Most dorms reject safe haven resolutions

By PETER LOFTUS
Assistant News Editor

Most Notre Dame residence halls have decided against passing a "safe haven" resolution presented by ND's under-graduate secretary for international organizations, John Bolton, told reporters, "We think we have a majority in favor of it." Bolton, told reporters, "Most hall presidents, after consulting with either their councils, half councils, or both, have decided that we will not pass this resolution. We think the resolution was not necessary because our dorms have never discriminated in the past. Also, a section of Du Lac, the ND student policy and regulations handbook, specifically prohibits "intentionally demeaning expression concerning the sexual orientation... of the victim." Sanford's hall council passed unanimously a resolution affirming Du Lac's policy, but it did not use the term "safe haven." According to Greg Butrus, Sanford co-president, the resolution states: "It is resolved that the residents of Sanford Hall have read and affirm our commitment to (NO's) discriminatory harrassment policy as spelled out in Du Lac. We will not tolerate discriminatory harassment based on race, sex, religion, sexual orientation, or national origin." Butrus said he thinks the resolution would be pleased with Sanford's resolution, passed last week, but that "we didn't do it to please him. Hall council just thought it was the right thing to do." Sanford's hall council voted 5-2 last week in favor of the resolution, but will meet later this week to agree on the final wording of the resolution, according to Tomb pres-president Warrick Muldrow. Sanford passed the resolution unanimously two weeks ago. In a letter to The Observer, Sanford's resident assistant rector said that their resolution "simply restates a reality which existed before any one group politicized it; that is we have never discriminated against someone because they are gay." Our statement was more about discrimination than about homosexuality.

The most dorms reject safe haven resolutions

By PETER LOFTUS
Assistant News Editor

Most Notre Dame residence halls have decided against passing a "safe haven" resolution presented by ND's undergraduate secretary for international organizations, John Bolton, told reporters, "We think we have a majority in favor of it." Bolton, told reporters, "Most hall presidents, after consulting with either their councils, half councils, or both, have decided that we will not pass this resolution. We think the resolution was not necessary because our dorms have never discriminated in the past. Also, a section of Du Lac, the ND student policy and regulations handbook, specifically prohibits "intentionally demeaning expression concerning the sexual orientation... of the victim." Sanford's hall council passed unanimously a resolution affirming Du Lac's policy, but it did not use the term "safe haven." According to Greg Butrus, Sanford co-president, the resolution states: "It is resolved that the residents of Sanford Hall have read and affirm our commitment to (NO's) discriminatory harrassment policy as spelled out in Du Lac. We will not tolerate discriminatory harassment based on race, sex, religion, sexual orientation, or national origin." Butrus said he thinks the resolution would be pleased with Sanford's resolution, passed last week, but that "we didn't do it to please him. Hall council just thought it was the right thing to do." Sanford's hall council voted 5-2 last week in favor of the resolution, but will meet later this week to agree on the final wording of the resolution, according to Tomb president Warrick Muldrow. Sanford passed the resolution unanimously two weeks ago. In a letter to The Observer, Sanford's resident assistant rector said that their resolution "simply restates a reality which existed before any one group politicized it; that is we have never discriminated against someone because they are gay."

Case 1:00-cv-06396-DOC-MLF Document 38 Filed 08/27/02 Page 9 of 41

Iraq takes papers from U.N. team

By Gray JILIBERTO
Assistant News Editor

Iraq takes papers from U.N. team
Feminists are not militant man haters

Feminism is a term which unfortunately has often been misused and negative connotations for most Notre Dame students. As a result many people are confused about what a woman "should" or "would like" to be treated these days. Feminism is an important idea which expresses the idea that women deserve equal opportunities in life.

For example, feminists believe that a woman deserves the opportunity to work in an intellectually stimulating job, just as a man should. This is an opportunity. And once given this job she ought to be treated with respect because of her mind, and not her appearance. If she chooses not to be respected, this judgement should also be derived solely from her performance, and not because of her lack of femininity.

Feminity is a feeling that says "I like who I am, and I like being a woman." It is possible to play soccer in the mud and still be a feminist the same.

However, picking teeth with a fork at Christmas dinner is not a very feminine manner. But, at the same time, no man should be proud of such behavior either. For instance, she is usually quite capable of opening the door for herself. She doesn't want to feel helpless. Additionally, she is not a militant bitch that hates men, but rather a person who is expressing her self-worth.

Feminism tries to stop women from being treated as objects of man's vision, constantly. A feminist wants to be treated as a capable being, not to have to do little things for her at the same time such a behavior might embarrass or even hurt a close relationship.

Today's staff:

Production: Melissa Cusack

Cynthia Eberhardt

Ad design: Jannele Hamman

Maria Blott

Ellen Talaga

Lisa Guenette

Shepherd

News:

Guy Loranger

Paul Pearson

Julie Barrett

Geanie Conrado

Photos:

Rich Kurz

Sean Farnan

The Observer (USPS 599 2-400) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

MARKET UPDATE

ON THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1865: Thousands of businessmen were ruined in a Wall Street panic after financiers Jay Gould and James Fisk attempted to corner the gold market.

1955: President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack while on vacation in Denver.

1957: The Brooklyn Dodgers played their last game at Ebbets Field, beating Pittsburgh 2-0.

1960: The USS Enterprise, the first nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, was launched at Newport News, Va.

One year ago: The Supreme Soviet voted to give preliminary approval to a plan to switch the Soviet Union to a free-market economy.

TODAY AT A GLANCE

National

Jessica Helms has prostate cancer

WALEIGH, N.C. -- Sen. Jesse Helms is undergoing treatment for prostate cancer, a spokeswoman said Monday. The 69-year-old North Carolina Republican knows for his staunch conservatism is undergoing radiation treatment but continues to work at his Washington office, said spokeswoman Marilyn Tomczyk in Raleigh. Prostate cancer can be cured if detected early enough. Helms, who in 1990 was elected to a fourth term, announced in July that he had been diagnosed with Paget's Disease, a bone disorder that causes weakened teeth and deformed bones. He said doctors blamed his limp on the disease, and prescribed pills to fight it.

Textiles made by forced labor

WASHINGTON -- A human rights group said Monday it has evidence that a New York trading company raised earlier this month by U.S. Customs agents illegally imported textiles made by forced labor in Chinese prison camps. Officials for Asia Watch told two House subcommittees that First National Trading Company Inc. was mentioned in a Chinese journal for labor-camp officials as having provided knitting machines to one camp in exchange for cotton cloth. The company, with offices in Manhattan's garment district, was among 23 companies raided by Customs Agents on Sept. 4 on suspicions of bringing Chinese clothing into the United States illegally. Several million dollars in goods and money were seized in the raids.

Indiana

Board will drop "Jesus Loves Me"

ALEXANDRIA, Ind. -- The song "Jesus Loves Me" will be dropped from elementary school music classes, despite public protest, the president of the Alexandria School Board says. The board is scheduled to review on Oct. 7 a complaint filed by Kathie Wilbur, whose son sang the religious song during kindergarten class at Orestes Elementary School. Board attorney Jeffrey Lockwood said the board had no choice of whether to keep the song in the curriculum. Lockwood said religious songs cannot be used in public schools for the purpose of teaching religion, and they cannot be initiated by a teacher.

CAMPUS

Professor chosen for science course

Noire Dame, Ind. -- Su-Min Oon, assistant professor of chemistry at Saint Mary's College, was one of 29 U.S. university and college faculty members from around the nation selected by the National Science Foundation (NSF) to attend a short course on "Teaching Macro-Molecular Chemistry and Engineering in the Undergraduate Curriculum" at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va., this summer. The program, which focuses on undergraduate applications for polymer research, was offered for the first time this year. It was organized by the American Chemical Society and Virginia Tech.

OF INTEREST

A London Program application meeting for all interested sophomores will be held at 6:30 p.m. today in the Heerhug Library Auditorium.

The Industry Day banquet for engineers is tonight at 914 L.W.W. in Alumnae Hall.

The local chapter of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom has invited Professor Joe Gatto to speak on Leo Tolstoy's ideas about peace tonight at 7 at the Colfax Cultural Center, 914 L.W.W. in South Bend. For more info call Kathleen at 239-5319/3522.

Informational sessions for the Saint Mary's Alumni Association Career Exploration Program will be held tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 in Stapleton Lounge-LeMans hall. For more info contact the Alumni Relations Office, 108 LeMans Hall.

Dancers are you interested in taking classes, teaching, and performing? If so, join the SMC Dance Collective this week. Classes will be held for any interested men and women at the Rockne Memorial, room 301, for Jazz, Thurs. at 6 p.m. and Ballet, Friday at 4:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m. For more info, call Elaine at 283-4995 or Ann Marie at 284-5147.
Alan Matheney appeals his murder conviction

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The case of Alan Matheney, whose death penalty appeal comes before the Supreme Court this week, has brought significant changes to state correctional policy and criminal law, experts say.

