Two Yugoslavian republics form new state

BELGRADE. Yugoslavia (AP) — Two republics of Yugoslavia on Monday recreated the remains of their dismembered country into a new, Serbian-dominated state.

The Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, less than half the size of the defunct six-member federation, was proclaimed in the Belgrade parliament by the republic of Serbia and its lone ally, tiny Montenegro. The new state hopes to inherit the international recognition and privileges of the former Yugoslavia.

Leaders of the new country pledged its formation would balt the ethnic war that destroyed the federation founded at the end of World War II. The war has claimed more than 10,000 lives since June, when Slovenia and Croatia seceded, followed by Bosnia-Herzegovina this year.

The United States and the 12 European Community nations boycotted a proclamation ceremony staged by Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic, which included hoisting a new Yugoslav national flag.

It was the last flag in Europe to drop the Communist red star but otherwise retained the blue, white and red stripes of Yugoslavia, a federation founded in the ruins of World War I and reformed after World War II.

The European Community is likely to grant limited recognition while opposing the new Yugoslavia's immediate entry into international bodies, Dutch spokesman Dig Isthia said. EC foreign ministers meet Friday in Lisbon, Portugal, to discuss the status of the new state.

Macedonia also has broken from the federation but has not gained the same recognition as the other new states because of opposition by EC member Greece, which fears its own northern Macedonia region would be coveted by an independent Macedonia.

The West, weary of Balkan strife and wary of Milosevic's pledges of peace, is demanding concrete action from Serbia to curb violence in Bosnia-Herzegovina and relinquish territory captured by Serbs there and in Croatia.

Hours after the proclamation, Bosnian authorities in Sarajevo ordered the federal army to remove its 100,000 troops in Bosnia. But Gen. Milutin Kukanjac, commander of most troops there, earlier had told reporters the army will not withdraw.

The 51-member Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe has threatened to expel Yugoslavia if violence in Bosnia is not halted by Wednesday.

"I do not think the proclamation of the new state will mark the end of the agony and chaos," Milosevic said after the ceremony in Belgrade, the federal and Serbian capital.

Senate to consider co-ed housing issue

By CARRIE KINSELLA

The Student Senate resolved Monday to form a task force to examine the co-residential housing issue, responding to a recent survey in which 2,000 students indicated support for such an option.

The goal of co-ed housing, Senate members said, is to improve male-female relations on campus. A 1993 Student Government Report also showed overwhelming student support for co-residential housing.

Tyler Farmer presented the initial resolution, which recommended that the Notre Dame administration introduce co-ed housing. After extensive discussion by the Senate and students, the proposal was amended to provide a task force to research the project.

Research has seemed a key to gaining the administration's approval in the past, according to Student Body President Greg Butler, who mentioned that the resolution for pre-final study days passed quickly because it was "well-organized" and "well-researched."

Since co-ed housing is an issue over which the student body and the administration are likely to be divided, the Senate resolved to "appoint an independent task force to study the means of implementing optional co-residentiality."

The task force will also "assist the University administration and other relevant parties in the possible implementation of optional co-residentiality at Notre Dame," according to the resolution.

see SENATE/ page 4

22 underage students cited at lounge Saturday

By JULIE BARRETT

Assistant News Editor

The Stop Underage Drinking and Sales (S.U.D.S.) police force together with the South Bend and Indiana State police cited 22 Notre Dame, Saint Mary's and Holy Cross students for being minors in a tavern during a raid of Cap n' Cork Lounge at 11:06 p.m. last Saturday night, according to Sgt. James Moon of S.U.D.S.

Moon said that S.U.D.S. had been watching the bar after an underage drinker was arrested there on April 12. An undercover cop who was at Cap n' Cork, 441 E. La Salle St., Saturday night informed S.U.D.S. of the presence of underage drinkers there, Moon said.

Two other citations, Moon said, were issued to the bar owner for having minors in a tavern and permitting minors to litter.

The students charged were Michael Semo, Michael Schrock and Michael Fox of Dilllon; Ed Sullivan, Julie Gaddis and Molly Flood of Le Mans Hall; James Downey of Koman Hall; Rebecca Zurcher and Katherine LeBeau of McCandless Hall; Laura Lajwage and Kathleen Crossen of Walsh Hall; Richard Carrigan and Sean Hurley of McCandless.

Also cited were Aimee Terry of Singfield; Joseph Mattio of Fisher; Erich Miller of Alumni Hall; Mary Phean of Lewis Hall; Eve Coope of Howard Hall; Shannon Ryan of Pasquellia; Luis Torres of Stanford; Jennifer Walsh of Holy Cross Hall; and Jonathan Shean of Carroll View.

The penalties for the class B misdemeanor of minor in a tavern are $500 fine and jail time.

The Observer/Jake Hurley

The penalties for the class B misdemeanor of minor in a tavern are $500 fine and jail time.

The penalties for the class B misdemeanor of minor in a tavern are $500 fine and jail time.

The penalties for the class B misdemeanor of minor in a tavern are $500 fine and jail time.
Forget the aerial circus; run the ball

Knute Rockne may have implemented the forward pass, but were he to return to Notre Dame today, he would be shocked at the mockery that has resulted.

In the two years since the Notre Dame football team went 23-1 and won a national championship, the Fighting Irish have discovered Rick Mirer and a passing game. With it, they witnessed the beginning of the demise of Notre Dame football.

This weekend's Blue and Gold Classic, though only an intra-squad spring game, showed no signs of anything different.

Rick Mirer was decidedly spectacular, completing 13 of 23 passes for only an intra-squad spring game, showed no signs of anything different.

The heart and system under Head coach Lou Holtz is the only play needed in the Notre Dame football.

Cynthia Ehrhardt
Sports:

Quarterback Kevin McDougal's well-executed passes for Florida in this year's Blue and Gold Classic, though only an intra-squad spring game, showed no signs of anything different.

Rick Mirer was decidedly spectacular, completing 13 of 23 passes for only an intra-squad spring game, showed no signs of anything different.

The heart and system under Head coach Lou Holtz is the only play needed in the Notre Dame football.

Cynthia Ehrhardt
Sports:

Quarterback Kevin McDougal's well-executed passes for Florida in this year's Blue and Gold Classic, though only an intra-squad spring game, showed no signs of anything different.

Rick Mirer was decidedly spectacular, completing 13 of 23 passes for only an intra-squad spring game, showed no signs of anything different.

The heart and system under Head coach Lou Holtz is the only play needed in the Notre Dame football.
Visiting prof commemorates WWII bombing of Dresden

By ALLISON McCARTHY
News Writer

An audiovisual presentation at Notre Dame on the bombing of Dresden incorporated testimony of several witnesses to the World War II bombing of the German city, and of several American and British military personnel who served around it.

"Haunted cannot put an end to hatred. In this world, that never happens. We can end hatred. This is an eternal law," said Piet Ringer, professor of English and Scandinavian studies at the University of Wisconsin, quoting a Buddhist work. He said the quote expressed the moral behind his presentation Monday, "Requiem for a City: The Bombing of Dresden, February 14, 1945."

The lecture included the eyewitness accounts of American writer Kurt Vonnegut, who was an infantryman, who details the Dresden bombing in his book, Slaughterhouse Five. Dresden, the old Saxon capital, was located on the Elba River, and was well known as a magnificent city of culture, the "jewel of Germany," Ringer said. It had been compared with Paris, Venice and Rome and had produced such musical geniuses as Wagner and Strauss.

The date of the Allied bombing was Feb. 13, 1945, Shrove Tuesday, better known in the United States as Mardi Gras. At that time, the city was at its normal capacity of nearly 60,000. Ringer said. Over 1,000,000 people were in the city, due to the enormous influx of German refugees retreating westward, away from the Russian border.

