Elkhart, South Bend ‘dropping their guns’

By JOHN LUCAS
Associate News Editor

Nearly three months after the accidental shooting death of John Frangis, a 19-year old Elkhart man, a new program dedicated to his memory has taken 166 firearms off the streets.

In addition, the success of the plan has inspired South Bend civic leaders to begin to plan a local version.

The idea behind the Elkhart gun buyback program, officially titled, "Drop Your Guns," is a simple one. Anyone who has a handgun to dispose of can bring it in, no questions asked, during a monthly gun buyback day to receive $100.

"God put this in my lap," Beck said. "I got the idea looking into the faces of 150 stunned kids.

"Since the conception of the idea, Frangis' friends and other youths who have had their lives touched by violence have planned the three buybacks that have been held so far. The most recent was held two weekends ago.

The buyback has been successful in more than just getting guns off the streets, according to Beck.

"Organizing the program, and having a cause to get behind has honestly turned around a lot of the kids involved."

Support of the program met with city officials one-shot gun buyback," Nissley said.

Nissley, a junior high teacher, heard of the success in Elkhart and worked to get his parish involved.

"We want to involve kids so this isn't just a one-shot gun buyback," Nissley said. "We can make this a broad-based educational effort.

With the backing of the South Bend Tribune, organizers of the program met with city officials Wednesday morning to plan the program. Support for the program is nearly unanimous, according to Nissley.

Forum explores gender issues

By JOSLIN WARREN
News Writer

The Gender Studies Faculty Forums are an excellent way for students and faculty to present works on various gender issues and participate in a personal exchange of ideas, according to Gender Studies Director Professor Ann Collins.

"The forums promote an intellectual exchange between faculty and students that goes beyond the classroom," said Collins.

The gender studies forum is the only ongoing forum of its kind on campus. It was established three years ago to allow students and faculty to present their work on gender issues and receive some feedback from the community.

"There is a great deal of gender work going on and anyone who wants to present that work can come to the forums," Collins said. "It's a good way to put things out and see what others are doing.

For fifteen weeks of each semester there is a set schedule of speakers and topics that range from "What's Wrong With the Pro-Choice Movement" to "Language and Gender: Implications for Women in Engineering and Computer Science."

"There are various papers within several disciplines and most of it is written for publication," said Collins.

Last week's presentation by Julia Douthwaite on "Right and Insight in La Princesse de Cleves" was an "encyclopedic type entry for a literary encyclopaedia," she said.
Paretials were here before you, so deal with it "Past...diddyebrae? Notre thing...n...uh... Paretials..."

"Oh! No way! That is so big..."

"Not sure, but it must be dated this, even catching. All I know is that it has something to do with the egghads? It may be merely than cooties - and it Ad Designer night."

plain about the University's policy regarding premarital sex and a few paragraphs before the personal and social development of an all-women's education when choosing environment you may have wanted to consider acting big time.

In response to all those who disagree with the
... a policy of limited parietal visitation to this, the people who constantly involves some sort of is what needs of students sharing common living eeghads! What is it?"

compassion. students who have the personal and social development of an all-women's education when choosing environment you may have wanted to consider acting big time.

"Hmm, I thought it was
"You
"You
"Flotz out at two or twelve?
"Psst

FCC backs away from Stern's employer

WASHINGTON
Regulators are reluctantly prepared to let radio shock hosted by Howard Stern's employer in presenting "lemon awards" to commercialsm that claim garlic is clean, milk can make your skin tan, and a candy is "so fruity you can hardly bear it."
"Deceptive advertising will remain commonplace
until the Federal Trade Commission breaks with the past and imposes fines more efficient," said Bruce Silverglade, legal director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, said at a news conference announcing the group's 1993
Harlan Page Hubbard Memorial Awards. The awards -
aux gold trophys topped with real lemons - are named for his 1993 ad man who insisted such products as Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a supposed cure for everything from impotence to cancer. None of the 12
"honorees" showed up to receive their awards.

Lemons" cite the worst in commercials

WASHINGTON
Too many ads mislead, a group of consumer advocates said Thursday in presenting "lemon awards" to commercialsm that claim garlic is clean, milk can make your skin tan, and a candy is "so fruity you can hardly bear it."
"Deceptive advertising will remain commonplace
until the Federal Trade Commission breaks with the past and imposes fines more efficient," said Bruce Silverglade, legal director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, said
at a news conference announcing the group's 1993
Harlan Page Hubbard Memorial Awards. The awards -
aux gold trophys topped with real lemons - are named for his 1993 ad man who insisted such products as Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a supposed cure
for everything from impotence to cancer. None of the 12
"honorees" showed up to receive their awards.

INDIANA Weather

Thursday, Jan. 27
AcuWeather Forecast for daytime conditions and high temperatures

NATIONAL Weather

The Accu-Weather Forecast for noon, Thursday, Jan. 27.

Less than 40°F with a high temperature coming for the day.
Experiment approved with time limits, subsidies

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

In a preview of the president's plan to overhaul the nation's welfare system, the Clinton administration gave Florida permission Thursday to experiment with time-limited benefits and subsidies to employers who hire welfare recipients.

A senior administration official said Florida's demonstration project is significant because it mirrors President Clinton's efforts to expand education, training and child-care for parents on welfare while limiting their benefits to two years.

In his State of the Union address Tuesday, Clinton promised to introduce welfare-reform legislation this spring. Although the administration has outlined its plan in broad terms, it has yet to make the tough decisions about costs and financing.

Seventeen Senate Republicans, including Minority Leader Bob Dole, tried to upstage Clinton by introducing their own plan Thursday.

Similar to the House Republicans' bill, the Senate measure would require more welfare recipients to work, limit aid to immigrants, and force unmarried teen-age mothers to live with a parent to qualify for welfare.

Learning the hard way

Racist on trial in Evers murder

By MITCHELL LANDSBERG
Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss.

In the same soaring courtroom where he was twice tried 30 years ago, unrepentant racist Byron De La Beckwith went on trial Thursday for the third time in the assassination of civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

Evers was gunned down with a bullet "aimed by prejudice, propelled by hatred and fired by a coward, a back-shooting coward." Assistant District Attorney Bobby DeLaughter told the jury in his opening statement.

His first witness, Evers' widow, Myrlie, swept away the years with an emotional and bitter accounting of the night her husband was shot in the driveway of their Jackson home while she and their three children were inside. They had been up late on June 12, 1963, watching President Kennedy deliver a groundbreaking speech on civil rights.

"We heard the car pull in the driveway and this horrible blast, and the children fell to the floor as he had taught them to do," she recalled, her usually commanding voice beginning to quaver. "The baby was on the bed with me, and I just bolted up off the bed and ran to the front door, and opened the front door, and there was Medgar on the ground, reaching toward the door with his keys in his hand."

"I screamed, I guess uncontrollably, and the children ran out and they cried out, 'Daddy! Daddy! Please get up, Daddy!'"

CONTESTANTS:
John Mele
Pete O'Rourke
Mike Johnson
Bill Kempf
Mike Schmiedeler
Frank Timons

HOSTED BY:
Paul Noonan
Bill Dailey

JANUARY 29, 1994
STEPAN CENTER
8:00 P.M.

ALL PROCEEDS TO BENEFIT LOGAN CENTER
Tickets are on Sale for $3.00 at the LaFortune Info Desk and through Stanford Hall Control
continued from page 1

State-of-the Union address on Wednesday, Marciniak wonders if the measures Clinton proposes are the real answer to America's problems.

"We are not the solution to the problem, and guns are not the problem," Marciniak said.

"Until we do something about our society, more police and tighter gun control measures are just a band-aid. We are just holding the line—just like the boy with his finger in the dike."

Last year in the city of South Bend, 15 out of 19 homicides were the result of firearms, Marciniak said. Also, around two­ hirds of the 577 aggravated assaults committed in South Bend inbuded guns.

"You can't minimize it (the problems with violence)," Marciniak said. "Yes, it's serious, but no I do not feel like it is out of control."

In the past, the public was concerned with foreign affairs, Saiz said, but recently, since the end of the Cold War, there has been a growing concern for domestic affairs, and especially crime.

"A lot of it has to do with a shift in public policy concerns in the American public," Saiz said. "The momentum they (gun control advocates) have will probably help them get more gun control legislation."

By combining Clinton's ideas for more police, the "three-time loser" plan with better social and education programs, the crime and violence might be curbed. "We would need to package any further gun control measures," Saiz suggested.

Don't get carried away
Mandy! It's only your
1/2 birthday! Love, The Gang

THE MOVIE THAT'S GOT A BUZZ!
"SEE THIS MOVIE AT ALL COSTS. IT'S HYSTERICAL!"
--Chris Mandy, "RAVE!, ROLLING STONE MAGAZINE"

"Delicately accurate in its portrayal of the generation that fell between LSD and R.E.M."
--Julian Grey, US MAGAZINE

NOTRE DAME COMMUNICATION & THEATER CINEMA AT THE SNITE FRIDAY & SATURDAY 7:30 AND 9:30

En Informe de la Noticia de Aventuras

MISA EN ESPAÑOL
Spanish Mass
donde, 30 de Enero de 1994
11:30 a.m.
BADA HALL CHAPEL
Celebrante Padre Dan Greedy, c.s.c.
Todos Estan Invitados All Are Welcome
Deputy leaves Reno over style

By MICHAEL SNIFFEN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON
Deputy Attorney General Philip Heymann, a veteran of four administrations who served as right-hand man to Janet Reno, resigned unexpect­edly Thursday — a move they both attributed to differences in management style and chem­istry.