The highly publicized case of the prison inmate who murdered his ex-wife while out on a pass has spurred correctional authorities to restrict all work- and early-release programs.

It also prompted lawmakers to make a series of changes in laws ranging from victim notification to domestic violence, experts say.

"All kinds of people have cited the Matheney case to do all kinds of things," said Richard Good, executive director of the Prosecuting Attorneys Council. "And it's kept other things from passing, such as early release and things like that."

Matheney was convicted and sentenced to death for the March 1989 beating death of his ex-wife, Lisa Marie Bianco of Mishawaka, while he was free on an eight-hour pass. At the time, he was serving an eight-year term after being convicted of battering Bianco.

On Tuesday, Matheney's attorneys will ask the state's highest court to reverse the conviction and sentence. The court could take months before rendering its decision.

It didn't take long for state officials and lawmakers to react to the case. Within weeks, two correction officials were fired and three others were suspended for issuing the pass to Matheney.

A special report concluded "blurred lines of authority" had allowed Matheney to be released when he shouldn't have been.

Since then, the special assignment program Matheney was in has been abolished, and new guidelines have been adopted to improve screening of all inmates seeking to go into early- or work-release programs.

Department of Correction spokesman Pat Heffernan said the most recent census shows 159 inmates in work-release programs.

JUNIOR CLASS BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Juniors - Grab your bookstore team and start warming up now. The tournament is Oct. 3-5th. Sign up Mon, Sept. 23rd - Wed, Sept. 25th in the Junior Class Office, from 3-5 pm. $5/team, teams must have at least 3 juniors.

* Prizes will be awarded to the winning team *

INDUSTRY DAY COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

September 24
BANQUET
MONOGRAM ROOM
HORS D'OEUVRES 6:30 sponsored by General Electric & The Travelers
DINNER 7:15

September 25
CAREER FAIR
FITZPATRICK HALL (Floor 1and 2)
11:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

* Representatives from over 30 major companies
* Opportunities for full-time employment and summer internships
* Bring your resumes!

Sponsored by the JOINT ENGINEERING COUNCIL
SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS

WVFI chief addresses Senate

By BECKY BARNES
News Writer

"It is not dangerous. It is music," said campus radio station WVFI in its proposal to Student Senate to gain support to convert to an FM stereo broadcasting system.

The station's present AM carrier current has poor reception in most campus buildings, and a conversion to FM would allow the station to reach a few miles off campus and expand its role in the university, said Kevin Flaherty, station manager, in his address to the student senate in Monday's meeting.

There is demand for a station such as WVFI said Flaherty. The station is expected to promote events on campus and therefore contributes to the success of the events, he said.

WVFI is the only station in the area with an exclusively alternative format, Flaherty said.

It received great support in this year's freshman interest survey, and received 150 applications for 11 deejay positions. Area high school students also showed interest in alternative music in a recent survey by WVFI.

According to Flaherty, the bad reputation that WVFI has gained in the past because of a few infractions of FCC broadcasting limitation is due to a "circle of apathy." Deejays, he said, do not care what they say when they think no one is listening, and the administration will not allow the station on the air unless it follows FCC restrictions.

Although there was no official vote on the issue, support for the new FM system was voiced by one senate member. WVFI will be approaching the administration on the issue later this semester.
Armenia declares independence

The republics were in turmoil Monday from the Caucasus to Central Asia. Armenia declared independence, armed Georgian activists refused to leave a TV station and a Communist leader regained power in Tadzhikistan. Meanwhile, reportedly were mediated talks over Karabakh, a disputed enclave with Boris Yeltsin, who has failed to regain much from the Soviet Union.

In his speech, Bush said the

The Observer

Monday from the

The Observer/Tim Fain

A steady hand
Joe Brassard works intensely on a print he has been perfecting in the Riley Hall of Art and Design.

Croatians, troops continue fighting

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — As federal troops and Croatian militias tested a day-old cease-fire with gunbattles Monday, officials said neighboring Serbia was pressing for a new agreement allowing it to incorporate key sections of Croatia.

A Western diplomat, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Serbia seeks an urgent meeting among Yugoslav leaders to approve the partial army withdrawal.

He said Serbia would ask at the meeting that Croatia be permitted to secede from Yugoslavia, but without territories now held by the Serbs. That would achieve Milosevic's aim of expanding Serbian territory before agreeing to Croatian independence. The military is dominated by Serbian officers whose claims the Croats say are loyal to Milosevic.

Although Croatian leaders have expressed willingness to give greater autonomy to Serb-dominated areas, they refuse to give up Croatian territory. There are also disagreements over which areas of Croatia the Serbs consider "Serb-dominated."

"Croatia's 4.75 million people include about 600,000 ethnic Serbs, many of whom live spread throughout Croatia. Serb militias have taken up arms in some regions to set up their own government or join their areas with Serbia.

Tensions between Serbs and Croats, Yugoslavia's two largest ethnic groups are fueled by memories of the massacre of Serbs in the province of Vukovar, a Croatian town on the eight-member federal presidency.

Thousands of adoring supporters answered Gamsakhurdia's call to rally in front of the massive Government House. Waving the blue and maroon Georgian flag, the crowd shouted "Zvady, Zvady" when Gamsakhurdia emerged from the building in the evening. He declared nothing would happen to his opponents if they left the TV station.

But the opposition remained firmly ensconced in the broadcast studio, about a mile away. Some 100 protesters occupied the building early Sunday and later were joined by protesters and rebel Georgian National Guardsmen.

"We want real democracy. If Gamsakhurdia steps down, we'll leave peacefully," said Gha Matahashvili, a young National Guardsman.

The federal army may soon be on hand to speak.

IS IT THIS WAY YOU'LL BE WALKING TONIGHT?

HAPPY 21st

BIRTHDAY JULES

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 29

TEE TIMES STARTING AT 11:00 AM

AT THE NOTRE DAME GOLF COURSE

OPEN TO ALL

NOTRE DAME STUDENTS

FACULTY AND STAFF

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S DIVISIONS

SIGN UP AS INDIVIDUALS OR IN PAIRS.
PAIRS MUST HAVE ONE PLAYER OVER 90

FEES DUE WITH ENTRY

S.00 FOR STUDENTS

$5.00 FOR FACULTY AND STAFF

REGISTER AT THE GOLF SHOP (ROCKNE)

DEADLINE SEPTEMBER 25

CAMPUS GOLF
2 PERSON SCRAMBLE

PRE-LAW SOCIETY MEETING

Freshman, Sophomores, and Juniors interested in becoming a member of the Pre-Law Society should attend the general meeting on Tues., Sept. 24, at 7 pm in the Cushing Auditorium.

Dean Waddick and Professor Susan Vance will be on hand to speak.

PRE-LAW SOCIETY MEETING

FRIDAYS

FANDANGO

YAMAHA PIANOS CLAVINOVAS DRAUMS

MUSIC CO.

SINCE 1949

Great Brands, Great Service, Great Prices.

AREA'S LOWEST PRICED P.A. RENTALS

EXHIBIT Mon - Thurs

239-6051

9:17 am

Fri 11-6 pm

220 W. Marion

South Bend

288-5012

429 S. Michigan

SPECIALISTS IN GUITAR & BASS REPAIRS!

ZOLOMIA PALTZ GIBSON HEARFIELD

IT'S OUR WHOLE FAMILY WHO HAVE ONE GREAT SERVICE, GREAT PRICES, RENTALS

FORD MARQUIS

TUES., SEPT. 24, AT 7 PM

CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Tuas, Sept. 24, at 7 pm

in the Cushing Auditorium.

Dean Waddick and Professor Susan Vance will be on hand to speak.

PRE-LAW SOCIETY MEETING

FRIDAYS

FANDANGO

YAMAHA PIANOS CLAVINOVAS DRAUMS

MUSIC CO.

SINCE 1949

Great Brands, Great Service, Great Prices.

AREA'S LOWEST PRICED P.A. RENTALS

EXHIBIT Mon - Thurs

239-6051

9:17 am

Fri 11-6 pm

220 W. Marion

South Bend

288-5012

429 S. Michigan

SPECIALISTS IN GUITAR & BASS REPAIRS!

ZOLOMIA PALTZ GIBSON HEARFIELD

IT'S OUR WHOLE FAMILY WHO HAVE ONE GREAT SERVICE, GREAT PRICES, RENTALS

FORD MARQUIS

TUES., SEPT. 24, AT 7 PM

CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES
Study says junior college students need incentives

WASHINGTON (AP) — More collaboration is needed between two- and four-year colleges to entice students at junior and community colleges to continue their educations, a higher education group said Monday.

