Roemer says US has no obligation to Soviet Union

By SHANNON RYAN
New York Times

Congressman Tim Roemer said yesterday that the United States has no obligation to send money to the Soviet Union in the form of foreign aid.

"We need to address the convertibility of the ruble," Roemer said. "We need to see some anti-competitive laws... updated through legislative reform. And we cannot be a spotlight on Gorbachev alone," said Roemer.

Roemer expressed primary interest in a domestic agenda. "Some people are talking massive aid in eastern Europe and the Balkans," Roemer said. "I think people in the country are ready for us to start meeting the challenges here."

"If we are going to help foster democracy in other parts of the world, we need a strong economy to do that," Roemer said. "I urged the implementation of a "martial plan" in education, roads and bridges and health care.

"Americans need to stay competitive... we have the brilliance not only to invent, but to get it to market," Roemer said. "Don't let people say we are going to do it. We will," Roemer said. "We will have a Balanced Budget Amendment." Despite the fact that Roemer is an emotional co-sponsor of the amendment, he said it "would not be prudent" that the amendment was tabled.

Roemer also addressed his recent opposition to the space station. "I can't see building a 400 billion dollar pipeline to space when our pipeline to schools is leaking children, our pipeline to roads is leaking asphalt and our pipeline to the elderly is leaking pain and suffering," he said.

He expressed dissatisfaction with the presidentially-imposed ban on domestic spending. "I don't want to decimate our defense budget," Roemer said. "I don't want to decimate the people who voted against the Gulf War."

"We still have some concerns about the state of emergency in Bangladesh," Roemer said. "But if the President does declare a state of emergency in Bangladesh, he should be able to declare a state of emergency right here for the people going through rough times."

Roemer fielded questions on varied topics such as how to handle Gorbachev's request and he was "optimistic" about the upcoming talks.

Baltics to gain independence

VILNIUS, Lithuania (AP) — Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev will gain independence in the Baltics shortly, ending 51 years of occupation, officials said Wednesday.

Senior American and British envoys re-established diplomatic links in the Baltics on Wednesday, joining a bandwagon that has brought dozens of top Western officials here since the abortive coup against Gorbachev hastened the collapse of central Soviet rule.

With about 50 governments now recognizing their independence, the Baltic republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia have been waiting anxiously for Gorbachev to follow suit.

Algimantas Cekuolis, a former Soviet lawmaker from Lithuania who is attending the Congress of People's Deputies session in Moscow as an observer, said Wednesday that Baltic representatives drafted an independence declaration at Gorbachev's request and he approved the general idea after he read it.

Cekuolis said the draft would annul the 1940 Soviet annexation of the Baltics while leaving them with Soviet troops stationed on their territory, as they were at the beginning of World War II.

While Baltic leaders have been pressing for the departure of the hated Soviet Interior Ministry troops, they have been less adamant about withdrawal of army forces. At least one, Latvia, has begun negotiations with the Kremlin on the possibility of letting some troops stay in the republic.

Gorbachev will issue independence decrees for each republic and they will be published "the day after the closing of this Congress," said Petersburg.

The congress may end Thursday, which would mean the decrees could be published on Friday. Former Gorbachev aide Roemer fielded questions on varied topics such as how to handle Gorbachev's request and he was "optimistic" about the upcoming talks.

More money spent on weapons cleanup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Energy Department anticipates spending as much as $35 billion for environmental cleanup at the government's atomic weapons plants over five years, a sharp increase that indicates a shift from weapons production to cleanup.

The spending estimates were included in the department's newly revised five-year plan for continuing the massive cleanup of the DOE's weapons facilities that stretch across 13 states from South Carolina to Washington.

The cleanup is expected to take decades.

Details of the Bush administration's latest five-year blueprint for the cleanup were obtained Wednesday by The Observer from congressional sources. The DOE planned to release the proposal Thursday.

The massive cleanup is the result of decades of environmental and safety neglect at facilities that for decades manufactured the atomic warheads and bombs that were an integral part of the Cold War.

The DOE documents indicated the department has more than 1,000 employees involved in dealing with cleanup issues — four times as many as two years ago — and expects cleanup and waste management expenditures to increase at least 10 percent a year through fiscal 1997.

The cost expenditure — an estimated $9.4 billion from fiscal 1997 through 1997 — will go to the Hanford weapons facility near Richland, Wash., where radioactive wastes have contaminated the soil, groundwater and surface water.

A major challenge at the 360,000-acre Hanford complex is how to deal with a mixture of unknown radioactive waste in storage tanks. Some scientists have said special care must be taken to prevent some of the tanks from exploding.

Other sites that will be the focus of major cleanup spending are:

— The Savannah River complex near Aiken, S.C., where spending will range from $3.2 billion to $5.2 billion over the five-year period.

— The Oak Ridge complex in Tennessee, where expenditures will be at least $2.9 billion.

— The Fermi nuclear complex in southwest Ohio, where cleanup efforts are expected to cost between $2.4 billion to $2.9 billion. Fermi, which once produced plutonium, is now used exclusively on cleanup for more than a year.

— The Rocky Flats weapons plant near Denver, where spending is expected to range from $886 million to $1.13 billion. The facility has been closed because of safety and environmental concerns, but is expected to reopen in 1997.

According to congressional sources and documents, the government's annual spending between $28 billion and $38 billion for fiscal years 1993 through 1997 on both environmental cleanup and waste management at the weapons facilities.

Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, said the funding levels in the five-year blueprint provide the first indication of a "drift" from weapons production to cleanup activities.

Glenn, chairman of the Senate Government Affairs Committee, has closely followed the cleanup effort, especially at the Fernald facility.

