Professors debate effect of research on students

By STEVE ZAVESTOSKI
News Writer

Recent concern over Notre Dame’s emphasis on faculty research over undergraduate education was debated last night in a panel discussion between faculty members.

The discussion came on the heels of the Student Government’s 61-page report to the Board of Trustees last Thursday.

According to Karen Stohr, chair of the committee involved in researching the issue, the committee attempted to present the results of its research to the board. Stohr added that results of the research showed students were concerned with the availability of professors, class sizes and interaction with the professors.

The student government report also noted that University President Father Edward Malloy claimed 77 percent of the University’s operating budget comes from tuition, room and board. “These are costs incurred almost solely by undergraduates,” he said. That added that the purpose of the university should be to educate, not to do research. “The focus should be on letting intellects live intellectual lives.”

According to O’Connor, faculty members who are excited about their disciplines and who are doing research so they can further stimulate their students are in need of realizing this focus.

Panel member Morton Fuchs, chairman and professor of biological sciences, agreed with Stohr’s report that the answer to the problem is to hire more faculty members. “I don’t think that the answer is hiring more graduate students,” Fuchs said. “But to be competitive in hiring with other universities, we have to offer the opportunity to research.”

Father Timothy Scully, assistant professor of government, and Warren Nichols, professor of accountancy, both agreed that the concepts of research and undergraduate study are not mutually exclusive. “You can have a research university and still be a great undergraduate institution,” said Nichols.

“We have to avoid polarization of the problem,” said Bush. “There is no choice between white, black, red or yellow.”

Scully cited instances of students who prefer professor interaction in research. All four professors unanimously agreed that research is essential to any institution of learning. “We cannot be a research university without research,” said Scully.

Stohr’s report that the answer to the problem is “This is not black and white,” added Scully.

According to Rakow, the curriculum of professors and research, is to have a research university, but still foster a learning atmosphere. “We cannot be a research university without research,” said Scully. “The concept of research and undergraduate study are not mutually exclusive.”

Things we did right,” he said.

From one day, I fought for strong and effective national defense, I stuck to my principles and we kept strong and we won the Cold War.”

Bush took a veered swipe at his conservative challenger, commentator Patrick Buchanan, who is runningBush’s campaign on a theme of “America First.”

“The American people do not believe in isolationism because they believe in themselves,” Bush said. “We Americans do not believe that the world can be divided into good and evil. Together we will win, I am certain of that.”

“I came here to do important work, and I finish what I start,” Bush declared.

In a broadside at the Republican National Committee, Bush vowed, “This year we say ‘No more’ to those who want to lose and we say get moving or get out of the way. We’ve got an agenda.”

The crowd erupted again into chants of “four more years.”

“We’ve got an agenda.”

Bush launches ‘92 run for the Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) President Bush today formally launched his re-election campaign, telling a cheering crowd, “I want to continue serving as your president for four more years.”

Bush today announced his re-election campaign with a speech in New York City that was intended to rally the country behind his re-election drive and is on the brink of 20 states. It enters the race with diminished popularity in polls amid widespread anxiety about the economy.

Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle launched their campaign at a Lincoln’s birthday rally downtown hotel before 1,000 of their most loyal supporters. The audience cheered them with calls of “Four more years.”

Later, the president was flying to Manchester, N.H., for a day of campaigning before its presidential primary on Tuesday.

Bush was introduced by his wife, Barbara, who presented him as “the person I love and respect most in the world: the next president of the United States.”

“We’re gathered here because the American people wanted leadership and we answered the call,” Bush told the gathering.

“And we didn’t do the easy things. We did the right things,” he said.

From one day, I fought for strong and effective national defense, I stuck to my principles and we kept strong and we won the Cold War.”

 Bush took a veiled swipe at his conservative challenger, commentator Patrick Buchanan, who is running in the GOP campaign on a theme of “America First.”

“The American people do not believe in isolationism because they believe in themselves,” Bush said. “We Americans do not believe that the world can be divided into good and evil. Together we will win, I am certain of that.”

“I came here to do important work, and I finish what I start,” Bush declared.

In a broadside at the Republican National Committee, Bush vowed, “This year we say ‘No more’ to those who want to lose and we say get moving or get out of the way. We’ve got an agenda.”

The crowd erupted again into chants of “four more years.”

“We’ve got an agenda.”

Bush Launches ‘92 Run for the Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) President Bush today formally launched his re-election campaign, telling a cheering crowd, “I want to continue serving as your president for four more years.”

Bush today announced his re-election campaign with a speech in New York City that was intended to rally the country behind his re-election drive and is on the brink of 20 states. It enters the race with diminished popularity in polls amid widespread anxiety about the economy.

Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle launched their campaign at a Lincoln’s birthday rally downtown hotel before 1,000 of their most loyal supporters. The audience cheered them with calls of “Four more years.”

Later, the president was flying to Manchester, N.H., for a day of campaigning before its presidential primary on Tuesday.

Bush was introduced by his wife, Barbara, who presented him as “the person I love and respect most in the world: the next president of the United States.”

“We’re gathered here because the American people wanted leadership and we answered the call,” Bush told the gathering.

“And we didn’t do the easy things. We did the right things,” he said.

From one day, I fought for strong and effective national defense, I stuck to my principles and we kept strong and we won the Cold War.”

Bush took a veiled swipe at his conservative challenger, commentator Patrick Buchanan, who is running in the GOP campaign on a theme of “America First.”

“The American people do not believe in isolationism because they believe in themselves,” Bush said. “We Americans do not believe that the world can be divided into good and evil. Together we will win, I am certain of that.”

“I came here to do important work, and I finish what I start,” Bush declared.

In a broadside at the Republican National Committee, Bush vowed, “This year we say ‘No more’ to those who want to lose and we say get moving or get out of the way. We’ve got an agenda.”

The crowd erupted again into chants of “four more years.”

“We’ve got an agenda.”

Bush Launches ‘92 Run for the Presidency

Hard at work
Farley senior Jennifer Yost helps eight year old Curtis Carter, of South Bend, with his writing homework.

The Observer/Pat McHugh

The Graduate Student Union (GSU) discussed the status of its child care proposal to the Board of Trustees and ND Security’s policies and procedures concerning acquaintance rape at a council meeting last night.

According to GSU Quality of Life Chair Rita Francis, the board of Trustees reacted positively to the group’s child care proposal and offered their support for the recommendations made to expand day care services on campus for the children of faculty and grad students. However, Francis said the trustees felt the GSU committee should go through “administrative channels” to get the proposal passed.

The bottom line is that the trustees were surprised that (the GSU) brought this issue to them, because they thought it was an issue to be dealt with by the administration,” Francis said.

The committee is presenting another report on child care needs to the Faculty Senate and the Student Affairs Committee in March. Input from graduate students regarding the issue is welcome and should be directed to Francis as early as possible.

Director of ND Security Rex Rakow attended the meeting to clear up any confusion GSU members had about ND Security’s policies and procedures regarding acquaintance rape.

Questions and concerns were raised by members about differentiations made by security between attack rape and acquaintance rape and the definition of an attack victim’s rights to confidentiality concerning such crimes.

According to Rakow, the current guideline Security follows is not divided only between attack rape because it poses “an immediate threat to the public.”

Rakow admitted that greater
OTHER INPUT ON RENOVATIONS BADLY NEEDED

Although the proposed renovation of Church of Loreto at Saint Mary's College has apparently only received support from members of the Renovation Committee, the parties involved intend to continue with the delovery as scheduled.

The proposed renovation raises a number of questions. First, if the committee did not think that the students would care about the renovation, as Sister Mary Turgi, chairwoman of the Renovation Committee, has stated (Observer, Feb. 11, 1993) then they must surely have discussed student reaction to the changes. Yet as the current situation indicates, the committee decided that the students do not matter.

This is strange, especially at an all-women's college with a widely-publicized problem of declining enrollment. At a time when students are losing interest in attending Saint Mary's, to snub the current student body—as well as the vast majority of the Sisters of the Holy Cross—is institutional suicide.