The attack on the city was completely unexpected, Ringer said, leaving Dresden and its people totally vulnerable to the allies. It included three air raids, two British and one American, which smothered the city with thousands of tons of explosives, enough to make its glow visible from over 250 kilometers away, according to Ringer.

Ringer said one witness described the bombing as creating the "ignition of one of the worst firestorms ever witnessed by human beings."

The extent of damage to the city left the death count at an indefinite number, but estimates show between 30,000 and 130,000 were killed by burning and asphyxiation, he said.

According to a German woman who at the time was a girl in Dresden, the Americans had purposely targeted the people of the city who were trying to escape and not the communications networks or the railroads of Dresden.

Ringer ended his program with a memorial to Dresden and its citizens: a slide show accompanied by Shostakovich's String Quartet number eight, "Elegy for the City of Dresden," was a composer dedicated to "the memory of the victims of fascism and war."

The University of Notre Dame Alumni Association honored two Notre Dame graduates last weekend. Terence M. Devine, a 1942 alumnus from New York City, received the William Reynolds Award, which is given annually to a Notre Dame graduate who works with young people to improve their quality of life. The award was presented Friday.

Bleyer, who retired from his family's construction business in 1977, is the president of the board of trustees of the Kennedy Child Center, which provides educational programs for 247 children with physical, emotional and mental handicaps. Bleyer also serves on the board of the Aster Home for Children in Ribbon, N.Y., and is president of the Neighborhood Coalition for Shelter, a group of synagogues, churches, and community organizations which operates two shelters and a referral center for homeless people in New York.

Father Daniel Jenky, a 1970 graduate, received the James Armstrong Award. The award is given annually to a Notre Dame graduate and University employee who performed outstanding services for Notre Dame. Jenky was presented the award Saturday.

The event included the presentation of the Rafal Jozwik Memorial Scholarship, which is given annually to a student who shows dedication to the common good of the University and the larger community.

Campus Ministry... ...Considerations

Transitions

When I first came to Notre Dame as a freshman in 1968, I moved into Stanford Hall. There, rather quickly, my section mates and I settled into the typical routines of studying, playing sports, and complaining about the campus social life. (Joe Namath had been heavily recruited to play quarterback at Notre Dame just a few years before all this, and had been widely quoted as saying that he didn't want to live at any school where you had to swim across a lake to get a date.) We found out that the Shuttle Bus to St. Mary's worked just fine, and so we were happy.

Dorm parties typically went very late on Saturday nights, and everyone slept in on Sunday mornings. In the last few minutes before 1:00 pm, the whole campus would jump out of bed and rush to the dining hall where the big treat for Sunday lunch would be huge, broiled steaks. (This was before the time when people were afraid of red meat.)

On Tuesdays, the time when people were afraid of red meat.)

Sunday afternoon was a lazy time for conversations, reconstructing and exaggerating the events of the weekend, while we read the newspapers and watched TV. By 4:00 pm, it was time to really wake up, hit the showerers, and go to Mass in Keenan-Stanford chapel.

The rector of our neighboring dorm in those days was Fr. Bob Griffin, C.S.C., the same guy who still writes every week in The Observer with Letters to a Lonely God. We loved this priest. Griffin was an attorney, but he gave up the law to become a Jesuit and a priest. He had a great sense of humor and was always a source of inspiration for us. He was especially known for his sermons, which were always directly aimed at us and our concerns. The room was dark, everyone sat on the floor, and the altar was filled with dozens and dozens of candles. We felt close, as friends, protected, and holy.

At the end of freshman year, my Dad came to pick me up from school and happened to go to our favorite Mass. Fr. Griffin tried to say something to us about how it might be difficult that summer trying to pray in our own parishes, where things were straighter and likely much duller. My father always swears that Griffin told everybody not to feel too badly if they didn't go to Mass much, but just to wait until we got back together next Fall and things would be fine again. Actually, that's not what Griffin said. He was trying to help us prepare for leaving campus and moving out into a different milieu.

The end of the school year, and a little touch of nostalgia as I prepare for my 20th college reunion this summer, call all this to mind for me.

Several students in recent days have asked me how they can survive spiritually during the summer or after graduation, when they anticipate going to places where liturgy will be less satisfying than they are used to here in the residence halls.

One thing is sure, we must keep praying. I believe it is important to find a place where prayer is meaningful to us, where liturgy is well celebrated, even if it means going to several parishes in search of style and content that satisfies. Surely the Lord is present in every moment of prayer and available to the people in every Eucharist, but it is also true that bad, boring liturgy is an attack upon faith, and only makes belief more difficult. So I would say that there is nothing wrong in searching a bit for a place to pray that makes you happy.

But the other thing is that all our training and experience in liturgy here on campus is not meant to be for us here alone. Students who know a bit about good prayer ought take that knowledge to their parishes and help make things better there. Young graduates moving to new cities need to call others of similar concern and start prayer groups or support. The world is a banquet, and we shouldn't live on crumbs. We are the church, we need to build the church.

These transitions must be made, nothing stays the same. Let us take what we know and use it where we go. Have a good summer, and/or a great life.

Tom McDermott, C.S.C.

Readers for the Baccalaureate Mass

Seniors are invited to audition to read at the Baccalaureate Mass. Six readers will be needed.

Auditions will be held at 4:00 pm, on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28 & 29, at the Basilica of the Sacred Heart.

Coordinator: Sr. Teresita

For information: Peg Houk 239-7091
Real estate group: March home sales at highest level in over three years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sales of existing homes were unchanged in March, but remained at their highest level in more than three years, a real estate trade group said today.

Sales rose in both the Northeast and South, but fell in the Midwest and West.

The National Association of Realtors said sales of previously owned homes totaled a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.49 million, unchanged from the February rate.

It was the highest level of sales of previously owned homes since sales eased to a 3.50 million rate in February 1989, the Realtors said.

Dorcas T. Helfant, the Realtors' president, said the sales activity signifies that both the housing market and the economy are getting back in shape.

"The economy is finally moving clearly toward recovery and we're feeling it not just in housing but other areas as well," she said. "Consumer confidence appears to be on the rebound, new construction is blossoming — in economic terms, we're finally seeing signs of spring."

Helfant said housing prices remain affordable despite the recent uptick in mortgage rates, which rose from 3.76 percent in February to 8.91 percent in March, according to surveys by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp.

The Realtors said the median price of an existing home in March was $104,000, up 5.4 percent from a year earlier. The median means half of the homes cost more and half less.

The Northeast posted the biggest increase in sales, up 12.2 percent from February to an annual rate of 550,000.

Shuttle launch rescheduled for daytime

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA on Monday delayed next week's scheduled launch of the new space shuttle Endeavour by three days so the spacecraft can take off in daylight.

Endeavour was to have embarked on the satellite-rescue mission at 8:34 p.m. EDT Monday. Liftoff is now set for 7:06 p.m. EDT on May 7. Endeavour has until 7:55 that evening to get off the ground.

NASA's acting associate administrator for space flight, Tom Utsman, said officials reviewed the criteria and decided it would be "prudent" to delay the flight so detailed photos and documentation could be made for analysis.

NASA spokesman Mark Hess could not explain why officials didn't opt for a daylight launch in the first place. Mission managers settled on a Monday launch just last week.

Mideast peace talks resume in Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mideast peace talks resumed Monday with Israel offering to hold elections among Palestinians in the territories and Syria making the conditional gesture of lifting restrictions on its Jewish community.

Israeli spokesman Benjamin Netanyahu called the offer of "pilot municipal elections" on the West Bank and Gaza "the largest experiment in democracy in the Arab world." Palestinian spokeswoman Hanan Ashrawi, who in past rounds accused Israel of stalling, said this time there was a "distinct possibility" of progress.

