WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress voted overwhelmingly Tuesday for a new 13-week extension of jobless benefits, its first salvo of the year aimed at boosting the sagging economy.

"We are delighted that Congress acted so quickly," said White House spokeswoman Judy Smith. "We are anxious to get the benefits to people so that we can get the benefits to people in need."

Separately, the battle over curing the recession flared anew as Bush's top economic vote.

shortly afterward on a 94-2 margin. Senate passage came with members of both Congress against the state of the economy demands battle over new benefits. Congress extends benefits for the uprising to mark the birthday of Venezuelan hero Antonio Jose de Sucre, the sec-outside its major political parties convinced the public would not tolerate a replay of last year's four-month partisan battle over new benefits. The avalanche of support came with members of both parties convinced the public would not tolerate a replay of last year's four-month partisan battle over new benefits. They were also aware that there could be no more embarrassing way to begin the election year than by ignoring the 600,000 jobless Americans expected to deplete their benefits in the last two weeks of February.

"In talking to citizens on the Northwest side of Chicago, there is no higher priority, no larger concern than job security," said Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., a sponsor of the measure.

"Politics should be set aside in the best interests of the country," said House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill.

In the Senate, acknowledgement of the need for the extra benefits also crossed party lines.

"The unemployed need it, the state of the economy demands it," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

"We're not much better off than we were six months ago," Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said during the Senate's debate. "This is the only thing to do."

But the bipartisan harmony masked the larger battle just beginning between Bush and congressional Democrats over their competing plans to help see CONGRESS / page 6

Venezuelan coup collapses;
Reports say 70 people dead
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Loyal soldiers repulsed an attack by rebel troops and tanks on the presidential palace Tuesday, crushing an attempt to topple one of Latin America's most stable democracies.

The government said loyal troops had "completely suffocated" the rebels, who had earlier assaulted a state governor and staged attacks in the western cities of Maracay, Valencia and Maracay.

Witnesses said loyal F-16 fighter pilots flew on rebellious troops from the Paramacuay Armored Brigade in Valencia, 100 miles west of Caracas.

Ochoa said four leaders of a rebel parachute regiment were among those arrested, including Lt. Col. Hugo Chavez, who is a TV address urging loyal fighters to keep "the blood of Venezuela" flowing "before more blood is shed." Any attempt at a coup leader, Lt. Col. Francisco Arias, said the rebels sought to "rescue the Venezuelan people from politicians, from demagoguery and bureaucracy."

The coup attempt followed violent demonstrations and a court order against the uprising to mark the birthday of Venezuelan hero Antônio Jose de Sucre, the second-in-command in Simon Bolivar's war against Spanish rule in the early 19th century.

Sen. David Morales Bello, an ally of Perez, said in Congress that three of Perez's bodyguards were killed in the palace attack. Perez, with an aide, escaped hidden under an overcoat and managed to get to a private television station, according to news accounts.

From there, Perez telephoned Ochoa and told him: "No negotiations. Give them bullets. I want to be back in (the palace) soon," according to an account in El Nacional newspaper.

Six hours later, the 69-year-old Perez, a leading democrat in the hemisphere, declared from the palace that he had beat back the first coup attempt in Venezuela since the early 1960s.

The government banned public demonstrations, broadened police arrest powers and suspended some constitutional civil rights guarantees for at least 10 days.

The United States, Mexico, Brazil, Cuba, the Organization of American States and the European Community condemned the coup attempt.

Venezuela has the second-longest-standing democracy in South America, following Colombia.

President Bush, a strong ally of Perez who also offices in the same time three years ago, called the attempted overthrow an "outrageous, illegal military coup" against "one of the great see COUP / page 4

Looking lovely
Walsh freshman Kim Massman makes herself beautiful for a dress rehearsal of Lewis Hall's coming-weekend production of "Steel Magnolias."

HPC delays vote on amendment
By CATHY FLYNN
Newswriter

Hall Presidents Council (HPC) agreed again to put off formal discussion of an amendment to their charter which addresses concerns about the "gag-rule" provision of the new legislation.

The amendment to Article 1, section 3 of the charter states that "at no time may members of the HPC accept resolutions, endorsements, prohibiting or restricting members from publicly discussing the contents of any meeting, special session, committee or subcommittee of the HPC."

St. Edward's Hall President Robert Pritchard reintroduced the amendment after a two-week hiatus of its debate.

"If we all agree not to talk about something, then that is one thing," Pritchard said. "The group shouldn't be able to silence anyone in the organization," he added.

Council members agreed to discuss the amendment in their hall council meetings this week. HPC will address the issue again after those meetings.

see HPC / page 4
Voters should stick to the real issues

In the past couple of weeks the presidential campaign has drifted away from the real issues of concern to the majority of Americans claiming that candidates are losing sight of the issues that matter — a campaign on the issues. The reason for this is the strategy run by Star magazine, a supermarket tabloid, they do what Americans want — a non-Democratic front-runner, Bill Clinton, of having a 12 year love affair with Gennifer Flowers.

Flowers, a cabaret singer, was reportedly paid $40,000 by the Star to reveal her story to the public. I find it ironic that Flowers just now came forward with the confession with Clinton as a presidential candidate, instead of when he was simply the governor of Arkansas.

Another thing that bothers me about the entire affair is the guilt-by-association of the media and the public. We are living in the midst of a recession that is not going away as quickly or as easily as people predicted it would, and our current government is not providing us with the concrete solutions. George Bush's only answers are to stay the course and Japan-bashing.

Clinton has laid out a plan to help the country get out of its economic woes and was looking like a serious threat to President Bush until the Star printed Flowers' accusations. Her story is filled with holes that have yet to be plugged, such as meetings with Clinton in hotels that did not exist and talking to him in Chicago where he was not. I am sure some people would say anything for money.

It is scary that this story is being taken seriously by the American public. It was published in a magazine that ran the story of "FOUND! Ted Danson's forgotten first wife" and "I was Stevie Wonder's secret lover for 24 years" in the same issue as the Flowers story.

What's next? Is Peter Jennings going to stick to the issues or start looking for aliens on Mars? As much as some of us would love to read a story like that, I think it is time for voters to smarten up and stop believing unsubstantiated stories in tabloids like today's World News, or as easy as Roseanne Barr did. It is time for voters to start looking at the issues. This entire matter should be seriously by the American public.

The American public should listen to what it wants - and it wants answers, which is a rarity amongst American politicians. The man who is challenging Bush in New Hampshire's primary, Bob Rumford, is looking like a serious threat to President Bush. The American public is demanding concrete solutions, not a warm economic future.

The views are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

TODAY AT A GLANCE

WORLD

The show goes on at Moscow circus

MOSCOW — Backstage in a dingy kitchen at the Moscow State Circus, animal trainer Zhamma Mayorova stands over a stove, lovingly stirring a pot of chicken soup with boiled onions and potatoes for her dogs. "Of course they would prefer just meat," she says, prodding the grayish bird as it simmered in an enameled pot. "But what can you do?" Shortages, lack of space and bad equipment are daily fare at Moscow's oldest circus — one of two permanently based in the capital — but performers and keepers try to make the animals as comfortable as possible. With 45 packed performances every month, the state circus is still going strong. But its management wants to negotiate with the government to make it privately-owned, officials say.

