Huston ticket wins senior election; Penilla ticket wins sophomore race

By MICHAEL SCHOLL
News Writer

The ticket led by Joe Huston won last night's run-off for the senior class officer election, overcoming its second-place finish in the first round of balloting.

Huston's ticket won 507 votes (51.4% of the vote) in the run-off, compared to the 479 votes (48.6%), for the opposing ticket led by Andrea Auyer.

In the sophomore class run-off, the ticket led by Penilla, which finished first in Monday's voting, held on to defeat the ticket led by Andrea Powers. The Penilla ticket received 575 votes (55.7%) while their opponents took 458 votes (44.3%).

The results of the senior-class run-off were not confirmed until a recount of the ballots was completed shortly before 9 p.m., according to elections commissioner Travis Reindl. Reindl said the Auyer ticket requested the recount due to the close margin of the Huston ticket's victory.

The elections committee also received several reports of dorms not keeping their polling places open for the entire four hours scheduled for balloting (11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 7 p.m).

Reindl said that each dorm's judicial board is responsible for staffing it's dorm's polling place.

He vowed to investigate boards accused of neglecting their responsibilities, and said he would make an effort to see that such problems do not happen in the future.

Senior class president-elect Huston said a top priority of his administration will be to obtain greater input in the selection of the 1993 commencement speaker. He also said the administration would try to defray the costs of the senior formal by "organizing fund raisers and soliciting corporate support." see ELECTIONS / page 6

House weighs proposed tax cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House on Wednesday buried a controversial tax-cut proposal Bush's tax proposals while Democratic leaders scurried to find ways to pass a plan of their own.

The 427-1 vote disposed of a Democratic substitute, aimed at making Bush's plan a dead letter but none of the spending cuts he proposed for next year, and long-range tax changes he wanted to extend beyond this year. The measure would have worsened the deficit by nearly $50 billion over 10 years.

Democrats introduced the measure and forced the vote to draw attention to the unpopular tax cut. It would be financed by raising income taxes on higher-income earners, the bill is not to abandon the recession but to restore some fairness to the tax system, Democrats say.

Neither plan is assured of approval.

More than 50 of the 268 House Democrats were listed as undecided on the Democratic plan. With Republicans solidly opposed, it will take at least two Democratic leaders already lost, Democratic leaders acknowledged they had their work cut out for them. If all members vote, see TAXES / page 6

Williams to visit South Africa along with National Advisory Council to U.S. firms

By STEVE ZAVESTOSKI
News Writer

With a referendum approaching that could redefine the position of blacks in South Africa, Notre Dame's Associate Provost Father Oliver Williams hopes to find out how the U.S. can assist in this change when he visits the Republic of South Africa over the next three weeks.

As a representative of the National Advisory Council to U.S. firms with operations in South Africa, Williams will accompany two other members of the Council. The three will meet with government and church officials as well as the leadership of the African National Council, Inkatha and the black labor movement.

"In the past," said Williams, "the leaders have asked us to hold off on any new investments in the country." But at this year's annual meetings, his fifth, Williams anticipates the leaders will ask the council to make their request.

"President Mandela has already said American companies may be able to invest as early as this summer," said Williams, who met with Self-esteem lowered by academia

In 1981 researchers at the University of Illinois began a study involving self-esteem in the subject group consisted of 80 high school students selected from different ethnic and socioeconomic backgrounds. There were 54 men and 46 women in the original sample.

Upon graduation from high school, 23 percent of the men and 21 percent of the women said they felt that their intelligence was "far above average." The same group was polled after two years of college. This time 22 percent of the men and only 4 percent of the women ranked their intelligence as "far above average."

This remarkable drop in self-esteem in the women over two years is a sad statement in and of itself, but the study didn't stop there. Upon graduation from college, the same group was polled. This time 25 percent of the men and 47 percent of the women ranked themselves "far above average." It was also noted that the women consistently achieved higher grade point averages than the men.

So what do we conclude? Why do intelligent and achievement oriented women lose, instead of gain, self-esteem as they progress through the college system?

Feminists, such as Gloria Steinem, believe this study is indicative of the hostile state existing towards women, as well as ethnic minorities, in the academic world. Self-esteem in academia is not merely a matter of getting good grades and winning awards. It is a matter of feeling good about oneself.

Historically, women have not been welcome as scholars. Regardless of the subject, academia has traditionally been dominated by men; it has been created by men, about men, and studied by men.

With the possible exception of the few "non-traditional" courses making their way into the course listings across the country, classes from engineering to art history still predominantly focus upon, in one way or another, the "male" characteristics of the field.

It would appear that the "male-dominated" academic scene is a thing of the past and women are welcome in any program and any hostility felt is purely the imagination of women.

I would almost buy that idea, certainly academia is not what it used to be. There are more women who are making serious contributions to their fields. Even at places like Notre Dame, whose tradition is entrenched in male ideals, are at least making token attempts to even enrollment.

Regardless of the strides that have been made, the study conducted at the University of Illinois reveals a lot about what is happening to the average college female during their four years in college. The stereotypes, such as the title given to women, might seem to mean well, but in academia needs to be continuously evaluated and changes need to be made. Perhaps one day, the university experience will be an esteem building environment for all students, not just the ones lucky enough to be born with the traditionally correct gender or race.

The views are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

TODAY AT A GLANCE

WORLD

Dwarf tossing returns to club

VERSAILLES, France — A court has cleared the way for the return of dwarf-tossing in France, rescinding an order that barred a dwarf from performing at a nightclub and fining the town that imposed the ban.

A magistrate in an administrative court in Versailles on Tuesday rejected as illegal an Oct. 25 order by the mayor of Morsang-sur-Orge forbidding a dwarf known as Mr. Skysman from being tossed by customers at the Embassy Club. Wackenheim, 24, has led a campaign to allow dwarf-tossing, a barroom "sport" that evolved in Australia, claiming bans on clowns using him as a human projectile are an attack on individual liberty and his right to work.

NATIONAL

Safety questioned at nuclear plant

BRAINER, Ore. — The atom-splitting machinery at the Trojan nuclear plant roared back to life this week despite critics' warnings that microscopic cracks in the steam system could lead to a serious accident. The 15-year-old plant had been shut down nearly a year because of cracks in about a fifth of the 13,000 nickel alloy heat-exchanger tubes. About 2,000 of the cracks discovered during a refueling shutdown were repaired; 6,000 weren't. Nuclear Regulatory Commission spokesman Greg Cook acknowledged the NRC hasn't figured out the problem but said the cracks are not "structurally significant."

CAMPUS

Speech team places fourth

NOTRE DAME — The Notre Dame speech team placed fourth last weekend at the annual National Intercollegiate Speech competition. Heidi Toboni placed first in Novice Poetry Interpretation and fourth in Novice Prose Interpretation. Joe Wilson placed first in Dramatic Interpretation.

The Irish took six speakers to the competition. They will compete this weekend at LSU.

OF INTEREST

Seniors interested in volunteering: Sally Greene, '91, of the Franciscan Volunteer Ministry will be here today to talk about the program. She'll be in the library from 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. and at the Center for Social Concerns from 1-5 p.m.

Siblings of Disabled People who would like to share their experiences with other children who have physically and mentally disabled siblings are invited to the Center for Social Concerns tonight at 6:30 for an open meeting.

The Community Alliance to Serve Hispanics will be having a meeting at 7 p.m. in the Sorin Room.

ND/SMC Ballroom Dance Club will not meet today.

MARKET UPDATE

YESTERDAY’S TRADING/February 26

VOLUME IN SHARES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Stock</th>
<th>NYSE INDEX</th>
<th>S&amp;P COMPOSITE</th>
<th>DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS</th>
<th>PRECIOUS METALS</th>
<th>GOLD</th>
<th>SILVER</th>
</tr> </thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>275.22</td>
<td>553.58</td>
<td>3,283.32</td>
<td>25.49</td>
<td>$549.60</td>
<td>$4.60</td>
</tr> </tbody>
</table>

ON THIS DAY IN HISTORY

In 1922: The U.S. Supreme Court unanimously upheld the 19th Amendment to the Constitution that guaranteed the right of women to vote.

In 1933: Germany's parliament building in Berlin, the Reichstag, burned down. The Nazis, charging a Communist plot, used the fire as a pretext for suspending civil liberties.

In 1939: The U.S. Supreme Court outlawed sit-in strikes.

In 1973: Members of the American Indian Movement occupied the hamlet of Wounded Knee in South Dakota, the site of the 1890 massacre of Sioux men, women and children. (The occupation lasted until May.)
The Observer is accepting applications for the paid position of:

Design Editor

This position coordinates computer layout and design. No computer experience is necessary. Evening and late night positions available.

Those interested should contact Jeanne Blasi at 239-5303.

BOOKSTORE BASKETBALL

LAST CHANCE!!! DON'T BE LEFT OUT OF THIS YEAR'S TOURNAMENT!

Sign ups 4 - 7p.m.

Thurs. Feb. 27
Mon. Mar. 2
in the SUB Office
2nd floor LaFortune

2 Team Names and 2 Captains' names

$5
Leaders of seven nations gather for second drug summit

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — President Bush on Wednesday joined Latin American leaders for a second drug summit and promised to “redouble our efforts” to choke off both U.S. demand and foreign supply.

Peru’s president said those efforts must include the infusion of more U.S. money.

“We’re going to get maximum cooperation,” Bush said as he opened a meeting with President Alberto Fujimori of Peru, the nation with the most limited progress in the war against drugs.

But even as they and five other leaders gathered, Bush faced criticism at home that his multi-billion-dollar drug-fighting strategy has been ineffectual, with U.S. cities still flooded with ample, cheap supplies.

“We’re going to build on ... the Cartagena meeting,” said Bush referring to the first drug summit two years ago. “We’re going to redouble our efforts on the demand side and on the supply side.”

Fujimori, in a news conference before his private session with Bush, said his country needs more money to give coca growers “a half chance of a cocaine-free future.”

Bush then met with Colombia’s president, Cesar Gaviria, before private sessions with Bolivia’s Jaime Paz Zamora and Ecuador’s Rodrigo Borja.

