darby he owes a debt to Our Lady, I'm reminding myself how much I love the Grotto where I buried the ashes of the first dog I ever had, one spring morning at 4 a.m., as the new pup watched to see if I would turn over a buried bone from an ancient flood of flood. Does this sound madman?

There's nothing madman about becoming responsible for the welfare of a housepet who re­fuses the favor by becoming re­sponsible for you. Christopher Smart praised his Maker by pointing out that no dog is an insignia, as the Seat of Wisdom well knew when she sent Darby O'Gill to be a sidekick to a campus chaplain who would use him as a bridge to the students of Notre Dame.

With Macintosh you can even do this:

File
New  S
Open...  S
Close  0
Save  S
Save As...  S
Print...  S
Quit  0

Macintosh computers have always been easy to use. But they've never been this easy to own. The Macintosh Sale. Macintosh Sale, you can wind up with much more of a computer. Without spending a lot more money.

Macintosh Sale, now through January 26

© 1989 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc.
I'll find the Worm!!

TYPING WILL SHARE EXPENSES!

Please call Jen

Pickup available

287-4082

MRS. COKER. 233·7009.

I'M DRIVING HOME TO WASH.

Submit entries to

 Chrissy

to always honor

us, to bring visible and speedy patron of hopeless cases, of things in the world. This man, his patronage, his wages, his habits, his every thought and action, is a true and loving Christian,

and to grate-
Ewing would rather see Knicks on top than see himself among greats

(AP) — Patrick Ewing seems to realize that he’s ready to be mentioned in the same breath with Magic Johnson and Michael Jordan in the NBA scoring race.

For four years, Ewing has politely replied to questions about his performances with lines like “I’m just trying to help the New York Knicks win games” and “I just want to be the best player I can be.”

Now the 7-foot center who dominated college basketball in the early 1980s has a chance to be the NBA’s first Most Valuable Player in the 1990s.

And Ewing seems to know it.

“Winning the MVP is a goal of mine,” he says. “But winning a championship still comes first. But that’s not just true of me. Magic Johnson and Michael Jordan both would say the same thing.”

Ewing said he doesn’t mind talking about an individual goal because he believes he can win the MVP unless the Knicks continue to be a winning team in the Atlantic Division.

“I’m playing well in part because the team is playing well,” he said.

But that’s not been a solid, but seldom spectacular, player in his first four years, averaging from 12.9 to 15.4 points and from 8.9 rebounds each season.

This year, he’s been relatively spectacular, leading any defense to the opposition and averaging 29 points to Jordan’s 32.

And Ewing seems playing like this, “we’re playing in June,” teammate Trent Tucker said, referring to the NBA Finals.

Last season, Ewing scored 20 or more points in 14 of 80 games. In his first 18 games this season, he’s been held under 20 only once, scoring 30 or more eight times and 40 or more three times.

“A machine, just a machine,” Golden State rookie Sarunas Marciulionis said after Ewing had 44 points and 24 rebounds against the Warriors on Nov. 29. “Never have I seen something like that.”

“I’m not telling,” Ewing said.

Last season, as Ewing received increased defensive attention as his scoring ability improved, he usually responded by double-teaming by passing the ball back outside.

This year, Coach Stu Jackson said, Ewing is still passing in that situation, but he also has learned to spin quickly away from the pressure and hit baseline shots.

“He’s passing out much, much, much more than he has in the past, but his teammates have made the commitment to get him the ball more because they know they’ll get it back if he’s double-teamed and can’t get a shot off,” Jackson said.

“But he’s definitely getting the ball more and getting more shots. Our game plan is going to get him the ball. That’s always our game plan. ALWAYS.

Consequently, shots per game have increased from 15 to 20.

“I’m trying to turn and move quicker more moves and, if it’s not there, I’ll pass it out.” Ewing said. “That’s especially true in the fourth quarter when we’re trying to make things happen and the pace picks up. I keep trying to defeat the double-teams in different ways.”

Philadelphia center Mike Gminski, who guarded Ewing for most of the game, he scored 32 points in New York’s 110-103 victory on Tuesday, said he noticed the difference.

“He’s on quite a roll,” Gminski said. “He seems to be shooting that turnaround jumper on the baseline very well. That negates the double-team when he’s able to do it so quickly. They’re going to him a lot and he seems to be gaining confidence.”