And a special assistant to Reno, Lulu Rodriguez, who is under Justice Department inves­tigation over alleged vote fraud in a Miami-area election, also resigned, spreading tur­moil to the top of a third key cabinet department.

The sudden moves at Justice followed recent high-level changes at the Defense Department, where the secre­tary resigned and his proposed replacement withdrew recently, and the State Department, where the No. 2 man left last year.

There has been speculation that Reno herself has fallen from favor in the White House, which President Clinton denied as recently as last week. A spe­cial counsel has been named to investigate financial dealings in Arkansas including some by the department's No. 3 official, Webster Hubbell, when he was a law partner to Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Reno, a former state prosecu­tor, is the first attorney general in recent memory to operate without a chief of staff. Instead, she relies heavily on Heymann, who served at Justice in the Johnson administration and worked for the Watergate spe­cial prosecutor during the Nixon administration and ran Justice's criminal division dur­ing the Carter administration.

Most of the hottest potatoes and Reno's priority programs were sent to Heymann's office for handling, including a review of mandatory minimum crim­inal sentences, a report on the FBI's bloody siege of the Branch Davidian complex in Waco, Texas, and the depart­ment's investigation of Rodriguez, which was later transferred to the internal watchdog unit.

Heymann's departure brought an instant Republican attack on Reno. Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R.N.Y., told reporters, "The Justice Department ... is being run by someone who could qualify for the original amateur hour and who has been less than what this nation should be demanding as an attorney gen­eral."

At the White House, spokes­woman Dee Dee Myers denied the administration was embar­rassed by the resignation. "Certainly not. I think Phil Heymann served well for a year. I think he made clear what his reasons were for leav­ing," she said.

Reno disputed any notion of disarray. "I think the American people understand when one goes through the process of building a team in which people are compatible, in which their styles are the same," she said. "Reno and Heymann were side­by-side to announce his depar­ture at her regularly weekly news conferences.

"We don't have any great pol­icy differences," Heymann insisted. "There is no precipi­tious reason to leave. The fact of the matter is our chemistry isn't good. We don't work as well together as we should, and that's the conclusion we've both come to."

Senators recommend lifting Vietnam sanctions

By JIM ABRAMS
Associated Press

WASHINGTON
Twenty years after the last American soldier in Vietnam, two senators who bear the scars of that war helped convince their colleagues Thursday that the time has come to lift trade sanctions on Hanoi.

"It's time to 'put the war behind us,'" said Sen. John Keating D-Mass., a former vet­eran who was wounded three times.

It's time to expand the search for MIAs, said Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., a former POW who spoke of going to sleep every night in prison and "memorizing the names of those who were with us" so they would not be left behind.

The 62-38 vote urging the administration to lift the trade embargo "excessively" was not binding, but it provides con­crete support for the administration as it moves toward normalizing relations with the former enemy.

Veterans' groups, most strongly against relaxing sanctions on Vietnam where there is a full accounting of the POWs missing from the war, were angered by the vote.

We were somewhat stunned that they didn't listen to the veterans and families who feel Vietnam is still not forthcoming on the POW-MIA issue, said Phil Rudah, a Vietnam veteran for the American Legion.

Yet it was the Vietnam veter­ans in the Senate — led by Kerry and Keating, among the most eloquent in urging an end to the enmity and the embargo, "If you want to serve the families you will vote to lift the embargo. If you want to put the war behind us and act in a statesmanlike fashion and move toward normalizing relations with Vietnam, then you will vote to lift the embargo," Kerry said.

"If you want to serve the families you will vote to lift the embargo. If you want to put the war behind us and act in a statesmanlike fashion and move to the future and respect the interests of this nation you will vote to lift the embargo," Kerry said.
SEA VIEW Motel
Clean • Affordable
Sea-View Motel & Apartments
Room Rates as low as $45.00 per night
Efficiency - 1 & 2 bedrooms
Full Kitchens available
Across from the Beach
1-800-732-8839

HOOTERS
Welcomes All SPRING BREAKERS
Have a Safe & Fun Spring Break

Buy 10 Wings & Get $2 OFF T-Shirt!
Only Good At Panama City Beach Location
Limit One (1) Per Person
Expires 6/94

BOOK NOW FOR THE BEACH!
7 DAY PACKAGES FROM $135*

CHATEAU
1-800-874-8826
1075 FRONT BEACH ROAD, 32407

SUGAR SANDS MOH
Panama City Beach, FL
Directly on the Gulf of Mexico
$52 per night with kitchens
600-597-9221

HOOTERS®
Next Door to Club LaVela & Spinnaker Beach Club
1-Bdrms. - $725.00 weekly
2-Bdrms. - $850.00 weekly
Weekly rates for 1-4 adults
Plus all State and Local Taxes.
After 4 adults $10.00 per person per night extra Deposit required on all rooms. Must be 21 years of age to book room. Max 4 persons in all rooms.
1-800-824-5048

SANDMAN Motel
1-2 Bedrooms
Kitchen - Cable - Pool
Across from the Beach
1-Bdrm. - $725.00 weekly
2-Bdrm. - $850.00 weekly
Weekly rates for 1 to 4 adults
Plus all State and Local Taxes.
After 4 adults $10.00 per person per night extra
Deposit required on all rooms. Must be 21 years of age to book room. Max 4 persons in all rooms.
1-800-824-5048

ALOHA Village
$59. 1-2 persons
1-800-469-8552
Advanced Reservations Required. Must present coupon at check in. Valid Until May 1, 1994

SUMMIT Condominiums
Next Door to Club LaVela & Spinnaker Beach Club
1-Bdrms. - $725.00 weekly
2-Bdrms. - $850.00 weekly
Weekly rates for 1-4 adults
Plus all State and Local Taxes.
After 4 adults $10.00 per person per night extra
Deposit required on all rooms. Must be 21 years of age to book room. Max 4 persons in all rooms.
1-800-824-5048

SANDPIPER-DEAL Motel
17403 FRONT BEACH ROAD
PANAMA CITY BEACH, FL 32413

SUMMIT Condominiums
Next Door to Club LaVela & Spinnaker Beach Club
1-Bdrms. - $725.00 weekly
2-Bdrms. - $850.00 weekly
Weekly rates for 1-4 adults
Plus all State and Local Taxes.
After 4 adults $10.00 per person per night extra Deposit required on all rooms. Must be 21 years of age to book room. Max 4 persons in all rooms.
1-800-824-5048

19 SPRING BREAKER'S GUIDE
PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA

HOOTERS®
Next Door to Club LaVela & Spinnaker Beach Club
1-Bdrms. - $725.00 weekly
2-Bdrms. - $850.00 weekly
Weekly rates for 1-4 adults
Plus all State and Local Taxes.
After 4 adults $10.00 per person per night extra Deposit required on all rooms. Must be 21 years of age to book room. Max 4 persons in all rooms.
1-800-824-5048

BOOK NOW FOR THE BEACH!
7 DAY PACKAGES FROM $135*

CHATEAU
1-800-874-8826
1075 FRONT BEACH ROAD, 32407

Republic of Mescalito's
RED HOT SPRING BREAK
FREE REFRESHMENTS DAILY
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT WITH $1.00 OFF ADMISSION THIS AD
By SHAWN POGATCHNIK
Associated Press

BELFAST
IRA firebombs set off blazes in three stores on London's main shopping street Thursday and two people were killed in Northern Ireland in the first terrorist deaths of the year.

No one was hurt in the pre-dawn firebombings on Oxford Street, which caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage, said police.

There were no claims of responsibility but a Scotland Yard spokeswoman said they were "clearly attributable" to the IRA, the outlawed paramilitary group fighting to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

The violence comes as the British and Irish governments await a response to their offer to include the IRA's allies, Sinn Fein, in peace negotiations if the IRA stops killing.

Sinn Fein and the IRA have yet to accept or reject the talks-for-peace offer, protesting that the Anglo-Irish declaration needs "clarification."

The firebombings were the first attacks in Britain since the initiative was announced in December, although IRA violence has continued in the province.

The fires damaged a Mothercare mother and baby goods store, the department store C and A and the Silverdale Travel Goods store, police said.

By KATHY WILHELM
Associated Press

BEIJING
The two godfathers of China's democracy movement made a new point with a certain authority: They know that China's pressure advances human rights in China - it got them out of prison.

Wei Jingheng and Xu Wenli, who founded the list of prominent Chinese political prisoners for more than a decade, said that exhibits A and B in this year's debate in Washington over how to deal with China.

Using trade to wring human rights concessions out of China "may not be the best method, but it's what the United States chooses," Wei said. "If you re- treat, you lose."

They're articulate and savvy exhibits, especially Wei, who arrived for a joint interview at Xu's home with his own translation.

A woman was admitted to a hospital, vanishes when they said. "If you don't make more people than the IRA."

A woman also in the house was not hurt, police said.

Later, unidentified gunmen forced their way into a house in Sallmal. 35 miles northwest of Belfast, and fatally shot an electrician as he worked television. A woman, apparently his wife, was shot in the back. Both were believed to be Catholics.

