1993-94 agenda discussed

By KATE CRISHAM

Changes and proposals made by the Student Government for the 1993-94 school year were agreed upon for consideration on the agenda at last night’s Hall Presidents’ Council meeting.

Student Body President Frank Flynn spoke on a student report to be given in October to the Board of Trustees on the Catholic character of Notre Dame, as well as the success of the Book Fair. The book fair is believed to have raised close to $40,000,” reported Flynn. “We definitely hope to hold one again in January.”

In addition, HPC’s relationship and importance to Student Government was discussed. Co-chairman Jackie Macy explained that, as Student Government’s official student representation, it is HPC’s job to submit resolutions on matters of concern.

“This resolutions then go on to the Student Senate and Campus Life Council, where they will be addressed and hopefully acted upon,” said Macy.

According to Assistant News Writer KATE CRISHAM, approval is expected because de Klerk’s governing National Party supports the plan and the document was dated a few weeks before Goniwe was murdered.

Law drafted to allow blacks in government

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP) — South African officials agreed Tuesday on a draft law that would give blacks a role in running the country for the first time in South Africa’s history.

The bill would set up a Transitional Executive, a multiparty body that would assume joint control of some functions with the white-majority government even before multiracial elections in April. It would include members from Nelson Mandela’s African National Congress and other black groups.

ANC National Chairman Thabo Mbeki said Tuesday he hoped that approval of the transitional council by Parliament would “keep the ANC to call for a change in government for all remaining international economic sanctions to be lifted. He said the ANC’s commitment was likely by the end of the month.

The draft law would severely inhibit President F.W. de Klerk’s power to act independently, requiring him to consult with the transitional council on security matters and any major changes to laws.

For example, an 80 percent majority of the council could veto any declaration by de Klerk of a state of emergency.

The draft law and three others approved by negotiators now go to Parliament, which convenes a special session next week.

The University of Notre Dame Golf Course has joined the Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary System, a national program designed to help landowners preserve and enhance the environmental quality of their property.

This nationwide effort is coordinated by the Audubon Society of New York State and the Student Government in part by the United States Government.

“We welcome the commitment of the University of Notre Dame Golf Course to the environment and to managing their property with wildlife in mind,” she said.

As a member of the Cooperative Sanctuary System, the University of Notre Dame Golf Course will be involved in projects to enhance habitat for wildlife on their golf course, and preserve natural resources for the benefit of the local community.

Students cited in SUDS raid

By SARAH DORAN

The Stop Underage Drinking and Sales (S.U.D.S.) task force raided Corby’s, a bar located at 441 E. LaSalie Avenue, early Sunday morning and issued two citations for minors present in a tavern, according to Charles Hurley, assistant director of Notre Dame security.

A Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s student were cited at 1:17 a.m. for the violation of Indiana state law, a Class B misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for up to 180 days.

Names of persons cited were not made available to The Observer at press time.

The annual fall Activity Night at Saint Mary’s College will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 8, in the Athletic Facility, according to Maureen Sullivan, the Campus Community Director.

Close to 70 organizations will be represented, according to Georgeanna Rosenbush, the Director of Student Activities for Saint Mary’s.

Between 8 and 10 p.m., students from Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame can explore the social and volunteer opportunities offered by Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame, the South Bend community, Sullivan said.

On-campus events include Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame碗 also include intercollegiate sports teams, political committees and ethnic societies, Rosenbush said.

A second semester Activities Night is also being planned and prepared.

Interested students who are unable to attend Activities Night should call Saint Mary’s Student Activities Office at 284-4535, or Maureen Sullivan at 284-5166.
Robbo don't play that!

Hi kids, I'm Robbo the Clown, and today we gonna talk about Mr. Crime.

For many of you, the world itself is a whole sea of personal experience. Thoughts which of us might like to ignore, or other things we might not know the meaning of from lack of personal experience.

Like the majority of Notre Dame students, crime is not an everyday issue one has to deal with. But this year, a few sex issues have given the pleasure of meeting Mr. Crime face to face.

Since August 20, six apartments in Lafayette Square have been burglarized. Not only did the Class of 1994 set a school record for number of undergraduates living off-campus, but we are well on our way to set a record for number of break-ins.

I had just finished work last Thursday evening, and was on my way out the door when I got a knock on my roommate's door.

"We got hit!"

"What?"

