Haitian soldiers reportedly killed at least 150 civilians

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Handfuls of soldiers have left at least 150 dead and 300 wounded in Haiti this week, according to reports Thursday. A radio station said 30 to 40 people were massacred in one teeming slum, apparently because its residents supported the deposed president.

Most of the attacks reportedly occurred from Monday, when President Jean-Bertrand Aristide was ousted by rebel soldiers, to Wednesday. Tension appeared to have eased somewhat Thursday, and more people were venturing into the streets.

Haitian politicians meanwhile said they welcome international pressure on the army to restore Aristide, Haiti's first freely elected president, to power. But most said they opposed any military intervention.

Aristide told reporters in Washington he believed pressure from the United States and its allies will save his country from "a small gang trying to kill democracy." White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said unconvincingly that the coup "will not succeed."

"It would mean the return of Aristide, a leftist priest inaugurated Feb. 7, has thus far relied on economic and diplomatic sanctions to press the Haitian army.

But in Caracas, Venezuela's defense minister said the army was on alert in preparation for a multinational military operation in case diplomatic efforts to restore democracy in Haiti fail.

The Pentagon says it has forces in place to send troops to evacuate Americans from Haiti, but spokesmen said Thursday there appeared to be little chance of this happening.

Radio Lumiere, a Protestant-run station, said an army-sponsored massacre occurred Wednesday afternoon in a shantytown in the western part of Port-au-Prince, the capital.

Security forces who picked up the body of a dead soldier in the slum returned later with reinforcements and went house-to-house shooting residents indiscriminately, the radio station said. Some residents were forced to dig holes to bury their loved ones on the spot, the report said.

There was no independent confirmation of the report, but hospital officials spoke of 150 dead and more than 300 wounded since the coup began. The military has long been an agent of repression in the impoverished Caribbean nation.

Fewer soldiers seemed to be on the streets of this capital city of 1 million Thursday, but an apparently nervous military issued an order banning street demonstrations.

Three days after the coup that ousted Aristide, there still appeared to be no government in place.

Brig. Gen. Raoul Cedras, the army's provisional commander-in-chief, said Wednesday that military leaders do not seek power. He appeared to be putting up for parliament to keep Aristide out of office and hold new elections.

Political leaders said they were concerned by a comment made Wednesday by President Bush that left open the possibility of intervention by "a multinational force of some sort" under the aegis of the Organization of American States.

At a meeting in Washington, the OAS agreed Thursday to impose sanctions on Haiti, one of the world's poorest nations, if democratic rule is not immediately restored. It said it would send a delegation to Haiti to demand Aristide's restoration.

"Before coming, the OAS delegation must make clear whether multinational armed force is envisioned. If it is, they will have trouble finding people to talk to," said Marc Bazin, a runner-up in last year's presidential elections.

Bazin, a socialist, also said armed intervention should be ruled out. Both Gilles and Bazin, a conservative, said Aristide should be permitted to return, however.

Soldiers on Monday shot a 17-year-old youth to death outside Aristide's shelter for homeless children in Port-au-Prince, according to a supervisor, Millius Lahrun. He said five other youths from the home were shot and wounded Tuesday when they went to search for their friend.

Aristide, a 38-year-old Roman Catholic who was Founded an orphanage in 1986, and it was one of his most prized achievements. It was thought the attacks might have been intended to carry a symbolic message for Aristide.

Aristide on Thursday continued to arrive at the capital's main hospital. One soldier, wounded in both legs, was being treated on the floor of the waiting room. Emergency room officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said they were turning away all but the most serious cases because of overcrowding.

The emergency room officials said that since Sunday night, 324 wounded people had been treated. They said at least 150 were killed.

O'Brien discusses Native Americans

By KATHY MASSA

News Writer

In spite of losing their land and facing obstacles to their religious and political beliefs, the American history, Native Americans maintain their heritage and dignity. Professor Sharon O'Brien said at a fireside chat Thursday.

O'Brien spoke about Native Americans during a lecture on "The Rights of Indigenous Peoples."

President Andrew Jackson implemented the forced relocation of Native Americans from their tribal lands, herding them into Oklahoma, O'Brien said. Over 4,000 Indians were buried on this infamous Trail of Tears. Today, two-hundred individual Indian cultures exist on over 500 poverty-stricken reservations throughout the United States.

The Europeans, according to O'Brien, brought to the new world the idea of the ownership of land, a concept foreign to the Native Americans. O'Brien said that, "The Spanish and the Portuguese believed the Pope to be God's representative on earth; thus, he had the power to divide God's earth."

According to O'Brien, religion is inextricably linked to the Native American way of life. She emphasized the importance the Native American's original homeland, which, she said, is a critical component of worship practices.

When the settlers began to move west, they invaded the religious lands of the Native Americans. In spite of the First Amendment, it was not until 1924 that Indians could legally practice their religion.

In 1903, a certain tribe was told that their land would not be taken form them if three-quarters of the male Native Americans voted against a take-over. Of course, three-quarters did vote against such a measure. Regardless of the vote, the government "took it (the land) anyway and did not even pay for it," said O'Brien.

Even in the last decade, some entrepreneurs in California wanted to build a 5-mile road through sacred tribal grounds, O'Brien said. The tribes involved appealed to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appealed to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court on the grounds that the case involved appeal to the Supreme Court.
"Mac Attack" keeps students laughing??

Question: What do the Notre Dame basketball program and any feminine hygiene manufacturer have in common?

Answer: Downright goofy advertising.

This week, the ND basketball program unleashed a massive, er...thunderdome campaign designed to attract student ticket buyers. To say nothing more about the campaign designed to scare you is to say nothing definitely different. And funny. And...embarrassing.

Dubbing the Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center a "thunderdome" in a bit of play on words, the campaign admits that they wanted to try a goofy advertising. "If we had to choose between a serious and humorous approach, we'd go for the humorous," said Sports Marketing Manager Bill Scholl, "It's a new era for the University of Notre Dame: the Wacky, "Mac the Knife," and "The Cloudman," and thrashes it around in the mud, thrashes it around some more, then leaves it to die and be buried by family and friends who are hoards by over the greater Michiana area.

The ad is funny. Sports information and the local advertising agency who worked on the campaign admit that they wanted to try a humorous approach. "It's a new era for us," said Sports Marketing Manager Bill Scholl, "we wanted to get attention."

Attention maybe. Humiliation more likely.
Priest talks on El Salvador murders

By JOHN ROCK

The recent convictions of two Salvadoran army officers for the murders of six Jesuit priests in 1989 represent "a very meager start" towards accountability for the army, said Father Terry Coonan, a Holy Cross priest who has worked in El Salvador.

