US News & World Report ranks Saint Mary’s 3rd

By AMY GREENWOOD
Saint Mary’s News Editor

U.S. News and World Report ranked Saint Mary’s College third among midwestern regional colleges and universities in its annual survey of “America’s Best Colleges.”

For the fifth consecutive year, SMC has been included in the survey’s top 15 of the midwestern regional category. The college moved up one spot this year from last year’s fourth place position.

The magazine groups SMC among regional colleges and universities that generally award more than half their bachelor’s degrees in two or more professions and combine the professional programs found at large state universities with intimate settings of small liberal arts colleges. The schools have been divided by region: North, South, Midwest, and West. Many of the 558 schools in the category offer graduate degrees.

The survey, published in the Sept. 30 issue, includes 1,373 four-year schools. Statistics gathered by the colleges and the results of U.S. News’ survey of academic reputations among 2,425 responding college presidents, deans and admissions directors were combined to rank the schools in their respective categories.

The report analyzed five key elements of performance at each school: rank, reputation, selectivity, faculty resources, and alumni giving. Each attribute carries a different weight.

Reputation, selectivity, and resources are determined by 11,000 deans and college presidents who contributed twenty-five percent to the overall score. Financial resources were counted for twenty percent and student satisfaction was worth five percent.

With an overall score of 92.9, SMC ranked first in student satisfaction, seventh in financial resources, 121st in faculty support, 17th in academic reputation, and 20th in student selectivity.

For the second year in a row, SMC ranked first in student satisfaction, seventh in financial resources, 121st in faculty support, 17th in academic reputation, and 20th in student selectivity.

For the second year in a row, SMC ranked first in student satisfaction, seventh in financial resources, 121st in faculty support, 17th in academic reputation, and 20th in student selectivity.

“It seems to me we’re doing a better job, one of the best jobs in the country,” he said.

That a school with the 15th highest endowment in the country would have such a poor ranking in the financial resources category falling from the number 4 spot last year, financial resources was determined by the 1990 dollar value of endowment and general expenditures, divided by its total enrollment. Financial Aid proves to be a major consideration in this category. According to Mary Nuc­ciarone, director of Financial Aid, forty-four percent of SMC students received need-based aid for the 1991-92 school year.

A combination of things make up determinations for selectivity, rejection rates, average Scholastic Allied College Testing Assessment Tests, and high school class standings, included in the see RANK/ page 4

By MONICA YANT
News Editor

For the second year in a row, Saint Mary’s University boasts a 3.7 SAT score, placing it behind Harvard, Stanford, and Yale among the nation’s top universities.

The University’s yearly spending per student, just over $18,000, places it behind other schools on the list. The discrepancy, which led to Saint Mary’s lower ranking in the national universities not included in the magazine’s Sept. 30 issue, is rectified.

Harvard tops the magazine’s rankings again this year, followed by Yale, Chicago, Stanford, Princeton and California Institute of Technology. MIT, Duke, Dartmouth, Columbia and the University of Chicago round out the top ten.

Notre Dame’s freshman retention and graduation rates are also among the best in the country, at 97 and 91 percent respectively.

Clearly, our student body is one of the best in the nation," said Danny Moore, director of Public Relations.

Notre Dame’s poor ranking in the financial resources category

appears to be hindering its ranking. Rooney said. A school’s financial resources is determined by dividing the total value of educational and general expenditures by its total full-time enrollment.

Notre Dame spends just $18,852 per student, compared to $24,671 at Brown and $106,611 by California Institute of Technology. An endowment, he says, ‘the more you spend, the better you are,’ said Moore.

The focus on spending is ironic, he said, because in the same issue the magazine claims to be concerned with the rising cost of education and “The Age of Scarcity” that is plaguing colleges across the country.

“Saint Mary’s is a model in admitting and graduating talented students for less money than most schools,” said Moore. “We’re not likely to go back on our student body is one of the best in the nation," said Danny Moore, director of Public Relations.

Notre Dame’s poor ranking in the financial resources category

appears to be hindering its ranking. Rooney said. A school’s financial resources is determined by dividing the total value of educational and general expenditures by its total full-time enrollment.

Notre Dame spends just $18,852 per student, compared to $24,671 at Brown and $106,611 by California Institute of Technology. An endowment, he says, ‘the more you spend, the better you are,’ said Moore.

The focus on spending is ironic, he said, because in the same issue the magazine claims to be concerned with the rising cost of education and "The Age of Scarcity" that is plaguing colleges across the country.

“Saint Mary’s is a model in admitting and graduating talented students for less money than most schools,” said Moore. “We’re not likely to go back on our student body is one of the best in the nation," said Danny Moore, director of Public Relations.

Notre Dame’s poor ranking in the financial resources category

appears to be hindering its ranking. Rooney said. A school’s financial resources is determined by dividing the total value of educational and general expenditures by its total full-time enrollment.

Notre Dame spends just $18,852 per student, compared to $24,671 at Brown and $106,611 by California Institute of Technology. An endowment, he says, ‘the more you spend, the better you are,’ said Moore.

The focus on spending is ironic, he said, because in the same issue the magazine claims to be concerned with the rising cost of education and "The Age of Scarcity" that is plaguing colleges across the country.

“Saint Mary’s is a model in admitting and graduating talented students for less money than most schools,” said Moore. “We’re not likely to go back on our student body is one of the best in the nation," said Danny Moore, director of Public Relations.

Notre Dame’s poor ranking in the financial resources category

appears to be hindering its ranking. Rooney said. A school’s financial resources is determined by dividing the total value of educational and general expenditures by its total full-time enrollment.

Notre Dame spends just $18,852 per student, compared to $24,671 at Brown and $106,611 by California Institute of Technology. An endowment, he says, ‘the more you spend, the better you are,’ said Moore.

The focus on spending is ironic, he said, because in the same issue the magazine claims to be concerned with the rising cost of education and "The Age of Scarcity" that is plaguing colleges across the country.

“Saint Mary’s is a model in admitting and graduating talented students for less money than most schools,” said Moore. “We’re not likely to go back on
Be careful and protect yourself against crime

"Be careful. Be careful!" I know we have heard it all before, but for some reason, we can’t seem to get away from these ever present words of caution.

I sincerely hesitated about writing yet another column about such an ominous topic as campus crime, but in light of what happened to a friend last week, I decided to put my spasy and indecision aside.

Last Thursday when I returned from work, I learned that my roommate’s backpack had been taken from North Dining Hall.

My reaction was far from spasy when the victim of such a predication was my roommate. You may think that the term “victim” is too melodramatic to describe her situation, but she was indeed an individual who had been victimized.

Her scenario was not an uncommon one. She had gone to a late dinner and left her backpack in the shelves where IDs are checked. When she went to retrieve her staff after she ate, her backpack, and three others, were gone.

She not only lost her backpack, but two pairs of her jeans, books, a theology text, a calculator, a checkbook, an ID, her keys and a dishwasher.

About three hours after the theft had been reported to Security, an unknown woman stopped at the student side of South Bend called to say that she had found my roommate’s checkbook in her front yard.

As relieved as my roommate was to hear the checkbook had been recovered, she was disgusted at the thought that some random individual had rummaged through her things and aimlessly tossed her belongings out the window.

Security, who was wonderful through the entire ordeal, was concerned about the location in which the checkbook had been found. They assumed that the thieves had only been interested in selling the books to local second-hand shops, but suggested we be on the safe sides and change the lock on our dorm-room door, as well as have new dector cards issued to the entire dorm.

By the time my roommate has re-bought everything she lost, she will have spent well over $200. Considering this is the second time around in making such purchases, she will have spent a month’s worth of her summer earnings. What an expensive waste.

The final blow happened when she was notified that the bank that issued her credit cards had heard the news and decided to cancel her cards.

I’m sick and tired of having to feel as if I have to be always on the lookout for potential criminals who may be out there plotting to rob me of my money. I’m tired of using up my whole summer earnings to replace things that I had to replace because my money was stolen.

NATIONAL

Three angry depositors are arrested

WARWICK, R.I. — Depositors angry over the closure of banks and credit unions blocked traffic, scuffled with police and surged across a field owned by a hotel, police said. Three people were arrested. The demonstration Monday, outside a hotel where Gov. Bruce Sundlun was having a fund-raiser, was one of the angriest yet in a series of protests against Sundlun’s handling of the 9-month-old banking crisis. More than $1 billion belonging to about 200,000 depositors remains tied up in banks and credit unions that Sundlun closed Jan. 1 after their private deposit insurer collapsed. The three-hour protest, involving about 400 people, started peacefully but turned into a shoving match with police officers on the scene. At one point, demonstrators surrounded a woman whom an officer was trying to arrest. The officer backed off, but three men were arrested.

OF INTEREST

□ Alzheimer’s Association Walkathon will be this Saturday. Sponsor a walker or participate yourself in this event that will take place on September 23 from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. in Little Theater-Moreau Hall.

□ Urban plunge task force organizational meeting for students who have completed the program and are willing to be part of this year’s Task Force please attend a meeting on September 25th at 6:30 p.m. or Sept. 26th at 4:30 p.m. at the Center for Social Concerns.

□ Industry day 1991 for the college of engineering will be held from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on the first and second floors of Fitzpatrick. Excellent job and summer internship opportunities. Bring your resumes to give to company recruiting representatives.

□ The center for the homeless is having an orientation for potential volunteers 7-9 p.m. September 25th at the Center for the Homeless 813 S. Bend. If you need transportation, a Transpo bus will meet at 6:40 p.m. at the main circle. Call John at 282-8700 or 283-2180.

□ The Saint Mary’s pro-law society is sponsoring a panel discussion on their experiences as women in the legal profession. Judge Jordan, Attorney Diane Conroy, Attorney Jane Miller and Attorney Kathleen Brickley will speak on their experiences as women in law. The panel will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Parlor. All students are invited to attend.

□ The CROP walk will begin at St. Joseph High School at 2 p.m. on Saturday. The annual ten Kilometer walk will take you through a variety of South Bend neighborhoods. Sign up for the walk at your dorm or at the Center for Social Concerns. Money that is raised will be given to hunger relief programs in South Bend and around the world.

□ The CBS tour student workers can pick up paychecks at the Student Activities Office Thursday and Friday.