The woman was admitted to a hospital, where her condition was stable. Her daughter was treated for shock.

"We're articulate and savvy exhibits, especially Wei," said the police chief who arrested three, tomorrow they release two or five more," Wei said.

"Very convenient!" Wei cut in. "The United States should make demands and relax repression."

Although they have respect and influence in China's dissident community, Wei and Xu do not speak for all dissidents.

Most dissidents and intellec- tuals in Beijing say they oppose canceling China's most-favored nation status, believing that the United States should play down human rights issues as punishment for China's behavior.

A veteran dissident in Shanghai, Yang Zhou, said he believed that adding more sanctions would make China's human rights situation, but also to give China an opportunity to develop economically."

Yang said in a telephone interview.

Xu and Wei said the United States should be willing to lift MFN if China fails to make concession: providing information about jailed dissidents, allowing Red Cross visits to them, halting exports of prison-made goods and relaxing repression in Tibet.

They are confident China will not call Washington's bluff because trade is so important to China's economy.

"The way (the Chinese) government is behaving, making a face at the top of its voice - this only shows they are very afraid of losing MFN status."

"When you are gambling, you watch your opponent's expressions," he added. "The United States should pay attention to its opponent's expression."
Japanese parliament abandons compromise efforts

By DAVID THURBER

Negotiators from the two houses of Parliament abandoned efforts to compromise on anti-corruption reforms, throwing Japanese politics into deepening crisis.

Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa, who has staked his administration on passage of anti-corruption bills, has found his reform efforts derailed by the parliamentary deadlock over how legislators view reform within each party.

Hosokawa is determined to have the lower house override the upper house by a two-thirds vote re-approving the package. Chances of that are seen as slim.

The deadlock over reforms also has prevented Hosokawa’s government from putting to a vote a stimulus package for the economy and Japan would lose the trust of the world that Japan has become a mature democracy whose people are able to make wise decisions,” Hosokawa said at a news conference.

But early Friday Kono declined to hold a meeting, the Japanese Broadcasting Corp. reported.

The reform bills were passed by Parliament’s lower house in November but voted down by the upper house last Friday in a serious blow to Hosokawa’s government.

Hosokawa’s only other chance is to have the lower house override the upper house by a two-thirds vote re-approving the package. Chances of that are seen as slim.

When Hosokawa’s coalition was elections in August, knocking the scandal-plagued Liberal Democrats from power for the first time in 38 years, he vowed to reform Japan’s political system.

The dispute threatens to splinter both the Liberal Democratic and Socialist parties because of differences of views on reform within each party.

Defections among the Socialists, the largest group in Hosokawa’s seven-party coalition, helped defeat the package in the upper house.

In Thursday’s negotiations, the coalition reportedly offered to raise the number of single-seat districts in the package from 274 to 280. The remainder of the proposed 500 seats would be apportioned according to the percentage of the vote received by each party.
Yeltsin gives way to the Chernomyrdin era

By ALAN COOPERMAN

Associated Press

MOSCOW

Some Russians believe their nation's fate now depends on Viktor Chernomyrdin, the gruff prime minister who appears to have wrested control of the economy from Boris Yeltsin's reformers.

So many questions now swirl around Chernomyrdin — who he is, what are his intentions, and can he succeed — that the once-dominant figure of Yeltsin has faded into the background.

"Unfortunately today, the center of power in effect has moved from the president to the prime minister," Sergei Yushenkov, a member of the pro-reform Russia's Choice faction in parliament, said Thursday.

Yeltsin "has completely lost control over the urgent issues of running the country," he added.

Most of the young economists who had conducted two years of painful market-oriented reforms were dropped from Yeltsin's Cabinet this month, after their unexpectedly poor showing in parliamentary elections.

Chernomyrdin, 55, ran the Soviet Union's huge natural gas industry and Russia's huge energy sector before becoming prime minister at the end of 1992. In tough negotiations with Yeltsin two weeks before, he pushed for — and got — a new Cabinet dominated by veteran Soviet-era managers who share his deep ties to state-run monopoly industries.

Chernomyrdin's supporters call him a pragmatist and statesman who is ideally suited, by his long experience and calm temperament, to pursue free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

Opponents say he represents the old Communist "nomenklatura," the coddled elite that made such a mess of the Soviet economy. Some reports claim he flunked math in a technical institute entrance exam, and the reformist daily Segodnya said Thursday he is "profoundly illiterate about economics."

The most alarming predictions came this week from former Finance Minister Grigory Yavlinsky, who said the return of "red managers" would mean the end of free-market reforms, soaring inflation, rapid devaluation of the ruble, lower incomes and the return of shortages. He urged Yeltsin to fight the "economic coup."

"It is not at all clear, however, that Yeltsin really "last" control of the economy. He may have conceded it voluntarily to Chernomyrdin.

Under Russia's new constitution, Yeltsin appears to be moving toward a French-style presidency, maintaining his previous over foreign affairs and overall domestic policy but leaving the day-to-day business of government to the prime minister.

One advantage is that if the economy does not improve before Russia's next presidential election in 1996, Chernomyrdin — not Yeltsin — may be held responsible by the voters.

Yeltsin's press secretary, Vyacheslav Kostikov, said Thursday the president would "carefully follow" the new Cabinet's actions and intervene if necessary.

"Relying on his constitutional powers he intends to stand firm in the defense of reforms, to secure the stability and continuity of the democratic course," Kostikov said.

Yeltsin "believes there is no reason now for pessimism about the situation," Analysts in Russia and abroad, however, have suggested at least three scenarios:

— Yeltsin is taking a profoundly democratic step, backtracking from his previous policies in response to the will of the voters in last month's elections.

Analysts in Russia and abroad, however, have suggested at least three scenarios:

— Yeltsin is taking a profoundly democratic step, backtracking from his previous policies in response to the will of the voters in last month's elections.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.

— Yeltsin is preparing for free-market reforms while soothing the impact on ordinary workers.
BUSINESS

Mishawaka Brewing Company taps into new market

By KELLY ROMER
Associated Press

Until approximately a year ago, the South Bend/Mishawaka area did not even realize it was missing something. But Tom Schmidt and John Foster knew exactly what it needed.

In 1993, they established the Mishawaka Brewing Company and from that time on, their business has grown steadily due to the virtually untapped nature of the microbrewery market.

Their customer base, at first limited to the Mishawaka area, has extended to neighboring cities and towns. Schmidt describes their customers as around 30 to 40 years of age with a somewhat professional background. He added that approximately 10% of their customers are students, and this number is growing.

Although the majority of its business occurs in its home store, 2% of the microbrewery's sales are still distributed to package stores both local and as far away as Michigan City. In the future, Mishawaka Brewing Company plans to expand its distribution to Chicago and Indianapolis. At present, the microbrewery has the capacity to bottle up to 12,000 cases per year. The company can legally distribute its beer in Indiana, but must sell to Illinois distributors for Chicago sales.

Mishawaka Brewing Company also offers a plethora of foods from English and Irish dishes to pasta. Schmidt feels that their menu complements their beer sales. "We try to Americanize the more exotic items in order give them their own identities," said Schmidt.

Although the company's refreshing brews seem to sell themselves, Schmidt has marketed through radio and newspaper media. Of all of these, he finds what he calls "guerrilla marketing" with flyers distributed by people on foot to be most effective. "We have also considered using television despite its expensive price, but we feel that if something is not professional, it is not worth doing," explained Schmidt.

Sales promotions are also and effective means of boosting sales for the microbrewery. These include the "Party Pig," which is a 2.5 gallon plastic pig that dispenses beer through its snout. "Party Pig" sales have been phenomenal since its introduction last November.

The brewery also recently added a wheat brew that is their number one selling "flagship. The wheat brew, which was born as a seasonal promotion, has outperformed all of the company's projections. Customers can also receive a year-long membership to the "Anacreontic Society." This consists of a T-shirt and an exclusive glass mug which is engraved with the member's name number. It is kept at the brewing company for the member to use whenever there and allows the purchase of a 16 oz. drink for the price of 12 oz. drink.

In the future, we can all look forward to more "Party Pigs," and a refreshing new spring brew which will be produced next April. The Mishawaka Brewing Company enters its fourth year, continues to fill a unique role as northern Indiana's only brewpub, providing a relaxed atmosphere and a refreshing new spring brew which will be produced next April. The Mishawaka Brewing Company enters its fourth year, continues to fill a unique role as northern Indiana's only brewpub, providing a relaxed atmosphere and a refreshing new spring brew which will be produced next April.

The Mishawaka Brewing Co. is starting a microbrewery tradition in the South Bend area.

Orders to factories on the rise

By JAMES RUBIN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON - In the latest sign of strengthening economy, factory orders for durable goods rose for a fifth straight month in December. The increase helped increase last year the highest since 1991, the highest since 1988, despite the lowest level of defense spending in the history of the United States.

Economists said the surge reported Thursday — led by business investment in computers and other equipment — pointed to expansion this year despite a likely slowdown in consumer spending in the first half of 1994.

"Despite slow growth in the economy as a whole, equipment investment has continued to show remarkable buoyancy," said George Richards, economist for the National Association of Manufacturers.

The capital goods boom continued to expand. Commerce Secretary Ron Brown said yesterday that the sector is the greatest contributor to economic growth industry under the economic expansion.