"The army has operated with complete impunity since 1977, in fact there was no accountability for the army up until this trial," said Coonan.

Coonan, who has twice visited El Salvador with various human rights groups, worked with the Jesuit community to which the slain priests belonged. There, he learned first-hand of many of the events surrounding the massacre.

The night before the murders, the army cordoned off the entire campus of the Central American University, according to Coonan.

"Only the army was allowed access to campus," he said.

The intended target of the massacre was Ignacio Ellacuria, who had become "sort of the intellectual voice for the rebels," according to Coonan. Ellacuria was one of the six priests slain.

The priests' housekeeper and her daughter were killed so as to eliminate any witnesses, Coonan said.

The army and right-wing of Salvadoran government later circulated rumors that the guerrillas had been responsible for the killing, "but it was very clear to anyone with eyes that that wasn't possible," he said.

The conviction of Colonel Guillermo Benavides, the man most believed to have ordered the killings, surprised many people, including Coonan.

"The general consensus among the Salvadoran people was that he would get off," he said. Although five enlisted men were convicted for the December 2, 1980, murders of three Maryknoll nuns, it is the first time that an army officer was brought to trial, Coonan said.

"It is interesting that it (the unprecedented trial) happened only after much U.S. pressure," he added. In fact, Rep. Joseph Moakley (D-Mass.) spearheaded the movement to suspend monetary aid to El Salvador until a successful prosecution of the murderers was complete, Coonan said.

Despite the convictions, Coonan believes there is still some military cover-up.

"A crime of this dimension doesn't happen without someone higher up ordering it," he said.

Another inconsistency with the trial was the acquittal of seven enlisted men, some of whom had confessed to the killings.

"That is the dissatisfaction the Salvadoran Church has with the fact that in fact only the mid-level officers have been convicted. The soldiers that actually did the firing have not been convicted," he explained.

While touring the war-torn country, Coonan met with Maria Julia Hernandez. Hernandez heads the human rights group Tutela Legal, which was originally sponsored by Archbishop Oscar Romero, himself murdered by right-wing extremists.

Coonan specifically asked her what message she would like to give to the people of El Salvador.

"The deaths caused by your country, the United States, by support of a military regime is what you should know," said Hernandez. "U.S. policy has been counter-productive and actually murderous."

"You should read the gospels and see that U.S. involvement in El Salvador is the antithesis of the message of Jesus...to converted, you must change the minds and hearts of your country," Hernandez said.

Coonan said he was struck by the similarities between the campaigns of the Central American University and Notre Dame.

The university is located in the heart of the rebel stronghold of San Salvador. It is an "upper-middle class, quiet area with lots of green grass and trees, very Notre Dame-like," he said.

The Jesuit's murders there were as much in a shocking, unexpected atrocity as if six Holy Cross priests were dragged out and shot out on the South Quad, he said.

The similarities stretched far beyond the physical aspects of the schools.

The focus of the two schools is similar, according to Coonan, because they believe in "educating them their students" with some ideas of justice with the conscious idea that their faith has spreading the message of Jesus around the world in very concrete ways," he said.

Mary lectures scheduled

Special to The Observer

Three talks on Mary, the Mother of God, will take place Monday, October 7, at 7 p.m. in the library auditorium.

The talks are features of "A Tribute to Our Blessed Mother," a program organized by Dolores Tanto-To-Suader, Notre Dame librarian.

Father Patrick Gaffney, associ­ate professor of anthropology at Notre Dame, will speak on "The Seven Sorrows of the Blessed Mother: A School for Virtue."

Brian Miller, a 1966 Notre Dame alumnus, will speak on "The Miracle of the Sun at Fatima." Rebecca Moody, a junior at Clay High School, will speak on a pilgrimage she made in 1989 to Medjugorje, the Croatian village in which apparitions of Mary have been reported since the summer of 1981.

Further information on "A Tribute to Our Blessed Mother" may be obtained by calling (219) 239-6904 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. or 234-7287 after 7 p.m.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Avowed white supremacist Byron De La Beckwith was extradited to Mississippi on Thursday to stand trial a third time for the 1963 slaying of civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

Two Hinds County, Miss., deputies escorted the 70-year-old Beckwith from the Hamilton County Jail less than two hours after a federal judge refused to further delay extradition. He arrived in Mississippi several hours later.

U.S. District Judge R. Allan Edgar rejected requests by Beckwith for both a temporary restraining order and a writ of habeas corpus that would have halted Beckwith’s return. It ended his 10-month battle to avoid going back to Mississippi.

Dressed in a suit and tie, Beckwith seemed in good spirits as he left the jail, stopping to engage in a brief but spirited exchange with several reporters.

“I didn’t kill him. Did you kill him?” Beckwith said. “And if you didn’t kill him, can you prove you didn’t kill him? I don’t know who killed the nig­ger. And I don’t care.”

Beckwith paused, expressing chagrin. “I told my wife I wasn’t going to say ‘nigger’ again.”

Beckwith had been held without bond since Dec. 31, when he was arrested at his Signal Mountain home on a governor’s warrant in Evers’ death.

Evers, field secretary for the NAACP in Mississippi, was shot to death by a sniper on June 12, 1963, in front of his home in Jackson, Miss.

A rifle with Beckwith’s fingerprint was found a short distance from where Evers was slain, and he was tried twice in 1964 for the slaying. But in each case, an all-white jury was unable to reach a verdict, resulting in a mistrial. In 1969, Mississippi authorities dismissed the murder charge.

After serving five years in a Louisiana prison for illegal possession of dynamite, Beckwith married his second wife, Thelma Neff, in 1983 and moved to Signal Mountain.

In 1989, new information surfaced indicating possible jury tampering in Beckwith’s 1964 trials. The case was re-opened, and on Dec. 14, 1990, a Hinds County grand jury re­turned a new murder indict­ment against Beckwith.

After his habeas corpus petition on the governor’s warrant was turned down by Hamilton County Criminal Court Judge Joe DiRisio in January, Beck­with appealed the ruling to the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals.

But that court upheld the lower court ruling in June, and on Monday the Tennessee Supreme Court refused to hear the case.

His attorney, Charles Wright Jr., immediately filed a habeas corpus petition in federal court and sought a temporary re­straining order to stop Beck­with’s extradition, which were rejected.

Wright filed a notice of appeal in U.S. District Court 20 minutes after Beckwith was taken away.

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Moving to consolidate its control over what remains of Yu­goslavia, the republic of Serbia announced Thursday that it was taking over the federal parliament with three allies.

