The Observer

VOL. XXIII NO. 26
M O N D A Y, O C T O B E R 1, 1990

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAIN T MARY'S

New ROTC center will be dedicated this week

The nation's largest privately financed Reserve Officers' Training Corps center will be dedicated Oct. 5-6 at the University of Notre Dame.

St. Joseph's Center is the gift of the late trustee Frank Pasquerilla of Johnstown, Pa. It will house Notre Dame's Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC detachments, which includes 681 students. The University has more ROTC scholarships in effect than any other educational institution.

Lt. Gen. Thomas W. Kelly, director of operations for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will be the ranking representative of the armed services for the dedication ceremonies. The ceremonies will be held on October 5 and feature a 5-15 p.m. mass in Sacred Heart Church, followed by a reception and dinner. The blessing of the building and tour are scheduled for 9 a.m. on October 6.

The Navy was the first to establish a residential campus in September 1941. An estimated 12,000 officers in the V-7 and V-12 programs completed their training on campus by 1946.

In 1947, within months of being established as a separate service, the Air Force established a ROTC unit on campus.

The Army returned to campus in 1951, and re-established a program which had previously existed on campus during World War I.

Today, the Army ROTC has 156 men and 45 women cadets, the Navy, 277 males and 25 females, and the Air For.e., 139 males and 41 females.

The 50,000-square-foot Pasquerilla Center will replace a "temporary" structure built in 1943. It provides each armed service with an office complex, including staff and counseling space, a conference room, and classrooms of various sizes. The Dormitory classrooms are also being used for 37 other classes by non-African-American studies to mathematics.

Pasquerilla is chairman of the board of executive directors of Crown American Corporation, one of the country's largest small developers. Pasquerilla led the Crown American Corporation to amass 33 regional shopping malls, 13 community shopping centers, 12 regional shopping centers, and 75 department store buildings. He joined the company in 1950.

Six years later, Pasquerilla was elected president and by 1966, he owned 650 hotels, 5 office buildings and 75 department store buildings. He joined the company in 1950.

The Pasquerilla Center will replace a "temporary" structure built in 1943. It provides each armed service with an office complex, including staff and counseling space, a conference room, and classrooms of various sizes. The Dormitory classrooms are also being used for 37 other classes by non-African-American studies to mathematics.

By KELLEY TUTHILL

Three students attacked at night in local neighborhood

By MEGAN JUNIUS

Students protest at S. Bend abortion clinic

The Observer/Photo courtesy of ROTC; training corps building in the nation. This $5 million building will be dedicated at the University of Notre Dame October 5-6. It will house the women's residence halls at Notre Dame. He was awarded an honorary degree from the University of Notre Dame.

Today, the Army ROTC has 156 men and 45 women cadets, the Navy, 277 males and 25 females, and the Air Force, 139 males and 41 females.

The 50,000-square-foot Pasquerilla Center will replace a "temporary" structure built in 1943. It provides each armed service with an office complex, including staff and counseling space, a conference room, and classrooms of various sizes. The Dormitory classrooms are also being used for 37 other classes by non-African-American studies to mathematics.

Pasquerilla is chairman of the board of executive directors of Crown American Corporation, one of the country's largest small developers. Pasquerilla led the Crown American Corporation to amass 33 regional shopping malls, 13 community shopping centers, 12 regional shopping centers, and 75 department store buildings. He joined the company in 1950.

Six years later, Pasquerilla was elected president and by 1966, he owned 650 hotels, 5 office buildings and 75 department store buildings. He joined the company in 1950.

The Pasquerilla Center will replace a "temporary" structure built in 1943. It provides each armed service with an office complex, including staff and counseling space, a conference room, and classrooms of various sizes. The Dormitory classrooms are also being used for 37 other classes by non-African-American studies to mathematics.

A group of students from the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's Right to Life club held a peaceful protest outside of the South Bend abortion clinic Friday. Approximately 20 students stood outside the Women's Pavilion located at 2010 Ironwood Circle to "show a visible conscience" and "remind the public of the futility of the practice going on inside," said senior Maria Rhomberg, president of the club.

This clinic, the only place where abortions can be legally obtained in South Bend, performs abortions three days a week.

A few members of the group held signs and stood in a parking lot across from the clinic, while others stood on Ironwood Road, showing their signs to motorists driving by.

"People are not aware that there is a clinic here," said Rhomberg. "Other members of the group said they were concerned because the clinic is located only a few blocks from the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's campuses.

The doctors and nurses get angered about the protests, the students said. However, said Mike Shipka, "They can't make us leave.

"It's garbage," said Dr. Ulrich Klopfer, who performs abortions at the clinic. "Sometimes we get someone who performs abortions at the clinic. "If they're unhappy, they should move to Saudi Arabia."

The students should not protest a peaceful business, he said. "Sometimes we get someone who performs abortions at the clinic. "If they're unhappy, they should move to Saudi Arabia."

The students said they have a problem with the professionals who perform abortions. "A doctor is supposed to help life, not take life," said Landry.

If a woman is pregnant due to a date rape, she should not be forced to have a child, said Klopfer in support of his stance on abortion.

The group hopes to protest the clinic once a month. In addition, Rhomberg said Right to Life will sponsor a "shepherding" program where couples take in pregnant girls, Shipka said.

The students said they have a problem with the professionals who perform abortions. "A doctor is supposed to help life, not take life," said Landry.

If a woman is pregnant due to a date rape, she should not be forced to have a child, said Klopfer in support of his stance on abortion.

The group hopes to protest the clinic once a month. In addition, Rhomberg said Right to Life will sponsor a "shepherding" program where couples take in pregnant girls, Shipka said.
Fan savors last days of Comiskey

Never mind the fact that I spent $30 and cashed in a little over the money spent. Forget that I didn't know the names of any Chicago White Sox players. Who cares if my roommate missed the entire game because he was too drunk, and was kicked out of the park by security in the fourth inning.

No, of that matter, because now I can say that I experienced Chicago's Comiskey Park in its dying days.

I'm not a White Sox fan at all. The Philadelphia Phillies are my team, but don't hold it against me. The American League has always seemed foreign to me, so I'm not too concerned about the designated hitters and other such nonsense. But that didn't matter. I was at Comiskey. Built in 1910, the "Great Lady," is now extinct. The new Comisky Park has, for the most part, been constructed, and sits across the street from the old one.

Before Thursday's game against the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that watching a game in Comiskey was like watching the film, "The Natural." He was right. It was near-magical. The park sits right in the heart of the South Side of Chicago, not in some vast sports complex built up along the green streets. They say "COMISKEY PARK" over the main entrance to the stadium. Two levels of green seats were built up around the field, with a space in centerfield for the "exploding" scoreboard. The field is real, the grass is real.

The fans were true baseball fans—old and young. My friends and I encountered a short old man sitting in the stands. He said he was 70 and had been a Sox fan all his life. He's traveled to see the Sox play in several other stadiums. I was thrilled to be talking to a true, die-hard Sox fan, someone who's stuck with the team in spite of all their history of mediocrity. I'm not a White Sox fan—first level behind home plate. A little boy named David, clad in all White Sox clothing, sat in front of me. He didn't seem to mind the game, although I don't think he realized the importance of his being present at the oldest ball park in the Major Leagues.

I started to ponder this 34-year-old southside native sitting in front of me, interrogating him as to why he liked the Sox so much and what he thought of Comiskey. He was busy watching the game, but he did tell me that he hated the Cubs, so I decided to hate them, too.

We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too. We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too.

I'm not a White Sox fan at all. The Philadelphia Phillies are my team, but don't hold it against me. The American League has always seemed foreign to me, so I'm not too concerned about the designated hitters and other such nonsense. But that didn't matter. I was at Comiskey. Built in 1910, the "Great Lady," is now extinct. The new Comiskey Park has, for the most part, been constructed, and sits across the street from the old one.

Before Thursday's game against the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that watching a game in Comiskey was like watching the film, "The Natural." He was right. It was near-magical. The park sits right in the heart of the South Side of Chicago, not in some vast sports complex built up along the green streets. They say "COMISKEY PARK" over the main entrance to the stadium. Two levels of green seats were built up around the field, with a space in centerfield for the "exploding" scoreboard. The field is real, the grass is real.

The fans were true baseball fans—old and young. My friends and I encountered a short old man sitting in the stands. He said he was 70 and had been a Sox fan all his life. He's traveled to see the Sox play in several other stadiums. I was thrilled to be talking to a true, die-hard Sox fan, someone who's stuck with the team in spite of all their history of mediocrity. I'm not a White Sox fan—first level behind home plate. A little boy named David, clad in all White Sox clothing, sat in front of me. He didn't seem to mind the game, although I don't think he realized the importance of his being present at the oldest ball park in the Major Leagues.

I started to ponder this 34-year-old southside native sitting in front of me, interrogating him as to why he liked the Sox so much and what he thought of Comiskey. He was busy watching the game, but he did tell me that he hated the Cubs, so I decided to hate them, too.

We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too. We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too.

I'm not a White Sox fan at all. The Philadelphia Phillies are my team, but don't hold it against me. The American League has always seemed foreign to me, so I'm not too concerned about the designated hitters and other such nonsense. But that didn't matter. I was at Comiskey. Built in 1910, the "Great Lady," is now extinct. The new Comiskey Park has, for the most part, been constructed, and sits across the street from the old one.