Secondly, members of the committee have stated that the changes are necessary to correct the "theatrical" atmosphere of the church. The plans call for moving the pews into a circle so that churchgoers focus on the fact that they are a worshipping community. This is justified, since what they are supposedly worshipping (i.e. God and specifically the Sisters) have been left out of the picture. It seems that the focus of placing the pews into a circle is to achieve a sort of self-imposed anonymity. The focus of the liturgy becomes egocentric, with churchgoers contemplating each other, those who were so good as to come to church. The issue of removal of the "painful" glass supports the egocentric hypothesis, for the stained glass windows depict Mary at various stages in her life.

The stained glass windows are remnants of the original church built in 1885. They are didactic, aesthetically they were works which inspire prayer and reflection in addition to keeping the wind out. Yet they are to be replaced with clear glass.

The comments made by Turgi and others of the committee and certain members of the Sisters of the Holy Cross are pursuing private political agendas. As an IUSB student who has discussed student reaction to the changes, the students would care about the renovation. As Sister Mary Turgi, chairwoman of the Renovation Committee, has stated (Observer, Dec. 3, 1991), the renovations would constitute a destruction of art.

Worst of all, Turgi and other related nuns may be pursuing their agenda by intimidation, as several older members of the Sisters of the Holy Cross would only speak under condition of anonymity.

Write or call Sister Mary Turgi or Sister Mary Ellen Vaughan. Write to Mr. Publicity manager of the Holy Cross, chairwoman of Saint Mary's College—and let him know your feelings.

Although the college reportedly does not own the church, the residents at the college are visibly angered by Turgi's plans. The nuns, who have been known to use short-circuited attempts by the college to improve security, will look very suspicious indeed if they again snub the college.

The views are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Riley, Rock to take new positions

By DAVID KINNEY
Associate News Editor

Rich Riley has been named business manager, and John Rock will take the position of managing editor of The Observer for the 1992-93 academic year, Monica Yant, editor-in-chief elect, announced Wednesday.

Riley, who will succeed senior Gil Gomez, is a junior business administration major from Erie, Penn. He has served as design editor at The Observer since Jan. 1991. He also held the position of assistant production manager between January and May 1991.

"It was an excellent group of applicants, and I am honored to be selected," said Riley. "I look forward to working with Monica, John and the rest of next year's board, who I think, by the looks of the applicant pool, will provide great leadership for The Observer."

The business manager oversees the budget of the newspaper and is responsible for the operations board.

Rock, a sophomore from Sturgis, Mich., has held the positions of assistant photography editor and photographer at The Observer. He will succeed current Managing Editor Lisa Eaton.

"I look forward to working with Monica (Yant) and the editorial board to make The Observer even better this coming year," he said. "We're going to work hard to provide the best collegiate paper."

Both students will take over after mid-semester break.

---

You're Invited to Britton's Balloons, Cards, Gifts & Antiques

Edison Plaza, 1627 Edison (Adjacent to Jamison Inn)

Clip this coupon and bring it in for a 20% discount on your purchases. Good thru February, 1992

Featuring Recycled Paper Cards & Gifts, Blue Mountain Arts Cards & Gifts, Far Side & Saturday Night Live Cards & Gifts, Stuffed Animals, Victorian Prints, Jewelry, and Balloon Bouquet Specials

 Convenient Easy Shopping

Britton Knowles, Owner (219) 271-2001

---

Law professor joins effort to get Buchanan elected

By MEGAN JUNIUS
News Writer

ND Law Professor Charles Rice has recently been appointed Third Congressional District coordinator of the petition drive to place Pat Buchanan on the Republican presidential primary ballot, according to Bill Ball, Indiana State Coordinator for Buchanan's campaign.

According to Rice, he has volunteered to gather 500 signatures from the Third Congressional District in support of Pat Buchanan's nomination to the Republican presidential primary ballot.

"Signatures on the petition do not directly endorse Buchanan in the primary. They are approving Buchanan's name on the ballot," Rice said.

"Pat Buchanan's nomination would allow a chance for a healthy condition for a clashing of views," he said.

---

Bush continued from page 1 continued, "and here's what we will do: Together we'll get our economy up and running at full speed."

"We'll restore decency to the American way of life. We will silence the voices of hatred and gloom."
Research

continued from page 1

teaching university without research," according to Scully.
"but it is possible to be a research university without

"Nichols agreed: "Would I devote more time to teaching without research? Yes. Would I be a better teacher? No."
The four faculty representatives as well as Stohr also agreed that the administration is dedicated to making improvements in undergraduate education. According to Scully,
University Provost Timothy
O'Meara prefers to bring new intellectuals into the Notre Dame community. "But I think we could reallocate certain internal uses of resources," he added.

GSU

continued from page 1

strides in research and development need to be made re-

The GSU Women's Resource
Committee has planned a variety of events regarding women's issues for the week of March 22.
The film "Killing Me Softly" about women's portrayal in the media will be shown March 22. The film
"Taselmusik," airs from 5-7
p.m. weekdays. The Observer
neglects the error.

Also in Wednesday's Observer,
the quarters are for Iceberg
Debates. Debates are incorrectly listed.
They will be at 9 p.m. Feb. 18
in the affirmative residence
bails.

This ain't no disco

Sophomores Courtney McGovern, Molly Crowe, Beth Howells, Jemma Haar and Kirsten Kearse (left to right) use an unusual instrument to create a unique sound as they write a new song for their band
Sic-Joe.

Correction

A photo in Wednesday's Observer incorrectly placed Dan Sheridan at WVFI instead of WSNY. The show, "Taselmusik," airs from 5-7 p.m. weekdays. The Observer
neglects the error.

Also in Wednesday's Observer,
the quarters are for Iceberg
Debates. Debates are incorrectly listed.
They will be at 9 p.m. Feb. 18
in the affirmative residence
bails.

Why settle for a patty
when you can have a ball.

The 6" Meatball Sub Only

$1.69

Subway®

Drop & go

Super Saver prices on Roses

Balloons, Balloons Stuffing, Plants,

Fresh Flowers, Plush Animals, Gift Baskets

Clocktower Square

51400 St. Mary's at 30th

South Bend, IN 46637

Phone answered 24 hrs.

Why settle for a patty
when you can have a ball.

The 6" Meatball Sub Only

$1.69

Subway®

Drop & go

Super Saver prices on Roses

Balloons, Balloons Stuffing, Plants,

Fresh Flowers, Plush Animals, Gift Baskets

Clocktower Square

51400 St. Mary's at 30th

South Bend, IN 46637

Phone answered 24 hrs.
Bush to respond to ozone crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush, in an election-year environmental turnabout, will speed up the elimination of industrial chemicals that are depleting the Earth's protective ozone layer.

Bush said Tuesday he will order U.S. makers of ozone-depleting chemicals, mainly chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs), to stop production by the end of 1995, a few exceptions. That would be five years ahead of a timetable that has been laid out in an international treaty.

Bush's action followed the release last week of a new study showing the ozone layer is depleting the Earth's protective sphere helps shield the Earth from destructive ultraviolet radiation.

Scientists fear an increase in skin cancers and other health problems if the ozone layer is depleted. The administration previously had resisted environmentalists' demands that it phase out CFCs ahead of the 2000 target agreed upon in an international treaty called the Montreal Protocol. However, Bush on Tuesday called on other nations to follow his lead on the speedup.

Sen. Al Gore, D-Tenn., author of a Senate amendment that last week passed by a 96-0 vote and called for a faster phase-out, said Bush's decision was welcome, "but still inadequate." He said Bush waited too long to act.

"It took an ozone hold over Kennebunkport to get his attention, but he is finally recognizing an urgent problem that needs immediate response," Gore said.

The White House announcement — on the eve of Bush's formal declaration of candidacy for re-election — brought approving notices from environmentalists. But they pressed for even swifter action.

Most of the destructive chemicals come from releases of halons and industrial CFCs, which are commonly used in refrigerants, from manufacturing and cleaning agents.

Ozone in the upper atmosphere helps shield the Earth from destructive ultraviolet radiation. Scientists fear an increase in skin cancers and other health problems if the ozone layer is depleted.