Durable goods orders are a key barometer of manufacturer industry, the government said the number of Americans applying for initial unemployment benefits declined by 56,000 last week. Due in part to the effects of a gradual increase in the population, the government reported a 39,000 decrease in the number of people seeking benefits for the first time in the week ended Jan. 22, down from a revised 350,000 the previous week.

The "driving force is that we think the interest of customers should always come first and that markets should be designed to make sure that customers get the best price for their securities and the design of the markets should work to their advantage, not to their disadvantage," said Brenda Becker, head of the SEC's Division of Market Regulation, which conducted the study.

Within that context, Becker told reporters at a briefing, competition is a very valuable tool "so long as it's fair competition to improve change and provide investors with a range of choices."

To meet the doubled-edged goal of protecting investors while making the markets more efficient and thus more competitive — the Market 2000 study recommends:

- Making more trading data available to the public.
- Providing a shift from use fractions to decimals in stock quotations; making it easier for New York Stock Exchange member firms to trade NYSE-listed stocks after regular trading hours.
- Simplifying procedures for companies to remove their stock from listing on the NYSE.

"Very relaxed," said John Doyle, an economist for the National Association of Manufacturers. "We feel that if something is not done, it is likely to occur."

"We are pleased to see the improvement," said Schmidt. "We are pleased to see the improvement."
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SMC elections evoke reflection

Dear Editor:
In light of the recent Student Body Elections at Saint Mary's campus, we would like to con­gratulate and wish luck to the new officers in the upcoming school year. As students of Saint Mary's, we would like to express our views on the issues and concerns that we believe need to be addressed. We hope that you research these programs and if possible include them in your agenda for the upcoming school year.

As juniors, our primary concern is the renovating and upgrading of the Career and Counseling Center. Saint Mary's needs to work on making Saint Mary's students more attractive to companies. This can be accomplished by upgrading the services provided to students and counseling student/counselor relations.

The administration needs to work with students through fostering skills in resume writing, interviewing, and presentation. Saint Mary's students should not have to rely on Notre Dame for interviews with major companies. Saint Mary's also needs to search out companies that are looking for students in all majors and all positions. This will be accomplished by marketing Saint Mary's to larger corporations, including those companies interviewing at Notre Dame.

As admissions at Saint Mary's fall to climb, serious thought needs to be given to how to increase enrollment. Saint Mary's needs to be involved in networking with high schools around the country. We would like to see a hotline established for middle-class students who are homeless, having trouble in school, and having difficulty adjusting to campus life in addition to the resident advisors currently filling this role.

In the past, Saint Mary's has relied upon Notre Dame as the primary source of social interaction. We would like to see Notre Dame students in as many social settings as possible. This may be accomplished by informing surrounding institutions about the events in the Saint Mary's community. We believe that these institutions will reciprocate, thus opening the doors to greater social interaction. Eliminating the stereotypes between Saint Mary's and Notre Dame cannot begin in an official position, but must begin with the individuals in each of the communities. We must remember that no matter where we are, as individuals we are representatives for the entire community.

We would like to see a Sibling Activities Center researched during the upcoming year. This center would include activities such as an ice rink, permanent volleyball courts, etc. We think that this will give Saint Mary's students the opportunity to involve themselves in activities previously offered only by Notre Dame.

We recognize that this project is costly, and that the ultimate decision for the use of the land must be approved by the Sisters of the Holy Cross. This must not deter us from research. With your approval, fund-raisers and alumni donations will help decrease the cost of the project.

While social interaction is important to the Saint Mary's community, there are deeper concerns in issues that are commonly overlooked. Group therapy programs such as those for sexual offense and rape victims, alcoholics anonymous, and drug abuse need to be created and given recognition for their efforts.

We recognize that many of these programs are in existence, however they are unknown to many in the community. A bulletin board should be posted in each hall, and in areas of public use listing the names and phone numbers of the organizations.

Brochures and pamphlets should be distributed to each student at the beginning of the school year, listing programs and who should be contacted for details on where and when the groups meet. These are a few of the issues that we, as students of Saint Mary's would like to see researched. We look forward to the 1994-95 academic school year and we hope to see positive changes that will affect the community for years to come.

HEATHER JUILLINE ROBINSON
JULIE STEVENS
LISA BAUMANN
MICHELLE TUTS
REBECCA ROBINSON

Chauvinism a possible cause in Pom Pon Squad denial?

Dear Editor:
I would like to begin by congratulating the football team on their victory in the Cotton Bowl. Although the number of students attending seemed to be lower than other years, students were still very supportive of the Fighting Irish. One particular group of Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students, the Notre Dame Pom Pon Squad, wanted to attend but were denied permission by Father Beauchamp.

As one of the captains of the Pom Pon Squad, I have had many opportunities to witness and observe the Notre Dame family. Instead of feeling like part of a "family," our squad has been made to feel like second-class citizens.

Rudy spoke at the Cotton Bowl Pep Rally this year claiming that Notre Dame was a place where dreams could be fulfilled. Instead of dreams coming true, however, our squad has experienced the hurt and disappointment that results when dreams are crushed by the Notre Dame administration.

Last year, the Pom Pon Squad was able to attend the Cotton Bowl for the first time. Due to our own efforts with a raffle ticket drive plus help from host families, our squad was able to finance our entire trip. In addition to daily performances at the Alumni Hospitality Center and other bowl activities, the Pom Pon Squad visited a local nursing home and the Children's Medical Center. We allowed others to be personally touched by the spirit of Notre Dame. How did the school respond to our goodwill?

Currently, we have not performed as any Men's Basketball games. The Director of Sports Marketing, Jim Fraleigh, has invited outside sources of entertainment for halftime. Additionally, the office of Patty O'Hara decided four days before the Florida State game to cancel our performance of a 2.5 minute routine with the band during halftime even though we had performed there in the past.

Despite numerous hours of preparation, one of our dreams had been taken away without a reasonable explanation. Finally, the school denied us permission to attend this year's Cotton Bowl despite invitations from the Dallas Alumni Club and sufficient funds created by our own efforts.

The Pom Pon Squad has done nothing to embarrass the school, yet has been continually undermined by the administration. Frustrated with the inconsistent explanations offered by the Notre Dame administration, I find myself pondering this question: Would the Pom Pon Squad be treated this poorly if we were not an all female organization?

NATALIE BROHL Senior
LeMann Hall

GARRY TRUDEAU

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"A man without a woman is like a neck without a pain."

-Graffito, 1984, Los Angeles
friday

events

Dazed and Confused, Suite Auditorium, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., $2.

The Good Son, Cushing Auditorium, 8 and 10:30 p.m., $2.

The Odd Couple, by Neil Simon, Cavanaugh Hall Players, Washington Hall, 8-10 p.m., free admission.

Keenan Revue, O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's, 7 p.m.

DJO-GBE, a participation dance performance, 7 p.m., LaFortune Ballroom, ID required for admission.

music

Bughaus, Alumni-Senior Club, 10 p.m.

Chideco Zydeco, The Madison Oyster Bar, 10 p.m.

The Killing Floor, Midway Tavern, 9:30 p.m.

Saturday

events

Dazed and Confused, Suite Auditorium, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., $2.

The Good Son, Cushing Auditorium, 8 and 10:30 p.m., $2.

The Odd Couple, by Neil Simon, Cavanaugh Hall Players, Washington Hall, 8-10 p.m., free admission.

Keenan Revue, O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's, 7 p.m.

Mr. Stanford Contest, featuring Bovine Solution, Stepans Center, 8 p.m., $3.

ND Swimming vs. St. Bonaventure, (W) at 11 a.m., and (M) at 2 p.m., Rolfs Aquatic Center.

ND Women's Tennis vs. Miami of Ohio, 9 a.m. at Eck Hall.

music

The Killing Floor, Mishawaka Midway Tavern, 9:30 p.m.

Red Beans and Rice, blues band, Madison Oyster Bar, 10 p.m.

Sunday

events

Misa en Espanol, Badin Hall Chapel, 11:30 a.m., Padre Dan Groody. All are welcome.

movies

Intersection, 7:30, 9:55

Philadelphia, 7, 9:35

Grumpy Old Men, 7:30, 9:40

Shortcuts, 7:45

Shadowlands, 7:15, 9:30

The Piano, 7:20

University Park East

Iron Will, 7:10 and 9:30

Blink, 7:20, 9:50

Tomstone, 7:40

University Park West

The Likes and the Loathes:

Number 1: The relaxed top (either a cardigan or pull-over will work) and bright skirt (preferably red) wins some votes. The look is for more non-conservative professionals.

Number 2: The look is for more non-conservative fields, perhaps finance and law. The coeds are used to it's dark color, but the suit style is still preferred. The good news is that there's a new look in suits. There are no longer stuffy and uptight. Women are able to loosen up a bit, look fashionable and still maintain the professional look that is needed. Many times women can perk up the average suit with a colorfully printed scarf or noticeable yet not gaudy, costume jewelry. Less conservative fields may be split between number 4 and number 1. Both are more casual looks - perhaps great ensembles for middle of high school teachers, or those women working with design concepts, such as architecture. Many of these fields are hands-on work and the workers need to be comfortable as well as look professional.

Color has become a large concern of many executives lately.

"Pale colors and pastels are not the trend anymore. They tend to say timid or less self-assured," said Marie Johnson, executive director of W&W Associates, a law firm in Los Angeles. "Bold is in. Women need to be more aggressive in the workforce these days, and that aggressive can be detected in her dressing."

