Northwesterners return home after wildfires kill five

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Evacuees began returning to their burned-out homes as gusting wind eased Thursday, helping firefighters battle wild­fires that have destroyed more than 100 homes and killed five people across four states.

"Before the fire was letting us fight it on its terms, but now the tide has changed a little bit," U.S. Forest Service spokesman Kevin Kennedy said in Richland, Wash. "This is a real big day for us."

Fires across parts of Washing­ton, Idaho, Montana and Oregon scorched hundreds of thousands of acres on grass, brush and timber. Most were ignited Wednesday by power lines downed in a fierce wind storm that gusted to more than 60 mph and kicked up heavy dust.

Killed were an eastern Wash­ington woman trying to flee her home, two people crushed by heavy equipment in Idaho and Of 23 people wounded, at least 11 remained hospitalized Thursday, two in critical condition.

Fourteen of the dead were women, and residents of this central Texas town suggested Hennard was angry at women, citing a letter he had written last summer referring to "tearachorous female vipers" and his comments during the rampage.

Police said they are investigat­ing his attitude toward women.

Among the dead at Luby's were school administrators and educators, a veterinarian, a career military officer, a woman who was treating her daughter and granddaughter to lunch and a woman from Missouri in town for a wedding.

Hennard's blue Ford pickup truck was removed before Thursday, but wind ruffled through the window it shattered. Outside, onlookers milled about.

Survivors told of hiding in the restaurant freezer or jumping through broken windows. One employee spent the night in a commercial dishwasher at the cafeteria.

"He was just scared and was going to stay there," Giacomozzi said. The unidentified man was un­hurt.

Another survivor, Luby's em­ployee Vicki Large, said the tragedy has hit home. "I just see him coming through the window and shooting every­where and it's like he's after me or something," she said Thurs­day.

Giacomozzi said Hennard used two 9mm semiautomatic pistols, with three ammunition clips for each. One, a Ruger P89, carried 15 rounds in each clip. Another, a Glock 17, had 17 rounds.

Police are unsure how many shells were fired. Giacomozzi said. But he added, "The gun was empty on the last round."

He said the guns were bought in February and March, in Henderson, Nev., where Hennard's mother lives, and may have been the only two guns Hennard owned. Neighbors in Henderson said Hennard had lived there as late as this sum­mer.

Gun control advocates seized on the massacre to try and sway a crucial vote in Washing­ton, where the House was de­bating a crime bill. But the por­tion of the bill that would have restricted the high-capacity ammunition clips used in the guns was defeated.

"The tragedy yesterday added some momentum in our direc­tion, but at this point I don't think it's enough," said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., chief supporter of the weapons ban.

"Environmental pollutants originate at the point of production," said Commoner. For instance, after World War II, car companies began to create larger cars to realize a maximum profit, he said, but these cars have emitted carbon monoxide emissions which have led to the problem of smog. Corporations must be responsible, not only to owners, but to the whole society, Commoner explained that he drew this idea out of the book, "The Modern Corporation and Private Property."

"This concept is vital to how companies should respond to the American public," he said. An exam­ple would be replacing the gasoline-fueled car with an electric car, he said, but consumer demand is necessary so that car companies offer electric cars.

Labor and land have same interest, speaker says

By NICOLE MCGRATH
News Writer

Labor and the environment have mutual goals, according to environmentalist Barry Commoner.

Since 1970, over a trillion dollars have been spent to increase production, explained Mr. Commoner. But in the last 15 years, levels of air pollutants have been reduced only 14%, excluding CO2 emissions, he said.

The EPA can only put laws into effect when a pollutant is discovered in the environment. But by that time, it is nearly impossible to totally wipe out the problem, explained Commoner.

The solution is to prevent pollutants from entering the environment, he said.

"Environmental pollutants originate at the point of production," said Commoner. For instance, after World War II, car companies began to create larger cars to realize a maximum profit, he said, but these cars have emitted carbon monoxide emissions which have led to the problem of smog. Corporations must be responsible, not only to owners, but to the whole society, Commoner explained that he drew this idea out of the book, "The Modern Corporation and Private Property."

"This concept is vital to how companies should respond to the American public," he said. An exam­ple would be replacing the gasoline-fueled car with an electric car, he said, but consumer demand is necessary so that car companies offer electric cars.

"The tragedy yesterday added some momentum in our direc­tion, but at this point I don't think it's enough," said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., chief supporter of the weapons ban.

"Environmental pollutants originate at the point of production," said Commoner. For instance, after World War II, car companies began to create larger cars to realize a maximum profit, he said, but these cars have emitted carbon monoxide emissions which have led to the problem of smog. Corporations must be responsible, not only to owners, but to the whole society, Commoner explained that he drew this idea out of the book, "The Modern Corporation and Private Property."

"This concept is vital to how companies should respond to the American public," he said. An exam­ple would be replacing the gasoline-fueled car with an electric car, he said, but consumer demand is necessary so that car companies offer electric cars.

Pretty as a picture

Ann Harrelson, a Saint Mary's sophomore from Holy Cross Hall, takes one last peak at Haggard Hall at Saint Mary's campus before she goes home to Holland, Michigan for break. Many students will return from break early to watch the Irish battle USC next Saturday.

KILLEEN, Texas (AP) — The gunman who massacred 22 people in a 10-minute barrage of semiautomatic gunfire may have been triggered by a fury against women, authorities said Thursday.

And as he exchanged shots with the policemen who were chasing in on him, the gunman saved one final bullet for himself.

Much remained a mystery about what caused George Hennard, one day after his 35th birthday, to drive his pickup truck through a plate­glass window at Luby's Cafeteria, jump out and methodically execute covering victims with a pair of pistols.

It ended in his suicide, and was the worst mass shooting in U.S. history.

Northwesterners return home after wildfires kill five

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Evacuees began returning to their burned-out homes as gusting wind eased Thursday, helping firefighters battle wild­fires that have destroyed more than 100 homes and killed five people across four states.

"Before the fire was letting us fight it on its terms, but now the tide has changed a little bit," U.S. Forest Service spokesman Kevin Kennedy said in Richland, Wash. "This is a real big day for us."

Fires across parts of Washing­ton, Idaho, Montana and Oregon scorched hundreds of thousands of acres on grass, brush and timber. Most were ignited Wednesday by power lines downed in a fierce wind storm that gusted to more than 60 mph and kicked up heavy dust.

Killed were an eastern Wash­ington woman trying to flee her home, two people crushed by heavy equipment in Idaho and Of 23 people wounded, at least 11 remained hospitalized Thursday, two in critical condition.

Fourteen of the dead were women, and residents of this central Texas town suggested Hennard was angry at women, citing a letter he had written last summer referring to "tearachorous female vipers" and his comments during the rampage.

Police said they are investigat­ing his attitude toward women.

Among the dead at Luby's were school administrators and educators, a veterinarian, a career military officer, a woman who was treating her daughter and granddaughter to lunch and a woman from Missouri in town for a wedding.

Hennard's blue Ford pickup truck was removed before Thursday, but wind ruffled through the window it shattered. Outside, onlookers milled about.

Survivors told of hiding in the restaurant freezer or jumping through broken windows. One employee spent the night in a commercial dishwasher at the cafeteria.

"He was just scared and was going to stay there," Giacomozzi said. The unidentified man was un­hurt.

Another survivor, Luby's em­ployee Vicki Large, said the tragedy has hit home. "I just see him coming through the window and shooting every­where and it's like he's after me or something," she said Thurs­day.

Giacomozzi said Hennard used two 9mm semiautomatic pistols, with three ammunition clips for each. One, a Ruger P89, carried 15 rounds in each clip. Another, a Glock 17, had 17 rounds.

Police are unsure how many shells were fired. Giacomozzi said. But he added, "The gun was empty on the last round."

He said the guns were bought in February and March, in Henderson, Nev., where Hennard's mother lives, and may have been the only two guns Hennard owned. Neighbors in Henderson said Hennard had lived there as late as this sum­mer.

Gun control advocates seized on the massacre to try and sway a crucial vote in Washing­ton, where the House was de­bating a crime bill. But the por­tion of the bill that would have restricted the high-capacity ammunition clips used in the guns was defeated.

"The tragedy yesterday added some momentum in our direc­tion, but at this point I don't think it's enough," said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., chief supporter of the weapons ban.

"Environmental pollutants originate at the point of production," said Commoner. For instance, after World War II, car companies began to create larger cars to realize a maximum profit, he said, but these cars have emitted carbon monoxide emissions which have led to the problem of smog. Corporations must be responsible, not only to owners, but to the whole society, Commoner explained that he drew this idea out of the book, "The Modern Corporation and Private Property."

"This concept is vital to how companies should respond to the American public," he said. An exam­ple would be replacing the gasoline-fueled car with an electric car, he said, but consumer demand is necessary so that car companies offer electric cars.

Pretty as a picture

Ann Harrelson, a Saint Mary's sophomore from Holy Cross Hall, takes one last peak at Haggard Hall at Saint Mary's campus before she goes home to Holland, Michigan for break. Many students will return from break early to watch the Irish battle USC next Saturday.

KILLEEN, Texas (AP) — The gunman who massacred 22 people in a 10-minute barrage of semiautomatic gunfire may have been triggered by a fury against women, authorities said Thursday.

And as he exchanged shots with the policemen who were chasing in on him, the gunman saved one final bullet for himself.

Much remained a mystery about what caused George Hennard, one day after his 35th birthday, to drive his pickup truck through a plate­glass window at Luby's Cafeteria, jump out and methodically execute covering victims with a pair of pistols.

It ended in his suicide, and was the worst mass shooting in U.S. history.
LIVING WITH A NIGHTTIME TERROR

Jennifer Marten

My roommate, I have found, has an odd habit that is very hazardous to her health and as well as my sanity. I wouldn't use her real name in order to protect her reputation. However, I will say something right off the top of my head...oh I don't know...something like Satan. Satan has a nasty habit of walking and talking in her sleep. Let me give you a few examples of her bizarre behavior at night.