MARKET UPDATE

□ YESTERDAY’S TRADING/September 24

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>VOLUME IN SHARES</th>
<th>NYSE INDEX</th>
<th>N&amp;O COMPOSITE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>170.40 Million</td>
<td>211.23</td>
<td>1.44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S&amp;P INDUSTRIAL</td>
<td>3,029.07</td>
<td>18.56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS</td>
<td>724</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GOLD ($ 2.90/33.40oz.)</td>
<td>SILVER 6.26 to $4.25/oz.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

□ The Observer (USPS 599 2-2400) is published Monday through Friday, except during exam and vacation periods.

□ The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights reserved.
Salvadoran government and rebels reach a reconciliation agreement

By BEVIN KOVALIK
News Writer

The Gulf War was unjust and set a dangerous precedent for the United States, according to a professor who advocates non-violent solutions to national problems. Holmes, who said the Gulf War was "a solution only after one has exhausted all other peaceful alternatives," the United States failed to exhaust the alternatives, Holmes argued, and could have taken other measures to address the situation.

"As a philosopher and author of books dealing with the ethics of war, Holmes said emphasizes the way peaceful alternatives can be used to solve national problems," he said. "He realized that sometimes what appears an ideal solution tends to be unrealistic in today's complex environment.

"I think people, and in turn have them convince others, that it is possible to make a decision that will bring about a peaceful world," he said. "I have been a part of the International Peace Studies sponsored the lecture.

Holmes says Gulf War set precedent for unjust wars

The Observer

By STEVEN KRAUSS
Towne Writer

WVFI 640 AM is looking to jump to FM stereo, said Win Flaherty at Tuesday's Hall Presidents Council (HPC). Flaherty, the manager at WVFI, was at the HPC meeting to gather support from the presidents in gaining permission from the University to move to an FM stereo signal. Such a move would greatly increase listenership both on and off campus.

The shift to FM would cost about $30,000, but according to Flaherty, WVFI can handle the monetary aspect itself.

"We're looking for permission and opportunity, not money," he said.

That permission may be hard to come by.

According to a written statement distributed by Flaherty, WVFI has a bad reputation with the administration due to "a few infractions of FCC rulings on what can and cannot be said/play/ed on the air." Furthermore, the administration has said in the past that it will not allow the station "to be heard" until deejays abide by the FCC.

Flaherty is meeting with Student Activities within two weeks, with another possible changeover, by which time he hopes to have "something in writing from the student leaders that says they support us," he said.

If the administration agrees to such a move, Flaherty plans to add a number of new syndicated shows to WVFI's line up. He also hopes to provide more local news, weather, traffic news, events, and sports, as well as maintaining an emphasis on alternative music.

Rich Saldana, of the Multicultural Executive Council (MEC), was on hand to announce the agenda for the fifth annual Multicultural Fall Festival, which takes place on Monday, Oct. 15, from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Featured every day during the festival are a series of fireside chats from noon to 1 p.m. on the second floor of the LaFortune Center. A variety of topics will be discussed, including the Soviet Union, Japan, and the rights of indigenous peoples. Lunch will be provided to all who attend.

Also daily, there will be "Culture on the Quad" from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., and entertainment from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., both on Fieldhouse Mall.

Friday, Oct. 4 there will be a Taste of Nations in Stepan Cen­ ter, offering "a global extrav­ aganza of dancing and cuisine."

The festival concludes Sun­ day, Oct. 4 at 2 p.m. with a mass celebrating multicultural­ ism. The Mass, according to Saldana, "will fulfill your Sun­ day obligation, but it will be unlike any other Mass you have ever been to," and will spotlight multicultural singing and dancing.

One of the goals of the MEC is to provide Notre Dame students with "an understanding of other cultures," so they're prepared for an international workforce which they will have to interact with on a daily ba­ sis," Saldana said.

THE ALL NEW POWERHOUSE GYM + AEROBICS CENTER
OW OFFERING SUPER SPECIAL
STUDENT RATES

- 1300 lbs OF STEEL WEIGHT
- INDIVIDUAL EXERCISE PROGRAMS BUILD /REDUCE
- AEROBICS - 35 CLASSES PER WEEK INCLUDING REEBOK STEP AEROBICS CAM STAR CIRCUIT TRAINING EQUIP
- LOCKER, SHOWER, DRESSING ROOMS
- TANNING (ADDITIONAL)
- HOODED & BAJA JEWELRY
- BEADED JEWELRY & NOVA PACKS
- TRADITIONAL INDIAN CLOTHING & MUCH, MUCH MORE!

Guatemalan Sept 23-28

- Sept 23-28

The Observer/West End Road - MISHAWAKA, IN 46540

By KEVIN KOVALIK
News Writer

The Gulf War was unjust and set a dangerous precedent for the United States, according to a professor who advocates non-violent solutions to national problems.

The war was unjust because the decision to engage was made by a handful of people with no confrontation or auth­ orization of Congress," said Robert Holmes, a professor of philosophy at the University of Rochester.

"This war was far from being declared as a last resort be­ cause the Bush administration sought a military solution and victory," Holmes said. "We were about to go to war and that's why the Bush administration sought a military solution and victory, according to Holmes.

"We're looking for permission and opportunity, not money," he said.

That permission may be hard to come by.

According to a written statement distributed by Flaherty, WVFI has a bad reputation with the administration due to "a few infractions of FCC rulings on what can and cannot be said/play/ed on the air." Furthermore, the administration has said in the past that it will not allow the station "to be heard" until deejays abide by the FCC.

Flaherty is meeting with Student Activities within two weeks, with another possible changeover, by which time he hopes to have "something in writing from the student leaders that says they support us," he said.

If the administration agrees to such a move, Flaherty plans to add a number of new syndicated shows to WVFI's line up. He also hopes to provide more local news, weather, traffic news, events, and sports, as well as maintaining an emphasis on alternative music.

Rich Saldana, of the Multicultural Executive Council (MEC), was on hand to announce the agenda for the fifth annual Multicultural Fall Festival, which takes place on Monday, Oct. 15, from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Featured every day during the festival are a series of fireside chats from noon to 1 p.m. on the second floor of the LaFortune Center. A variety of topics will be discussed, including the Soviet Union, Japan, and the rights of indigenous peoples. Lunch will be provided to all who attend.

Also daily, there will be "Culture on the Quad" from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m., and entertainment from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., both on Fieldhouse Mall.

Friday, Oct. 4 there will be a Taste of Nations in Stepan Cen­ ter, offering "a global extrav­ aganza of dancing and cuisine."

The festival concludes Sun­ day, Oct. 4 at 2 p.m. with a mass celebrating multicultural­ ism. The Mass, according to Saldana, "will fulfill your Sun­ day obligation, but it will be unlike any other Mass you have ever been to," and will spotlight multicultural singing and dancing.

One of the goals of the MEC is to provide Notre Dame students with "an understanding of other cultures," so they're prepared for an international workforce which they will have to interact with on a daily ba­ sis," Saldana said.

THE ALL NEW POWERHOUSE GYM + AEROBICS CENTER
OW OFFERING SUPER SPECIAL
STUDENT RATES

- 1300 lbs OF STEEL WEIGHT
- INDIVIDUAL EXERCISE PROGRAMS BUILD /REDUCE
- AEROBICS - 35 CLASSES PER WEEK INCLUDING REEBOK STEP AEROBICS CAM STAR CIRCUIT TRAINING EQUIP
- LOCKER, SHOWER, DRESSING ROOMS
- TANNING (ADDITIONAL)
- HOODED & BAJA JEWELRY
- BEADED JEWELRY & NOVA PACKS
- TRADITIONAL INDIAN CLOTHING & MUCH, MUCH MORE!

Guatemalan Sept 23-28

- Sept 23-28
The Observer Wednesday, September 25, 1991

Money
continued from page 1

ranking of financial resources shows that the magazine’s survey is “flawed” in several ways:
- The method of arriving at the financial resources figure includes the full-time enrollment of both undergraduate and graduate students, while the ranking “is supposed to be just a survey of undergraduate students,” he said.
- Universities that do not have a medical school or other strong graduate programs which that Iraq has been trying to develop nuclear weapons. Iraqi troops seized the papers, and although some were returned early Tuesday, U.N. officials said key documents were missing.

When the inspectors began their work Tuesday, using a video camera at a building of the Iraqi Atomic Energy Commission, they found documents that gave a fuller picture of Iraq’s secret nuclear program, detailing the people overseeing the work and the foreign companies that supplied nuclear materials, Kay said.

The Observer/Brendan Regan

Iraq
continued from page 1

On Monday, Kay’s U.N. team was detained for 12 hours in a Baghdad building after finding what they said was evidence

Key witness dies: murder case still on

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — A key witness in a prison beating death case was among the five inmates killed by prisoners at the State Prison, but an even better witness was in protective custody in a county jail, authorities said Tuesday.

The murder trial of two prison inmates will begin Monday as scheduled.

The two defendants and the dead inmate all were in the maximum-security unit of the prison at Deer Lodge when the riot broke out Sunday.

The five inmates killed were being held in protective custody in the cellblock, including Edmund Davison, prison officials said.

Davison was one of 57 witnesses prosecutors had said might have to testify in the murder trial of Douglas Turner and William Gollehon. They are accused of using baseball bats to beat to death Gerald Armstrong, a prison inmate, in a prison exercise yard a year ago.

At least eight inmates are listed as potential prosecution witnesses.

Davison, 31, was described as a key witness. But another key witness, John Armstrong, was housed in the Powell County jail when the riot occurred. Armstrong claims to have seen Turner and Gollehon beat Pillegi.

Powell County Attorney Chris Miller said Tuesday that Armstrong was moved out of the prison in January after he told authorities what he saw. Asked why Davison was also not housed elsewhere, Miller said: “His (Armstrong’s) testimony was a lot more important than what Davison had to offer.”

Rank
continued from page 1

determination.
The mean SAT score for SMC is 1025. This year’s freshmen scored an average 490 on the verbal section and 530 on the math section. Twenty-two percent of the freshmen were in the top quarter of their college rated in the Midwest top 15. The mean SAT score of both undergraduate and graduate students, while the ranking “is supposed to be just a survey of undergraduate students,” he said.

- Universities that do not have a medical school or other strong graduate programs which that Iraq has been trying to develop nuclear weapons. Iraqi troops seized the papers, and although some were returned early Tuesday, U.N. officials said key documents were missing.

When the inspectors began their work Tuesday, using a video camera at a building of the Iraqi Atomic Energy Commission, they found documents that gave a fuller picture of Iraq’s secret nuclear program, detailing the people overseeing the work and the foreign companies that supplied nuclear materials, Kay said.

•Prizes will be awarded to the winning team
Kick it!

Notre Dame students brave yesterday's low temperatures as Pangborn defeats Dikson in an interhall soccer game.

