Whisler is winner in SMC race

Observer Staff Report

The Lisa Whisler/Liz Fedesna defeated the Juliet Stanca/Ken Woo ticket in the run-off elections for president and vice president of the Saint Mary's freshman class, and Whisler/Fedesna received 49 percent, one percent abstained. Whisler and Fedesna must select a treasurer and secretary from the 13-member board of the freshman class, McInerney said.

The election committee penalized the Whisler ticket in the primary election after friends of the candidates ran a birthday advertisement in The Observer to wish them good luck in the election. The expense sent the ticket over the $50 limit set for campaign costs. Whisler decided not to appeal the decision, since the five percent penalty still left the ticket short of the majority needed to avoid a run-off. "We're glad that the whole confusion... didn't interfere with the results," said Fedesna.

Perot officially re-enters the presidential race

DALLAS (AP) — Ross Perot plunged back into the presidential race on Thursday, setting up a three-way struggle with President Bush and Bill Clinton. He said the major parties haven't tackled the nation's "economic mess." Not only is government a mess, he suggested he was the one to set things right.

Declaring his candidacy in the final month of the campaign after bowing out in mid-July, Perot made the announcement at a packed, sometimes raucous news conference Thursday in Moscow, Carrwright was released on Thursday. The conference focused on the current situation in Russia, the exuberant promises of Boris Yeltsin's Russia is sinking down in a sea of economic, social and political problems that threaten to slow the process of arms reduction, visiting Faculty Fellow David Whisler for the Russian economy, said Carrwright said. In his discussion on Russia, David Whisler said that there exists a need for help with the Russian economy. Whisler spoke at the Hesburgh Institute for Peace Studies.

Russia trip shows faculty fellow that 'think-tank' lacks solutions

Russia trip shows faculty fellow that 'think-tank' lacks solutions

By JOHN LUCAS
News Writer

Boris Yeltsin's Russia is sinking down in a sea of economic, social and political problems that threaten to slow the process of arms reduction, visiting Faculty Fellow David Whisler told an audience at the Hesburgh Institute for Peace Studies.

"The exhilarant promises of last year have come upon hard realities... the outlook is not particularly promising," Whisler said. Having returned from his seventh trip to Russia, Whisler provided fresh insight on the current situation in the troubled country. Hosted by Mikhail Gorbachev's Foundation for International Studies in Moscow, Whisler was able both to meet with government officials and to discuss the future of Russia with foundation staffs.
Our culture perpetuates faulty core values of faults

Most of us never realize the significance of our actions. Simple gestures such as a handshake are based on a social construction that has been passed on and revered by subsequent generations. In turn, our actions, through a process endowing actions with symbolic meaning, are passed on and cement core values. Unfortunately, because we so often fail to realize the deeper meaning of an act or a gesture, we also fail to realize when our cultural practices perpetuate beliefs based on faulty core values.

One such practice, Notre Dame football, has reached the end of its effectiveness as a social construct. The negatives generated by this money-making machine outweigh the positives. First, we must understand the pervasiveness and penetrating effects of not just "the game," but all of the symbolism and iconography attached to the game and, more specifically, the way it plays the society.

Most people associated with Notre Dame value Notre Dame football. We are capable of holding Notre Dame or any value, because of our reasoning faculties. Likewise, we are capable of examining those values, and prioritizing them based on deeper, innate core values. We can take any human value and, through a process of "reasoning from the ground," discover on exactly which core value that lesser value is based.

Now, examining Notre Dame football as a value we hold, we can reason to ground in order to find out on what core values it is based.

For instance, many people value Notre Dame football because they can become a part of a greater group which represents power and dominance, as well as the more specific collective of the University itself. But these values are linked to competitiveness and capitalism-two values which are in turn linked to self-worth and greed.

These values are not all associated, however, with our more fundamental and natural core values of justice and compassion. The competition and maximization of material wealth inherent in Notre Dame football exclude it from such a value structure.

The real tragedy in holding Notre Dame football so high in our value hierarchy is that we are less likely to question it. It is vital, however, that we question this value; that we realize that it is based on core values that are contradictory to our human tendencies toward justice and compassion.

But because only the voice of the dominant paradigm can be heard, it will take this voice losing some of its power before the other voices, those voices for a more practical, more sustainable, and more realistic worldview, can be heard.

A Spanish Mass will be held Sunday at 10:30 a.m. in the Breen-Phillips Chapel. The celebrant will be Father Richard Wilkison and the Mass is sponsored by Campus Ministry and HAO.

Wrestling coaching opportunity is available. Anyone interested in coaching grade school students in a wrestling program at grade school please contact Doug Block at 291-1526 or Mary Niedbalski at 233-9760.

A talent show will be held tonight at 7 p.m. for the Homeless and benefit charity "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.

In 1982: "Mein Kampf" was published in 1932: sinated and asking for reparations.
Folk choir to present sacred music tonight

Special to The Observer

The University of Notre Dame Folk Choir will present a concert of sacred music tonight at 7 p.m. in the Holy Cross Brother's Center on the Holy Cross College campus.

The concert, intended to raise money for the Holy Cross Family Catholic Worker House in South Bend, will feature an ensemble of singers and instrumentalists. A collection for the house will be taken during the choir's performance.

The arrangements of sacred music to be performed will include four-part choral harmonies, flute and strings, guitar, Irish harp and Irish drum.

Enjoy it while it lasts

Students enjoy the abnormally warm weather yesterday by the Evans Memorial Crossroads Fountain. Pretty soon, however, the good weather and the fountain water will both disappear.

Hans Haus

The South Side's Finest Eating and Drinking Establishment

Before and after the game, the new owners welcome you to Old World German atmosphere.

Meeting and Banquet Facilities Available

Bruno’s Pizza

Made from scratch Italian Pizza and Pasta

288-3320

Welcome ND Parents!

Go ND!! Beat Stanford!!

Early results of Angolan elections in LUANDA, Angola (AP) — President Jose Eduardo dos Santos enjoyed a powerful lead over former rebel leader Jonas Savimbi in early returns Thursday from Angola's first democratic elections.

The early returns — up to 5 percent of the vote in 10 out of 18 provinces — showed the ruling Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, or MPLA, winning 67 percent of the legislative ballots, and dos Santos with 66 percent in the presidential election.

The National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, the U.S.-backed rebel group-turned-opposition party, had 25.6 percent, according to the returns. Its leader, Savimbi, had 27.6 percent of the presidential vote.

A spokesman for the opposition party, known by its initials UNITA, claimed the early results were unrepresentative of voting patterns across the vast southern African nation.

"We're getting positive results for UNITA in all parts of Angola," said Jorge Valentin.

But Valentin said he had no complaints about the voting process.

Angolans waited nervously for the results, which could take a week to count, wondering whether the loser would accept them as free and fair or react with violence.

The two parties fought a bitter, 16-year civil war that killed at least 350,000 people and devastated the once-prosperous former Portuguese colony before a truce was declared in May 1991.

The MPLA was supported by Cuban troops and Soviet arms. As the conflict escalated into a Cold War conflict, the United States sent arms, and South Africa sent soldiers to back Savimbi's rebels.

The results from the National Electoral Council will be subject to a recount if requested by one of the 18 parties participating in the election.

None of the smaller parties gained more than 2 percent in the preliminary tally.

The first official results came 12 hours later than expected as officials painstakingly counted the paper ballots.
I FOR MY PART DECLARE TO YOU, YOU ARE “ROCK,” AND ON THIS ROCK I WILL BUILD MY CHURCH, AND THE JAWS OF DEATH SHALL NOT PREVAIL AGAINST IT. I WILL ENTRUST TO YOU THE KEYS OF THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN. WHATEVER YOU DECLARE BOUND ON EARTH SHALL BE BOUND IN HEAVEN.
MATTHEW 16:18-19

NO ONE MAY, IN GOOD CONSCIENCE, SUPPORT A CANDIDATE FOR POLITICAL OFFICE WHO FAVORS ABORTION OR THE FUNDING OF ABORTION.
THE SACRED CONGREGATION FOR THE DOCTRINE OF THE FAITH 1978
Gorbachev is ordered to testify about Party

MOSCOW (AP) — The Constitutional Court on Thursday summoned Gorbachev to testify in a trial on the legality of privatization of state companies. The court is trying to rule on the legality of privatization of state companies built during seven decades of communism.

The privatization program, the centerpiece of President Boris Yeltsin’s economic reforms, is an experiment on an unprecedented scale to transform a centralized economy into a free market. Critics have accused the president of selling off state property without a face value of 10,000 rubles, or about twice the average monthly salary. They presented a bewildering array of options to a people taught that private ownership meant exploitation. Many Russians, perplexed and suspicious, were expected to see their vouchers instead of becoming investors.

"I don’t think we need vouchers. We aren’t used to things like stocks and vouchers in this country," said Natalya Dubysankaya, 81, a retired microbiologist who said she will sell her certificate. "Opposition leaders criticized the government for betraying the country. "Hordes of Vouchers Attack Russia," read a headline in the newspaper Pravda, a headline in the newspaper Pravda, a

Russia launches privatization

Vouchers give citizens a chance at ownership

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian government on Thursday began distributing vouchers that will give its 148 million citizens a chance to become capitalists by taking ownership of state companies. The distribution of vouchers is an experiment on an unprecedented scale to transform a centralized economy into a free market. Critics have accused the president of selling off state property without a face value of 10,000 rubles, or about twice the average monthly salary. They presented a bewildering array of options to a people taught that private ownership meant exploitation. Many Russians, perplexed and suspicious, were expected to see their vouchers instead of becoming investors.

"I don’t think we need vouchers. We aren’t used to things like stocks and vouchers in this country," said Natalya Dubysankaya, 81, a retired microbiologist who said she will sell her certificate. "Opposition leaders criticized the government for betraying the country. "Hordes of Vouchers Attack Russia," read a headline in the newspaper Pravda, a headline in the newspaper Pravda, a

Gorbachev is ordered to testify about Party

If the ban is overturned, it could seriously damage Yeltsin’s authority.

Gorbachev issued no formal response to the newest resolution. But Vladimir Tumarkin, his press officer, said he doubted Gorbachev would give in. "From all signs, his personal feeling is that he won’t change his position," Tumarkin said outside the courtroom.

If Gorbachev fails to comply, the court said, it will "use all means envisaged in the Constitution and laws to ensure that the hearings are full, objective and comprehensive."

Gorbachev, the Soviet president from 1985 until December, could be brought before the court by force, under legal codes cited in the resolution.

When they would be put on the auction block. It was too early to predict its success or failure. The cream-colored vouchers have a face value of 10,000 rubles, or about twice the average monthly salary. They presented a bewildering array of options to a people taught that private ownership meant exploitation. Many Russians, perplexed and suspicious, were expected to see their vouchers instead of becoming investors.

"I don’t think we need vouchers. We aren’t used to things like stocks and vouchers in this country," said Natalya Dubysankaya, 81, a retired microbiologist who said she will sell her certificate. "Opposition leaders criticized the government for betraying the country. "Hordes of Vouchers Attack Russia," read a headline in the newspaper Pravda, a headline in the newspaper Pravda, a
FIRESIDE CHATS

MULTICULTURAL FALL FESTIVAL

OCTOBER 5TH-9TH, 12:00-1:00pm

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DAY</th>
<th>SPEAKER/LECTURER</th>
<th>TOPIC</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MONDAY</td>
<td>Mr. Paul Reese, AARP</td>
<td>Aging in America</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Ms. Molly Toole</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TUESDAY</td>
<td>Prof. Ava Collins</td>
<td>Multiculturalism and the Media</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WEDNESDAY</td>
<td>Prof. Khalil Matta</td>
<td>The Middle East Peace Process</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THURSDAY</td>
<td>Fr. Tom McDermott</td>
<td>The Cultures of East Africa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRIDAY</td>
<td>Ms. Rosemary Haughton</td>
<td>Homelessness: Song in a Strange Land</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FREE LUNCH INCLUDED
British, German relations take a dive along with the pound

LONDON (AP) — The slide of the British pound has brought Britain's relations with Germany along for the ride.

The dispute between the two free-market champions of Europe has roused ghosts of World War II. The rhetoric had sharpened to such a point Thursday that Prime Minister John Major urged a cooling-off period.

"I think it is time to draw a line under this war of words with Germany," said Major, the current president of the 12-nation European Community, after the latest diplomatic confrontation.

In a challenge to burgeoning anti-European sentiment in his divided Conservative Party, Mar­ jor also pledged to submit to Parliament by early next year a bill to ratify a treaty on closer union of the European Com­ munity.

The principal strain between Germany and Britain is money — specifically the pound's downturn and Germany's refusal to cut interest rates further.

British anger is often laced with references to Nazis, in what many see as a disturbing revival of historic animosities the European Community was supposed to bury.

The anti-German rhetoric has also been fueled by an underly­ing fear of the might of unified Germany. Most recently, Britons were offended by German plans — later scrapped — to celebrate the V2 rocket, which killed thousands of British civilians in World War II.

"Humiliated economically and frightened politically, we return to the war years," wrote Times of London columnist Bryan Appleyard, after Princess Diana recently decided to swap her Mercedes-Benz for a British car.

Syrian leader asked to U.N. peace talks

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Israel's foreign minister on Thursday invited Syrian President Hafez al-Assad to a summit to discuss a comprehensive peace accord between their nations, but hours later his boss called such talk premature.

The invitation by Foreign Minister Shimon Peres came in a speech to the 47th General Assembly and indicated Israel is ready to give up some of the Golan Heights, won in the 1967 Mideast War, in exchange for peace.

"We have made clear to the Syrians that U.N. resolutions 242 and 338 contain a territorial dimension, combined with other aspects of peace and security, which must be equally respected," Peres said.

"The leaders of both countries should be directly involved in these negotiations, which are in need of new approaches and creative thinking," he said.

"I call on the president of Syria to set aside his reservations and meet with the prime minister of Israel," Peres said.

But Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said on Israeli TV, "Talk of a summit is premature." He said that eventually, an Israeli-Syrian summit is necessary as the final step before a peace treaty is signed. "But I don't see that happening in the next few months," Rabin said, laughing.

Israel and Syria are still technically at war.

Czech parliament rejects breakup sans referendum

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Czechoslovakia's federal parliament on Thursday defeated a measure that would have permitted the Czech and Slovak republics to quickly separate without holding a referendum.

The vote was a bitter and unexpected defeat for Czech Premier Vaclav Klaus and Slovak Premier Vladimir Mecliar, who agreed after winning June elections that their republics would become fully separate states in 1993.

In a further challenge, Parliament ordered a commission to prepare legislation for a future "Czech-Slovak Union" in which the two republics would coordinate economic and defense policies.

The proposed union would have a president, legislature and governing council, although most power would rest with separate Czech and Slovak parliaments.

It was not immediately clear what the next step would be. One possibility is that the Czech or Slovak parliaments could pass their own bills breaking up the country. Another possibility would be a peaceful secession of one republic from the federation.

"The defeat of the bill changes nothing in Slovakia's resolve to leave the federation," said Ivan Gasparovic, speaker of the Slovak Parliament, according to the official CSTK news agency.

"The federation is falling apart whether we like it or not. The point is to find a smooth and quiet mechanism for its dissolution," Klaus said after the vote. He accused his opponents of wanting "nothing except creating chaos."

Despite their leaders' pledge, polls show less than 40 percent of Czechoslovakia's voters ac­ tually want the country divided into independent Slovak and Czech states.

Ever since the bloody revo­ lution in 1989, Czechs and Slo­ vaks have differed over post-Communist reforms.
Trustees continued from page 1

the formation of the teaching center. Board members praised the recommendations for their emphasis on improving the teaching of students already here. "There isn't enough money here to tell students that they are going to be taught by a senior professor," one said. "It's very difficult for graduate students to come in and teach a class without having any idea how to teach," said a board member.

"It's very difficult for graduate students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life of students to take initiative in search of university," said a student.

"It's very difficult for graduate students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student.

"It's very difficult for graduate students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student.

"It's very difficult for graduate students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student.

Heavy horn
Sophie. Kate Barton struggles up the steps of Farley after a long day of band practice.

"I think (the Board) will represent our concerns well," said Friedewald. "They have to represent the importance of the quality of teaching in the classroom situation problems.""We're very excited and pleased that they are interested in improving education," said a student.

This program "can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student. "This program can really help to integrate academic life to students to take initiative in search of university," said a student.

The report also "calls upon students to take initiative in improving the quality of teaching by graduate students and faculty, but it also suggests implementing orientation and instructional programs for teaching assistants as a short-term solution."

Board members expressed their support for the teaching center and said that "calls upon students to take initiative in improving the quality of teaching by graduate students and faculty, but it also suggests implementing orientation and instructional programs for teaching assistants as a short-term solution." "calls upon students to take initiative in improving the quality of teaching by graduate students and faculty, but it also suggests implementing orientation and instructional programs for teaching assistants as a short-term solution."

Both student government members and trustees were pleased with the outcome of the presentation. "calls upon students to take initiative in improving the quality of teaching by graduate students and faculty, but it also suggests implementing orientation and instructional programs for teaching assistants as a short-term solution." "calls upon students to take initiative in improving the quality of teaching by graduate students and faculty, but it also suggests implementing orientation and instructional programs for teaching assistants as a short-term solution."
Banker who loaned to Iraq alters plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A judge threw out a plea agreement Thursday and cleared the way for a trial for a former bank manager on charges of mass-murdering a scheme to loan $3.5 billion during its lead-up to Gulf War military buildup.

A highly complex deal ever expected in the case, which has raised questions about whether the Bush administration coved up its role in arming Saddam Hussein before the war.

Christopher Drogoul, former Atlanta branch manager for Class continued from page 17

TUTORS NEEDED: TOWN AND COUNTRY
COMMUNITY CENTER NEIGHBOR STUDY PROGRAM CENTER
MON, TUE, WED, THURS
9:30-10:30 AM
CONNE ENMONS, 258-9973 OR 286-1306

LIKE TO GOLF? HATE TO CARRY CLUBS?
GOLF CARTS?
Have a caddie carry your clubs as you tee in hopes of the $100 grand prize! Watch for sign.

Thank You St. Jude for favors received!

LEARN TO SKYDIVE! Classes every Sat. & Sun at 8:00 am Eastern Time. Train and jump the same day. Modern equipment and training programs. Licensed instructors. PR call Skydive
Hastings (616) 349-4665.

C squared MerryHappy New Year for being my special bud!... .

C. C.,

Bent on luck on the USA!!

The Mothers-Man says "Don't get.Smoked!!
Drop your resume of all the Career Placement
Office TODAY! (A friendly reminder from the Leo Burton Advertising Co.)

Money B. & Suzie Q. Happy Anniversary from your loving roomates

And while I agree to live life while you can,
In all honesty I'd rather cut that horn.

The Observer

is looking for business and economic students to write a guest column for the Business Page. If interested contact Business Editor Pancho Lozano at 239-7471

Congress negotiates a
Pentagon spending bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate negotiators reached agreement Thursday on a $274.3 billion Pentagon spending bill for the coming year that cuts $1 billion from President Bush's request for the Future Strategic Defense Initiative anti­ missile system.

The bill also provided $2.7 billion to round out the Air Force's fleet of B-2 Stealth bombers at 20 planes, and about $1.5 billion for programs to help defense industries and workers make the adjustment to a new and leaner Pentagon budget.

It also seeks to force the Pentagon to between competing aircraft for the next generation of tactical aircraft, by providing money for the AX long-range bomber, the developmental F-3 Air Force fighter and upgrades of the F-18 fighter.

But it would delete about one-third of the money until the Pentagon makes key decisions about which programs to pursue.

Everybody looking at the tactical air package knows you can’t buy them all," said Senate Armed Services Committee Chairman Sam Numm, D-Ga.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ross Perot preaches a liberal social philosophy and a conservative economic agenda, favoring abortion rights, sex education, less spending and higher taxes.

The Texas billionaire, who launched a funerary sweep of Reform party organizers with his first political campaign, promises to combine a liberal social philosophy and a conservative economic agenda, favoring abortion rights, sex education, less spending and higher taxes.

His credibility, however, is tainted by his long history of taking on corporate giants. He's often depicted as a liberal who's too left-wing for his own good.

But he opposes prayer in schools, in keeping with the Constitution's separation of church and state.

It seems clear that he cuts across the usual liberal-conservative spectrum because on a lot of social issues he is a liberal in a libertarian sense, says Benjamin Page, a Northwestern University political scientist.

"At the same time, in terms of economic matters, he is very conservative in what I would call the old-fashioned Republican sense, not Reagan-Kemp supply side economics, but paying attention to the deficits and actually balancing the budget," Page said.

Perot, who announced he would re-enter the presidential race, has made balancing the federal budget and paying off the national debt a hallmark of his economic program.

Perot says it was a mistake to drop out of the race because neither President Bush nor Bill Clinton would permit ways out of the national debt.

While an active candidate, Perot outlined his ideas in speeches and interviews but didn't offer a specific prescription for balancing the budget.

It's too small to be reliable.

The Texas billionaire favors abortion rights, sex education, less spending and higher taxes.

Clinton's potential sampling error was 3 percentage points.

Clinton's percentage was his lowest showing in recent national polls. CNN reported that 72 percent of its respondents said there was "no chance" they would vote for him.

In contrast, just 32 percent said there was no chance they would vote for Perot, 45 percent said there was no chance they would vote for Bush, CNN said.

Perot had the highest favorability rating of the three presidential candidates, 66 percent, compared with 56 percent for Bush and Clinton's 38 percent, CNN said.

But it also said it planned daily reports of its tracking poll throughout the election. Since the sample from any one night would be too small to be reliable, such results will be a fresh three-day average.

Such polls can pick up sudden shifts of opinion faster than traditional polls, but experts caution that changes in the numbers due to sampling error and other polling effects can create an exaggerated sense of movement in the race.

Perot platform combines both liberal, conservative elements

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ross Perot's Indiana supporters cheered his plunge back into the presidential race Thursday, even if they didn't quite know what to do next.

"This is more of a good question," said Perot volunteer Ted Martin. He and others in a core group of seven Perot organizers watched the Dallas business magnate's televised re-entry into the race and fielded dozens of calls from well-wishers and news media.

"I feel fantastic — better than the last night," said volunteer Ernie Baker, also at the northside Perot headquarters.

"I knew he was going to run. I've never seen a better-organized campaign in my life." The Indiana group was preparing mailings and other means to reach out to voters. Baker said he thought Perot could win, but that Thursday's announcement was only the start.

"We got a bunch of volunteers with half a mind to get into politics," he said. "We need a political organization."

The coordinator of Perot's Indiana volunteer effort said the candidate's decision to drop out of the race in July was a mistake, but not a decisive one.

"We didn't mess up and not go to the polls," Wally Howard said. "The election's still in front of us as we still haven't lost a hell of a lot." Martin said the Perot movement proved itself at the toughest time possible — when Perot announced 11 weeks ago that he would not run.

"He has kept a hardcore movement alive because of its own vitality," he said. "There's just enough true sentiment at the grass roots of this nation. There was a tremendous effort carried on even when he backed away from the race."

Brian Vargas, a political science instructor and pollster at Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis, earlier said Perot would probably receive only 10 percent to 15 percent of the Indiana vote at best.

ATTENTION FUTURE HOLLYWOOD STARS:

Sunbeam Productions needs EXTRAS for a film shooting in South Bend which takes place on the Notre Dame campus in the sixties. If interested, men should let your hair and sideburns grow NOW for a late 60's look. Stay tuned for more details.
Quayle decides his public schooling isn't such a disadvantage after all

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP) — Vice President Dan Quayle said Thursday he's proud to be the product of public schools and claimed "the media elite" — not he — thinks that's a disadvantage.

Quayle, who said a day earlier that attending public schools left him at "a big disadvantage" in debating private school alumnus Al Gore, changed course.

Speaking to a welcoming crowd as he arrived to address the national Farm Progress Show, Quayle said, "I grew up in a small town called Huntington. I went to public schools and I'm proud of it. I was raised with Midwestern values and that, my friends, is the real advantage in this campaign."

A day earlier, he said of Gore: "He went to the most expensive private schools in Washington, D.C., and I'm the product of the public schools. ... I'm at a big disadvantage, but we'll do all right."

But Thursday, he said, "The media elite will tell you Sen. Gore has a big advantage."

Quayle attended public schools in Arizona and Huntington, Ind., and then attended private DePauw University in Indiana.

Clinton says Bush defends dictators

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton accused President Bush on Thursday of defending potential dictators instead of the "mainstream pro-democracy tradition of American foreign policy."

"No American foreign policy can succeed if it neglects our domestic needs, and no American foreign policy can succeed if it slights our commitment to democracy," Clinton told a university-sponsored world affairs conference at the Pabst Theater.

"The President often takes a lot of credit for communism's downfall, but fails to recognize that the global democratic revolution actually gave freedom its birth," the Arkansas governor said. "He simply does not seem at home in the mainstream pro-democracy tradition of American foreign policy."

Clinton said Bush seems to prefer "a foreign policy that embraces stability at the expense of freedom, a foreign policy that prefers more intimate relationships with foreign leaders than on consideration of how those leaders are governed and maintain their power."

"But in a world where freedom, not tyranny, is on the march, the central calculus of pure politics simply does not compute."

Besides, he added, smiling, "Individual leaders come and go, even in the United States, I hope."

Clinton said he wasn't advocating "reckless crusades to force U.S. ideals on other people."

"The real danger is that in a time of wrenching, sweeping change, under President Bush we will cling to, outdated regions that do not work and cannot inspire," he said.

Campaigns battle over Bush tax ad

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush began airing an ad claiming Bill Clinton would force "a steamfitter, a scientist, two sales representatives and a housing lender" to keep his campaign promises that drew a roar of protest Thursday from the Democratic camp.

The 30-second Republican tax ad began airing Wednesday night on network television.

Clinton quickly called it "bogus."

The Republican ad shows what Bush aides said were real taxpayers — a steamfitter, a scientist, two sales representatives and a housing lender. It claims their taxes would go up by amounts ranging from $1,088 to $2,077 under Clinton's economic plan.

"You can't trust Clinton economics," the ad says. "It's wrong for you. It's wrong for America."

Clinton and his running mate, Al Gore, expressed outrage over what they called an inaccurate ad.

"It is a disgrace to the American people that the President of the United States would make a claim that is so baseless and so without foundation," Clinton said, "so shameless in his attempt to get votes under false pretenses."

Gore called it "the most misleading and deceptive national television advertising I have ever seen."

Bush spokeswoman Alixe Glen shot back that the ads were "100 percent accurate and definitively document how Clinton's so-called economic plan is a bad-faced lie."

Bush campaign aides had arranged for a senior Bush administration official to brief network reporters about the economic argument behind the ad. But the official refused to be quoted by name.

Clinton has said he would increase taxes only for the top 2 percent of incomes, or those making over $200,000.

The Bush campaign, however, issued a statement noting Treasury figures showing that the top 2 percent starts at $64,900 in taxable income.

Special Offer for Students!
- This Weekend Only!
- Purchase Lou Holtz Autographed Copies of Notre Dame Football Today at a 20% discount

Notre Dame Football Today, an exquisite, hardcover book, will be available to all Notre Dame students at the cost of $32 per copy (20% off the regular retail price of $40).

This valuable keepsake will be available outside the Varsity Shop on the second-floor concourse of the ACC. Hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday. Students must show a valid ID, and there is a limit of two copies per person.