Ewing has been especially effective recently. On a four-game road trip, he averaged 35.3 points, 12.8 rebounds and made 64.6 percent of his 82 free-throw attempts. He was named the NBA Player of the Week last week and Player of the Month for November.

But Ewing believes it’s his rebounding that has to improve in order for him to attract MVP attention.

His 24 rebounds against the Warriors — no Golden State player had more than five — were the most by a Knicks player since 1973 and helped push Ewing to 10 rebounds per game. His career best is 9.3 last season.

With rebounding specialist Charles Oakley on the team, Ewing probably won’t climb much higher than that.

“But he’s improved other aspects of his game, increasing his free-throw percentage from 72.8 for his career to 84 percent this season and moving up to second in the NBA in blocked shots with almost 3 1/2 per game.

“You have to realize what he does to the opposition’s offense when he’s not out there,” Jackson said. “People’s eyes light up because the intimidation factor is not there.”

Ewing also has come a long way in four years in his relations with the media, a consideration since it’s a media group that votes for MVP. He’s generally more giving of his time after games and occasionally drops a joke or a few smiles into the conversation.

“Playing in New York doesn’t hurt,” Ewing said. “This is the media capital of the world.”

With Ewing in the middle, New York also is re-emerging as a basketball capital.

Wolfpack roll 126-77 over Duquesne

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Chris Corchiani and Brian Howard scored six points apiece in a 22-0 first-half run that powered 19th-ranked North Carolina State to a 126-77 victory over Duquesne on Thursday night.

Duquesne trailed 12-10 after a follow shot by Shawn Kelly before the 22-0 burst, which included four points apiece by Mickey Hinnant and freshman Bryant Feggins, broke the game open.

Rodney Monroe scored 22 points and Feggins had 20 as North Carolina State placed six players in double figures. Tom Gugliotta added 18, Corchiani 15, Howard 13 and Hinnant 10 for the Wolfpack (6-1), which won its fifth straight. Mark Stewart led the Dukes (1-2) with 27.

North Carolina State built a 54-22 lead in a layup by Gugliotta with 3:25 left in the first half and it led 68-31 at the half.

Please don’t look at this-Kirstin doesn’t like attention!

Happy 20th, Babe!

Love, K, C, M and J

NOTRE DAME PARENTS

HAVE YOUR SON OR DAUGHTER

LIVE IN A CONDOMINIUM WHILE AT SCHOOL

* 1 mile from Notre Dame
* New Construction
* Tax Abatement
* Security Systems
* A Profitable Investment
* Many Tax Benefits

call

407-521-4000

TARIPP DEVELOPMENT CORP.

Contact Christopher Matteo

(219) 232-8256

ADVENT LESSONS AND CAROLS

NOTRE DAME CHURCH AND BRASS

Sunday, 10 December

Sunday Service (7:30 PM)

with the

The Notre Dame Liturgical Choir and Brass

Works by Palestrina, Giovanni Gabrieli, Dufay, Lassus, and others.

Happy Birthday, DAVE!

You ROTC Baby-Killer you!

From, Strum and Coke

The New York Knicks’ Patrick Ewing has been making an early bid for MVP with his spectacular play. The 7-footer is averaging 29 points, second only to Michael Jordan’s 32 points, but he insists he would rather see the Knicks on top than win MVP honors.

The Observer Friday, December 8, 1989
NFL to rule on 'bounty' charges against Ryan

IRVING, Texas (AP) — NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue, hoping to define a tense situation between Dallas and Philadelphia, is expected to rule Friday on bounty charges by Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson against the Eagles' Buddy Ryan.

In the most recent development, Cowboys kicker Luis Zendejas and Eagles assistant coach Al Roberts say they've retained lawyers over a tape recording Zendejas says he has of a conversation with Roberts.

On the tape, Zendejas says, Roberts pleads with him not to tell the NFL he warned Zendejas about Eagles' attempts to knock him out of a Thanksgiving game between the teams. After the first meeting between Johnson and Ryan offering a bounty to knock Zendejas and quarterback Troy Aikman from the game.

"We expect to make a statement on the situation on Friday," Joe Brawne, the league's director of communications, said Thursday. A spokesman for the Cowboys said the team would have no comment because the league is handling the situation.

The Eagles play the Cowboys on Sunday at Veterans Stadium.

Zendejas, a former Eagle, said Wednesday that Eagles punter John Teltschik tipped him about the bounty the night before the Thanksgiving game, which the Eagles won 27-0.