Bush and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari will confer over breakfast Thursday before all the leaders gather for the formal summit sessions in the McNay Art Museum.

The summit expands on the 1990 summit in Cartagena, Colombia, where Bush met with the leaders of the Andean nations of Colombia, Bolivia and Peru, the principal drug production countries.

New at this summit are Mexico, Ecuador and Venezuela — countries that have seen increasing involvement in illegal drug trafficking as the Andean nations crack down.

Bush welcomed the Latin leaders to his home state after a day of polling in California.

They are expected to produce renewed commitments and strategies for halting the flow of drugs to the United States, the chief consumer nation, and helping poor farmers who grow coca leaves for cocaine to convert to other crops.

“Our governments must commit themselves to a clear path of success, with precise goals,” said Colombia’s Gaviria, whose government has battled the Medellin and Cali drug cartels.

He said he would seek clear commitments and goals for ending drug trafficking by the year 2010.

The producing countries, with economies significantly dependent on the drug trade, have fought the narcotics war with varying degrees of success.

Colombia for instance has made progress against leaders of the Medellin cartel, but the Cali cartel has emerged with new prominence.

A General Accounting Office survey last week said Peru had made little progress due to corruption, lack of control over government military units and inability to control leftist insurgent groups.

The GAO cited human rights abuses against civilians as a major problem in both Colombia and Peru.

But the Bush administration says it’s making progress.

Bush said in California on Tuesday that while “we can’t begin to claim total victory yet,” drug interdictions were “at an all-time high” and adolescent cocaine use was down 60 percent.

However, a congressional report this week said Bush’s multi-billion-dollar strategy to curb Latin American cocaine production has failed to stem the illegal drug shipments to this country.

Despite the 700 percent increase in government spending over the last decade to stop drug imports, ‘cocaine is as cheap, as potent and as readily available on American streets as ever,” said the report issued by Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary crime subcommittee.

AP/Alan Diaz

Bush has poured more than $1 billion in military and economic aid into the three Andean nations and requested almost $480 million more for next year. His overall drug budget has almost doubled to $12 billion.

Status of drug producers at summit

MEXICO

Key benchmark point for cocaine producers is up to here are allegations of corruption. Claims $5 billion worth of drugs were intercepted in 1991. Also Interpol reports large amounts of marijuana in the U.S.

VENEZUELA

Has a police border with Colombia and money laundering is a met crime. Estimated 500 tons of cocaine pass through annually, and hundreds of millions of dollars in drug profits are laundered here.

ECUADOR

U.S. military aid has increased involvement in illegal drug trade. Unfortunately, 500 tons last year. Traffickers have diversified into spouses, the new material for heroin.

Ecuador

Used for money laundering and transportation. Police-confounded about a half ton of cocaine last year, but the biggest seizure, 3.5 tons, came in early Feb. Will see President Bush for more money to fight trafficking through Ecuador.

BOLIVIA

This nation was cut off by a U.S.-sponsored jungle war against Bolivia in 1989. arbeigning alternatives and destroying crops. Guaranteed that traffickers will not be arrested. U.S. supplied eradication plants. Coca leaves are decreasing. Coca planting has increased 30 percent.

COLOMBIA

The flow of drugs remains steady. Drug shipments estimated 500-700 tons per year. U.S. military aid, for drug eradication, increased 500 percent last year. Traffickers have diversified into spouses, the new material for heroin.

Columbia

Coca farm over 50% in world's coca production. Heroin has lessened its dominance. Coca leaves from a U.S. supported jungle war. Coca leaves cost 100 percent more. U.S. funding doesn't appear to be reaching peasant farmers.

PERU

Coca farm over 60% in world's coca production. Heroin war has complicated eradication. Police destroy crops from a U.S.-sponsored jungle war. Coca leaves cost 50 percent more. U.S. funding doesn't appear to be reaching peasant farmers.

Status of drug production in Peru

Coca production up 40% in last year. Coca remains a major problem in both Peru and Colombia.

The McNay Art Museum.

Status of drug production in Colombia

Colombia

Coca farm over 60% in world's coca production. Heroin war has lessened its dominance. Coca leaves from a U.S.-sponsored jungle war. Coca leaves cost 100 percent more. U.S. funding doesn't appear to be reaching peasant farmers.

Status of drug production in Ecuador

Ecuador

Used for money laundering and transportation. Police confounded about a half ton of cocaine last year, but the biggest seizure, 3.5 tons, came in early Feb. Will see President Bush for more money to fight trafficking through Ecuador.

Status of drug production in Venezuela

Venezuela

Has a police border with Colombia and money laundering is a met crime. Estimated 500 tons of cocaine pass through annually, and hundreds of millions of dollars in drug profits are laundered here.

Status of drug production in Bolivia

Bolivia

This nation was cut off by a U.S.-sponsored jungle war against Bolivia in 1989. arbeigning alternatives and destroying crops. Guaranteed that traffickers will not be arrested. U.S. supplied eradication plants. Coca leaves are decreasing. Coca planting has increased 30 percent.

Status of drug production in Mexico

Mexico

Key benchmark point for cocaine producers is up to here are allegations of corruption. Claims $5 billion worth of drugs were intercepted in 1991. Also Interpol reports large amounts of marijuana in the U.S.

1/1111111111111..
Irish girl wins fight to seek abortion

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The Supreme Court cleared the way Wednesday for a 14-year-old girl to leave Ireland for an abortion, allowing division legal and political issues for another day.

The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which is banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The decision would clear the way for an Irish girl to leave Ireland for an abortion. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl’s case, who says she was raped and should not have to suffer such barbaric treatment at the hands of the state," said Alan Shatter, justice spokesman for the main opposition party, Fine Gael.

Shatter said the government should not assume that the decision "relieves it of its political responsibilities." Reynolds, who was in London for a meeting with British Prime Minister John Major, said he wanted to see the written decision before commenting on implications for future cases.

Ireland’s constitution, which is based on the Catholic belief that "human life is sacred," was probably more important than the Supreme Court’s written decision would be issued in a few days. Shatter said the written judgment would be issued in a few days.

Irish women have abortions in Britain each year. About 4,000 Irish women have abortions in Britain each year.

The Irish girl won her fight to seek a legal abortion.

The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.

The Irish girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country. The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which was banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won a referendum or legislation.
Taxes
continued from page 1
proval of either plan would require 218 votes.
Meanwhile, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who chairs the Senate Finance Committee, said the bill he will ask thecommittee to approve next week will—like the House Democrats' proposal—call for higher taxes on the well-to-do.
This will be done by raising the top income tax rate above the current 31 percent and imposing a surtax on taxable income above $1 million.
Money raised would pay for a new tax credit for families with children, with most of the benetits going to those broadly identified as the middle class.
Bentsen has said repeatedly that he would veto any such tax increase. That resolve and Democrats' insistence that higher-income people pay more will make it difficult to enact any major tax changes this year.
Bentsen said his plan also would include some kind of a capital-gains tax cut on investment income, but apparently nothing like the broad reduction demanded by Bush.
Also, Bentsen said, his bill will include some of the investment incentives recommended by Bush, expanded Individual Retirement Accounts, repeal of at least part of the new luxury tax, and tax credits to help provide access to health care.
Similar provisions—but not the credit incentives—are included in the house bill, which was written by Democrats.
House Democrats defendited their plan as a way to restore some fairness to the tax laws—to reverse some of the gains reaped by higher-income people in the 1980s and transfer some benefits to the middle class.
"After 12 years of Republican class warfare against American families, we join mid-income families in a fight for fairness, a fight for equity and a fight for growth," said Majority Leader Richard Gephardt.
"No more gimmicks; no more tax cuts for the wealthy; no more broken promises," said Democratic Whip David Bonior
of Michigan. "The middle class has waited too long."
Republicans portrayed the bill as offering nothing to stimulate the economy but just the latest effort by Democrats to raise taxes to finance more spending.
Some Democrats were relucttant to line up behind their party's bill because it includes a capital-gains tax reduction; critics say, would be just as much a windfall for the wealthy in the long run as would Bush's proposal.
Other Democrats are upset at the idea of voting for an election-year tax increase—even if it would apply only to couples making more than about $185,000 a year and single people making more than $105,000.
The Democratic plan, in addition to the tax credit for wage earners, higher taxes on the well-off and a capital-gains tax cut, includes incentives for businesses to buy machinery this year; special tax relief for real estate investors; penalty-free Individual Retirement Account withdrawals to buy a home or pay medical and education expenses.
Elections
continued from page 1
The Observer is accepting applications for the paid positions of Assistant Ad Design Manager and Ad Designer.
Those interested should be familiar with the Macintosh and have design skills.
Contact Kevin Hardman at 239-5305 if any questions.

Senate
continued from page 1
vanzaugh hall freshmen. The other candidates are sophomores Timothy Callahan of Keenan Hall and Alan Nic-gorski of Stanford Hall.
In the District 4 (Mod Quad) contest, Flanner Hall junior Jacob Frost will go up against Grace Hall junior David Baker.
Also on Monday, six juniors making up three two-person tickets will be competing to represent off-campus students in the senate.

One ticket will pair Keith Meekon, who currently lives in Grace Hall, with Tom Pistick of Fisher Hall. A second ticket
will consist of Kevin Mcdonough and Paul Gibner, two current Keenan Hall residents.
The final ticket will include St.
Edward's Hall resident George
Smith and off-campus resident
Michael Goodwin.
Smith, Goodwin, and Certo
all ran in the student body
presidential election earlier
year. The combined
Smith/Goodwin ticket finished second in that election, while Certo's ticket, which included
St. Edward's Hall junior
Matthew Bomberger, placed third.
All undergraduate students,
including graduating seniors,
are eligible to vote in Monday's election.
Current off-campus students,
as well as students who have declared they will live off-campus next year, can vote in LaFortune Hall from 9 a.m.
to 7 p.m. and in the dining halls
from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. All other students can vote in their dorms from 11 a.m. to 1
p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Run-off elections, if necessary, will be held on Wednesday, March 4.