The latest Energy Department blueprint is "a greatly improved five-year spending plan," Glenn said in a statement, but added that the department "still has... yet to come through with real long-term cleanup strategies" such as how to protect the public and workers at DOE facilities.

In many cases, the cleanup involves dealing with the contents of tons of contaminated earth, contaminated groundwater and surface water and disposal of aging storage tanks that hold unknown, potentially deadly mixtures of radioactive and toxic chemicals.

Pro-Thomas ad is decried by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush on Wednesday decried a slicking TV ad that attacks liberal senators expected to oppose Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas, calling it "offensive" and "totally counterproductive."

Administration officials contacted Democratic Sens. Edward Kennedy, Joseph Biden and Alan Cranston, whose stances were questioned in the 60-second commercial, as the White House sought to blunt comparisons with Bush's 1988 Willie Horton campaign ad controversy.

Officials telephoned the senators "and expressed our concern over the ad," which was sponsored by two groups, Conservative Victory Committee and Citizens United, said White House spokeswoman Judy Smith.

The three senators declined comment through aides. Smith said the White House had no advance word from the ad sponsors but had heard from other sources that a negative ad was in the works. The administration was contacted by a separate group sponsoring a milder pro-Thomas ad that does not attack any senators and neither encouraged nor discouraged that effort, she said.

The White House moved quickly to rebut any suggestion it might have tacitly approved the Horton ad. "It may have tacitly approved the Horton and furloughs but did not use Horton's photo," said a White House official.

Democratic National Committee Chairman Ron Brown on Wednesday suggested Bush was letting others conduct a "phony campaign." He said in a CNN interview that Bush should direct "his allies" to "get this garbage off the air."

The president, addressing the question of whether the new Thomas ad attacking senators can help win confirmation, said, "It doesn't help in my view."

White House officials privately said it could only hurt Thomas to attack key members of the Senate Judiciary Committee who will hold confirmation hearings on Thomas beginning next week.

The ad's sponsors issued a statement Wednesday saying they would conduct a "proxy" that "hold off on any further activity" if "those left wing individuals and organizations and their patrons in the United States Senate" who opposed the 1987 Robert Bork nomination to the high court would sign an agreement to refrain from advertising against Thomas.

Smoke draws the line of death in fire

HAMLET, N.C. (AP) — When the screaming started, Carolyn Rainwater was "striping tenders," pulling ribbons of white meat off chickens for beauty for processing. When the screaming grew louder, she looked up and saw the smoke.

"It was the blackest smoke I had ever seen in my life," said the 50-year-old grandmother, one of the few workers to escape serious injury when deadly smoke from a flash fire raced through the Imperial Foods Co. plant Tuesday morning.

Twenty-five people were killed, 49 were injured.

The boundary of life and death was set by the billowing wall of toxic smoke. Those who worked in the front of the building were able to escape through a main entrance. Those in the back were trapped between the poisonous flames and doors locked, employees say, to prevent pilferage.

The smoke created panic, then chaos. It chased some workers into room-size coolers where they froze. It smothered others as they groped, gasping in the dark for escape. Friends and co-workers died together in neat clumps on the factory floor.

"In a fire of this nature people congregate together out of fear," said Hamlet Fire Chief David Fuller. "That's where they died."

There were 90 workers in Tuesday's 7 a.m. shift at Imperial Foods, a 30,000-square-foot collection of adjoining structures surrounded by a red brick facade. Once an ice cream factory, Imperial Foods now produces nuggets and other chicken products for Shoney's, Wendy's and other fast food restaurants.

Workers and fire officials say the plant was a maze of large rooms separated by moveable walls. Workers and their product moved through the plant, from front to the rear, as the chicken was cut, cleaned, cooked and packaged, then finally frozen.

Doors in the rear of the plant were locked, workers said. Employees say the management had complained someone was stealing chicken. Some workers were troubled by locked doors, but with jobs, even those paying $5.50 an hour, a commodity in the high cost of living.

"People didn't raise them because they were afraid they might lose their jobs," said Elaine Griffin, a worker who escaped out the front door.

Smoke spread quickly, blocking the way to the front exit. Fuller said one survivor told him he was engulfed by the smoke as he ran full speed to the rear of the plant.

Rainwater found herself a member of a panicked mob running to a back door as the lights went out.

Rainwater ran to a loading dock blocked by a tractor-trailer, she and two others went into the trailer and started pounding on the walls. Before someone finally moved the truck, others in the crowd panicked.

"They turned toward the front, toward the smoke," she said.

Fuller said several employees sought sanctuary behind the heavy metal doors of two huge flash freezers on other side of the plant. Dressed for the warm Carolina summer day, they quickly froze in temperatures as low as minus 28 degrees.

Firefighters, breathing air through bright yellow air packs on their backs, fought their way inside. The fire was quickly extinguished, but the smoke and the darkness slowed rescuers.

"It was like closing your eyes and putting your hands over your face," said Fire Capt. Calvin White. "Except for an occasional patch of light, you couldn't see."

reporters: "I've seen (the draft). I've seen many of them." He refused further comment.
A draft decree circulating in the Lithuanian parliament and obtained by The Associated Press before the Soviet Union's recognition would "consider as renewed the state of independence of those countries," which were forcibly absorbed by the Soviet Union. It also instructs the Soviet Foreign Ministry to re-establish ties with the three countries. The trip to Moscow had been expected to consider Baltic independence on Monday, a move seen here as the final affirmation of their break from the Soviet Union.
The United States, Britain, France and other Western powers never officially recognized the Soviet Union's forcible absorption of the Baltics, but had withheld formal recognition out of consideration of Mr. Gorbachev, who opposed it.