The American Council on Education said students who attend the two-year institutions — especially important gateways for minorities — are discouraged in several ways from transferring to four-year schools.

• Schools may not adequately value each other’s work, affecting perceptions of student performance. "Community college transfer students are too often viewed as less capable than their four-year counterparts," the council said.

• Big colleges and universities are heavily bureaucratic and students are often discouraged by confusing and conflicting rules, regulations and requirements.

• Students may not have the financial resources to move from a two-year to four-year school and available financial aid may be inadequate.

The report, "Setting the National Agenda: Academic Achievement and Transfer," called for increased collaboration between administrators and faculties at two- and four-year schools. That, it said, is "the central, essential element in successful transfer efforts."

The report, published by the council's National Center for Academic Achievement and Transfer, said also that schools should develop faculty mentor programs for transfer students, establish definite transfer goals and develop financial incentive plans to enhance student transfers.

About a third of junior and two-year community college students say they plan to move on to four years schools, but studies suggest that between 25 and 25 percent actually do, the council said.

The report said that more than 5.7 million students were enrolled in community and junior colleges in 1989 — about 43 percent of the 13 million students who attended the nation's schools of higher education.

"Access to higher education through community colleges has been especially important for minority students," the report said. It said 42 percent of blacks, 56 percent of Hispanics, 40 percent of Asian Americans and 54 percent of Native American students who attended college in 1988 were enrolled in two-year schools.

If you want to put your technical skills to use and you have an interest in... Information Systems or Telecommunications Come talk to us at the... ENGINEERING INDUSTRY DAY continued from page 5 on any basis," said Keenan president Adam Spahn in a prepared statement, "and views it unnecessary to declare Keenan Hall a safe haven.

Dorms

There have been no problems in the past, and there is no reason to expect any in the future."

"We haven't had a problem in the past (with discrimination of homosexuals)," said Tom Pitzlick, president of Fisher. He said his rector, Brother Edward Luther, told him that no such homosexuals have in the past lived in Fisher with acceptance by other residents.

St. Edward's decided against the resolution after a dorm-wide vote, in which about 25 percent voted for the resolution, half thinking the resolution was necessary, and the rest voting directly against such a resolution, according to hall president Rob Pritchard.

"Our policy in the past is that we've never condemned anyone for their sexual preferences," said Anthony Coury, president of Dillon. "We respect the privacy of both heterosexuals and homosexuals." Dillon reached its decision after the hall co-presidents met with the rector and heard input from Dillon residents.

"It would be redundant," said Tom Leahy, president of Carroll. "I vote no on any basis," said Keenan president Adam Spahn in a prepared statement, "and views it unnecessary to declare Keenan Hall a safe haven.

There have been no problems in the past, and there is no reason to expect any in the future."

"We haven't had a problem in the past (with discrimination of homosexuals)," said Tom Pitzlick, president of Fisher. He said his rector, Brother Edward Luther, told him that no such homosexuals have in the past lived in Fisher with acceptance by other residents.

St. Edward's decided against the resolution after a dorm-wide vote, in which about 25 percent voted for the resolution, half thinking the resolution was necessary, and the rest voting directly against such a resolution, according to hall president Bob Pritchard.

"Our policy in the past is that we've never condemned anyone for their sexual preferences," said Anthony Coury, president of Dillon. "We respect the privacy of both heterosexuals and homosexuals." Dillon reached its decision after the hall co-presidents met with the rector and heard input from Dillon residents.

"It would be redundant," said Tom Leahy, president of Carroll, of the resolution. "We decided that Carroll didn't discriminate in any sense, including sexual orientation."

Farley rejected the resolution September 10, for two reasons, according to Co-president Jennifer Swize. First, Du Lac contains an anti-discriminatory policy. Second, if Farley had passed the resolution, it would have implied that Farley was not a safe haven in the past or that they weren't a safe haven for other minorities, she said.

"I don't think (Du Lac's discriminatory policy) is enough," said Vore. "It's not enough to say that something shouldn't... see DORMS / page 7
Kidnappers promise to release British hostage

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Pro-Iranian kidnappers said early Tuesday that within 48 hours they will release British hostage Jack Mann, the eldest of the Western hostages, who was abducted more than two years ago.

The move by the Revolutionary Justice Organization appeared to indicate that a logjam in the complex negotiations by U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar for a comprehensive exchange of Western captives for Arab prisoners held by Israel, and possibly European countries as well, had been broken.

A handwritten communique from the Shiite Muslim group said the decision to free Mann was the result of "immense efforts" by Perez de Cuellar. He has been seeking to negotiate an overall prisoner swap between Israel and its Muslim foes for more than a month.

Tuesday's communique, written in Arabic, was delivered a few minutes after midnight to Beirut's An-Nahar daily and a Western news agency in the Lebanese capital.

It was accompanied by an authenticating photograph of American hostage Joseph Cicciopo, who is also held by the Revolutionary Justice Organization.

Cicciopo, 61, of Norristown, Pa., was kidnapped in Beirut Sept. 12, 1986. The poor-quality photo, the same one the hostage-takers had released before, showed him from the waist up, sporting a bushy beard and without the spectacles he usually wears.

The statement indicated that obstacles in the delicate negotiations to free the Western hostages apparently blocked the expected release last week of Mann, 77, had been overcome.

There had been expectations Mann would be freed after Israel on Sept. 11 released 51 Arab prisoners and the bodies of nine Israeli Shiite guerrillas killed by the Israelis in south Lebanon.

But Revolutionary Justice claimed Thursday that Israel had reneged on a pledge to release 80 prisoners, and said Israeli intransigence was holding up release of the hostages.

On Tuesday, however, thepline communique said: "The United Nations has intervened in the hostage situation in Beirut, and this is a positive step."

Brazil set to privatize state-run companies

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — A campaign to privatize state companies appears ready to begin at last, but last-minute challenges are threatened by foes who called the auctions a "sell-out" to foreign interests.

Bidding on the $1.8-billion Usiminas steel mill is to open Tuesday on the stock exchanges in Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo. It is the first — and some say the choicest — state enterprise to hit the auction block.

Privatization has been promoted as the cornerstone of economic reforms sought by President Fernando Collor de Mello ever since he took office in 1990. But fierce opposition has kept the sales from proceeding.

Collor said the sale of 27 companies, worth $70 billion, would help to eliminate chronic budget deficits and finance social welfare programs.

But opponents who argue that Usiminas and other companies targeted for sale are profitable enterprises. A federal court has yet to rule on a motion that would suspend Tuesday's auction on technical grounds.

The government was confident it would be allowed to proceed, since the courts have repeatedly rejected motions to block the sale of Usiminas, including a last-ditch effort Monday in Minas Gerais state, home of the mill.

"I believe the public spirit will prevail," said Eduardo Modiano, head of the National Privatization Program, who called it "a great opportunity to break out of stagnation and achieve a sizable reduction of the public deficit."
Researcher: Recycling won't solve all problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recycling has been oversold as the main answer to America's garbage problems, a researcher said Monday.

"Studies show recycling itself has environmental side effects," Lynn Scarlett, vice president for research at the Reason Foundation in Santa Monica, Calif., wrote in the report.

She cited fuel consumption and air pollution from the extra collection trucks and said recycling some products requires large amounts of energy or water.

"I'm not opposed to recycling, but think we need to put it in perspective," Scarlett said.

Her study, "A Consumer's Guide to Environmental Myths and Realities," was sponsored by the Dallas-based National Center for Policy Analysis. The center and the Reason Foundation are supporters of free-market policy options in place of government regulations.

Scarlett said that recycling of some materials, such as aluminum cans, is clearly beneficial, but said local circumstances could make recycling of some kinds of paper, glass or plastic bad for the economy and the environment.

She criticized proposed government standards for recycled content in specific products, saying they could be counterproductive.

"What I endorse is the conserving society," she said. "Sometimes we should throw things away because it uses less resources than reusing them."

---

The Observer

DO YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY?

The observer needs circulation drivers. Available from 11:00-1:00 fridays.

Paid Position!!!

Contact: Gil Gomez 239-7471 or Joe Guddemi 283-3936

MANDY PATINKIN
IN CONCERT: DRESS CASUAL

"There is no better entertainer in this country. If you are lucky enough to see him, you'll talk about it for a long time. Run right out and get tickets."

Richard Shepard
UNITED PRESS, N.Y.

Morris Civic Auditorium - South Bend
October 4 - 5

Friday 8 p.m., Saturday 2 p.m. & 8 p.m.