Notre Dame Football Today offers the most complete, behind-the-scenes look at Fighting Irish football ever compiled. Coach Holtz gave seven of America's top photographers unrestricted access to the program during the past three seasons. They took more than 30,000 photos, the finest of which were carefully selected for this commemorative edition. The book also contains a foreword by Joe Montana.

The book makes a great gift, and every loyal Irish fan should have one. Don't miss out on this special opportunity.
Perot entering race to salvage broken ego

After much fanfare, Ross Perot is back in the race for the White House. Opinion polls are spouting criticism of the two major parties, the federal government and politics in general. And the Independent candidate even spent millions of dollars after his withdrawal to maintain a political organization and ensure that his name was on the ballot in all 50 states.

Perot's return appears to be motivated by ego. After the July announcement, much of the media and many of his own supporters labeled him a quitter. If he couldn't stick it out in the presidential campaign, the public asked, what would he do if he was elected?

While Perot said he is re-entering the race at the request of his volunteers, his true reason is transparent: he is running for the presidency to salvage a broken ego. After much fanfare, Ross Perot — a man seeking personal gain, a candidate who sought to offend and to offend with his flip-flop on whether to run signals indecisiveness and his conspicuous jockeying damages his credibility, leaving some voters suspicious.

Perot's personal motives are also illustrated in his choice for the Art Department. A few weeks ago Marcia Kaplan's sculptures on campus through the Arts Office were displayed at a forum for discussion. There were to make moralistic statements. You claim that he has no right to tell a person how to live his life. However, you tell him not to make moralistic statements.

Secondly, your logic is based solely on what you want. The needs of society are such that certain limitations must be placed on an individual's actions. The ramifications of rearing that anyone can do whatever they please. This is commonly known as anarchy. Last, you argue that if people desire to do something, and then do it, it is because they desire to do so. Obviously, Mr. Hurt desires to express his opinion on an issue that is important to him.

Just because people hold different belief systems than you, it does not mean that they have any less right to espouse them in public forums.

In doing so, they do not act wrongly.

John Hinding
Jonathan Lienhard
Sorin Han
Sept. 30, 1992

Charter of 'stoogery' misses mark

Dear Editor:

Your recent editorial "SMC Art Controversy Smells of Stoogery" has missed the mark and unfortunately does not do justice to the actions or intentions of either the Saint Mary's community or the individuals involved.

There were valid and differing concerns expressed by various constituencies of the Saint Mary's community regarding the content and placement of Marcia Kaplan's sculptures on the grounds of the college. Initially, after one of the works was damaged, it was necessary that they be temporarily removed while outstanding questions were resolved.

What followed the initial removal of these works was a very difficult period of reassessment, sometimes made more complex by the egotistical character of Kaplan's sculptures. Students were consulted, letters to the editor were written, a forum for discussion was held, the Faculty Assembly met to voice its opinion and a committee of the Faculty Assembly worked aggressively to seek a compromise.

In all of this, and gratefully with the help of The Observer, our community sought to resolve a very complex, moral, philosophical and socio-political issue.

The outcome of this deliberation at Saint Mary's was not stoogery on anyone's part. Instead, the Administration's decision to offer the option of re-displaying Marcia Kaplan's artworks reflects confidence in the character of our community and its ability to work through important contemporary issues in a reasoned manner.

Douglas E. Tyler
Chair of the Art Department
Oct. 1, 1992

Faulcy logic, hypocrisy characterized letter

Dear Editor:

In response to Liam Mahoney's letter (Sept. 30) I have no right to tell a person to voice his opinion and a committee of the Faculty Assembly worked aggressively to seek a compromise. In all of this, and gratefully with the help of The Observer, our community sought to resolve a very complex, moral, philosophical and socio-political issue.

The outcome of this deliberation at Saint Mary's was not stoogery on anyone's part. Instead, the Administration's decision to offer the option of re-displaying Marcia Kaplan's artworks reflects confidence in the character of our community and its ability to work through important contemporary issues in a reasoned manner.

Do something your cat can't, submit: QUOTES, P.O. Box 4, ND, 46556
Dear Editor:
The feeling around campus this election year, and for many Roman Catholics around the country, is that the November 3rd election will be decided on one issue: abortion.
Abortion tends to be a religious issue. Religion tends to make us see things in black and white.
When we read magazines and watch television, some of us automatically register George Bush as good because he is Pro-Life and Bill Clinton as bad since he is Pro-Choice. But seeing issues in black and white never leads us to the truth. First, one must consider the relationship between the Oval Office and the issue of abortion. Black bemused, the just who wrote the opinion instituting Roe v. Wade, was appointed by Dwight Eisenhower, a conservative Republican.
Eisenhower did not put a liberal on the court intentionally—he just didn’t know what he was getting, and in the end was enraged with his choice.

Dear Editor:
In a letter to The Observer (Sept. 24), Professor Stephen Fallon responded to my comments regarding the inconsistent treatment afforded the respective camps of Ms. Moses, Bill Clinton (1992) and Bush (1988) by the more leftist-leaning members of the Notre Dame community.
Professor Fallon contends that the "liberal" criticism surrounding Bush's campaign speech in 1988, which he characterized as an "unabashed rally" (as opposed to Clinton's euphemistically described "policy address"), focused on the fact that ticket distribution was handled in such a manner so as to secure a friendly audience at Stepan for their honorable candidate.

I feel I must point out, as Professor Fallon somehow failed to mention it, that the Clinton campaign also acted in such a manner so as to secure a friendly audience at Stepan for their honorable candidate.

By contacting campus Democrats and providing ticket seekers to Center for Social Concerns partisans well in advance. Moreover, scores of campus Democrats were swept under the rug into Stepan's expanse by designating them to be "Clinton Volunteers," a clever euphemism indeed.

The combined effect of these strategic actions ensured that Mr. Clinton could himself conduct an "unabashed rally," with a cheering audience of four-hundred and the few honored "left-wingers," noble souls widely noted for their aversion to any and all double standards.

These modern "liberals" demand tolerance and unbiased free expression for speakers of their own ilk, but they are conspicuously unwilling to extend this tolerance to people who do not share all of their views.

Bush can come to campus and be greeted by venal valedictorians, protestors, hecklers, and self-appointed critics who cry "Political Rallies are Undeirable fare for this campus!" Liberals lionize such individuals as rebels with a noble cause.

Slick Willy Clinton rolls into town, and suddenly political rallies become acceptable fare, and the few Clinton opponents and "hecklers" amidst the Pro-Clinton multitude are branded by the liberals as "opponents of free speech." Such a double standard regarding free expression runs counter to any sense of true, enlightened liberalism.

The great political tolerance of the campus was clearly demonstrated by the greatly unpublicized rough handling of Right-to-Life in the rear of the Stepan crowd. Some students attempt to silence this floundish anti-abortion foe.

One girl, carrying a small piece of paper, message on it, was practically pulled over backwards by Clintonites who had climbed over other students in their valiant attempt to silence this floundish anti-abortion foe.

The chivalry, valor and dignity of these Clintonites was clearly demonstrated by the greatly unpublicized rough handling of Right-to-Life in the rear of the Stepan crowd. Some students attempt to silence this floundish anti-abortion foe.

For those of you who think it a "sin" to vote for Bill Clinton, how much worse is it to vote for the hypocrisy of George Bush?

Brian Posnanski
Edward's Hall
Sept. 30, 1992

Dear Editor:
I am a first grade student at St. Mary's School in Lake Forest. I have two favorite things at ND-I: Marching with the Irish Guard and 2. Pizza at the Huddle. My mom and dad told me the Irish Guard made a big mistake. When I get a punishment, my mom and dad tell me they still love me. I still love Pat, Chris, Lou, Chris and Mike. I want to go to the Grotto and Daddy let me light 5 candles so that they could march with me again with their kilts on. Andy the Mascot

Editor's note: Andy Mathews, age six, has been marching with the Irish Guard as a "mascot" since he was three years old, and has been distressed about the actions involving his "heroes." He is a resident of Lake Bluff. Ill.

---

Viewpoint

Bushi is hypocritical on abortion

When a reporter asked Bush in 1940 what his views were, Bush responded that "I'm whatever he is" (referring to Hoover).

It appears that Mr. Bush will take whatever side gets him the most votes. Bush should look at those children already born who are impoverished or inflicted with disease.

If Bush wants women to carry their babies to term, why doesn't he sign the family planning bill authorizing women to take some underprivileged women to have their babies safely?

Vice-President Dan Quayle's statement that if his daughter became pregnant he would support whatever decision she made. The Republican ticket isn't as Pro Life as it professes to be.

For those of you who think it a "sin" to vote for Bill Clinton, how much worse is it to vote for the hypocrisy of George Bush?

Brian Posnanski
Edward's Hall
Sept. 30, 1992

---

Seniors should consider joining a Rap-Up group

Dear Seniors:
Are you looking for way to talk about life with people your own age over a home-cooked meal?

Then think about a Senior Rap-Up Group. Seven times throughout the year, small groups of seniors will meet at the homes of faculty to mix good company, conversation and cooking.

If this sounds interesting, beneficial, and fun, then please go to the Center For Social Concerns where you can get more information and sign up to participate.

We're looking forward to our Rap-Up Groups and we hope you give it a try.

Jennifer Swize
Margaret Haugh
Farley Hall
Sept. 28, 1992

---

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Andy the Mascot' still loves the Irish Guard

Dear Editor:
My name is Andy Mathews. I am in first grade at St. Mary's School in Lake Forest. I have two favorite things at ND-I: Marching with the Irish Guard and 2. Pizza at the Huddle. My mom and dad told me the Irish Guard made a big mistake. When I get a punishment, my mom and dad tell me they still love me. I still love Pat, Chris, Lou, Chris and Mike. I want to go to the Grotto and Daddy let me light 5 candles so that they could march with me again with their kilts on. Andy the Mascot.
IUSB boasts intimate relations with community

By MAURA HOGAN
Accent Writer

hat do a Coca-Cola plant, a cheese factory, and a disputable bar have in common? In the early 1900's, these buildings were South Bend's vital hub of industry and commerce. Today, they have been transformed into classrooms and administrative buildings of "the university that educates Michiana," Indiana University at South Bend (IUSB). Established almost 70 years ago as an outgrowth of Indiana University at Bloomington, IUSB has been "growing like crazy," according to Ellen Mathia, Director of Public Communications. It has grown tremendously since 33 students received the first diplomas conferred at the South Bend campus in May, 1967.

Since 1987, enrollment has increased from approximately 6,000 to almost 9,000 students. "Including part-time students in the count would increase the numbers to 12,000," noted Daniel Cohen, Chancellor of the Office of External Affairs.

Unlike traditional universities such as Notre Dame and Saint Mary's, IUSB aims to serve what Mathia termed "the new majors" of students. "More and more students are coming from outside the traditional age group," said Mathia. They have homes and families and commute to school. IUSB draws students from seven Indiana counties and three Michigan counties.

The University works diligently to dispel the image of the "town and gown" separation, that imaginary line which can exist between a university and the members of the surrounding community.

"Our community is diffuse and extensive and there is no border," said Cohen. "You can draw a line around the property we own, but that line has little meaning beyond a legal one," he added.

"We owe it to Michiana," urged Mathia, "to give back to the community. Our first goal is to educate and to be a good citizen, and our second is to apply research and to give back to the community." IUSB draws students from seven Indiana counties and three Michigan counties.

The University works diligently to dispel the image of the "town and gown" separation, that imaginary line which can exist between a university and the members of the surrounding community.

"Our community is diffuse and extensive and there is no border," said Cohen. "You can draw a line around the property we own, but that line has little meaning beyond a legal one," he added.

"We owe it to Michiana," urged Mathia, "to give back to the community. Our first goal is to educate and to be a good citizen, and our second is to apply research and to give back to the community.

Students have researched such pertinent topics as the women's suffrage movement of Elkhart County, the water quality of St. Joseph County, and the culture of fanastic bingo players. IUSB shares many faculty members with Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Because it cannot rely as heavily on endowed funds as private institutions such as ND and SMC, IUSB finds it must "be very efficient with our money, and make do with a fair number of adjunct faculty," said Cohen. 350 of the 565 faculty members at IUSB are part-time, and many also teach at ND or SMC. Mike Keen, formerly of the ND Center for Social Concerns (CSC), is a professor in IUSB's sociology department, and Pat Washington, a former SMC administrator, is now Director of the Masters in Social Work at IUSB.

In a relatively small community such as Michiana, there are apt to be "collaborations between working areas," said Mathia. Within one family, it often occurs that one spouse teaches at IUSB and the other at ND or SMC. Case in point: Sam Shapiro, history professor at Notre Dame, is the husband of Gloria Coffman, Director of Women's Studies at IUSB.

"We owe it to Michiana to give back to the community. Our first goal is educate and to create good citizens..."

—Ellen Mathia

In another husband-wife team; Harvey Bender teaches genetics at ND, while his wife Eileen serves as IUSB's Special Assistant to the Chancellor.

ND/SMC and IUSB have also collaborated in social service organizations. Recently, IUSB Student Body President Sabine Schweitzer and ND's CAUSA president Mike Arsenault combined efforts to provide humanitarian relief to the hurricane victims in southern Florida.

Calling the current program "a great success," Schweitzer is enthusiastic about further interaction between the two communities.

Cohen had his own list of goals for IUSB's future. Labeling the current physical plant as "a hodgepodge of buildings," he described his dream to "now create a campus." He is eager for IUSB to "outlive its ugly duckling myth" and to realize its potential role as "the most beautiful urban campus" in Indiana, as predicted by a disciple of Frank Lloyd Wright.

The university is currently in the process of petitioning the state legislature for a new classroom building while it enjoys the recent construction of Northside West, which houses a six-floor library, the new bookstore, computer labs, and classroom space.

Cohen also foresees increased numbers of programs in technology and the sciences, an area traditionally dominated by Purdue within the state of Indiana.