Fance is convicted of helping murderer escape
FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP) — A jury Wednesday convicted a man of helping his fiancee, a Playboy club waitress and policewoman, escape from prison where she was serving a life term for murder.

Guliagto's romance story led to Canada with Lawrence Bembenek became material for tabloid television.

Bembenek, 33, a former model fired from the Playboy club, was arrested July 15, 1990, when a tourist driving his car was stopped by a police officer in Thunder Bay, Ontario, and asked the driver with him, "What are you doing here?"

"I believe signing a decree is the only way possible now," Gorbonovs said. "Those constitutional ways offered previously would not work today and to issue a decree ... would be the only possible solution for Mr. Gorbachev, saving his honor."

President Bush recognized Baltic independence on Monday, two days after senior officials in Washington agreed that the Baltics would be headed by an ambassador. "We will have some senior people sent over in the near future" to work out details and look for an embassy building, the U.S. envoy said.

Hogg said Britain intends to send an ambassador by the end of the year.

Dissident to be freed

HONG KONG (AP) — China has told British Prime Minister John Major of the imminent release of a Hong Kong businessman jailed for trying to help pro-democracy activists escape the hard-line government, British officials said Wednesday.

The planned freeing of trader Lo Haixing, 42, appears to be repayment for Major, who this week became the first Western leader to visit Beijing since soldiers crushed pro-democracy demonstrations in June 1989.

Upon arrival in this British colony, Major called the Chinese move "a helpful gesture." He left China for Hong Kong on Wednesday after a controversial three-day visit during which he and Chinese Premier Li Peng mixed sharp exchanges over human rights with agreements about the territory's future.

Li informed him that Lo, sentenced to five years in jail in March, would soon be released.

Lo's case was followed closely in Hong Kong because of the worrisome precedents it indicated as to how China viewed political activity by Hong Kong citizens.

Salomon Chairman promises cooperation with investigators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Salomon Inc.'s interim chairman, Warren Buffett, publicly apologized Wednesday on behalf of the investment firm for the bond-trading scandal gripping Wall Street. He promised "wholehearted cooperation" with investigators.

In his first testimony since the scandal erupted, Buffett said Salomon is conducting a top-to-bottom investigation of misconduct and is cooperating fully with government probes.

"I will be ruthless," said Buffet, the 60-year-old billionaire investor who took over the helm of the nation's oldest, and one of the largest, Treasury dealers after revelations last month of federal rule violations.

The scandal focuses on illegal bids placed in Treasury bill, note and bond auctions, which finance the nation's public debt, and has forced out chairman John Gutfreund and three other top executives.

Buffett's comments came in testimony before the telecommunications and finance subcommittee of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, which oversees the securities markets.

While the panel praised Buffet for his swift response to the scandal — which included firing or suspending several top Salomon officials and causing the firm's outside law firm — House members grilled regulators about why it took so long to uncover the scandal.

Officials at the Federal Reserve Board, Treasury Department and Securities and Exchange Commission — which oversee segments of the Treasury auctions — have conceded they did not know the extent of the wrongdoing at Salomon until the firm admitted the violations early last month.

"The lack of coordination here is very telling," Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass. and the chairman of the subcommittee, said of the delay between the moment when regulators were first told of discrepancies and the time when any action was taken against Salomon.

But senior regulatory officials said that they had kept each other informed and that the nature of the illegal bidding by Salomon — which included placing unauthorized orders in customers' names — made it difficult to detect.

Salomon has admitted to breaking the law in Treasury securities auctions in December, February, April and May. In addition to the fraudulent bidding, the violations include failing to inform regulators promptly and bypassing a federal rule preventing firms from acquiring more than 35 percent of any government security at auction.

"From a long-term standpoint ... the only real thing anybody should look at is operating profit," Buffett said.

Our Lady crusades to free all from communism

Dear Editor:

Concerning Russia's recent freedom from communist rule the report of Msgr. Angelo Kim, President of the Korean Episcopal Conference, in the November 15th issue of the Korean Catholic weekly is of no significance. During last year's trip to Rome, the Korean bishops were invited to lunch with the Pope, in particular Mgr. Kim said to the Pope, "Thanks to you Poland has now signed the Peace Accord." In response to his urgent call, an underground Marian Apostolate held a public conference in St. Petersburg (Leningrad) - the first of its kind in the history of Russia, consecrating all of Russia and the Soviet Union to the Immaculate Heart of Mary and publicly renouncing all ties with Satans. Our Lady has stated that Marxist Communism is the Red Dragon with which she is doing battle in the 12th chapter of the Apocalypse, a battle culminating in the victory of all time! Our Lady's call was given just several days after those developments in Russia, affirming the Holy Father's message from Medjugorie, "Our Lady's coming to earth as the Queen of Peace". This will be the greatest victory of all time!

Russia's freedom from communism coming after Our Lady's July 25th appeal from Medjugorje, "I desire you to grasp the seriousness of the situation, and that much of what will happen depends on your prayers... Dear Children, I will be with you, I, under the incredible importance of the opportunity we are still being given to decide to be with her!"

Queen of Peace Mission will again sponsor the National Conference on Medjugorje at the University of Notre Dame on Mother's Day weekend, May 8-10, 1992, and is also sponsoring a monthly mass in South Bend celebrating Our Lady's coming to earth as the Queen of Peace. Our September 25th celebration will begin at 6:30 at Holy Family Church.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"We're all in this together - by ourselves."