The talks will be held through Thursday and should be resumed in Rome within a few weeks, Netanyahu, a close aide to Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, told reporters. "Today we began a real discussion," he said.

Even so, the State Department, hosting the negotiations again, said it expected no quick breakthroughs on Palestinian self-rule or other issues in the fifth round of talks since October.

"This is going to be a hard, step-by-step, process," spokeswoman Margaret D. Tutwiler said as Israeli negotiators met with a joint Jordanian-Palestinian delegation and, separately, with Syrian and Lebanese groups.

Palestinian spokeswoman Ashrawi said her delegation had received, and would study Israel's proposal to begin municipal elections among the 1.7 million Palestinian Arabs. The idea is to choose leaders to work out arrangements for Palestinians to take control of their own day-to-day economic, educational and other affairs.
Rival Muslim battles to standoff in Afghanistan

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Rival Muslim guerrillas battled to a standoff Monday over the southern approach to Kabul and ignored a reported cease-fire agreement as they fought for control of the Afghan capital.

A convoy carrying members of a guerrilla-led interim government that supported more moderate factions left Pakistan for the 120-mile journey over rugged roads to Kabul. The rebel leaders planned to formally replace the fallen regime of President Najibullah.

A truce that Pakistan's government had signed was agreed to in Islamabad, Pakistan, to a standoff Monday over the financial support for the 14-year-old Genscher, considered a moderate faction headed by Yunis Shah Masood. But it failed to cause word had not reached the village.

Both sides fought with tanks, rockets and machine guns. Masood's fighters were reported some of the smaller strongholds.

Masood and Hekmatyar both ignored a reported cease-fire agreement as they fought for control of the Afghan capital, a spokesman for the government that supported more moderate factions left Pakistan for the 120-mile journey over rugged roads to Kabul. The rebel leaders planned to formally replace the fallen regime of President Najibullah.

A truce that Pakistan's government had signed was agreed to Monday over the financial support for the 14-year-old government.

In Washington, State Department spokeswoman Begin the Saturday after rebels advanced into the capital. Hekmatyar seems outnumbered militarily and isolated Pakistan's government.

Hekmatyar's fighters were engaged in a battle for control of the city's estimated 2 million lives and driven 5 million people from their homes.

The capital's 1.5 million people were caught in the middle as battle lines shifted throughout the city.

"This was my whole life!" cried Artigazad Afghan, a shopkeeper trying to remove Russian lampshades and Polish paint from his store before it burned. Down the road, flames leaped from a store hit by rocket-propelled grenades and two other shops smoldered. Fighting was concentrated on two hilltops facing across the highway leading south from Kabul. But scattered skirmishes also flared in the city center and in other pockets held by Hekmatyar's troops.

In the heaviest fighting, that day's fighting resulted from bombardment by a Soviet-built fighter-bomber piloted by a Masood belonged to a tank barracks and an infantry assault against their position on Martys' Hill.

German Foreign Minister plans to resign in May

RONN, Germany (AP) — Hans-Dietrich Genscher, the world-nominated serving current foreign minister and one of the architects of German reunification, announced Monday he was resigning as Germany's top diplomat.

Irving Schwetzer, the federal construction minister, was named to succeed the 65-year-old Genscher, considered one of Europe's most popular politicians.

Genscher, 50, is the first woman to hold the powerful foreign ministry job. She comes from the same party as Genscher, the Liberal Free Democratic Party.

Genscher, foreign minister for 18 years, said in a television interview he wanted to make way for the next generation of political leaders. Heart problems had made him conscious of his age, he said.

"If I were five years younger and only 18 years in office, I would continue," he said. "I have no intention of sitting back in my easy chair," he added, promising to continue working as a member of Parliament.

"The standing of Germany in Europe is clearly defined," he said, summing up his work the past few years to unify Germany and set Western Europe on the path to political and economic union.

Opposition politicians called Genscher's resignation, effective May 17, marks a crisis for Chancellor Helmut Kohl's embattled government.

Kohl's popularity has been sliding because of the high costs of the 1990 unification between east and west Germany.

Correction

Due to incorrect information provided to the Observer, it was reported in yesterday's edition that in Ramach received a minor in consumption citation Friday. Ramach was not charged. The Observer regrets the error.

German Foreign minister plans to resign in May

"I want you to establish an Islamic state, but they differ on how theocracy should be.

In Islamabad, Pakistan's government said was agreed to in Islamabad, to a standoff Monday over the financial support for the 14-year-old Shah Masood. But it failed to cause word had not reached the village.

Both sides fought with tanks, rockets and machine guns. Masood's fighters were reported some of the smaller strongholds.

Masood and Hekmatyar both ignored a reported cease-fire agreement as they fought for control of the capital. Hekmatyar seems outnumbered militarily and isolated Pakistan's government.

Hekmatyar's fighters were engaged in a battle for control of the city's estimated 2 million lives and driven 5 million people from their homes.

The capital's 1.5 million people were caught in the middle as battle lines shifted throughout the city.

"This was my whole life!" cried Artigazad Afghan, a shopkeeper trying to remove Russian lampshades and Polish paint from his store before it burned. Down the road, flames leaped from a store hit by rocket-propelled grenades and two other shops smoldered. Fighting was concentrated on two hilltops facing across the highway leading south from Kabul. But scattered skirmishes also flared in the city center and in other pockets held by Hekmatyar's troops.

In the heaviest fighting, that day's fighting resulted from bombardment by a Soviet-built fighter-bomber piloted by a Masood belonged to a tank barracks and an infantry assault against their position on Martys' Hill.

German Foreign Minister plans to resign in May

RONN, Germany (AP) — Hans-Dietrich Genscher, the world-nominated serving current foreign minister and one of the architects of German reunification, announced Monday he was resigning as Germany's top diplomat.

Irving Schwetzer, the federal construction minister, was named to succeed the 65-year-old Genscher, considered one of Europe's most popular politicians.

Genscher, 50, is the first woman to hold the powerful foreign ministry job. She comes from the same party as Genscher, the Liberal Free Democratic Party.

Genscher, foreign minister for 18 years, said in a television interview he wanted to make way for the next generation of political leaders. Heart problems had made him conscious of his age, he said.

"If I were five years younger and only 18 years in office, I would continue," he said. "I have no intention of sitting back in my easy chair," he added, promising to continue working as a member of Parliament.

"The standing of Germany in Europe is clearly defined," he said, summing up his work the past few years to unify Germany and set Western Europe on the path to political and economic union.

Opposition politicians called Genscher's resignation, effective May 17, marks a crisis for Chancellor Helmut Kohl's embattled government.

Kohl's popularity has been sliding because of the high costs of the 1990 unification between east and west Germany.
SCOTIA, Calif. (AP) — Millworkers restacked lumber Monday and firefighters hosed the remains of the town's center, which caught fire during a series of violent earthquakes that caused about $51 million in damage.

"I guess it's unemployment," said John Mock, pointing to the black hole that once was the lumber store where his wife, Arlene, worked. "That was our only income."

Cleanup efforts also were under way in Fortuna, Rio Dell, Petrolia and Ferndale, small towns in Northern California "Lost Coast" region damaged by Saturday's magnitude-6.6 temblor and two sharper aftershocks early Sunday.

Ninety-five people were injured, none seriously, according to an informal survey of hospital officials.

The Red Cross, which had completed 65 percent of its survey by Monday, said 208 homes were damaged by the quake, and 247 were uninhabitable. About 1,000 people registered at shelters in Rio Dell and Scotia, but only about 100 actually slept at the two centers.

"Because of the magnitude of the two aftershocks, we're finding many people are reluctant to stay inside buildings. They are using tents (and) sleeping bags," said Elizabeth Quirk, a Red Cross spokeswoman.