After the game, Johnson said Ryan had offered a bounty to his players to knock Zendejas and Aikman out of the game.

Ryan called the charge ridiculous.

Zendejas said he taped a phone conversation with Roberts two days after the game.

"When I talked with Al Roberts on the phone, he said, 'Luis, I'm 47 years old, I still want to keep coaching in the league and this and that, and why don't you just say I told you that if you go down and make a tackle we're going to take you out, or something like that,'" Zendejas said.

"I said, 'I can't say that.'" Roberts on Wednesday denied he warned Zendejas of any bounties and said he will sue Zendejas if he plays the taped conversation.

He confirmed, however, that he talked with Zendejas twice on the phone after the game.

He said Zendejas asked him why the Eagles went after him.

"He said, 'I was alerted the night before,' and I said, 'That's ... talk, we do that all the time, we always say we are going after you, we try to intimidate before, after and during the game that we're going to kick your butt. Luis is awe-inspired,'" Roberts said.

"No one said we're going to knock out Luis and get $500 or $200,' he said, "It makes me look bad. As long as he drags time, we always say we are going to kick your butt. As long as he drags time, we always say we are going to make you go down, and he's been taunting this guy,'" Roberts said.

Leonard throws 150 fewer punches, 438-588, but landed almost three times as many, 227 vs. 94.

He smiled and danced, strutted and shuffled, and tantalizingly bobbed his chin out like the Adam's apple of a nervous suitor. He faked winding bolo punches with his right hand and followed most with a stinging left lead. He wound up one time and actually delivered a looping uppercut.

If he failed to hurt Duran — again — he left him both frustrated and bewildered — again. And if it is of any consolation to Juanita — the couple has since separated amicably — she could have been fast asleep, with few concerns, by the eighth round of this one. The only way Thursday night's protagonists avoided a similar fate was by boxing loudly and long, struggling with the lack of contact at the start and finishing with the lack of drama at the finish.

"I think this is the result of Roberto Duran being 38 years old," Leonard, a relative youngster at 33, said almost apologetically. "He is a veteran, however, and he did come to fight."

"The referee didn't let me do nothing," he complained. "Whenever we went into a clinch, he'd push me away, he wouldn't let me fight. I don't think Leonard beat me. As the rounds went by, I was hitting him.

"I never felt like an old fighter. My arms were a little tight, but not old," Duran continued. "Leonard didn't come to fight. He came to run."

Shocked by precious few punches, 438-588, but landed almost three times as many, 227 vs. 94.

Leonard threw 150 fewer punches, 438-588, but landed almost three times as many, 227 vs. 94.

He smiled and danced, strutted and shuffled, and tantalizingly bobbed his chin out like the Adam's apple of a nervous suitor. He faked winding bolo punches with his right hand and followed most with a stinging left lead. He wound up one time and actually delivered a looping uppercut.

If he failed to hurt Duran — again — he left him both frustrated and bewildered — again. And if it is of any consolation to Juanita — the couple has since separated amicably — she could have been fast asleep, with few concerns, by the eighth round of this one. The best way Thursday night's protagonists avoided a similar fate was by boxing loudly and long, struggling with the lack of contact at the start and finishing with the lack of drama at the finish.

"I think this is the result of Roberto Duran being 38 years old," Leonard, a relative youngster at 33, said almost apologetically. "He is a veteran, however, and he did come to fight."

"The referee didn't let me do nothing," he complained. "Whenever we went into a clinch, he'd push me away, he wouldn't let me fight. I don't think Leonard beat me. As the rounds went by, I was hitting him.

"I never felt like an old fighter. My arms were a little tight, but not old," Duran continued. "Leonard didn't come to fight. He came to run."

Sugar Ray Leonard was far more jubilant Thursday night when he scored a unanimous decision over Roberto Duran. Leonard threw 150 fewer punches, 438-588, but landed almost three times as many, 227-84 as he easily defeated the 38-year-old Duran.

Leonard gets unanimous decision

LAS VEGAS (AP) — "No mas" turned out to have been the right answer after all. Too bad it took nine years to learn why.

When Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto Duran met the first time, in Montreal in June 1980, Leonard's wife, Juanita, was in tears by the third round and had passed out altogether by the eighth round of that one. The advice followed: "You're licked, Leonard," said his advisors, "No mas." Duran read the memo.

When Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto Duran met the second time, in New Orleans in June 1981, Duran had passed out altogether by the eighth round of this one. The advice followed: "You're licked, Leonard," said his advisors, "No mas." Duran read the memo.

"I was aler…
Davis, Hernandez, O'Brien lead way in free agent moves

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Storm Davis, Pete O'Brien and Keith Hernandez led another flow of free agents to find new teams Thursday, and the San Diego Padres indicated their Cy Young Award winner might be next.

One day after the official end of baseball's winter meetings, several teams were still hard at work. Kansas City lured Davis from Oakland, Cleveland signed Hernandez, Montreal got Oil Can Boyd and Detroit acquired Lloyd Moseby, bringing in 15 of the number of free agents who changed clubs at the meetings.

The Chicago Cubs sent Paul Kilgus to Toronto for Jose Nunez in the only trade of the day. Deals were down at these meetings, mostly because there is no longer a deadline to make them, although Tim Leary, Lance McCullers and others could move soon.

Where Mark Davis winds up is still open to speculation. But there was talk San Diego may not try to bring him back.

"The Padres told me that if I signed with them, they would not re-sign Mark Davis," reliever Craig Lefferts said.

Lefferts and the Padres agreed on a three-year, $5.35 million contract Friday night. His new deal, a four-year contract for a guarantee of $15 million, He hit .259 with 12 home runs and 96 RBIs for Toronto in 1987.

"We believe we now have depth in our starting pitching that we have not had in a number of years," Royals manager John Wathan said. "We now have as much depth on our starting staff as any team in baseball."

Davis became unhappy when his scheduled start in the World Series was scratched by Manager Tony La Russa because of the layoff caused by the earthquake.

Davis joined Dave Parker and Tony Phillips as free agents to leave Oakland since the season ended, although the Athletics seemed close to re-signing Ken Phelps to fill Parker's role as designated hitter. San Francisco, the National League champion, has also lost three free agents — Lefferts, Ken Oberkfell and Candy Maldonado.

O'Brien, 31, left Cleveland for a four-year contract with Seattle worth about $7.4 million. He hit .259 with 12 homers and 55 RBIs in his only season with the Indians and told the team he would not be back.

O'Brien, a lifetime .271 hitter in five seasons, is one of the best-fielding first basemen in baseball, although he lacks the power other platers at the position can produce.

I would like to take this time to thank our new owner, Jeff Smulyan, for making our effort in the free-agent market possible," general manager Woody Woodward said. "This is truly the beginning of a new era for the Seattle Mariners."

Hernandez, 36, signed a two-year contract with Cleveland for $3 million guaranteed plus $1 million in incentives. He is a five-time All-Star first baseman who has been hit for two years, batting .233 in 75 games last season.

"We know he won't play as many games as he has in the past, but he can help us on the field and with his leadership," Indians manager John McNamara said.

The Expos aren't sure what to expect from Boyd. Once on the verge of becoming one of baseball's better young pitchers, Boyd, 30, has worked sparingly the past three seasons with Boston because of blood clots in his right shoulder.

Still, the Expos recently lost free-agent pitchers Mark Langston, Pascual Perez and Bryan Smith and need someone for their rotation.

"Basically, it all depends on his physical condition. After a lot of discussion, we thought we'd take a chance on him bouncing back," Montreal general manager Dave Domonowski said.

Boyd agreed to a one-year contract for a guarantee of $310,000, with another $630,000 in incentives if he can stay healthy and be productive.

Moseby, 30, and the Tigers agreed on a two-year contract. He hit .282 with 26 homers and 96 RBIs for Toronto in 1987, but has been in a two-year slump.

Free agent Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd of the Boston Red Sox has signed with the Montreal Expos. Oakland's Dave Davis and New York's Keith Hernandez are two of the 15 players who have changed teams thus far.

RUSSIA

Intercollegiate Tour, July 1990
Led by Prof. James Butterfield (PhD, Notre Dame)
For information contact:
Western Michigan U.
Office of International Affairs
Kalamazoo, MI 49008
Tel. toll free 1-800-876-3951

The Cellar
COMPACT DISCS/CASSETTES
VISA/Mastercard
LaFortune

Cellar (cel’ lär), n., s.
A room or group of rooms below the ground level, and usually under a building, often used for storing fuel, provisions, etc...a cellar for wine...a stock of wines...a stock of music...unification through entertainment...
...a workable definition of sound.
Snow takes home Lombardi Award

ND's Zorich, USC's Ryan, Colorado's McGhee finalists

HOUSTON (AP) — Michigan State linebacker Percy Snow earned his second honor of the week when he was presented the Lombardi Award on Thursday night as the nation's top collegiate lineman.