Last year, I was returning from the study lounge in my dorm around 2 a.m. I opened the door without calling and took one step into my room. "Who's there?" yelled Satan from the top bunk. I didn't answer her wondering if she would just fall back to sleep. "Who's there?" she yelled again. When I didn't answer the second time, Satan clapped her hands loudly to announce "the peeper" which turned on the lights. As the lights flashed on, Satan shut up in bed and looked at me with the most evil eyes I had ever seen on a real person.

My heart was pounding and my stomach was in my throat. As a freshmen, I had never been so scared for my life. Satan then pointed to the ceiling. I had never seen such eyes I had ever seen on a real person.

There are ghosts all around," screamed Satan. "There are ghosts all around," screamed Satan. (I was almost ready to give you a few examples of her bizarre behavior at night."

"But I swear every word is the truth." Nonetheless, her night time antics are very apparent stupidity. At that point, I lost it.

Game over for proposed lottery

MINNEAPOLIS — State Lottery officials Thursday abandoned a pilot project that would have let Minnesotans be the first in the nation to bet at home using Nintendo video games. Many state legislators had opposed the project, saying it would entirety children to gamble. Lottery Director George Andersen defended the plan, but conceded that "legitimate issues raised by legislative policy makers call for extensive discussion."

The six-month test would have let 10,000 residents play at home starting next summer. Under the plan, players would have chosen numbers on the computer from a Nintendo game and hook up via a modem to the lottery's computer system. To participate in the game players would have to deposit up to $200 in advance in an account with the lottery. Any winnings would be credited to the account.

Court overrides blockade of waste

FORT HALL, Idaho — A judge allowed a shipment of high-level nuclear waste from Colorado to go through an Idaho reservation to a federal laboratory after tribal police blocked the truck and ticketed the driver. U.S. District Judge Edward Lodge in Boise ruled in a telephone hearing Wednesday that Public Service Company of Colorado could take the waste through the Fort Hall Indian Reservation to the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

"This is no victory," said Public Service spokesman Mark Reivers. "It is a small step in an ongoing difficult situation. Public Service is caught between the Shoshone-Bannock Tribes and the Department of Energy." The shipment was the third this month from the decommissioned Fort St. Vrain nuclear plant at Plattville, Colo.

THEO BENNETT

FRENCH FREIGHT TRAIN CRASH KILLS 11

PARIS — A passenger train on an overnight trip from the Riviera collided with a freight train this morning at a station, killing at least 11 people and seriously injuring about 50, police and rescue officials said. About 40 more passengers suffered minor injuries, police said. The passenger train was knocked off the tracks by the force of the collision at 6:30 a.m. at the station in Melus, 30 miles southeast of Paris. It was en route to Paris from Nice and included four sleeper cars and four cars carrying motor vehicles. Officials of the national railroad said the freight train may have passed through a red signal light instructing it to stop. More than 30 ambulances were dispatched to the scene, as well as emergency helicopters.

MELLENCAMP HOSPITALIZED IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE — Singer John Mellencamp became dizzy performing on a radio show Thursday and was taken to a hospital. A spokesperson for radio station KXRX, said Mellencamp became ill while singing the song "Rain on the Scarecrow" during a live broadcast. About 20 people were in the room with Mellencamp when he turned white, stopped singing and said he felt dizzy. Rosen—Smulek said. Mellencamp, 40, was admitted to Swedish Hospital, where Dr. John Olsen said he'd remain overnight. Olsen blamed the illness on exhaustion and poor eating habits. Mellencamp was listed in satisfactory condition. Mellencamp was known during his early recording years as John Cougar, and then John Cougar Mellencamp. His hit singles include "Hurt So Good."

OF INTEREST

Today is the deadline for sophomores to apply for Junior Parents' Weekend Sophomore Committee Chairperson. Applications are available in the Student Activities Office. Call Kay at 283-2537 for more information.

MARKET UPDATE

YESTERDAY'S TRADING/October 17

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>VOLUME IN SHARES</th>
<th>$650 MILLION</th>
<th>$800 MILLION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Stocks</td>
<td>22,000,000</td>
<td>18,500,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Options</td>
<td>1,500,000</td>
<td>1,200,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Commodities</td>
<td>5,000,000</td>
<td>4,500,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Precious Metals</td>
<td>1,000,000</td>
<td>750,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ON THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1967: The United States took formal possession of Alaska from Russia.
1973: Representatives of Columbia, Princeton, Rutgers and Yale Universities drew up the first rules for intercollegiate football.
1919: The American flag was raised in Puerto Rico shortly before Spain formally relinquished control of the island to the United States.
1944: Soviet troops invaded Czechoslovakia during World War II.
1989: After 18 years in power, Erich Honecker was ousted as leader of East Germany by the Central Committee.
GUNNERS MATE CLEARED OF SABOTAGE CHARGES; NAVY APOLOGIZES

CLEVELAND (AP) — The family of a Navy gunner's mate once blamed in the explosion that killed 47 sailors aboard the USS Iowa expressed relief Thursday that the Navy had finally apologized for accusing him of sabotage. "They gave us the words I wanted to hear. They exonerated my son. They said they were sorry that they accused him," said Evelyn Hartwig, whose son, Clayton, was among those killed in the 1989 explosion. Adm. Douglas Katz, who had first told the family that Hartwig was suspected of causing the blast returned to their middle-class home to deliver the apology in person to Hartwig's parents and his sister. An American flag was posted on a pillar on the front porch. "It's hard to come back to a family that had to undergo this," Katz said. "To come back again reminded me of the entire thing the first time, and that was the hardest thing I'd ever done, and I still feel that way, and we've had a war since. "I was able to look them straight in the eye and tell them a lot of things have happened since then. We've regretted the whole affair, the burden of the whole two years. It was hard on everybody, and hard on us. We regret the fact we implicated their son in the procedure."

Nuclear physics experts to visit in first U.S. meeting in 12 years

Special to The Observer

International experts in a specialized field of nuclear physics will be at Notre Dame for a workshop Oct. 21-23. The "Giant Resonances and Related Phenomena" workshop is the first meeting of this nature in the United States in more than 12 years.

In this context, the term "resonances" refers to oscillations within the nucleus of an atom, according to meeting organizer Umesh Garg, associate professor of physics. When most of the particles that make up the nucleus oscillate together, this motion is called "giant resonances." Garg likens the motion to that of water droplets sitting in a hot pan. By studying these oscillations scientists can learn more about the way the nucleus is put together, he said.

Research in the giant resonances field is no more than 40 years old, but is an active and vibrant area of study, he said. More than 80 scientists are expected to attend the Notre Dame workshop, and roughly half are from overseas, Garg said, and include representatives from the U.S.S.R., Japan, India, Brazil, and most countries in Western Europe.

Garg leads a Notre Dame team in an active program of research in giant resonances. Experiments are carried out at the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory in East Lansing, Mich., the Texas A&M University Cyclotron; and the Indiana University Cyclotron facility.

Notre Dame has had a long and distinguished tradition of research and scholarship in the field of nuclear physics, with one of the very few accelerator-based research facilities in use since 1936. Over the 100 years or more than 100 Ph.D.'s have been granted based on research done in the nuclear physics laboratory.
Inflation growing, govt. says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices, buffeted by higher costs for energy, food and housing, jumped 0.4 percent last month in the biggest inflation spurt since January, the government said Thursday.

In other bad economic news, industrial production rose a lackluster 0.1 percent in September while the country's merchandise trade deficit widened dramatically as overseas demand for American products took a nosedive.

Economists blamed the worse-than-expected inflation number for the most part on temporary factors, but they worried that the other reports depicted a listless economic recovery losing what little momentum it had.

Manufacturing and export sales had been among the few bright spots as the economy has struggled to break free of the 1990-91 recession.

Social security raised least amount in 5 years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 43 million Social Security beneficiaries next January will find the smallest cost-of-living raise in five years in their checks: 3.7 percent, or an average of $22 a month, the government said today.

The increase, boosting the average retired worker's monthly benefit to $629 from $607 advanced 0.4 percent.

The rate increase was the smallest since January 1987, when it was 1.3 percent. Last January's increase was 5.4 percent, the biggest in 8 1/2 years. The 1990, 1989 and 1988 raises all were 4 percent or higher.

The maximum monthly benefit for a worker retiring in 1992 at age 65 will rise $66 to $1,068.

THE NEW COUNTEROFFENSIVE

BY THE "POLITICALLY CORRECT" CLAIMS THIS BOOK IS ENEMY #1.

YOU DECIDE.

The Politics of Race and Sex on Campus

By Dinesh D'Souza

$19.95 at bookstores now or call 1-800-323-7445 to place your credit card order

FREE TANNING

$1 off Any Burger Combo

with Coupon

Live Bands Thu - Sun

Coming Nov 1st

Molly Hatchet

$1 off Any Burger Combo

Owned and Operated by ND Alumni

HOUSES FOR RENT

1992-1993 SCHOOL YEAR

Super landlords Inexpensive

5 and 6 bedrooms Security Systems

$100 off first month's rent with this ad

Call Irish Rentals 287-4989

Offer expires 11/8/91
Republicans urge tax breaks for middle class

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Republicans urged President Bush on Thursday to propose an economic-stimulus package that includes tax breaks for the middle class, saying the economy is doing worse than predicted.

White House officials said Bush was considering offering an economic-stimulus package Republican leaders urged Bush on Thursday to propose.

"Parts of it are already there (in Congress), Trouble is, they’re not listening too well," Bush said. "We have to do better in terms of selling what we believe is a growth package," he said at a photo session as he met a group of bankers to discuss the economy.

GOP leaders emerged from an earlier meeting with Bush to say the president had agreed to join them in proposing a package that would include new tax cuts and other measures to spur the economy.

"We need to have an economic growth package rather than sitting around and debating about whether the economy has turned the corner or not," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

Bush was considering offering tax breaks for the middle class, saying the economy is doing worse than predicted.

Trouble is, the president himself was noncommittal.

Bush met a group of bankers to discuss the economy.

"We need to have an economic growth package rather than sitting around and debating about whether the economy has turned the corner or not," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

"We have to do better in terms of selling what we believe in terms of a growth package," he said at a photo session as he met a group of bankers to discuss the economy.