Although the parliament is virtually defunct, the move ap­peared to represent Serbia’s effort to usurp what remains of federal power. A senior West­ern diplomat said the move ef­fectively dissolved the eight­member federal presidency, which nominally controls the Yugoslav army.

The army, which launched a major assault against Croatia this week, bombarded areas around historic Dubrovnik, starting a raging forest fire, and closed in on the capital, Zagreb.

The Borba newspaper in Bel­grade said 26 federal soldiers had died in three days of fight­ing for Dubrovnik.

The republic of Slovenia and what remained of Croatia would then be permitted to become independent.

Shannon elected vice president of association

By MICHELLE CLEMENTE
News Writer

William Shannon, associate professor of Business Administration at Saint Mary's, has been elected the national vice-president for entrepreneur education for the U.S. Association for Small Businesses and Entrepreneurship.

"It is to provide leadership and direction in the ongoing growth of entrepreneurial discipline of small colleges and universities," Shannon said of his new position.

"The work involved includes sponsoring faculty conferences to discuss entrepreneurship locally and nationally," he added.

"It combines the academic, political and real world aspects of entrepreneurship."

According to Shannon, who is active in women business owner issues, Saint Mary's also has the largest business administration department of any women's college in the U.S.

Sever receives $107K salamander grant

By MICHELLE CLEMENTE
News Writer

Professor David Sever of the Saint Mary's Biology Department received a $107,074 grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF) for studying "sperm storage in female salamanders after mating."

According to Sever, female salamanders are able to store sperm in their bodies and can wait to fertilize their eggs. Sever's research involved using electron microscopy to find out how sperm survived for long periods in the female reproductive tracts of some animals. The grant is for three and a half years of research.

"This summer and the last two students will stay at Saint Mary's and work on various aspects of the study," said Sever. "The NSF encourages research and participation of students at small colleges."

Sever submitted his research proposal, "Comparative Cytology of Sperm Storage Organs in Salamanders," to the NSF Division of Morphology and Anatomy in December of 1990. By June the NSF notified Sever of his grant.

"It takes six months sometimes more before you hear anything and it's very competitive," said Sever.

Sever's research was one of the 25 projects given the grant. This is his second grant in six years.

Unjust actions, miscommunication marred intramural football game

Dear Editor:

I am Steve Fortunato, coach of the Off-Campus Inter-Hall Football Team, writing on behalf of our team. Following here is a list of twelve facts that will lead the reader to one conclusion: the Off-Campus Team was treated unfairly.

Fact 1: On Monday, Sept. 9, Rec Sports approved the eligibility of Holy Cross students by specifically citing that the first year Holy Cross students were eligible. Insurance numbers of the players were taken, the players were placed upon our team's roster, and the players were issued equipment.

Fact 2: On Friday, Sept. 27, at 12 p.m. Rec Sports removed these seven players from our roster, stating that they were ineligible due to their non-Notre Dame student status. Fact 3: At this point I informed Assistant Director of Rec Sports Rick O'Leary that this was his assistant who granted these players eligibility and we should be given equipment.

Fact 4: Rick O'Leary was unwilling to accept the responsibility of his office's miscommunication and insisted the game on Sunday, Sept. 29 against Flanner be played.

Fact 5: I proceeded to inform him that this action was unjust and we should be given adequate time to replace these players. He refused.

Fact 6: I issued a verbal plea of protest and stated that I would issue a formal written protest on Sunday the 29th before the game was to be played. He agreed to meet me prior to game time.

Fact 7: Rick O'Leary did not show up on Sunday or attempt to contact me.

Fact 8: On Sunday I requested O'Leary's assistant postpone the game until Tuesday, Oct. 1, to allow us one working day to reconstruct our team. They refused.

Fact 9: At this point I transferred my plea to the Director of Rec Sports and he refused. Team.

Conclusion: Due to Rick O'Leary's refusal to accept the mistakes made within his office the Off-Campus Football Team was mistreated.

Life Chain gives students opportunity to support cause

Dear Editor:

On Sunday afternoon, October 6, people all over America will take to the sidewalks for one hour to stand up and be counted in display of solidarity for life. The Life Chain will take place in South Bend from 2:00-3:00 p.m. On Route 31 (Michigan Street) right across the entrance to Saint Mary's.

Anyone who wants to do something for the pre-life cause, now is your chance. We encourage Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students to go out and participate—it's only one hour. Those interested can meet at the Grotto at 1:45 Sunday afternoon.

Remember, life is something everyone is entitled to, but not all are allowed. Please consider this injustice and show your support for all life.

Scheduling of Mass hindered Voices of Faith's contributions

Dear Editor:

As a vocal music teacher in the South Bend schools and faculty wife, I would like to join with the Father in expressing my disappointment at the inopportune scheduling of the Masses of the first and second year of the Sesquicentennial Year Opening Mass.

One of the first things new teachers are taught is to present singing as the audience is seated and quiet. Performers. Other choirs. The Voices of Faith Gospel Ensemble, during the life of a concert, is not to present their members to practice and rehearse this place.

COUNCIL displays diversity

By COURTNEY BANNISTER

When asked if their primary goal members of the Multicultural Executive Council will immediately respond, "Increased awareness." The council, which heads the Multicultural Club here on the Notre Dame campus, is currently made up of ten members who help to plan events on campus that they feel will help to promote other cultures.

The council was started in 1986 when students began to see a need for more culturally diverse events on campus. In their fifth year of operation the council has grown considerably.

The council sponsors the annual Multicultural Fall Festival which is currently underway and which will run through Sunday. This is their largest event of the year, but by no means their only activity. Throughout the year the council sponsors various activities. They try to organize fireside chats when the campus has visitors whom they feel might help students see the world from a different perspective.

Last year, the council co-sponsored the bringing of Maya Angelou to campus, the author of many autobiographical best-sellers. With the recent visit of Ariel, the Russian pianist, the council organized a fireside chat because they saw a need for a greater awareness of Russian culture. Christine Labarre, a member of the council, feels that far too often people's views of a society are based solely on the political aspects of the country with no regard for the culture.

The council also sponsored the "Christmas Around The World" exhibition in LaFortune last year during the holiday season. The exhibit included scenes of the traditions of other cultures. "We try to bring in a wide variety of events to promote culture in a variety of mediums," explains Christine. "We hope to attract a lot of students this way, for we understand that not everyone would, for example, be interested in lectures."