Lily Tomlin
Submit to:
QUOTES, P.O. Box Q, NY, IN 46556
We are a community of high achievers. Most of us have come to Notre Dame because we have learned what it takes to be a "winner." Approximately two thousand of these achievement-oriented students spend time while they are at Notre Dame trying to make the world a better place either by serving disadvantaged people in the surrounding community or working for positive social change. Our commitment to excellence does not stop in the classroom. We carry it with us into the service and social action projects in which we participate. This leads us to begin to try to set standards for service and social action work. We soon find that competition has crept even into the most altruistic of our pursuits.

One criterion that we have used to judge who is the "best" at service is to examine motivation. If you go to Logan Center on Saturdays because it will be a plus on your medical school application forms you are not as "good" a volunteer as the person who does it because of an unselfish love of the world. Of, if you decide to tutor in a neighborhood center because you know that a person that you would like to meet is tutoring there, you get a B or a C in service. While your fellow tutors who get because they know that these children have not had the advantages that they have and they want to give them a better chance get an A. (It's clear that there is a word here that has not been presented as completely altruistic, drawn only by the compassion that fills your heart, you get the A.)

The setting of standards can result in some complex analysis and sophisticated representation of motivation that leads to faulty conclusions and a possibly destructive approach to others. Since we are a competitive culture, we have learned to judge ourselves by measuring our work against the work of others. In the area of service this can result in the careful examination of other people's motivation to determine whether their stated motivation is their "true" motivation. This scrutiny can create distance and suspicion in our relationships.

If we agree that motivation is a standard by which to judge excellence and success and we know how every standard is examined and measured we are all very accomplished at judging and meeting motivation. When we go to the classroom we carry it with us into the service and social action work. We soon find that there is no way to meet the standards for social action work. We find that we, in fact, are better at service. When we face our imperfections and realize that mixed motivation seems to be a problem. Just as the academic grading system and social action can make a study of hundreds of essays and papers, we realize that mixed motivation to ourselves.

In Search of Excellence in Service

We will be able to acknowledge the variety of reasons we will, in fact, be better at service. When we face our imperfections and realize that mixed motivation is part of the human condition, we will be able to acknowledge the variety of reasons that have led us through the C.S.C. doors. That acknowledgement will allow those with whom we work and whom we serve to know us better. Self-awareness and openness to others are two very important ingredients in being compassionate, mature citizens. It would say then that a willingness to see and admit our own weaknesses may be the way that we can be as we strive to make a difference in the world.

URBAN PLUNGE

The Plunge is a 48-hour immersion into the kind of life most Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students have never seen. 275 students made an Urban Plunge during early January, 1991.

The purpose of the Plunge is to experience injustice, apathy and poverty; to increase awareness of people who are working to improve these situations; and to witness and reflect on ways to address Gospel concerns regarding the oppressed.

Working Side by Side: APPALACHIA SEMINAR

During each semester break over 100 students travel to the Appalachian region of Kentucky and West Virginia. Students spend the week (for which they earn one academic credit) working side by side with the people of the mountains. Through physical labor and person-to-person contacts, students celebrate the cultural richness of the area and begin to understand and analyze the social forces that influence the lives of the mountain people. For further information, call the Center at 239-5293.

An Insider’s Look: WASHINGTON SEMINAR

Approximately 24 students travel each semester break to the nation’s capital to explore crucial issues of the day from a variety of perspectives. In Washington, they meet with decision-makers, members of Congress, ambassadors and church leaders. On-campus preparation, on-site experience and follow-up reflection combine to create a unique one-credit learning opportunity. To register for the seminar, contact the CSC at 239-5293.

New Seminars: CULTURAL DIVERSITY / WOMEN, CHURCH AND SOCIETY

During the past year the Center has developed two new week-long seminars to explore critical issues of our time. Each seminar is based in Chicago and involves one-credit of experiential learning during semester breaks.

The Cultural Diversity seminar explores the rich cultural heritage of Chicago’s ethnic neighborhoods and immigrant tradition. The corresponding problems of urban life and racism are examined as well.

The Women, Church and Society seminar is designed to acquaint students with the challenges of women in ministry. This seminar studies gender issues and commitment awareness of people who are working to improve these situations; and to witness and explore critical issues of our time. Each seminar is based in Chicago and involves one-credit of experiential learning during semester breaks.

AND MORE . . .

Latin America Programs (Staff): Students study in Mexico for a semester in the Program in Global Community of Cuernavaca. Also, in May/June, after commencement, the Center sponsors a Mexico Seminar.

Center Facilities Include:

• a coffee house,
• a large multi-purpose room,
• seminar rooms,
• a resource room,
• a library,
• a reflection room.

Contact the Center receptionist to reserve rooms for lectures, films, panels, and other gatherings.

SUMMER SERVICE PROJECTS

The Summer Service Projects are eight week sessions of community service set up through Alumni Clubs all over the country. 120 Notre Dame students took part this summer. A tuition scholarship is awarded to each participating student. The scholarship are provided by Notre Dame Alumni Clubs and the James F. Andrews Endowment. Every project is different. Students work in shelters for the homeless, soup kitchens, homes for abused children, spouse abuse shelters, Headstart programs, camps for inner city children, etc., etc. An Information Meeting for the 1991 SSP will be held at the Center on December 4 at 7:30 p.m.

POST-GRADUATE SERVICE OPPORTUNITIES

Workshops, seminars and other meetings enable seniors to consider the integration of service into their chosen careers and the advantages of a year or two of volunteer service, e.g., Peace Corps, Holy Cross Associates. Contact Mary Ann Roemer (239-5293).

ACADEMIC COURSES

Theology Courses (Don McNeill, C.S.C. and Staff): Reading and reflection on issues raised by service experiences. Courses include: "Church and Social Action," "Theology and Community Service," "Reflections on Service," "Theology and Social Ministry.