McDonald's and United combine forces

CHICAGO (AP) — McDonald's Corp. piloted into new territory Tuesday, announcing a joint venture with United Airlines to provide children's meals on domestic flights to Orlando, Fla.

The promotion, called McDonald's Friendly Sites Kids Meals, coincides with United's expanded service to its hub in Orlando, home of Disney World and other attractions.

The meals, which include cheeseburgers and cookies, will be served on about 45 daily flights to and from Orlando beginning Oct. 31. The meals have to be ordered when airline tickets are purchased.

"We think this is a unique new way for McDonald's to reach its customers," said Rebecca Caruso, a spokeswoman for the Oak Brook, Ill.-based fast-food giant.

It was unclear whether this will be the first time a fast-food chain has teamed up with an airline for a promotion. The two may expand the service, company officials said.

McDonald's has been looking for ways to bring in business and, United, like other airlines suffering from fewer travelers because of the recession, is seeking ways to lure people back aboard its planes. Last month, United inaugurated a champagne-and-caviar first-class menu on some of its flights.

"We wanted to create a product in the air that would make flying more fun for children and easier for parents," said Adam Aron, United's senior vice president of marketing.

Kidnappers free Mann, raise hopes for others

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — In another breakthrough in the hostage crisis, kidnappers freed 77-year-old Briton Jack Mann on Tuesday after holding him for 865 days, and a Shiite Muslim leader said an American hostage may soon follow.

Walking painfully and stooped over, Mann was led by officials into a packed news conference at the Syrian Foreign Ministry, where he angrily denounced his captors for chaining him and ordering him around.

"This morning I started another dreadful day. ... I wondered how many more months I've got to stay. ... I wondered how much longer, how much longer, how much longer. Wondering how many more months I've got to stay here," the white-haired, former World War II pilot said in a hoarse, anguished whisper.

"My voice has gone after 2 1/2 years of chaining, of saying: 'Do this, do that. Don't do this' or 'Be quiet!'" Mann said, reaching down to his lapels like a man having a heart attack.

The promotion, called McDonald's Friendly Sites Kids Meals, coincides with United's expanded service to its hub in Orlando, home of Disney World and other attractions.

The meals, which include cheeseburgers and cookies, will be served on about 45 daily flights to and from Orlando beginning Oct. 31. The meals have to be ordered when airline tickets are purchased.

"We think this is a unique new way for McDonald's to reach its customers," said Rebecca Caruso, a spokeswoman for the Oak Brook, Ill.-based fast-food giant.

It was unclear whether this will be the first time a fast-food chain has teamed up with an airline for a promotion. The two may expand the service, company officials said.

McDonald's has been looking for ways to bring in business and, United, like other airlines suffering from fewer travelers because of the recession, is seeking ways to lure people back aboard its planes. Last month, United inaugurated a champagne-and-caviar first-class menu on some of its flights.

"We wanted to create a product in the air that would make flying more fun for children and easier for parents," said Adam Aron, United's senior vice president of marketing.

Kidnappers free Mann, raise hopes for others

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — In another breakthrough in the hostage crisis, kidnappers freed 77-year-old Briton Jack Mann on Tuesday after holding him for 865 days, and a Shiite Muslim leader said an American hostage may soon follow.

Walking painfully and stooped over, Mann was led by officials into a packed news conference at the Syrian Foreign Ministry, where he angrily denounced his captors for chaining him and ordering him around.

"This morning I started another dreadful day. ... I wondered how many more months I've got to stay. ... I wondered how much longer, how much longer, how much longer. Wondering how many more months I've got to stay here," the white-haired, former World War II pilot said in a hoarse, anguished whisper.

"My voice has gone after 2 1/2 years of chaining, of saying: 'Do this, do that. Don't do this' or 'Be quiet!'" Mann said, reaching down to his lapels like a man having a heart attack.

The promotion, called McDonald's Friendly Sites Kids Meals, coincides with United's expanded service to its hub in Orlando, home of Disney World and other attractions.

The meals, which include cheeseburgers and cookies, will be served on about 45 daily flights to and from Orlando beginning Oct. 31. The meals have to be ordered when airline tickets are purchased.

"We think this is a unique new way for McDonald's to reach its customers," said Rebecca Caruso, a spokeswoman for the Oak Brook, Ill.-based fast-food giant.

It was unclear whether this will be the first time a fast-food chain has teamed up with an airline for a promotion. The two may expand the service, company officials said.

McDonald's has been looking for ways to bring in business and, United, like other airlines suffering from fewer travelers because of the recession, is seeking ways to lure people back aboard its planes. Last month, United inaugurated a champagne-and-caviar first-class menu on some of its flights.

"We wanted to create a product in the air that would make flying more fun for children and easier for parents," said Adam Aron, United's senior vice president of marketing.
Yeltsin to take work leave

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin, who skipped a parliament session last week because of a heart ailment, will take a leave from work that could last two weeks, Soviet media reported Tuesday.

The reports renewed speculation about the reasons for recent changes in the 60-year-old Yeltsin’s schedule. With the absence of official word from Yeltsin, the rumors circulating in rumor mills range from Yeltsin’s fatigue to a reluctance to face criticism about his illness during and since the failed Aug. 18-21 coup.

Yeltsin, 60, reaped enormous power and prestige by successfully leading opposition to the coup.

He is the most popular politician in the Soviet Union and if he were to become seriously ill, die, or step down from office, it would further destabilize an already chaotic situation.

Soviet television said that Yeltsin will “travel for a rest” on Wednesday. His destination was not revealed.

The independent Interfax news agency quoted Yeltsin’s spokesman, Pavel Vashchinov, as indicating “the leave could last for a couple of weeks.”

Officials have said an unspecified heart ailment forced Yeltsin to miss a session of the Supreme Soviet legislature last Thursday and Friday, where he was supposed to deliver a speech.

The acting chairman of the Russian legislature, Ruslan Khasbulatov, told lawmakers Yeltsin was not seriously ill.

Aides and officials close to Yeltsin have dismissed suggestions that the president suffers from any serious illness, and attributed Yeltsin’s sudden sickness to his strenuous work schedule.

On Friday, Yeltsin traveled to the Caucasus Mountains to mediate a cease-fire in the disputed area of Nagorno-Karabakh, claimed by both Armenia and Azerbaijan.

He returned to Moscow early Tuesday morning and later met the visiting president of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, Paul Corrigan, to discuss financial and banking reforms, the Tass news agency said.

Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin, the most popular politician in the Soviet Union, will take leave from work of up to two weeks. Rumors are circulating as to reasons behind this unexpected decision.

Georgian president declares state of emergency

TBILISI, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Georgian President Zviad Gamsakhurdia on Tuesday ordered to control Soviet troops in the southern city of Rustaveli, saying he would try to peacefully end a three-day occupation of the government’s broadcasting studios by hundreds of armed opponents.

The steps were likely to escalate the month-long tensions between Gamsakhurdia and a popular Georgian president and his opponents, who charge him with acting like a dictator since winning Georgia’s first popular presidential election in May.

Gamsakhurdia claims the opposition is inspired by Kremlin and foreign agents intent on crushing Georgia’s independence drive.

“The situation in Georgia, particularly in Tbilisi, is very tense politically. There is a civilian and military coup against the president and the parliament,” Gamsakhurdia told a news conference.

Gamsakhurdia said emergency rule would start Wednesday. Georgian officials later announced it would take effect at midnight (4 p.m. EDT Tuesday).

He said there wouldn’t be a curfew, nor would public gatherings be banned. But he said that “there will be strict control in the city.”

Gamsakhurdia said the streets were being patrolled by police, loyalist members of the Georgian National Guard and armed civilian units.

Thousands of protesters have rallied for days for and against the president, blocking central Rustaveli Prospect and surrounding key buildings, including the broadcast studios.

On Tuesday, the dissidents detained four armed loyalties and held them in the studios, said Tengila Khliviani, head of the rebel Georgian National Guard units.

The four said they were searching for stolen cars, but Khliviani said they were trying to provoke opposition members.

They ruled out exchanging them for three opposition guards detained the previous day.

The president said he hoped to end the occupation of the studios but would not use violence.

“We will try to force them to leave that building,” he said.

Holloway asks for new trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for the woman convicted of hiring a hitman to kill the mother of her daughter’s new boyfriend asked for a new trial Tuesday, partly because one of the jurors had been indicted on drug charges.

State District Judge George Godwin scheduled a hearing for Nov. 13 on the motion for a new trial for Wanda Holloway of Channelview.

Holloway was convicted Sept. 28 of trying to hire a hitman to kill Verna Heath, who was competing with Holloway’s daughter for a spot on the high school cheerleading squad. She was sentenced to 15 years in prison but is free pending appeal.

The defense team discovered that Juror Daniel Enriquez was under indictment on cocaine possession charges during Holloway’s trial, lawyer Stan Schroeder said.

The Lilly systems organization offers analysts the opportunity to develop and market human medicines, medical instrument systems, diagnostic agents, and animal health products. Lilly is a Fortune 500 company and has maintained record sales and earnings for consecutive years. The company conducts operations in more than 130 countries. Corporate headquarters are located in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The Lilly systems organization offers analysts the opportunity to develop and maintain business and scientific systems in a multi-vendor environment that utilizes the technologies of IBM, DEC, Apple, Hewlett-Packard, and Gray.

Take advantage of the opportunity to discuss your future in the information systems field.

Eli Lilly and Company is a research-based corporation that develops, manufactures, and markets human medicines, medical instrument systems, diagnostic agents, and animal health products. Lilly is a Fortune 500 company and has maintained record sales and earnings for consecutive years. The company conducts operations in more than 130 countries. Corporate headquarters are located in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The Lilly systems organization offers analysts the opportunity to develop and maintain business and scientific systems in a multi-vendor environment that utilizes the technologies of IBM, DEC, Apple, Hewlett-Packard, and Gray.

Take advantage of the opportunity to discuss your future in the information systems field.

******

*******

Global Information Systems

******
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved a $6.1 billion Democratic measure Tuesday that would extend jobless benefits for up to 20 additional weeks, ignoring a threat by President Bush to veto the bill.

The lawmakers approved the legislation on a 69-30 vote, two more than what would be needed to pass the bill over a presidential veto.

Democratic leaders said they hoped the Senate and House could agree to a compromise version of the measure and send it to Bush as early as next week.

The Senate then rejected a separate Republican plan to cut the capital gains tax rate and take other steps they said would prod the economy. That vote was 60-39.