Tickets: Eves. $26.50 $22.50 $17.50 $12.50
Matinees $23.50 $19.50 $15.00 $12.50

BOX OFFICE OPEN
10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and until curtain on show days.

PHONE (219) 284-9190

---

The Observer and Home Town News page 7

Noriega assistant testifies at trial

MIAMI (AP) — Manuel Noriega's former right-hand man testified Monday that he delivered envelopes and suitcases stuffed with drug cash to his boss and accompanied him to a meeting with Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Testifying in Noriega's drug-trafficking trial for a third day, Luis del Cid described himself as a confidential "errand boy" for the ousted Panamanian dictator.

Del Cid also said the former Panamanian ambassador to Paris, Gaspar Wittgreen, brought four "easy women" to visit Noriega in 1983. Camel leaders. Del Cid said his first contacts with Colombia's Medellin cocaine cartel came in late 1981, when, under Noriega's orders, he successfully mediated the kidnapping of Marta Ochoa, sister of three cartel leaders. She was released by leftist M-19 Colombian guerrillas after the cartel paid a $1.2 million ransom.

Soon afterward, del Cid said, private planes from Colombia began flying into Panama City's downtown Panamita airport.

He said Noriega frequently sent him to Panamita to meet with three pilots who worked closely with Noriega. On one occasion in their hangar, pilot Enrique Pretilj, introduced him to Jorge Lira, the head of one of the top cartel leaders.

Del Cid said that in November 1982, Noriega sent him "to pick up an envelope" containing $10 million in drug money. From another pilot, Floyd Carlton. Three months later, del Cid returned for another, heavier envelope.

"Watching us, it might be a bomb," he recalled joking with Carlton.

Dorms

continued from page 5

happen. In an environment that already assumes a negative judgment, you have to go farther, and affirm the positive."

"I challenge the dorms to really examine whether or not the needs of gay and lesbian students are being met," Vore said.

However, Vore said he feels that if the safe haven issue has spawned discussion on homosexual-related issues, then he has achieved something.

Swize expressed similar observations. She said some good has come out of the safe haven issue, in spite of Farley's rejection, because more students are talking about homosexual-related issues.

Howard decided that the issue addressed by the resolution was not "a serious enough matter" to discuss with its hall council, according to hall president Lara Crosby.

Flanner's hall council "chose to consider the situation at this time," according to Co-President Rich Delean. He said if Flanner ever does consider the issue, it would not be in the form of a safe haven resolution.

Some residents of Knott Hall did not like the wording of the resolution, according to hall president Lisa Dugand. "We're following along with Du Lac," she said.

The president of Pasquerilla East, Grace Lewis and Spring Halls declined to be interviewed for this story. Lewis decided against the resolution on September 10.
NEW YORK (AP) — In the 11 years since his murder, John Lennon has been dissected in excruciating and usually unflattering celebrity biographer Albert Goldman.

But the latest book on Lennon provides a much kinder portrait of John in the months before his death. It was written by the ex-Beatle’s personal assistant, a man who provided Goldman with extensive material for his toxic "The Lives of John Lennon."

"I found him to be a sympathetic character," said Fred Seaman, author of "The Last Days of John Lennon," who went to work for the rock star in February 1979.

"That’s really the tragedy of John Lennon: His heart and his head were violently at odds," Seaman said in an interview. "When I met him, he struck me as a very brilliant mind trapped in a tortured body."

The torturer, according to Seaman, was Yoko Ono. Lennon’s widow dominated her late husband; he “had to pre­­ tend she loved him, and he loved her. More accurately, he was totally dependent on her, like a child to its mother,” said Seaman.

Seaman depicts Yoko as a dragon lady who cheated on her. After discovering Lennon’s dieted to heroin, "I knew sooner or later my story would come out," said Seaman.

The author also presents his side of the diaries theft for the first time: he says he was fol­­ lowing John’s request that the volumes go to his son Julian. Seaman claims he planned to make copies for Julian and re­­ turn the originals to Yoko, but was double-crossed by a friend. One spokesman Elliot Mintz dismissed Seaman’s effort be­­ fore it was even published. "Yoko never reads any of these books. I cannot imagine what could possibly be new. I think this book comes out because of the John Lennon name and the Kitty Kelley mentality,” Mintz said.

Seaman’s dealings with Yoko seem to have left the author somewhat paranoid. When the line became cluttered with static during the telephone inter­­ view, he said, with a nervous laugh, “Maybe my phone is be­­ ing tapped. Why would anybody want to tap my phone?”

Seaman, despite the tone of his book and that of Goldman’s effort, said they are not at odds with one another in detailing Lennon’s life.

"Albert Goldman is a devil’s advocate. His interpretation of Lennon is harsh, but not unfair,” he said. “Albert wasn’t around John, and he had to rely on the testimony of other peo­­ ple.”
Roseanne Arnold joins other stars speaking out on childhood incest

(AP)—"My name is Roseanne, and I'm an incest survivor."

With those words, actress Roseanne Arnold has joined a growing number of public figures who by breaking years of silence have helped bring the devastation of childhood sexual abuse into the open.

"It takes a tremendous amount of courage to come forward," said Marilyn Van Derbur Atler, a former Miss America who went public in 1980. "We've been silent for generations, unable to stand up without shame."

But since spring, when Atler appeared on the cover of People magazine, rumblings have become a revolution. More and more adult incest survivors are defying the taboo as never before.

In addition to Atler and Arnold, talk show host Oprah Winfrey, singer LaToya Jackson and former Sen. Paula Hawkins have said publicly they were sexually abused as children.

"The movement to dispel the myths has really exploded," said Susan Forward, a therapist whose specialty includes treating sexually abused people. "When I published 'Betrayal of Innocence' in 1979, I was out there banging on doors, but I couldn't get anybody to talk about it." Forward said from Bel Air, Calif. "For a long time it was a terribly lonely road."

The ugly and uncomfortable reality was long evaded. But statistics indicate one in four girls and one in seven boys are sexually abused by age 18, according to the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse in Chicago.

The vast majority, however, do not report the violation until years later — if ever. The ramifications are too painful; the shame may seem too great.

"Everybody would rather deny that someone could do this kind of thing to a child," said Jo Blish, 32, who was abused by her late grandfather. "It's easier, especially for the scared and battered. That's why Roseanne is a model of courage. Those of us who can speak out must do it."

Arnold, the 38-year-old star of television's "Roseanne," spoke out before an audience of 1,100 sexual abuse victims and therapists Saturday at a conference on incest in Denver.

"Don't stay untreated," Arnold said in an hour-long speech. "It will kill you. Incest takes away your power, your access to your thought process, your ability to love, even feel. Incest takes your life."

Arnold said sexual abuse by both her mother and father drove her to consider suicide, to smoke five packs of cigarettes a day and to abuse drugs, alcohol and food.

"There is so much anger, so much pain involved when parents betray a child's basic trust, and as long as it remains a secret — THE SECRET — the pain goes on," said Scott Chase, who has helped his lover confront childhood abuse.

"Eventually you have to take the risk," Chase, 37, said from Boston. "It's like falling out of an airplane. You think you've got your parachute on, but you're not absolutely sure. Will there be someone there to catch you?"

Fortunately, during the last 10 years a tremendous safety net has developed for incest survivors. They are meeting in church halls, going on wilderness retreats, expressing themselves through music, art, theater and dance.

"Talking about it as public figures have is just one stage," said Laura Davis, whose book, "You Can STAND UP," is for many the incest survivor's bible. "It's important, but there's an incredible amount of work that has still to be done to overcome the effects of abuse."

Recovery often begins with simple flashbacks, a flickering of memory that frequently crops up between ages 35 to 50.

Check it out

This wooden sculpture is one of the many creative pieces of art that decorates the lawn in front of the Riley Hall of Art and Design.

For Those Interested In Law School:

The Law Caravan is here on Wednesday, September 25th.

Stop by Stepan Center from 10:30 am to 2:30 pm and meet with representatives from approximately 50 Law Schools.
Non-social options need to be offered

Students on both the Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame campuses are well aware of the fact that Saint Mary’s does not provide the social opportunities for the ND/SMC community. From day one, undergraduates tell Saint Mary’s freshmen to save their quarters for shuttle fare, and Notre Dame students are told to expect the typical weekend arrival of the “Stink-Chicks.”

Saint Mary’s residence life does not foster an atmosphere for social entertainment. The strict visitation policy restricts guests from making unannounced visits, and limits spontaneous interaction due to the required escorts at all times. Quiet hour policies make gatherings difficult as any noise in a room is bound to result in a noise violation.

So what do the students do? As expected, they look elsewhere for social opportunities. Sixty percent of the senior class as well as a significant amount of underclassmen moved off-campus housing for the freedom and social possibilities it provides. Those who remain in the halls know they will be traveling to Notre Dame or off-campus for parties.