GOP leaders emerged from an earlier meeting with Bush to say the president had agreed to join them in proposing a package that would include new tax cuts and other measures to spur the economy.

"Parts of it are already there (in Congress), Trouble is, they’re not listening too well," Bush said. "We have to do better in terms of selling what we believe is a growth package," he said at a photo session as he met a group of bankers to discuss the economy.

"We need to have an economic growth package rather than sitting around and debating about whether the economy has turned the corner or not," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

Bush was considering offering tax breaks for the middle class, saying the economy is doing worse than predicted.

"We need to have an economic growth package rather than sitting around and debating about whether the economy has turned the corner or not," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

Bush was considering offering tax breaks for the middle class, saying the economy is doing worse than predicted.

"We need to have an economic growth package rather than sitting around and debating about whether the economy has turned the corner or not," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.
Dear Editor:

In response to the story, "ND Professor Percival Everett talks on African-American issues" (The Observer, Oct. 7) I have several comments. I am compelled to share and invite challenges to their response.

First, however, I should give you some background about myself. I am currently a first-year law student here at Notre Dame. I graduated from Bucknell University in June with an Economics degree. I was a vocal activist at Bucknell concerning several issues: mainly religion, the war, and race relations on college campuses and in America in general.

I disagree with Professor Everett's description of African-Americans as "alien." I challenge any African-American to go abroad and come back home to America and make that same contention. America is our home.

We are as American as any other group in this country. We have fought and died for this country. We work here, our family lives here, and every thing we are about is here. The way we think is American. Good, bad, or indifferent, we are Americans too, and I resent anyone taking that away from me. I agree with Tom Cruise's character in "Born on the Fourth of July," when he said, "...if you don't like America, then get the hell out of here."

I strongly disagree with his feelings about The Cosby Show. It is shown like this that shows up whites and others what African-Americans can be. Think about what The Cosby Show says. It says African-Americans can form traditional families, we can be professionals, we can go to good colleges, and that, overall, we can be positive. This is an important statement for us to make, both to ourselves and to the wider America. We get plenty of scenes of the other side of African-American life; the drugs, the crime, the daily battle with racism, the poverty, and the lack of education. Does every show about, or for everybody. I think this is a very irresponsible comment to make for a professor at a Christian university.

The Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines the word bigot as: "hypocrite: one obstinately and irrationally, often intolerantly, devoted to his own church, party, belief, or opinion." This does not describe me or most of the people I have met here at Notre Dame. The fact that I am an African-American from white schools are more prepared for the "real world" is a farce and has been proven as such by empirical data. What black colleges give African-Americans is a sense of self. Most sociologists and psychologists will agree that it is important for a person to be able deal with him or herself before they can build healthy relationships with others. No matter where a black person goes to school, they have to deal with the society at large.

Finally, I must address Professor Everett's comments about the movie "Boyz N the Hood." He says he went to see the movie several times because of the audience. Never mind that this movie is the most important movie for black men throughout this country to see, and all should see it for its sociological value.

I say that blacks got an opportunity "to see themselves on screen." This statement suggests that all black people's experiences are the same, which could not be more erroneous.

I ask the question: "Why, Professor Everett, do you think it is better for us to see ourselves in one context, however often a movie about us comes out, than it is to see ourselves on The Cosby Show every week, in a different context?" Whether people believe it or not, we are a very heterogeneous people. We have many experiences to share, and none are less valid than others. To think or believe anything different is to submit to ignorance.

I feel that this article is not meant in any way as disrespect to Professor Everett or as a question of his ability as a professor. I merely felt it necessary to respond to statements I felt were incorrect or that did not represent the feelings of myself or people I know, black or white.

Dennis Barnes
O'Hara-Grace
Oct. 5, 1991

DOONESBURY

GARRY TRUDEAU

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"He who is afraid of his memories is cowardly, really cowardly."

Ellias Canetti

Don't be afraid, just submit.

QUOTES, P.O. Box Q, NO, IN 46556
Ticket crunch does not warrant expansion plan

Dear Editor:

It is a potentially catastrophic day in the history of this university. Mark your calendar for November 10, 1991, the day when Notre Dame Stadium comes an increase in the number of fans who seize the opportunity to crowd control. With the expansion of the stadium comes an increase in the number of alums who cannot accommodate the rush. This is an idea and dream 1991. It is not for the Thomas Sesquicentennial has now so abruptly coincided with a surge in enrollments and apparent open- endedness, our trusted leaders Mr. Rosenthal and Father Beauchamp announced the commencement of a study on the feasibility of an addition to Notre Dame Stadium, the house that Rockne built.

I have heard many of the arguments for this proposition. Aside from the fact that it will make Mr. Carmody’s impossible job perhaps a little less impossible, I would like to point out another of the consequences—the effect of abortion Syndrome. I am going to repeat what I have heard. Abortion is the murdering of the baby. Now some of you might say, “Well, that’s true. But what about the mother? She also suffers from these effects.”

Research to date has shown that the woman’s healing process will begin when she accepts God’s forgiveness; and that the fetus is part of the woman’s body. They say that the child is part of her physical body then she can do anything to it and still be justified. Now, if I was the child being aborted, I would really be ticked off. How can some woman decide to end my life? It’s my body and I have the right to make that decision to end my life prematurely. Did she ask me if she could do this? The answer to this of course is “no.” People always talk about the woman’s right for an abortion, how about the child’s right to live.

Robert E. Payne
Pangborn Hall
Sept. 23, 1991

‘Pro-choice’ movement forgets rights of unborn

Dear Editor:

One of the more common arguments presented by pro-choice advocates is that the fetus is part of the woman’s body. They say that the child is part of her physical body then she can do anything to it and still be justified. Now, if I was the child being aborted, I would really be ticked off. How can some woman decide to end my life? It’s my body and I have the right to make that decision to end my life prematurely. Did she ask me if she could do this? The answer to this of course is “no.” People always talk about the woman’s right for an abortion, how about the child’s right to live.

Robert E. Payne
Pangborn Hall
Sept. 23, 1991

Stadium expansion would strain campus infrastructure

Dear Editor:

It’s rather ironic that this time around, Sesquicentennial has now so abruptly coincided with a surge of enthusiasm for the potentially disastrous expansion of Notre Dame Stadium. We have during this Sesquicentennial time, often reflected upon the great vision of Father Sorin. It seems these ideas and dreams are easily trampled by the thorns of desperate football fans who seize the opportunity to crowd control. With the expansion of the stadium comes an increase in the number of alums who cannot accommodate the rush. This is an idea and dream that Rockne built.

I have heard many of the arguments for this proposition. Aside from the fact that it will make Mr. Carmody’s impossible job perhaps a little less impossible, I would like to point out another of the consequences—the effect of abortion Syndrome. I am going to repeat what I have heard. Abortion is the murdering of the baby. Now some of you might say, “Well, that’s true. But what about the mother? She also suffers from these effects.”

Research to date has shown that the woman’s healing process will begin when she accepts God’s forgiveness; and that the fetus is part of the woman’s body. They say that the child is part of her physical body then she can do anything to it and still be justified. Now, if I was the child being aborted, I would really be ticked off. How can some woman decide to end my life? It’s my body and I have the right to make that decision to end my life prematurely. Did she ask me if she could do this? The answer to this of course is “no.” People always talk about the woman’s right for an abortion, how about the child’s right to live.

Robert E. Payne
Pangborn Hall
Sept. 23, 1991

Abortion also victimizes mothers

Dear Editor:

In the last few weeks, members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s Right to Life chapter have presented the facts about abortion, showing, in effect, that abortion is the murdering of unborn humans. I would like to point out another of the consequences—the effect of abortion on the mother, now identified as Post Abortion Syndrome.

This is the medical name for the emotional and psychological damage experienced by women who have had abortions. It is characterized by denial and suppression which breaks down sooner or later (after 5, 10, 15 years) and results in severe emotional disabilities. Feelings of guilt and shame are constant, often coupled with lowered self-esteem and severe depression. Sufferers of Post Abortion Syndrome also experience insomnia, feelings of sorrow and hopelessness, aniversary reactions, drug and alcohol abuse, and reliving. Often these women become suicidal, chemically dependent or off way, exposed to sexual, and unable to maintain stable relationships.

Kathleen S. Renard
303 Howard Hall
Oct. 9, 1991

Students should try to use rideshare box in LaFortune

Dear Editor:

Hi, are you the one who pays $45 one way to go to Green Bay, WI? Oh, now I remember. You are the one who ended up not going to Detroit because you felt it was too inconvenient to have a 3 hour ride to go to Chicago... If only you had a car... But then, there are other people who do have a car... like maybe you ——? Did you ever get tired driving for 8 hours to Minneapolis, probably getting less sleep than you need? Peop must have been greeted to hear? Save gas, share expenses and take somebody with you! So, now, there are the drivers, who seek riders and prospective riders. How do they meet? Would there be a rideshare box like there was something like a rideshare box? Some central spot where people who should leave a message without paying for an ad? It exists! The ridesharebox is located at the south entrance to LaFortune. Only if necessary. Get more information (from students as well as faculty) use it, will work. So why not use your message there right now! Or are you just too busy to spend the time to break, Thanksgiving or Christmas?

Joern Meissner
Off-campus

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Viewpoint

page 7

Friday, October 16, 1991
Breaking possibilities are endless

By Lisa Eaton
Managing Editor

O

c

Add to that the fact that the Huddle and the legendary Oak Room are the only conveniently located food serving establishments.
Thrive on a mix of off the fact that ND students are forced to live there and are damn proud of it.

The Let Mom Spoil You Break
This rates pretty high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
In this case, you will get to share each

The Fun, Wild & Out of Control Break
This break has the potential to go overboard, especially when you slip into apathy and "I have all week so I'll do it tomorrow" frame of mind.
Before you know it the Trojans of USC will be hanging the Michiana Region, not because you've won nothing.
The SB Break gets an even five bottles of Budweiser for its Regression Back to Childhood potential.
A little sunshine, a few good friends, and the right choice of location could be the perfect combination for a break to remember.