Their dreams are lofty, yet their visions are clear-headed. Clearly, IUSB is an institution of which Michiana may be proud.
Holy Cross maintains close ties to ND

By JOHN COWAN

Although it's located just across the street from Notre Dame and adjacent to Saint Mary's, few know about the neighboring Holy Cross College, nor the ties the institutions have with one another.

The bond between Notre Dame and Holy Cross stretches back to when Father Sorin traveled from Ireland with six brothers, over 150 years ago. In fact, there is just one constitution which governs both Holy Cross and Notre Dame. In addition, one Superior General represents both institutions at the General Council of Rome.

Brother James Bluma, Vice President of Student Affairs at Holy Cross, stresses that the emphasis between the two institutions is on "collaboration and cooperation." This manifests itself mainly in the sharing of personnel, faculty and student resources.

Holy Cross faculty are invited to workshops and other academic activities and students and faculty are able to use libraries, shops, as well as the computer and media centers at Notre Dame, with their ID cards.

Although Holy Cross does not have any intercollegiate athletics, its students are able to use both Rockne Memorial Gymnasium and the AACC. Holy Cross also has intramural volleyball and basketball teams.

Perhaps more important than the similarities between ND and Holy Cross, are the differences. "We are not ND," says Brother Bluma. "We are Holy Cross. And we are proud of that."

The Brothers of the Congregation of the Holy Cross established Holy Cross in 1936 as a two-year college for brothers. Now a Catholic, two-year college, Holy Cross offers a liberal arts curriculum which parallels the freshman and sophomore course offerings at most senior colleges.

Most students transfer to four-year colleges after one or two years at Holy Cross. About one-half of the Holy Cross students transfer into the IU system, but nearly 20 percent apply to Notre Dame, which houses the Continuing Clergy for Ministry, the St. Joseph's community cemetery, the Dujarie House, the infirmary for Holy Cross and, finally, a maintenance shop.

Although its campus and student body are much smaller than those at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's, Holy Cross still upholds a grand reputation.

"The importance of an institution's work does not depend on its size," said Notre Dame President, Father Malloy, at a ceremony this past weekend commemorating 150 years of education in the United States for the Holy Cross Brothers.

Referring to the common mission of both schools, he added, "We're all in this together."
Marching to the beat of a different Buddha

From the outside, the celestial Smithsonian in the City of God would look like the New York Public Library, if its walls were not made of alabaster, and if, in place of the Lions at the main entrance, there were not jewelled unicorns.

In this gallery of sacred antiquities, you can see naugthy reworkings of Leviathan and Behemoth, the blueprints followed at the parting of the Red Sea, and the foreskin of Moses, rumored to be the size of a grapefruit half, to remind sight-seers that the patriarch who met God face-to-face on Sinai was the last of the giants.

In the archives next to the arboretum where the Jesse Tree is kept watered, is a book with golden pages on which is inscribed the Nine Thousand Names of God.

The fax which the Pope has of this catalogue is three pages longer than the Oxford English Dictionary, since it contains His many job descriptions as well as the salvation; histories that go with the Names He is known by in other galaxies.

In our tradition, He's "I AM WHO AM." a Yahweh—a grand old name, plain as any grand old name can be, though with propriety, society has dubbed Him "our ground of being." All our understanding of Him begins with the name He used when He called to conclusion an acquaintance with Moses.

I mean, this memory is that when I continue last week's explanation of Him as the Lonely God, I faced the facts that the arcane stage names He is called with in the various religions are eponyms for what He would be to us if He were our own God.

That one bear the burden of the other is the simple and clear call that comes from all suffering." (Dorothy Soelle)

Christ came not to take away our suffering, but with His presence, a great Christian teacher has told us. But if He is there for us, should we be there for Him?

In my salad days as a smart-ass, I used to set traditional Catholic nerve-ends on edge by suggesting that God created people because the Three Persons of the Trinity needed a fourth for bridge; or because they liked barber-shop harmony, and needed a tenor to form a quartet.

I wasn't trying to make his tri-uneness sound like a committee. It did diminish God's glory to conjecture that He brought man into existence because He wanted to sing with Him? Now that I'm older, I suspect His divinity overlaps our humanity in a more poignant way.

Andre Trocmé was the pacifist Huguenot pastor of a small Protestant town in France that became famous for saving thousands of Jews from the Nazis. In 1944, Trocmé's 14-year-old son committed suicide, and the heartbroken father never recovered. But tragically, He suddenly believed that human life is thrown into a world dominated by absurd and chaotic accidents, instead of a world progressively ordered by a loving God.

Trocmé's biographer writes: "Never again would he believe that God protects precious life. Never again could be pray to a Protector-God. From then on, God and Jesus were to him, as they were to his parents, suffering, limited. God was still the Father, but He was as powerless as Trocmé the father was. God could only join us in our grief, not save us from it.

It would not surprise me to learn that Trocmé put his finger on the scandal of the Incarnation. Did God send His Son to live among us like a soldier without weapons, or even angels to protect Him, because He chose to get by in our world on love that is stronger than death?

sunt lacrimae rerum et mentem mortalem tangent.

There are tears shed for things even here and mortality touches the heart." (Virgil)

Can we credit God with being poorer than any man. One who cannot suffer cannot love, either, and so he's a lover. "Everyone who helps another is Gethsemane," says the Jew, "and everyone who comforts another is the mouth of God's grace.

In other words, Wherever people suffer, Christ stands with them...as long as Christ lives and is remembered, his friends will be with those who suffer. Where no help is possible, he appears not as the superior of the welfare, but only as the one who walks with those beyond help.

That one bear the burden of the other is the simple and clear call that comes from all suffering." (Dorothy Soelle)

Christ came not to take away our suffering, but with His presence, a great Christian teacher has told us. But if He is there for us, should we be there for Him?

In my salad days as a smart-ass, I used to set traditional Catholic nerve-ends on edge by suggesting that God created people because the Three Persons of the Trinity needed a fourth for bridge; or because they liked barber-shop harmony, and needed a tenor to form a quartet.

I wasn't trying to make his tri-uneness sound like a committee. It did diminish God's glory to conjecture that He brought man into existence because He wanted to sing with Him? Now that I'm older, I suspect His divinity overlaps our humanity in a more poignant way.

Andre Trocmé was the pacifist Huguenot pastor of a small Protestant town in France that became famous for saving thousands of Jews from the Nazis. In 1944, Trocmé's 14-year-old son committed suicide, and the heartbroken father never recovered. But tragically, He suddenly believed that human life is thrown into a world dominated by absurd and chaotic accidents, instead of a world progressively ordered by a loving God.

Trocmé's biographer writes: "Never again would he believe that God protects precious life. Never again could be pray to a Protector-God. From then on, God and Jesus were to him, as they were to his parents, suffering, limited. God was still the Father, but He was as powerless as Trocmé the father was. God could only join us in our grief, not save us from it.

It would not surprise me to learn that Trocmé put his finger on the scandal of the Incarnation. Did God send His Son to live among us like a soldier without weapons, or even angels to protect Him, because He chose to get by in our world on love that is stronger than death?

sunt lacrimae rerum et mentem mortalem tangent.

There are tears shed for things even here and mortality touches the heart." (Virgil)

Can we credit God with being poorer than any man. One who cannot suffer cannot love, either, and so he's a lover. "Everyone who helps another is Gethsemane," says the Jew, "and everyone who comforts another is the mouth of God's grace.

In other words, Wherever people suffer, Christ stands with them...as long as Christ lives and is remembered, his friends will be with those who suffer. Where no help is possible, he appears not as the superior of the welfare, but only as the one who walks with those beyond help.

That one bear the burden of the other is the simple and clear call that comes from all suffering." (Dorothy Soelle)

Christ came not to take away our suffering, but with His presence, a great Christian teacher has told us. But if He is there for us, should we be there for Him?

In my salad days as a smart-ass, I used to set traditional Catholic nerve-ends on edge by suggesting that God created people because the Three Persons of the Trinity needed a fourth for bridge; or because they liked barber-shop harmony, and needed a tenor to form a quartet.

I wasn't trying to make his tri-uneness sound like a committee. It did diminish God's glory to conjecture that He brought man into existence because He wanted to sing with Him? Now that I'm older, I suspect His divinity overlaps our humanity in a more poignant way.

Andre Trocmé was the pacifist Huguenot pastor of a small Protestant town in France that became famous for saving thousands of Jews from the Nazis. In 1944, Trocmé's 14-year-old son committed suicide, and the heartbroken father never recovered. But tragically, He suddenly believed that human life is thrown into a world dominated by absurd and chaotic accidents, instead of a world progressively ordered by a loving God.

Trocmé's biographer writes: "Never again would he believe that God protects precious life. Never again could be pray to a Protector-God. From then on, God and Jesus were to him, as they were to his parents, suffering, limited. God was still the Father, but He was as powerless as Trocmé the father was. God could only join us in our grief, not save us from it.

It would not surprise me to learn that Trocmé put his finger on the scandal of the Incarnation. Did God send His Son to live among us like a soldier without weapons, or even angels to protect Him, because He chose to get by in our world on love that is stronger than death?

sunt lacrimae rerum et mentem mortalem tangent.

There are tears shed for things even here and mortality touches the heart." (Virgil)

Can we credit God with being poorer than any man. One who cannot suffer cannot love, either, and so he's a lover. "Everyone who helps another is Gethsemane," says the Jew, "and everyone who comforts another is the mouth of God's grace.

In other words, Wherever people suffer, Christ stands with them...as long as Christ lives and is remembered, his friends will be with those who suffer. Where no help is possible, he appears not as the superior of the welfare, but only as the one who walks with those beyond help.

That one bear the burden of the other is the simple and clear call that comes from all suffering." (Dorothy Soelle)

Christ came not to take away our suffering, but with His presence, a great Christian teacher has told us. But if He is there for us, should we be there for Him?

In my salad days as a smart-ass, I used to set traditional Catholic nerve-ends on edge by suggesting that God created people because the Three Persons of the Trinity needed a fourth for bridge; or because they liked barber-shop harmony, and needed a tenor to form a quartet.

I wasn't trying to make his tri-uneness sound like a committee. It did diminish God's glory to conjecture that He brought man into existence because He wanted to sing with Him? Now that I'm older, I suspect His divinity overlaps our humanity in a more poignant way.

Andre Trocmé was the pacifist Huguenot pastor of a small Protestant town in France that became famous for saving thousands of Jews from the Nazis. In 1944, Trocmé's 14-year-old son committed suicide, and the heartbroken father never recovered. But tragically, He suddenly believed that human life is thrown into a world dominated by absurd and chaotic accidents, instead of a world progressively ordered by a loving God.

Trocmé's biographer writes: "Never again would he believe that God protects precious life. Never again could be pray to a Protector-God. From then on, God and Jesus were to him, as they were to his parents, suffering, limited. God was still the Father, but He was as powerless as Trocmé the father was. God could only join us in our grief, not save us from it.

It would not surprise me to learn that Trocmé put his finger on the scandal of the Incarnation. Did God send His Son to live among us like a soldier without weapons, or even angels to protect Him, because He chose to get by in our world on love that is stronger than death?

sunt lacrimae rerum et mentem mortalem tangent.

There are tears shed for things even here and mortality touches the heart." (Virgil)

Can we credit God with being poorer than any man. One who cannot suffer cannot love, either, and so he's a lover. "Everyone who helps another is Gethsemane," says the Jew, "and everyone who comforts another is the mouth of God's grace.

In other words, Wherever people suffer, Christ stands with them...as long as Christ lives and is remembered, his friends will be with those who suffer. Where no help is possible, he appears not as the superior of the welfare, but only as the one who walks with those beyond help.

That one bear the burden of the other is the simple and clear call that comes from all suffering." (Dorothy Soelle)
INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Sunday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERHALL FOOTBALL—MEN'S

Sunday's games

EGRICK V—Announced availability of Terrell Johnson, running back.

INTERHALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Sunday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL FOOTBALL—MEN'S

Sunday's games

EGRICK V—Announced availability of Terrell Johnson, running back.

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.

INTERBALL BASEBALL

Sunday's games

Dillon 2, Grace 0

O.C. 1, Stanford 3

INTERBALL SOCCER

Sunday's games

Campbell 3, Grace 1

Benn 6, Stanford 2

Dillon 2, Grace 0

Saturday's games

Benon 5, Philadelphia 3

Stanford 2, Nevada 1

INTERBALL WOMEN'S

Saturday's games

Continental Basketball Association

CROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jody Wright guard.

LA CHROSSE CATBIRDS—Signed Jarek Jackson, guard, and Reggie Thrash, forward.

SLAM DUNKS—Traded Karon Grindall, forward, to the Rochester Knighthawks.

PENNSYLVANIA I—Announced pickup of 1993 third-round pick.
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — George Brett almost called it quits after he got four hits in his first four at-bats against the California Angels on Wednesday night to become the 18th major leaguer to reach the 3,000-hit plateau. "I want to enjoy this for a while and go back to Kansas City," Brett said.

Discouraged earlier this season when he was hitting .150 and the Royals lost 16 of their first 17 games, Brett considered retiring right then and there. But Kansas City manager Hal McRae, among others, talked him out of it.

Two considerations will figure heavily in his decision for next year and beyond: whether he believes he can still play at a high level, and whether he believes he will still enjoy the game.

"I know I'm not the player I was five years ago or 10 years ago. But I still think I can help this team win some ballgames, and I still think I can play better than most players." But at the same time, I don't want to out there and embarrass myself. And once I feel that I'm embarrassing myself, then it's time to quit."

Winfield could be the next one to plateau (AP) — With another injury-free season, Dave Winfield of the Toronto Blue Jays will likely become the 19th player to reach 3,000 hits.

Winfield, who turns 41 on Saturday, is 136 hits short of the mark that was reached this season by Milwaukee's Robin Yount and Kansas City's George Brett. Winfield is batting .290 with 167 hits, 26 homers and 106 RBIs this season.

