Saint Mary's student body elections held Wednesday resulted in the unopposed ticket of Kathy Schmidt, Marjorie Mattey, Maggie Belin and Maggie Lowry winning the positions of Student Body President, Vice-President of Student Affairs and Vice-President of Academic and College Relations, respectively.

The ticket, emphasizing "Student Leadership," garnered the maximum vote needed with 96 percent of the student's votes. "We are happy with the turnout of voters, and if people didn't vote, we're not any less excited about the victory," Schmidt said. "We plan to visit important student homes, and if we don't win, there's a chance to exchange ideas through the debate or campaign." Schmidt continues, "We will do our best as many people involved as we can, so there won't be a ticket running unopposed again. This is our number one priority."

Class officer elections were also held with the senior class ticket of Lowell Lehmann, Jeni Minichillo, Marjorie Mattey and Lauren Jaworowski winning with 53 percent of the vote. The race for junior class offices had the single ticket of Gilliland, Sarah Brown, Leslie Tedrow and Joelle Poulout gaining 84 percent of the ballots. Coleen Rhatigan, Tina Carrara, Gretchen Lath and Lisa Minichillo will be the sophomore class officers after winning 52 percent of the votes. All of the victorious candidates will be on their respective offices by April 1.

Elections Commissioner, Molly Bringuardner, said she wasn't happy with the competitiveness of the class races and that, "the ticket that was won that day not only didn't have to wait, but rather student awareness of the candidate's credibility."

Saint Mary's student body elections held yesterday.

Rights report criticizes Cuba, China; praises Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP) - Czechoslovak President Vaclav Havel told Congress Wednesday that his nation welcomes U.S. help after decades of Soviet domination but that eventually Europe must "decide for itself how long American and Soviet troops should remain." His speech, to a joint meeting of the House and Senate, came a day after President Bush said the Soviet Union should not use force in the region of a world dominated by a "great military presence."

Havel, the first of the new East European leaders to address Congress, said the United States could best help his country by pressing the Soviet Union to stay on its own road to democracy.

"He said he recognized a need for U.S. troops in Europe."

But, he added, "Operation Desert Storm should recover and become its own, and decide for itself how many of whose soldiers it needs."

In a speech that was largely conceptual, Havel said Americans "must learn to live with, along with his country, "how to put moral priority ahead of politics, science and economics."

Havel, who reluctantly accepted the popular mandate of his country to lead during its time of rapid transition, received a two-minute standing ovation in the crowded House Chamber, and appeared somewhat stiff and surprised at the reception.

"As he began to speak, U.S. tennis star and former Czechoslovak citizen Martina Navratilova dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief in the top row of the visitor's gallery."

Speaking through a translator, Havel called Czechoslovakia one of Eastern Europe's "waving children" and said the United States wants to coordinate its return to the economic and political mainstream with Hungary, Poland and other nations emerging from 40 years of Soviet domination.

The United States can best said that return, he said, by helping the Soviet Union on "its irreversible, but immensely complicated road to democracy."

"More quickly and the more peacefully the Soviet Union begins to move along the road towards genuine political pluralism and economic reform, "the better it will be — not just for Czechs and Slovaks, but for the whole world," he said.

Addressing reporters later, Havel declined to elaborate on that call, saying it was not his place to suggest specific moves to the United States. The members of Congress came to their feet when Havel said the country's peaceful evolution was inspired by the U.S. Constitution, Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence. "They inspire us to be citizens," he said.

After his White House meeting, Havel was leaving Washington for New York and meetings with business leaders — and a rock concert in his honor.

Havel, the first head of state from his country to visit Washington, said that Europe is "leaving the "anadated straitjacket" of a world dominated by two superpowers for one in which nations can stand more independently."

Lawmakers applauded his conclusion that American troops will be able to return to Europe and take votes from two politically active students, Kim Simmons and Jennifer Kaniescki, during the Saint Mary's student body elections held yesterday.

Wassie says Europe will decide for itself on troops there

WASHINGTON (AP) - Czechoslovak President Vaclav Havel told Congress Wednesday that his nation welcomes U.S. help after decades of Soviet domination but that eventually Europe must "decide for itself how long American and Soviet troops should remain.

His speech, to a joint meeting of the House and Senate, came a day after President Bush said the Soviet Union should not use force in the region of a world dominated by a "great military presence.

Havel, the first of the new East European leaders to address Congress, said the United States could best help his country by pressing the Soviet Union to stay on its own road to democracy.

"He said he recognized a need for U.S. troops in Europe."

But, he added, "Operation Desert Storm should recover and become its own, and decide for itself how many of whose soldiers it needs."

In a speech that was largely conceptual, Havel said Americans "must learn to live with, along with his country, "how to put moral priority ahead of politics, science and economics."

Havel, who reluctantly accepted the popular mandate of his country to lead during its time of rapid transition, received a two-minute standing ovation in the crowded House Chamber, and appeared somewhat stiff and surprised at the reception.

"As he began to speak, U.S. tennis star and former Czechoslovak citizen Martina Navratilova dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief in the top row of the visitor's gallery."

Speaking through a translator, Havel called Czechoslovakia one of Eastern Europe's "waving children" and said the United States wants to coordinate its return to the economic and political mainstream with Hungary, Poland and other nations emerging from 40 years of Soviet domination.

The United States can best said that return, he said, by helping the Soviet Union on "its irreversible, but immensely complicated road to democracy."

"More quickly and the more peacefully the Soviet Union begins to move along the road towards genuine political pluralism and economic reform, "the better it will be — not just for Czechs and Slovaks, but for the whole world," he said.

Addressing reporters later, Havel declined to elaborate on that call, saying it was not his place to suggest specific moves to the United States. The members of Congress came to their feet when Havel said the country's peaceful evolution was inspired by the U.S. Constitution, Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence. "They inspire us to be citizens," he said.

After his White House meeting, Havel was leaving Washington for New York and meetings with business leaders — and a rock concert in his honor.

Havel, the first head of state from his country to visit Washington, said that Europe is "leaving the "anadated straitjacket" of a world dominated by two superpowers for one in which nations can stand more independently."

Lawmakers applauded his conclusion that American troops will be able to return to Europe and take votes from two politically active students, Kim Simmons and Jennifer Kaniescki, during the Saint Mary's student body elections held yesterday.

The Observer

VOL. XXIII NO. 95

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S

FEBRUARY 22, 1990

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor

Schmidt, Lowry, Belin elected unopposed

By CHRISTINE GILL

Saint Mary's Editor
Fun in Phys. Ed. hit me during volleyball

At 1:20 p.m., the most dreaded part of my day began. It’s not an intense seminar, with papers on the existence of the universe due every week. It’s even worse. It’s Phys. Ed.

Let me sum up my Physical Education routine for the past 13 years. Paul shows up. Paul screws up. Paul leaves with his ego flattened.

When I entered my latest Phys. Ed. rotation, Beginning Volleyball, the instructor told us, “It’s very important to have fun here.” I chuckled and said to myself: “It’s awfully hard to have fun while you’re having your ears systematically kicked from one end of the gym to the other.”

After learning the do’s and don’ts of volleyball, such as “Don’t serve the ball into the ceiling,” we were divided into teams for a round-robin tournament. The instructor said “There will be a prize for the team that compiles the best record.” The team that won got to bring in their own self-confidence intact.

I knew things were going to be bad from the first serve. The girl standing behind me hit the ball and wondered where it went. BOOM! Right in the back of my head! “It’s going to be one of those rotations,” I thought.

Despite that serve, we won the game. But it was the only game we won. In fact, it was the only game we even came close to winning. As one of my teammates said, “We don’t go out on a volleyball court. We belong on a Saturday morning cartoon.”

Not that we were all terrible. Some of us were great players. One guy, Rich, was phenomenal. He played four positions at once, and never even hit the ball. Unfortunately, despite his (and our) best efforts, we went into the final day of the tournament with a 1-8 record.

By that time, I decided to stop trying to win and simply start playing. Then we played even worse. That last day, I collided with at least two other players, missed four balls I tried to hit, and missed God-knows-how-many spikes. By then, it didn’t matter.

In the end, our record was 1-11 and we were proud of it. The last time we won the tournament (they won a bag of Synthetics), we were even more proud of it.

As you are reading this, I am on my way to Conditioning. I can see the headline now: “Freshman struggles self with bench press grand.” I think this time I’ll try to have a little more tact.

So here’s to Rich, Bill, Fred and the rest of the now world-famous “Saturday Morning Carson Crew.” Thanks for helping turn Phys. Ed. into first-rate fun. Isn’t that what Phys. Ed. is supposed to be about?

(Reprinted in the Inside column are the author’s and not necessarily those of The Observer.)

A Pasta Lunch is being served today at the CSC from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. It benefits the YWCA Battered Women’s Shelter. All are welcome.

Charity Ball needs enthusiastic volunteers for the 1990 Committee. All those interested should attend tonight’s meeting at 7 p.m. in the South Room, LaFortune or call Shannon McAuliffe 243-4230 or Brian Liptak 236-3461.

World

A Palestinian who is considered a potential peace negotiator said Swedish researchers reported Wednesday. The results could help explain why babies become calm and fall asleep.

Devoted “skin-heads,” characterized by their shaved heads, were accused of beating up blacks and Hispanics and plotting to gas Jews by putting cyanide in a synagogue. Three also are accused of chasing blacks and Hispanics out of a park, named for a Confederate general, that they claimed for themselves. Security on the weekend before Mardi Gras next Tuesday have been canceled or postponed because of rain.

Atlantis’ commander got a sore throat Wednesday, forcing NASA to postpone for at least 24 hours the launch of the shuttle on a secret, all-military mission to put a spy satellite in orbit. A space agency statement said a bad weather forecast also was a factor in the postponement, but officials said that if not for the illness they would have continued the countdown, hoping for clear skies by launch time early Thursday.