Do that mean pastels are out completely? Not necessarily. Many times one palette item, such as a jacket or a skirt, might be better than both pales together.

The most important tip is to wear it because it looks good.

"Too many times women are more concerned about maintaining an up-to-date look rather than wearing what looks nice on them," said Steven Fleming, co-president of Gutman, Royer and Associates, a law firm in Los Angeles. "When a woman looks uncomfortable, her professionalism is totally gone."

"Clothes that are too tight, heels that are too high or jewelry that is too flashy are sure-fired ways to turn off an employer, or even worse, a potential employer.

"And women have to be totally presentable and self-confident."

The most important tip is to wear it because it looks good.

"The most important tip is to wear it because it looks good.

"When a women looks uncomfortable, her professionalism is totally gone."

"Clothes that are too tight, heels that are too high or jewelry that is too flashy are sure-fired ways to turn off an employer, or even worse, a potential employer."

"And women have to be totally presentable and self-confident."

By KENYA JOHNSON

Assistant Editor

Check out the four fashion figures below; which woman would hire? After extensive research by the Accent Staff, certain looks and fashions have made it to the top ten list of acceptable and repeatable career looks.

The new year of 1994 brings with it a whole new line of dress for the working woman. Through a variety of dresses, tip-brochures and books we've deciphered which we thought would get the job.

Each outfit had their pros and their cons, and there's no right answer. You make the call. Number 3 won our votes. It's says professional and feminine flair all at the same time.

Number 2 is definitely more conservative fields, perhaps finance and law. The coeds get kudos for it's dark color, but the suit style is still preferred. The good news is that there's a new look in suits. There are no longer stuffy and uptight. Women are able to loosen up a bit, look fashionable and still maintain the professional look that is needed. Many times women can perk up the average suit with a colorfully printed scarf or noticeable yet not gaudy, costume jewelry.

"Less conservative fields may be split between number 4 and number 1. Both are more casual looks - perhaps great ensembles for middle of high school teachers, or those women working with design concepts, such as architecture. Many of these fields are hands-on work and the workers need to be comfortable as well as look professional."

Color has become a large concern of many executives lately.

"Pale colors and pastels are not the trend anymore. They tend to say timid or less self-assured," said Marie Johnson, executive director of W&W Associates, a law firm in Los Angeles. "Bold is in. Women need to be more aggressive in the workforce these days, and that aggressive can be detected in her dressing."

"Does that mean pastels are out completely? Not necessarily. Many times one palette item, such as a jacket or a skirt, might be better than both palates together."

"The most important tip is to wear it because it looks good."

"Too many times women are more concerned about maintaining an up-to-date look rather than wearing what looks nice on them," said Steven Fleming, co-president of Gutman, Royer and Associates, a law firm in Los Angeles. "When a women looks uncomfortable, her professionalism is totally gone."

"Clothes that are too tight, heels that are too high or jewelry that is too flashy are sure-fired ways to turn off an employer, or even worse, a potential employer."

The most important tip is to wear it because it looks good.

"And women have to be totally presentable and self-confident."
m fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually."

Note - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level ations, even if they are in less conservative di.

umber 2:

ike - The suit is well liked, especially among ervative careers. Trendy suits, with a sarongk or a double-breasted jacket for example, say n professional, without the stuffy."

ote - The navys and the greys must go.

umber 4:

ike - The long-skirt is very different without oathe - The layered look isn't always approprible-breasted aspect won many kudos. It's surs "practical but not prudish."

ote - Many claim for it to be uncomfortable ans on work and constant mobility.

umber 4:

ike - The long-skirt is very different without ng disrespectful. It has a risky, confident look to it says, "I do my work, but I live on the edge."

ote - The layered look isn’t always appropri-for the workplace. If it is used, brighter colorsuld be the main adjustment.

Cavanaugh Hall Players offer comedy as a farewell performance

By BEVIN KOVALIK

Neil Simon's play The Odd Couple will offer comedy at a complimentary price, as the Cavanaugh Hall Players' very ast performance before Cavanaugh transforms into a women's dorm.

One of Simon's greatest plays, The Odd Couple debuted last ight at Washington Hall, and will show Friday and Saturday at

p.m.

The play centers around the lives of two middle aged, divorced men who become roommates in the craziness of New York City ament.

The Odd Couple becomes the two men as they both try to put heirs back together and battle the surprises of life fighting and laughing along the way, until soon developing a wonderful ship.

"This is a comical play that people at Notre Dame can relate to because everyone has roommate problems at one time or another," said junior co-director Jen Andre.

Starring in this hilarious and heartwarming performance, avanaugh Hall juniors Stephen Susco and Mark Poisella play the les of Oscar Madison and Felix Ungar as the two josting and iming roommates who discover what kind of people they really

"I like this particular play because of the way it balances disaster and perfection at any given moment," added Poisella, who ays Felix.

The audience can surely expect to be entertained.

According to sophomore Cort Peters, a member of the rowdy oker playing posse, one especially funny scene involves a potentially serious disaster when Felix attempts to kill himself and the six infamous poker players chase him around, hoping to stop him.

fter a few minutes the chase leads up to an incredibly crashing sh in an unexpected place. Of course if you have not already sen the play's debut last night you will have to venture out this ekend to see what happens.

At times during the performance the audience may even feel like art of the cast as they dodge unidentified flying objects soaring rom the stage.

"If you sit in the first two rows in the audience it will be an ex-ence similar to the show at Sea World," warns Susco who plays scar.

The cast has been rehearsing since October and the two dictors Andre and Tony Leonardo have high hopes for the out-ome of their hard work.

"We have an excellent cast, and anyone who comes to see our formance will have a great time," Andre said.

ND is a 'moveable feast' according to Hemingway

When Father O'Hara—later to become Cardinal O'Hara, whose dust is now boxed in marble in a side chapel of the Basilica—was president of Notre Dame, he would go on walkabouts of the Library, taking books whose authors he considered bumps off the shelf. Ernest Hemingway impressed O'Hara as a bum: reading his novels shouldn't be a part of a Notre Dame education.

Before writing this piece, I prayed for the eternal rest of O'Hara's soul. I do not wish to vex the late Cardinal's ghost when I encourage students to put Hemingway's _A Farewell to Arms_ on the summer reading list. It's book worth reading and re-reading. And it's a book parents should share with their kids.

Lieutenant Frederic Henry does not think that the universe is a user-happy place. Doubtlessly a rattling of dry bones can now be heard on the Cardinal's side of church, as those venerable remains of him try to turn over in their mausoleum. How can the senior priest in campus ministry canonize a novel of illicit love, in which a hero of the Great War, Lieutenant Frederic Henry, the nurse, Catherine Barkley, whom he loves, live together and have a baby without benefit of clergy?

Ah, the love story become especially tender at this point, since Catherine dies after having the child. _A Farewell to Arms_ is full of what Virginia Wing called the tears of things and mortality that touches the heart. It's the indifference of the universe, as Hemingway communicates it that the read-

Father Robert Griffin

_Letters to a Lonely God_

or should stay aware of:

I woke up this morning with the realization that I'd been dreaming of a novel about the school of hard knocks that nobody gets out of alive. I had to smoke an entire cigarette before I realized I'd been dreaming of _A Farewell to Arms_.

As a member of Campus Ministry, I tend to take the Tesseract in the Rye, saving children from falling over the edge of the cliff, as my operating metaphor.

If I were the Captain, O my Captain, of the Dead Poets' Society, I'd advise the members to tell Henry David Thoreau—wanting to live deep, and suck out all the marrow of life—to move on, and make room for Hemingway. As an inspector of snowstorms, Henry David had no equals, but he'd have NaN happiness if he'd caught up with the mass of men leading lives of quiet desperation. He's an ex-ample of the grownups who can't let go of the memories he has of the Lost Childhood. Thoreau makes me mindful of the last child in all of us smarting for the innocence that was forfeited with that early fall from grace. Life will always been a struggle with darkness. In the age of AIDS, it's no longer enough to arm the children of light with the chapter from Saint-Jaunepu's _The Little Prince_, explaining the ritual used in taming a fox.

The members of the Dead Poets' society might shrink from putting lead in their pen-pins that would land them on minefields—if they hung out much with Frederic Henry, describing the Italian army—I had seen nothing sacred, and the things that were glorious had no glory, and the sacrifices were like the stockyards at Chicago if nothing was done with the meat except bury it. Abstract words such as glory, honor, courage, or were hallowed were obscene.

English soldier-poet Wilfred Owen, killed in action a week before the Armistice, condemned the old "liddo" with such high zest/to children are detersed for some desperate glory/. The old Lie: Dulce et decorum est/pro patria mori. It is sweet and decorous to die for one's country."

Robert Frost left us a poem that says that "And were an epitaph to be my story/I'd have a short one ready for my own. I'd have written of me on my stone./I had a lover's quarrel with the world."

Frost was an American original, and a bit of a humbug; and so was Hemingway, but he would never try to charm us into believing that his quarrel with the world was merely a lover's quarrel. "The world breaks everyone down and after-ward many are strong in the broken places. But those who break it kill it. It kills the very good and the very gentle and the very brave impartially. If you are none of these you can be sure that it will kill you too, but there will be no special hurry."