Richard Saldana, a member of the council, emphasizes the fact that the club's activities are not meant to appeal solely to the members of the culture represented. He points out SuperCombo PanAmericano, a Latin American band, as a perfect example of the council's goal when planning events. The band in past appearances has been enjoyed by a wide range of students and will be playing tonight at The Taste of Nations. The event will last from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. and will be located at Stepan Center. All are encouraged to attend this event and future events sponsored by the Multicultural Executive Council.
The Multicultural Fall Festival continues Friday night at Stepan Center with the Taste of Nations.

For the sixth year in a row, the Taste of Nations will supply the music and entertainment. According to Adele Lanan, the Multicultural Fall Festival continues in conjunction with the Taste of Nations. This year's event will feature cultural exhibits, competitions, and entertainment.

Booths will be set up surrounding Stepan's court area boasting samples of food from each country. On the court surface, competitions and exhibitions will be held. Forms of dance from different cultures will be shown. Some of these competitions include: the twist, jitterbug, and a limbo contest.

Prizes will be awarded to the winners of these competitions, ranging from T-shirts to dinners for two at the Olive Garden, Malabar, Hacienda Mexican, and Great Wall restaurants in South Bend. The Heritage Dance Company will perform different types of dance, while the Super Combo Pan-American Band from Chicago will supply the music.

According to Lanan, the purpose of the Taste of Nations is to "present an ethnic festival where all people can come together and create a sense of unity. All members of the Notre Dame and South Bend communities are welcome. We are trying to gain a true sense of community."

Last year, the Taste of Nations was attended by 3,000 people and Lanan expects an even larger turnout this year. She stresses that "everyone is welcome and everyone who does come will have an enjoyable evening while also learning about other cultures."

The Taste of Nations is to entertain, educate, and to bring people together. Everyone is welcome, according to Lanan. "It's a way to get in touch with other cultures, and it's enjoyable." The event will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Tickets for Bob Berky's show can be purchased through the box office located in O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's. The box office will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Orders can also be taken by phone 219-284-4626. Visa and Mastercard are accepted. Charge of admission is $6 and $7. So come and see Berky. It will definitely make your day.
In the country of the young

Father Robert Griffin

Letters to a Lonely God

Byzantium," where sages standing in God's holy fire/ Come from the holy fire/to be the singing masters of my soul.

But Byzantium, says Yeats, is "no country for old men." Byzantium is the country for the young, and the young in one another's arms, birds in their trees... at their song.

I am not a cute poet, setting sail in search of singing masters; however Dulac is my Byzantium, and Dulac, like Byzantium, is the country of the young, where the born-agains of all descriptions see icons and symbols representing myth and magic. Listening attentively to students, fresh from retreats, service projects, and ball Masses, who sound like prophetic poses and souls have been cleansed by Byzantium's holy fire, I'm reminded of the more simple story of Sister Bridget, whom Father Leonard Feeney once wrote about.

In the story Feeney tells, a very young First Communicant named Marjorie asks the nun to listen to her heartbeat. Sister Bridget says: "I'll be glad to listen... It's beating away as happy as you can be... Do I hear two people's hearts?" Sister Bridget asks her, "What are you hearing?" Sister Bridget listens to the student's own heartbeat as well as your own.

"It happens that way with all of us. Discovering our own beauty, we imagine it is God's beauty.

Sometimes we have religious experiences in which God comes so close. His nearness seems physical, in which a Way it is, because we've become conscious of Him in the beauty of people. At litters and meals and exhibitions, each encounter with the love-foests, students, getting drunk on the company they're with, feel that their souls have been flooded with the glory of God. All this is holy and filled with Christ's presence. It is an experience of God, but not God direct and unmediated, or a mystical experience, "when the veil is lifted and we see God in all things.

Christianity is a religion that makes its twin pitch to sinners and mercy seekers. We don't expect the golden girls and ladis (whom we might have called flower children a generation ago) to be on the lookout for salvation and the sacraments. When you see them looking casually wholesome and innocent, you might imagine that death has no dominion over them; yet they are not immune to wars, accidents, drug and alcohol abuse, the diseases that are passed down in families, and consequences of their own folly. When tragedies take hostages, and death takes students, Notre Dame students comfort one another until love redeems their grief and loss. In a way they redeem one another in a human way by a mutual caring that tempers the wind to the storm lamb Thiers is a peer ministry, not a ministry by professionals.

When outsiders ask, "How Catholic is Notre Dame?" they have holy Irelond in mind as the paradigm, because Byzantium, the country of the young, is not on their maps.

At 66, I use Yeats, only half in fun, to explain what life is like on our side of the generation gap. "The years like great black oad trenched the old/And God the hereditary goads them on behind/And I pass by taken by their passing feet."

The reply, I swear, comes back; and it's from Oscar Wilde, written while he was in Reding Gaol: "How else but through a broken heart/May Lord Christ enter in? Where did students learn this great song?"

"When did the shades of the prisonhouse begin to close on the growing children?"

Forwards Winget, Dalsaso lead SMC soccer vs. UW-Milwaukee

BY CHRIS BACON
Sports Writer

When it comes to talent on any given team, most coaches are happy to have one super­star. To have a duo is a blessing. Just ask Saint Mary’s soccer coach Tom Van Meter. After making some changes in the squad, the Belles suddenly had a three-round record of 1-0-0 against VanMeter.

"Both are very talented young people. The remarkable thing about the two is that they’ve led each other in their playing," said Van Meter. The two approach the game from different angles and together they make an excellent striking force."

It is this striking force that many at Saint Mary’s anticipate to lead the fourth ranked Belles, 5-0-2, to a home victory over Division I University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee this afternoon.

Both players come from top soccer schools. Winget was captain of her Nerinx High School soccer team in St. Louis, Mo., her senior year. She made her junior and senior years and was her team’s offensive most valuable player.

Her junior year the team won their state championship. If that wasn’t enough, Winget was invited to play on the Buschweiner Women’s Premiere soccer club during her summers.

Dalsaso didn’t start playing soccer until she was a freshman in high school. But the late start hasn’t hindered her on the field. At Mitchell High School, in Colorado Springs, Colo., she was a three sport captain her senior year. She received first-team recognition her senior year, as well as all-city her junior and senior years. Why did Dalsaso start playing so late? "A good friend got me to play. It was good because my height didn’t matter. But I wanted to be the goalie," said Dalsaso.

Although these two girls could have gone elsewhere, neither one regrets their decision to play for a Division III school.

"The neat thing about playing for a Division III school, like coach Van Meter has said, is that you don’t get paid to play. You do it because you want to," said Dalsaso.

An example of the impact these two forwards have had on the Belles offense is last weekend’s game against Hope College (5-1). The Belles handed their undefeated Great Lakes conference rivals their first loss of the season, winning 2-0. Dalsaso scored both Saint Mary’s goals. The first came off of a cross from Winget, the second unassisted. This complimentary performance from these two forwards is typical of all their games.