"We got hit...robbed...cleaned out...taken to the cleaners...the door's closed, eggs are cooking, but it's a great dinner!"

I could not believe it—not even after talking to my neighbors about their face-to-face encounters with Mr. Crime.

With everyone moved in and armed with personal alarms, occasional patrol car passing by and a vowed silent promise among roommates never to like to watch each other's backs, we thought there was no way anything else would happen.

Wrong.

Where there's a will there's a way.

Like my mom said, "You asked for it by mov­ing out of those safe, secure, family-oriented dorms..."

How could I forget.

We thought taking it up with our friendly neighborhood landlord would initially help solve the problem.

Nope. Wrong again.

"The landlord doesn't want you kids to waste your time by coming down to our office."

I'll throw a party, Mr. Landlord, I forgot to refer to the new and updated South Bend Guide to Looting and Filling Students.

Chapter 3, Section 1, Clause F, Paragraph 4 clearly states, "When you can't rip the rear end off of the track, refer to plan B...use any means necessary including kicking in basement windows...those kids never mind sleeping on shards of glass."

How does one keep a sense of humor through this order, one might ask? When something this absurd happens, refer to Chapter 2, Section 5, Clause A, Paragraph 1 of the Notre Dame Guide to Lifting Spirits After Pleasure of Meeting Mr. Crime.

"Go to Grotto and pray for early Circus Lent."

This is Robbo the Clown saying, "Bye bye kids, and don't forget to leave me some cookies and milk on top of the stereo!"

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Chimp wins stock contest

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—A newspaper gave five stock analysts and a chimpanzee the equivalent of $1,250 each to make as much money as they could on the stock market. The chimp won.

After one month, the chimpanzee, Ola, saw the value of his stock rise $190, the newspaper Expressen reported Tuesday. Runner-up was Matz Jonsson whose stock rose $130 from Aug. 3 to Sept. 3. While the stock experts carefully considered their portfolios, Ola made his choice by throwing darts at names of companies listed on the Stockholm stock exchange. One dart hit Forshepa, a small diversified company whose stock rose 44 percent over the month. That compared with the average 5 percent rise for all stocks listed on the exchange.

WASHINGTON

Dr. Joycelyn Elders, President Clinton's choice for Surgeon General, was confirmed by the Senate Tuesday night, surmounting vigorous opposition from conservatives.

The vote was 65 to 34. Senators debated her nomination for more than six hours on the first day of their return from a summer recess. Elders was not present for the final vote. Republicans had acknowledged in advance of the climactic vote that the former Family Health chief would be elevated to the position of Surgeon General, the nation's No. 1 doctor.

Lesbian loses custody battle

RICHMOND, Va.

A lesbian is unfit to be a mother, a judge said Tuesday, allowing a woman to retain custody of her homosexual daughter's 2-year-old son in a case watched closely by gay-rights activists.

Judge Buford Parson ruled just half an hour after the close of a daylong hearing in which the grandmother and mother testified. The grandmother, Kay Bottoms, had argued that the boy could grow up not knowing the difference between men and women if he is returned to Sharon Bottoms and her lover, April Wade. The daughter testified that she herself was harmed by years of sexual abuse from her mother's live-in boyfriend. Parsons, an Henrico Circuit Court judge, deemed that Sharon Bottoms' relationship with her live-in partner "renders her an unfit parent."

Man claims HIV infection by priest

Lawyers said Tuesday's lawsuit was the first such case of sexual abuse involving a priest.

Thomas Perez claims the Rev. Blong abused him in Boulder County District Court against the Rev. Delbert Blong and the Diocese of Pueblo, seeking a jury trial and unspecified monetary damages.

The Indiana Pacers' 120-110 win over the New York Knicks is a sure sign that the Pacers are back for another year of success. The team has been consistent throughout the season, and their fans are thrilled to see them make the playoffs again.

The game was played in Conseco Fieldhouse, and both teams were evenly matched for most of the game. The Pacers, however, pulled away in the third quarter to secure their victory. The final score was 120-110 in favor of the Pacers.

The Pacers' star player, David West, had a tremendous game, scoring 27 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. His teammate Roy Hibbert also had a strong performance, with 22 points and 8 rebounds. Other key players for the Pacers included Darren Collison, with 18 points, and George Hill, who added 15 points.