NATIONAL

John Sununu to host talk show

NEW YORK — John Sununu, President Bush's former chief of staff, was named Tuesday to fill in on CNN's "Crossfire" for the man who is challenging Bush in New Hampshire's GOP presidential primary. Sununu, who resigned as chief of staff in December after controversy over his abrasive style and use of government planes for personal business, will start filling in for Patrick Buchanan on March 2, CNN said. He will be the conservative counterpart to liberal Michael Kinsley on the weekday political talk show. Sununu, former governor of New Hampshire, will continue on the series for as long as Buchanan is campaigning, said CNN spokesman John Blanch.

INDIANA

Purdue students to stage break-in

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Purdue University students want to stage a break-in in the annual Bible Goldberg Museum Contest Feb. 15. The object of the 19th annual contest is to open a lock in the most complicated way possible. The winner will represent Purdue in defense of its national championship at the West Lafayette campus March 14. The contest is held to give the late cartoonist Rube Goldberg, who specialized in drawing whimsical, humorous machines with complex mechanisms to perform simple tasks. Five teams are expected to build contraptions that will unlock a lock of their choice in at least 20 steps and within a time limit.

CAMPUS

LaFortune evacuated for fire alarm

NOUDE, Ind. — Most of LaFortune Student Center was evacuated for fifteen minutes at 7:15 p.m. last night when a duct detector in a ventilation shaft set off the fire alarms, according to Bob Rodgers, chief of the fire department. Searches for the source of the smoke did not point to any definite cause, said Building Manager Anthony Garces.

MARKET UPDATE

WEATHER REPORT

Forecast for noon, Wednesday, February 5

Lines separate high temperature zones for the day.

FORECAST: Today partly sunny and warm in the mid-30s. Thursday will be partly cloudy and warm with a high of 40.

TEMPERATURES:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City</th>
<th>H</th>
<th>L</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>---</td>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STOCK REPORT

NYSE INDEX

NASDAQ

SAP COMPOSITE

DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS

PRECIOUS METALS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>UP</th>
<th>1116</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>UP</td>
<td>7250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UP</td>
<td>373</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DOWN</th>
<th>1116</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>DOWN</td>
<td>7250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DOWN</td>
<td>373</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>GOLD</th>
<th>350</th>
<th>$563.20/oz.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SIVER</td>
<td>2.56</td>
<td>$4.17/oz.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TODAY'S TRADING

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>VOLUME IN SHARES</th>
<th>23,490,500</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NYSE INDEX</td>
<td>2.18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS</td>
<td>43.32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PRECIOUS METALS</td>
<td>38.69</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ON THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1783 — Sweden recognized the independence of the United States.

1867 — Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Otello," based on the tragedy by William Shakespeare, premiered at La Scala in Italy.

1917 — Congress passed, over President Wilson's veto, an immigration act sharply curtailing the flow of Asians.

1973 — Funeral services were held at Arlington National Cemetery for Army Lt. Col. William B. Node, the last American soldier killed before the Vietnam cease-fire.

1983 — Former Nazi Gastapo official Klaus Barbie, expelled from Bolivia, was brought to Lyon, France, to stand trial for alleged war crimes. (He was convicted in 1987 and sentenced to life in prison.)

1990 — Republicans dominated the U.S. House and Senate.

2000 — The United States was pleased to announce that it had joined the World Trade Organization.

2002 — The United States signed the Kyoto Protocol on Climate Change.

2004 — The United States enacted the American Jobs Creation Act.

2006 — The United States was pleased to announce that it had joined the Copenhagen Agreement on Climate Change.

2008 — The United States enacted the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.

2010 — The United States signed the Doha Development Agenda.

2012 — The United States enacted the Affordable Care Act.
Belfast, Northern Ireland (AP) — A policeman distraught over a comrade’s death killed three people and wounded two with a shotgun Tuesday at the offices of the Sinn Fein political party, which supports the IRA, police said.

Constable James Allen Moore, 24, of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, later apparently committed suicide.

Moore had telephoned police from a north Belfast pub to claim responsibility, a constabulary statement said.

His body was found three hours later near his car by the shore of Lough Neagh about 20 miles west of Belfast, a shotgun by his side. Moore was described as an anti-terrorist of the IRA.

Moore was arrested Monday after drunkenly firing shots over the grave of a comrade buried earlier in the day. How the comrade died was not clear but it apparently was not in a terrorist incident.

Moore was released early Tuesday after surrendering his handgun. He failed to appear for a scheduled medical appointment.

Sinn Fein is a legal political party that supports the Irish Republican Army. The shootings took place at its offices on the Falls Road, the main street of a Catholic area.

Killed were doorman Patrick Loughran, 60, Patrick McBride and Michael O’Dwyer, police said.

One victim was shot point-blank in the chest while his 2-year-old son, sitting in his lap, escaped unscathed, reported Richard McAuley, the Sinn Fein’s chief news media spokesman.

Authorities said another man was critically wounded in the chest and a woman’s face was grazed by shotgun pellets.

Irish President Mary Robinson, who was making a rare official visit to Northern Ireland on Tuesday, said, “This kind of violence and loss of life is a tragedy that seems all too common in Northern Ireland.”

Belfast’s pro-British lord mayor, Brian Rudd, said, “This tragedy that seems all too common in Northern Ireland.”

A South Bend native, Van Es, assistant for the Notre Dame Development office and as a resident assistant in Baslin Hall.

As assistant director of the Annual Fund, Webb will be responsible for management and operation of the development office phone center and for expansion of the Reunion Giving and Annual Fund Challenge programs.

The phone center has raised more than $13 million since it was established in 1988.

A former Saint Mary’s College student, her new responsibilities will include production and layout of Annual Fund mailings and management of its Corporate Agent and Matching Gift programs.

A 1991 Notre Dame graduate with a major in anthropology, Webb has worked as a student assistant in the University’s development office and as a resident assistant in Baslin Hall.

Jeanine Van Es and Kathleen Webb have been appointed assistant directors of the Notre Dame Annual Fund.

A South Bend native, Van Es has worked in several areas of the University’s development office during the last ten years, most recently as administrative assistant for the Notre Dame Annual Fund.

A student of the University’s Development office, she worked as a student assistant in the University’s development office and as a resident assistant in Baslin Hall.

Jeanine Van Es and Kathleen Webb have been appointed assistant directors of the Notre Dame Annual Fund.

A South Bend native, Van Es has worked in several areas of the University’s development office during the last ten years, most recently as administrative assistant for the Notre Dame Annual Fund.
Teen becomes chess grandmaster

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Judit Polgar, a 15-year-old Hungarian teenager, has qualified as the youngest grandmaster in the world's greatest musical prodigy. At the age of 11 or 12 she was a Mozart … who was knocking down grandmasters like 10-, Parr said.

Polgar had previously been a grandmaster in a separate category for women's competition. Patricia Wolff, a 23-year-old Boston grandmaster, also praised Polgar for her aggressive style, saying, "I think she has as good a chance as anyone in the world to be the next world champion."

