Clinton’s stimulus aims to produce jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton’s economic stimulus package will create an “immediate rush” of 250,000 new jobs and help the president fulfill his promise of 8 million in new jobs over the next four years, Labor Secretary Robert Reich said Wednesday.

Reich said Clinton’s economic program, which is still being developed, would focus on initiatives that offered the best long-term goal.

But the said numerous roadblocks could thwart these goals: bureaucratic delay in spending the money to a Federal Reserve that could slam on the brakes by raising interest rates to fight inflation.

They were more optimistic about the short-term than the long-term goal.

“These aren’t just claims by any means,” said Roger Brinner, an economist at DRI-McGraw Hill Inc., the country’s largest private forecasting firm.

“It is not unreasonable to assume that you could get an extra 250,000 jobs over the next 12 months from their package alone,” Brinner said.

He said the money would have done on its own, said Bruce Steinberg, an economist at Merrill Lynch in New York.

Reich said Clinton has not made final decisions on the economic stimulus program.

But congressional sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said that the administration was studying a $31 billion short-term package that would include $16 billion in new jobs over the next 12 months.

Candidates present platforms at debate

By EMILY HAGE

Undergraduate education at Notre Dame was an important topic. David Reinke, running as presidential candidate with Lara Dickey, said that undergraduate education is a priority for them. “We must ensure that every student leaves here with a top-notch education,” said Reike.

One of their suggestions is to give the student body the opportunity to hear big name speakers,” said Dickey.

Nikki Wellmann, vice presidential candidate running with presidential candidate Frank Flynn, said that one of their long-term objectives is to improve the quality of undergraduate education at Notre Dame. “They said that, ‘The Guide,’ a publication containing the content, workload, and professor ratings, would help to achieve their goal,” Flynn said that it would, “force teachers to pick up the pace.”

Presidential candidate Joseph Karian and vice presidential candidate Charlie Karian said that they sent the proposal of a teacher evaluations’ supplement for students to “clarify what courses and professors (students) might be interested in taking,” said Karian.

Giving students a say was also addressed as a priority for many tickets. Christopher Murphy, whose vice presidential running mate is Emily Bloss, said that they want “more student involvement in the administrative process; a more unified voice.” Murphy said proposed taking polls to discover the opinions and wants of students.

“Student solutions should be campus-controlled,” Karian said. “We are sick of committees and task forces. We would take a more direct approach.”

Michael Connelly, whose vice-presidential candidate, Tom Kovats, could not attend because of his commitment to the volleyball team, said, “The students are here for the University, not the other way around. This University thrives because of the students.”

The Reike/Dickey ticket, too, expressed a concern for student contributions. Reike said that he and Dickey want “to make Student Government more responsible to the student body.”

Possible solutions to reduce the price of textbooks were offered by the Stephanie Gallo, presidential candidate and running mate Chris Browning Gallo and Browning proposed the “Lease A Book” system, in which students would lease books from the bookstore at a reduced price and return them at the end of the semester. Gallo said that this would not be a compromise. The students and the Bookstore would benefit.

Flynn and Wellmann also offered a solution in the form of “The Book Fair,” which would be a campus-wide service to students by used books from one another at a reduced cost.

Both Flynn/Wellmann and Gallo/Browning also presented proposals to increase student involvement in the campus community. The Reinke/Dickey ticket argued that using more direct approach, to which Karian added, “We are sick of committees and task forces. We would take a more direct approach.”

Robinson: Students should help Clinton

By MARA DIVIS

As President Clinton searches for a direction to take in foreign policy, it is up to the citizens of the United States, to give him an answer, according to Randall Robinson, U.S. spokesman for ANC leader Nelson Mandela.

Robinson said that the U.S. is at a crossroads in U.S.Africa relations in a lecture yesterday entitled, “Politics on South Africa and Haiti in the New Administration.”

The U.S. faces the end of the Cold War and the beginning of a new administration, he said.

Nations to which the U.S. has shown humanitarian efforts are victims of Cold War foreign relations, as the U.S. has targeted countries that have denounced Soviet Communism and rewarded them with aid, he said.

“The U.S. has shown humanitarian efforts are victims of Cold War foreign relations, as the U.S. has targeted countries that have denounced Soviet Communism and rewarded them with aid, he said.

“We cared more about their survival in the Soviet Union than what they’re doing to themselves,” he said. “We wanted them on our side. We simply have not cared at all about democracy in Africa.”

Robinson, who in the spring will testify before the House Foreign Affairs Committee regarding the direction the U.S. should take toward Africa, criticized the Bush and Reagan administrations for not allocating enough funds to fledgling democracies in Africa. He cited one case where the U.S. gave one nation near South Africa only $500,000, while President Bush spent “billions of dollars in the Persian Gulf.”

Foreign policy also needs improvement in light of relations with Haiti and other economically troubled Caribbean nations, Robinson said. He continued that the U.S. has historically favored Europe, and that African nations and Caribbean island nations are traditionally been neglected.

“There’s no accident that the ANC leader Nelson Mandela,” Robinson said in a lecture yesterday that U.S. citizens, especially students need to give President Clinton direction in foreign policy.

Gorbachev to testify against coup

MOSCOW — Former Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev said in an interview published Wednesday he is eager to testify against his former Communist Party
The trial of the 12 alleged coup leaders is to begin April 8. Some 120 witnesses are expected. The trial could shed light on lingering questions including allegations that Gorbachev knew about the coup beforehand.
Last year, Gorbachev clashed with Russia's Constitutional Court over his refusal to testify in another trial that stemmed from the August 1991 putsch. The Constitutional Court was weighing the validity of Russian President Boris Yeltsin's order banning the Communist Party. But Gorbachev told Literaturnaya Gazeta that the criminal case against the coup leaders is different. "Unless it takes place, it is unlikely that we will be able to build a rule-of-law state," he said. "We will not be able to do it without it. I had this trial."

Brewing debate over mentally ill charge

NEW YORK — Attorney General Janet Reno warned in a hearing Thursday for the mentally ill charge in a lawsuit that some patients in state hospitals are being used as "guinea pigs" in risky medical tests. The lawsuit, filed Tuesday in state court, says dozens of patients in psychiatric hospitals, including children, have unknowingly been given experimental drugs.
The lawsuit focuses on 10 long-term research experiments studying the effect of psychotropic drugs on Alzheimer's disease, AIDS dementia and schizophrenia.
The unapproved drugs have been known to cause strokes, heart attacks, convulsions and even death, according to the lawsuit, which names the state Office of Mental Health. The lawsuits follow an analysis of the picture published by Robert Spoor, a spokesman for the state Office of Mental Health, said the experiments comply with all federal regulations.

