FBI searches for mail bomb clues

ENTERPRISE, Ala. (AP) — A junk dealer offered prayers and cooperation as FBI agents searched his warehouse Tuesday looking for an old type­writer that could help solve the mail bomb killings of a judge and a civil rights lawyer.

Wayne O'Ferrell ate lunch with FBI agents and accompanied them to his warehouse Tuesday afternoon, one day after about 100 agents scour ed O'Ferrell's home, warehouse and abandoned store, about 75 miles from Montgomery in southeastern Alabama.

O'Ferrell, 46, a one-time rural preacher, said he asked several members of his church "to pray for my family that we can get through this thing and I've asked them to pray for the FBI to find whatever they are looking for."

FBI agent Chuck Archer said there have been no arrests and that three search warrants have been approved for property other than O'Ferrell's. He did not identify the property.

Agents unearthed the top of O'Ferrell's home septic tank Tuesday afternoon and began pumping out its contents. Authorities also plan to dig up a septic tank at the warehouse. Archer refused to say what investigators were looking for in the septic tanks.

Archer declined to describe O'Ferrell as a suspect. "He is one of many people we have interviewed," the FBI agent said.

Court records show O'Ferrell lost a lawsuit heard on appeal by U.S. Circuit Judge Robert Vance. The judge was killed Dec. 16 when a package bomb sent through the mail exploded at his home in suburban Birm ingham.

Robert Robinson, a black civil rights lawyer in Savannah, Ga., said he is a member of the group of about 100 that have been looking for O'Ferrell's home site.

U.S. (AP) — Extremists ambushed a military convoy in Azerbaijan, killing two reserve soldiers and a woman bystander, Soviet media said Tuesday. The KGB said the republic was on the brink of anarchy, and local politicians pushed for secession.

Radio Moscow said the situation in the Soviet Caucasus, where Armenians and Azerbaijani have been fighting for 11 days, remained "very, very tense" Tuesday.

It said leaders of Soviet Azerbaijan and Armenia continued negotiations to end the ethnic violence, but little progress was reported.

The death toll rose to 170, including those killed in anti­Armenian riots in the Azerbaijani capital of Baku and the clashes that ensued among Armenians, Azerbaijanis and Soviet troops.

The soldiers, who smashed into Baku to quell the ethnic uprising Saturday, are "more and more often being chosen as targets" by local fighters, Tass quoted Interior Ministry Maj. Gen. Yevgeny Netchayev as saying.

Radio Moscow said "irresponsible people" were spreading anti-army and anti­Russian sentiments through unsigned letters and anonymous phone calls.

Soviet TV reported Tuesday night that gunfire continued in some areas of Baku, and wars­hips remained blocked by mili­tants from leaving the Caspian Sea's port.

Baku Radio, monitored by the BBC in London, said two soldiers and a woman bystander were killed in an attack on a military convoy.

Azerbaijan's KGB expressed alarm in its appeal to residents of the republic for calm, Radio Moscow said.

Shenk: Nicaraguans want end to U.S. aid to Contras

Nicaraguans people offer but one challenge to the people of the U.S., to live by the ideals we claim as our own, John Shenk of Notre Dame's International Peace Institute, said Tuesday during a discussion and video presentation.

Shenk is a representative of Witness for Peace, a religious organization through which he worked in Nicaragua for the past two years.

He said that Witness for Peace believes that "As a people of religious faith, we believe that U.S. foreign policy should be consistent with the values on which the United States was founded."

Congress granted $30 million in aid to the Contra­ cease offensive military operations. Witness for Peace has since witnessed over 100 Contra attacks, Shenk said.

The aid is intended to be sent to support democratic elections in the country, but Shenk called the U.S.-backed Contras as "the greatest obstacle" to free elections, saying that the Contras have shut down numerous voting registration sites.

Nicaraguans would be better off without our help, Shenk said, adding that the U.S. should concentrate on Allied-Signal Inc. has announced a $400,000 grant to the University of Notre Dame for the Center for the Homeless in South Bend.

The Center for the Homeless is a multi-purpose facility which has medical and counseling facilities in addition to sleeping accommodations and meals for up to 150. According to Tammy Oehm, operations direc­tor for the Center, the Center serves both families and single people.

Although plans on how to use the grant are tentative, Oehm said that at least part of the grant will be used to renovate additional space. A counseling office, a medical clinic, and a legal aid office will be created, she said.
If you're sick, take this tip:
Get well slowly

This is a column about how to get sick over slow. No, I'm not talking about working 11 hours of tequila and leaning out the window of your best friend's Mazda—this is about being victimized by a virus. It's best to make sure some of the more audible illnesses going around, for instance, sneezing fits resulting from your basic cold will greatly reduce your mind's lovely ones of your misery.

Situate yourself on a couch in a room accessible to all members of the family. Proximity is key for continuous sympathy.

Sleep.

Take your temperature. Cough weakly.