This code of Hemingway's should be useful as a warning in the new dark ages. What we will have is a price tag, but doing nothing can have a price tag too. It doesn't take any longer to die for life does it does to die from boredom. Maybe when you're dying for love, you're not so much a hurry to get it over.

Sooner or later, the world breaks everyone. The cross on which Jesus died is proof of that. But the Cross is about Love that is stronger than Death, for the Hemingway code doesn't tell all of the story. You need the Creed, if you want to hear the rest of the story.

Hemingway made heroes of bullfighters who show courage and grace under pressure, by which he meant "guts." He made a hero of Christ, showing grace under pressure on Good Friday. Santiago, the old man of the sea, as a hero of grace under pressure, in His turn cancels a century where the spiritual warfare goes on all around us, and Hemingway can be a consolation to read. He wrote: "If you are lucky enough to have lived in Paris as a young man, then wherever you go for the rest of your life, it stays with you, for Paris is a moveable feast."

Coming to Notre Dame when you're young, it stays with you too. For Notre Dame is a 'moveable feast,' according to Hemingway.
"Injuries? We all live with all the time.

"When we were playing in those 2 games the last week of the season, at the end of the game we were trying to stop the defensive line with a bunch of backups and a rookie.

"A soft rain fell Thursday, although the elements won't be quite as harsh in the Georgia Dome. But the rain did force the Bills to make a second down instead of a goal of Tech. They worked for two hours in pads, "

The Cowboys worked outside at Atlanta Falcon Stadium in Suwanee but Johnson shortened practice by 10 minutes because of the weather. Haley, the defensive end with a back problem, didn't practice but Johnson said he will play Sunday.

"A boy has kept an even higher profile than usual, especially with his longstanding tales of Dallas misfortune."

"I've never in all my years of coaching, had as much adversity as what we've had to face this year," said Haley. "Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never has had a Super Bowl before last year.

"So he doesn't know that if we win the NFC that the locusts follow a year of Super Bowl. And if that landscaping tight ends move, the Dallas Cowboys aren't the end of the world.

"But the Cowboys, having to wait until overtime of the final regular-season game to clinch the NFC East apparently qualify as adversity.

"Dallas' problems started before the season, when Aikman underwent back surgery.

"Then Smith and owner Jerry Jones became entangled in a contract dispute and the running back held out.

"Backup tight end Alfred Williams was broken with a foot, but because of (back-up) Clayton Holmes, one of the better special teams players.

"Atlanta happily to entertain Super fans, Super admirers

By MARC RICE

"Many of the estimated 76,500 fans seem willing to count on the "I couldn't care less about Dallas and Buffalo," said Reading. "I just want communications salesman who arrived Thursday from Andrew Mass. "I'm rooting for me. I've packed my pockets with plenty of spending money for bars and restaurants.

"Slayton, who got Super Bowl tickets through a friend of a friend, father worked for the NFL, which had visited Atlanta before and was familiar with its nickel-and-dime shows. "They've got nice hotels, malls and restaurants. That's all.

"That's music to the ears of Atlanta leaders, who hope to reap big bucks and a return Super Bowl engagement if this year's bash lives up to expectations."

"Please retum to the

"In search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to

"in search of black jacket/CAZEMOS 100' mens and shoes. Hall game in Fr. Wayne. Please return to What if?—Questions surround Harding's confession

By LARRY SIDDONS

Panel to investigate Harding involvement

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — A five-member panel to investigate allegations of Tonya Harding's involvement in the attack on Nancy Kerrigan was appointed Thursday by the U.S. Figure Skating Association. Harding was chosen for the team after winning the national team for the Feb. 12-27 Winter Games in Lillehammer, Norway, by Sunday.

The action was the first formal step in deciding whether Harding will remain on the U.S. team for the Winter Olympics. Harding was involved in the plot to attack figure skating rival Nancy Kerrigan, it would be one only step in determining whether the national champion stays on the U.S. Olympic team.

Administrative actions, arbitration and court appeals all would have to be settled before Harding's place in next month's Winter Games is decided in what could be an unprecedented action.

And officials said Thursday that decision could come at the last moment, before women's skating begins at Lillehammer, Norway, Feb. 23.

"It's still at the point where they (Harding's actions) may or may not be an issue," said Francois Carrard, director general of the International Olympic Committee. "There are still many, many possibilities."

The IOC, the International Skating Union and the Lillehammer Olympic Organizing Committee all said the decision remained in U.S. hands.

The IOC has ultimate authority over who competes at the Games. Carrard said he was uncertain if the IOC had ever refused an athlete's entry.

Harding was chosen for the team after winning the national women's title Jan. 8. Kerrigan also was selected for the team, even though she did not compete after being clubbed above the right knee following a practice session.

Harding said Thursday she learned of the plot after the attack but failed to immediately tell authorities.

She gave no deadline for the panel to complete its work, but the association must submit its team for the Feb. 12-27 Winter Games in Lillehammer, Norway, by Sunday.

Headed by former U.S. Olympic Committee president William Hybl, the panel will investigate allegations based on information contained in public records that Harding was involved in the attack on Kerrigan Jan. 6.

The panel starts its investigations Tuesday and hopes to make a recommendation to the USFSA within 10 days to two weeks, Hybl said.

Cavanaugh Hall Players present

The Odd Couple

by Neil Simon

Thursday, Friday, Saturday

January 27, 28, 29
8:10 pm
Washington Hall
Free Admission

EVERYBODY CAN DANCE

Regardless of age, race, gender, physical condition, dancing or acting ability

a participation dance performance

DJO-GBE

January 28 at 7:00pm

LaFortune Ballroom

Must be there in the beginning

SMC - ND ID Required

Brought to you by the MultiCultural Executive Council
Harding makes confession, denial

By JEFF BARNARD
Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore. — Tonya Harding admitted today she failed to tell authori­ties what she knew about the Nancy Kerrigan attack, but de­nied planning to injure her fig­ure skating rival and asked to remain on the U.S. Olympic team.

Harding’s statement came as her ex-husband, who was ar­rested in the attack, was appar­ently working out a deal with authorities to testify against her.

One law enforcement source told The Associated Press Wednesday, “The walls are really closing in on that girl.”

Wearing a jacket from the U.S. team at the 1991 World Championships, Harding said she was “embarrassed and ashamed to think that anyone close to me could be involved” but said she had “no prior knowledge” of the attack.

“I am responsible, however, for failing to report things I learned about the assault when I returned home from national­als,” she said, reading from a statement that shook with emotion at times.

It was at the U.S. National Figure Skating Championships in Detroit that Kerrigan was smashed on her right knee Jan. 6 with a metal baton, knocking her from the competition won by Harding.

Many of you will be unable to forgive me for that,” she said about her failure to inform au­thorities. “It will be difficult for me to forgive myself.”

She did not say what informa­tion she withheld. Harding said that a few days after returning home Jan. 10, she learned “persons that were close to me” may have been involved. “My first reaction was one of disbelief. And the disbelief was followed by shock and fear.”

Harding and her ex-husband, Jeff Gillooly, spoke with author­i­ties for 10 1/2 hours on Jan. 18.

It was during that session that Harding issued a statement breaking off her live-in rela­tion­ship with Gillooly, with whom she had reconciled after divorcing in August.

Gillooly, her former body guard and two other men have been arrested in the attack on Kerrigan.

If Harding is charged, she could be removed from the U.S. Olympic team competing at the Winter Games in Lillehammer, Norway, next month.

The U.S. Figure Skating As­sociation said today it has ap­pointed a five-member panel to investigate Harding’s alleged involvement in the attack. The USFSA gave no deadline for the panel to conclude its investiga­tion.

Harvey Schiller, executive di­rector of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said in a statement the USOC “is deeply concerned with statements made today by Tonya Harding relative to her stated knowledge of the attack on Nancy Kerrigan at the na­tional championships.”

Schiller said the USOC “is prepared under Constitutional pro­cedures, to initiate any action deemed appropriate relative to the conduct of any athlete en­tered in the Games.”

Harding’s attorney has al­ready indicated they would fight any attempt to remove her from the team.

“I still want to represent my country in Lillehammer next month,” she said. “Despite my mistakes and rough edges, I have done nothing to violate the standards of excellence, of sportmanship that are expected of an Olympic athlete.”

Harding said she has since told authorities what she knows about the attack and “although my lawyers tell me that my fail­ure to immediately report this information is not a crime, I know I have let you down, but I have also let myself down.”

Multnomah County deputy district attorney Norm Frink said of Harding’s statement, “We’re not going to comment on it.”

Asked whether it is true that no crime is committed if one learns of an illegal act after the fact and fails to report it, Frink said: “We can’t comment on the state of the law. That’s their opinion.”

Harding made repeated refer­ences to Kerrigan and ex­pressed respect for her fellow skater and sadness over her in­jury.

“My first reaction was one of disbelief and the disbelief was followed by shock and fear.”

Harding’s attorney has al­ready indicated they would fight any attempt to remove her from the team.

“I still want to represent my country in Lillehammer next month,” she said. “Despite my mistakes and rough edges, I have done nothing to violate the standards of excellence, of sportmanship that are expected of an Olympic athlete.”

Harding said she has since told authorities what she knows about the attack and “although my lawyers tell me that my fail­ure to immediately report this information is not a crime, I know I have let you down, but I have also let myself down.”