It’s a wet Mardi Gras, with up to 5 inches forecast for today and Thursday, enough to turn the glossy paper mache floats of Carnival season into heaps of soggy papier mache. Most parades leading up to Mardi Gras next Tuesday have been canceled or postponed because of rain.

President Bush will travel to New York and California next week for a series of Republican political events, the White House announced Wednesday. Bush will leave Feb. 28 for a States Island fund-raising dinner to benefit the congressional campaign of Republican Susan Molinari. He then will fly that evening to San Francisco to stump for Sen. Pete Wilson, who is running for governor of California.
East German official warns against rapid reunification

EAST BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's foreign minister on Wednesday demanded a rapid reunification, and his West German counterpart assured the victorious World War II Allies that nothing will be done behind their backs.

In East Berlin, the government sought to assure worried citizens that there will be no immediate increases in state-subsidized food prices and announced plans for large tax cuts to bolster private initiative.

Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher said Germans must provide definite, binding recognition of European borders before German unification is accepted by all sides.

"German unity must proceed at such a rhythm that it corresponds to the interests of the victorious powers and German neighbors," he said, adding that unification must not rattle Europe's balance of power.

West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher said Germans must respond to Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's statement Tuesday that World War II Allies — the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France — had the final say on Germany's status.

"We will never question this," he said.

Genscher said a reunified Germany must pledge to respect postwar borders in Europe that specifically mentioned Poland, where one-third of the western territory belonged to Germany before World War II.

"Both Germany and Poland are bound by treaties to respect the present borders, but a united country would not be, and some conservatives in West Germany have suggested reunification be sought within the 1937 borders.

Another sensitive issue raised by the rush toward unification has been the question of what to do with the large armies stationed in both Germany.

The Soviet Union and East Germany insist that the combined state be neutral. West Germany says the western allies want a united Germany to remain in the NATO alliance.

Panel sees hope for ordination of women

By ANDREA CAVANAUGH

The inclusion of women priests in the Catholic Church will have a "beautiful" effect on the Catholic community, a panel of two Notre Dame professors and a senior student argued.

The panel, comprised of two Notre Dame theology professors and a senior student in the Program of Liberal Studies, discussed the history and symbolism of women priests. The Committee on Notre Dame's Position on the Ordination of Women sponsored the discussion as the fifth of a series addressing the issue of women priests.

"When you are reading these early Church readings, it is like hearing a telephone from one end. It is important to keep that in mind," said Joseph Belknap, John O'Brien, professor of Old Testament studies.

Belknap said that the members of early Christian-ity had no individual titles, but most of the early leaders were men. He cited St. Paul as saying there should be "...no male or female..." but all should be "...one in Christ Jesus..."

Belknap feels that the ordination of women is a dominant part of the Church's history. "We find if you take St. Thomas Aquinas...he tells us where boys and the validly insane can be ordained, woman can't.

In spite of this, Belknap believes there is hope for the future of women priests. "The process cannot be defined as irreversible. He desires a re-form of the Catholic doctrines concerning the clergy. Adela Collins, professor of theology, discussed the symbolism of the priesthood. She said that the symbolism of the male in the Eucharist is not a valid reason to exclude women from the priesthood.

"The priest represents the Church turning towards God during the Eucharist. "If the priest represents the Church, then the woman can represent the Church as well as a man."

Nurse lectures on experiences in Armenia

By COLLEEN TRAVERs

Red Cross nurse Diane Hartwig presented a lecture and slide show of her experiences in Armenia following the 1988 earthquake.

Hartwig travelled with the International Red Cross Society for a period of 6 months to help with their spinal cord unit. It was a shocking experience and according to Hartwig, "half a million people were injured, disabled, homeless, or dead."

Help did not arrive to some of the small villages for at least 5 to 7 days after the earthquake. Hartwig pointed out that many of the villagers thought that it was a nuclear accident and they were the only ones to survive. Hartwig described many of her impressions of Armenia and the people she met. This included some of the more extreme customs that she was forced to get used to, including a nightly curfew of 10 p.m. and the constant presence of tanks and soldiers.

"The whole idea of the project was to go in and train people so that they could keep the spinal cord program going on their own," claimed Hartwig.

However, there were many difficult problems that the nurses had to face. One of the biggest problems was the very basic facilities that they were provided with. They were given a very limited supply of all nursing necessities.

"One of the most exciting things was how much nursing we could do without nursing facilities," Hartwig said.

Another problem was their lack of experience with spinal cord injuries. The Red Cross workers had to try to educate the entire community as well as the local professionals.

The program was extended from the original 6 months to 2 years and there are still Red Cross members working there.

Panel sees hope for ordination of women

By ANDREA CAVANAUGH

The inclusion of women priests in the Catholic Church will have a "beautiful" effect on the Catholic community, a panel of two Notre Dame professors and a senior student argued.

The panel, comprised of two Notre Dame theology professors and a senior student in the Program of Liberal Studies, discussed the history and symbolism of women priests. The Committee on Notre Dame's Position on the Ordination of Women sponsored the discussion as the fifth of a series addressing the issue of women priests.

"When you are reading these early Church readings, it is like hearing a telephone from one end. It is important to keep that in mind," said Joseph Belknap, John O'Brien, professor of Old Testament studies.

Belknap said that the members of early Christian-ity had no individual titles, but most of the early leaders were men. He cited St. Paul as saying there should be "...no male or female..." but all should be "...one in Christ Jesus..."

Belknap feels that the ordination of women is a dominant part of the Church's history. "We find if you take St. Thomas Aquinas...he tells us where boys and the validly insane can be ordained, woman can't.

In spite of this, Belknap believes there is hope for the future of women priests. "The process cannot be defined as irreversible. He desires a re-form of the Catholic doctrines concerning the clergy. Adela Collins, professor of theology, discussed the symbolism of the priesthood. She said that the symbolism of the male in the Eucharist is not a valid reason to exclude women from the priesthood.

"The priest represents the Church turning towards God during the Eucharist. "If the priest represents the Church, then the woman can represent the Church as well as a man."

Nurse lectures on experiences in Armenia

By COLLEEN TRAVERs

Red Cross nurse Diane Hartwig presented a lecture and slide show of her experiences in Armenia following the 1988 earthquake.

Hartwig travelled with the International Red Cross Society for a period of 6 months to help with their spinal cord unit. It was a shocking experience and according to Hartwig, "half a million people were injured, disabled, homeless, or dead."

Help did not arrive to some of the small villages for at least 5 to 7 days after the earthquake. Hartwig pointed out that many of the villagers thought that it was a nuclear accident and they were the only ones to survive. Hartwig described many of her impressions of Armenia and the people she met. This included some of the more extreme customs that she was forced to get used to, including a nightly curfew of 10 p.m. and the constant presence of tanks and soldiers.

"The whole idea of the project was to go in and train people so that they could keep the spinal cord program going on their own," claimed Hartwig.

However, there were many difficult problems that the nurses had to face. One of the biggest problems was the very basic facilities that they were provided with. They were given a very limited supply of all nursing necessities.

"One of the most exciting things was how much nursing we could do without nursing facilities," Hartwig said.

Another problem was their lack of experience with spinal cord injuries. The Red Cross workers had to try to educate the entire community as well as the local professionals.

The program was extended from the original 6 months to 2 years and there are still Red Cross members working there.
Faculty Fellowship winners announced
Special to The Observer

IndianaPols—Faculty members at Indiana colleges and universities will engage in opportunities for personal and professional development under two annual competitive programs sponsored by Lilly Endowment Inc.

The Lilly Endowment Faculty Open Fellowships will permit a total of 23 faculty members at seven Indiana public and independent institutions to take a leave from their normal academic or work-study programs of their own design. The program targets faculty members in mid-career—a time when they are particularly vulnerable to occasional burnout. Since the program’s inception in 1974, some 167 faculty members have participated.

The Endowment has also selected 23 members at 12 of Indiana’s private, independent colleges and universities for its Summer Stipend Program. Winners will receive $5,000 for use in the summer to develop new courses for their institutions. A total of 111 faculty members have created or expanded research or work-study programs of their own design.

The program targets faculty members in mid-career—a time when they are particularly vulnerable to occasional burnout. Since the program’s inception in 1974, some 167 faculty members have participated.

The Endowment has also selected 23 members at 12 of Indiana’s private, independent colleges and universities for its Summer Stipend Program. Winners will receive $5,000 for use in the summer to develop new courses for their institutions. A total of 111 faculty members have created or expanded research or work-study programs of their own design.

The program targets faculty members in mid-career—a time when they are particularly vulnerable to occasional burnout. Since the program’s inception in 1974, some 167 faculty members have participated.

The Endowment has also selected 23 members at 12 of Indiana’s private, independent colleges and universities for its Summer Stipend Program. Winners will receive $5,000 for use in the summer to develop new courses for their institutions. A total of 111 faculty members have created or expanded research or work-study programs of their own design.

The program targets faculty members in mid-career—a time when they are particularly vulnerable to occasional burnout. Since the program’s inception in 1974, some 167 faculty members have participated.

The Endowment has also selected 23 members at 12 of Indiana’s private, independent colleges and universities for its Summer Stipend Program. Winners will receive $5,000 for use in the summer to develop new courses for their institutions. A total of 111 faculty members have created or expanded research or work-study programs of their own design.

The program targets faculty members in mid-career—a time when they are particularly vulnerable to occasional burnout. Since the program’s inception in 1974, some 167 faculty members have participated.
Global warming linked to gases

NEW YORK (AP) — Global warming over the past 30 years is almost certainly related to buildup of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, as one might expect if the greenhouse effect were responsible, a statistical analysis says.

But the study cannot prove that the gas buildup caused the warming, researchers cautioned.

Key scientists are concerned that continued buildup of carbon dioxide and other gases in the atmosphere may lead to global warming that could alter climates. The atmospheric process is known as the greenhouse effect.