The state Office of Emergency Services estimated damage at $51 million. Gov. Pete Wilson declared Humboldt County a disaster area and county officials said Monday they'll ask the flush administration for a federal disaster declaration, making damage victims eligible for more aid.

The quake spared the large Scotia complex belonging to Pacific Lumber Co., which operates the company-built town of neat frame houses, but knocked over stacks of lumber in the yard.

About 700 mill workers were asked to report to work Monday to begin cleaning up, said Pacific Lumber President John Campbell.

The first serious aftershock hit at 12:42 a.m. Sunday and measured 6.0 on the Richter scale. The second, magnitude 6.2, hit at 4:18 a.m.

Both were centered near the spot where the first quake struck, south of Eureka, about 270 miles north of San Francisco. People as far away as Fresno, 460 miles to the south, felt the second aftershock.

Scotia resident Hazel Sarlund said the first aftershock was bad enough. Then she saw the red glow in the sky.

"It was terribly upsetting," Sarlund said. "It felt like the end to everything was coming."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jesse Jackson, after twice suggesting he should be Bill Clinton's presidential running mate, to­day said he would be honored to serve if selected but that he wasn't trying to exert pressure.

"I have consistently said that the eventual nominee of the party has the option of whom he will recommend to be on the ticket," Jackson said in a statement. "I have also consistently said that such discussion is premature and divisive."

The New York Daily News daily quoted Jackson as saying that "I've got the experience and I've got the votes. I see myself as a running mate for the Democratic Party."

The newspaper further quoted Jackson as saying he was "prepared to react" if his offer to serve on the ticket was ignored or rejected.

And in an interview this morning with AP Network News, Jackson hinted that he might withdraw backing from a ticket that did not include him. "I have supported it all these years, not being on the ticket, but things do change," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Geographic Society is now accepting application for the following position:

Design Editors

Paid Position

To apply, please contact Joanna Blasi at 239-7471.
The ND women's basketball will return next winter to take the campus by storm

Kristin Knapp
Guest Columnist

Do sports writers really have a clue about the articles that they print? This question has haunted me for the ten years that I have participated in competitive sports. I have come to the conclusion that sports writers are only concerned with printing a story, never completely interested or concerned with printing the truth.

After reading several articles in The Observer, in particular "Questions linger on future of women's basketball team," I became frustrated at the lack of support and the blatant attack on the future of the women's basketball program.

As a member of the women's basketball team I am disappointed in the lack of support and the women's basketball program as a whole.

Furthermore, sports writers should concentrate on reporting the facts and leave the judgement calls for those of us inside the program who at least know the complete story. Leave the program alone and let those of us who want to play, play! The women's basketball team is made up of a group of individuals striving to attain a common goal, and those who are not willing to give of themselves for the better of the team only hamper the success of the program. The Notre Dame women's basketball team will be successful, but only with the players who want to participate in reaching that common goal.

If someone is unhappy here, then it is in their best interest to go where they think they will find happiness. Losing one good freshman does not mean that the basketball team is headed for a downfall. As Chris Kennedy mentioned in his letter to the editor, there are ten other exceptionally talented ball players who deserve some credit for their efforts and two incoming freshmen who deserve a chance.

The media has also neglected to mention one freshman who will be with the team next year, Letitia Bowen. Letitia has been a wonderful addition to the team, and her constant support as a friend. This team needs all the support we can get.

The Notre Dame women's basketball team will be back. We had a disappointing season, but we will be back to take this campus by storm!

To the students who have never seen a women's basketball game, I think you should come watch us...you just might be surprised!

Why are you thinking that? Submit:
QUOTES, P.O. Box Q, ND, IN 46556

Why are you thinking that? Submit:
QUOTES, P.O. Box Q, ND, IN 46556

Oliver Stone
to a female reporter
By JACK WALTON

Accent Writer

On Thursday April 30, at 8 p.m. in Sacred Heart Basilica, and again on Sunday May 3 at St. Matthew's Cathedral, the Schola Gregoriana of the University of Notre Dame will perform a spiritual musical drama, the Ordo Virtutum ("Pageant of the Virtues"), written and composed by St. Hildegard of Bingen.

Fabian Lochner, a PhD student at the Notre Dame Medieval Institute, and musical director of the Schola Gregoriana, explained that this informal choir was founded four years ago, performing Gregorian Chant at local liturgies. Last year, the group became more ambitious and planned this event. The group consists of graduate students, faculty, and staff. and they are always on the lookout for new undergraduates. Many have some musical experience; others have none, stated Lochner.

Lochner calls St. Hildegard "one of the greatest woman saints of the Catholic Church." A Benedictine abbess in 12th Century Germany, her "gift of vision and prophecy" survives in her three books, which are "very important spiritual sources," and the Ordo Virtutum is from the first of these, Scivias ("Know the Ways"). ca. 1151 said Lochner. Her goal was to aid Christians in understanding notions, such as the place of mankind in the cosmos, the Fall, and redemption, stated Lochner.

The Ordo Virtutum, explained by Lochner, presents the inner struggle of a humble soul between the call of the Virtues and the temptations of the Devil. The Devil is not given music, only Virtu tum is from Catholics, but he is won over. The Devil is bound; the revelation is so glorious that the soul joins the Virtues.

The premise seems quite interesting, but what follows is a futile attempt to incorporate postmodernism into a desolate land. Lowe initially refuses to continue living. He, compelled by some form of self-induced paralysis, forsakes the medical profession, and finds himself adrift in India. Max Lowe, played by Swayze, rent "The Outsiders.

Roland Joffe fails to realize is that poverty and hunger are not going to solve the world's problems. He, forced to do battle with a character so reminiscent of Marlon Brando's portrayal of Corleone that I found myself laughing aloud at such a self-conscious overkill act.

This is the 1990s, and it is true that postmodernism is very chic. However, what Roland Joffe fails to realize is that peasant characters overcome by a constant state of poverty and hunger are not going to bail a dirty dancing doctor as their savior. The film is not convincing—try to see it spiritually uplifting, and fails. The stunning cinematography and Ennio Morricone's personal, and unprecedented handling of melodies and tonal qualities; "She adds an emotional depth to the music that is unknown to Gregorian Chant," observes Lochner.

The crucial part in the drama, that of the soul, will be sung by soloist Noirin Ni Riain, an Irish recording artist, stated Lochner. Lochner is a long-time fan of her work, which has involved everything from scholarship in the Gaelic tradition of spiritual songs, to her work as an ethnomusicologist in the Irish countryside, documenting women's songs. She travels the world on tour, and Lochner saw her in his native Belgium, performing a set that included Gaelic music, Gregorian Chant, and selections from St. Hildegard, he remembered. Lochner had her in mind especially for this project. As well as performing on April 30 and May 3, Noirin Ni Riain will give a solo recital at Sacred Heart on April 28 at 8:00 p.m. All the shows will be free, but donations are encouraged and appreciated.

Lochner, along with graduate student, Jennifer Blackford, extends sincere thanks to the many Arts and Letters departments who have contributed to the program, and particularly to the Medieval Institute and its director, John Van Engen. They say thank you to John Houghton, a grad student who has translated Hildegard's Latin and will narrate the shows in English. If all continues to go well, said Lochner, for the Schola Gregoriana, courses will be available to both graduate students and undergraduate students in order to allow people the chance to take part in this work while receiving credit.

The group encourages anyone interested to join them in their projects.

Swayne plays in movie wasteland

By PETER BEVAQUA

Film Critic

Roland Joffe's ("The Killing Fields") latest film stars Patrick Swayze ("Ghost," "Dirty Dancing") as a young American doctor who leaves the western world in order to search for a new identity, and a reason to continue living. He, compelled by some form of self-induced paralysis, forsakes the medical profession, and finds himself adrift in India.