"President Bush will veto this proposal. It's a proposal," Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas said about the Democratic bill. "And the veto is going to be sustained. And then we ask ourselves, well, what have we done for the unemployed? Zero."

But Democrats, bristling for a veto fight with the president, said the Republican plans were inadequate and said they would not water down their measure by striking a compromise with Bush.

"I'm hopeful we'll have enough (votes) to override a veto, that we'll have that kind of strength and get the job done," said Sen. Lloyd Benton, of Texas, the Democratic plan's chief sponsor.

As they have done since Bush killed a similar measure last month, they accused Bush of indifference to the 300,000 Americans who monthly decline the regular 26 weeks of jobless payments.

"How many more Americans must lose their benefits before this administration acts?" asked Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Bush has argued that the Democratic measure is unnecessary because, he says, the recession — relatively mild to begin with — is ending. He has also complained that the $6.1 billion legislation would push the federal budget even further into the red because the government would have to borrow to finance it.

Knowing they were outnumbered and likely to lose, Republicans pressed their own proposals anyway, hoping to demonstrate that they were ready to fight the recession — and in a way they considered more responsible than the Democrats.

"Let's bring on the leeches; let's pile on the blankets; let's spread the misery," was how Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, characterized the Democratic measure.

Del Cid, the Observer

MIAmI (AP) — Testimony by Manuel Noriega's former aide fell apart under defense questioning Tuesday, casting doubt on the validity of Noriega's 1983 testimony that Fidel Castro had paid to protect the lab.

Luis del Cid, 47, testified at length Monday that he had contacted Noriega in Paris in 1984 to tell him that Panamanian troops had accidentally raided a Belgian cocaine trafficking lab in Panama's Darien province, thinking it was a guerrilla camp.

Del Cid initially claimed he flew immediately to New York and escorted the returning Noriega to a meeting with Castro in Cuba. The indictment says Noriega was paid to protect the lab, and after the Cuban president's mediation, the Panamanian leader was flown to Cuba with millions of dollars in brief money.

But defense attorney Frank Rubino acknowledged that del Cid Noriega's passport and Panamanian press agency credentials, shown to the jury, were in fact fake.

Rubino also noted that a score of Colombians arrested at Noriega's lab in 1983 testified at the trial that Noriega reached an alleged deal with the cartel.

"It couldn't be anything else but a drug lab, nor could it be any other drug house," del Cid said.

The prosecution, meanwhile, successfully barred the defense from asking the witness about a score of Colombians who testified to Noriega's self-admitted role in selecting agents from alleged drug pilots and couriers contacted for the CIA.

"I'm hopeful we'll have enough (votes) to override a veto, that we'll have that kind of strength and get the job done," said Sen. Lloyd Benton, of Texas, the Democratic plan's chief sponsor.

As they have done since Bush killed a similar measure last month, they accused Bush of indifference to the 300,000 Americans who monthly decline the regular 26 weeks of jobless payments.

"How many more Americans must lose their benefits before this administration acts?" asked Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Bush has argued that the Democratic measure is unnecessary because, he says, the recession — relatively mild to begin with — is ending. He has also complained that the $6.1 billion legislation would push the federal budget even further into the red because the government would have to borrow to finance it.

Knowing they were outnumbered and likely to lose, Republicans pressed their own proposals anyway, hoping to demonstrate that they were ready to fight the recession — and in a way they considered more responsible than the Democrats.

"Let's bring on the leeches; let's pile on the blankets; let's spread the misery," was how Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, characterized the Democratic measure.

Del Cid, the Observer

Squirrel lover

A Notre Dame student takes a break from academia to play with one of the many critters who enjoy life under the dome.

Protesters fined $185 for last April's actions

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — More than 100 abortion protesters arrested in April have been asked to pay $185 each or risk further legal ac-

Letters were sent Sept. 10 by County Attorney Anthony Zappia to each of those arrested demanding payment by Oct. 1. The letters explain the $185 represents $115 in court costs, $20 for city and $50 for the county to reimburse them for the costs of arresting, transporting, supervising and feed-

The letters were sent after a conference with City Attorney Richard Nussbaum, Zappia said.

On April 10, 107 people were arrested by South Bend police outside the Women's Pavilion abortion clinic. Most of the protesters were incarcerated for five days and released after County Prosecutor Michael Barnes worked out an agree-

The agreement required the protesters to provide their correct names and addresses to authorities before they could be released from custody. Origi-

The charges said the protesters remained on the property of the abortion clinic in violation of the law, when they had no legitimate interest there and after police asked them to leave.

The penalties included credit for the time served in custody — equivalent to a 10-day jail term, as well as assessment of the court costs and restitution for the city and county.

The sentence also included non-re-

The arrests and incarceration resulted in expenses of $3,850 for the city and about $8,000 for the county, officials said.

Nussbaum and Zappia said a lawsuit may be filed against protesters who do not pay seeking a judgment that eventual-

The arrests and incarceration resulted in expenses of $3,850 for the city and about $8,000 for the county, officials said.

Nussbaum and Zappia said a lawsuit may be filed against protesters who do not pay seeking a judgment that eventual-

Squriel lover

INDUSTRY DAY COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING September 25 CAREER FAIR FITZPATRICK HALL (Floor 1 and 2) 11:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

* Representatives from over 30 major companies

* Opportunities for full-time employment andsummer internships

* Bring your resumes!

Sponsored by the JOINT ENGINEERING COUNCIL and SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner on Tuesday launched a drive to hush the nation's loudest jets by the end of the decade, without severely disrupting airline finances.

Skinner issued new noise reduction regulations that gave airlines the flexibility they had asked for, while promising more peace and quiet in the new century for most of the nearly 3 million Americans now exposed regularly to high levels of jet racket.

Skinner put the cost at anywhere between $880 million and $4 billion, while one industry group said it likely will be $100 billion. In any case, it is heavily tilted in favor of the airline industry and "to reduce the noise in a standard way so that noise will not be simply pushed to another area."

"These regulations provide a good balance that meets the needs of the 300 million Americans who fly, and the several million people who live near airports," Skinner said. "We're giving airlines flexibility but setting standards for them to meet. How fast that will occur will depend on the economic condition of the industry."

Noise-reduction activists expressed disappointment at the announcement, said it is heavily tilted in favor of the airline industry and "to reduce the noise in a standard way so that noise will not be simply pushed to another area."

"I think its going to have to be a delaying of the new regulations that likely will make it more difficult for individual airports and communities to institute more restrictive noise rules."

"Stage III" aircraft with "hush kits" or quieter engines, or to replace them with quieter "Stage II" aircraft.

When the transition to quieter aircraft is complete, Skinner said, the number of people exposed to high levels of aircraft noise will be reduced by about 85 percent, from about 2.7 million to around 400,000.

Skinner said the project will cost airlines $880 million to $4 billion, depending on whether they choose to retrofit noisy aircraft. "Stage 2" aircraft with "hush kits" or quieter engines, or to replace them with quieter "Stage II" aircraft.
EDITORIAL

Saint Mary’s sports merit promotion

In the world of sports, attention is not solely determined by the size of a team’s market or by the number of its fans. At Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s, however, you would be hard pressed to discover the truth of that statement from a strolling passerby. Notre Dame football and basketball is publicized to the hilt. The University of Notre Dame has a larger fan base due to its location, size, and the presence of a college town near the campus. People are led to wonder, then, why Saint Mary’s athletic programs are apparently unheralded.

Is it that other successful programs cannot flourish in the shadow of Notre Dame as a fan-magnet such as Notre Dame? Considering the achievements of Saint Mary’s teams to date, that is unlikely.

Belles soccer is maturing into a consistently nationally-competitive program, as is basketball, tennis, track, volleyball, swimming and softball.

But even in South Bend, Saint Mary’s programs are rarely heard about. Last season alone, the Belles soccer team took Division I Notre Dame to the wire, losing 1-0 with only five minutes left to play. Saint Mary’s diver Jim Nottingham advanced all the way to the national tournament, and placed respectively in two events.

Nonetheless, sports people outside of the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s campuses are unlikely to have heard of either. Why? Because the teams are not marketed. That is not to say that the Belles must adopt a Madison Ave. approach to Division III athletics. Rather, Saint Mary’s administrators and students must show support for their teams. Promotions on campus and in town might serve to enhance the image of Belles teams. Similarly, better resources to fans and the media alike would make following and covering Saint Mary’s athletic events— including recreational events such as track meets, fitness classes and so on—not only more enjoyable but more likely but more possible.

Saint Mary’s is a high-quality liberal arts institution, and it is surprising that it does not herald its athletic programs more widely. Why not publicize a soccer team that competes successfully, or a well-run basketball program in its division? By attracting greater attention to its athletic programs, Saint Mary’s could bolster the image of an already impressive institution.

Saint Mary’s, in that it has moved from up to the NCAA’s Division III, has taken great strides, and stands on the threshold of taking still greater strides. National recognition, however, is difficult and elusive without first gaining the recognition of your campus and civic community.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Abortion problem is an economic one

Dear Editor:

I feel that both the Anti-Choice and Pro-Choice advocates are missing the fundamental question surrounding the issue of abortion. Perhaps both groups, each of which is concerned with the protection of the individual’s rights, can join forces to address the more pertinent question of why women are having to choose whether or not to terminate their pregnancies in the first place.

I think the answer to this question lies in the contradictory messages American society gives women. On one hand, it advocates that we respect and preserve life at any cost, regardless of whether the woman’s pregnancy is planned, wanted or feasible.

On the other hand, unwed mothers (the majority of women who choose abortions are single) are met with shame and judgment. The child, and are confronted with inadequate social services, making it nearly impossible to raise a child alone.

The unwillingness to support women and their children, along with the refusal to confront, and deal positively, with human, and especially female, sexuality reflects society’s repressive approach to the role of women and children in our culture.

If we are concerned, therefore, with preserving the sanctity of life during pregnancy, we as a society must charge our hypocritical policies to prove that we value the lives of the mother and child after birth as well.

While I also agree that we must act in order to teach our society to respect the sacredness of life, I have strong reservations as to whether these goals can truly be accomplished through the activities of the Right To Life movement. The tunnel vision of the movement prevents it from looking beyond the nine months of gestation, to the eighteen years of care and support that our children require.

Therefore, instead of getting arrested for preventing women from exercising their rights, perhaps it would be more productive to get arrested for protesting our government’s refusal to provide adequate day care, child support, maternity and paternal leave, and adequate health care for our mothers and children.

Let us get arrested for demanding that our government stop spending our taxes on “national security” when our children don’t even know the meaning of neighborhood security because of drug and gang wars, unemployment, poverty and homelessness.