Suggest to your mother that she give you a bell so you can summon her whenever you perceive yourself to be in need of company.

Eat.

Press the "7" on the Block video over and over, you'll miraculously healed, just like that retarded girl was on TV. "I'm sick as a dog," you'll say. "Help me!"

Cring.e when you hear your brother answer the phone. "Who?" No, she can't come to the phone right now. She's sick as a dog.

Sleep.

Make your mom panic by asking for a bucket.

Play with all the buttons on the remote control to the TV, even the "mute" button. Through random experimentation, by pressing the "2" and the "7" buttons simultaneously, you can interrupt the signals from an obscure satellite and watch "Gidget Goes Hawaiian" with Latin subtitles.

Take your temperature. Fingers crossed that if you watch the News Kids on the Block video over and over, you'll be miraculously healed, just like that retarded girl was on "A Current Affair."

Get up to put a new movie in the VCR, then lose energy halting there and collapse. Let your mom find you lying inert on the floor.

Cough weakly.

Contemplate death. Wonder if your roommate would still get a 4.0 if you died before the semester started. Wonder if they'd bury you in your prom dress.

Wonder if your theology professor will feel bad about giving you a B-. Wonder if your little brother really deserves to inherit your Motown singles collection.

Indiana House approves informed consent for abortions

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana House, after defeating a proposal to put off changing abortion laws until next year, approved a measure Tuesday night to require a woman to give informed consent to the procedure and then wait 24 hours before having an abortion.

Lawmakers voted 64-34 for House Bill 1134, the informed consent bill that now goes to the Senate.

Lawmakers defeated a proposal by Rep. James Davis, R-Frankfort, to gut the major abortion regulation bill pending in the Legislature and assign a study committee to look at all abortion-related issues this summer.

That abortion bill, H.B. 1034, now is eligible for a final vote in the House as early as Thursday. That bill would ban the use of public facilities and employees for most abortions.

During the debate Tuesday, H.B. 1034 was rewritten in part so it would ban an abortion if a viability test showed the fetus could survive outside the womb and so it would impose a 24-hour waiting period before a woman who consented to the procedure could undergo an abortion.

The latter provision is identical to the one approved by the full House in H.B. 1134, which also would require a facility in which an abortion is permitted to maintain at least $1 million in general liability insurance.

Rep. Jesse Villalpando, a Grifffith Democrat and co-sponsor of H.B. 1134, said the measure sets a "policy that the woman facing a choice should make the decision based on full information and reflection."

Under the bill, a doctor would have to advise a woman seeking an abortion that at risks — including infection, infertility and hemorrhaging — associated with the operation. Villalpando claimed that too often a woman doesn't understand the emotional and physical consequences of having an abortion.

Opponents of the proposal claimed it belittled women's ability to make wise choices.

"We are demeaning the decidedness women are making today," said Rep. Brad Bayes, R-Cambridge, who also maintained a waiting period is unconstitutional. "They don't get to make that choice because of religious reasons."

Rep. Mark Kruzan, D-Bloomington, argued the bill was unnecessary because a state Board of Health regulations already require a woman to be informed in general terms of the consequences of her choice to have an abortion.

"I believe we should leave Indiana law as restrictive as it is and not make it any more restrictive," said Kruzan.

A coalition of 38 Republicans and 26 Democrats voted in favor of H.B. 1034.

Sophomore Espino granted Brother Lavelle Scholarship

By MARIA MILANO
News Writer

The Brother John Lavelle Scholarship Award was presented to Manuel Espino, a Notre Dame sophomore on Thursday, January 19.

The $250 scholarship has been awarded for the past two years.

Espino is a junior in the College of Business Administration and is a member of the Right to Life Movement in South Bend.

My interest in pro-life issues is not due to religious reasons, but rather it comes from experience," Espino said.

This experience includes Espino's adoptive father who was almost aborted by a mother who did not want to have a child.

Espino is the Right to Life representative for Holy Cross Brothers who died three years ago. He was active in the Right to Life Movement in South Bend.

The $250 scholarship is given to the Notre Dame/ Saint Mary's community who works out the pro-life movement.

Dooley Award conferred posthumously to ND alumnus

By PATRICK HEALY
News Writer

Alan Sondej, a Notre Dame graduate who committed himself to fighting world hunger, will posthumously receive the Notre Dame Alumni Association's Dr. Thomas A. Dooley Award at their February 2 board meeting.

The Dooley Award is given annually to a Notre Dame graduate who has performed an outstanding humanitarian service.

Sondej, a 1974 graduate, died in a fire rescue attempt two years ago.

As a student, Sondej stood outside the South Dining Hall every day for two years solicitating donations for a famine relief fund.

According to Pete Pranica, assistant director for Alumni Clubs, Sondej would collect donations in a cut-off shirt, repeating, "A penny buys three bowls of porridge, a dime buys thirty."

Pranica said that Sondej explained he was "not trying to guilt students into giving," but rather he "wanted students to experience the joy of giving."