The Observer
Thursday, February 27, 1992
Money for Spring Break

Our Spring Break Loan is back by popular demand
(probably because it's easier than getting money from your parents)

• Only 12% APR, fixed rate
• $100 minimum, $500 maximum loan amount
• Deferred Payments
• Students with good credit or no credit qualify
No co-signer is needed. Bring in your student I.D.

NOTRE DAME FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
239-6611 • Independent of the University

MISA EN ESPANOL
Spanish Mass
Todos Estan Invitados
All Are Welcome
Sunday, March 1
10:00 a.m.
Breen-Phillips Chapel

Celebrante
Padre Ted Weber, C.S.C.
Sponsored by Campus Ministry
Office of Minority Affairs

The Observer
Breen-Phillips Chapel
Grace Hall, with Tom Pitstick
of Fisher Hall. A second ticket
will consist of Kevin Mcdonough and Paul Gibner, two
current Keenan Hall residents.
The final ticket will include St.
Edward's Hall resident George
Smith and off-campus resident
Michael Goodwin.
Smith, Goodwin, and Certo
all ran in the student body
presidential election earlier
year. The combined
Smith/Goodwin ticket finished
second in that election, while
Certo's ticket, which included
St. Edward's Hall junior
Matthew Bomberger, placed
third.
All undergraduate students,
including graduating seniors,
are eligible to vote in Monday's
election.
Current off-campus students,
as well as students who have
declared they will live off-campus next year, can vote in
LaFortune Hall from 9 a.m.
to 7 p.m. and in the dining halls
from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. All other students can vote in
their dorms from 11 a.m. to 1
p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Run-off elections, if necessary, will be held on Wednesday, March 4.

The Observer
Thursday, February 27, 1992
Money for Spring Break

Our Spring Break Loan is back by popular demand
(probably because it's easier than getting money from your parents)

• Only 12% APR, fixed rate
• $100 minimum, $500 maximum loan amount
• Deferred Payments
• Students with good credit or no credit qualify
No co-signer is needed. Bring in your student I.D.

NOTRE DAME FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
239-6611 • Independent of the University

MISA EN ESPANOL
Spanish Mass
Todos Estan Invitados
All Are Welcome
Sunday, March 1
10:00 a.m.
Breen-Phillips Chapel

Celebrante
Padre Ted Weber, C.S.C.
Sponsored by Campus Ministry
Office of Minority Affairs

The Observer
Breen-Phillips Chapel
Grace Hall, with Tom Pitstick
of Fisher Hall. A second ticket
will consist of Kevin Mcdonough and Paul Gibner, two
current Keenan Hall residents.
The final ticket will include St.
Edward's Hall resident George
Smith and off-campus resident
Michael Goodwin.
Smith, Goodwin, and Certo
all ran in the student body
presidential election earlier
year. The combined
Smith/Goodwin ticket finished
second in that election, while
Certo's ticket, which included
St. Edward's Hall junior
Matthew Bomberger, placed
third.
All undergraduate students,
including graduating seniors,
are eligible to vote in Monday's
election.
Current off-campus students,
as well as students who have
declared they will live off-campus next year, can vote in
LaFortune Hall from 9 a.m.
to 7 p.m. and in the dining halls
from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. All other students can vote in
their dorms from 11 a.m. to 1
p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Run-off elections, if necessary, will be held on Wednesday, March 4.

The Observer
Thursday, February 27, 1992
Money for Spring Break

Our Spring Break Loan is back by popular demand
(probably because it's easier than getting money from your parents)

• Only 12% APR, fixed rate
• $100 minimum, $500 maximum loan amount
• Deferred Payments
• Students with good credit or no credit qualify
No co-signer is needed. Bring in your student I.D.

NOTRE DAME FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
239-6611 • Independent of the University

MISA EN ESPANOL
Spanish Mass
Todos Estan Invitados
All Are Welcome
Sunday, March 1
10:00 a.m.
Breen-Phillips Chapel

Celebrante
Padre Ted Weber, C.S.C.
Sponsored by Campus Ministry
Office of Minority Affairs

The Observer
Breen-Phillips Chapel
Grace Hall, with Tom Pitstick
of Fisher Hall. A second ticket
will consist of Kevin Mcdonough and Paul Gibner, two
current Keenan Hall residents.
The final ticket will include St.
Edward's Hall resident George
Smith and off-campus resident
Michael Goodwin.
Smith, Goodwin, and Certo
all ran in the student body
presidential election earlier
year. The combined
Smith/Goodwin ticket finished
second in that election, while
Certo's ticket, which included
St. Edward's Hall junior
Matthew Bomberger, placed
third.
All undergraduate students,
including graduating seniors,
are eligible to vote in Monday's
election.
Current off-campus students,
as well as students who have
declared they will live off-campus next year, can vote in
LaFortune Hall from 9 a.m.
to 7 p.m. and in the dining halls
from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. All other students can vote in
their dorms from 11 a.m. to 1
p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Run-off elections, if necessary, will be held on Wednesday, March 4.
Three soldiers killed as troops riot at Baikonur Space Center

MOSCOW (AP) — Hundreds of construction troops rioted at Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan this week after complaining of "inhuman treatment" by their superiors, news services said Wednesday. Three soldiers were reportedly burned to death. The rioters at Baikonur, the main launching site for cosmonauts, commandeered 17 trucks, set fire to four barracks and stole $5,000 rubles from a cashier's office, the Interfax news agency and Commonwealth television reported. The victims were found inside one barracks. Police forces and regular army troops were called in to try to stop the rioters from marching on the nearby city of Leninsk, where space center officials live. But the "hungry and unawed soldiers" reached the city to present their grievances, the TV reported. They dispersed after authorities gave them food and their allowances and met some of their demands.

The TV said space-related operations were not affected by the uprising Monday and Tuesday at Baikonur, about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow.

Increasing signs of discontent have surfaced in the armed services over pay, working conditions and the disintegration of the Soviet Union. Military officials say desertsions are increasing.

In addition, Russian military authorities have been discussing a possible deep cut in the ranks of the construction corps, considered the lowest rung in the military service.

Baikonur's space program has also been in turmoil because of political and economic disputes. Cosmonaut Sergei Krikalev, who blasted into space on May 18 for what was supposed to be a three-month mission, is still circling the globe aboard space station Mir. Krikalev and Alexander Volkov are scheduled to return next month.

A March 17 launch from Baikonur will carry a German and Russian component to the Mir. The Russians will stay behind, replacing Krikalev and Volkov.

A special government commission set up after the riot at Baikonur agreed to let ill soldiers resign, discharged six months early all soldiers who had already served 1 1/2 years, and promised a 10-day leave for all soldiers. The commission also promised to improve supplies of food and cigarettes, Interfax said.

Armenians and Azerbaijanis agree to three-day cease-fire

MOSCOW (AP) — Armenians and Azerbaijanis battling for control of a disputed region agreed to a three-day cease-fire, the independent news agency Interfax reported Wednesday.

The report, which could not be confirmed immediately, came a few hours after Azerbaijani forces also were reported attacking Armenian targets.

The 4-year-old fight over the predominantly Armenian enclave has been ruled by Muslim Azerbaijan since 1923 has escalated into the bloodiest dispute in the former Soviet Union. Several previous attempts to resolve the conflict peacefully have fallen through.

The cease-fire was announced by the press service of Azerbaijan's president, Ayaz Mutalibov. Azerbaijan officials could not be reached immediately to confirm the report. Armenia's mission in Moscow told The Associated Press it had no information about a cease-fire.

Interfax said the truce was to begin at 9 a.m. Thursday and run through the same time on Sunday.

Veysali arrived in Azerbaijan on Monday in an attempt to mediate a truce, but so far has been unable to visit Nagorno-Karabakh because of the fighting there.

Also on Wednesday, France proposed an emergency international peace-keeping and humanitarian plan to halt the conflict. French government spokesman Jack Lang said the plan would be presented to the European Community.

Both sides reported attacks on Wednesday. Azerbaijan claimed Armenian forces attacked the Azerbaijani town of Khudzhalo before dawn and captured it. It said about 100 people were dead, 250 wounded and 300 missing.

Armenia denied the claim, saying the residents of the town were evacuated. It did not say how many people died in the battle.

It was impossible to independently verify either report. Both sides have issued inflated casualty reports in the past.

If Azerbaijan's claim were true, the attack would be the worst yet. More than 1,000 people have died since 1988 in the struggle over Nagorno-Karabakh.

An Armenian national security official, Aram Avayan, said Azerbaijan fired 37 rockets into Nagorno-Karabakh's administrative capital, Stepanakert, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Real Estate Analyst Program

CHOOSE YOUR TRACK TO AN MBA!

Want some rock-solid commercial real estate experience? Then consider one of two great opportunities with THE PRUDENTIAL Real Estate Group.

We're looking for energetic, ambitious BAs and BSs for the following Real Estate Analyst positions:

• Valuations Analyst - individuals with two years of work experience before applying to top business schools in 1994, and
• Operations Analyst - individuals planning a full-time career while pursuing their MBA on an evening/part time basis.

To qualify, you need a B+ or better undergraduate GPA and a strong mathematical aptitude. An intensive training program will help prepare you for real estate modeling and financial analysis assignments.

Both programs provide outstanding on-the-job training, experience, and exposure to real estate markets and top investment professionals. These programs attract starting salaries with comprehensive benefits.

To apply, send your resume and a copy of your college transcript by March 6, 1992.

THE PRUDENTIAL REALTY GROUP

Chicago Realty Group Office
McLean Plaza
Suite 1300 - 10th Floor
Chicago, IL 60601

ATTN: VALUATIONS ANALYST OR OPERATIONS ANALYST (PLEASE SPECIFY)

ATTN: Shelley Pottinger
An Equal Opportunity Employer

The Prudential Realty Group
DETROIT (AP) — A national strike at General Motors Corp. (GM) is one possible scenario this spring as the United Auto Workers (UAW) union tries to keep from playing favorites while blocking its locals from cutting their own deals with GM.

"We might be headed to a general strike," said Sean McMullen, a former UAW member now a research scientist with the Office for the Study of Automotive Transportation at the University of Michigan.