But researchers disagree over whether gas buildup has caused any detectable warming yet. The new statistical analysis is presented in Thursday's issue of the British journal Nature by Cynthia Kuo, Craig Lindberg and David Thomson of AT&T Bell Labs in Murray Hill, N.J.

Their work used observations of atmospheric carbon dioxide concentrations taken monthly since 1958 at the summit of Mauna Loa in Hawaii. The usual trends made at several sites, the researchers said.

They compared the concentrations to monthly averages of global temperature from 1958 to 1988 and found a strong statistical relationship between short-term fluctuations in the two trends.

The chance of such a relationship arising simply by chance is only about 2 in 1 million, the researchers said.

That means "there is probably some physical link" between the two trends but "there's no way to say which is causing which," Lindberg said in an interview.

A third factor, such as increased energy output from the sun, may be causing both observed trends, he said.

The analysis found that changes in carbon dioxide concentrations lagged behind those in carbon emissions, suggesting that the Securitate, Romania's former counter-espionage unit, the strongest rival of the National Salvation Front in Romania's elections in May. The front governed alone for six weeks after the revolution before being pressured to share power with 37 other parties in a provisional Council of National Unity.

Peasants Party members were "afraid to go ... to investigate exactly what had happened," Gabrielescu said.

Meanwhile, Romania's newly appointed minister of defense said that the Securitate, Ceaucescu's intelligence police, had been completely dissolved. The Securitate battled the army and civilians during the December revolution.

But Col. Gen. Victor Stanculescu said a new security force would be formed to protect the state's interests. His comments were an apparent attempt to quell persistent concern that Securitate forces continued to operate.

A new security apparatus "composed of army officers who have proved their loyalty to the state" would be created "to protect from those who would destabilize society," he told the independent Romania Libera.

In Bucharest and elsewhere, 3,294 Securitate members were put on reserve army status. In Bucharest, offices of the former counter-espionage unit, he said.

"The majority ... who gave illegal orders or contributed to the repression of the revolution are under investigation, under arrest ... and will be tried," he said.

The Observer — Opposition party members allegedly murdered by rivals

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Two opposition party activists were beaten to death and the tongue of one victim was cut out by party opponents, the traditionally anti-Communist National Peasants Party alleged Wednesday.

Peasants Party spokesman Valentin Gabrielescu declined to make specific accusations about who was behind the reported killings, but suggested they were politically motivated.

Three suspects have been arrested in the Feb. 11 death and mutilation of Vasile Velescu, Gabrielescu said, refusing to identify them or their possible motives.

He said only that Velescu, 60, "was killed because he was the chief of our organization" in Bacau, 180 miles northeast of Bucharest.

Another party activist, from Calarasi county in southern Romania, also was murdered, Gabrielescu said. He refused to name the victim or give further details, saying he was following the wishes of the victim's family.

There was no independent confirmation of the alleged murders, which would be the first ones with apparent political motives since the end of the revolution and overthrow of the Communist dictator Nicolae Ceaucescu in December. Gabrielescu was also the possibility of further violence against the Peasants Party, the strongest rival of the National Salvation Front in Romania's elections in May. The front governed alone for six weeks after the revolution before being pressured to share power with 37 other parties in a provisional Council of National Unity.

Peasants Party members were "afraid to go ... to investigate exactly what had happened," Gabrielescu said.

Meanwhile, Romania's newly appointed minister of defense said that the Securitate, Ceaucescu's intelligence police, had been completely dissolved. The Securitate battled the army and civilians during the December revolution.

But Col. Gen. Victor Stanculescu said a new security force would be formed to protect the state's interests. His comments were an apparent attempt to quell persistent concern that Securitate forces continued to operate.

A new security apparatus "composed of army officers who have proved their loyalty to the state" would be created "to protect from those who would destabilize society," he told the independent Romania Libera.

In Bucharest and elsewhere, 3,294 Securitate members were put on reserve army status. In Bucharest, offices of the former counter-espionage unit, he said.

"The majority ... who gave illegal orders or contributed to the repression of the revolution are under investigation, under arrest ... and will be tried," he said.

The Observer — Security Awareness Days begin at SMC

Security Awareness Days begin at SMC

By CARLA PRANDO

The Joint Meeting of the Saint Mary's College Board of Governors and Board of Student Affairs began with Lisa Catanecci announcing a list of upcoming events.

• On Monday, Feb. 26 Malley Johnson will be speaking in Stapleton lounge on the Black Catholic Experience.

• Security Awareness Days begins on Tuesday, Feb. 27 with a panel discussion on personal rights and responsibilities.

• In conjunction with Security Awareness Days, Wednesday, Feb. 26 the aerobics classes will be replaced with the Karate Academy demonstrating self-defense techniques.

A recycling pilot program at Saint Mary's in cooperation with the Hope Rescue Mission will begin in the spring with receptacles placed in every dorm for aluminum cans.

Tricia Burke, director of the Alumnae Association, proposed a program which would link alumnae more closely with students. Burke suggested working with student government to organize Founder's Day and other events to improve communication between alumnae and students.

A joint event to take place during freshman orientation between Saint Mary's freshmen and Notre Dame freshman women was discussed. This event would attempt to prevent the formation of stereotypes about the women on both campuses.

An announcement was made that Saint Mary's students are welcome to participate in Bookstore Basketball at Notre Dame. Sign-ups will be from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday in O'Slaughtness Hall with a fee of $5.

The meeting ended with some discussion of Senior Month and of the upcoming Charity Ball.

The Observer — The importance of being earnest

Oscar Wilde

The Observer — Notre Dame Communication and Theatre presents

with guest artist Kate Burke as Lady Bracknell

Directed by Frederic Syburg

Wednesday, February 28 thru

Saturday March 2, 8:10 pm

Sunday, March 4, 3:10 pm

Washington Hall

56 Main Floor

55 Balcony

54 Students/Senior Citizens

( Wed., Thurs., Sun.)

Group rates available 239-5956

Tickets available at the door or in advance at the LaFortune Student Center Box Office: MasterCard/Visa orders 239-8782

STEAKS

PRIME RIB

SEAFOOD

100 CENTER • MISHAWAKA

FOOD HOUSE

Featuring Friday night seafood buffet and Sunday brunch 219-259-9925

GET ACTIVE!

RECYCLE

a planet is a terrible thing to waste

O Aluminum

O Newspapers

O Glass

For more information contact Paul Ruesch 277-6712, or call 239-7668

The Observer — Democracy in Hungary?

"Creating a Democracy in Hungary" was the topic discussed last night in the Montgomery Theater as part of the "Democracy in Eastern Europe" week. From left are Professor Theodore Ivanus, Miklos Simon, Katalin Fabian, and Gabor Forrai.

The Observer — The Observer / John Clare
Sandinistas end campaign with mass rally

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Thousands of people gathered Monday in central Managua for a campaign-ending rally in support of President Daniel Ortega and the Sandinista party's effort to keep the presidency for six more years.

"Our historic victory now," read the front-page headline in Barricada, the official Sandinista liberation movement newspaper, with Sunday's election just a day away.

The headline was sandwiched between color photos of Ortega and Sandinista supporters, beginning before dawn, sporting yellow, red or black "sandinista" shirts and baseball caps in the party's red-and-black color.

Ortega's main challenger is Violeta Barrios de Chamorro of the National Union of Popular Forces, which is an alliance of 14 parties and one native Indian organization.

"We are here to support the revolution and defeat Violeta and her Contra friends," said Tomas Avareno, one of about 250 disabled veterans of the war against the U.S.-supported Contra guerrilla movement.

Avareno said he and 22 other paraplegic veterans had wheeled their way through group's 17-day, 160-mile trek from the Honduran border town of El Tule.

Public transport was nearly non-existent in Managua as buses and trucks were diverted to taking people to a large lakeside plaza for the rally.

The vote — to choose a president and vice-president, a 90-member National Assembly, municipal councils for 174 towns, and two regional councils for the Atlantic Coast — is seen as a plebiscite on 10 years of Sandinista rule.

Despite a massive campaign effort and opinion polls that generally give Ortega the lead, there was still uncertainty about the outcome.

Many of Nicaragua's 1.75 million registered voters are reluctant to speak their minds to the Sandinistas rallies appeared padded by public employees and others pressured to attend.

UNO, as the bloc is known, closed its campaign Sunday with the largest opposition rally since the Sandinistas took power in July 1979, gathering 60,000 people at the Plaza of the Revolution.

Wednesday also was the 56th anniversary of the assassination of Gen. Augusto Cesar Sandino, a national hero for whom the Sandinistas are named.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has proposed sweetening the program with an additional $311 million next year and including new countries that meet certain terms for economic and political reform.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Copy Editor

To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 23 to Kelley Tuthill. For further information, call (239-5303).

Security Beat

MONDAY, FEB. 19

A student of St. John's Health reported that his car had been vandalized. Unknown persons had broken the antenna off his car.

TODAY, FEB. 20

A surveillance camera at the parking lot, Norte Dame Security stopped three suspicious people in the parking lot who were dressed in suits that Norte Dame is private property and were asked to leave.

TUESDAY, FEB. 20

A surveillance camera reported that his jacket was taken from the Top 10 College of the AACC campus during the game. The loss is estimated to be $50.00.

The Observer, Thursday, February 22, 1990

Iceberg Debates

The following are the results of the semifinals of the Iceberg Debates held Wednesday night.

Aff Fisher 1
Neg Breen-Phillips 2
Aff Pasqualetti East 2
Neg Lyons 1
Aff Pangborn 2
Neg Alum 1
Aff Grace 2
Neg Pasqualetti West 1

The winners here will compete on Tuesday, Feb. 27.

There are no heroes in this locker room.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has proposed sweetening the program with an additional $311 million next year and including new countries that meet certain terms for economic and political reform.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Copy Editor

To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 23 to Kelley Tuthill. For further information, call (239-5303).

among the wreckers of the Eastern European peace conference that would finally put a formal end to the Second World War and all its unhappy consequences." At a brief news conference later, he suggested such a meeting might come in 1991.