Saint Mary’s presence at Notre Dame parties results in tense situations. A competitive rivalry exists between the women at the two schools. Not around during the week, Saint Mary’s women exists almost only on a social level. Men and women at Notre Dame find the answer to his question, “Are Saint Mary’s students not proud of where they go to school?” In fact he would find a vibrant, dynamic community of mutual learning and growth and learning from one another.

We at both these schools learn from each other. We try to learn what goes on in this country. We inherently share our Catholicity, our dependence on each other.

The relationship between Notre Dame men and Saint Mary’s women exists almost only on a social level. Men and women from each school rarely meet on a daily basis. They don’t work on projects together. They don’t compete in classes. They don’t volunteer together. The relationship is strictly limited to social acquaintance.

In order to improve relations, interaction between the groups needs to grow in non-threatening situations. If classes and halls could take popular programs on each campus and invite the other school to participate, students may soon discover usually you can’t tell which school someone one attends, nor does it matter.

Saint Mary’s students who claim that nothing is ever happening at their school need to make efforts to remedy the situation. Notre Dame students who only interact with Saint Mary’s women in social setting may change their opinion of their counterparts if they included them more in other activities.

Different types of events which will allow students to interact more freely may help facilitate an end to degrading stereotypes that exist on both campuses.

GARRY TRUDEAU
QUOTE OF THE DAY

P.S. please don’t dominate the rap, Jack, if you got nothin’ new to say.

The Grateful Dead

‘Be kind to a mind, mail a quote to:
QUOTES, P.O. Box 9, ND, IN 46556’
A glimpse into the inner thoughts and lives of area youth facing adult fears

Editor’s note: This is the first in a series concerning the lives and perceptions of people in the community but not a part of the “Notre Dame Family.”

By JOE MOODY
Viewpoint Editor

“I don’t feel comfortable here,” said Tom, age 16, with an honest smile as he walked through campus with his recycling bag.

He held tightly to his girlfriend, 15-year-old Helen. Following along was Tom’s younger brother, David. David strolled happily along enjoying the sights, oblivious at age 12 to the double stars and judgmental glares that anyone in Harriet Davidson leather and cowboy chains seemingly must receive.

Tom’s uncomfortable feeling worsened moments later. After leaving the three to wait in LaFortune while he attended a meeting, they were approached by a Notre Dame security officer who questioned and held them until this returned.

The officer then kindly apologized and went his way. Tom and Helen were both a little shaken up. “Just ‘cause we look different,” said Helen with her beautiful, green eyes blazing. David found it exciting. “The cops were so nice,” he said. Most people at Notre Dame are.

As we drove off, David stared out the window humming to the song on the radio, “Wooden Ships.” Tom discussed with Helen where she should sleep that night—not another word about being stopped and interrogated. Nothing new under their sun.

Tom, at an age in life when most kids are occupied with thoughts of prom, football games and homework, is facing the realities of a career, marriage and independent living.

He left high school just months ago as a second year freshman. “I skipped a lot,” he explained from under the brim of his blue Led Zeppelin hat. “I messed up so bad I wasn’t gonna be able to catch up.”

Tom has managed to avoid the snare of drugs and crime that so many fall to that come from similar backgrounds, so devoid of opportunity and assistance.

Tom’s mother has been his only guide, still providing shelter for him. His father left five years ago when Tom was 11. His parents have been separated for five years.

Currently, Tom is employed full-time at Kentucky Fried Chicken. For now it is his niche in life. He’s saved enough money to buy a 1972 Tornado. His bike has been his main mode of transportation so far, but as soon as he does some necessary repairs to the Tornado, he hopes to be driving.

The following is an interview with Tom conducted on September 16, 1991:

If you could go to Notre Dame, what would you study?

Probably business management. I’d like to start a business in dry-walling and painting.

If you were suddenly given one million dollars, what would you do with it?

I’d buy my parents… I mean my mother, something nice that she’d want. She’s wanted a Chrysler LeBaron convertible for awhile. And I’d just buy my friends things they like. Something nice. Plus, put some for myself in the bank and let it sit there for interest.

How would you define the typical Notre Dame student?

Well, from most of ‘em… high class. You know, they think they’re better than other people. That’s about it.

What do you think of Catholics?

They’re normal people like me and everybody else. It’s just their decision to believe.

If you could go out, get the homeless people and train them for the job. That way they’d be able to make some money and be able to make a living.

Who has helped you most in life?

Probably my mother.

In what way?

Who’s helped me out with heldin’ on my own and it’s taught me a lot. You know, shown me how to manage my money. I’m not great at it but I have learned a lot. Then on the school part, she was always gettin’ after me. At first I didn’t really understand it. I didn’t really care. And then after all my skippin’, I found out she was right.

Who has hurt you the most in life?

My father. Ile was an alcoholic. He drank about three cases of beer a week. And every weekend when he’d get drunk, he’d beat my mother over stupid stuff, and me and my sister too.

What stopped you?

I’ve seen bad cops that just go after people for their skin color. It’s a lot of dirty cops that arrest people for one thing then they turn around and do it themselves. On the part of a doctor, I just messed up in school.

What do you hope to be in the future?

To be able to help people out any way I can. You know, like on the part of havin’ my own business, I’d like to go out, get the homeless people and train them for the job. That way they’d be able to make some money and be able to make a living.

Who has helped you most in life?

Probably my mother.

In what way?

Who’s helped me out with heldin’ on my own and it’s taught me a lot. You know, shown me how to manage my money. I’m not great at it but I have learned a lot. Then on the school part, she was always gettin’ after me. At first I didn’t really understand it. I didn’t really care. And then after all my skippin’, I found out she was right.

Who has hurt you the most in life?

My mother. Ile was an alcoholic. He drank about three cases of beer a week. And every weekend when he’d get drunk, he’d beat my mother over stupid stuff, and me and my sister too.

What do you fear most in life?

Death.

Do you believe the society we live in is fair?

In a way it is. But then, some people judge people by how they look or how they dress.

Do you believe the education system helped prepare you for life?

I think so. I see it, they just pass people just to get ’em out of the class.

Like at LaSalle [High School] they tell the kids to do this but a lot of ‘em don’t explain it.

If you could say one thing to the entire Notre Dame community, what would you say?

Um… Long paused. …Think about others instead of thinkin’ everything’s great ‘cause it is for yourselves.

The life Tom, Helen and David live is a day to day life. Faced with tolls and troubles most late 20th century children are not accustomed to, they manage to shine on with an inner brilliance. A peace exists in their presence that would make a Zen monk jealous.

They laugh together and face their fears and peers like any other children. They don’t see themselves as any different, because they aren’t.

Not book-smart but street-smart, they exist in the type of simplicity that is free from front, alterior motives or dishonesty.

No one-way road to the almighty dollar sign was paved before them. On their road they simply have their beliefs, hopes, memories both good and bad, or occasional Marlboro Red, and each other.

The following is a poem written by Helen, age 15:

I’ve been hurt so much in many way that had such an affect on my life.

Now I’ve come to realize that I’ll never stop my eyes from crying tears that let out my fears.

Some people call me ugly or maybe even stupid.

But I don’t care because I am special, somebody, me.

Nobody likes who I am.

But that don’t matter if they don’t like me cause I am glad to be who I am.

Nobody can ever replace me cause I am one of a kind.

I don’t know how long I’ll live or how long I’ll stay, that is why I wrote this poem.

Helen, 15, (from left) Tom, 16, and David, 12, sit on Tom’s 1972 Tornado outside of Helen’s house.
Movies in color

Multicultural film festival asks students to expand horizons

Guns N' Roses release old talent in new ways

By ROLANDO DE AGUIAR
Accent Writer

The six members of Guns N' Roses are men.

Testosterone oozes from their every pore, and, if they had come into popularity 10 years ago, we would have called them macho. They make music about drinking and women and parties and sex.

And America loves it.

With the simultaneous release of Use Your Illusion I and Use Your Illusion II last week, the Los Angeles band again staked its claim as the foremost rock 'n' rollers of their generation.

Both of the new albums are fun, exciting expulsions of GN'R's exciting talents. Use Your Illusion I begins with the rush of "Right Next Door To Hell," which immediately gives the listener an idea of what to expect.

However, the band is able to slow down for "Dust N' Bones" and the first single from Use Your Illusion I, "Don't Cry."

"Bad Obsession" is a bluntness number that, like several other songs on the two albums, details the excesses that occurred during Guns N' Roses rise. "Double Talkin' Jive" is forbidding, and its acoustic guitar outro shows a side of guitarist Slash not often heard.