"We’ve played so well together because we can play different positions and I can run down the field and I know where she (Dalsaso) is going to be," Winget added. The classic example was the cross to her at the Hope game," explains Winget. "We’ve clicked and I’m so excited we have this year and next year together."

But Dalsaso and Winget refuse to take all the glory. Both credit all the team’s success to the entire team and their coaches. Both stress the importance of a strong defense to hold the opponents, as well as a good midfield.

Saint Mary’s certainly is not lacking in talent in either of these areas. Senior co-captain Kelly Cook is a four-year returning All-American sweeper. She has led the defense by holding their opponents to just four points total this year. Senior co-captain Greer Gillian was moved back into the midfield to control the wings.

"This year, as the coaches have put it, there are all soccer players on the team. Everyone has the skills applicable to the game," credits Winget. "Switching positions has made us click more as a team."

As for Friday’s matchup against Wisconsin, Winget and Dalsaso realize the importance of a big win. Passing the mid­point of their season, the Belles are still struggling for recognition from not only their new division, but from the NCAA.

The duo hopes to break away from the pack and head for the top of their conference. Only the top three teams in the Great Lakes regional conference receive bids from the NCAA. Winning today’s game and Sunday’s game against Division I Butler should generate the recognition this young team has asked for.

"We go into this game very positively. We know we (as a team) have the skill to beat this team," explained Winget. "We’re aiming for a NCAA bid. It would be the first ever in Saint Mary’s history and we really want to earn it for the school. That would be great."

Wojnas, Irish women’s golf face difficult final outing

BY JASON KELLY
Sports Writer

An up and down fall season will culminate this weekend as the University of Notre Dame travels to DeKalb, Illinois for Northern Illinois University’s seventh annual Ladies Golf Classic.

The high point of the fall season for Notre Dame took place at Michigan State, when the Irish set two school records, including a three-round record of 949, 22 strokes better than the previous mark.

"It set the stage for the season," said coach Tom Hanlon. Although these two girls have put it, there are all soccer players on the team. Everyone has the skills applicable to the game," credits Winget. "Switching positions has made us click more as a team."

The Irish finished the tournament with their top ten finish of the season.

The low point, however, came just one week later when they finished 15th at an 18-team field at the University of Illinois Invitational with a 304 total. That wasn’t the highest total of the season, but after the performance at Michigan State, coach Tom Hanlon wanted more from his Irish team.

"I had high expectations for this tournament (at Illinois)," said Hanlon. "We were playing against some very strong competition, but we really didn’t do as well as I expected."

Despite all the ups and downs the Irish have shown a great deal of improvement this fall, but they still have to make some big strides in preparation for the spring campaign.

"We’re improving, but we still have a long way to go," Hanlon commented.

The Irish are happy to have one superstar on their team.

"A good friend got me to play. It was good because my height didn’t matter. But I wanted to be the goalie," said Dalsaso.

Schaef er pleased as hockey
seeks membership in CCHA

Special to The Observer

The Notre Dame hockey team has applied for membership in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association, one of the foremost collegiate hockey conferences in the country.

The announcement was made last week by Athletic Director Dick Rosenthal and CCHA commissioner Bill Beagan.

Notre Dame is currently an independent on the collegiate hockey circuit, but was a member of the CCHA from 1981 until 1983.

New NCAA regulations which limit the number of games played in a season made current conference members aware of this new attractiveness of a league player and assistant coach at Notre Dame.

Ric Schaefer upon the announcement. "I'm aware of the attractiveness of a league situation from my days as a player and assistant coach at Notre Dame. I can't describe what an impact this decision has on the interest of the best hockey players in coming to Notre Dame."

Notre Dame was 16-15-2 last season, and returns 19 monogram-winners to this year's squad. The Irish open play October 25 at Air Force.

Injury plagued men's tennis headed for Kentucky Invitational

Observer Staff Report

In search of a second invitational tournament in as many weeks, Notre Dame men’s tennis team travels to Lexington, Ky., this weekend for the Kentucky Invitational.

In Lexington, the Irish will face opponents in traditional opponents, including host Kentucky, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, Northern Kentucky, Xavier. The remainder of the field includes Appalachian State, Ball State, Bowling Green, Eastern Kentucky, Maryville College, Ohio, Western Kentucky, Tennessee Tech and Middle Tennessee.

SPONSORSHIP BRIEFS

The Observer accepts briefs in writing every day until 5:00 p.m. Please submit your brief, your name, and the date the brief is to be run.

Public skating is now open at the J.A.C.C. Admission for ND/SMC students is $1. Schedules are available there. Free skate for students, faculty and staff is 12 to 1 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Saint Mary’s varsity tennis team will begin tryouts Sunday, October 6 from 4-6 p.m. at Angelo Athletic facility.

Hockey is looking for a keyboard player who would like to play during the game or pre-record songs for the upcoming hockey season. Interested? Call Coach Schaefer at 239-9565.

The YMCA-South Bend tennis club is announcing its winter schedule. Anyone interested in forming a three man team from Notre Dame, to compete for $700 in prizes, call Brad at 287-4989.

SMC Varsity Track meet for all interested participants will be Wednesday, October 9 at 8 a.m. at the Angelo Athletic Facility.

ND Cricket Club will be practicing every Sunday from 6-7 p.m. at Lofhos. Call Mark at 283-3897 or Tim at 283-1437 for info.

Attention all novice members of the rowing club. There is a mandatory meeting to be held in the lower level of the CCE Hall at 7:30 on Tuesday, October 8th. Dues of $30 will be collected. A meeting for freshman will be held in the training table at 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday. Attendance is mandatory.

Runners

Michigan, Central Michigan, Pitt, Iowa, Purdue, Edinborough, Malone, Houston and the defending Division III national champion, University of Wisconsin at Osh Kosh.

At the invitational were several runners with the ability to keep the elusive individual championship out of the hands of the Irish for yet another year. They include Joe John Murray of Malone, Kevin Herd of Iowa, Greg Packer of Central Michigan, and Mark Daly and Dominic Middleton of Eastern Michigan. In total, there will be about fifteen runners who could potentially win the event according to Paine.

But none will be as emotion­ally charged as the Irish, who hope to duplicate their times from the National Catholics seven of which were personal bests.

"Because we ran well, every­one knows we have a lot of po­tential," said Kearns. "This one­man team will have to realize that if we put it together as a team we can be really good."

Last week’s disappointing second-place finish at Providence taught the young Irish squad a valuable lesson.