According to Pranica, Sondej collected over $25,000 in those two years.

After graduating, Sondej worked for the Overseas Development Council, where he participated in relief efforts in other countries. He visited colleges and universities regularly to organize students in soliciting donations.

Sondej later moved to Washington, D.C., for graduate study at the University of Maryland. He joined the Hyattsville Fire Department as a volunteer firefighter and was known for his search and rescue skills.

He was injured in a rescue attempt on January 20, 1988, and died two months later. Sondej's father, Alfred, his sister, Regina, and his brother, Alfred, Jr. both accepted the award at the Alumni Association meeting.

A presentation will be made during halftime of the men's basketball game versus Dayton by Thomas Hagan, president of the Alumni Association.

Sondej's brother will receive the Dooley Award, which will be a replica of the statue in the grotto.

The Dooley Award is named for the 1948 Notre Dame alumnus who became famous for his work in South Asia with the poor.

Brochures highlighting the lives of Sondej and Dooley will be given to everyone attending the game.

Czechs want U.S.-Soviet summit

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — President Vaclav Havel said Tuesday he would invite Presidents Bush and Mikhail Gorbachev to hold a summit meeting in Prague.

Havel told Parliament he would propose his capital for the U.S.-Soviet meeting during visits this year to Moscow and Washington.

He also proposed the words "socialist" be dropped from the official name of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic.

Part of the session was taken up by legislators' demands for withdrawal of Soviet soldiers stationed in Czechoslovakia since 1968, when a Warsaw Pact invasion ended the "Prague Spring" reforms.

Legislator Michael Kovac said the agreement on "temporary deployment of Soviet troops on Czechoslovak territory... is an obvious violation of international law, especially the U.N. Charter and the Warsaw Treaty. The agreement should be declared null and void from the beginning."

A joint commission discussed the matter Jan. 10 in Prague and indicated it would be settled next month.

Since Czechoslovakia's whirlwind revolution, which took less than a month and led to a non-Communist government in December, officials have demanded the estimated 75,000 Soviet troops leave by the end of 1990.

Havel, a dissident playwright often jailed before the revolution, told legislators Tuesday that he "would like to present to Mr. Gorbachev various important and mutually interconnected proposals, including the offer to hold his future meeting with Mr. Bush in Prague."

"Naturally, I will present the same proposal shortly afterward to Mr. Bush during the big state visit to the United States," Havel said in his first major speech to Parliament since it elected him president Dec. 29.

Dates of the visit to Moscow have not been announced, but presidential spokesman Michael Zantovsky said it was scheduled for "beginning of February." He did not say when Havel would visit the United States.

Bush and Gorbachev are tentatively scheduled to meet in June, in the United States. It was not clear whether Havel was suggesting that summit be moved to Prague.

In Washington, Bush spokesman Roman Popadiuk said no official word of the invitation had arrived and "there are no plans for anything beyond the June summit at this time."

In suggesting the change in Czechoslovakia's official name, Havel said: "The word socialist lost meaning in our linguistic context. The moral, political and economic crisis in our country is linguistically inseparable from this word."

Bush to recommend record drug spending

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Bush on Tuesday said a Democratic anti-crime bill is "a sheep in wolf's clothing" and promised he will recommend record spending on drug education and treatment.

After a tour of a once drug-infested street, Bush said that an anti-crime bill pending in the Senate under the sponsorship of Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., is merely a "Trojan Horse."

"It looks like a real crime bill. But in actuality it will be tougher on law enforcement than on criminals," he told a gathering of Kansas City law enforcement officials. "America needs a crime bill with teeth, but this is a sheep in wolf's clothing."

Biden said in Washnington that the primary difference between the versions of the bill is over how much resources should be committed.

"The president called my proposal a Trojan horse standing at the gates of Congress," Biden said in a release. "Well, the Trojan horse was filled with soldiers who won their war, and my crime bill is loaded with money for more police and drug agents — soldiers we need to fight the war on crime today."

The White House contends Biden's bill falls short as it pertains to exclusionary rules of evidence, habeas corpus and the death penalty.

Biden's provisions in those areas, Bush said, "will only entrench and extend the legal loopholes and red tape that disrupt law enforcement and have angered the American people for far too long."

Bush toured a street where three so-called crack houses were boarded up, and visited with residents who had helped organize the neighborhood against crime.

Several members from a committee called Black Men Together demonstrated for the president how they discourage drug users by chanting: "Hey Pusher, hey you. Black men out here are watching you."

"You better run dope pusher, better run."

One injured as two Blue Angels collide

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — Two Navy Blue Angels jets collided over the Superstition Mountains during a training exercise Tuesday, causing nine of the planes to crash, authorities said.

The pilot of the F-A18 ejected safely before the aircraft went into the mountains between 11 a.m. and noon about 20 miles northwest of this Southern California city, said El Centro Naval Air Facility spokesman.

The Navy precision flying team uses the desert base as a winter training center to practice the daredevil routines it performs at air shows throughout the country.