As a Viable Economic option, this break only costs you four bottles of beer because that could all be the beer you can afford to purchase by the time you get your destination.
Remember gas, food and sleeping accommodations are not cheap, so consider your options wisely.

Just a note:
"I've never been here before, so let's just go and see what happens" approach is a high risk, you could have fun and then

The scenario for the FW'nOC Break is:
It has the scale in the Opportunity to Bond with Friends category. There is nothing being out in the middle of nowhere with only a map and prayer to get you to anywhere closely resembling civilization to bring out the best in a person (or the worst).
You can be the Italian Stallion sitting at the next available or semi-

The comforting thought:
You've reached your warm haven of home. You've been too tired and you're going to use the whole experience. Just keep that in mind as you set off for parts unknown.

The World of the FW’nOC Break is:
It is a world where the LMST Break is not popular. In this case, you will get to share each other deepest, darkest and most juicy secrets while laughing and just generally enjoying each other much like a warm night.
This scenario for the FW’nOC Break is limited only by the imagination of the individuals.

Well, the possibilities for the Breaking experience are endless.
Adults don't have to try to look adult, do they? Leave the trendy fashions from Seventeen magazine at home. Dress conservatively so you don't draw unwanted attention to yourself. This might help to tint a few hairs grey.

Remember that the key word is first time.
That doesn't mean you have to show it.

Rule 4: Practice.
Visualizing your evening play by juggling and how you will handle it is front of a mirror. Make derisory facial expressions. Look slightly bored and nasal appearance anxious like you have a problem with your girlfriend, your roommates, or your boyfriend's roommate (got all that?) in the major Bridge's bottom half and be back to the store around 4 a.m.
The guy's friends pooled their money and he ended up owing them a sum that could have paid for his books for a year. A steep fine, a police record, and a畸-off for, pitchers and a cheap staff or two.

This week we will be clubbing in Fort Smith, Arkansas, as did last Fall Break and do every vacation. Although I am nineteen, I have never possessed a fake I.D., and am not particularly devious. I have never been refused into a bar at home. In fact, half the people I see on the weekends are underage. None of us have ever gotten arrested. Then again, none of us are named Rick or Demetrius.

Rule 3: Act confident.

Rule 2: Look old. But don't be obvious. Heavily-applied makeup, big hair, and high heels do not necessarily create a picture of new ground for the annals of Studentdom to record forever.

He cautioned, however, into slipping into apathy and "I have all week so I'll do it tomorrow" frame of mind. Before you know it the Trojans of USC will be hanging the Michiana Region, not because you've won nothing.
The SB Break gets an even five bottles of Budweiser for its Regression Back to Childhood potential.
A little sunshine, a few good friends, and the right choice of location could be the perfect combination for a break to remember.

As a Viable Economic option, this break only costs you four bottles of beer because that could all be the beer you can afford to purchase by the time you get your destination.
Remember gas, food and sleeping accommodations are not cheap, so consider your options wisely.

Just a note:
"I've never been here before, so let's just go and see what happens" approach is a high risk, you could have fun and then

The scenario for the FW’nOC Break is:
It has the scale in the Opportunity to Bond with Friends category. There is nothing being out in the middle of nowhere with only a map and prayer to get you to anywhere closely resembling civilization to bring out the best in a person (or the worst).
You can be the Italian Stallion sitting at the next available or semi-

The World of the FW’nOC Break is:
It is a world where the LMST Break is not popular. In this case, you will get to share each other deepest, darkest and most juicy secrets while laughing and just generally enjoying each other much like a warm night.
This scenario for the FW’nOC Break is limited only by the imagination of the individuals.

Well, the possibilities for the Breaking experience are endless.
Adults don't have to try to look adult, do they? Leave the trendy fashions from Seventeen magazine at home. Dress conservatively so you don't draw unwanted attention to yourself. This might help to tint a few hairs grey.

Remember that the key word is first time.
That doesn't mean you have to show it.

Rule 4: Practice.
Visualizing your evening play by juggling and how you will handle it is front of a mirror. Make derisory facial expressions. Look slightly bored and nasal appearance anxious like you have a problem with your girlfriend, your roommates, or your boyfriend's roommate (got all that?) in the major Bridge's bottom half and be back to the store around 4 a.m.
The guy's friends pooled their money and he ended up owing them a sum that could have paid for his books for a year. A steep fine, a police record, and a畸-off for, pitchers and a cheap staff or two.

This week we will be clubbing in Fort Smith, Arkansas, as did last Fall Break and do every vacation. Although I am nineteen, I have never possessed a fake I.D., and am not particularly devious. I have never been refused into a bar at home. In fact, half the people I see on the weekends are underage. None of us have ever gotten arrested. Then again, none of us are named Rick or Demetrius.

Rule 3: Act confident.

Rule 2: Look old. But don't be obvious. Heavily-applied makeup, big hair, and high heels do not necessarily create a picture of

new ground for the annals of Studentdom to record forever.

He cautioned, however, into slipping into apathy and "I have all week so I'll do it tomorrow" frame of mind. Before you know it the Trojans of USC will be hanging the Michiana Region, not because you've won nothing.
The SB Break gets an even five bottles of Budweiser for its Economic Viable option.
At first glance one might think that no travel expenses are involved in this option, but the cost of having to find enough food to satisfy the TV watching student is definitely a minus.
Add to that the fact that the Huddle and the legendary Oak Room are the only conveniently located food serving establishments.

The Let Mom Spoil You Break
This rates pretty high on the list of popular breaks for most seniors.
In this case, you will get to share each

The Fun, Wild & Out of Control Break
This break has the potential to go overboard, especially when you slip into apathy and "I have all week so I'll do it tomorrow" frame of mind.
Before you know it the Trojans of USC will be hanging the Michiana Region, not because you've won nothing.
The SB Break gets an even five bottles of Budweiser for its Economic Viable option.
At first glance one might think that no travel expenses are involved in this option, but the cost of having to find enough food to satisfy the TV watching student is definitely a minus.
Add to that the fact that the Huddle and the legendary Oak Room are the only conveniently located food serving establishments. Bring them home frustrated by this taxing decision they usually bring them all, and everyone checking to make sure their tickets to wherever are still there.
The stage is set, the fun begins.

Before going into the whole break experience, one must first be aware of what could possibly happen within the next ten days. So for the convenience of the greater ND/SMC community here is a little preview of the upcoming attractions (all ratings are on a scale: one to fifteen bottles of beer).

The South Bend Break
• This Breaking option doesn't rate too high on the adventure scale, it's a pretty hip, chic, and... well... it's South Bend.
• This option rates high on the dropped-off cars, and make a big fuss over the fact that you have returned home to the nest once again is definitely not a bad situation to be in. This option rates very high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
• If you have returned home to the nest once again is definitely not a bad situation to be in. This option rates very high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
• If you have returned home to the nest once again is definitely not a bad situation to be in. This option rates very high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
• If you have returned home to the nest once again is definitely not a bad situation to be in. This option rates very high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
• If you have returned home to the nest once again is definitely not a bad situation to be in. This option rates very high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
• If you have returned home to the nest once again is definitely not a bad situation to be in. This option rates very high on the top of popular breaks for most seniors.
Fall Break Destinations

For this poll we randomly asked students about their plans for Fall Break.

All information was compiled by Katie Eustermann, and photos taken by Sean Farnan.

"I'm going to go home to visit my girlfriend and my family—to get my laundry done. I'm definitely going to a (Detroit) Red Wing game... they're going to win when I get there. That's about it. I'll do no homework, and enjoy myself."

-Mike Johnson, Stanford Hall

"I'll be partyin' at a medical school in New York, as well as checkin' out the facilities, all in an effort to plan my future. Additionally, I'll continue to train for the upcoming American gladiator competition in which I will re-cut Diamond and rip 'Star' from her personal heaven."

-Kim Jones, Knott Hall

"Stay here, work like a fiend on all of the stuff I haven't gotten to yet, and hang my head against the wall in reaction to the horror of my own existence."

-Marshall Armintor, Grace Hall

"I'll be visiting colleges in Minnesota. I'll also be in Chicago to participate in the studio audience for the Oprah Winfrey Show."

-Rosie Cox, LeMars Hall, Saint Mary's

"Over break... ah, let's see. I'm goin' to check out the Braves at the World Series, as well as fulfill my plans to liberate Croatia, in the interim I will bar-hop aimlessly through the music scene in Athens, Georgia."

-Matt Seng, Zahn Hall

"At 7:45, Saturday morning, I'm getting my teeth pulled... wisdom teeth. It's goin' to be fun!"

-Charlotte Dooper, Pasquerrilla West

Home provides R & R

By PAIGE SMORON
Assistant Accent Editor

You've made it. You've filled in so many dots on answer sheets that you've gained a new respect for Searle, that dot artist. It's time for October Break, and you've earned it in blood, sweat, music, and Diet Mtn. Dew. Don't have a scheme that I lost my driver's license this was all the identification I could us in the men's dorms at Notre Dame, why not in the bars? I got in. The Intimidation Method. If you have the good fortune of having a girlfriend with a very big boyfriend, you are in business. My friend had a boyfriend from a military base who has a membership in Beethoven's. Whenever she and I wanted to get in without a challenge, we had him meet us at the door and sign us in. On the rare occasions that the bouncer protested, the boyfriend just looked down at him and said, "Hey, they're okay. They're with me." My Favorite, Never-Fail Plan. At bars where your hand is stamped, it's a cinch to get in. Park your car where people leaving the bar are in sight. If there is no parking lot, case the joint in dark glasses so you won't be recognized. This is a good reason to have your windows tinted. Follow the first people you see leaving and wave them over to your open window. Ask to see their wristband and memorize the picture. Park in a safe place where no one can witness your illegal activity and bring out the tools of the trade. I have become so practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.