The administration previously had resisted environmentalists' orders for re-election - brought approving notices from environmentalists. But they pressed for even swifter action.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new generation gap is forming in the Northeast between people whose childhood memories are hip deep in snow and children who have rarely seen snow deep enough to roll into a snowman.

After eight years of snowfalls that have been well below normal, New York City has had only 2.2 inches of snow midway through this winter. That compares with the usual 17 inches by this time in February, and it is less than a tenth of the city's average of 23.3 inches a season.

In Connecticut, the National Weather Service has recorded only 9.5 inches in Windsor locks, where the season's average is 47.9, and in Albany only 19.4 inches has fallen, less than a third of the average winter's 66.

The unusually dry winter is bad news for children with sleds, hardware stores with racks of snowboards, and truck owners with new plows. It has been good news for schools, many of which have avoided closing for even a single snow day, and for hard-pressed government agencies, which stand to save millions of dollars on overtime, salt and sand.

If it doesn't snow, meteorologists caution not only that it may, indeed, yet snow, but also that snow, after all, is what people remember about winters. Heavy snows are rare in this region south of the snow belt, but a single blizzard roars forever in the human memory.

"Snow is a strange statistic, because it has a high degree of variability from year to year," said Fred Gadomski, a meteorologist at the Penn State Weather Communications Group, a part of Penn State University. "Such a period of below-normal snow is not unprecedented."

Between the mid-50s and the late 70s, "there was a winter substantially below normal. That 20-year periods may have cemented impressions of a climate of more consistent snowfall than has been the rule," he said.

So people remember 1978, when back-to-back blizzards paralysed the Northeast, dropping 31.3 inches of snow on Central Park. The winter of 1972-73, when the weather service said New York City had a record low snowfall of 2.8 inches, is less vivid.

"My deepest snow?" 12-year-old Eddie Shawler of Danbury, Conn., said yesterday as he prepared for a day of skiing at Mount Southington in central Connecticut. "Maybe two inches."

"A foot and a half," said his friend, Jay Shiffler, now 18 years older. With a little prod¬ding from his mother, Joy, he could name the year: 1977.

Most of the northeastern United States is short of snow this winter. The reason, said Robert Staker, a meteorologist at the National Weather Service in Rockefeller Center, is that the brief burst of cold air blown into the region by the jet stream have not hit moist low-pressure systems.

ORDER EARLY AND WIN A GIANT TEDDY BEAR FOR THAT SPECIAL SOMEONE

Remember Your Valentine!

TUXEDO DELIVERY WITH ALL ORDERS

SEND THE BIGGEST AND BEST-EVERLASTING LOVE $35.99

A HUGE 6 FOOT BOUQUET WITH SEVEN JUMBO BALLOONS ATTACHED TO A CUDDLY BEAR

10 OTHER SPECIAL DELIVERIES AVAILABLE

BALLOON WORKS

234-1431

ORDER EARLY AND WIN A GIANT TEDDY BEAR FOR THAT SPECIAL SOMEONE

Remember Your Valentine!

TUXEDO DELIVERY WITH ALL ORDERS

SEND THE BIGGEST AND BEST-EVERLASTING LOVE $35.99

A HUGE 6 FOOT BOUQUET WITH SEVEN JUMBO BALLOONS ATTACHED TO A CUDDLY BEAR

10 OTHER SPECIAL DELIVERIES AVAILABLE

BALLOON WORKS

234-1431

ORDER EARLY AND WIN A GIANT TEDDY BEAR FOR THAT SPECIAL SOMEONE

Remember Your Valentine!

TUXEDO DELIVERY WITH ALL ORDERS

SEND THE BIGGEST AND BEST-EVERLASTING LOVE $35.99

A HUGE 6 FOOT BOUQUET WITH SEVEN JUMBO BALLOONS ATTACHED TO A CUDDLY BEAR

10 OTHER SPECIAL DELIVERIES AVAILABLE

BALLOON WORKS

234-1431

ORDER EARLY AND WIN A GIANT TEDDY BEAR FOR THAT SPECIAL SOMEONE

Remember Your Valentine!

TUXEDO DELIVERY WITH ALL ORDERS

SEND THE BIGGEST AND BEST-EVERLASTING LOVE $35.99

A HUGE 6 FOOT BOUQUET WITH SEVEN JUMBO BALLOONS ATTACHED TO A CUDDLY BEAR

10 OTHER SPECIAL DELIVERIES AVAILABLE

BALLOON WORKS

234-1431

ORDER EARLY AND WIN A GIANT TEDDY BEAR FOR THAT SPECIAL SOMEONE

Remember Your Valentine!

TUXEDO DELIVERY WITH ALL ORDERS

SEND THE BIGGEST AND BEST-EVERLASTING LOVE $35.99

A HUGE 6 FOOT BOUQUET WITH SEVEN JUMBO BALLOONS ATTACHED TO A CUDDLY BEAR

10 OTHER SPECIAL DELIVERIES AVAILABLE

BALLOON WORKS

234-1431
Many students are broadening the scope of their job searches in response to the recession. Arnold said. For instance, Brunner said that while most students are focusing on accounting jobs, he is now looking into law and public policy. “A larger number of graduates are accepting jobs that don’t require a college degree,” he said. “I think they are giving up there hopes and dreams these days than in the past.”

Financial aid offices force some graduates to take any job that they can get. “For instance, most student loan repayments begin six to nine months after graduation, placing added pressure on some students,” said Assistant Loan Officer Sue McComb.

Although over 98% of Notre Dame graduates repay their loans on time, Metcorm said that she still worries, “It frightens me every year when I meet with my banks and look at how much they owe or who their loans are from,” she said. The average indebtedness for Notre Dame students with Stafford loans is $5,500 and for Grad Plus loans with Lamper, loan coordinator. Average monthly payments on these loans would be $105, said McComb.

The Financial Aid Office will inform students via a second letter that they face worst job market in years.

By ANDREW RUNKLE

In the face of Congressional legislation, a debate is raging in the collegiate financial aid community over the method of distributing student aid through loans, according to Joseph Russo, Notre Dame director of financial aid.

The basic issue of debate is whether to implement a new direct loan program or adjust the current guaranteed student loan program. The latter is the Income-Dependent Education Act (IDEA) program, which provides the components of a direct loan program.

The new direct loan program would provide simpler, more flexible private and public student aid through loans, according to Russo, Notre Dame director of financial aid.

The government would raise the capital for the program by selling bonds, he said.

The government would be responsible for student aid, with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) collecting the student loan payments as part of the student’s income tax. The rate of student loan repayment would be based on income after graduation and deducted from paychecks according to a calculated formula.

An extension of the current legislation will expire on September 30, by which time reauthorization of the Higher Education Act of 1965 should have occurred.

Russo supports improvements; a greater concentration on the more fundamental questions of delivery and integrity, he said. “The financial aid administrators were also in agreement that the heavy debt burden, the need for diversity, and the need for integrity were the biggest issues.”

The House Education and Labor Committee on Thursday on IDEA. The IDEA proposal was authored by Congresswoman Petri (B-Wisc.) by Senator Paul Simon (D-Il.) and Senator Dave Durenberger (R-Minn.).

IDEA would make available $2,000 of loans for most college and graduate-level students and up to $143,000 for medical students. Under this proposal, upon graduation, students would repay the loans based on their income. Those with higher post-graduation incomes would be expected to repay with slightly higher interest rates and faster than others.

IDEA loan payments would be collected by the IRS as part of the individual’s income tax. According to Petri, most students would repay the loans within 10-15 years and individuals would not be responsible to repay loans left to 25 years. Petri identifies three sources of savings in the IDEA program, which are currently under debate. First, the program would have virtually no new revenue. Second, the program would have to rely on accumulated funds generated on income, there would be no reason to default. Further, IDEA repayments are defined as income taxes. Exposing repayment would be tax evasion. So there would be no opportunity to default,” he said.

Second, the cost of loan capital and administrative costs of the program would be less than the current program would use direct government capital rather than bank capital. The current guaranteed student loan programs, comes with a politically- negotiated interest rate and fee according to Petri. Finally, Petri believes the program would be much simpler to administer with a collection by the IRS of the loan and standardization (of student loans currently underway and standing on top of a whole new set of banking regulations,” Russo added.