"The Garden," with its especially gritty vocals, whining guitar and ethereal background voice, is eerie and contrasts with the straightforwardness and rush of its seeming mate, "Garden Of Eden."

The only real disappointment on the first album is "November Rain," in which Guns N' Roses so badly falter in the genre of balladeers like Winger and Bon Jovi.

This is but a small smudge, however, with 30 songs and 2 1/2 hours of music between the two albums.

The 14 songs of Use Your Illusion II are also equally satisfying, with rockers like "You Could Be Mine" and "Shotgun Blues" leading the way.

"Civil War" and "Knockin' On Heaven's Door" were both released on compilations last year, and appear again here. "Civil War" takes a rational stand, unlike many GN'R songs, against war, while the latter song is a well-crafted rendition of a Bob Dylan classic.

The rest of the album is also exciting, with "14 Years," "Yesterdays" and "Locomotive" providing highlights.

The closing song, "My World," is a funky rap which shows, as so many songs, how rock and rap go together like rock and roll.

Guns N' Roses feel that it has been mistreated by the press in the past. With "Don't Damn Me" and "Get In The Ring," Guns N' Roses tells of their anger, asking for a confrontation with all journalists who have disregarded them.

"Dust N' Bones" and "Yesterdays" are better songs, but the album as a whole is disappointing.

"Use Your Illusion II," after all, was not released last week.

The macho sound of Guns N' Roses dominates their two albums released last week: Use Your Illusion I and Use Your Illusion II.
Coach John MacLeod

Come meet the newest member of the ND family:

and the rest of the 1991 - 1992 Fighting Irish basketball team and have some pizza on us!

Wednesday, September 25, 1991
9:00 pm

Theodore's - LaFortune Student Center

Light refreshments will be served - compliments of General Foods
JETS BLOW A LEAD AND BEARS WIN 19-13

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears are either touched by destiny or the New York Jets are plagued by disaster.

Make it a little of each.

The Bears remained unbeaten Monday night and gave coach Mike Ditka his 100th win by twice coming back from almost certain defeat to beat the Jets 19-13 on Jim Harbaugh over the final quarter, set up by a 34-yard field goal by Butler.

It came after a 23-yard TD pass to Cap Bosco had been overruled by replay official Bill Fette and the ball set back outside the goal line even as both teams and fans left Soldier Field.

"We may be the luckiest team in the world," Ditka said. "It may be luck, it may be divine intervention. It's something I don't know what. We got this one on luck. We'll take another one on skill.

Luck isn't the word for it. It was a game the Bears tied on a 6-yard pass from Harbaugh to Neal Anderson on the final play of regulation after Steve McMichael stole the ball from Blair Thomas with 1:54 left at the New York 36. That came after a 23-yard drive with leading 13-6, had stopped Harbaugh at the 1-yard line on fourth down with 3:32 left.

Then the Bears watched as 40-year-old Pat Leahy, one of the NFL's best kickers of the past two decades, missed a 28-yard field goal on first down with 3:50 left in the extra period. Leahy, who missed a 17-yard earlier in the game, had missed only seven of his last 105 inside the 40 entering Monday night's game.

Harbaugh completed 28 of 42 passes for 303 yards, career highs in attempts, completions and yards. He drove the Bears 80 yards in 10 plays for the winning score in a surreal atmosphere rivaled only by the 1989 playoff game in which the Bears beat the Eagles in fog that obscured the field from almost everyone, including the players.

"Yes, we got some breaks with the missed kick," said Ditka, whose team's four wins are a total of 14 points. "But I've been on both sides of games like this. It's much nicer to find a way to win than a way to lose."

For the Jets, who fell to 1-3, it was their second heartbreaking loss to an unbeaten team. Last week, they fell 23-20 to Buffalo after leading 10-2. But this was worse. Much worse.

"I'm at a loss for words," said Jet's coach of 19 years, who had stopped Harbaugh at the 6. "What just happened out there? We'll have to forget that.

"The victory left 22,000 nationwide, that received these highest marks.

CREF FOUR MORE LETTERS EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW.

For further growth potential and diversification, there's the CREF variable annuity with four different investment accounts to give you the flexibility you want as you save for the future.

Together, TIAA and CREF form the nation's largest private retirement system, with over $95 billion in assets and more than 70 years of experience serving the education community. For over one million people nationwide, the only letters to remember are TIAA-CREF.

SEND NOW FOR A FREE RETIREMENT INVESTMENT KIT, including a special report on CREF investments. Mail this coupon to TIAA-CREF Dept. QC, 730 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017. Or call 1-800-442-5733, Ext. 8106.

Name (Please print)
Address
City
State
Zip Code
Phone (  )
FAX (  )
Fax (  )
Institution (If applicable)
Date
Title/Position
Off, Social Security #
Down
CN

---

The victory also increased Chicago's record in September under Ditka to 23-2. The Jets had taken their lead on field goals of 19 and 34 yards by Leahy and a 3-yard TD run by Brad Baxter to cap a 60-yard drive with 3:30 left in the third period.

Butler's field goal at 2:09 of the final quarter, set up by a 28-yard pass interference call on James Hasty, cut it to 13-6. The Bears never got close to the Jets' end zone in the first three periods as Young, the free safety, roamed all over the field, making tackles and batting down passes.

---

Rec

continued from page 20

Dick Rosenthal used in changing the title non-revenue sports to Olympic sports—it has a more positive connotation.

As the number of activities Rec Sports offers has grown, has support the staff department employs to oversee them. Along with Kelly and Derengoski—who is in charge of recreational services—Rick O'Leary runs the Intramural and club sports divisions, another 22 graduate and undergraduate students supervise the issue room and office, and countless students pick up a few bucks as officials or instructors.

All of this activity has come during a time when most universities are curtailing the growth of their intramural programs for lack of funding. Kelly points out, however, that this has never been a problem at Notre Dame.

"We have always had great support from the administration to allow us to grow," he said.

After 23 years at the helm, one wonders how Kelly keeps up his enthusiasm. Or why a man with his experience has not left for greener pastures long before? For him, the answer is simple.

"It still excites me to walk into this building at night and see the activities going on," he related. "We are part of the educational process, a real part."
Sanders says he may rejoin Braves for end

SUNWANE, Ga. (AP) — If the Atlanta Braves ask, Deion Sanders said he will not the Falcons — will decide if the out-of-season-corbater will play the final days of the NL West pennant race.

“I’m just speculative,” Braves general manager John Schuerholz said Monday night. “We may pursue Delon Sanders. We may not. We haven’t talked to the agent. Sanders, who left the Braves for the San Antonio Spurs for the 1990-91 season, said there was a 90 percent chance he would return to the Braves for the final days of the season, but that he hasn’t been asked by the Braves.

“If they come to me and ask me to do it, it’s pretty much done,” Sanders said. “I added he would do "anything it takes" to get back to the Braves in their quest for the NL West title.

Sanders says such a decision is hit to his making.

“I don’t think the Falcons can hold a man back from what he wants to do,” he said.

Sanders has a 12-13 assists record for the New Orleans Saints, but will be off the following week.

During that week the Braves will close their season with three games at Cincinnati and three at home against Houston as they try to catch Los Angeles. The Dodgers had a 1-2-3 game lead Monday, with two weeks to play.

Falcons coach Jerry Glaviste was asked at his weekly news conference about the possibility of Sanders returning.

“I would not allow that unless they would let me be the third base coach,” Glaviste quipped.

Asked if he wasn’t taking the possibility seriously, Glaviste said, "No, but should I? No one’s asked me anything."

If a request came to him, he said, "I wouldn’t play the [NFL] games."

Sanders says such a decision is hit to his making.

“I don’t think the Falcons can hold a man back from what he wants to do," he said.

Said the routinely can do that. They have no power over that. All they can do is lay a fuse on me, which we’re used to that anyway. So, I’m going to have to do what I have to do."}

Rams stick with Everett despite problems

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jim Everett seemed on the verge of joining an elite group that included Joe Montana, John Elway and Dan Marino, the NFL’s finest passers.

But that was two seasons ago. Not only has Everett failed to break into that select circle, this season he’s been slipping back beyond mediocrity.

Everett, who led the NFL in touchdown passes from 1988 to 1990 with 43, has the dubious distinction this year of being the only starting quarterback in the league who hasn’t thrown a scoring pass.

His rating has slipped to 57.9, near the bottom of the league. He has completed 55 of 103 passes for 663 yards, but has been intercepted four times as the Rams have gotten off to a 3-1 start and rank next-to-last in the league in passing.

Everett seemed to be living up to his early promise as passer when he threw for 4,310 yards in 1989 and led the Rams into the NFC championship game at San Francisco. But he had a poor game — completing 16 of 36 passes for 141 yards with three interceptions — as the Rams lost 20-17 to the 49ers.