My purse is always equipped with a fine point black Bic pen and Clinique Fawn Satin eyeshadow. Just flash your wrists, pray that no one feels the need to inspect them closely, and walk right in. You've practiced at drawing and smudging stamp designs that you can't tell the difference between them and the real thing. For this to work, you have to have done your homework and know what colors the stamps are.
The hunt for the smoking gun

\[\text{Penguins knock off Islanders 8-5} \]

Coffey breaks NHL scoring record for defensemen

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Paul Coffey broke the NHL scoring record for defencemen and Bob Errey had three goals as the Pittsburgh Penguins defeated the New York Islanders 8-5 on Thursday night.

Coffey had two assists to give him 1,053 points for his career.

Jaromir Jagr's goal just over half way through the third period snapped the Islanders' four-game winning streak to help the Penguins to a clear-cut victory after a listless second period.

\[\text{Red Wings 6, Blues 3} \]

DITTOO — Rookie defencemen Nicklas Lidstrom and Vladimir Konstantinov scored their first NHL goals during a five-goal second period to lead the host Red Wings to a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

After a scoreless first period, the teams combined for seven goals in the second, including two goals in the last five seconds by Steve Chiasson and Lidstrom, a rookie from Sweden.

\[\text{Packers' woes continue as Bears beat two-game losing streak} \]

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Chicago Bears managed only one touchdown on the night it was pltely against the Green Bay Packers.

The Bears shut down and shut out Green Bay's quarterbacking efforts as they beat the Packers' 11th victory in the last 18 games against its long-time rival.

Jim Harbaugh's eighth-round pick and James Thornton late in the second quarter and Kevin Butler's 22-yard field goal early in the fourth sent the Bears (5-2) to a victory in close, sudden-death.

The Packers, who had 138 yards offense and made just five first downs for 32 yards before he was replaced by former Bears Mike Tomczak in the fourth quarter.

The Packers' deepest drive all night led to a 47-yard field by Butler.

Majkowski fumbled a snap out of the shotgun and Richard Dent recovered for the Bears at the Packers' 11 with 10:30 seconds left in the second quarter.

Hartmann missed the extra point a field goal with 7:45 to go.

The Bears, whose two first possessions ended on a fumble and interception, finally scored when Harbaugh hit Butterman for a touchdown with 1:44 left in the first half.

The Packers, who had just 76 yards offense, went 1-2 in the second quarter.

Madison, Wis. — Paul Coffey broke the NHL scoring record for defencemen and Bob Errey had three goals as the Pittsburgh Penguins defeated the New York Islanders 8-5 on Thursday night.

Coffey had two assists to give him 1,053 points for his career.

Jaromir Jagr's goal just over half way through the third period snapped the Islanders' four-game winning streak to help the Penguins to a clear-cut victory after a listless second period.

\[\text{Flyers 5, Nordiques 3} \]

PHILADELPHIA — Andre Dupont scored two goals as the Philadelphia Flyers scored five straight times to defeat the Quebec Nordiques 5-3.

The Flyers extended their home unbeaten streak against the Nordiques to nine games.

The loss extended the Nordiques' winless streak to four (0-4-1).

Philadelphia's Mark Pederson scored with 4:35 gone in the final period to break a 3-3 tie.

Dupont's 20th goal was his second goal of the season 35 seconds later for insurance.

\[\text{Flames 6, Maple Leafs 4} \]

CALGARY, Alberta — The Calgary Flames scored on their first three shots on goalie Grant Fuhr as they handed the Maple Leafs their fourth straight loss.

The Flames scored two goals in the third period as the Chicago Blackhawks defeated the Los Angeles Kings 4-2.

Adam Creighton scored from just outside the crease 3:15 into the final period to break a 1-1 tie.

Roenicke's first goal of the night 82 seconds later made it 3-1 to help the Blackhawks withstand a goal by Craig Muni.

Then, after goaltender Jimmy Waite preserved the tie with a nice save on a close shot by Joe Murphy, Roenicke clinched the win with an empty-net goal with 20 seconds left, his sixth of the season.

\[\text{Letters to a Lonely God} \]

Father Robert Griffin

\[\text{You can be placed on trial for to make the existence of the} \] \[\text{somewhere covered with your gun for ten long years; yet she} \]
\[\text{was just another corrupt male} \]
\[\text{Swaggart and Father Bruce} \]
\[\text{statesmen tell the young politi-} \]
\[\text{What does Anita Hill know} \]
\[\text{to be a smoking gun used against him like a smoking} \]
\[\text{three-ring circus they staged.} \]
\[\text{Could any of those public fig-} \]
\[\text{guilt, have failed to think:} \]
\[\text{Ritter with his track record} \]
\[\text{Nordiques' winless streak to} \]
\[\text{Flyers extended their} \]
\[\text{Lomakin had two goals as the} \]
\[\text{Flyers} \]
\[\text{Flyers scored their first three shots on goalie Grant Fuhr as they} \]
\[\text{Leafs their fourth straight loss.} \]
\[\text{Murphy, Roenick clinched the} \]
\[\text{on a} \]
\[\text{Fuhr as they handed the Maple} \]
\[\text{Maple Leafs to a 6-3} \]
\[\text{his} \]
\[\text{his second goal of the season 35} \]
\[\text{seconds left in the period to} \]
\[\text{seconds left in the period to} \]
\[\text{The Islanders lost their fourth straight loss.} \]
\[\text{The Packers, who had 138} \]
\[\text{passes by 32 yards before he was} \]
\[\text{Mike Tomczak in the fourth} \]
\[\text{quarter. The Packers' deepest drive all night led to a 47-yard} \]
\[\text{the Packers' woes continue as Bears beat two-game losing streak} \]

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Chicago Bears managed only one touchdown on the night it was pltely against the Green Bay Packers.

The Bears shut down and shut out Green Bay's quarterbacking efforts as they beat the Packers' 11th victory in the last 18 games against its long-time rival.

Jim Harbaugh's eighth-round pick and James Thornton late in the second quarter and Kevin Butler's 22-
NOTICES

Typping
Fast, Professional
277-1866
Buy or sell used books
Pantazzi's Books - newbooks and secondhand
Call for names at 225-5366

Soom Deo Wordprocessing

297-1940

L material

L O S T / F O U N D

F O U N D M E N S W A T C H I N C O M P U T E R L A B

F O U N D O R L I S T E N E D

H e ’ s 3 - d i m e n s i o n a l a n d m y P a r s o n s w a n t s h i m i n h i s r o o m R e t u r n h i m w i t h o u r q u e s t i o n s a s k e d a t 3 1 6 F l a n n e r . P l a y w i t h h i m a n d l e t h i m t o .

L O S T - P e a c e n e c k l a c k y i n g r e e n e d g e s e a s a s 1 0 / 9 8 R E W A R D K I N D L Y

C A L L R O R t o I D E N T I F Y

L O S T - g r y u p s w i t h w h e e l s w i t h n o h e e l s o n p r e s e n t . L a s t W e d n s . 1 9 / 1 6 i n 2 3 5 O s s a g R d . 2 2 6 - 1 8 8 0 . S a y s : " I ’ m I n s e e . . ."

L O S T - N a v y b l u e w a s h e r a t t h e S M C J u n i o r D e s s o n F o n . 6 / 1 6 8 / 8 7 t o I n g r e d i e n t s i n H a g g a t H a l l . D i l l e y ’ s n a m e b a n d c l e a n e r . B u t c l e a n , F a i l - w h e t c h e d . I f f o u n d c a l l C h i s 2 5 7 7 .

W A N T E D

O V E R S I Z E J O B S $ 9 0 0 + M i n . 1 6 / 1 8 / 8 7 C o n t a c t C a r m e l A i n f o r s p e c i f i c s D ." C a r m e l 3 1 8 - 6 7 1 5 .

C a r m e l M s , C a r m e l 3 1 8 - 6 7 1 5 .

C a r m e l M s , C a r m e l 3 1 8 - 6 7 1 5 .

C a r m e l M s , C a r m e l 3 1 8 - 6 7 1 5 .

R e a d y t o k e s f o r y o u r r u s h w i t h n e w w i t h o u t m i s t a k e s e a s a s a L O N G , L O N G , L O N G . E n g l i s h c l a s s e s F u n e r a l i s a t e d f o r t o p l a y e r s . F o e r a m f u n .

R e a d y t o k e s f o r y o u r r u s h w i t h n e w w i t h o u t m i s t a k e s e a s a L O N G , L O N G , L O N G . E n g l i s h c l a s s e s F u n e r a l i s a t e d f o r t o p l a y e r s . F o e r a m f u n .

R e a d y t o k e s f o r y o u r r u s h w i t h n e w w i t h o u t m i s t a k e s e a s a L O N G , L O N G , L O N G . E n g l i s h c l a s s e s F u n e r a l i s a t e d f o r t o p l a y e r s . F o e r a m f u n .

R e a d y t o k e s f o r y o u r r u s h w i t h n e w w i t h o u t m i s t a k e s e a s a L O N G , L O N G , L O N G . E n g l i s h c l a s s e s F u n e r a l i s a t e d f o r t o p l a y e r s . F o e r a m f u n .
Gracie's running attack too much for Dillon in 20-0 win

Fisher, Carroll tie 7-7 in battle of Rockne unbeatens

By JONATHAN JENSEN

Steve Romine and Tim Slezat led an unstoppable running attack as Pittsburgh 2-0 last night at Carter Field.

Grace opened the scoring in the first quarter on Romine's 25-yard sweep. Just before the half, Gracie quarterback Slezat scored on a one-yard boulde to make it 1-0 Gracie going into intermission.

In the second half, Gracie fullback Dan Turner ran in from the two to put Carroll (3-0-1) ahead 6-0. Andy Lill then added the extra point.

The half, the Green Wave (3-0-1) got rolling. Fisher running back Curtis Baker scored on a seven-yard run to bring Fisher to within one, and the extra point tied the score.

From there, the defenses took over, and neither team could generate much offense in the final quarter.

Stanford 9, Alumni 0

Alumni (2-1-1) missed several opportunities and ended up tying with Stanford (1-2-0).

After a scoreless first quarter, the Dawgs missed a 37-yard field goal that would have given them the lead. Alumni linebacker Gary Faucher's interception in the second quarter coming Stanford drive just before the half.

As an impressive Alumni drive which brought it to the Stu's 46-yard line, a fumble prevented the team's first score. The Dawgs then missed another 37-yard field goal after forcing Stanford to punt.