Turning philosophical, he said years of regression have given his countrymen time to ponder what is truly important, and said Americans can learn from that experience as well.

"The salvation of this human world lies nowhere else than in the human heart, in the human power to reflect, in human meekness and human responsibility," Havel told the lawmaking crackdown, the report cited a significant increase in Palestinian violence against Palestinians, inspired by a growing Islamic fundamentalist Hamas movement.

Israeli government guidelines to restrict use of troops violated and prosecution resulted only in a "relatively small number of such incidents," the report said.

James Zogyi, executive director of the Arab-American Institute, called the report a brutal indictment of Israeli occupation, said pro-Israel groups applied pressure to mute the criticism and said Congress should either cut the $3 billion in aid to Israel or make it conditional on an improved record.

In Jerusalem, Moshe Raviv, the deputy director general of the foreign ministry, said that "ideas are palatable," and that there is no existence in Managua as buses and trucks were diverted to taking people to a large lakeside plaza for the rally.

The vote — to choose a president and vice-president, a 90-member National Assembly, municipal councils for 144 towns, and two regional councils for the Atlantic Coast — is seen as a plebiscite on 10 years of Sandinista rule.

Despite a massive campaign effort and opinion polls that generally give Ortega the lead, there was still uncertainty about the outcome.

Many of Nicaragua's 1.75 million registered voters are reluctant to speak their minds to the Sandinistas rallies appeared padded by public employees and others pressured to attend.

UNO, as the bloc is known, closed its campaign Sunday with the largest opposition rally since the Sandinistas took power in July 1979, gathering 60,000 people at the Plaza of the Revolution.

Wednesday also was the 56th anniversary of the assassination of Gen. Augusto Cesar Sandino, a national hero for whom the Sandinistas are named.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has proposed sweetening the program with an additional $311 million next year and including new countries that meet certain terms for economic and political reform.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Copy Editor

To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 23 to Kelley Tuthill. For further information, call (239-5303).

Having male priests, the Church constructs a barrier so that women cannot respond to God's call.

"We are still under the sway of the destructive and evil belief that man is the pinnacle of creation, and not just a part of it, and that therefore everything is permitted," his speech came a day after Haddad predicted that he believes that the approval of the U.S. and 10-fifth the development and leading lawmakers also have proposed expanding an aid program began last year for Poland and Hungary to include Czechoslovakia and other countries emerging from Soviet domination.

In Jerusalem, Moshe Raviv, the deputy director general of the foreign ministry, said that "ideas are palatable," and that there is no existence in Managua as buses and trucks were diverted to taking people to a large lakeside plaza for the rally.

The vote — to choose a president and vice-president, a 90-member National Assembly, municipal councils for 144 towns, and two regional councils for the Atlantic Coast — is seen as a plebiscite on 10 years of Sandinista rule.

Despite a massive campaign effort and opinion polls that generally give Ortega the lead, there was still uncertainty about the outcome.

Many of Nicaragua's 1.75 million registered voters are reluctant to speak their minds to the Sandinistas rallies appeared padded by public employees and others pressured to attend.

UNO, as the bloc is known, closed its campaign Sunday with the largest opposition rally since the Sandinistas took power in July 1979, gathering 60,000 people at the Plaza of the Revolution.

Wednesday also was the 56th anniversary of the assassination of Gen. Augusto Cesar Sandino, a national hero for whom the Sandinistas are named.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has proposed sweetening the program with an additional $311 million next year and including new countries that meet certain terms for economic and political reform.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Copy Editor

To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 23 to Kelley Tuthill. For further information, call (239-5303).

Having male priests, the Church constructs a barrier so that women cannot respond to God's call.

"We are still under the sway of the destructive and evil belief that man is the pinnacle of creation, and not just a part of it, and that therefore everything is permitted," the report said.

James Zogyi, executive director of the Arab-American Institute, called the report a brutal indictment of Israeli occupation, said pro-Israel groups applied pressure to mute the criticism and said Congress should either cut the $3 billion in aid to Israel or make it conditional on an improved record.

In Jerusalem, Moshe Raviv, the deputy director general of the foreign ministry, said that "ideas are palatable," and that there is no existence in Managua as buses and trucks were diverted to taking people to a large lakeside plaza for the rally.

The vote — to choose a president and vice-president, a 90-member National Assembly, municipal councils for 144 towns, and two regional councils for the Atlantic Coast — is seen as a plebiscite on 10 years of Sandinista rule.

Despite a massive campaign effort and opinion polls that generally give Ortega the lead, there was still uncertainty about the outcome.

Many of Nicaragua's 1.75 million registered voters are reluctant to speak their minds to the Sandinistas rallies appeared padded by public employees and others pressured to attend.

UNO, as the bloc is known, closed its campaign Sunday with the largest opposition rally since the Sandinistas took power in July 1979, gathering 60,000 people at the Plaza of the Revolution.

Wednesday also was the 56th anniversary of the assassination of Gen. Augusto Cesar Sandino, a national hero for whom the Sandinistas are named.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has proposed sweetening the program with an additional $311 million next year and including new countries that meet certain terms for economic and political reform.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Copy Editor

To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 23 to Kelley Tuthill. For further information, call (239-5303).

Security Beat

MONDAY, FEB. 19

A student of St. John's Health reported that his car had been vandalized. Unknown persons had broken the antenna off his car.

TODAY, FEB. 20

A surveillance camera at the parking lot, Norte Dame Security stopped three suspicious people in the parking lot who were dressed in suits that Norte Dame is private property and were asked to leave.

TUESDAY, FEB. 20

A surveillance camera reported that his jacket was taken from the Top 10 College of the AACC campus during the game. The loss is estimated to be $50.00.
ND endowment ranks 1st of Catholic schools

By PATRICK NINEMAN
Business Writer

A survey of the National Association of College and University Business Officers revealed that Notre Dame's endowment ranks as the 18th largest in the nation.

The 1989 endowment was the largest of any Catholic college or university in the U.S. The market value of the University of Notre Dame's endowment was $542.5 million as of June 30, 1989. This value represented an increase of 17 percent from the 1988 endowment of $463.5 million.

The endowment is a investment fund that takes gifts from individuals or groups and places that money into a general pool. As the fund's investments earn money, those returns are then spent on University programs. A gift represents a personal investment in the endowment and takes returns from the endowment according to a percentage in the pool.

"Whatever the endowment's size, what is the point of a one-time gift," said Thomas Mason, Vice President of Business Affairs. "The value of the gift is larger than the size of the gift because the money is being invested. The return on that investment is what we get." Mason noted that Notre Dame's endowment is entirely of accounting majors.

Father William Beauchamp, Executive Vice President of the University, said the endowment increased because "our investment advisors have done very well. We're very pleased."

Beauchamp expressed Notre Dame's goal of remaining "a great Catholic University. A strong endowment is needed to maintain that status."

Mason mentioned that some of the gifts come from alumni, but others come from individuals or groups "generally interested in Notre Dame and things that Notre Dame does."

In the present fundraising campaign for the endowment, Mason notes that some programs have fallen short of their original monetary targets. "We need to prioritize our unmet needs," he said.

Presumably, the top three priorities are undergraduate financial aid, graduate stipends and fellowships, and money for the library.

Notre Dame's endowment ranked 23rd in 1988. The 1989 ranking of 18th represents a significant increase. Mason attributes this jump not only to good investments, but also to the strong efforts of the fundraising committee.

"People invest money because they see something they like. Investors see in us the uniqueness of our Catholic character and our commitment to strong academic standards," he said.

At present efforts, Mason sees the endowment eventually reaching the top ten or twelve of the nation.

Harvard leads all colleges and universities with a 1989 endowment of $4.5 billion. Beauchamp noted that when the three largest endowments for Harvard, University of Texas and Texas A & M are removed from consideration, Notre Dame is extremely competitive for the rest of ranked colleges.

Mason said, "another leap of four or five ranking points is very feasible."

Students give assistance to low income taxpayers, ND employees

By LIZ HOLTZ
Business Writer

The Tax Assistance Program (TAP) is a one credit class at Notre Dame in which students assist low income taxpayers with free preparation of their state and federal tax returns.

"The class itself lasts for three hours on Mondays and Wednesdays. Students are divided into teams and work at different centers until April 12th," said Monica Wochner, public relations director for TAP.

"The prerequisite to this class is ACCT 47E, Introduction to Federal Taxation. There are about forty-five students in the class and we are distributed among nine centers and two SWAT teams (Students Working At Taxation)," said Wochner.

"The SWAT teams have various duties. One team goes to nursing homes for the elderly, Logan Center, Goodwill Industry's, hospitals, and even visit shu-shu," said Wochner.

"The other team goes to the Marshall County Neighborhood Center in Plymouth and combines with accountants from the CPA firm of Unisbaugh and Associates, to help Plymouth residences do their taxes," said Wochner.

Crowe Chizek, Price Waterhouse, Coopers and Lybrand, and Metzger and Mancini are the other CPA firms involved in the program.

The size of the student groups vary from two to seven, depending upon the size of the center and location.

The profits are distributed throughout the Michiana area. Wochner said, "We tried to get a good coverage of the area by spreading the centers around so they would be easily accessible."

The Center For Social Concerns is one of these sites, and is open to ND employees with annual incomes at or below $20,000.

"The faculty members are actively involved and most have been for many years. Notre Dame faculty members are coordinators Ken Milani, Beth Kern, Kevin Misiniewicz, Ray Powell and Jim Wittenbach. Saint Mary's is represented by Claude Bendschaw. This program (TAP) is nineteen years old and was started by two Notre Dame students who were interested in helping the community by preparing tax returns for the low income taxpayers.

"Most people don't do it just for the one credit, they do it because it's a great experience. I recommend people with a background in taxation get involved in this program," Wochner said.