Snow, who holds the school record of 164 tackles in a season, won the Butkus Award on Tuesday as the nation's top collegiate linebacker.

Snow, 6-foot-3 and 240 pounds, beat out Colorado linebacker Kanavis McGhee (6-5, 240) and two defensive linemen, Southern California tackle Tim Ryan (6-5, 260) and Notre Dame nose guard Chris Zorich (6-1, 268).

The award is a memorial to Vince Lombardi, former coach of the Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins, who died of cancer in 1970. The annual dinner benefits the American Cancer Society.

"I'm kind of surprised I got this far," Snow said. "There were some really outstanding athletes selected for this honor."

Snow has 464 career tackles, the second Spartan to record 400 stops.

"I started out playing football just wanting to be successful," Snow said. "I saw a light at the end of the tunnel. I recognized that I had some talent and I just tried to make the best of it."

Snow has 163 tackles this season, one short of the school record he set last year. He also has three interceptions and two blocked field goals.

Michigan will play Hawaii in the Aloha Bowl.

Ryan recorded 19 sacks this season as Southern Cal won the Pacific-10 title and the right to face Michigan in the Rose Bowl. He had 96 tackles, three forced fumbles and one recovered fumble.

Zorich was a key to an Irish defense that allowed 12 points a game en route to a 11-1 record and a meeting with McGhee and top-ranked Colorado in the Orange Bowl.

McGhee teamed with fellow outside linebacker Alfred Williams in leading the Buffaloes to an 11-0 season. He has 199 career tackles and 10 career sacks.

Snow and Ryan are seniors, McGhee and Zorich juniors. Ohio State linebacker Jim Stillwagon won the first Lombardi Award in 1970. Auburn's Tracy Rocker won last year.

HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY
Pat Ninneman
from Mom, Dad, and the Sisters

The international management consulting firm McKinsey & Company, Inc.

is now accepting resumes for its two-year Business Analyst Program.

If you possess the following qualifications:

- Superior academic performance (any major accepted, minimum GPA of 3.5)
- Proven leadership potential
- Relevant summer/part-time work experience
- Refined analytical and communication skills
- Interest in graduate business school
- Superior SAT/GMAT scores by December 22, 1989, to:

Manager of Professional Support Services
McKinsey & Company, Inc.
Suite 2700, Two First National Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60603

For additional information on McKinsey & Company and our Business Analyst Program, please refer to your Placement Center Library, or write to the above address.

Tillmon helps Hoyas over N. Carolina

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Mark Tillmon scored 27 points Thursday night to lead No. 3 Georgetown to a 93-81 victory over No. 17 North Carolina and end the inaugural Atlantic Coast Conference-Big East Challenge at 4-4.

The Hoyas (4-0) had to win to get the Big East even after Virginia beat Villanova 73-63 in the first game of the double-header at the Meadowlands.

The game was the third between long-time friends and rivals coaches John Thompson and Dean Smith and it was Thompson's first victory against Smith. It also was the first meeting since the Tar Heels beat Georgetown 63-62 in the 1983 NCAA championship game in New Orleans on Michael Jordan's jumper.

Georgetown held a comfortable lead throughout the second half and the Tar Heels (4-3) never got closer than five points in the final five minutes.

Tillmon, who made 11 of 17 shots, nailed a 3-pointer to give the Hoyas a 67-57 lead with 16:30 to play. North Carolina was able to stay within striking distance and got to 80-75 with 2:46 left on a layup by George Lynch.