Before Thursday's game against the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that watching a game in Comiskey was like watching the film, "The Natural." He was right. It was near-magical. The park sits right in the heart of the South Side of Chicago, not in some vast sports complex built up along the green streets. They say "COMISKEY PARK" over the main entrance to the stadium. Two levels of green seats were built up around the field, with a space in centerfield for the "exploding" scoreboard. The field is real, the grass is real.

The fans were true baseball fans—old and young. My friends and I encountered a short old man sitting in the stands. He said he was 70 and had been a Sox fan all his life. He's traveled to see the Sox play in several other stadiums. I was thrilled to be talking to a true, die-hard Sox fan, someone who's stuck with the team in spite of all their history of mediocrity. I'm not a White Sox fan—first level behind home plate. A little boy named David, clad in all White Sox clothing, sat in front of me. He didn't seem to mind the game, although I don't think he realized the importance of his being present at the oldest ball park in the Major Leagues.

I started to ponder this 34-year-old southside native sitting in front of me, interrogating him as to why he liked the Sox so much and what he thought of Comiskey. He was busy watching the game, but he did tell me that he hated the Cubs, so I decided to hate them, too.

We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too. We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too.

I'm not a White Sox fan at all. The Philadelphia Phillies are my team, but don't hold it against me. The American League has always seemed foreign to me, so I'm not too concerned about the designated hitters and other such nonsense. But that didn't matter. I was at Comiskey. Built in 1910, the "Great Lady," is now extinct. The new Comiskey Park has, for the most part, been constructed, and sits across the street from the old one.

Before Thursday's game against the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that watching a game in Comiskey was like watching the film, "The Natural." He was right. It was near-magical. The park sits right in the heart of the South Side of Chicago, not in some vast sports complex built up along the green streets. They say "COMISKEY PARK" over the main entrance to the stadium. Two levels of green seats were built up around the field, with a space in centerfield for the "exploding" scoreboard. The field is real, the grass is real.

The fans were true baseball fans—old and young. My friends and I encountered a short old man sitting in the stands. He said he was 70 and had been a Sox fan all his life. He's traveled to see the Sox play in several other stadiums. I was thrilled to be talking to a true, die-hard Sox fan, someone who's stuck with the team in spite of all their history of mediocrity. I'm not a White Sox fan—first level behind home plate. A little boy named David, clad in all White Sox clothing, sat in front of me. He didn't seem to mind the game, although I don't think he realized the importance of his being present at the oldest ball park in the Major Leagues.

I started to ponder this 34-year-old southside native sitting in front of me, interrogating him as to why he liked the Sox so much and what he thought of Comiskey. He was busy watching the game, but he did tell me that he hated the Cubs, so I decided to hate them, too.

We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too. We drank Old Style, ate pizza, nachos and hot dogs. We cheered when White Sox player Frank Thomas hit a home run in the third inning and the big scoreboard exploded. Incidentally, the Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, someone told me that he hated the Cubs, too.
Harpischordist to perform tonight at ND

Special to the Observer

Mark Kroll, harpischordist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will perform at the University of Notre Dame tonight at 8 p.m. in Washington Hall. The concert is presented by the University's Department of Music.

Included on the program are two compositions by Francois Couperin (1663-1733), "D'histoire d'argile" and "Sixieme Ordre," and two compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750), "French Suite in B-Minor, BWV 814" and "Toccatas in the Italian Style, BWV 971." Considered one of the finest harpsichordists of his generation, Kroll has performed throughout North and South America and Europe. He is a noted authority on Baroque music and has been a leading advocate of period instrument performance for more than two decades.

Kroll has collaborated with noted soloists and ensembles and has appeared as a guest artist at the Astor Magna and Tanglewood festivals. He has also served as program chair- man at the Boston Early Music Festival, artist-in-resi- dence at Lafayette College and the Music Academy of Zagreb and Belgrade, and director of the Cambridge Madrigal Singers.

He has conducted numerous orchestra works, including the first modern performance of a recently discovered symphony by C.P.E. Bach. Kroll's many recital engagements have included performances at Carnegie Recital Hall, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the University of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles, and the San Francisco Early Music Society. He has been concert soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Minnesota Orchestra, the Montreal Symphony, and the Philadelphia Orchestra, among others.

His recordings include solo harpischord works of Couperin, Duphly, Bulstestre, Royer, J.S. Bach, Handel and Scarlatti, the complete sonatas for violin and harpischord of J.S. Bach, violin sonatas of C.P.E. Bach and S. LeDuc, and the complete sonatas for flute and harpischord of J.S. Bach.

Kroll also has been an active proponent of the harpischord music of the 20th century, and has premiered and commissioned many works. He appears as harpischord soloist on a recent video compact disc of de Falla's "El Retablo de Maese Pedro" with the Montreal Symphony and Charles Dutoit.

His awards include a Paths of Light Award/Grant for harpischord and the- ory at Boston University, where he directs the Early Music Series and serves as chairman of the department of historical performances.

Post-graduate opportunities featured at fair

By ANN MARIE HARTMAN

A post graduate volunteer fair, offering seniors the chance to speak with representatives about volunteer opportunities after graduation, will be held on October 2 at the Center for Social Concerns. The fair, which runs from 7-10 p.m. in room 124 of the CSC, is designed for graduating seniors who may be looking to defer employment for a year and volunteer their time to a service organization. The program began eight years ago, and currently offers forty-five volunteer organizations the opportunity to present information regarding their national and international service projects.

Volunteer work is not given the credit it deserves," said Mary Ann Roemer, director of the fair and coordinator of senior and alumni programs for the Center for Social Concerns. "It is a way option for all students and it encompasses the Notre Dame philosophy of service. Even if seniors haven't thought about it, volunteer work should be considered as seriously as career placement and graduate school," said Roemer.

The Peace Corps and the Jesuit Volunteer Program are just two of the organizations which will be represented. About four or five of the service representatives will be Notre Dame alumni, said Roemer.

Although the program is intended for graduating seniors, all members of the student body are invited to attend. Last year, nearly 400 seniors attended the volunteer fair.

Why the Mega-Mergers have created an opportunity for you at BDO Seidman.

You look forward to starting your career with an established "name" firm where you can learn and grow by becoming immersed in several aspects of the clients' business. But you're a little apprehensive about your chances as a new graduate with a mega-firm. Can you fully develop your skills in a highly structured environment? Can you make a positive impact among the sheer numbers of multi-national staff? Or will you become just another cog in a giant wheel?

BDO SEIDMAN still offers the opportunities for growth, learning and advancement you hoped for when making your decision to pursue an accounting career.

We're big enough (42 U.S. offices plus global coverage through BDO Binder, our international firm) to present a fast growth track, broad diversity of middle market clients and a high profile marked by stability. Our management style and entrepreneurial atmosphere ensure talented graduates genuine opportunity for individual achievement and recognition. And you'll regularly benefit from personal contact with and guidance by our partners.

Find out about starting your career with BDO SEIDMAN, a firm that can offer you the potential of a really "big" future.

Contact your placement center now and arrange for an interview.

BDO SEIDMAN
Helping Clients Succeed™
Internationally BDO Binder

An equal opportunity employer.
Pope, bishops to discuss priesthood

(AP) — Pope John Paul II on Sunday opened a worldwide synod of bishops in Vatican City to discuss revitalizing the priesthood in the face of "burnout," challenges to celibacy and a shrinking number of interested candidates.

The pontiff inaugurated the month long assembly by celebrating a solemn Mass in St. Peter's Basilica for some 1,000 priests, bishops and cardinals from around the world.

The synod, an advisory body that meets to discuss major issues in the Roman Catholic Church, was called by John Paul to discuss the formation of priests.

"Let me express the hope that your labors here will produce the abundant fruit which the ecclesiastical community is expecting," the pope, clad in gold robes and miter, said in his homily.

The synod is expected to focus on the difficulty in maintaining the church's rules that priests be celibate and forswake marriage "in a world characterized by eroticism," as a working document put it.

The rules themselves are not expected to be subjects for debate, however, as the pope has shown no indication they might be changed.

Several sexual scandals have embarrassed the church in recent months.

Eugene A. Marino, resigned in July following revelations of a two-year "intimate relationship" with a young woman. In Newfoundland, Canada, a report in July by a church-appointed commission said priests had sexually abused boys in the province for more than a decade.

"Some priests question this requirement (celibacy) and some candidates leave formation for this reason," the working document said.

It noted that in public opinion, celibacy is "often incomprehensible and ridiculed." A priest who accepts celibacy "is sometimes looked upon in a strange way," it said.

"In this situation a priest can become totally isolated and misunderstood to the point of becoming deeply demoralized," it said. "In some cases, the crisis in the priestly identity can explain why priests leave the ministry."

The Vatican cited "the phenomenon of burnout, from which priests of all ages seem to suffer. They live in situations marked by tiredness, resignation, lack of creativity."

The document lamented the shortage of priests and declining number of candidates in some countries.

"The shortage of priests carries the further consequence that those older priests who are still active might become overburdened, thus making them subject to stress and to approach their work . . . simply as functionaries," it said.

According to the latest statistics, there are 400,000 priests in the world, down from 606,000 five years ago. In the United States, students in the last four years of seminary numbered 3,698 this year, compared with 7,855 in 1968.

The Vatican said it had "no doubt that the number of priests, particularly in the United States, will increase in the future."

Several synods have met in the past two decades to discuss the formation of priests.