In addition to these steps, we must educate our children and adolescents to respect each other’s sexuality, and give them the right to protect themselves with birth control, so that they can make informed and mature decisions for themselves. In effect, we must empower the women and children of our society, so that this endless cycle of oppression will stop.

If you truly believe that all life is precious, then act for all human life—not just for the first nine months of it.

Michaela Bruzzese
O’Hara Grace Townhouse
Sept. 18, 1991

OCTOBER 3, 1994

Mind overflowing?

Henry S. Haskins

Mind overflowing? Send a thought to:
QUOTES. P.O. Box Q, ND, IN 46556

QUOTE OF THE DAY

“Good behavior is the last refuge of mediocrity.”

Henry S. Haskins

Mind overflowing?
ND students treated as equals at SMC

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Karl J. Eichelberger's editorial, "Schools are Separate Institutions" (Sept. 18, 1991). Perhaps the idea of separate schools is so disconcerting to Mr. Eichelberger because he strives to show that Notre Dame has a better football team than Mary's College. As for the issue of football tickets, I have never had a problem paying extra for my tickets, nor has anyone else I know. We are thankful that the school is able to set different prices for different schools.

Abortion is never better than being responsible

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Mr. Jennifer Rasmussen's (The Observer, Sept. 18) editorial about a woman's "fundamental" right to abortion. I must say I am growing extremely weary of such selfish and irresponsible attitudes. Ms. Rasmussen questions which is better: a safe, "healthy" abortion or a so-called back alley abortion? But I ask, which is better: giving an unwanted child up for adoption, or better yet, taking responsibility for one's actions, or murdering an innocent child? Ms. Rasmussen made commentary which insinuates that abortion must be "forbidden," to actually be human, if birth is the "only form of growth." This is not what I meant when I found that abortion was growing for approximately the next nine months.

While in the womb, the child is actually a person, with a distinct body and mind of the woman's body. After the child is born, he or she must still be loved and nourished by another in order to survive. When does the right point is, life begins when an egg and sperm unite and immediately begin to multiply and grow. That which is growing is living. After conception, a human exists. 0, and Jane Z. Public dream of sending their young child to the ball to be accompanied by their competent. I just think that the most competent person to get is denied simply because he or she doesn't have the "inside track." At the big game from Notre Dame, you can write your own ticket. It is true, there is a lot of talk about front row seats to the circus (although it has been show about what Notre Dame's grad's heroes are Barnum and just appears that way sometimes. Many of these people would be excellent candidates for the job. On Saturday, Septembe, I didn't feel that the announcer felt the same way. I had no idea that NBC Sports was taking footage in broadcasting from Nazi propagandists. However, the woman's body. After the child is born, he or she must still be loved and nourished by another in order to survive. When does the Right to Abortion ever become a right? For some reason, the general public views Notre Dame as just another stepping stone to its education. Utterly lost person might even think Notre Dame superior to its isn't a bad school by any means. On the other hand, it does not have the same prestige as Saint Mary's. I believe that not only is it safe, it is also educational.

We all know the cliché that it's not what you know but who you know that's important. This is not true. I am saying that idiosyncratic rule that Notre Dame is one must merit but more because of where his or her degree is from. There are plenty of intelligent people at Notre Dame. Him it takes incredible grades and a certain amount of money. Thus, when one becomes an Irish Alumnus (bow your head), one is automatically a part of the student body. This is placed in pursuit of moneymaking: connections.

The reason for my hostility is that this individual was never, I soon felt otherwise. Mr. Eichelberger related a story about a young woman he met at a party who claimed to be a "demi." He later discovered that this individual was actually a Saint Mary's student. Mr. Eichelberger asks, "Are SMC students not proud of where their degrees are from?" He goes on to say that he should spend more time trying to "merge the two."

Abortion is never better than being responsible

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Karl J. Eichelberger's editorial, "Schools are Separate Institutions" (Sept. 18, 1991). Perhaps the idea of separate schools is so disconcerting to Mr. Eichelberger because he strives to show that Notre Dame has a better football team than Mary's College. As for the issue of football tickets, I have never had a problem paying extra for my tickets, nor has anyone else I know. We are thankful that the school is able to set different prices for different schools.

Abortion is never better than being responsible

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Mr. Jennifer Rasmussen's (The Observer, Sept. 18) editorial about a woman's "fundamental" right to abortion. I must say I am growing extremely weary of such selfish and irresponsible attitudes. Ms. Rasmussen questions which is better: a safe, "healthy" abortion or a so-called back alley abortion? But I ask, which is better: giving an unwanted child up for adoption, or better yet, taking responsibility for one's actions, or murdering an innocent child? Ms. Rasmussen made commentary which insinuates that abortion must be "forbidden," to actually be human, if birth is the "only form of growth." This is not what I meant when I found that abortion was growing for approximately the next nine months.

While in the womb, the child is actually a person, with a distinct body and mind of the woman's body. After the child is born, he or she must still be loved and nourished by another in order to survive. When does the Right to Abortion ever become a right? For some reason, the general public views Notre Dame as just another stepping stone to its education. Utterly lost person might even think Notre Dame superior to its isn't a bad school by any means. On the other hand, it does not have the same prestige as Saint Mary's. I believe that not only is it safe, it is also educational.

We all know the cliché that it's not what you know but who you know that's important. This is not true. I am saying that idiosyncratic rule that Notre Dame is one must merit but more because of where his or her degree is from. There are plenty of intelligent people at Notre Dame. Him it takes incredible grades and a certain amount of money. Thus, when one becomes an Irish Alumnus (bow your head), one is automatically a part of the student body. This is placed in pursuit of moneymaking: connections.

The reason for my hostility is that this individual was never, I soon felt otherwise. Mr. Eichelberger related a story about a young woman he met at a party who claimed to be a "demi." He later discovered that this individual was actually a Saint Mary's student. Mr. Eichelberger asks, "Are SMC students not proud of where their degrees are from?" He goes on to say that he should spend more time trying to "merge the two."
Opposition to 'New Catholic Disneyworld'

Disney Corporation has recently complained about a decline in visitors as a result of the University of Notre Dame’s large draw of tourists. Walt Disney himself complains “the University of Notre Dame is rapidly becoming the new Catholic Disney World.”

Last week, Father Monk “Mickey Mouse” Malloy met with Disney to discuss the growing problems Disney faces as word of the New Catholic Disney World spreads. Disney complains the University stole many of his ideas. The consolation prize is the immense fireworks display at last weekend’s Sesquicentennial celebration and the upcoming parade, complete with floats, as cases in point.

Also cited was the cheerleader’s new cheer, “who is the leader of the club that’s made for you and me? N-O-T-R-E-D-A-M-E.” The cheer allegedly is a distortion of the “Mickey Mouse Club” theme song.

The Disney corporation questions whether ND’s plan to get a rotating statue of Mary on top of the dome was a plot to “one up” Disney. University authorities refused Disney’s claim saying “It was only a joke. The statue is meant to watch over ‘God Quad’ because it is a dark and dangerous area. Since the lights would detract from the aura of the dome the statue is the next best method of security.”

Students also claim Notre Dame is guilty of stealing ideas from the Magic Kingdom. Reportedly, all females turn into pumpkins at 2 a.m.—much like the popular “Cinderella” fairy tale.

Students also claim the ridiculously long lines for popular items such as football tickets, English classes and lunch at the Dining Hall rival the lines for Disney’s popular “Space Mountain” and “Jungle Cruise” rides.

According to some reports, Notre Dame, Disney’s college of choice for its entire Disney Corporation each year, Monk says a large chunk of this revenue is made up of bookstore profits. The bookstore sells everything from sweatshirts and musical buttons to toilet seat covers that play the fight song when flushed. Disney said he “only wished” he could have been as “ingenuous” when it came to such items. The ND bookstore is sure to meet the “peaceful” protests of this Alumni amusement park. Pictures with Coach Lou Holtz, head mascot, are rapidly becoming one of the largest attractions. Though, said to be only a cardboard look-alike, visitors flock to the attraction and the line grows longer every weekend.

Perhaps the largest amusement of all is the football game. ND alumni are so dazed by the obscene amount of money to broadcast the games live, that they may require new glasses. To garnish the orange income circulating on campus is that the University plans to change its Leprechaun mascot to a Peacock: “The Fighting Peacocks.” Coach Holtz ardently opposes this idea since it may require the team uniforms to be a rainbow of colors. Holtz says his players are “no wimpy peacocks.”

To draw more TV viewers, the University wants to increase the grandiose spectacle of the halftime show. The Navy game will be the first trial of the new Spectacle magnifique. Untold sources report the University plans to rehearse the “Dancing Elephants” used in the 1990 Orange Bowl to enhance this gala event. However, this change would involve the training and hiring of a special “Elephant Dung” clean-up crew which would entail an additional increase in tuition.

Monk has told Disney that the similarities are "striking" and proposed a new task force, the "Monsketeers," to investigate the matter further.

Jeanne Blasi is assistant production manager of The Observer. Her columns appear every third Wednesday in Accent.

‘ANSAR’

Palestinian play delivers message of universal suffering and oppression

By KERRY COLLIGAN

DANIEL CASEY

Accent Writers

In December, 1987, an uprising began in Palestine. The Israeli government acted against the participants of the intifada, the uprising, arresting many of its members. In 1988, Nidal Khatib was arrested and detained for six months in Ketziot, although he was never formally charged, tried or convicted of any crime. Ketziot is a prison in the Negev desert also known as Ansar 3.

"Ansar," a production of Al-Masrah for Palestinian Culture and Art grew out of this and similar events. "Ansar" is a factual account of Mr. al-Khatib's experiences in prison. One other cast member, Ismail Dabbagh, joins him in portraying the horror and brutality of life at Ansar 3.

In an article in the Baltimore Sun August 16, 1991, Haim Gordon, a Visiting Faculty Fellow at Notre Dame’s Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, expressed his frustration at the rigid policies of the Israeli government.

These policies have resulted in a general feeling among the long-term inmates that, "...they are being forgotten by the world". Gordon then stated, "In short, Israeli authorities have begun...it seems forgotten in Ketziot the meaning of their past. The feelings such as these are expressed graphically in the play, "Ansar."

Mr. al-Khatib’s experiences convey a message of sacrifice, hope and of insistence on human values and the struggle for freedom and for a better tomorrow. These messages are presented on stage in a simplistic manner.

"Ansar" delivered several important messages. The experiences of Mr. al-Khatib are, regretfully, not unique. "Ansar" attempts to deliver a universal message of suffering and oppression.