The planes involved in the collision were part of a four-aircraft diamond formation at the time of the accident. Three of the aircraft, including the other one involved in the collision, returned safely to the base.

The downed plane's pilot, tentatively identified as Marine Capt. Chase Moseley, was flown to a hospital near the El Centro Regional Medical Center.

The presentation also included a video of interviews with Nicaraguan civilians. Many of those interviewed expressed their desire to see the end of U.S. aid to the Contras.
Dear Editor:

When Pope John Paul II was shot on May 13, 1981 (the anniversary of Mary's first apparition at Fatima), he prayed fervently that Our Lady would come to the earth. Several weeks later she started appearing again. Since that time, daily, to several children in Medjugorje, Yugoslavia, in ways that have become the most extraordinary apparitions in the history of the Church. But our response is crucial, so that Our Lord's grace to us is not in vain.

The world is in a quake of immense magnitude and the after shocks resound one after another. Solidarity has taken power in Poland. Both the Berlin Wall and the grim power that erected it have come tumbling down. Hungary, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Romania have ousted their Communist hard-line governments. Experts in political science and international relations find themselves at a loss for words.

In her apparitions at Fatima, on July 13, 1917, four months before the birth of Marxist Commnism in Russia, the Mother of Christ warned that if her requests for conversion and peace were not heeded, Russia would spread her errors throughout the world causing great suffering, wars, persecution of the Church, and the annihilation of nations. The apparitions were not approved by the Church until 1950. Jesus wept over Jerusalem’s failure to recognize its visitation and he must have shed tears over the 20th century.

The statistics are staggering. In Russia alone, from October 1917 through 1959, 66,000,000 people perished because our Lady’s words were ignored.

At Fatima Our Lady also made a promise: “Eventually, my Immaculate Heart will triumph. The Pope will consecrate Russia to my Immaculate Heart, she will be converted, and the world will have some time of peace.” This consecration was carried out by Pope John Paul II on March 25, 1984.

In speaking about these incredible times and the extraordinary intervention of her Immaculate Heart, Our Lady said, on July 3, 1987, through Father Gobbi and the Marian Movement of Priests (an organization whose members include over 300 bishops and cardinals, 75,000 priests and 1.5 million laity), “These times are closer than you think. Already during this Marian Year, certain great events will take place, concerning what I predicted at Fatima and have told, under secrecy, to the children to whom I am appearing at Medjugorje.”

Five months later the leader of the Soviet Union, Mikhail Gorbatchev, met with the President of the United States, Ronald Reagan. Just before the meeting Reagan read a message from visionary Maria Pavlovic. After having prayed Medjugorje himself, he exclaimed, according to Alfred Kingson, the American Ambassador to Yugoslavia, “Now I am going to this meeting with Gorbatchev with a new spirit!” On Dec. 8, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, Reagan and Gorbatchev signed a groan accord.

Our Lady’s 1989 Christmas message to us from Medjugorje includes a warning: “Dear children... I am interceding for you before the Lord that He give you the gift of conversion of heart. For years I am calling you... but you are so cold! Therefore, little children, I ask you to accept and live the messages with seriousness so that your soul will not be sad when I will no longer be with you and when I will no longer lead you...”

With much of the hierarchy of the Catholic Church giving personal testimony to the authenticity of the apparitions, Msgr Paul Hinrichs, S.J., even quotes John Paul II: “If I weren’t a Pope I’d be in Medjugorge already.” It seems foolish to wait before responding to Our Lady’s call. On November 21, 1987 apparitions that began in Venezuela on March 25, 1976 were approved by the Church with Innocuous effect to the rest of the world which, for the most part, has even been informed of them.

This Mother’s Day weekend, (May 12-13, 1990) the University of Notre Dame will host the National Conference on Medjugorje.

Join us to learn how to better respond to Our Lady’s call. She has told us that she can do nothing without us: “You have always prayed that I not abandon you. Now I ask of you, in turn, not to abandon me!”

Social Concerns Festival provides opportunity with care

Dear Editor,

Do you care that there are over forty groups and activities to become involved in at the Center for Social Concerns? Do you care enough to learn about a group suited to your interests? Does your involvement in the CSC in the past make you want more? I’m sure that some of you have already sarcastically answered “no” to these questions, but I know you don’t really mean it.

I know because 150 students participate in the groups and activities every year, and most actually enjoy their participation in these groups. I’m also certain that every Notre Dame student is aware of at least one of several groups and activities at the CSC. You hear about students working on the houses of the destitute Appalachian people, or you hear about students visiting the inner city for their 48-hour Urban Plunge. You see the young children looking nervous but excited about their first trip to the dining hall with their “big brother” or “big sister.”

You also hear about the physically, mentally and sexually abused teenagers whom Notre Dame juniors meet at the runaway shelter. You hear about the numerous social action groups in which people work for a cause they feel strongly about (and I know that any Fibblic or Philosophy of Law student is outraged about capital punishment, war, discrimination, abuse of the environment, and any other injustices that occur in the world).