But rival Hungarian grandmaster Zoltan Ribli said in an interview last month with the Budapest daily Nepszava that Polgar "has a lot of catching up to do in terms of the top 10 male chess players." Polgar's parents, determined to raise champions, weaned Judit and her two older sisters, Zsuzsa, 22, and Zoofi, 17, on chess, designating at least 10 hours a day for training. Under the tutelage of Laszlo Polgar, Zsuzsa became the first woman ever to gain the rank of grandmaster.

Polgar earned her new rank by winning the Hungarian National Championship last December, held in Etterod-Falkenstein of the International Chess Federation and said Tuesday.

Polgar qualified for the title at the age of 15 years, five months. Fischer qualified in 1958 at 15 years, six months, according to the Guinness Book of World Records.

Comparatively, current world champion Gary Kasparov was a late starter, entering the chess stratosphere at 17.

Larry Parr, former editor of the American chess magazine Chess Life, compared Polgar's chess genius to that of the nation's greatest musical prodigy. At the age of 11 or 12 she was a Mozart … who was knocking down grandmasters like 10-, Parr said.

Polgar had previously been a grandmaster in a separate category for women's competition. Patricia Wolff, a 23-year-old Boston grandmaster, also praised Polgar for her aggressive style, saying, "I think she has as good a chance as anyone in the world to be the next world champion."

But rival Hungarian grandmaster Zoltan Ribli said in an interview last month with the Budapest daily Nepszava that Polgar "has a lot of catching up to do in terms of the top 10 male chess players." Polgar's parents, determined to raise champions, weaned Judit and her two older sisters, Zsuzsa, 22, and Zoofi, 17, on chess, designating at least 10 hours a day for training. Under the tutelage of Laszlo Polgar, Zsuzsa became the first woman ever to gain the rank of grandmaster. Known in the chess world for driving a hard bargain, Polgar charges four-figure dollar sums for interviews with his family.

Attaining men's grandmaster rank means a player must score a minimum number of points in two tournaments of 12 or more rounds, or in three tournaments of nine rounds.

Judit Polgar reached her first men's norm in Amsterdam in 1989 and her second in Vienna last year, climaxing her ranking at the Hungarian tournament. Polgar got off to a bad start Monday, the opening day of the Melody Amber tournament in Bequebrune-Cap-Martin, in southern France. She lost all three games played to Britain's Jonathan Speelman and Michael Adams and India's Viswanathan Anand, and finished the day in 12th and last place with no points.

Parr said a few more years will pass before she starts challenging for the world title: "She's world class, but she's not world championship class yet."

HPC

continued from page 1

Pritchard also attempted to rejustify his position about HPC's spending of dorm funds for "personal use," specifically for food. However, in light of an HPC resolution passed two weeks ago giving hall councils' discretionary right to decide this issue individually, the topic was closed after a brief discussion.

"Your proposal did not offer a viable alternative," said Stanford Hall Co-President John Donohue. "What are we supposed to do instead at our meetings?"

Pritchard suggested sharing a meal in the blue room of the dining hall as one means of preserving the positive aspects of the council dinners while at the same time cutting down on costs. However, some council members quickly moved to close the discussion, accusing Pritchard of "beating a dead horse."

In other business, the council was petitioned for funds for the St. Edward's Hall Carnival. Dorm representatives are needed to help to coordinate the event, the benefits of which go to a charity of each dorm's choosing.

The Carnival will be held in conjunction with the Fisher Hall Regatta on Sunday, April 12. Also, plans for a senior video were announced. The video will be shown at the May 15 graduation dance.

Camera crews will be filming senior dorm life this weekend and will concentrate on off-campus residences next weekend. The final video will include scenes from the JPW slideshow and commencement. It will be available for purchase later this year.

Other announcements at the meeting included news about the Junior Class Banquet which will have a cash bar. It will be held on February 29.

Also, Weekend Wheels will resume servicing the campus this weekend. Council members were still unsure about whether or not it will make on campus pick-ups, however.

The Observer/Steven Custer

Coup

continued from page 1

democratic leaders of our generation in Lucerne, Switzerland.

The teenager will be considered in its own right for the World Junior Chess Championship in Lucerne, Switzerland.

"Your proposal did not offer a viable alternative," said Stanford Hall Co-President John Donohue. "What are we supposed to do instead at our meetings?"

Pritchard suggested sharing a meal in the blue room of the dining hall as one means of preserving the positive aspects of the council dinners while at the same time cutting down on costs. However, some council members quickly moved to close the discussion, accusing Pritchard of "beating a dead horse."

In other business, the council was petitioned for funds for the St. Edward's Hall Carnival. Dorm representatives are needed to help to coordinate the event, the benefits of which go to a charity of each dorm's choosing.

The Carnival will be held in conjunction with the Fisher Hall Regatta on Sunday, April 12. Also, plans for a senior video were announced. The video will be shown at the May 15 graduation dance.

Camera crews will be filming senior dorm life this weekend and will concentrate on off-campus residences next weekend. The final video will include scenes from the JPW slideshow and commencement. It will be available for purchase later this year.

Other announcements at the meeting included news about the Junior Class Banquet which will have a cash bar. It will be held on February 29.

Also, Weekend Wheels will resume servicing the campus this weekend. Council members were still unsure about whether or not it will make on campus pick-ups, however.

The Observer/Steven Custer

1992 ICEBERG DEBATES

Round I Results

Friday, February 4

Round I Results

Saturday, February 6

OPEN FORUM on

Survey on Sexual Harassment

Monday, Feb. 10th

7:00 PM

Library Lounge

Questions, answers, follow-up, ideas, discussion.

Sponsored By Faculty/Student Committee on Women
AP poll: Tax breaks won't help most

NEW YORK (AP) — Three out of four Americans believe President Bush's tax proposals would not make a significant change in their personal finances and just 38 percent say he deserves re-election, according to an Associated Press poll.

Results of the poll highlight the considerable challenge facing Bush as he prepares to launch his campaign for a second term while under pressure to revitalize the recession-bound economy.

Forty-eight percent said Bush does not deserve re-election to a second term. That view was shared by 21 percent of Republicans and 52 percent of independents, whose swing vote could prove crucial in deciding the outcome in November. Fifteen percent said they did not know or did not answer.

The poll showed pessimism about the economy as a clear influence on those saying Bush has not earned re-election.

Democrats were named by 41 percent of those polled as the party that would do the best job dealing with the economy while 32 percent said the nation's economic problems would be safer in Republican hands.

The telephone poll of 1,000 Americans was conducted Wednesday through Sunday by ICR Survey Research Group of Media, Pa. It has a margin of sampling error of plus or minus 3 percentage points.

The interviews began the night after President Bush delivered his State of the Union Message, outlining steps designed to lift the economy out of what economists say could turn out to be the longest recession since the 1930s.

Bush proposed a variety of tax breaks for businesses and individuals, including tax credits for first-time home buyers. He announced that the government would withhold less from individual paychecks, a move designed to pump more cash into the economy.

Bush also renewed his longstanding demand for congressional passage of a reduction in the tax on capital gains — that is, earnings from investments.

Among those surveyed, however, just 29 percent said they expected to derive some personal benefit from those proposals, while 61 percent said they would not and 10 percent expressed uncertainty.

Only 42 percent of Republicans polled expected to benefit from Bush's proposals. The pessimism seemed to center more on pockethole concerns that Bush could get his proposals enacted by the Democratic-controlled Congress. Just 15 percent said they expected a significant difference in the amount of money they will have if Bush's proposals are adopted.