The Knicks, on the other hand, were led by Carmelo Anthony, who scored 24 points and grabbed 8 rebounds. Amar'e Stoudemire had 19 points and 7 rebounds, while Tim Hardaway Jr. added 16 points and 5 rebounds.

The Pacers' victory was a welcome return to form after a few tough losses earlier in the season. The team is now looking forward to the rest of the playoffs and hopes to continue their winning streak.

College struggles amid financial scandals

By AMY HARRINGTON
Associated Press

CLINTON, Miss. - Gates leading to Mississippi College read "Enter here to increase in stature, knowledge and wisdom." Lewis Nobles, president of the Baptist school for 25 years, was part of that quest, until the walls closed in on him.

In January, Mississippi College was stripped of the national football championship it won in 1989. Last month, Nobles was forced out amid allegations he diverted $3 million in donations for his private use.

School officials speak with respect of Nobles, who demanded that the football coach resign because he didn't want the coach's divorce and remarriage to reflect poorly on the private college.

Under Nobles' leadership, enrollment at the school nearly doubled to more than 5,000. He started a law school - only the second in the state - and a college of nursing.

"Some people are saying nobody would have dared make these charges if there weren't some semblance of guilt," said Charles Martin, vice president of academic affairs. "Some other people are saying we've always thought of him (Nobles) as a man of integrity. We choose to continue to believe that."

Nobles, who resigned Aug. 3, has refused to comment beyond saying, "Only one side of the controversy has been presented."

He also was silent when the school's only Division II national championship was taken away by the NCAA. Among the alleged violations: Mississippi College awarded scholarships to 98 players during the 1989-90 school year. That's double the number allowed. The school didn't deny it.

Nobles' handling of donations is the subject of a federal grand jury investigation that should conclude in about three months, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Jack Lacy.

Lawyer Alan Perry, representing the college, said school officials detected problems with donations when some donors were asked to contribute mon­e­y a second time. Their first donations were given to Nobles and never recorded, Perry said.

The college's Board of Trustees sued Nobles on Aug. 6 in Hinds County Chancery Court, accusing him of mis­man­aging donations and giving officials in the school's business office phony bank statements and checks.

Congressional women seek change on the Hill

By KAREN BALL

WASHINGTON

Freshman Rep. Leslie Byrne was pressing for a measure to whittle away at tax breaks, arguing her case before the House Rules Committee.

"I don't agree with you on this," drawled the Tennessee Republican, "but you certainly brighten the place up."

Such comments explain why many of the women sent crashing into the nation's premiere of off base club last November wonder if Capitol Hill isn't operating in a bit of a time warp with the way men treat women.

Women more than doubled their numbers in the House last November, and now hold 47 of the 435 seats. Five new women have joined the ranks of the Senate, adding to the two who were there before.

But it's been tough going at times, for these new women, who report an occasional, subtle double standard on Capitol Hill, an institution steeped in tradition and long dominated by men.

In other matters, the HPC agreed to support the Madison Center's sale of "Lou Masks." The masks raised almost $25,000 for mental health services and counseling for the homeless last year.

The projects may include: placing nesting boxes for cavity-nesting birds such as bluebirds and swallows, utilizing integrated pest management techniques, conserving water, and maintaining food and cover for wildlife.

Marcos corpse used as political tool

By ROBERT H. REID

LAOAG, Philippines

Call it body politics: the use of a leader's remains to promote the political agenda of the cause he left behind.

The widow of the late President Ferdinand Marcos, whose body was returned Tuesday for burial in his homeland, clearly hopes the funeral will invigorate his supporters and promote the family's political fortunes.

Imelda Marcos managed to attract a large and enthusiastic crowd, although much smaller than the one million her supporters had predicted. About 7,000 people turned out at Laoag airport in a sentimental, emotional welcome as Marcos' corpse arrived on a chartered jet from Honolulu.

Marcos died in Hawaii in September 1989, three years after he was ousted and banished in the mass uprising that installed Corazon Aquino as president.

Mrs. Marcos, draped in a black veil and black native dress, kissed the bier and wept alongside her three children. Women in the crowd also wept.

After a colorful ceremony featuring native death rituals, the black metal casket was loaded aboard a black, horse-drawn carriage and taken in a solemn procession to the city's cathedral and later a reviewing stand in front of the white provincial capitol building.

Through the afternoon and evening, townspeople and visitors filed by the coffin, flanked by a Philippine flag and the seal of the president. A sound system blared out llocano prayers and songs for the dead.