There are groups at the CSC to fight almost any injustice you can think of. Did you know that there is an Amnesty International group you can join which works to end capital punishment? Working at the CSC for the past two and a half years has allowed me to hear about many of these students’ intriguing and exciting experiences.

The Social Concerns Festival offers you the opportunity to hear participants describe their experiences and their involvement in groups as yet unknown to you.

As each semester slips by, I hear an endless number of groups from people who wish they had become involved in an activity at the Center for Social Concerns. But one semester flows into the next and suddenly the opportunity to become involved has vanished.

The upcoming festival gives you a chance to finally get involved in that activity you have always wanted to sign up for. The festival is also for those of you who would like to do something related to the CSC but are not sure what. I know there is an activity that will interest nearly everyone and fit into even the fullest of schedules. You can take a trip to Appalachia or Washington over spring break. The festival is on Thursday, Jan. 25 at the CSC.

This festival’s chance to prove to yourself that you really do care.

Superb performances in Uhry's "Driving Miss Daisy"

DAN RUSSELL

As students, we are faced with the opportunity to learn a great many things. But unless we've been fortunate enough to develop a close relationship with our grandparents or have ever volunteered at a local nursing home, we probably have not had the opportunity to learn about the world of the elderly. In "Driving Miss Daisy", writer Alfred Uhry puts his Pulitzer Prize winning play to the screen. Through a simple story, it manages to teach the audience a lot more about a topic most know little about.

The film begins with Miss Daisy Werthan (Jessica Tandy), a highly independent 72 year-old Southern Jewish matron, crashing her new car into her neighbor's garden. Without her consent, Miss Daisy's son Boole (Dan Aykroyd) decides that it is time for her long driving career to be over, and he hires Mr. Hoke Colburn (Morgan Freeman), a very patient black widower, to be her mother's new chauffeur. Thus begins the central theme of the film, the development of a relationship between two very different people—a poor black man and a rich, white, Jewish woman who spend the next twenty-five years overcoming their differences and building on their similarities to become best friends.

Adding to "Driving Miss Daisy" is that the setting is rich in the varied and divided culture of the south during the 1950's and 1960's, and it reflects some of the most dramatic social changes that occurred in United States history. Such events include the actual bombing of the Temple, Atlanta's oldest Jewish congregation, and a ceremony honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in 1958. But perhaps displaying most vividly the resilient acceptence of certain minorities is a scene in which two policemen search Miss Daisy's car and request her registration, suspecting that Hoke has stolen the car simply because he is black. After learning of the true situation and watching Hoke and Miss Daisy drive away, one of the police officer proclaims to the other "Can You believe it? An old black and a Jew ride together in the same car, what a pathetic sight!"

Interlarded with the central relationship of Hoke and Miss Daisy are the caring yet businesslike manners with which Boole treats his mother throughout the entire span of the movie, the dependence of Daisy upon her longtime housekeeper Ida (Esther Rolle), only fully realized after Ida's death, and, to a lesser extent, the marriage of the increasingly successful Boole and his social-climbing wife Florence (Patti LuPone).

The set of "Driving Miss Daisy" was carefully chosen in one of Atlanta's few preserved neighborhoods from the 1950's, and its screenplay is eloquently put together, never surrendering to the viewer's interest. However, the keys to this movie's success are the truly brilliant performances turned in by Morgan Freeman and Jessica Tandy. Not since the Oscar award winning and unforgettable performances by Henry Fonda and Katherine Hepburn in "On Golden Pond" has the screen been graced by such a poignant and sensitive portrayal of two elderly people and the world around them. "Driving Miss Daisy" is a wonderfully written and brilliantly executed film that will leave you feeling good about how open and a relationship between two people can be -- the type of relationship we are all capable of achieving with others very different from ourselves.

Dublin: a new city, raw music, and a hole-in-the-wall pub

corres. writer

In a big city, to find fresh and lively music played with unbridled vigor, sometimes it is necessary to penetrate some of the more obscure areas on the map. In Dublin, this statement can hold true.

We were three foreigners in Dublin on a Friday night, surveying the pubs and heading for no particular destination. The rippling chill of the winds was obliging us to find a suitable pub to hide our heads, and the Guinness in our stomachs was helping us.

After all, these lads were probably not much older than our teens or early twenties.

Walking along the street we let our ears lead us to an unestablished band--the type of relationship we are all capable of achieving with others very different from ourselves.

Booie Werthan (Dan Aykroyd) stands with his mother, Southern matron Daisy Werthan (Jessica Tandy) and her chauffeur, the wise Hoke Colburn (Morgan Freeman) in front of their mansion and 1948 Hudson automobile in "Driving Miss Daisy", a recent movie based on Alfred Uhry's Pulitzer Prize winning play.

first time in eight games. The Hawks scored their last 10 points from the foul line and held a 46-21 free-throw advantage over the Hornets.