Russo has certain concerns about the proposed direct loan program. According to Russo, the record of the federal government in administering student aid in an efficient and accurate manner, leaves much to be desired. The U.S. Department of Education is responsible for the student aid division and has a legal obligation to administer the IDEA program.

Russo also fears that many new regulations would fall on the schools, which most financial aid offices would not have the ability to deal with. “I don’t think becoming, each institution would have to develop systems and staying on top of a whole new set of banking regulations,” Russo added.

Russo also fears that many new regulations would be imposed on the schools, which most financial aid offices would have to deal with. “I don’t think becoming, each institution would have to develop systems and staying on top of a whole new set of banking regulations,” Russo added.

Russo has certain concerns about the proposed direct loan program. According to Russo, the record of the federal government in administering student aid in an efficient and accurate manner, leaves much to be desired. The U.S. Department of Education is responsible for the student aid division and has a legal obligation to administer the IDEA program.

Russo is also concerned that the current guaranteed student loan program is “on hold” and that a complete program or a new program which would be unnecessary. “We are going to lose some features of the proposed program (e.g., electronic funds transfer (EFT) systems) that are currently achievable and, in some cases, already in use,” he said.
Dear Editor:

On Thursday, Feb. 6, 1992, The Observer published an article that infuriated me. The article concerned the actions of Father George Rozum, rector of Alumni Hall. Father George removed the campaign posters of the Delevan/Wilson ticket because he felt the posters were in anyway relevant to the candidates. It is totally irrelevant whether he agrees or disagrees with the candidates, posters were in place of an election for the students, and the students have the right to hear the opinions of others. I do not understand how Father George appointed himself official censor for Alumni Hall?

This is all so very disheartening. I feel this display of closed-mindedness by Father George typifies the attitudes of the Notre Dame Administration. A university is a place for minds to exchange and explore the ideas and opinions of others in an open environment. Unfortunately, it seems the administration does not feel as I do in this regard for what is best for their students.

John Anthony Amelio
Alumni Hall
Feb. 10, 1992

Rape combaters not necessarily ‘victims’

Dear Editor:

In regards to student body presidential candidate Richard Delevan’s remarks concerning C.A.R.E. in an interview in the most recent issue of Scholastic, we, as members of C.A.R.E. wish to correct a mistake. In the printed interview Richard Delevan states that he had spoken with a “victim” at our presentation in Flanner Hall.

However, he did not speak to the identified victim. At no moment during our presentation would we identify ourselves as victims. Because we are aware of the damaging misconception that all those who work to combat rape have been raped themselves, we wish to clarify that we operate as a group of concerned men and women who have been well-trained to educate our peers about rape.

Shelia Buckman
Claire Konopa
Margaret Roper
Missy Sherman
R.G. Starman
Nora Whalen
Jenny Witt
C.A.R.E.
Feb. 9, 1992

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rector abused power by censoring election posters

Dear Editor:

The last two years I’ve been working at the pregnancy help center located three blocks west of the C.C. and adjacent to St. Joseph County’s only abortion clinic. Every year about 200 babies are killed in this clinic. One or two a day we see people at the entrance of the abortion clinic trying to persuade mothers out of aborting their babies.

During the school year I also see some Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame students and then do this “sidewalk counseling.” Compared to other cities with abortion clinics and the proximity to Notre Dame the number of people trying to be a voice for the unborn is surprisingly small.

I do not know why more students are not more concerned that 35 babies a week are being slaughtered at their doorsteps.

Students must defend ‘slaughtered’ babies

Dear Editor:

For surely the Notre Dame community can and does respond to tragedy as witnessed by the outpouring of compassion which occurred subsequent to the deaths of Margaret Beeler and Colleen Higg. Is there not also a need for an outpouring of compassion on behalf of these preborn children?

While the Old Testament repeatedly warns us of God’s anger against those who do nothing about preventing innocent blood from being shed with impunity, Jesus’ words are possibly much more threatening: “I tell you the truth, whatever you did not do for one of the least of these, you did not do for me.” Then they will go away to eternal punishment but the righteous to eternal life.

Peter Holland
Class of ’78
Jan. 29, 1992

Student Activities for posting

Dear Editor:

Father George has committed a total abuse of his authoritative power. He had no right to remove the posters from the walls of Alumni Hall. It is totally irrelevant whether he agrees or disagrees with the Delevan/Wilson posters, because this election is for the students, not for Father George. Through his actions, he has defeated the entire purpose of an election. An election is an open forum for the candidates and the voters to discuss and exchange ideas, but this process cannot be fully realized when certain ideas are unjustly being withheld from the voters.

In an election process, the voters have the right to hear and read all ideas and platforms put forth by the candidates. Conversely, candidates in the election process have the right to express all their opinions no matter what they may be.

Father George’s actions have violated the rights of the candidates and the students. This is an election for the students, and the students will decide which ticket is worthiest, but a fair and complete judgement cannot be made without access to all the information. I do not understand how Father George appointed himself official censor for Alumni Hall?

This is all so very disheartening. I feel this display of closed-mindedness by Father George typifies the attitudes of the Notre Dame Administration. A university is a place for minds to exchange and explore the ideas and opinions of others in an open environment. Unfortunately, it seems the administration does not feel as I do in this regard for what is best for their students.

John Anthony Amelio
Alumni Hall
Feb. 10, 1992
Editorial: We would like to suggest a move which would benefit the University and, simultaneously, improve student life. We propose that, rather than becoming a few football games, math turned into a chemical-free, co-educational dormitory. This novel concept would not only address student wants, but also provide students with the opportunity to show the University that we are responsibly handling the administration's misgivings on the issue are unfounded.

Why should we propose this? Simply put, the polls taken and released by campus publications show that an overwhelming majority of students favor co-educational housing. It is necessary to repeat the arguments here at Notre Dame. This proposal would not only address student wants, but also provide students with a unique opportunity to act on what has been discussed for years.

Previously, the unwillingness to convert one's own dorm was most often cited as the single greatest obstacle to co-ed living at Notre Dame. But now, with the support of Pangborn, the administration has removed this barrier. None of the students living in residence at Pangborn, the administration has removed this barrier. None of the students living in residence at Pangborn next year, so no one will lose a dorm. The proposal is perfect for the conversion to co-ed housing.

Why a chemical-free dorm? In order for the student body to even get the attention of the administration and University on this issue, we must, in the preliminary stages of discussion, show that we are willing to make concessions. With the recent talks in Grace Hall about a chemical-free section, we feel that a voluntarily chemical-free dorm would be a great way to show those in power that those living in the co-ed quarters are responsible individuals, willing to be held accountable for their actions and serious about their commitment to co-educational housing.

We are certain that many of the misgivings about co-educational housing (acquaintance rape, generalrowdiness), since they are alcohol-related, will prove unfounded were the proposed conversion to take place. Who would be eligible for such a dorm? Anyone willing to live in close proximity to members of the opposite sex, and at the same time agree to keep the dorm chemical-free (no alcohol or drugs to be consumed or possessed inside the dorm and not returning to the dorm intoxicated).

By failing to mention these simple pieces of the story, the implication in the American press is generic that the death of the first constable was the doing of the IRA and the IRA is responsible for his death. What was the situation? So the conclusion that an individual then appears to be part of the ongoing fighting that seems hopelessly irreparable.

The way in which we get our news, the way in which we understand the situation in Northern Ireland. Most of our sources are directly involved in the fighting. The IRA (or the Londonderry IRA) is known to be involved. The news we hear tell us little, if anything, about the people in the situation. We may be encouraged to know that the IRA is killing Republicans or Catholics when in fact it was the Loyalist forces that were actually acting. This was the case in the recent murder of a constable shot by the UVF.

Again, an accurate understanding of the situation and the view presented is that the IRA are just engaging in more mindless violence. More generally, a greater knowledge of the sides and their positions is needed. These are just two simple examples in which events are constructed by our press. When this happens repeatedly, as it does in fact, the actuality is obscured. For instance, 44 million plus Irish-Americans are prevented from understanding the complex nature of this is thereby prevented from being resolved. It should be explicitly noted that I do not insist that the IRA don't share their violence. Only that there are many more issues this than our news leads us to believe.