Max Lowe, played by Swayze, becomes involved with an Indian peasant, Hassari Pai (Om Puri). Hassari and his family were forced from their village by drought and famine, and migrate to Calcutta, the "City of Joy" seeking new urban waste. The premise seems quite interesting, but what follows is a futile attempt to incorporate postmodernism into a desolate land. Lowe initially refuses to continue living. He, compelled by some form of self-induced paralysis, forsakes the medical profession, and finds himself adrift in India.

Max Lowe, played by Swayze, rent "The Outsiders." Roland Joffe fails to realize is that poverty and hunger are not going to solve the world's problems. He, forced to do battle with a character so reminiscent of Marlon Brando's portrayal of Corleone that I found myself laughing aloud at such a self-conscious overkill act.

This is the 1990s, and it is true that postmodernism is very chic. However, what Roland Joffe fails to realize is that peasant characters overcome by a constant state of poverty and hunger are not going to bail a dirty dancing doctor as their savior. The film is not convincing—it tries to be spiritually uplifting, and fails. The stunning cinematography and Ennio Morricone's personal, and unprecedented handling of melodies and tonal qualities; "She adds an emotional depth to the music that is unknown to Gregorian Chant," observes Lochner.

The crucial part in the drama, that of the soul, will be sung by soloist Noirin Ni Riain, an Irish recording artist, stated Lochner. Lochner is a long-time fan of her work, which has involved everything from scholarship in the Gaelic tradition of spiritual songs, to her work as an ethnomusicologist in the Irish countryside, documenting women's songs. She travels the world on tour, and Lochner saw her in his native Belgium, performing a set that included Gaelic music, Gregorian Chant, and selections from St. Hildegard, he remembered. Lochner had her in mind especially for this project. As well as performing on April 30 and May 3, Noirin Ni Riain will give a solo recital at Sacred Heart on April 28 at 8:00 p.m. All the shows will be free, but donations are encouraged and appreciated.

Lochner, along with graduate student, Jennifer Blackford, extends sincere thanks to the many Arts and Letters departments who have contributed to the program, and particularly to the Medieval Institute and its director, John Van Engen. They say thank you to John Houghton, a grad student who has translated Hildegard's Latin and will narrate the shows in English. If all continues to go well, said Lochner, for the Schola Gregoriana, courses will be available to both graduate students and undergraduate students in order to allow people the chance to take part in this work while receiving credit.

The group encourages anyone interested to join them in their projects.
Philosophy of design

Architecture exhibit honoring Jaime Bellalta is on display in Architecture Building

By LAURIE SESSA
Assistant Accent Editor

In honor of the retirement of one of Notre Dame's most respected professors, the American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS) is sponsoring an exhibit of the work of Jaime Bellalta, associate professor of architecture.

Having taught in the Notre Dame School of Architecture since 1976, Professor Bellalta has profoundly influenced many students of architecture according to David Kuhlman, a fifth year architecture student who has worked closely with Bellalta.

Bellalta was born and raised in Santiago, Chile and received his degree in architecture at Catholic University of Chile. He was then awarded a full scholarship to the Graduate School of Design at Harvard University, where he received his Masters of Architecture in 1952.

After post-graduate studies at the University of London, Bellalta returned to teach at Catholic University in Santiago, and then came to Notre Dame in 1976.

Bellalta is a "philosophical designer," says Amy Shiber, a fourth year architecture student and member of AIAS. In his designs, he is concerned with sight and life, paying attention to the site on which the building will rest, Shiber stated.

"His approach is much more prophetic or spiritual...that we are doing the work of God," said Kuhlman.

Bellalta believes that architecture can be seen as "the search for rebuilding paradise." Much of his professional work includes residential, urban and religious projects in Chile, England and the United States.

One of his most famous projects is the Benedictine Monastery in Santiago, Chile which is now being nominated as a national landmark according to Kuhlman. "His is the only modern work that has been nationally recognized in Chile," Kuhlman stated.

Bellalta has also done much local work, including a proposal for the interior renovation of St. Bavon's Parish Church in Mishawaka, and a proposal for the Chapel's conference addition to the Fatima Retreat House which is intended to be built. Bellalta has also designed two houses in the area, and is presently working on the design of a mid-size house in Mishawaka.

According to Kuhlman, Bellalta is unique as a teacher. "Professor Bellalta has been a teacher in many ways: through his personal involvement in the Sacred Heart Parish, his vocational outlook and teaching of architecture, and his value for love and family," said Kuhlman.

In the classroom, "there isn't really a teacher-student atmosphere. He's more of a friend and does not treat us like we're on a lower level," said Kuhlman. "He has integrity for what he believes and is very personal to us," he added.

Bellalta taught his studio class from his house and student houses through dinner and discussion every Wednesday night, "We talked about things in general, and it usually ended up with him talking about his experiences," said Kuhlman.

"His students will always value the insight and advice he has provided for both architecture and life in general," Kuhlman stated.

Bellalta's work is on display on the second floor of the Architecture Building until May 17.

Faces of Women

African awareness is emphasized in a new film

By FRED KROL
Accent Writer

In an attempt to increase the Notre Dame community's awareness of African culture and traditions, the African Student Association will be showing Desiré Ecare's award-winning film, "Faces of Women."

The film presents "the most insightful look at women in African society," says Guillaume Zounlome, acting president of the African Student Association. "It points out the day-to-day struggle of women to get their own rights and have men respect them," he said.

"The struggle of women is not particular to Africa," notes Zounlome. He adds that the universal nature of this struggle is the main reason the Association chose the two-part film from the Ivory Coast.

The first story tells of an unhappy wife who has a steamy affair with her husband's brother. The "Blue Lagoon"-type love scene may explain why the film has no rating. After the affair, the suspicious husband attempts to reassert his power by stating, "You're my possession, my slave." The wife responds by calling her husband "stupid." During the tension-filled chorus of women singing, "Men deserve one thing only - to be deceived."

The second part of the film depicts the struggles of Bernadette, a woman trying to succeed in the male-dominated business world. Her efforts are complicated because she is not trusted and is unable to do anything without her husband's permission. She also risks alienating herself from her village by competing with men.

In addition, Bernadette must adapt to an economic system based on money rather than bartering. The film deals "with the problems involved with learning to cope with money," said Desiré Ecare, the film's director.

Singing and dancing, along with festivals and ceremonies are woven together in the film to provide insight into village life. "The dances and the songs... symbolize the whole spirit of the film, its celebration of joy," said Ecare.

English subtitles accompany the film which was featured at the Cannes Film Festival and the London Film Festival in 1985.

The film has won awards such as the Award of International Council of Television and Movie at the Cannes, London, and San Francisco Festivals and is the first movie from Ivory Coast to ever reach New York.

"Faces of Women" will be shown Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Annenburg Auditorium of the Snite Museum. Admission is $1.
L LOST/FOUND

LOST — gold with black stone and striped band. Last seen Saturday around 2 p.m. near Linwood and Main Streets.

LOST NOT JACKET AT CAFÉ, BAR AIR 403. DO YOU GRAB THE LAUNDRY TAG IN JACKET WITH LAST NAME "ABATE" AND NUMBER "0001"? CALL TONY X 7044.

LOST Sun, 26 April at Huddle: A blue Philco, 284 notebook with my room number, room phone and phone number if you need it. If you really want them then I'm making a copy of these notes and I'm going to be able to get a decent grade on the final exam. Don't wait until April 30th when you find my notebook call 49111.

LOST — CHAIR LINK BRACKET. Somewhere between: Flat brown chair with blue back. Lost near West before Easter (4/15). GREAT reward: $50 Arlene X 2136.

WANTED — LOST/LOST LOST Tuil Friday night: Simple silver three key ring with blue sent. value. I want to be able to get a decent grade on the Final Exam. I'm interested in the lost item. If you find this key ring call 2848884.