School must remove picture of Jesus

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — A federal judge sided with a 17-year-old high school senior Wednesday and ordered his public school to remove a portrait of Jesus Christ that's been displayed in a ball for about 30 years. Judge Benjamin Gibson ruled that displaying the picture at Bloomington High School is unconstitutional because it violates the First Amendment, which prohibits government from establishing a religion. He gave school officials until March 1 to remove the 2-foot-by-3-foot framed print of artist Warner Sallman's Head of Christ, which is bolted to a wall outside the principal's cabinet. 'The primary effect of the school's display of the picture is to advance religion in general and Christianity in particular,' Gibson wrote. Officials at the 450-student school say the picture serves a secular function by informing students about Jesus as a historical figure.

Newbold: Marketing is important for health care

By GWEN DUFFIELD
Assistant St. Mary's Editor

It is important to provide the necessary medical services for patients through marketing within the health care administration, said Newbold, a chief executive officer of Memorial Health System, Inc.

Newbold said it is important to serve the needs and expectations of patients, the public, physicians, and insurance companies or payers in the health care profession.

In discussing the role of the customer in health care, Newbold stressed that each customer has a need or desire for service, money to exchange for the service, and choices to make about what care the customer wants and from whom he or she wants it.

"There are no longer mass markets in health care because everything is now customized for the individual. Each customer is unique, we have to communicate with our patients, doctors and employees to see that their needs are taken care of," said Newbold.

"Half of the job in health care will be resolving the problems that arise so that people's expectations are met," he said.

"And handling these problems will improve your business and the customer's service," Newbold explained.

He said that people in the health care profession need to become more accountable for providing quality management in customer service.

"Quality in health care is exceeding people's expectations by doing right things right," said Newbold. "This can be accomplished by establishing total quality management and continuous quality improvement," he added.

"Quality should entail focusing on the customers where everyone is involved and responsible for interacting with those in their hospital community.

"Too many businesses are oriented toward themselves, the providers but it is necessary to manage relations with our customers since they are the people who give you business," said Newbold.

"To help solve problems we developed a feedback system," Newbold supported the feedback system and any other extensive knowledge and training for all in the health profession.

"Instead of having a pyramid where top senior managers have the most control, we should flatten the pyramid into a circular work force where power is also distributed among the people that work for the job," he said.

alumni relations. Wellmann described "The Job Bank," a network between students and alumni to assist students in getting jobs with the help of alumni. They support a mentor program organized through career placement and the Alumni Association. "The internship program is not orga­nized," said Gallo. "It should be available to everyone, no matter what career we choose." Gallo discussed "The Job Market," to "refine and up­grade"communications between students and alumni through such means as direct mailing to "maximize informa­tion and help put our education to work," said Gallo.

Individual candidates dis­cussed additional issues, as well. In alphabetical order:

Connelly said that he and Ko­vats aim at "eliminating the restrictions of the administra­tion." Their ticket objects to the University's present alcohol policy and partisanship.

Flynn and Wellmann, who said that their ideas are "conclusively evident," described an on-campus storage facility for students on Stepan Road, coating each student five dollars. They also discussed the availability of financial aid and the improvement of social life on campus, particularly maintaining SYB.

The Gallo/Browning ticket advocates having the basement of LaFortune, including Allegro and the pool room, opened for 24 hours, increasing the funds allocated to the budget for stu­dent clubs, and including a multi-cultural emphasis in freshmen seminar courses. "Putting Notre Dame to work. That's our goal," said Gallo.

Karian and Thomas said that their primary goal is to estab­lish a weighted D.A.R.T. (Direct Access Registration by Tele­phone) system, to increase fairness in the registration system. "Sam and I have simple solutions to simple problems," Karian said.

Murphy and Bloss said that their objectives include chang­ing the alcohol policy, improving funding for non-varsity ath­letics, developing a debit card, establishing a smoking room, and improving student parking. "We are here to represent change," said Murphy.

Reinke and Dickey, who said that they represent "idealism and realism," discussed their "Tax Voucher" idea, in which students could use cans on credit. They also discussed fi­nancial aid, gender relations, and a revised meal plan.

They also proposed setting up desks on Field House Mall in the spring and fall, in addition to monthly forums and publishing. Student Governments budgets. "We believe that Student Gov­ernment has a responsibility to deal with real problems," said Reinke.

Worker opens fire at factory killing one

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A factory employee opened fire at the plant where he worked Wednesday, killing one person and wounding seven others be­fore being subdued by wounded victim, authorities said.

Michael Wayne Burns, 37, of El Dorado, was arrested in the shooting at the Prescolite Inc. plant, said Tammie Fitzgerald of the Union County sheriff's office. Fitzgerald said late Wednesday she didn't know if Burns had been charged.

Burns was listed in critical condition with a head injury at University Hospital in Little Rock. He was struck by a pipe wielded by victim Darryl Mc­Kinney, who was able to escape, according to the El Do­rado News-Times.

McCurdy, 39, of El Dorado, was listed in stable condition at an El Dorado Hospital with gun­shot wounds to his side and wrist. Burns used three handguns in­ fire at other employees as they returned to work after taking a lunch break, according to a state­ment from the sheriff's office. The News-Times quoted an investigator as saying Burns used 22-caliber, 9mm and .38-caliber weapons.

"A note was found (on Burns) by authorities ... which indicates that he was angry at fellow employees," the state­ment read.

Investigators said the note indicated Burns was upset over harassment by other workers, but wouldn't disclose any other details about the note.

public works spending this year and $15 billion in business tax breaks, primarily from a targeted investment tax credit.

But whatever the final shape, Reich said, "Our goal is an immediate rush of about 250,000 jobs."

In remarks on "CBS This Morning," Reich said that Clinton's plan would be "taxab­solute intensive" and would have a multiplier effect in which the increased government spending and tax reductions would produce increased spending by the private sector as well. He said a summer youth program to give unemployed teenagers work would be part of the package.

In a later interview with The Associated Press, Reich refused to provide any breakdown on where the administration ex­pected the 250,000 jobs to come from.

But he said, "The goal is making sure the money gets out there quickly ... The job picture is not yet where it should be for this stage of a so-called recovery.

Reich cited the announce­ments last week that Sears planned to shift some 5,000 jobs and other major companies including IBM were also cutting thousands of jobs.