A "sword not used grows rusty," he said Wednesday. UAW Vice President Stephen Yokich said Tuesday the world's largest automaker is "playing with fire" if it follows through on plans to seek work rule changes from UAW locals on a plant-by-plant basis.

McMullen said GM's actions have all but bypassed the international union, leaving it "nothing to lose" by striking.

Yokich said Tuesday the international will not supplant any concessions its local in Arlington, Texas, agreed to consider to get an edge in competition with GM's Willow Run assembly plant near Ypsilanti, Mich. GM said in December one of the two would close.

"There was no talk of work rule concessions at the Willow Run plant, which makes many of the same rear-wheel drive large cars assembled in the Arlington plant," McMullen said. On Monday, Wil­low Run was one of 12 GM op­erations the company said would be cut by 1995.

GM Chairman Robert Stempel hailed the January increase as "whipsawing" - a form of "showboating" - by playing one plant off against another to force UAW's agreement to consider work-rule changes.

"It looks to the international has to disassociate itself from which concessions its local in Arlington, Texas, agreed to consider to get an edge in competition with GM's Willow Run assembly plant near Ypsilanti, Mich. GM said in December one of the two would close.

"There was no talk of work rule concessions at the Willow Run plant, which makes many of the same rear-wheel drive large cars assembled in the Arlington plant," McMullen said. On Monday, Willow Run was one of 12 GM operations the company said would be cut by 1995.

GM Chairman Robert Stempel hailed the January increase as "whipsawing" - a form of "showboating" - by playing one plant off against another to force UAW's agreement to consider work-rule changes.

"It looks to the international has to disassociate itself from which concessions its local in Arlington, Texas, agreed to consider to get an edge in competition with GM's Willow Run assembly plant near Ypsilanti, Mich. GM said in December one of the two would close.

"There was no talk of work rule concessions at the Willow Run plant, which makes many of the same rear-wheel drive large cars assembled in the Arlington plant," McMullen said. On Monday, Willow Run was one of 12 GM operations the company said would be cut by 1995.

GM Chairman Robert Stempel hailed the January increase as "whipsawing" - a form of "showboating" - by playing one plant off against another to force UAW's agreement to consider work-rule changes.

"It looks to the international has to disassociate itself from which concessions its local in Arlington, Texas, agreed to consider to get an edge in competition with GM's Willow Run assembly plant near Ypsilanti, Mich. GM said in December one of the two would close.

"There was no talk of work rule concessions at the Willow Run plant, which makes many of the same rear-wheel drive large cars assembled in the Arlington plant," McMullen said. On Monday, Willow Run was one of 12 GM operations the company said would be cut by 1995.

GM Chairman Robert Stempel hailed the January increase as "whipsawing" - a form of "showboating" - by playing one plant off against another to force UAW's agreement to consider work-rule changes.

"It looks to the international has to disassociate itself from which concessions its local in Arlington, Texas, agreed to consider to get an edge in competition with GM's Willow Run assembly plant near Ypsilanti, Mich. GM said in December one of the two would close.

"There was no talk of work rule concessions at the Willow Run plant, which makes many of the same rear-wheel drive large cars assembled in the Arlington plant," McMullen said. On Monday, Willow Run was one of 12 GM operations the company said would be cut by 1995.
The future for our generation exists today

...and though the rules of the road have been lodged, it's only people's games, you gotta dodge/it's alright, ma, I can make it...

The post-Woodstock children must be the bold, new innovators and makers of positive change in the world. We must eliminate all the negativity, pettiness, and cliché facets of our society that do exist and may eventually cause irreparable damage.

Enlarge the narrow scope of choice left open (or closed) to us. Create a new consciousness, based on humanism, as we stop trying to prove our humanism to older generations whose natural resistance to change has so long prevailed.

Like my English teacher in high school once said to me, "Your generation is nothing but a watered-down version of the Last Decade who serves no other purpose but to make money and to finish off the death of the planet."

I can't change his views, but I can spit out the rotten fruits of hope he has offered to me, and instead I'll savor the gifts of a barefoot girl lost somewhere in a southern Indiana summer night.

Today may seem bleak, but tomorrow things are gonna be better. Don't pity our generation, as we won't pity ourselves. It's alright, ma, [we're] only bleeding.

Guy Loranger is a freshman in the College of Arts and Letters and a Viewpoint Copy Editor.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"We carry with us the wonders we seek without us."

Sir Thomas Browne

Stack inside a mobile? submit: QUOTES, P.O. Box Q, ND, IN 46556

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556 (219) 239-5303

1991-92 General Board

Managing Editor
Lise Eaton

Advertising Manager
Julie Sheridan

Production Manager
Kris Murphy

Sales Manager
Mark Sparrow

Design Manager
Dave Phillips

Editorial Assistant
John Gilmore

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame de L'ete and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the views of the editors or the administration. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible.Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, News Editor, Viewpoint Editor, Accoutant, Photo Editor, Sports Editor, and Saint Mary's Editor. Commentaries, letters, and reviews (except for book reviews) are published as space permits. Commentaries are available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus through letter, is encouraged.
Enlightenment and simple changes define success

Sally Greene
Guest Columnist

The six counties of Northern Ireland are a gerrymandered entity designed to ensure a small but permanent Protestant-unionist majority. Forty percent of the population are Catholics and Protestants lack the kind of employment rights that Americans take for granted: health care for all women (Catholic and Protestant) arrested for political protests, equal representation, and testimony of paid perjurers or on the basis of coerced confessions used against them. The United States and the United Kingdom have seen similar situations.

Amnesty International, while deploring the actions of the IRA, has condemned the terrorist acts of the Irish government and the British Army and other security forces for their heavy-handed tactics in interrogating prisoners. Sinn Fein, the legal political arm of the IRA, as well as the less radical Social Democratic Labour Party (SDLP), have pushed for continuing the talks on Northern Ireland; the British, however, have called off the talks until the upcoming elections, for fear of losing the small but influential Northern Irish unionist vote.

Despite what Mr. Prickett says, the situation in the six counties is far from black; the hope remains that some glimmers of hope. The movement in Britain to remove the final military presence in the region is gaining momentum. All sides, Protestant and Catholic, republican and unionist, seek an end to the fighting; but none will quit as long as they are assured of their rights. The fight for justice and peace continues.

The North Irish Awareness Group does—working for ratification of the MacBride Principles for fair employment, and supporting programs that allow Northern Irish children of all religions to experience a summer in America free from sectarian violence.

The fact that the U.S. government debated for almost ten years before making its mis-guided decision to deport Joe Pesci to Northern Ireland does not make the six counties any less complex than Mr. Prickett's letter would lead us to believe. The only way to understand occupied Northern Ireland is to understand the reasons each side gives for its campaign of violence: these sides are comprised of the local and national, the state and the government, the IRA, IUDA, RUC, UFE, UUP, and INLA. The British Army and the Ulster Defense Regiment are the two most powerful forces in the region. And yet, they are not the only players on the stage. The British government has condemned the terrible violence in Northern Ireland's six counties and has opened American eyes to the injustices that define life in the six counties. The Northern Ireland Awareness Group does—working for ratification of the MacBride Principles for fair employment, and supporting programs that allow Northern Irish children of all religions to experience a summer in America free from sectarian violence.

The fact that the U.S. government debated for almost ten years before making its mis-guided decision to deport Joe Pesci to Northern Ireland does not make the six counties any less complex than Mr. Prickett's letter would lead us to believe. The only way to understand occupied Northern Ireland is to understand the reasons each side gives for its campaign of violence: these sides are comprised of the local and national, the state and the government, the IRA, IUDA, RUC, UFE, UUP, and INLA. The British Army and the Ulster Defense Regiment are the two most powerful forces in the region. And yet, they are not the only players on the stage. The British government has condemned the terrible violence in Northern Ireland's six counties and has opened American eyes to the injustices that define life in the six counties. The Northern Ireland Awareness Group does—working for ratification of the
Loving the Albatross

Cavanaugh Hall performs annual play to benefit the Andy Sowder Scholarship fund

By ANGEL FARAH
Accent Writer

This 1992 play, "Nobody Loves an Albatross," is being presented at Notre Dame this weekend. "Nobody Loves an Albatross" features a shady Hollywood screenwriter/con artist played by Junior Dave Richardson, who tries to earn money by taking advantage of young and inexperienced screenwriters employed to write plays for him.

By utilizing a "learn while you earn" philosophy, this complacent villain turns around and sells the scripts for ten times the amount he paid for them. Says the director, Chad Kerlin, "We're up there having fun, and we want everyone else to have fun, too."

Besides being one of a string of the longest running plays on campus, this Cavanaugh Hall play features many experienced as well as first time actors.

The founding reason behind these annual plays is in reference to a former Cavanaugh resident, Andy Sowder, who died during his senior year while on a ski trip. As a memorial to Andy, a scholarship fund was set up for Cavanaugh residents, which is funded by the annual plays. The play itself is financed through student concessions stand, the club connectors grant, and donations from Cavanaugh residents.

The Cavanaugh Hall players will perform "Nobody Loves an Albatross" tonight through Saturday at Washington Hall at 8:10 p.m. all proceeds from the play go directly to the scholarship fund.

The director of the play, Chad Kerlin, who also directed last year's play, is a senior engineering major. Kerlin was involved in drama in high school, and continues in drama here at Notre Dame as an outside interest, or hobby.

The play will be Thursday at Theodore's at 7:30 p.m. The three hour jam will feature 10 student acts.

Acoustic Jam organizer Brian Haggarty said that Zahm hopes that the premier of the Acoustic Jam will "go well so that it will hopefully become a yearly event taking place in late February or early March of each year."

"The purpose of the Acoustic Jam is to raise money for the Logan Center which will use it to send a child to the Greenlake Summer Camp" said Haggarty.

The camp is located in Wisconsin and costs approximately $425 per person to attend. "Zahm hopes to raise enough money through the Jam to enable at least one child to attend," stated Haggarty. The Jam costs $2 to attend.

Former Irish Head Basketball Coach Digger Phelps is the official spokesperson for the Logan Center, said Haggarty. "Digger Phelps told the Hall Presidents Council about the Logan Center and that is how Zahm became interested in helping it," stated Haggarty, who is also president of Zahm Hall.