An appointment is necessary and can be made by contacting Professor Kenneth Milani, TAP program director, at 239-5296.
Policy on investment contradicts morality

Dear Editor:

The University community should be grateful to the editors of The Observer for publishing the "official University policy on general investment and on South Africa investment." (Feb. 12) I had never seen either statement in print before, but perhaps I haven’t been paying attention.

I was fascinated by certain features of the General Investment statement. It begins by stating the University’s commitment to an “investment policy” which reflects both its identity as a Catholic university as well as our preference for the basic moral values of fairness, respect for human life, defense of human rights and social justice.

Then, two paragraphs later, the statement turns to the application of these lofty principles to the actual work of the trustees with the declaration that, “The starting point of the formulation of an investment policy is the fundamental requirement that the trustees of the University have a moral and legal responsibility to ensure a satisfactory return on investments necessary for the support and growth of the institution as a whole.

Behold, the Almighty Bottom Line! Normally we would all undergo psychiatric treatment, and have been proven to be in good mental health. Other scientific studies have been done to prove the visions’ validity. Therefore, not only my faith leaves me to believe in the apparitions of Mary, but modern technology reveals that, if I’m sure, there’s still room for questions with the apparent visions.

Being a true follower of Christ and believing in His teachings, one should be able to determine reasonable or logical. It is really a paradoxical, but that is because we are merely human, and cannot fully understand God’s plan for us. That is what faith is all about. We view common sense and logic through the eyes of the world. If we are true followers of God, we must not follow the ways of the world that may seem logical and make more sense at times, but the ways of Jesus Christ.

In closing, I wonder who doesn’t question their faith. We must have trust in God’s teachings and hope and pray to be someday rewarded with a better life. At Medjugorje, Mary is trying to help us reach this goal, and bring some people along with us.

Tom A. Leahy
Carroll Hall
Feb. 7, 1990

Traversing icy, slippery sidewalks poses serious health hazard

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the International Student Organization, I would like to express my warmest thanks to all the people who participated in this year’s International Festival. To all the performers, organizers and helpers, your contribution was a key element in the tremendous success that the show enjoyed.

This year’s International Festival was performed to a standing-room-only crowd at Washington Hall, and was the best, richest and most diverse ever produced. It was, quoting The Observer, a "magnificent display of talent" among the Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s student bodies through songs, dances and beautiful costumes from around the world. The theme, "What a wonderful world," was a natural follow-up to last year’s "It’s a small world" theme, and Saturday, in the space of two hours, that world was brought here to Notre Dame.

We at the ISO hope that with last year’s and this year’s immensely successful International Festivals, people start to realize that, in spite of what is often said, diversity does exist within the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s communities, and that the richness of cultures is present all around us. All that is required from us is that we open our eyes, and we will see it. Maybe then we will finally come to the realization of what a small and wonderful world it is.

Ranai Buelow
ISO Festival Chairman
Feb. 6, 1990

Success of International Festival reveals richness of diversity at ND

Visions in Medjugorje defy logic yet serve to inspire Christian faith

Dear Editor:

I’m writing in response to Michael J. Barbosa’s letter “Logic, not visions should sup­port religion” (The Observer, Feb. 13).

The most upsetting part of the article is when the writer asks why not have a “reasonable religion” based on common sense and not upon the claims of a few “Eastern European adolescents.” First, the claim of “Eastern European adolescents” hasn’t been based upon the teachings of Christ, not appar­itions. The “Eastern European adolescents” haven’t been made apostles or be called priests. Mary is appearing to give advice and encouragement, not to start her own cult. I can see why a critic may doubt the visions in Medjugorje, especially if they haven’t been there. I myself believe in the visions, so I have read and seen material that verify them. The eastern adolescents have all undergone psychiatric treatment, and have been proven to be in good mental health. Other scientific studies have been done to prove the visions’ validity. Therefore, not only my faith leaves me to believe in the apparitions of Mary, but modern technology reveals that, if I’m sure, there’s still room for questions with the apparent visions.

Being a true follower of Christ and believing in His teachings, one should be able to determine reasonable or logical. It is really a paradoxical, but that is because we are merely human, and cannot fully understand God’s plan for us. That is what faith is all about. We view common sense and logic through the eyes of the world. If we are true followers of God, we must not follow the ways of the world that may seem logical and make more sense at times, but the ways of Jesus Christ.

In closing, I wonder who doesn’t question their faith. We must have trust in God’s teachings and hope and pray to be someday rewarded with a better life. At Medjugorje, Mary is trying to help us reach this goal, and bring some people along with us.

Tom A. Leahy
Carroll Hall
Feb. 7, 1990

Policy on investment contradicts morality

Dear Editor:

The University community should be grateful to the editors of The Observer for publishing the “official University policies on general investment and on South Africa investment.” (Feb. 12) I had never seen either statement in print before, but perhaps I haven’t been paying attention.

I was fascinated by certain features of the General Investment statement. It begins by stating the University’s commitment to an “investment policy” which reflects both its identity as a Catholic university as well as our preference for the basic moral values of fairness, respect for human life, defense of human rights and social justice.

Then, two paragraphs later, the statement turns to the application of these lofty principles to the actual work of the trustees with the declaration that, “The starting point of the formulation of an investment policy is the fundamental requirement that the trustees of the University have a moral and legal responsibility to ensure a satisfactory return on investments necessary for the support and growth of the institution as a whole.

Behold, the Almighty Bottom Line! Normally we would all undergo psychiatric treatment, and have been proven to be in good mental health. Other scientific studies have been done to prove the visions’ validity. Therefore, not only my faith leaves me to believe in the apparitions of Mary, but modern technology reveals that, if I’m sure, there’s still room for questions with the apparent visions.

Being a true follower of Christ and believing in His teachings, one should be able to determine reasonable or logical. It is really a paradoxical, but that is because we are merely human, and cannot fully understand God’s plan for us. That is what faith is all about. We view common sense and logic through the eyes of the world. If we are true followers of God, we must not follow the ways of the world that may seem logical and make more sense at times, but the ways of Jesus Christ.

In closing, I wonder who doesn’t question their faith. We must have trust in God’s teachings and hope and pray to be someday rewarded with a better life. At Medjugorje, Mary is trying to help us reach this goal, and bring some people along with us.

Tom A. Leahy
Carroll Hall
Feb. 7, 1990

Success of International Festival reveals richness of diversity at ND

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the International Student Organization, I would like to express my warmest thanks to all the people who participated in this year’s International Festival. To all the performers, organizers and helpers, your contribution was a key element in the tremendous success that the show enjoyed.

This year’s International Festival was performed to a standing-room-only crowd at Washington Hall, and was the best, richest and most diverse ever produced. It was, quoting The Observer, a "magnificent display of talent" among the Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s student bodies through songs, dances and beautiful costumes from around the world. The theme, “What a wonderful world,” was a natural follow-up to last year’s “It’s a small world” theme, and Saturday, in the space of two hours, that world was brought here to Notre Dame.

We at the ISO hope that with last year’s and this year’s immensely successful International Festivals, people start to realize that, in spite of what is often said, diversity does exist within the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s communities, and that the richness of cultures is present all around us. All that is required from us is that we open our eyes, and we will see it. Maybe then we will finally come to the realization of what a small and wonderful world it is.

Ranai Buelow
ISO Festival Chairman
Feb. 6, 1990

Traversing icy, slippery sidewalks poses ‘serious health hazard’

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the International Student Organization, I would like to express my warmest thanks to all the people who participated in this year’s International Festival. To all the performers, organizers and helpers, your contribution was a key element in the tremendous success that the show enjoyed.

This year’s International Festival was performed to a standing-room-only crowd at Washington Hall, and was the best, richest and most diverse ever produced. It was, quoting The Observer, a "magnificent display of talent" among the Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s student bodies through songs, dances and beautiful costumes from around the world. The theme, “what a wonderful world,” was a natural follow-up to last year’s “it’s a small world” theme, and Saturday, in the space of two hours, that world was brought here to Notre Dame.

We at the ISO hope that with last year’s and this year’s immensely successful International Festivals, people start to realize that, in spite of what is often said, diversity does exist within the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s communities, and that the richness of cultures is present all around us. All that is required from us is that we open our eyes, and we will see it. Maybe then we will finally come to the realization of what a small and wonderful world it is.

Ranai Buelow
ISO Festival Chairman
Feb. 6, 1990
Impudent squirrel population needs reduction

With No Apologies

Glen F. Fogarty

I never knew existed. If I imagine this squirrel was none too intelligent. This is why, for example, kids, and I wouldn’t recommend going out of your way to try to kill it. Of course, if you think, you might make it on Letterman’s “Stupid Pet” TV show. This squirrel seems to be the mistake of a tree, even for a non-mobile one at that. Naturally, even though this rodent quickly realized its mistake, it seems imperative that this squirrel and its brethren should be reprimanded for this absurd tragic incident, for my cup of bitterness overfloweth. (Well, this actually happened to me.) Devious behavior like this clearly shows that there might be some tendency among Notre Dame’s squirrels that should be no more pardoned than that of a human. I’m sure the kids at home would love it. Only an ordinary squirrel when its Big Ten-Pac Ten opponent can be on your block, and while not wearing an N.D. squirrel, and provide things which would make your week at home. New ones could be sold at twenty dollars, and if you got bored with your squirrel, the bookstore could buy it back from you for fifty cents, re-selling it as a “squirrel” for $19.99 (that is, essentially the same cost.) The book store should make this a highly lucrative option.