U.N. uses emergency food reserves

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — U.N. aid workers have been forced to dip into emergency food reserves in the embattled capital because battles along a key land route have slowed or blocked aid convoys, officials said Wednesday.

Sarajevo and other Bosnian cities under siege by rebel Serb forces depend entirely on shipments for food and fuel — both of which are in short supply as people try to survive the winter. Hospitals and bakeries are running low on diesel fuel for their generators.

In Croatia, a French U.N. peacekeeper was wounded when his armored vehicle struck an anti-tank mine near the Bosnian border, said a U.N. spokesman in Zagreb, the Croatian capital.

Rebel Serbs reportedly attacked Croatian defense lines along a key land route have slowed or blocked aid convoys, officials said Wednesday. The route will remain closed until the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees receives safety assurances and a satisfactory explanation for Tuesday's attack, UNHCR spokesman Larry Hollingworth said.

More than 18,000 people have died in Bosnia in 10 months of fighting among Serbs, Croats and Muslims. In Croatia, about 10,000 died in clashes in 1991 before a U.N.-brokered truce.

The United Nations said it was halting all aid convoys traveling to Sarajevo via Mostar, Bosnia, after a relief truck took a direct artillery hit. A local translator was killed and the convoy's Danish leader was wounded.

The route will remain closed until the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees receives safety assurances and a satisfactory explanation for Tuesday's attack, UNHCR spokesman Larry Hollingworth said.

One convoy of 10 trucks did reach Sarajevo Wednesday, said Zagreb UNHCR spokesman Peter Kessler. It came by a different route.

But the Mostar road ban dashed hopes of a convoy carrying diesel reaching Sarajevo by Friday.

U.N. relief trucks now must use alternate routes that take twice as long, Hollingworth said.

Tony Land, head of the UNHCR office in Sarajevo, said the interruption meant the agency had to go into its diminishing reserves. As it is, Sarajevo is not getting the daily minimum 270 tons of food it needs.

Overland convoys are often slowed or stopped by fighting, roadblocks and bad roads. Poor weather frequently limits aid getting in by airlift.

Seventeen of 20 planned flights with 160 tons of aid arrived Wednesday in Sarajevo, said a U.N. logistics officer in Zagreb.

One convoy of 10 trucks did reach Sarajevo Wednesday, said Zagreb UNHCR spokesman Peter Kessler. It came by a different route.

But the Mostar road ban dashed hopes of a convoy carrying diesel reaching Sarajevo by Friday.

Secretary of State Warren Christopher gave a distinctly cool reception to the U.N. effort.

"The United States has been very supportive of the process," he said Monday during a trip to the U.N. He did not extend that support to the specific plan that has emerged from that process, a plan the new administration feels gives too much to the Serbs, labeled as aggressors in the conflict and as war criminals.

"The president continues to work on a diplomatic solution," White House spokesman George Stephanopoulos said Wednesday. "He does not have any specific support or rejection of this plan.

"Owen has complained in a number of interviews during the past 24 hours that the possibility of overt U.S. support for the Bosnian Muslims has made it impossible to get them to sign on to the U.N. peace plan.

"We can't get the Muslims on board," said Owen in an interview published in Wednesday's New York Times. "And that's largely the fault of the Americans, because the Muslims won't budge while they think Washington might come into it on their side any day now."

Europe is Clinton's biggest headache

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of all the problems President Clinton inherited from the Bush administration, none offers less promise of an acceptable solution than the ethnic tragedy in Yugoslavia. He's looking at a U.N. peace plan he doesn't like and the politically risky alternative of committing U.S. military force.

Already under pressure from Congress to live up to his campaign promise of a stronger U.S. role to curb Serbian aggression, Clinton is now under fire from United Nations mediator Lord Owen for tilting toward the Bosnian Muslims and underestimating the chances for peace.

What are the Clinton's options?

There is the plan pushed by Owen and former U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance that would divide Bosnia-Herzegovina into 10 provinces controlled by the various warring ethnic groups.

Alternatively, there is the use of American air power to enforce a no-fly zone and punish Serbian forces.

Another possibility is to enable the Bosnian Muslim forces to purchase arms to help them overcome the military advantage now held by the Serbians.

But all these possibilities have more disadvantages than advantages.
Alabama closes student government

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — For decades, the way into student government at the University of Alabama has been the Machine, a shadowy collection of white fraternities and sororities highly effective at getting its people elected.

Few people have been able to overcome the power of the Machine, which has backed many student leaders who later made their mark in politics, including a number of congressmen.

Even a leader-to-be like George Wallace was no match for the Machine, which has backed many student leaders who later made their mark in politics, including a number of congressmen.

Seven killed in testing plane crash at air base

MABRIETTA, Ga. (AP) — A one-of-a-kind cargo plane described as a “flying laboratory” crashed and burned after taking off from an Air Force base Wednesday, killing all seven aboard.

The plane clipped a corner of a Navy medical clinic in a “flying laboratory” on a mission to study the effects of military flight on the human body.

The plane, described as a “flying laboratory,” was a one-of-a-kind cargo plane used by the military, but this plane was a special version used by Lockheed for testing.

A special version used by Lockheed for testing was called a High Technology Test Bed, or HTTB.

According to Lockheed, the plane was a “flying laboratory,” equipped with data-gathering equipment to test new technologies. It was designed to fly at lower-than-normal speeds, mainly to test short-distance landing.

A salesman at an auto dealership near the base said he saw the plane at treetop level.

“Al of a sudden he took a sharp turn to the left, nose-dived down to the ground... and then the explosion and black smoke,” said Jim Hurd.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Educators and several members of Congress on Wednesday praised a proposal to guarantee $14,000 a year in aid to every U.S. college student. Bankers and others criticized the plan as unworkable.

Implementing such reforms would "subject students to a crapshoot because they might not work," said Sam Kipp, executive director of the California Student Aid Commission, which runs the state's grant and scholarship programs.

Education Secretary Richard Riley said he was "delighted" that the congressionally mandated commission chaired by former Sen. Paula Hawkins, R-Fla., "agrees with many of the Clinton Administration's proposals," such as partial repayment of student loans through community service.

Clinton increasing defense budget cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton is weighing defense cuts of $8.5 billion beyond former President Bush's budget for the next fiscal year, congressional and defense industry sources said Wednesday.

Such a reduction in military spending could be expected to produce far-reaching effects elsewhere in the $1.5 trillion budget as Clinton looks for ways to reduce the deficit.