WANTED — LOST key ring with three keys between knitted and silver wire. Call Pate X 1596.

WANTED

NEED GRAD or half price.
The last three games, he had a better shooting percentage than Dune (19-30 to Bown's 15-31) and pulled down 27 rebounds and added so much in terms of intensity (look at his four steals in the final).

My dissatisfaction with the tournament teams leads me to the Bookstore commissioners. When I needed information, they were more than willing to help me. However, one error telling me that Ebonry Side of The Dome was sponsored by Awords when Ebonry was really sponsored by Black Alumni (of Notre Dame) caused the members of Ebonry and others to be upset, rightly so, at the fact that I mistrusted their spon­ser.

My final grief is with the referees. I think that being a ref would be one of the toughest things to do. However, the refs did not call things consistently. Also, bigger players had to get hit a lot harder in order to draw fouls.

I suggest that the Bookstore commissioners either eliminate referees altogether or the commissioners bring in some outside referees, such as high school officials to be impartial for the round of 16 onward.

The Observer is now accepting application for the following position:

Circulation Manager

Circulation Drivers

Must be available from 10am-1pm

To apply, please contact Rich Riley at 239-7471.

The Challenges of Life in the Inner City for an African-American Bishop

Tuesday, April 28, 1992

Dooley Room at LaFortune Student Center

First Floor across from the Information Desk

For more information, call

South Bend • 273-1866
The Irish men’s track squad returned with a mixed bag of results this weekend, as their Series to Drake and Ball State.

Many of the Irish’s top finishers struggled somewhat with inclement weather and the intense competition of powerful Midwest teams at the A.I.R. Classic last weekend. Among those was co-captain Ryan Mihalko, whose 201 meter javelin throw placed him 20th. Mihalko seemed neither pleased nor discouraged with his effort at Drake, but was optimistic about the improvement he has shown recently.

“The last two weeks,” he commented, “I have established an upward trend which I hope to continue and finish the season strong.”

The top finish at Drake belonged to the 4 mile relay team, which finished 4th. The squad consisted of Shawn Schonieder, Mike McWilliams, J.T. Burke, and Pat Kearns.

“At Ball State, several young Notre Dame athletes shined, with one freshman qualifying for nationals.”

John Cowan, running the 3000 meter steeplechase, became the second Irish runner to qualify for the IC4As in that event. His time of 9:14.57 earned him first in the event as well.

Of this performance, head coach Joe Pfeffer noted, “John really impressed me by winning the first steeplechase he’s ever run in his life. It is a really good start for him and an indication of some good things to come from him.”

Another 1st place finisher at Ball State was sophomore Chris Ross, who ran the 400 meter hurdles in 54.47 seconds. This win was the first of his collegiate career.

“The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The Irish men’s track squad scored on all three opportunities with personal bests. Sophomore Darce Bishop ran 26.8 seconds. Christy LaBarbera ran 29.3 seconds and Gandi Goeman ran 31 seconds.

“You always look for improvement as a sign of a good season and it is always there”, said Szczesnower.

The Belles will only lose three runners while bringing in a more experienced team next year. According to St. John, recruiting is underway and there have been verbal commitments.

“It makes me feel so good for the Belles to win the season and go to states,” said Szczesnower.

The rest of the Belles were fighting off illness and season wind style. Sophomore Kate Linehan had her season in the 100 meters, with her 13.6 seconds. She ran 28.1 seconds in the 200m having another season best.

"She had her best time in the 100," Pfeffer said, "she worked hard for it", said Szczesnower.

According to St. John, along with sopho­more Cheryl Fortunak , were named next year’s track co­ captains.

The 200m seemed to be the magic race with three Belles all having personal bests. Sophomore Darce Bishop ran 26.8 seconds. Christy LaBarbera ran 29.3 seconds and Gandi Goeman ran 31 seconds.

“A victory in Game 6 at New Jersey on Wednesday night would put the regular-season NHL champions into the Patrick Division finals against either Pittsburgh or Washington.”

“Not only is this a defensive battle,” said Gardner defensive coach Jim St. John, “but it’s two more points in this series and that’s the important thing.”

The Rangers had struggled defensively in the first four games of the series, mainly because they were only 1 for 22 on the power play, and in five games they had been outshot 62-50.

“After Gartner staked them to a 2-0 lead after one period, the Rangers scored three straight goals in the first 7:56 of the second, two of them on consecutive power plays. New Jersey goaltender Chris Terreri, who had been spectacular in the four previous games, didn’t make it through the second period this time, giving up five goals on just 15 shots. The last two goals came on consecutive power plays in the second period as the Rangers scored twice in 42 seconds on goals by Gardner and Doug Weight.”

That gave the Rangers what seemed to be an insurmountable 5-0 lead. But the Devils came back to make it a game by scoring five of the next six goals before Adam Graves scored twice in the last seven minutes to clinch it for New York, which won despite being outshot 48-30.

“They didn’t give up and they made it tough on us late in the game,” said Gardner. “They can create a lot of offense. I don’t think we panicked. We just tried to get back to our game and we did.”

Gartner made it 1-0 when he scored from the lower right circle at 10:41, capping a 2-on-1 rush with Kris King, then scored his first power-play goal from the right circle at 18:14 after taking a pass from his brother, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 3,000 meter steeplechase, became the second Irish runner to qualify for the IC4As in that event. His time of 9:14.57 earned him first in the event as well.

Of this performance, head coach Joe Pfeffer noted, “John really impressed me by winning the first steeplechase he’s ever run in his life. It is a really good start for him and an indication of some good things to come from him.”

Another 1st place finisher at Ball State was sophomore Chris Ross, who ran the 400 meter hurdles in 54.47 seconds. This win was the first of his collegiate career.

“The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.

The race was run under windy, rainy conditions,” Ross remarked, “and it was not my best time this year. But the conditions slowed everyone down, and fortunately I ended up on top. I’m still 1 of a second from qualifying for the IC4As and hopefully I can do that next week.”

Other top Irish finishers included another 400 meter hur­dler, Dan Amitie, who wound up 4th. In the 800 meters, Mike Berks ran to a 2nd place finish, shading fellow Irish runner Chet Taff, who came in 4th. Jim Trautman completed the 5,000 meter course in just over 15 minutes, landing in 2nd place.
continued from page 16
Fred Marion and Tim Gordon will challenge Smith at the safety position. While incumbent Maurice Hurst
appears set at one corner slot, the other is unstable with Ronnie Lippett and David
Paul struggling last year. DB Dion Lamberti from UCLA was a fourth round selection and should also challenge Smith for time.
After Rod Smith and Brown, the chances getting thinner for the Irish players to make a significant impact. The Indianapolis Colts thought highly enough of Culver to select him with the first pick in the fourth round. Culver is not thought of as a back who could anchor a running attack, but his versatility enhanced his draft status. He played both halftime fullback while with the Irish.
"Mike feels Rodney can be an total-purpose type of back," said
Culver's coach Ted Marchibroda.
"He's got good quickness and can catch passes." Although the Colt backfield appears empty after the trade of Eric Dickerson, halftime
Albert Bentley remains as a solid performer when healthy, and either 1990 Notre Dame graduate Anthony Johnson and Tim Manoa appears ready to take hold of the fullback position.

Brooks saw himself fall all the way into the fourth round, where Philadelphia finally took him. The Eagles have only one true productive back in Earnest Byner, and it is clear they are searching for a more dynamic back. Alabama star Siran Stacy went ahead of Brooks, in the third round, and should be his chief competition carries this season. Current halfback James Joseph showed signs of brilliance, but averaged only 3.3 yards a carry in 1991.