Alumni last hope was pulled when Van Slyke pulled a 14-yard pass that had brought it to the Stu 20-yard line.

Bears down Pirates 4-0, earn World Series berth

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Atlanta Braves knocked off the Pirates' losing streak, battling it out for the NL playoffs and setting up the most unlikely World Series ever.

In the last 13 games, the Pirates had been swept in each of their last two World Series appearances, in 1971 and 1979.

The Braves had been swept in their only other playoff appearances, in 1969 and 1982 before this year.

The Pirates won the fifth pennant in franchise history, and first since 1958 in Milwaukee. The Pirates had been swept in their only other playoff appearances in 1969 and 1982 before this year.

The Pirates went meekly, and so did fans. A crowd of just 46,932, more than 10,000 fans chanting and chopping in their loser's image, shutting out the Pirates.

Smoltz pitched Atlanta's only scoreless inning, and that was all they needed. The Braves needed 26 pitches in the inning, and that was all they needed.

The Braves, baseball's poorest team last year, and the Minnesota Twins, the only other team this century to go from worst-to-first in consecutive seasons, meet up in the World Series starting Saturday night in the Metrodome.

Gracie tailback Steve Romine (shown here vs. Flanner) scored on a 25-yard sweep in the first quarter of its 20-0 victory over Dillon last night.

Nothing could save Pittsburgh from Atlanta's staff...
Men's cross country to compete in IU meet

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

After a two week rest from competition, the seventh-ranked Notre Dame men's cross country team is hitting the road again this weekend for the Indiana Intercollegiate. On Friday, the meet at Indiana University in Bloomington will feature talented teams from all over the state of Indiana, including IU, Purdue, Ball State, Indiana State, Anderson College, and several other small colleges. Today will be the first time the Irish have competed in the meet since 1987. Historically, Notre Dame teams have done very well at the event. In 1987, the Irish finished second to Indiana and in 1994, the Irish won the event.

In the past, the meet fell on consecutive weekends and the weekend following the event. In 1984, the Irish finished second to Indiana and won the event. In 1987, the Irish were more than happy to participate. "It is an opportunity for us," said Piane.

Another reason to run in the event is that Indiana will play host to the NCAA Division IV meet and it is an opportunity for the team to run on the Division IV course against several teams they will face in the Division IV meet. Running with control will be more important than getting to know the course according to Piane.

"We don't have to run on the course to run well in districts," said Piane. "But, if we come away with a good run, we'll have positive feelings for the course. We really want to control the long and run at and to run more as a group this race."

Representing the Irish will be seniors Kevin Keegan and Mike Drake, juniors John Coyle, Nick Radkewich, J.T. Burke, sophomores Mike McWilliams, Hugh Munday and Shandy Schneider, and freshmen Nate Ruder. Senior captain Pat Kearns is ill and will not be travelling with the team.

Coyle was the highest finisher for the Irish at the Notre Dame Invitational in sixth place. McWilliams placed 12th, Radkewich placed 15th, Ruder placed 25th, and Keegan was 33rd.

Women's cross country travels to Bloomington with high hopes

By JONATHAN JENSEN
Sports Writer

The next test for the Notre Dame women's cross country team is the Indiana Intercollegiate meet, which takes place in Bloomington today at 3:00 p.m. The team's spirits are high following a week off after finishing third in the National Catholic Meet two weeks ago and second in the Notre Dame Invitational Oct. 4th.

The host Hoosiers are the favorite in the race, with Purdue, Ball State and Notre Dame also expected to challenge for the title. Indiana is nationally ranked and may even send their top runners into the race. This gives the Irish even more hope to catch the Hoosiers.

"It would take a great race to beat Indiana," said senior Diana Bradley, "but they're definitely within our reach."

The Irish will look to the freshmen, who have paced the Irish thus far, to finish high in the race today.

Volleyball team opens MCC action this weekend at Butler

Observer Staff Report

While most Notre Dame students take a week off to relax, the volleyball team will get busy with six games in the next eleven days. The Irish take to the road for three games, then come home for a tripleheader weekend.

The October 18 match at Butler begins the MCC conference slate for Notre Dame (8-6, 6-butter). Butler is 12-8 overall and 1-1 in the conference. The two teams split a pair of matches last year. Another conference match follows October 19th at Evansville (9-11, 0-2). Notre Dame cruised to victory 3-0 in the 1990 match. The Irish lose the road trip out the door in a non-conference match at Illinois. They have never beaten the Illini.

Notre Dame will come back to the Joyce Center October 25, to take on conference foe Xavier (18-4, 2-0), losers of a tight match to Notre Dame last year. The match begins at 7:30 p.m. The Flyers handled Notre Dame in three games last season.

The flurry of activity ends on Sunday, October 27 at 2:00 p.m. when Akron visits Notre Dame. The match will be the first meeting between the two schools.

The Irish should be well rested for the difficult stretch after not playing a game in the last ten days. They last saw action October 8 against Valparaiso, beating the Crusaders 15-7, 15-9, 15-10. The victory ended a three-game losing skid.

Have a terrific fall break. Call when you get back!!

The Observer will be back next week for the season finale. If you enjoy our coverage, please donate to help support the paper. You can call us at 272-7378.

The Observer will be back next week for the season finale. If you enjoy our coverage, please donate to help support the paper. You can call us at 272-7378.

HAPPY 21st BIRTHDAY
DAVID BOCHE!
SEE YOU AT THE BANK
SLATTERS, BRO!
SMC volleyball pulls out easy win at home

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's Belles stifled a three-game losing streak by defeating the University of Chicago, 15-12, 15-5, 15-12, 15-9, on October 27 at Angela Athletic Facility.

In the first game, both teams showed excellent control and skill, utilizing excellent communication skills. However, the Belles prevailed in game one, and then continued their command on the floor by exploding to a 13-0 lead in the second game.

"They were a good team," explained captain Karen Lorton. "We played well all-around and much better than in recent games. This built up our confidence and proved we could do it."

Although Saint Mary's showed its outstanding ability in the first two games, in the third game, the team did not keep the momentum. The Belles made a great comeback after falling behind at one point 2-8, but eventually lost the third game.

"During the third game, we had a difficult time adjusting to a new person (freshman setter Laura Haller) on the floor," coach Julie Shroeder-Biek said. She went on to praise Haller's performance, however, after she took over for starter Michelle Martino during the third game. "Laura did a nice job setting for the team, I was impressed with her play."

Lorton provided the team with 12 blocks, 11 kills and 7 digs, while Martino contributed 26 assists for the win. In addition, Lorton recently became the NCAA Division III leader in blocks per game with a 3.71 average and third in the nation in kills per game (3.85). Martino also received recognition, as the national leader in assists (8.4 per game).

The Belles will complete their homestand this season October 31 against Hillsdale College.

UMass
continued from page 20

goals and three assists, and Jodi Hartwig, who leads the team in game-winning goals, will have to be at the top of its game both on the road trip and for the homestand.

Hartwig, who scored the game-winner at William & Mary, has seven goals and six assists and is second in the MCC in scoring behind Porter. She was named MCC Female Athlete of the Week for the week of October 13.

"Jodi played very well; she created a lot of chances for us," Petrucci said of the freshman after the win over William & Mary.

Notre Dame will return from the road trip to face the Louisville Cardinals on Friday, October 25, at 3 p.m. at Alumni Field. Though the Cardinals have struggled this season, they last year's 1-0 Notre Dame victory.

The crucial game of the homestand will be on Sunday, October 27 against Xavier, which is currently riding an eleven-game unbeaten streak and has an 11-1 record.

MCC
continued from page 20

country. It will be a tremendous opportunity for the players to gain experience and recognition.

"For me, it's an opportunity to go out and play well," said Faustmann. "I have absolutely nothing to lose—none of us do. We can go out and make a name for ourselves, and it will be a great experience."

"Playing well in the All American would give me so much more confidence in my game," added Harris, an NCAA participant last year and thus, no stranger to playing the top people. "It would be a big help to get into the main draw. I'm excited to go to California, and I'm glad that Laura and Christy got in too. It will be a great opportunity for them."

Freshman Tiffany Thompson has made an immediate contribution to the women's soccer program. Thompson has scored three goals and assisted on five others for the 16th-ranked Irish.

SPORTS BRIEFS

The YMCA-South Bend table tennis club is announcing its winter league. Anyone interested in forming a three-man team from Notre Dame, to compete for $700 in prizes, call Brad at 654-8345.

ND Cricket Club will not have practice this Sunday. Practice will resume Sunday, October 27, 6 p.m. at Lotus.

ND/SMC students, faculty or staff participating in the Chicago Marathon: please report your times and place of finish to The Observer by Monday, October 28—the first class day after fall break.

ND Hockey is looking for keyboard players who would like to play during the game or prerecord songs for the upcoming hockey season. Interested? Call Coach Ric Schaller 239-3500.

The Observer/A. Garr Schwartz
Friday, October 18, 1991

Professor Glickman, the lab practical joker, deftly places a single drop of hydrochloric acid on the back of Professor Bingham's neck.

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Peninsula
2. Responded
3. Ingenious
4. Batch
5. Radio activity
6. Pertaining to debating
7. Played a part
8. Part of
9. Special
10. Clever's killer
11. Pong's golf
12. Record of brain activity
13. Lily dance
14. Word
15. Elastomer
16. Drew (abler)
17. Writer Bernard—
18. Mr. Koppel
19. Hypothetical substance
20. Irritates
21. Pete slowly
22. Playing marble
23. A 'laid' golf
24. Exempt New Zealand bird
25. Capital of Montana

DOWN
1. Side injury
2. Bucketed expression
3. Indication of a safe time (2 wds.)
4. Harvard wines
5. Tender — (accident)
6. Energy unit
7. Dog saved, in comics
8. Sign gages
9. Better shop item
10. Sheepish
11. German nombre
12. Outright
13. Trial material
14. Found, as wine

21. Inn for travelers
22. Former French province
23. Interstate
24. Liquor and
25. Mr. Caesar
26. Old name — a Sensation
27. Bons
28. Rate tightly
29. Shield, author
30. Kindly
31. Foods
32. Certain sports cars
33. Ending for pay
34. Garment worker
35. Certain sports cars
36. Certain sports cars
37. Energy for say
38. Garment worker
39. System of weights and measures
40. Instruction from Jack LaLanne
41. Sunbather
42. Mme. Curie
43. Aroma, British style
44. Game of chance
45. Indian servant
46. A geographical unit
47. Hindu sacred words
48. A Southern American country (4 wds.)
49. Capital of Montana

SUBL wishes everyone
a safe and fun
Fall Break.
Women’s tennis hosts MCC tourney
Irish send 3 players to national tournament over break

By RICH SZABO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women’s tennis team hosts the MCC Championship Saturday and Sunday, and if history repeats itself, then the Irish will walk away with their fourth consecutive conference championship title and a slew of individual titles as well.