The $8.5 billion cut under consideration by Clinton would reduce the defense budget to $259.3 billion from $267.8 billion for the next fiscal year, Clinton sources said.

Troop levels in Europe would fall within the range of $7 billion, the sources said.

The memo also calls for a $2.5 billion cut in spending on the Strategic Defense Initiative and theater missile defense program. The Bush budget planned to spend $6.2 billion on the two programs in fiscal 1994.

Defense Secretary Les Aspin has asked the services to submit their plans for spending cuts to him by Feb. 8.

"This report steps on a lot of powerful financial toes" and those who favor the proposed reforms "are going to have to get in and fight for it," Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., who endorsed the commission's work, told a news conference.

Relying on a "federal bureaucracy to deliver loans ... would be costly and counterproductive," said Lawrence Hough, president and chief executive officer of the Student Loan Marketing Association.

"Known as Sallie Mae, the federally chartered corporation buys student loans from financial institutions.

"It may be unrealistic to call for ... the elimination of the one reliable source of funds for families over the last twenty years," said Joe Belew, president of the Consumer Bankers Association.

Trade world seems upside down as Japanese firm wins most of the typewriters it sells here from a wholly owned subsidiary in Singapore. And Cornell said the company is closing its only U.S. typewriter-making plant in, Cortland, N.Y., laying off 775 Americans and moving the operation to Mexico.

To add to the multinational mix, nearly half of Smith Corona — 47.6 percent — is owned by a British conglomerate, Hanson PLC.

"The ruling this week, in a case dating from the Bush administration, should not surprise the new Democratic leadership," Robert Reich, secretary of labor and close economic adviser to President Clinton, wrote in the latest issue of the Harvard Business School magazine.

"In the global enterprise the bonds between company and country ... are rapidly eroding. Today corporate decisions about production and location are driven by the dictates of global competition, not by national allegiance," Reich wrote.

"The full president, of Brother International, the Japanese company's marketing arm in the United States, said the Commerce Department ruling "is a clear statement of Brother's role as the leading U.S. portable electric typewriter manufacturer."
Arafat hopes for new initiatives

BAHRAIN, Iraq (AP) - PLO chief Yasser Arafat said after talking with President Saddam Hussein on Wednesday that he hoped Saddam would offer new initiatives to improve relations with the West.

"We hope that next time there will be a positive response by the other side," he said in a TV interview in Baghdad at the end of a fence-mending mission to Iraq. Arafat did not elaborate.

Sources in the Palestinian Lib- eration Organization said Arafat would encourage Sad dam to avoid further con- frontations with the United States so as not to disturb Arab- Israeli peace negotiations and related issues.

Envoy predicts large peacekeeping force

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - The biggest U.N. peacekeeping force ever, with a mandate to impose order rather than just maintain it, may replace the U.S.-led military coalition in Somalia, the world's body specia- l envoy said Wednesday.

Ismat Kittani, an Iraqi diplomat, said the situation required a stronger approach than the usual passive role of only separating combatants.

Meeting with reporters, Kit- tani said he did not know when the Security Council would reach an agreement on autho- rizing a peacekeeping force for this East African nation that has been ravaged by war and famine.

The peacekeeping mission would replace a U.S.-led mili­ tary force of about 38,000 per- sonnel, allowing the United States to withdraw some 20,000 servicemen and women.

The Americans and allied troops have restored some order in Mogadishu and other parts of southern Somalia since Dec. 9 and relief aid is moving again. But the country still swarms with gunmen and rival clan militias continue to clash.

Battles between two warlords outside the southern port of Kismayu derailed another round of peace talks among Somali clan leaders that were to have begun Monday in Mogadishu.

U.N. officials said Wednesday that a Belgian army patrol found the bodies of 15 Somalis massacred during the fighting in the south.

Kittani said a consensus was reached among the Western allies, including the cease-fire Iraq declared last month in the al­ lied-imposed "no-fly" zones of northern and southern Iraq.

The PLO chairman came to Baghdad Monday night to dis- cuss the peace talks, Palestinian deportees in Lebanon and other regional developments.

PLO sources said he also aimed to smooth ruffled feelings caused when a PLO envoy in Saudi Arabia made an apolo­ getic statement last month about Palestinian support for Iraq during the Gulf War.

The Saudis, Kuwaitis and other oil-rich Persian Gulf states, angered by Arafat's backing of Saddam, cut off mil­ lions in financial aid to the PLO.

Mahmoud Abbas, of the PLO Executive Committee, went to Saudi Arabia in a trip aimed at reconciliation with the Gulf states. On the trip, he referred to Iraq's August 1990 invasion of Kuwait as "aggression.

COTONOU, Benin (AP) - Pope John Paul II cautioned churchmen about political activity as he began an African tour on Wednesday that will end in Sudan, where the Muslim government has been battling Christians for 10 years.

The trip is the pontiff's 10th to a continent where clerics in many parts are fighting for po- litical reform and the Roman Catholic church has found its most fertile ground for con­ verts. Still, the pope made it clear that for the Vatican, spreading the Gospel is the heart of the church's mission.

"It is right that church people, bishops and others free themselves from political tasks because the only political task of the church ... is evangeliza­ tion," the pope told reporters aboard his special Alitalia Flight from Rome to Benin.

The American ambassador in Benin's capital, Isidore de Souza, was president of the national con­ ference that played midwife to the transition to democracy.

When John Paul first visited Benin, in 1982, it was a strict Marxist-Leninist state. But popular protest compelled its dictator, Mathieu Kerekou, to call elections, which produced his defeat in March 1991.

The pope cautioned clerics that while helping citizens to form a political community, "don't forget your task is not political.

But it is another thing, he said, in places like the Far East and Africa "where there are different peoples" who "look to church workers as people better prepared to help them."

Put ND to work: Vote Gallo

It is an election complete with platforms calling for "people first," insiders running to continue the policies of the present and one team of ordinary people pushing for concrete, simple goals.

Sound familiar?

In a campus race strikingly similar to the recent national election, the Notre Dame student body has its pick of six distinct tickets. The Observer endorses Stephanie Gallo and Chris Browning, a ticket with solid ideas and a vocal willingness to cut down on Student Government excess. In particular, their plan to formally link influential alumni and students with campus initiatives like the infeasible book leasing plan and the community-wide dialogue is an excellent one. Perhaps an open meeting could be arranged at a time suitable for as many as are interested. Not knowing what day or hour would be good, I invite DeBartolo to either call my office or to E-mail me with suggestions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter raises need for dialogue about classroom building

Dear Editor:

Even before reading Paul McDowell's letter about DeBartolo Hall technologies in The Observer (Feb. 1, 1993), I have been eager to dialogue with faculty about the new ways that DeBartolo can influence the teaching/learning process on campus. McDowell's request for constructive campus-wide dialogue is an excellent one. Perhaps an open meeting could be arranged at a time suitable for as many as are interested. Not knowing what day or hour would be good, I invite DeBartolo to either call my office or to E-mail me with suggestions.