Despite the opportunity to play Brooks was clearly disappointed in being chosen so late in the draft.
"I did everything right. There were so many guys drafted ahead of me who I was better than," commented a dejected Brooks. "This was the most frustrating day of my life."

McGuire will undoubtedly be placed in a backup role in New Orleans Veteran Joel
Hilgenberg remains a solid performer, and the Saints will likely groom McGuire into his successor.
Tony Smith is joining a Chief team which is attempting to bring youth to an aging receiving corps. Last year's third round pick Tim Tim Kirk showed him in Kansas City to a play receiver of the future, but a spot remains for a possession type receiver who could work opposite Barnett.
Williams and Jurkovic,
despite their solid collegiate careers, weren't thought of as blue-chippers by NFL teams.
Jurkovic had the size but
Student-Athletes were seniors
Mike Crisanti, for the men's team, and Allison Wujonas of the women's team.
The Most Valuable Player for the women's team was Allison Wujonas.
Junior Kathy Phares will lead the women's team upon being named captain for the upcoming season.
"I've very excited about the opportunities that await our Bright, energetic,
highly-motivated individuals needed NOW for telemarketing positions.

• flexible hours!
• no sales!
• salary + commission!

The Ronkin
Educational Group
In South Bend
Call 219-273-1866

The Observer
John Rock

Tony Brooks, a fourth round pick of the New Orleans Saints, feels he was observed to be picked in a higher round in the 1992 draft failed to show impressive numbers at the scouting combines, running only a 4.44
forty-yard dash and doing only 17 repetitions at 225 lbs. Despite his poor numbers, the Reacts felt it was worth trying a tenth round choice on him. If he makes the squad he will probably spend some time in the weight room, and could see some action behind
Mark Bortz and Tom Thayer
later in the season.
Williams played a significant role in the 1988 championship team, and in 1990 he had ten tackles for a loss, second to only Chris Zorich. He was expected to anchor the line in 1990, but missed the season for personal reasons. Despite the year off
TELEMARKETERS WANTED
Softball to face Indiana State

Observer Staff Report

This week marks the end of the regular season for the Notre Dame softball team. After winning three of four games over the weekend, the Irish (27-23) close the 1992 campaign with doubleheaders against Indiana State, DePaul and Dayton on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, respectively.

Today at 3 p.m. the Irish face Indiana State for the third and fourth time this season. Both previous meetings came in March at the Sycamore Invitational, with Indiana State winning the first game 5-0 and Dayton visits at 3 p.m. The MCC tournament begins on May 12 in Indianapolis.

The Notre Dame softball team has earned academic honors for the second consecutive season.

Six Irish players earned a spot on the MCC Academic Honor Roll. Ronny Alvarez, Amy Folsom, Casey McMurray, Lisa Miller, Sheri Quinn and Amy Reuter earned the honor with a GPA of at least 3.25. For the second straight year, Folsom was nominated for a spot on the GTE academic all-America team.

Women's track battles elements at Ball St.

By JOSEF EVANS

Sports Writer

It was another wet weekend for the Notre Dame women's track team, as this time they battled rain and cold in Muncie, Indiana at the Ball State Invitational. However, the Irish women must be gaining a tolerance for the elements. It was not a bad weather is any indication, maybe a little rain isn't so bad after all.

The weather didn't help us very much, but we really hung in for some good finishes," admitted assistant coach Tim Connelly.

Youth was served for the women in the 3000 meters, where the team gave its most impressive performance. Four of the top five places were held by freshmen, with Stephanie Jensen capturing the top spot. Classmates Eva Flood, Kristi Connelly, and Sarah Riley raced to the third, fourth and fifth spots respectively.

The 1500 meter race was also a showcase for the freshmen, with Emily Husted coming in second at a time of 4:44.31, and Kala Boulware placing fourth (4:47.63). Senior captain Diana Bradley also ran well in the race, coming in fifth at 4:48.04.

This meet was notable for the Irish in that they fielded their first heptathlete, freshman Susan Maher. The heptathlon consists of seven events, in which the athletes earn points that are totalled to determine the winner. Maher rose to the top as the heptathlon leader, winning the put portion of the competition with a throw of 37-1.3/4. Also throwing well for the Irish, but not in the heptathlon, was junior Karen Faust. She came in seventh in that event, but did not fare as well in the discus, where her best throw (109-4) was only good enough to take 14th.

Sprinter Kristin Stovall, meanwhile, fell short of setting the personal record she had hoped for in the 400 meters, coming in sixth with a time of 1:02.79. She also placed seventh in the 200 meters.

The women will return to Muncie this coming weekend for a five-team meet, and if Saturday's strong showing in bad weather is any indication, maybe a little rain isn't so bad after all.

Correction:

Due to an editor's error, the Bookstore article on The Gauchos mistakenly stated that Rob Vazquez ended the final with a lay-up when he really hit a free throw. Also, it was David Rose, not Pete DiGiovanni that missed the dunk against Just Chillin'. The Observer regrets the error.

ROB'S HARDWARE

End the Year with a Bang at the Senior-Alumni Club

Juniors, Seniors, & Faculty

Last Lunch of the Year

At the Senior-Alumni Club

End the Year with a Bang!

12-2 Friday, May 1

(must be at least 21 years of age)

Deadline Friday, May 1

Career & Placement Services
I've had a great time tonight, glad however, I must be honest, my intentions aren't entirely noble.

I really want to know that's what I mean by honest. Should we go to the West Campus Drive for Carnivorous Plants? It's all right.

Oh why must we then, be honest? Should we drive to the base camp? Drive of our hypertensive limbs, I prefer?

Skip, I never realized.

There, there. It's all right.

Carpe Diem. Works better than carpe diem at weddings.

BE HONEST MY INTENTIONS.

HOWEVER, ENTIRELY INeNTIONS.

I THINK WE NEED A NEW POLICY IN THIS HOUSE. AND WHAT'S THAT?

FROM NOW ON, WHenever YOU TELL ME THINGS I DON'T WANT TO HEAR ANY REASONS, EXPLANATIONS, SUBTLETY OR CONTEXT.

CALVIN AND HOBBES

I JUST WANT TEN SECOND SOUNDS RUTS, OK?

CALVIN AND HOBBIES

WELL THESE PAST few days have been rather delightful, but there is a major frontal system making its way east. Ha—maybe Noah was right!

The Far Side

GARY LARSON

Spin

John Mons

Scene from "Cape Buffalo Fear"

Today

Tuesday, April 28, 1992

SPELUNKER

JAY HOSLER

CROSSWORD

© Edward Julius Collegiate CRW3-24

ACROSS

1. Turgid truncheon 13. Right time party
3. On one's back 15. -- school
5. Planes (2 wds.) 17. Former Italian
6. Of the instant 18. Colony
7. Son of David 19. Inheritance sellers
8. Passes, as time 20. Sunburned
9. Presbyterian 21. -- a color...
22. Italian character... 22. -- a color...
23. Prefix of vision 23. -- a color...
24. Burn one's spirits 24. -- a color...
25. Peace's date 25. -- a color...
26. Arsenic 26. -- a color...
27. Alkaline solution 27. -- a color...
28. Borax, trinitrate 28. -- a color...
29. Sels 29. -- a color...
30. Egyptian ruler 30. -- a color...
31. Italian number 31. -- a color...
32. Part of may 32. -- a color...
33. Participant 33. -- a color...
34. Chilling desert 34. -- a color...
35. Cooley Moran 35. -- a color...
36. Mythical bird 36. -- a color...
37. Resisting fragment 37. -- a color...
38. Italian date 38. -- a color...
39. Gems 39. -- a color...
40. Knao 40. -- a color...