"I feel I'm still enjoying the game of baseball for another year and beyond: whether he believes he can still enjoy the game of baseball if I don't have fun. "Sometimes, I just feel like I'm overmatched against some pitchers, and I never felt that way before. It's not a good feeling."

A good feeling would be a first-ballot election to the Hall of Fame, a prospect greatly enhanced by reaching the 3,000-mark. But a Cooperstown induction is not Brett's present concern, although he's happy to be in that position. "I haven't thought about it," he said. "Hopefully, with the 3,000 hits now, I've put another candle on the cake."
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The long-awaited NCAA sanctions against the Syracuse basketball program came down Thursday, lighter than expected because of the school's cooperation in the investigation.

The Orange are banned from 2013-14 postseason play and the school's entire athletic program was placed on two years' probation as violations were also found in the women's basketball, football, lacrosse and wrestling programs.

The NCAA said the penalties were less than the minimum for major violations because of Syracuse's cooperation in its investigation. The Orange are banned from 2013-14 postseason play and the school's entire athletic program was placed on two years' probation as violations were also found in the women's basketball, football, lacrosse and wrestling programs.

The NCAA said the penalties were less than the minimum for major violations because of Syracuse's cooperation in its investigation.

Women

continued from page 28

The Badger's size is what concerns Notre Dame's third-year coach. A physical game does not favor the Irish, who rely on speed to break up opposing defenses. Notre Dame forwards Rosella Guerrero and Michelle McCarthy, along with midfielders Megan O’Hara and Grace Monahan, will be looked upon to dissect Wisconsin's defense, but the Irish will face a difficult task. None of the trio boasts the size to physically battle the Badger defensive line.

"We need to keep the ball on the ground and use our speed," said Petrucelli. "I'm hoping that the size difference will work to our advantage."

Strategically Petrucelli will do more than hope against the 1991 NCAA runner-up. Forward Allison Lester will be moved back to her normal position in the frontline. Lester spent the last two games supporting the Irish defense, but Petrucelli feels the need to increase his offense pressure.

"We were able to score some goals when Allison was up front," commented Petrucelli. "That's an area where we have been lacking the last few games."

Awaiting Notre Dame on Sunday will be the undefeated Cardinal, sporting an explosive offensive front and one of the nation's finest goalkeepers. Junior Sarah Rafanelli returns this season after leading Stanford with 16 goals and eight assists last season. She will be joined by senior Julie Foody (15 goals, seven assists in 1991). In the net for the Cardinal is Leslie Garrard, who carries a .34 goals against average, allowing only six goals in Stanford's first six games.

"Stanford is probably the best probe. The NCAA Committee on Infractions stopped short of banning Syracuse from live television appearances, but did assess scholarship and recruiting penalties.

"But for their cooperation, their penalty would have been much greater," said David Swank, dean of University of Oklahoma Law School and chairman of the committee.

Syracuse chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw said the university would accept the penalties.

Basketball coach Jim Boehm said his players were disappointed when told of the penalties Thursday morning.

"We were able to score some goals when Allison was up front," commented Petrucelli. "That's an area where we have been lacking the last few games."

Strategically Petrucelli will do more than hope against the 1991 NCAA runner-up. Forward Allison Lester will be moved back to her normal position in the frontline. Lester spent the last two games supporting the Irish defense, but Petrucelli feels the need to increase his offense pressure.

"We were able to score some goals when Allison was up front," commented Petrucelli. "That's an area where we have been lacking the last few games."

Awaiting Notre Dame on Sunday will be the undefeated Cardinal, sporting an explosive offensive front and one of the nation's finest goalkeepers. Junior Sarah Rafanelli returns this season after leading Stanford with 16 goals and eight assists last season. She will be joined by senior Julie Foody (15 goals, seven assists in 1991). In the net for the Cardinal is Leslie Garrard, who carries a .34 goals against average, allowing only six goals in Stanford's first six games.

"Stanford is probably the best
Exceeding Expectations

It's a big decision, choosing where to begin your career. There are many reasons to join Deloitte & Touche — our clients, our dedication to quality, our professional development opportunities, our people. People who enjoy what they do. Our mission is simple: to consistently exceed the expectations of our clients and our people.

With 10,500 people in more than 100 offices in the United States, and through our global organization, Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu International, we offer clients worldwide an outstanding and diverse portfolio of services. For you, this means unlimited opportunities to grow, professionally and personally. So why not join a firm that will exceed your expectations?

Congratulations to the following graduates from the Class of '92 who have recently joined Deloitte & Touche:

Nancy Arena  Stacey Durante  Tim Gray  Terrance O'Connell  Jennifer Skimp
Barbara Bryn  John Evans III  Nancy Keemuel  Jim Panacek  Peter Słamsowski
Noemi Bueser  Gary Faucher  Mark Mag  Greg Ritacco  Michael Smith
Greg Cooper  Scott Frigon  Todd Miller

In addition, Adrienne Speyer and Kimberlee Steel are first from the Class of '93 to accept an offer of employment after graduation. Welcome Adrienne and Kim!

The above professionals are joining our offices in Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New York, Parsippany, Pittsburgh, Seattle, and Washington, D.C.

Welcome, Adrienne and Kimberlee! Welcome, Class of '92 and '93!

Deloitte & Touche

Accounting, Tax, and Consulting Services

We Listen. We Deliver.

Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu International

Deloitte & Touche is an equal opportunity firm. We recruit, employ, train, compensate, and promote without regard to race, creed, color, national origin, age, sex, veteran status, or irrelevant handicaps.
Yugoslavia banned from 1994 World Cup

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — World soccer's governing body FIFA banned Yugoslavia today from the 1994 World Cup competition.

A FIFA statement said it made the decision in view of continuing United Nations sanctions on Yugoslavia, now consisting of Serbia and Montenegro.

The announcement dashed hopes of the soccer crazed nation that an exception would be made to allow it to compete in the competition which climax in 1994 in the United States.

Following the imposition of U.N. sanctions against Serbia and Montenegro in May, the Yugoslav team was banned from taking part in June's European Championship finals in Sweden.

In June, FIFA said it would have to expect the team from the World Cup championships if the U.N. hadn't lifted sanctions by the end of August.

However, Yugoslavia's Prime Minister Milan Panic last month pleaded for extra time while he took the case to the U.N. that spors and culture should not be included in the boycott.

FIFA agreed to delay its decision until Sept. 30.

The decision means that there are now only five teams left in European Group 5. Yugoslavia was a favorite in the group to advance to the finals.

FIFA said it could not replace Yugoslavia in the group because European qualifying play has already begun. Other teams in the playoff are Hungary, Greece, Luxembourg, Russia and Iceland.

Two matches against Iceland and Russia scheduled for September had been suspended pending FIFA's final decision.

Yugoslavia was traditionally among Europe's top soccer nations and qualified for three of the last five World Cup finals.

But the team has been hurt by the defection of talent from the four other former Yugoslav republics.

SMC soccer faces St. Thomas

Belles look to maintain perfect record tomorrow

By MAGGIE HELLRUNG

Sports Writer

Saint Mary's has something to get excited about on Saturday, and it has nothing to do with lawn sculptures.

The Saint Mary's soccer team has had a lot to brag about lately.

So far, the Belles have cruised through their season undefeated, with seven victories under their belt.

"The team really surprised me," said coach Tom Van Meter. "We've never beaten St. Joe's, I was very pleased with the girls' performances."

"The Belles continued their winning streak by crushing Aquinas College on Tuesday by a landside score of 12-0."

The Belles will battle it out on home turf against the University of Saint Thomas this Saturday at 10 a.m.

According to Van Meter, the Belles will look to junior forward Megan Delsaso and senior forward Stacey Winger to provide the offense, and will be counting on a strong defense to hold back Saint Thomas.

"This will be a tough game," said Van Meter, "Our goal keeping is going to be the key to winning."

Because Saint Thomas is a nationally ranked Division III team, a victory for the Belles on Saturday will put them one step closer to a post-season bid.

THE THOMAS J. WHITE CENTER ON LAW AND GOVERNMENT PRESIDENTS

PROFESSOR MICHAEL J. PERRY HOWARD J. TRIENENS CHAIR IN LAW NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

ON
"DOES RELIGIOUS MORALITY PLAY AN ESSENTIAL ROLE IN THE ARGUMENT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS?"

MONDAY, OCTOBER 5
12:00 NOON
ROOM 220 - LAW SCHOOL COURTHOUSE

Intoduction offer

EuroTan Beds Normally 10 Visits for $45.00 Special Intro. offer for Students 10 Visits for $35.00 Offer Expires October 15

Don't forget... We have $50.00 Haircuts and Perms Start priced at $15.00 with free Haircut with student I.D.

1811 South Bend Ave. 271-7674

The Country Harvester introduces...

Irish Village

Begin your campus collection now with wood replicas of Notre Dame's Administration Building and Sacred Heart Basilica.

Exclusively available at The Country Harvester
"A Great Little Gift Shop"
La Fortune Student Center
Lower Level 239-6714
Puckett to declare free-agency, but not set on leaving

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Gary Gaetti is gone. Jack Morris is a name from the past. But the idea of Kirby Puckett following in their free-agent footsteps makes the Minnesota Twins and their fans shudder.

Parents name their babies after him.

At the Democratic National Convention, Minnesota delegates listed him as one of the state's main attractions.

"I think Kirby's value to the team transcends what happens between the white lines," Minnesota general manager Andy MacPhail said. "What he means to the organization. What he means to the community. What he means to the league. We would have an easier time replacing the 100 runs, the 100 RBIs, the 19 homers and 200 hits than the individual that Kirby is."

Puckett has said he will file for free agency at the end of the season, meaning Thursday's game may have been his last at home with the Twins. He is expected to command a five-year contract at least as large as Cal Ripken Jr.'s $32.5 million deal with Baltimore — more than the Twins say they can afford.

"You look at the potential costs. You operate under some real-life restraints," MacPhail said. "If Kirby's price gets so high that it means we can't field a respectable team, that we can't sign 24 other players to keep us competitive, that's not going to help us."

Minnesota had a $27.6 million payroll on opening day and figures to stay at about the same level next year. If Puckett gets $6 million of it, that brings payroll on opening day and figuring what happens to the rest of the roster.

"There are people who say that if Kirby Puckett isn't signed, then the Twins will lose more money," said Puckett's agent, Ron Shapiro, who also represents Ripken. "What's the heart worth to a body? Kirby Puckett is the Twins' heart. And if you say you need a new heart, and you can't afford one, then you die."

Puckett had agreed to a five-year, $27.5 million contract with Minnesota before Twins owner Carl Pohlad reportedly nixed it. News of the breakdown in negotiations awoke Twins fans to the possibility that Puckett may not be around much longer.

Rallies were held, petitions were signed, T-shirts were printed begging the Twins to pay him. When Pohlad was introduced in a post-game ceremony last week, he was greeted with boos and chants of "Kirby! Kirby!"

Pohlad sought shelter next to Puckett, who told him, "Don't drag me down with you."

Puckett received standing ovations before each at-bat in Thursday's game against the White Sox, as he has for most of the past month. For his last time up, the crowd stood through the entire at-bat. He struck out looking.

"The fans probably think this is it," Puckett said after the Minnesota had a $27.6 million payroll on opening day and figuring what happens to the rest of the roster.

Olympics, LeBlanc was ignored by the Tampa Bay Lightning and Ottawa Senators in the National Hockey League expansion draft.

Then he anticipated playing in Europe this season, but that fell through in July.

He said one week before he was supposed to sign with a German team club officials found a loophole in contracts of former Communist players and acquired another goalie from Germany.

"It was just one of those summers," said LeBlanc, 27.

"The Shirt '92"
The Official Football Shirt of the Notre Dame Student Body
Sponsored by the Notre Dame Alumni Association

- Worn by over 95% of the student body at the September 12th Notre Dame vs. Michigan game.
- Front features a silk-screened image of the Golden Dome emblazoned with "Notre Dame Football."
- Full screened, six color back features a tribute to coaching legends Rockne, Leahy, Parseghian, Devine, and Holtz.
- 100% pre-shrunk cotton, Hanes forest green T-shirt. All sizes extra large (XL).
- All proceeds benefit student organizations.

To order using Visa or MasterCard call: (219) 239-6316

Or send Check or Money Order for $14.50 per shirt (includes S&H) along with your name and address to:

The Shirt '92
P.O. Box 608
Notre Dame, IN 46556

(please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.)
#24 Mississippi St. romps over #13 Florida, 30-6

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Frankie Luster's goal line interception stopped a scoring threat and Kevin Henry set up Florida quarterback Shane Matthews and also recovered two fumbles while holding the Gators (1-2 overall) without a touchdown for the first time in 21 games.

The Bulldogs blew the game open early in the fourth period when Matthews, under heavy pressure, threw a pass into Henry's arms at the Florida 17. Henry returned to ball to the 1 and backup quarterback Greg Plump, pressed into service when Sleepy Robinson went down with a suspected season-ending left knee injury, scored on the next play for a 20-6 lead with 13 1/2 minutes to play.

Luster's big play occurred when Florida was threatening to regain the momentum after State's game-opening scoring drive. The Gators drove to the Mississippi State 2 before an illegal procedure penalty backed them to the 7. On third down, Luster stepped in front of a screen pass at the 10 and returned it to the Florida 49.

Robinson ran for 34 yards and passed for 39 on State's opening drive, which ate up the first 7 minutes, 15 seconds.

SMC volleyball earns third straight

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

Division I Chicago State University was no match for the Saint Mary's volleyball team (11-0) as the Belles defeated the Cougars 15-1, 15-11, 15-4 for their third straight win.

Although Chicago State sports three women above 6'0", Saint Mary's was able to place the ball in the correct positions as well as utilize its entire bench.

"We came off two great wins and therefore were mentally and physically prepared," explained senior co-captain Laura Panowicz.

Coach Julie Schroeder-Biek agreed, saying, "This was a really good team game. I'm really pleased with the bench."