These messages and political commentaries are coming to Notre Dame along with other related events this weekend.

By KERRY COLLIGAN

DANIEL CASEY

Accent Writers

In December, 1987, an uprising began in Palestine. The Israeli government acted against the participants of the intifada, the uprising, arresting many of its members. In 1988, Nidal Khatib was arrested and detained for six months in Ketziot, although he was never formally charged, tried or convicted of any crime. Ketziot is a prison in the Negev desert also known as Ansar 3.

"Ansar," a production of Al-Masrah for Palestinian Culture and Art grew out of this and similar events. "Ansar" is a factual account of Mr. al-Khatib's experiences in prison. One other cast member, Ismail Dabbagh, joins him in portraying the horror and brutality of life at Ansar 3.

In an article in the Baltimore Sun August 16, 1991, Haim Gordon, a Visiting Faculty Fellow at Notre Dame’s Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, expressed his frustration at the rigid policies of the Israeli government.

These policies have resulted in a general feeling among the long-term inmates that, "...they are being forgotten by the world". Gordon then stated, "In short, Israeli authorities have begun...it seems forgotten in Ketziot the meaning of their past. The feelings such as these are expressed graphically in the play, "Ansar."

Mr. al-Khatib’s experiences convey a message of sacrifice, hope and of insistence on human values and the struggle for freedom and for a better tomorrow. These messages are presented on stage in a simplistic manner.

"Ansar" delivered several important messages. The experiences of Mr. al-Khatib are, regretfully, not unique. "Ansar" attempts to deliver a universal message of suffering and oppression.

These messages and political commentaries are coming to Notre Dame along with other related events this weekend.

By KERRY COLLIGAN

DANIEL CASEY

Accent Writers

In December, 1987, an uprising began in Palestine. The Israeli government acted against the participants of the intifada, the uprising, arresting many of its members. In 1988, Nidal Khatib was arrested and detained for six months in Ketziot, although he was never formally charged, tried or convicted of any crime. Ketziot is a prison in the Negev desert also known as Ansar 3.

"Ansar," a production of Al-Masrah for Palestinian Culture and Art grew out of this and similar events. "Ansar" is a factual account of Mr. al-Khatib's experiences in prison. One other cast member, Ismail Dabbagh, joins him in portraying the horror and brutality of life at Ansar 3.

In an article in the Baltimore Sun August 16, 1991, Haim Gordon, a Visiting Faculty Fellow at Notre Dame’s Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, expressed his frustration at the rigid policies of the Israeli government.

These policies have resulted in a general feeling among the long-term inmates that, "...they are being forgotten by the world". Gordon then stated, "In short, Israeli authorities have begun...it seems forgotten in Ketziot the meaning of their past. The feelings such as these are expressed graphically in the play, "Ansar."

Mr. al-Khatib’s experiences convey a message of sacrifice, hope and of insistence on human values and the struggle for freedom and for a better tomorrow. These messages are presented on stage in a simplistic manner.

"Ansar" delivered several important messages. The experiences of Mr. al-Khatib are, regretfully, not unique. "Ansar" attempts to deliver a universal message of suffering and oppression.

These messages and political commentaries are coming to Notre Dame along with other related events this weekend.

By KERRY COLLIGAN

DANIEL CASEY

Accent Writers

In December, 1987, an uprising began in Palestine. The Israeli government acted against the participants of the intifada, the uprising, arresting many of its members. In 1988, Nidal Khatib was arrested and detained for six months in Ketziot, although he was never formally charged, tried or convicted of any crime. Ketziot is a prison in the Negev desert also known as Ansar 3.

"Ansar," a production of Al-Masrah for Palestinian Culture and Art grew out of this and similar events. "Ansar" is a factual account of Mr. al-Khatib's experiences in prison. One other cast member, Ismail Dabbagh, joins him in portraying the horror and brutality of life at Ansar 3.

In an article in the Baltimore Sun August 16, 1991, Haim Gordon, a Visiting Faculty Fellow at Notre Dame’s Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, expressed his frustration at the rigid policies of the Israeli government.

These policies have resulted in a general feeling among the long-term inmates that, "...they are being forgotten by the world". Gordon then stated, "In short, Israeli authorities have begun...it seems forgotten in Ketziot the meaning of their past. The feelings such as these are expressed graphically in the play, "Ansar."

Mr. al-Khatib’s experiences convey a message of sacrifice, hope and of insistence on human values and the struggle for freedom and for a better tomorrow. These messages are presented on stage in a simplistic manner.

"Ansar" delivered several important messages. The experiences of Mr. al-Khatib are, regretfully, not unique. "Ansar" attempts to deliver a universal message of suffering and oppression.

These messages and political commentaries are coming to Notre Dame along with other related events this weekend.
FOUND: A pair of glasses in a blue glasses case. (found between the library and Pd). Call at 289-3254 or at 277-8391.

Wanted
MAKE $500-600 $5-10 hrs. by selling 50 ton college t-shirts. No financial obligation. Smaller or larger quantities available. Call atelie 1-600-258-2043.

BABY BANDNEEDED TUESDAY/THURSDAY 8-8 FOR ONE YEAR OLD. MUST HAVE OWN TRANSPORTATION. REFERENCES REQUIRED. CALL AT 277-9036.

BABY BANDNEEDED EVERY SUNDAY MORNING FOR CHURCH NURSERY CALL FOR MORE INFO. 2471-4177.

NO DUMPING RING AT SENIOR BAR OR UNINSECURE BLACK ONYX WITH FLANNER BETWEEN FITZPATRICK AND LOBNE.

LOST: My girlfriend gave me a black, yellow men's gold watch in about 7:15pm between St. and the D-2 dept. ref. 1st. Call 277-5689.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A very thin, black, a classy black. Call 277-8000. I must have it or I'll lose my BBB.

LOST: I found it plz call David at x4076.

BLACK ONYX WITH FLANNER BETWEEN FITZPATRICK AND LOBNE)"

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: I lost my girl friend's gold watch in flip computer lab Wed. night call @271-1515.

LOST: Found man's gold watch in flip computer lab Wed. night call @271-1515.

LOST: My little brother fell of his bike at 252-3890.

LOST: A very thin, black, a classy black. Call 277-8000. I must have it or I'll lose my BBB.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.

LOST: A 1000.TICKET FOR THE CAROLINANS VS U.C. ON SATURDAY. CALL 277-3000.
AMERICAN LEAGUE BASEBALL

NATIONAL LEAGUE BASEBALL

Wednesdays Games

- Kansas City at Seattle, 7 p.m.
- New York at Chicago, 7:35 p.m.
- Cincinnati at Toronto, 2:30 p.m.
- Milwaukee at San Francisco, 7:35 p.m.
- Los Angeles at Houston, 7:35 p.m.
- Montreal at New York, 7 p.m.
- New York at Boston, 7:05 p.m.
- San Diego at Chicago, 6:35 p.m.
- Toronto at San Francisco, 7:35 p.m.
- Pittsburgh at Los Angeles, 6:35 p.m.

Thursday's Games

- Boston at Pittsburgh, 7:35 p.m.
- New York at Toronto, 7:05 p.m.
- Cincinnati at Chicago, 7:05 p.m.
- Milwaukee at Texas, 7:35 p.m.
- Los Angeles at San Diego, 6:35 p.m.
- Montreal at Detroit, 7 p.m.
- Boston at Minnesota, 7:05 p.m.
- New York at Texas, 7:35 p.m.
- Cincinnati at St. Louis, 7:35 p.m.

Friday's Games

- New York at Denver, 7:35 p.m.
- San Diego at Los Angeles, 7:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Kansas City, 7:05 p.m.
- San Francisco at Montreal, 6:35 p.m.
- New York at Boston, 7:05 p.m.
- Boston at Detroit, 6:35 p.m.
- Chicago at Cincinnati, 7:05 p.m.
- Texas at San Diego, 7:05 p.m.
- Seattle at Toronto, 4:15 p.m.

Saturday's Games

- New York at Cleveland, 2:05 p.m.
- Boston at Washington, 7:35 p.m.
- St. Louis at Cincinnati, 2:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Kansas City, 2:05 p.m.
- San Francisco at Montreal, 7:35 p.m.
- New York at Seattle, 7:05 p.m.
- Cleveland at Chicago, 2:05 p.m.
- Detroit at Cincinnati, 6:35 p.m.
- Washington at Boston, 7:35 p.m.

Sunday's Games

- New York at Boston, 1:15 p.m.
- St. Louis at Chicago, 1:15 p.m.
- Kansas City at New York, 1:15 p.m.
- St. Louis at Pittsburgh, 1:15 p.m.
- Chicago at San Francisco, 1:15 p.m.
- San Diego at Seattle, 1:15 p.m.
- Boston at Atlanta, 1:15 p.m.
- Chicago at St. Louis, 1:15 p.m.
- San Diego at Kansas City, 7:35 p.m.

Monday's Games

- New York at Boston, 7:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Chicago, 7:35 p.m.
- Detroit at Washington, 7:05 p.m.
- San Diego at San Diego, 7:05 p.m.
- New York at Toronto, 7:35 p.m.
- Cleveland at Cleveland, 7:35 p.m.
- Houston at Houston, 7:35 p.m.
- Chicago at New York, 7:35 p.m.
- St. Louis at St. Louis, 7:35 p.m.
- Kansas City at Kansas City, 7:35 p.m.

Tuesday's Games

- New York at New York, 7:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Chicago, 7:05 p.m.
- San Francisco at San Francisco, 7:05 p.m.
- New York at Seattle, 7:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Kansas City, 7:05 p.m.
- Boston at Boston, 7:05 p.m.
- Cleveland at Cleveland, 7:05 p.m.
- Seattle at Seattle, 7:05 p.m.
- Kansas City at Kansas City, 7:05 p.m.

Wednesday's Games

- New York at New York, 7:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Chicago, 7:05 p.m.
- San Francisco at San Francisco, 7:05 p.m.
- New York at Seattle, 7:05 p.m.
- Chicago at Kansas City, 7:05 p.m.
- Boston at Boston, 7:05 p.m.
- Cleveland at Cleveland, 7:05 p.m.
- Seattle at Seattle, 7:05 p.m.
- Kansas City at Kansas City, 7:05 p.m.
Twins magic number down to 3

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Scott Erickson had a no-hitter until Dan Pasqua homered in the seventh inning and went on to record the last two outs in the ninth, as the Minnesota Twins reduced their magic number to three, with a 7-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Erickson had pitched a no-hitter through six innings when he gave up Pasqua's home run, his 12th of the season, with two outs in the seventh.