Late in that game, Everett’s forgettable day was punctuated by a memorable moment in which he was intercepted by San Francisco’s Joe Phillips.

"He was a 1988 Olympic team player, who at times criticized Sanders' work habits, said the trade will be beneficial for both teams.

"We need to be as competitive as possible this season in and Sacramento may have the time he needs to work at being an emerging scorer in the league."

The 6-foot-8, 302-pound Bryant, 1988 Olympic team player who had high expectations, was also returned for a $25,000 bonus for missing not only one kickoff and a field goal, but also all the days of training camp before that.

Spurs trade Schintzius to Kings for Carr

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs traded center Dwaine Schintzius and a 1994 second-round draft pick to the Sacramento Kings on Monday for forward Antoine Carr.

The 6-foot-9, 300-pound Carr, a second-year NBA veteran from Wichita State who led the Kings in scoring last year with a career-best 20.1 points per game.

"We acquired a player that will help us immediately," said Bob Bass, Spurs vice president of operations. "For a man his size, we’ve shown that he can shoot from outside and he can play either forward position."

Bass said Carr was in good shape and had a positive attitude.

Sanders himself was returned for a $25,000 bonus for missing not only a game, but also all the days of training camp before that.

What is an Urban Plunge??

Come to an information meeting:

7:00-7:30 PM
September 25th (Wed.)
Center for Social Concerns
(48 hour inner city experience over Christmas Break)
SPORTS BRIEFS

For anyone interested in trying out for the Notre Dame men's volleyball team, tryouts will be held on Sunday, Sept. 22 in the pit of the JACC at 1 p.m. for freshmen and seniors, and at 3 p.m. for sophomores and juniors. If you have any questions, call Mike Flescher at 289-5311.

Ice hockey coaches are needed. The Irish Youth Hockey League is looking for experienced hockey coaches to help coach young hockey players from the South Bend area. All interested coaches should contact Jackie McAve at 283-6839, or write the league office at P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

Women's ice hockey: Anyone with or without hockey experience who can skate and would like to help coach young hockey players is interested in playing should contact Molly at 283-2685.

Meet new coach John MacLeod and the 1991 Irish basketball team and have some pizza on Wednesday, September 25 at 9:00 p.m. at Theodore's.

WWFI Sportstalk welcomes Dean Lytle to the show tonight. Tune in from 8 to 9 p.m. or call 239-6400 for your insights.

The first interhall cross-country meet will be Wednesday, September 25 at 4:45. Check-in at the golf course at 4:30. Contact your captains with any further questions.

The Irish Dame Rugby team (3-0) beat Bowling Green on Saturday, 33-10. The Irish take on the Chicago Griffins this Saturday.

Irish Insanity will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the women's volleyball game in the J.A.C.C. arena. We will also go as a group to the men's soccer game vs. Indiana Thursday night. The athletic department is providing shuttle service to the game at school field.

---

ND BOXING CLUB

ATTENTION ALL INTERESTED STUDENTS

PRACTICE FOR THE NOVICE TOURNAMENT IN THE FALL BEGAN MONDAY

MEET OUTSIDE THE BOXING ROOM LOCATED JUST INSIDE GATE 3 OF THE JACC, AT 4:00 PM

BRING PEN AND BE READY FOR WORKOUT ANY QUESTIONS CALL TIM PHELAN # 1010

---

PROCTOR & GAMBLE management Systems Division

Pizza Party!

Wednesday, Sept 25 at 7:00 PM

Morris Inn - Alumni Room

By your major is: Engineering, MIS, Applied Math, MBA

Learn more about career opportunities available at Procter & Gamble!

---

BUCS BENCH TESTAVERDE, WILL START CHRIST CHANDLER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Chris Chandler will replace Vinny Testaverde at Tampa Bay's quarterback — at least for this week.

The question that went unanswered Monday is where Testaverde stands with coach Richard Williamson.

The 1986 Heisman Trophy winner limped off the field late in the first quarter with a sprained toe on Sunday and watched Chandler pump life into a listless offense that is one of the reasons the Bucs have started 0-4.

He conceded that Chandler did a good job of moving the club during a 17-10 loss to the Buffalo Bills, but still found it difficult to accept Williamson's decision to change starters for next Sunday's game at Detroit.

"If everyone is happy because we made a good showing against a Super Bowl team, then they're wrong," Testaverde said. "You can't be happy with a loss."

Williamson said Chandler earned the start with a strong second-half performance against the Bills. The decision was facilitated by Testaverde's turf toe injury, which is not considered serious, the coach added.

"I don't want a guy out there who's going to be hand-capped in what he can do, especially at that position," Williamson said. "And Chandler deserves to start because of the way he played. ... What he did was very commendable considering the lack of practice time he had."

Chandler, who in his fourth pro season, was obtained from the Indianapolis Colts last year for the Bills' 1992 first-round draft pick. He started three games in 1990, including one when Testaverde was injured, but has not been able to lead the team to a victory.

DOMER 3 & 6 MILE RUNS & PANCAKE BREAKFAST

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5

10:00 AM

($5.00 in advance / $6.00 DAY OF)

CALL 239-5100 FOR MORE INFORMATION

SPONSORED BY RECREPSPORTS, PLEASE JOIN US.
Women’s soccer tries to continue 5-game streak
Special to The Observer

The Notre Dame women’s soccer team will put its unbeaten streak of five games on the line this week when they take on Division II Siena Heights at 4:00 p.m. on Alumni Field. The Irish (3-0-2) will be facing a Saints squad that lost seven starters from last year’s team, including honorable mention all-American Shelly VanderVendel.

The big guns for Siena Heights are senior forward Dawn Hawk, who finished last season with 14 goals and six assists for 34 points, and junior forward Deb Baierl, who tallied 10 goals and two assists last year.

Junior Lori Lackey will once again be minding the net for the Saints, looking to improve on last year’s 1:19 goals-allowed average.

“Siena Heights is a physical team,” said Irish coach Chris Petrucci. “This is a midweek which is always tough to play. We have some injuries at this point in the season we are going to have to work around.”

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Todd Zeile hit a three-run double and Cliff Floyd added 2-for-2 with a run and an RBI. St. Louis out of a prolonged scoring slump and Lynn Smith pitched a three-hitter as the Cardinals beat Montreal 10-1 Monday in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Reds added a two-run homer, Pedro Guerrero had a two-run double for his first extra-base hit since July 4 and Ray Lankford had a two-run single for the Cardinals. Entering the game, St. Louis had scored only 13 runs in its previous six games and was 1-5 in that span.

Smith (2-0) struck out six and walked one for his first victory since Aug. 21. Dennis Martinez (14-8) allowed only three hits in 2.2 innings.

Cubs 10, Phillies 3
CHICAGO — Luis Salazar hit a three-run homer during a five-run first and Greg Maddux pitched seven-hit ball over eight innings as the Chicago Cubs rounded out the Philadelphia National League Down.

Ryne Sandberg had two singles and three RBIs and Mark Grace, saddled in a 16-for-76 slump, had three of the Cubs’ 14 hits as Chicago moved two games ahead of Philadelphia. Chicago has the best record in the NL East and remains in control of the division battle for fourth place in the NL East.

Maddux (13-10) posted his sixth complete game and second in the last five days, having defeated the New York Mets 4-1 last Wednesday. The Cubs, after suffering a doubleheader loss to Montreal on Sunday, took out their frustrations on Terry Mulholland (15-12), who lasted just two innings.

American League

Orioles 4, Red Sox 3
BALTIMORE — The Baltimore Orioles slowed Boston’s drive toward first place Monday night, beating the Red Sox 4-3 behind rookie reliever Jim Poole.

The loss, Boston’s second straight after four consecutive victories, dropped the Red Sox two games behind Toronto in the American League East, pending the Blue Jays’ game at California.

Poole (2-0) retired 14 of the 15 batters he faced after allowing a single game with the bases loaded in the fourth inning, only allowing one two-out single to Jody Reed in the eighth. Gregg Olson got the last three outs for his 30th save.

Poole came into the game in the fourth with the bases loaded and no outs. He got Tom Brunansky to ground into a game-ending double play and remained in control.

The Orioles made it 4-3 in the bottom of the inning against Mike Gartner (9-8) when Leo Gomez doubled and Mike Devereaux singled him home.

Tigers 2, Indians 1
DETROIT — Bill Gullickson became the American League’s first 19-game winner after suffering a 6-0 loss to Cleveland, breaking a six-game losing streak.

Cleveland’s (19-9) in the Tigers’ first 19-game winner since Jim Morris won 21 in 1986.