Freshman Stacy Ames contributed six kills while freshman Anne Lawrence chipped in two kills and two blocks.

Stacy's hitting was great tonight while Anne played an around good game especially hitting against good blocks," commented senior co-captain Karen Lorton who contributed nine kills of her own.

In the second game, Panowicz stepped in as setter for the first time in a game situation.

"I'm very proud of Laura," praised Schroeder-Biek. "There was some confusion in the second game, but they kept their heads, got more comfortable and stuck it out the whole way."

The Belles have qualified for Division III NCAA recognition in attack percentage, digs per game and blocks per game.

Also, Karen Lorton has qualified in attack percentage and kills per game while Mary Wheeler has joined her in qualifying in attack percentage.

A Support Group for RAPE SURVIVORS

• Open to all St. Mary's & Notre Dame undergraduate and graduate women
• Completely Confidential & Free of Charge
• Held on Campus

For more information, call Sex Offense Services at 234-0661, ext. 1308

Football

Continued from pg. 28

7 Tuscaloosa (4-0 at LSU (1-3), No. 8 Penn State (4-0 at Rutgers (3-1), South Carolina (4-0 at No. 9 Alabama (4-0), No. 11 UCLA (3-0 at Arizona (2-1), No. 12 Ohio State (3-0 at Wisconsin (2-1), No. 14 Virginia (4-0 at Wake Forest (1-2), No. 16 Georgia (3-1 at Arkansas (1-3), No. 17 Syracuse (1-1) at Louisville (1-0), Iowa State (2-1) at No. 19 Oklahoma State (1-1), No. 21 North Carolina State (4-0 at No. 23 Georgia Tech (2-1), No. 22 Boston College (4-0 at West Virginia (3-0-1), and Tennessee Chattanooga (2-1) at No. 25 Clemson (1-2).

In the only other game involving the ranked, No. 13 Florida (1-1) visited No. 24 Mississippi State (2-1) on Thursday night.

Larry Smith, whose Trojans (1-0-1) last beat Washington in 1989 and hold a 39-22-3 edge in the series, would like to see the Hunkies (3-0) affected by the top ranking and their 17-game winning streak.

"It gives Washington something else to think about," he said. "I don't think anyone wants to be No. 1 now.

"The biggest thing is, how is your team going to react?" Some guys can handle it, some guys can't."

Among those who apparently can is Torretta, who cast aside everybody was doubting me the whole season — until that game," Torretta said. "I don't think you can have a better feeling."

Torretta, hoping to lead Miami to its 17th straight victory, extended its unbeaten streak at the Orange Bowl.

Your purchase of a Lou Holtz mask and a raffle ticket will benefit the programs Madison Center provides for the homeless. Madison Center is a not-for-profit organization that is supported by contributions from people like you.

Mask and Raffle Ticket: $3.00

Available at Society Bank, Martin's Super Markets, Gloria Jean's, Burger King, Belmont Beverages and other locations throughout St. Joe County.

Grand Prize

Round-trip airfare for two on Northwest Airlines and a week's accommodations in a luxury oceanfront condo in beautiful Kauai, Hawaii. Airline tickets courtesy of Travelmore and Northwest Airlines.

First Prize

A $500 shopping spree courtesy of Martin's Super Markets.

Second Prize

A weekend for two at the Drake Hotel in Chicago plus two tickets to the January 2, 1993 Bulls-Pacers game, courtesy of the Drake Hotel and Resource Planning Group, Inc.

Drawing will be held October 31 at 11:30 p.m.

Available on campus at Anthony Travel/LaFortune Center, Senior Bar, Dorm Concessions or the Alumni Office.
Lacrosse begins fall schedule

By RIAN AKERY
Sports Writer

"Former All-Americans against future All-Americans," that is how head coach Kevin Corrigan bills today's lacrosse match between the Irish and Bachrach all-stars.

The Bachrach squad is made up of former college players," said Corrigan. "Seven or eight of them are former collegiate All-Americans."

But these lacrosse alumni are former only in graduate status. "These players are still very active in club lacrosse. The game should be a real challenge for us," he continued.

The Irish are not without talent of their own. The squad is led by senior Brian Maxgolding, junior Randy Colley, and sophomore Mike Luck. According to Corrigan, "These three players are potential All-Americans this year."

Colley is optimistic about the team's chances going into the match. "The level of play in practice has been picking up. The team has been more focused and we've been playing together well."

"The match against Bachrach will give us some good preparation for upcoming contests. Particularly the Syracuse tournament we have in a couple weeks," he explained.

That tournament features several of America's premiere teams, including host Syracuse. The Orange have won three of the last five national championships in division I lacrosse. Cornell, another top division I team, and Hobart, a division III powerhouse, round out the field.

"The quality of the Bachrach squad should be similar to that of the teams we will face at Syracuse. This game will give us a good indication of how we will measure up there," said Colley.

Daly amongst five who lead

Southern Open

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP)  John Daly, who last week won the B.C. Open for his second PGA Tour victory, shot a 5-under-par 67 on Thursday, his fifth consecutive round of 67 or better, for a share of the first-round lead in the Southern Open.

Using his length off the tee to shrink the 7,057-yard, par-72 Mountain View Golf Course at Callaway Gardens, Daly shot nine birdies and four bogeys. He is tied for the lead with Ed Humenik, Kelly Gibson, Ed Fiori and rookie Robert Friend. Daly had a tournament-best 31 on the front nine and a 32 on the back nine.

At 68 were Phil Mickelson, who made five birdies and one bogey, and Gary Hallberg, who was at 5-under before making bogey on the par-4 17th. "Keeping my head down as I have, even last week, has really paid off," said Daly, who pocketed $144,000 for last week's victory, his first since winning the 1991 PGA. "I'm just hitting so many more greens than usual. This is probably one of the most solid first rounds I think I've played all year. I just hope to keep the tempo going."

ND—SMC Students

20th Annual Summer Program

LONDON
ROME

May 19—June 18
June 13—July 12
Travel in Ireland, Travel in France,
Scotland, and France Germany, and Switzerland

Courses offered in BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS, HISTORY, NURSING, EDUCATION, SOCIOLOGY, ITALIAN, MUSIC

MEETING Monday Oct. 5

6:30 p.m. Carroll Hall, SMC  Free pizza
Past students and faculty participants will be present For information call Prof. Black 284-4460 or 272-3726

Shrimply Delicious!

Shoney’s four great new shrimp dinners. They’re all just plain delicious. New Shrimp Stir-Fry, Grilled Shrimp, Shoney’s Special Recipe Shrimp and Buffalo Shrimp with a hot dipping sauce. All four are served with your choice of potato or rice and, of course, Shoney’s famous All-You-Care-To-Eat Soup, Salad and Fruit Bar. You’re shrimply going to love them.

SHONEY’S SHRIMP DINNERS

303 Dixie Way South, Roseland
Competitive fields will put Irish runners to test
ND men favored behind their All-American duo

BY SEAN SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

"This is going to be one hell of a cross country meet," said Notre Dame head coach Joe Plane.

Today the Notre Dame men's cross country team will host the 37th Annual Notre Dame Invitational Field at Burke Memorial Golf Course, this is one of the nation's oldest and largest cross country invitational meets.

The men's race, beginning at 4:45 pm should again feature one of the strongest fields in collegiate cross country. The field includes two teams ranked in the top ten, sixth-ranked Western Michigan and eighth-ranked Eastern Michigan.

The Irish enter this weekend's race with the momentum of winning their last two competitions. The first was a 24-31 dual meet victory over Michigan, and the second was a win in the 37th Annual Notre Dame Invitational. Held at Burke Memorial Golf Course, this race included two teams ranked in the top seven. Notre Dame placed six runners in the top seven. Sophomore Sarah Riley, who was named Midwest Collegiate Conference Player-of-the-Week last weekend, should again feature in this important meet.

Returning this week to the Irish lineup is senior Nick Radkewich who finished third for the Irish at the meet last year. Radkewich who rested last race due to a rigorous racing schedule this summer, and the second was a win in the National Catholic Championships on September 25.

The Notre Dame harriers who have had impressive performances in their last two races now face their first true test. Once again Piane feels that it is important for the Irish to run as a team. While Michigan and Eastern Michigan have some exceptional runners, Notre Dame is still the team to beat. With All-Americans Mike McWilliams and John Coyle plus the return of senior Nick Radkewich the Irish have the ability to put on a show of force in this important meet.

Eastern Michigan, currently ranked 22nd and an impressive case of top ranked NAIA, NCAA Division II and NCAA Division III schools round out the field.

Malone and Hilldale are the second and third-ranked NAIA schools. Southern Indiana and South Dakota State are top ranked Division I schools and Northern Central College, Augustana of Illinois are the top three Division III schools in the nation.

Outstanding individuals to watch include Division I champion Martin Lyster from the University of Pennsylvania, Edinburgh and the "flying Romanian" Sandu Rebenciuc the Division II champion out of Augustana. Rebenciuc finished second in last year's race.

"I expect this to be a triangular meet," said Piane. He believes that the race will come down to the three district rivals, Notre Dame, Michigan, and Eastern Michigan battling for the team title.

"This race is a real prelude to the district championships," said Piane. These three schools and Wisconsin make up the top four schools of District 4 of the NCAA. "A good performance here gives us a leg up in the district.

Women's team looks to establish itself against tough competition

By MIKE NORBUT
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's cross country team will host the Notre Dame Invitational Friday. Coming off a convincing victory last weekend at the National Catholic Invitational, the Irish will compete against some running powerhouse's, including Michigan, Western Ontario, and South Dakota St.

The competition at this meet will be a change of pace over last weekend at the National Catholic Invitational. Notre Dame placed six runners in the top seven. Sophomore Sarah Riley, who was named Midwest Collegiate Conference Player-of-the-Week last weekend, should leave the Irish with six runners in the top seven.

Sophomore Sarah Riley, who was named Midwest Collegiate Conference Player-of-the-Week last weekend, should leave the Irish with six runners in the top seven. Sophomore Sarah Riley, who was named Midwest Collegiate Conference Player-of-the-Week last weekend, should leave the Irish with six runners in the top seven. Sophomore Sarah Riley, who was named Midwest Collegiate Conference Player-of-the-Week last weekend, should leave the Irish with six runners in the top seven.

Women's team looks to establish itself against tough competition

"The competition will be tougher than it was last week," said sophomore Kristi Kramer, who placed third in last week's meet. "It will tell us where we stand as far as our district is concerned. We're excited, and it's going to be a great race."

The women's race is scheduled to start at 4:45 p.m. Friday at the Burke Memorial Golf Course. The Irish are hoping for a large spectator turnout in their last home meet of the season.

Take your heart to court.
Exercise serves you right.

American Heart Association
Wants Fighting For Your Life.

MACRI'S PIZZA
& ITALIAN RESTAURANT
Delicious, Homemade Pizza & Pasta

Buy Any 18" Pizza and Get 12"
One Item Pizza FREE
(Valid only with Student ID; thru: 10/18)
Offer Good for Dine In, Carry Out, Delivery
FREE Delivery to Campus 11 a.m. - 10 p.m.
271 - 2055

LAW SCHOOL CARAVAN

Monday, October 5
10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.
Monogram Room, JACC
(Enter Gate 2, Then Upstairs)

Representatives From Over 50 Law Schools Nationwide-Information, Brochures
All Students Invited!

Co-sponsored by Career and Placement Services and Pre-Law Society
FRIDAY

SPELUNKER

JAY HOSLER

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

---

CALVIN AND HOBBES

IF YOU WANT MONEY, YOU SHOULD EARN IT BY WORKING.

---

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1. Dancer's gliding step (1)
2. Dutch expletives (7)
3. "Mezzo-soprano" (11)
4. Glacial ridges (11)
5. Author of "Momo" (1978) (21)

---

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

---

COMING ATTRACTIONS:

---

FRIDAY

Laugh at the movies after the game! FATHER OF THE BRIDE is another refresher, showing at 8:00 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. at Cushing Auditorium.

---

SAVINGS

---

SUNDAY

Relax at the movies after the game! FATHER OF THE BRIDE is held over for your convenience! Showings at 8:00 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. in Cushing Auditorium.
British fans know their sports—just not the right ones

Having had the great pleasure of spending the past semester across the big pond, over in the country we beat up to get our independence (England for all of you non-history majors), I feel it is my civic duty to relate some of the stranger going-ons in the British sports scene.

Contrary to what you may have heard, they do play football in the United Kingdom, but they got their sports mixed up. What they call football, we call soccer. Anyways, there are many similarities between the American and British forms of the game.

For instance, the match itself is little more than a side show to the fans, having a good time, except the fans over there are a little more rabid. English football fans get drunk before games, act loud and obnoxious and insult the opposing fans. Of course, after the game, the British fans get a little more emotional. Supporters of the losing team often start brawls and riots, pulling out their knives and broken bottles to keep the winners from celebrating too much. Then again, sometimes the winners brawl and riot to show just how much they love their team.

Then there is the other national game, cricket. If anyone reading this even remotely understands the game, then you are way ahead of me. Actually, I do have somewhat of a grasp of the game, it just took an American and a Brit (a plot or two) to explain the game to me.

It's kind of the baseball, except there are only two bases, but they aren't called bases, they're called wickets, and there are two people up all the time, at least until nine of the ten players get out, in which case there is only one batter, but then that team's chance to bat is over because there is only one player up.

The pitcher, called the bowler, tries to hit the wicket, which is a pile of sticks, while the batsman tries to hit the ball with a two by four. But if he does hit it, and doesn't want to run, he doesn't have to.

The real beauty of cricket, though, is the players themselves. By the looks of them, British sports medicine isn't too bad. It's not like we don't have our share of injuries, but the Brits do it better. Apart from their fair play, the British are good with their sports.