SOCIAL CONCERNS LUNCHEONS

The Center invites you to participate in our Social Concerns Luncheons. The Center staff assists students and social service groups to sponsor luncheons which focus on issues of social concern both in our local and our global community. The sponsoring group prepares and serves a meal which generates proceeds that are used by the group to support their service programs. See The Observer for announcement of dates and sponsors.

CENTER FOCUSES ON SOCIAL CONCERNS REFLECTED IN ALUMNI CAREERS

The University celebrates its Sesquicentennial anniversary from the fall of 1991 to the fall of 1992. One of the ways the Center will participate is to work with the four undergraduate colleges and the Law School to invite alumns to speak in classes offered by the departments from which they graduated, and to meet more informally with students and faculty. The focus of the presentations and conversations is reflections about how their Notre Dame undergraduate or Law School experience (in their major, in their college and in the University as a whole) contributed to their being out the gospel call to love God and neighbor in their work-life, in particular, as well as in their life as a whole.

Please send Our Coordinator of Sesquicentennial Projects, Margaret Kenney, the names of alumns who you think would be willing to share their reflections. Some limited expense reimbursement will be available, if needed. We are searching for additional sources for reimbursement funds.

Thank you in advance for your help!

The Faculty and Service Activities

A variety of faculty-related activities is available through the Center. The FRIDAY FORUM, a faculty-led talk/discussion series, meets three times each semester to examine a particular theme.

The Fall Center focuses on one of the Sesquicentennial themes, "Notre Dame and Catherine Marion of the United States." Professor Timothy O'Meara will begin the series on Friday, September 20, at 12:15 p.m. in the Memran Library of the Center. There will be three other faculty discussions on October 11, November 1, and December 6.

Faculty can offer their services for Center programs. Some serve as hosts and discussion leaders for January follow-up sessions for the Urban Plunge. In opening their homes for an evening to "Flaggers," faculty offer the ore the summer, Professor Patricia O'Hara, vice president for Student Affairs, restructured the entire hierarchy of the Office of Student Affairs, including three changes at the senior staff level.

New administrators join the ranks of the Office of Student Affairs

By ELIZABETH VIDA

Perhaps the biggest change involves the creation of a fourth assistant vice president position, which will be filled by Kevin Warren.

He will work with Minority Student Affairs, Alcohol and Drug education and off-campus students, all departments in the Office that had previously been under Sr. Jean Laza's responsibility as sole assistant vice president of Student Affairs.

Born and raised in Tempe, Arizona and a graduate of Grand Canyon University in Arizona, where he was an academic and athletic All-American in basketball, Warren went to work on his M.B.A. in the summer of 1986 at Arizona State University.

By the fall of 1987, he had finished his M.B.A. and entered Notre Dame law school.

While attending Notre Dame, trial advocacy, or mock trial classes, are where Warren truly excelled. He worked on his M.B.A. in the fall of 1990 at Expresso's bookstore basketball. We were in Chicago.

Advocacy, or mock trial classes, are one that provides the minority students with an environment very similar to the real world environment. It also helps students to recognize the positive aspects around them and how they can go about changing the negative aspects in the correct manner, meaning that those changes will be made.

Another new face in Student Affairs is William Kirk. He will act as the new assistant vice president of residence, replacing John Goldrick, who is now serving in the Peace Corps in Ghana.

Kirk, a Virginia Beach native, received his BBA in Accounting from Notre Dame in 1984. He lived in Holy Cross and Morrissey Halls.

By the fall of 1990, Kirk took a leave of office and worked on Bob Dole's presidential campaign.

"This is a phenomenal institution," Warren stated. "I played a better rectory at Holy Cross, not only because I lived there my first-year undergraduate, but also because it was the last year for the residence life"

During the following school year, Kirk served as assistant rector for Sorin Hall.

"I was offered this job just recently, a unique position that doesn't open up very often, and I couldn't turn it down. Barnes and Thornburg were very understanding of my decision to decline my spot at their firm."

"My responsibilities are varied, but include the Office of Residence Life, headed by Betsy Pawlizki, Security, under Rex Bakow and Student Residents, chaired by Evelyn Reinbold. As to his goals as assistant vice president of Residence Life, Kirk states, "I'm always looking for improvement."

While there, he worked with the law firm of Mike Slive and Mike Glazier, "the definitive law firm representing the universities for the NCAA committees.

Warren worked in the infractions area of the firm, representing universities that had hired his services for representation in front of the NCAA Infractions Committee.

He represented the University of Minnesota (the incident involving Lou Holtz), the University of Florida, the University of Missouri, and Syracuse University all within the space of a year and a half.

Starting July 27, Warren took over a position that will oversee "three of the most volatile subjects on campus." Helping him will be Iris Ouellet, who will head Minority Student Affairs, and her assistant, Mari Fuentes, who graduated from Notre Dame in 1989 and "has a great feel for the school," said Warren.

Both will work out of a newly renovated space and club room on the second floor of LaFortune. Also, newcomer Mark Pogue from the Alcohol/Drug Information Center at Indiana University will serve as Coordinator of the Office of Alcohol and Drug Education.

With the three year Lily grant recently received by the University, Warren would like to project goals for his departments over a three-year period.

"I would like to heighten awareness of alcohol and drug abuse and make this office a visible presence on campus with excellent educational programs."

Regarding off-campus students, Warren wants to "develop a better relationship between the administration and off-campus students. It seems like off campus students just go to class and then head off back home. I would like to see them playing a bigger part in University life.

"In the next three years, my goal would be an increased sensitivity of the administration towards minorities and vice versa. A more harmonious relationship could be sustained, leading to more action on the University's part," Warren stated.