Vendors were selling food and T-shirts reading "Marcos My Hero" and "I saw the return of a great Filipino."

The body was to remain at the capital until Wednesday, when it was to be transported in a torchlight procession to Batac, nine miles to the south, for burial Friday in a stone mausoleum in the yard of Marcos' family home.

Party politics: Christian activists transform GOP

Editor's note: The following is part three in a series.

By JOHN KING
Associated Press

WEST CHESTER, Pa. — Jim Hanak was elected last year to the Chester County Republican Committee, one of those obscure party posts that often draw little interest but can carry a big voice in recruiting and endorsing candidates for local offices.

A soft-spoken man with passionate politics, he represents a growing force that is splitting the personality of local Republican politics across the United States.

Hanak is also state director of the American Family Ministries, a conservative, anti-abortion group. His dual roles represent an evolving nightmare to moderate Republicans: the quiet takeover of local GOP organizations by religious activists who view as obsessed with abortion and homosexuality and intolerant of those who don't share their views.

"These people are zealots," argues Ellen Harley, a state representative from suburban Philadelphia. "They want to impose their idea of God and their idea of values and push the social issues to the fore. That has never been what Republicans are about. A political party should not be about the business of trying to define God."

It's a festering feud that belies all the recent talk of Republican unity against President Clinton's tax increases. Unity over economic issues only masks the GOP's deep cultural divide.

"It is not going to go away," Republican National Committee member Elsie Hillman says of the split. "We just have to deal with it."

Because of their strength at local levels, religious conservatives now control or have significant influence over Republican parties in at least 18 states: Alaska, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Washington and Virginia.

Since 1988, when religious broadcaster Pat Robertson showed surprising strength in GOP presidential caucuses, Christian activists have realized the influence of low-level party posts, and the ease with which these positions can be won because of low interest.

"I could have been a Nazi or a communist and still have gotten elected," Hanak said last year after his election to the county GOP committee.

Jury convicts two whites of charges in racist attack

By JAMES MARTINEZ
Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. Two white laborers were convicted of all charges Tuesday in the burning of a black tourist who said they taunted him with racial slurs, doused him with gasoline and set him on fire.

Mark Kohut and Charles Rourk showed no reaction when the jury of 10-day trial and 12 hours of deliberations. Burning victim Christopher Wilson sat looking straight ahead next to his mother, Enid Plummer, who looked upward as the first guilty verdict was read and nodded her head yes. Later, she wiped away tears as Wilson whispered in her ear.

Kohut and Rourk, both day laborers from Lakeland, face up to life in prison. Sentencing is now set for Oct. 22.

Wilson made no comment as he left the courthouse, but his emotional testimony. "As a black mother, I would like to say that never would I wish for anyone, whether black or white, to have to undergo the pain and agony and frustration we have been through and are still going through."

"We will survive," she added.

Wilson, a 32-year-old stockbroker clerk from New York City, was burned over nearly 40 percent of his body, and prosecutors had relied on his emotional testimony.

He described being abduct- ed by gun-wielding attackers on New Year's Day outside a suburban Tampa shopping center, and there was similarly preparing for baptism or full communion

Domestic troubles ruin Nigeria's global visions

By MARK FRITZ
Associated Press

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast
Nigeria is a huge country with an ego and army to match. Long enamored with the idea of becoming Africa's superpower, the nation instead has slid into quagmires abroad and unrest at home.

The slaying of seven Nigerian soldiers in an ambush in Somalia on Sunday provided more ammunition to people who want the nation to stop aspiring to be a continental power and start tending to troubles in Nigeria.

"They're not the first nation in the world to bite off more than they can chew," said Ken Petrie, a former British Royal Air Force attache to the Nigerian military.

"One in every four or five black Africans is a Nigerian," he said. "They have always seen themselves as the leader."

Few Westerners realize the history and scope of Nigeria's overseas excursions and its willingness to join about any multinational effort to bring peace.

It is taking part in peacekeeping forces in Croatia, Angola, Somalia, Western Sahara and Angola and is the dominant force in the West African coalitions trying to quell rebellions in Liberia and Sierra Leone.

Despite accusations that it often seeks to broaden its sphere of influence, Nigeria has been one of the United Nations' best soldiers.

"They are probably more experienced at international peacekeeping than the United States," said Petrie, analyst for the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London.