Multnomah County deputy district attorney Norm Frink said of Harding’s statement, “We’re not going to comment on it.”

Asked whether it is true that no crime is committed if one learns of an illegal act after the fact and fails to report it, Frink said: “We can’t comment on the state of the law. That’s their opinion.”

Harding made repeated refer­ences to Kerrigan and ex­pressed respect for her fellow skater and sadness over her in­jury.

“Nancy Kerrigan and I can show the world two different types of figure skating,” Harding said. “I look forward to be­ing on the team with her.”

Kerrigan was practicing when Harding made her state­ment and was not available for comment.
Odomes, Bills want to shock Cowboy receivers

By JOHN F. BONFATTI
Associated Press

ATLANTA

Nate Odomes, his feet propped on a table, emphasized he wasn't pleased that more people were talking about Dallas' Michael Irvin and Alvin Harper than his Buffalo Bills defensive backfield mates.

Finally, someone asked him point blank: "Is there too much made out of their wide-outs?"

Odomes, who tied for the NFL interception lead this season with nine, looked up.

"They know it will be difficult. They also know they can't shy away from the challenge.

"The key is to be aggressive," Kelso said. "If you go out there afraid to make a mistake, you're probably going to make a mistake. The more aggressive you are, the better chance you have of something good happening.

The Bills can't be too aggressive, however, in their base two-deep zone, where safeties Jones and Kelso stay back until the pass is thrown.

"When we're in our zone coverage, when they catch the ball, we're going to have to get people there and make them pay for catching the ball short," Jones said.

His family wasn't blessed with money. He can remember pouring water on his cereal as a nickel-saver.

"I still put water on my cereal, but it's because I'm too lazy to drive to the store," Irvin said. "I have the money now. Back then there was no milk."

Excuse Irvin then for his numerous gold necklaces, gold watches and gold bracelets.

Excuse Irvin for his brash street talk.

Excuse Irvin for his flashy clothes.

Excuse Irvin for his sports car with "PLAYMAKER" on the license plate.

This kid grew up on hard times. Now he wants to enjoy the good times.

"I wouldn't take anything for the experience I'm having now," Irvin said. "This is good. Real good."

Irvin talks about Sunday's game against the Buffalo Bills like it's an earthly heaven.

"This is the Super Bowl and you don't need any extra motivation," he said, rubbing his hands together gleefully. "The game tells you everything. You play this game because it's a chance to make history.

"I know a lot of guys in the NFL and how many times do you get a chance to play in this game? Not many have had a chance to play in it let alone a chance to talk about winning."

Odomes, Bills want to shock Cowboy receivers

By JOHN F. BONFATTI
Associated Press

ATLANTA

Nate Odomes, his feet propped on a table, emphasized he wasn't pleased that more people were talking about Dallas' Michael Irvin and Alvin Harper than his Buffalo Bills defensive backfield mates.

Finally, someone asked him point blank: "Is there too much made out of their wide-outs?"

Odomes, who tied for the NFL interception lead this season with nine, looked up.

"They know it will be difficult. They also know they can't shy away from the challenge.

"The key is to be aggressive," Kelso said. "If you go out there afraid to make a mistake, you're probably going to make a mistake. The more aggressive you are, the better chance you have of something good happening.

The Bills can't be too aggressive, however, in their base two-deep zone, where safeties Jones and Kelso stay back until the pass is thrown.

"When we're in our zone coverage, when they catch the ball, we're going to have to get people there and make them pay for catching the ball short," Jones said.

Super Bowl the definition of luck for Irvin

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press

ATLANTA

Michael Irvin was talking lucky. About life. About being a millionaire. About playing in the Super Bowl.

And whenever he hears about some of his former buddies around Fort Lauderdale, Fla., he realizes just how lucky he has been.

"A buddy of mine calls and somebody has either died, or been put in jail," Irvin said. "There's always some problem. I was lucky."

Irvin was one of 17 children, but he stayed off the back-streets as much as he could.

When you grow up with nine, looked up.

"You all make a hell of a lot out of them," he said. "Henry Jones led the league in interceptions last year. I led it this year. We have some capable field mates.

"Finally, someone asked him point blank: "Is there too much made out of their wide-outs?"

Odomes, who tied for the NFL interception lead this season with nine, looked up.

"They know it will be difficult. They also know they can't shy away from the challenge.

"The key is to be aggressive," Kelso said. "If you go out there afraid to make a mistake, you're probably going to make a mistake. The more aggressive you are, the better chance you have of something good happening.

The Bills can't be too aggressive, however, in their base two-deep zone, where safeties Jones and Kelso stay back until the pass is thrown.

"When we're in our zone coverage, when they catch the ball, we're going to have to get people there and make them pay for catching the ball short," Jones said.

...
Barkley leads All-Star vote getters

Fan balloting determines the starters for the game on Sunday, Feb. 13 at the Target Center in Minneapolis.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (493,204) and forwards Scottie Pippen of Chicago (496,585) and Derrick Coleman of New Jersey (482,261), and guards B.J. Armstrong of Chicago (529,065) and Kenny Anderson of New Jersey (493,600).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Shaquille O'Neal of Orlando (630,346), forwards Scottie Pippen of Chicago (496,585) and Derrick Coleman of New Jersey (482,261), and guards B.J. Armstrong of Chicago (529,065) and Kenny Anderson of New Jersey (493,600).

By PAUL NEWBERRY

Barkley leads All-Star vote getters

THE NAMES PROJECT AIDS MEMORIAL QUILT will visit Notre Dame’s Stepan Center

February 25-27, 1994

Persons Preparing New Panels

For the Memory Quilt are Invited to Gather Together Saturday, January 28

Of AIDS Ministries/AIDS Assist

North St. Louis Street

makers will be available for assistance

Bradshaw, Summerall fall in Fox line with Madden

"I'm going to miss the golf and tennis," said Summerall, who will broadcast a few more golf tournaments on CBS before leaving for Fox. "I've been playing those sports as long as I played football. But I was forced to make a decision and I made the decision to stay with what I love, professional football." Bradshaw, a CBS analyst since 1986, began looking elsewhere after Fox won the television rights to NFC games. "My choices were very limited," he said. "I'm a football person." But Bradshaw said he struggled over whether to accept the offer from Fox but decided to leave CBS after calling his father. "He said, you're a football man, and that's all I'm going to say," Bradshaw said. "I'm very excited with what I'm going to be doing, whatever it is." Fox stunned the television world when it bid $1.58 billion for the coveted NFC package.

Happy 21st Birthday Geoff!

Love,

Ann, Cathy, Kim,
Sara, Sean

Truly Affordable Living

Make your next move to Hickory Village and discover affordability, convenience and comfort.

- We're just minutes from University Park Mall, the toll road, Notre Dame and downtown South Bend.
- Our beautiful grounds are spacious and well kept... and we have an activity program that includes team sports, free aerobics classes, and much more.

Efficiencies from $270
1-Bedrooms from $305
2-Bedrooms from $345

Pool & Clubhouse • Beautiful Landscaped Grounds
Laundry Facilities • Parking Lot
Air Conditioning • Close To Shopping
24-hour Emergency Maintenance Service
Planned Activities with Free Aerobics

Stop by today and we'll show you how affordable apartment living can be.

272-1850

HICKORY VILLAGE

Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Sat. 10-4 & Sun. 12-4

Putter's

FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

2500 Miracle Lane

Town & Country Shopping Center

Mishawaka, IN 46545

(219) 254-0100

Has Added More FUN FOR YOU!

Bumper Karts

ONLY $2.00

per ride

Come and “Bump” someone you know!

Lazer Runner

The Ultimate Challenge!

A futuristic game of las'er tag played in our air-inflated space port!

ONLY $3.00

per game

Yes, we still have 36 holes of miniature golf and over 125 video arcade games!

We are now serving the best pizza in town!
Irish, Bonnies clash in swimming rivalry

By KELLY CORNELLIS
Sports Writer

Last year Notre Dame swim teams traveled to St. Bonaventure for the first time and tied the women. This year the Irish will have a tough reputation to live up to as the Bonnies come to South Bend on Saturday.

The women's contest will begin at 11 a.m. and the men will start off at 2 p.m. at Rolfs Aquatic Center.

After a heated rivalry that began several years ago when the Leprechaun shoved a few Bonnie swimmers into the pool, these two Catholic schools are both determined to win.

The men look to hold off the Bonnies for one more year, and to improve their 7-5 record.

Sophomore Ryan Schroeder will race in three individual events and one relay, and he wants a victory to avenge their loss to St. Bonaventure.

"The Championships are only three weeks away, so this is a great challenge for us to swim closer to our season best, and we're ready to do that."

Fris

continued from page 24

for 17 points and point guard Lamar Justice steadied the Irish offense, cutting just two of Notre Dame's 13 fouls.

Kevin Flanagan said Schroeder. "We also want to make sure we keep winning and the Bonnies keep losing."

"This one is going to be tough," added men's captain, senior Kevin Flanagan. "We're all fired up for these guys, and we hope a lot of people show up to support us because they really packed it in up there last year."

The women hope to emerge with a victory to avenge their tie from last year. The Bonnie women have strong relays and will be tough in the long-distance events.

"It's going to be the biggest dual meet of the season," said freshman swimmer Elizabeth Rice, who will compete in the 500 and 1000 freestyle races.