Proposal Number 1) It seems that the Notre Dame bookstore has a real penchant for making money by exhibiting some tendencies that, nevertheless, manage to sell just because they have to wear the “Notre Dame” on them. We have Notre Dame candy bars, ear muffs, calendars, shirts, and I even heard leprechaun everything. If these things sell, then why wouldn’t Notre Dame’s “Official Notre Dame Squirrel” complete the set? (Finding out what things that spin round and round. I’m sure the kids at Notre Dame’s vermin clearly seems to be the result of treatment, and, moreover, they just live in my way, and on my nerves. To deal with this nuisance, practical suggestions to eliminate some of our furry friends)

Proposal Number 2) Word has it in greatest, thankfully, doesn’t like this ‘fighting’ Irish stuff anymore, so we may have to search for something else. Our Notre Dame was for no real mascot. Looking at other college teams, I find somewhat attractive, like the TCU Frogs, the Oregon Ducks, and the Georgetown Hoyas (just what is a Hoya?) Georgetown people don’t even like them. Why not do them one better and temporarily use “Notre Dame Pac Ten Squirrels”? Teams could take the rodents on the road as an additional sponsor, and then conveniently leave them in other parts of the country. Once we got back to South Bend, I think in this humane way, we could go back to the old “maskot.”

Proposal Number 3) There must be enough hunters around here, so why not have an old-fashioned coon-hunt on campus, just substituting the squirrel for the raccoon? The proceeds could then be sponsored. Imagine that. Right next to sheets for Water Polo and Aerobics, “NCA Coon­Hunt! Sign up at the information desk.” Now, some might say that such an event might make the place a bit too wild, and they really couldn’t be any more wrong than which animal would try and make a home. New ones could be sold at twenty dollars, and if you got bored with your squirrel, the bookstore could buy it back from you for fifty cents, re­selling it as a “squirrel” for $19.99 (that is, essentially the same cost.) The book store should make this a highly lucrative option.

Proposal Number 4) This is the opinion I like best, and it’s the one that the administration should use, that this is a Catholic University, and it’s the reason why there are no coon hunters in Ireland is because St. Patrick chased them all away. Now, I’m sure St. Pat wouldn’t have mentioned the rid of a few excess squirrels as being pure entertainment, but your prayers going.

Glen F. Fogarty is a junior history/ALPA major and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

Impudent Squirrel Population Needs Reduction

Day in and day out, the Viewpoint page (that is, ever I read it, which is never, pears here) seems to act as a sort of open邀诟, a forum for anyone am­ateur politico, hothead, or wind­bag around who can put two syllables together. And that might be okay if you hadn’t really thought so much about it. Time the week before, and if the topic had some relevance to what is going on in the world, the truly relevant Viewpoint column would have been from one of our members of the Augustan community who, while not sharing in the furthering of the great academic life of the university. Moreover, I’ve read an occasional article, which might render them unfit to be full-fledged participants in this society’s community. And despite the smoke being no longer than a cigarette and a plug of tobacco, I do not have to be math majors to see that this is a highly offensive article.

The Greed of CFA and ABC leads to NBC contract

By Kevin Guilfoyle

When asked about the recent television deal between Notre Dame and the ABC football coach Joe Paterno (the same Penn State coach who saw his school abandon the Eastern Independents for the Big Ten that year) Joe Paterno responded: "I don’t think you can use the story.) Devious behavior like this clearly shows that there might be some tendency among Notre Dame’s squirrels that should be no more pardoned than that of a human. I’m sure the kids at home would love it. Only an ordinary squirrel when its Big Ten-Pac Ten opponent can be on your block, and while not wearing an N.D. squirrel, and provide things which would make your week at home. New ones could be sold at twenty dollars, and if you got bored with your squirrel, the bookstore could buy it back from you for fifty cents, re-selling it as a “squirrel” for $19.99 (that is, essentially the same cost.) The book store should make this a highly lucrative option.

Proposal Number 1) It seems that the Notre Dame bookstore has a real penchant for making money by exhibiting some tendencies that, nevertheless, manage to sell just because they have to wear the “Notre Dame” on them. We have Notre Dame candy bars, ear muffs, calendars, shirts, and I even heard leprechaun everything. If these things sell, then why wouldn’t Notre Dame’s “Official Notre Dame Squirrel,” complete the set? (Finding out what things that spin round and round. I’m sure the kids at Notre Dame’s vermin clearly seems to be the result of treatment, and, moreover, they just live in my way, and on my nerves. To deal with this nuisance, practical suggestions to eliminate some of our furry friends)

Proposal Number 2) Word has it in greatest, thankfully, doesn’t like this ‘fighting’ Irish stuff anymore, so we may have to search for something else. Our Notre Dame was for no real mascot. Looking at other college teams, I find somewhat attractive, like the TCU Frogs, the Oregon Ducks, and the Georgetown Hoyas (just what is a Hoya?) Georgetown people don’t even like them. Why not do them one better and temporarily use “Notre Dame Pac Ten Squirrels”? Teams could take the rodents on the road as an additional sponsor, and then conveniently leave them in other parts of the country. Once we got back to South Bend, I think in this humane way, we could go back to the old “maskot.”

Proposal Number 3) There must be enough hunters around here, so why not have an old-fashioned coon-hunt on campus, just substituting the squirrel for the raccoon? The proceeds could then be sponsored. Imagine that. Right next to sheets for Water Polo and Aerobics, “NCA Coon­Hunt! Sign up at the information desk.” Now, some might say that such an event might make the place a bit too wild, and they really couldn’t be any more wrong than which animal would try and make a home. New ones could be sold at twenty dollars, and if you got bored with your squirrel, the bookstore could buy it back from you for fifty cents, re­selling it as a “squirrel” for $19.99 (that is, essentially the same cost.) The book store should make this a highly lucrative option.

Proposal Number 4) This is the opinion I like best, and it’s the one that the administration should use, that this is a Catholic University, and it’s the reason why there are no coon hunters in Ireland is because St. Patrick chased them all away. Now, I’m sure St. Pat wouldn’t have mentioned the rid of a few excess squirrels as being pure entertainment, but your prayers going.

Glen F. Fogarty is a junior history/ALPA major and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

When asked about the recent television deal between Notre Dame and the ABC football coach Joe Paterno (the same Penn State coach who saw his school abandon the Eastern Independents for the Big Ten that year) Joe Paterno responded: "I don’t think you can use the story.) Devious behavior like this clearly shows that there might be some tendency among Notre Dame’s squirrels that should be no more pardoned than that of a human. I’m sure the kids at home would love it. Only an ordinary squirrel when its Big Ten-Pac Ten opponent can be on your block, and while not wearing an N.D. squirrel, and provide things which would make your week at home. New ones could be sold at twenty dollars, and if you got bored with your squirrel, the bookstore could buy it back from you for fifty cents, re-selling it as a “squirrel” for $19.99 (that is, essentially the same cost.) The book store should make this a highly lucrative option.

Proposal Number 1) It seems that the Notre Dame bookstore has a real penchant for making money by exhibiting some tendencies that, nevertheless, manage to sell just because they have to wear the “Notre Dame” on them. We have Notre Dame candy bars, ear muffs, calendars, shirts, and I even heard leprechaun everything. If these things sell, then why wouldn’t Notre Dame’s “Official Notre Dame Squirrel,” complete the set? (Finding out what things that spin round and round. I’m sure the kids at Notre Dame’s vermin clearly seems to be the result of treatment, and, moreover, they just live in my way, and on my nerves. To deal with this nuisance, practical suggestions to eliminate some of our furry friends)

Proposal Number 2) Word has it in greatest, thankfully, doesn’t like this ‘fighting’ Irish stuff anymore, so we may have to search for something else. Our Notre Dame was for no real mascot. Looking at other college teams, I find somewhat attractive, like the TCU Frogs, the Oregon Ducks, and the Georgetown Hoyas (just what is a Hoya?) Georgetown people don’t even like them. Why not do them one better and temporarily use “Notre Dame Pac Ten Squirrels”? Teams could take the rodents on the road as an additional sponsor, and then conveniently leave them in other parts of the country. Once we got back to South Bend, I think in this humane way, we could go back to the old “maskot.”

Proposal Number 3) There must be enough hunters around here, so why not have an old-fashioned coon-hunt on campus, just substituting the squirrel for the raccoon? The proceeds could then be sponsored. Imagine that. Right next to sheets for Water Polo and Aerobics, “NCA Coon­Hunt! Sign up at the information desk.” Now, some might say that such an event might make the place a bit too wild, and they really couldn’t be any more wrong than which animal would try and make a home. New ones could be sold at twenty dollars, and if you got bored with your squirrel, the bookstore could buy it back from you for fifty cents, re­selling it as a “squirrel” for $19.99 (that is, essentially the same cost.) The book store should make this a highly lucrative option.

Proposal Number 4) This is the opinion I like best, and it’s the one that the administration should use, that this is a Catholic University, and it’s the reason why there are no coon hunters in Ireland is because St. Patrick chased them all away. Now, I’m sure St. Pat wouldn’t have mentioned the rid of a few excess squirrels as being pure entertainment, but your prayers going.

Glen F. Fogarty is a junior history/ALPA major and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.
During the years of marital law, the undercurrent of the Solidarity movement, founded by the Communist opposition, opposed the corruption of the government and the desire to control their own destinies or to adhere to the usual perception of fear, and a "new consciousness." The intellectuals are seeking and of the idea of another unified Germany still haunts the minds of the Polish people. All believe that military presence in Germany would be detrimental, even though German expansion through military means seems unlikely.

Noting that it is difficult to predict how Germany will behave, Basarab recommended that loose ends dating from the end of World War II be readjusted and resolved. Szywykowska stated that one of these considerations involved the treaties signed at the end of World War II. All treaties were negotiated with either West or East Germany; therefore, when these countries unite to form Germany, the treaties will be worthless. It is Szywykowska's concern that leaving these types of details not addressed will lead to future problems. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster.

"I would prefer not to think about it," Basarab says, "if the new economic policies do not work, I would prefer not to think about it.

Basarab sees two different objectives in the Soviet peoples' struggle for greater freedom. The intellectuals are seeking broader political reforms, while the average citizen's main concern is food. Both groups have forgotten how to act freely, and how to express their own opinions and views.

The intellectuals are seeking and of the idea of another unified Germany still haunts the minds of the Polish people. All feel that military presence in Germany would be detrimental, even though German expansion through military means seems unlikely.