THURSDAY'S VERSE

Sleighbells in the snow,
Covering the sidewalk
You made me laugh.
Your blue blue eyes
And curly brown hair
Are what make you beautiful
On the outside.

Tonight
The silence of the empty
Red velvet chairs
In the empty theater
And the fullness I felt Sitting by you
Made me smile.

I'm beginning to slip
Into the plurality of Two
Instead of the singularity of One
And it is happening just as I told myself that it wouldn't

Dear Notre Dame Students:

Our record of involvement in improving student life in both our dorm and campus wide demonstrates that we have the commitment and experience necessary to make immediate, concrete contributions to the Notre Dame community. Our platform addresses various aspects of student life which will allow Student Government to effectively serve the interests of the Student Body. We are unique in that we have taken the time to come up with original ideas which we have followed up on and determined to be fully achievable.

Karian/Thomas

Dear Notre Dame Students:

Our candidacy is unique because neither Joe Karian nor Sam Thomas has ever served in any student government organization on campus. Although this lack of experience may cause skeptics to claim we are unqualified, we believe our perspective as regular students gives us a unique understanding of your concerns and difficulties. We have become too familiar and accustomed to the frustrations students endure when their representatives become apprehensive and tentative about eliminating inconveniences and complications. While all candidates have emphasized empowering the student voice in government, these promises are nothing more than propaganda unless they are supported by a serious itinerary of programs.

As candidates, we've worked hard to put forth a platform of reasonable and realistic ideas that would have a significant role in overcoming some of the University's shortcomings. Our ability to identify and respond to student needs is supported by specific objectives to reform DART, create a teacher evaluation system, and improve student influence with an official visit to each dorm.

We believe this is quite a contrast to some of our opponents who have taken on the primary characteristic of nonchalant, silent—no substance. Although we want to be active in promoting the interests of students, we will not assault your dignity with thoughtless, vague and unrealistic promises.

We hope that when you take active role in judging the practicality of each candidate's proposals you will decide to vote for Joe Karian and Sam Thomas.

Dear Notre Dame Students:

The goals that we presented to the Observer lead to one encompassing idea: the University exists in order to serve and foster growth among the students. We believe this is quite a contrast to some of our opponents who have taken on the primary characteristic of nonchalant, silent—no substance. Although we want to be active in promoting the interests of students, we will not assault your dignity with thoughtless, vague and unrealistic promises.

We hope that when you take active role in judging the practicality of each candidate's proposals you will decide to vote for Joe Karian and Sam Thomas.

Three Goals for 1993-94:
1. The creation of a campus-wide Book Fair, which will serve as an alternative to buying books directly from the Bookstore. Student Government will organize books by Course and Term and serve as a fraction of the cost of current storage options.

Three Goals for 1993-94:
1. Revolutionize DART system. We would institute a weighted DART system guaranteeing that each student DART once in the top 50 percent and once in the bottom 50 percent of the student body, regardless of his/her specialization, will be able to get to and from class during an academic year. This system would exist and ensure all students an equal opportunity to receive an education.

2. To provide an opportunity for all students to question the status quo and implement change.
3. To unify the students, so that we may be a powerful force in creating a University of our own.

Dear Notre Dame Students:

First and foremost, we bring our values to student government. Value-based leadership will always come before political agendas or the short-term rewards these offices might hold.

If you look at our vision for the coming year, you will see that it isn’t full of incredible innovation, quick fixes, or pie-in-the-sky. However, we will approach many of the problems that continually plague Notre Dame students from a completely new angle. We have attempted to strike a defining the internship program, networking with our alumni through phone banks and direct mailings, and developing an alumni mentor program. This comprehensive approach to careers has been discussed with the leaders of Career Placement and Alumni Association who have expressed strong interest in these ideas. Our next task is putting the campus to work. Areas of concern include combating textbook cost with Lease A Book program and opening the entire basement of La Fortune as a first step in improving the quality of 24 hour social space. Putting your money to work is our third area of concern. We plan to trim the waste out of the budget in order to increase club funding by 20%. We would not raise these issues or offer solutions without being committed to bringing them about. Just as we have reviewed these issues with the Administration to confirm their viability, we will seek input from students to insure that all positions are heard. As leaders we will be exactly who we are at the time of this writing, two individuals who are motivated to put Notre Dame to work.

Dear Notre Dame Students:

It will soon be the day.

You'll be off to go vote now.

And we see things your way.

You have brains in your heads,

And with that you can't lose.

And need to steer yourself to the candidate you choose.

You'll look at the signs. Read them over with care.

About the most you can say ,

"Gosh!

They've got nice hair.'

With your heads full of brains and the issues before you,

You know you're too smart for those who will bore you.

You want to see things happen.

If you vote for us, they will.

We support all the students.

With all our political skill.

And when things start to happen

Don't you worry or mourn.

So, just stop and vote

For Murph and the Black Thorn.

Oh! The Places we'll go!

You'll be on your way up.

Tomorrow looks friendly.

If you vote for us twice,

You'll win a date with Emily.

You might be confused when analyzing this race.

Reading over those platforms at an incredible pace.

Stop at this one and read closely this space.

Murph and Emily are off to a wonderful place.

To finish this poem, we'll use the word "Orange."

Try to find something that rhymes with that.

Earning respect

By ELISABETH HEARD
Accent Writer

You sit shivering from the cold Chicago wind. The cardboard box that was your bed last night has fallen apart from the wind and freezing rain. As you make your way to the shelter for something to eat, you pass by briskly, pretending that they do not see you.

Once inside the shelter, someone catches your eye. It’s a poster asking for actors to perform in a play. Each participant will receive a salary that must go toward the first month’s rent on an apartment.

Your eyes light up with hope, this may be the way to get off of the streets.

Although it may sound fictitious or optimistic, this program is real. And it’s coming to Notre Dame this weekend.