But British sports on television sums it all up: Leave my comments' and my great delight on the first weekend, while we were still experiencing NFL without a PFF, to flip on the dart champi­ onship. But before you start getting images of those silly plastic dart, various amusement establishments put up to rob us of more money, think again, it doesn't work. Most of the players spend their off-hours in pubs and have the general round shape of an over-the-hill pro wrestler.

Huskies set to defend their spot atop the polls

Sports

Jodi Hartwig and the 20th-ranked Irish prepare for a busy weekend.

Men ready to show MCC strength against Xavier, Dayton

By JASON KELLY

Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men's soccer team is hoping that some of the electricity surrounding the football weekend will spill over onto Alumni Field. They will need the spark as they tangie with Midwestern Collegiate Conference rivals Xavier and Dayton.

Tonight's game against Xavier will be the first home game for the Irish since September 20 and they are happy be back on familiar turf. "We like playing at Alumni Field," Notre Dame coach Mike Berticelli said. "It's always nice to be home and it will be a great environment this weekend." The Irish, 4-3-1 overall and 1-0 in the MCC, have struggled early in the season against some of the nation's top teams, but that experience should pay off as they head into conference play.

By RICH KURZ

Eye in the Sky

The Observer by Kyle Kolak

Notre Dame plays host to the Golden Dome Classic this weekend with four nationally-ranked women's soccer teams vying action on Alumni Field. Second-ranked Stanford, 13th-ranked Central Florida, and #14 Wisconsin join the 20th-ranked Irish on the pitch.

The Irish will meet regional foe Stanford and Central Florida open the tournament at 7:30. Notre Dame will meet regional foe Wisconsin following that.

"Wisconsin is a very big game. They have good size, and a number of good players," said Irish coach Chris Petrucelli.

This weekend begins a stretch of five consecutive conference games that will be especially important for the Irish to solidify their position in the MCC. "This is a very big weekend," Berticelli said. "I want to have the team playing for the championship games coming up." The winner of the MCC regular-season title earns the top seed in the post-season NCAA championship game.

Women face ranked foes

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

Sports Writer

Notre Dame takes on the Golden Dome Classic this weekend with four nationally-ranked women's soccer teams vying action on Alumni Field. Second-ranked Stanford, 13th-ranked Central Florida, and #14 Wisconsin join the 20th-ranked Irish on the pitch.

The Irish will meet regional foe Stanford and Central Florida open the tournament at 7:30. Notre Dame will meet regional foe Wisconsin following that.

"Wisconsin is a very big game. They have good size, and a number of good players," said Irish coach Chris Petrucelli.

This weekend begins a stretch of five consecutive conference games that will be especially important for the Irish to solidify their position in the MCC. "This is a very big weekend," Berticelli said. "I want to have the team playing for the championship games coming up." The winner of the MCC regular-season title earns the top seed in the post-season NCAA championship game.

"Wisconsin is a very big game. They have good size, and a number of good players," said Irish coach Chris Petrucelli.

This weekend begins a stretch of five consecutive conference games that will be especially important for the Irish to solidify their position in the MCC. "This is a very big weekend," Berticelli said. "I want to have the team playing for the championship games coming up." The winner of the MCC regular-season title earns the top seed in the post-season NCAA championship game.

"Wisconsin is a very big game. They have good size, and a number of good players," said Irish coach Chris Petrucelli.

This weekend begins a stretch of five consecutive conference games that will be especially important for the Irish to solidify their position in the MCC. "This is a very big weekend," Berticelli said. "I want to have the team playing for the championship games coming up." The winner of the MCC regular-season title earns the top seed in the post-season NCAA championship game.
Irish Football
NOTRE DAME vs. STANFORD
A Supplement to The Observer

Finding the Holes
Reggie Brooks and the Notre Dame offense hope to pick apart Stanford’s defense, rated second nationally.
Rising to the Top

Brooks answers questions at tailback

Reggie Brooks is shown on a scoring run against Michigan. During the run, he refused to go down, escaping five hits by Wolverine defenders and collapsing into the end zone, dazed. Brooks was helped off of the field after the 20-yard scamper put the Irish up 6-0.

By ROLANDO DE AGUIAR

Entering the 1992 season, Reggie Brooks was a question mark.

The graduation and departure of Rodney Culver and Reggie's brother Tony to the NFL left a gaping hole behind Rick Mirer and Jerome Bettis. But with 487 rushing yards through four games, including 205 last Saturday against Purdue, the senior tailback has transformed himself into an exclamation point.

During spring practice, coaches and players alike wondered who would be able to fill that hole in the Irish backfield. But, by the fall practice line had rolled around, coach Lou Holtz was convinced that Brooks was his man.

"Reggie has excellent speed, a lot more strength than you'd think and great balance," Holtz said. "He had never been able to utilize his speed until this year, because he spent a lot of time running laterally. But (running backs) coach (Earle) Mosley helped him transform himself from an east-west runner into a north-south runner."

Brooks has been running north and south for very long distances this season, having broken touchdown runs of 80 and 63 yards versus Purdue and a 72-yarder against Northwestern in the season opener.

Through these runs, Brooks has become the big-play man the Irish have been looking for ever since Raghib "Rocket" Ismail packed his bags and become the first Irish player to sign with the NFL. However, it was Reggie Brooks who stepped into the void and transformed himself into an exclamation point on the Irish backfield.

If Brooks hasn't been able to impress the opposition with his numbers, then they must be impressed by his performances on national television. Perhaps Brooks' most spectacular run came in the Irish home opener against Michigan, when the senior bounced off of five different members of the Wolverine defense on his way into the end zone, giving Notre Dame a 6-0 lead.

"I don't recall breaking as many tackles as everyone said I did," he said. "I got bounced around a lot, but basically I just made one spin move, and then I was able to keep my balance."

As Brooks crossed the goal line, he was on the receiving end of a shot from Michigan's Coleman Wallace. The hit spun him around and dumped him on the end zone grass.

"When I fell in the end zone, I was dazed," Brooks said. "He got a good shot on me at the end." Despite the questions and attention that arose from that run, Brooks refuses to acknowledge it as a remarkable individual effort. He also denies comparisons to Irv Smith's touchdown scamper put the Irish up 6-0.

"I didn't see it as being as spectacular as people were telling me it was," Brooks said. "Even after I saw it on film, it looked a lot simpler to me than people told me it was.

"With Irv there was no other way you could put it, because he dragged four guys twenty yards. His run overshadowed mine completely."

Despite Brooks' modesty, the senior is being looked upon as another workhorse in the bruising Irish backfield.

His performance in 1992 has answered questions of his doubters, and put an exclamation point on the Irish backfield.
Minter's defense seeks to maintain intensity

By JONATHAN JENSEN
Sports Writer

Rick Minter's eyes always seem to be focused. Intensely focused on the task at hand, as his locked jaw shouts instructions in his Texas accent.

Let head coach Lou Holtz give the press their quotes and quips. Minter will just continue to do the job with his no-frills style of coaching.

The first-year defensive coordinator was hoping that his constant intensity would rub off on his defensive players this season, as it has in the past during his seven-year tenure at Ball State.

In 1990, the Cardinals finished second in the nation in total defense and last year they ranked 11th in the country.

But this year's Irish defense has not put up the same type of numbers. After the first three games of the season, the Irish ranked 96th out of 107 Division 1-A schools in total defense.

"The defense needed a shot in the arm, and this shutdown gave us a confidence boost. Now I think we're on the right track."

- Rick Minter

The defense responded. It had been forcing a lot of second and third-and-long situations, but letting the offenses pick up those crucial first downs. Holtz saw that was the third-and-long situations. They were just ready to play. The defense responded.

"That is what we've been striving for all season," noted tackle Bryant Young, who accounted for a team-high seven tackles on Saturday. "Now we just have to keep the intensity up and stay focused."

There is that word again—intensity. Holtz saw that was the one ingredient that was missing from his defense, as they have the talent and skills to be one of the nation's best defenses.

That is why before the final practice last week, Holtz brought his defense together and challenged it to prove that it was not one of the worst defenses in the country. He stressed that the only way it was going to improve is to up its intensity, and instill an attitude in itself that each and every first down is an affront to its ability.

"His words of encouragement had an impact," said Minter. "We have some guys on this team who have a lot of pride and what he did is just challenge them. The truth hurts sometimes, and he got their attention."

The defense responded. It had been forcing a lot of second and third-and-long situations, but letting the offenses pick up those crucial first downs. On Saturday, the defense stopped Purdue in 10 of a possible 13 third-down situations.

"It gets down to getting ourselves off the field when we need to," stated Minter. "You're not going to be perfect, but we really made an improvement."

"They were just ready to play. The coaches had a good game plan and we executed it for the most part. Basically we did two things. We committed to a little more pressure and we made more plays on third down."

Saturday's showing was so impressive that it looks like it could be a definite turning point for the defensive unit. "It felt real good," said Young.

"The defense needed a shot in the arm, and this shutdown gave us a confidence boost," said Minter. "Now I think we're on the right track."

To stay on that right track, Minter and the defense will have to be on their toes against some of the nation's top offenses. This week they face a Stanford squad led by offensive genius Bill Walsh, and later they will meet up with an explosive Penn State offense.

Only time will tell whether the defense can keep their intensity up, and keep opponent's yardage totals down. Minter feels they can.

"We certainly have the talent, we just have to progress," said Minter. "We'll need a combination of stepping up our game and coming together; then we can look back and say it was a great year."
Defense will be deciding factor

By JENNY MARTEN
Associate Sports Editor

Saturday's contest pitting Stanford and Notre Dame will be decided by the defenses.

Stanford comes into Notre Dame Stadium with the second ranked defense in the nation and the Irish come into the game with a much improved one.

"Stanford is as good a defensive team as we've seen in several years. The secondary is very good. The defensive line is very good," said head coach Lou Holtz of a Stanford defense which returns ten starters and 21 lettermen.

Stanford coach Bill Walsh compared his defense to the Irish's.

"We didn't play well offensively against San Jose State. We weren't in sync. We won because of our defense and played good defense. That's something Cardinal usually does," said Walsh. Last week, the Cardinal defense gave up just 38 rushing yards to San Jose State.

The defense will be led by one of the most talented and experienced pairs of outside linebackers in the country including All-American candidate Ron George, a senior who has also returned to the preliminary list of candidates for the Butkus Award.

"George presents a lot of problems because it's hard to pass block him with just one man," said Holtz.

Notre Dame's senior cornerback Steve Hoyal (5'10", 190), 2000, will challenge the powerful junior receivers to the Stanford receivers. The Cardinal receivers don't have a lot of speed, but they have plenty of hands.

Stanford defensive end Tyrone Parker (6'5", 231), 1999, has intercepted two passes including one for a touchdown already this year, while Albert has picked off one of his own.

The job of this experienced defense will be to control Rick Mirer and company. The Notre Dame offense received a lift in the last two games with strong offensive efforts by Mirer and the team's defense corps as well as Jerome Bettis, Reggie Brooks and Lee Becton.

Walsh sees this as a serious threat.

A problem will be that Notre Dame's offense has far more dimension than we've seen so far this year," said Holtz. "(Glyn) Milburn is far faster, quicker, eluding All-American candidate Butkus Award.

"A problem will be that Notre Dame's defense will be to control Rick Mirer and company. The Stanford defense gave up just 252 total yards.

"Stanford is as good a defensive team as we've seen in several years, but we've worn them out and now have far more dimension then we've seen so far," said Holts. "(Glyn) Milburn is far faster, quicker, All-American candidate Butkus Award.

By JENNY MARTEN

Junior Toby Norwood ready to step in when needed.

The Stanford defensive line is also return to the prelimi-ary list of candidates for the Butkus Award.

"George presents a lot of problems because it's hard to pass block him with just one man," said Holtz.

Notre Dame's senior tight end and senior Mike Cook after losing All-Pac 10 receiver Chris Walsh and tackle Jon Pinchot. Amour has 15 receptions this year (ranked second in the nation in all-purpose yardage, accumulated for 256 total yards. He is also a potent kickoff and punt returner, averaging 25.7 yards on five punts and returning a kickoff 39 yards.

Another favorite target of Stenstrom's is senior tight end Ryan Westingt. Stenstrom and Westingt connect an average of three times a game and Westingt averages 11.9 yards per reception.

The focal point of the Cardinal offense will be All-American and Heisman Trophy candidate Glyn Milburn. Against San Jose State, Milburn, ranked second in the nation in all-purpose yardage, accumulated for 256 total yards. He is also a potent kickoff and punt returner, averaging 25.7 yards on five punts and returning a kickoff 39 yards.

Another favorite target of Stenstrom's is senior tight end Ryan Westingt. Stenstrom and Westingt connect an average of three times a game and Westingt averages 11.9 yards per reception.

The focal point of the Cardinal offense will be All-American and Heisman Trophy candidate Glyn Milburn. Against San Jose State, Milburn, ranked second in the nation in all-purpose yardage, accumulated for 256 total yards. He is also a potent kickoff and punt returner, averaging 25.7 yards on five punts and returning a kickoff 39 yards.

Another favorite target of Stenstrom's is senior tight end Ryan Westingt. Stenstrom and Westingt connect an average of three times a game and Westingt averages 11.9 yards per reception.

The focal point of the Cardinal offense will be All-American and Heisman Trophy candidate Glyn Milburn. Against San Jose State, Milburn, ranked second in the nation in all-purpose yardage, accumulated for 256 total yards. He is also a potent kickoff and punt returner, averaging 25.7 yards on five punts and returning a kickoff 39 yards.