Nigeria, however, has become Nigeria's Vietnam. Nigeria dispatched 10,000 troops to crush the rebellion three years ago but remains mired in a costly, demoralizing conflict marked by vicious bloodshed and broken peace accords.

It is not surprising that the new government of Ernest Shonekan, trying to woo public support, immediately announced after it took office last month that Nigeria would bring home the troops next spring.

Nigeria, a nation that has long clamored for a seat on the U.N. Security Council, has seen its visions of global influence dashed by its own domestic problems.

Gen. Ibrahim Babangida resigned after eight years as ruler on Aug. 26 after triggering widespread civil unrest and even broader public disgust by voiding the results of the June 12 presidential election that was to move the nation to democracy.

That election was viewed by many Nigerians as the opportunity for this nation of 65 million to finally realize its goal of having a government that commands as much respect as its 80,000-member military and its enduring political influence.

Instead, it was faced with widespread general strikes that further damaged an economy already plundered and mismanaged by a succession of military and civilian rulers.

Despite criticism, the military has long had a reputation as a well-trained fighting force with enemy not to go any further," who are telling the prime minister not to go any further," said Uri Ariel, leader of the West Bank settlers' council.

Ariel said demonstrators had been given tools not to throw stones, and Likud officials said the party called only for non-violent protests.

The gathering was thick with Israeli flags and banners denouncing the autonomy plan.

Rabbi Yoef Aronov, director of the Hasidic Lubavitch movement Chabad in Israel, said demonstrators wanted to draw across the message that Israel was in danger.

"If the government gives land to the Arabs, our lives and our children's lives are in danger," four million people are in danger. We will do everything in our power, everything, to get this message across," Aronov said.

Police pushed back anyone attempting to cross the barriers forming a buffer zone around the building, arresting four members of the extremist settler movement they said were preparing to carry out violent acts.

Major streets around several government buildings were closed and traffic routed through the suburbs. About 2,500 extra policemen were deployed to prevent violence.

JERUSALEM
Tens of thousands of people protesting the Palestinian autonomy plan laid siege to Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's office Tuesday, vowing to clog the surrounding streets for 24 hours.

The rally was the first of a series of protests against the plan to be organized by religious groups, to try to force the government to new elections or at least a referendum over the autonomy plan.

Police sources estimated the crowd size at 50,000, Israeli TV said. Many had come on buses from throughout Israel. Organizers claimed the crowd numbered in the hundreds of thousands.

"This is the opening round in an unprecedented struggle," Likud leader Binyamin Netanyahu told the rally, calling the autonomy plan negotiated with the PLO in secret a lie.

"And the greatest lie of them all is that this dangerous agreement will bring peace," said Shulamit Aloni, who claimed that the throng had reached 100,000.

"It will not bring peace, it will bring more terror, more terror, more terror. It is laying the groundwork for the next war," Aloni said.

The Likud bloc, which planned weeks of protests, is seeking to capitalize on opposition to Palestinian autonomy and its policies of security. It is gambling that security fears will ultimately influence the public more than the hope that a political settlement would end the bloodshed.

Yaron Ezrahi, a professor of political science at Hebrew University, said that if Likud fails to bring down Rabin's government it would be adrift.

"And then the government and peace movement will disagree on the autonomy plan — awaiting an agreement on the future of opposition to Palestinian autonomy in the public more than the hope that a political settlement would end the bloodshed."

An Ode to the Freshman Year

Greetings, all, and welcome to the heralded, long-awaited and completely overrated time of year that we all know and loathe — "back to school." I suppose most of you seasoned upperclassmen are currently adjusted by now and are undoubtedly amusing yourselves by watching the freshmen experience all of their college "trials.

Being, of course, one of said peons, let me give you a brief view of life at the bottom — just in case you forgot how much fun our first taste of college can be (OK, I admit I'm from Cleveland, and I've heard every joke, but it really isn't that bad ...). The thought of waiting to use the phone, having to confine my pile of clothes, books, and trash to one side of the room, and meeting people who have not had this experience yet, first made my mind enter my brain until they became grim realities.

"Shriek-when-you-see-it" is, and as yet haven't received that first deadly book, ATM and phone card all at once. This is probably the one side of the room, and meeting people who who know where I'm from. Mom and Dad were suffering some serious brain damage when they left me with a checkbook, ATM and phone card all at once. It's like giving a compulsive gambler a million dollars, putting them in front of a slot machine, and telling them to budget their money wisely. It's like giving a compulsive gambler a million dollars, putting them in front of a slot machine, and telling them to budget their money wisely.