The Streets is a theater group in Chicago run by Brad Hauter, and focuses on helping people get off the streets and back on their feet again. "He (Hauter) owns a scooter store in Chicago, and when he would go to work every day, he would see homeless people," said Rich Dyer, a Notre Dame MBA student and coordinator in bringing the group to campus. "He said that he had to do something about it, but he didn’t want to just give money."

Instead, Hauter formed the theater group in 1989, which gave people a chance to earn money by working for it.

"Brad’s theory is that the homeless don’t want a handout," said Dyer. "They want to earn it and possibly hear for the first time in their lives that they are worth something."

"Foots," a play by Larry Shue, is this year’s play, and the plot goes back 200 years ago to a small town where a young man fell in love with a young woman, and asked her to marry him.

She declines his offer because he is uneducated, and being so distraught, he commits suicide. The young man’s father becomes very upset and puts a curse on everyone born there or who comes to the town. The curse is that everyone is at war, we want to earn enough to pay the rent."

The performance starts at 8 p.m. in Washington Hall.

Alumni, Grace wins key hockey action

By TEDS PETERSON
Sports Writer

Sophomore Bill Conney netted four goals and senior Matt Cronin scored twice as Alumni defeated Soria 8-4 last week to take the lead in the League Two playoff hunt. The victory left Alumni (2-0-1-T) as the only undefeated team in League Two.

Alumni owned the first half, taking a 4-0 lead into the intermission. Sorin (2-1-T) bounced back after the break, eventually cutting the deficit to 5-4. Helped by Ben Cain's strong play in goal, Alumni held on to win the game with three late goals.

The next night, however, Alumni suffered a setback, losing Fisher (1-1-1-3). The two teams were never separated by more than a goal in this back-and-forth struggle, with Cronin scoring twice to save the tie for Alumni.

Alumni captain Jim Kusler praised Fisher goalie Christian Stein for a remarkable performance, adding that a post-Sorin iso was not responsible for the tie.

"There was no letdown: we were passing and skating just as well as the night before (against Soria). We just didn't get the goals," he noted Fisher.

Elsewhere in League Two, Zahn (3-2) withstood some penalties to hold off Fisher 3-1. With the win, Zahn moved into a second-place tie with Soria, one-half game behind Alumni.

Zahn senior Chris Radzik said that his team's game objective had been to shut down Fisher's big scorer, Bob Gotsz. Fulfilling that goal and getting a sharp performance from goalies Joe DeSimone were major factors in the win.

St. Ed's (1-2) got in the win column last week, beating Car Vaughan 8-2. St. Ed's captain Mike Newman had a hat trick and Bill Brennan scored twice. Vaughan goals from Pete Morrill and captain Ed Clark closed the lead to 6-2 in the first half, but St. Ed's regained the momentum and ran away with the game.

Meanwhile, in League One play, Grace continues to roll, adding to their undefeated record with a 5-2 win over Morrissey. A slow start found them tied 1-1 at the half, but senior leadership—in the remainder of the game—of three quick goals—got Grace's wheels moving in the second period. Grace (4-0-T) trimmed despite the absence of three of their players.

St. Francis (4-1) kept pace, game behind Grace, by defeating Planner 10-6 on Monday and squeaking past Dill 3-2 the night before. The two wins put St. Francis in position to clinch a playoff spot with a win over Off-Campus next week.

St. Francis' season has been characterized by second-half surges, and the Planner game was no different. Tied 5-5 in the second period, St. Francis' captain Mike Johnson exploded with three goals to put the game out of reach. Freshman Andy Ruppert aided the St. Francis cause with five goals of his own.

Not only did Planner (1-2) play St. Francis tough, but they also defeated Off-Campus 6-3 last week, celebrating their first interball hockey victory in eight years.

Beth Jassl Woodrum and Mark Lorelli scored two goals to lead the win. With some minor alterations, this could be an extremely dangerous team in the remainder of the season.

I believe that what our Lord teaches us here is that no contribution is too small if given in the right spirit. Often we look at the contributions of others, whether it is wealth or personal witness, and think that there is no way that we can measure up. We measure our own success by comparison to that of someone else. Our Lord tells us that whatever we give will be okay. The only stipulation is that we have to truly give from our hearts and not just what we are comfortable giving. Only God can say whether a person has been successful or not. He teaches us that we all have the potential to be like Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Marcus Garvey, or Harriet Tubman.

Parks, King, Jr., Marcus Garvey, or Harriet Tubman. Not much credit is given to the manner of a simple songwriter like Thomas Dorsey, whose music ministry can powerfully touch the core of our feelings. "He probably did not think that it would become as popular as it has," McGraw said. "We all have some good leadership in Coquese Washington and Kara Lavin, but the consistency will come."

Precious Lord, take my hand. Lead me on, let me stand, I am weak, I am weak; I am worn; thru the storm, thru the light, Take my hand precious Lord, Lead me home .... (Dorsey,l938)

Holtz gets his wish as Irish sign Powlus and Krug

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

It's official. After months of promises and verbal agreements, two of the nation's top prep quarterbacks signed letters of intent yesterday to Notre Dame and Tom Krug both signed with the Irish, giving Notre Dame its most promising crop of young quarterbacks since Rick Mirer and Jake Kehlern came to Notre Dame in 1989. Only this pair may be better.

Powlus was Mr. Everything in high school. He was named Parade, SuperPrep, USA Today and the Pennsylvania state title, passing for 2,933 yards and 6,000 career yards. Hardin averaged over seven yards per carry, commented Notre Dame's coach. "I think Edwards is going to be an excellent quarterback, but if they can perform." "The success in the backfield was going to sign but it didn't recruit a number of positions but may have not been more confident with two fullbacks running in," commented Notre Dame coach. "I think Edwards is going to be an excellent quarterback, but if they can perform." "I think Edwards is going to be an excellent quarterback, but if they can perform."

"We feel we needed to sign two fullbacks and two running backs and we answered that need," said Holtz. "I went to his home last Tuesday and it was a good visit. I go to his home last Tuesday and it was a good visit. I go to his home last Tuesday and it was a good visit. I go to his home last Tuesday and it was a good visit. I go to his home last Tuesday and it was a good visit. I go to his home last Tuesday and it was a good visit.

"I feel it didn't matter if he did or didn't go, go with. Wherever I go, I'm going to do my best.

"Notre Dame is a great place, and I always wanted the opportunity to play big time football. I came here in December and I could feel the magic on campus. So Holtz got his wish.

"We are glad they saw the benefits of coming to Notre Dame," said Holtz. "One of those benefits being the opportunity to challenge for a starting job as a freshman. With Rick Mirer graduating, Kevin McGougal and Paul Failla are the players who figured to compete for the starting job next season. You can now throw Powlus and Krug into that equation.