DOWN

1. Pertaining to a guardian 41. Certain runners
2. Brigade of the guard 42. -- a color...
3. Exhale 43. -- a color...
4. Like an old woman 44. -- a color...
5. Members 45. -- a color...
6. Nazoid — 46. -- a color...
7. Author of "The American Dream" 47. -- a color...
8. -- a color...
9. -- a color...
10. -- a color...
11. -- a color...
12. -- a color...
13. -- a color...
14. -- a color...
15. -- a color...
16. -- a color...
17. -- a color...
18. -- a color...
19. -- a color...
20. -- a color...
21. -- a color...
22. -- a color...
23. -- a color...
24. -- a color...
25. -- a color...
26. -- a color...
27. -- a color...
28. -- a color...
29. -- a color...
30. -- a color...
31. -- a color...
32. -- a color...
33. -- a color...
34. -- a color...
35. -- a color...
36. -- a color...
37. -- a color...
38. -- a color...
39. -- a color...
40. -- a color...
41. -- a color...
42. -- a color...
43. -- a color...
44. -- a color...
45. -- a color...
46. -- a color...
47. -- a color...
48. -- a color...
49. -- a color...
50. -- a color...

Lectures

Tuesday

4:00 p.m. History and Philosophy of Science Colloquium, "Aspects of Herschel's Mathematics," Gary McGrath, professor, (Kansas) State University. Room 131, Dieder Hall. Sponsored by The Reilly Center for Science, Technology, and Values.

Please Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle.

-Thank You

Friday, May 1st

Saturday, May 2nd

8:00 pm and 10:30 pm

Cushing Auditorium

Admission is $2.00

CAMPUS

Notre Dame

Chicken Fajitas

Beef Stew over Biscuits

Mushroom Quiche

St. Mary's

"Carnival Dinner"

Hamburgers

Hot Dogs

Nachos

MENU

edward scissorhands

from the director of "batman" & "beetlejuice"

thursday, april 30th

WALT DISNEY PICTURES

previews

beauty and the beast

thursday, april 30th

refrigerator return

thursday, april 30th

stepan basketball court 11:00 am - 2:30 pm

lyons court 3:00 pm - 6:00 pm

student union board

edward scissorhands

from the director of "batman" & "beetlejuice"

thursday, april 30th

WALT DISNEY PICTURES

previews

beauty and the beast

thursday, april 30th

refrigerator return

thursday, april 30th

stepan basketball court 11:00 am - 2:30 pm

lyons court 3:00 pm - 6:00 pm

student union board
Sports

Irish have eight players selected

By GEORGE DOHRMANN
Sports Writer

Three more Irish players were taken in the final day of the NFL draft, raising the total of Notre Dame players to eight.

WR Tony Smith, DL George McCloskey, TE Dennis Culver joined earlier selections DE Derek Brown, DB Rod Smith, C Gene McGulre and running backs Tony Brooks and Rodney Culver as Irish seniors selected.

Smith went to the Kansas City Chiefs and Williams to the Cleveland Browns in the sixth round, while Jurkovic went to the Chicago Bears in the tenth round.

The odds on all eight players making an opening day roster appear high considering the teams they are joining. The number of those players who will make an impact in their inaugural season is much slimmer.

Brown's pick of Smith appears to be virtual locks when it comes to playing time next season. Brown was selected by the New York Giants in their 14th selection in the first round, and was penciled in as the starter when starting positions are commissioned.

Paul Tagliabue read the choices. Howard Cross, primarily a blocking tight end, is the only tight end on the roster, and managed to catch only 20 passes last year, a considerable drop off from the 33 caught by former Irish star and Giant tight end Mark Bavaro in 1990.

Coach Ray Hann's offensive system centers around a short passing attack, with the tight end playing an integral role. This was the fourth round, and Brown is likely to add Washington TE Aaron Pierce, an imposing physical specimen and gifted receiver, to the third round.

The drafting of two receiving ends, allows Hanley's commitment to return to the short passing game, to give Smith the opportunity to be a player with Brown's capabilities.

"I believe I can do a little of everything," said Brown. "I am confident in my blocking ability." Rod Smith will be joining a New England Patriot organization screaming for talent in the defensive backfield. In the future, it could be very possible that Smith will be asked to play cornerback at the pro level, but he believes he has the capabilities to handle both the offense and defense.

"I played both CB and safety in college, so I don't think there will be too much difficulty making the transition to either spots," said Smith, whose versatility tempted the Patriots enough to give him an extra round selection to move up in the second round to select him.

"Foxboro is a beautiful place and I am happy with this season's end," said Smith. "I am also only a hop, skip and a jump away from New York and Boston."

Saint Mary's track and field sets bests in last meet

By NICOLE McGRATH
Saint Mary's Sports Editor

Saint Mary's track team ran the last leg of their season at the Elmhurst Invitational this past weekend where they posted many personal and season bests.

But for seniors Sandi Macklin and Sharon Fisher, the meet did not reflect their last season.

Macklin's track meet was cut short when she pulled a hamstring in the 4 x 100 relay, Macklin, running third leg, passed a bad exchange to fellow senior Lynn Pfeffer when the injury occurred.

"I never thought a pulled muscle could feel that way," stated Macklin.

"The relay team was a different combination which made it work hard," said Coach Larry Szczekowski. "She pulled her leg and stepped down, it was too bad.

Macklin tried to participate in the long jump but she could not get down the runway. Although disappointed, Macklin said, "I am happy with this season's end".

Senior Sharon Fisher, due to a pulled muscle, was not able to make her last meet.

For senior Lynn Pfeffer, her track season is not over yet. Pfeffer is trying to qualify for the nationals. To do this, she participated in other meets in the next two weeks.

"If I am to qualify in the provisional rounds, it will work out for her. She will be with her season's end," said Macklin.

According to Szczekowski, Pfeffer had a good week in practice but it did not work out for her. "I was happy with her season's end," he said.

Pfeffer jumped 12'11" in the triple jump and landed 15'5" in the long jump. She threw 110'11" and placed third in both events.

"The javelin was my last event," said Pfeffer.

Irish golf teams finish spring season

By MIKE HOBBES
Sports Writer

This past weekend the men's and women's Golf teams traveled to Columbus, Ohio for tournaments hosted by Ohio State University. Similar to prior tournaments, this was the fourth straight weekend that the teams were subject to inclement weather conditions.

"Once again, the weather was not in our favor. We had to face a very cold, windy and rain plagued course," said Coach Tom Hanlon.

Despite the adversity, the women's Golf team found a strong sixth place at the First Annual Lady Buckeye Spring Invitational.

Leading the team with a combined three round total of 232 and an impressive five place finish overall in the tournament was sophomore Crissy Pfeffer.

"I am very proud of our team for what we have accomplished this past weekend. We played very well considering the course conditions," said Hanlon.

Our sixth place finish was very encouraging. This tournament demonstrated our ability to out perform teams that have been better than us earlier in the year," commented junior Kathy Hanlon.

The men's golf team competed in the Kepler Invitational at Scarlet Golf Course this past weekend. Leading the men's team with a combined three round score of 237 was sophomore Fred Boyd.

The seventh place finish overall was junior Joe Demen.

Overall, the teams finished seventeenth in field filled with some of the top teams. Unfortunately for the Irish, the weather seemed to hamper their team performance all spring.

"There was hardly a weekend that went by that the cold, rainy weather did not hinder our performance. We are a good team. We have gotten much stronger in competition, but we never really gave us a complete opportunity to show our capability," added Coach George Thomas.

Both teams next weekend forth nights brought fourth signs of the upcoming season and recollections of the past as the teams gathered for their spring banquet.

For the men's team, juniors Chris Dayton and Joe Culver and seniors Kevin McGuire and running backs Tony Brooks and Rodney Culver are joining. The drafting of two receiving ends, allows Hanley's commitment to return to the short passing game, to give Smith the opportunity to be a player with Brown's capabilities.