Another new face in Student Affairs is William Kirk. He will act as the new assistant vice president of residence, replacing John Goldrick, who is now serving in the Peace Corps in Ghana.

Kirk, a Virginia Beach native, received his BBA in Accounting from Notre Dame in 1984. He lived in Holy Cross and Morrissey Halls.

After school, he worked at Price Waterhouse in Manhattan as a staff accountant, but later switched to their consulting division, called Management Consulting Services.

In 1987 Kirk took a leave of office and worked on Bob Dole's presidential campaign.

Tyson will fight despite legal problems in Indy

NEW YORK (AP) — Evander Holyfield might stop Mike Tyson from regaining the world heavyweight championship, but a grand jury isn't going to stop Tyson from trying.

While a grand jury in Indianapolis continued deliberating whether Tyson should be charged with rape, the former champion and Holyfield met each other at a news conference Wednesday to formally announce their fight Nov. 8 at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas.

"Mike Tyson's legal situation has nothing to do with this fight," said Tyson's attorney Dan Duva. In reiterating earlier statements, Duva said, "We don't have the right to prejudice anybody."

A grand jury decision was expected by Monday. An 18-year-old woman who competed in the Miss Black America pageant in Indianapolis told police Tyson raped her July 19 in a hotel room in that city.

"Should Tyson be indicted, Duva said, 'There won't be a trial before Nov. 8. There's no question about that.'"

"Regardless of what happens, my job is to get into the ring and win it regardless of distractions," Tyson said.

"Tyson comes off the street," said Duva's father, Lou, who helps train Holyfield. "He's had crises before and handled them. Why wouldn't he be able to handle them now?"

"Now, if the shoe was on the other foot and Evander was faced with the same situation, things might be different."

"At the request of Mike Tyson's attorneys, please do not ask any questions about the legal proceedings involved," Dan Duva said.

Of course, such questions were asked, but they were fielded by Duva and Don King, who is involved with the fight as Tyson's promoter.

Duva and King were caught by surprise, however, when one apparent questioner asked, "Mike, I'm here to serve you a summons." With that, he threw a document toward the dais and left as Duva shouted, "Get out of here."

Duva then quipped, "Any other summonses?"

Robert Hirsh, Tyson's attorney, said the summons was served in connection with a $100 million federal lawsuit filed against Tyson by Rosie Jones of Bridgport, Conn., last month in New York. Jones, 26, Miss Black America of 1990, has accused Tyson of grabbing her waist and buttocks while being photographed with the boxer in Indianapolis.

Dan Duva said he expects some demonstration against the fight.

"There's always somebody who doesn't like what we're doing," he said. "Some people didn't like George Foreman fighting Evander Holyfield, and the AMA has been campaigning against boxing for years."

There is no denying the interest in the match, which, Duva said, will gross $100 million. The match will be shown on pay-per-view for the average price of $140 give or take a couple of dollars," said Duva.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — D.J. Dozier plans to change hats again, trading his Class AAAormals uniform for a Minnesota Vikings helmet.

Dozier, who has spent the summer with the New York Mets’ affiliate in Tidewater, Va., has left the team to report to the Mets.

"His agent notified me last night that it was his intent to phone the Mets to keep us to keep him out of the lineup to prevent injury," Mets director of baseball operations Pat Hsuinkier said Wednesday.

Dozier检验了 lineup的 before Tuesday night’s series. Tidewater general manager Pat Libriel said Dozier did not play Wednesday night, the last game of the international season.

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Jim Maloney has lost one of his three no-hitters, he has another idea for baseball.

"Maybe they can take the loss away, too, and give me a win," Maloney said.

Maloney’s was one of 50 no-hitters purged from baseball’s all-time record book by the committee on statistical accuracy. The committee voted 8-0 to remove games from the record book.

On Aug. 16, 1965, Maloney pitched 10 hitless innings against the Mets. The Mets beat the Reds on Johnny Lewis’ leadoff home run in the 11th. "When you get 10 innings of no-hitting and get beat in the 11th, you don’t know if you’re going to get back there again," Maloney said.

He did so only two months later, winning a 10-inning no-hitter against the Cardinals. The home run off the left-field foul pole at Wrigley Field. Maloney pitched the one-inning no-hitter for the Reds against San Francisco. The Associated Press, 1969.

All along, I’ve known I have a two legitimate no-hitters and I won," Maloney said. "It’s a tough league.

Harvey Haddix agreed with the decision, even though it means he didn’t pitch a perfect game for the Pirates. The Associated Press.

"His pressure," Haddix said of the decision. "When you think about it, that would be correct."

However, Haddix still felt a little hit hurt. "It’s disappointing to find out it’s not a no-hitter, but it’s still a great memory." The Associated Press.

"It seems like they’re sitting around there trying to invent a way to do rather than let baseball remain the way it is," he said.

BIG 10 big winner with basketball monies

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin, which cut five sports earlier this year because of a budget deficit, will share of the latest NCAA basketball tournament TV revenue even though it hasn’t appeared in the tournament since 1947.

But while Wisconsin could use the $499,811 to shave its $1.8 million athletic budget deficit, it will split it equally with its competitors in the Big Ten Conference. Texas received its share of the $100 million in cash the conference’s planning program, athletic director Pat Richter said.

"The TV money goes into the Big Ten. We divide it up equally. We won’t even see the check," Richter said.

Wisconsin wasn’t the only Big Ten winner under the NCAA’s formula to reward the 294 Division I schools based on the number of sports and scholarship money awarded.

Ohio State claimed $398,266 for the second largest award as the Big Ten minus league claimed more than $300,000. That means all conference members will receive checks for $331,171 under the sharing formula.

This conference has a long tradition of dividing up our money equally" to ensure more even competition, Big Ten associate commissioner Kevin Weilberg said.