The win moved the White Sox, 71-101, one-half game in front of the Cleveland Indians, who were swept by the Tigers in Detroit, 4-2, on Sunday.

The Indians, 77-100, had won 14 straight games before the loss.

The White Sox, 47-63, have won six of their last seven games.

The Twins moved to 71-100, 3 1/2 games in back in the American League East, with one more win than the Indians.

CINCINNATI (AP) — They know what they have to do to break out of their 0-4 tailspin. The Cincinnati Bengals know what they have to do to break out of their 0-4 tailspin.

They'll have time to figure out how to do it. The AFC Central Division is off this Sunday, giving the Bengals two uninterrupted weeks to ponder their worst start in seven years.

"Anytime you have one week after a loss, it's really long," offensive lineman Anthony Munoz said. "Now we have two. It's going to be a long two weeks until we play Seattle.

"We have two weeks off to think about what happened the last four weeks," quarterback Boomer Esiason said. "We're all hurting. This really stinks, being 0-4." Their 34-27 loss Sunday to the Washington Redskins left them one of four winless AFC teams. They're 0-2 in the AFC Central, which they won last year, and trail Florida by three games.

There were a few encouraging signs Sunday, primarily on offense. The Bengals overcame a 17-point deficit in the second half with their most productive game of the season — they scored just 34 in their first three games.

"We put 27 points on the board. That's something we don't do anymore," Esiason said. "We got a chance to use our speed outside. We threw the ball to everyone on the field. That's the type of offense we're accustomed to.

The offense again self-destructed with penalties and dropped passes, the defense let an opponent drive for the winning score in the closing minutes again, and the special teams allowed a punt return for a touchdown.

There were enough mistakes Sunday to make the next two weeks very long.

"You want to have a good week where you have a win because you bring everybody happy and excited," Walser said. "Now, everybody's got to keep their heads up. It's going to be tough."
Exceeding Expectations

At Deloitte & Touche, our mission is to consistently exceed the expectations of our clients and our people.

For you, this means unlimited opportunities to grow, professionally and personally.

So why not join a firm that will exceed your expectations?

To learn more about how we can exceed your expectations, stop by and see us.

Event: Beta Alpha Psi Presentation
Date: October 2, 1991
Location: La Fortune Hall, Montgomery Theatre
Time: 7:00 p.m.
West bests East in Women's Interhall

By ELAINE J.C. DEBASSIGE
Sports Writer

P.W. 9, P.E. 6

In the battle between the Pasquerilla's, West pulled out a victory over East, 9-6. Both teams had a tough time in the season opener. After the freshness of the season wore off, however, both teams got down to business.

On their first drive, P.W's offense moved the ball to within field goal range and Amy Rohs kicked a 22-yarder.

P.E. was able to score on a reverse to Nikki Bright. However, it was not enough to pull past the Plaid Wave, as a stellar defensive play was turned in by Jennifer Marten, who blocked an extra point attempt.

P.W. was down 6-3 until Gail Carey caught a touchdown pass from rookie quarterback, Bethany Riddle to secure to win in the second half.

P.E. will try and improve their record tonight when they play Farley. P.W. hopes to stay on track in their game versus Knott.

Lewis 6, Farley 0

Lewis held off a tough Farley team in overtime to win 6-0. The only score of the game came from a 5-yard pass to Julie Fleck. They were unable to score on the two point conversion.

The solid Chicken defense was led by sophomore linebacker, Megan Heyward. Lewis hopes their defense stays tough in their next match against Seigfried.

Farley will regroup and prepare for their next game against the P.E. Pyros.

"The execution was not what we expected. We expect a definite improvement," said Farley coach, Doug Orsagh.

Seigfried 6, Knott 0

In double overtime, Seigfried managed to shutout Knott, 6-0. Freshman quarterback, Marcella McNeill ran for the only touchdown of the game. McNeill was aided in her touchdown by an earlier key reception by Colleen Knight.

P.W. quarterback Bethany Riddle calls the offense behind the power blocking of center Amy Rohs against P.E. in women's Interhall action on Sunday.

The Seigfried Slammers' defense came through early in the game with an interception by Megan Frost.

Knott's defense also did an excellent job. Now that they have a game under their belt, they expect some improvements against P.W. tonight.

Walsh 14, Badin 8

This matchup was the highest scoring game Sunday at Carter. Walsh edged Badin, 14-8.

It was long and quick drives that pulled Walsh over the top. Millie Wallace was the first to score for Walsh. She caught a long pass from quarterback Mimi Gibbons.

Jacquelyn Logue burned Badin when she escaped for a 40-yard run in overtime. The Logue touchdown was just enough to get Walsh past Badin.

Badin faces Off-Campus Sunday in hope of improving their record.

B.P. 8, Off-Campus 0

In a surprising victory, the Blitz blasted Off-Campus in a game led by a strong and young defense.

Freshman tailback, Megan Duffy, made the only touchdown in the contest. She had a 30-yard run on a pitch. The two-point conversion came when Lynn Irving connected with Lisa Peterson.

Both teams will head up their second games Sunday at Carter.

Please recycle. Newspaper, aluminum, and glass can all be recycled. Please use the recycling bins in the dining halls and dormitories.

Thank you.

What is an Urban Plunge???
Come to an information meeting: 7:00 - 7:30 pm September 25th (Wed.)
Center for Social Concerns (48 hour inner city experience over Christmas Break)

University of Notre Dame International Study Program in Jerusalem

Spring 1992

APPLICATION DEADLINE OCTOBER 15, 1991
STUDENT SPEAKERS
And Jerusalem Program Director,
Sr. Mary Aquin O'Neill Wednesday, September 25, 1991
4:30 P.M. 105 O'Shaughnessy
ALL ARE WELCOME!
Irish women destroy Siena Heights Saints

By MIKE SCRUDATO
Sports Writer

After overcoming a slow start and a first half scare, the Notre Dame women’s soccer team went on to dominate an overmatched Siena Heights squad, 11-2. In doing so, they upped their record to 4-0-2.

"I was glad to see us finish off the opportunities we created for ourselves," a relieved Irish coach Chris Petrucelli said after the game. "You have to be happy any time you score that many goals."

After Jodi Hartwig scored the first of her two goals 45 seconds into the match, the Irish seemed to wake up and five minutes after the Saints' second goal, Stephanie Porter scored her sixth goal of the season, when she put in a rebound off a Susie Zilvitis shot.

Hartwig and Zilvitis each added goals before the end of the half, to give the Irish a 4-2 lead at the intermission.

A more aggressive and inspired Irish team emerged in the second half, as they scored seven goals and limited Siena Heights to two shots on goal.

"At halftime, we talked about the two goals we lost up, and the mistakes that they came from," Petrucelli added. "Also, we decided to move the ball up quickly, and draw their sweeper out. The speech was more tactical than motivational."

Overall, it was a great all-around performance, and everyone with the exception of Michelle Lodryga, the Irish's starting goalkeeper, saw some playing time. Eight different players scored goals, including Hartwig, Porter, and Tasha Strawbridge, who each scored twice.

Petrucelli was particularly proud of the Irish defense, which held Siena Heights to two shots on goal.

"They all did a great job," he upset. "They all showed that they can play, which is something I already knew. If they weren't able to they wouldn't be on this team."

But that's when the Redbirds made a comeback of their own, rattling off six points in a row to seize the momentum. Fittingly, the match ended on a short-lived. The Irish seemed to wake up and five minutes after the Saints' second goal, Michelle Lodryga, the Irish's starting goalkeeper, saw some playing time. The Irish made the necessary adjustments and got back on track.

It looked like the comeback would be completed in the fifth game. Taking advantage of the rally scoring format (points are scored regardless of which team is serving), the Irish grabbed an 11-6 lead, and Illinois State called time out.

"They just froze a little bit," Brown concluded. "We definitely had our opportunities, but we didn't capitalize."

Notre Dame now has three days to recover before traveling to Oxford, Ohio on Friday and Saturday for the Miami of Ohio tournament.

Barton

continued from page 20

team. Nothing seems to bother her. We'll be cutting back her full schedule to keep her strong in the spring. I think she will have a good year.

Notre Dame is not ranked in the current preseason poll, but Barton stands at 23rd in the nation in singles. The Irish open their season with the Irish Invitational on Oct. 4-6, but Barton will have an early start, as she will be competing in the National Clay Court this week in North Carolina.

During the past few seasons, Barton has had nagging arm injuries, and because of this, she took the whole summer off. She just started practicing this past week, and now will be playing on the clay with the top 32 players in the country.

"I'm kind of nervous," she said, "since I haven't played a match since May, but it can't hurt playing against the top people. I'm going to take it slow in the fall and see what happens so I can play everything in the spring."

Don't look for the layoff to slow her down, though, and expect her to be stronger each match. This year's schedule is full of potential top-25 teams, but no matter who she plays, Barton is capable of pulling out a win. She proved that last year in the National Indoors, upsetting then eighth-ranked Eveline Hamers 6-2, 6-3 in what she called her biggest win.

Although she doesn't foresee a career in tennis because of her arm, Barton would like to keep her involvement in the game on a different level.

"I would like to go to graduate school and then teach elementary school," said Barton. "I could see myself teaching tennis or being a college coach. Hopefully, I could start out as an assistant coach in graduate school."

This year's Irish team is again loaded with talent, losing only one senior from last year's squad, and with Barton leading the way, the Irish have the potential to surprise quite a few people.

"Hopefully," said Barton, "we'll be able to get into the top 20 and stay there, and pull off some big wins as a team."

Men's Soccer vs. Indiana Hoosiers

7:30 pm, School Field

School Field is located on Eddy Street
Less than 1 mile south of ND campus

Thursday, September 26

only you can prevent forest fires.
RecSports means more diversity for ND students

By RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

Editor's Note: This is the last of a two-part series concerning the Rec Sports Program.

Although intramural and club sports form the lifeblood of Rec Sports, as evidenced by its recent growth in personnel and size, the addition of the recreational services division in the 1980's has added a new dimension to the department.

"We're more than just athletes now," said Rec Sports Director Tom Kelly. "We've made an effort to offer more than just competitive sports."

The new division came into formal existence in 1983 when Sally Derengoski was added to the full-time staff. Her mission: to develop a program that would provide the Notre Dame student body with fitness opportunities outside the realm of organized sports.

"It is designed to be made up of non-competitive or low-competitive activities, more social and educational in nature," she explained. "Many programs have an instructional aspect to them."