Jim (typical fresh-male, trying to look studly and carrying on a completely mindless conversation): "So, where are you from?"

Jim: "Oh, I'm sorry!" Jim doubles over with laughter as his unparalled witiness. "What do people do there?"

Me: "Nothing exciting," (What am I supposed to say, "Oh, yeah, we worship cows and mushrooms on our own every other week.") "I worked at Sea World all summer."

Jim: (looking completely stupeified) "Are you by the ocean?"

Me: "Uh, yeah, just a stone's throw from the old Atlantic, buddy. Does it scare anyone else to think that we admit people who don't know where Ohio is?"

Just for the record, I did not swim with Shamu, I've never met Willy, and Sea World does not look to the crystal clear waters of Lake Erie for its animal friends.

Among other tidbits that I've quickly learned about college life: Doritos just don't cut it for breakfast, and one must push "start" to make the dryer work. I've never liked coffee all that much, but there's a lot to be said for the advantage of grungers — it is now socially acceptable to look like you've just fallen out of bed and got dressed in a dark close. This, of course, is exactly what I do each day, so let's hope the trend sticks around for a while.

I hope the upperclassmen have been moved by the premier Crack-Ups Comedy Cafe this Friday night. The Crack-Ups Comedy Cafe, sponsored by the Student Activities Board, will be the biggest laugh on the Saint Mary's campus this semester. The first two professional comedians will showcase their talents for the Saint Mary's community this Friday night. The first comedian to grace the comedy Crack-Ups stage will be Pat Francis, a touring comedian from the clubs of Chicago. Francis will be followed by the headliner, Bob Rumba. Rumba comes to Saint Mary's with a successful entertaining career to his credit.

Besides being a comedian, Rumba is an impressionist, ventriloquist, juggler and balloon sculptor. He has appeared on television shows such as "Nightshift" on Indiana Syndication and "Kids are People, Too" and "Bozo's Circus," both broadcast out of Chicago.

Hallmark Cards, Sunquist, United Airlines, Kellogg's Corn Flakes and Hubba Bubba Bubble Gum have all featured Rumba in television commercials. Rumba has acted in Theater productions such as "Showboat" and "Bye, Bye Birdie."

"Roxy", "Zanies", "Comedy Womb", "Caroline's" and "Clous" are just a few of the comedy clubs where Rumba has entertained audiences.

Rumba has opened for Neal Sadaka, Larry "bud" Crack-Ups Comedy Cafe, continuing from this Friday night's debut, will be presented one Friday night each month. Future dates are for the Fridays of Oct. 1, Nov. 5, Dec. 3, Feb. 4, Mar. 18, and Apr. 15. The shows will run from 9 to 11 p.m. in the Saint Mary's dining hall.

According to Heidi Deckelmann, the entertainment chairperson of Student Activities Board, the opportunity for the Crack-Ups Comedy Cafe is a direct result of the increase in the student activities fee.

"We now have the funding to bring the higher quality activities to the Saint Mary's campus," Deckelmann said.

Heather Robinson, a junior from LeMans Hall, said that the program sounds interesting enough that she plans on attending.

Student Activities Board hopes that many other students feel the same way, in order to make the event a great success.

"It's nice to have more social opportunities available to us right here on campus," said Ellen Chiu, a Saint Mary's junior.

The University of Notre Dame men's cross country team is currently ranked No. 7 in the nation by College Sports Magazine. The Irish will be led this year by team captain and three-time All-American Mike McWilliams. Coach Joe Plane is once again at the helm for the Irish and is expectedly optimistic about his 1993 squad.

"They're every bit as good as last year's squad and may even be better," said Plane, who thinks that this year's team is strong due in great part to the sophomore class. Derek Selling, Andrew Burns, Joe Dunlop, and Mike Smedley are among the sophomore standouts who impressed the coach last year as freshmen.

In the past two years there has been one sophomore who has greatly improved his times over his freshman year. Two years ago it was McWilliams, who after winning All-American honors as a freshman, improved his times as a sophomore. Last year it was Nate Ruder who dramatically improved over his freshman year. Will there be another sophomore to continue this streak?