"Seventeen bands tried out for the 10 performing spots, including one Saint Mary's band," said Haggarty. Haggarty hopes that "the turnout will equal the tremendous audition response."

Are you a bookworm?
Would you like to become The Observer's literary critic?

The Accent department is looking for an undergraduate or graduate student with strong writing skills to serve as a regular literary critic for The Observer. Just like the book reviewers of The New York Times, you will be the ND/SMC community's voice on the world of the written word. If you are interested, submit a writing sample and a one-page personal statement to Jahnelle Harrigan at The Observer office by March 4. Arts and Letters majors preferred. Any questions call Jahnelle at 239-5303.
It's no secret that people don't flock to Notre Dame to partake of the music scene. Campus bands play at dorm dances, rock the local bars, and perhaps develop small, loyal followings. Then the members graduate, get secure jobs in totally unrelated fields, and have fond memories of their brief musical careers.

But The Perfect Word is about to change all that.

Four men have found each other, cultivated their talents, and begun their ascension to "the big time." And, if you believe it, they started out at Notre Dame.

The current members of The Perfect Word have been playing together for only eight months, but their involvement began long ago.

Singer/songwriter/guitarist Marc Conklin and drummer Paul Cepaglia have known each other since childhood. They grew up together in South Bend, attended Adams High School and both received undergraduate degrees from Notre Dame. The other two members of the band, singer/songwriter/guitarist Joe Bregande and bassist Paul Cepaglia, hail from New York. Bregande has a brother at Notre Dame this year, and another who graduated from the U of O.

With a solid reputation among the college crowd in the Buffalo, New York area, and a demo album being released nationally in the next two months, The Perfect Word is well on its way to becoming established as a talented all-original band.

Every group has a "sound," but the sound of The Perfect Word is difficult to describe, even for the members themselves. "It's a mixture of fun and scholarship at Medieval banquet," said Bregande. "At first, it's very different being in the classroom setting. Faculty take us on a journey, and then we have to react to it."

Loughridge, when asked how professors react to some idea of their music, said the professors have directed the band to the characteristics of two very different bands, XTC and The Who.

The Perfect Word's songs come from different musical backgrounds, but have managed to merge their seemingly contrasting styles. The result, says Loughridge, is rock-and-roll, medieval, "definitely danceable" and rhythmic, with "a new kind of beat" to which the crowd can respond.

As their sounds come together, so does their career. Loughridge said, "At first, it's very different being in an all-original band. I always thought people would say, 'Good music is good music,' no matter what." But playing original songs requires patience, he insisted because the audience expects to hear at least a few covers. The Perfect Word doesn't provide those covers, so their original work must stand on its own.

The Perfect Word is bonding as a group and as an original musical sound, and "When the band gets better, the audience gets better," said Loughridge. "At first, it's very different being in the classroom setting. Faculty take us on a journey, and then we have to react to it."

Establishing The Perfect Word in the bars and clubs in the Buffalo area was not easy. The members have been in Fredonia, New York since July, and after becoming friends, stabilizing finances, and getting to know the area, they were hit with the struggles of the music business.

Loughridge insisted, "It's definitely 100 percent more work than being a band at Notre Dame ... We had to prove ourselves all over again.

Initially, people in Fredonia were unfamiliar with the name and the style of the new Perfect Word. But after playing at a couple of bars, the band began to get noticed, and people began to become interested in the group. "At first, it's very different being in the classroom setting. Faculty take us on a journey, and then we have to react to it."

The biggest, most fun event of the year for the club occurs this Saturday. The third annual Medieval Club Banquet will start at 6 p.m. in the Faculty Dining Room of South Dining Hall.

The banquet offers a sampling of different eras and cultures, with a variety of foods and music. The buffet includes soup, salad, rice, meat pie, vegetables, a chicken dinner, and dessert. "It's as close to an authentic medieval banquet as we're going to get. Catering makes this a success," Landry said.

The Perfect Word took part in the banquet last year with a successful performance, and they are eager to do it again.

The incoming president Dave Lopez and incoming vice-president John Houghton, both juniors with majors in Film and Video, will work on the banquet and other Medieval Club events this year. "They will be selling tapes for $2 this weekend in an effort to raise money for their official demo," Lopez May Rise, which will be released in a month and a half.

Target areas for the album include Buffalo, Minneapolis, Chicago and Cleveland. As well as anywhere they can contact agents and other people in the business. After organizing in South Bend this summer, The Perfect Word will head to Minneapolis, where they will try to get a record deal.

Marc Conklin graduated from the College of Arts and Letters in 1991. With him at Notre Dame was also a member of The 5 O'Clock Shadows, whose songs appear on Jericho Sessions, last year's CD compiling the music of various campus bands.

Upcoming guests of the Perfect Word are members of The 5 O'Clock Shadows, who sing in a popular band called The Shadows. The group will perform Friday and Saturday at Club 23.

The Perfect Word (left to right): Joe Bregande, Paul Cepaglia, Paul Loughridge, and Marc Conklin, will perform Friday and Saturday at Club 23.
Bouts continued from page 20

The crowd hissed with disap­proval. The disappointment showed on the face of Dougherty as he congratulated his opponent.

"I'm afraid everyone thought it was a close fight," said Dougherty, though I thought I fought well. I can't say if I won or lost, that's up to me to de­cide.

"I was able to land that stiff jab on his face and roundhouse, but I let the other away as the last round was a washout for me."

In other action, freshman seminar classmate Mike Mullany continued his run into the finals, by holding off Kevin Mullany in the 155-pound division. Goddard took control of the fight at the opening bell, clearly winning the first round.

In the third, Goddard aban­doned his jab which had been so successful in the early rounds and began relying solely on his ground game. Mullany made pay for his mistakes by catching him with solid shots before the bell sounded.

"I was a little tired in the third round and I knew I had to be smart," stated the 155-pounder. "I didn't want to go back up for another round, but he managed to couple a good shot off before the bell sounded.

"I'm glad everyone thought it was a close fight," said Dougherty, though I thought I fought well. I can't say if I won or lost, that's up to me to de­cide."

"I was able to land that stiff jab on his face and roundhouse, but I let the other away as the last round was a washout for me."

In other action, freshman seminar classmate Mike Mullany continued his run into the finals, by holding off Kevin Mullany in the 155-pound division. Goddard took control of the fight at the opening bell, clearly winning the first round.

In the third, Goddard aban­doned his jab which had been so successful in the early rounds and began relying solely on his ground game. Mullany made pay for his mistakes by catching him with solid shots before the bell sounded.

"I was a little tired in the third round and I knew I had to be smart," stated the 155-pounder. "I didn't want to go back up for another round, but he managed to couple a good shot off before the bell sounded.

"I'm glad everyone thought it was a close fight," said Dougherty, though I thought I fought well. I can't say if I won or lost, that's up to me to de­cide."

"I was able to land that stiff jab on his face and roundhouse, but I let the other away as the last round was a washout for me."

In other action, freshman seminar classmate Mike Mullany continued his run into the finals, by holding off Kevin Mullany in the 155-pound division. Goddard took control of the fight at the opening bell, clearly winning the first round.

In the third, Goddard aban­doned his jab which had been so successful in the early rounds and began relying solely on his ground game. Mullany made pay for his mistakes by catching him with solid shots before the bell sounded.

"I was a little tired in the third round and I knew I had to be smart," stated the 155-pounder. "I didn't want to go back up for another round, but he managed to couple a good shot off before the bell sounded.

"I'm glad everyone thought it was a close fight," said Dougherty, though I thought I fought well. I can't say if I won or lost, that's up to me to de­cide."

"I was able to land that stiff jab on his face and roundhouse, but I let the other away as the last round was a washout for me."

In other action, freshman seminar classmate Mike Mullany continued his run into the finals, by holding off Kevin Mullany in the 155-pound division. Goddard took control of the fight at the opening bell, clearly winning the first round.

In the third, Goddard aban­doned his jab which had been so successful in the early rounds and began relying solely on his ground game. Mullany made pay for his mistakes by catching him with solid shots before the bell sounded.

"I was a little tired in the third round and I knew I had to be smart," stated the 155-pounder. "I didn't want to go back up for another round, but he managed to couple a good shot off before the bell sounded.
Random
continued from page 20

thinking that he was good then," Russell responded. "I can see some similarities between us. We are both thin, and we both like to slash to the hole. I would say that I am a better ball handler, but he is a lot better at almost everything else."

The six-foot-eight Sealy is listed as a forward, but has the ability to rebound and then start the fast break. These same attributes can be found in Russell, but the one thing Sealy has over Russell is three years of collegiate experience.

Hussell is still only a freshman, and there are times when it shows.

"This season has been a long road. I need to find some consistency. There have been times when I've played well, but there have also been times when my maturity (level) has brought me down," Russell explained.

"The seniors have helped me
a lot, especially Elmer (Bennett). They can tell when I'm about to go over the edge and go crazy. They come over and tell me to relax and stay in control. I've got to credit them a lot."

However, if you look back to Sealy's freshman year at St.
John's, you will find that he too struggled at times, in a year in which the Redmen finished the regular season 15-13 and won the post-season NIT. Though he averaged a respectable 12.9
ppg, he committed a career-high 82 turnovers and shot only 55.8 percent from the foul line.

One thing Sealy did do a lot of in that 1988-89 campaign was display the skills he learned on the playgrounds of the Bronx, much in the way that Russell's Brooklyn blacktop background is evident on wood of the JACC.

"Coming from New York, I think I've got somewhat of an attitude. I've always done things my way, and now it's kind of hard to get under a system, set up plays and get under control. That has been a very difficult transition for me," Russell commented.

Over the past three seasons
Sealy has learned to blend his playground flair with discipline of the collegiate game. By doing so, he has developed into a potential NBA lottery selection and compiled some impressive statistics.

This season he is averaging 22.5 points and 6.6 rebounds per game, and he needs only 180 points to eclipse Chris Mullin's all-time St. John's scoring record.