Gullickson gave up six hits, walked none, and struck out four in seven innings. Mike Henneman worked two perfect innings for his 30th save.

Eric King (5-11) gave up two runs on one earned — on eight hits in 6 1-3 innings for Cleveland. King walked four and struck out two.

Belles win one, face Goshen today at home
Observer Staff Report

The Saint Mary’s soccer team tries to extend its unbeaten streak to six straight games as it hosts Goshen College today at 4:00 p.m. in the first-ever meeting between the two teams.

The Belles (3-0-2) come into this afternoon’s matchup off a 2-2 tie with Saint Joseph’s College Sunday afternoon in Rensselaer, Ind. Saint Mary’s had two one-goal leads in the contest, only to let Saint Joseph’s tie the score each time.

Junior forward Stacy Winget opened the scoring five minutes into the game for the Belles, and they took a 1-0 lead into halftime. Saint Joseph’s evened the match 15 minutes into the first half, and regulation ended with the game tied 1-1.

Saint Mary’s scored the first overtime, with sophomore Megan DeBlasio putting the team up 2-1 in the opening minute of the period. However, the hosts salvaged the tie with a goal early in the second overtime session.

Out of the starting gate
Back in the 80’s in Breen-Phillis Hall, Father John Fitzgerald, CSC, would preach about the going-on at the end of the school year. It was kind of an annual thing for him—preaching about leaving the confines of the residence hall, and moving on "out there.

Now this might seem like an odd thing to be writing about in September, but nothing seems closer to me at the moment. (And perhaps also for the up-and-coming Irish cohort Chris Petrucci."

This is a mid-week which is always tough to play. We have some injuries at this point in the season we are going to have to work around.

Fitz would talk about the notions of "Church," and how residence life might or might not prepare a person for the experience of the church after leaving this place. He’d talk about his listening to the horde of graduates who struggled with their faith after leaving Notre Dame. They struggled because the intimacy once experienced in the residence halls, and moving on "out there.

But there remains the question of how we make our way in the world, and what we have been given as a gift— the oneness of shared table and the liturgy so eagerly shared by in a Sunday night liturgy. Love, and a challenge — that is, to take the spirit of community so eagerly shared by in a Sunday night liturgy and pass amongst those who do not know of this joy.

We are just now out of the starting gate, as it were, here at the University. It has been a very good year for a whole year of possibility lies before us. Soon enough, we will come to face that last Sunday in May, tangled with the emptiness that is merely to look like, to have things, to be at the starting gate, as it were, here at the University. We are the church. And we have the ability to bring the lessons of concern, found in a small community like the residence hall, all over the world. We have the ability to expand people’s images and the language of God. We have the experience locked in our minds of what it is like for a whole assembly to be bound together in common song.

These experiences, I’ll wager, are not placed in our skulls merely to look back upon with great fondness ten years from now, at an Alumni Reunion. These experiences push us to an awareness of our own present mission. What we have been given as a gift— the oneness of shared table and the ability to celebrate as community— must likewise be passed on as a gift to another in great need.

It could be that May is a great time to think about heading out, hitting the open road, leaving the nest, making our own way, whatever it may be called. There remains the question of how we make our way in the ensuing days and months ahead. And it is just as significant now, out of the starting gate, as it will be at that final springtime liturgy.

CAMPUS MINISTRY . . . considerations

Mass Schedule at Sacred Heart Church:

Saturday, September 28
5:00 pm - Rev. Mark Van Waassenhove, C.S.C.

Sunday, September 29
10:00 am - Rev. John Lahey, C.S.C.
11:45 am - Rev. Mark Van Waassenhove, C.S.C.

Steven C. Warner
Associate Director of Campus Ministry
Director of the Notre Dame Folk Choir
"Short-sheeted my bed, didn't you, Jenkins? ... You know, I could make your life miserable, too!"

"Looks like the bank's been hit again. Well, no hurry — we'll take the big horse."

Tuesday, September 24, 1991

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Recedes
2. New York and Boston
3. Soothing substance
4. Newsworthy
5. In progress
6. Sheltered, as a sailor
7. Bridge fest
8. With nary a soul
9. Talon or primary a test
10. Like same cars
11. Hall
12. Actress Black
13. Same pride

DOWN
1. Gaelic
2. Strip
3. Legal authority: 1753-80
4. Prufa for metrical
5. Made no bid
6. Frequently
7. Cross
8. Heavy weight
9. Certain ships
10. Sterile
11. Tulip plant
12. Albanian coins
13. Convene

CAMPUS

Tuesday

7 p.m. Film, "Cabin in Cotton." Annenberg Auditorium. Admission.

9:15 p.m. Film, "Casablanca." Annenberg Auditorium. Admission.

LECTURES

Tuesday

3:30 p.m. Graduate Seminar, "Theoretical Studies of the Temperature Dependence of Domain Growth Kinetics," Kristen Fichtbom, Pennsylvania State Univ. Room 356, Fitzpatrick Hall.

MENU

Notre Dame

Chicken Fried Steak
Grilled Pollock
Cheese Enchiladas

Saint Mary's

Beef Fajitas
Pork, Oven Fried Fish
Spanish Rice
Deli Bar
Volleyball team seeks to stay on a roll

By RENÉ FERRAR
Associated Press

The Notre Dame volleyball team completes its brief homestand tonight at 7:30 p.m., hosting the Illinois State Redbirds.

The Irish (0-1) currently enjoy a two-match streak, including a 15-10, 15-15, 15-9 thrashing of an injury-decimated Brown School Fields on Sunday. Notre Dame has not lost a match this season, but the night’s tilt will be a tough road for the Irish.

"If the weather changes offensively—putting in a couple new formations and adding a few of the things we can do," said senior Tony Richardson with just over 12 minutes remaining. "Tonight’s win over the Redbirds is a big one, and it’s been a tough road for the Irish.

"The Irish defense, however, shut down the Aces and last year’s national goal-scoring leader, David Will, ending the two-year-old winning streak. Freshman setter Karlan led the Irish with four assists on an assist from senior captain Kenyon Meyer with just three shots on goal on the way to its second consecutive shutout.

Junior Brendon Dillman neted his second goal of the season on an assist from senior captain Kenyon Meyer with just over 12 minutes remaining. Meyer himself lead the Irish with four assists on the night for collected four saves to earn his third consecutive shutout.

"Defense is the most solid part of our team right now," commented sophomore Mike Palmer and freshman Tony Richardson with three saves apiece.

Second-year coach Mike Bortcelli was pleased with the play of his young team against the Spartans.

"I was glad to have everybody some playing time," Brown said. "I’m not real big but the Irish didn’t have all around players and play with a lot of intensity."

The Redbirds are led by se-ni Karen Karlan (200 kills, 115 digs, 15 service aces) and setter Karlan described as "typical of the Illinois State team—a smaller player, but has good control skills, hustle, is quick."

The Irish defense, however, shut down the Aces and last year’s national goal-scoring leader, David Will, ending the two-year-old winning streak. Freshman setter Karlan led the Irish with four assists on an assist from senior captain Kenyon Meyer with just over 12 minutes remaining. Meyer himself lead the Irish with four assists on the night for collected four saves to earn his third consecutive shutout.

..."But probably the most important thing for us was to get everybody some playing experience. That is something that will pay off for us down the road sometime."

Tonight, though, Notre Dame must concentrate on Illinois State (7-6). The Redbirds come into tonight’s match having won only two of their last seven matches, including a game victory over Loyola last Saturday.

So far, the two teams have played one common opponent, defeating the Bolleymakers and losing to the Cardinals.

"They are a good defensive team," Brown said. "They’re not real big, but they have good all around players and play with a lot of intensity."

The Irish are looking forward to tonight’s match against the Illinois State Redbirds. They have an active weekend for the Notre Dame women’s cross country team. "In terms of talent, she is one of the most talented runners in the women’s teams,” Kelly said.

"If she can’t play, we definitely want to go limited in some areas,” Kelly said. "But the Irish will be going to one of their key players.

"If she can’t play, we definitely want to go limited in some areas,” Kelly said. "But the Irish will be going to one of their key players.

"We’re really confident in everybody who plays back there." Kelly said.

Missed opportunities were the story once again for the Irish offense. They collected 14 shots on goal, but couldn’t convert against the Illinois defense.

"The Irish will bring their 2-2 record into Thursday night’s game against perennial Illinois State, before hitting the road for four straight away games.

The Friday night couple of weekends, facing teams such as DePaul (9-2), ranked New Mexico (4-3) and top-ranked Stanford (7-0). The Irish have one final shot on the road sometime.”

Brown, Sunday’s win over the Illinois State Redbirds, said. "They’re really confident in everybody who plays back there." Kelly said.