The Irish are coming off impressive performances at their own Irish Invitational and the Brown Invitational, and easily have to be considered the favorites in this tournament. Howard said Louderback says that nothing should be taken for granted.

"It’s a tournament that we should do well in, but we still have to go out and be ready to play, and we will be ready," she said.

The tournament will feature only the schools Notre Dame, Butler, Evansville, Xavier, and Dayton, down from seven the first weekend. Scott, Louis and Marquette left for the Great Midwest Conference this summer.

The tentative Irish lineup will feature Laura Schwab at first singles, followed by Christie Faustmann, Lisa Tholen, Terri Vitale, Ann Bradshaw, and Kristy Doran to round out the lineup. Regular second singles players Tracy Barton and Melissa Harris will sit out, with Barton resting for the Rolex regionals in two weeks and Harris preparing for the All-American tournament in Los Angeles, beginning on Tuesday.

Also sitting out for the Irish will be senior Katie Clark, who is recovering from a back injury. It was hoped that Clark would be able to play either singles or doubles, but Louderback decided that her return would have to wait.

"Katie is practicing," he said, "but we talked about it and right now we don’t want to take a chance having her play. It’s better off us waiting. She would be a big, big help for us and we’re hoping she gets back soon.

In doubles, the Irish will go with Tholen and Eniko Sende at first, with Doran and Vitale at second, and Bradshaw and Catherine McGinley at third.

Faustmann and Schwab, who would normally play doubles, are also returning for the All-American, so their play is going to be limited to singles this weekend.

Louderback said, "I’d just as soon have Faustmann and Schwab play only singles this weekend. Melissa is going to sit the whole thing out. Also, Catherine McGinley has done a great job for us and she deserves to have a shot at playing this weekend."

"I think the team is playing very well right now," said Louderback, "so we should do well for us. The tough matches we had at Brown will give us confidence going into the MCCs.

The Irish are coming off a 5-0 shutout of Xavier Saturday. The match began at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday and continued through Sunday at the Eck Pavilion.

After the MCCs are over, most of the Irish will be on fall break, but Harris, Schwab, and Faustmann will play along with Louderback, will travel to Los Angeles for the All-American tournament, which features some of the best players in the country.

The tentative Irish lineup will feature Laura Schwab at first singles, followed by Christie Faustmann, Lisa Tholen, Terri Vitale, Ann Bradshaw, and Kristy Doran to round out the lineup.

Women’s soccer faces huge test at 11th-ranked Massachusetts

By MIKE SCRUDATO
Sports Writer

The 16th-ranked Notre Dame women’s soccer team will be busy over fall break trying to extend its eight game winning streak and undefeated season.

First, the Irish (10-0-2) will travel to New England for two games: tomorrow, they will be severely tested by the 11th-ranked Massachusetts Minutewomen. Then, they will go on to Providence on Tuesday before returning home to begin a three-game homestand in which Notre Dame will host Louisville, MCC for Xavier and Wright State.

Tomorrow’s game against the Minutewomen, a perennial national power, could prove to be the toughest game of the year for the Irish.

Massachusetts, which enters tomorrow’s game with an 8-2 record, has won the NCAA tournament seven of the last eight years. On offense, it is led by Holly Helum, who has seven goals and an assist on the season.

The key to the game could be the outstanding goalkeepers of both teams. Sophomore Briana Scully minds the nets for Massachusetts. She has posted a 0.40 goals against average and has recorded seven shutouts this season. The Irish counter with junior Michelle Loderga, who has permitted a 0.29 GAA and will be looking to extend her school-record streak of six consecutive shutouts.

Last weekend’s successful trip to Virginia, in which the Irish defeated William & Mary and Monmouth provided the team and Irish coach Chris Petrucelli with a lot of confidence for this trip.

"Our performance last week proved to us that we can compete with the top teams in the country," Petrucelli said. "I am really excited about the upcoming weekend. We will be playing some of the best teams in the country and I think we can do well against them."

On Tuesday, the Irish will face the Providence Lady Friars, who are currently ranked in the top ten of the competitive Northeast region and have given some top teams a tough time. Their stingy defense has not given up more than three goals in a game this season.

The Irish offense, featuring Stephanie Porter, the MCC’s leading scorer with twelve goals, will face a tight defense. UMASS / page 18

Men’s soccer faces DePaul; stern tests ahead over break

By JASON KELLY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men’s soccer team looks to add to its five-game winning streak tonight at 7:30 p.m. against DePaul (1-10-1) at Moose Krause Stadium.

After finishing the Midwestern Collegiate Conference season with a dramatic win over Butler last Sunday, and with three tough games looming ahead during fall break, the Irish (7-3-1) will have to guard against a letdown against the Blue Demons.

A loss to DePaul would really hurt our chances for an NCAA tournament bid," freshman forward Jean Joseph commented, "and we want to earn the respect of teams around the country.

With their play in the last five games, the Irish already have earned the respect of some of the nation's top teams—enough respect, in fact, to retain the number seven ranking in the Great Lakes Region for the third straight week.

After beginning the season 0-2, the team won seven of their next nine games, including the last five in a row, which puts them right on schedule.

"We are looking at the season in thirds," Joseph noted. "In the first third we were just getting used to the college game because we have so many freshmen, but in this third we wanted to establish ourselves and we are just as good as anyone and we want to make that come true."

A win over the struggling Blue Demons will make that goal come true, but the Irish will have to fight through a tough defensive battle to win tonight. DePaul goalie Marcello Barceluci has posted a stingy 1.03 goals against average, while Irish goalie Bert Bader’s 0.66 mark leads the MCC.

After tonight’s game, Notre Dame begins preparation for a tough fall break road trip.

A visit to Washington, D.C. to face Georgetown kicks off the trip next Wednesday, before they travel to Colombia, South Carolina and face the Providence Friars Saturday, October 26th and open the 20th.
A Supplement to The Observer
Friday, October 18, 1991

A man of opportunity
Bumpas on proven path to success

By DAVE McMAHON
Associate Sports Editor

Arkansas' nickname is the 'Land of Opportunity.' For Notre Dame defensive line coach Dick Bumpas, it couldn't have provided more opportunity.

After attaining All-State status as a lineman at Southside High School in Fort Smith, Bumpas proceeded to the University of Arkansas, where he became a three-year starter and captain under Razorback legend Frank Broyles. In 1970, Bumpas was named Southwest Conference Player of the Year and also garnered All-America status as a defensive tackle.

In his collegiate career, Bumpas posted over 200 tackles and led Arkansas to a 26-6 record. He continued professionally with the Memphis Southmen of World Football League, the Pittsburgh Steelers, and British Columbia of the Canadian Football League.

After working as a graduate assistant under Broyles in 1972, Bumpas returned to Arkansas in 1977 in the same capacity, although Lou Holtz was in his first year with the Razorbacks.

Two years ago the opportunity arose for Bumpas to rejoin Holtz, this time on the Notre Dame staff. "When they contacted me, I was at Clemson with Kenny Haffeld," said Bumpas. "With the reputation that Notre Dame has, it was something that I couldn't pass up."

As the defensive line coach, Bumpas works in conjunction with Holtz and defensive coordinator Gary Darnell to determine the week's defensive schemes.

Yet Bumpas wasn't unfamiliar with Darnell either. When Darnell was head coach at Tennessee Tech in 1983-84, Bumpas served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator.

Bumpas feels that his task is made easier with Holtz's direction. "He sets the standards, so from my standpoint it's very obvious what he wants and there are no problems."

After rejoining Holtz, Bumpas inherited a front line that included Chris Zorich, George "Boo" Williams, and Bob Dahl. Three returning successful head coaches.

Assistant under Holtz have historically proven to be on the road to higher positions. In five seasons with the Irish, Holtz has seen four assistants move directly on to college head coaching positions.

"I'm very happy and comfortable with what I'm doing right now, but I'd like to think that a head coaching position will be in the future," said Bumpas.

The success of Holtz's assistants wasn't the sole reason for Bumpas' decision to come to Notre Dame, however.

"I admired the type of program that Notre Dame has and wanted the opportunity to work with coach Holtz," said Bumpas. "He's a proven, successful head coach. You can learn an awful lot from a man like that."

With the development of this year's defensive line, it seems as if Bumpas' players are learning as awful lot from him.

Thanks to the efforts of defensive line coach Dick Bumpas, Eric Jones (81), Troy Ridgely (99) and Junior Bryant (95) have matured into a feared front line.

Dick Bumpas

Holtz and defensive coordinator Gary Darnell to determine the week's defensive schemes.

Yet Bumpas wasn't unfamiliar with Darnell either. When Darnell was head coach at Tennessee Tech in 1983-84, Bumpas served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator.

Bumpas feels that his task is made easier with Holtz's direction. "He sets the standards, so from my standpoint it's very obvious what he wants and there are no problems."

After rejoining Holtz, Bumpas inherited a front line that included Chris Zorich, George "Boo" Williams, and Bob Dahl. Three returning successful head coaches.

Assistant under Holtz have historically proven to be on the road to higher positions. In five seasons with the Irish, Holtz has seen four assistants move directly on to college head coaching positions.

"I'm very happy and comfortable with what I'm doing right now, but I'd like to think that a head coaching position will be in the future," said Bumpas.