A full 74 percent said adoption of Bush's proposals would not make a difference.

Among Republicans, it was 69 percent.

Summer Help Needed in Latin America

You can have a summer full of adventure and personal growth while improving health for the people of Latin America.

Contact Jen Bobula @ x2665 with questions.

African Society of Siena College of Monmouth, N.J.

Meeting for all those interested in becoming a volunteer Wednesday, Feb. 21, 7-9 p.m., in the Zimmermann Room, St. Joseph's College. Contact Jen Bobula @ x2665 with questions.

Summer Esień Missions

S.M.A. Fathers Society of African Missions

S.M.A. Fathers, Dept. NDO

500 East Ave.

Monsey, N.Y. 10940

If you would like to know about us, contact:

Fr. Ulrick Rourke, S.M.A.

S.M.A. Fathers, Dept. NDO

500 East Ave.

Monsey, N.Y. 10940

818-280-6667
Bush accuses his opponents of 'political carping,' rudeness

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A trip to promote President Bush's economic plans turned into a day of accusations Tuesday, with Bush attacking opponents' "political carping" and his spokesman accusing Democratic governors of rudeness.

Democrats returned the fire from Washington.

Bush and his aides found themselves on the defensive for a second straight day in pitching the recovery plan.

Addressing the National Grocers' Association, Bush said his week-old proposal would get the sluggish economy "fired up again." The audience of about 5,000 grocers and their guests gave the president a warmer reception than he got the day before from Democratic governors at the White House.

Gov. Roy Romer and other Democratic governors, who upgraded Monday's meeting by denouncing Bush's recovery plan to his face, drew return fire Tuesday from Bush spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

"The easiest, cheapest trick in the world is to be rude to the president to get on the news," Fitzwater said.

Romer, meanwhile, told reporters: "I did the right thing. "If the cameras are going to roll when the president is speaking, the cameras ought to do the heat on."
Nicosia, Cyprus (AP) — PLO chairman Yasser Arafat, who long vowed he was married only to the Palestinian struggle, has found a wife at age 62 — his 28-year-old secretary, Palestinian sources said Tuesday.

His bride, Suha Tawil, is a Palestinian Christian from Ramallah in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, the sources said. She met Arafat in 1988.

They were married in late November by a Muslim priest at Arafat's residence in Tunis, said the sources, who insisted on anonymity. Only a few friends and the bride's mother, Palestinian activist and writer Raymonda Tawil, were present, they said.

Arafat is a Sunni Muslim. His marriage to a much younger Christian was expected to draw criticism from the conservative Palestinian community, especially fundamentalists.

The vast majority of the world's 5 million Palestinians are Muslims.

Speaking by telephone from Tunis, the sources said Arafat and Tawil met when she was a student at the Sorbonne in France. She had traveled to Tunisia to visit her mother, a friend of Arafat who was working at the Palestinian news agency WAFA, they said.

After completing her studies in political science in 1989, Tawil returned to Tunis. A few months later, she was hired as a secretary to Arafat.

The sources described Arafat's wife as slim, with light brown hair and hazel eyes, and said she was slightly taller than her husband, who is 5-foot-4. She is fluent in English, French and Arabic.

According to a family friend in Ramallah, Tawil has three sisters and a brother. Two of her sisters are married to Palestinian sources said the couple were expected to draw criticism from the conservative Palestinian community, especially fundamentalists.

Speaking by telephone from Tunis, the sources said Arafat and Tawil met when she was a student at the Sorbonne in France. She had traveled to Tunisia to visit her mother, a friend of Arafat who was working at the Palestinian news agency WAFA, they said.

After completing her studies in political science in 1989, Tawil returned to Tunis. A few months later, she was hired as a secretary to Arafat.

The sources described Arafat's wife as slim, with light brown hair and hazel eyes, and said she was slightly taller than her husband, who is 5-foot-4. She is fluent in English, French and Arabic.

According to a family friend in Ramallah, Tawil has three sisters and a brother. Two of her sisters are married to Palestinian sources said the couple were expected to draw criticism from the conservative Palestinian community, especially fundamentalists.

Speaking by telephone from Tunis, the sources said Arafat and Tawil met when she was a student at the Sorbonne in France. She had traveled to Tunisia to visit her mother, a friend of Arafat who was working at the Palestinian news agency WAFA, they said.

After completing her studies in political science in 1989, Tawil returned to Tunis. A few months later, she was hired as a secretary to Arafat.

The sources described Arafat's wife as slim, with light brown hair and hazel eyes, and said she was slightly taller than her husband, who is 5-foot-4. She is fluent in English, French and Arabic.

According to a family friend in Ramallah, Tawil has three sisters and a brother. Two of her sisters are married to Palestinian sources said the couple were expected to draw criticism from the conservative Palestinian community, especially fundamentalists.
AIDS patients deserve our compassion, not funding

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to two recent articles penned by Mr. Acker of the law school and Fr. Griffin of the wealth redistribution school. While I thought both articles were well written I am troubled with what I perceive to be a misunderstanding of Mr. Acker's article by Fr. Griffin.

Fr. Griffin recently wrote that we should have compassion for persons suffering from AIDS. Of course we should. We should have compassion for anyone who is suffering from any illness or hardship.

Mr. Acker did not propose that AIDS patients do not deserve compassion. Fr. Griffin suggests that the Acker article overlooked the innocent children and homosexualics who suffer from AIDS. Even a brief reading of Mr. Acker's article shows that he acknowledged the fact that not all AIDS patients have done something immoral or illegal which has resulted in their predicament.

This is not to say that as sick human beings they should not be shown compassion. On the other hand, sufferers of Alzheimers and cancer have not "brought their disease upon themselves." Granted the person who has smoked two packs of cigarettes a day has contributed to his own lung cancer, but barely have I heard smoking analogized to sodomy.

It seems reasonable to me to allocate more resources to the treatment and cure of diseases which are not reduced or eliminated by behavior modification. This is particularly true when the resources which are being allocated have been extracted from taxpayers in the form of our unjust taxation system. Anyone is certainly entitled to contribute their own funds to the wars on AIDS, cancer, or drugs. But when we speak of tax dollars, shouldn't we consider societal norms and societal disgust toward certain behavior?

Do not take this to mean that we should not show compassion to anyone, because we should.

James A. O'Brien
Off-campus
Feb. 3, 1992

JPW not a happy occasion for all

Dear Editor:

Another JPW is currently being planned and anticipated by many on the campus. For those of you working hard to make it a success, I commend your efforts. For those of you eagerly awaiting a special weekend with your parents and special friends, I hope you have an enjoyable and memorable experience.

The purpose of this letter is to heighten awareness of those individuals who may not be looking forward to this event. In my work at the Counseling Center the past five years, I've met many individuals who dread this weekend. Why would someone dread such a special and happy occasion?

For students who have experienced the death of a parent there is sadness as they attend another special event without this loved one. For students who have experienced the divorce of their parents, it can stir up a range of feelings, especially if they feel caught in the middle. They may need to deal with step-parents as well as parents, or feel roommates or significant others do not understand how hard it is to cope with this. For students who struggle financially, it may not be possible for parents to take time off from work to travel to and from Notre Dame or feel they can afford the expense of the weekend. For the students who grew up with alcoholism, sexual abuse, physical violence, lack of support, constant criticism or many other difficulties, the idea of exposing any of this to friends, family or roommates is currently a steel trap. Provide them with information and quotes, not a happy occasion for all.