"Everyone realized how much losing hurts and that we don’t want to do it again," said Kearns.

Please support.

Ron Rosas and Ted Eckert return to action this weekend after pulling out of matches Sunday.

Junior Mark Schmidt, how­ever, will spend the weekend home. Injuries last weekend forced the cancellation of his flight final match with Rosas. Todd Wilson will also remain out of action for the Irish.

In short, "Notre Dame Saturday" was well-named. Oh, yes. They also mentioned that the Fighting Irish’s oppo­nent that day was Indiana. I guess it just slipped out some­how.

In case you haven’t caught on yet, “Notre Dame Saturday” is purely biased hype, hype, HYPE for America’s favorite football school.

Even though Notre Dame probably does have the largest national fan support base, it is questionable that even the Fighting Irish can give the net­work high enough ratings week in and week out to make the show a financial success in the fall.

All MBA’s and undergraduate accounting and finance majors are invited to attend a presentation and reception at 7:30 p.m. hosted by ARTHUR ANDERSEN on Tuesday, October 8th in the lower level of the CCE.

"I had blister injuries from last week, and they just didn’t heal in time," said Schmidt. "My movement is limited, and my game really depends on move­ment."

Imagine a television executive sitting down as a recruit­er at any Division I school the following: "Look, we can give you guys all the exposure you need. We’ll make you look good, guaran­teed. Your school will look good. Your football team will look good. They’ll be heroes. Every kid will want to grow up to be a player for your team."
Irish soccer on road for MCC contests

By JASON KELLY
Sports Writer

A busy weekend awaits the Notre Dame men's soccer team as it travels to Ohio to battle Midwestern Collegiate Conference rivals Xavier and Dayton.

Coach Mike Berticelli's Irish are coming off a 3-0 win over Detroit, which pushed their record to 3-3-1 overall and 1-1-1 in the MCC.

Berticelli knew his highly touted freshmen would have to perform well for the Irish to be successful on their current four-game road trip, and the rookies were up to the challenge against Detroit. Freshmen Tim Oates, Jean Joseph and Tony Richardson scored a goal apiece to power the Irish past the Titans. Oates' goal, his third of the season, made him Notre Dame's top scorer this season.

The most consistent part of the team this year, however, has been the defense and the Irish back line responded again at Detroit, allowing only two shots on goal on the way to the fourth shutout of the season. Senior captain Brett Hoffmann and junior sweeper Mario Tricoci team up with freshman goalie Bert Bader to lead the Irish defense.

"In the beginning, it's important to establish a strong defense," commented Tricoci, "and now that we've done that we work on keeping possession of the ball and creating scoring opportunities this weekend."

Friday's opponent, Xavier, is coming off a runner-up finish at the Western Kentucky Tournament, where they defeated the hosts 2-1 but fell to Dayton 3-0.

The next time you're not quite sure what to do, you might consider visiting a restaurant that's open 24 hours a day. If you have college loans, the Guard will help you pay those off, too, with up to $1,500 per year. No other service offers you so much education.

Work one weekend a month and earn $18,000 for college.

If you have the mind for college, but not the money, the Indiana Army National Guard has a golden opportunity for you.

Lend us your brainpower one weekend a month and two weeks a year, and you'll give $18,000 or more for college.

Under the New GI Bill, you'll qualify for up to $5,000 for tuition and books. And if you get another $5,000 a year in monthly Army Guard paychecks. Plus, a cash bonus of up to $2,000 as soon as you finish Advanced Individual Training.

And if you have college loans, the Guard will help you pay those off, too, with up to $1,500 extra per year. No other service offers you so many educational benefits, and ask so little of your time.

So, if you can spare one weekend a month to study or work for your country, call your local recruiter and help yourself to a higher education.

Women's tennis opens season with ND Invitational

By RICH SABO
Sports Writer

If you happen to walk near the Eck Tennis Pavilion this weekend, stop inside and check out the barrage of tennis balls being mercilessly pounded by the women participating in the Notre Dame Invitational.

This tournament will see eight teams competing in an individual draw in both singles and doubles. Besides the host Irish, for whom this is their first competition of the fall season, the tournament includes Kentucky, Illinois, Ohio State, Purdue, Drake, Miami (Ohio), and Northern Illinois.

The Irish will have nine players in the singles draw, with junior Melissa Harris leading the way. Harris is currently ranked 31st in the country after reaching the second round of the NCAA tournament in the spring.

Joining Harris will be seniors Ann Bradshaw and Kristy Doran, junior Eniko Bende, sophomores Christy Faustmann, Terri Vitale, Lisa Tholen, and Catherine McGinley, and freshman Laura Schwab.

In the doubles lineup, Faustmann-Tholen and Bende-Schwab will compete in the first flight, with Vitale-Doran in the second flight and Bradshaw-McGinley in flight three.

Irish coach Jay Louderback expects this to be a weekend for getting back into the groove.

"Most of the girls worked out a lot over the summer, practiced, and trained, but didn't play many matches," he said. "It will take them a week or two to get back in playing shape."

Absent from this weekend's tournament will be first-singles player Tracy Barton, who will be rested predominantly throughout the fall to prepare for the grueling spring season.

Barton played in last week's National Clay Courts in North Carolina, her first tournament action in four months. The tournament draw consisted of the top thirty-two players in the country. Barton, after a sluggish start, quickly got back into her game. She dropped her first match to Caryn Moss of Florida International 6-1, 6-1, and then fell to Kristen Bastian of South Florida 7-5, 6-4 in a much closer, stronger-played match.

Louderback said, "Tracy won't play much in the fall. She's done real well the last two years and doesn't have to prove herself," said Louderback. "For the team, we're better off having her in the spring. We don't want her to push it, overplaying in the fall."

Senior Katie Clark will also miss the competition, as she is recovering from a back problem. She began practicing last week and is listed as day-to-day.

The Irish Invitational, along with the rest of the fall schedule, will help determine the singles and doubles lineups that the Irish will compete with in the spring.

Regardless of how the individual performances go, the team is anxious to play some other people other than having gone through three weeks of practice.

"This is our first test of the year," said Eniko Bende. "It will be interesting to see how we do."

The competition will be very good, but the weekend will be long.

"There's a lot of good teams coming in, so there should be good competition. I'm excited about the weekend, and it will be good preparation for the rest of the season," said Vitale. "These tournaments will give us an idea of where everyone is and how everyone is playing."

The tournament will start Friday and continue through Sunday at the Courtney Tennis Center. In the event of rain, the matches will be held at the Eck Tennis Pavilion. The Irish will be starting a season that hopes to see them crack the top twenty and establish themselves as a force to be reckoned with.