Armon Gilliam had his best night as a Hornet, scoring a season-high 29 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. John Long scored 17 points for the Hawks. Antoine Carr had 15 points and Spud Webb 14.

Bell Curry scored 20 points for Charlotte. Kelly Tripucka and Robert Reid added 13 each while rookie J.R. Reid had 14 rebounds.

The teams went back and forth for the last nine minutes. Charlotte scoring on eight straight possessions and Atlanta on six.

The Hawks went ahead 101-99 with 56 seconds to play on free throws by Malone. Tripucka made a bad pass that was intercepted by Atlanta's Cliff Levingston with 42 seconds remaining, and Webb was fouled by Curry.

Webb, an 87 percent free throw shooter, hit both shots and Charlotte's Maggie Bogues missed a 3-point shot in the corner.

Malone hit two more free throws after a foul by Tripucka. Curry hit a 3-pointer to draw Charlotte to 105-101, but Long hit one of two free throws with seven seconds to play to finish the scoring.

Both teams played without their leading scorers. Charlotte's Alex Chapman missed his fourth consecutive game with an inflamed left Achilles heel. Atlanta was without Dominique Wilkins, who sprained his ankle Monday and did not make the trip.

Pistons 107, Bulls 95
CHICAGO — The Chicago Bulls' team record home winning streak ended at 15 games with Isiah Thomas and Vinnie Johnson combining for 17 fourth-quarter points to lead the Detroit Pistons to a 107-95 victory Tuesday night.

Leading 80-79 with 8:54 left, Detroit outscored the Bulls 15-6, with Thomas scoring 15 straight points. The victory was Detroit's 10th in 13 games.

The Bulls slowly crept back and cut the deficit to 98-94, with Michael Jordan, who had 32 points, scoring five straight with less than three minutes to play.

But it was the Pistons the rest of the way, outscoring the Bulls 12-1. Thomas led Detroit with 26 points and Joe Dumars had 16. Bill Cartwright added 13 points for the Bulls.

Detroit dominated off the bench, outscoring Chicago 33-10.

The game was tied a 61 in the third quarter when the Pistons went on a 9-2 surge capped by John Salley's dunk at 4:44.

But then Chicago had a flurry of 13-4 to pull to 78-76 at the start of the final period.

In the second quarter, Detroit trailed 32-29 and then went on a 19-8 sport. Play got a little rough with 4:12 left in the half when Johnson and Cartwright got into a shoving match. Both were assessed a technical foul.

The Pistons, behind Thomas' 13 points in the half, led at the break 53-51. Jordan had 19 first-half points for the Bulls.

The Bulls had the biggest lead in the opening quarter, 23-16, after Scottie Pippen converted a 3-pointer and had 32 points, scoring five straight with less than three minutes to play after being fouled on a layup at 3:49.

Over the holidays, Terry Vitale eyes, his four daughters, signed a letter-of-intent to attend Notre Dame next fall. Vitale, from St. Stephen's Episcopal High School in Bradenton, Fla., is ranked among the top 50 players in the 18-and-under age bracket by the U.S. Tennis Association.

That's not the only good news for the Irish women's tennis team has enjoyed lately. Sophomore Tracy Barton of Cincinnati is ranked 29th in the Volvo Tennis/Collegiate Rankings.

How did you go about recruiting so many freshmen?

"I don't think that other than the first year I was here were there ever as many good kids who wanted to come to Indiana. There were at least three others we wanted, but just didn't have places for. There were a lot we wanted to recruit right away. The two Grifans, Greg and Pat; Chris Lawson, Calbert Cheaney and Chris Reynolds. Todd Leary was the sixth. I remember watching him early and remember thinking that it was an incredible shame that we had so many guards that we couldn't find a place for him. In almost any year since I came to Indiana, Leary would have been a kid we would have recruited. We were talking to some other coaches about trying to help him get located even though I knew he was a kid who could play at Indiana. Then (Jay) Edwards left (for the National Basketball Association), and that left a spot for a kid like Leary who can shoot the ball. The seventh freshman was Lawrence Funderburke. We took a chance on him and it didn't pan out."

Is it difficult to work with so many freshmen?

"It may be more difficult when it comes to establishing new habits. Next year, when we see where we are, we might redshirt a couple of these kids and spread them out a little. All freshmen are like a funnel — everything comes down to them. In high school they all had guys screening for them, passing for them, playing defense for them and doing a lot of things for them. Some teams even play a special kind of defense to keep that one kid out of foul trouble. Now he comes here and he has to be a screener, a passer and a defender. There are a lot of things that he has to do differently. We may have a player who can score better than he can. Maybe his shooting isn't as good. Getting each kid to understand how he must play is probably the most difficult thing. When you are playing a lot of freshmen, and we are playing more now than ever, they are going to make mistakes because they forget or don't recognize what's going on. And, when you make a dozen or so mistakes, they're difficult to overcome.