Noting that it is difficult to predict how Germany will behave, Basarab recommended that loose ends dating from the end of World War II be readjusted and resolved. Szywykowska stated that one of these considerations involved the treaties signed at the end of World War II. All treaties were negotiated with either West or East Germany; therefore, when these countries unite to form Germany, the treaties will be worthless. It is Szywykowska's concern that leaving these types of details not addressed will lead to future problems. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement. They have incredible hope for economic recovery and greater freedom, but are fearful of possible disaster. As for the futures of their own nations, Szywykowska and Fabian are in agreement.
The New York Knicks gave forward Rick Strickland a three-year contract Sept. 13, wish Wednesday when they traded the second-year guard to San Antonio Spurs for veteran guard Maurice Cheeks.

Cheeks, who had an off-year this season, gives the Knicks the leadership, maturity and stability that's what Maurice Cheeks brings. He's an old head who knows how to play the game. He's a guy who has played with great success. We're excited about having him here and I believe he's going to be one of our leaders. We're excited about having him here.

Strickland was taken by the Knicks in the 1983 draft after his junior season and was selected fifth overall. He averaged 8.2 points and 4.3 assists while playing 20 minutes per game.

Cheeks, 33, was traded from the Houston Rockets to San Antonio last summer after spending his entire 11-year NBA career with the Rockets. He averaged 10.9 points and six assists 35 minutes per game with the Spurs. In his 11 seasons with the 76ers, the 25-year-old scored 122 points and 73 as assists in 853 games and leads active players in steals.

Cheeks is expected to back up John Stockton. He has the same size as Stockton and he will assume the starting point guard role with the second-place Spurs.

"It is great for us that we were able to get a young player like Rod who has a terrific chance to be a point guard," Spurs coach Larry Brown said. "But it is also great for us because we owe a lot to him for our success this year. I think just what we felt we had to do."
Nets beat Timberwolves to snap 14-game losing streak

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Lester Conner's basket at the buzzer gave the New Jersey Nets a 95-93 win over the Minnesota Timberwolves on Wednesday night, snapping the NBA's longest losing streak.

With the Timberwolves leading 93-92, Conner took the inbounds pass with six seconds left, dribbled to the basket and hit a 10-footer to tie the game.

The Timberwolves scored two baskets and a free throw to take the lead back to five, 96-91, with 11 seconds left, but Moncrief hit a free throw to cut the lead to four.

The Timberwolves' Ken Gervin converted two free throws with 1:35 left to tie the game, but Conner hit a pair of free throws with 1:24 left to give the Nets a 95-93 lead. The Timberwolves' Conner scored 13 of his 17 points in the second half, while Moncrief led the Nets with 25 points.

Tony Campbell scored 26 points for the expansion Timberwolves, who saw a team-record four-game winning streak snapped.

Nets coach Bob Knight said the win was significant.

Missouri hangs on to win, Duke falls to Pack

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Doug Smith scored 34 points and Nathan Buntin and Travis Ford hit high-pressure free throws in the final seconds as top-ranked Missouri held off Iowa State 89-85 Wednesday night.

Missouri, which regained the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll this week, scored the final five points of the game to win its 28th straight game.

Iowa State's Terry Woods hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer to cut the lead to 22, and Portland got no closer than 12 after that.

The Trail Blazers, who got 10 points from John Battle and 10 from Jerome Kersey and Kevin Duckworth, lost for only the fourth time in the last 17 games.

Mark Price scored 24 points for Cleveland, including three 3-pointers.

Pacers 123, Hawks 96

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana's Reggie Miller scored seven points in the opening three minutes and Atlanta went on to make its first seven field goals.

Indiana, which matched its victory total for all of last season with its 24th triumph, scored the game's first seven points while Atlanta missed its first seven shots.

Near Atlanta trailed 3-3 when John Battle made Hawks' first goal with 7:12 left in the first period. Atlanta never drew closer than eight again.

SuperSonics 92, Heat 85

MIAMI — Nate McMillan hit a 3-point shot with 1:25 to play, stopping a Miami rally and lifting Seattle to its seventh victory of the eight road games.

Trailing 75-62 after three quarters, Miami scored the first nine points of the fourth quarter to start a 12-3 spurt featuring five points each by Sherman Douglas and Glen Rice. The rally made it 77-80 with 2:20 left in the game.

The Heat took the lead on two points twice thereafter, the final time when Kevin Edwards' layup made it 87-85 at the 2:50 mark. McMillan's 3-pointer would make it 90-85.

Dana Barros scored 18 points for Seattle, which is now 9-18 on the road over a 2-17 stretch. The Heat were paced by Rice and Tellis Frank with 17 each, while Douglas had 15 points and 13 assists.

Is the Big Ten still up in the air? Who knows after 19th-ranked Illinois upset ninth-ranked Purdue 90-78 Wednesday night. The Illini's Kendall Gill tossed in 21 points to lead the scoring of the Big Ten leader. The Boilermakers were one-game ahead of Michigan State prior to the contest.

Check Us Out!

- Rolodex Cards
- Business Cards
- Roll Labels
- Rotors
- Envelopes
- menus
- Manuals
- Lettersheads
- Invoices
- Continuous Forms
- Registration Forms
- Book Markers
- Newsletters
- Invitations

COUNSELORS

STAFFING NOW FOR THE 1990 SUMMER SEASON

Camp Vega

FOR BOYS

5 GLEN LANE
MAMARONECK, N.Y. 10543
914-363-5353

FOR GIRLS

P.O. BOX 1771
DUXBURY, MA. 02332
817-934-6536

WHO LOVE CHILDREN AND HAVE STRONG SKILLS AND ABILITY TO TEACH ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING ACTIVITIES:

FULL EIGHT WEEK SEASON

DROPOUT WARDEN

TOMORROW FROM 11:00AM-4:00PM
LA FORTUNE STUDENT UNION - DOOLEY ROOM (#37)
Pizza Hut Delivers on Campus Fast, Hot and Free!

During lab day, Beaker Reveals his finding:

Hunger = Mass Consumption!

Spring Training Sites

Baseball players 'outraged' by owners' latest proposals

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball players union chief Donald Fehr said Wednesday that new proposals by the owners "provoked outrage" from the players association.

Fehr, who set a Thursday deadline for breaking off the talks, said management's latest proposal was to eliminate free agent and multiyear contracts from consideration in salary arbitration.

The large deals signed by free agents this winter — as much as $15 million over four years — have fueled the rising salary explosion to almost $600,000 per year in 1990.

He said the owners' approach was: "Let's turn the clock back to a time when we can find a way to do it.

Fehr said the owners are not intent and have never intended on making an agreement. This is the kind of approach which causes players to think why are we here."

"My first thought was if someone wants to make our decision process easier that's a way to do it," Fehr said in referring to how the union thought of the new proposals.

He said management would have an internal meeting Thursday morning and then contact the union.
Thoughts continued from page 16

cent recruiting class, the more I think Notre Dame may never lose another college football game.

Former Notre Dame assistant Pete Gillen has done an amazing job at Xavier. For my money and time, the best basketball is still in the Big Ten.

Why do I have this feeling that we're all a little bit better off since Andre Hastings chose Georgia?

Somewhere, somehow, there should be more basketball courts on this campus.

If you live out of state, make plans to attend at least one round of the Indians high school tournament that begins next week.

The time is ripe for Notre Dame to jump ship in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference. The Olympic programs can get no better playing MCC competition on a regular basis.

I think baseball fans have no one to blame but the owners for the current situation.

I think there should be some kind of protest by on-campus students for the administration to install a gym in dorms.

I really like the band and cheerleaders version of "William Tell Overture" even if they did copy it from Indiana. When Indiana does that with a packed house, it is far the most intimidating and best cheer in college basketball.

Hawaii continued from page 16

best and he knows how to beat the best." The reason Piotrowicz, as well as senior set-up man Tony Livorsi have earned this status is their adherence to "the plan." Murphy firmly believes that to be a successful pitcher you must get the first strike, spot pitches all through the count and use all your pitches in doing these things. Following the lead of these upperclassmen is the key for the five extremely talented freshmen pitchers that Murphy has now.

"The freshmen are all vying for a spot," Murphy said. "It has been a struggle. It takes some time to learn our pitching plan. They are progressing. They have a long, long way to go."

Many people overlook the defensive aspect of baseball, but not Murphy. His infielders take hundreds of ground balls a night through the winter months at Loftus. The starting infield of Joe Binkiewicz (who will also make a big mound contribution), Cory Mee, Mike Cost and Craig Counsell from first to third are solid.

"Our infield is going to be the book cover of our team," Murphy said. "They're a bunch of overachievers. They don't have a lot talent, but they're consistent. They work very hard and they have great baseball minds."

Keith Robinson will handle the catching duties and will be instrumental in the development of the Irish pitching staff. In the outfield, Tom Murray and Eric Danapilis will battle for time. Dan Rautsch, a reserve team player last year, has shown that hard work pays off as he has earned this spot.

"If the guards dump the ball to Robinson, "I think baseball fans have no one to blame but the owners for the current situation.

I think there should be some kind of protest by on-campus students for the administration to install a gym in dorms.

I really like the band and cheerleaders version of "William Tell Overture" even if they did copy it from Indiana. When Indiana does that with a packed house, it is far the most intimidating and best cheer in college basketball.

Keith Robinson's strong performances have coincided with Irish upsets and Notre Dame will definitely need his 14.3 points and 7.5 rebounds per game against Georgia Tech Saturday.

Hawaii continued from page 16

best and he knows how to beat the best." The reason Piotrowicz, as well as senior set-up man Tony Livorsi have earned this status is their adherence to "the plan." Murphy firmly believes that to be a successful pitcher you must get the first strike, spot pitches all through the count and use all your pitches in doing these things. Following the lead of these upperclassmen is the key for the five extremely talented freshmen pitchers that Murphy has now.