"In practice, we've looked good," he said. "They're good kids and they want to be good players. I've been very happy with them. You just can't lose when you get players like that."

Cross country hosts Invitational
All-America duo of McWilliams, Coyle pace Irish

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

Enough is enough.
The dry spell must end.

On Friday afternoon, the seven-ranked men's cross country team plays host to the Notre Dame Invitational, an event they have never had an individual winner in since 1964.

Last year, All-American Mike O'Connor was the highest finisher for the Irish at third, but O'Connor is gone. Not to worry though, the Irish have a strong cast of runners to fill his shoes.

Among them are junior All-American John Coye and sophomore All-American Mike McWilliams. McWilliams finished third in last week's National Catholic Meet while Coye crossed the finish line in ninth place. Both posted strong times in the event despite disappointing finishes.

Also looking to run well for Notre Dame are senior captain Pat Kearns, senior Kevin Keegan, junior Nick Radkewich who posted a personal best at the National Catholics, and freshmen John Cowan and Nate Ruder.

Running in the Gold division for the Irish will be seniors Drake and Shawn Schneider, juniors J. T. Burke and Mundy, sophomores Tom Lillis and Jim Trautmann, and freshmen J. R. Meloro.

Last year, Notre Dame won the team crown and they are looking to repeat last fall's success, but it won't be easy.

"We need to tighten up the gap between the number one and number five runners," said Notre Dame coach Joe Viane. "Ideally, we'd like to be 30 seconds apart. Our goal is to have someone in contention to win."

In the way of the Irish will be competitive teams from Eastern Michigan and Providence.

"I'm hoping we win the Invitational," said Jensen. "We have a good chance, but so does Eastern Michigan. We're going to have to work hard."

The Irish will accept nothing less than a first place finish this weekend.

Women's soccer puts streak on line

By MIKE SCRUDATO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's soccer team puts its unbeaten streak on the line this weekend, hosting the Southern Illinois-Edwardsville Cougars at 4 p.m. today at Alumni Field.

Sunday Notre Dame (6-0-2) travels to Milwaukee to take on the Wisconsin-Milwaukee Panthers on Sunday.

The Irish are coming off a 2-1 road win over a previously unbeaten 4-1 victory over Lewis University.

"I think the fact that we only played 60 minutes might be a benefit for us," Irish coach Chris Petrucelli said. "It enabled us to save our legs for this weekend."

The Cougars have ten returning starters from last season's 13-5-1 squad, and are currently ranked eighth nationally in the Division II poll. They are the type of team which is successful when they take advantage of the other teams mistakes. The Cougar attack is led by junior Melissa Emmeenegger and freshman Jennifer Burton, who scored 110 goals in her prep career. Their experienced defense, which limited opponents to 0.93 goals per game in 1990, is anchored by senior goalie keeper Marilyn Kastner.

"They have done very well against Division I competition, and are going to be a difficult team to beat," Petrucelli said of USF. "They are going to try to score off of free kick situations and are very solid in back. We are going to have to finish our chances, and we must score early."

On Sunday, the Irish will challenge Wisconsin-Milwaukee in an important Central Region contest. It will be Notre Dame's first road game since September 15 when they tied Vanderbilt, 3-3.

"We've been on the road before, but this time we are going into some hostile territory," Petrucelli commented. "Fortunately, we have spent a lot of time on the road the last few years, and the freshman have played away from home in high school."

The Panthers will be looking to avenge last year's 3-0 loss to the Irish. Both Erin Lambo and Nicole Schmidt, their leading scorers in 1990, have returned. Meredith Ammons is currently leading the team in goals. One major change for Wisconsin-Milwaukee is their new head coach, Laura Meyn, a Marquette graduate who has been coaching in the Milwaukee area for 14 years.

Petricelli feels that this is an important game for two reasons. It is a Central Region game and a road game, both of which he feels are keys to becoming a top-notch team.
Jurkovic is reigning king of the treaches

By DAVE McMAHON
Associate Sports Editor

Mighty Mirko

Mirko Jurkovic didn’t know what position he would be playing when he came to Notre Dame three years ago.

Three years later, some Notre Dame football fans still don’t know what position he plays, but that doesn’t bother him. He’s more concerned that the opposition recognizes him. “It’s not the most difficult thing to do. A 6-4, 299 lb. senior from Calumet City, Ill., Jurkovic fills the role of offensive guard for an Irish offensive line that dominated Purdue’s defensive front last week to the tune of 267 net yards rushing.

Attaining his current starting position came in a roundabout way for Jurkovic. He entered his freshman campaign as a defensive tackle, taking his act to the hoop. While he waited, he learned from his predecessors.

“I really looked up to Tommy Ryan (now playing for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers),” commented Jurkovic. “He was a quite leader and a great player. I learned a lot from him—he’s the Quite Catholic guy and I’d just like to model myself after him, especially off the field.

While Jurkovic may be shooting par on his attempt to be like Tim off the field, his on-field performance has also reached All-America status. After logging over 69 minutes in 12 games during his sophomore year, he quickly established himself as the man to beat at one of the guard spots in his third year. During that season, the Irish offense ranked 12th in the nation in rushing (250.3 yards per game), including a 316-yard outing against Tennessee.

Jurkovic, not the most svelte of linemen, thinks he could stand to improve in the weight room.

“I started out my freshman year running a 5.2 in the 40 and benching 290, which was relatively weaker than Mirko Jurkovic (74) takes on two defenders, leading an Irish offensive line surge against the Purdue defense.

the running backs,” said Jurkovic. “Now I’m down to a five-second flat and a 385 bench. The speed is fine, but most lineman bench about 400, so I’ve still got some work to do there.”

Don’t go making bets that he’ll reach that 400 mark anytime soon, though, because work and Jurkovic just don’t seem to be a compatible duo.

“I’m not one to go out and have a good time at practice,” said Jurkovic. “I guess you could say I’m a Saturday-type of guy. If I could work one day a week I’d do it, but they just don’t seem to allow that around here.”

A first-team pre-season All-America pick by Street & Smith’s, Jurkovic doesn’t limit his exploits to opposing defensive linemen. He can also take his act to the hoop. Or at least could.

“Jrkovcic greatly respects his predecessors. He was a quite leader and a great player. I learned a lot from him—he’s the Quite Catholic guy and I’d just like to model myself after him, especially off the field.

In its first four games, Notre Dame has not found scoring to be a problem. With the exception of a 24-14 loss to Michigan, the Irish have averaged nearly 47 points per game.