"Any of our top sophomore runners can step up and assume that role," stated Plane. This past Thursday the team had time trials, using the four mile run as a barometer of success in the race will rest on.

Women's tennis tryouts will be Thursday September 9 at 3:00 at the Courtney Tennis Center. Anyone interested in trying out MUST contact the tennis office at 1-5149.

Tryouts for all walk-ons will begin at 3:30. Anyone interested should contact the tennis office at 1-6113 or 1-4481.

"The team did well at the time trial," said Mike McWilliams. "I've never seen Derek Selling look so strong. Shane Dubois and Derek Martinus also did very well on the entire run." The Irish top eight finished in an impressive 20:34.

One person who impressed in finishing in the top eight was newcomer Matt Althoff. "Matt has made a great transition from high school to collegiate running," noted McWilliams.

Last year the team finished sixth in the NCAA championships and although currently ranked No. 7, many feel that this year's team has as much if not more potential than last year's squad.

"As far as potential, I've never been this optimistic," said McWilliams. "And with just reason. Ruder ran a 14:06:5K at the NCAA track championships last year, and may well be vying for the top position on the Irish squad this year. Other great performances included J.R. Meloro's 30:12 10K and Derek Selling's 9:01 3000m steeple chase. Notre Dame will be put to the test early as they face the eighth-ranked Georgetown Hoyas for the season opener. The meet will be on Saturday, September 11 at 10:30 a.m. in Washington, D.C.

"It should be one hell of a meet," said Plane. "Our success in the race will rest on the performance of our third, fourth and fifth runners."

After Big 10 debut, Paterno moves on to face Southern Cal

Paterno said he thought USC was a tired team against North Carolina. The Houston win confirmed that. "They were much quicker," Paterno said. "There is no question of their ability and they appear to be an outstanding football team."

The USC offense will be a far cry from the high-octane Minnesota offense that gained nearly 600 yards. With the return of John Robinson as head coach, the Trojan offense has returned to their dominant running game. "They are a very physical, hard-nosed running football team," Paterno said. "They come at you with a lot of running backs. I don't see anything different now than I did in the Fiesta Bowl."

The 1982 Fiesta Bowl was the last time Paterno and Robinson coached against each other. The Lions won 26-10. The last two times the Lions played USC were anything but memorable for Penn State. In 1990 and 1991 Penn State traveled to California and lost both times. After the Minnesota game, some Penn State players said they owed USC. "We went out twice and got licked twice," Paterno said. "We don't want anybody to beat you three or four times in a row."

After watching the films of the Minnesota game, Paterno said the Lions still need improvement everywhere. One of the areas of concern was the lack of a pass rush. The Lions didn't come close to sacking Minnesota quarterback Tim Schade, but intercepted four passes.

Notre Dame campus. "She can do it all. She is the most complete player we have."

Daws has played with a number of Irish players on the national level. Current Irish starters Ragen Coyne and Rosella Guerrero played with Daws on national teams. But even knowing her teammates doesn't take away from the jitters which accompany the home debut of a player counter on to such a degree.

"I had a little butterflies. It was exciting to have the fans out there and the support," she said. "But the team is real good at making the freshman feel part of the team and getting them into the college game."

It's hard to believe Daws had any adjusting to do from her high school days. Her ball-handling skills stand out on the field, and her knowledge of passing. It didn't seem to phase them.

"Cindy played like I know she can," said Petrucelli. "She certainly is as good as advertised."

At halftime of last night's game a girl's junior team from South Bend played a ten minute game on half of the field. The girls who have been competing against each other are the national level. They just wanted to reach the field of the net. No matter how it is done, its still a goal.

Even for the best freshman in the nation.
Whiten explodes for four homers, 12 RBI's in one game

By JOE KAY
Associated Press

CINCINNATI
Mark Whiten hit four homers to tie a major-league record Tuesday night and drove in 12 runs to equal another mark in perhaps the greatest one-game offensive display in baseball history as St. Louis beat Cincinnati 15-2 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Whiten mislaid Reggie Sanders’ liner into a two-run, ninth-inning triple that gave the Reds a 1-13 victory over St. Louis in the first game.

Whiten shook it off with his four-homer, 12-RBI game performance.

On a night when records fell or tottered, Whiten did most of the pushing.

The teams used a major-league record 15 pitchers in the first game. Ninety-eight batters saw 350 pitches. There were five blown leads, 27 runs, 36 hits, and 13 walks scattered in.