Please respect the choices friends, roommates, sectionmates and classmates make about whether they participate in this weekend or not. If people want to discuss how they feel about the weekend, encourage them to tell you as much or as little as they feel comfortable discussing. Consider inviting someone who does not have family coming to join you and your parents for part of the weekend. Encourage those not attending to plan other activities for the weekend so they do not feel so alone and isolated. Respect differences.

Rita J. Donley, Ph.D.
Assistant Director
University Counseling Center
Feb. 3, 1992

DOONESBURY

YOU'RE RIGHT GUS! IT'S BUCHANAN WE'RE ON THE HILL IN THE CORE GARDEN!

BOUCHAN'S EVEN KNOWING WE ON YOUR IMMUNIZATION ISSUE WE'RE NOW ADOPTING THE "BUCHANAN RING" A NO-OOD MANDATORY TO WEAR ON THE WEATHERSHIELD.

OH, RIGHT AND WHAT'S SUPPOSED TO HAPPEN IF IT'S NOT BROUGHT IN THE MANDATE THEY WILL SHOOT THEIRSelves AND TELL GUNS DON'T WORK ANY MORE RESPONSIBLE FOR RE-TREATING THE INJURY!

GARRY TRUDEAU

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"My mind is a steel trap. Provide me with information and I will mangle it and retain it."

Joan W. Smith

. . . Fire alarm is going, gotta go! submit:
QUOTES, P.O. Box Q, ND, IN 46556
Alumnus Benjamin Cosgrove is making a name for himself in aeronautical engineering

By MATTHEW MOHS

Less than 50 years ago, a young man from Notre Dame leaped up into the sky and envisioned his future.

It was Spring, 1945 and Benjamin A. Cosgrove watched the B-17 bombers fly over the Golden Dome and Notre Dame Stadium, which were traveling from the West Coast to the East Coast for use in the European campaign of World War II.

At that point he had no idea that he would be instrumental in the design of the B-17’s replacement. Then, with a little prodding from his NROTC instructors, Cosgrove chose to be an aeronautical engineer because he liked airplanes. His choice has paid off many times during his long career at Boeing.

Cosgrove, now the senior vice-president in charge of Boeing Commercial Airline Group engineering and flight test operations and engineering, was rewarded for his contributions this past Dec. by the National Aeronautical Administration.

With his acceptance of the Wright Brothers Memorial Trophy, Cosgrove has joined a list of recipients including Charles A. Lindbergh, Harry F. Guggenheim, and Barry M. Goldwater. This award is the most prestigious honor anyone can receive in commercial aviation.

He was recognized for his dedication to commercial aviation safety and his contributions to the development of four generations of Boeing aircraft.

“I think my success or the company’s success is being able to go anywhere in the world, look up, and say I did something,” said Cosgrove. “There is great satisfaction in knowing that Boeing planes are all over the world and that they are the best.”

Cosgrove says he believes that this plane is one of the best ever built.

Now he is working on the new 777 which should reaffirm Boeing’s place as the leader of commercial aviation.

“A lot of people are very interested in that,” Cosgrove explained. “I think of it as a challenge, and I’m looking forward to it.”

Cosgrove has incorporated these values into his family as well. He and his wife have raised five children and helped raise five grandchildren with these important lessons in mind. He says he feels that they have turned out well. One of his daughters has graduated from Notre Dame as an engineer.

He looks back on his time at Notre Dame very fondly. “It may have been tough, but it was worth it. One of my best memories is of a football game. I think it was 1947 and Notre Dame was playing Purdue. The final score was 28-27. It was a wonderful day.”

Cosgrove reflects that his method of dealing with stress in the past was to pray for help. “I went to the Grotto for different classes. I would go down and ask for help in getting a grade in calculus or similar classes.”

He found most of his classes very challenging and at times he felt as if he was not going to make it. He stuck with them and this dedication to work has affected the rest of his life.

“If Notre Dame taught me anything, it taught me that integrity and stick-to-it-iness will win in the long run. I learned to be honest with myself and with others around me,” he recalls fondly.

Cosgrove has incorporated these values into his family as well. He and his wife have raised five children and helped raise five grandchildren with these important lessons in mind. He says they feel that they have turned out well. One of his daughters has graduated from Notre Dame as an engineer.

He looks back on his time at Notre Dame very fondly. “It may have been tough, but it was worth it. One of my best memories is of a football game. I think it was 1947 and Notre Dame was playing Purdue. The final score was 28-27. It was a wonderful day.”

Cosgrove reflects that his method of dealing with stress in the past was to pray for help. “I went to the Grotto for different classes. I would go down and ask for help in getting a grade in calculus or similar classes.”

He found most of his classes very challenging and at times he felt as if he was not going to make it. He stuck with them and this dedication to work has affected the rest of his life.

“If Notre Dame taught me anything, it taught me that integrity and stick-to-it-iness will win in the long run. I learned to be honest with myself and with others around me,” he recalls fondly.
NOTICES

USED TEXTBOOKS! Big Bay Bell Bookstore/Panther's Books. 3rd ed. from ND 233-2410/5:30 M-Sun.

VALUABLE GLAMOUR. Give the best value of your GOLD JEWELRY to be valued by published photograph. Mail: Louvre. 387-0613.

TYPING AVAILABLE 267-4082.

SUMMER JOBS
ALL LAND WATER SPORTS PRESTIGE CHILDREN'S CAMPS AROUND NEW YORK. CALL AT LAKE PLACID. 1-800-786-8373.

The Women's Care Center / Pregnancy Help Center is holding a training session for volunteer counselors during the weekend of February 14, 15, & 16 on the Notre Dame campus. Anyone interested should call the Center at 255-4595.

Student volunteers wanted to help raise money for local pregnancy help center. The Women's Care Center is nothing its annual phone a day. Call Ms. F. Tafel 234-2 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. We could use your help any of these. Interested please call Melissa at 255-4595.

AVOID THE RUSH & LONG LINES. SUBMIT YOUR PERSONAL T误差 $10.00. To the Box Office emit…”

ATTENTION: SPRING BREAKERS
INTERESTED IN BECOMING A CALL CENTER REPRESENTATIVE AND EARNING A FREE TRIP TO CANCUN AND A CRUISE TO THE BAHAMAS? LOOKING FOR EMERGENCY SOCIAL WORKERS WHO HAVE AN INTEREST IN SALESMARKETING. LOOK COMMUNITY CENTER AT 271-1561.

STUDY ABOATING TAKING A BREAK? I need for a SPRING BREAK.

Call Paul! 275-5329.

LOST/FOUND
LOST: A pair of clear pink glasses in a plain white case between Devil and Father's at 1000 on Monday. Call Paul! 275-5329

FOUND: Min: 35 mm camera case: Was found Thursday by a student in front of a lamp post near the bookstore. Call Jack! 212-8093.

FOUND: Orange bike in Newstead Hall last semester. This is catch me by the bike that's not mine that was stolen earlier in the year. If you can prove that it's mine, please call Doc! 234-1046.