How good are these freshmen?

"I think these kids have been way better than most freshmen that I can imagine. We've only got into trouble because of their mistakes in maybe four games so far, and twice we've been able to bail ourselves out. The other two we couldn't. We have to get to a point where we can get these kids to react properly. Each kind of team presents its own difficulty and I'm not sure that any one team is more difficult to coach than another. But I do think this team is difficult from the standpoint of the mistakes they're going to make."

Because of the freshmen, are you using more players than usual?

"I don't think so, but maybe we have — because we have more players than usual. We've always changed the starting lineup around. But we do have more kids that I think I can play. Sometimes when the game is over I look back and I'm really sorry that we didn't play a certain kid 5 more minutes — or 8 more minutes."

Ellis has not played in enough games to qualify. Also scoring in double figures are Keith Robinson at 15.5 ppg and Joe Fredrick at 13.4. They will likely be joined in the starting lineup by freshman Monty Williams (5.4 ppg) and guard Tim Singleton (5.8 ppg).

NOTES: Wichita State coach Mike Cohen is in his first year at Wichita State after serving as a Shocker assistant for three years. The Shockers play eight of their final 12 games on the road. ... This will be the first meeting between the two teams. Wichita State has been outrebounded only three times this year. The next three Irish games will be televised by Sportschannel.
Elway glad for chance to play San Francisco

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Like some kind of cosmic revenge, John Elway considered the condition of the Denver Broncos and, in the tradition of quarterbacks past, offered a Super Bowl guarantee.

"Get another point-and-a-half," Elway said. "And I guar­antee we'll cover the spread.

This falls somewhat short of Joe Montana's Super Bowl III guarantee that the 17 1/2-point underdog New York Jets would beat the Baltimore Colts, but it will have to do for now.

The guarantee figures to put all the pressure on the 49ers, who went into that fine finish with them. It takes two teams to make a Super Bowl, and the Broncos

State's 150-pound wrestler Gary Hoyos. Layton was giving a little elbow in the first period that put him on his back for the final 30 seconds of the match. Layton fought off the pin and was able to free himself before the 1 1/2-minute mark of the third period

In the second period, the meet essentially began to change. Layton chose top, knowing he needed some big points to get back in the match. Layton executed a "tuck" with a minute left in the match and picked up three back points, and then two more to take a 6-5 lead in the third. Layton dominated, escaping from the bottom and then pinning Hoyos 59 seconds into the period.

"Layton wrestled tough," commented McCann. "He really battled back, the guy he was wrestling was an All-American last year.

With Layton's pin, the Irish took a 13-5 lead and continued to roll, winning three of the next four matches and taking a 22-13 lead in the final bout of the evening.

In the final match, Irish sophomore Chuck Weaver (149) wrestled Ferris State senior Greg Brolley (149). Weaver performed a single leg takedown and was leading 2-1 at the end of the first. In the third, his opponent was able to escape from bottom cutting Weaver's lead to 3-2. With 45 seconds left in the match, Beson took down Weaver, who was not able to escape and lost 4-3.

"We can't get a takedown and he's fast," said McCann. "We should never have lost the heavy weight bout tonight.

Notre Dame's top two wrestlers, seniors Andy Rardenbaugh (118) and Pat McDonald (125) were in the match to rest up for this weekend's National Catholic Invitational in Cleveland. McCann thinks the Irish will turn in a good performance.

"I am very confident in my ability to do both jobs," Perles said in a statement. "Of course, you always run a demotion by yourself. A strong, competent staff is essential to any organization. I have a plan and I hope to develop.

"Plans say the new football recruiting, which ends with national signing day on Feb. 14.

"Perles, who will assume his new job on July 1, will have a one-year trial with or without salary. The board of trustees said they were not yet considering a possible decision on filling Perles' job. The agreement sends a signal to the Irish that Perles had won't miss the boat on this one.

Although you would not think it due to the balmy weather across the Notre Dame campus, the Ski Team has begun its rare sea­son. Team got under way before classes started last week as they held tryouts for the 20 spots on the four separate squads.

Fifty-one people turned out for the tryout in upper Michigan the night was chosen after rain prevailed at the original site of Swiss Valley. In addition to the five skiers on each of the two men's teams, four alternates were also selected. The respective women's teams from Notre Dame and Saint Mary's have five members as well as three alternates apiece.

The tryout consisted of slalom and one giant slalom run for each ski with positions determined by place order. The skiers who made the team didn't have long to contemplate the accomplishment because they com­peted in the first race of the season just five days later.

The team trekked to Caberfae near Cadillac, Michigan to compete against some formidable and more experienced foes. The competition included teams from Grand Val­ley St., Michigan, Michigan St. Western Michigan, Central Michigan, and Ferris St. The Irish made a fine showing as the men's team placed sixth, with the women sixth, and the Saint Mary's team seventh.

"I was very happy with our performance," said club president Mike Sheehan. "We have a really young team with over half being freshmen. It's a little scary in that first race.