In his homily, the pope said some obstacles to increasing the number of candidates for the priesthood are the practical difficulties in the ordination process and the growing number of candidates who are married.

"The rules themselves are not adequate to explain why priests leave the ministry. The document lamented the shortage of priests and declining number of candidates in some countries."

"The shortage of priests carries the further consequence that those older priests who are still active might become overburdened, thus making them subject to stress and to approach their work . . . simply as functionaries," it said.

According to the latest statistics, there are 400,000 priests in the world, down from 606,000 five years ago. In the United States, students in the last four years of seminary numbered 3,698 this year, compared with 7,855 in 1968.

The Vatican said it had "no doubt that the number of priests, particularly in the United States, will increase in the future."
The Observer page 5

U.N. seeks solutions to problems of children

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — World leaders ended an unprecedented meeting Sunday by pledging huge resources to battle the scourges of childhood poverty, and with harsh words for those who commit atrocities in the name of the young.

The 72 kings, presidents and prime ministers concluded the two-day World Summit for Children by adopting a declaration promising to fight poverty, and with harsh words for those who commit atrocities in the name of the young.

Monday, October 1, 1990

The History of Women in Music

Thursday, October 4, 1990

4:15 PM

"Judy Gorman is a wonderful singer and musician. She has taken her songs to an extraordinary variety of places in the USA and Europe. She is always thinking how to find the right phrase, the right song to lift the soul on the head, to reach the heart of the matter."

Pete Seeger

Sponsored by: Student Government Environmental Action Club

FREE VIP BLUE AND GOLD CARDS

TO:First 200 students (with I.D.) attending Notre Dame / Wichita State Basketball Game at Covaleski Stadium on Saturday, October 6th at 7:30 pm.

MAXWELL HOUSE® COFFEE VIP BLUE AND GOLD CARDS

All benefits of a regular Blue and Gold Card holder (except the three drawings for athletic tickets)

Free Maxwell House® Coffee / Notre Dame 14 oz. coffee mug

Free Maxwell House® coffee at the Huddle during the month of November by showing VIP card and student I.D.

Free Crystal Light® at the Huddle during the month of April by showing VIP card and student I.D.

Free drawings for VIP members only throughout the year for:

Chicago Bulls Basketball Tickets

Free Limo Service and Dinner at El's Place for Steak in Chicago

One free round trip ticket to Spring Break

A MUSICALLY ILLUSTRATED PRESENTATION BY

JUDY GORMAN

Wednesday, October 3, 1990

7:00 PM

Fieldhouse Mall

in case of rain: Washington Hall

"Immorality was thus committed in the name of children and evil was served for their alleged good."

"I saw Hitler waving in a friendly way to the fanatic little girls of Hitlerjugend (Hitler Youth). I saw mass murderer Stalin kissing a child with the red Communist youth organization scarf. . . . I saw Iraqi President Hussein patting children of his hostages whom, as he now says, he is ready to have shot," said Havel.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher noted the sufferings of children in war-ravaged countries such as Mozambique and Lebanon.

"These are evil things . . . evil things done by wicked people," Mrs. Thatcher said. "They bring us hard up against the fundamental nature of human personality and character."

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar told the assembly, "There is no way we can reconcile humanity's remarkable progress with the continuance of the misery that counts children among its victims."

President Bush said children can be saved when adults "live up to our responsibilities." But, he said, "saving one child is a miracle."

"We hold an unprecedented summit for those who will live in and lead a new world, their voices still to be heard," Bush said. "We are gathered to speak for the children of the earth ... to defy statistics."

BUY IT FOR "THE CAUSE"
Reporters killed by gunfire

(AP) — Two Salvadoran journalists whose deaths were reported as traffic fatalities were apparently killed by gunfire, a church-related human rights agency reported Sunday, and it demanded a government investigation.

The bodies of the two reporters, Pedro Martinez, 28, and Jorge Euceda, 38, were found in their car Friday on the Pan American Highway, 27 miles east of San Salvador.

"There was definitely a criminal hand in this, but many things remain to be cleared up," said Maria Jilis Hernandez, director of the Roman Catholic Church’s Legal Aid office.

Police reports blamed the deaths on a traffic accident. But Hernandez said her office had demanded an autopsy that showed Martinez had bits of ammunition in his left eye and cuts on the sides of his body.

"They shot at the journalists and some bullet fragments lodged in the face, making him lose control of the vehicle he was driving," Hernandez said.

The blood on the pavement and the absence of it inside the vehicle "could mean that the journalists were drugged out of the automobile and then beaten to death," she added.

The deaths immediately aroused the suspicions of reporters, who requested the assistance of Legal Aid. The news media and relatives of the victims have called for a complete investigation of the deaths.

Martinez was director of the magazine Semana (Week) and correspondent for the prestigious Mexican magazine Proceso.

Bodies found in black township

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The mutilated and burned bodies of four whites were found in a black township that has been the site of several racial confrontations in recent months, police said Sunday.

Police said they did not know if the attack was racially motivated and they made no arrests.

Also Sunday, African National Congress leader Nelson Mandela called for an urgent meeting this week with "tensioned" white and black residents to discuss the violence in the black townships around Johannesburg that has left about 800 dead since early August. Only two of the victims have been white.

Police reported the deaths of three more blacks in two townships near Johannesburg, Tembisa and Soweto.

The bodies of the four whites — three men and a woman — were found near a burned-out car in Khotloaong, said Police Maj. Johan Fouche. The townships 150 miles southwest of Johannesburg near the towns of Odendaalsrus and Welkom.

The four apparently had visited a bar in the township Saturday, police said. The bodies, which were badly mutilated with knives and then set afire, were found Saturday night. Fouche said.

Local authorities had threatened to shut off electricity a week ago in Khotloaong because residents were not paying their bills to protest living conditions, an official in Odendaalsrus said.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the power remained off after angry residents burned the homes of black town councilors in Khotloaong. But tensions remain high in the township, the official said.
The South Korean diplomats said they were set for establishment of ties, but it would be soon, possibly as early as November. Soviet diplomats said only that the talks would be "important." South Korea has been pushing for ties with the Soviet Union, a long-time ally and friend of its rival North Korea,
one of the last bastions of hard-line Communism, resisting the worldwide wave of democratic movements.

The Soviet Union, which is undergoing political liberalization, has also been improving its relations with South Korea.
The Moscow government is ex-ger for enhanced trade and economic cooperation to help
bolster the Soviet economy.

The two Koreas have been arch-enemies since the Korean peninsula was divided after World War II. They fought a 1950-53 war, and hundreds of thousands of troops are positioned along their border.

The move is expected to enhance a South Korean bid to join the United Nations.

Communist North Korea has opposed separate entry of the two nations on the divided peninsula and says separate admission would only reaffirm division.

North Korea and South
Korea currently hold non-voting observer status at the United Nations.

The Soviet decision would leave China as North Korea's
most powerful Communist ally.
But China, too, has been cautiously improving its relations with South Korea and also is interested in South Korean investment and technology.

South Korean diplomats have said they would only seek U.N.
admission if they are certain that China, a permanent member of the Security Council with veto power, would not oppose them.

With the crumbling of the Soviet Bloc, more Eastern Euro-nic nations are seeking normalization of relations with South Korea.

---

STUDENT HAIRCARE SAVINGS!

This Week Only — — — — — — — — — — — — — —

$1 OFF STUDENT CUT

MasterCuts

Reg. $8

$5 OFF ANY PERM

MasterCuts

With Student I.D.

We Trim Prices, Not Quality

Walk-Ins Welcome

MasterCuts

family haircutters

University Park Mall 277-3770

---

Last year we made over 14,000 students Wall Street Tycoons in the...

AT&T

Collegiate Investment Challenge

November 1, 1990 to February 28, 1991

Enter this year’s competition and you’ll become a Wall Street tycoon

buying and selling stocks with your own $500,000 brokerage account. If you’re the best trader at the end of this national stock market competition, you’ll be cashing a check for a very real $25,000!

Real Trading

There is no better way to get

hands-on stock market experience. You’re on the phone, calling your broker on a firm

AT&T 800 Service line to buy and sell stocks. "Give me

$100,000 worth of SABA EEE

and another $50,000 worth of

AT&T." You start with a fictitious

$500,000 brokerage account

---

Cash Scholarship Awards

Awarded to the top 10 students in the 1991 Collegiate

Investment Challenge. Each scholarship is worth

$25,000! The student with the highest total points will receive the $25,000 scholarship award.

The highest total points will be awarded to the student who is the overall national winner of the Collegiate

Investment Challenge.

---

Real Prizes

Win a trip for you and a guest compliments of the Bahamas Ministry of Tourism, a $5000 check, and a $25,000 fortune!

You can win all the

---

Registration deadline:

October 27, 1990.

Entry fee only

$49.95

---

The AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge is produced and managed by Wall Street Games, Inc. 40 Grove Street, Wellesley, MA 02181.
Palestinian death toll rises during riot in the West Bank

(AP) — The Palestinian death toll in the uprising against Israeli occupation climbed above 1,000 Sunday with rioting in a West Bank village and recriminations against Arabs suspected of collaborating with Israel.

Police gunfire in the village of Jam'a killed one Palestinian and wounded 21 others, four seriously, the army command said. Israeli radio described the riot there as "severe."

Three Palestinians were slain Sunday on suspicion of collaborating with Israel, according to Palestinian reports. The army said it was checking the reports.