LOST: A set of keys on a Notre Dame key chain outside the JACC last Friday. To claim call Doc! 208-1134.

LOST: Gold chain with half dollar pendant. Monday evening between SCH & JACC. VERY IMPORTANT!

Call Ryan x1134.

LONELY:

Last dying silver ring with gold plating on palm and moonstone. 29th at 9th. Sentimental value if found, please call x2243.

NOTICES

USED TEXTBOOKS! Big Bay Bell Bookstore/Panther's Books. 3rd ed. from ND 233-2410/5:30 M-Sun.

VALUABLE GLAMOUR. Give the best value of your GOLD JEWELRY to be valued by published photograph. Mail: Louvre. 387-0613.

TYPING AVAILABLE 267-4082.

SUMMER JOBS
ALL LAND WATER SPORTS PRESTIGE CHILDREN'S CAMPS AROUND NEW YORK. CALL AT LAKE PLACID. 1-800-786-8373.

The Women's Care Center / Pregnancy Help Center is holding a training session for volunteer counselors during the weekend of February 14, 15, & 16 on the Notre Dame campus. Anyone interested should call the Center at 255-4595.

Student volunteers wanted to help raise money for local pregnancy help center. The Women's Care Center is nothing its annual phone a day. Call Ms. F. Tafel 234-2 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. We could use your help any of these. Interested please call Melissa at 255-4595.

AVOID THE RUSH & LONG LINES. SUBMIT YOUR PERSONAL T

ATTENTION: SPRING BREAKERS
INTERESTED IN BECOMING A CALL CENTER REPRESENTATIVE AND EARNING A FREE TRIP TO CANCUN AND A CRUISE TO THE BAHAMAS? LOOKING FOR EMERGENCY SOCIAL WORKERS WHO HAVE AN INTEREST IN SALES MARKETING. LOOK COMMUNITY CENTER AT 271-1561.

STUDY ABOATING TAKING A BREAK? I need for a SPRING BREAK.

Call Paul! 275-5329.

LOST/FOUND
LOST: A pair of clear pink glasses in a plain white case between Devil and Father's at 1000 on Monday. Call Paul! 275-5329.

FOUND: Min: 35 mm camera case: Was found Thursday by a student in front of a lamp post near the bookstore. Call Jack! 212-8093.

FOUND: Orange bike in Newstead Hall last semester. This is catch me by the bike that's not mine that was stolen earlier in the year. If you can prove that it's mine, please call Doc! 234-1046.

LOST: A set of keys on a Notre Dame key chain outside the JACC last Friday. To claim call Doc! 208-1134.

LOST: Gold chain with half dollar pendant. Monday evening between SCH & JACC. VERY IMPORTANT!

Call Ryan x1134.

LONELY:

Last dying silver ring with gold plating on palm and moonstone. 29th at 9th. Sentimental value if found, please call x2243.

NOTICES

USED TEXTBOOKS! Big Bay Bell Bookstore/Panther's Books. 3rd ed. from ND 233-2410/5:30 M-Sun.

VALUABLE GLAMOUR. Give the best value of your GOLD JEWELRY to be valued by published photograph. Mail: Louvre. 387-0613.

TYPING AVAILABLE 267-4082.

SUMMER JOBS
ALL LAND WATER SPORTS PRESTIGE CHILDREN'S CAMPS AROUND NEW YORK. CALL AT LAKE PLACID. 1-800-786-8373.

The Women's Care Center / Pregnancy Help Center is holding a training session for volunteer counselors during the weekend of February 14, 15, & 16 on the Notre Dame campus. Anyone interested should call the Center at 255-4595.

Student volunteers wanted to help raise money for local pregnancy help center. The Women's Care Center is nothing its annual phone a day. Call Ms. F. Tafel 234-2 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. We could use your help any of these. Interested please call Melissa at 255-4595.

AVOID THE RUSH & LONG LINES. SUBMIT YOUR PERSONAL T

ATTENTION: SPRING BREAKERS
INTERESTED IN BECOMING A CALL CENTER REPRESENTATIVE AND EARNING A FREE TRIP TO CANCUN AND A CRUISE TO THE BAHAMAS? LOOKING FOR EMERGENCY SOCIAL WORKERS WHO HAVE AN INTEREST IN SALES MARKETING. LOOK COMMUNITY CENTER AT 271-1561.

STUDY ABOATING TAKING A BREAK? I need for a SPRING BREAK.

Call Paul! 275-5329.

LOST/FOUND
LOST: A pair of clear pink glasses in a plain white case between Devil and Father's at 1000 on Monday. Call Paul! 275-5329.

FOUND: Min: 35 mm camera case: Was found Thursday by a student in front of a lamp post near the bookstore. Call Jack! 212-8093.

FOUND: Orange bike in Newstead Hall last semester. This is catch me by the bike that's not mine that was stolen earlier in the year. If you can prove that it's mine, please call Doc! 234-1046.

LOST: A set of keys on a Notre Dame key chain outside the JACC last Friday. To claim call Doc! 208-1134.

LOST: Gold chain with half dollar pendant. Monday evening between SCH & JACC. VERY IMPORTANT!

Call Ryan x1134.

LONELY:

Last dying silver ring with gold plating on palm and moonstone. 29th at 9th. Sentimental value if found, please call x2243.
No scores or standings were provided in the text. The document contains various articles, studies, and features, but specific numerical data or score information is not included.
Bulls show they are not perfect

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Chicago's third loss in five games after 13 straight victories left the Bulls a picture of frustration.

Michael Jordan, protesting the call that gave Utah a 126-123 victory Monday night in three overtimes, was ejected with a half-second left. And coach Phil Jackson was outraged over the Jazz foul that gave Jeff Malone three free throws with the score tied.

With just a short day's rest, the Bulls wrap up their six-game road campaign at Phoenix on Wednesday night. They return to Chicago to face New Jersey next Tuesday.

The Bulls, who were on a pace to win a record 70 games during the regular season, are now 39-8 after finishing the first half of the season at 37-5 — the second best start in NBA history.

If the Utah defeat was particularly bitter for the defending world champions, it was especially sweet for Jazz coach Jerry Sloan, a one-time Chicago player, scout and coach.

"We were fortunate to get the win," he said. "Those are the kinds of games you like to win, and obviously because it was Chicago, it was magnified."

The outcome also vindicated Sloan's decision not to call a timeout after Jordan, who finished with 34 points, buried a 15-footer with 5.6 seconds left in the third overtime to tie the score 123-123.

Sloan said Tuesday that a timeout might have handed Utah the ball at midcourt, but it also would have given the Bulls time to set their defense.

"I started to call time out and then we called it off," he said. "We think we're better off to push it down the floor in those situations. Chicago's such a great defensive team."

With the Bulls stillailing badly, Sloan decided to drive toward the key and was whacked on the leg by Jordan, the ball bounded away and a foul was called. Jordan, protesting the whistle, drew a technical from referee Tommie Wells with 10 seconds left.

Malone, who had 13 points on a miserable 4-for-21 night from the field, all three foul shots to give the Jazz a win after 63 minutes of play.

"I think they got tired of us being in the position to win it in the two overtimes that we lost before that, so they said, 'To heck with it; let's give the home team the chance to win and send them home,'" he said.