Dear Editor:

In the last month or two there has been a lot of interest concerning Northern Ireland and this show of interest is not surprising. The gathering of Irish-Americans here at Notre Dame, while not unexpected, is frustrating because of a complete lack of attention to the situation in Northern Ireland by the American press. Recently visited Ireland and found that it has increased significantly.

Despite this, no illumination of the situation by the American press has been given by the U.S. media.

Almost no direct coverage of these events by American journalists occurs with most media coverage coming from the British press. What has developed in the U.S. is a lack of interest in the North and the general feeling that nothing is really being done. The situation in Northern Ireland is complex and the U.S. media is not only prevented from understanding it, they are prevented from understanding it.

The views expressed by the American press are generally a greater knowledge of the sides and their positions is needed. These are just two simple examples in which events are constructed by our press. When this happens repeatedly, as it does in fact, the actuality is obscured. For instance, 44 million plus Irish-Americans are prevented from understanding the complex nature of the troubles.

Dear Editor:

I've only been to one Notre Dame basketball game (well, I did watch a girls game for a few minutes, but I won't count that). That lone game was our loss to U.C. Riverside in the Cross Meadowlands. I don't intend to go to another game either. Does that mean I'm not a Notre Dame student? The plain fact is, I don't like to watch basketball that much. Why should I shell out big bucks to go to games I don't enjoy?

Do you have a good game to win? Yes. Do you realize that it's a lot of hard work to play basketball? Yes. Do the players deserve fan support? Of course they do, but certainly more than any players past, present, or the women's golf team.

I've been reading these stupid letters for what seems like weeks about how our fan support stinks. About how it used to be so great and now it's not. And especially about how, apparently, there are these folks that attend every game and cheer their hearts out for their beloved team (in a transitional period of course). When their team loses they get all bent out of shape. They're the type of person that think Pangborn, the administration has removed this barrier. None of the students living in residence at Pangborn next year, so no one will lose a dorm. The proposal is perfect for the conversion to co-ed housing.

Why a chemical-free dorm? In order for the student body to even get the attention of the administration and University on this issue, we must, in the preliminary stages of discussion, show that we are willing to make concessions. With the recent talks in Grace Hall about a chemical-free section, we feel that a voluntarily chemical-free dorm would be a great way to show those in power that those living in the co-ed quarters are responsible individuals, willing to be held accountable for their actions and serious about their commitment to co-educational housing.

The situation in Northern Ireland is complex and the U.S. media is not only prevented from understanding it, they are prevented from understanding it.

The views expressed by the American press are generally a greater knowledge of the sides and their positions is needed. These are just two simple examples in which events are constructed by our press. When this happens repeatedly, as it does in fact, the actuality is obscured. For instance, 44 million plus Irish-Americans are prevented from understanding the complex nature of the troubles.

Dear Editor:

Our athletic department could make the situation in Northern Ireland a lot better. By increasing attendance at our games it would create a larger market for the team, which would make it easier for the Irish to come to Notre Dame for a game. The athletic department could also increase the amount of money we receive from our games.

Many of the students who attend our games are those who have been to Ireland or want to go. By increasing attendance at our games it would create a larger market for the team, which would make it easier for the Irish to come to Notre Dame for a game. The athletic department could also increase the amount of money we receive from our games.

Dear Editor:

Avoiding sports events does not constitute a crime.

American coverage of Northern Ireland lacks illumination.

Dear Editor:

I've only been to one Notre Dame basketball game (well, I did watch a girls game for a few minutes, but I won't count that). That lone game was our loss to U.C. Riverside in the Cross Meadowlands. I don't intend to go to another game either. Does that mean I'm not a Notre Dame student? The plain fact is, I don't like to watch basketball that much. Why should I shell out big bucks to go to games I don't enjoy?

Do you have a good game to win? Yes. Do you realize that it's a lot of hard work to play basketball? Yes. Do the players deserve fan support? Of course they do, but certainly more than any players past, present, or the women's golf team.

I've been reading these stupid letters for what seems like weeks about how our fan support stinks. About how it used to be so great and now it's not. And especially about how, apparently, there are these folks that attend every game and cheer their hearts out for their beloved team (in a transitional period of course). When their team loses they get all bent out of shape. They're the type of person that think Pangborn, the administration has removed this barrier. None of the students living in residence at Pangborn next year, so no one will lose a dorm. The proposal is perfect for the conversion to co-ed housing.

Why a chemical-free dorm? In order for the student body to even get the attention of the administration and University on this issue, we must, in the preliminary stages of discussion, show that we are willing to make concessions. With the recent talks in Grace Hall about a chemical-free section, we feel that a voluntarily chemical-free dorm would be a great way to show those in power that those living in the co-ed quarters are responsible individuals, willing to be held accountable for their actions and serious about their commitment to co-educational housing.

The situation in Northern Ireland is complex and the U.S. media is not only prevented from understanding it, they are prevented from understanding it.

The views expressed by the American press are generally a greater knowledge of the sides and their positions is needed. These are just two simple examples in which events are constructed by our press. When this happens repeatedly, as it does in fact, the actuality is obscured. For instance, 44 million plus Irish-Americans are prevented from understanding the complex nature of the troubles.

Dear Editor:

My name is James Gannon and I am writing to you as the President of the Student Association. The Student Association is the governing body of the student government at the University of Notre Dame. This body is comprised of the five senators from each house who are elected by the students to represent the student body. The Student Association acts as a liaison between the students and the administration of the University.

The Student Association passed a resolution on February 1, 1992, expressing support for the efforts of Sinn Fein in the ongoing effort to resolve the conflict in Northern Ireland. This resolution was passed unanimously by the Senate and has been presented to the University administration with the hope that they will take action on this issue.

The resolution states the following: "The Student Association of the University of Notre Dame expresses its support for Sinn Fein in its efforts to achieve a peaceful resolution to the conflict in Northern Ireland. We believe that Sinn Fein represents the interests of the Irish people and that its efforts should be encouraged by the University administration." This resolution was presented to the University administration in hopes that they will take action on this issue.

The Student Association is committed to the principle of non-violence and we support the efforts of Sinn Fein to achieve a peaceful resolution to the conflict in Northern Ireland. We believe that Sinn Fein represents the interests of the Irish people and that its efforts should be encouraged by the University administration.

John Daly
James Gannon
Pangborn Hall
Feb. 8, 1992
Fourth-year architecture student Fawaz Halazon studies a sketch of Venice displayed at the 1992 Expo Roma.

Expo Roma

A Search for Perspective

Annual exhibit showcases work created by architecture students while in Rome

By JAHNELLE HARRIGAN

Assistant Accent Editor

The history and tradition of Rome is coming to Notre Dame in a way unlike any standard textbook. Expo Roma, an exhibit of student work from the 1990-91 Rome Studies Program, is being presented Feb. 14-22 by current fourth-year architecture students who spent the last year studying in Rome.

The exhibit, located in the lobby of the Architecture Building, presents work such as watercolors, sketches, photographs, and design projects completed by students during their year in Rome.

"These fragments of a year of study in Rome are woven together by a common outlook of exploration and discovery," according to the exhibit's literature.

Expo Roma begins with an opening reception on Friday, Feb. 14 at 7 p.m. and concludes on Saturday, Feb. 22 at 1 p.m. with a reception to familiarize area architectural firms with the work by Notre Dame students.

"We want to open our doors and have people come in," said Laucirica.

"It's an incredible experience (studying in Rome)," fourth-year student Stephen Laucirica said. "We want to demonstrate to the whole school what we've done."

"Studying for a year in Rome was very experiential," according to Kasman and Laucirica. "It definitely broadened our horizons," agreed Expo Roma co-chairman John Vandevelde. "We were able to see everything we see in books and slides firsthand."

"It brought architecture alive," Laucirica said.

The Rome Program of Architectural Studies originated in the fall of 1969, under chairman Frank Montana. In 1982, a Chicago design focus began for the fourth year of studies.

Together these programs give students the opportunity to study the urban architecture of Europe, specifically Rome, in addition to today's American architecture of Chicago.