An Arab man was injured Sunday while trying to hurl a bomb at a bus stop near the southern Israeli port city of Ashdod, police said, and a masked man tried unsuccessfully to stab a Jew in Jerusalem's walled Old City.

The unrest came after roads into Israel were re-opened from the occupied West Bank and the Gaza Strip. The territories had been sealed off for 24 hours for Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement.

The army said the violence in Jam'a, a village of 1,000, south of Nablus, began after a jeepload of paramilitary border police "encountered disturbances" and attempted to disperse the rioters.

Arab journalists said Palestinian students at the village's high school hurled stones at the troops. The Israeli patrol fired some 15 tear gas canister shots into the school and, after calling reinforcements, raided the building.

Parents of the students rushed to the school, trying to stop the troops, and clashed with them inside the compound.

Arab reports said.

Ahmed Shehadeh, 58, was hit by two bullets in the head and the neck and was dead on arrival at Tihlab hospital in Nablus, hospital officials reported.

The alleged collaborators whose deaths were reported Sunday included Adel Abu Baker, 23, whose body was found near the Gaza Strip refugee camp of Khan Yunis.

Arab reports said he was stabbed to death by uprising activists.

Imad Abu Jubej, 25, a suspected drug dealer, was stabbed to death in the Gaza village of Beit Lahyi, Arab reporters said.

In the Gaza town of Rafah, masked activists killed 53-year-old Khalil Kazim and shot several shots at him in the school where he worked as a guard, Arab journalists said.

Ousted prime minister stands trial

Ousted Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto went before a special tribunal Sunday in Karachi to hear charges that she tried to overthrow her 1977 military coup and resurfaced last month by the caretaker government of Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, was ousted from power in 1977 after two years in prison, under house arrest or in exile after her father, the late Prime Minister Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto, was overthrown by the military in 1977 and hanged two years later.

She was elected to Parliament in November 1988, in the first free elections in more than a decade, and became the first woman to lead a modern Moslem nation.

President Ghulam Ishaq Khan, using his constitutional power, dismissed Ms. Bhutto's government on Aug. 6 and installed a caretaker government made up largely of her opponents.

Ishaq Khan accused Ms. Bhutto's government of corruption, incompetence and abuse of power.

The caretaker government says it has substantial documentary evidence to back up its charges.

But many Pakistanis believe the charges have generated a wave of sympathy for Ms. Bhutto. Most analysts say Ms. Bhutto and her party appear to be gaining strength and could emerge from next month's election as the single largest party.

"I cannot be disqualified because I have not done anything," Ms. Bhutto said. "I am confident that we will be vindicated and with the support of the people we will emerge victorious."

It brings out the best in all of us.

The Emir of Kuwait Sheik Jaber Al-Ahmad Al-Jaber Al-Sabah reflects after he delivered his speech at the United Nations General Assembly Thursday. His country was invited by Iraq last August.

After the speech

Sad holiday greeting.

Happy Birthday, Colleen Kennedy, from us on Holy Cross 2T.

Happy 21st B-day Karen! I can't believe it's finally here! I hope to get away to the beach this weekend. We are the best out here! Love you Amy.

Happy 21st B-day Karen! I can't believe it's finally here! I hope to get away to the beach this weekend. We are the best out here! Love you Amy.

HOW IS EVERYONE DOING FOR YOU? I WISH YOU THE BEST OF EVERYTHING AND I HOPE YOU HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN WHAT I SAID. I HOPE YOU ARE HAPPY AND HEALTHY.

HOW IS EVERYONE DOING FOR YOU? I WISH YOU THE BEST OF EVERYTHING AND I HOPE YOU HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN WHAT I SAID. I HOPE YOU ARE HAPPY AND HEALTHY.

HAPPY 100TH B-DAY, S. C.

HAPPY 100TH B-DAY, S. C.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY, V.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY, V.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL.

HAPPY 100TH B-DAY, S. C.

HAPPY 100TH B-DAY, S. C.
Salaries rise for recent college grads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again, a 11th-hour budget compromise averted a federal government shutdown.

But the agreement that President Reagan insisted on Sunday was not "smoke and mirrors," will still leave a gaping budget hole with a $253 billion shortfall in the federal deficit.

For it to work, the agreement's authors must reject the temptation to set a new record for red ink spending.

Just a few days ago, as congressional and White House budget negotiators were pushing the finishing touches on the deal to share the federal deficit by $40 billion in the new fiscal year, budget officials were urging the estimate of the deficit by a similar amount.

Just a week ago, budget negotiators were warning about a $25 million shortfall in the absence of spending cuts and tax increases.

Now there is a budget agreement, but its failure to meet by no means certain — would produce a deficit of some $254 billion.

That's because on Sunday, July 13, the federal deficit increased to the $253.7 billion mark in the current fiscal year.

That's up from the $100 billion in the previous fiscal year and the $235 billion in the previous fiscal year.

That's the largest in the last 10 years.

That's also the largest in the last 10 years.

For the wealthy and upper middle-class families, this package would provide a 20 percent discount on their current 16-cent-level for gasoline.

Alcohol taxes would also go up.

Taxes on luxury items to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget deal with Congress would do deep into American pocketbooks.

Medical payments to Medicare, for example, would be cut by $521 million state shortfalls in the federal deficit.

For the wealthy and upper middle-class families, this package would provide a 20 percent discount on their current 16-cent-level for gasoline.

Alcohol taxes would also go up.

Taxes on luxury items to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget deal with Congress would do deep into American pocketbooks.

Medical payments to Medicare, for example, would be cut by $521 million state shortfalls in the federal deficit.

For the wealthy and upper middle-class families, this package would provide a 20 percent discount on their current 16-cent-level for gasoline.

Alcohol taxes would also go up.

Taxes on luxury items to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget deal with Congress would do deep into American pocketbooks.

Medical payments to Medicare, for example, would be cut by $521 million state shortfalls in the federal deficit.

For the wealthy and upper middle-class families, this package would provide a 20 percent discount on their current 16-cent-level for gasoline.

Alcohol taxes would also go up.

Taxes on luxury items to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget deal with Congress would do deep into American pocketbooks.

Medical payments to Medicare, for example, would be cut by $521 million state shortfalls in the federal deficit.

For the wealthy and upper middle-class families, this package would provide a 20 percent discount on their current 16-cent-level for gasoline.

Alcohol taxes would also go up.

Taxes on luxury items to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget deal with Congress would do deep into American pocketbooks.

Medical payments to Medicare, for example, would be cut by $521 million state shortfalls in the federal deficit.

For the wealthy and upper middle-class families, this package would provide a 20 percent discount on their current 16-cent-level for gasoline.

Alcohol taxes would also go up.
Senate should support Coming Out Day

Last week representatives from the Gays and Lesbians of Notre Dame/Saint Mary's College (GLND/SMC) asked the members of the Student Senate to recognize this upcoming National Coming Out Day. The Student Senate should vote to support this group's efforts to raise awareness about the needs of the homosexual population on our campuses and to fight harassment of any campus group, even if its mission is contrary to that of the University.

Although at first one might find this proposition shocking as a Catholic university such as Notre Dame, the group's proposal is quite reasonable. They are simply asking the Student Senate to step back for one day and consider what it is like to be a homosexual in this environment.

It is common knowledge that students who admit to being gays or lesbians are subject to considerable harassment on our campuses. We have to ask ourselves whether this is acceptable. As a community, we cannot condone the oppression of a group such as GLND/SMC or any other group because their behavior is not what many deem correct.

“Recognizing that gay and lesbian students on this campus often feel the oppression that comes from misinformation and misunderstanding about homosexuality, we call upon the entire student body of this University to stand up against any form of discrimination, harassment, or violence against homosexual persons,” states the GLND/SMC proposal.

This proposal is not about the recognition of GLND/SMC as a club at Notre Dame. It is about whether we can allow a group of people to be constantly harassed on our “Catholic” campus. GLND/SMC is asking the Student Senate to recognize this day in the hopes that open discussion might lead to greater understanding between homosexuals and those who oppose homosexuality.

In order to promote better understanding of the needs of gays and lesbians at Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s and to end harassment on campus, the Student Senate should pass a resolution supporting National Coming Out Day at Notre Dame on Oct. 11.

In addition, the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s community should use this day to suspend negative attitudes about homosexuals and listen to the concerns of the students from GLND/SMC. Regardless of Church doctrine and personal beliefs, the bottom line is that homosexuals are human beings and deserve to be treated as such on our campuses.

Have something to say? The Viewpoint page depends on commentary from its readers. Write down your thoughts and send them to Viewpoint, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.
Musicians hindered from public performance

Dear Editor:
The administration is at it again. During the summer, the Office of Student Activities started a new policy against allowing student bands to perform off-campus. Musicians. It is now impossible for bands consisting of students to gain access to the University's facilities or to hold performances.

While I was bored off my skull during summer school, St. Paul and the Martys were fitting into distortion tubes and playing a show; it seems that when most students want to come home for the summer, University officials came to the conclusion that these bands were contributing to the delinquency of minors, publicizing the use of alcohol, and appear that some of these wise guardians have decided to play the role of a Big Brother, and prevent musicians on campus from performing in front of their peers.

In the past, bands could advertise their services in a high-hazard fashion—their pleas to hang fliers rested upon some secretary in LaFortune to decorate them appropriate decorations for the posters. After St. Paul and the company were dismayed to learn that flingers were not allowed to hang fliers, the rules had changed, and as talented as they were, notices of their performances were to be kept as hush a subject as on-camera.; I should have seen this coming, as I gave them a fair shake last April.