Whiten’s two-run homer off Bob Dibble in the ninth inning enabled him to tie Jim Bottomley’s league record with 12 RBIs. The last major leaguer to hit four homers was Atlanta’s Bob Horner in 1986.

Whiten, 25, in his third major league season, was acquired from the Cleveland Indians on March 31 for pitcher Mark Clark and shortstop Juan Andujar. He began his career with the Toronto Blue Jays.

He now has 22 home runs and 87 RBIs this season.

In the first inning of the second game, he hit his second career grand slam and his first in the NL off Larry Leebohrs (2-4). After fouling out in his next at-bat, he added three-run homers in the sixth and seventh off Mike Anderson, who was making his major-league debut.

Bob Tewksbury (16-8) held the Reds to seven hits for the split.

In the opener, the Reds rallied from a four-run deficit in the last two innings, with the winning run scoring when Whiten let Sanders’ liner bounce past him with one out in the ninth for two runs.

The first game alone exhausted the pitchers and everyone who had to watch them.

“I thought I used 15 all by myself,” Cardinals manager Joe Torri said.

“Holy moly,” Reds manager Davey Johnson said. “And it’s not like we were quick- hooking them.”

The Cardinals rolled up seven runs in the eighth for a 13-9 lead that appeared safe.

The main problem in that inning was Dibble, who gave up a game-tying single and walked two batters.

He wasn’t kidding them or now as Bryant Young, Peter Bercht, Oliver Gibson and Brian Hamilton ably mirror the talents of Frank Stams, Chris Zorich and Ned Bolcar.

In terms of offense, current Michigan head coach Gary Moeller continued the analogy for me when describing Kevin Mcnougah in a recent press release. “Kevin Mcnougah will remind you a lot of Tony Rice—and I can tell you we always had problems with Rice. Mcnougah don’t run quite as well, but he throws the ball a lot better,” said Moeller.

As for Michigan, I’m sure this year’s team will learn to deal with defeat as the Wolverine team of ’88 did.
Women runners set for Georgetown

By BRIAN LEWIS

Last year, the Notre Dame women's cross-country team were the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Champions, also capturing the National Catholic Invitational and the Indiana Intercollegiate meets.

With most of last year's harriers back, the Irish are primed for another successful season in 1993, garnering a preseason ranking of 18th from Harrier's magazine.

Two runners who will be joining the squad around midseason are junior Becky Alfieri and sophomore Amy Siegal. Alfieri had knee surgery this summer; Stefanie Guyer and juniors Emily Husted and Chris Flood, Kala Boulware, and Carolyn Long. "They are going to be definite contributors," said Riley.

Saturday's meet is the only dual meet of the season. "Georgetown is always a fun meet and we are looking forward to it," said junior Kristi Kramer.

This weekend, the ladies will lead the Irish women's cross-country team this season.

TWO QUICK QUESTIONS

1. If someone were to ask you if you drank responsibly this past weekend, what would you say?

2. What is responsible drinking?

Here is how many health professionals define responsible drinking:

- Zero = Zero Alcohol. Especially if you're under 21, driving, chemically dependent, on certain medications, or pregnant.
- One = One drink per hour, which sets the pace for moderate drinking.
- Three = No more than three drinks per day, and never daily.

If you have any questions, please call the Office of Alcohol and Drug Education at 531-7970.

Women's Soccer shuts down Butler

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

The Notre Dame women's soccer team has started out on the right foot, but in the absence of the Midwestern Collegiate Conference crown by jumping to a 2-0 lead in the first half by tapping into the defensive hole a corner kick into the top left corner of the net. Ragen Coyne and Tiffany Thompson assisted on the goal.

The Irish, who outshot the Bulldogs 10-4 in the first half, controlled the ball almost flawlessly for the remainder of the period.

Hartwig's first goal of the evening came off a Thompson corner kick, which was first deflected by Alison Lester. With 7:28 remaining in the half, it gave the Irish a 2-0 advantage.

The squad, which displayed occasional lapses in intensity throughout the match, came out slow in the second half and mustered few offensive attacks during the first 10 minutes. Freshman phenom Cindy Daws, who was labeled "the best player on the field" by Butler coach Bryan Blitz, pulled the Irish out of their daze with her Irish-record claim of "I just tried to set the Irish ahead 2-0, and again pounding kills into the net,Daws beat Paterno prepares for USC.