Though Russell has not posted the numbers that Sealy did in his freshman year, Russell has the same raw talent and natural ability that Sealy had when he entered St. John's, now the only thing Russell needs to do is refine his game to the hard wood in the same way which Sealy has done.

If Russell is able to do so, I believe that he will encounter the same success that Sealy has had in his college career.

"Potentially, I can see myself being weird to play against St.
John's and Malik Sealy. It is going to be the strangest thing to look down court and actually have to go out and play against him instead of just watching him. Hopefully, I won't be rooting for him as I play against him."

IT'S MARDI GRAS
AT St. MARY'S!

Come enjoy Mardi Gras like never before--St. Mary's style. On Thursday, February 27th, their own Haggar College Center will be filled with live music, games, and prizes including the Grand Prize Drawing for an $150 airline voucher and a portable stereo (w/ cd player). So stop by between 7:30 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. and don't miss out on the best party north of New Orleans.

THE MORRISSEY FILMFESTIVAL

Before you go out...

Check out

what films
ND dorms produced!

DOORS OPEN 8:00 PM
BAND 8:15-9:00 PM
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28 9:00PM
STEPAN CENTER

ALL PROCEEDS TO BENEFIT ST. HEDWIG'S OUTREACH CENTER

"We laughed,
we cried,
it was better than Cats." Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert

ONE SHOW ONLY!
SO COME EARLY!
Baseball

continued from page 20
always going to be a team with a great attitude, because when we start playing like a bunch of talented superstars, we’re not going to achieve the things we want to.

"The concern is that we play the way we’re capable of. We’re going to lose some games, but we can’t get concerned if we lose a game here and there. We can’t play to some unrealistic expectations; we’ve got to play up to our own real expectations."

Notre Dame’s most unsettled position in the preseason was catcher, where versatile co-captain Cory Mee (.355, 0 HR, 34 RBI), whom Murphy characterizes as 277 ‘Mr. Consistency,” sophomore Matt Haas (.278, 3, 15) and freshman Bob Lisanti squared off.

However, Murphy for now has Mee penciled in at third base, meaning Haas and Lisanti will split the catching duties. "Haas got valuable experience against LSU and Texas last year," said Murphy. "He’s been in big games before, so he knows what it’s all about."

The rest of the infield will consist of 1991 second-team All-MCC picks Joe Binkiewicz (.379, 15, 48) at first and Craig Counsell (.317, 2, 37) at shortstop, freshman All-American and first-team All-MCC second baseman Greg Layson (.338, 20 SB), and Mee.

seventh-round pick of the Kansas City Royals last June, and Robby Burk will be the primary backups.

“Our range is not very good (in the infield), with the exception of Layson, but the infield is under control,” said Murphy. "Counsell, Bink, and Mee add maturity and stability, and that’s what we’re all about."

Binkiewicz especially will be counted on to have a big year for the Irish. With Frank Jacobs (.333, 20, 79) in the New York Mets organization now, Binkiewicz is the leading run producer returning from last year. His 15 home runs last year is three times as many as Adam Malanos, the next highest returnee, and his 48 runs batted in tops all Irish coming back for 1992.

"He’s committed, and there’s no question Bink will have a better year," said Murphy of his top power threat. "(But) I think we’ll be more of a speed team. We’ll have occasional power, but we have the potential to do a little bit of everything.

In the outfield, only left field was up for grabs coming into the preseason. Center fielder Dan Binkiewicz (.276, 1, 14) ‘is as good as anyone in the country defensively,’ according to Murphy, while right field is in good hands with junior Eric Danapilis (.374, 4, 43).

Danapilis was one of 40 collegiate invitees to the Team USA tryouts last summer for the Pan American Games after leading the Irish in on base percentage last year and finishing second in batting average. He also appeared in eight games out of the Notre Dame bullpen, earning a 2-1 record and three saves. "Eric is the total outfielder, the total player," praised Murphy.

Freshman Steve Verduzco has the inside track for the left field position. A fifth-round draft pick by the Philadelphia Phillies, he turned down a six-figure contract to join the Irish. But Notre Dame’s strength could lie in its pitching staff. The Irish return 43 of their 45 wins from last year, including preseason MCC Player of the Year pick Pat Leahy (8-3, 4.76 ERA) and junior Alan Walania (11-5, 3.69, three saves).

Leahy will be joined in the starting rotation by sophomore Tom Price (7-2, 2.55), junior Chris Michalski (9-1, 2.47) and Craig Allen, who Murphy calls by far the most ahead of all the freshmen so far.

Walania, Danapilis, freshman Tim Kraus and junior David Sinnes (5-2, 4.73, 89 SO) will pick up most of the innings in relief, with Sinnies penciled in now as the closer.

"Dave’s come a long way mentally," Murphy said. "He’s learned not to worry about things and be a little more carefree. He can make the adjustments as long as he doesn’t worry about things he can’t control.

"But it’s too tough in college to go with just one guy at closer. He’s got the most experience of the people who will be at that role, so I anticipate he’ll be in that position a lot."

And Murphy and the Irish have their way, Sinnes will be in that role often—saving Notre Dame victories.

Cavanaugh Hall Players Present:

NOBODY LOVES AN ALBATROSS

A Contemporary Comedy
By Ronald Alexander

WASHINGTON HALL
FEBRUARY 27, 28, 29
8:10 PM

Donations accepted for Andy Souder Fund

FREE ADMISSION
Interhall hockey teams ready for playoffs
By JIM VOLG
Sports Writer

Falling somewhere in between ice skating in freshman gym class, club hockey and the Notre Dame varsity team, interhall hockey has provided an opportunity for players of various talents. "It's not very competitive," said Fisher captain Don Held, "but guys learning how to play can go out. Teams will take anybody they can get."

With just one round of games left, several teams stand out as perennial powers on the ice. In one division, Fisher is head and shoulders above the rest, owning a 12-1 record. Fisher ended the season with a 45-12 combined score. They embarrassed anyone they can get out. Teams will take anybody they can get. With just one round of games left, several teams stand out as perennial powers on the ice. In one division, Fisher is head and shoulders above the rest, owning a 12-1 record. Fisher ended the season with a 45-12 combined score. They embarrassed anybody they can get out. Teams will take anybody they can get.

Hoops
continued from page 20
Sobczak saw action in almost all of Loyola's games last year averaging a team-leading 4.1 assists per game. Atkins was the Rambler's second highest scorer last year averaging 13.7 points a game. He is a hot-handed shooter with a knack for the three-pointer and currently holds Loyola's record for the three-pointer and currently holds Loyola's record for the three-pointer and currently holds Loyola's record for the three-pointer and currently holds Loyola's record. He has provided an opportunity for players of various talents. "It's not very competitive," said Fisher captain Don Held, "but guys learning how to play can go out. Teams will take anybody they can get."

With just one round of games left, several teams stand out as perennial powers on the ice. In one division, Fisher is head and shoulders above the rest, owning a 12-1 record. Fisher ended the season with a 45-12 combined score. They embarrassed anybody they can get out. Teams will take anybody they can get.

With just one round of games left, several teams stand out as perennial powers on the ice. In one division, Fisher is head and shoulders above the rest, owning a 12-1 record. Fisher ended the season with a 45-12 combined score. They embarrassed anybody they can get out. Teams will take anybody they can get.

With just one round of games left, several teams stand out as perennial powers on the ice. In one division, Fisher is head and shoulders above the rest, owning a 12-1 record. Fisher ended the season with a 45-12 combined score. They embarrassed anybody they can get out. Teams will take anybody they can get.
Wrestlers fall to 15th-ranked Boilers
Weaver manages draw with 31-year-old U.S. Marine

By JIM VOGL
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame wrestling team put in a good effort against 15th-ranked Purdue last night, but a few mistakes came back to haunt the Irish, as they lost 18-17.

The Irish hope to have all their problems fixed by March 7, when they participate in the NCAA Regionals in Iowa City.

Last night's match elevated to hair-raising intensity in the heavyweight finale as the stage was set for a classic rematch. With the Notre Dame down 16-11 at the end of regulation, Purdue head coach Mitch conver. His order was to put in a good effort, but not to let the score slip away.

Purdue head coach Mitch Hall expected a close match. "This match is typical," H

Purdue head coach Mitch Hall expected a close match. "This match is typical. We come down to heavyweight all the time. We've got a few guys on the team that don't know how to win, along with some guys I can count on every time."

On the other hand, Irish head coach Frank McCann thought his team should have been ahead by more than just the two points. "I was hoping we'd win, but we didn't," McCann said.

The other costly error came at 150, where McCann inserted freshman Brian Murphy and bumped Jamie Boyd down to 142. Murphy, starting his first dual meet after going 7-4 in tournament action, scored a 10-4 triumph over Purdue's Ed Pendoski.

"He (Murphy) had the major decision and he let the kid take him down at the end," said McCann. "That's the match right there. I said to my assistants, 'I hope that doesn't happen.'" McCann said.

Weaver managed an escape and held on for a draw. "I don't know what happened," said an emotional Catherine Restovich. Restovich led the Belles in 23 points, including two second half takedowns, and grabbing four rebounds.

"I think we got into foul trouble," she said. "Julie got into foul trouble and she is a big part of our game. And, we missed Janet."

"They out muscled us and we got into foul trouble. That is what really got us in trouble," remarked Belles coach Don Cromer. "We got behind, we got into foul trouble and we couldn't get back into the game. We hesitated too much."

Senior Kate Mulherin turned in perhaps her best performance of the season scored 10 points and led the Belles in rebounding with 10. Junior center Kim Holmes tallied 10 points, and pulled down seven rebounds.

Their utilizing speed on the fast break, the Belles opened up an 11-point lead against the Lady Knights with 9:17 remaining, but were held scoreless the remainder of the half. The Belles held on despite Snyder's absence and exited the half with their three point advantage, 35-32.

"Rusty was very determined to win," said Cromer. "It was her last game. She gave 150 percent. She gave everything she had. We couldn't ask any more from Rusty."

Getting no breaks from the referee, though, Snyder was forced to sit for the remainder of the game with just over nine minutes remaining as she was called for her fifth foul. Snyder left the game with only seven points, five rebounds and two blocked shots.