"The chances of them starting depends a lot on when they get here," said Holtz. "You don't like to start a freshman quarterback, but if they can perform."

"The Irish will be a much larger team next season after losing Liner, Taylor and the ultimate goal, a national championship," said Powlus. "I think I have a strong arm, I'm a good passer and can run real well," said Krug.

"If one out-performs the other, it appears that there will be few feelings of loyalty to McDougal and Failla."

"The freshmen will get a chance to show what they can do in the fall. But it will be very difficult for a freshman to come in and start."

"I'm going to come out and give my best and if he's better than me then he'll get the job, and that will be what's best for Notre Dame. It's our school now, and we need what's best for the team. I'm sure he'd feel the same.

"Wherever I go it's going to be competitive," Krug said. "I'm confident in my abilities. Whoever performs will get the job. Holtz doesn't rule out the possibility of a national starter, but he also remains loyal to McGougal and Failla.

"We will come out of spring practice with a number one quarterback," said Holtz, "and now you would have to believe McGougal has a slight edge."

"The freshmen will get a chance to show what they can do in the fall. But it will be very difficult for a freshman to come in and start."

"I'm going to come out and give my best and if he's better than me then he'll get the job, and that will be what's best for Notre Dame. It's our school now, and we need what's best for the team. I'm sure he'd feel the same."

Successful recruiting season for Irish soccer teams

Berticelli 'encouraged' with prospects

By JASON KELLY

Sports Writer

Notre Dame men's soccer coach Mike Berticelli is getting definite signs about recruiting.

After two years of stockpiling offensive talent, the focus this year is on the graduation of Mario Tricoci and Kevin Pendergast and filling some big holes in the back line, and Berticelli believes the Irish will really need to strengthen the defense.

"We're looking for four or five freshmen who can contribute right away," Berticelli said.

It is not unusual for freshmen to contribute to a team's success in each of the last two seasons, a freshman has left the Irish in scoring. Jeff Joseph led the team with 17 goals last year, including a total of 28 points in 1992-93. Last year, Bill Lancia had 14 goals. He paced the Irish with 20 points last year, and four assists.

Joseph and Lancia along with four other recruits will enhance the Irish defense. Eric Ferguson and Shawn Byrden will be the core of Notre Dame's defense next year and in years to come. Both are key in the back-line scoring goals. Defense is the question mark.

Sophomore goalkeeper Bert Bader and defender Chris Dean are the only returners with significant experience on the back-line. The holes on defense have given the Irish coaching staff the same problems every time a recruiting season begins.

"We're not looking for the abundance of talent that we have in past years," Berticelli explained. "This year we're concerned with finding players with specific holes, particularly on defense."

Scholarship limitations make it difficult to fill those holes. One of the biggest blur of college sports is the break in tuition, but sports like soccer can't jealously defend a full ride in front of a recruiting. Revenue sports (football and men's basketball) command the most of the scholarship money.

"There's never enough scholarships to go around," Berticelli explained. "When we have 24 or 25 players and only 9-9 scholarships, it makes recruiting a very difficult process."

It appears that Berticelli has overcome the difficulty once again.

NCAA rules forbid coaches from talking about individual players until they have signed national letters of intent, and the men's soccer recruits aren't expected to sign until sometime next week. But Berticelli is optimistic about the team's prospects.

"It has been an active recruiting season and I'm encouraged with the way it is going," he said. "I think things are falling into place.

Next week he'll know for sure.

Women's recruits labeled best ever

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

Sports Writer

A year ago, Notre Dame women's soccer coach Chris Petrucelli lacked his recruiting class "the best ever at Notre Dame." A year later, it appears he has his new champion.

"We went after the best athletes we could and we did so with a great effort," said Petrucelli.

"Great" may be an understating the caliber of players Petrucelli convinced to sign with Notre Dame. The group includes three All-Americans, one considered the best player in the nation.

California native Cindy Daws, called "the Ben Franklin of women's soccer," who signed with Notre Dame, is the jewel of the class. The Irish seemed unlikely to get Davis, who was highly recruited by North Carolina. But the midfielder chose Notre Dame, mostly to her close ties with current Irish midfielder Regan.

"Regan deserves a lot of the credit for getting Cindy," said Petrucelli. "They are both on the Youth National Team, and Regan made them both comfortable with the group of players we already have." Petrucelli went into the recruiting process, Petrucelli put great emphasis on signing a top-flight goalie to replace graduating senior Michelle Lodyga. "He was answered when Jennifer Renoul was named our new flight goalie from Los Gatos, Cal." said Petrucelli.

"It was an active recruiting season and I'm encouraged with the way it is going," he said. "I think things are falling into place.

Next week he'll know for sure.

Volleyball team gets just what it needs

By DAN PIER

With two key middle blockers and two key outside hitters graduating, Notre Dame head volleyball coach Debbie Brown knows exactly where she would need help in order to build her team's stellar 1992 season. With the signing of Wednesday of five recruits, Brown and the Irish volleyball program got just what they needed.

The five high school standouts signing national letters of intent included outside hitter Kristina Ervin, middle blockers Laura Reckmeyer and Jennifer Rose, and two players who can play both positions, Jennifer Briggs and Camille Clinton.

"This class provides us with both quantity and quality," said Brown. "I'm really excited about this third year at Notre Dame coach next fall."

"While we have an excellent group of players returning, this incoming class will play a key role in building us into one of the top programs in the country over the next four years."

Ervin, a 5-foot-10 four-sport star from Minneapolis, Minnesota, was featured in Faces in the Crowd in the January 18 issue of the Observer. Although she amassed more than 1,000 kills in volleyball and over 1,000 points in basketball, Brown called Ervin "a superb athlete with fast feet who will really add some power to our outside attack."

Reckmeyer, a 6-foot-3, led Cactus High School of Peoria, Arizona to the Class 4A state championship last fall. Brown believes her speed and jumping ability will make her effective in the middle.

Rose, at 6-0, is a two-time all-state honoree from McQueen High School in Reno, Nevada. "Jen has developed very good skills, particularly at the net," she is complimented. "She has the capability to dominate that area of the game."

Briggs, a 6-footer from Kalamazoo, Michigan, led Comstock High School to the state championship as a freshman and a sophomore. She was named first-team all-state as a junior and is still considered the top player in the state. Brown cites Briggs' capability to play two positions as a valuable asset.