The division itself is made up of four components. The first are the fitness and wellness programs coordinated by Diane O'Leary. According to Rec Sports offers—aerobics, body-fat testing, a newsletter—not only to students but to faculty and staff in conjunction with the Human Resources Department.

Second, there are the outdoor recreation activities such as cross-country and downhill skiing, disc golf, and horseback riding. Third, there are the special events, including the department's most important and most special, Late Night Olympics.

"It's the one chance the entire year that the student body can take over the physically every square foot of this building," Derengoski said. The fact that we do this for the good of others (all proceeds go to the Saint Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary)."

Similarly, the women's flag football team sociology major Greg Kiger, the two of them supervise 55 different activities, including some one might not expect to find on the menu.

"Over the years, we've gotten involved with some of the less traditional sports such as ultimate frisbee and wallball," O'Leary said. "It's done in some ways is that it has re.

Still, the heart and soul of the intramural programs are the basketball and football programs. In the winter season, one could find any of over 100 basketball teams playing in one of the three intramural basketball courts in the Joyce A.C.C.

"It's a part of life on campus that people look forward to every fall Sunday," O'Leary said. "But that's only natural considering the history of the school."

Due to safety considerations and/or a lack of funding, Notre Dame is one of the few schools left in the country which offers a full-contact, tackle football program. Tradition and the type of student Notre Dame attracts have a lot to do with the decision not to abandon tackle football.

"We're able to do it because our expertise in advising the club in how they should be conducted," he said. "However, many of them have worked their way up through the system and by this time, their members are aware of the best way to run a club."

O'Leary also heads up the intramural division of Rec Sports. Along with intramural coordinator Greg Kiger, the two of them supervise 55 different activities, including some one might not expect to find on the menu.

"Over the years, we've gotten involved with some of the less traditional sports such as ultimate frisbee and wallball," O'Leary said. "It's done in some ways is that it has re.

In the wintertime, one of the biggest pluses we share is logistical advice. "The biggest plus we share is our expertise in advising the clubs in how they should be conducted," she said. "However, many of them have worked their way up through the system and by this time, their members are aware of the best way to run a club."

"It's absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.

"It is absolutely the most expansive division," she claims. "That's not to brag, ei.

"New opportunities abound for RecSports. The recreational services area can experiment more than the other two. Firearms training, procuring a climbing wall for the university and archery clinics are just some of the off-beaten-path activities Derengoski is planning.
CROSSWORD

ACROSS

24 Move around aimlessly
26 Sacks
30 It also reeks
31 A camo
34 Skip in lover
36 Mimic
39 Loss of a word’s ending
41 Beau
42 Repeat
44 Trist
46 “As You Like It” forest
47 Repeat
50 Appearance
71 Food fish
72 Food fish

DOWNS

1 Network for Koppel
2 The coin
3 Columbus mileku
4 Pool-room item
5 Small ones: Var
6 Vase
7 Renata Scotto is one
8 Former name of Greenfield
9 Shower-room items
10 Thin as —
11 Fam’d metaphysical poet
14 Pot toph-energy
15 Put forth energy
17 Biblical oldster
18 Enginner Albrecht —
22 Scant
24 Jezebel’s deity
26 The — of some
28 Character in talking and building
35 John Lindsay, Var.
37 Scent
48 — of some
49 Dawn goddess
51 Namesake of a
52 He wrote “The Care of Time” of 1981
54 Small singing bird
56 Kind of tenant?
57 W.W. II drop undergraders
63 Allorse for beauty
64 Character in talking and building
67 Yours and mine
68 A — clock scholar
69 East German city
70 Ivory
71 Summer time in NY
72 Food fish

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

PLATO

SLOPE

ERAS

* SELLER*

THE

* SAND*

FELLOWS

* EDGES*

CARNIVORES

* STREGA*

RAVENNA

* HUNGRY FLIES*

SEVENTY-FOUR

* SKIRMISH*

THE STAR WARS TRILOGY

THURSDAY - STAR WARS FRIDAY - THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK SATURDAY - RETURN OF THE JEDI

ALL MOVIES AT 8 & 10:30 P.M. CUSHING AUDITORIUM ADMISSION: $2
Volleyball drops tough 5-set game to ISU

BY RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

Yogi Berra would have been proud. Twice.

The Notre Dame volleyball team rallied from a two-game deficit against Illinois State, only to blow an 11-6 lead in the fifth and deciding game to lose the match 15-11, 15-8, 9-15, 15-8, 11-12 last night at the Joyce ACC.

The loss snapped Notre Dame’s five-match win streak and dropped the Irish to 6-2 on the season. They now head out on the road for five straight matches.

Notre Dame obviously suffered from the weakened status of sophomore setter Janelle Karlan, who has been ill for the past couple of days. The Irish came out tentative from the outset, allowing Goshen the first game and the Redbirds (8-6) raced out to a 7-0 start.

“We were tight and nervous,” Irish coach Debbie Brown said.

“We knew that we had a different setter (senior Jennie Bruening) in, and I felt like if we could just get through the first game, that we would be okay. I don’t think we lost the first game because of Jennie; the team didn’t play well for her.”

However, Brown was forced to go to Karlan in game two, and the sophomore, although clearly not 100 percent, hit a spark under a rattled Notre Dame team.

The Irish took a 6-4 lead in the second game, but Illinois State came back, scored eight straight points to wrest control of the game back and take a 2-0 lead in the match.

Both co-captains Alicia Turner and Chris Chequette, usually two of Notre Dame’s steadiest players, had sub-par performances last night that also contributed to the team’s troubles.

“In the first two games, we just made a lot of mistakes,” Brown said. “Both Chris and Alicia struggled a little bit tonight. We made hitting errors and enforced errors that we usually didn’t make.”

But starting in game three, Notre Dame began looking like the team that had knocked off five opponents in a row. Turner served five consecutive points—scoring back-to-back aces—and the Irish pulled out game three.

Notre Dame then took game four, scoring seven straight points at the end to take the match at two games apiece.

“In the third and fourth games, we settled down and didn’t get a lot of hits,” Brown said. “It took a while to find a group that we ended up with. We finally found the right six; we just ran out of gas in the end.”

“Notre Dame played much more composed in this third game,” said Winget.

The Observer/Garr Schwartz
Senior captain Tracy Barton will lead the Irish tennis team this year with her powerful backhand.

Saint Mary’s soccer continues unbeaten streak

BY BRIDGET McCOURT
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary’s soccer team is carrying an unbeaten record into its third week of the season. The Belles, who have played extremely well and look to improve, are 4-0-2 and ranked fourth in the Great Lakes Region, the highest-ever ranking for a Saint Mary’s team.

Sunday, the Belles took on the squad from Division II St. Joseph’s College. The long and physical game tested the strength and stamina of Saint Mary’s.

The first goal was scored by Saint Mary’s junior Stacy Winget on an assist from sophomore Megan Deluso. St. Joseph’s rebounded and regular-time ended in a 1-1 tie.

In the first overtime, Deluso used an assist by Jenny Kapland to put Saint Mary’s up 2-1. Once again, St. Joseph’s answered with a goal of their own. No goals in the second overtime ended the game in a 2-2 tie.

Yet the Belles game out of the game with more than a tie on their record.

Dominated by a large shot ratio, the team learned that it can play with Division II teams, and that it can elevate its level of play to meet any team it comes up against.

Yesterday, the Belles hosted Goshen College. The Goshen soccer team is in its first year as a varsity sport after many years as a club team.

Saint Mary’s went into the game looking for a decisive win in the first meeting of these teams.

They got it, as they defeated Goshen 9-1.

The score at the end of the first half saw Saint Mary’s up 2-0 on goals from Deluso and Winget. Winget assisted on the first goal and sophomore Amanda Eiler assisted on the second.

The second half was an explosion of goals. Deluso took a pass from senior Anne Hartzel to score three minutes into the half. Senior co-captain Greer Gilliland went unassisted on the fourth goal, while Hartzel and senior co-captain Kelly Cook combined for another Belle score.

Finally, with the score at 5-0, Goshen scored its first goal. Winget scored again with an unassisted goal, and Cook passed to freshman Molly Lawrence for the seventh Saint Mary’s goal of the day. Deluso netted one more before freshman Colleen Chicon kicked in the final goal of the game.

“This game allowed us to execute all that we learned offensively and defensively in practice,” said Winget. “We hope to continue this in our next game.”

That next game is on the road Saturday against Hope College.

Coach Ken Van Meter is expecting “a very even contest against a strong team.”

“We are just hoping every game to strive to get better as a team,” stated Gilliland.

The Belles will be at home on October 4 against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Barton leads Irish talent with experience and talent

BY RICH SZABO
Sports Writer

As the Notre Dame women’s tennis team tries to begin the 1991 fall season, look for captain Tracy Barton to lead the Irish in their continued development as a national power.

Barton is a Fillmore, Illinois native and the only student with Division II experience on the team. She also doesn’t hurt that she hits the ball harder than most guys.

“I started when I was five,” said Barton. “I used to sit and watch and I was taken along with her. She would play and I would just watch the game and I’ve played ever since. I played a lot of tennis and did some sports and try to do it well.”

She certainly has accomplished that, and her tennis resume is quite impressive. In high school, Barton won the Ohio singles championship as a freshman, and was the runner-up as both a sophomore and a senior. Her team captured state titles three times, and Barton achieved Prince All-American status. Team practices certainly must have been intense, as five of the seven members now play college tennis.

She wanted to avoid a college that was too tennis oriented, but wanted to be part of a developing program. Notre Dame fits the mold perfectly, and Barton has enjoyed watching the team develop as it has.

“By the time you get to college, you get a lot of ups and downs. The last two years with Jay (Loudswick) have been great, as was being ranked last year, both as a team and individually. Now we’re seeing a lot of the top recruits looking at Notre Dame.”

Barton has qualified for the NCAA tournament each of the last two years. She lost in the first round both years, including falling to eventual champion Debbie Graham last year, but doesn’t consider a third year her primary goal.

“The most important thing is that the team does well,” she said. “My going to the NCAAs would be an extra. I would love to go again, and hopefully win a match this time. I would like to see some of the other girls go. Last year it was great having Melissa (Harris) put into the NCAAs too.”

Loudswick, the Irish coach, likes what Tracy brings to the team.

“Her experience is a big thing,” Loudswick said. “She’s been able to play in the NCAAs and her experience there will help the rest of the team. She’s not afraid to play anyone, she likes the tougher competition better, and it’s a big plus for the