"They've improved their distance events, and they're a very good spring team."

"The relays are going to be key," commented captain Kristin Heath. "On paper, the meet could go either way."

Freshman Karen Dayor will be swimming in those key relays, and also competing in the 50 free and the 100 fly. "Ev-everybody's looking forward to it," said Dayor. "From what I've heard about last year, it should be an exciting meet."

Coach Tim Welsh is also very excited about the challenge ahead.

"It's always been a very well-contested meet, and the best thing about it is that the races are always so close.

The Notre Dame swim teams will try to make a twin killing Saturday when both the men and women take on St. Bonaventure.
Sports

BY CHERYL GILLIAND

Sports Writer

Saint Mary's swimmers prepared for University of Chicago

Friday, January 28, 1994

Swim team is looking to regain sis to Kalamazoo

Saturday

on Wednesday, the Saint Mary's swimmers performed very well against Kalamazoo and some even set season records.

Senior captain Ellen Kramer, a sprint freestyler, swam her season best splits in the medley relay and the freestyle relay.

Sophomore Katie Rose set her season record in the 200 breaststroke, which is not her usual event.

"I really think that she will perform even better in the 100 freestyle," said Janson.

Sophomore Jill Cooper, the number one breaststroker for Saint Mary's, swam her season best time in both the 100 and 200 meter breaststroke.

"Jill was more relaxed for these events, and that paid off for her," said Janson. "I think she'll swim incredibly if that continues." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

Junior Jill Cooper, the number one breaststroker for Saint Mary's, swam her season best splits in the medley relay, and he is looking for a similar improvement in the 100 meter times.

Sophomore Jill Cooper, the number one breaststroker for Saint Mary's, swam her season best split in the 100 meter IM, and that he expects her to keep it up.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Jill Cooper, the number one breaststroker for Saint Mary's, swam her season best split in the 100 meter backstroke and pulled off a victory in that event.

"All of those times were very encouraging," said Janson. "I think that we will swim better this weekend because of it."

Sophomore Jill Cooper, the number one breaststroker for Saint Mary's, swam her season best split in the 100 meter backstroke and pulled off a victory in that event.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet," said Janson.

He also explained that she really felt good about her performance and the team's, "I really think that we will swim better this weekend because of it." Sophomore Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.

"I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

"I think the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool." Janson commented.

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 meter breaststroke.
Hockey team on road against the best

By TIM SHERMAN
Sports Writer

They know what to expect. Notre Dame must ask a question of stopping it.

For the fourth time this season, the Notre Dame hockey team faces off against the top-ranked Michigan Wolverines at the Palace of Auburn Hills on Saturday night. The Wolverines have soundly defeated the Irish in the previous three meetings. At least that is what the scoreboard indicated. However, all three games were evenly played except for one period. On Saturday, the Irish will be looking to play a complete 60-minute game in order to pull what would be considered by the college hockey world to be a monumental upset.

"We just have to deny them that spurt they’ve had in the past," said coach Rich Schafer. "I’ll call a time-out, but I only get one. It’ll be up to the players. It’s going to take an awful lot of hard work."

One factor that may help the Irish will be the crowd. Last year’s meeting between the two squads attended 18,147 fans. Because they are used to crowds in the neighborhood of a few thousand, the added electricity could possibly carry over onto the ice.

This year’s contest should match, if not exceed last year’s total. Everyone wants to see the nation’s undisputed top team. The Irish, too, should have some strong support. For one thing, they are Notre Dame and the Irish will always attract fans. In addition, this year’s team, despite hovering under .500, has proven to be a competitive, and, at times, a talented group of skaters.

Notre Dame’s senior’s have never beaten the mighty Wolverines and Saturday marks their last regular season opportunity. "That’ll be a big factor," said forward Jay Matsuhashi. "We know we have to play a big game. Our attitude is right."

Two seniors who must lead the Irish are captain Matt Olesiak, a defensemen, and goaltender Greg Louder. "We have to put an emphasis on defense," said Matsuhashi. "UM’s offense is as powerful as they come. Averaging 5.6 goals per game, the Big Blue have at least three of the top skaters in college hockey. Olesiak will have to lead his fellow blueliners to a consistently solid effort. As the cliché goes, you can’t stop ‘em, you can only hope to contain ‘em.

A key factor in this containment will be Louder. During Notre Dame’s recent six-game losing streak, the goaltending situation did not look promising. This past weekend, Louder looked as if he was returning to his previous form. As the cliché goes, ‘You can’t stop ‘em, you can only hope to contain ‘em."

This weekend in Notre Dame Sports

Let’s Go Irish!

Saturday, January 29

Notre Dame Swimming vs. St. Bonaventure

11:00 am (IW)/2:00 pm (M)
Rofls Aquatic Center

Notre Dame Women’s Tennis vs. Miami (OH) 9:00 am vs. Drake 4:00 pm
Eck Tennis Pavilion

Notre Dame Women’s Basketball vs. Detroit Mercy
7:30 pm JACC Arena

Michigan’s Largest Fitness Club

- Low Student & Corporate rates
- Cardiovascular Equipment & Free Weights
- Huge Aerobic Room
- FIRST VISIT IS FREE with ND ID

250 Programs for Professional & Personal Development

- Personal Computers
- GMAT, GRE, LSAT Review Courses
- English as a Second Language
- Quality Management/Administrative Assistant/Office Management
- Human Resources
- Customer Service/Certified Financial Planner
- CSCS - and much more

Most Classes Start Week of Feb. 14

(Computer classes start earlier)

For Your FREE Catalog, Call 237-4261

INDIANA UNIVERSITY SOUTH BEND
CONTINUING EDUCATION
1700 MISHAWAKA AVE., SOUTH BEND

Happy Birthday Susan!
Love from your family, Mom, Dad, Terry & Jeannie

Happy Birthday Jessica
Love, Joan & Bill

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE!!!!

SPRING BREAK
PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA

*SHung Island Party Cruise
6:30 Gulf Beach F ootage
1 Double Sculling F ootage
Sailboats, Jet skis & Parasails
Sailboat, Jet ski & Parasail Package
Reservations: 1-800-488-8828

*Beach Bonfire Parties
The Beach Bar/Naughty Bay
Sailboats, jets & Parasails
Karaoke Beach Party
Reservations: 1-800-488-8828

AND DRIVE!!!!

This Weekend in Notre Dame Sports

Let’s Go Irish!

Saturday, January 29

Notre Dame Swimming vs. St. Bonaventure

11:00 am (IW)/2:00 pm (M)
Rofls Aquatic Center

Notre Dame Women’s Tennis vs. Miami (OH) 9:00 am vs. Drake 4:00 pm
Eck Tennis Pavilion

Notre Dame Women’s Basketball vs. Detroit Mercy
7:30 pm JACC Arena

Michigan’s Largest Fitness Club

- Low Student & Corporate rates
- Cardiovascular Equipment & Free Weights
- Huge Aerobic Room
- FIRST VISIT IS FREE with ND ID

Town & Country Shopping Center
Mishawaka
254-0460
THE GOOD SON

Friday & Saturday
January 28 & 29
at 8pm & 10:30pm
Cushing Auditorium
Admission $2

Friday, February 4th
7:30 in the Lafortune Ballroom

Rendez-vous

Meet

Your

Match
Irish jump into first with victory over Xavier

Tough practices, gut check pay off

By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR
Assistant Sports Editor

It's amazing how a few torturous practices change a team's mentality.

Following last Saturday's disappointing loss at Butler, Notre Dame women's basketball coach Muffet McGraw decided that she was going to the Josef Stalin school of coaching. The result was an impressive 72-58 win by the Irish last night over the Xavier Lady Muskettes in a battle for first place in the MWC.

"We had a very difficult week of practice where we worked the team hard, maybe too hard," stated McGraw with a straight face after the game. "However, I think our effort paid off."

Freshman forward Rosanne Bohman gave a slightly different version.

"We had a number of good practices this week, but hard is an understatement," explained Bohman, who was five of six from the floor for ten points. "It was more like a test of wills."

The wills of the Irish were definitely put to the test when a schedule includes Kentucky and Indiana, Providence and Loyola?

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," said McGraw. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team.

If the Irish can scare Duke, they can scare anybody.

Senior Monty Williams is enough to make anyone sweat in their socks and his 24 point performance against the Blue Devils considerably raised his stock.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," said McGraw. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team.

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Car- r's school record.

"These next three weekends will tell us how good we really are," added armorer Greg Ripple.

However, the Irish have already learned a lot about themselves in their past four meets as all five teams, three men's and two women's, sport a record of 16-12.

The women's epee team looks solid in just their first season, adding to an already strong foil unit.

The epee team is lead by seniors Marit Fischer and Maura Gallagher and sophomore Danielle Girardi.

"For a squad that just started competing there is a lot of team unity and spirit," said senior foilist captain Didi Garcia. As for this weekend, the Irish can look back to last year to see what has to be done to defeat the defending champs.

In defeating Columbia 16-12 a year ago, the men's sabre team stepped up against Columbia's No-Americans to win the bout.

A repeat performance would definitely enhance the Irish's chances this weekend along with building momentum for their future meets.

This geographic difference means a great deal in the world of fencing, and the Notre Dame coaches and players recognize the need to perform well.

"We must step up our game a notch to compete with teams," said Ripple.