I performed with the band Mr. E. Last year. After receiving a warning note pertaining to Mr. E's unauthorized flingers, the band was at the point where the fliers were approved. His request was for a few fliers to hang on the walls, not on the drinking establishment which had hired Mr. E was too large.

"Shenanigan's" was printed in 1" tall letters, while the name of the band was 3" tall. The fliers were all humurous, and not offensive—they even fit the requirements of posters as per that handbook of wisdom, Dulac.

Knowing that the only way to stay solvent (and pay off the tab) was to go by the sound men, and the sound men would be to encourage students to come. Regardless of the administration's threat, these fliers were posted, and the band was paid $50— if the band didn't play, each one of the members would be fined the same amount to his student account.

Realizing that Mr. E was in no position to plead with the administration, we gave in to their demands for extortion. However, I wrote a letter in respon to Elizabeth Pavlicki, our esteemed Assistant Director of Student Life; the chief claim of this letter was that the University was giving preference to some drinking activities over others such as the immensely successful Hogstock, featuring posters of a Hog filling a beer mug from a keg.

Additionally, I voiced my frustrations about the use of Student Activities money which we all pay to bring in lukewarm acts from various places. Some have experienced annual at Theodore's Coffeehouse, and others have enjoyed Fortunе. September 15. The University has formed no standard policy towards paying guest bands. Awareness is the key to our own campus, as we have seen with the over $100000 given to The Groove, and zilch to anyone who performs to The Coffee Shop. Ms. Pavlicki's response to my observations may have been expressed as silence.

The issue is no less dead this year. My former colleagues have been outlawed. I personally resent the University's fence-sitting position. On the one hand, they desire that students become involved with social activities which do not revolving around the consumption of alcohol. Then, instead of a friendly atmosphere where musicians like myself can perform with one another in front of our peers, we are left to dissolve this wholesome activity with extremely rash economic decisions which any normal student would be crushed.

Remember, the same people that gave us the alcohol-free SYR also gave us less of money. These administrative peers would not be drawing people to the bars, the students would fill the bars regardless of whether or not bands were performing. The University's neglect to socialize with so many other people than at a bar or party? Yet bands will continue to perform at bars because that's the only regular fringe exposure in which they can seek recompense for their efforts and expenses and receive well-deserved ad保驾护航 groups. And advertisements are encouraging our friends to see the Victory March in noble attempts at creating the desired atmosphere on campus, like Theodore's and the Coffeehouse, adequately demonstrating the University's inability to address the situation. At least, as well as other universities have.

This brings us to some critical questions for some students. I ask. For example, is it fair that the Office of Student Activities sponsors over $5000 worth of bands outside LaFortune, when 7000 students are illegitimately tailgating alongside the alumni on red Field? The only people I saw checking down the food inside and outside of LaFortune had arms full of purchases from the bookstore, which should have given them as non-members of the student body. One of my friends, who had protested the office of Student Activities for permission to play elsewhere, at his own expense, was given the run-around. Come Saturday, upon pressing administrators for a straight answer, he was denied.

Concerning Theodore's, the architect obviously did not consider that the lounge is before including a great dance floor, bathed in a strong stream of light from the grand hall of LaFortune; the organization of that student body. All others were with the positioning of an expansion such as will make the area inaccessible to people.

Jennifer Sepepta
Caravaggio Hall
Sept. 25, 1990

Fight song needs further thought

Dear Editor:

Miss Hansen's editorial about the Victory March (The Observer, Sept. 16) is well thought out. Miss Hansen stated that changing the song would have been, I personally resent the University's fence-sitting position. On the one hand, they desire that students become involved with social activities which do not revolving around the consumption of alcohol. Then, instead of a friendly atmosphere where musicians like myself can perform with one another in front of our peers, we are left to dissolve this wholesome activity with extremely rash economic decisions which any normal student would be crushed.

Remember, the same people that gave us the alcohol-free SYR also gave us less of money. These administrative peers would not be drawing people to the bars, the students would fill the bars regardless of whether or not bands were performing. The University's neglect to socialize with so many other people than at a bar or party? Yet bands will continue to perform at bars because that's the only regular fringe exposure in which they can seek recompense for their efforts and expenses and receive well-deserved ad保驾护航 groups. And advertisements are encouraging our friends to see the Victory March in noble attempts at creating the desired atmosphere on campus, like Theodore's and the Coffeehouse, adequately demonstrating the University's inability to address the situation. At least, as well as other universities have.

This brings us to some critical questions for some students. I ask. For example, is it fair that the Office of Student Activities sponsors over $5000 worth of bands outside LaFortune, when 7000 students are illegitimately tailgating alongside the alumni on red Field? The only people I saw checking down the food inside and outside of LaFortune had arms full of purchases from the bookstore, which should have given them as non-members of the student body. One of my friends, who had protested the office of Student Activities for permission to play elsewhere, at his own expense, was given the run-around. Come Saturday, upon pressing administrators for a straight answer, he was denied.

Concerning Theodore's, the architect obviously did not consider that the lounge is before including a great dance floor, bathed in a strong stream of light from the grand hall of LaFortune; the organization of that student body. All others were with the positioning of an expansion such as will make the area inaccessible to people.

Chris Bechel
Grace Hall
Sept. 27, 1990

Senior Rap-Up groups help build new friendships

Dear Editor:

No one wants to hear advice from someone who "was there" in our time. But when you look back, wasn't your high school just that much more? Well, even though I'm not your mother, I feel as if I can speak out at least one instance—Senior Rap-Up groups. Everyone has said to me, since graduation, "I really wish I had a group like that." What were those again?—Yeah, I finally read into that. Don't blow it, seniors.

Seriously, this is your chance to really relax, get to know some of the members of your class and a faculty/staff member as well. Senior Rap-Up groups get together once a month; you take turns making dinner, and then the fun begins. After dinner and approximately ten of your classmates get to be, well, friends. It's an important to you. In the process, you gain a lot of perspective.

Not only are you exposed to the string of peopless, but to those people who have doubts about Notre Dame, why they came and whether they're right. What were supposed to be "the best four years of your life" can only be exposed to different attitudes (and you thought all Domers were the same), but you get the chance to verbalize those feelings you've experienced. That not has too many syllables and sounds awkward. "Rally kids of Notre Dame" would fit into the melody of the song, the rest of the song has not the right sound to it. It does not sound good if nobody on this campus would want the word "kid" in our fight song. Rally kids of Notre Dame kids have more than enough syllables and sounds as awkward as "children."

Anyone who tries to change something like the Victory March should look at the entire thing before making changes. Sometimes making changes is harder than it may appear on the surface.

Brian Niehaus
Grace Hall
Sept. 27, 1990

Viewpoint

Rennovated Church broadcasts live

Dear Editor:

I am now able to express my sheer delight at the fact that, after a long and suspenseful wait, it was announced that the Church of the Sacred Heart will finally reopen not just as a chapel, but as a religious center. The church had been closed for many years due to renovations and the need for a new roof. The decision to reopen the church was made after a long and suspenseful process, during which many community members had expressed their desire for a place of worship within walking distance of the university.

Imagining my total security, as I am now able to sing from the safety of my home, I have come to a realization that I no longer feel the need for a church. I now feel that my home is my spiritual sanctuary, and I am able to express my religious beliefs in a way that is true to me. I have found that my home is a place where I can truly feel the presence of God, and I am able to connect with my faith in a way that is authentic to me.

However, I do not wish to undermine the importance of the Church of the Sacred Heart. It has been a significant part of the university community for many years, and it has provided a place of spiritual nourishment for generations of Notre Dame students. I am grateful for the opportunity to support the church in its efforts to reopen, and I hope that the church will continue to be a source of comfort and inspiration for many years to come.

In conclusion, I am grateful for the opportunity to express my thoughts on the reopening of the Church of the Sacred Heart. I believe that the church has an important role to play in the spiritual lives of Notre Dame students, and I am pleased to see that it is being given a new lease on life. I hope that the church will continue to be a source of spiritual renewal and growth for generations to come.

Carolyn Roy
Notre Dame Class of '90
Sept. 26, 1990

The Observer
page 11
Voices of Faith Gospel Ensemble

YOALANDA S. LAWLER
assistant writer

"Lord, I am available to you.
My will I give to you! I'll do what you say do! Use me Lord to show someone the way/And enable me to say/ My charge is empty/and I am available to
you.

Those words, when sung by
The Voices of Faith Gospel
Ensemble, encompass not only
the primary purpose of the choir itself, according to Leroy Mcintosh, but the true meaning of being a Christian as well.
The Voices of Faith can be seen
lectures at Notre Dame, brings Mrican-American boys.

Mrican-American boys being
the primary purpose of the
you."

In his book, "Countering the Conspiracy to Destroy Black
Boys" Kunjufu identifies and
suggests solutions to the problem
of African-American boys being
"turned off" by the American
education system.

His book, "Countering the
Conspiracy to Destroy Black
Boys" Kunjufu identifies and
suggests solutions to the problem
of African-American boys being
"turned off" by the American
education system.

Kunjufu, who has given
lectures at Notre Dame, brings
an African-American perspective wherever he goes. The founder of African-American Images, a publishing company based in Chicago. Kunjufu has published several other books,
including "Motivating Black Youth to Work," "Developing Positive Self-Images in Black Children," "Countering the Reward of Life," and "To be Popular or Smart: The Black
Peer Group."