St. Michael's Ukrainian Byzantine Catholic Church
712 E. Lawrence St., Mishawaka
269-7173
Come worship with us...
Sunday Divine Liturgy 9 A.M.
Irish
continued from page 20
the end of last season. McGraw expects the Warriors to finish somewhere in the middle of the pack this year. They're a good team and could do better." McGraw said. "But Notre Dame and Loyola definitely are the two best teams in the conference." In Notre Dame's last contest, the Irish rallied from a six-point halftime deficit to upend the Hokies. Lisa Kuhns led Notre Dame with 19 points. Karen Robinson scored 16 and Krisi Davis added 14.
Indiana had taken the lead by going on a 14-2 run at the end of the half, while Notre Dame starters Davis, Robinson and Sara Lieberer all went on the bench. Davis and Lieberer were in foul trouble, while Robinson was nursing an ankle injury.
Notre Dame responded with a spurt of its own, scoring unanswered points to open the second half.
"Indiana had a 1-3-1 zone, and we made some turnovers," McGraw said of the first-half situation. "We really came out of the locker room very well. We made our shots and attacked their zone very well." Kuhns led the Irish scoring attack by shooting 5-of-7 from three-point range. Her 19-point game raised the senior guard's scoring average to 12.3 points per game.
Robinson leads the Irish with 15 points per game. A pair of sophomores, center Margaret Nowlin and forward Comalita Haybers, also are scoring in double figures with 12.8 and 11.8 points a game, respectively.
Irish swimmers prepare for Belles
ND's Wood, Williams set to go for NCAA qualifying time
By JANICE ARCHER
Sports Writer
Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students, who traditionally meet in a social or academic arena, will face each other in a swim meet this Saturday. The women's team is 0-3, and the men's squad is 0-2 to take on the Belles of St. Mary's in the Rolfs Aquatic Center.
6 p.m. The Irish are returning home after a poor performance last weekend in the third annual Novata Classic Championshipsoid in Fordham, New York. The team placed third overall, with 583 points, behind winner Villanova and second-place Boston College.
"I'm very proud of our swimmers," head coach Tim Welsh said. "This season's intense training was geared toward the national meet. Now the team is happy to be home. 'It's a terrific opportunity to race once more before exams," Welsh said of Saturday's meet. "Everyone on the team is really revved up and racing against St. Mary's. We are using a different method of choosing swimmers for specific events, one he calls "rotating away to win." This method allows him to move swimmers into events they are not normally chosen to swim. Why do we want the Irish hope to stay fresh and perform as well as they did in Fordham. Swimming in events they are not accustomed to will provide the women with a good opportunity to have new perspectives. It's a very good chance for them to swim different races," Welsh said.
Saturday's meet will provide another opportunity for the Irish, giving the team the chance to reunite before the season's end. Because of the National Catholic Championships rules, only 19 women could travel to Fordham. The smaller group of 17, plus the true team effort, one Welsh believes to be crucial.
The meet against Saint Mary's will be a special one for junior Becky Wood and freshman Tanya Williams. They will be swimming in their primary events, Wood in the 200-yard breast stroke and Williams in the 400-yard medley relay. Both girls have the opportunity to qualify for the NCAA Championships, to be held in March.
"It's very unusual for anyone to qualify so early in the season," Welsh said. "This gives us a jump on the competition, for we can prepare and train during the spring semester." Hocke y continued from page 20
other Notre Dame career mark. The comparisons with last year are staggering. The Irish have 69 goals compared to just 38 a year ago and 181 total points compared to only 98 last season. This year's Notre Dame squad averages 3.72 goals per game and a 110-20 winning percentage. The 1982-83 season averaged 1.5 goals per game. The Irish have plenty of balance and consistency in the scoring column. As a team, Notre Dame has scored 23 goals in the first period, 22 in the second and 23 in the third. Nine individuals have tallied at least five goals, topped by Dave Banks with 14 and Tim Kuehl with 10. Kuehl, Banks and Curtis Janickie are in double figures with aspects.
The Mole Hole
NEW Vera Bradley Designs
the Irish will take three weeks off after the games with Ferris State. Then comes the biggest test of the season, a
Friday, December 8, 1989

CAMPUS

Friday
- 7 p.m. Madrigal dinner, Saint Mary’s, Regina Hall, North Lounge.

Saturday
- 2 p.m. Women’s swimming, ND vs. Saint Mary’s, Rolfs Aquatic Center.
- 7 p.m. Madrigal dinner, Saint Mary’s, Regina Hall, North Lounge.
- 7 p.m. Shenanigan’s Christmas Concert, Washington Hall.

Sunday
- 2 p.m. Wrestling vs. Illinois State, JACC.