Birkner, a 5-foot-11 Geneva athlete, played on a Sports Performance youth team that won the 1989 and- under-19 All-American national championship. She was named all-conference her sophomore, junior, and senior seasons at Geneva. "Coming from an outstanding youth sports program, you know that Jenny has excellent skills," said Brown. "She's an excellent passer."

Brown is optimistic about continued success. "All five have the ability to come in this fall and play significant roles for us," she said.
Morrissey team to beat in Interhall hoops playoffs

By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR
Sports Writer

As the regular season winds to a close, the playoffs in the men's interhall basketball A League begin next week, with the top two teams in each of the three divisions getting the opportunity to contend for the title. With five of the six playoff teams already determined, Morrissey and Off-Campus are viewed as the favorites.

Morrissey, though it dropped its final regular season game to Dillon 57-56, was named by a number of opposing coaches as the team to beat. However, captain Tom Kelly was hesitant to get too overconfident, noting that, "We have to improve our defense, because we gave up too many easy baskets in our last game. There is still a lot of room for improvement." Despite Kelly's caution, Morrissey is still one of the most talented squads in the league, relying on the inside force of Mike Martin and Brian Corbett, and the stability and shooting of Kelly on the outside. As Todd Reynders of Off-Campus noted, the Morrissey team has been playing together at the Rock all year, allowing them to play cohesively in a league situation.

Off-Campus was the other team most feared by opposing coaches, as Kelly of Morrissey noted that they "are definitely the most talented." This talent is largely in the hands of former gridiron stars Eric Jones and Brian Radigan, who are the players the team wants with the ball in clutch situations.

However, OC captain Reynders noted that "it's still important for us to come to play each game with intensity and to play unselfishly." He also stated that while Morrissey has been playing together all year, his squad is only put together for the season, and the players are still getting accustomed to one another on the court.

Fisher is the only team in the playoffs with a perfect 6-0 record, although they could be matched by St. Ed's with a victory over Keenan. Despite the undefeated record, Fisher captain Steve Amer was only cautiously optimistic. "Other teams in the playoffs, especially Morrissey and OC, are a lot bigger than we are," said Amer, "So we'll need to push the ball up the floor and get excellent guard play in order to be successful."

This all-important guard play will come primarily from Garrett Hartmann, the team's leading outside threat, and the person the team will rely on to take charge in a close game. Forward Tim Frank, the team's leading scorer, will also be a factor in clutch situations.

St. Ed's, leading the Big 10 division, may be the most unheralded team coming into the playoffs, but can be one of the most dangerous. "The reason for our success is that we play eleven guys and everyone contributes," noted coach Vinny Sanchez. "However, to be successful in the playoffs, we'll have to play solid defense and pass to the open man."

St. Ed's will rely primarily on Tony Gentile, a clutch shooting guard who has come up with important shots in big games.

Cavanaugh is another team to watch coming into the playoffs, its only loss being a close three-point decision to undefeated Fisher. Coach Vinny Sanchez pointed out that the team "needs consistent offense, moving the ball around to the open man, in order to be successful."

Sanchez resisted singling out any player as a reason for the team's success, as all eleven players are valuable to the team. The reason for the team's success, as all eleven players are valuable to the team.

New recruits should continue Olympic sports' ascension

When Dick Rosenthal became Notre Dame athletic director in 1987 he made a pledge to improve the University's athletic program as a whole. Throughout this has meant some sacrifice, Rosenthal has lived up to his promise.

Notre Dame has nationally-ranked teams in cross-country, men's and women's soccer, volleyball, lacrosse, men's and women's tennis and baseball.

Hockey is on its way to becoming a formidable program in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association.

These facts are obvious to anyone who looks at the aforementioned statistics, but another area is a true reflection on the overall state of the Notre Dame athletic program—recruiting.

Yesterday was the National Senior Day for both soccer teams and volleyball, as well as football. The lastest group of football prospects coming to Notre Dame next fall has been highly publicized, but the same cannot be said of the other sports.

On pages 16 and 17 today's Observer offers a full report on the bumper crop of talented prep seniors. This too is startling. Just three seasons ago the football team plundered the University of North Carolina. Though men's soccer did not

Special to the Observer

Safety Jeff Burris, center Tim Rudy and running back Brian Taylor have been named tri-captains of the Notre Dame football team for 1993, Irish coach Lou Holtz announced yesterday.

Burris, a senior-to-be, has been a starter in the secondary each of the last two seasons, opening 12 games at safety in 1992. He made more special teams appearances and played more minutes than any player last season.

He played possibly the most unique, all-purpose role of anyone in college football last fall. In addition to starting every game on defense and leading the Irish in interceptions and ranking third in tackles among the Notre Dame'sfinest three in both categories (470.4 total yards, 280.9 rushing yards).

A standout in the classroom as well, Ruddy claimed first-team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America honors in '92. He earned a perfect 4.0 average during the '92 fall semester and now boasts a 3.839 overall academic average.

The Notre Dame women's basketball program is on the cusp of something special. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the program, and the Irish are poised to make a significant move in the national ranks.

The team is led by senior guard Staci Fields, who was named the Most Valuable Player at the 1993 NCAA Tournament. Fields' leadership has been crucial in guiding the Irish to a second place finish in the Big East Conference and a spot in the NCAA Tournament.

In January, Notre Dame played eight road games and won just two. In the surroundings of the Joyce Center they were 2-0, decisively beating Detroit Mercy and Loyola.

"It's great to be home," McGraw said. "We were unde­feated at home in January and hopefully we can keep up that record through March."

That's when the MCC tournament comes to Notre Dame, with the team bidding to win the eighth straight conference title.

But the tournament comes later. Notre Dame's concern now is stopping a four-game losing streak that includes two losses to the MCC opponents. The Irish now stand at 4-6 overall and 4-3 in the conference, while LaSalle comes in at 10-7 overall and 5-3 in the MCC.

Despite the recent downturn, the Irish

Sending the opposition to the free throw line 39 times is not a good way to win a basketball game.

The Notre Dame women's basketball team found out first hand in a 59-63 loss to Midwestern Collegiate Conference rival LaSalle on January 2.

The Explorers visited the Joyce Center for a rematch tonight, and the Irish will try just about anything to avoid a showdown of that number of fouls.

"We can't afford to send them to the free throw line 39 times," Irish coach Muffet McGraw said. "We've gotten too much foul trouble and my mom and dad to officiate. Maybe that will help."

Homer has it that her parents won't be blowing the whistles tonight. But playing at home may be all the help the Irish need.