"Countering the Conspiracy to Destroy Black Boys" is divided into four chapters. Chapter
One, "The Conspiracy to Destroy Black Boys," outlines and discusses the racist oppression perpetrated by white males.

Kunjufu goes further and examines the implications of institutional racism. He also addresses the disproportionate amount of African-American boys who are recommended for and placed in special education programs. He expands on the problems with public schools,
by pointing out the lack of adequate teachers, a racist and irrelevant curriculum and the lack of discipline in the classroom.
Kunjufu recalls being informed by principals that they place their best teachers in the upper grades of primary school because that is where the most undisciplined children are.
Kunjufu maintains that
this "band aid" approach is part of the conspiracy.

"Male Seasoning," articulates
the socialization of African American males, which contributes to high dropout rates and other forms of destructive behavior. The pervasiveness of gender roles
which stereotype the kind of behavior that boys are detriment of male seasoning.

Kunjufu also addresses the disciplinary methods used by African-American boys who are remedied for and placed in special education programs. He expands on the problems
with public schools, by pointing out the lack of able teachers, a controlling emotions. Finally,
male domination and the
marking of boys as "winners"
during male seasoning,
"becomes a dehumanization
process of indoctrinating you (African-American boys)
against yourself."

Chapter Four, "Count-ter-conspiracy Strategies," emphasizes the importance of culture.
Kunjufu expresses the need
in the African-American community for the development of organizations which address the needs of African-American boys and helps the community to maintain the status quo, which Kunjufu describes as a "constant interference" from both inside
and outside the community.

Kunjufu also concludes a list of do's and don'ts on how to work with an African-American boy. He closes with an inspiring poem from Haki Madhubuti, who was a personal mentor to him during his formative years and taught him
that service to his community
was essential.

This paperback, which retails
for $9.50, is a must for parents,
educators and mentors of African-American boys.
NOTICES

TYING AVAILABLE 287-4062

SPEE-DEE WORDPROCESSING 237-4149

JUST SAY NO! Buy/Give used books at Pandora's Books, 2208 Grant Ave. & Howard. 223-2542

LOST/FOUND

-----REWARD-----
My watch was lost sometime last Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. or shortly after in the Back Aisle. I call since I could check, etc. It is a Pennsylvania license. PLEASE call me back at the phone number on the E3 with any information I can help.
Searches: 288-0514

FOUND AT MICHIGAN GR. BROS. PETERS BUSHSEND BNCCANAS CALL AT x407 Opposite #4 or 1132.

LOST: TEMORARY ID 9/20 at The Commons.

STANFORD evenings Monday, 12-3:30, 271-4062-10 271-1123-14

LOST: STUDENT ID CARD, call 292-1601

LOST: Temporary ID card, very important material.

Dan Jeffery at x1589. 272-1095.

LOST: Yellow folder containing very important material

Wanted.

REWARD: 250.

Dan Jeffery at x1589...14

133.

LOST: 14-gulf rope chained to Steppen Rocket best offer. Cash value. 9-people please contact Dan at x1589.

WANTED

BABY'SITTER WANTED: Looking for someone to watch 2 small children in near future for a week (flexible) wages negotiable Transportation paid.

Need my Space together will pay any price. Call Mark at x1557 please.

Earn $300 to $500 a week Reading Books at home. Call x1400 or x3142.

Christmas Help

National list has many openings available starting Jan 2. Great banquet experience Welcome to call tonight.

I need 2 GA's and 1 stud for Stanford game. Call x2499. 8-25-82.

Earn $200 and FREE SPRING BREAK TO BAHAMAS. $300-1000 as part time.

CAMPUS REP FOR SPRING BREAK BREAK 1-800-638-2136.

FOR RENT

1991-1992 Reserve your 6.5. 6 or 5 room suite now. Call Bruce 234-3851 or 289-5882.

STUDENT HOUSING FOR 1991-92 SCHOOL YEAR CALL CHUCK GLOUCESTER 287-2133.

A Studio apartment in lovely central near G on 254 SE 106th Ave. Call Jodie.

1 EFFICIENCY.A 1.

1 BACHELOR APARTMENT. DOWNTOWN BENGIO. CALL 946-3291 BEFORE 9 AM OR 6-11-660-7756

STUDIO APART TURTLE CREEK AREA 300-feet. 271-2183 after 7:00 P.M.

 classifieds
Irish remain on top of National College Poll

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

Notre Dame remained in the top spot of the National Collegiate Sportswriters Poll for the third week in a row. Three schools participated in this week's voting. The Irish, with their 37-11 first-place vote and 592 total points, moved up two to fourth due to its 34-21 win over Virginia Tech. The Seminoles captured four first-place votes and 574 total points.

Michigan jumped two positions to third with its 45-17 defeat of Maryland, while Virginia climbed from seventh to fourth by outlasting William & Mary 63-35. The other first-place vote went to Miami, which maintained its 6-2-1 win over Boston College.

With the many upsets which occurred this weekend, there was plenty of movement in the poll. The biggest gainers of the week were Florida, from 18th to 12th by virtue of its 28-21 win over Mississippi State, and Colorado, from 16th to 10th by virtue of its 20-14 win over Washington. The Huskies fell from 13th to 17th with the loss, while Brigham Young fell six places to 10th in losing to Oregon 32-16. However, Texas A&M fell the furthest this week; its 11-10 loss to LSU led to its plunging from 11th to 18th. Arizona dropped out of the Top 20 this week by losing to California 30-25, while Michigan State debuts in the 19th position with its 34-10 victory over Rutgers.

Injury forces Sandri into action

Lineman forced into action when Gene McGuire is hurt

By FRANK PASTOR and CHRIS COONEY
Sports Writers

When Winston Sandri replaced Gene McGuire at quick tackle last week in practice, he assumed it would be only until McGuire recovered from a bruised shoulder. The injured week before against Michigan State.

Sandri got the job for at least two to four more weeks when McGuire suffered cartilage damage to his knee in Saturday's game against Purdue.

Sandri missed the first two games of the season with a severely strained knee but returned to practice early last week and replaced McGuire in the offensive line against the Boilermakers.

McGuire had arthroscopic surgery performed on his knee on Sunday.

Tailback Dorsey Levens, who injured his knee while jogging in Syracuse, N.Y., over the summer, played in his first game of the season Saturday. Levens was the top-rated running back coming out of spring practice before his injury. He gained 30 yards on five carries Saturday against Purdue, including a 16-yard run in the first quarter.

Levens was ready last week against Michigan State, but Head Coach Lou Holtz decided to wait another week rather than risk reinjuring his knee on minor stasis in astroturf field.

Ralph Ismael returned to the Heisman Trophy chase Saturday after two weeks where opponents tried their best to keep the ball away from him. Ismael exploded for a 64-yard touchdown run on a reverse and 117-all-purpose yards in the game. He rushed five times for 52 yards... caught one pass for seven yards, returned a kickoff for 15 yards and a punt for 10 yards.

The touchdown run gave Notre Dame an insurmountable 19-3 lead in the second quarter, but Holtz had certain reservations about calling it.

"When I called it (the reverse), I thought, ' Gee, that might be a dumb call,'" said the Irish head coach. "We have never run that reverse except once in practice where we pitched the ball. All year long we ran it where we handed it off.

"But we pitched it and executed, and I didn't expect it to go all the way. I thought maybe we could get a first down."

The Irish offense came under fire in the first two games of the season for its propensity to start strong and finish even stronger but disappear in the middle quarters.

Notre Dame rectified that on Saturday, scoring a combined 31 of its 37 points in the second and third quarters. For the first time this year, the Irish failed to score in the fourth quarter.

Of course, the starting unit was off the field by that time.

Demetrius DuBoise played Saturday's game despite breaking his toe in Friday's practice.

DuBoise tallied three unassisted tackles in the game while rotating with Donn Grimm at inside linebacker.

Holtz expressed surprise at Notre Dame's four holding penalties in Saturday's game. The Irish lost 36 yards because of those fouls, even though officials who attend all of Notre Dame's practices and scrimmages had noted the team's avoidance of that problem.

"I'm sure it's something we're doing," said Holtz. "Sometimes officials will interpret things different. What we have to do is look at it and find out why."

The holds negated or severely cut runs by Rick Wat­ ters, Shawn Davis and two by Tony Brooks. While Holtz felt the officiating was good during the game, he found the sudden emergence of that particular foul intriguing.

"Today every time you turned around you're facing first and 20 and things like that," said Holtz. "That was little disappointing."
LOWER LEFT: The Irish cheerleaders celebrate another score.
IMMEDIATE LOWER LEFT: Raghib Ismail dives across the goal line.
LEFT: Purdue quarterback Eric Hunter is sacked.
UPPER LEFT: Quarterback Rick Mirer lunges for Notre Dame's first touchdown.
UPPER RIGHT: Boilermaker QB Eric Hunter throws under pressure.
MIDDLE RIGHT: Fullback Rodney Culver cuts into the open field.
LOWER RIGHT: Junior flanker Raghib Ismail breaks free for a 64-yard touchdown run—the longest of his career.
Photos by Maguerite Schropp, David Lee and Kevin Weise.
Defense
continued from page 20
and free safety Tom Carter, a converted running back (short cornerback Bobbo Brooks) and a strong safety Greg Davin, who totalled four career starts among them coming into the game.