Another favorite target of Stenstrom's is senior tight end Ryan Westingt. Stenstrom and Westingt connect an average of three times a game and Westingt averages 11.9 yards per reception.
Notre Dame 1992 Roster

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Position</th>
<th>Height</th>
<th>Weight</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Derek Mayes</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-10</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LaShane Sadorri</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rick Mirer</td>
<td>QB</td>
<td>6-2</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jeff Benton</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-11</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paul Falla</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jerome Bettis</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>6-2</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dean Lyle</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>6-3</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chip Kendig</td>
<td>OT</td>
<td>6-2</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jeff Burris</td>
<td>DE</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adrian Jarrell</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tom MacDonald</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kevin O'Brien</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clay Henderson</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ryan Grigs</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stephen Pope</td>
<td>WB</td>
<td>5-10</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kevin McGourty</td>
<td>DT</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chip Frenken</td>
<td>DB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joe Smith</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brian Magee</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-9</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wale Smith</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-6</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stefan Schollner</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-8</td>
<td>162</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mark Swenson</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-8</td>
<td>162</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jim Guerra</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mark Androzijewski</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-8</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larry Quillty</td>
<td>DB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bobby Taylor</td>
<td>DB</td>
<td>6-3</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shawn Woodson</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-4</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rob Leonardi</td>
<td>DB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jeff Bowers</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LaRon Moore</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charles Sanford</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mike Leli</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brant Bosnaszynski</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drew Marsh</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mark Micioni</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tracey Graham</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-10</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tony Johnson</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>5-9</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chris Hartman</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-9</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Craig Hendrix</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Covington</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>6-2</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Donnathus Dubose</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>5-10</td>
<td>185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Will Clark</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-10</td>
<td>185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greg Lava</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mike Stone</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Matt Adams</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>235</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jimmy Campbell</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jim Agabright</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>213</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russel Hines</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rick Lozano</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Matt Lehey</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>185</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MIchael Brooks</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joe Babey</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Athan Sneden</td>
<td>WR</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ill Willgus</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leonard Pinnock</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>6-0</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jim Flanagan</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chris McDonald</td>
<td>LB</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Lynch</td>
<td>RB</td>
<td>6-2</td>
<td>185</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Probable starters in boldface.

---

NOTRE DAME IRISH 1992 DEPTH CHART

---

Cardinal defense

---

Stanford got gift on its last visit

By Jim Vogl

Assistant Sports Editor

Two years ago, the Notre Dame football team was riding high on a warm and sunny October 6. The Irish held the number-one ranking and prepared to face the 1-3 Stanford Cardinal.

Never in their worst nightmare did they envision what would transpire that afternoon—a heart-breaking 26-11 defeat that would cost them their spot atop the polls.

Earlier that week, junior quarterback "Rocket" Rhubarb sat out practice with a painful thigh bruise he suffered three weeks previous in a win over Michigan.

Despite the disappointing absence of the Irish defense, a good performance by the offense was kept from translating into victory.

The game's final play reflected the futilely frustrating afternoon for the Irish. With six seconds left, tight end Derek Mayes hauled in the pass, then 25 yards against an outsized, sagging and confused Irish secondary.

At that point, Lou Holtz's Irish had given up more than 35 points in only one game, when they gave up 39 to the Badgers on November 29, 1986, Holtz first year.

However, that afternoon turned out to be the second, as the Irish moved on to 36-31, on another Vanderbilt touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Last year, an inspired Notre Dame squad knew better than to overlook the two previous losses, a 42-26 Irish victory which quieted Notre Dame's screaming memories of the disappointing defeat in 1990.

On November 29, 1990, Lou Holtz led the Irish against the two previous losses, the Irish defense took over and dominated the game, holding the Irish to just 12 points.

This year, Holtz knew better. He knew that the Irish defense had been dominating the past few weeks, and he knew that the Irish offense was capable of scoring enough points to win the game.

The Irish defense shut down the Stanford offense, holding them to just 12 points. The Irish offense scored 31 points, and Holtz knew that the Irish defense could hold the Irish to just 12 points.

The game was over, and the Irish were on their way to the Rose Bowl.
Stanford's Abrams adjusts to eleven-man college football

BY ED DONOVAN
Stanford Daily Sports Writer

Editor's Note: The Stanford Daily is the student newspaper of Stanford University.

For freshman placekicker Eric Abrams, the world both at practice and in games is one of relative isolation. Only on the field for a few seconds at a time, his position requires a concentration and precision that can influence the outcome of a game dramatically.

Abrams grew up playing soccer and kicked field goals for fun during halftime of his games. As he grew older, his coaches saw that he had an exceptional foot for his age and encouraged him to try football.

Abrams attended La Jolla Country Day, a small, private high school near San Diego that participated in an eight-man football league. From any other position, making the transition to major college football would have been nearly impossible.

"For me it's the same," Abrams said of the change. "Kicking is one position where you're kind of isolated. All you need is a good snapper and holder, and we have that."

In high school, Abrams demonstrated a range and consistency that is hard to find even in the collegiate ranks. He twice made 53-yard field goals and also set the national high school record for most extra points in a career.

Unlike most positions, kickers aren't heavily recruited. Abrams expressed interest in Stanford by sending films of his kicks to the team. When it came time to make the choice, UCLA was the only hitch in his decision to attend Stanford.

"At UCLA, you get more privileges as a player than you do here," he said. "Plus I would have played closer to home."

Abrams made the decision to go to Stanford largely because of its academic reputation.

When this season began, Abrams was the backup behind junior Aaron Mills. After the team's first game against Texas A&M, in which Mills missed his lone field goal attempt, Abrams stepped in front of the Stanford Stadium crowd of 43,656 for the Oregon game, he was understandably nervous.

Kicking from the right hash mark, Abrams nailed a 29-yard field goal to put the Cardinal ahead, 3-0, with 4:38 remaining in the first quarter.

"In my mind, there's no such thing as a chip shot. That first field goal was real important to me," Abrams said. "After that, I was as relaxed as could be."

He finished the game with eight points; two field goals and two extra points.

"I wasn't exactly set," Abrams said, "but I was as relaxed as could be." He said, "I'm 100 percent mental. If you don't miss in practice, you shouldn't miss in games."

This is not to say that Abrams is perfect. The misses will inevitably come, as one did against Northwestern two weeks ago. He missed a 50-yarder on a play where the field goal unit was clearly set by a 35-24 count. After the game, Abrams walked out of the stadium with his parents, signed a couple of autographs and looked forward to his next chance to split the uprights in front of the Stanford crowd.

KEEP YOUR EYES ON...

STEVE STENSTROM
RON GEORGE
GLYN MILBURN
ESTEYAN AVILA
RYAN WETNIGHT

The junior quarterback is ranked second in the Pac-10 in passing efficiency and third in total offense. He has thrown 19 career touchdown passes, including four already this year.

Senior outside linebacker has emerged as an All-American candidate. George leads Stanford and is among the best in the Pac-10 in sacks with seven and tackles for loss with 12.

Senior halfback is also an All-American as well as Heisman candidate. Milburn has rushed for 385 total yards in the first four games of the season.

Senior defensive tackle has had an All-Pac 10 season so far this year. Avila is second on the team with four quarterback sacks and five tackles for a loss.

Senior tight end is a quality player with excellent pass catching ability. Usually converts his average three receptions a game into first downs.

Game Day Special

Every time the Irish score a touchdown, the first 10 callers to say "Notre Dame Scored", Buy one pizza and get one FREE!

NEW EXTENDED HOURS
M-Wed - 11:00am - 1:00am
Thur - 11:00am - 2:00am
Fri-Sat - 11:00am - 4:00am
Sun-Noon - 1:00am
Griggs blocks out past
Overcomes preseason injury to contribute
By MIKE SCRUDATO
Sports Editor

Last week the Notre Dame offense ran wild over Purdue, gaining 458 yards rushing. This assault included four touchdown runs of 20 yards or longer, but the Irish backfield rushing was not the sole reason for Notre Dame’s best rushing day since 1974.

“The receivers have been playing outstanding football,” Irish coach Lou Holtz said. “They have been extremely unselfish. Their blocking effort has been exceptional the last few weeks.”

Starting flanker Ray Griggs, whose blocks keyed a 63-yard scoring run by Reggie Brooks and a 24-yard touchdown burst by Jerome Bettis, has played the primary part in the receivers’ effort. Though his blocking was commended by ESPN’s Lee Corso on Saturday, the “little things” Griggs does to help the Irish offense usually do not get mentioned by most or appear in the box score.

The senior from University Park, Ill., however, does not mind, as long as he is contributing.

“We (the receivers) always talk about finding a way to contribute. You don’t always have a chance to do it, though,” Griggs explained. “On Saturday, because of the rain we weren’t effective with the ground, but we were able to have an effect with our blocking. When Reggie, Jerome or anyone scores, it contributes to it feels good.”

Griggs shares time at flanker with Adrian Jarrell, who started the first two games while Griggs nursed a sprained ankle earlier this season. The two are good friends both on and off the field, something they both use to their advantage.

“We’re always pushing each other to work harder,” Griggs said. “We each want to see the other do their best.

“When either one of us is in there, the other one is on the sideline rooting for him to do his best.”

Both Griggs and Jarrell have influenced the younger receivers on the team and showed them that it takes a lot to make a complete receiver.

“All I thought about in high school was running my patterns and catching the ball, but they have shown me what it takes,” junior split end Lake Dawson noted. “I’m now as block-conscious as (Notre Dame left guard) Aaron Taylor.”

A few weeks ago it looked as if the only way Griggs was going to influence anyone was from the sidelines. In preseason drills, he severely sprained an ankle, which was very slow in healing.

“It was tough to see everyone practicing and progressing,” Griggs said of the time he sat out. “To think that I was falling behind everyone was frustrating.

“I was real anxious to get back, and when I did I wanted to contribute immediately.”

Griggs did just that in the week before the Michigan game, in another one of those small, unnoticed ways—working on the Irish scout team while testing the ankle.

“I worked hard and I think I did a good job down there,” Griggs said of his first week back.

This hard work paid off. After a cameo appearance against Michigan, Griggs was back with the first-team offense the following week.

“I wasn’t expecting it, but we have a motto: you practice how you play. And I had a good week of practice.

Griggs made an impact immediately, catching three passes for 78 yards and a touchdown against the Spartans.

Now that he has overcome the injury and is contributing weekly, Griggs feels that he is where he wants to be in the Notre Dame offensive scheme.

“After the ankle injury, I thought I might never get the chance to get back out there,” Griggs said. “I’m glad that I got that chance. It’s gratifying to be in the role I want to be.”

The Observer: John Rockey

Ray Griggs celebrates his 39-yard touchdown reception versus Michigan State. The senior had three catches against the Spartans.
By RICH KURZ
Associate Sports Editor

Four years ago, Bill Walsh seemed to make the perfect exit from the coaching ranks. He had just won his third Super Bowl with the San Francisco 49ers, and was stepping down as one of the assistant coaches that have shot with the Niners.

A position as the number-one NFL analyst for NBC was his for the taking, and while he enthusiastically endorsed the move, he also acknowledged that if someone's technique, but we had lost the day it was a done deal.

It's interesting to note that returning to coaching, in any form as the number-one NFL analyst for NBC, his initial quote made it sound as if he was in the process of making a decision that didn't attract much at all about the San Francisco 49ers.

As might be expected with a legend like Bill Walsh, there is a group of analysts who find themselves or their former head coach, offensive coordinator and his assistant coach that Walsh decided to step down.

He also brought a group of former 49ers—players who were used to a high level of success on the pro level. Tom Holme, Bill Ring, Mike Wilson, Guy Beahm and former linebacker Keena Turner joined Walsh's staff, though none has any previous coaching experience.

Bill Walsh left the broadening booth to return to Stanford, where he coaches from 1977-78 Notre Dame Stadium, the inevitable speculation about what Irish quarterback Rick Mirer would do in Walsh's pass-oriented system is rampant, and his comments about Mirer only reinforce the “whiz kid” label.

“Walsh doesn't hold back his enthusiasm for what he's doing. His (Holtz's) program is on the cutting edge of college football,” he said, adding that an analyst for NBC, “no one could be more positive about Notre Dame than I was. We (Dick Enberg and Walsh) were very impressed with Notre Dame.

“Tomorrow's games will be a study in coaching contrasts, with Walsh matched against Holtz on the opposing sidelines, men who once coached the opposite number at their profession. Walsh, the Californian who practically invented the ball-control passing game, thought Holtz, who's emerged in the NFL, was a great advantage in preparing for his defense. The coach, Mike Holmoe, an hour, but really it's like that, and then come around soon after the college coaches shows that Walsh is building for the future. With the Minnesota Vikings. In a matter of days, it was a done deal.

“Walsh left the broadcast booth to return to Stanford, where he coached from 1977-78 Notre Dame Stadium, the inevitable speculation about what Irish quarterback Rick Mirer would do in Walsh's pass-oriented system is rampant, and his comments about Mirer only reinforce the “whiz kid” label. Bill Walsh left the broadcast booth to return to Stanford, where he coached from 1977-78 Notre Dame Stadium, the inevitable speculation about what Irish quarterback Rick Mirer would do in Walsh's pass-oriented system is rampant, and his comments about Mirer only reinforce the “whiz kid” label.

“Walsh there are still some areas I suffer in,” he said. "I almost unconsciously expect perfection from Lou, which I know is asking for too much. I've known Lou like that, and then come around soon after the college coaches shows that Walsh is building for the future. With the Minnesota Vikings. In a matter of days, it was a done deal.

So Walsh said. "I think Bill Walsh has done an excellent job with this football team. It's on the rise."

"There are still some areas I suffer in," he said. "I almost unconsciously expect perfection from Lou, which I know is asking for too much. I've known Lou like that, and then come around soon after the college coaches shows that Walsh is building for the future. With the Minnesota Vikings. In a matter of days, it was a done deal.

So Walsh said. "I think Bill Walsh has done an excellent job with this football team. It's on the rise."

"There are still some areas I suffer in," he said. "I almost unconsciously expect perfection from Lou, which I know is asking for too much. I've known Lou like that, and then come around soon after the college coaches shows that Walsh is building for the future. With the Minnesota Vikings. In a matter of days, it was a done deal.

So Walsh said. "I think Bill Walsh has done an excellent job with this football team. It's on the rise."