"The freshmen are all vying for a spot," Murphy said. "It has been a struggle. It takes some time to learn our pitching plan. They are progressing. They have a long, long way to go."

Many people overlook the defensive aspect of baseball, but not Murphy. His infielders take hundreds of ground balls a night through the winter months at Loftus. The starting infield of Joe Binkiewicz (who will also make a big mound contribution), Cory Mee, Mike Cost and Craig Counsell from first to third are solid.

"Our infield is going to be the book cover of our team," Murphy said. "They're a bunch of overachievers. They don't have a lot talent, but they're consistent. They work very hard and they have great baseball minds."

Keith Robinson will handle the catching duties and will be instrumental in the development of the Irish pitching staff. In the outfield, Tom Murray and Eric Danapilis will battle for time. Dan Rautsch, a reserve team player last year, has shown that hard work pays off as he has earned this spot.

"If the guards dump the ball to Robinson, "I think baseball fans have no one to blame but the owners for the current situation.

I think there should be some kind of protest by on-campus students for the administration to install a gym in dorms.

I really like the band and cheerleaders version of "William Tell Overture" even if they did copy it from Indiana. When Indiana does that with a packed house, it is far the most intimidating and best cheer in college basketball.

Keith Robinson's strong performances have coincided with Irish upsets and Notre Dame will definitely need his 14.3 points and 7.5 rebounds per game against Georgia Tech Saturday.

Hawaii continued from page 16

best and he knows how to beat the best." The reason Piotrowicz, as well as senior set-up man Tony Livorsi have earned this status is their adherence to "the plan." Murphy firmly believes that to be a successful pitcher you must get the first strike, spot pitches all through the count and use all your pitches in doing these things. Following the lead of these upperclassmen is the key for the five extremely talented freshmen pitchers that Murphy has now.

"The freshmen are all vying for a spot," Murphy said. "It has been a struggle. It takes some time to learn our pitching plan. They are progressing. They have a long, long way to go."

Many people overlook the defensive aspect of baseball, but not Murphy. His infielders take hundreds of ground balls a night through the winter months at Loftus. The starting infield of Joe Binkiewicz (who will also make a big mound contribution), Cory Mee, Mike Cost and Craig Counsell from first to third are solid.

"Our infield is going to be the book cover of our team," Murphy said. "They're a bunch of overachievers. They don't have a lot talent, but they're consistent. They work very hard and they have great baseball minds."

Keith Robinson will handle the catching duties and will be instrumental in the development of the Irish pitching staff. In the outfield, Tom Murray and Eric Danapilis will battle for time. Dan Rautsch, a reserve team player last year, has shown that hard work pays off as he has earned this spot.

"If the guards dump the ball to Robinson, "I think baseball fans have no one to blame but the owners for the current situation.

I think there should be some kind of protest by on-campus students for the administration to install a gym in dorms.

I really like the band and cheerleaders version of "William Tell Overture" even if they did copy it from Indiana. When Indiana does that with a packed house, it is far the most intimidating and best cheer in college basketball.

Keith Robinson's strong performances have coincided with Irish upsets and Notre Dame will definitely need his 14.3 points and 7.5 rebounds per game against Georgia Tech Saturday.
Thursday, February 22, 1990

CAMPUS

Thursday

6:30 p.m. Career/Decision Making Workshop continues. University Counseling Center.

7 p.m. Panel Discussion: "Solidarity and the Future of Poland: After the Euphoria." Montgomery Theater, LaFortune Student Center.

MENUS

Notre Dame
Chicken Fajitas
Cheese & Veg Pot Pie
Veal Parmesan

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Rivera, suburb of L.A.
2. Are ingredient
3. Actress
4. Jewish month
5. Branchish
6. "ring"
7. Wood measure
8. Runnymede document: 1215
9. Animal lacking in color
20. Avianious person
22. In —— (as one)
26. Pre is one
27. Turk's upper shell
28. Save
33. Journalist —— Rogers St. Johns
34. An acid
36. Poker player's kitty
37. Opp. of long
38. McCarthy's fellow traveler
42. See 61 Across
44. Tropical tree
47. —— pride hot
49. —— with 40 Across.
50. Radek's beloved
51. With 40 Across, a second self
52. Singer Lane
53. Calendar abbr.
54. Convenes
55. N.C. college
56. Austen novel
57. Red wines of

58. "RARELY THERE"

CROSSWORD

DOWN
51. Of the sun
52. Correspondent
53. Actress Papas
54. "Dinasty," for one
55. Philip's daughter
56. Rabbi’s son
57. Israelite leader: Deut. 1:36
58. Saying
59. Part of a sac
60. "Habakuk"
61. With 40 Across.

62. In —— (Adenauer)
63. "Confidence game"
64. "Ashen"
65. "Commedia dell' ——"
66. "Café de los Angelitos"
67. Footnote abbr.
68. "Everything"
69. "Modernist"

CALVIN AND HOBBS

ILLUSTRATED BY BILL WATTERSON

This piece is about the inadequacy of traditional mediums and symbols to convey meaning in today's world.

In abandoning representation, I've tried to express myself with pure form. Specific interpretations would add to a more visceral response.

When I notice your opinion is monochromatic, it's just snow.

From 'Calvin and Hobbes' ©1990, Universal Press Syndicate.

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

Civil Service History: On Oct. 12, 1979 (Columbus Day), government employee George Sullivan goes in to work for a couple of hours to, in his own words, "take care of some unfinished business."

SPELUNKER

JAY HOSLER

...These people live in inadequate housing, rarely have enough to eat and must often resort to wearing rags just to clothe themselves.

Tonight

Eight Men Out

8:00 and 10:15

Charlie Sheen
John Cusack

Cushing Auditorium $2.00 per person

Bookstore Basketball

Sign-ups will take place on Sunday, February 25, from 1:00 to 4:00 P.M. in the Great Hall of O'Shaug

S.U.B. Executive Council Positions for 1990-1991:

Board Manager
Director of Programming
Director of Relations
Director of Marketing
Controller

Pick up applications at Secretary’s Desk, 2nd floor, LaFortune

Last day to turn in is Today!!!

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1. Rivera, suburb of L.A.
2. Are ingredient
3. Actress
4. Jewish month
5. Branchish
6. "ring"
7. Wood measure
8. Runnymede document: 1215
9. Animal lacking in color
20. Avianious person
22. In —— (as one)
26. Pre is one
27. Turk's upper shell
28. Save
33. Journalist —— Rogers St. Johns
34. An acid
36. Poker player's kitty
37. Opp. of long
38. McCarthy's fellow traveler
42. See 61 Across
44. Tropical tree
47. —— pride hot
49. —— with 40 Across.
50. Radek's beloved
51. With 40 Across, a second self
52. Singer Lane
53. Calendar abbr.
54. Convenes
55. N.C. college
56. Austen novel

58. "RARELY THERE"

DOWN
51. Of the sun
52. Correspondent
53. Actress Papas
54. "Dinasty," for one
55. Philip's daughter
56. Rabbi’s son
57. Israelite leader: Deut. 1:36
58. Saying
59. Part of a sac
60. "Habakuk"
61. With 40 Across.

62. In —— (Adenauer)
63. "Confidence game"
64. "Ashen"
65. "Commedia dell' ——"
66. "Café de los Angelitos"
67. Footnote abbr.
68. "Everything"
69. "Modernist"
Irish baseball heads for sunnier skies in Hawaii

By MIKE KAMRADT
Sports Writer

It's hard to believe that Indiana, with all its ice and snow, is the same country as Hawaii where it was 80 degrees and sunny yesterday. But this weekend, the Notre Dame baseball team will get to experience a place that most people only dream about. However, the purpose of the trip is not rest and relaxation.

"It will be a fun trip in that it will be a great experience," explained Irish head coach Pat Murphy, getting ready to lay down on the beach and collect seashells, but to play baseball, become better as a team and mature as a team.

By no means has this team ready to face the University of Hawaii in a three-game set this weekend. Seattle, which Murphy will travel to Texas the following weekend, the Seattle Kingdome over Spring Break last year, but such national powers as Illinois and Nebraska later in the year. Two years ago the Irish prepared for the trip with a tremendous schedule, the Irish playing weekend series of practice. While many people were wondering what color carpet to get for their room last August, the Irish were already practicing. Murphy knows that the hard work will pay off for his squad.

"We're very young, but very capable. We have lost so much of our team that our team has taken on a little bit of a new identity," said Murphy. "We have to be even more blue collar than we ever were and even more of a competitor than we ever were."

The Blue collar work ethic has been Murphy's mainstay since his first day as head coach. He maintains that his team isn't that talented, but because they work harder than anyone else in the country, there is no limit to what this team can accomplish.

"I believe in these guys," Murphy said. "I think they can be competitive with anybody in the country. I think they have a competitive spirit that is being nurtured now that will allow them to do this."

From their opening 3-0 win over Goshen, it was evident that the pitching staff and defensive play are going to get the Irish through most of their victories this year.

Some thoughts on some things that probably aren't worth thinking about.

Is it just me or does it seem like college basketball has passed me by? Or is it just a bad year? If women's track can be a varsity sport, how hard can it be to think of one solid reason why men's volleyball should not be? Of course, it isn't.

As much as I hate to admit it, I think the New England Folded Cloth Purdue game should be the Coach of the Year if the Boilers hang on for the Ten title? (Big Ten title. I'm looking for a close second?)

I don't care if his daughter is coming here. I'm still thinking of that. Of hearing Dick Vitale announce basketball games.

Sunday's wedding match with Iowa should be big. Maybe it's because I don't understand it, and I know Notre Dame's teams are among the best in the country, but I still don't see the reasoning behind classifying fishing as a sport.

Why is it that only see the entire cheering squad at big events (i.e. football) when the television cameras are rolling? It's ridiculous that people buy season tickets in the yellow boxes at the Joyce Center.