Four Atlantic Coast Conference teams — North Carolina, North Carolina State, Virginia and Wake Forest — also exceeded the $300,000 figure.

But because the broad-based scholarship money accounted for $311,111, the conference's total, which is distributed to each school in June, was $25,000 academic scholarships.

Under the formula, Wisconsin was paid $213,145 and runnerup Kansas was paid $184,439.

"The membership would like to get away from the intense competitive pressure to make money," said Jim Marchiony, the NCAA’s communications director. "The Big Ten_share its revenue equally further dissipates that pressure.

NCAA members voted to split each year’s take from the seven-year, $1 billion basketball tournament TV contract into three pools. The basketball pool, to be divided among the 21 conferences based on the number of games their teams play in the tournament, is paid in April, followed by a flat $25,000 academic scholarship payment to each school in June, paid in June. The Associated Press.

But Wisconsin in the future could see its big chunk of the revenue because earlier this year it eliminated baseball, making it one of the nation’s top academic and men’s and women’s track to save money.

Red Sox bedevil Angels at Fenway; Braves fall, 8-4

BOSTON (AP) - Joe Hesketh shut out the Angels for 5 2-3 innings, Jeff Reardon earned his 34th save and Wade Boggs homered for the Red Sox.

Hesketh (10-3) is 8-3 since being converted from a reliever into a starter. He gave up six hits and struck out six before California loaded the bases with two outs in the sixth on a two-out single by Wally Joyner and two walks. Greg Harris relieved and retired Lance Parrish on a routine fly to end the inning, preserving a 1-0 lead.

Reardon pitched the ninth and broke a tie with Bob Stanley, who had 33 saves in 1983, for the majors' career lead. He gave up six California two-out doubles by Wally Joyner Parrish on a routine fly to end the ninth with one out in the fifth.

Stottlemyre allowed four hits in three-game lead over idle Toronto's eighth victory in 11 games.

Jim Maloney of Boston hit his 30th home run and Todd Stottlemyre drove in the tying run with a bases-loaded single as the Rangers' winning streak snapped, 7-0, as the Brewers beat San Diego 4, 3.

Yankees, 3 Rangers, 2

Maris loses his asterisk after 30 years with Ruth
NEW YORK (AP) - Roger Maris finally got baseball's single-season home run record to himself today when baseball's statistical committee voted unanimously to drop the asterisk from the record book.

In addition, Harvey Haddix and 11 other pitchers led no-hitters to the committee voted to define no-hitters as games of nine innings or more.

That ended with no hit. Haddix pitched 12 perfect innings for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee on May 26, 1959, but lost in the 13th inning on Joe Adcock's RBI double.

Among the other pitchers having no-hitters taken away were Mark Gardner of Montreal, who pitched nine hitless innings against Los Angeles this year, on July 26. No-hitters also were lifted from Jim Maloney of Cincinnati and Bobo Newsom of the St. Louis Browns.

Maris hit 61 home runs in 1961, breaking Ruth's record in the Yankees' final game of the season. Because Ruth hit the first seven after schedules were expanded from 154 games in 1961 to 162, commissioner Ford Frick, on July 17 that year, said that in order to break the record, Maris would have to surpass Ruth's 60 home runs in 154 games.

Brewers 2, Athletics 0
MILWAUKEE - Bill Wegman pitched Oakland on four hits for eight innings and struck out a career-high 10 as the Brewers beat the A's.

Wegman (11-6) won his career-high fifth straight game, a streak that includes a 7-0 victory over the A's on Aug. 24 in Oakland. He walked two and struck out Jose Canseco three times. Doug Henry pitched the ninth for his sixth.

Indianas 8, Twins 4
MINNEAPOLIS - Albert Belle drove in a career-high five runs with a homer and double and the Twins lost a game off their AL West lead by letting the majors' pennant-team, the Indians, rally to win.

Minnesota, which had a three-game winning streak snapped, still leads the division by eight games. The Indians broke a three-game losing streak.

National League
Expos 8, Braves 4
MONTREAL - Atlanta lost for the fourth time in five games as Marquis Grissom snapped a seventh-inning tie with a two-run single to lift Montreal over the Braves.

The Expos, who had rallied with three runs in the sixth inning, scored twice in the bottom of the seventh after the Braves tied it in the top of the inning.

Toronto entered the game in a first-place tie with Los Angeles in the AL West. Spike Owen and Ivan Calderon led off the Expos seventh with consecutive singles off Jim Clancy (1-4). After Tim Wallach walked to load the bases, Mike Stanton relieved and got Larry Walker to fly out before Grissom's single.

Pirates 8, Giants 3
SFGOON FRANCISO - John Smiley won his 17th game and Barry Bonds homered as Pittsburgh beat San Francisco for a three-game sweep.

Smiley (17-8) held the Giants to two runs and seven hits in 6 2-3 innings, and won his fourth consecutive decision as the Pirates won for the eighth time in nine games. Roger Mason finished for his second save.

Reds 5, Phillies 1
PHILADELPHIA - Randy Myers pitched four-hit ball and struck out a career-high eight in eight innings to lead Cincinnati over Philadelphia.

Myers (6-12), who was a reliever until this season, was making only his eighth career start. He was in trouble once before Darren Daulton's home run in the eighth inning spoiled the shutout. Rob Dibble pitched a perfect ninth.

Paul O'Neill singled in two runs in the first inning off Tommy Greene (9-7).

Astros 8, Mets 3
NEW YORK - Jeff Bagwell and Craig Biggio homered as Houston beat New York despite two home runs by NL leader Howard Johnson.