MENUS

Notre Dame
- Baked Cod Sesame
- Sesame Beef Pot Pie
- Cheese Stuffed Pepper
- Tangy Grilled Chicken

Saint Mary’s
- Meatloaf Cheese & Deluxe Pizza
- Broccoli Cheese Omelette
- Deli Bar II

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1. Lethargy
7. Silent screen’s Navarro et al.
13. Free
14. Structure
16. On in years
17. Helens
18. Valley in NW Wyo.
20. Ocean
21. ——, amas.
22. Baine feeder
23. Pundra potateate
24. Hussein’s queen
26. Mirth
27. “La Belle Dame Sans...” Keats
28. Journalized
30. Middle Eastern country
31. Consequently
32. Bang, in Barcelona
33. Save
36. Streit in Stuttgart
40. Irregular
41. Roman statesman
43. Ongie
44. Poj
45. Ray
46. Calm, in Caen
47. Dutch commune
52. Type of coal
54. Proposal in the Gary Hart campaign
55. Furniture finisher, at times
56. Frigidity
57. Composer Sir Edward and family
58. Bear witness

DOWN
1. Sculptural figure of a man used as a column
2. Cogder
3. Smell
4. Scores at Pebble Beach
5. Capital of Norway
6. English painter SirJoshua...
7. Rest
8. Dress designer Simpson
9. Muck’s companion
10. Frequently, in poetry
11. torrent
12. Word with fiction
13. French actress: 1856-1920
15. Involuntary
16. 1897
17. Peruse again
18. Perennial herb
19. Word with fiction or Christian
20. Female Arabian: 1696-1805
21. Involuntary
22. Dress designer
23. 1867
24. Learned
25. Fire county
26. Withdraws from a union
27. Most sluggish
28. Arm–Drum
29. Soprano roles in operas by Cherubini and Giordano
30. —— each the same rain..."

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BILLY WATTSERSON

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

All-Night Christmas Movies

- An Tostal $35 Prize for winning T-SHIRT logo
- CONTEST $15 Prize for winning BOOKLET COVER

LOGO CONTEST

Prize for winning T-SHIRT logo

Due in SUB Office by Dec. 13th
Sports

ND men's, women's basketball roadtrip to face Marquette

By KEN TYSIAC
Sports Writer

Protecting the basketball will be the primary objective of the Notre Dame basketball team this Saturday as the Irish travel to Bradley Center to face the Marquette Warriors at 1 p.m. EST. The game will be televised locally on WBBN-TV Channel 17.

The Irish, 1-2, beat themselves with turnovers that coach Digger Phelps says such play can't continue if its fast-breaking offensive scheme is to succeed.

"If I have to say what our biggest problem was in all three games, and that includes Texas-84-64 win over San Francisco, it's that we can't average 20 turnovers and go out and beat people," Phelps said.

The Warriors, coached by Kevin O'Neill, are 2-2 in the season after winning a thriller 75-69 shoot out against Loyola of Chicago on Tuesday night. A 3 senior guard Tony Smith from Marquette in that one with a season-high 29 points.

Smith, who averages 14.0 points per game and leads the Warriors in assists (29) steals (6) and blocked shots (5) will be a big threat on the perimeter. Smith will have to be at his best on Saturday to make up for the possible loss of 6'6 junior forward Trevor Powell (12.2 ppg) who left the court on crutches Tuesday after injuring himself against Loyola.

Powell scored 17 and 19 points, respectively, against the Irish in wins at the ACC and Bradley Center last season, but is doubtful for this Saturday's matchup.

see HOOPS / page 18

ND hockey ready for Ferris State

By GREG GUFFEY
Assistant Sports Editor

The Notre Dame hockey team has already won as many games as it did in all of last season.

Now, the key is to keep that momentum going.

The Irish will play Ferris State in a home-and-away series Friday and Saturday. Notre Dame will travel to Big Rapids, Mich., for a 7:30 p.m. contest and return to the Joyce ACC for Saturday's 7:00 p.m. game.

Ferris State, 10-20, is currently riding a four-game winning streak after last weekend's sweep of Mankato State at the Joyce ACC. The Bulldogs come into Friday's game with a 2-11-3 ledger.

For Irish coach Mike Schafer, this is a pleasant change of events from last year's 10-26-2 record. The most losses ever for a Notre Dame team.

"Nothing surprises me anymore," Schafer said. "We're off to a good start and we're playing with a lot of confidence right now. Success breeds optimism. We have to keep ourselves in check. The tragedy would be if we were overconfident."

Ferris State, which plays in the always-tough CCHA, has just two wins, but one of those bonuses, which over a tough Michigan State team. The Bulldogs' other win came against Illinois-Chicago.