The team's results are especially encouraging when one considers the fact that all the schools in the race are situated in ski the hav­en of Michigan while the Notre Dame area isn't likely to be compared to Vail in the near future.

"Those teams are able to practice often," commented Sheehan. "Some even have skiing as a varsity sport."

Bob Reich finished first among the Irish men, while Garth Schultheiss and Mike Sheehan finished second and third respectively. In the Notre Dame women's team, Joe Gehr and Trish Sieger handled the icy course in the fastest time for the team. Beth McNichol and Julie Kittel were top finishers for Saint Mary's.

Perles will remain Spartan coach

Michigan State and the University of Notre Dame have fired their football coaches Tuesday by also con­sidering Dan Devine, who will be named the new head coach at Notre Dame. Devine has been a co­ach at Notre Dame for 14 years.

"We are very pleased with our decision," said Notre Dame athletic director Joe Gehr. "We be­lieve we have found the man who will guide our program to the top."

Perles, who was fired last night, will have a one-year trial with or without salary. The board of trustees said they were not yet considering a possible decision on filling Perles' job. The agreement sends a signal to the Irish that Perles had won't miss the boat on this one.

"An offer in the range of $5 million to $6 million was avail­able from Jets," Owen said. "Since taking over the Spartan's 55-year-old coach has compiled a 46-33­-3 record."

Not everyone wanted Perles to have the job, including Michigan State President John DiBaglio and board member Dean Pridgen, who voted against giving Perles the posi­tion. Pridgen cited how, after leading Michigan State to the Big Ten championship in 1987 and a Rose Bowl victory, Perles accepted the Packers' head coaching job, but backed out the day it was to be announced.

Irish look to rebound against Wichita State

By GREG GUFFEE
Assistant Sports Editor

"I think Wichita State will be a very deceptive team," said Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps, who still has to go for his 400th career victory tonight. "They don't worry that a team has a losing record because anything can happen. I think they're in here to win and play hard."

The Shockers, 19-11 last season, were hit hard by graduation. The Shockers lost their leading scorer and rebounder in Steve Grayar in addition to Dewayn and Twight Rivers and Sasha Radunovich. Those four players accounted for 58 percent of Wichita State's scoring.

Wichita State is led by John Cooper, a 6-foot 6-inch junior from Kansas City. Phelps calls Cooper, "one of the quality players at six-six who can make a difference per game."

The Irish, meanwhile, went into last week's games against Rutgers and LSU as the top-scoring team in the nation. They connected on 41.7 percent of their shots, the second-best in the nation. They are second in the Big East Conference with 86.2 percent free-throw shooting. They have beaten their last six games, going to 17-2 on the road since losing to Rutgers.

"Something will change when we get back from Christmas," said nurse vrouw Steve Phillips, "I think we're in a good place."

The Irish are ranked 15th in the Associated Press poll, as well as in the Big East. They have beaten the Scarlet Knights 79-62. Notre Dame is beginning a four-game homestand for the Irish.

Tim Singleton and the Notre Dame basketball team will host Wichita State tonight in the Joyce ACC. It will be the first of a three-game homestand for the Irish.

With 38 seconds left, Doug Smith worked inside and handed off to Singleton underneath. Singleton tucked the ball, took off, dashed for a layup and converted a 3- pointer from the corner with career-high 25 points.

Notre Dame delivered in Texas, that makes 17 wins.

Notre Dame is trying to extend a six-game losing streak against the Missouri. The last six losses have come against the Shockers. The Irish are 19-12 against the Shockers at the Joyce ACC.

The Irish finished with a Tony Posey home game. Posey, who had 12 points, missed a 3- pointer with less than a minute left, who had 27 points.

The Irish are 1-0 in the ACC, going to 17-2 on the road since losing to Rutgers.

They have a better shot of reaching the NCAA Tournament.

Nonetheless, the Irish still have a shot of reaching the tournament, but a lot of people seem to think it's just going to take at least one upset. The Irish are 19-12 against the Shockers at the Joyce ACC.

If the Irish can't win any of those games, it could come down to a season-ending showdown with DePaul, another struggling independent. March 10 at the Rosemont Horizon is one game that could be crucial. The Irish would win the Magic Johnson had 10 of his 19 points during their winning streak.

Road to tournament lined with obstacles

It's getting to the point where it's a taking a schedule and a calculator to figure out Notre Dame's chances of making the NCAA Tournament.

The Irish, who presently sit 7-6, would need to do well at least in the ACC and perhaps even in the Big East to possibly garner a ticket to the field. They have a shot at 17-7 at the ACC.

But Notre Dame still needs to win over a high-profile team to secure a tournament spot. Winning at Syracuse or Duke would be a huge upset, but the Irish might be able to earn a split in home games with Missouri and Georgia Tech.

While most of the Irish remain optimistic about their team's season, they all know they have a lot of work to do to make it into the NCAA tournament.