At first, it appeared Jordan may have been ejected for bumping referee Wood, but referee Jake O'Donnell said Jordan was tossed for his language.

Jackson said the words were well-meaning.

"Whatever he said, that referee deserved it because you don't make foul calls like that in the end of an NBA game. People know it's a desperation drive. I don't know how much he got him, but you just don't make those calls," Jackson said.

"Unfortunately it ended a good game. We probably should be (still) playing out there," he added.

Jackson's comments have drawn the attention of the NBA in New York. The league could fine him for criticizing officials.

"We're in the process of doing a formal investigation. Once that is done, we'll be making a decision about any action," said Penny Nelson, assistant to NBA operations vice president Rod Thorn.

Sloan said that from his angle, he couldn't see the controversy.

"Jeff had his back to me. But that's what officials are for. I couldn't see the foul, but obviously the officials saw it," he said.

The Observer

Applications are now being accepted for the following paid positions:

Managing Editor
Business Manager

Applicants for the Managing Editor's position should:

• Have a wide base of Macintosh computer knowledge
• Have strong interpersonal and management skills
• Have strong editing skills and experience
• Be familiar with newspaper production

Applicants for the Business Manager's position should:

• Be a sophomore or junior Business major
• Have desire to gain valuable work experience
• Have strong interpersonal and organizational skills
• Have a firm grasp of basic accounting principles

A three-page personal statement and résumé must be submitted to Monica Yant by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 7. For further information or job descriptions, contact Lisa Eaton (Managing Editor) or Gil Gomez (Business Manager), at The Observer, 239-5303.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Chicago's third loss in five games after 13 straight victories left the Bulls a picture of frustration.

Michael Jordan, protesting the call that gave Utah a 126-123 victory Monday night in three overtimes, was ejected with a half-second left. And coach Phil Jackson was outraged over the Jazz foul that gave Jeff Malone three free throws with the score tied.

With just a short day's rest, the Bulls wrap up their six-game road campaign at Phoenix on Wednesday night. They return to Chicago to face New Jersey next Tuesday.

The Bulls, who were on a pace to win a record 70 games during the regular season, are now 39-8 after finishing the first half of the season at 37-5 — the second best start in NBA history.

If the Utah defeat was particularly bitter for the defending world champions, it was especially sweet for Jazz coach Jerry Sloan, a one-time Chicago player, scout and coach.

"We were fortunate to get the win," he said. "Those are the kinds of games you like to win, and obviously because it was Chicago, it was magnified."

The outcome also vindicated Sloan's decision not to call a timeout after Jordan, who finished with 34 points, buried a 15-footer with 5.6 seconds left in the third overtime to tie the score 123-123.

Sloan said Tuesday that a timeout might have handed Utah the ball at midcourt, but it also would have given the Bulls time to set their defense.

"I started to call time out and then we called it off," he said. "We think we're better off to push it down the floor in those situations. Chicago's such a great defensive team."

With the Bulls stillailing badly, Sloan decided to drive toward the key and was whacked on the leg by Jordan, the ball bounded away and a foul was called. Jordan, protesting the whistle, drew a technical from referee Tommie Wells with 10 seconds left.

Malone, who had 13 points on a miserable 4-for-21 night from the field, all three foul shots to give the Jazz a win after 63 minutes of play.

"I think they got tired of us being in the position to win it in the two overtimes that we lost before that, so they said, 'To heck with it; let's give the home team the chance to win and send them home,'" he said.

At first, it appeared Jordan may have been ejected for bumping referee Wood, but referee Jake O'Donnell said Jordan was tossed for his language.

Jackson said the words were well-meaning.

"Whatever he said, that referee deserved it because you don't make foul calls like that in the end of an NBA game. People know it's a desperation drive. I don't know how much he got him, but you just don't make those calls," Jackson said.

"Unfortunately it ended a good game. We probably should be (still) playing out there," he added.

Jackson's comments have drawn the attention of the NBA in New York. The league could fine him for criticizing officials.

"We're in the process of doing a formal investigation. Once that is done, we'll be making a decision about any action," said Penny Nelson, assistant to NBA operations vice president Rod Thorn.

Sloan said that from his angle, he couldn't see the controversy.

"Jeff had his back to me. But that's what officials are for. I couldn't see the foul, but obviously the officials saw it," he said.

The Observer

Applications are now being accepted for the following paid positions:

Managing Editor
Business Manager

Applicants for the Managing Editor's position should:

• Have a wide base of Macintosh computer knowledge
• Have strong interpersonal and management skills
• Have strong editing skills and experience
• Be familiar with newspaper production

Applicants for the Business Manager's position should:

• Be a sophomore or junior Business major
• Have desire to gain valuable work experience
• Have strong interpersonal and organizational skills
• Have a firm grasp of basic accounting principles

A three-page personal statement and résumé must be submitted to Monica Yant by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 7. For further information or job descriptions, contact Lisa Eaton (Managing Editor) or Gil Gomez (Business Manager), at The Observer, 239-5303.
Tyson case continues in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The mother of Mike Tyson accuscribed Tuesday as she described how her happy-go-lucky teenager became a frightened child plagued by nightmares in the weeks after the alleged rape.

"She sees his face, and she's scared. She's reliving this nightmare over and over," the mother said, her voice cracking and tears flowing.

"I just want my daughter back."

The mother's testimony, which moved at least one juror to cry, capped a morning of leg-sal sethacks for the defense.

Earlier, Judge Patricia J. Clifford refused to allow the jury to hear three surprises, including the teenager's taped conversation of the 911 tape in which the operator urged the woman to press charges were deleted at defense request.

Tyson, 25, is accused of raping the woman after inviting her back to his hotel room July 19.

The former world heavyweight champion claims the 18-year-old consented to sex. He

JACC

continued from page 16

Michigan come to the Thunderdome, the games sell out. I understand that people want to see great teams, but every game should sell out anyway. Using the excuse that Notre Dame is not a top 25

Hoops

continued from page 16

found itself in a position to take the lead with 32 seconds remaining as Bennett stepped to the line facing of a one-on-

Student Body PRESIDENT DEBATE TONIGHT,

9:00 pm Notre Dame Room LaFortune
NFL hopefuls gather for combines

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — It's show time for 460 college football players who hope to prove they're ready for the big time during the annual NFL Scouting Combine that begins Wednesday in the Hoosier Dome.

It's a mixed group of players who have won All-America and all-conference honors at major colleges, along with those lesser-known products who have toiled in relative obscurity at smaller schools.

The process, described as a meat market by some past participants, is conducted mainly behind closed doors, with the media and public locked out.

During a grueling three-day process, each player undergoes extensive physical and athletic examinations and has personal interviews with team representatives.

"This is like a major examination," says Duke Babb of National Football Scouting, which coordinates the annual event. "The teams have already received scouting reports and made evaluations. This gives them a unique way to make their decisions for the draft."

Most of the participants are seniors, but 14 underclassmen who have decided to boost their bank accounts rather than continue their education also have been invited to attend the combine, which continues through Sunday.

The list of those who declared their eligibility for the NFL draft include Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard of Michigan, All-America linebacker Tommy Maddox, a winner Steve Emtman of Washington, and defensive linemen begins Wednesday in the Hoosier Dome.