More than 100 displays are included in this year's Expo Roma, with various amounts of work-time being devoted to each by students. While a sketch may take only an hour to complete, "it takes months to develop ideas," Vandevelde said.

Expo Roma begins with an opening reception on Friday, Feb. 14 at 7 p.m. and concludes on Saturday, Feb. 22 at 1 p.m. with a reception to familiarize area architectural firms with the work by Notre Dame students.

"We want to open our doors and have people come in," said Laucirica.
South Bend Chamber Singers to perform solo recital at Saint Mary's on Valentine's Day

By ERIN BROWN
Accent Writer

The South Bend Chamber Singers is a local group of performers who are bringing their talent to Saint Mary's on Valentine's Day.

The theme? Love, of course. The choir will be performing a solo recital at Haggar College Center Friday evening. Although there will be up to 20 members in the group, only a select eight or nine will perform.

According to director Nancy Menk, these semi-professional singers will entertain their audience with light-hearted music to keep the Valentine's Day theme of love. The vocalists will perform selections by Gershwin, Rodgers, and Lloyd Webber, to name a few.

"Although many people may not be familiar with the Chamber Singers, the members aren't all strangers. In fact, two of the singers are Notre Dame professors. Philosophy professor Kenneth Sayre, a baritone, and physics profes­ sor, Steve Lundeen, a tenor, will be doing some out-of-the-classroom performing on Friday."

The choir was founded in 1989 by Menk, who is also the associate professor of music at Saint Mary's. Menk has been the director of choral studies at Saint Mary's since 1984. This Pennsylvania native has learned and written much on the subject of women's choir literature.

According to Menk, she founded the choir because she saw much local talent, but few opportunities to express it. The 28 male and female members range in age from their 20s to their 60s. Menk says that the singers are an extremely musical group, and very intelligent. They are a lot of fun to work with," she added.

According to Menk, the choir doesn't have many plans other than to "continue with the regular concert season." But, according to her, with the high caliber of talent and performances, that will not be a problem.

The choir singers will perform their Valentine's Day show this Friday at 8 p.m. at the Haggar College Center Par­lor at Saint Mary's.
NOTICES

USED TEXTBOOKS! Books from Business, Economics, Accounting, Calculus, Science, Art, Law, and Ethics during Fall Exam week. Inquire at Lost and Found in Heilbut library.

LOST/GOLD RING IN THE HUDDLE. PLEASE CALL CLAUDINE IN DELI AT 239-5044.

LOST: Fur of frame-hair, frame-sunglasses—I can't see without them. Please call x4980.

LOST: Black Sharp calculator in Library auditorium on 3/7. Call x1867.

LOST: FRESHWATER PEARL & GOLD BEAD BRACELET ON 3/7. CALL ANNE 234-1752.

LOST: LADY'S BAND AROUND FINGER. FOUND ON 3/7. LOOTER. WE WILL PAY REWARD. CALL KATHY W. 62950 IF FOUND. REWARD PENDING!

LOST ONE GOLD FIGURINE HEART BRACLET OF GREAT SENTIMENTAL VALUE. IF FOUND, PLEASE CALL KATHY W. 62950 IF FOUND. QUESTIONS ASKED REWARD PENDING!

FOUND: Gold Ring in Sheldon on 2/9/92. Call Manore at x1747.

REWARD REWARD! REWARD! REWARD! Lost. Gold chain with half football pendant between SDH and JAC. VERY SENTIMENTAL!!!!!! Call Ryan x1314.

LOST! AT THE SOPHOMORE FORMAT. BLACK SWEATER COAT with the name Daggyl on the running. Please call Batby at 284-4107.

LOST: 28 Blue NE ID pouch with Fuschia/Blue, green, and keys. If found, please call Lynn x1260.

Men's glasses at white Howard parry on 12/5 - Bevo x2558.

LOST: 4 KEYS ON A SMC BOTTLE OPENER KEYCHAIN SONGWRITER BETWEEN 8TH, EDIS AND LEMANS HALL. WANTED

Thursday, February 13, 1992

Classifieds

Used Textbooks

Pandora's Books
Buy & Sell

Thursday, February 13, 1992

Trail Room for Todd
CLAUDINE IN DELI

Thursday, February 13, 1992

them!!
Inquire at Lost and Found
LOST

Men's glasses at wild Howard

LOST: IRISH GOLD RING IN GOLD

CALL KATARA

LOST ONE GOLD FILIGREE
LINK

FOR SALE

BEAD BRACELET
AND

BEAD BRACELET

ATTENTION. We don't want to hear complaints of how terrible we are or how we could be a better band. So, why not call the number (x4066) and tell your friends to attend? We're looking for more people to make this band great.

LOST: LADY'S BEAD BRACELET

DO YOU NEED A ROSE TO

ORHETT CALL UNTIMELY.
UNREST

FROM 12 NOON TILL 7 P.M.

DON'T FORGET TO

TO ORDER A

LOST/FOUND

Love, Peter

Hey Blues:
GET $100 GO! OFF CAMPUS!!
If you want to spend money, give it to us instead of buying personals.

LEAVE US ALONE:
The Project

To the taller ROB from this Tuesday's classifieds—
We don't have a race, but we are equally brilliant and a bulb.

Grand Opening

Mo' Better
1760 South Bend Ave.
South Bend, IN 219-271-7416
Mo' Better-Tips-Chicken
And Much More

Carry-out Delivery
Available
10 mile radius.
$7 for a task of Mo' Better $2.50 Plus Believe in the power of this ad!

"The Grand Opening"

Mo' Better
1760 South Bend Ave.
South Bend, IN 219-271-7416
Mo' Better-Tips-Chicken
And Much More

Carry-out Delivery
Available
10 mile radius.
$7 for a task of Mo' Better $2.50 Plus Believe in the power of this ad!
Schmidt wins strength and conditioning coach award

BY DAN PIER

Sports Writer

The finely sculpted physiques of Notre Dame athletes are very recognizable on campus. The man who helps make them that way, Jerry Schmidt, was honored last week as the premiere strength and conditioning coach in the college for Notre Dame. He oversees the strength program for Notre Dame athletes. His responsibilities require a lot of hard work and expertise, but Schmidt is quick to credit others for the success of his program.

"The athletes really want to get better here [at Notre Dame]," said Schmidt. "They come in here and work hard every day, even though it's not fun. Without their hard work my program wouldn't be where it's at.

Schmidt does the bulk of his work with the football team, and he cites head coach Lou Holtz as well as the athletes. "I could have the best program in the world, but if I don't have the support of the head coach, it won't work," Schmidt explained. "Coach Holtz really supports the program. He has also taught me a lot in the area of coaching, motivation, and handling athletes."

Schmidt says he became interested in strength and conditioning in high school, when his training helped him as an athlete. He wants Notre Dame's athletes to have the same experience. "We only use lifting as a tool for athletes," Schmidt said.

"We're not trying to make weightlifters out of them. We want to help good athletes become great athletes.

Athletes have different needs according to their sport and position. The programs are designed individually to help each athlete reach his or her goals.

Besides the quality of a coach's program, U.S. Sports Fitness considers his background in strength and conditioning. Schmidt has extensive experience with some of the best programs in the country. He graduated from the University of Nebraska with a degree in exercise science. He worked with Nebraska's program for four years before becoming an assistant at Oklahoma State, where he worked with 1988 Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders. Schmidt then joined Notre Dame's staff in 1989.

Random

Continued from page 16

In the U. S. team's pre-Olympic exhibition games against NHL teams, Team Canada and whatever you want to call the Soviet/Russian/Commonwealth of Independent States/Unified team, LeBlanc posted a mediocre 3.73 goals against average. There is the possibility that LeBlanc is simply in a groove and will continue to play over his head, much the way Craig was in 1980. If you remember, the Olympic hero was an NHL flop.

Even if this is the case, a medal-winning performance would still be a lot to ask of the U. S. team. Going into Albertville, many people questioned the American defense, and these questions still have not been answered, despite the shutout of Germany.