The success of Holtz's assistants wasn't the sole reason for Bumpas' decision to come to Notre Dame, however.

"I admired the type of program that Notre Dame has and wanted the opportunity to work with coach Holtz," said Bumpas. "He's a proven, successful head coach. You can learn an awful lot from a man like that."

With the development of this year's defensive line, it seems as if Bumpas' players are learning as awful lot from him.

Thanks to the efforts of defensive line coach Dick Bumpas, Eric Jones (81), Troy Ridgely (99) and Junior Bryant (95) have matured into a feared front line.

Dick Bumpas

Holtz and defensive coordinator Gary Darnell to determine the week's defensive schemes.

Yet Bumpas wasn't unfamiliar with Darnell either. When Darnell was head coach at Tennessee Tech in 1983-84, Bumpas served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator.

Bumpas feels that his task is made easier with Holtz's direction. "He sets the standards, so from my standpoint it's very obvious what he wants and there are no problems."

After rejoining Holtz, Bumpas inherited a front line that included Chris Zorich, George "Boo" Williams, and Bob Dahl. Three returning starters made his first year with the Irish a little easier than it could have been.

With the loss of Williams in the off-season, Bumpas entered the 1991
Air Force offense challenges improving NO defense

By RICH SZABO
Sports Writer

The Fighting Irish will be looking to make it six in a row against Air Force when they take to the field this Saturday at Falcon Stadium this Saturday.

The Irish (5-1) defeated the Falcons (4-2) 27-14 last Saturday, and if their current explosive offensive hold true to form, expect Notre Dame to put some points on the board again this week. If holds, their current 40.2 scoring average will be a modern-era team record.

When the Irish have the ball, they can boast of some amazing offensive firepower. The running game is churning up 299.2 yards a game, led by fullback Tony Brooks (4.6 yards a carry, season, 6.6 average) and current leading scorer Tony Smith and second leading scorer Rodney Culver (6.0 yards a carry). If he keeps up his pace, he will break the Irish single season touchdown record of 16, most recent being Joe Montana (1970).

Quarterback Rick Mirer, himself has even caught a pass this season, as the Irish are providing tremendous depth for the Air Force backfield. However this irresistible force that is the Air Force ground game will be meeting up with an immovable object—a confident Irish defense coming into its own. Twice this year, the Irish defense has permitted less net yards (272 against Pitt, 273 against Michigan State) than in any game last season. Inside linebacker Demetrius DuBose is terrorizing offenses, having recorded 66 tackles this season (four for losses), and picked off one pass, inside linebacker Anthony Peterlich and outside backer Anthony Obasi have been strong seasons for a young Irish defense that has only two losses this year. See FALCONS / page 4

On the other side of the coin, the Irish defense should expect the Falcons to run the ball heavily. The Falcons average 263.9 yards rushing and 299.2 yards a game through the air, so the Irish secondary will be able to exploit the Falcon secondary.

However the Irish will be going up against an Air Force run defense that has proven very stingy over the course of the season. The Falcons yield only 122.3 yards a game on the ground, ranking from a high of 190 yards by BYU to a paltry 71 yards to Wyoming.

Their disciplined unit, led by free safety Eldrick Hill (10 tackles, eight pass breakups) and outside linebacker Virgil Simpson (seven sacks), have tallied 28 tackles for losses and caused six fumbles.

Should the Falcons stall Notre Dame's ground game, the Irish certainly have the tools to go to the air. Quarterback Rick Mirer, despite a six-game period against Pittsburgh, is still having a strong season. He has completed 60 of 103 passes for 938 yards, with 11 touchdowns and six interceptions.

If he keeps up his pace, he will break the Irish single season touchdown record of 16, held by three Irish passers, the most recent being Joe Theismann in 1970.

Split end Tony Smith and flanker Lake Dawson lead Notre Dame in receptions (both with 14), but they are not the only targets to which Mirer can look. Tight end Derek Brown is having a strong season, snagging 12 receptions for 16.6 yards a catch, and Bettis has nabbed nine coming out of the backfield.

Minter himself has even caught a pass this season, as the Irish have opened their bag of tricks to keep opponents guessing. Air Force, meanwhile, is giving up only 59 yards on the ground.

While the Irish have the ball, the Falcons are giving up a stingy 57.1 points a game against an Air Force defense that has proven very stout over the course of the season, providing tremendous depth for the Air Force backfield.

However this irresistible force that is the Irish defense against an Air Force run game will be meeting up with an immovable object—a confident Irish defense coming into its own. Twice this year, the Irish defense has permitted less net yards (272 against Pitt, 273 against Michigan State) than in any game last season. Inside linebacker Demetrius DuBose is terrorizing offenses, having recorded 66 tackles this season (four for losses), and picked off one pass, inside linebacker Anthony Peterlich and outside backer Anthony Obasi have been strong seasons for a young Irish defense that has only two losses this year. See FALCONS / page 4
Friday, October 16, 1991

by ANTHONY KING
Assistant Sports Editor

A series can be so much more streakey than the one between the Air Force and Notre Dame. When the series began in 1946, the Irish were led sixth and facing an unranked Falcon team. Notre Dame beat the Falcons 34-7 to start a string of 11 straight victories that lasted until 1982.

In the second season of head coach Gerry Faust, the 18th ranked Irish flew into Air Force territory, winning 31-7. The Air Force defenses dominated the series, leading the Irish to a 13-17 record against the Falcons. They were able to knock out five straight victories. The closest affair was a 41-27 win in 1989, when the Irish came into Falcon Stadium ranked second but the Falcons were ranked 17th. Quarterback Dee Dowis used his arm, rather than the usual boost for the Irish. Notre Dame scored on a 32-yard pass play.

The 1990 matchup proved to be a much needed confidence booster for the Irish. Notre Dame came off an upset by Stanford, one in which the Irish scored a 24-7 lead evaporate into a 36-31 defeat. As a result, Notre Dame jumped out to an early lead, scoring seventeen points in the first quarter. Both touchdowns came off punt block by Ryan Milhako.

The next game was another huge victory for the Irish but the next season the Falcons would prove to be the proverbial thorn in Faust's side, as they would reel off four straight wins against the Faust-led Irish. The worst beating would occur in 1984, when a capacity crowd at Notre Dame Stadium witnessed a 21-7 mugging of the Irish.

However the era of Holtz brought about a reversal of the losing trend. Notre Dame reeled off four straight wins against the Faust-led Irish. The worst beating would occur in 1984, when a capacity crowd at Notre Dame Stadium witnessed a 21-7 mugging of the Irish.

Since 1986 the Irish have dominated the series, 23-7. The Falcons would prove to be the proverbial thorn in Faust's side, as they would reel off four straight wins against the Faust-led Irish. The worst beating would occur in 1984, when a capacity crowd at Notre Dame Stadium witnessed a 21-7 mugging of the Irish.

The Irish would led 31-7 at halftime, and Dorsey Levens crashed over the Irish a 21-7 lead. The Falcons scored on the 2-yard line, when Ryan Milhako burst through the line of scrimmage. The Irish would lead 31-7 at halftime, and Dorsey Levens crashed over the line of scrimmage. The Irish would lead 31-7 at halftime, and Dorsey Levens crashed over the line of scrimmage. The Irish would lead 31-7 at halftime, and Dorsey Levens crashed over the line of scrimmage.
Hentrich is having an excellent year, booming punts at 41.8 yards a kick and not missing a single extra point (32 for 32). Jeff Burte is coming on strong as the Irish punt returner, but kickoff returns are still a weak point, and no one has yet to step to the forefront for the Irish.

No longer are opposing teams afraid to kick deep to the Irish now that the Rocket is gone, and Notre Dame is averaging just under 16 yards per return.

For the Falcons, punter Jason Christ is doing a tremendous job, lofting punts at a deep half before they depend on the dive.

Should the occasion arise that the Falcons must pass, they will have to be in a atmosphere.

The secondary is anchored by safety Craig Wood, who is the most accurate picker in the country. Air Force is giving up 210.5 yards a game, and 6.6 yards a clip, respectively.

The Irish come into the game riding a four-game winning streak, during which their opponents outscored them 178-63, and have climbed back into the top five in the country. Air Force has won nine of its last 10 games, and a win over Notre Dame would likely push them into the Top 25.

East Carolina, by virtue of its 25-20 upset of Syracuse at the Carrier Dome, defeats in the poll this week at 25th position. The Pirates replace Mississippi, who dropped out of the Top 10.

In his eighth season at the helm of the Falcons, DeBerry has taken teams to five bowl games and compiled an overall record of 61-31-1. Last season, Air Force snatched Ohio State at 23-11 in the Liberty Bowl. DeBerry's team runs the wishbone with precision, and, after beating Navy 46-6 last season, are in the running for their third straight Commander-in-Chief's Trophy, unheard of in service academy history.

The senior quarterback, who has carried 117 times for 607 yards and seven touchdowns has emerged as a talented wishbone quarterback. His passing has improved over the past two seasons, and he is 18-45 for 534 yards and five touchdowns this season. Under the direction of Perez, the Falcons offense is averaging 32.4 points and 429.3 yards of total offense per game.

A junior outside linebacker from Houston, Tex., the 6-1, 210 Simpson has amassed 31 tackles. He also leads the team in tackles for losses (six) and sacks (seven). Simpson and the rest of the Air Force defense present problems for the Irish, in that they are not accustomed to the spread offense that is used by the Irish. These men are able to slant, stunt and switch coverage patterns with relative ease.

Each week during football season, The Observer sports staff, Al Lesar of the South Bend Tribune and a guest prognosticator predict the outcomes of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled as to how each person does against the spread. Home teams are in CAPS.

Michigan 18.5 over Indiana
Penn ST 26 over Rutgers
Ohio ST 30 over Wisconsin
Syracuse 2 over Pitt
Baylor 4.5 over Tex, A&M
Nebraska 3.5 over Iowa
Georgia 16 over Vandy
Oklahoma 3 over Colo.
Arkansas 6.5 over Iowa
Iowa 4.5 over Illinois
Wisconsin 9.5 over Arkansas
Notre Dame over A.F.A.