Hunter, the latest in a long line of excellent Purdue quarterback backs which includes Len Dawson, Bob Griese, Mark Hermann and Jim Everett, and the fifth-ranked passer in the country, further complicated Notre Dame's defense.

But the more experienced Irish front seven put constant pressure on Hunter and forced two key turnovers which erased any mistakes the secondary might have made.

"We tried to keep Hunter contained," said defensive tackle Bob Dahl, who had two tackles for minus-three yards in the game. "The biggest part of his game was scrambling, so we tried to get slow, steady pressure on him."

The pressure must have seemed anything but slow to Hunter, who was tackled behind the line of scrimmage by outside linebacker Leonington as he tried to put slow, steady pressure on the game.

Kowalkowski set the tone in the second half as well when he again bit Hunter from behind, forcing the ball loose and pouncing on it at the Purdue 33 yard-line. Eight plays later, Shawn Davis scored on a one-yard touchdown run to give the Irish a 33-17 lead.

"I tried to knock the ball out of his hands on the second fumble," said Kowalkowski. "Purdue is a much-improved football team, but we came after them an awful lot today."

The game did anything but boost Purdue's confidence. The Boilermakers brought what they believed to be their best team in years into Notre Dame Stadium but left with all-too-familiar results.

"It's tough enough when you're playing a team like Notre Dame and you're doing everything right, and doing it well, getting the breaks here and there," said Purdue head coach Ara Parseghian. "They're not getting you and you're making those kinds of mistakes (turnovers), it kills you.

"We didn't have a chance to contain many of them (Notre Dame's defensive linemen)," said Akers. "Notre Dame is an excellent football player, he's quick, and he can cause us some more problems on the run plays than he did on the pass."

The defensive front of Zorich, Dahl and George Williams shut down the run entirely with the exception of a 30-yard breakaway run by tailback Tony Vinson in the third quarter.

Without that, the Boilermakers would have finished the game with minus-six yards rushing. Purdue entered the game with the worst-ranked rushing game among the 106 Division I teams (55.5 yards per game, 1.7 yards a carry) Zorich wanted things to stay that way.

"When they got that big run up the middle," he said, "I was not a happy camper."

Despite his big passing day, Hunter could relate to the metaphor.

Irish 37, Boilermakers 11

Purdue 2 0 0 11-21
Notre Dame 6 21 10 0-37

First downs: 8-22

Rushing: 19-24 2-374
Pasing 354 140

Yards: 419 21

Passing: 27-56 21-370
Punts 7-88

Fumbles Lost: 2-2 0

Penalties: 2-7 8-92

Time of possession: 21.12 38.48

INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS

Rushing: Purdue, Vinson 74-314; Mirer 3-40, Griggs 1-44, Brown 0-1-0-0, McManus 4-74, Hawkins 0-0-0-0
Notre Dame, S.Davis 33-193, Vinson 1-10, Dahl 0-0-0-0

Receiving:- Purdue, McMillan 4-74, Calhoun 2-25, Moore 2-22, Parks 2-21, Davis 2-19, McManus 2-15, Griggs 1-44, Brown 1-40

Victory
continued from page 20

While Ismail had been used primarily as a decoy in Notre Dame's two previous games, the success of the reverse surprised even Holtz.

"When I called it, I thought, 'Gee that might be a dumb call because we have been a slow, steady reverse, except once in practice,'" said Holtz.

While Ismail finished the day leading all Irish rushers with 101 yards on 16 carries, the backfielders saw action as well. Included among those were Dorsev Levens, playing for the first time since injuring his knee last summer, and backs Jerome Bettis, Ryan Mihalko and Kenny Spears.

While Purdue let 25 of its 30 yards early in the game, the other back three got to face the Purdue defense when Holtz inserted the second team offense toward the end of the third quarter.

Holtz was happy with their performances and those of the three backup quarterbacks, freshmen Kevin McDougal and B.J. Hawkins, and sophomore walk-on Matt Johnson, even though a couple of them were the worst-ranked rushing game in the country, further complicated Notre Dame's defense.

But the more experienced Purdue brought what they believed to be their best team in years into Notre Dame Stadium but left with all-too-familiar results.

"It's tough enough when you're playing a team like Notre Dame and you're doing everything right, and doing it well, getting the breaks here and there," said Purdue head coach Ara Parseghian. "They're not getting you and you're making those kinds of mistakes (turnovers), it kills you.

"We didn't have a chance to contain many of them (Notre Dame's defensive linemen)," said Akers. "Notre Dame is an excellent football player, he's quick, and he can cause us some more problems on the run plays than he did on the pass."

The defensive front of Zorich, Dahl and George Williams shut down the run entirely with the exception of a 30-yard breakaway run by tailback Tony Vinson in the third quarter.

Without that, the Boilermakers would have finished the game with minus-six yards rushing. Purdue entered the game with the worst-ranked rushing game among the 106 Division I teams (55.5 yards per game, 1.7 yards a carry) Zorich wanted things to stay that way.

"When they got that big run up the middle," he said, "I was not a happy camper."

Despite his big passing day, Hunter could relate to the metaphor.
The Notre Dame women's volleyball players can't help but ask themselves at this point, "what is salvageable from this season?"

That's not to say that they can't turn things around. The Irish are 3-7 with over 20 matches left to play, but considering the strength of their remaining schedule and the poor play that has been displayed of late, prospects certainly aren't bright.

This weekend's consecutive sweeps administered by Penn State and Miami of Ohio only add to the Irish troubles. The Nittany Lions beat the Irish 15-8, 15-7, 15-5 while the Redskins took under an hour to dispose Notre Dame 15-8, 15-7, 15-5.

"I have nothing to say," said head coach Art Lamberti after Saturday's debacle against Miami. "What can I possibly say?"

Saying the Irish didn't play well against Miami is being considered by the players, surely aren't bright. Playing deep so that they might give Penn State a run for their money, at least for a little while. The Irish jumped out to 1-0 lead in game one when a Lion hitter mishit a spike attempt. After Penn State tied it at one, freshmen Janelle Karlan and Molly Stark teamed for a block to give the Irish a 2-1 advantage.

Penn State recovered, though, and quickly moved out to 6-2 lead. An Irish receiving error and two hits long by Colleen Wagner contributed to the run. After a time out, the Irish got the side out and closed to 6-4 when Wagner pulled off a solo block. The Lions moved back out to a 9-4 lead, but the Irish closed again to 9-7.

Penn State moved the lead back out to 13-7 as the Irish continued to be plagued by hitting errors (they finished with a .292 hit percentage for the game).

Game two was over before it started as Penn State was ahead 9-0 before they knew what hit them. Two passing errors on the serve gave Penn State the lead right off the bat.

"You can't give them points like we did," said Lamberti. The passing woes continued as an errant pass that hung up over the net was slammed right back at the Irish by the nation's leading hitter JoAnne Elwell (10 kills, .364 hit percentage). Notre Dame tried to make things interesting as a four-point run, capped off by a Stark kill off a quick set, made it 8-4.

That success with the middle attack was one of the few for the Irish while Penn State was able to utilize it much more. Therien lies one of the things the Irish must learn to be able to heat the top teams.

"That (the middle attack) relies a great deal on the setter," explained Lamberti. "We have a brand new setter (Karlan). She's made great improvements. She's only been setting since her senior year in high school, about nine months. I've been really pleased with her.

The Irish again looked as if they'd get things going as they took a 4-2 lead early in game three. After it was 5-3, the Irish stalled. They continued to receive serves at the back line that looked as if they were going out.

"We played deep so that they'd hit to the middle," said Lamberti. "I did see some bright spots. Everything improved a bit."

There were no redeeming qualities to the match with Miami. The Irish had negative hitting percentages in the last two games (a pitiful .077 for the match). They also committed seven serving errors and had only 20 digs.

Before this season goes entirely down the tubes its time for the Irish players to look inside and find out what's wrong.

SPORTS BRIEFS

The Notre Dame women's soccer team defeated Louisville on Sunday 1-0 behind Marianne Gliolli's goal. The men's team faced Wisconsin on Sunday, but the game ended in a scoreless tie.

St. Mary's College Varsity Softball will have a meeting in Angela Athletic Facility today at 7 p.m.

The Notre Dame Ski Club will have an informational meeting today at 8 p.m. in Rm. 118 Nevinwood Science Building. The Christmas trip to Steamboat, CO, the racing team and other club activities will be discussed. If you have any questions or are interested but can't make the meeting, call Bob at 271-8901 or Bob at 912-2200.

"Walk Away" - The noontime walking program will be lead by Assistant Volleyball Coach Maria Perez on Tuesday, Oct. 2. Participants should meet in front of Washington Hall at 12:15 for a 30-minute walk.

KERRIE ANN SHANNON IS 21 TODAY! LET'S ALL WISH HER HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Eagles edge Irish women
By RICHARD MATHURIN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's cross country team turned in a surprisingly strong performance in the National Catholics Invitational, finishing in fourth place, to secure its second meet victory with a score of 37 seconds. Between the Irish and sixth place was 17 seconds. The Eagles had won two matches in a row, straight sets and qualified for the quarterfinals before withdrawing. DiLucia, who was seeded second in the tournament, received a first-round bye. He then defeated Texas' Hubert Karlbruck, 7-5, 6-0, and Mississippi's Ivan Trovino, 6-1, 6-4. DiLucia, who would have faced Rice University's Steve Campbell next in the quarterfinals, moved himself from the competition because of his injury. DiLucia's decision to withdraw came partly out of a fear of aggravating the injury and keeping him off the court for a longer period of time. "If I'd kept playing, I really could have hurt it," said DiLucia. "I think I made the right choice by pulling out." This week, DiLucia plans to follow a lighter than usual practice schedule in order to avoid overtaxing his injured leg. He plans to be back in action when the Irish face the top-ranked Stanford Cardinal October 6.