In that game, the Germans outshot Team USA 46-27. If the Germans can get 46 shots on goal, it is scary to think what will happen against more experienced, more disciplined teams like Finland and Sweden, both of which the U. S. has to play in the preliminary round.

Though the Americans could clinch a spot in the medal round of eight teams with a win over hapless Poland on Saturday, it is hard to see them getting past the first game where they will likely face Canada, Czechoslovakia or the Unified Team unless their defense improves in a hurry or Ray LeBlanc turns into Superman.

---

STUDENT SENATE Candidate Meeting

7:00 PM

Notre Dame Room (LaFortune)

TONIGHT!!

---

BRUNO’S NOW DELIVERS

* 18" Pizza, 2 Item Limit
* $11.00
* 288-3320

AVAILABLE 7 DAYS A WEEK

---

THE Alumni Club

STUDENT BARTENDER APPLICATIONS & JOB DESCRIPTIONS FOR 1992-93 ARE NOW AVAILABLE.

PICK THEM UP AT THE LAFORTUNE INFORMATION DESK.

APPLICATION DEADLINE IS MARCH 5, 1992
SPORTS BRIEFS

Anyone who purchases a ticket for this weekend's tennis match will be invited to a free clinic, put on by the men's tennis team. The clinic will be Friday, February 14, at 6 p.m. at the Eck Tennis Pavilion. Tickets are $5 for students.

Women's Bookstore Basketball will have an organizational meeting today. Anyone interested in commissioner or assistant commissioner positions is welcome to attend and should call 284-5548.

The Shick Super Hoops 3-on-3 basketball tournament for SMC students will take place Saturday, February 15. The registration deadline is today at 5 p.m. Winners will receive t-shirts, sports bags and qualify for the Indiana State tournament. For more information call 284-5548.

Attention ND/SMC Sailing team and anyone who likes to sail. There will be a mandatory meeting Monday, February 9, at 8:15 p.m. in the basement of Farley. Newcomers are welcome.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the basement of Farley. Newcomers are welcome.

Thursday, February 13, 1992

SPORTS BRIEFS

Anderson continued from page 16

pre-season.

"If there was a policy, why didn't they tell me about it at the beginning of the pre-season in September?" queried Anderson. "Why did they wait until January?"

Anderson also alleged that Flecker and Dave Bose (volleyball club co-president) called him on January 26, 1992 (Super Bowl Sunday) and asked him to return as volunteer coach of the men's volleyball club. This call was received the week before the men traveled to the University of Michigan for a tournament, as Flecker and Bose had entertained hopes, alleged Bose, that Anderson would coach them at Michigan.

Anderson further maintains that O'Leary and Kelly delayed answering Flecker and Bose for a week and a half, an allegation supported by Flecker and Bose.

"I just don't understand why they would go back 11 years and hold something against me when I had done a proven job for five years," said Anderson. "I felt that I was discriminated against because other coaches didn't have to do the same process.

"I felt that they had a vendetta against me because I went to Dick Rosenhall about Art Lambert and because of the racist comments by O'Leary, which I felt were directed toward me. I felt the department tolerated racism."

"After we asked Bill to come back, he went to RecSports that week [week of January 27]," said Bose. "They said, "Go to Human Resources," which he did, and he talked to Roger Mullins there. He told him to go back to RecSports. They just led us on, wondering if we had a coach." They were doing a self-analysis at that time, and we had never done that before," said Kelly. "So everybody filled out an application form."

"I have no more comment on his application," said Kelly, when asked about the weighing of facts surrounding Anderson's coaching career and information form.

"We had instituted a policy throughout the NBA department for formalizing application processes for all of our programs, including those that fiscals and whatever," O'Leary said. "We did evaluations. We did all the clubs across the board.

"We [O'Leary and Kelly] read them over and sent them to Human Resources. They took care of them there. Human Resources reviewed Mr. Anderson's application and found problems with it. It [Anderson's dismissal] was a joint decision between us and them, based on facts."

Anderson furthorne stated that he assumed Anderson's successor, Steve Anderson, (no relation), had filled out such a form. Mullins said that records of such forms could not be released without permission from the parties in question.

"We would have no purview since he [Bill Anderson Jr.] was a volunteer," said Mullins. "We only have purview if people are paid. The decision over whether a person is acceptable is up to the department involved. There was some check done [on Anderson] and some question did develop."

"The purview of human resources is to see if the University is in compliance with labor law. Mr. Anderson is talking about an information sheet which RecSports requires all part-time and other people to complete. RecSports used us to check legal issues. Did we approve the decision they made? No!

Mullins said the question that remains is whether Anderson's case of racism is founded.

"This concerns Title Seven of the Civil Rights Act. Was this person displaced because he's black? This is the consistent things that if we have to terminate a person at the University, we make the decision based on facts and is it going to cause a problem for the University."
Bengal Bouts to be held in Joyce ACC arena
Special to The Observer

The finals of the 62nd annual Bengal Mission Bouts, the University of Notre Dame boxing club's yearly tournament for charity, return to the Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center arena at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday February 29, 1992 after an eight-year absence from that facility. Since 1984 the Bengal Bouts have been staged either at Stepan Center or the Joyce Center fieldhouse on campus. And again in 1992, the quarterfinal and semifinal rounds set for Sunday, February 23 and Wednesday, February 26, respectively, will be held in the JACC fieldhouse. But, for the first time since 1983, the Bengal finals—consistently sold out in recent years with crowds in excess of 3,000 fans—are slated for the Joyce Center's main arena.

For the first time in the history of the Bengals, two different boxers—Mike Trainor and Kerry Wate—will have opportunities to become four-time champions. Trainor, a senior from Leominster, Mass., competed a year ago in the 170-pound classification. Wate, a senior from Auburn, Wash., representing Grace Hall, took the 165-pound title in 1991. More than 80 boxers overall are expected to compete among 10 weight classes.

The Bengal Bouts began in 1931 and organized for many years by Dominick J. "Nappy" Napolitano, have raised more than $300,000 over the years to benefit the Holy Cross Missions in Bangladesh.

SMC hoops after third straight
By CHRIS BACON
Sports Writer

Riding high on a two-game win streak, the Saint Mary's basketball team (8-1) hits the road tonight, traveling to Grace College.

Although a two game win streak does not seem like much to most, for the Belles, it is their first winning streak of the season, and one they would like to stretch at Grace.

"I think our biggest thing is we're looking for our third win in a row," explained senior forward Catherine Restovich.

The Belles defeated Grace in their last two matchups. Two years ago, the Belles squeezed past their hosts 61-59. Last season, the Belles trounced their visitors 84-62. The Belles are hoping to keep that string alive tonight.

"Grace is usually pretty tough. They often call it the ritual of the religions," explained senior forward Janet Libbing. "I think we won last year, and the year before that we went there and barely won.

"Grace is one of the strongest NAIA teams in Indiana," added Belles coach Don Cromer. "We're going to have to do the things that we are good at, and that is run.

The Belles have struggled this season with their fast-break. But as Cromer explained, practicing the team's new motto of "run, gun and have fun" is paying off.

"We had a real good practice Monday. The girls looked real sharp, I think the girls are at a point where they've realized we've got to run," he commented.

The Belles have had plenty of opportunity to rest and prepare for tonight's trip to Warsaw. Saint Mary's matchup against the 15th-ranked University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh (14-4) last Saturday was cancelled due to weather. The Belles last game was 10 days ago against Bethel College, when the Belles struggled to defeat the visiting Lady Pilots, 74-75.

As the Belles look for their third straight win tonight, they will be led by Libbing and her sidekick Catherine Restovich. The two forwards lead the Belles in scoring this season, each scoring over 200 points this season. Libbing also leads the Belles in rebounding. "Janet gives you 100 percent," Cromer explained. "She can hit the three point, she can drive. She can get the team going when it's down."