The seniors received their invitations more than a month ago, but Babb had to wait until the NFL announced its list of eligible underclassmen this week before asking them to attend.

"It's another tool to evaluate the puzzle," says Jack Bushofsky, director of player personnel for the Indianapolis Colts, who own the top two picks in this year's draft.

"The draft puzzle begins with school visitations. Every team has a preliminary idea of what it wants at this point, but the combine gives you a chance to compare the players side-by-side. You have a mental picture of a player's potential going in, but you get a good idea of their release, catching abilities and foot work at the combine," he added.

Teams don't like to discuss specific players, leery of giving opposing teams some advantage or insight into their thoughts.

"I won't discuss individuals," Bushofsky said. "This looks like a pretty good year. There are quite a few good defensive corners and there's quality among offensive and defensive linemen."

"There isn't a lot of depth at linebacker this year and there aren't as many top, or well-known receivers," Bushofsky says.

"The potential of the draft has been boosted by the underclassmen coming out," says Bill Tobin, Chicago's vice president for player personnel.

"It's made this year's draft deeper, but that's not something the NFL wants. We still would like those kids to stay in college.

In many cases they'll be coming to the combine because they were pushed by agents or advisers and they might be making a mistake," Tobin said.

"The NFL doesn't need someone leaving college. Some of those players aren't even going to be drafted. They've lost an opportunity for more education, and haven't helped themselves."

He conceded, however, "There are some high profile underclassmen who came out this year, and they're going to go early."

Not all players who are invited make the grade.

"We've had players who have come here out of shape and others who have tested positive for drugs," Tobin says. "That's just stupidity."
Wednesday, February 5, 1992

The Observer

CROSSWORD

DEADLINE

@Edward Julius

ACROSS
1. Exclamation
2. Mexican Indians
3. From Lucrea
4. —- veto
5. —-- iron bars
6. Shade
7. Slander
8. "The Story of Boy"
9. Official permit (abbr.)
10. "Hawks..."
12. Celibate
13. Went backward
14. Cryptology
15. Carny slang
16. Miss Irving
17. Country in Africa
18. Concise
19. City in Texas
20. Very
21. Nullify
22. Prefix: for short
23. Actor Gibson
24. Math concept
25. Young boy
26. Dug out canoe
27. Duped
28. Carpenter's item
29. Miss Garson
30. Math concept
31. Vignette
32. Disloyalty
33. Prefix: for
34. Clad
35. Statistician
36. Disloyalty
37. Prophet
38. Ancient Egyptian god
39. Ancient Egyptian god
40. Miss Bayes
41. Prefix: for
42. Organization for C. Everett Koop
43. Prefix: for
44. Prefix: for
45. Spinach
46. Prefix: for
47. Prefix: for
48. Prefix: for
49. Region of India
50. Organization for C. Everett Koop
51. Prayer part
52. Prefix: for
53. Wad
54. Prefix: for
55. "Thanks..."
56. "The Official Boy"
57. "Hawks..."
58. Prefix: for
59. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
60. Prefix: for
61. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
62. Prefix: for
63. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"

DOWN
1. Trick
2. Ancient Asian animals
5. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
15. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
17. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
22. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
27. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
29. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
32. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
33. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
34. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
35. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
37. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
38. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
40. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
41. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
42. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
43. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
44. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
45. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
46. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
47. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
49. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
50. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
51. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
52. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
53. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
54. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
55. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
56. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
57. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
58. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
59. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
60. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
61. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"
63. "The Whole New Idea of Presence and Honesty"

The Indianapolis Ballet Theatre proudly presents

Sleeping Beauty

February 7, 1992

O'Connell Auditorium 8 PM

Tickets on sale at LaFortune Information Desk
and O'Connell Box Office

Panama City Beach, Florida

MARCH 15
7 NIGHTS at THE RAMADA INN
PLUS TRANSFERS AND INCLUDED

Contact the Secretary in the Student Government Center
2nd Floor LaFortune Student Center
CALL 239-7668

DEADLINE FOR SIGN-UPS IS FEBRUARY 7th
(A $75 DEPOSIT IS REQUIRED AT SIGN-UPS)
Lack of fan support evident at JACC

By MARK McGrath
Sports Writer

Last night, the Notre Dame men's basketball team suffered a 72-70 loss to Detroit Mercy in front of 8,031 spectators.

It is widely known that a home crowd is supposed to be a great advantage. If you listen to people speak about basketball programs and their fan support, you often hear of teams such as DePaul, Ohio State, Michigan, North Carolina, Kentucky and Indiana.

Last Saturday at Duke, the Irish were forced to play in front of a Cameron Indoor Stadium, a four-year-old arena.

Notre Dame head coach John MacLeod commented on the Duke crowd at the press conference Monday.

"They are a great college crowd. It's like playing in Chicago Stadium against the Bulls. They support the team and love the ball club. It's what you want to see. I think that is what college ball is all about."

Irish players were made known of their presence throughout the game. Irish guard Elmer Bennett felt the crowd was definitely a big factor.

"They always have a great crowd. They (the crowd) can affect the way you play and sometimes they can affect the game."

In the Notre Dame basketball media guide, it says "Sellouts are the rule rather than the exception in the colorful, 11,418-seat arena."

Individual games may be sold out, but it has been 10 years since the JACC has had a season attendance average over 11,000. This even includes the 1985-86 season in which the Irish finished 15-4 at home.

Over the last four and a half years, only 17 of the last 69 games have been sold out. The Irish home record over the same time period is 48-21.

I see no reason why the games fail to sell out. When teams such as UCLA and the Bluebonnet and '86 Fiesta Bowls.

Seven decades later, the puddle has swung to the side of the players. Former commissioner Peter Ueberroth shocked many when he charged owners with collusion to keep player salaries down. What resulted was a $280 million arbitrator's ruling against the owners, who have loosened their pocketbooks considerably since then.

Major league baseball salaries rose by 103 percent between 1988 and 1991. Last year's payroll, at an average of $891,000, is up an estimated 80 percent over 1990, and with present conditions, salaries will continue to climb.

Blockbuster contracts have been sprouting up daily. The New York Mets won the Bobby Bonilla auction, agreeing to pay the slugger $29 million over the next five years. On a player sets a precedent, owners are subject to the domino effect. Barry Bonds, not to be outdone by his former Pirate teammate, will remain in Pittsburgh for around $4.9 million per season; Detroit re-signed first baseman Cecil Fielder for a mammoth $4.5 million one-year deal.

Other front-running teams in the in free agency race are Toronto and Los Angeles. Over the winter, the Blue Jays paid the price with hopes of finally capturing that elusive World Series crown. They added two veteran leaders, hurler Jack Morris (two years, $10.85) of last year's World Series Champion Twins, and 40-year-old outfielder Dave Winfield (one year, $2.3 million).

The Dodgers, always a prestigious organization, tried to solidify their aging club by snapping from Toronto pitcher Tom Candiotti, who signed a four-year, $15.5 million pact. The Dodgers' bankrolled injury-prone Orel Hershiser for three-years at $10 million, and paid big money to retain Mitch Webster, Jay Howell and Juan Samuel.

These days, even the most mediocre players are millionaires. Mike Morgan, signed by the Cubs at $12.5 million, has been 280 "sellouts" in his career.

Baseball salaries are getting out of hand