"I just didn't get any breaks," said Snyder. "I told the refs take me out of the game."

Belles end home season with tough loss to Calvin

By CHRIS BACON
Sports Writer

It was a game to be remembered.

It was a game some may wish to forget.

Last night, amidst the excitement and sorrow at the end of the 1991-92 home season, the Saint Mary's basketball team was defeated by Calvin College, 79-68. It was a game long anticipated for by the team, especially the seniors who wished to close the home season with a revenge victory against the team that had dethroned them their second loss of the season, 72-69, in November. It was a game they won't forget.

This was a game they won't forget. It was a game the team that don't know how to win, along with some guys I can count on every time."

On the other hand, Irish head coach Frank McCann thought his team should have been ahead by more than just the two points. "I was hoping we'd win, but we didn't," McCann said.

The other costly error came at 150, where McCann inserted freshman Brian Murphy and bumped Jamie Boyd down to 142. Murphy, starting his first dual meet after going 7-4 in tournament action, scored a 10-4 triumph over Purdue's Ed Pendoski.

"He (Murphy) had the major decision and he let the kid take him down at the end," said McCann. "That's the match right there. I said to my assistants, 'I hope that doesn't happen.'" McCann said.

Weaver managed an escape and held on for a draw. "I don't know what happened," said an emotional Catherine Restovich. Restovich led the Belles in 23 points, including two second half takedowns, and grabbing four rebounds.

"I think we got into foul trouble," she said. "Julie got into foul trouble and she is a big part of our game. And, we missed Janet."

"They out muscled us and we got into foul trouble. That is what really got us in trouble," remarked Belles coach Don Cromer. "We got behind, we got into foul trouble and we couldn't get back into the game. We hesitated too much."

Senior Kate Mulherin turned in perhaps her best performance of the season scored 10 points and led the Belles in rebounding with 10. Junior center Kim Holmes tallied 10 points, and pulled down seven rebounds.

Their utilizing speed on the fast break, the Belles opened up an 11-point lead against the Lady Knights with 9:17 remaining, but were held scoreless the remainder of the half. The Belles held on despite Snyder's absence and exited the half with their three point advantage, 35-32.

"Rusty was very determined to win," said Cromer. "It was her last game. She gave 150 percent. She gave everything she had. We couldn't ask any more from Rusty."

Getting no breaks from the referee, though, Snyder was forced to sit for the remainder of the game with just over nine minutes remaining as she was called for her fifth foul. Snyder left the game with only seven points, five rebounds and two blocked shots.

"I just didn't get any breaks," said Snyder. "I told the refs take me out of the game."

Belles end home season with tough loss to Calvin

By CHRIS BACON
Sports Writer

It was a game to be remembered.

It was a game some may wish to forget.

Last night, amidst the excitement and sorrow at the end of the 1991-92 home season, the Saint Mary's basketball team was defeated by Calvin College, 79-68. It was a game long anticipated for by the team, especially the seniors who wished to close the home season with a revenge victory against the team that had dethroned them their second loss of the season, 72-69, in November. It was a game they won't forget.

This was a game they won't forget. It was a game the team that don't know how to win, along with some guys I can count on every time."

On the other hand, Irish head coach Frank McCann thought his team should have been ahead by more than just the two points. "I was hoping we'd win, but we didn't," McCann said.

The other costly error came at 150, where McCann inserted freshman Brian Murphy and bumped Jamie Boyd down to 142. Murphy, starting his first dual meet after going 7-4 in tournament action, scored a 10-4 triumph over Purdue's Ed Pendoski.

"He (Murphy) had the major decision and he let the kid take him down at the end," said McCann. "That's the match right there. I said to my assistants, 'I hope that doesn't happen.'" McCann said.

Weaver managed an escape and held on for a draw. "I don't know what happened," said an emotional Catherine Restovich. Restovich led the Belles in 23 points, including two second half takedowns, and grabbing four rebounds.

"I think we got into foul trouble," she said. "Julie got into foul trouble and she is a big part of our game. And, we missed Janet."

"They out muscled us and we got into foul trouble. That is what really got us in trouble," remarked Belles coach Don Cromer. "We got behind, we got into foul trouble and we couldn't get back into the game. We hesitated too much."

Senior Kate Mulherin turned in perhaps her best performance of the season scored 10 points and led the Belles in rebounding with 10. Junior center Kim Holmes tallied 10 points, and pulled down seven rebounds.

Their utilizing speed on the fast break, the Belles opened up an 11-point lead against the Lady Knights with 9:17 remaining, but were held scoreless the remainder of the half. The Belles held on despite Snyder's absence and exited the half with their three point advantage, 35-32.

"Rusty was very determined to win," said Cromer. "It was her last game. She gave 150 percent. She gave everything she had. We couldn't ask any more from Rusty."

Getting no breaks from the referee, though, Snyder was forced to sit for the remainder of the game with just over nine minutes remaining as she was called for her fifth foul. Snyder left the game with only seven points, five rebounds and two blocked shots.

"I just didn't get any breaks," said Snyder. "I told the refs take me out of the game."

The Observer is looking for the paid positions of

SMC DAY EDITORS
Submit 1 page resume to Anna Marie Tabor Rm 406 McCandless or leave at the front desk of McCandless by Monday at 5:00 pm.

An American Company Serving America.

Dick's Marathon (Hank's Bakery) One Free Tow to Our Station for Repair FREE (545.40) Free 10k Run Fri. 8:00 AM and Indy Fun Run Sun. July 11th 10k Free and Indy Fun Run Sun. July 11th 10k Free
By RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

The two hottest teams in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference meet tonight as the Notre Dame women's basketball team travels to Chicago to face Loyola.

The Irish (10-14, 7-4) are currently riding a four-game win streak, while the Ramblers (9-15, 5-5) have won their last three games. With a victory, Notre Dame clinches at least the number-two seed in the MCC tournament in March.

Loyola has been coming on as of late, having won four of its last six games following a 78-68 loss to Notre Dame in the last six games following a 78-68 win to Notre Dame in the last six games following a 78-68 win.

Notre Dame women's hoops looks for fifth consecutive win

Irish women's hoops looks for fifth consecutive win for the Irish, they have been getting much better scoring balance during their win streak. Sophomore Sherri O'Keefe (7.4 ppg) has averaged over 12 points in the past four games, providing Notre Dame with the outside threat it had been sorely missing.

Seniors Margaret Nowlin (16.9 ppg, 9.1 rpg) and Hayesbert (11.7 ppg, 5.9 rpg) have been solid throughout, and Leary has averaged 4.6 points and 5.4 assists since entering the starting lineup nine games ago. The Irish have gone 6-3 with Leary as a starter.

Freshman Letitia Bowen (7.6 ppg, 7.9 rpg) rounds out the Notre Dame starting five, while Marcinik (12.6 ppg) has taken over Hayesbert's role as sixth man for the Irish. Hayesbert re- placed junior Coquese Washington when Washington reaggravated a knee injury.

Tonight's game will be televised on a tape-delay basis Friday at 11:30 p.m. on SportsChannel.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Sportsbriefs are accepted during business hours Sunday through Friday at the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune. Please submit your brief, your name, your telephone number, and the dates the brief is to run.

We will be unloading the boats for our spring season this weekend. The Col. Stephens and Platinum Packages, are the most recently dated curriculum, our computer-based tutorial program, homework materials that include released LSATs, and a toll-free Dial-A-Teacher line. Two-day clinics, which are included in Ronkin's LSAT Gold and Platinum Packages, are also available for an additional fee.

Ronkin's New LSAT Premium Program: The Best Way To Prepare For The LSAT

If you're one of the nation's 95,000 applicants determined to get into an accredited law school, you know the competition is tough. Since there are only 44,000 openings, a high score on the LSAT is crucial.

That's why Ronkin created the LSAT Premium Program which offers a choice of three varied levels of assistance.

• LSAT Preparation Course

Using the most recently updated curriculum, our 40-hour course stresses critical thinking, argument analysis and logical reasoning. Besides classroom time, our comprehensive LSAT course provides live tutorial, three diagnostic exams, three practice exams, a computer-based tutorial program, homework materials that include released LSATs, and a toll-free Dial-A-Teacher line. Two-day clinics, which are included in Ronkin's LSAT Gold and Platinum Packages, are also available for an additional fee.

• LSAT Gold Package

In addition to the 40-hour LSAT course, Ronkin's LSAT Gold Package includes our two-day LSAT Intensive-Study Clinics offered immediately prior to LSAT examination dates. These clinics concentrate on Logical Reasoning and Logic Games. The Gold Package also includes our Law School Success Program which covers law school exam preparation, legal writing, legal research, and other planning.

• LSAT Platinum Package

This plan provides everything you'll need to get into law school and to be a success. Enroll and you'll receive our LSAT Preparation Course, LSAT Intensive-Study Clinics, Law School Success Program, plus our Law School Selection and Application Assistance Programs.