The Belles will return home Saturday to host Beloit College.
CROSSWORD

1 "Soft"
6 Sticks together
12 Illness symptom
15 Labor
18 Engages
22 Former basketball league
23 Former Board Manager
27 Songbirds
28 Calendar abbreviation
31 To veer
36 Jazz pianist Talum
39 Letters
40 Certain automobiles
41 "Beat it!"
43 Sticks together
46 Unit of resistance
47 Beauty mark
49 "Eat, Drink"
50 Make certain
51 Prefix: new
52 With 21-Across, "Nothin' but..."
53 "Eat, Drink"
54 Saying what's on one's mind
55 Item for Wolfgang Puck
56 The Three-Sisters' actor
57 Portion of a recipe
58 Sooner than
59 Innocence
60 World War I group
61 -change
62 Formally withdraw
63 Passed away, as a person
64 Certain automobiles
65 Human manufacturer
66 Guard units
67 Beauty mark
68 "Eat, Drink"
69 "Eat, Drink"
70 "Eat, Drink"
71 Defrost
72 Restraining lines
73 Artificial channel
74 "Eat, Drink"
75 -change
76 East initials
77 Plane
78 Notorious
80 "Eat, Drink"
81 Rushed violently

THANKS FOR LOADING ME THE EARRINGS, JAY!

DOWN

1 Fence
2 Gary Grant
3 Split
4 "Wear's folly"
5 I Love NY
6 Towel
7 "Beat it!"
8 "Eat, Drink"
9 "Eat, Drink"
10 "Eat, Drink"
11 "Eat, Drink"
12 "Eat, Drink"
13 "Eat, Drink"
14 "Eat, Drink"
15 "Eat, Drink"
16 "Eat, Drink"
17 "Eat, Drink"
18 "Eat, Drink"
19 "Eat, Drink"
20 "Eat, Drink"
21 "Eat, Drink"
22 "Eat, Drink"
23 "Eat, Drink"
24 "Eat, Drink"
25 "Eat, Drink"
26 "Eat, Drink"
27 "Eat, Drink"
28 "Eat, Drink"
29 "Eat, Drink"
30 "Eat, Drink"
31 "Eat, Drink"
32 "Eat, Drink"
33 Path (abbr.)
34 Chips
35 Arthur
36 "Eat, Drink"
37 Flounder
38 "Eat, Drink"
39 Pastel away, as a color
40 Certain automobiles
41 "Eat, Drink"
42 "Eat, Drink"
43 "Eat, Drink"
44 "Eat, Drink"
45 "Eat, Drink"
46 "Eat, Drink"
47 "Eat, Drink"
48 "Eat, Drink"
49 "Eat, Drink"
50 Make certain
51 Prefix: new
52 "Eat, Drink"
53 "Eat, Drink"
54 Saying what's on one's mind
55 Item for Wolfgang Puck
56 The Three-Sisters' actor
57 Portion of a recipe
58 Sooner than
59 Innocence
60 World War I group
61 -change
62 Formally withdraw
63 Passed away, as a person
64 Certain automobiles
65 Human manufacturer
66 Guard units
67 Beauty mark
68 "Eat, Drink"
69 "Eat, Drink"
70 "Eat, Drink"
71 Defrost
72 Restraining lines
73 Artificial channel
74 "Eat, Drink"
75 -change
76 East initials
77 Plane
78 Notorious
79 "Eat, Drink"
80 "Eat, Drink"
81 Rushed violently

LECTURES

Thursday

Friday

MENU

Notre Dame

Italian Grilled Chicken Breast
Veal Parmesan

Saint Mary's

Southern Fried Chicken
Baked Lasagna
Vegetarian Chow Mein
Deli Bar

PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA

The Wazi

7 NIGHTS AT THE RAMADA INN FOR $199!!
RESERVATIONS INCLUDES:

WEEKDAYS

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13

8 PM & 10:30 PM

COCKTAILS AND MUSIC

DINNER IS NOT INCLUDED

Contact the Secretary in the Student Government Office, 3rd Floor LaFortune Student Center for details.

THE NATIONAL TIMES

THE ROAD SIDE

CARY LARSON

JAY HOSLER

THE OBSERVER

DEPARTMENT HEAD

APPLCATIONS

Applications can be picked up at the Student Government reception desk (SAGE) and they are due by February 21, 1992.

Interviews are February 27.

The positions include:

Boat Manager
Director of Marketing
Director of Programming
Director of Relations

DEADLINE FOR SIGN-UPS IS FEBRUARY 14.

A $75 DEPOSIT IS REQUIRED AT SIGN-UP.

SUB EXECUTIVE BOARD

The Wazi

Campus Band Competition

Saturday, March 21
Stevan Center

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD

STUDENT UNION BOARD
IRISH WOMEN TAKE ON EVANSVILLE

By RENE FERRAN

With just seven games left in the regular season, the Notre Dame women's basketball team looks to be in just time for the MCC Tournament Match. The first step for the Irish will be hosting IMC rival Evansville Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Joyce ACG.

This is a critical time for Notre Dame (6-14, 3-4), which is currently in the midst of a three-game losing streak. If the Irish harbor any hopes of making the NCAA Tournament, this is the time for them to make the move.

The season is being played out against the backdrop of charges printed by Chicago Sun-Times writer Toni Ginell which allege that Irish Athletic Director Dick Rosenthal attempted to fire Notre Dame coach Muffet McGraw and replace her with the current women's coach at Illinois State. Rosenthal and McGraw have denied the allegations.

The Irish and the Aces will meet twice in the next 11 days as Notre Dame faces five conference opponents in a row as it seeks to build momentum toward the NCAA Tournament run.

However, if the Irish want to make a move, they will need a more balanced effort than they received in Tuesday's 62-49 loss to DePaul. Of their 49 points, 33 came from two players: senior guard Martin (16.8 pg), 9.4 pg) and freshman Michelle Marklink (13.4 pg, 3.6 rpg). The rest of the team went a combined 3-of-19 against the Blue Demons.

Notre Dame especially needs production from senior Comalita Haybender (11.5 pg, 5.5 rpg). Haybender, who had averaged 16.5 points in ND's last four games and earning ACC Player of the Week two weeks ago, scored just three points against DePaul.

"We need Comalita to score," said Irish coach Muffet McGraw, after Tuesday's loss. "We're coming off a bunch of games where she's scoring, but it just wasn't there tonight.

"The Aces are led by 6-4, 4-foot junior Charity Greis (14.1 pg, 14.1 rpg, 2.8 blocks), the nation's leading rebounder and eighth leading shot blocker.

Evansville has lost two straight coming into tonight's game and three of its last four, including a 76-67 defeat at home against Butler last Saturday evening.

Irish women take on Evansville

BY DAVE DIETEMAN

Sports Editor

One day after a former volunteer coach questioned his dismissal and alleged that the Notre Dame athletic department tolerate racist attitudes, details of the matter are becoming more clear.

Even so, contradictory comments from university officials have left the story of former men's volleyball coach Bill Anderson's dismissal in question.

Anderson was dismissed from his coaching position in the spring semester of 1991 after the University accused him of falsifying information on an information form he was not asked to fill out until six years after starting the job.

The event in question—an alleged felony in 1981—was said by Anderson to have been an error when he legally expunged—was supposedly grounds for his dismissal after a university records check uncovered the incident.

Anderson, a former player who led the Irish to a 13th place finish in the NCAA club division national championship in 1984, was a two-time coach of the year, Intercollegiate Volleyball Association (IVA) "Champion of the Year" and Intercollegiate Volleyball Association of Manipas (IVA) "Champion of the Week".

Anderson was dismissed from his coaching position in 1991 after the University accused him of falsifying information on an information form he was not asked to fill out until six years after starting the job.

The event in question—an alleged felony in 1981—was said by Anderson to have been an error when he legally expunged—was supposedly grounds for his dismissal after a university records check uncovered the incident.

Anderson was dismissed from his coaching position in the spring semester of 1991 after the University accused him of falsifying information on an information form he was not asked to fill out until six years after starting the job.

The event in question—an alleged felony in 1981—was said by Anderson to have been an error when he legally expunged—was supposedly grounds for his dismissal after a university records check uncovered the incident.

Anderson was dismissed from his coaching position in the spring semester of 1991 after the University accused him of falsifying information on an information form he was not asked to fill out until six years after starting the job.

The event in question—an alleged felony in 1981—was said by Anderson to have been an error when he legally expunged—was supposedly grounds for his dismissal after a university records check uncovered the incident.