Irish special teams hope to shine against Hoosiers

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

When the clock starts ticking on Saturday, Notre Dame's special teams squad will be ready. Armed with seasoned veterans and untested underclassmen, special teams hopes to continue to cause trouble for opponents as it has in the past. "Special teams have always had one returner and ten guys who can block," said special teams coach Jay Hayes. "As long as everyone does their job then we'll be okay." Receiver Clint Johnson is more optimistic. "We are looking pretty good for the year," said Johnson. "Special teams has good athletes because we treat it as part of the offense and defense." Leading the Irish will be all-star punt returner Craig Henrich who returns for his third year on special teams. The Notre Dame junior is rated as the sixth best kicker nationally in the preseason by The Sporting News. Last year, he averaged 44.9 yards per punt and made 16 of 20 field goal attempts for the Irish.

Receiving the opening kickoff will be Johnson according to Hayes. Johnson, a sophomore from Altamonte Springs, Fla, made several appearances with special teams against Purdue last year. In the game, he had a game-high returner punt on the first possession of the game.

He has mixed emotions about the season-opener against Indiana. "I feel pretty confident, but I still have some jitters." Sophomore Jeff Burris of Rock Hill, S.C. will be the deep man on punts. He made 119 special team appearances during the 1990 regular season and logged playing time in every game except Stanford. Burris is excited for the new season. "I am very excited because special teams are a great part of any game and I'm excited to be a part of it," said Burris. He returned three kickoffs for 25 yards when opponents opted to kick to him over Rocket Hughail Issa. Now, the punter will be kicking to him and Burris is ready.

"Rocket taught me a lot and I think I understand," said Burris. Other players expected to play roles on special teams include freshman Ray Griggs, sophomore Jerome Bettis, sophomore John Covington, senior Jim Sexton, and freshman Mike Miller.

As for Indiana's special teams, the Hoosiers have junior Scott Bonnell, an All-America candidate who missed only one field goal attempt inside 40 yards last season kicking off. In addition, he made 35 of 36 point after attempts.

Redshirt freshman Jim DiGullo will assume the punting chores with his strong leg and hang time.

NEW YORK (AP) — With Jimmy Connors occupying center stage at the U.S. Open, Stefan Edberg has taken a low-profile route into the semifinals. That's just fine with him. Edberg, seeded No. 2, has struggled in past Opens. This is the only Grand Slam event in which he has failed to reach the finals — and last year, when he came in as the top seed, he never made it out of the first round. Things like that stick in his craw. "I am doing everything I can to win," he said Wednesday after advancing to the semifinals with a 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Javier Sanchez. "I am trying to make the best effort. Not that I haven't put in any effort before. I have always come here to try, at least the last five or six years, where I actually thought I had a chance to win. But this year, you know it becomes more and more important to you to try to win it once." He has done everything right so far, perhaps with less zest and excitement than Connors, but right, nevertheless. He is staying in the suburbs, away from the city where distractions are everywhere. He is playing methodical, effective tennis. And most importantly, he is winning. "I tried to aim to play better at the Open this year," Edberg said. "I have gone through five matches here and I have sort of lifted my game to where I want it right now." Next for Edberg is the winner of the match between No. 5 Ivan Lendl and No. 3 Michael Stich, which was suspended by rain after they split the first two sets Wednesday night with Stich leading 4-3 in the third. They are scheduled to finish today following the quarterfinal between No. 4 Jimmy Courier and defending champion Pete Sampras, the No. 6 seed. Those matches will be the appetizer to the main course, tonight's quarterfinal between Connors, the Open's magic man, and Peter Haasburk. The women's semifinal pairings were set with four-time champ Martina Navratilova and top-seeded Steffi Graf advancing to a showdown on Friday. The other pairing sends No. 7 Jennifer Capriati against No. 2 Monica Seles. Navratilova, seeded No. 6, battled from behind after losing a first-set tiebreaker and surviving another tiebreak in the second set to defeat No. 4 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario 6-7 (6-8), 7-6 (7-5), 6-2. Graf had an easier time with a 6-1, 6-3, 6-2 rout of No. 8 Conchita Martinez. For Navratilova, a four-time Open champion, it was the 12th trip to the semis in 17 years and not one of her easiest journeys. Sanchez Vicario was serving at 4-4 in the second tiebreak, three points away from sending Martina home. But Navratilova broke her to take the lead and eventually win the set, sending the match to a decisive third. Then Navratilova broke Sanchez Vicario's service four times in the final set to seal the victory. It was achieved with a dose of the kind of tennis Connors has used to captivate the fans. She won 97 of 168 approaches to the net, compared to 9 of 18 for Sanchez Vicario.

"I saw Jimmy doing it over the course of five sets and I thought, 'How can he keep it up for almost five hours?' But if I thought, he can do it for that long, I can do it for half that time. I figured if he could do it at 39, I can do it at 34. I am a spring chicken next to him." The strategy worked as well for Navratilova as it has for Connors. "Experience counts for something," she said. "I just do it better in, attacking, believing that was the right way to do it. And it was." Solving Graf, the Wimbledon champ who has been on a on a straight-sets march through this tournament, could be tougher. "It's going to be more difficult because she has a much better serve than Arantxa," she said. "But you know I still can attack her. Steffi's forehand is such an incredible force that it is hard to stay away from that.

"But you know, I have beaten her before. It has been a long time since I played her so it's great that we finally get to play each other."

The two have split 14 matches with Graf taking the last four and six of the last eight. Obviously, I think I have a chance to beat Steffi," Navratilova said. "But I know she has a very good chance to beat me as well." Martinez seemed to have no chance to beat Graf, putting up only token resistance in the No. 1 seed. Steffi said that was rather unusual.