Jennifer Ledrick

on her 12th-place finish versus Georgetown, but managed to place 15th with a time of 19:07.9. Irish coach Tim Connelly was especially pleased with Ledrick, of whom he said, "She ran well. It's as well as I've ever seen her run." Ledrick did not run in the Georgetown meet due to injury. "I'm not surprised with the way we ran, but I was surprised that the field wasn't any stronger," said Connelly in assessing his team's performance.

ND men cruise to win in National Catholics
BY BARBARA MORAN
Sports Writer

Last Friday, the Notre Dame men's cross country team took one more step toward asserting itself as a national power by winning the National Catholic Invitational for the third consecutive year. The Irish captured six of the top ten places, including a pack of four runners who tied for first place. The top four included senior captain Mike O'Connor, who finished with a time of 24:59.7, and was accompanied by teammates Mike McWilliams, John Cahill, and Ryan Cullen. Also finishing in the top seven for the Irish were Pat Kearns (sixth overall), Nick Radkewich (seventh), and Mike Drake (12th). The first non-Irish runner to cross the line was Dermilt Fitzpatrick from Boston College. Fitzpatrick finished fifth, in 25:11.4. Boston College placed second overall with 89 points, to Notre Dame's 16. Rounding out the top five schools were LaSalle (99), Marquette (122), and Loyola (147).

Notre Dame Head Coach Joe Plane was extremely pleased with his team's winning performance. "The results were better than we had anticipated," said Plane. "The kids did a very fine job — much better than against Georgetown. Of the 15 in Notre Dame's first victory, even." "We try to shoot for a minute spread between our first and seventh runners," continued Plane, "and our spread for this meet was 37 seconds. Between one and six it was 17 seconds. That's pretty good." Plane was especially pleased with the performances of two of his runners: freshman Mike McWilliams and sophomore Nick Radkewich. "Mike McWilliams had a very fine performance for a freshman," said Plane. "You have to remember that in high school he ran the 5000, and all of a sudden in college he's running two more miles; that's a big adjustment. He did a real good job.

Injured DiLucia pulls out of tournament
By FRANK BARLETTA
Sports Writer

Notre Dame's David DiLucia pulled out of the Texas All-American tournament on Thursday after suffering a pulled hamstring. DiLucia had won two matches in a row, straight sets and qualified for the quarterfinals before withdrawing. DiLucia, who was seeded second in the tournament, received a first-round bye. He then defeated Texas' Hubert Karlbruck, 7-5, 6-0, and Mississippi's Ivan Trovino, 6-1, 6-4. DiLucia, who would have faced Rice University's Steve Campbell next in the quarterfinals, moved himself from the competition because of his injury. DiLucia's decision to withdraw came partly out of a fear of aggravating the injury and keeping him off the court for a longer period of time. "If I'd kept playing, I really could have hurt it," said DiLucia. "I think I made the right choice by pulling out." This week, DiLucia plans to follow a lighter than usual practice schedule in order to avoid overtaxing his injured leg. He plans to be back in action when the Irish face the top-ranked Stanford Cardinal October 6.

Student "Jump Start" Computer Classes
Sponsored by:

Office of University Computing

Problem:
- Paper due by 12:00 noon
- Must use word processor
- YOU DON'T KNOW HOW IT

Solution:
- OUC Student Training Program
- Learn Macintosh and DOS word processing applications

Call:
- Information Resource Center 219-8111 for information and registration

Happy Birthday (19)
Kelly Kathleen Smith

Mom, Dad, Hugh, Shawnie, Grunt, Grandma J., Uncle Chet, Uncle Chuck, Aunt Jeanne, Jammie, and Larry (Pookie).

Love Ya Much.
Monday

Tuesday

Lecture Circuit

Tuesday, October 1, 1990

The Observer

page 19

Lecture Circuit

Monday

Tuesday

ARCHIVE

FUNDAMENTAL EXISTENCE

RALPH KEMP

"You’re in luck! This place just came on the market a few days ago. The previous owners all had their heads chopped off."

Calvin and Hobbes

Bill Watterson

Look, Hobbes. I cut a piece of cardboard to make a TV screen.

Seb, I just hold it up and it’s like I’m on TV.

Now, your own show! Too bad I can’t really force my way into millions of people’s homes each on.

But on the other hand, no one in this house can turn me off.

Calvin and Hobbes

Bill Watterson

Read me. "Hamster, I’ve read this a thousand times..."

Oh, I don’t want to read that again. Let’s read something different tonight.

Read it again, please? Please?

Calvin and Hobbes

Bill Watterson

SPELUNKER

JAY HOSLER

I think we need to take a good look at our relationship. Sometimes I feel like I don’t even know you.

My name is Beth.

"You’re in luck! This place just came on the market a few days ago... The previous owners all had their heads chopped off."
Notre Dame gives fans a rest in decisive triumph
Massive ND ground attack dooms Akers, Boilermakers

By CHRIS COONEY
Assistant Sports Editor

It may not have been the most exciting victory, but Notre Dame breathed a sigh of relief on Saturday.

For the first time this season, the Irish didn't have any come-from-behind, late-game drives, tipped passes or nervous fans shaking in their seats. They simply took the ball and ran with it, defeating Purdue 37-11 in the process.

"It was very good to play four solid quarters of football for once," said Irish quarterback Rick Mirer, who was only in the game for three of them. "When we got off real well in the first quarter, I knew we wouldn't have to come from behind again. We did pretty much did what we wanted to do."

The contest with the Boilermakers differed from Notre Dame's squeaky wins against Michigan and Michigan State in State in every major way, allowing the Irish to develop a fluid running attack while giving many second team players the chance to earn some game experience in the fourth quarter.

"It was very plain to me the best team won," said Purdue head coach Fred Akers after the game. "They're the kind of football team you can't make mistakes on, you can't give an inch to. You give those guys an inch, they'll take a mile, and they took a couple miles today."

What seemed like miles to Akers was actually 502 offensive yards, 362 of them on the ground. At halftime the game was virtually decided, as Notre Dame was leading 27-3, and had 247 yards rushing.

Meanwhile, a tenacious Irish defense let Purdue quarterback Eric Hunter pass for 354 yards, focusing instead on halting the run and limiting the Boilermakers to one yard rushing in the first half and 24 yards in all.

"We just never, never got into an offensive rhythm, and had too many key mistakes on defense to have a chance to beat a team like Notre Dame," said Akers, whose team lost its fifth straight to the Irish.

Both Akers and Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz expressed surprise that the Irish ran so easily against the Boilermaker defense. A combination of steady gainers and long breakaways at crucial times assured the Irish victory by early in the second quarter.

The true turning point may have occurred when Irish flanker Raghib Ismail quickly took advantage of a Purdue fumble, scoring a 64-yard touchdown that sent the Boilermakers' upset hopes back to West Lafayette.

With Notre Dame leading 13-3, the Purdue offense drove 66 yards to the Irish 19, chiefly behind Hunter's 33-yard pass that receiver Dunyasha Yets went 24 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. The Boilermakers looked as if they might score until Scott Kowaikowski barreled into Hunter from behind and forced him to cough up the football. Noseguard Ginozirich recovered it on the 36.

On the very next play, Mirer handed the ball to Ismail on an end around and the part-time running back sprinted down the sideline for six points. Following Derek Brown's lead block and breaking a tackle at midfield, Ismail's biggest challenge came when he had to struggle the last few yards into the endzone, bowling over a defender, spill and Tony Smith and a misguided official in the process.

Irish defense against run grounds Purdue's attack
Quarterback U. entered Notre Dame Stadium Saturday afternoon to face the most ambitious offensive attack to date. Notre Dame grounded Purdue's run-and-shoot with good, old-fashioned rush defense. The Irish conceded 354 yards through the air to Boilermaker quarterback Eric Hunter but allowed only 24 net yards rushing, including just one in the first half, in routing Purdue 37-11.

"You can choose to rush or not to cover," said Irish head coach Lou Holtz. "We felt good going into the ballgame that they could not beat us throwing the football. We could not allow them to do this to the run."

"We could not let them run it after they caught it, we could not allow the quarterback to run, or let the tailbacks run."

"Corralling the same philosophy resembled that which many NBA teams employ against the Chicago Bulls. Let Michael Jordan get his 40 points per game, but shut down everybody else."

The run-and-shoot, which features four wideouts and a myriad of different options, posed potential problems for the Irish secondary which started two freshmen (field cornerback Greg Lane, Monty Williams)

University doctors first detected the condition on Sept. 4 when an extra heart sound appeared during routine pre-season physical examinations for members of the Notre Dame basketball team. Further tests by national specialists have confirmed the probable diagnosis.

"I didn't die out there on the court," Williams said. "I can't keep up with anything that I can't control."

"The reason that I wanted to have this press conference is so that it would be out in the open. It's a rare disease, but who's to say it's rare? Anybody out there could have it. I hope this prevents someone somewhere from finding out about the disease too late."