The Bulldogs have been unable to put a lot of points on the board so far this season, scoring just 41 goals in 16 games. They are led by John dePourey (7 goals, 9 assists, 16 points) and Norm Krumpechmid (3-9-12). They alternate Marc Pellici (10-6-3, 4.29) and Mike Williams (2-5-0, 5.02) at the goal.

"There was a time when we would have been doing well to come out with one win this weekend," Schafer said. "Now, we have our sights set on a sweep."

Schafer has plenty of reasons to be optimistic about the possibility of a sweep against the Bulldogs. Eddie Lacceyson is at the top of his game after setting the Notre Dame career win mark last Friday with his 47th victory, a 5-0 shutout against Mankato State. He is just one shutout away from setting an

see HOCCY / page 18

Irish open MCC play after victory over IU

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Associate Sports Editor

MILWAUKEE - Coming off a come-from-behind victory Wednesday night at Indiana, the Notre Dame women's basketball team opens its Midwest Collegiate Conference title defense Saturday at Marquette.

Notre Dame (3-1) won the MCC tournament last season and went on to earn a berth in the women's National Invitation Tournament. The MCC's newest member, Marquette held a 1-2 record heading into Thursday night's game at Western Illinois.

Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. Because Milwaukee's 18,000-seat Bradley Center will be unavailable, the game will be held across the street at the Audubon Center.

"I think we should win the title somewhere," said Irish coach Muffet McGraw. "We definitely have the ability and have just about everybody back. We're all improving. If we continue to get better, we should be really good by February."

Marquette forward Tammy Slaten, a 6-foot-four sophomore, entered Thursday's game averaging 3.3 points and six rebounds per game, leading the Warriors in both categories.

Powell, with 17, is another 6-foottwo that has the Irish concerned. The junior has 13 points and 3.7 rebounds per game.

"Last year, she was third or fourth in the country in field goal percentage," said McGraw. "And she had 18 points against us. She's very big and strong, and she's going to create problems."

Marquette will be playing its first ever MCC game since shedding its independent status at Digger

see IRISH / page 18

ND wrestlers gear up to meet Illinois State

By MIKE CANZONIERO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame wrestling team opens its dual meet season at home this Saturday, when it takes on the Redbirds of Illinois State in the Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center. This will be the Redbirds' second dual meet of the season.

"They used to dominate us, now the tables have turned," Irish head coach Frank McCann said. "Illinois State is giving them an advantage by wrestling most of our wrestlers up a weight class. This will also take some pressure off the wrestlers who have finals coming up."

"Illinois State will always be in good physical shape and they will fight you to the end. We're not good enough to take a team like that for granted."

Last year, the Notre Dame wrestlers crushed the Redbirds in Normal, Ill., extending their win streak to 6-0 with a 34-7 victory.

Illinois State is led by junior captain Greg Gardner, who is 12-1 at 190 pounds—one of Illinois State's 20 All-American winners in last year's match—and senior Mark Mammas at 177.

After Illinois State, the Notre Dame wrestling team's schedule keeps getting tougher. Two upcoming Irish opponents were ranked in the magazine's wrestling News Top 25 poll last week—including third-ranked Oklahoma and fourth-ranked Iowa who the Irish meet at home.

The Notre Dame wrestling team, ranked 16th in the nation by last week's AWN poll, matched its highest finish ever in last year's Las Vegas Invitational tournament placing three wrestlers and finishing seventh out of 46 teams.

McCann was pleased with the performance of his team in a tournament that is considered the toughest one the Irish have seen. "This was our first tournament, and we continued to develop our young wrestlers. We did well. 13 of the top 20 teams in the nation were there," McCann said. "But we could have done better. The close matches hurt us."

Strong performances were given by Pat Boyd (142)-second place, Jace McGraw (177)-fourth place, Andy Badenhausen (185)-third place, and Boyd, ranked third in the nation, lost in the finals to the number one wrestler in the nation, Townsend Sanders, by 2-1.

"He was winning the match 4-1 and lost his composure a little and ended up losing 9-8," McCann said.

"Another night match that hurt the Irish was eighth-ranked Badenhausen's tough semi-final match in which the Redbirds beat All-American individuals in both 177 and 185-

Badenhausen wrestled a tough match but lost in overtime. The Senior wrestled seven matches on the weekend, going 2-1, finishing a close last match for third to a Lehigh wrestler, 5-3.