Neither has the Stanford Cardinal's offense stumbled early. In beginning their season 1-2, the Cardinal has nonetheless scored 384 points per game, including 485 total yards against defending national champion Florida State.

This weekend's game promises to be another offensive showcase, as high-octane offenses face suspect defenses in Stanford and Notre Dame.

Stanford quarterback Jason Polumbus directed an inexperienced Irish secondary in last weekend's 45-20 loss to the Cardinal, resulting in 246 total yards and 11 touchdowns.

"The offensive line was a big thing," said Holtz. "I think, I think," said Holtz.

"Actually, Polumbus started some games this year, but I think the Cardinal freshman season may have been affected by a sophomore. Last year, he returned to start all 11 Cardinal games, leading for 2,579 yards and 11 touchdowns.

"Polumbus is a defensive line whose workouts register on many California Richter scales."

"Stanford has the biggest offensive line I've ever seen, I think," said Holtz. "I've never been taught anything like that.

"If you look at the Cardinal line is led by 6-7, 300-pound All-American tackle Bob Whitted, a junior, has been named as a first-team All-American by several college football publications.

"Polumbus is well-supported by senior Chris Dalman (6-4, 290) and juniors Brian Cassidy (6-7, 310) and Glenn Cavanaugh (6-7, 295).

"The last time the Irish faced the caliber of Stanford's, the Michigan Wolverines pounded Notre Dame for 233 yards running."

" Burning the ball through the holes created by the Cardinal offensive line will be fullback Tommy Yarldell, who scored four touchdowns in last season's game, and Heisman Trophy candidate Glyn Milburn.

"Milburn, a junior, rushed for 729 yards last year, but was stymied against the Irish, with seven carries for 23 yards."

"He's a big game-breaker," said Holtz. "I think it's the kicking game, running out of the backfield, pass receiving, he'll make a lot of things happen.

"Though the Cardinal lost All-American receiver Ed McCaffrey to graduation, the Irish coaching staff is well aware of his successor, Chris Walsh.

"He really is an exceptional, five-solver," said Holtz. "He has 19 receptions thus far, and you can see why. Polumbus really finds him on a consistent basis.

"I think to stop the Cardinal attack will be an Irish defensive challenge that's at the top of all last weekend's 45-20 defeat of Purdue.

"The biggest improvement we made was the ability to get some pressure on the passer."

When the Irish ran out of luck

Cardinal looks for third win of series, second in a row

BY ANTHONY KING

The pass fell through Derek Brown's outstretched hands and hit the turf as the clock expired. That is the way it ended in Notre Dame Stadium on October 6, 1990, as the number one ranked Irish ran out of luck. The momentum had swung in the direction of the Cardinal. Stanford scored first in the second half on another Vardell one yard scamper. This came off actual 43-yard pass. The fumble was copped by a one yard run by Rodney Culver, giving the Irish a 31-22 advantage.

With six minutes left Stanford would mount what turned out to be the winning drive. Palumbis drove the Cardinal down the field, again finding McCaffrey for the big gain. This time it was a 26-yard pass that McCaffrey brought down. Vandall, the one yard specialist, again crashed over from the one with 36 ticks left on the clock.

Morgan got the ball at the Irish 30, with 31 seconds to work his magic. Mirer promptly hit Shawn Davis along the sideline for 26 yards. He then missed on a pass intended for Ray Griggs leaving 19 seconds left. Tony Brooks came open over the middle, and Mirer found him for a 21 yard gain. The Irish quickly called time out.

But the Stanford defense rose to the occasion on the next play. Mirer found his receiver blankets and had to heave the ball out of the end zone, leaving just six seconds to play. The final play turned out to be a heartbreaker for the Irish. After incredible plays at Michigan and Michigan State, the Irish ran out of luck. Mirer rolled left and spotted tight end Derek Brown in the end zone. Mirer threw for Brown and Derek crashed out of bounds. The ball caromed off Brown's hands and came to rest in the end zone grass.

This was the second Notre Dame loss to the Cardinal and first in Stanford. The Irish fans had expected a win. With a loss to the University of Miami everything looked like number one and headed toward another showdown with Notre Dame. The Irish had scored on two first half touchdowns. The first was a 24-yard pass to Tommy Vardell. Seven plays later Tommy Vardell scored the first of his four touchdowns on a one yard run. Stanford then went for two and converted, making it a much tighter 24-15 game just before halftime.

The Irish had scored on two consecutive pass attempts to grab a 24-22 advantage.

quarter. But as Irish fans dreamed about how not to run up the score, the Cardinal answered with a comeback that started with a personal foul penalty on Chris Zorich.

Zorich was assessed a controversial piling-on penalty when quarterback Jason Palumbis slipped down. The penalty gave Stanford their second first down of the game. Seven plays later Tony Vardell scored the first of his four touchdowns on a one yard run. Stanford then went for two and converted, making it a much tighter 24-15 game just before halftime.

Florida State's convincing 51-31 victory over Michigan made the Seminoles the unanimous choice as the number one team in the country in this week's national collegiate sports writers' poll. Florida State garnered all 30 first-place votes to beat out second-ranked Miami, 34-10 winners at Tulsa. Tennessee, last week's number two, fell into a seventh-place tie with Notre Dame.

Washington moved up one spot to third with its 56-3 thrashing of Kansas State. While Tennessee vaulted from sixth to fourth with its 30-21 victory over 15-ranked Auburn, Oklahoma moved out Clemson for the fifth spot. Iowa and Penn State flipped positions to round out the top 10. The Hoykewyse announced Northern Illinois' upset, 7-6, while the Nittany Lions struggled to defeat Boston College at home 28-21.

In his third season at Stanford, Green has led the Cardinal to a 9-6 record. The native of Harrisburg, Penn., also served four years as a Cardinal assistant coach. As a sophomore at the University of Iowa, Green rushed for 175 yards, no touchdowns and no interceptions. Last year, he took the Begeu Bowl 27-10 and won their first national championship.

Despite sitting out the 1989 season, he is already the most efficient passer in Stanford history. Plunkett's hopes to join the ranks of ex-Stanford greats John Elway and Jim Plunkett. This year, Plumbeus has 60-108 for 256 yards and no touchdowns and no interceptions. Last year, Plumbeus was 26-34 for 256 yards, no touchdowns and no interceptions against Notre Dame.

In his career, the fifth-year senior has rushed for 705 yards and 17 touchdowns. The native of El Cajon, Cal., is not only a capable runner, but also a competent receiver and blocker.

Virdell scored four touchdowns against Notre Dame last year, and has rushed 59 times for 273 yards this year. He has also scored six touchdowns, with his longest run a 48-yard scamper against Arizona.