So if you're looking for the best in LSAT and law school preparation programs, call The Ronkin Educational Group.
Thursday, February 27, 1992

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

Scorpion school

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Shaves off
2. Shaves off
3. Most like Jack
4. Watch out
5. Word before fire
6. Watch out
7. Watch out
8. Watch out
9. Word before fire
10. Word before fire
11. Word before fire
12. Word before fire
13. Word before fire
14. Word before fire
15. Word before fire
16. Word before fire
17. Word before fire
18. Word before fire
19. Word before fire
20. Word before fire
21. Word before fire
22. Word before fire
23. Word before fire
24. Word before fire
25. Word before fire
26. Word before fire
27. Word before fire
28. Word before fire
29. Word before fire
30. Word before fire
31. Word before fire
32. Word before fire
33. Word before fire
34. Word before fire
35. Word before fire
36. Word before fire
37. Word before fire
38. Word before fire
39. Word before fire
40. Word before fire
41. Word before fire
42. Word before fire
43. Word before fire
44. Word before fire
45. Word before fire
46. Word before fire
47. Word before fire
48. Word before fire
49. Word before fire
50. Word before fire
51. Word before fire
52. Word before fire
53. Word before fire
54. Word before fire
55. Word before fire
56. Word before fire
57. Word before fire
58. Word before fire

DOWN
1. French cheese
2. Real estate incomes
3. Type of vacuum
4. Poet Robert
5. Former boxing name
6. Weapon
7. Overcome with fume
8. Portuguese
9. French cheese
10. Portals
11. Poetic
12. Rocky pinnacle
13. Miss Naldi
14. Long for
15. Morally low
16. Spirited horse
17. Rocky pinnacle
18. Rocky pinnacle
19. Rocky pinnacle
20. Rocky pinnacle
21. Rocky pinnacle
22. Rocky pinnacle
23. Rocky pinnacle
24. Rocky pinnacle
25. Rocky pinnacle
26. Rocky pinnacle
27. Rocky pinnacle
28. Rocky pinnacle
29. Rocky pinnacle
30. Rocky pinnacle
31. Rocky pinnacle
32. Rocky pinnacle
33. Rocky pinnacle
34. Rocky pinnacle
35. Rocky pinnacle
36. Rocky pinnacle
37. Rocky pinnacle
38. Rocky pinnacle
39. Rocky pinnacle
40. Rocky pinnacle
41. Rocky pinnacle
42. Rocky pinnacle
43. Rocky pinnacle
44. Rocky pinnacle
45. Rocky pinnacle
46. Rocky pinnacle
47. Rocky pinnacle
48. Rocky pinnacle
49. Rocky pinnacle
50. Rocky pinnacle
51. Rocky pinnacle
52. Rocky pinnacle
53. Rocky pinnacle
54. Rocky pinnacle
55. Rocky pinnacle
56. Rocky pinnacle
57. Rocky pinnacle
58. Rocky pinnacle

CAMPUS

7:30 p.m. Lecture: Postmodernism and Contemporary European Culture, "MEpicassoTV," Rosalind Krauss, Graduate Center of the City University of New York. Annenberg Auditorium, Suite Museum of Art. Sponsored by Kellogg Institute, Committee for European Studies, Departments of Economics, English, History, Government and International Studies, Sociology, Art History, Communication and Theatre, Romance Languages and Literature, Music and Philosophy, the School of Architecture, University Libraries and Saint Mary's College.

LECTURES

7 p.m. Film, "Hidden Agenda," with discussion by Patrick White, associate professor of English. Carroll Auditorium. Sponsored by Justice Education, Saint Mary's College.

8 and 10:30 p.m. Film, "The Naked Gun." Cushing Auditorium. Sponsored by Student Union Board. Admission S2.

MENU

Notre Dame
Grilled Pork Chops
Baked Cajun Cod
Rolled Cheese Omelets

Saint Mary's
Jambalaya w/Chicken
Chicken Jumbo Soup
Blackened Sword Fish
Grilled Rib-Eye Steak
Cajun Seafood w/Flour

CROSSWORD

SOLUTION:

ACROSS
1. Shaves off
2. Shaves off
3. Most like Jack
4. Watch out
5. Word before fire
6. Watch out
7. Watch out
8. Watch out
9. Word before fire
10. Word before fire
11. Word before fire
12. Word before fire
13. Word before fire
14. Word before fire
15. Word before fire
16. Word before fire
17. Word before fire
18. Word before fire
19. Word before fire
20. Word before fire
21. Word before fire
22. Word before fire
23. Word before fire
24. Word before fire
25. Word before fire
26. Word before fire
27. Word before fire
28. Word before fire
29. Word before fire
30. Word before fire
31. Word before fire
32. Word before fire
33. Word before fire
34. Word before fire
35. Word before fire
36. Word before fire
37. Word before fire
38. Word before fire
39. Word before fire
40. Word before fire
41. Word before fire
42. Word before fire
43. Word before fire
44. Word before fire
45. Word before fire
46. Word before fire
47. Word before fire
48. Word before fire
49. Word before fire
50. Word before fire
51. Word before fire
52. Word before fire
53. Word before fire
54. Word before fire
55. Word before fire
56. Word before fire
57. Word before fire
58. Word before fire

DOWN
1. French cheese
2. Real estate incomes
3. Type of vacuum
4. Poet Robert
5. Former boxing name
6. Weapon
7. Overcome with fume
8. Portuguese
9. French cheese
10. Portals
11. Poetic
12. Rocky pinnacle
13. Miss Naldi
14. Long for
15. Morally low
16. Spirited horse
17. Rocky pinnacle
18. Rocky pinnacle
19. Rocky pinnacle
20. Rocky pinnacle
21. Rocky pinnacle
22. Rocky pinnacle
23. Rocky pinnacle
24. Rocky pinnacle
25. Rocky pinnacle
26. Rocky pinnacle
27. Rocky pinnacle
28. Rocky pinnacle
29. Rocky pinnacle
30. Rocky pinnacle
31. Rocky pinnacle
32. Rocky pinnacle
33. Rocky pinnacle
34. Rocky pinnacle
35. Rocky pinnacle
36. Rocky pinnacle
37. Rocky pinnacle
38. Rocky pinnacle
39. Rocky pinnacle
40. Rocky pinnacle
41. Rocky pinnacle
42. Rocky pinnacle
43. Rocky pinnacle
44. Rocky pinnacle
45. Rocky pinnacle
46. Rocky pinnacle
47. Rocky pinnacle
48. Rocky pinnacle
49. Rocky pinnacle
50. Rocky pinnacle
51. Rocky pinnacle
52. Rocky pinnacle
53. Rocky pinnacle
54. Rocky pinnacle
55. Rocky pinnacle
56. Rocky pinnacle
57. Rocky pinnacle
58. Rocky pinnacle

Howie Mandel
Sunday, March 1
Stepan Center
at 8 PM
Tickets Now on Sale
ND/SMC . . . $10
General Public . . . $15

The Naked Gun
Thursday, February 27
8 PM & 10:30 PM
Fisher King
Friday, February 28
Saturday, February 29
8 PM & 10:30 PM
Shown in Cushing Auditorium
Admission $2
Irish baseball ready to begin

Murphy leaves disappointment of 1991 behind

By RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

How many collegiate baseball programs ran boast over 90 wins and a .765 winning percentage the past two seasons, and yet not make the NCAA playoffs either year?

Just one—Notre Dame. But this season, the Irish have the security of knowing that if they win the MCC—which they have done two of the past three years—they will do it with an automatic bid to the NCAA's.

So as the Irish look ahead to their season-opening double-header Friday with single games against Army and Navy at the third annual Service Academies Classic in Millington, Tenn., they hope to put the past behind them.

"Nobody can take away from us what we achieved last year," said fifth-year coach Pat Murphy, already the second-winningest coach in Notre Dame history. "We can all think of what might have been, but it's over with. We've put it behind us."

For the second straight year, the Irish start out the season on a grueling road trip that will take them through the Midwest Collegiate Baseball—Washington State, Indiana, Tennessee, Arizona State, and Miami—before their home opener April 2nd against Valparaiso.

Last season, Notre Dame used a 15-12 road swing, with wins at Texas and eventual national champion Louisiana State, as a springboard to a 45-16 record. This year, Murphy hopes for a repeat performance as the Irish open with 18 straight road games.

"It's great experience for a team to travel around and play some of the best teams and be under all sorts of adverse conditions," said Murphy. "It's character building, and it's something to build off for the rest of the year."

Murphy calls this his strongest team top-to-bottom. Thus far he's had at Notre Dame, and he is now putting a lot of confidence in the season, and into his best every game.

"So, the switch hasn't been that difficult," Murphy commented. "That talk really put a lot of confidence in me, something I had not had since the Kentucky game (January 3)."

At small forward, he still gets to showcase his outstanding ballhandling skills on occasion, but not have the pressure of bringing the ball up court every possession.

"At three, I have a lot more freedom, and I still get to handle the ball sometimes," Russell said. "So, the switch hasn't been that difficult."

This style of play is similar to an all-American candidate that will be visiting the Joyce ACC, this weekend—Malik Sealy of the 20th-ranked St. John's Redmen.

"I saw him (Sealy) play in high school, and I remember seeing them at one of our games," Russell commented. "I've never played against Malik Sealy, but I've heard that he's a great player."

Russell must blend Brooklyn with the Bend

In the Notre Dame men's basketball team's last four games freshman Malik Russell has been his playing time increase dramatically, and he is now splitting time with fellow freshman Billy Taylor at small forward.

Notre Dame hopes to rebound

MacLeod's squad looks to bounces Ramblers

By JENNIFER MARTEN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame basketball team will have a chance to forget Tuesday's Disappointing loss to Dayton with a win against the Loyola Ramblers tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the ACC.

After upsetting UCLA in an emotionally charged game on Saturday, the Irish (11-12) were not expecting to be beaten by the Flyers.

"After the game they were upset, they were down. It was very quiet on the bus, but we are going to bounce back," said Notre Dame coach John MacLeod at a press conference this afternoon. "The measure of your mental toughness is how many times you get back up before you get to the top."

Hopefully, the Irish will be able to get the game back on track against the Midwestern Collegiate Conference's Ramblers (2-6; 11-12). So far this season, Notre Dame has not faced well against teams in the MCC posting a poor 3-4-4 record against them. The Irish have lost to Butler, DePaul, Loyola and Dayton while defeating Marquette twice and the Hoyas twice.

"Everybody is jacked up to beat us and we have to be as jacked up as they are," explained MacLeod. "Coming in is a team that beat Detroit (Mercy) at home and Detroit knocked us on our tail here, so that should get our attention."

Intensity will be a major factor in tonight's game because this is the first time the teams have played each other since the 1985. In that contest, Notre Dame claimed a 71-58 victory. Loyola and Notre Dame have met 24 times and the Irish have come away with the victory 14 times.

The game will be a battle of upperclassmen. Returning starters for Loyola include guards Don Sobczak, Keir Rogers, and Hunter Attkins, all of whom are seniors and forward Eric Delor is a junior. All four will provide a formidable challenge to Notre Dame senior corps of Elmer Bennett, Dalmion Sweet, LaRonne Ellis and Keith Tower.

"Rogers is a big time offensive player, but they have three others in double figures and they've a very good offensive team," said MacLeod.